TRC to make decision on rate

By Donald M. Cooper

Hereford Brand Managing Editor An Energas request for a rate hike was rejected Monday night by the Hereford city commissioners.

In August 1999, Energas notified its customers about its intention to raise rates by $9.8 million. The rate increase was postponed pending a review by the West Texas Energas Steering Committee, which is made up of representatives from 67 Panhandle and West Texas municipalities served by Energas. The postponement was scheduled to expire Dec. 8; however, it later was extended until March 15.

mittee, the company lowered its request to 4.47 percent, or $5 million. Although the company did scale back its request, the two sides were not able to reach an agreement, and the committee has recommended referring the matter to the Texas Railroad Commission (TRC) for a settlement.

Both Energas and the committee have agreed to a mediated settlement if the TRC were to appoint the mediator. However, City Manager Chester Nolen said the commission has taken no action on the request.

Although no agreement was reached. Nolen did tell the commissioners he was confident the company negotiated in good faith.

Energas and the steering com- ers voted to table a 10-year franchise agreement with the company.

Energas request rejected

Mayor Pro Tem Roger Eades, presiding in the absent of Mayor Bob Josserand, said he was reluctant to approve the franchise agreement because of uncertainty about what might come out of the next legislative session.

There have been indications the Texas Legislature will deregulate the natural gas industry.

Alan Foster, area manager for Energas, agreed deregulation of the gas utility is likely. However, he said that even with deregulation, Energas will still own the distribution system. He also said he thought a clause in the franchise agreement would allow the parties to restructure the accord if the industry is deregulated.

City Attorney Terry Langehennig said Foster misunderstood the clause, but said the commissioners have the authority to structure the agreement as they want.

The commissioners voted to table the agreement, pending rewording of the franchise agreement to allow the parties to restructure it in event of deregulation.

Langehenning and John Holloway, attorney for Energas, will work out the wording in the agreement.

The commissioners also called a municipal election for May 6.

Commission seats to be on the ballot are Place 2 and 4, and two at-large positions (Places 5 and 6).

The incumbents are Angie Alonzo in Place 2; Wayne Winget, Place 4; and Roger Eades and Carey Black, at-

Alonzo is completing her first term; Winget, his fourth full term; Black, his fourth; and Eades, his fourth full term. Winget was appointed in 1990 to complete an unexpired term, while Eades was originally appointed in 1991. Filing for places on the ballot are Feb. 21-March 22. Early voting will be 8 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays April 12-May 2 in the Deaf Smith County Clerk's Office in the county courthouse, 235 E. 3rd.

All ballots will be cast on Election Day at the Hereford Community Center. In other business, the commissioners appointed Earl Hudgins, Dr. Ron Hiner, Marcus Wilson, Bill Forbes, Jimmy Parker and Linda Gonzalez-Hensgen to the Panhandle-Plains Higher Education Authority board.

District's in line for tech grant

Hereford Independent School District could receive up to $72,000 in new federal funding for technology support this year and possibly more next year if school officials receive enough comment from parents and the public.

The additional funding is under the E-Rate plan, which is part of the 1996 Telecommunications Act and is administrated by the Federal Communications Commission.

Funding made available under the act can pay for up to 80 percent of the district's costs in certain technology areas. This includes, but is not limited to, commercially available telecommunications services, Internet access and internal connections.

The district is surveying the public to determine usage of technology within the home and workplaces and plan for the education of students. The survey also

The Pentagon wants to spend $4 billion to purchase its first 10 production models of the F-22 stealth fighter, which is being built in part at Lockheed Martin's Fort Worth plant; and $1.9 billion to purchase 20 copies of the V-22 tilt-rotor, manufactured by Bell $2.5 billion over five years to Helicopter Textron in Fort Worth.

The budget also would provide a 3.7 percent pay raise to military personnel and would reduce service members' share of off-base housing costs by nearly 4 percent. Sure to be less palatable Congress is the to administration's renewed request for new rounds of military base closings in 2003 and 2005. Lawmakers have refused earlier calls for additional base closure rounds, still smarting over what Republicans view as improper White House meddling for political gain in the 1995 round.

The White House's decision to fund 430 new Border Patrol agents next year - shy of Congress' directive to add 1,000 agents — also is sure to provoke new disputes with congressional Republicans who have accused the administration of being soft on illegal immigration.

In yet another effort to blunt the impact of welfare cuts directed at legal immigrants in 1996, the administration is proposing spending let states provide health care to legal immigrant children and pregnant mothers, restore Supplemental Security Income for disabled immigrants, and restore food stamp benefits to certain immigrants. In projects of specific Texas interest, the budget would provide:

 $600 million for the State Criminal Alien Assistance Program, which helps states with large numbers of incarcerated illegal immigrants defray their prison costs.

• $236.2 million in Army Corps of Engineers funding to operate Texas waterways and lakes, including $53 million for continued improvements to Houston and Galveston navigation channels.

 $158 million for operation of the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, the nation's oil stockpile kept in underground caverns in Texas and Louisiana.

· $95.4 million for improvements at Texas military bases, up from the administration's $53.6 million request for this year

When this woman's husband died, he left her quite well-off financially. She has two children of her own who are also fairly wellhim if he plans to have a prenuptial agreement. The rest is up to him.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing about our 50-year-old son-in-law. This fellow has completed several years of college, holds a master's degree, and is a nice guy. He is very good to his wife and us. However, they have moved five times in the last 10 years, and always seem to be short of cash.

We have loaned them money, which has never been repaid. Our younger daughter has loaned them money as well, and they have not paid her back, either. This son-inlaw cannot seem to hold a job.

AMARILLO — Craig Yenzer probably was getting nervous Sunday at the Texas Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame induction ceremonies. After all, people kept talking about taking away his athletes.

Baltimore Orioles manager Mike Hargrove, a Perryton native, said during his induction remarks that he would still be managing the Cleveland Indians if he had Yenzer's athletes.

Phillips native Mark Hatley, the president of player person-nel for the Chicago Bears, said during his emotional induction speech that he might take a quarterback and kicker from Yenzer's squad back to Chicago with him.

However, Yenzer, who coached the Hereford White-faces into the state Class 4A finals in 1999, isn't ready to give some of his athletes up vet, until graduation, that is.

Yenzer was one of five people from Hereford honored Sunday by the Texas Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame at Ordway Auditorium on the campus of Amarillo College.

Yenzer was named football Coach of the Year, thanks to the Whitefaces' record-setting season and run for a state title.

Although it's an individual award, Yenzer, who was ac-companied by his wife, children and family from his native Oklahoma, pointed out that the award reflects on everyone involved with the Whiteface football team.

"You accept an award like this, but it represents a lot of people involved," Yenzer said, "starting with my wife and family, with the sacrifices they had to make.

"The coaching staff that has done such a good job, and then the players, of course, who were sold on what they were supposed to do on the team," Yenzer added. "It's a total effort and it takes a lot of people."

The mission that Yenzer puts in year in and year out has had an effect on his players. Two of them were honored by the TPSHOF.

Cody Hodges, who threw for 2,504 yards and 24 touchdowns in 1999, was named the football Player of the Year.

But again, following in the philosophy of unselfishness preached by the Hereford Whitefaces, Hodges credits the whole team for the award.

"It's a good honor, but it's not also a personal award, it's a team award," Hodges said.

"If it wasn't for coach Yenzer believing in us as a team, we couldn't have done what we did. We overcame a lot of adversity as a team and I am just glad that I accepted this on behalf of the team."

Now turn back the clock to Saturday, November 27, 1999. The Mustang Bowl, Sweetwater, Texas. Time was about 4:30 p.m. in 80-degree temperature.

With two minutes to go in the regional championship, Cody Hodges has a pass intercepted by Weatherford de-fender. The defender races down the field and meets Slade Hodges who forces a fumble. Hereford gets the ball back.

The Whitefaces drive to the Weatherford one and run down the clock until four seconds are left.

Rafael Campos kicks a 17yard field goal to win the game for the Whitefaces and a spot in the state semifinals against Hewitt Midway in the Class 4A Division I playoffs.

For that feat in the "Mustang Bowl Miracle," Campos received the Leslie and Nard Cazzell "Big Play" Memorial Award.

"I think the award should go to Slade (Hodges) because of the fumble recovery," Cam-pos said. "That was the big play of the game, but they chose me, so I'll take the award."

This is Campos' defining moment to what has been a great experience for the native of Sao Paulo, Brazil. The TPSHOF just adds to another special moment.

"It sure is great for me coming from Brazil that I was there on stage with the top athletes in the Panhandle and because quite a few were from Hereford," campos said. "Since the first time I got here, people were supporting me a lot, especially the coaches and the football players, my (host) family is great and I love them all.

The goals of a football team just reflect of the success Yenzer's club has accomplished in a short period of time.

You set some goals for yourself in this business and you try to reach a peak and I don't know if we've reached the peak that we've wanted to but we still have some goals to attain in the coming year," Yenzer said, "but it certainly makes all that hard work worthwhile."

The experience for Yenzer makes it all the memorable for his players, especially Campos.

Tiger wins 6th straight event at Pebble Beach

Woods comes back from seven strokes down to take Pebble Beach National Pro-Am Championship

By Rob Gloster

The Associated Press

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) - The ball landed 4 feet from the 15th hole and trickled back into the cup. Tiger Woods raised his right fist in the air in triumph, having turned the implausible into the inevitable.

Woods stretched his remarkable streak to six straight PGA Tour victories with an amazing comeback Monday in the final round of the Pebble Beach National Pro-Am, shooting six birdies and an eagle and overcoming a 7-stroke deficit with seven holes to play. Woods pulled within four of the suddenly vulnerable Matt Gogel, a PGA Tour rookie, when Woods pulled out a wedge for his second shot on the par-4 15th. He holed the shot from 97 yards away.

Though it only tied him for second place, the eagle seemed to demonstrate that the streak was not about to die on this gray day along the Pacific coast. "I'm back in it," Woods said as spectators cheered wildly.

Gogel, who began the day with a 5-stroke lead over Woods and extended that margin to seven by making five birdies on the front nine, had no idea Woods was leading until he walked up the 16th fairway and saw the leader board.

By that time, Woods had birdied 16 and 18 to finish at 15-under 273. Gogel had a chance 30 minutes later to force a playoff with a 10-foot birdie putt on the 18th, but missed it and then missed another short putt to fall into a tie V.J. Singh for second at 275.

Notah Begay, scheduled to begin serving a seven-day jail sentence later this month for a recent drunken driving conviction, was among three players tied for fourth at 12-under 276.

"I really thought it was V.J. or Notah that was one or two strokes behind me," Gogel said. "I was amazed. I will not ever be amazed anymore" It was the biggest final-round comeback of Woods' career and made him the first golfer since Ben Hogan in 1948 to win six consecutive tour events. The record is 11 straight victories by Byron Nelson in 1945.

His largest final-round comeback until Monday had been four strokes, at Las Vegas in 1996 and the Mercedes Championship in 1997. He won both those titles in playoffs. This time, he hugged caddie Steve Williams as Gogel's putt missed on the 18th.

Woods closed with an 8under 64, the lowest final round by a champion in the 53-year history of the Pebble Beach tournament.

He earned $720,000 to move past Greg Norman to No. 2 on the PGA Tour's career money list with more than $12.5 million. Woods is less than $32,000 behind leader Davis Love III.

"Coming from behind definitely leaves a nice taste in your mouth," Woods said. "It's less pressure to come from behind."

The tournament, which failed to complete its 72 holes by Sunday for the third straight year because of lousy weather, was extended to Monday when rain and high wind wiped out most of the first day of play last Thursday.

Gogel, who turns 29 on Wednesday, was nearly perfect during the first half of the round. He smiled while watching seals frolic in the ocean, and padded his lead.

But he never recovered after his first bogey of the day, on No. 11, and shot 40 on the back nine as Woods made his charge.

"It was as good as I think I have ever played for nine holes of golf, and then I had trouble coming home," Gogel said. "Trying to win a tournament for the first time and battling my emotions, it was tough.

It was the 17th career PGA Tour victory for the 24-yearold Woods, whose winning streak began in August. Among active players not on the Senior Tour, only Ben Crenshaw (19) and Norman (18) have won more.

Next up for Woods is the Buick Invitational this weekend in San Diego, where he is the defending champion. Should he continue to win, he could surpass Nelson at the tournament where Woods first gained national attention - the Masters.

"The guy's a champion, and he's proving it every week," said Begay, a former Stanford teammate of Woods. "It adds to the whole mystique of Ti-

After Woods' eagle on the 15th, he nearly had another eagle when his wedge on the 16th landed an inch in front of the cup. He made that 2-footer for a birdie, and finished off his round with a 3-foot birdie on 18.

Gogel, who has been in the final group two of the last three weeks, was asked whether Woods' victory was destined.

"I don't know about destiny," Gogel said. "He's just damned good."

49ers' Haley retires for good

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) Defensive end Charles Haley, the only player in NFL history with five Super Bowl rings, retired after a disappointing comeback with San Francisco last season.

Haley, 36, had 100 1/2 career sacks, including 10 or more in six of 14 seasons with the 49ers and Cowboys. He won his first two Super Bowl rings with the 49ers before being traded in 1992 to Dallas, where he won three more.

Future Hall of Famers? Maybe. But for now, they were honored for accomplishments in 1999 in the world of Texas Panhandle Athletics. Maybe one day, they will be in the same list with the likes of John C. Whinnery, Sr., Mike Hargrove, Mark Hatley and Merry Johnson-Byers.

Jones given probation for confrontation

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones' appeal of his sentence for a 1999 traffic stop has put his six months' probation and community service on hold in the case officials said Man the case, officials said Monday. The appeal also stops pub-lic release of a police videotape of the confrontation with police, which stemmed from a traffic stop in Dallas' up-scale Highland Park neighborhood.

Jones last week pleaded no contest to a Class B misdemeanor charge of interfering with a police officer's du-ties and was placed on deferred adjudication for six months — meaning that if his record remains clean for that time period, the charge is removed.

He must also pay a $750 fine and perform 24 hours of community service.

Additionally, the team owner must pay more than -$230 in court costs, a clerk for Dallas County Criminal Court-at-Law Judge Ralph Taite has said.

His sentence will remain on hold until the appeals process is exhausted.

The sentence stems from an Aug. 29 incident when Highland Park police stopped Jones and his family for allegedly speeding while en route to his grandson's baptism.

Jones later drove away and was arrested near Highland Park United Methodist Church. He has said he thought the officer had all the information he needed before he left the scene.

Speaking of volleyball, the TPSHOF recognized Hereford volleyball for the fourth time, with Brenda Kitten taking her third Coach of the Year award.

Kitten, who won this award in 1995 and 1996, happily takes the award for everyone involved in Lady Whiteface volleyball.

"We make a deal that every individual honor are certainly team awards," Kitten said. "It takes a family to get great things done and between our players, their fami-lies and the coaching staffs in every level, it took all those people to give us a chance, and when you get to win a state championship, it makes it that much sweeter."

Kitten, who jokingly said in her speech how they finally are recognizing "chick" coaches, feels good being recognized with so many other girls sports' coaches.

"This honor is a special one because there's so many great coaches out there that are coaching girls' sports and a chance to be recognized among that group is certainly an honor," she said.

But the highlight for some of the athletes was meeting some of the prominent people in sports from the area.

That can be a very humbling experience for some future Hall of Famers.

"Seeing Mike Hargrove up there and shaking his hand it was undescribable," Hodges said. "Playing in Texas Stadium is good, but seeing him on television and seeing him manage a professional baseball team and meeting him, I guess being surrounded by these great athletes from all over the place was pretty humbling for me."

"It's neat to see all the great athletes that do come out of this area," Yosten said. "You don't realize how many are from this area and it's neat to see them."

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an emply space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to wirte, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

* Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.

* Use Key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key workds are location, type of contruction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

* Don't use abbreviations. it's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brnad ads are billed by the workd, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

* Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. a a phone number and the best times to mach you

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arizona Sen. John McCain has narrowed the gap na-tionally in his race with George W. Bush and is locked in a tight struggle with the Targes governor in with the Texas governor in South Carolina, according to new polls.

The surveys attested to dramatic shifts that have been apparent in the GOP presidential campaign. An ABC-Washington Post poll released Monday gave Bush 48 percent, and McCain 43 percent, while Steve Forbes and Alan Keyes were in the low single digits in the race to win South Carolina's Feb. 19 primary. The difference between Bush and McCain was just outside the 4.5 percent-age point error margin for most likely voters. And McCain has cut into Bush's lead in national polls since late January when the Taxas governor led by about 50 points, according to several new surveys. The ABC-Post poll in South Carolina was designed to mea-sure the sentiments of those very likely to vote in a pri-mary with relatively low turn-out. Turnout in the past three GOP primaries has averaged below 10 percent of the state's voting age population, ABC pollster Gary Langer noted. This poll allowed for slightly higher voter participation in such a competitive primary, about 15 percent.

On 10 of 11 personal qualities, McCain scored higher than Bush in the ABC-Post poll. South Carolina's potential voters saw him as more likely to say what he really thinks, not a typical politician, some-one who knows world affairs.

Bush performed better than McCain among core groups in South Carolina, leading among those who identify themselves as Republicans, conservatives and members of the religious right. More than four out of five said McCain would be a good commander in chief, while two-thirds said that of Bush.

During a stop at the Col-lege of Charleston, she was introduced as "America's alltime favorite first lady" by former Gov. James B. Edwards, who served with her husband in Reagan's Cabinet.

Bush refuses to discuss policy - she says her son is good at expressing his own ideas — but notes his record on welfare reform and education in Texas, working with a Democratic-dominated Legislature, as evidence of his leadership. "I do see him on television saying, 'You know everybody says I look like my father.' But he said 'The truth is, I have my father's eyes and my mother's mouth.' What do you think he means by that?" she asked.

There is also a serious side. "As president, he will re-store dignity to the White House and will serve with honor," Bush said. "He will help restore Washington to a climate of mutual respect."

Bush gets trophy-hunters' award

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Ignoring a plea by the Humane Society of the United States, Texas Gov. George W. Bush has accepted a conservation award from an organization of trophy hunters that the society says promotes the killing of rare species.

Former President Bush accepted the Safari Club International's "Governor of the Year" award on behalf of his son here Saturday night.

The former president was the keynote speaker at the club's 28th annual convention. The Republican governor was in Texas resting up for his presidential campaign.

"My understanding is the group promotes conservation and wildlife management, and that's why they're recognizing the governor. That's why he decided to accept the award."

Battle lines drawn over package

WASHINGTON (AP) -President Clinton was so proud of what his final budget would do about eliminating the publicly held part of the national debt that he used a paint brush to draw a plung-ing blue line on a wall chart.

Angry Republicans, however, probably would have chosen the color red for Clinton's last budget - for the shame they charge he should feel about all his new spending programs, his tax increases and his modest tax reductions.

"The president proposed a laundry list of expensive, biggovernment programs the country doesn't need and tax increases the Republicans in Congress will never support," said Rep. J.C. Watts, R-Okla. Both sides in the debate wasted no time in staking out their positions for a debate that is certain to last all the way into November, when voters go to the polls.

Republicans contend that what voters want is less government and bigger tax increases. Clinton argues that what the country needs to keep the current prosperity going is a more balanced approach that addresses pressing needs such as a lack of health care, pays down the federal debt and offers targeted tax relief.

In releasing the budget on Monday, Clinton said it was important that the nation seize the current good times and bulging government surpluses to "make the most of this moment of promise to extend prosperity to all corners of our nation."

Clinton's $1.84 trillion spending plan for the 2001 budget year, beginning in October, would spend more for the environment, schools and gun-law enforcement while still pledging to take steps to erase the $3.7 trillion publicly held portion of the national debt by 2013.

Clinton also proposed a major expansion in the Earned Income Tax Credit that helps Republicans charged all the new spending programs were an effort to appeal to voters in hopes they will reward Democratic candidates in the fall.

"It has all the things for everyone they feel they'll need to get Al Gore elected president," House Budget Com-mittee Chairman John Kasich, R-Ohio, said.

Kasich and Senate Budget Commit-tee Chairman Pete JOHN KASICH Domenici, R-N.M., their committees

Even before that work is accomplished, House Republicans were moving to consider this week a 10-year, $182 billion plan to cut taxes for married couples, including those who pay more than if they were single. This is just one piece of their much larger $792 billion tax cut that Clinton vetoed last year.

In contrast, Clinton's budget would provide $351 million in more targeted tax relief to help pay the costs of college education, ease the burden of long-term nursing care and support retirement savings.

But Clinton also would raise $181 billion in other taxes, including a 25-cent-a-pack in-crease in cigarette taxes and $91 billion in higher taxes on corporations by eliminating cur-rent tax benefits. House Ways nd Means and Chairman Bill Archer, R-Texas, signaled the GOP would "strongly oppose" all of Clinton's tax increase pro-posals again this year.

Domenici and Kasich said they believed common ground could be found with the administration on a reduction in the marriage tax penalty and possibly on a program to offer the elderly help in paying for prescription drugs. Both sides already have

WASHINGTON - Responding to fears that advances in medical research could be abused by employers and others, President Clinton is barring federal agencies from discriminating against workers on the basis of genetic tests

Clinton's decision, which congressional aides said he would implement in an executive order today, echoes a bill sponsored by Sens. Tom Daschle, D-S.D., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. The bill, which is pending in Congress, would prohibit employers from refusing to hire people at risk for health problems and insurers from refusing to sell them coverage.

Congressional officials, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Monday that Clinton would announce his decision during a speech at the American Association for the Advancement of Science. White House aides declined comment. In addition to the order, Clinton was expected to voice his support for the Daschle-Kennedy legislation, which would extend assurances against abuse of genetic information to the general public - a step that would require congressional action.

Supporters of the bill said they hoped Clinton's action on behalf of federal workers would focus attention on the need to take similar steps to protect private sector employees.

Advances in genetic testing soon will allow doctors to predict the medical futures of their patients. That has raised concerns that such information could be used against those who are likely to suffer from cancer, diabetes, heart disease or other ailments.

Authorities see long talks with hijackers

STANSTED, England - British authorities negotiating with hijackers holding at least 150 hostages aboard an Afghan airliner settled in for a second day of negotiations today, warning the standoff could last "for days."

Since landing Sunday at Stansted airport, 25 miles north of London, the hijackers have requested only food, water, unspecified medical supplies and that the lavatories on the Ariana Airlines plane be emptied, police said.

"Negotiations remain our favorite option," Joe Edwards, an assistant chief constable of the Essex Police, said Monday. "I will say it could be a very protracted technique. It could go on for days."

However, what exactly the hijackers were negotiating for was unclear. A diplomat familiar with earlier negotiations when the airliner landed in Moscow said those holding the plane sought to free a prisoner held in the southern Afghan city of Kandahar.

Afghan media speculated the hijackers were dissidents who want the release of Ismail Khan, a former regional governor who has been held since 1997 by Afghanistan's ruling Taliban movement. Khan is a member of Afghanistan's opposition alliance, which still rules roughly 10 percent of the war-shattered country.

Edwards said police were in contact with the plane throughout the night and that both the hostages and the hijackers remained calm.

"The people we are talking to are remarkably calm, and that's really important," he said. "The atmosphere is one of control, people behaving rationally. That's going to help an awful lot."
