Storms, some severe, forecast for weekend

A new storm system advancing through the Plains is expected to bring Memorial Day weekend rainfall to Texas, with some requiring weather warnings, according to The Associated Press.

Early today, scattered showers and thunderstorms moved across the northwestern portions of North Texas into southwestern Oklahoma.

Morning temperatures ranged from the 50s in the Panhandle to middle and upper 70s and 80s in the lower Rio Grande Valley Extremes ranged from 84 degrees at Laughlin Air Force Base near Del Rio to 76 degrees at Burnet and New Braunfels.

Winds were generally southerly to southeasterly at 5 to 15 mph. Thunderstorms were moving across the eastern High Plains. With breezy conditions through the start of the weekend, highs should range from the upper 80s near the coast to around the cen-

The first Memorial Day was observed shortly after the Civil War when flowers were placed on graves of Confederate and Union dead.

On May 5, 1868, Gen. John Logan issued General Order No. 11 designating the day as Decoration Day. It was first observed May 30, 1868.

Until after World War I, the Northern states observed Decoration Day on May 30, with the former Confederate states observing a different day. The name was changed to Memorial Day in 1882 and those who died in all of the nation's wars were to be honored. In 1971, Congress passed legislation designating the last Monday of May for the national observance of Memorial Day.

In addition to giving farmers direct payments this year, the measure would pour $8.2 billion into the federally subsidized crop insurance program, starting with next year's crops. That money will make the insurance much cheaper and available for more crops.

"By providing producers more affordable levels of coverage, there should be less need for Congress to pass emergency assistance on a year to year basis," said Sen. Pat Roberts, R-Kan.

The insurance can cover revenue losses as well as weather-related crop failures

Congress gave final approval to the aid package Thursday and sent it to President Clinton for his expected signature. The Senate passed the legislation 91-4 after the House had passed it on a voice vote.

The legislation includes $5.5 billion in cash payments that are ex-

The payments would mean an estimated $16,000 this year for a 500-acre corn farm, while a typical wheat grower would get about $19,000 more. A farmer growing 300 acres of cotton would receive an additional $12,000.

Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman praised the insurance overhaul, but he said Congress also should have done something about the 1996 farm law, which ended a Depression-era system of price supports and production controls. "The bleeding continues, and we're getting ready to apply yet another very expensive tourniquet when the situation actually calls for a blood transfusion," Glickman said.

This is the third straight year that Congress has passed a multibillion dollar package of farmincome assistance to compensate for low commodity prices.

The money has stabilized farm income and land values, said Alan Barkeep, an economist with the Fed-

USDA officials say the extra money for crop insurance will pay for itself by making farmers less dependent on other forms of government aid.

In addition to reducing premiums, coverage will be expanded to fruit, vegetables and other commodities for which insurance hasn't been available before. The federal subsidy for the most popular level of insurance will rise from 42 percent to 59 per-

The farm lobby also is pushing Congress to allow sales of food to Cuba and won a small victory Thursday. The House GOP leadership, which wants to preserve the embargo on Cuba, had planned to force a vote on the issue Thursday but abruptly put it off until after the congressional Memorial Day recess.

Combest: Act significant reform of crop insurance

By Donald M. Cooper Hereford Brand Managing Editor

The chairman of the House Agriculture Committee said today the $15 billion farm assistance program now on President Clinton's desk is the most major reform in the history of the crop insurance program. Rep. Larry Combest, the Lubbock

Republican whose 19th District includes Deaf Smith County, said he hopes the legislation, which is expected to be signed by Clinton, should "give us an opportunity to have a good program so the farmers won't need any assistance in the future."

In addition to giving farmers direct payments this year, the measure would pour $8.2 billion into the federally subsidized crop insurance program, starting with next year's crops. That money will make the insurance much cheaper and available for more crops. The other $7.1 billion in producer assistance was approved earlier by Congress for use in this fiscal

"What we wanted to do was get it out there so the producers will know exactly what they will get," Combest

The crop insurance bill, or "Agricultural Risk Protection Act" (H.R. 2559), allows producers the maximum insurance coverage on economic risks faced for weather and market losses in both crops and livestock. The bill was introduced by Combest last year, shortly after he assumed the duties as agriculture committee chairman.

The legislation offers insurance coverage that is based on the farmer's "productive capability with comprehensive protection to manage risk from low market values and weather losses ... Passage of this major crop insurance reform bill reduces the need for producer dependence on costly disaster assistance packages, and the economic assistance package gives our farmers in West Texas some reassurance that they will be able to continue operating their businesses next year," Combest stated.

The measure directs $5.466 billion in market loss assistance payments to producers between Sept. 1-30, in amounts equal to their 1999 transition payment checks, a process that Combest said gives the producers the ability to predict the payments from year to year.

About $1.6 billion in additional assistance, which was included in the Fiscal 2001 budget, includes $500 million in oilseed payments; $100 for cotton seed assistance and $47 million in economic aid for peanut producers.

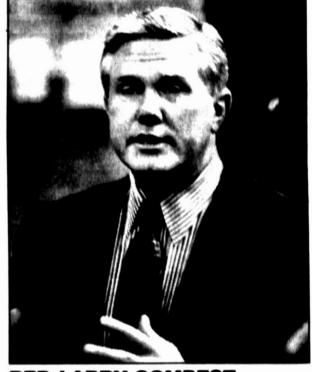

Payments to area producers are:

Deaf Smith County, $9.899 million; Oldham County, $1.201 million; and Parmer County, $12.332 million.

On a related matter, Combest said he was pleased with the participation at field hearings his committee conducted around the nation as part of an effort to reform the 1996 Freedom to Farm Act.

"It pointed out what we already knew going into the hearings," Combest said. "While people don't have a consensus about what to do with the problems in the act — and there are no easy solutions - they don't want to scrap it and start all

RER LARRY COMBEST

House Agriculture Committee chairman says legislation is most significant reform ever made to crop insurance program.

> "The producers like the flexibility that lets them decide what commodities to plant and how much. In the past, the government made that decision," he said.

Combest said the job facing the committee is to develop legislation that maintains the good elements of the 1996 bill, while providing an adequate safety net for producers.

Engineers: bonfire inquiry unlikely

AUSTIN (AP) - A committee chairman of the state engineering board that has considered investigating the deadly Texas Aggies' bonfire collapse now says it's unlikely the agency will pursue the matter.

The Texas Board of Professional Engineers' nine board members will decide whether to accept recommendations of their General Issues Committee or pursue an investigation when they meet in Corpus Christi next month.

Board members had planned to review the report by a fivemember commission appointed by Texas A&M University. It blamed flawed construction techniques and a lack of adequate supervision of students assembling the 2 million-pound log stack for the Nov. 18 collapse that killed 12 Aggies and injured 27 others.

State engineering committee members, in response to the report, agreed with the commission's declaration of the bonfire as a complex engineering project. However, they disagreed on whether state law and their rules obligated the agency to regulate the bonfire.

POPULATION COUNT: Even though 84 percent of Texas residents have responded to the 2000 Census, thousands more have not been counted, said U.S. Commerce Deputy Secretary Robert L. Mallett, who was in Dallas Thursday to urge continued cooperation with census takers. "An interesting paradox is that the heaviest nonresponse in our follow-up work load is the more affluent areas," he said of some Dallas suburbs. ... ENTERGY-POWER USAGE: With a hot, dry summer blanketing the South early, Entergy Corp. on Thursday asked its power customers in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas to voluntarily cut back their use of power.

West Texas leads state census count

DALLAS (AP) — Census takers' efforts in West Texas are taking the lead in the 2000 count, with the rest of the state ranking with the na-tional average in the percent-age of households counted.

The count in El Paso is 89 percent complete, said Patricia Roybal, U.S. Census spokeswoman.

Before census workers began counting door-to-door last month, El Pasoans were among national leaders in mail-in responses, with 69 percent compared to Texas' 61 percent and 65 percent for the United States.

The hardest part is having to go back and make contacts in person or on the phone when people aren't available,' Lyzzie Garcia, a census taker, told The El Paso Times.

The retired legal secretary is among about 900 census takers in the El Paso area trying to count everyone by July 7. The deadline is Aug.

The number of Texas homes enumerated by the census is 86 percent of the estimated total, Deputy Secretary of Commerce Robert L. Mallett said Thursday.

About 85 percent of households have been counted nationally, said Mallett, whose department oversees the census count.

"We're trying to remind people that the census is not over." Mallett said. "We're only halfway there and we still need people to participate."

Census workers had to fight an initial lag in mail-in re-

"There are a lot of reasons Texas was behind in mail-ins." Mallett said. "This is a highly diverse state with a lot of immigration and that might contribute to the lower response rate."

Also, highly populated urban areas historically have had lower response rates.

"Another probable cause is that Texas has five of the top 20 cities in the U.S.," he said. "There are very few other states that can boast that, but that's a lot of big, big towns with urban areas.

Reaching rural areas also has been difficult, but the majority of households welcome enumerators, Mallett said.

"It gets tough," he said. "People don't mince words out there (in rural parts of West Texas)," he said. "But overall, the trend is how helpful people are being. We're pleased about that. I think people have been touched by the advertising campaign and that has helped." In Dallas, 84 percent of homes have been accounted for, Mallett said. But census workers have been surprised to find one of their heaviest workloads in wealthy neighborhoods.

Organic gardening

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — Gardeners might be surprised to find useful tools in the pantry and learn that some of their plants' best friends have six legs. But gardening with natural products rather than chemicals is, well, a natural, said Howard Garrett, an organic gardening expert.

A simple product such as cornmeal can control fungal diseases in the landscape, said brown patch will have an almost immediate greening effect, he said. "It stimulates beneficial organisms, particularly trichoderma, which gobbles up pathogens." Pest problems can be conquered with other bugs, such as nematodes, trichogramma wasps, lacewings and ladybugs. It's all part of the natural balancing act.

"The thing that is really so hard for chemically oriented people to accept is that dis-Augustine grass suffering with eases are nothing but microorganisms out of balance. It doesn't matter whether it's in the human body, on a plant or in the ground," he said in a telephone interview from his Dallas office. "Everything we do with an organic program is about getting organisms back in balance."

Garrett author of "Organic Manual" notices a shift toward a natural, healthy approach to gardening.

Organic food sales have become a $25 billion-a-year business, and the amount is projected to grow to $60 billion in the next three years, he noted, adding, "organic gardening is growing at the same curve.

"More people are getting in-terested in their health and buying products they think are healthy for them," Garrett said.

The landscape architect's quest for information eventually led him to Malcolm Beck in San Antonio, where he soaked up his mentor's advice.

Last year, my parents celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Trying to find the right gift was a real challenge. My younger sister suggested a scrapbook filled with memories. Each sibling (there are eight of us) was given three pages to fill with anything we chose. Try as I might, I could think of nothing to put on my pages. I finally wrote them this letter, which I hope you will print for all those who have parents they love and cherish:

To My Parents on Their 60th Anniversary: How do I say thank you for all the love and caring over the years? How do I repay all the nights you stayed up when I was sick, and all the floors you walked when I was late coming home? What can I give you for all the times you supported me in my triumphs, and provided a shoulder when there were losses? What present is there for all the times we just sat together and shared our warmth? How do I thank you for the guidance when I was unsure of my way, and your restraint to allow me to find it myself? You nurtured my growth, yet allowed me my independence. How can I measure the worth of your love? What gift is enough?

The answer came to me today. No box can hold it, no wrapping can cover it, nor can a ribbon tie it. No store had it on a shelf. My gift is not to you, it is to my children. I promise to care for them when they are sick, and walk the floors when they are late. I will share with them their victories, and comfort them when there are losses. I will help them to grow, yet let them choose their own path. I'll be there when they need me, and step aside when they must go alone.

And someday, maybe, they will come to me and say, "How can we thank you for all you have done for us?" And I will tell them, "Don't thank me. Thank my parents. For I am the product of their love, and you are my greatest gift to them." Sign me - Chris in Abilene, Texas

Members from health care, community service, business, civic organizations and the community at-large are welcome to serve on or assist the committee.

"The Deaf Smith County Area Partnership for Moms and Babies is a positive sign for the community," Lee Persefield, executive director of the Coalition of Health Services, said. "This group of local citizens is ready to help mothers and babies achieve better health care from the first weeks of conception well into toddlerhood."

Persefield added that the committee was established in part due to the leadership shown by Hereford Regional Medical Center, along with local medical clinics, doctors, nurse practitioners and nurses.

2CARE for MOMS participants enter prenatal care within the first 12 weeks of pregnancy and are awarded points for each prenatal appointment kept. Along with the baby's father, a participating mother also can earn points for attending related education classes. When her baby arrives, the mother contacts the Baby's Coming Shop to select a ree gift or gifts depending on the number of points earned.

The 2CARE for Babies program rewards mothers for breast-completing their child's well-child checkups and immunizations during the first year. Points earned can be redeemed for a free gift or gifts upon the baby's first birthday. Participants may personally select gifts during a visit to the Baby's Coming Shop in Amarillo or request delivery.

A joint project of the Coalition of Health Services and the March of Dimes, the unique Baby's Coming Shop rewards women and infants from across 26 counties in this region of Texas. Points earned through the 2CARE for MOMS and 2CARE for Babies programs may be redeemed for free gifts such as diapers, breastfeeding aids, blankets, clothing, high chairs, strollers and cribs.

The Baby's Coming Shop is stocked with donations of new and gently used baby items from retailers, individuals, churches and civic organizations. Grants and cash donations are used to purchase needed items. The Deaf Smith County Area Partnership for Moms and Babies will work to increase local donations to the

As the recipients of the "Fans of the Year 2000" award we would like to thank Wallace Hill and the Whiteface Booster Club for selecting us. It is an award we never expected to receive & we feel very honored. To us, the highlight of the presentation was when the combined athletic organization turned to us with an ovation. What wonderful, good young people they truly are.

Some will be leaving us this year and they will be missed but praise God, there is a new crop every year! How blessed we all are.

A big thanks to the Booster Club for their support of the athletes, the coaches for their continuing training and character building and also to our friends, Jerry & Cindi Walker who made it possible for us to go to many games.

To be a fan of the athletes of H.H.S. is a thrill a minute.

FELLOWSHIP

OF BELIEVERS There is one more Sunday in Eastertide and then - the liturgical season of Pentecost that begins on June 11. This extended season of Easter gives the church community more time to sing Resurrection songs and to dance around in all the realities of Easter.

And speaking of Pentecost and June 11, please mark it down that the incomparable Cliff Custer will be at FOB on that date. Cliff Custer is an Oregonian who loves Texas. He is an ordained Presbyterian minister who has written and spoken extensively on the subject of the inner child: that piece of us all that colors who we are and how we behave. He will speak/share along these lines both at 9:30 "Forum" and at the 10:30 worship time. The 10:30 slot will be adjusted to allow Cliff time to do "his thing." "His thing" has to do with being extremely sensitive to the needs of people, reading both their pain and their potential and loving them into wholeness. Pastor Stone's assessment is that Cliff Custer is one of a handful of Christian ministers who really has it together and whose wisdom and tutelage are worth pursuing.

Cliff Custer will lead a retreat in Amarillo in October. For more nformation about that please contact

SPRING SCRIMMAGE

Spring scrimmage — The Hereford High School football team finished their first set of spring workouts with a team scrimmage on Thursday night. The scrimmage gave players a chance to get out on the field and show their stuff to the community and coaching staff. The scrimmage was cancelled shortly after stormy weather appeared at Whiteface Field producing rain and lightning. The shortened scrimmage gave the maroon team a 12-0 victory over the white team after only three quarters of play. A summary of Thursday's events and a look at the Herd's first spring training with head coach Craig Yenzer will be featured in Saturday's sports section of the Hereford Brand.

Rangers win, 5-3

Texas avenges Wednesday's 3-0 shutout loss to Royals

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) -Even Scarborough Green admitted his catch was the play of the game. Brian Johnson, the victim, didn't disagree. In one of the finest plays seen in Kauffman Stadium this season, Green — on a dead run — made a back-to-theinfield catch of Johnson's drive to deep center Thursday night.

Instead of getting two runs with a double or triple and going ahead 4-2, the Royals got just one run on a sacrifice fly and led 3-2. Then the Rangers scored three in the seventh for a 5-3 vic-

"I thought for sure I had it over his head," Johnson, the Royals catcher, said. "The next time he came up, I asked him why couldn't he just let that one go. I said no one would blame you for not getting to that one."

Green was a last-minute replacement in center for Ruben Mateo.

"It was a ball over my head," he said "I was playing shallow as I usually do. I picked a spot on the wall where I thought it was going to be, and there it was."

Rafael Palmeiro drove in three runs, including a solo homer in the second that tied him with Rocky Colavito for 45th in baseball history with "It just means I've been around for a long time," Palmeiro said. The 13-year veteran also had a tiebreaking, two-run single off Jose Santiago (2-4) in the seventh.

"It really doesn't mean any-thing to me except that I'm passing guys whose names are known," Palmeiro said. "I've been off and on all season, I've been hot and cold. And now it seems to be coming.

Ivan Rodriguez was 3-for-5, raising his average to .381 and moving ahead of Anaheim's Darin Erstad for the AL lead.

While Palmeiro took a "sowhat" approach to his mile-stone homer, the Royals were all impressed.

"Palmeiro hit a pitcher's pitch, down and away," Kansas City manager Tony Muser said. "He's quite a hitter. Very compact. Never seems to get off stride. When you can pull a pitch that's down and away over the left-field fence, that's something."

Esteban Loaiza (3-2)
went 6 2-3 innings for the victory, giving up three runs on 10 hits, with a walk and five strikeouts.

John Wetteland pitched the ninth for his 12th save. He has recorded saves in nine straight appearances, breaking the Rangers record set by Mike Henneman in 1996.

"If I sit here and gloat about setting a record, and then I go out and blow tomorrow's game, what does it mean?" Wetteland said. "We're not concerned with anything except winning tomorrow."

The Royals, who broke the Rangers' seven-game winning streak the night before, shut them out for 13 straight in-nings before Palmeiro homered in the second. David Segui then homered on Mac Suzuki's next pitch the first time this season the Rangers hit consecutive homers.

After Luis Alicea tied it 3all with an RBI single in the seventh off Jose Santiago (4-2), Rodriguez sliced a line drive down the right-field line.

Belfour's glove side at 4:30. "Joe made a great play, blocking the shot and tracking it down," Bourque said. "I don't know if Belfour thought I was going to shoot it when I did. I just kind of chipped it.

"I think we still have our best game in us. I'm expecting us to play it in Game 7. This is why I came here (in a trade from Boston on March 6), to be in this situation.'

Penalties against Drury and Adam Foote gave Dallas a 5on-3 advantage for 1:14 later in the period, and the Stars capitalized on Hull's goal at Dallas' Mike Modano had to be assisted from the ice after being stunned by Foote's hit that drew a high-sticking penalty, but Modano returned late in the period.

Avs push series to seventh game

Modano hit hard in Dallas loss to Colorado

DENVER (AP) - Off his knee, nothing but net.

Chris Drury's deflection late in the third period kept Colorado alive in the Western Conference finals as the Avalanche beat the Dallas Stars 2-1 Thursday night, forcing a decisive Game 7.

Ray Bourque assisted on Drury's goal and scored Colorado's other goal, helping the Avalanche tie the best-ofseven series at 3-3. Game 7 is set for Saturday night in Dal-

The Avalanche were desperate for a break, having outshot the Stars 110-56 in the previous three games, but winning only once. Drury's goal could only be described as fortuitous.

Attempting to redirect Bourque's waist-high shot with his stick, Drury instead de-flected the puck off his knee for the game-winner with 3:51 left in the third period.

"Ray made an unbelievable shot to get it through," Drury said. "Initially, I felt some-thing. I think it might have hit my stick a little bit. It hit square on my knee and went "With all the shots we've been throwing at them, it's certainly nice to get one like that, off the knee. I'll definitely take it."

Colorado coach Bob Hartley said his team "finally got a lucky break. This could be the start of something."

Hartley praised Bourque, saying, "What a great performance! He was the general on the blue line and did an outstanding job. Ray was very dominant."

Patrick Roy had 26 saves, extending his NHL record for career playoff victories to 121. Ed Belfour made 19 saves.

Bourque's goal early in the second period put the Ava-lanche ahead, but Brett Hull tied it with a power-play goal later in the period. It was Hull's ninth goal of the play-offs and fourth goal in the last three games. Dallas defeated Colorado in last year's conference finals. rallying from a 3-2 deficit en route to capturing its first Stanley Cup. "I like our position," Hartley said. "With tonight's win, we generate some momentum."

Stars coach Ken Hitchcock wasn't so sure.

"I don't know if one team has the momentum because our team is not down at a 1 1, Hitchcock said. "We're playing our way — gritty, grindy, in-your-face hockey.

"We had them bogged down for most of the third period. We made one mistake, and it was in our net. It got tipped off some guy's something."

Stars defenseman Derian Hatcher said the Stars "wanted it to end tonight, but we aren't disheartened. It was just one of those goals. If we give the same effort Saturday, we will be all right. Now we have one game on our ice."

■ Cedeno out six to eight weeks after injuring hand

HOUSTON (AP) - Enron Field proved again that it's a launch site.

The Houston Astros and Philadelphia Phillies combined for seven home runs Thursday night, increasing the season total at Enron Field to 84, just 34 fewer than all of last

"People have to realize that home runs are going to be hit frequently here," Philadelphia's Mickey Morandini said after Houston defeated the Phillies 10-6.

The Astros and the Phillies have combined for 13 home runs in their last two games, matching the most home runs hit in consecutive games at Enron Field.

"It's a great place to hit, especially for right-handed hitters. There are going to be a lot of home runs hit here, said the Phillies' Pat Burrell. who hit his first major league home run.

"That home run was great.

I didn't see where it hit, I just know I hit it hard."

Philadelphia manager Terry Francona suggests that pitchers should adjust to the park if they want to be successful

"If you leave pitches out over the plate, hitters should feel good because they will be rewarded. But it's that way for both teams," Francona said.

That was a problem for losing pitcher Andy Ashby, according to Francona.

"He didn't locate well. He had some zip on his fastball, but he left it up and he left his slider over the plate, too,"

Francona said.
Mitch Meluskey was one of four Astros who homered.

"It's good for hitters to hit in this park, but I've been trying to do too much. I've been trying to hit everything out. I just need to relax and they will go out," Meluskey

Joe Slusarski retired six straight in the seventh and eighth, then allowed one hit in the ninth to record the first save of his career.

"To me, Slusarski was the biggest story of this game,' said Houston manager Larry Dierker, who won his 300th lead, and they kept scoring

He has really been a pleasant surprise. When you bring a guy up just because someone's hurt, he starts out at the bottom of the pecking order. But he's been so consistent, he has been moving up steadily."

Slusarski came up on May 5 after going 2-1 with a 2.25 ERA at New Orleans. He has appeared in 10 games since then and has a 2.70 ERA, the best on the team. He has allowed only four earned runs in 13 1-3 innings.

Scott Elarton (3-1) went six innings and allowed six runs on seven hits to record the

"Our offense really picked me up. I kept giving up the game as a manager. "For him more for me. It's great to have guys who can score like that. You are never out of the game with an of-fense like that," Elarton said.

The Phillies lost both manager Francona and coach Chuck Cottier after they were thrown out of the game for arguing with um-pires on two different occasions. They were the first ejections of the year for Philadelphia.

Jeff Bagwell, Ken Caminiti and Meluskey each hit tworun home runs, and Richard Hidalgo had a solo homer for the Astros.

Houston outfielder Roger Cedeno injured his left hand sliding into first base in the fourth inning of the game and is expected to be out 6-8 weeks. Cedeno fractured two homered for the Phillies. bones and ruptured a tendon on his ring finger.

Burrell, who made his ma-jor league debut a night earlier, hit a towering home run that bounced off the top of the left-field facade, and Bobby Abreu and Desi Relaford also Ashby (2-5) surrendered eight runs, seven earned and nine hits in five innings. Philadelphia, which squandered 2-0 and 4-3 leads, moved ahead in the first on Abreu's two-run homer, his third in two days.

KRUGER SAYS YES TO HAV

Kruger will replace legendary Wilkens

ATLANTA (AP) - Lon Kruger's career took a turn he never expected — coaching in the NBA.

"I never expected to make this change," Kruger said Thursday after he was introduced as the new coach of the Atlanta Hawks. "Never at all had I seen coaching in the NBA as a destiny. I love the college game."

Kruger admitted he sometimes thought about how he would stack up as an NBA coach, but he was satisfied with his college career, one that spanned 18 years at four schools — Texas-Pan American, Kansas State, Florida and

He was well aware that the Hawks were in the mar-ket for a coach when the team courted Michigan State's Tom Izzo after he steered the Spartans to the NCAA championship.

Izzo talked with Kruger about the Hawks job before he decided to remain at Michigan State. During those discussions, Kruger said he never imagined he would be in line for the Atlanta line for the Atlanta

"Leaving Illinois was very difficult,"

The Illini, a young team, went 22-10 last season, losing in the second round of the NCAA tournament. It was the Kruger took Illinois to the postseason event, and the future looked bright in Champaign.

He said he called as many of the Illinois players his Illinois players as he could to tell them, adding that they were all sup-portive of his decision. "They were great. They made it easier than it could have been."

will change from the deliberate style favored by Lenny Wilkens, who resigned April 24 after a 28-54 record — worst in Atlanta history. Wilkens left with the most victories in NBA history, a 1,179-981 record in 27 seasons.

"We're going to get after it," Kruger said. "I know only one way to coach."

Kruger said he has talked with several of his new players.

"I think they want to work hard to get it done," he said.
Half of the Hawks squad is not that far removed from college either — age 20 to 24.
Point guard Jason Terry, 22, stood watching as Kruger answered reporters' questions.

Terry and forward Alan Henderson have been at the gym every day since the season ended.

"What I want is for him to let every player know that being in the gym on a daily basis is not only expected, but demanded," Terry said.

Organized labor reviewing support for Demos after China trade vote

WASHINGTON (AP) - Local union officials and workers will decide whether to pull their political support from Democratic allies who defected on the China trade vote, AFL-CIO President John Sweeney

"We will mount the biggest effort ever to engage working men and women in judging the records of every single candidate," said Sweeney.

The labor chief described his mood after this week's House passage of union-op-posed legislation to increase trade with China in one word: "Angry."

"I think we have to take a look at encouraging more progressive candidates in primary races," Sweeney said.

The trade defeat put unions in an awkward position: The AFL-CIO has been pouring millions of dollars into a campaign to win Congress and the White House for its friends in November — traditionally Democrats who champion

Beyond this fall, Sweeney union causes, from supporting said the AFL-CIO will start minimum wage increases to opposing Social Security privatization. Yet many of those friends — 73 Democrats — voted in favor of the Clinton administration-backed trade legislation, and Vice President Al Gore offered his muted support.

In retaliation, local Team-sters have already notified several Democratic lawmakers they are pulling back support previously offered. Among them are Reps. Lois Capps of California, Thomas Sawyer of Ohio and Dennis Moore of Kansas.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same intem/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs."

Then rememeber these hints: · Give the price. A newpaper consultant says 70 percent of · Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save

· Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

· Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach
