WILDFIRE

Winds whip blaze in Sangre de Cristos; 1,500 acres burned

PECOS, N.M. (AP) — Firefighters struggled today with a blaze that burned at least 1,500 acres in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains and forced the evacuation of scores of people.

Officials worried about hot, dry, windy weather as the day progressed.

"Here's the kicker — winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour out of the southwest are pushing the fire away from developments, but they could push to 30 miles an hour, and there's a slight chance of dry thunderstorms, which will give us erratic wind conditions," fire information officer Don Butz said.

The Viveash Fire was burning some 6 miles northeast of Pecos in ponderosa pine and mixed conifer trees in the Santa Fe National Forest and on private land.

Residents in Pecos Canyon were evacuated from their homes about 30 miles southeast of Santa Fe. Authorities didn't know exactly how many people were involved.

The area was crowded with Memorial Day campers, who scurried to pack up their gear and flee when the blaze broke out Monday.

"If the smoke didn't scare them out of the canyon, I'm sure they were asked to leave," said Delores Maese, a Santa Fe National Forest spokeswoman.

No structures were confirmed burned and no injuries were reported.

Hereford men die in wreck

Two Hereford men were killed Saturday afternoon in a two-vehicle collision on South Progressive Road.

According to Texas Department of Public Safety reports, a 1968 Chevrolet pickup driven by Mikel Jarrett, 24, was left of the center line when it collided head on with a 1996 Toyota Avalon driven by Corey Barrett, 20.

Jarrett was pronounced dead at the scene; Barrett died during surgery at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

DPS officers are continuing investigation into the accident and are waiting toxicology reports.

SOMETHING NEW: Organizers of Town & Country Jubilee move the festival to June

By Donald M. Cooper

Hereford Brand Managing Editor

Organizers of the annual Town & Country Jubilee are trying something different this year — holding it earlier.

This year's jubilee will be June 10-17 instead of the first week in August, according to the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The jubilee has been a fixture in August, but organizers decided an earlier date would help boost attendance.

Among the planned activities:

June 9-10

Jubilee of the Arts, sponsored by the Hereford Pilot Club, at the Hereford Community Center. Hours are 4-6 p.m. June 9 and 9 a.m.-5 p.m. June 10.

June 10

Senior Citizens Center Quilting Show and activities and events at the Hereford Community Center; Greg Black Memorial 10-K Run at 8 a.m. For registration information for the Greg Black Memorial Run, contact the Hereford YMCA at 364-6990.

Jubilee Parade, begins at 10:30 a.m. at Hereford High School. The Mighty Maroon Marching Band, which will participate, is requesting former students to join in the parade. Anyone who is interested should contact band director Bill Nelson at 363-1101 or 363-7620 or call the chamber at 364-3333.

Jubilee Junction, immediately following the parade at Dameron Park.

Fighting blaze — Hereford Fire Department firefighters spray water on a fire in the shop at Beef Tech, located on U.S. Highway 385 north of the city. Three workers and a firefighter were injured and were taken the Hereford Regional Medical Center for treatment. Two vehicles in the shop were destroyed by the fire, which was called in at 8:02 a.m. today.

Pioneer of the Year — Catharine Ricketts Russell was the 34th recipient of the Pioneer of the Year Award presented during the 77th Mid Plains Reunion Celebration, which was held Saturday in the Deaf Smith County Barn. Attendance at the annual event totaled 227, drawing participants from as far as Palm City, Fla. During the business session, John Perrin was elected new president of the Mid Plains Reunion Association.

Consumer confidence up in May

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumer confidence jumped sharply in May, approaching the all-time high it reached in January. The unexpected rise in the closely watched indicator suggested that interest rate increases have not yet slowed consumer spending.

The Conference Board reported today that its Consumer Confidence Index rose to 144.4 in May following three months of declines, approaching its all-time high level of 144.7 reached in January. The index stood at 137.7 in April and analysts had been expecting a decline in May to 136.

Market reaction to the May survey was muted. Investors did not take the consumer confidence survey as a sure sign of more rate increases, and pushed stocks higher in early trading. The Dow Jones industrial average was up 125.08 points to 10,424.32 in late morning trading.

The strong comeback in consumer confidence shows that Americans remain optimistic in their outlook of the economy despite recent volatility in the stock market and a half-dozen interest rate increases from the Federal Reserve over the past year.

Lynn Franco, director of the Conference Board's research center, said that with unemployment at a 30-year low and other signs of favorable labor market conditions, consumer confidence was expected to remain strong through the summer.

"Volatile financial markets and interest rate hikes are not expected to have a significant impact on consumers' spirits," Franco said.

Economists keep a close eye on consumer confidence readings in order to gauge trends in consumer spending, which makes up about two-thirds of America's economy.

The sharp jump in consumer confidence comes despite an aggressive push by the Federal Reserve to cool down the economy. The Fed has raised interest rates six times since last June in a pre-emptive strike against inflation.

Investors have pushed down the shares of major retailers in recent weeks, anticipating that consumers would slow down their spending.

Study: Insurance reforms didn't help

"This confirms our findings that while the amount of insurance claims paid out to Texans has decreased, very little of the savings has been passed on to consumers."

■ D.J. POWERS,
Center for Economic Justice

DALLAS (AP) — Five years after Texas lawmakers enacted lawsuit reforms to help cut automobile insurance costs, the state still ranks 17th nationwide in the average cost of a policy.

Texas ranks even higher, at No. 15, in the average cost of liability protection, according to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' study.

"This confirms our findings that while the amount of insurance claims paid out to Texans has decreased, very little of the savings has been passed on to consumers," D.J. Powers of the Center for Economic Justice told The Dallas Morning News in today's editions.

"Insurers are pocketing extra profits while Texas drivers continue to pay the 17th highest premiums in the country," Powers said.

Most affected by the 1995 lawsuit limits signed into law by Gov. George W. Bush was liability coverage — representing more than half the cost of a typical automobile policy. Coverage included bodily injury claims, medical payments, property damage and uninsured motorists.

Earlier this month, insurance companies sought a 10.6 percent increase in the average benchmark rate for the state, while the consumer advocate contended overall auto rates should drop 4.8 percent.

Two administrative law judges, who first heard the arguments in September, have recommended an average statewide increase of 1.9 percent. Texas Insurance Commissioner Jose Montemayor was expected to rule on the new rates within weeks.

Most insurance companies under the benchmark rate system must charge either 30 percent above or below the rate set by the Department of Insurance.

An industry trade group contends that Texas automobile insurance premiums would have increased significantly if not for the 1995 law that made it more difficult to sue for damages arising from a wreck.

"Auto insurance rates in Texas have stabilized over the past few years and that is something we cannot say about the products and services for which we pay, such as mending broken bodies and repairing damaged vehicles," said Jerry Johns of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service.

Jury gets Karr's case

AUSTIN (AP) — Gary Karr's attorneys said today the government has failed to prove he took part in a conspiracy to kidnap and steal from missing atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair who disappeared with her family in 1995.

"You have a right to expect them to show convincingly, absolutely what happened," defense attorney Christy Williams told jurors in closing statements.

"They haven't done that," she said.

Prosecutors say Karr, 52, and two others conspired to kidnap and extort money from O'Hair, her son Jon Garth Murray and her granddaughter Robin Murray O'Hair.

Although no bodies have been found, investigators believe they were killed and dismembered.

During the two weeks of testimony, prison inmates testified that Karr told them he was involved in the slayings. Federal agents presented hundreds of telephone calls, car rentals, airplane trips and other financial transactions they said implicated Karr in the plot.

Prosecutors dismissed defense theories that the O'Hairs are still alive and fled the country to avoid trouble with the Internal Revenue Service.

Dan Mills, assistant U.S. attorney, said, "The simple notion that they fled was simply a rabbit trail to lead you away from what really happened — the killing of the O'Hairs."

But Karr's attorneys will argue that despite testimony that the O'Hairs were killed and dismembered — and entering of a bow saw and knives into evidence — no bodies have been found, leaving open the possibility the O'Hairs are still alive somewhere.

Tom Mills, Karr's attorney, said Thursday the prosecution did not prove otherwise.

"The defense analysis is that the government's case is not factually tight and insufficient in some significant areas," Mills said.

Two people testified for the defense that they saw O'Hair alive during the time prosecutors say she was kidnapped or killed — once during the summer or fall of 1995 in a San Antonio bar and once in a restaurant in Romania in November 1997.

Mills said the prosecution's complex case could be hard for the jury to understand.

"I think there is a lot of evidence for the jury to analyze," he said.

- A welfare concern was reported in the 300 block of South Texas.

- An unwanted individual was reported in the 100 block of Beach.

- A 16-year-old boy reported a 73-year-old man had threatened him with a knife.

- A ring, valued at $2,000 was reported stolen from the 600 block of Irving.

- A domestic assault was reported in the 400 block of Paloma Lane.

- Damage to a fence, estimated at $50, was reported in the 200 block of Fir.

- An emergency message, concerning the death of a relative, was transmitted to a relative in Phoenix.

- Criminal mischief was reported in the 100 block of Beach. Approximately $250 damage was done to vehicles windshield.

- A burglary was reported in the 400 block of Western. A $40 Craftsman sprinkler was stolen.

- A dog at large was reported in the 400 block of Avenue C.

- An attempted burglary of a habitation was reported in the 400 block of Paloma Lane. Door lock housing had been pried, but no entry was made.

Camp Hoblitzelle offers week of fun for area children

A week of camping fun is planned for 25-33 children from the Hereford area from June 19-14 at The Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle, located in Midlothian.

"This camp packs into one week fun; exercise, nature study, spiritual and character building programs which are often the local point for a positive, life-changing experience," Judy Baker, Service Unit camp chairperson for The Salvation Army in Hereford, said.

"Because of the public's generosity, we are able to send kids who would not otherwise have the opportunity to go to summer camp," Baker said.

The Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle covers 500 acres approximately 40 miles south of the Dallas/Fort Worth metroplex and provides opportunities for horseback riding, swimming, soccer, volleyball, miniature golf, archery, crafts and more.

"It will not cost the children a cent to attend the camp, but it does cost the local Service Unit committee to get the children there and The Salvation Army to provide this camping experience," Baker said.

Anyone wishing to help with this program can mail donations to the Salvation Army Treasurer at Room 201, Deaf Smith County Courthouse, 235 E. Third, Hereford.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married three years. He was divorced from a previous marriage in 1981. His youngest daughter is getting married soon. My husband has asked me not to wear the gown I had planned for this special occasion because I would outshine his former wife. He then said, "Everyone will be comparing you with her, and if you look too good, it will embarrass me and the children."

I am not much younger than the first Mrs. X, but I watch my weight and exercise, and she has let herself go. This is not the first time something like this has come up. His reason for being so concerned about her feelings is, "She is the mother of my children." Please comment. — Second Choice in California

Dear California: Even though Wife No. 1 is the mother of his children, his loyalties should be with you. From now on, don't give your husband any previews of what you plan to wear. Look your best, and if you outshine your predecessor, that's HER problem.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother passed away after a painful struggle with lung cancer. My father was grief-stricken, but my siblings and I were surprised at how soon he found a new companion.

The woman is financially comfortable (she doesn't need Dad's money), but we had never heard of her until they started to keep company.

Dad is in his mid-70s, very active and in excellent health. My siblings and I are still mourning the loss of our mother, and our father is out there having a good time. The way we see it, he is being disrespectful to her memory.

One of my brothers has shrugged it off, reconciling himself to the situation, and has invited Dad and his lady friend to his home for dinner. He figures it's only a matter of time before they marry, and that her might as well accept her graciously. Another there any set time for mourning a wife of more than 50 years? — Out East

Dear Out East: There is no "set time" for mourning, but I would say after three months, it is not improper for a man or woman who has lost a mate to appear publicly with a "new friend." My motto is: "Life is for the living."

I hope you and your siblings will rejoice in the fact that your father has found someone who will fill the void in his life. To do less would be unkind and shortsighted. Accept his new companion graciously. Your mother would want you to do that.

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter for my mother. She reads your advice every day, and this might hit home if she sees it in your column.

Dear Mom: You wonder why we don't invite you over very often and why we rarely visit you. The reason? Cigarettes. You know that we find smoking intolerable, yet your cigarettes are more important than having a close relationship with us. The clothes you give us as gifts are so permeated by the smell of smoke that we cannot use them. Even though we don't allow smoking in our home, you do it anyway, which makes us angry.

How sad that this disgusting habit is taking the place of your children and grandchildren. — Heartbroken in Oklahoma

Dear Oklahoma: Are you a new reader? Don't you know that smoking is an addiction? You don't have to visit your mother if it is too difficult to breathe in her home. However, please invite her to yours more often. To punish her for her addiction is cruel. Instruct Mom that she is welcome, but that she must go outside if she needs to smoke. Problem solved.

Rangers keep Detroit at bay, win 3-2

Wetteland gets ninth inning save for Texas

DETROIT (AP) — Recent success for the Detroit Tigers might have been just a blip in another dismal season.

Once again wasting numerous opportunities — including a bases-loaded, one-out chance in the ninth inning — the Tigers fell 3-2 Monday night to the Texas Rangers.

It was the second straight loss and fourth in five games for the Tigers (17-30). That comes after a 7-3 spurt that included a three-game sweep of the World Series champion New York Yankees.

"We had a nice stretch against the Yankees," Tigers manager Phil Garner said. "But now we're back to our old habits."

Detroit wasted a solid pitching performance from Jeff Weaver (1-5), who gave up three runs on seven hits in eight innings. The Rangers scored on Luis Alicea's two-run homer in the third inning and a solo homer by Rafael Palmeiro in the fourth after the Tigers led 2-0.

Singles by Dean Palmer and Bobby Higginson, a sacrifice and an intentional walk loaded the bases against Rangers closer John Wetteland in the ninth.

But third baseman Mike Lamb short-hopped Deivi Cruz's hard grounder and started a game-ending double play. Lamb stepped on third to force Higginson and threw home to catcher Ivan Rodriguez, who tagged Palmer for the final out.

Detroit hit into three other double plays against winning pitcher Kenny Rogers (3-4).

Lamb's double play ended the Rangers' three-game losing streak.

"Once he caught the ball, it's just a matter of deciding which way he wanted to go," manager Johnny Oates said. "It really doesn't matter which way he goes once he touches third base. He's got the force at second, but don't hit that runner going home in the back.

"It's a nice play. It's an exciting way for the ballgame to end for us."

It was typical, Weaver said, of the way things have gone for the Tigers.

"I really thought we were going to pull it out; I really did," Weaver said. "It was an inch away from being a double down the line."

Wetteland got his 13th save in 16 chances.

"You throw a slider there and hope you get a cheap out. A cheap double play on the first pitch," Wetteland said. "Deivi hit it pretty good. If it was a fastball it's probably lined up the middle."

The Rangers won for just the second time in six games after a season-best seven-game winning streak.

The Tigers played without Juan Gonzalez, who missed the game against his old team with a recurrence of a foot injury he developed over the weekend.

The series between the Tigers and Rangers is their first meeting since Gonzalez headlined a nine-player deal between the clubs last November.

Rogers had lost his last three starts and was winless in three outings since an 8-4 win April 30 over Baltimore. He gave up two runs on nine hits with no walks and four strikeouts.

"The key for me was once I gave up the two to keep it to two," Rogers said. "That was my thought process; to keep it to a minimum."

Rogers induced 13 groundouts.

"He went back to his offspeed stuff and got the sinker going and had a lot of ground ball outs," Oates said. "He kept his pitch count down and got the groundball double plays when he needed them."

Gonzalez strained his left foot Saturday. He was the DH and went hitless Sunday.

A young fan seated in the front row just past the first base dugout was apparently OK after being hit in the head by Ruben Mateo's foul liner.

Helton homers twice in 8-7 victory over Houston

Hidalgo has three hits in Astros loss

DENVER (AP) — Todd Helton is just as likely to get a hit as make an out at Coors Field this season.

Helton is batting .494 at home and has hit 12 of his 17 home runs in Denver.

Helton's second multihomer game at Coors Field in three days helped the Colorado Rockies defeat the Houston Astros 8-7 Monday. He homered twice Saturday in a 7-6 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"It's my home park. This is where I play 81 games a year. Why not feel great here?" Helton said.

Helton has 11 hits in his last 16 at-bats (.687), raising his major league-leading average to .417.

"He's one of the best players in the game right now," Houston's Jeff Bagwell said. "He's maintaining it and he's done a tremendous job. He's coming through with the big hits."

Helton's offense is replacing that of Larry Walker, the two-time NL batting champion who went on the disabled list May 13 because of a fractured right elbow.

"I don't think I've ever seen anybody swing the bat this long and as consistent as he has," Rockies manager Buddy Bell said.

With his fourth multihomer game this season, Helton raises his career total to 12. "I feel comfortable," Helton said. "It's totally mental. Even opposing teams come here and they know it's a great place to hit, and opposing pitchers come here and they're a little more tentative, and it just snowballs from there."

Astros manager Larry Dierker said he told Jose Cabrera to pitch Helton carefully.

"The whole idea was not to throw him any strikes," Dierker said. "And we threw the ball right down the middle to him twice. When you are facing the best hitter in the league, you are better off to walk him than to give him a pitch to hit."

The Astros dropped to 2-14 in one-run games this season. Houston's last four games have all been decided by one run, starting with last Friday's win over Atlanta, the Astros' first one-run victory this year.

White (5-0) pitched a scoreless eighth inning and Jose Jimenez survived a two-hit ninth for his eighth save. Colorado has 209 runs in 23 home games, an average of 9.09.

"There's never a safe lead here, and you always have to keep trying to push more runs across," Bagwell said. "It's easy to get back into a game here. We scored seven runs — their bullpen pretty much shut us down after that."

Richard Hidalgo went 3-for-3 with a three-run double for Houston, and Bagwell hit a 452-foot, two-run homer in the fourth.

Rockies starter Pedro Astacio allowed seven runs and nine hits in 5 2-3 innings.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!
Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.
For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs."
Then remember these hints:
• Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of
• Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
• Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
• Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach
