open-ended forecast for more have forced newspaper publishers to not only consider reducing the size of their newspaper page, but also the revenue they are receiving for their papers.

Publisher Mauri Montgomery announced this week the Hereford Brand will no longer be able to insulate its readers from the increasing newsprint costs. He said newsprint increases were passed on to customers of the newspaper's printing plant, North Plains Printing, a year ago.

The Hereford Brand last increased its overall subscription and single stand prices in 1994.

Beginning Saturday, single stand copies of the Brand's Weekend Edition will increase from 50 cents to 75 cents, while a new one-year, in-county subscription to the newspaper will increase to $69—up from $52. All other subscription levels, including senior citizen subscription rates, will increase proportionately, as

However, the subscription increases may not immediately affect every reader.

Through Nov. 1, current subscribers can hedge the increase by renewing as many one-year subscriptions to the Brand as they desire — at the current $52 annual subscription rate, Montgomery

CHRISTMAS, ALREADY?

■ Halloween and Thanksgiving haven't yet arrived, but retailers already are receiving the first of many boxes of Christmas goods

By Dianna F. Dandridge

Brightly colored leaves and racks of Halloween costumes provide the perfect backdrop for retail employees, who know their work is just beginning.

With the first chill of winter blowing the yellowed leaves from trees, employees and managers alike open the first of thousands of boxes of Christmas goods.

Halloween items are rapidly selling down; Thanksgiving is nearly skipped over, with only a minimum amount of space allotted to turkey platters, oven mitts, and autumn candles.

Christmas greeting cards are usually the first items on the shelves, and retail employees say: "Look, they're already putting out Christmas." Within days of hearing what appears to be negative remarks, the same employees are being asked: "When are your trees going to be out?" or "Will you have a good supply of those little light sets?"

Customers are already asking for favorite decoration pieces, such as angels, special stockings, or other novelties. Employees say the big rush for the toys has not yet hit, but they will be expecting it within the next couple of weeks.

"Right now, what we're seeing are older customers who want to see the new Christmas items. A lot of them don't have kids at home anymore and are more interested in the decorations and what all we have," Alco assistant manager Regina Burris said.

Burris said the trees are out of the back room, but are still in the crates. She said if someone really wants to see the trees, she'll have the employees unpack them.

"By the time Halloween is over, just about everything will be on display," Burris said.

Group manager Chris Cortez said he has had a few customers already looking for select toys, such as popular Blitz scooters or a particular doll, but right now the biggest interest remains the decorations.

Employees, for the most part enjoy the hectic pace of the pre-holiday season, but have some mixed feelings about the coming holi-

"The best thing about setting out the holiare bound to hear customers day merchandise is we get to see it all before everyone gets to pick through it," Cortez said.

"We like to show the new stuff to the other employees and see some of the oddities and attractions," Burris said.

Stocking up for the holidays isn't just fun and ogling the newest ornament. It also means larger trucks to unload, more stock in the back room and more merchandise which has to get out on the floor. "The trucks get really bad about now," Cortez said. "Sometimes they increase in size by more than half. It makes for a lot of work.'

Sometimes it means we have more stuff than we have room for in the back," Burris said. "Sometimes it's hard holding the stuff

Railroads pinched by grain prices

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — For a second straight year, low grain prices are keeping farmers and grain elevators from selling and shipping

Some railroad officials worry that if prices rise, the rush to move two years worth of grain will cripple the nation's transportation

Normally busy grain-hauling rail cars are not seeing much action this fall, Union Pacific Railroad spokesman Mark Davis said.

"We're in probably year four where prices - along with weather conditions and export issues - are affecting the movement of grain,'

Davis said. "With the low prices, producers and elevators are holding grain." Union Pacific uses 30,000 rail cars for in storage. Burlington Northern Santa Fe, on the other hand, is pleased with the volume of grain it is transporting grain. This week, 2,500 remained moving. The railroad based in Fort Worth, Texas, has 29,000 grain cars, with about 600 currently in storage. "Considering we usually have between 5,000 and 6,000 of those cars in storage during the off-season, that's pretty good," spokesman Steven Forsberg said.

Union Pacific has garnered criticism for recently increasing its shipping costs by about 3 percent. UP and Burlington Northern also have upset farmers and elevator operators by increasing penalties from $50 to $75 per day for grain elevators slow in filling grain cars.

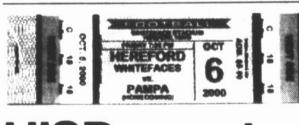

Rising fuel costs led to UP's rate increase, Davis said. Fines for late movement of rail cars had not significantly increased since 1992,

As long as grain prices remain low, farmers will keep their crops in storage, said Pat

Officials boost fair security

DALLAS (AP) — Police are stepping up security at the State Fair of Texas after a deaf worker was killed on the first day of his new job, with robbery as a probable motive.

Increased police patrols and enforcement will provide more protection inside and outside the fair during the late night and early morning hours, officers said Thursday.

Steven Lamar Armstrong was shot and killed at a bus stop just outside the fair gates as he waited for a ride late Wednesday night. Armstrong, who was deaf and mute, had just completed his first day on the job and was carrying just enough change for the bus ride home, his sister said.

"This is so senseless," Dorinda Marshall, the sister, told The Dallas Morning News in Friday's editions. "My brother is not breathing today because someone couldn't get money from him."

Armstrong, 38, was lying on a sidewalk and several men were running away from the same area when officers arrived, said Deputy Chief Ron Waldrop, a police spokesman.

The shooting occurred about 11:55 p.m. Wednesday, about an hour after the fair closed. "Regardless of the fact that the fair was over and was secured for the night, we are going to make adjustments," Police Capt. Marlin Price said. "We are going to be making significant changes to ensure fairgoers and workers are safe."

Food stamp guides face change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food stamp recipients could own a better car and live in highercost housing under an agreement by congressional negotiators that may add 900,000 families to the nation's food stamp rolls.

Participation in the program has dropped by a third over the past four years, partly because of the booming economy, but the government estimates one in 10 Americans is still hungry or threatened by hunger.

"The rising tide that has affected most of our country has not affected all," Rep. James Walsh, R-N.Y., said.

The looser eligibility requirements were included in an agricultural spending bill that a House-Senate conference committee finished Thursday. The bill now goes to the House and Senate for final approval.

The changes in the food stamp program would cost taxpayers an estimated $1.5 billion over the first five years.

Since 1996, enrollment has dropped to fewer than 17 million people living in 7.3 million households.

Rep. Jack Kingston, R-Ga., opposed changing the eligibility restrictions, saying it was a "tremendous expense" that damaged the "delicate" compromise that lawmakers reached during the 1996 welfare overhaul.

Changing the eligibility requirements is no guarantee, however, that families will sign up for the benefits.

An estimated 62 percent of households now eligible for food stamps, many of them working families, don't get them, according to the Agriculture Department. Participa-tion rates for eligible families vary widely among states, from a low of 45 percent in Nevada to 92 percent in West VirExperts say many people don't know they are eligible while others, are put off by government red tape or the stigma of taking handouts. An estimated 450,000 legal immigrants remain cut off from food stamps as a result of the 1996 law. President Clinton proposed this year restoring benefits to 90,000 adults who are elderly or living with children who are eligible for food stamps.

Slightly fewer than 3 million families, or 2.8 percent of the nation's households, had at least one member who went hungry in 1999, and an additional 6 million households were on the edge of hunger last year, the Agriculture Department says.

I paid for and prepared all of my guests' meals. I also paid for all transportation costs and the price of whatever en-tertainment we had. Lulu never offered to pick up the tab for anything. The kicker was when she and her son went out for ice cream one evening, came back with two cones, and ate them at our dining room table. She did not bring back anything for the rest of us.

Lulu logged onto my com-puter to check her e-mail, and made some long-distance calls on my phone without asking. She never reimbursed me for anything. I feel that she used me. Am I overreacting? — Still Upset in Ohio

You will not leave a pile of clothes on the dressing room floor. You don't put an item you unfolded back in the middle of the pile assuming the clerk is the pile, assuming the clerk is too dumb to notice.

Perhaps in days gone by, most store clerks barely had a high school education, but today, there are many clerks who are college graduates, and some have advanced degrees. I like people, and I enjoy working in sales. It isn't what I majored in, but how many of

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I moved into our new house 18 months ago. We had it decorated and furnished in a way that we consider quite lovely. Whenever we have guests, my husband insists that we show them around the entire house, including all the bathrooms, the laundry room and the broom closets. I don't feel this is necessary. There are certain rooms in the house I would rather not show anyone because they wouldn't pass scrutiny, but my husband says that's ridiculous.

FELLOWSHIP

OF BELLEVERG
On this 17th Sunday after Pentecost, Pastor Nathan L. Stone will have a conversation with FOB entitled, "My Family My Dream: A Sna

m 1 Corinthians 12:12-31. The pasto had a vision of and for FOB recently these are his reflections.

had a vision of and for FOB recently and these are his reflections.

In gathered worship (10:30-11:25) the church will hear the usual but unique "$50-Dollar-Report." An anonymous donor makes available to the church (each week) a $50-bill. That money is given, that week, in love, by a designated FOB-er. The money is given with no strings attached. It is given to anyone who is in need. There is no telling how many people have been quietly helped and surprised by FOB's $50-tradition. Each week the giver reports on her/his experience of giving then passes a fresh $50-bill to next week's giver.

The "$50-Dollar-Report" pretty well defines FOB. This is a church that operates on love and generosity in the spirit of the religion of Jesus. FOB is dedicated to the notion of giving anonymously of our money, ourselves, and our truth — with no (zero) strings attached.

In worship the church will also surround mama, Susan, and daughter Stacey Rickman, with love in the ritual of baptism. Dressed in her beautiful christening gown from grandma, Stacey will be welcomed to God's table of love.

"One Man's Journey of Faith: The Shaping of a Theology" will be the subject of conversation in "Forum" (9:30-10:15). Pastor Stone will share his journey of faith and its resultant theology. At the same time a unique and refreshing Sunday school for children of all ages meets throughout the church.

A supervised nursery is available at

Jim Edmonds was 3-for-4 with three doubles and two RBIs for St. Louis, making him 6-for-9 with four RBIs in the series. He also made an the series. He also made an over-the-shoulder catch of Rafael Furcal's drive to the center-field warning track in the eighth.

Kile and Glavine were the only 20-game winners in the NL this season. While evened his career postseason record at 1-1, Glavine dropped to 10-

Kile struggled with his con-trol in the first, giving up an RBI single to Chipper Jones and a run-scoring groundout to Brian Jordan. But after Andres Galarraga's two-out double in the first, Kile retired 13 in a row, striking out the side in the second.

St. Louis went 6-for-12 against Glavine, who hadn't been chased this quickly since lasting two innings in a 7-5 loss to Los Angeles on Aug. 19, 1993.

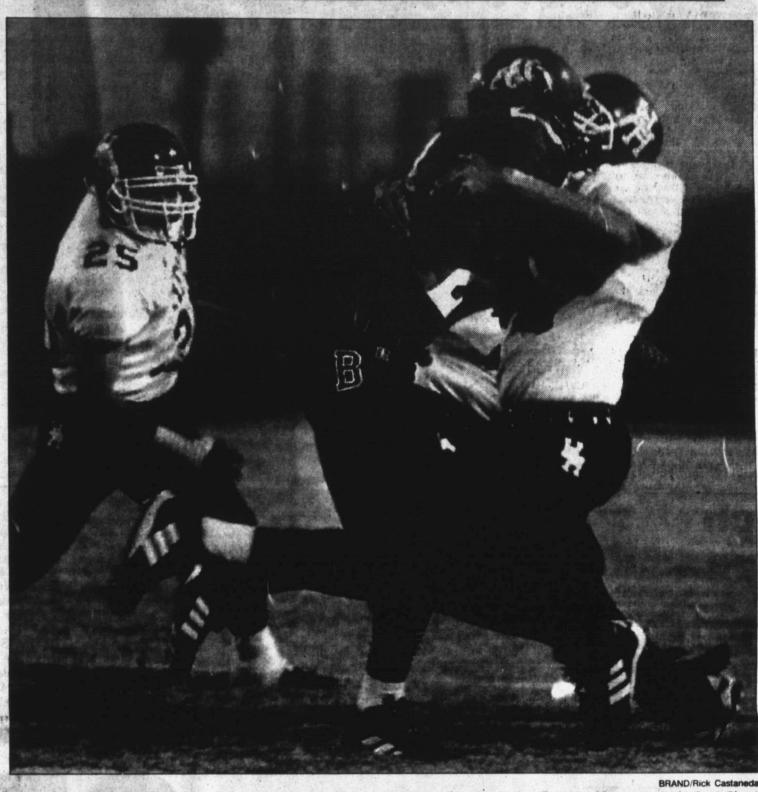

His only worse postseason outing was a two-inning stint in Game 6 of the 1992 NLCS against Pittsburgh in which he allowed eight runs.

After Glavine departed, Edmonds hit RBI doubles off Andy Ashby in the fourth and John Burkett in the sixth for a 9-2 lead.

Atlanta got a pair of runs in the eighth off Mike Timlin on Andruw Jones' homer and Jordan's RBI single.

McGwire, baseball's biggest star, has hardly played since midseason because of patella tendinitis in his right knee. Two of his 32 homers during the season came after he returned from the disabled list Sept. 8. He drove a 1-2 pitch from Remlinger 412 feet.

15 tries LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) -Baylor will attempt to break a 14-game Big 12 losing streak this weekend against Texas Tech as the Red Raiders try for their first conference victory since implementing a new pass-based offense under new head coach Mike Leach.

The Red Raiders were 4-0 going into conference play when they bumped into arch rival Texas A&M, who scored two touchdowns in the final 6:58 and had three intercep-

Fifth grade football players—The Lil' Herd 5th grade football team evened their record at 1-1 last weekend after beating Canyon 13-6. The team had 304 total yards in the contest while allowing only 128 yards to the Eagles. The team's next game is tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Amarillo. Members of the team are (front row left) Eric San-Miguel, Zack Paetzold, Brock Miller, Mikel Mungia, J.C. first time against Baylor.

As a sophomore two years ago, Ricky Williams was fourth nationally in rushing, averaging 143 yards per game. He is gaining just 51 yards per game in Tech's revamped passbased offense.

Leach said his star running back appears a step slower than he was before he was hurt. Williams doesn't deny he's slower, but says his knee brace is what's slowing his stride. However, Williams already this year has suffered a shoulder injury and hyperextended his left knee again.

"Ricky has gotten banged up some this year and for depth purposes, it's important

Leach said.

Shaud Williams is averaging 14 yards rushing and 25 yards receiving per game in limited action.

Meanwhile, Baylor (2-2, 0-1) is still getting used to an unexpected quarterback switch. Greg Cicero was lost early on to a season-ending to develop some people," collarbone fracture.

Guy Tomcheck has since led Baylor to a 28-13 victory over South Florida two weeks ago. Last week, Baylor lost 31-17 to Iowa State.

Head coach Kevin Steele says his team should be able to control Tech's pass-based offense if Baylor sticks to its system, forcing Tech to play the Bears' game.

Mets leave with split

Franco gets first postseason save of career

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -There's one more amazin' chapter in the New York Mets' wild playoff history.

Jay Payton's RBI single in the 10th inning and John Franco's gameending strikeout of Barry Bonds lifted New York to a 5-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants on Thursday night.
But the Mets didn't even their division series at 1-1 without another dose of the postseason theatrics that seem to follow them everywhere in October.

From the '69 Mets' miracle title run to Robin Ventura's grand slam single last year in the NL championship series against Atlanta, New York can't seem to simply win in the postseason.

Closer Armando Benitez caused much of the drama when he allowed J.T. Snow's pinch-hit homer off Pacific Bell Park's brick wall in right field, blowing a three-run New York lead in the ninth.

"Stuff like this seems to happen to the Mets," said Darryl Hamilton, who scored the go-ahead run. "Last year, you always wondered what crazy thing was going to happen next. It's hard on the fans and it's hard on us, (but) it's great when we win.

Starter Al Leiter dominated the Giants for eight excellent innings, but was reduced to a cheerleader in the 10th after Benitez failed yet again in the postseason. Leiter was one of the first players out of the dugout when Franco got the first postseason save of his 16-year career.

"I feel bad for Armando. He's been there for us all year," Leiter said. "Doesn't seem like we do it easy, but that will hopefully build momentum for Game 3."

Let us do it.

Fans snap up 'Beatles Antholog

LONDON (AP) — Beatles fans stood in line at some British bookshops to get the first copies of "The Beatles Anthology," which went on sale in Britain on Thursday.

Sir Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr came together to compile the 367-page book, priced at $50. John Lennon's widow, Yoko Ono, also contributed.

"Many of the customers were coming in and grabbing two or more copies at a time. We also noticed there were quite a few foreign overseas customers who might have thought it was easier to buy the book here than at home," said Kim Hardie of Waterstone's book shops, who was at a central London shop for the launch.

Lieberman, Cheney air out differences, but maintain civil manner during debate

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Joseph Lieberman and Dick Cheney disputed their differences and promoted their tickets in a mannerly vice presidential debate that left the tough tactics for next time, when Al Gore and George W. Bush meet again. The Democratic and Republican vice presidential nominees argued, but politely, opening with promises to avoid personal attacks and keeping them. They parted Thursday night after a smiling, pat-on-theback chat, joined by their wives, before rallying with their supporters.

After the debate, Cheney told ABC that he was pleased with his performance. "I thought we had a very good night," he said. Lieberman said he avoided personal at-tacks because he didn't consider it fitting.

"I would have been reaching tonight, just based on the questions asked, to have pushed that in, and I didn't think it was appropriate — and not necessary," he said.
"I thought we had a good exchange of

He added, "If Dick Cheney had gotten much into my record, I might have gotten During the debate, both candidates wel-comed the major world event of the day, the apparent crumbling of the regime of Slobodan Milosevic in Yugoslavia. But they differed on the credit for it.

"I think that Vice President Gore played a critical role, passionate role, in leading the administration, along with Republican supporters like Bob Dole and John McCain, to do the right thing in the Balkans, and hopefully tonight we're seeing the final results of that bold and brave action," Lieberman said.

Cheney called it a victory of the Serbian people. "I do think it's noteworthy that there appears to be an effort underway to get the Russians involved," he said. "... At the debate in Boston, Governor Bush suggested exactly that we ought to try to get the Russians involved to exercise some leverage over the Serbians, and Al Gore pooh-poohed it."

Gore said then that Russian mediation would not be a good idea because Moscow hadn't accepted the results of the election in which Vojislav Kostunica defeated Milosevic.

The big fear of all the employees is the havoc wreaked in the toy aisle. The open boxes, the hidden merchandise, and the carelessly dropped goods are the retail employee's worst nightmare. Burris said this is probably the hardest thing to deal with, because she doesn't know why people have to take things out of the package, when one is out on display.

"The girls hate having to go through the toy aisle and face products (straighten the products, and bring everything to the front of the shelf)," Burris said. "Just looking at what they've done to the Halloween masks tells me we're in for a messy time during Christmas shopping days."

The biggest thing the employees would like to get out to the public is to shop at

"Yeah! We want them to shop here so they don't have to go to Amarillo. That and so they will get this stuff out of here, so we can move around again," Cortez said.

Ptacek, executive vice president of the Nebraska Grain and Feed Association.

"They'll be holding onto their crops as long as they possibly can," Ptacek said. "No one can fault them for that."

Corn can be held for about three years before it spoils.

Farmers are able to hold onto crops by taking advantage of government marketing loans in which producers borrow money while storing their crops to wait for higher

The borrowing period lasts nine months, usually ending in October. When prices are low, farmers often forfeit their stored crop to the government, buy it back with another government loan and then continue to store it until prices go up.

Farmers also may take advantage of the federal Loan Deficiency Payment program, which pays farmers the difference between the price per bushel for which they contracted with the government and the market price. For example, if a farmer contracted to sell corn to the government for $2 per bushel, and the market price for corn ends up being $1.80, the government simply pays the farmer the 20-cent difference.

The farmer keeps the crop, which can be sold or stored to sell when corn prices rise.

State farmers had 136 million bushels of grain from last year's crop stored on their farms as of Sept. 1.

Jobless rate drops unexpectedly to 3.9 percent last month

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate unexpectedly fell to 3.9 percent in September and total employment rose by 252,000 after posting two months of declines. The jobless rate for blacks fell to a record monthly

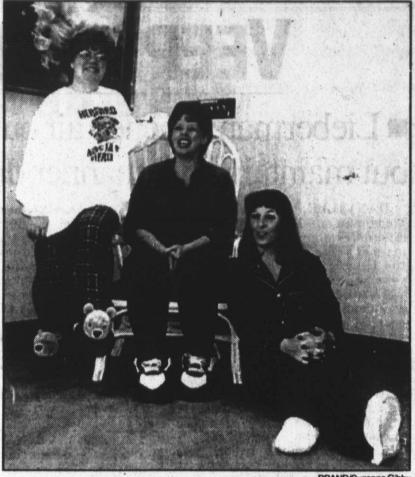

The surprising decline in the jobless rate from August's 4.1 percent rate matched the 30-year low reached in April, the Labor Department said Friday. As a result, the unemployment rate for blacks in September fell to a monthly low of 7 percent, surpassing the previous record of 7.2 percent rate, also reached in April.

The jobs picture in September was affected by a number of factors. The return of 87,000 workers after a strike against Verizon Communications added to total employment, which is seasonally adjusted, while the departure of 27,000 temporary census workers subtracted from job growth during the month.

The report also showed that American businesses boosted their private payrolls by a seasonally adjusted 288,000 in September. Most of the employment gain came from hiring in the services industries, the government said. That was tempered by widespread job losses in manufacturing.

Many analysts had predicted the jobless rate would hold steady at 4.1 percent.

Sally Taylor goes her own way

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Sally Taylor says she has built her music career her own way and on her own terms despite being the daughter of James Taylor and Carly Simon.

Taylor and her three-piece band have logged 74,000 miles on her van he past two years, crisscrossing the country performing shows. She has released two CDs on her own Blue Elbow label, "Tomboy Bride" and "Apt. 6S." The second album's title refers to the apartment in New York City where she was raised.

"I never thought I was going to be a musician," Taylor said in the York Daily Record.

MORE WOMENS LIB" IN THE BIBLE! THE MAIDEN WHO KILLED A GENERAL ....

ALTHOUGH WOMEN, IN BIBLICAL TIMES, WERE TREATED AS CHATTELS OF THEIR HUSBANDS—OWNED OUTRIGHT JUST LIKE SHEEP, CAMELS, AND OTHER PROPERTY—MANY TIMES THEY ACTED INDERENDENTLY, LIKE DEBORAH, QUEEN ESTHER, AND MOSES SISTER, MIRIAM. SUCH A ONE, ALSO, WAS JUDITH, HEROINE OF THE BOOK OF JUDITH, ONE OF THE APOCRYPHAL BOOKS OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

OLD TESTAMENT.

THE ASSYRIAN GENERAL, HOLOFERNES, ATTACKED THE JEWS, BESIEGING THE TOWN OF BETHULIA, WHERE THE PEOPLE DESPAIRED OF EVER BEING SAVED. JUDITH TOOK IT UPON HERSELF TO VISIT HOLOFERNES IN HIS CAMP, WHERE HE WAS IMMEDIATELY SMITTEN WITH HER BEAUTY! AFTER ENTERTAINING HIM FOR THREE DAYS AND NIGHTS IN HIS TENT, JUDITH, AT THE FIRST OPPORTUNITY, CUT OFF THE GENERAL'S HEAD AS HE SLEPT!

AS A RESULT, THE ASSYRIANS FLED—CUSTOMARY IN THOSE DAYS, WHEN AN ARMY LOST ITS LEADER—AND JUDITH WAS PROCLAIMED, FROM THAT DAY ON, THE FINEST EXAMPLE OF A PATRIOT BY THE ENTIRE JEWISH NATION.

JEWISH NATION.

Opinions on debates require time to form

The burning curiosity to know immediately who "won" a presidential debate is at odds with the way voters form opin-ions and how they are best measured.

Instant polling by the television networks after Tuesday's debate suggested Democrat Al Gore was the winner over Republican George W. Bush, but that the overall race for the White House hadn't changed. Voters take time sorting through these conflicting im-

The instant polls are useful in that they give you an instant reaction to the debate, but the real impact of the debate may not be known for a while," said Murray Edelman, president of the American Association for Public Opinion Research. "People talk about the issues, read other people's opin-ions and think it over.

Carol Alvord, a Kansas registered nurse, thought Bush did well in the 90-minute debate and that it helped change her image of him as "a hayseed." But she wasn't completely sold.

Jeff Gull, a Connecticut law clerk, thought Vice President Gore did better and said he and his friends thought Bush seemed a little defensive. Georgia businessman Harris Blackwood wants to support Gore, but was troubled by his statement about a trip to Texas, where Bush is governor.

For the record, Gore was the winner Tuesday in three of four network "instant" polls Tuesday, though TV news an-chors dutifully reported that the race was unchanged based on the surveys.

The effect on the race may not be known for a while, although a tracking poll by CNN-USA Today-Gallup released Thursday suggested Gore has opened a lead since the debate.

The best-known case of delayed reaction is President Ford's 1976 debate with Jimmy Carter when he said Eastern Europe was not dominated by the Soviet Union.

There was little reaction at the time, recalled political scientist and pollster Michael "Polling done the next day showed no reaction, but, throughout the course of the next news cycle, there was quite a lot of coverage of this so-called goof," Traugott said.

"Three days later, polls showed it was a widely held belief that Ford had made an error." Ford's momentum to catch up with Carter later slowed.

But the news business with its Internet sites and intense TV competition isn't willing or able to wait a few days. On one network, each candidate's statement was tracked by an Internet-linked "focus group" reacting moment by moment in an on-screen graph tracking their sentiments.

Internet polls allow Web surfers to register opinions, even as officials from the political parties urge followers to jam the unscientific online polls.
"I think ordinary people can tell the difference on that kind of stuff," said Andrew Kohut, director of the Pew Research Center for the People and the

Some debate watchers were unlikely likely to change their opinions after watching TV analysis of the event.

"I watched a focus group of those wishy-washy ones," Republican Chandra Prinzbach, 29, of Depew, N.Y., near Buffalo, referring to swing voters. "I thought it was all bogus, they said Gore won."

For Gull, 30, of Norwalk, Conn., Gore did better, although the makeup job that made his cheeks appear rosy provided "comic relief."

"Maybe he's morphing into Ronald Reagan," said the independent voter.

■7.3 magnitude earthquake jolts Japan; 39 hurt

TOKYO (AP) - Japan's strongest earthquake in five years struck a large region of the southwest on Friday, injur-ing at least 39 people, including three who were caught in landslides, and destroying buildings, homes and a Shinto shrine.

The 7.3-magnitude quake shook violently across nine prefectures at 1:30 p.m., knocking over people, shattering windows, collapsing shelves in stores and cutting off electricity to thousands of houses and businesses.

Japan's National Police said 39 people were injured. A bridge collapsed and was washed away in Okayama and landslides were reported in 25 locations in the region. Nine houses were destroyed and 239 others dam-

The quake was centered six miles beneath western Tottori prefecture, 315 miles southwest of Tokyo, the Japan Meteorological Agency said. A 7.0-magnitude quake is capable of causing heavy, widespread damage.

Kyodo News service reported that 47 people were injured, but officials could not impredi but officials could not immediately confirm that.

National television showed live footage of workers at an NHK broadcasting newsroom in Matsue city clutching desks as notebooks fell to the floor. A hanging lamp swung wildly back and forth. Elsewhere in the city, white foam from ceiling fire extinguishers set off by the quake rained down from balconies onto the streets.

In the hardest hit prefecture, Tottori, 28 people suffered minor injuries, 200 houses were damaged and roads were blocked at 17 locations because of cracks and landslides, prefectural officials said.

Tsuyochi Iwashita, a spokesman for the National Police ency, said a Shinto shrine fell apart.

The injured included three people who were buried in landslides and rescued by civilians and local officials. Two of the victims were trapped inside their car. The third was a man who suddenly disappeared while working at a roadside construc-

The quake was the strongest in Japan since the 7.2-magnitude temblor that struck Kobe on Jan. 17, 1995, killing 6,425.

in layoff dispute

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The California Supreme Court sided with employers, ruling that they can fire nonunion workers even if company policy is to terminate only for disciplinary reasons. The 6-1 decision issued Thursday reversed a closely watched appeals court ruling that said a San Francisco man could sue Bechtel National Inc. for laying him off to save money, even though he had no formal contract.

Employer groups had argued that if the court backed John Guz, it would be nearly impossible to lay off workers to "Every restructuring decision could be subject to the judicial process and thrown to a jury to decide," said Steven Drapkin, a Los Angeles lawyer with the Employers Group, which represents 5,000 California businesses.

"Some companies are going to think they can get away with a lot of stuff that before they were afraid to try," said Joseph Posner, who heads the Los Angeles chapter of the National Employment Lawyers Association.

Guz, a 23-year employee, lost his job at the San Francisco-based engineering and construction giant in 1993 and sued, claiming he had an implied contract that he could only be fired for disciplinary reasons.

The company said it eliminated several jobs, including Guz's financial reports supervisor position, to save money. The high court ruled that Bechtel could eliminate jobs "as it saw fit," Justice Marvin R. Baxter wrote for the majority. The ruling also rejected an age discrimination claim by

Guz, 49 at the time, because Bechtel retained younger The court kept alive a part of the suit that said Guz's termination did not follow the company's written layoff

Yugoslavs hail Milosevic's fall

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — Jubilant Yugoslavs danced and sang in the capital's streets through the night and into Friday morning, celebrating the apparent collapse of Slobodan Milosevic's government and heeding calls to remain vigilant for counterattacks by Milosevic loyalists. Congress considers Cuba food trade

WASHINGTON - Cuba would be allowed to buy U.S. food for the first time in four decades under legislation nearing final approval in Congress, but tight controls on financing are certain to limit sales. The measure, which congressional negotiators agreed to Thursday, would bar both the federal government and U.S. banks from financing the sales and also would prevent any easing of existing restrictions on travel to the island.

Injuries, death prompt scooter helmet laws

ELIZABETH, N.J. - Alarmed by increasing injuries, governments and schools across the country are taking steps to require youngsters who ride trendy "kickboard" scooters to wear safety helmets. In nearly a dozen communities, measures have been adopted or proposed to require kids who ride the speedy, lightweight scooters to wear the same type of helmets that have long been required for bicyclists and in-line skaters. In New Jersey, the death of a 6-year-old boy has prompted the Legislature to consider a statewide helmet requirement. The scooters feature polished aluminum frames and high-tech plastic wheels like those on in-line skates. The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has documented 11,300 injuries to scooter riders so far this year — almost 90 percent involving children under the age of 15.

Shuttle launch off; valve trouble cited

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Space shuttle Discovery's flight to the international space station has been postponed until next week because of a sluggish valve and suspect bolts.

NASA called off Thursday night's launch because of lastminute concerns over bolts on the external fuel tank. A valve problem found later in the shuttle's main propulsion sys-tem delayed liftoff until at least Monday.

The valve, which controls the flow of fuel, appeared to be sluggish during routine operations. Workers will have to enter Discovery's engine com-partment to check the valve; to replace it, if necessary, will take three days.

·This 100th space shuttle flight is a crucial space station construction mission.

NASA, however, is in no rush.
"We think it's prudent to stand down," shuttle manager James Halsell said. "In other words, we do not want to get go fever."

Before launching Discovery, NASA also wants to understand what caused a bolt malfunction on the last space shuttle flight. The problem occurred during Atlantis' liftoff.

VOTERS'

Some voters say they'd like to have warmer, fuzzier candidates. Also, no numbers, please!

The Associated Press

At Hal & Mal's in Mississippi, no one had a harsh word for the two men who want to be vice president. They fancied both candidates.

It was Thursday night's de-bate they found a little bor-don't much care about this one. I can't say I don't like the guys or anything. I like them both," said bartender Charley Abraham. Herbert Hays Thompson liked them so much he thought both were campaigning for the wrong office.

They should be running for president and the other guys vice president," said Thompson, 38, watching the only national televised confrontation between vice presidential candidates Dick Cheney, a Republican who served as defense secretary during the Gulf War, and Sen. Joseph Lieberman, a Democrat from Connecticut.

"Gore's just got a good-looking face and a smart daddy," Thompson said, drinking a beer at the downtown Jackson brewery and restaurant. "He and Bush are both running off their daddies' names."

attorney, liked the way the candidates addressed voters.

"I don't feel like either of these guys talked to me like a kindergartner," he said. He could not pick a winner. "It was a draw — they both did

But college student Laphonza Butler had hoped the debate would help make up her mind about the Nov. 7 general election.

It didn't. "Neither one can sell me right now. Neither are dynamite," she said. "Too many neir daddies' names." facts and figures, not enough feelings and passions."

Liz Hall, 19, a sophomore at Belhaven College in Jackson, saw things in terms of personality.

He reminds me of a grandfa-ther. Lieberman is kind of cute. He might appeal more to young people," she said. At a retirement center in the Democratic stronghold of Madison, Wis., viewers passed a bowl of pretzels before a big-screen TV near.

Between passes, they yelled at the television.

"Answer the question," hollered 83-year-old Harriet Shetler at Cheney's image.
