KEEPING BUSY Physician assistant to pick up additional patients after doctor leaves Hereford Health Clinic

By Donald M. Cooper

Hereford Brand Managing Editor

If Janis Spriggs ever thought she didn't have enough to do, something is being done about it.

Spriggs, who as a physician's assistant has a heavy caseload at the Hereford Health Clinic, will be seeing additional patients when Dr. Jesse Perales leaves at the end of the month. Until a new physician is recruited for the clinic, Spriggs, working under the supervision of Dr. Howard R. Johnson, will pick up Perales' caseload.

A native of Wisconsin, Spriggs will celebrate her second anniversary at the former Rural Health Clinic on July 1. She came to Hereford from Platteville, a small town near Greeley in northern Colorado, where she worked for eight years with Salud, a health care organization that operated clinics in smaller rural communities.

However, when Spriggs came to Hereford, she didn't come alone. Her husband and their four children also made the move from Colorado.

Her husband, Steve, works parttime for NORAD, operates a farm in Kansas, and works in construction. He also is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve. To meet all his obligations, he flies his own plane from place to place.

Spriggs did her internship as a physician's assistant in the Cleveland Clinic in Ohio. Although the program would fold — the spon-soring college was a liberal arts school that decided it didn't want to continue to involved heavily in the medical field - Spriggs would receive her degree.

While she was enrolled in college, Spriggs also studied Spanish and spent six months studying in Spain. The knowledge of Spanish has been an asset to her in Hereford because such a high percentage of the clinic's patients are Spanish-speaking.

After earning her degree, she enlisted in the Army, serving as a chief warrant officer 4th class in Bremerhaven, Germany. While serving in Germany, she met Steve, then a lieutenant, and they were married. The first of their four children was born in Germany.

City applies for a new landfill permit

By Donald M. Cooper lereford Brand Managing Edi

If the state agrees, Hereford will have its own landfill for household trash.

Following extensive soil sampling, the city has found it meets the standards for a Type I AE landfill, and City Manager Chester Nolen has filed the permit application with the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission, which regulates landfills in the state.

In 1994, the city closed its Type I landfill because of costs associated with the federal Clean Water Act. The expense of lining the landfill with clay or a polyvinyl material in addition to a leachate collection system and monitoring well would have exceeded $400,000.

After record year in '98, lots report a decline in fed cattle

By Donald M. Cooper

Hereford Brand Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County feedyards dropped below 1 million for the first time since 1996, but they still fed 989,011 head of cattle in 1999, according to the annual fed cattle survey conducted by Southwestern Public Service Co.

Although the feedyards' activity was below the record number of 1,080,166 fed in 1998, the county still holds onto its claim of being the "Cattle Feeding Capital of the World.

The county total, which first topped one million in 1996, was 1,019,545 in 1997, and the 1998 total was 60,621 higher.

The total number of cattle fed in this SPS area was 6,843,806, down from 7,100,834 in 1998. With a total of 2,174,300, the "golden triangle" of Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties accounted for about 31.7 percent of the total fed cattle in the SPS area.

Castro County was second to Deaf Smith with 700,542, up slightly from 670,954 in 1998. Parmer County totaled 484,747, down from 577,574 the previous year. Texas County in Oklahoma was fourth at 489,504, down from 516,083 in 1998.

The survey included fed cattle totals from 107 feedyards in the region with 5,000 or more repacity and 93 were in Texas. Deaf Smith was top with to lots at or above the 5,000 mark. Total feedyards surveyed was 119, with 12 of less than 5,000 head or starter lots

The SPS survey also reported that 14 packing plants in

Clinton targeting

WASHINGTON (AP) President Clinton announced steps today to reduce out-breaks of a deadly foodborne pathogen, including a requirement that processors systematically test their plants for the listeria bacterium.

Clinton said he wants to cut the rate of listeria ill-nesses in half by 2005, five years earlier than the administration's current goal.

Listeria monocytogenes is estimated to sicken 2,500 Americans a year and kill 500 of them. Experts estimate onethird of those cases involve pregnant women and their babies.

An outbreak of listeria in 1998 that killed 15 people and sickened at least 100 others was traced to meat processed at a Sara Lee Corp. plant.

graduate school at (the University of Kansas) in Lawrence, and I got my master's degree in health care administration, then I taught at Wichita State, where they had a physician's assistant program," Spriggs said.

"Then we moved to Colorado, where the rest of the kids were born," she said.

Spriggs said she enjoys her work at the clinic because "it's a family practice and that's what I like, working with everyone from pediatrics to geriatrics. I really enjoy working with women, teaching preventive medicine.

"You have to do so much preventive medicine here because such a high percentage of the population suffers from obesity, diabetes and hypertension (high blood pressure)," she said.

"You have to talk to people about lifestyle changes," she said. That would involve changes in diet, such as eating more vegetables, fruits and nuts and reducing the intake of meat and dairy products, and increasing the regiment of exercise.

Although she found obesity, diabetes and hypertension to be higher in Hereford than it was in northern Colorado, she said obesity is a growing problem throughout the nation, especially among children.

"I've seen a children just seven years old who weigh 100 pounds," she said. "That's because they eat too much and just sit in front of the television.'

There also is a high incidence of diabetes in the area, particularly among expectant mothers, many of whom have never been tested until they come to the clinic for prenatal

She said she would like to see a stronger effort to educate the community, especially the senior citizens, about preventive medicine.

"Did you know that falls caused by osteoporosis is responsible for more deaths here than cancer? If you look at the population as a whole, you have high percentage of diabetes and osteoporosis. You have to talk to women about hormonal and calcium replacement therapy," she said. "And, we have to educate the young people about obesity and STD (sexually transmitted diseases).

Spriggs said she didn't know of the clinic's financial problems when she came here, but she said that since Dianne Smith took over as clinic administrator, there has been a turnaround, noting that billing problems have been corrected.

In the past, the billing was not handled on a timely basis, which hurt the clinic's ability to get reimbursement from Medicare/Medicaid. If the Medicare/Medicaid bills are submitted more than 120 days after the treatment was provided, the costs would not be reimbursed.

"Now we're seeing a new efficiency. Productivity is impor-tant because everyone loses out if the financial problems caused the clinic to close down," she said. "People who are coming to the clinic would have to go ... to the hospital emergency room, go there with no regular medical care. It would have an adverse impact on the hospital because its costs would go up, too.

"It's better; I really think we've turned it around," she said.

However, either plan is capable of dealing with 1.2-1.5 million gallons of effluent generated each day by the wastewater system's customers.

Under the facultative system, the wastewater goes into the lagoon, where it stays at a constant level. Wave action from the wind aerates the wastewater and bacteria dissolve the solids.

For the facultative system, the city would need three lagoons, each 10-12 feet deep covering an area of about 68 acres.

The aerated lagoon method would require about 34 acres of land. There would be three aerators in each lagoon that would treat the effluent.

This system would require the installation of pumps and motors, as well as electricity. While much more efficient than the facultative system, the aerated method also is considerably more expensive.

Because the commissioners' decision was made during a workshop session, no formal action could be taken. The commissioners will vote on the plan at the May 15 meeting.

Following the formal adoption of the plan, Oller Engineering Inc. will be directed to begin drafting plans for the plant.

'Election 2000' special takes look at why voters are turning away from the major parties

Special to The Brand

AMARILLO - Fewer voters today identify themselves as being Democrat or Republican. Instead, they claim to be independent voters, and base their candidate choice on individual character or platform. With the majority of voters no longer voting on party lines, how can campaigns reach enough voters to win elec-tions? What does this trend mean for the two-party system?

These are just some of the questions the local PBS affiliate KACV-TV will attempt to answer in "Election 2000: Inside the Campaign," an hour-long live call-in program airing at 9 p.m. Tuesday. Host Ellen Robertson Neal and guests, Max Sherman, a former state senator and retired dean of the LBJ School of Public Affairs, and Susan Weddington, chair of the Texas Republican Party, will exam-ine the campaign challenges facing Texas politicians and an overview of what to expect from the fall campaigns.

"We've already seen a grow-ing reliance on polls in deter-mining what society wants to hear, and an increasing use of electronic media by campaigns to influence voter decisions," Neal said. "It's important for citizens to look carefully at what they're being told, and to question the objectivity of their sources in order to make fair and informed decisions. The more voters know about the techniques campaigns are using, and how to go about

Cowboy poets group sets 2 performances

Special to The Brand AMARILLO — Working cowboys who write poetry and cowboy country musicians are invited to the monthly Cowboy Poetry Breakfast at the Big Texan Steak Ranch, 7700 Interstate 40 East.

The event kicks off at 8 a.m. May 13 with Rusty Nichols of Borger for the Southwest Cowboy Poets Association.

There will be round-robin performances, with Jake Holster serving as emcee.

The new western band, Palo Duro, will headline the morning program. Members of the band are Jim Anderson, a musician, singer, composer and cowboy poet; his son, Cody, a vocalist; and 13-yearold violinist Erica Swindell. The band recently released "Comanche Moon," a CD pro-duced by Rockin' DD Produc-tions of Santa Fe, N.M. Anyone who wants to participate in the program is asked to sign in so they can be called up to perform.

The public is invited to attend to hear the performances which are intended to keep the cowboy spirit alive. In another event, the Southwest Cowboy Poets Association will sponsor a cowboy poetry reading at 6:45 p.m. May 18 at Barnes & Noble Booksellers, 2415 Soncy Rd. Rusty and Billie Nichols will start the entertainment.

All performers have 10minute sessions to recite their poetry or showcase their musical talents.

Those scheduled to appear are Charlie Bell, SCPA president; Jim Anderson; Marty Crumley; Pat and Richard Henry; the Nichols; Hody

Porterfield; Charlie Sinclair; Ludie Stone and Buck Wehrbein.

The public is invited, with a special invitation extended to working cowboy poets and musicians.

EDITORIALS Americans shoulder bigger tax burden

According to a new study by the Tax Foundation, the median two-income American family (earning $54,910) will pay $22,521 in local, state and federal taxes this year — the highest rate, in inflation-adjusted dollars, ever. This is slightly higher than the previous high in 1981. Taxes then consumed 38.9 percent of the median two-income family's total earnings.

Taxes now swallow more than the combined median two-income family's budget for food (8.9 percent), housing (15.3 percent) and transportation (6.6 perecent).

Though Texas' average family income level is $25,563, a family earning $50,000 per year will pay an estimated $7,595 in federal income and payroll taxes; and $5,250 in state and local taxes.

It will now take Texas workers a record-setting 117 days to fullfill their commitment to the overall tax burden this year. Assuming every cent of our earnings were witheld starting on Jan. 1, we would see the arrival of Texas Tax Freedom Day nearly two weeks after this year's taxes are due, April 26.

Americans deserve a refund, and Congress would do well to remember that as it poises itself to begin writing election-year spending bills measures that will only continue to augment this nation's stifling $5.7 trillion deficit, and which has grown by more than $503 million each day since April 30, 1999.

Hello, Hereford.

ow many bridges must we build before we learn that one bridge was one too many? Let me explain.

In one of my favorite World War II movies, "Bridge Over the River Kwai", a band of William Holden-led commandos are sent to demolish a Burmese rail trestle in the heart of a steamy Siamese jungle. The bridge is portrayed as part of the infamous Bangkok/ Rangoon "death railway" and is built in the movie with great effort and ingenuity for the Japanese by whistling Allied prisoners of war.

Rife with irony, the story depicted insanity and futility on several levels — a rather prim British colonel's deluded belief that helping to build the bridge was honorable if it improved the morale of his listless, confined soldiers; the officer's pompous satisfaction after having built a proper British bridge for the Japanese; and his ultimate betrayal of the Allied commandos dispatched to destroy the new Japanese asset — his bridge, his vision.

At the movie's tumultuous end, the British officer alarms Japanese guards to the commandos' presence, most of the commandos are killed, the officer is wounded in the process — only then to fall on a charged explosives plunger that sends a coming train and the symbol of his raging vanity, the bridge, into the river's gorge.

The last words spoken in the cinema masterpiece come from an incredulous Allied doctor, who in bearing witness to the insanity of it all, shouts, "Madness! Madness!"

My wife loathes this and other war movies and often reminds me that I've seen each a thousand times, and likely with the same gawk of my very first.

She's right, but I need to resurrect this movie as a convenient parable to Hereford's increasingly frantic crusade to decorate each year's senior prom.

Giving thanks to those who serve

We've said it before, but it's worth saying again.

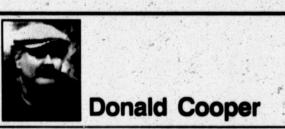

In a time when fewer individuals are willing to seek public office, we should all remind ourselves that we owe a debt of gratitude to those who have shown a willingness to serve.

Carey Black, who served four terms on the Hereford City Commission, and David Charest, who served two terms as a Hereford Independent School District trustee, were willing to make the sacrifices required of our elected officials, contributing many, many hours from their personal lives without pay in order to try to make their community a better place in which to live.

Today's complacency and busy lifestyles make it increasingly difficult to find anyone who is willing to run for local elective office - this year's uncontested seats for the city, school district and hospital district elections are sobering realizations of this fact. And more and more, it seems that local government officials must take it upon themselves to actively seek and recruit candidates to fill vacancies in their ranks — searching for anyone who would make a personal commitment to serve.

While the local electorate may not always have agreed with opinions and actions Mr. Black and Mr. Charest cast during their tenure as elected officials, we believe the sacrifices they made while serving this community were very honorable, and very deserving of our appreciation.

ack when I started following major league baseball, there were only eight teams in each league - none west of St. Louis - and the teams traveled by train.

The A's were in Philadelphia; the Braves were in Boston; the Orioles weren't in Baltimore, they were in St. Louis and were known as the Browns.

In Nashville, Ark., where I lived, few people had television and there was no game of the week, so most fans followed the major leagues on radio, listening to the St. Louis Cardinals or the Mutual "Game of the Day."

If we wanted to see a real professional baseball game, we could make the drive over somewhat treacherous roads to Little Rock to crowd into Ray Winder Field and watch the minor league Travelers, then playing in the Class AA Southern Association.

But most of us were satisfied with going to the Nashville ball park on the weekends to watch the Nashville Cubs, a semi-pro outfit. Most of the players were some former minor leaguers who quit and came home when they realized they'd never made the big leagues, college players who wanted to stay in shape during the summer, and some good players who just never wanted to leave home to play baseball.

I don't remember the names of all the players who I saw wearing the Cubs' uniform. Some of the players I do remember were Donnie "Lujack" Williams, a crackerjack second baseman and the first real switch-hitter I ever saw; Doug Dildy, a big third baseman who looked like he should have been playing fullback for the Chicago Bears; Bud Crawley, a rotund catcher who I don't think ever let a ball get past him; and Sonny Nutt, a human spark plug at shortstop.

But I guess the player that stood out more than any of them was Ed White, a pitcher who always wore a Chicago White Sox uniform.

There was an air of mystery about Ed White. He always showed up just before a scratchy recording of the national anthem was played over the public address system.

When the national anthem finished, Ed usually would flip away a cigarette and stroll casually out to the mound and mow 'em down. As I recall, Ed didn't have much of a fastball, but he kept the batters off balance with a wide assortment of other pitches, including a wicked curve. I've seen batters bail out of the box thinking the pitch was headed for their head, only to hear the umpire bellow, "STEE-RIKE!" as the ball suddenly broke down across the plate.

No one seemed to know who Ed White was. He didn't live in Nashville; he just showed up on the weekends, sometimes pitching on Friday night and Sunday afternoon, and then he would disappear until the next home stand.

There were all kinds of rumors about his White Sox uniform. Some folks said he had pitched in the minors and was called up late in the season, and when he learned he was going to be back in the minors the next season he quit and took his uniform home with him.

> Other folks said Ed had a drinking problem that caused the White Sox to cut him. Another rumor was he had pitched for the White Sox until he was drafted in World War II, but after he took a bullet in his pitching shoul-der during the Battle of Bulge and he didn't have his stuff after that.

Was Ed White a former alcoholic or was he a war hero?

I would not find out until years later when was in college at Henderson State in Arkadelphia, Ark., which is just about a half-hour's drive from Hot Springs. I was talking to a friend from Hot Springs and he mentioned his dad used to take him to the semi-pro baseball games in Hot Springs. While we were comparing notes, I told him about the mysterious Ed White. "Ed White? Well, for cryin' out loud, he used to pitch in Hot Springs," my friend said.

It seems that Ed White had been a pitcher in the Chicago farm system. He had been called up by the White Sox at the end of the season in the late 1940s, but even though he didn't get into a game, he was on the team's spring training roster. Unfortunately, a shoulder injury in training camp killed his hopes of a major league career.

My friend said Ed went home to Hot Springs, where he got a job with a construction company. And, although he no longer had his good fastball, Ed, still wearing his White Sox uniform, joined some semi-pro teams. He'd pitch a couple games during the week for Hot Springs, then a couple for a team in Benton, and finally on the weekends, he take the mound for the Nashville Cubs.

Looking back at it, ol' Ed must have pitched for some team every day of the week for nearly 20 years.

There's no Hall of Fame for semi-pro ballplayers, but if there were I know Ed White would be in it.

Madness, madness.

In this metaphorical epic, a small contin-gent of senior fathers have joined an equally small brigade of senior mothers who are toiling 'round the clock to build this year's bridge — a bridge tooled with great cost (mostly time, but financial, too) that will for 24 hours out-shine all bridges erected before.

Using sheer American ingenuity and miles of chicken wire, these prisoners of pride have glued, shaped, painted and hammered-out an assembly line's worth of accessories to propup the bridge's main theme "Fanta-Sea 2000".

Fish, sharks, seaweed, vines, papier-mache rocks, starfish and other aquatic life will complement a 10-foot-tall ocean liner, a lighthouse, rowboat and other seaworthy inspirations.

That's why it is so difficult in this parable to play the dual roles Holden played so long ago. I must be both an escaped prisoner and a returning commando who will now come out from under the jungle's canopy to bomb the heck out of this year's vision of the bridge.

I have already felt the prisoner's toil more than some, and substantially less than those whose uncommon valor showed with the project's beginnning in February. Many are still working in local sweat shops.

Now I'm the soldier sent to save the other prisoners from themselves - duty, honor, country, full speed ahead.

You can't see me because its dark, but I'm setting the explosives which, with any luck, may weaken the insane desire to build more of these "Bridges Over the River Kwai."

Similar to the movie's teeming ranks who marched under the decorum of the priggish Brit officer, courageous Hereford moms and dads have annually been held captive by the notion our graduating sons and daughters can't avoid harm's way, or have any fun at a prom or all-night party without first having a complete Hollywood backdrop created around those events.

"Madness, madness."

I think of my beautiful senior daughter and argue with my conscience as I swim the trestle's breadth to lay the next charge.

The loving father in me asks, "Isn't she worthy of having a bridge built in her honor, even the Golden Gate?"

"...well, maybe," the soldier counters. "But does she need the Golden Gate. Shouldn't she enjoy the prom and the all-night party more for the fellowship rather than for the prom decorations?"

I hush my loud, warring conscience, listening for any change in the jungle's night sounds. Nothing there but the constant din of parent prisoners painting, gluing and hammering.

"You know she'll soon be going to college. This could be one of your last opportunities to build a bridge in her honor," the softer side of me pleads.

But the commando still clings stubbornly to nce upon a time, residents of a sleepy little town tucked their children into bed, locked their doors and kissed their spouse good night, never dreaming murky netherworld shadows had unknowingly seeped into their quiet hamlet.

Into every home and every business it came. School halls were abuzz with the news. Unsuspecting neighbors greeted long time friends, not knowing the secrets which lay behind a congenial response.

Then one day little Johnny comes home, eyes all alight and informs his parents a particular family friend has a hobby. Not only does the friend have a hobby, but it is posted on the World Wide Web for all the neighbors to see.

With joyful expectations, the family goes to the computer and calls up the friends' web page. Without warning scenes flash in front of little Johnny and Judy, while Mom and Dad stand horrified. Quickly before the kids can fully understand what has happened, Dad closes the web page. His look of shock mirrored in his wife's eyes.

Surely these pictures weren't of their long-time friend! Surely these couldn't be the same people who had watched little Johnny the night Judy was born. Surely this couldn't be the same couple who greeted the children with a candy cane during family photo sessions.

Without knowing how to re- hood children can watch the act, Mom and Dad tell the younger ones. Who knows, but children they'll find other interesting things on the 'Net after supper. Mom completes meal time chores. Dad immediately contacts the Internet provider and orders the strongest of filters.

Supper conversation lacks the usual animation. Johnny and Judy pick up on Mom and Dad's discomfiture. Through the evening, stilted conversation permeates the atmosphere; a heavy invisible pall hangs over the household. Little did they know the pall was rapidly spreading over their town.

Within days the local police chief has his eyes opened. The school superintendent wishes hers could be closed, but the shadow of local pornography prevents a relaxed blink of the eye, for who knows when a student may accidentally pull up this unwanted page.

Nearly overnight, sleepytown residents begin to notice changes in their once peaceful community. Crimes, once considered "big city" stuff, suddenly penetrate the cracks and crevices of a close-knit rural town.

No longer is it taken for granted the older neighborhood children can watch the younger ones. Who knows, but principle and hoists another bundle of explosives.

"Look, there isn't anything I wouldn't do for Kerris — with, of course, the exception of pretending to like the boys she brings home. But don't kid yourself. The kids aren't consumed with the bridge, the parents are. Parents are chasing the vision of bettering the last proper bridge. And this commando raid is about stopping the vanity that fuels the vision."

The final charge is set just as the war of personal doubts finds truce.

Now, all I have to do is swim back to the river's edge and wait for this year's train to cross another very proper bridge. I wonder how many more bridges will follow, and if the madness will ever end. I wonder if I remembered to put a fuse in every charge? Though I'm sure William Holden would disagree, the commando role suits me well, I think — mostly because commandos are the only ones dumb enough to swim out here into the open and plant mines on heavily-guarded bridge. the older ones may really be "watching" the younger ones. All sanity and reason is gone. No one understands how all this came to be. Did the vile pictures of local people really twist the minds of the residents or did it just unlock the doors to hidden perversions?

What ever the reasons, one thing remains unchallenged nothing will ever be the same. Innocence is gone. Unlike the true "Grimm's Fairy Tale" there is no happy ending. Hansel and Gretel don't escape the witch; Cinderella doesn't marry the prince and live happily ever after.

live happily ever after. Instead, young and old get addicted to the sights and fantasies incurred through the unwholesome visions, whether in print, video, or on the 'Net. Repercussions continue to ripple through the community.

Some studies conclude interest in pornographic pictures — whether it be taking them, participating in them or viewing them — leads to crimes that most people don't want to consider.

These people who post obscene pictures, in whatever medium, try to pass it off as art or freedom of expression.

It's not! It's more aptly described as an insidious virus capable of wiping out every vestige of good in an entire society.

Whatever two consenting adults do within the privacy of their own premises is purely up to them. When it's made available to unsuspecting others, it becomes a violation of acceptable society's rights and should be treated as such.

Yes, we all have the right to turn away from what we don't want to see, but that won't make it go away.

We don't want weeds in our gardens; boogie-men under our children's beds; or witches on their broomsticks. Why would we want to be part of others' sick perversions?

Tomorrow's third-graders must pass reading exam

AUSTIN -- Automatic promotion of elementary school students soon will disappear.

This year's kindergarten class, when it reaches third grade in the 2002-2003 school year, will have to pass a state reading test to be promoted.

School superintendents, at the direction of Texas Education Commissioner Jim Nelson, are sending parents a brochure outlining new promotion standards. The brochure also lists steps parents can take to help their children: • Reduce the child's television time and plan family learning activities that support learning;

• Spend as much time as possible with the child reading a wide variety of books and other kinds of text;

• Ask questions about what they have read, discussing the meanings of new words and comparing one story with another; and

• Keep in regular touch with teachers and school officials.

Arson hotline announced

Insurance Commissioner Jose Montemayor and State Fire Marshal G. Mike Davis last week announced the creation of an arson hotline number that residents anywhere in Texas can call to report a suspicious fire.

The new tollfree hotline number is 1-877-4-FIRE-45 or 1-877-

434-7345. Fire departments also may call this number for assistance.

"Arsonists are responsible for more than 10,000 fires every year in Texas," said Montemayor.

Study: Inmates More Violent

Texas prison inmates are more violent and less likely to be granted parole.

According to a study released May 4 by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, violent offenders now make up 45 percent of the prison population, an increase from 38 percent from 1994.

"There's a very definite correlation to show the system has hardened," said agency spokesman Glen Castlebury.

"We've got to assume the system will continue to harden, and that makes these jobs more dangerous and stressful."

Castlebury attributed fewer paroles to increased violence against guards, who have been calling for higher salaries and more help.

Palo Duro Canyon provides the backdrop for "Texas."

'Texas' turns 35 Changes in store when outdoor musical drama launches 2000 season next month

Special to The Brand PALO DURO CANYON Changes are in store for the 35th anniversary season of the musical drama "Texas."

The performances of the 2000 season will be 8:30 p.m. June 7-Aug. 19 in the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Capital improvements for the anniversary season total more than $792,000. Improvements include new side stages and sets. Funds for these improvements were generated in part by the Amarillo Globe-News "Celebrate 2000" project. Other contributions were made to the improvement project in honor of Jo Stewart Randel, to whom the season is dedicated.

Since 1966, "Texas" has entertained a world-wide audience with the history of the Texas Panhandle told through song, dance and drama. Guests from more than 100 countries travel across the Texas plains each year to Palo Duro Canyon State Park to experience the colorful production. The 3 millionth visitor will be welcomed to the amphitheatre during the first week of the season with tickets from Southwest Airlines.

The sound and lighting for the performances was designed specifically for the Palo Duro Canyon setting. Professional consultants from across the United States have designed special effects, including a rainstorm scene that sends thunder echoing down the canyon. A lightning bolt that flashes down the canyon wall and that even repeat audience members are startled by the impact.

splits a tree is so realistic

Props add another element of realism to the show. Cowboys and Indians ride the backstage terrain on horses. The American Quarter Horse Association joined the "Texas" team this year to promote the important roles horses played in the settling of the West.

Guests are greeted with Texas hospitality upon arrival at the Pioneer Amphitheatre. A barbecue dinner is served from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. for an additional charge.

Tickets to "Texas" range from $8 to $21 with price discounts for children.

For tickets, call 655-2181 online at order or www.texasmusicaldrama.com.

Herd falls 3-1 to Frenship

Hereford tries to win two in a row to move on in playoffs

By Jeff Blackmon Hereford Brand Sports Editor

Those who were expecting to see lots of fireworks in the high school baseball playoff between Frenship and Here-ford were treated to a rare sight these days.

A pitching duel. The Frenship Tigers squeaked by Hereford senior hurler George Castillo and the Hostile Herd 3-1 in Friday night's playoff action in Plainview.

The Tigers (20-7) had their best pitcher on the mound in Trace Vineyard. Vineyard struck out 12 Whitefaces earn-ing him his 11th victory of the year and running his strikout' total to 109 for the season.

The Whitefaces had several opportunities to score in the game, but Frenship's pitching kept them down. "We knew he had a good slider and a good breaking ball," head varsity baseball coach David DePriest said. "He hits his spots."

Castillo took the loss for Hereford High, but only after some great pitching of his own.

Castillo allowed three runs off seven hits, but he fanned eight Tigers in the effort.

"He did great," DePriest said. "He had to come in and throw strikes and make them put it in play. They just didn't make any mistakes tonight." Castillo said he felt confident on the mound, but he feels he could have done a better job. Castillo also said he hopes the team's hitting improves.

"I could have done better,"

Frenship began the first inning by drawing two walks off Castillo. The Tigers' Brian Moore later came around to score on a two out double by Rodriguez. Castillo then got out of the inning by striking out Ken Bias. The Tigers never looked back from then

Frenship led 1-0 for most of the game until their top hitter, Jeremy Milam, stepped to the plate in the top of the fifth and swatted a 2-0 pitch keeping the score at 2-1. The Whitefaces led off the sixth with a hit by J.P. Holman, but third baseman L.J. Vallejo lined out to the second baseman who threw onto first doubling off Holman. Frenship added an insur-ance run in the seventh and Castillo said. "I felt we could do the job, but we just didn't have the bats working tonight."

The Whitefaces now find themselves backed into a corner having to win the next two games of the series to keep their season alive. The situation is a familiar one for the Herd who won five of their last six regular season games just to get to the play-

"We have to come out and do the same things we did in the second half of the sea-son," DePriest said. "We have to have good pitching. Our guys are going to have to throw strikes and no misover the center field fence for his 10th homer of the season increasing the lead to 2-0. The Herd made a late rally in the bottom of the fifth when Kyle Artho got a base hit with one out and stole second to get into scoring position. After a strikeout by catcher Toby Torres, short stop Andrew Ramirez nailed a pitch up the middle to score Ramirez on a two out single and cut into the lead making it 2-1. Center fielder Richard Salinas followed with a single of his own to get two men on for second baseman Andrew Villarreal. The rally was halted

Torres is visibly ailing from a broken nose he suffered last week in practice, and he has some bruised ribs along with stitches in his leg. Castillo said he is proud of how committed Torres is to the team, and he feels Torres must have done something during his spring break to cause his bad fortune.

"It takes a lot of spirit and a lot of heart," Castillo said. "I don't know what he did, but he is having bad luck this week."

Torres took a shot in the first inning but said he was

Lacey was used as a pinch hitter in the bottom of the seventh inning and was Vineyard's last strikeout victim of the evening. Lacey said he feels that getting in their on Friday will help him this afternoon.

"I was real nervous," Lacey said. "I think going in their and seeing some action helps." The game this afternoon began at 1 p.m. at Bulldog Field in Plainview.

If necessary, the teams will face each other in a third game 30-minutes after game two.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) -It didn't matter that Dallas got caught up in an out-of-character offensive free-forall. When it was over, the Stars had regained their playoff momentum.

Joe Nieuwendyk had two goals, including the go-ahead score, and Dallas added two short-handed goals in a 5-4 victory over the San Jose Sharks on Friday night. The nine goals were one more than the teams' total output in three previous games.

"It was a crazy game," said Niewendyk. "We gave up too many opportunities to them. but we're happy with the output on the other end. We got away with one, but we're going to have to tighten up when we go home."

The defending Stanley Cup champions took a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Western Conference semifinals.

The Stars can clinch the series with a victory against San Jose in Game 5 at Dallas on Sunday.

"It's a great opportunity for us to go in front of our home fans and put the hammer down," Nieuwendyk said. "We don't want to come back here."

Both San Jose goalie Steve Shields and Dallas goalie Ed Belfour, who had kept a lid on scoring in their previous games, struggled in this one.

There were three shorthanded goals, two by Dallas, and San Jose converted twice on the power play. A frus-trated Belfour drew successive roughing penalties around a goaltender interference call on Dave Lowry in the final period, but withstood the resulting San Jose power play.

"This was desperate hockey by both sides," said Dallas' Kirk Muller. "There were mistakes here and there and we both capitalized. It was a game of mistakes and we just tried to minimize them.

San Jose pulled Shields in the final minute for an extra attacker, but Belfour stuffed Patrick Marleau's shot from up close with 40 seconds remaining.

Dallas prevented the Sharks from getting another shot. "We had our opportunities," said Mike Ricci, who had a goal for San Jose. "We had enough goals to win. We didn't play well defensively.'

Belfour had allowed only two goals in three previous games, twice slutting out the Sharks. Shields, who stopped 28 of 33 shots, had given up only two goals in the previous two games since a 4-0 loss in over Belfour's shoulder for his

the series opener.

"This was definitely an opportunity to beat them, but we just didn't step up," San Jose's Jeff Norton said.

Nieuwendyk's first goal, off a rebound that Shields just missed overing up, gave the Stars a 4-3 lead before the game was tied for a fourth time on Todd Harvey's power-play goal from the slot after a centering pass by Marleau at 14:07 of the second.

Nieuwendyk then scored again, putting the Stars up by a goal heading into the final period.

"We hung in there," Muller added. "They're a tough team to play against. They're going to battle. We're fully aware of that. We knew it would come down to the wire."

Jamie Langenbrunner, who missed Game 3 with a bruised shoulder, got a pass from Scott Thornton and rushed down the ice. He drew Shields to cover one side of the net before getting off a feed to the wideopen Nieuwendyk on the other side for the go-ahead score, his third of the playoffs.

Owen Nolan forged a 3-3 tie when he answered Dallas' second short-handed score with one for the Sharks. He took the puck away from Derian Hatcher at the blue line and broke for the Dallas net, where he flipped the puck eighth goal of the playoffs.

Sergei Zubov had put Dallas up 3-2 with a short-handed score, getting a lead pass from Mike Modano and beating Shields with a shot on the goalie's stick side.

The teams, who combined for four goals in their two previous games, scored two each in the first period alone.

A Stars turnover led to Ricci's fifth goal of the playoffs, which tied it 2-2. Zubov was skating behind the net attempting to clear the puck when Marco Sturm knocked it away. It bounded out to Niklas Sundstrom and he quickly dished to Ricci, who tapped the puck in from just outside the crease.

The Stars had gone in front on a short-handed breakaway just 11/2 minutes after San Jose converted on a two-man advantage on Vincent Damphousse's first goal of the playoffs.

Mike Keane picked up a loose puck in the Dallas zone and took off down the left side of the rink. Sharks defenseman Bryan Marchment had the angle, but appeared to cramp up as he gave chase and couldn't catch him. Keane got off a cross-ice pass to the streaking Guy Carbonneau, who finished the breakaway by beating Shields.

He spoke with soft astonishment, and didn't lose the fight great, soft-spoken aficionado of things family and outdoors passed from this life to the next on Wednesday, May 3. Terry Moore, all of 32 years old, an outdoor, sports, and area news writer for the Amarillo Globe News, finished the last of some terribly long rows he had to hoe in his battle with terminal cancer -- a battle that began in 1998.

Terry was born in Colorado, attended college at Adams State there, and had the good sense to work in radio and newspaper at Monte Vista and Alamosa Colorado -- in close proximity to the prime trout fishery above the San Luis Valley--before he moved to Panhandle, Texas and a lot of people in this region came to know him through his writings in the Amarillo paper.

He didn't find a lot of trout fishing hereabouts, but did try to improve himself in pursuit of waterfowl, pheasants, and what fish there were to be had within 300 miles of home in any direction. Also, he wisely chose to base his family in a small Texas Panhandle agricultural community where neighboring is an advanced life science.

I won't say that Terry lost his fight with cancer--that wouldn't be fair. The lung cancer and all of the travails it brought never beat him. He faced it all head-on, with great honesty and courage. He wrote more than a dozen frank columns about what was going on in his life as the cancer progressed and the long-term prognosis grew worse. What would prove to be the last of them appeared in the Easter Sunday edition of the Amarillo paper.

Terry called me on the Saturday afternoon before that Sunday column ran, preferring to break it to me personally that the paragraphs he had written for publication the next day would contain the worst news yet -relating that the options had dwindled down to staying at home for as much of the little time he had left as he could, or going to a hospice.

Neither of us had much to say once he got the awful message out. I thought his voice sounded tight--understandably. Talking was hard for him. I had no words that meant anything. We mumbled a few things. He was having a hard time breathing and had to go.

I let the news stew in me through the rest of the afternoon and part of the evening. We were putting on a big family feed late that Saturday afternoon, and that had me distracted when he called.

As we served up the dinner I was wrestling with the feeling that I should have been much more focused and done better in what I said to him.

I'm glad I called back and he answered the phone that Saturday night. Perhaps we had both needed time to sort thoughts out.

Now, we talked with amazing ease and candor about how maybe it wasn't just happenstance that all of this was coming about over the period of Good Friday -- a time of death and despair -- and Easter Sunday--the day marking Jesus Christ's ultimate victory over death, a victory that gives us all the hope of eternal life.

Terry said he much preferred to stay at home for as long as he could. He hated for his wife Suzy to have to be his nurse, but he didn't want anyone else but Suzy to be there for him in that way.

Terry and Suzy were carrying-on with life-as-normal the best they could. They had been coloring Easter eggs that day with the boys, Ben, 10, and Brett, 6.

He and I agreed that it was the right thing to do. Home was surely the best place to be in those days -- most of life's everyday miraculous stuff -- and there is a lot of it--generally takes place in those surroundings.

We talked about writing outdoor news--how people need to focus more on sharing the great outdoors with their families and not obsess on catching full stringers of fish or taking bagfuls of game.

Terry spoke of a fellow outdoor writer, the late Paul Hope, a public education employee with the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department, who had been with the department seems like forever before cancer claimed him. Terry had shot clays with Paul during a Texas Outdoor Writers Association convention, and experienced some of the great one-on-one attention and warmth that Paul was famous for. Terry had shared time with another good fellow who faced the cancerous beast staunchly and never flinched. I could tell he appreciated that.

We talked a bit about his family--the hardest part of all this. I just let him say what he was comfortable with. I'm glad that he made so many friends across the region and the Moores have a compassionate church family in Panhandle to help Suzy and the boys in this difficult time.

I'm going to miss my talks with Terry--the chances to jointly marvel at opportunities and accomplishments on the streams and in the game fields, and to speak aloud the appreciation for "good people."

Terry had true aficion--passion--for family, faith, and the outdoors. He was a rare soul who saw nature not so much for what could be exploited, but experienced, cherished, and spoken on in soft astonishment. Well said, my friend.

Texas wins in Arlington after major comeback

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) -Texas Rangers rookie Mike Lamb sat on the bench for nearly four hours watching the madness, waiting for his turn

The Rangers loaded the bases in the ninth on a single, a walk and an error by pitcher Jeff Tam (0-2). Lamb singled home Ivan Rodriguez. "Now you will believe me

Golf hall of fame adds five swingers

Burke, Beman and Bonallack top list

The World Golf Hall of Fame added five more members Thursday when former Masters champion Jack Burke Jr. and key administrators Deane Beman and Sir Michael Bonallack were among those elected from two new categories.

Burke, who staged the greatest Masters comeback ever in 1956, was elected from the Veteran's Category which considers players whose prime came before 1960.

Beman, who managed unprecedented growth in the PGA Tour during his 20 years as commissioner, and Bonallack, secretary of the Royal & Ancient Golf Club until retiring last year, were elected from the Lifetime Achievement category. Neil Coles and John Jacobs, both credited with forming the PGA European Tour, also were also chosen from Lifetime Achievement.

Their election came two days after Judy Rankin was voted into the Hall of Fame by the LPGA Tour. Beth Daniel and Juli Inkster previous qualified.

All eight will be inducted Nov. 20 at the World Golf Village in St. Augustine, Fla., the largest class in 25 years. That will bring Hall of Fame membership to 84. "If you look at this cast of characters, it's an outstanding representation of competition and contributions to the game," said PGA Tour commissioner Tim Finchem. "We have eight stories to tell. Everyone had a huge impact on where we are today."

The five selections mean the LPGA Tour won't get the induction ceremony all to itself.

It also was a sign that offi-cials are serious about honoring players who have slipped through the cracks as the Hall of Fame tries to build continuity. The new shrine opened just two years ago, and qualifications are still evolving.

The LPGA Tour switched to a points system last year. which brought in Daniel and Amy Alcott, and also enabled Inkster to qualify with a great 1999 season.

PGA Tour players become eligible for the ballot at age 40, but no active player has received the required 75 percent of the vote the past four years. Greg Norman has come closest.

Nick Faldo and Seve Ballesteros were elected on the International Ballot in 1997.

"The purpose of the Hall of Fame is to recognize great contributions to the game, and to do that you need to recog-nize people," Finchem said. "We're a little behind." The last time eight players were inducted was 1975, the second year of the old Hall of Fame in Pinehurst, N.C., which was run by the PGA of America.

"It's going to be a special time, a real highlight for the Hall of Fame," Beman said. Burke won the Masters and the PGA Championship in 1956, but he's best known for his record comeback. He was eight strokes back in the final round at Augusta National. but won by a stroke over amateur Ken Venturi, who shot an 80.

Burke played on five Ryder Cup teams, twice was captain and remains one of most respected teachers. He is cofounder of The Champions Club in Houston, site of the 1969 U.S. Open. "I feel like I've been in a Hall of Fame all my life," said Burke, who was part of the original Hall of Fame several years ago but was inexplicably left out when the PGA of America built the shrine in Pinehurst.

The careers of Beman and Bonallack have crossed several times. They played against each other in the 1959 Walker Cup, and were in charge of the PGA Tour and R&A respectively for 10 years. Both won the British Amateur.

"I had a great deal of re-spect for Michael," Beman said. "I'm honored, and I'm looking forward to the ceremony.

Beman won two U.S. Amateur titles, was the runner-up in the 1969 U.S. Open and won five times on the PGA Tour. But he made his mark as the commissioner from 1974 to 1994, during which total purses grew from $8 million to $56 million.

He also developed The Players Championship and started the TPC Network, which began with the Stadium Course at Sawgrass and now includes 30 other TPC Bonallack was regarded the greatest British amateur after World War II. He won the British Amateur and English Amateur five times, and played on nine Walker Cup teams. He retired last year as secretary of the R&A.

"I'm naturally very flat-tered," Bonallack said from St. Andrews, where he is cap-tain of the R&A. "It's good to know people think it worthwhile to recognize an administrator. Lots of administrators did a lot for the game don't get many headlines."

Lakers take care of business 113-86

Utah sends Seattle home in game five

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Disaster averted.

The Los Angeles Lakers, dominant during the NBA's regular season, shaky in two games at Arco Arena and one loss shy of embarrassment, played like champions Friday night.

Oh, we were ready, very focused, came out with a lot of firepower," said Glen Rice, who had 14 points, five rebounds and six assists to help the Lakers trounce the Sacramento Kings 113-86 in the deciding game of the best-of-five playoff series. "We wanted to let them know we meant business."

The Lakers did just that, going on top by double digits a little over nine minutes into mates. "It's kind of hard to decipher what happened." What happened was the normally laid-back Staples Center crowd was probably more vocal than it's been all year, and the Lakers fed off it.

"I don't know if I've seen a crowd in L.A. as alive as this one in a long time," said Jack-son, who's taken jabs at the local following on occasion.

O'Neal outrebounded the entire Sacramento team in the first half, 14-12, and his teammates contributed steady offensive production and their usual solid defense.

The game was so onesided that O'Neal was the only Lakers starter to play in the fourth quarter, and he watched the final 10:03 from the sidelines

Kobe Bryant finished with points, and A.C. Green, 17 told by Jackson to shoot more, added 10.

Robert Horry scored six of his eight points in the second quarter.

The Kings, who surprised just about everyone but themselves by forcing a fifth game. were awful in this one.

"It's frustrating to end up the season with a pathetic effort," Sacramento's Jon Barry said.

had 17 points and 15 assists and hit two free throws with 9 seconds remaining to preserve the victory.

The Sonics got a final chance, but Chuck Person's 3point attempt bounced off the rim at the buzzer, sending Utah to a rematch with Port-land. Last year, the Trail Blazers eliminated the Jazz in six games. Bryon Russell scored 16 points for Utah and helped limit Seattle star Gary Payton to 27. Jeff Hornacek, retiring at the end of the season, added 14 points for the Jazz. The home team won each game in the series. points, while John Stockton the first quarter. It was 31-20 entering the second period and 59-44 at halftime, and the Kings got no closer than 14 points after that.

In another Game 5 Friday night, Utah defeated Seattle 96-93 to advance to the sec-ond round against Portland. The Lakers will face Phoenix, with both Western Conference semifinals starting Sunday. In the East, Philadelphia was at Indiana today in their opener, and Miami will play host to New York on Sunday.

The Kings never trailed the Lakers in winning Game 4 101-88 in Sacramento to force a fifth game.

"We just came out and played our game," Lakers guard Ron Harper said. "We got into a team flow and rolled on and on and on."

The Lakers, whose 67 regular-season wins were eight more than anyone else managed and the second-most in franchise history, knew they were on the verge of becoming the biggest upset victims in NBA playoff history. A topseeded team has lost to an eighth seed only twice.

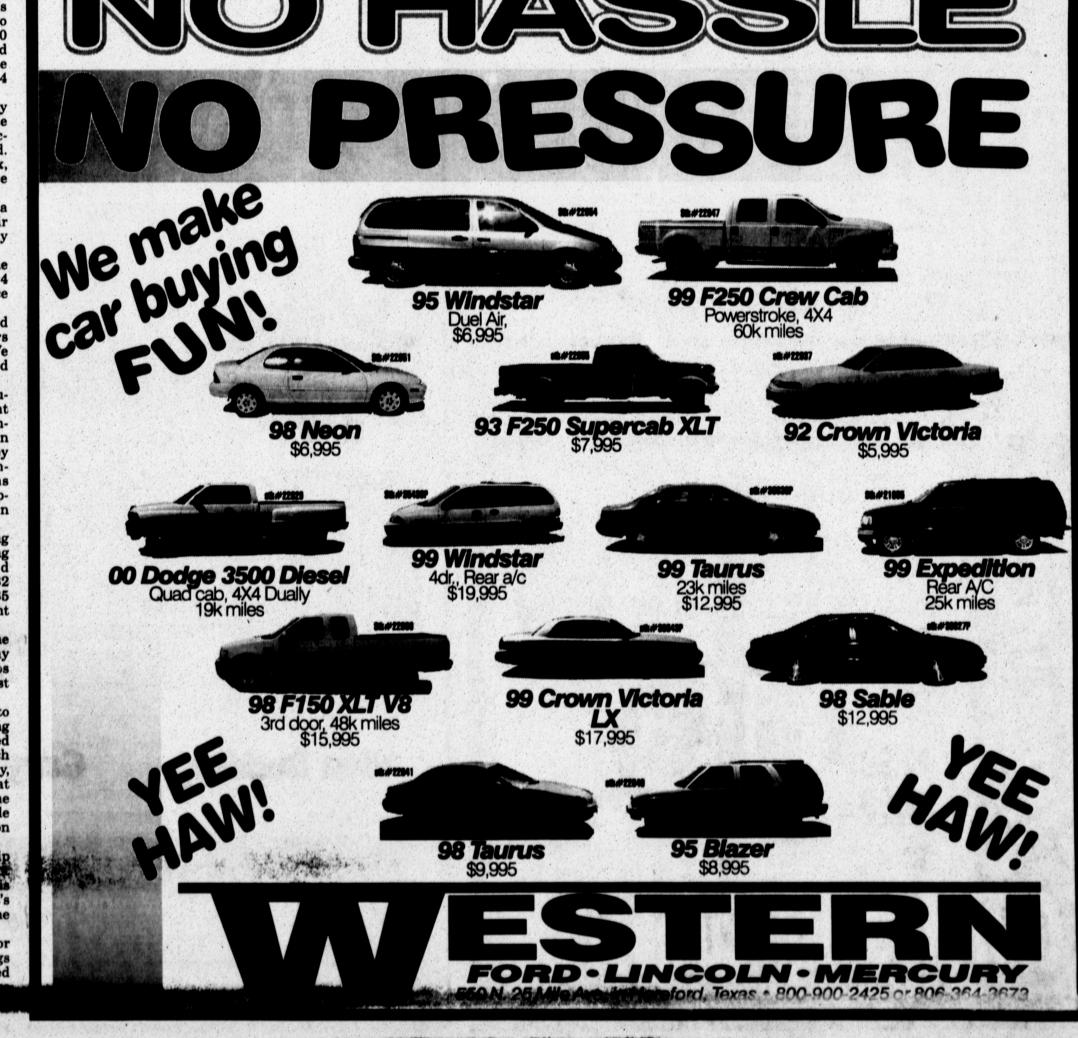

'We knew if we didn't bring our 'A' game, we were going to make history," said Shaquille O'Neal, who had 32 points and 18 rebounds in 35 minutes. "And we didn't want to make history."

Now, the Lakers face the rested Suns starting Sunday at Staples Center, where Los Angeles has won 20 of its last 21 games.

"I don't care when it had to happen, but I've been talking all year about how we needed a trial by fire," Lakers coach Phil Jackson said. "Certainly, a team has to have that at some point to develop the mettle and grit and to be able to sustain the poise, direction and intensity."

Jackson's six championship teams in Chicago all swerts their first-round series. This would be no sweep, but it's the Kings going home and the Lakers going on.

"There are no excuses for how we played," said Kings star Chris Webber, who scored 20 points - more the

Groups offer scholarships

Applications being accepted by WT press association, civic entities

Applications are being ac-cepted for two $2,000 scholar-ships awarded through the West Texas Press and Texas Press associations.

The contest is open to applicants in the area served by WTPA member newspapers and whose career goals include working with a community newspaper. Hereford stu-dents are eligible to apply for the scholarships through the Hereford Brand's membership in WTPA.

The scholarships are named in honor of the late West Texas publisher Bob Craig of Hamlin, and will be awarded to a graduating high school senior and a college junior or senior pursuing journalism ca-reers. Craig, who died in 1981, was the longtime publisher of the Hamlin Herald and member of West Texas Press board of directors. He served 18 years on the board in all capacities, including president in 1967 and secretary/treasurer in 1969.

Each scholarship will be divided into two payments of $1,000 for two semesters. The winners must be enrolled in at least three hours of college or university journalism courses each semester that the scholarship is awarded.

Each applicant must fill out an application form and write an essay based on the theme "My Future and Career Plans in Community Journalism." Prospective applicants in Deaf Smith County may secure a form at the news office of the Hereford Brand, 313 N. Lee.

Applications and essays should be sent to Mark A. Jordan WTPA Scholarship Chairman, P.O. Box 149, Decatur, Texas 76234, and be postmarked no later than June 15. 2000.

Winners will be chosen by the West Texas Press Association board of directors and will be announced at the Association's 70th Annual Summer Convention July 20-22 in the Inn of the Mountain Gods, Ruidoso, N.M.

Proclamation signed — Mayor Bob Josserand signs a proclamation declaring the week of May 7-13 as National Hospital Week in Hereford. Observing the signing are employees of Hereford Regional Medical Center. They are, from right, James Taylor, C.E.O.; Assistant Administrator of Ancillary/Community Services Donna Kemp; and Director of Nurses John Berry. The American Hospital Association has chosen "Touching the Future with Care" as the national theme and it will be used by hospitals across the nation in recognition of the forward thinking of the future.

They have worked with property owners and the City of Hereford in tearing down old buildings which were definite eye-sores along Hwy. 60. And one big step in beautify-ing Hwy. 60 was painting a welcome sign on "the wall" on East Hwy. 60 in 1995.

This project has proved to be one of the least troublesome for the alliance to maintain.

"We had a car run into it a couple of years ago and we had to replace a plant. That's the only maintenance that has been required except for pull-ing weeds," Reily said. "Keeping Us Beautiful"

(KUB) Awards were initiated done the most to increase community awareness," Reily said.

Locating the various homes to be recognized has proved to be a big job (as many as 90 awards have been given in some years) and HBA could use some assistance.

"We need volunteers who can drive the city streets and locate places they feel are wor-thy of the KUB Award," Reily said. "The don't even have to call us. They are given pre-addressed, stamped post cards to mail on Monday of each week with the name and address of spots they think are deserving of the award."

A volunteer would not be expected to be a spotter for the entire summer, only for a month, if there are enough who volunteer. The town is divided into four sections and a spotter is needed for each section for each month. "This volunteer opportunity would make it possible for someone who wants to contribute to keeping Hereford beautiful to do something even though they not able to physi-cally contribute," Reily said. Anyone interested in volun-

In addition to the KUB Awards, HBA has devoted most of its efforts for the last two and a half years to planting trees along Main Street. The project was accomplished in conjunction with the city because they were responsible for digging the holes where trees were planted.

"It was a slow process because we could only plant when the city had holes dug. We were afraid to spend money on anything else in case it was needed to buy trees," Reily said. "But that project is completed so now we have turned our efforts to a new project."

The project Reily is referring to is the numerous triangular traffic islands located throughout town.

In a gesture marking the first National Hospital Week (May 7-13) celebration of the 21" century, the American Hospital Association chose "Touching the Future with Care" as the national theme. The theme is used by hospitals across the nation, including Hereford Regional Medical Center, in recognition of the forward thinking of the future.

For health care providers, it means exploring new technolo-gies that offer hope for better lives.

Touching the Future with Care' means using what we learn wisely so that we make life better. not only today, but also for generations to come.

"It means seeing our patients as neighbors and friends and making sure they are treated not only with good medicine, but also with good hearts," James Taylor, C.E.O. of Hereford Regional Medical Center, said.

"Touching the Future with Care" is about excellence in the profession and about kindness, dignity and respect in practice. This is a very exciting time to be involved in medicine and the steps we take today will set a course for the 21st century," Taylor said.

Neil Armstrong knew what one step could mean to the future. The change from the 20th to the 21st century occurred in a single moment – but the significance for the future was momentous.

"No doubt, medicine is on the verge of important breakthroughs that will revolutionize the way we live. And it's only the beginning. On May 7-13, help us recognize the people who make National Hospital Week 2000 worth celebrating – people who are Touching the Future with Care," Taylor said.

"At one end we'll have the Solid Rock Café and game room and on the other end will be the high tech rec room with video games, big screen projection TV, televisions with splitters and a specially designed auditorium for concerts, special speakers or other get-togethers.

Between the Solid Rock and the new facility will be the existing gym, where teens can play volleyball and basketball. "Our desire is to build a facility supervision and leadership for Youth Church activities."

The idea was kicked off Sunday evening with a Dream Banquet that detailed the need for the facility. More than 350 people showed their support for giving community youth a special place. "We don't know what hours it will be open, but it will have regular hours," said Taylor.

The new kitchen facilities will be able to handle more people with greater ease and more convenience, said Taylor.

"This facility will complete our vision of having a special place for every group in our community," said Taylor.

"We would like to convert these traffic islands to nonmaintenance, non-watered spots.

"These spots have been maintained in the past by various civic clubs, but the members of these clubs who have done the work are aging and now they are having a heck of a time finding someone to maintain these areas," he said.

Hereford Beautification's goal is to work on one or two of these triangles at a time, beginning with the one at the intersection of Park Ave. and Hwy. 60.

The triangle will be xeroscaped with red, white and blue plantings and perhaps marked with a "Welcome to Hereford" sign.

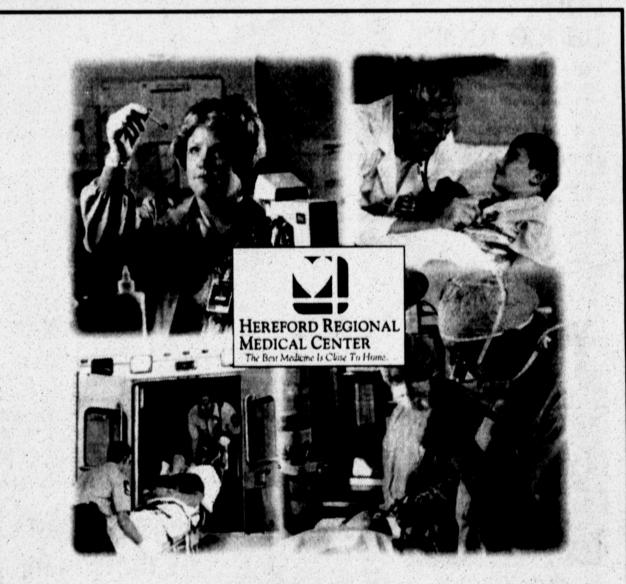

Also this year, according to Reily, the Hereford billboard at the west entrance to town will receive additional plantings and a cleanup and a quantity of wildflower seeds will be spread in vacant lots and unmowed areas along Hwy. 60 These are no small accomplishments from a group which currently has approximately 125 members and only a handful of active volunteers. Hereford should be proud of its beautification alliance and what it has accomplished with very limited funds and numerous hours of volunteer labor.

Ann are "greedy, Landers arrogant and self-important." You then printed a letter from a physician who said a lot of the problems in medicine today are the result of managed care organizations. You asked your readers to respond.

I am a physician who is looking forward to getting out of this profession. It bothers me when I prescribe medicines that I know and trust, only to be told by the HMO that I have to use something cheaper. The HMO review staff inspects every chart, looking for a reason to discharge the patient earlier than I would recommend. There is no diagnosis code for "frail, elderly and lonely." If I want such a patient to stay an extra day or two, I have to make up something to satisfy the insurance company. This compromises my integrity, and makes me feel guilty.

Since the advent of man-

Dear Ann still have to pay malpractice premiums that could support a family of four. It pains me to see the HMOs making millions while I can barely afford to give my staff a raise. Those who think managed care is the answer to the problem should be warned that they will reap what they sow.

Doctor in Any City, USA Dear Doc: The lady with all the answers does not have an answer to this one. I hope those of you who are more savvy than I on this subject will come to my rescue.

From Durham, N.C.: Many people complain about long waits in doctors' offices, but they don't bother me. If I'm stuck an extra 30 minutes, I realize the doctor is taking care of someone else's concerns. Sometimes, there is an unavoidable emergency at the hospital. I certainly wouldn't want a doctor to rush through my surgery just to be on time for someone else's office appointment.

New Orleans: I recently had major surgery. When I looked at my bill, I realized most of the cost came from the hospital, not the physician. There were fees for the room, the anesthesiologist, the radiologist, the phone, and so aged care, I have seen my on. Why do people insist on income drop by half, but I blaming the physician for these costs?

Bedford, Ind.: I work in a doctor's office, and it is getting harder every day to be civil. People are unbeliev-ably rude. They demand to be seen even when we tell them the doctor has a full schedule. If we manage to squeeze them in, they complain if they have to wait. Patients wake the doctor up at 3 a.m. because a sore throat they have had for three days is suddenly an emergency. One idiot woke ME up at home to ask if he could schedule an appointment for the next day.

Bangor, Maine: I am a senior in high school, and plan to become a doctor. All I have ever wanted to do is help people. I know I'll never be rich. If I am lucky, I will be able to pay off my student loans by the time I am 50.

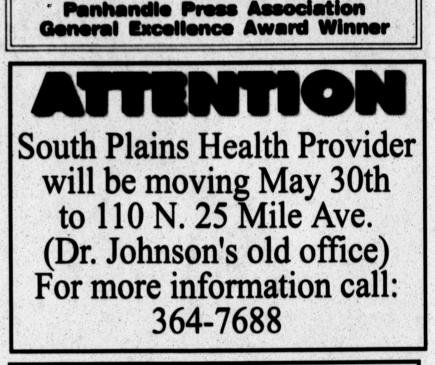

Lafayette, La.: When I needed back surgery, I told my doctor I could not afford it, and would not be eligible for Medicare for another six months. He didn't want me to wait six months, and said, "I will do the surgery for the amount your insurance covers." And he did. Some doctors are angels.

Blacksburg, Va.: I will be attending medical school in the fall. Believe me, this was not an easy decision. The educational requirements are rigorous, and the application and interview processes are expensive and heartbreaking enough to discourage even the most determined student. Despite this, I still want to be a doctor. I care deeply about serving humanity, and want to use my abilities to help those who need care. There is no greater gift than knowing I have improved someone's health or saved a life. I welcome the challenge.

Dear Va.: Bless you. You've chosen the right profession.

HRSEA members attend conference

Special to The Brand District XVI of the Texas Retired Teachers Association (TRTA) held its Spring Leadership Training Conference in Amarillo on May 2. The purpose of the conference was to update members on business that was transacted at the 47th Annual State Convention of the Texas Retired Teachers Association, which was held in San Antonio on April 5-8, and to train local unit officers for the coming year.

Keynote speakers for the Leadership Conference were Tom Pritchard, State TRTA treasurer and Rep. John Smithee.

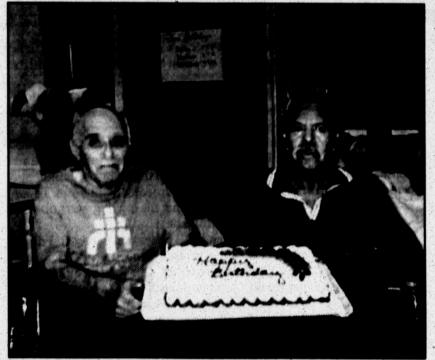

Founded in 1953, TRTA is the largest association in Texas that works for public school and higher education retirees, and is composed of nearly 46,000 members who continue to be involved in local public school education and the well being of their communities.

In the last decade, members of TRTA have contributed more than 52 million hours of community volunteer time to Texas.

Attending the conference from the Hereford Retired School Employees Association were Betty Jo Carlson, president; Leona Schilling, president-elect; Sue Inman, treasurer; Carlynn DeLozier, secretary-elect; Murlene Streun; June Owens; Louise Witkowski; Thelma Alexander; and Dempsey Alexander. The HRSEA meets the second Monday of each month at the Senior Citizens Center at noon. For additional information call Leona Schilling at 364-4793.

Nurses recognized during special week

Hereford Regional Medical Center is joining other enti-ties around the nation in observing the week of May 6-12 as National Nurses and Nursing Assistants' Week.

Meeting the expanding healthcare needs of the nation are 2.2 million registered nurses, a core of dedicated healthcare professionals working in hospitals, school, clinics, community agencies and businesses around the country.

Assisting registered nurses in their work are an addi-tional half million LVNs and 1.5 million nursing assistants. Collectively, these workers care for millions of patients and clients every day.

Although the work nurses do often goes unrecognized, National Nurses and Nursing Assistants' Week provides the nation the ideal opportunity to acknowledge the dedication and commitment of their unselfishness in caring for the sick.

"Hereford Regional Medical Center is proud to recognize all of the nurses in our community for the comfort and care they provide to each patient and to the special touch they leave on so many lives in all that they do," Donna Kemp, assistant administrator of ancillary and community services, said.

PCS offers assistance with weatherization

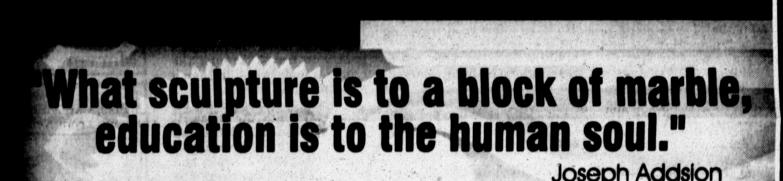

Panhandle Community Services executive director Johnny Raymond has announced that the agency is accepting appli-cations from low income families for a program to weatherize their homes. At no cost to qualifying families, this pro-gram is designed to make the homes more energy efficient and lower utility bills.

"We will weatherize about 250 homes," Margaret Wolf, weatherization director, said, "giving preference to the eld-erly and the handicapped. During our assessment of the home to see if it qualifies, we will check for air infiltration, the presence of carbon monoxide, adequate insulation, the condition of windows and doors, and other repairs which might be needed according to the availability of funds and the rules and regulations of the program."

For those who pay their electric bill directly to South-western Public Service, there is even a possibility of the replacement of old inefficient refrigerators.

"This has been a vital program, aiding the citizens of the Panhandle for many years," Raymond said.

Families who feel they might qualify should contact their local service center for details. In Hereford, contact Celia Serrano, 1011 E. Park Ave., or call 364-5631.

Education is More Than On-the-Job Training

There are two educations: on should teach us how to make a living and the other how to live. -James Truslow Adams

s business owners we have a responsibility to educate others. as well as serve our customers. Many of us hire others and train them to do the work we require of them. However, our responsibility to them goes much further than on-the-job training and signing their weekly paycheck.

If free enterprise is to survive, we must teach its merits. It is the best system in the world, and we must help others understand its value.

We have our work cut out for us. All too often, the media puts a truly negative slant on business activities. Remember, few journalists have business degrees or entrepreneurial experience.

A recent report on the outcome of the Microsoft anti-trust litigation used greedy, selfish, exploitative, vicious and domineering to describe Microsoft. Most of the negative comments came in the form of direct quotes from Microsoft competitors. There was no balance in the report. Only glee that the big dog was going to have some teeth pulled by the government.

Now, I'm not here to defend Bill Gates or Microsoft. I don't own any of their stock nor do I plan to. But, in fairness to Microsoft why not talk to some consumers? After all, it is the consumer who supposedly is going to benefit from the lawsuit.

Maybe I have less faith in the government than I should, but my phone bill went up after the government broke up the Bell system. Microsoft is not a utility company. Microsoft is a publicly held, private sector for profit company. Forgive me while I put my pen down and get a firm grip on my wallet--software prices are going up.

This slanted type of "business reporting" goes on every day. Why would any normal, intelligent young person want to work in a greedy, bullying and exploitative environment? The 3 M Method

We in business can help shape our own future. Let's spread the good word about business. Let's make certain that all people understand the importance and value of our free enterprise system. We can use this 3 M method.

Models. Young people need models. They become what they see. If you read frequently, your children will more likely become readers. If you drink frequently, your children are more likely to consume alcohol. If you over spend your income, you can expect your kids to have money problems.

Business men and women are for the most part caring, loving, community oriented folks. Make sure you're a positive role model for those watching your life.

Mentors. Nothing can make as big an impact on a young mind as a personal session with a successful business mentor. You can show the real and exciting side of being a business owner or manager. You can share the positive side of business success in a relaxed one-to-one atmosphere. If you've never served as a mentor, I urge you to volunteer today.

Motivators. Yes, you can be a business motivator. Motivation can be defined simply as "a motive for action." You can be the person who gives a young person a reason to be interested in the business of business. You don't have to be an eloquent speaker to motivate others. However, you must be passionate about your subject. If you've had some success, won't you share it with others? The American business community needs all of us involved to ensure that the next generation gets to enjoy the fruit of our business labors.

Hindenburg crashed in 1937

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, May 6, the 127th day of 2000. There are 239 days left in the year. Today's Highlight in History: On May 6, 1937, the hydro-gen-filled German dirigible Hindenburg burned and crashed in Lakehurst, N.J., killing 35 of the 97 people on board and a Navy crewman on the ground. On this date:

In 1861, Arkansas seceded from the Union.

In 1889, the Paris Exposition formally opened, featuring the just-completed Eiffel Tower. In 1910, Britain's King Edward VII died.

In 1935, the Works Progress Administration began operating.

In 1942, during World War II, some 15,000 Americans and Filipinos on Corregidor surrendered to the Japanese.

In 1954, medical student Roger Bannister broke the four-minute mile during a track meet in Oxford, England, in three minutes, 59.4 seconds.

In 1960, Britain's Princess Margaret married Anthony Armstrong-Jones, a commoner, at Westminster Abbey. (They divorced in 1978.)

In 1994, former Arkansas state worker Paula Jones filed suit against President Clinton, alleging he sexually harassed her in 1991. (Jones reached a settlement with Clinton in November 1998.)

In 1994, Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and French President Francois Mitterrand formally opened the Channel Tunnel between their counTen years ago: Freed American hostage Frank Reed said at a news conference in Arlington, Va., that he had been savagely beaten by his captors in Lebanon after two unsuccessful escape attempts. Five years ago: Friends and relatives of the Oklahoma City bombing victims made a pilgrimage to the site of the attack. In London, thousands of World War II veterans celebrated the 50th anniversary of V-E Day. Long-shot Thunder Gulch won the 121st Kentucky Derby.

One year ago: Russia and the Western powers set aside their differences over NATO airstrikes and drafted a joint plan to end the Kosovo conflict.

Peabody goes to state office

Peabody moves on -- After 13 years of service to the farmers and the Deaf Smith County Farm Service Agency executive director Ted Peabody will be moving to the state office in College Station. Peabody, far left, was honored at a reception Thursday at the FSA office. FSA Commission president Jim Bob Perrin presented Peabody with a service plaque.

FSA board members are Dale Artho, Rene Eicke, outgoing agent Ted Peabody, Jim Bob Perrin, and Edward Allison. T

Research defeats nematode cyst

Resistant, high yield soybean variety resists other stress

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) -Researchers may have finally whipped the dreaded cyst nematode, a resilient pest that eats the roots of soybean plants and ruins more than $1 billion worth of crops across technology, called CystX, into their brands, but Midland is first to test the technology and get it to market. The cooperative's partners say they will start selling seed later this year for farmers to plant next spring.

"They saw the material in the field very early and made a quick decision," said Rick Vierling, a geneticist at Purdue. "They were convinced this was something customers would want and they jumped on board. For a small company, it's a big deal, but then sometimes smaller companies can move faster.' Private and university researchers have worked for years to find some way to stop the cyst nematode, which chews up soybean roots and lowers yields. A typical farmer in cyst nematode regions can lose 5 percent of their soybeans, while a really bad infestation can wipe out almost

"In our area there are a lot of other stresses involved, especially weather stresses, on growing soybeans," said Clyde Sylvester, an owner of one of the Midland companies in Ot-tawa, Kan. "We felt like if we could keep the nematodes off the soybeans, it really makes them tougher against the other stresses."

Before now, scientists made progress with soybeans that fought off a few types of nema-todes, but not all. Much of the latest research has centered on the Hartwig soybean variety, which successfully resisted all versions of the nematodes but didn't produce high enough yields to win over farmers. In 1994, Purdue researchers finally bred the resistant capabilities of Hartwig into a higher-yield soybean variety. They spent two years testing it against every type of nema-todes they could. Midland, followed by other companies enough."

Purdue is not allowed to identify, bought licensing rights to CystX.

CystX was developed using a high-tech, but still natural breeding process, geneticist Rick Vierling said. So while technologically advanced, it's not a genetically modified organism, he said. Midland's owners put the bulk of their resources behind CystX, working at a harried pace to breed Purdue's variety with its own soybean types. Midland project coordinator Dennis Brown said the resistance has proven itself time and again in Midland research stations in the United States and South America. "We were the first to really believe in it," said Brown, a farmer and seed dealer in Neoga, Ill. "In southern Illinois, we've been dealing with this problem for 15 to 20 years, but we haven't been dealing with it quite well

Critics fault ag bundling practice

HARLAN, Iowa (AP) - Depending on one's point of view, the agricultural practice of "bundling" is either the equivalent of one-stop shopping for farmers or another step toward consolidation.

Farm Service Cooperative in Harlan, Iowa, for instance, offers package deals on seed Pioneer's Knau disand fertilizer to the growers, who also earn premiums for North their crops. Farmers save seed corn supplier, money up front does not dictate to and earn more customers in the fall. The they buy. cooperative sells more product per transaction, and the buyers of the crops get the commodities they need.

Many farmers and agricultural companies like the trend because it streamlines sales transactions and generates savings and boosts income for farmers and suppliers.

"Every piece of a bundle has to add value, or the farmer will take it apart. Why wouldn't he? ... It's simple economics and the farmer drives it," said Dave Knau, director of sales support for Pioneer Hi-Bred International Inc.

But bundling is drawing criticism from opponents to consolidation in agriculture a hot button issue in rural he said.

MULBERRY, Ind. (AP) -Mike Beard's trowel poked through the moist topsoil of his farm, reaching the parched dirt underneath and uncovering the painful memories of 1988.

A drought that year had sliced corn yields by a third for Beard and other Clinton communities across the country

Critics contend bundling is yet one more step toward a food system controlled by a few large corporations. Some, including Neil Harl, an Iowa State University economist, believe the practice will encourage development of monopolies. misses monopoly Harl concerns. The No. 1 equates it to buying a new American Ford car and having to buy oil and other automotive what supplies from t h automaker. Larry

Kallem, executive director of the Iowa Institute for Cooperatives, said as long as there is competition for the goods or services being bundled, mo-nopoly power is not an issue.

"But it sure could approach that," he added.

Pioneer's Knau dismisses monopoly concerns. His com-pany, the No. 1 North American seed corn supplier, does not "dictate to our customers what they buy," he said. "I don't think anybody's got that much clout in the marketplace. You have to keep bringing value to the farmer, and when you stop, someone else is going to fill that void,"

Illinois, Iowa and Missouri.

The obvious solution poses its own perils for farmers, though. With spring planting in full swing, the heavy rains needed to replenish the parched subsoils might wash away their emerging crops.

"You're in a Catch-22," said Shipe, a water expert with the National Weather Service in Indianapolis. "If you get too much moisture in the soil, you're going to drown out the crops until they're big enough." When April ended, 55 percent of Indiana did not have adequate subsoil moisture, said Ralph Gann, a statistician for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

County growers. And it's those memories of 1988 - which produced this nation's third worst drought of the 20th century — that haunt farmers as they plant this year's crops. Dry conditions choke the

Farm labor unions share joint representation

WATSONVILLE, Calif. (AP) - The United Farm Workers gained its first major stake in California's strawberry industry in a tradeoff that leaves the legendary union and a rival upstart sharing represen-tation of pickers at the nation's largest strawberry grower. Both the UFW and the Coastal Berry of California Farm Workers Committee claimed victory as each were certified by the state labor board Thursday to bargain on behalf of workers at Coastal Berry Co.

The UFW won the right to bargain on behalf of 700 Coastal Berry pickers in Ventura County. The Coastal Berry of California Farm Workers Committee will represent more than 800 pickers in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties.

"This is a complete vindication for our committee," said Salinas attorney Jim Gumberg, who represents the Coastal Berry Farm Workers Committee

"We're a brand new group and we're going to bargain a contract with the company. We're looking forward to representing the workers," he said.

UFW President Arturo Rodriguez also declared a victory. Until now, the UFW's only success in the strawberry business was representing about 40 workers at Swanton Berry Farms in Davenport, the state's largest organic strawberry producer.

"Now our only objective is seeing strawberry pickers work to produce genuine improvements in their lives through union contracts," Rodriguez said.

PPA member 2000

The two unions are now expected to negotiate separate contracts with Watsonvillebased Coastal Berry, the largest single employer of strawberry pickers in the country.

The UFW, once spearheaded by the charismatic Cesar Chavez, began trying to organize pickers in the state's $600 million strawberry industry in 1995, a goal that became the top national priority of the union.

The UFW was trying to spark a resurgence reminis-cent of the mid-70s and early 1980s, when tens of thousands of workers joined the UFW and Chavez was a familiar face at workers' kitchen tables and in the fields of the Pajaro Valley about 100 miles south of San Francisco.

The UFW decided to start with Watsonville-based Coastal Berry, owned in the mid-90s by Monsanto Co., the huge biotechnology company.

Under pressure from Congress and Vice President Al Gore to resolve its labor problems, Monsanto sold Coastal Berry to investors who agreed to support workers in their efforts to join the UFW or any other union.

But the UFW's effort soon unraveled. Outside organizers were not welcomed by tight knit communities, labor experts said. And when votes were held in the fields, most workers statewide chose the upstart committee over the UFW.

Charges of misconduct, ranging from formal technicalities to brawls in the fields, soon arose and lengthy hear-ings were expected to continue this year before the state Agricultural Labor Relations Board.

But this week the UFW withdrew its objections to the elections in exchange for certification as the bargaining unit for the Southern California workers, which voted for the UFW last year.

John Borrego, an associate professor of community studies at University of California, Santa Cruz, who follows the agricultural labor movement, said the UFW's "victory" was disingenuous. "The truth is that they lost the election, but they needed some victory because they poured years of effort into this," he said.

Valley, Neb. - Valmont Irrigation announces Brooke Pipe & Supply in Hereford, TX, has earned a Valley Circle of Success award for delivering the highest standards of product support to its mechanized irrigation customers.

"Membership in the Circle of Success is a significant achievement," says Dennis Schwieger, vice president of global sales and distribution for Valmont Irrigation. "Brook Pipe & Supply earned the award by achieving outstanding ratings from customers and Valmont sales managers in recommending and supplying quality parts."

The award was presented at Valmont's dealer sales meeting, held January 16-22 in Las Vegas, where Valley dealers learned about the newest technology and state-of-the-art thinking in mechanized irrigation equipment.

'Valmont Irrigation places a great deal of value in our dealer network. We're very pleased to congratulate Brooke Pipe & Supply for superior parts service," said Schwieger. Valmont Irrigation is the world's leading manufacturer of mechanized irrigation equipment and technology. Valmont introduced the center pivot machine, the first mechanized corner arm and computer technology to the mechanized irrigation industry. Today Valley products enhance food production while conserving and protecting natural resources in more than 100 countries.

Growers can obtain additional information about Valley products from Brooke Pipe & Supply, or by contacting Valmont Irrigation at 1-800-825-6668, or visiting Valmont on the World Wide Web at www.valmont.com

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same intem/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then remember these hints:

· Give the price. A newpaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respnd to an ad with no price.

· Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

· Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

· Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

The House of the Week-

Home Features Sunny Spaces

DISTINGUISHED BY DECORATIVE KEYSTONES, a multi-layered roofline, sunny window arrangements and a stucco exterior, this one-story design has real curb appeal.

By BRUCE A. NATHAN AP Newsfeatures

A dramatic columned entry highlighted by a window arrangement that invites the sun greets visitors to plan G-85 by Home-Styles Designers Network. Its living area has 2,595 square feet of space.

Double doors open to the tiled foyer, which shares a 12-foot ceiling with the formal living and dining rooms. A tray ceiling crowns the dining room, and sliding glass doors in the living room open to a covered patio. The opening to the living room features a decorative display niche.

The secluded family room includes a fireplace flanked by built-in bookshelves. Sliding glass doors to the backyard provide a view.

An island serving bar links the family room to the kitchen and the breakfast nook. A built-in menu desk and a pantry are among the kitchen's highlights. A striking wall of windows bathes the nook in sunlight.

Two nearby bedrooms include private access to a split bath. Across the home, French doors open to the master suite, which has private patio access and two walk-in closets. The master bath offers a plush garden tub with a separate shower, plus a private toilet and dual sinks to ease the morning congestion. A study off the foyer could accommodate overnight guests. The hall bath nearby provides patio access. Unless otherwise noted, all rooms have 10-foot ceilings.

(For a more detailed, scaled plan of this house, including guides to estimating costs and financing. send $4 to House of the Week, P.O. Box 1562, New York, N.Y. 10116-1562. Be sure to include the plan number).

Entertained Guide Movies · soaps · puzzles AND MUCH MORE!! * Carey flexes musical muscles in ABC's tuneful Geppetto

Drew Carey (center) and Julia Louis-Dreyfus play the title character and the magical Blue Fairy in the new TV movie Geppetto, premiering Sunday on ABC's The Wonderful World of Disney. Seth Adkins plays Pinocchio, the puppet who wants to be a boy, in the musical adaptation of the children's classic.

By John Crook oTVData Features Syndicate

Drew Carey finally comes out of the closet in Geppetto, a delightful original musical premiering Sunday, May 7, on ABC's The Wonderful World of Disney.

No, no, no, not that closet! But this musical reworking of the perennial favorite Pinocchio marks the first time the sitcom star and stand-up comic will admit to, well, acting. Not to mention singing and dancing.

"Oh, yeah, I was scared to death of this," he says with a tight little laugh during a recent break in filming his hit ABC series The Drew Carey Show. "But then Stephen Schwartz played some of the songs for me, and I knew I just had to do it. I just had to."

Carey has done some singing and dancing on his sitcom, of course, but who knew there was this really gifted song-and-dance man lurking inside his self-deprecating persona? About half an hour into Geppetto, watch for an unforgettable duet for the title character and the Blue Fairy (Julia Louis-Dreyfus) called "Just Because It's Magic (Doesn't Make It Easy),"

Choreographer Jerry Mitchell stages this wonderful song in truly classic style, as if it were a number meant for Gene Kelly and Cyd Charisse. The movements are sweeping and graceful, and a big guy like Carey would look ludicrous if he held back even a little. But he throws himself completely into the piece and sells it like a pro. The results are honestly thrilling, a gutsy example of a very talented performer working without a net.

And Carey isn't just light on his feet; he sings well, too, in a confident baritone that had even his friends a little "I really wanted to do Stephen's songs justice, because they are just that good, so I worked with a voice coach." Carey says. "I had to laugh when people saw clips from Geppetto and were asking me who had dubbed my voice."

Geppetto – which should become an annual Father's Day offering – was born following the death of screenwriter David Stern's father, an event that sent Stern into a meditation on the obligations of fatherhood.

His ingenious teleplay makes use of situations inherent in the original Pinocchio story. Geppetto, a toymaker, is thrown into daily contact with parents and children and yearns for a son of his own. But as the Blue Fairy immediately realizes, what Geppetto wants is a little clone of himself, not "a real, live boy."

Thus Pinocchio's (Seth Adkins) fate hinges less on the puppet-boy's own behavior than on his father's growing realization that raising a real son requires a full-time commitment.

Carey poignantly pulls off the role's dramatic demands, but there are other 'show-stoppers in the cast as well. Louis-Dreyfus seems to be doing a sidesplitting sendup of Greer Garson at her most grandiose as the Blue Fairy who brings "heppiness" to everyone. Could Congress please pass an act requiring this glorious woman to appear every week on television in some venue? After this, there can be no doubt she is truly a national treasure.

Composer-lyricist Schwartz provides a virtuoso showpiece for Stromboli, and actor Brent Spiner is delightfully hammy in the role. Similarly, Tony winner Rene Auberjonois shines in a production number as a man who tailors children to order for their parents.

If anyone tells you Geppetto isn't one of the TV season's nicest surprises, watch his nose very carefully.

Crouse is named for legendary stage team

By Taylor Michaels oTVData Features Syndicate

Q: In a TV synopsis for an old movie musical, I read the names of Lindsay and Crouse as the writers of both the movie and the Broadway version. Are these people in any way related to actress Lindsay Crouse? -Robert E. McDowell, Warner Robins, Ga.

A: Excellent deduction, Robert! Actress Lindsay Crouse (The Insider, Beyond the Prairie: The True Story of Laura Ingalls Wilder) is the daughter of playwright Russell Crouse, who named her after his longtime writing partner. Howard Lindsay.

The team wrote Life With Father, State of the Union, Anything Goes and many other hits.

Q: A 1950s TV character often said, "What a revoltin' development this is!" I'm certain it was William Bendix on The Life of Riley, but several others are equally convinced it was Jimmy Durante. -Linda Larsen, Sarasota, Fla.

A: That was Bendix's Chester A. Riley who greeted every twist of fate with that famous catch phrase. Bendix created the role on radio, but later played it on TV only after an earlier version starring Jackie Gleason flopped.

Q: An ultrasound appears at the end of The Drew Carey Show. Is it of anyne we know? -Nancy Harless, Des Plaines, Ill.

A: The logo for series creator Bruce Helford's production company, Mohawk Productions Inc., features the ultrasound of one of Helford's children.

Q: The father in Fox's The Simpsons is named Homer J. Simpson. What does the "J." stand for? -Angela Anderson, Reno, Nev.

A: Jav Q: The little dog on The WB Network's For Your Love is so adorable! What kind of breed is it? -Yolanda B. McGraw, Matthews, N.C.

Lindsay Crouse

A: The pup alternately called "Chi Chi" and "Thor" on For Your Love is none other than Jill, the Brussels Griffon who played temperamental Verdell in the Oscar-winning As Good as It Gets. Q: My friend and I love MTV's Daria, and for the longest time were convinced that Janeane Garofalo did the title character's voice. We hear that isn't true. Who does provide the voice of Daria? -Amy Graves via email.

A: There are no well-known "names" in the voice cast for this very smart animated series. Tracy Grandstaff, a writer for The Tom Green Show and a former voice actor on Beavis and Butt-head, is Q: Who played Helen's sister, Casey Davenport, on Wings? My husband insists it was Mariska Hargitay (Law & Order: Special Victims Unit)! -Flo-rence Vlassis, Lancaster, Pa.

A: Amy Yasbeck (Problem Child) played Casey.

SOAP TALK

OLTL actor taking his parents to Emmys

By Candace Havens

OTVData Features Syndicate

When Timothy Gibbs (Kevin Buchanan, One Life to Live) wakes up on Fri-day, May 19, he'll begin the day with a long, hot shower and a shave and then dress in a custom-styled tuxedo. After he and his dad take a walk to get their shoes shined, Gibbs will escort his parents down the red carpet to the 27th annual Daytime Emmy Awards, where he is nominated for outstanding supporting actor.

"I expect I'll be a little nervous," Gibbs says, "but it will help having my mom and dad there. They are so excited.'

Co-star Erin Torpey (Jessica Buchanan) was the one who gave Gibbs the big news

"She told me I was nominated, and I didn't really know what she was talking about. When she said it was an Emmy, just stood there a minute trying to let it soak in," Gibbs says.

The first people Gibbs called with the good news were his parents. While he may have been a bit clueless about the nomination, his mother wasn't.

"It was around 5 a.m. in Los Angeles when I called them," Gibbs says. "My mom picked up the phone and said immediately, 'Did you get the nomination?'

"I just started laughing. I woke her out of a sound sleep, and she still had it all together. It must be a mom thing. She knew when the phone rang why I was calling." The big drama surrounding the Emmy program this year is the history-making 28 nominations garnered by The Young and the Restless. There were allegations of problems with the voting system, but Gibbs doesn't believe the controversy is fair

"Hey, that's a great show," Gibbs says. "It looks great on air, and they have some talented actors. There are a lot of people who work on that show. More power to them. They should try to get as many Emmys as they can."

So does he have a speech planned i in case he wins one of those Emmys?

"I won't write anything down. I think every actor stands in front of a mirror a couple of times and says, 'I'd like to thank ...,' "Gibbs says and laughs.
