Out of the oil patch

■ When the oil business went bust in the 1980s, Berry took new direction — he become a healthcare professional

By Donald M. Cooper

Hereford Brand Managing Editor When the oil boom went bust in the 1980s, thousands of oil patch workers found themselves unemployed.

One of those was John Berry, whose small oilfield-related business went under. But the oil business' loss was the healthcare industry's gain.

Berry never went back into the oil fields — he went to nursing school and never looked back.

Since January 1999, Berry has served as director of nursing at Hereford Regional Medical Center, moving up from the house supervisor's position he held for the previous four years.

A graduate of Amarillo Palo Duro High School, Berry went to Ranger Junior College, where he played football for two years, and found out he loved the oil business.

He was offered a job by a repre-sentative of Coastal Oil Co. — "He could have said any oil company and I'd have taken it," Berry said — and went to work in the Bivins field, doing anything from driving the water truck to helping the roustabouts. "I did anything; I loved it. Then an engineer in the office asked if I would like to go into the office as a material supervisor," Berry said. "I guess I was one of the youngest people to ever have the job - I was 23 at the time — and didn't know anything about it, but I did it.

"I had a four-state region and managed the company's equipment he said. for six years. One day I saw an ad in the paper for Penret (subsidiary of oil fields. I have to day the Hunt Hunt Oil Co.), and I sent them a people were very honest; they told letter. I was contacted and offered a job on a drilling project at Dumas.

"The job lasted about a year and they offered me a job in either Houma, La., or Dallas, but my wife said no, so I went out on my own,"

"I did anything I could do in the me the oil business was going down, and when it went bust, I went under," Berry said.

"I did anything I could to make a living. I went to work selling sunglasses on the street," he said. "Then my wife decided to go back to college while I kept working.

"She'd come home from school and tell me that I'd really like (nursing). I was reluctant, but I went to WT (West Texas A&M University) and talked to the nursing supervisor" about the program, he said.

Although he already was certified as a paralegal, Berry applied for ad-mission to the nursing program. He was set back when he learned he needed to take 92 hours. "After the first semester, I was reluctant. If it hadn't been for a good professor — Betty Henry, who's now retired — I don't know if I'd made it. It was a very hard course," Berry said. With her encouragement and his own determination, Berry stuck it out and earned a bachelor's degree in nursing — join-ing his wife, Tamra, in BRAND/Don Cooper the profession.

After becoming a registered nurse, Berry worked at Northwest

Texas Healthcare System, and also with the now-defunct hospital in Canyon as an emergency room nurse.

"I guess I didn't have a day off for three years," he said.

Berry was working three days a week at the Canyon hospital when he learned there was an opening at need. Americans should understand that the poppy program is not to glorify war, but to honor the patriotism of millions who served and are serving."

HEALTH COALITION

20 regional hospitals formed group to promote health care

"Good health doesn't start with doctors, nurses of hospitals. It starts with people."

LEE PERSEFIELD, executive director, Coalition of Health Services

Special to The Brand

Regional hospitals, including Hereford Re-gional Medical Center, combined resources in 1997 to form the Coalition of Health Services. Awareness of regional health needs motivated the providers to form the organization, which is intended to promote coordination and coopera-tion among individual health organizations. Twenty regional hospitals are included in the coalition's membership, with the organization serving 29 counties of the Texas High Plains. Diabetes education and awareness is an early example of the regional needs addressed by the coalition. Health statistics identified diabetes as a major health factor - about 40,000 residents of the 29-county coalition service area are diagnosed as diabetic, while another 20,000 are believed to be diabetic but have not been diagnosed. It would have been impossible for each individual hospital to implement the kind of education and awareness needed for widespread early identification and treatment. The coalition created a program that serves the entire area and works in cooperation with healthcare providers. In all, the coalition administers 15 specific programs addressing health issues, including equitable access to primary and preventative health care, prenatal care, childhood immunizations, early childhood preventive care and health education.

The coalition maintains a constant awareness that health is about people, executive director Lee Persefield said. Since the organization works closely with health providers but is not directly involved in offering services, the coalition can step back and view health care from the viewpoint of the people served. In striving to meet the needs of the people, the coalition works to encourage and coordinate health education programs, from local primary care to coordinated services with regional health facilities and specialists. The coalition advocates "user friendly" health programs for everyone, no matter what their personal or family budgets.

"If it takes free hot dogs to get people motivated to apply for health insurance that fits their family's budget, we'll give free hot dogs," Persefield said.

The coalition and its hospital affiliates work to create an environment in which the general public feels comfortable. During the 1999 high school football season, the coalition launched the use of its CareVan, which travels to area communities to conduct health education, health screening and free immunizations. Local healthcare leaders created the coali-

Lugar: Clinton hasn't helped farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Clinton administration has done too little to rejuvenate the nation's farm economy, the chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee said today. "Although Congress and the president have agreed on the need to provide financial help to farmers, the Clinton administration has not focused sufficient attention on the broader problems facing agriculture," Sen. Dick Lugar of Indiana said in the weekly Republican radio address. vided $15 billion over the past years He owns a corn and soybean farm in his home state.

Lugar said the administration has not worked hard enough to lower barriers to U.S. food exports or to reduce energy prices. He also said farmers were hurt by President Clinton's veto last year of a $792 billion tax-cut package.

Grain prices collapsed in 1998 and are likely to remain relatively low through this year. Congress has proto compensate for the lower prices and will give farmers at least $7 billion more this year, Lugar said.

The administration's failure to make progress RICHARD at last year's world trade talks in Seattle "was a major disappointment to the agricultural community," he con-

Congress also is close to finishing work on an overhaul of the federal subsidized crop insurance program that will sharply reduce the premiums that farmers pay for the coverage, Lugar noted.

Democrats contend American farmers were adversely affected by passage of the 1996 Freedom to Farm law, which significantly lowered crop subsidies and ended a Depression-era system of production controls

Of course, there will be specialities, like oncology, that cannot be provided here, but we do have a good lab and we can do all the blood work for the oncologist so you don't have to drive to Amarillo for-that," Berry said.

One project recently initiated by the coalition is an electronic communications hub for healthcare provid ers. As funds become available, this will include placement of telemedicine equipment in area hospitals so that diagnostic used from remote sites can be viewed by medical experts, permitting better diagnosis and treatment of rural patients. Telemedicine equipment is being placed in five communities — Children Perryton, Canadian, Memphis and Amarillo — and the coalition will continue to seek funding for placement at other hospitals across the region. The project also involves public access to computers and the Internet, offering an opportunity for local healthcare facilities to work with area educations institutions in providing distance learning opportunities for all.

Clinton drops TV address on China bill

CHICAGO (AP) — Advised by con-gressional Democrats that the effort could be counterproductive, President Clinton abandoned plans to make a nationally televised speech to pitch legislation establishing per-manent normal trade relations with China.

During a political fund-raising trip to Philadelphia and Chicago on Friday, Clinton abruptly canceled a five-minute, televised Oval Office address on behalf of the trade bill that he had scheduled for Sunday night.

His decision followed talks with House Minority Leader Dick Gephardt, D-Mo., and other congressional Democrats while on the flight to Chicago, White House spokeswoman Jennifer Palmieri said.

"We've been talking with them for the past couple of days about what's the most productive way to get votes on this," Palmieri said. "They've advised us that they don't think that the Oval Office address is the most productive way to get votes.

The bill would open China's markets to more U.S. goods, and end 20 years of annual reviews of China's trade status. The bill is supported by the business community and opposed by labor, environmental and some veterans' groups. Both sides said the vote remains close and predicted a weekend of hard lobbying.

Palo Duro Canyon provides the backdrop for the musical drama "TEXAS," which will kick off its 35th season next month.

Changes in store for 'Texas' season

Special to The Brand

PALO DURO CANYON -Changes are in store for the 35th anniversary season of the outdoor musical drama "TEXAS."

The performances of the 2000 season will be 8:30 p.m. June 7-Aug. 19 in the Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Capital improvements for the anniversary season total more than $792,000. Improvements include new side stages and sets, covered seating for the barbecue area, a new accessible handicapped restroom and a new amplification system. Funds for these improvements were generated in part by the Amarillo Globe-News "Celebrate 2000" project and by a new cast member, Cattle Call. Other contributions were made to the improvement project in honor of Jo Stewart Randel, to whom the season is dedicated.

Since 1966, "TEXAS" has entertained a world-wide audience with the history of the Texas Panhandle told through song, dance and drama. Guests from more than 100 countries rancher, is disturbed by new settlers to the area, like "Calvin Armstrong," a young farmer with visions of helping the region advance. The young man's dreams of a train and a town in the area aren't initially favored by the rancher, who for years has grazed cattle freely on the range. Tempers flare as the characters battle nature and each other while making their homes on the Texas plains. Stubborness and pride eventually give way to progress.

The sound and lighting for the performances was designed specifically for the Palo Duro Canyon setting. Professional consultants from across the United States have designed special effects, including a rain-storm scene that sends thunder echoing down the canyon. A lightning bolt that flashes down the canyon wall and splits a tree is so realistic that even repeat audience members are startled by the impact:

Props add another element of realism to the show. Cowboys and Indians ride the backstage terrain on horses. The American Quarter Horse Association joined the "TEXAS" team this year to promote the important roles horses played in the settling of the West. Guests are greeted with Texas hospitality upon arrival at the Pioneer Amphitheatre. A barbecue dinner is served from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. for an additional charge. Western music on the patio prepares visitors for the evening ahead. Tickets to "TEXAS" range from $8 to $21 with price discounts for children.

PUC gives OK to SPS merger

AUSTIN - The Public Utility Commission of Texas on Thursday approved the pro-posed merger of New Century Energies (NCE) and Norther States Power (NSP) to form Xcel Energy.

NCE is the parent company of Southwestern Public Ser-vice Co. With the approval, SPS will begin in June to pass on $4.8 million per year in expected merger-related savings to its Texas customers, reducing base prices about 1 percent. The bill for a Texas residential customer using 1,000 kilowatt-hours per month will decline by 47 cents, from $64.24 to $63.77.

The PUC's action accepted a stipulated settlement among NCE, Texas agencies and stakeholders. The stipulation also includes SPS' "transition to competition plan," under which SPS plans to sell at least two-thirds of its 4,472 megawatts of electric powergenerating capacity to competi-tors by 2002.

COMMENT AIDS fight gets boost

Those fighting AIDS got some power-ful allies this week when five of the world's largest drug companies agreed to slash the prices of HIV drugs for people living in poor nations. That means millions of people throughout Africa and the Caribbean Basin living with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS, will now get access to those lifesaving drugs. ... Still, the biggest hurdle was the cost of the drugs. The lower prices, though still too high for many, will go far in combating this epidemic. The combination of three or four drugs needed to keep the virus at bay will now cost between $150 and $200 a month in those countries, unlike the $10,000 and $15,000 a year it costs in the United States and Europe. ...

President Clinton ... commendably issued an executive order declaring that the United States will not interfere with countries that violate American patent laws to provide AIDS drugs at lower costs.

That should be a warning to the drug companies. Profit margins are never more important than life itself. The Miami Herald

o reduce the political voltage when handling the third-rail issue of Social Security, the careful candidate assures older Americans that their benefits will not be cut, and everybody else that they will not have to pay more in taxes.

Gov. George W. Bush is carefully making that case as he advocates the option of private investments as part of Social Security. So is Vice President Al Gore, who opposes major changes in the system. He says Bush would put benefits at risk.

While the White House contestants are disputing what to do about future financing of Social Security, their rival proposals agree on one claim: It will not cost beneficiaries or taxpayers a thing — at least not now or soon, although Republican Bush does not preclude changes for future retirees.

Gore opposes any future increase in the benefit age, which is gradually increasing now, one of the changes made in 1983 to shore up the system.

The age for full retirement benefits will be 67, effective in 2025.

Not that it won't take more money than the system will have to cover the benefits as the number of Americans over 65 years old grows and the ratio of workers paying Social Security taxes declines.

There are now 3.4 workers paying into the system for each person getting benefits out. That will go to down to two workers per retiree by 2030. There are nearly 45 million beneficiaries now, and the number will be increasing sharply in the coming decades.

Bush wants to deal with that by changing the system to permit working people to put a share of what would be Social Security taxes into private retirement accounts in the stock market.

Gore says the Bush plan would take roulette-style risks and invite "sky-high bailout costs" to meet retirement needs after a stock market slump. His plan would use the money the government saves on interest costs on a lowering national debt to keep Social Security solvent through the baby boom retiree crunch.

Inc. and Second Amendment Sisters Inc. for the hearts and minds of the American people on Sunday should have been spelled d-u-a-l.

Both sides have good ideas about a problem that is still too big to be ignored. ...

To hasten the decline of gun deaths, Donna Dees-Thomases, whose sister-inlaw is a close friend of Hillary Clinton ... organized a rally to demand new gun laws. ...

One proposal would close the loophole regarding background checks for buyers at gun shows. Trigger locks and mandatory gun safety classes are among other proposals. ...

To counteract that rally, the Second Sisters were hastily organized. They call for protecting the Second Amendment right to own a gun and for better enforcement of existing laws. ...

Some unsolicited advice to the moms and sisters: Emulate Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

That means being nonpartisan. That means holding people, not cars or guns, responsible for their actions. That means new laws. That means better enforcement of existing laws.

That means working together. Charleston (W.Va.) Daily Mail

ow I know a little bit about how a woman feels after giving birth. She has to go through all of those months of pregnancy, the ordeal of labor before the baby's arrival, and after the birth she has to wonder how will it turn out: Will this newborn infant grow up to be a saint or a demon, a genius or a doofus?

I guess that's what I've been going through with my book, "C Trick: Sort of a Memoir."

First was the months and months of gestation as I turned an idea into a book. Then came the labor as I struggled for nearly four years to find a publisher willing to commit to putting "C Trick" into print.

Now my baby is here — and I am wonder-ing how it will turn out: Will "C Trick" sell or will it just gather dust? "C Trick" isn't a typical memoir, it's sort of a memoir. That's been one of the problems as I tried to find a publisher; it doesn't really fit neatly into any of the publishing world's little compartments. In recounting my days with the old Army Security Agency's elite spy unit in Berlin during the Cold War, I've tinkered a bit with the chronology to meet my literary needs, and some of the characters are actually composites of two or more individuals. That's why it's "sort of a memoir" and not a historical text.

Since I've been marketing the book, I've wrote back to tell me he believes the book "deserves to be published." Another small publisher said the book should be published by one of the large mass-market companies, and specifically mentioned Random House, HarperCollins and Simon & Schuster.

In her rejection letter, Gillian Blake, associate editor for Scribner, wrote that "C Trick" is hilarious, deals with a subject that's been overlooked and brought to mind "Catch 22...

However, she also said It's taken a long she was concerned there time, but "C Trick" wasn't a "significant" mar- finally made it into ket for my book My ques- print. tion was: How does she know there's no market for "C Trick" when she acknowledges the subject matter has been overlooked?

Then in December, a small publishing house committed to "C Trick." John Hauer, president of Pale Bone Publishing in San Diego, Calif., read a rough draft — fourth or fifth, I'm not sure - and found it to be a hilarious book that caught the spirit of the times. He wanted to see "C Trick" in print.

It's taken a few more months, but "C Trick: Sort of a Memoir" finally is in print.

And, I'm eyeball to eyeball with reality. Don Cooper can be reached at cooper@herefordbrand.com

At this point, the system is projected to run short of the funds to pay benefits in 2037. Gore says his proposal would cover costs through at least 2050.

It, too, would change the system, because it would commit funds from elsewhere in the federal budget for Social Security needs, which have been covered by payroll taxes. That is automatic, without annual appropriations.

Gore's plan would have to withstand rival spending claims in Congress because the money would come out of the budget that finances other federal programs. To overcome that obstacle, Gore would have to find a way to bind future congresses.

Bush contends Gore's plan would only pass the problem on to future generations, and eventually would force increased taxes or lowered benefits.

Gore taunted what he called Bush's "freedom to lose your Social Security act." He also said it would cost close to $1 trillion over 10 years to start a private investment plan because money needed to pay benefits would be diverted out of the system.

The private investment proposal has Democratic supporters. Indeed, in 1998, President Clinton proposed having the government in-vest part of the Social Security fund in the stock market for better returns and Gore agreed at the time. The idea went nowhere with Congress.

Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York, the Democrats' senior man on the issue, favors the option of putting 2 percentage points of the 12.4 percent Social Security tax into personal investments.

In outlining his proposals, Bush left details for later, endorsing a proposal by retiring Democratic Sens. Moynihan and Bob Kerrey of Nebraska, and Sen. John McCain, the Republican he beat for the presidential nomination. They want a bipartisan commission to look at all the options, specifically including private investment accounts, and recommend a solution to Congress.

Gore accused Bush of advocating a secret plan, to be disclosed only after the election. There are precedents. Clinton resisted Republican demands for a specific administration bill on Social Security financing, saying that there should be a bipartisan consensus on what to do. That was supposed to happen in time for action in 1999, but it did not.

So it is a 2000 issue, a major testing point for Gore and especially for Bush, who broke a Republican campaign habit by raising it, early in his presidential primary campaign. It has worked to Democratic advantage in past elections, as in 1986, when Republicans lost control of the Senate after voting to limit future cost of living increases in Social Security.

Surfing the 'Net easier for the kids urfing the 'Net apparently comes quite naturally for kids growing up today, but for some of us old-timers, who are more used to typewriters - or better yet, pen and paper - traversing the sometimes confusing communication world of the Internet is anything but simple. Last week as I was trying to backtrack to a particular page, my ever watchful son asked why I was going through all those steps. "Mom," he said. "Why are you doing it that way. All you have to do is type in

I did what he said and went immediately to the web page I was looking for. I'm still not real sure how he knew the electronic address. I've come to the conclusion it's got to be a kidof-the-'00s-thing.

Rabbit trails get me every time. I get to looking for something, find an unrelated, but interesting topic and go off hunting a goose's tail, then can't find my way back to where I'm supposed to be. (It's kind of like trying to read a road map - upside down.) Neither can I find my way back to the web pages for the unrelated items when I've got the time to look into it

It's not like the old encyclopedias, where you specifically have to look for a particular item. The 'Net has all these links and sublinks which take the traveler off into nevernever world. For an information minded individual, these little rabbit trails provide a wealth of interesting facts.

I used to laugh when I heard people who were worried because their kid or spouse had become "addicted to Internet."

Let me tell you it's no laughing matter. Even old warhorse plodders like myself can rapidly become addicted to the speed in which information can be acquired. The types of information is nearly as unbelievable as the speed at which it comes to my fingertips.

My little rabbit-trails have taken me to some neat genealogy pages - most of which have nothing whatsoever to do with my family, but are still interesting reading. I've found out some things about 1989 Chrysler vans, which had I known them when purchased my now infamous Go-Mobile, I can guarantee I would never have made that purchase. I've discovered history on such innocuous things as popular soft drinks, fashion, hairdos and pet cemeteries.

Sometimes I discover things I don't really want to know; sometimes I find things I should already know and sometimes I can't find what I need to know because I don't phrase my search queries exactly right.

What I have come to realize is even plodding old warhorses really can get addicted to this new media. I don't think the Internet by itself — is as harmful as drugs, booze, fast cars or pornography, but it definitely has attracting capabilities.

I make sure my kids have first use of the 'Net, when they've got homework or projects to complete, but when they're out doing their thing or in their beds, then its my turn.

Considering the terrible lack of worthwhile programs on the three channels on the television, the Internet provides an amazing variety of amusement and entertainment.

Not only do I get interesting information, but I get to stay in close contact with distant friends at virtually no cost — at least when

Texas students score record high on TAAS

AUSTIN — Texas stu-dents, for the seventh year in a row, set a record high passing rate on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills test, Commissioner of Education Jim Nelson announced May 17.

Statewide, it was the students' best performance in the 10-year history of the exam.

Preliminary results show that 80 percent of all students tested in third through 10th grade passed the English version of the TAAS this spring, compared to 78 percent last year.

This latest passing rate is 27 points higher than the 1994 passing rate for all students. That year, 53 percent of the students passed all tests taken.

This spring, 1,882,991 stu-dents in third through eighth and 10th grades took either the English or Spanish ver-sion of the TAAS test, com-pared to 1,847,199 in 1999.

Bush backs gun locks Gov. George W. Bush on May 12 announced Project ChildSafe, a five-year, $5 million program to provide free child-safety locks and firearmsafety information to Texas parents.

Funded through a grant from the governor's criminal justice division, the program will provide parents with instruction and free child-safety locks.

Sheriffs and police chiefs across the state will be notified during the next few weeks about Project ChildSafe and will receive kits to distribute in their communities.

Inmate care eyed

It costs a lot less to place a terminally ill Texas prison inmate in a nursing home than to keep him or her under special care in a penitentiary, prison officials said last week. The Texas Criminal Justice Policy Council, quoting a Leg-islative Budget Board estimate, said the annual state cost for "special-needs offenders" who require 24-hour skilled nursing care is about $34,000 in prison versus $7,000 for nursing facility care outside prison. The council recommended that the Texas Legislature:

 Adopt a computerized system to assess candidates for special-needs parole;

· Broaden the definition of terminally ill to include inmates diagnosed as up to 12 months from death; and · Consider expanding the number of nursing homes eligible to receive paroled offend-

Sales tax payment falls off this month

By Denald M. Cooper Hereford Brand Managing Editor Hereford's economy slipped in May, at least by one measurement.

The city's sales tax payment from the Texas Comptroller's Office this month was $97,244, down 12.4 percent from the $111,040 received in May 1999. However, the May allocation was significantly higher than the $75,605 received in April. Deaf Smith County saw its sales tax rebate fall this month as it received $35,202, down 1.7 percent from the $35,809 for May 1999. The county's payment, however, was well above the $24,517 received in April.

For the year, Hereford has received a total of $450,157.

New computer virus

crashes computers, but spread contained NEW YORK (AP) — The spread of a computer virus that could have done more damage than the "Love Bug" was nipped in the bud this week as U.S. companies strengthened their defenses against attacks from the Internet.

The virus, dubbed "NewLove," infected thousands dubbed of computers around the world on Thursday and Friday, but failed to become an epidemic like the Love Bug that reached millions two weeks ago.

Safeguards put in place on corporate e-mail systems against the earlier virus stopped NewLove's spread. Had awareness not been heightened by the Love Bug, the new virus. could have spread very fast and caused untold damage, said Gene Hodges at software company Network Associates Inc. in Santa Clara, Calif.

"In this perspective, 'Love Bug' was a very positive wakeup call," he said.

same period last year. The comptroller's office delivered a total of $277.2 million in monthly sales tax pay-ments to 1,104 Texas cities and 119 counties, a 4.2 per-cent increase over the $265.9 million allocated to cities and counties in May 1999.

The comptroller's office sent sales tax rebates totaling $256.9 million to Texas cities, 4.6 percent higher than last May's payments of $245.4 mil-lion. Rebates of $20.3 million to Texas counties were down 0.8 percent compared to allocations of $20.5 million in May 1999.

The state's six metropolitan transit authorities and two city transit departments re-ceived $99.2 million. Another $8.9 million went to 49 special-purpose districts.

May sales tax rebates represent sales taxes collected in March and reported to the comptroller in April.

By law, the state collects sales taxes for Texas cities and counties that have local sales taxes. The comptroller's office then returns the portion of the taxes on a monthly basis.

The state charges a 6.25 percent sales tax and local sales taxes can be up to 2 percent abo ve that. The city of Hereford levies a 1.5 percent tax, while Deaf Smith County's sales tax is 0.5 percent.

Meluskey homers in Astros' 3-2 loss in Houston

PITTSBURGH (AP)-The Pittsburgh Pirates finally found a player to hit for a cycle in Three Rivers Stadium, and with not to much time to spare.

"When I hit it in the gap, I honestly thought it bounced over the wall, but I wasn't stopping at second," Jason Kendall said Friday night after his eighth-inning triple gave him the cycle in the Pirates' 13-1 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kendall, who drove in five runs, had a two-run homer in the first, an RBI single in the second, a double in the third and a two-run triple in the eighth.

The last Pirates player to hit for the cycle at home had been Wally Westlake against the Braves on June 14, 1949, when the Pirates played at Forbes Field.

Pittsburgh, which moved to Three Rivers in 1970, moves on to PNC Park next year, and Kendall figures to be a big part of their plans.

Nothing he does is amazing," Cardinals manager Tony La Russa said. "He's one of the best young players in the league."

acers close out series in Philadelphia, 106-9

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Not all of the Indiana Pacers were celebrating after knocking Philadelphia out of the NBA playoffs.

Yes, Indiana finally put away a team that won two straight games after trailing 3-0 in the the Eastern Conference finals for the third straight season and fifth time in seven years.

The Pacers, however, are still seeking their first trip to the NBA Finals.

"What are we celebrating for?" asked Reggie Miller, who scored 25 points in Indiana's 106-90 victory Friday night in Game 6. "We've been here four, five times. We have nothing to celebrate."

Added Jalen Rose, who scored 21 points: "We have bigger fish to fry. We understand this will be a long haul." Miller, returning from a one-game suspension, took his frustration out on the 76ers.

"The playoffs is when I'm at my best," said Miller, who was suspended one game for fighting with 76ers center Matt Geiger in Game 4.

"To not be a part of (Game 5), especially when your team is up 3-1 - it kept bothering me all week. The more upset I got, the more I wanted to do something about it.'

The Pacers will play the winner of the Miami-New York series, which is tied 3-3 after the Knicks' 72-70 victory Friday night. The Pacers will play host to Game 1 of the conference finals on Tuesday.

There won't be any celebrations," Indiana coach Larry Bird said of the victory over the Sixers. "We've got to get ready to play." Miller took over in the third quarter Friday. He capped an 8-1 run by converting an alley-oop, his first basket since the first quarter, for a 74-63 lead. His jumper, followed by a 3-pointer, made it 83-69 with 31 seconds left in the period. After the 76ers closed within 11 midway through the fourth, Miller's 3-pointer made it 93-79. He turned and stared at the 76ers' sideline following the shot. "I didn't say anything," Miller said. "Looks say a thousand Indiana, and Mark Jackson had words." Philadelphia didn't get closer than 14 the rest of the way. "Sometimes, if you want something done right, you have to do it yourself," Miller said. "I wanted to get going quickly. because if my teammates saw me. do that, they were going to jump on my back."

Aaron McKie led the 76ers with 19 points, and Allen Iverson had 18. Rik Smits added 18 for 12 points and 11 assists.

As the final seconds ticked away, Iverson appeared inconsol-able, sitting with a towel over his face.

"I'm a competitor. When I see the clock go down and I'm out, I know the game is over," Iverson said. "I saw the whole season pass by just like that, and it hurt."

Bird is happy the Pacers won't have a long layoff between games. Indiana came within a Proclamation signed - Mayor Bob Josserand signed a proclamation declaring Wednesday, May 24 as Poppy Day in Hereford as members of Hereford Unit 192 American Legion Auxiliary looked on. Pictured are, from left, Patricia Robinson, Troyce Hanna and Ruth King. Volunteers will be located throughout Hereford on Wednesday with the poppies, which will be given in exchange for contributions.

Annual Poppy Day declared

Special to the Brand

Volunteers from Hereford Unit 192 American Legion Aux-iliary will distribute the familiar red, handcrafted poppies honoring America's war dead on Wednesday, May 24, which has been designated as Poppy Day in Hereford.

Planned to coincide with the Memorial Day holiday, the annual event pays tribute to those veterans who have died in the past 80 years. It also honors the millions of Americans who have willingly served their country in eight decades.

Each poppy is made by vet-therapy needed by hospitalized and disabled veterans.

The Texas Poppy Shop is located in the Temple Veterans Administration Medical Center. The auxiliary provides the materials and the voluhteers. The veterans make the poppies and are paid a small amount for each painstakingly made flower. For some it is their only income. Contributions are used only for the veteran and his or her family.

No matter what the cost of maintaining and supplying the Poppy Shops, the memorial been part of the American Legion Auxiliary programming for more than 80 years. This is the 71" year for the Hereford Unit to distribute and participate in the program.

"America's veterans, living and dead, deserve to be honored, to be remembered, and to be helped when they are in need," Troyce Hanna, member of the Hereford Unit, said. "Americans should understand that the poppy program is not to glorify war, but to honor the patriotism of millions who served and are serving.

LIFESTYLES

In Ziglar's books and tapes I found direction. My career advanced as my focus changed from acquiring money and material goods to helping others and building lasting relationships. Using Ziglar's moral compass, I tried to prioritize my life by putting God first, my family second, and my work third. Fascinatingly, my work, my wealth and my relationships improved.

If you are struggling with your life or career, there are many sources of help. I'd start with the Bible for spiritual guidance and then anything by Zig Ziglar would be high on my list.

A Pleasant Surprise

My column mailbox often contains some real surprises. I get letters from business leaders, politicians and readers just like you. I read them all.

Once in a great while I get something really special in the mailbox. That was the case a few weeks ago when crammed in among the letters was a padded container from the Zig Ziglar Corporation.

I felt like a little-league player who happens to be a big Mark McGwire fan who gets a baseball sized box from the St. Louis Cardinals. I hurried out to the car to open my treasure in private.

Inside, I found an autographed copy of Ziglar's new book, "Something Else to Smile About." The sub-title is: "More Encouragement and Inspiration for Life's Ups and Downs."

It is a treasure. It contains more than 100 inspirational stories from Ziglar's own experience and the lives of other men and women. I not only found something to smile about, I found new lessons on developing character and overcoming adversity. It's a good read for those times when your spirit needs a little "pick-me-up."

A Small Sample

Rather than trying to distill the essence of the book into this column, let me give you two little tastes of the book.

Here's an excerpt from the segment titled "Try It-Maybe You Can." Nearly everybody recognizes the name Nat "King" Cole. He was universally admired for his beautiful, silky-smooth voice. He could sing ballads as few have ever done. What many people do not realize is that he started his career as a piano player. One night in a West Coast club, the featured singer was ill and the owner demanded to know where he was. When Cole responded that he was sick, the club owner said, "If we don't have a singer there'll be no check." That night Nat "King" Cole became a singer. The rest is history.

Here's a segment from a narrative titled, "Handling Criticism." Col. George Washington Goethals, the man who completed the Panama Canal, handled criticism effectively. During the construction, he had numerous problems with the geography, climate and mosquitoes. Like all mammoth projects, he had his critics back home who constantly harped on what he was doing and predicted that he would never complete the project. However, he stuck to the task and said nothing. One day an associate asked him, "Aren't you going to answer the critics?" "Yes," Goethals responded. "How" he was asked. "With the canal," Goethals replied.

Depressed ag conditions affect custom harvesters

From staff and wire reports

With his two combines in tow, custom cutter Shorty Kulhanek headed to his first Texas wheat field for the start of the 2000 harvest.

For the next few months, he will follow the harvest northward as crops mature in Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and on up to Montana.

But this season, there will be fewer custom harvesters doing the work. No rain, scarce farm labor and rising fuel costs have taken their toll. And, unlike farmers, there are no government subsidies to help combiners who depend on good crops to make their living.

Kearl and Phyllis Austin, local custom harvesters have decided to forego their annual cross-country trek in view of high gas prices and cost of equipment.

"We leased some equipment last year, but we can't see going into that much debt, when there is so little wheat this year," said Phyllis Austin.

Making the decision to sell out was tough, she said. The couple have not yet decided what they will do, but they'll probably wait to see what happens in the silage fields.

So much wheat has been pastured out or baled as wheatage, that there's not really enough to keep most of the cutters busy," she said.

Kulhanek — who is also president of their industry trade group, U.S. Custom Harvesters - said a lot of custom cutters are getting out of the business.

The Custom Harvester Analysis and Management Program run by Kansas State University showed that custom combiners last year lost an average $1.51 per acre that they cut. That compares to a profit of $1.63 per acre in 1998 and a profit of 30 cents per acre in 1997, Kulhanek said.

Kulhanek, who works out of Megargel, Texas, and also lives in Colby, Kan., attributed that in part to the unusually wet conditions at harvest time last year that left many custom combiners idled for weeks while waiting for fields to dry.

The Austins were among those left with heavy equipment stranded in the wet fields. "We still had to pay our drivers and equipment costs, but last year's wet crops cost us more than we made, Austin said.

But problems have been mounting for years for cus-tom cutters because they haven't raised rates much in the past 16 years, he said.

"Farmers haven't been able to pay it. They refuse to pay it," he said. "But it is getting to the point something has to change or we are going to go out of business."

For years, cost control has kept many cutters working. But that may not be enough any longer. "We haven't raised prices for cutting for a number of years and it is catching up with people financially - they are not making a profit," he said. "The other thing is availability of the labor force out here. It is hard to get anybody to work in agriculture today."

Kulhanek is among the luckier custom harvesters this year because he has some Texas fields to cut, something many combiners don't have. Winter wheat burned up in Texas before it started raining, and even the first fields being harvested there are bringing in just 20 bushels per acre, Kulhanek said.

That hurts when the price combiners get depends in part on how many bushels they cut and haul out of the fields. Bringing in the harvest will be a lot more expensive this year as high fuel prices drive costs up for farmers and custom cutters alike.

Just weeks before the start of the winter wheat harvest in Kansas, farmers can expect to pay custom harvesters between $1 to $1.50 more per acre to bring in their crops, said Terry Kastens, agricultural economist with Kansas State University Research and Extension.

"It would be a 5 percent increase roughly," he said. "I call it a significant increase - and some of them might increase more than that ... It is going to add to their costs, for sure.

Kulhanek said he hopes to recoup the increase in fuel costs. On a 30-bushel-per-acre field, for example, his rate would go up $1.40 per acre.

Last year, it cost wheat growers about $20.05 an acre for a custom combiner to harvest their fields, Kastens said.

Custom combiners spent about $2 an acre in fuel during the last harvest to cut an acre of wheat, Kastens said. With this season's higher fuel prices, it will cost about $3 an acre to do the same work.

"It doesn't matter if they are harvesting themselves or hiring custom cutters. Either way they are going to pay for the increase," Kastens said.

But the custom cutting business is so competitive that many cutters may not pass along all their fuel increases, just as farmers can't pass along their increased costs.

Duane Hund, an Extension farm analyst who helps finan-cially troubled farm families, said elevator operators and farm suppliers he's talked to are holding the line on rates.

"They are absorbing that extra expense for the time being," Hund said. "I think they are somewhat sensitive to their customers' challenges because of the grain price. They are also competitive, willing to absorb some of that extra fuel cost for the opportunity to maintain a customer base.

Hund said drier conditions this year have lessened the impact that higher fuel prices have had on his farm because he had to work his ground just once before planting and did not have to work around the rain like last year.

For many farmers, the cost of fuel is low on the priority list right now.

"Most producers are concerned about the dry weather pattern we are in," he said.

fficials target musk thistle ount

By Dianna F. Dandridge Hereford Brand Staff Writer

That pretty purple flower in the roadside ditch or growing along the fence line may very well be breaking the law if the property owners fail to control what is commonly known as a noxious weed the musk thistle.

Members of the Deaf Smith County Noxious Weed District Board are encouraging landowners in the county and within city limits to control this weed prior to release of seed.

"If this weed is not controlled, it will eventually stop us from growing wheat for seed in this county," board secretary Dale Kleuskens said.

out these are noxious weeds and they have to be controlled or it's going to affect our crops," White said.

There are no pre-emergent herbicides that are effective on musk thistle. Chemical control, after emergence, can cost $10-15 per acre.

"The easiest and cheapest way to get rid of it in lawns and small fields is to go and cut it down, about a half-inch below the soil level." Kleuskens said. City control is important because seeds can be distributed for miles.

"CRP contracts call for landowners to remove noxious weeds from the fields," Kleuskens said. "These fields get cleaned up real quick once the landowner is informed the government will not issue a check until noxious weeds are removed." The noxious weed district deals only with property outside of city limits. "If we get a compliant, we can give the owner the opportunity to get rid of the weeds or we can arrange for the fields to be sprayed and then have owner pay the bill. If they choose not to pay the bill, we can put a lien on the property. This is serious business — and, it the law," Kleuskens said. Mowing musk thistle only makes it flower at a lower level, and the seeds are still capable of blowing into fields and producing full-size plants.

Kleuskens said there is a law which states property owners are not allowed to let musk thistle or bind weed propagate because of economic damage to certified

"It's very hard to control once it gets established,' Kleuskens said, "and it is expensive if it isn't taken care of before a good stand is started." "We're doing everything we can to get control of the situa-tion. The county is doing a pretty good job of keeping them out of the bar ditches, but you see a lot of them in fields, set-aside land and the CRP fields," Mike White, Natural Resources Conservation Service team leader, said.

Scientist reports positive dry land wheat research

Special to The Brand AMARILLO — With most of Texas in the grip of mild to severe drought wheat growers are fielding some of this season's hardest hits.

Even now, Dr. Mark Lazar, a wheat breeder with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, is looking forward to reporting some positive outcomes involving his drought resistance research during the upcoming Ag Day 2000 on June 1 at Bushland.

Despite wheat's poor showing in some fields, Lazar is seeing changes in the molecular structure of plants as they. respond to extremely dry con-ditions. He says any variation offers potential keys to fortify drought resistance.

Very low or totally absent spring rains over the past six weeks have forced yields way down. The greatest crop demand for water starts as plants approach and pass the flowering stage, Lazar said. "This happened right in the middle of our droughty weather."

Dry conditions severely re-duced dryland yields, but such extremes are aiding Lazar's studies on genetic differences in yield under water stress. Right now, he and Dr. Maria Balota, a visiting scientist from Romania, are evaluating several varieties across all breeding nurseries for a range of green leaf retention capabilities while plants are under stress. Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same intem/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then remember these hints:

· Give the price. A newpaper consultant says 70 percent of · Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

· Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

· Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach

O BY W.D. FARMER, F.A.I.B.D. A wide covered porch shelters guests at your front door. Entrance is into a huge great room with the stair to the basement located just off to the side, creating a separate entry area. The great room is featured with a tray ceiling and rear fireplace. Completely open to this room is the formal dining room.

Adjacent is the large kitchen breakfast room. The kitchen is U-shaped and includes the sink overlooking a snack bar in the breakfast room. There are lots of windows here and access to a covered deck. Laundry and half bath facilities are indicated bordering the entryway to the double garage. A large storage room in the garage could be a work shop or just storage for outside equipment.

The three bed rooms are grouped together and form the quiet zone of the house. The master suite also has a tray ceiling and a luxury bath with vaulted ceiling, separate tub and shower and twin sink vanity. An enormous walk in closet tops off the area.

The family bedrooms share a central bath and both are particularly impressive in size for a home with only 1,721 square feet of heated space.

The exterior is country cottage style with archtop windows in dormers adding a sense of elegance. The Lshape of the home creates the availability of placing the home on a narrower lot width.

Elizabeth Mitchell stars as Beatle Paul McCartney's love, Linda, in the new TV movie that chronicles the couple's 30-year marriage. The Linda McCartney Story, based on the biography Linda McCartney: A Portrait, airs Sunday on CBS.

By John Crook oTVData Features Syndicate

TV movies happen very quickly, but asking Elizabeth Mitchell to step into Linda McCartney's shoes on five days' notice seems a little extreme.

Still, the actress - currently basking in glowing reviews for her work in the hit movie Frequency - says she had no big problem with her role in The Linda McCartney Story, a CBS movie pre-miering Sunday, May 21.

Mitchell credits screenwriter Christine Berardo (Nicholas' Gift), who based her teleplay largely on the Danny Fields biography Linda McCartney: A Portrait, with making her task much casier.

she had done an amazing amount of can't sing.' but Paul said, 'But you're background and just put it all into my my best friend and I want you with arms," Mitchell says with a laugh. "I just pored through all that, plus read everything I could - every Beatles book ever written, you name it. Fortunately, since Linda was in the entertainment world. I was able fairly readily to find a lot of people who had met her. And they all just adored her."

The actress says it was easy to get a handle on McCartney simply because there was nothing false about her. "Linda was just so true to herself."

And later the world seemed to want her lives sensitively. to be something else, but she stayed true to herself and her husband." Linda Eastman, a photographer, met

Beatle Paul McCartney (Gary Bakewell, who played the same role in the movie Backbeat) in 1965 when she

Paul's fans pitched an unholy tantrum. tense experience for both Gary and me have been like." Mitchell gasps. "Here she is, on what is supposed to be the happiest day of her life, and women are screaming at her and crying. I think she must have been devastated, absolutely shattered at what she had gotten herself. 5. into. But I think in time, she grew a thicker skin."

E Crook, Chase hope for a new venue soon

By Taylor Michaels CTVData Features Syndicate

Q: Where can I find Crook & Chase? - Teresa Kelts, Davison, Mich. A: A spokesman for Lorianne Crook and Charlie Chase says they are shopping a show around to several venues and hope to make an announcement soon. Fans can check for online updates at www.crookandchase.com.

Q: I am sure I have seen Amy Carlson (Maggie in Falcone) on another show. Can you tell me about her pre-vious acting credits? -Melinda Gravitt, Gainesville, Ga.

A: Falcone bombed and is not expected back, but Carlson is very busy these days nonetheless. After making her feature film debut with a small role in The Babe, she spent five years as Josie Watts Sinclair on Another World, followed by a briefer stint as Harley Cooper Spaulding on Guiding Light.

More recently, she has been featured in two high-profile TV movies: Show-time's highly charged political drama Thanks of a Grateful Nation and HBO's lesbian-themed If These Walls Could Talk 2.

She also has guest starred on Martial Law, Get Real and NYPD Blue.

Q: My husband and I love The McLaughlin Group. I heard that John McLaughlin is a former Catholic priest. My daughter does not believe e. Some backgro Glasscock, Stuart, Fla.

A: While he downplays it in most of his press materials, McLaughlin is in-deed a former priest. He also served as a speech writer and special assistant to two U.S. presidents, Nixon and Ford.

McLaughlin, who won three CableACE Awards for his self-named 1989-94 CNBC talk show, previously was Washington editor and columnist for the National Review and associate editor of America, a weekly opinion ournal. He holds a Ph.D. from Columbia and two master's degrees from Boston College.

Lorianne Crook, Charlie Chase

Q: What was the name of Otis Campbell's wife on The Andy Griffith Show? -C.L., Chicago. A: According to a Website called The Mayberry FAQ ("frequently asked ques-tions") - point your browser to www.zille.com/griffith/faq.asp - her name was Ruth. MORE ABOUT MUNCH - Timing is everything! Recently, a reader asked about the number of shows on which Richard Belzer had appeared in his Homicide: Life on the Street role of Detective John Munch. Little did I know that even as I was researching and writing the answer - four - Belzer was reprising the character yet again on UPN's new The Beat. For those of you keeping track of this - and you know who you are - the current tally now stands at an impressive five.

SOAP TALK

Real-life transitions for several soap stars

By Candace Havens OTVData Features Syndicate

With his new three-year contract, fans of actor Scott Reeves (Ryan McNeil) won't have to worry about him leaving The Young and the Restless any time soon. Unfortunately, the same can't be said for Ashley Jones (Megan Dennison Viscardi). The actress decided not to re-new her contract with Y&R. At this time, there were no plans to recast the role.

Passions is losing one of its bright young stars. Mary Elizabeth Winstead is leaving the role of Jessica Bennet to work in prime time. She will play Scott Bakula's daughter in a new Fox pilot.

Ellen Dolan (Margo Hughes) is ex-pected back on the set of As the World Turns in a few weeks. She gave birth to her first child, Angela Emmet, in April. Both mother and child are doing well. Former Another World star Matthew

Crane (Matthew Cory) and One Life to Live star Robin Christopher (Skye Chandler) surprised their friends when they eloped in April. They have been a couple since working together on AW. And wedding bells were ringing in Malibu, Calif., when Austin Peck (Austin Reed, Days of Our Lives) mar-tiad his long time sinficiend. Targ ried his long-time girlfriend, Tara Crespo

Dear Candace: What happened to the actress on Passions who played Gwen? She has been gone for several weeks. -B.N. via the Internet.

Dear Reader: Liza Huber (Gwen) took a five-week break. She is back on the set.

Dear Candace: I believe the soap operas on CBS are in a rut. I've watched them for years, and the stories have never been as bad as they are now.

There is too much evil, and everyone just wants to hurt one another. The writers should be aware that there are people out there who believe what they see on TV and copy it. We need to see the bad characters get what they deserve. -Mrs. Lula F. Divers, via the Internet.

Dear Reader: It doesn't work that way in the soaps. Dear Candace: Did Kevin Bacon ever play the role of Rick Guiding Light? - Mary W., Washington, D.C.

Dear Reader: Bacon played T.J. Werner from 1980-81 on GL. He also played Todd Adamson on Search for Tomorrow.
