Pancake supper scheduled

The Golden K Kiwanis Club will host an all-you-can-eat pancake supper on Saturday, March 26, in the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 426 Ranger. The fundraising dinner will feature pancakes and sausage. It will be held from 5 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $3.50 each and are available from club members or at the door.

Weather picture to be stable

If you like a high temperature of 70 degrees -- recorded Monday -- and a low of 40 degrees -- this morning's overnight low -- then Wednesday should be to your liking as well. The National Weather Service forecast for tonight calls for partly cloudy skies and a low in the upper 40s, with south to southwest winds at 10-20 mph and gusty. For Wednesday, expect partly sunny skies and a high in the upper 70s with southwest to west winds at 15-25 mph and gusty. Caution will be advised on area lakes.

47 states join effort to get part of N.Y. pie

WASHINGTON (AP) - Forty-seven states are coveting the $1 billion reaped by New York in dividends and interest payments that customers nationwide failed to claim from their banks and brokerage houses over the last two decades.

The states are arguing before Congress and the Supreme Court that they are entitled to a share of the unclaimed funds the Empire State has collected since 1972.

They want more than a stake of future unclaimed funds, which account for $100 million to $150 million a year. The states also want a piece of New York's past collections and are pushing legislation offered by House Banking Committee Chairman Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas.

The stakes are high for New York, which is struggling with a $2 billion deficit in New York City alone. If Congress approves the Gonzalez measure, New York could be forced to pay out hundreds of millions of dollars to other states.

"It's just unconstitutional," said Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., a member of the banking committee. "There is no way under the sun this is going to apply retroactively."

The issue came to a head today at a House banking subcommittee hearing on the Gonzalez legislation, where Schumer squared off against Texas Gov. Ann Richards and Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, R-Texas.

"While this bill may look like the goose that laid the golden egg, the promises that this bill makes are just fairy tales," Schumer testified. "Don't kid yourselves; you'll never see that money."

Countered Richards during her testimony: "The issue here is fairness, whatever the amount might be."

As he moved from witness to temporary chairman of the hearing, Schumer questioned Richards' principles in seeking the money. Her voice rising in anger, the governor said: "This is not personal nor is it unprincipled."

State treasurers have had their eye on the money for years. But the fight brewing on Capitol Hill began in earnest last year when the Supreme Court ordered New York to share part of its spoils with Delaware, where some of the nation's biggest brokerage firms are incorporated. Massachusetts also gained under the court's decision.

The court ruled that unclaimed funds should revert to the state of incorporation, not the state where a broker's operations are headquartered. New York, which is home to some of the nation's top banks and brokerage houses, has since agreed to pay Delaware $200 million.

The Gonzalez bill would funnel the unclaimed funds to the state where a company's executive offices are located, not the state of incorporation. Gonzalez' measure has 327 co-sponsors.

Companion legislation offered in the Senate by Mrs. Hutchison has drawn 78 co-sponsors - a sign she said that "every state realizes they are not getting their fair amount that is due the taxpayers of that state."

Sweet Bee planned by Bippus Club

"Total Mess To Total Rest" was the program presented by Kate Bradley when members of the Bippus Family Community Education Club met recently in the home of Juanita Koetting.

The meeting was called to order by Alta Mae Higgins with Zaidie Bettis opening with the FCE Prayer. Mariellen Homfeld led the pledges to the United States and Texas' flags.

Higgins conducted the opening exercise with Koetting winning the prize.

Each member answered roll call by naming the best cleaning item they use.

During the brief business meeting, volunteer hours were reported. It was also announced that the next meeting will be held in Friona to honor "adopted neighbor," Clint Homfeld. Each adopted neighbor will be sent a card of encouragement.

The Sweet Bee Luncheon, to be held Thursday from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center, was discussed. Each club member was asked to bring a covered dish.

Refreshments were enjoyed by Christine Larson, Zaidie Bettis, Mariellen Homfeld, Juanita Koetting, Kate Bradley and Alta Mae Higgins.

Madison Urbanczyk, daughter of Patty and Kevin Urbanczyk, helps her grandmother, Loretta Urbanczyk, choose the recipe that she will feature when the Family Community Education Clubs hold their annual scholarship fundraiser Sweet Bee. The event will run continuously from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the Community Center. Those attending will enjoy a make-your-own chef salad, tasting bee of sweets and a cookbook featuring the recipes for $6 per person. Tickets will be available at the door. SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A University of California regents committee wants to junk its contract with fallen junk bond king Michael Milken.

The contract allows Milken to use the university logo and to market videos of classes he taught at UCLA last fall. Milken keeps 95 percent of the profits; the school gets 5 percent.

The regents think that's a lousy deal - with a convicted felon, no less. They asked administrators Thursday to try to get out of the contract.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 30-something male with a problem I'm too ashamed to discuss with anyone.

I seem to be developing an overwhelming compulsion to wear women's clothes. It is a feeling I've had on and off throughout my life, but I've always managed to suppress it. Lately, the urge seems to be getting stronger and more compelling. I'm afraid I might finally cave in, and the very thought of it sickens me.

I am not gay, and there is nothing in my background to explain why I have these unconventional urges. I've read up on this type of perversion at the library, and there doesn't seem to be a cure for it. The literature is a lot of psychobabble that adds up to "learn to accept the woman within." This is not a viable option for me. If there's "a woman within," I want her dead. Please don't suggest counseling because there is no way I would admit something like this to another person. Do you know of any way I can eliminate or control this urge on my own?—Illinois Reader on this subject, Dr. John Money, professor emeritus of medical psychology and pediatrics at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine. He made it clear that there is no substantial evidence that you can be helped by counseling.

DEAR READER: I spoke with one of the country's foremost authorities

Dr. Money said that since you seem extremely agitated by this compulsion and are eager to get rid of it, there is a course of action you might follow. Find a physician who understands endocrinology, he or she can give you shots to reduce your testosterone level. Soon the urges you dislike so intensely will disappear.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been living with "Jimmy" for five years, but my 18-year-old daughter, "Tessa," dislikes him intensely.

Jimmy is an alcoholic, but he is a perfect gentleman when he's sober. In the middle of an argument with my 9-year-old son, the boy ran upstairs to his sister's room. Jimmy ran after him, threatening to hurt him. Tessa became hysterical, left the house and took her little brother to her father's apartment.

I can understand that Tessa is protective of her brother, but I don't believe there was any real danger. She has been at her father's for two weeks and insists she is not coming home until Jimmy moves out.

Jimmy has never hurt anyone, but he does say things like, "I'm going to kill you if you don't do what I say." At times, he grabs me around the neck to get my attention, but I'm sure he would never act on his threats.

I've told Tessa she shouldn't worry about Jimmy becoming violent because I know he wouldn't really hurt anyone.

Now I'm inclined to let her know she has no business interfering with my personal relationships. P.S. I really miss her and want her to come home. Please advise.—Tom in Texas

DEAR TORN: It appears you are going to have to choose between your daughter and your live-in alcoholic boyfriend.

Jimmy sounds like a loose cannon and a bum bet. He is also a very poor role model for your children. You have a moral obligation to put Tessa and your young son first. I hope you have the good sense to do it.

Gem of the Day: When you find a product that you really like, buy a lifetime supply because they will stop making it.

The skeletal system includes more than 200 bones and makes up about 25 percent of the body's weight.

adults and $3 for children under 12. Tickets are available from members of the Elks Lodge, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, AMBUCS Club and Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) - If you're preppy, Paramount Pictures wants you.

The studio needs extras for a fictional movie in which Albert Einstein, played by Walter Matthau, tries to get his niece to fall in love with a janitor. Meg Ryan and Tim Robbins portray the would-be lovers.

Paramount is looking for more than 1,000 "upscale and preppy" men and women, aged 18 to 75, for non-speaking roles in "I.Q."

The romantic comedy is scheduled to begin three months of shooting in the Princeton area on April 11.

Herd's Kelso captures Hereford golf tournament

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor
Consistency paid off for Kelly Kelso.

The Hereford golfer shot an 80 on both days to take a first-place medal at the Hereford Invitational Golf Tournament, held Friday and Saturday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Kelso's consistency allowed her to pass Borger's Sarah Moore, who shot a 77 on Friday but slumped to 90 on Saturday for a 167 total. Kelso stayed just ahead of Andrews' two-time all-stater, Tori Hester, who shot 81 and 80.

"Kelly did a super job of competing to win the tournament against as good competition as we'll see at region and maybe at state," Hereford coach Stacey Bixler said.

...led Hereford boys

Kelso led the Hereford girls' team to a third-place finish. Hereford's two-day total of 750 was beaten only by Andrews at 685 and Borger at 722 in the seven-team field.

Hereford finished well ahead of Pampa, which was fifth at 791, Bixler pointed out. Hereford, Pampa and Borger are perennially the top contenders in District 1-4A.

Hereford's boys finished fifth in the 11-team field, totalling 674; Tulia won with a 632 total. Bixler pointed out that Hereford finished ahead of fellow 1-4A members Randall and Dumas, but he also pointed out that Borger and Pampa didn't bring their boys' teams to the Hereford tournament, and they'll be the teams to beat in district.

David Sims led the Hereford boys, following a 79 with an 87 for a 166 total, good for 11th overall. Scott Burkhalter followed a first-day 88 with a 79 for a total of 167.

"Some of our boys and girls had the lowest 18-hole scores they've shot, so I think we're seeing some improvement," Bixler said.

The improvement comes just in time for the first District 1-4A round, which will be Thursday at Comanche Trails in Amarillo. On Friday, Randall hosts a district round at Palo Duro Creek.

"This went a long way towards getting us ready," Bixler said. "It looks like the weather's going to give us three days to practice this week. We had two days combined before the last two tournaments."

Baseball team falls to Caprock

The Hereford baseball team finished off the Canyon ISD Classic with an 11-3 loss to Caprock on Saturday.

The loss dropped Hereford to 5-7. Caprock went on to win the consolation championship in the next game, beating Sanford-Fritch 12-2. Randall won the tournament, defeating Plainview 12-7.

Caprock took a 7-0 lead in the second inning on two hits, two Hereford errors and four bases on balls.

Hereford started Armando Zambrano on the mound in an attempt to find some more pitchers before district play starts March 29.

"We lack in pitching depth," coach J.J. Villareal said. "We had to throw him just to see how he'd do. We're looking at him as a reliever."

Zambrano and relievers Josh Tice and J.J. Rico didn't get much help from the fielders, as Hereford committed 11 errors. Caprock added a run in the fourth inning and three in the third; all four men who scored

Hereford tennis-playing girls take trophy in Carlsbad meet

The Hereford tennis team's girls brought a first-place trophy home from a tournament held Friday and Saturday in Carlsbad, N.M.

Separate trophies were given for girls teams and boys teams, but none for complete teams.

Hereford's girls totaled 66 points, easily beating El Paso Burgess with 45. Hereford's boys totaled 19 points good for fourth in the 10-team field.

The tournament consisted of 12 flights for individuals, 6 each for boys and girls, and 6 flights for doubles.

Hereford girls dominated, winning six of the nine girls' flights. Brooke Weishaar, Gabriela Gamez, Melissa Berend and Natalie McWhorter won the second through fifth flights. Biri Reinauer won consolation in the first flight, and Traci Reiter won consolation in the sixth. Weishaar and Berend won the top doubles flight, Reinauer and Taylor Sublett won the second flight, and Reiter and Jennifer Jones took consolation in the third flight.

Hereford boys took points in several flights: Tyler Merrick took a third place, and Pete Vargas, Tom Jarecki, Marcus Berend and Scott Shaw all took fourth places. In doubles, Jarecki and B.J. Lockmiller took second in the third flight.

Hereford will host the Beef Capital of the World tennis tournament Friday and Saturday. More information on the tournament will be available later this week.

Koncak shuts out Malone as Hawks beat Jazz in OT

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) - Scoring and rebounding aren't the only areas in which a player can have an impact on the game.

Jon Koncak made that point Monday night.

The 7-foot Atlanta center had only four points and five rebounds, but still was a major factor in Atlanta's 100-96 overtime victory over the Utah Jazz.

He did it with defense, holding Karl Malone to seven points in the second half and none in the overtime. The All-Star forward finished with 20, 5.3 below his average.

In other games, Houston beat Washington 128-112 and the Los Angeles Lakers beat Miami 81-81.

"Koncak did a job on Karl, keeping it out of his hands down deep," Jazz coach Jerry Sloan said.

"We battled Karl all night long," Koncak said.

"You have to keep the ball out of Malone's hands," Mookie Blaylock added. "I think Jon did a very good job on him tonight."

The Hawks got their third victory in a row. Stacey Augmon broke a 96-96 tie, going down the middle for a dunk with 28 seconds remaining in overtime. Kevin Willis made two free throws with three seconds left after Utah's John Stockton missed an open 3-point attempt.

It was the fourth consecutive loss for the Jazz, which completed a four-game road trip. Utah lost its fifth in six games overall since putting together a 10-game winning streak.

"The losing streak is a concern, but isn't a panic situation," Jeff Hornacek said. "Better to lose now than at season's end. There's plenty of time to right the situation. With a little better execution we could've won all four on this trip. All were close."

Willis led the Hawks with 25 points and Danny Manning and Blaylock each added 20.

Hornacek scored 25 points, Stockton 21 and Malone 20 for Utah, which forced the extra period on Hornacek's free throw that tied it 89-89 with 15.9 seconds left in regulation.

Rockets 128, Bullets 112

At Houston, Hakeem Olajuwon scored 13 of his 35 points in the final 10 minutes to help Houston clinch a playoff spot.

Houston guard Vernon Maxwell sprained his left knee on a lane drive in the third quarter. His condition was listed as day to day, but the team said he will not accompany them on their road trip at Minnesota tonight.

Kenny Smith scored 24 points for Houston and Otis Thorpe added 18.

Lakers 84, Heat 81

At Inglewood, Calif., Los Angeles held Miami to 11 points in the fourth quarter.

Sedale Threatt scored 23 points and Vlade Divac added 13 points and 15 rebounds for the Lakers. Rony Seikaly had 21 points and 21 rebounds for the Heat.

Xavier stops Northwestern in NIT

By FRANK ELTMAN
Associated Press Writer

While Northwestern's second-ever appearance in the postseason is over, Xavier's run through the second season may be just beginning.

Jeff Massey put the Musketeers ahead to stay with a jumper in overtime and Brian Grant hit two free throws with four seconds left Monday night, leading Xavier to an 83-79 victory over the Wildcats in the National Invitation Tournament.

The victory sent Xavier (22-7) to the third round against Villanova, an 82-66 winner over Duquesne. Clemson also advanced with a 96-79 victory over West Virginia. The Tigers will play Vanderbilt, a 78-59 winner over New Orleans.

Xavier coach Pete Gillen had his team prepared for a tough road game against a team that has beaten some of the best teams in the Big Ten.

"We knew what the atmosphere was like," Gillen said. "To be honest, when I heard we were coming here I was glad, because I knew it would test our mettle. It feels good to do something Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois did not do. This is a tough place to play."

Grand jury: Harding was in on conspiracy

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Just a week after Tonya Harding ducked jail in a plea bargain, a grand jury concluded she was in on the plot to attack Nancy Kerrigan.

After more than two months of investigation, the grand jury said Monday that Harding and the four men who confessed to the crime conspired to injure Kerrigan to knock her out of the U.S. Figure Skating Championships in January.

"There was a great deal of evidence pointing toward the fact that she was involved from the beginning or very close to the beginning," said grand jury foreman David Holt.

Last week, Harding reached a plea bargain in which she admitted hindering the prosecution. But she continued to insist that she did not learn of the plot to attack Kerrigan until after the fact.

Harding escaped indictment last week by reaching the plea bargain, Holt said. The grand jury had little evidence other than what the public already knew, he said. But that was enough.

"I believe she was so close to a lot of the things that were going on that there's no way she could not have known," he said.

Jordan gets sent to minors

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) - Far beyond the fence at Ed Smith Stadium, back where the big leaguers do not stray, Michael Jordan quickly learned about life in the minors.

There was no scoreboard, no dugouts and only two umpires on the field where Jordan played Monday. Not that there was any less pressure on baseball's most-recognized rookie.

As expected, the Chicago White Sox reassigned Jordan to their minor-league camp in the morning. He was not sent to a specific level, and general manager Ron Schueler hopes to know in a week or so where the 31-year-old outfielder will start the season.

"I don't feel disappointed, because what I tried to do was a longshot by any standards," Jordan said. "I can utilize this opportunity to improve my skills."

Hereford scored once in the bottom of the fourth, as Russ Watts doubled and Tice singled him in. In the fifth, Ronald Torres walked and Chris Vallejo reached on an error. Torres scored on Tanner Murphey's sacrifice fly, and Jacob Lopez singled in Vallejo.

The game was stopped after six innings by the tournament's run rule (eight runs after six innings).

Hereford was to play at 4:30 today at Plainview, then host Levelland at 4:30 Friday. The home game will be the first for the Herd since March 1.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have found that my dog Brywn Mar seems to enjoy his regular toothbrushing when I dip the toothbrush in a bit of chicken broth.

I simply take a bouillon cube in warm water and stir it around. The taste of the chicken is far more enjoyable, and if the brushing is done regularly it will reduce the tartar buildup.

The main thing is the mechanical action of removing plaque on a regular basis. Of course, a vet still needs to do a periodic checkup and cleaning. — Joseph DiDonato III, D.D.S., Rochester, N.Y.

A good hint, but our veterinarian suggested an easier way to brush using a "finger brush," which slips on your finger. You can buy one at a veterinarian's office. Don't ever use toothpaste for humans on dogs. — Heloise

KITCHEN KAPERS

Dear Heloise: My daughter Ruby Jean was 12 years old and learning to cook. She wanted to bake a cake one night. I told her to first get the pans out and grease and flour the bottom of them.

I had company that night and we were in the living room. Ruby Jean came in with the pans turned upside down, greased and floured on the bottom, and said, "Mother, what good does it do to grease the bottoms of these pans?"

Of course, we all haven't let her live that down. — Ruby Hudson, Greenville, Texas

REMOTE CONTROL

Dear Heloise: To insure that the kitchen TV's remote control is not ruined by sticky fingers, wrap it with plastic wrap. The next time it gets dirty, change the wrapping. — Elisa Angel, Pasadena, Texas

Even using a small plastic sandwich bag works great. It keeps any liquid from accidentally falling into the control. — Heloise

PET PAL

Dear Heloise: B.B., my little 17-year-old cock-a-poo, is totally deaf. She gets along fine, and her sense of smell makes up for her loss of hearing.

Each night when I come home from work she's usually sleeping on the couch. She doesn't hear me come in, but after only a minute I see her start sniffing, then her eyes open wide and she runs to me.

It's the cutest thing to see. She is so alert and playful, she looks like a puppy and acts like one too. — Jane M., San Antonio, Texas

Give B.B. a scratch behind the ear from me and Savvi, our miniature schnauzer. — Heloise

Life of Sam Rayburn is discussed at meeting

Joe Don Cummings gave the program entitled "Mr. Sam" when members of the Wyche Family Community Education Club met Thursday at the Hereford Community Center. Thelma Auten and Vada Batterman served as co-hostesses.

The program's topic centered around the life and political career of Sam Rayburn. Cummings explained that he had a personal interest in Rayburn's life as Sam had been a friend and colleague of his grandfather, D. William Cummings of Ivanhoe, Texas.

Rayburn was born in 1886 and was greatly influenced by his mother. Also, his father had inspired him to go into politics. During his early life, Rayburn was a teacher but having a "hankering for public life," he ran for Congress in 1912. During this early adventure into politics, he had a brief marriage but remained a bachelor for the duration of his life following his divorce.

During the time of his public life in Washington, Rayburn served under eight presidents: Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy. He became Speaker of the House in 1940 and served in that tenure for over 16 years (serving longer in that office than anyone). In 1952, friends and colleagues from Texas including Cummings' grandfather, endorsed Rayburn as a candidate for president but the Republicans endorsed Eisenhower for their political choice and the Democrats selected Adlai Stevenson of Illinois as their candidate.

The speaker concluded his program of Rayburn by saying he would go down in history as one of the greatest politicians of all time. Two personable quotes of Rayburn's included: "It is a shame that we cannot elect men of simple means to run for office" and "we need today more grassroots politicians to run for public office."

Roll call was answered by "a Texas politician I have known." Thelma Auten read an article on "Take Time" and Argen Draper gave a report as program chairman and challenged members with a new short-term three-week goal.

Clara Trowbridge gave a report on the club project of assisting with the bingo games at Westgate Nursing Home. Those helping with the games included Trowbridge; her niece, Mary Jan May; and members, Auten and Shirley Brown.

Members were reminded of the Sweet Bee scheduled from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center. Tickets are priced at $6 per person and can be purchased at the door. The event is being held in conjunction with the Cultural Arts and County Elimination Contest.

The Sew Fair, using the theme of "Party Fashions," is planned at 7 p.m. March 28 at the Community Center. Also, the district meeting is set for April 19 at the center.

Jo Lee, council chairman, encouraged members to attend the council meeting March 28 at the Deaf Smith County Library. All persons celebrating March birthdays are extended a special invitation to attend.

It was announced that Moveda Busby had resigned as vice president. She is moving to South Dakota.

Volunteer hours were turned in by members in attendance: Thelma Auten, Mary Lou Aven, Louise Axe, Vada Batterman, Shirley Brown, Moveda Busby, Argen Draper, Virgie Duncan, Marie Maxwell, Camelia Jones, Jo Lee, Dorothy Lundry, Carol Sartain, Coreen Odum, Pet Ott, Clara Trowbridge and Laverne Worley.

SAUGERTIES, N.Y. (AP) - Heavy metals fans, dream on. Aerosmith is negotiating to appear at the Woodstock 1994 concert.

"Nothing has been confirmed yet, but we've been talking to them," said the band's publicist, Wendy Laister. "We're waiting to see how the concert shapes up. It has the potential to be an amazing event."

Woodstock 1994 promoters want to hold the concert Aug. 13-14 at the Winston Farm in Saugerties.

A simultaneous concert is slated 60 miles away in Bethel, the site of the original Woodstock festival in 1969.

Spielberg takes it all with 'Schindler's List'

By JOHN HORN
AP Entertainment Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - No longer will he be known as the whiz kid who couldn't sit with the grown-ups. Steven Spielberg now finds himself at the head of the table.

He got there with the most adult film imaginable, "Schindler's List," a searing, three-hour portrait of heroism and evil during the Holocaust, shot mostly in black and white and without any Hollywood stars. The childlike wonder of "E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial" had been replaced by the horror of genocide.

"It's such a dream," Spielberg said in finally winning an Academy

Award, "and it comes from such a nightmare."

The film won seven Oscars on all Monday night, including best picture and best director.

The industry seemed anxious to make up for 20 years of snubbing its own box-office champion. As Spielberg's dry spell at the Academy Awards was finally broken, his peers stood and applauded, long and loud, as if to honor his whole career and not just "Schindler's List."

"I actually have friends who have won this before, and I swear I have never held one before," said a beaming Spielberg, clutching the statuette for best director.

Spielberg reacted calmly at first, running down a list of thank yous. He ended, however, in a choked voice as he spoke of the "six million who can't be watching this ... telecast tonight," a reference to the Jews killed by the Nazis.

When he won a few minutes later for best picture, he urged teachers to get in touch with the "350,000 survivors of the Holocaust alive today."

"I implore all of the educators who are watching this program - please do not allow the Holocaust to remain a footnote in history. ... Please listen to the words and the echoes and the ghosts," Spielberg said.

"Schindler's List," which had led all competitors at the 66th annual Academy Awards with 12 nominations, also won for screenplay adaptation, art direction, film editing, John Williams' original score and cinematography.

It was the most wins for a single film since "Dances With Wolves" three years ago.

Much of Monday night's ceremony was a contrast between celebration and sadness, with "Schindler's List" hardly the only film with grim material to receive any Oscars.

Tom Hanks of "Philadelphia" was cited as best actor for his portrayal of a lawyer with AIDS. Bruce Springsteen's "The Streets of Philadelphia" took the Oscar for best original song.

"It's hard to find a graceful way of accepting the award when there's so much suffering going on around the issue (of AIDS)," Springsteen said backstage.

"The streets of heaven are too crowded with angels," Hanks said in tribute to people who have died of AIDS. "We know their names; they number a thousand for every red ribbon worn tonight."

Holly Hunter won for best actress for her depiction of an unhappy, mute bride in a forced New Zealand marriage. She thanked director Jane Campion, who won the Oscar for best original screenplay.

"Thank you for giving me a character and an experience that was so difficult to say goodbye to it because it's everybody's now," Miss Hunter said.

In the most unexpected win, 11-year-old Anna Paquin captured the supporting actress Oscar for her part as Miss Hunter's interpreter in "The Piano." She became the second-youngest Oscar winner, trailing only 10-year-old Tatum O'Neal of "Paper Moon" two decades ago.

Still, it was Spielberg's night.

The "Schindler's List" wins capped the most astonishing year in an already remarkable career. His other 1993 film, "Jurassic Park," is the highest-grossing movie ever and won three Oscars in technical categories Monday night.

Tommy Lee Jones, the dogged pursuer of "The Fugitive," won for best supporting actor, beating Ralph Fiennes, who played a sadistic Nazi commandant in "Schindler's List." Spain's "Belle Epoque" won for best foreign-language film and honorary Oscars went to Paul Newman and Deborah Kerr.

Before the evening turned serious, it was highlighted by host Whoopi Goldberg's sharp humor.

Replacing Billy Crystal after four years as emcee, Miss Goldberg kept the show moving at a brisk pace, poking fun at everyone from alleged Hollywood madam Heidi Fleiss to Lorena Bobbitt.

"Lorena Bobbitt, please meet Bob Dole," Miss Goldberg said of the Republican senator.

Cities to vie for All-America City award

The National Civic League is accepting applications for the All-America City Award through April 6, according to an announcement distributed by the Texas Department of Commerce.

The All-America City Award, a program of the National Civic League and sponsored by the Allstate Foundation, is the nation's oldest and community recognition program.

The award annually honors communities that work together to take concerted and effective action to solve problems through the cooperation of businesses, citizens, non-profit organizations and government.

Harlingen was chosen as an All-American City in 1992, as were Fort Worth and Laredo in 1993.

For more information, contact Wendy Dickstein at the National Civic League, 1-800-223-6004, or write 1445 Market Street, Suite 300, Denver, Colo. 80202-1728.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - Lena Olin, who has acted alongside heartthrobs Richard Gere and Robert Redford, has a new leading man: film director Lasse Hallstrom.

Olin and Hallstrom were married at a secret ceremony Friday in a Stockholm church, the newspaper Expressen reported Saturday.

She dressed in a plain long white dress and cowboy boots. Hallstrom wore conventional white tie and tails. The bride's 7-year-old son August served as best man and two friends of the couple attended as witnesses.

Olin, 38, has appeared in the movies "Mr. Jones" with Gere, "Havana" with Redford and, most recently, "Romeo Is Bleeding." Hallstrom, 47, has directed "My Life as a Dog" and the current "What's Eating Gilbert Grape?"

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) - That country boy John Denver is including Vietnam in a nine-country Asian tour this spring to celebrate his 25 years in show business.

He will perform two nights in April in Hanoi's Opera House, and will wind up his visit with a one-night stand in Ho Chi Minh City on April 30, the 19th anniversary of the city's fall to communists.

Denver's hits, mostly from the late 1960s and early '70s, include "Take Me Home, Country Roads" and "Rocky Mountain High."

Children primary focus of Poison Prevention Week

National Poison Prevention Week is being observed March 20-26, according to Rita Chamberlain, director of pharmacy at Hereford Regional Medical Center.

The theme of the week: Children Act Fast...So Do Poisons! emphasizes that children are the primary focus of concern.

RADNOR, Pa. (AP) - Singing for President Clinton moved Judy Collins to tears.

"I ran into the Lincoln Bedroom and called my mother and cried," Collins said in the March 26 issue of TV Guide, recalling her recent dinner at the White House, when she sang "My Father."

Collins plays a blind singer in the new CBS series "Christy," and the experience helped her realize her debt to her own father.

"So much of what I know about life comes from him," Collins said. "He was a brilliant man, a great singer, and he never let his blindness get in the way of anything. It was a challenge for me to be on the other side of that experience."

The show, scheduled to premiere April 3, is set in an Appalachian town in 1912.

For the past 30 years, Poison Prevention Week has focused on preventing poisonings among children under six years of age, but accidental poisonings can happen to anyone, reports the Poison Prevention Council.

"Even the most observant parent can be distracted, and a child can quickly find a poisonous substance," said Ms. Chamberlain. "For that reason alone, adults must make sure that household chemicals and drugs are stored away from children at all times."

Safety packaging on oral prescription drugs has reduced the number of accidental ingestion fatalities. Also, deaths due to household chemical products has decreased.

The best way to prevent accidental poisoning is to survey the home for dangerous chemicals, and be sure that all medicines and household cleaners are stored out of reach of children. And, adults should always exercise caution anytime they ingest a substance by carefully reading the labels.

Ms. Chamberlain urged people to contact their pharmacist if they have a question about medications or other substances.
