Hot temperatures likely to continue; rain possible

As the state heads into Friday, forecasters were calling for scattered to isolated rainfall, but continued high temperatures stretching into the weekend, according to The Associated Press.

In the Texas Panhandle, Friday will be mostly sunny and hot with highs 99 to 105.

Saturday across the region was forecast to be partly sunny, with temperatures again reaching into the triple digits.

Friday night will be clear, with low temperatures near 80.

Weekend conditions will remain hot in North Texas, with high temperatures staying around the mid 90s to 102. Conditions soften somewhat later in the weekend, as Saturday night through Tuesday brings partly cloudy days and a slight chance of afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

TEA toughens standards

From staff and wire reports

Significant changes to Texas' school accountability system, including requiring schools to lower their dropout rates, will make it more difficult for schools to earn high ratings, Education Commissioner Jim Nelson announced Thursday.

Many of the tougher standards will be implemented this coming school year and phased in over the next several years.

The Hereford Independent School District staff has been preparing for the tougher standards for the past several years.

Assistant Superintendent Nena Veazey, who routinely reports TAAS results, has reported the teachers and principals have already begun to make changes that will keep the district ratings high.

This past school year marked the end of the state's six-year plan to gradually implement the accountability system.

The system rates schools ranging from exemplary to low-performing based on student passing rates on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills, dropout rates and attendance.

"It's now time to design the next phase," Nelson said.

The tougher requirements are part of the state's "overall desire to gradually but consistently raise the standards for our children and for our schools," he said.

The changes "will allow us to build on a very strong system and make it even stronger."

Nelson sent letters to districts this week announcing the changes, including tougher standardized testing passing requirements, lower drop out rates and fewer testing exemptions.

Also, beginning this school year, the state no longer will use attendance as a factor in determining school ratings because officials felt it was not a significant indicator of a school's overall performance.

Because state funding is based on attendance, schools will still be held accountable for the number of students who come to school, Nelson said.

Some of the most significant changes were made to dropout requirements.

Under the current system, schools must have a dropout rate less than 6 percent for all students in order to be rated acceptable. That level drops to 5.5 percent this school year and will fall to 5 percent in 2002.

"Recognized" ratings now require a dropout rate of 3 percent or less in 2001 and 2.5 percent or less in 2002, compared to 3.5 percent under the current system.

To receive an exemplary rating, schools must continue to have dropout rates of 1 percent or less.

U.S. jobless rate holding steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate held steady at 4 percent in July, close to a three-decade low, despite the loss of 108,000 payroll jobs during the month, the biggest setback in nine years.

All of the job decline came from 290,000 temporary government workers laid off in July because their work on the census was finished.

The Labor Department report on Friday showed that private payrolls actually rose by 138,000 during the month, a sign that the nation's labor market remained extremely tight.

Analysts noted that last month's gain in private sector jobs was down significantly from a jump of 242,000 in June and gains of more than 200,000 in many of the months of the past year.

"This report is just what the doctor ordered," said Robert Dederick, an economic consultant at Northern Trust Co. in Chicago. "It doesn't show excessive strength that would raise serious inflation fears, but at the same time it isn't so weak that it would raise fears on the downside."

The strength in July was spread across a number of sectors with manufacturing, financial services and retail posting gains.

The nation's jobless rate dipped to a 30-year low of 3.9 percent in April, rose to 4.1 percent in May and then edged down to hold at 4 percent in June and July as the seemingly unstoppable U.S. economy has kept the jobless rate at levels most working Americans have never seen before.

The Clinton administration hopes that the good economic times will convince voters to keep the White House in Democratic hands come November, although various polls show that the economy has been good for so long that voters are focusing on other issues.

The tight labor markets and the difficulty employers are having in filling jobs was seen in a further rise in average hourly earnings, which climbed by 0.4 percent.

HEARING

City to give taxpayers chance to say what they think about the tax rate

By Donald M. Cooper

Hereford Brand Managing Editor

Hereford taxpayers soon will know when they can voice their opinion about the city's proposed ad valorem tax rate.

The commissioners will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the commission chamber at City Hall, 224 N. Lee. They are scheduled to discuss the tax rate and call a public hearing on the issue.

The commissioners are expected to adopt a rate of 41 cents per $100 assessed valuation, unchanged from this year. However, even with the commission keeping the 41-cent rate, many taxpayers will see an increase on their tax bills because the value of their properties rose during the past 12 months.

The effective tax rate for the year ending Sept. 30 is 39.52 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The effective tax rate is the rate required to generate the same amount of revenue in the next budget year as it did in the current fiscal year.

The 41-cent rate this year generated $1,119,456 in property tax revenue. The 39.52-cent rate, which would represent a decrease of 1.48 cents, would generate $1,117,358.

The city's tax base for the year 2000 was put at $282,710,576, up $9,672,527 from 1999.

The rollback rate for the city is 42.68 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The 41-cent rate represents a 3.6 percent increase over the effective tax rate, which requires the city to call the public hearing.

Economic development items also are on the commission agenda, with the commissioners scheduled to consider approving the Hereford Economic Development Corp.'s budget for next year and its financial incentive package for Oller Engineering Inc., which is proposing to build an assisted-living center in Hereford.

The HEDC board on Wednesday adopted a budget of $330,035 for the year beginning Oct. 1, down about $4,800 from this year.

According to HEDC Executive Director Don Cumpston's projections, the major portion of the HEDC revenues will be generated by the city sales tax. The agency receives about one-third of the city's sales tax rebates, which are allocated monthly by the Texas Comptroller's

HITTIN' THE ROAD: Bush, Cheney on sweep of crucial Midwest states

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Opening a 95-day countdown to the election, Republicans George W. Bush and Dick Cheney charge side-by-side into Midwest battleground states Friday pledging to "use these good times for great goals" if they succeed in winning the White House.

"As we depart the city of brotherly love, we depart with a good feeling in our heart," Bush said at a prayer breakfast Friday. "Our jobs as Republicans, Democrats, nonaffiliates is to rally that compassion of America, is to call upon the love that exists not because of government, that exists because of a gracious and loving God."

Bush also boosted his vice presidential nominee, calling Cheney "a humble man, a strong man. He's a good man."

The Texas governor claimed the GOP nomination Thursday night in a deafening convention celebration and deluge of balloons and confetti. There was a mood of exuberant optimism about Bush's chances — he is ahead in the polls — but he cautioned that "this will be a tough race, down to the wire" with Democrat Al Gore.

Accusing his rival of trying to scare Americans about his proposals for Social Security, Medicare and tax reform, Bush said Gore "now leads the party of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. But the only thing he has to offer is fear itself."

Bush and running mate Cheney will try to build on the convention's momentum by campaigning together in a three-day train ride across Ohio, Michigan and Illinois — states carried by Bill Clinton and Al Gore in 1992 and 1996 but now prime targets for both sides. Together, the three states offer 61 of the 270 electoral votes needed to win the presidency.

Standing before a convention eager for a partisan edge, Bush was unforgiving in assessing President Clinton, the man who pushed Bush's father from the White House eight years ago. He said the Clinton-Gore administration failed to take advantage of the nation's prosperity to solve tough problems.

"Our current president embodied the potential of a generation. So many talents. So much charm. Such great skill," Bush said. "But in the end, to what end? So much promise, to no great purpose."

"This is not a time for third chances," he said of Gore's bid to succeed Clinton. "It is a time for new beginnings."

Under Clinton and Gore, he said, "We have seen a steady erosion of American power and an unsteady exercise of American influence."

Four times he brought the convention to its feet by declaring: "They have not led. We will."

Raising a subject that other speakers had avoided as too controversial, Bush expressed support for anti-abortion laws but acknowledged that "good people disagree."

Reciting campaign pledges, Bush promised in broad terms to "strengthen Social Security and repair Medicare" and make prescription drugs "available and affordable for every senior who needs them." He said he would abolish the federal estate tax, which affects about 2 percent of Americans in the highest income brackets, cut income tax rates and double the child tax credit.

On a key military issue, Bush pledged to deploy a missile defense system — despite opposition from Russia and American allies.

GEORGE W. BUSH

"Our current president embodied the potential of a generation. So many talents. So much charm. Such great skill. But in the end, to what end? So much promise, to no great purpose."

Bush steers clear of most factual pitfalls

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George W. Bush steered clear of most factual potholes in his acceptance speech Thursday night — only occasionally leaving out some facts of perspective.

For instance, the GOP nominee promised to "make prescription drugs available and affordable for every senior who needs them."

However, his plan provides government subsidies to the poorest seniors and promises to give the rest the right to sign up for a plan that offers coverage.

There's no guarantee for most that those plans would be affordable.

Bush also declared that President Clinton "did nothing" to strengthen Social Security and Medicare in eight years in office.

While it is true the Clinton administration did not succeed in overhauling either program, it made efforts. Most recently, Clinton persuaded Congress not to touch the Social Security surplus for spending.

And he offered a comprehensive health care plan during his first term that would have strengthened Medicare. It was blocked. This year, he has tried to get a guaranteed prescription drug benefit for Medicare recipients.

Bush also vowed to abolish the "death tax" — the federal estate tax. While sweeping in sound, the federal estate tax only affects about 2 percent of Americans in the highest income brackets.

Koch Petroleum faces indictment

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Federal prosecutors have informed a major Republican donor they will seek an indictment this month alleging environmental crimes in Texas that date back five years, officials familiar with the investigation said.

The case against Koch Petroleum promises to open a window on the relationship between oil companies and Texas regulators amid an election in which Democrats are suggesting Gov. George W. Bush's administration has gone easy on polluters.

Koch, based in Wichita, Kan., was informed in the last few weeks that a grand jury will be asked to indict the company and up to five employees as early as next week, the officials told The Associated Press.

Prosecutors have told the company it will be accused of conspiring to conceal problems at its Corpus Christi, Texas, refinery in the mid-1990s with the monitoring of benzene, the officials said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Senior Bush denies land purchase

WACO, Texas (AP) — Reports that Texas Gov. George W. Bush's father was considering the purchase of North Central Texas land near the governor's ranch have been denied by the elder Bush.

"It's absolutely absurd," Bush said, attending the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia, where his son accepted the GOP presidential nomination.

Rumors had the senior Bush pursuing a land deal near Crawford, where his son bought acreage last year and is building a home with wife Laura. Crawford is about 90 miles north of Austin.

The president not only dismissed the idea but said a friend recently told him about a rumor that he, Bush, was buying a house at Nassau in the Bahamas.

Monsanto provides free licensing

Rice technology used to save Third World children

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Monsanto announced it will give away free licenses to use its patented technology for so-called "golden rice" and other genetically engineered rice varieties that advocates say could save millions of Third World children.

The St. Louis biotechnology company made the announcement Thursday at a symposium in Chennai, India.

Along with the new licensing plan, Monsanto said Thursday it will release its rice genomic sequence database on a new Web site, www.rice-research.org.

"We want to minimize the time and expenditure that might be associated with obtaining licenses needed to bring 'golden rice' to farmers and the people in dire need of this vitamin in developing countries," Monsanto Chief Executive Hendrik Vefallie said.

"Golden rice," which is enriched with vitamin A that could save malnourished children from blindness or death, was developed by scientists in Switzerland and Germany. Critics of biotech crops say not enough is known about their safety or effect on the environment.

Scientists working on improving the rice will now be able to use any of Monsanto's biotechnology tools free of charge.

The company hopes the licensing plan will spur development of rice varieties with increased levels of vitamin A, more commonly known as beta carotene.

The modified rice is expected to provide nutritional benefits to those suffering from vitamin A deficiency-related diseases, including irreversible blindness found each year in hundreds of thousands of children. Adequate consumption also can reduce the number of deaths associated with infectious diseases, such as diarrhea and childhood measles, by improving the immune system.

Monsanto announced in April it had a draft sequence of a rice genome, the first crop genome to be described in such detail.

Monsanto is a subsidiary of New Jersey-based Pharmacia.

Rice is a relatively poor source of many essential nutrients, including vitamin A, but is the staple for half the world. An estimated 124 million children worldwide are deficient in vitamin A, including a quarter million in Southeast Asia who go blind each year because of the problem. Improved nutrition could prevent 1 million to 2 million deaths a year, scientists say.

Rice naturally produces its own beta carotene, but it is lost in the milling process. The biotech variety would have the beta carotene right in the endosperm, the part people eat. The beta carotene gives the golden rice grains a distinctive yellowish hue.

Homeland employee charged with theft

A long-time Homeland employee has been charged with theft under $20,000. She was arrested Wednesday at the store.

According to the police arrest records, an investigation was initiated after store manager Richard Selmon began noticing discrepancies and shortages in register tapes.

In a signed statement, Sheri Lynn Tucker, 36, admitted taking as much as $40,000 in the past year from the registers. In her statement, she said she put the register in "trainee" mode and would then take money from the drawer.

As head food clerk, Tucker had access to register keys.

Tucker stated she began taking money as a means to help her parents and to help pay her house payment and household bills.

Even as Selmon was discussing the matter with Deaf Smith County District Attorney Roland Saul, Tucker admitted to having taken about $300 just that day.

Tucker also stated she had been under "a lot of mental stress" from taking the money and she never really wanted to take something which was not hers.

Tucker was released on $7,500 bond, pending further investigation.

Saul said that if a grand jury indicts Tucker on the charge of theft over $1,500 or under $20,000, she could be sentenced to state jail time. If the investigation brings further charges or implicates Tucker in a greater amount, she could be charged with a third degree felony and be sentenced to two-10 years.

Tucker may be eligible for probation, but Saul said that would have to be determined at a later time.

Selmon could not be reached for comment.

Space mission costs soar

Proposed budgets for new NASA space exploration missions are rising as much as 40 percent in the aftermath of back-to-back Mars failures and the agency is considering canceling some projects, a key administrator said Thursday.

Nothing has been canceled yet, said Ed Weiler, NASA's associate administrator for space science. He flatly denied rumors that he had already cut a mission to Pluto, the solar system's smallest planet and the only one never visited by a spacecraft.

Weiler, who was joined by Carl Pilcher, director for solar system exploration in a teleconference from National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters, said rising costs reflect a new outlook by mission planners after the failures of the $165 million Mars Polar Lander and $125 million Mars Climate Orbiter.

A tough review blamed underfunding that led to corners being cut on testing and other safeguards.

"The report emphasized that we had probably pushed faster, better, cheaper" to the very edge, that we were getting to the place where we were taking more risk than we should," Weiler said of the recent NASA policy. "People took notice of this."

Some increased costs reflect proposed technologies that didn't pan out.

"Surprise, surprise, some of those launch vehicles aren't going to be as cheap as some of the people promised," he said.

Back-to-School Pencil Cookies - You will be hard-pressed to eat only one of these Number 2 pencils. They'll make you "one sharp cookie."

Cookies draw notice

Send your kids off to school this fall with some cookies that will surely "draw" attention from their friends and teachers.

These pencil-shaped cookies are almost too cute to eat; however, these crisp, almond-flavored "number 2 pencils" are too tasty to "write off."

"Too many people limit their use of biscuit and baking mix to only making biscuits, muffins or pancakes, but there are many other uses for this convenient product," Marrgi Walstrom, culinary professional for Pioneer Brand, said. "Biscuit and baking mix makes this cookie dough simple to stir together."

The cookies are easy to shape, too: Either roll the colored dough into pencils with your fingers, or pack it into an empty butter box. Once the box of dough is chilled, it is sliced and trimmed to make individual pencil-shaped cookies.

A miniature chocolate chip at the end of each cookie is the lead. Just follow the simple instructions given below.

Back-to-School Pencil Cookies

- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter, softened (do not use margarine; reserve butter box)
- 1 large egg
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 2 1/4 cups buttermilk biscuit and baking mix
- 1 drop red food coloring
- 1/2 teaspoon yellow food coloring

About 1/2 cup miniature chocolate chips

In large mixer bowl, beat sugar and butter until creamy. Add egg and almond extract; beat until light and fluffy. Add biscuit and baking mix, beating on low speed to combine.

Remove two 1/4-cup portions of the dough. Stir red food coloring into one 1/4-cup portion to make pink dough for the pencil eraser; reserve other 1/4-cup portion to make sharpened tips of pencils.

Shape cookies using one of the options below. Place pencils about 1 inch apart on baking sheet coated with cooking spray. Place a chocolate chip at the end of each white dough point for pencil lead.

Bake at 350 degrees for 7 to 9 minutes or until cookies just begin to brown. Cool on pan before removing to wire rack. Makes 5 to 6 dozen pencil-shaped cookies.

Sliced Pencil Option: Press white dough firmly and evenly in bottom of empty butter box (coated with cooking spray). Repeat with yellow dough and finally pink dough. Close box.

Chill for at least 2 hours or until dough is very firm. Carefully remove box from around dough. Using a long, then-bladed knife, slice dough lengthwise into 1/4-inch slices. Cut each slice into 6 "pencils." Trim white dough on each pencil to create a point.

Rolled Pencil Option: Wrap each dough (white, yellow and pink) in plastic wrap; chill until firm. Use measuring spoons to measure dough for each cookie: 1 teaspoon yellow dough, rolled with fingers to make 4 1/2-inch-long length of pencil; 1/8 teaspoon white dough, shaped to make sharpened point; and 1/8 teaspoon pink dough, rolled to make eraser.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a single mother of two girls, ages 9 and 8. Recently, while shopping in our neighborhood drugstore, I let my older child browse while I made some purchases. About 10 minutes later, we were in the same section of the store when I saw that she had something in her hand and was attempting to put it in her pocket. I immediately went to her and stressed the importance of being honest and trustworthy.

Am I doing something wrong to make my daughter think it's OK to steal? I feel guilty for not trusting her, but I fear she might try it again if I don't respond properly. Please tell me how to handle this. — A Troubled Mom in Dansville, N.Y.

Dear Mom: Don't blame yourself. When merchandise is displayed openly, it can be extremely tempting for kids to help themselves. Have a serious talk with your daughter about the consequences of stealing. Tell her it is a crime and could land her in reform school. Fear can be a great deterrent, and in this case, I recommend it.

Dear Ann Landers: Your "Ten Commandments of How to Get Along with People" has been a tremendous influence in my life. I would like to see them in every classroom, church, synagogue, mosque, clubhouse and office — anywhere people gather. It has been several years since you've printed them. How about putting them in your column again? — Ella and Bob in Dallas

Dear Ella and Bob: With pleasure. Thanks for asking. They have certainly stood the test of time:

The Ten Commandments of How to Get Along with People

1. Keep skid chains on your

2. Make promises sparingly, and keep them faithfully, no matter what the cost.

3. Never let an opportunity pass to say a kind and encouraging word to or about somebody. Praise good work, regardless of who did it. If criticism is needed, offer it gently, never harshly.

4. Be interested in others — their pursuits, their work, their homes and families. Make merry with those who rejoice, and weep with those who mourn. Let everyone you meet, however humble, feel that you regard him or her as a person of importance.

5. Be cheerful. Don't burden or depress those around you by dwelling on your minor aches and pains and small disappointments. Remember, everyone is carrying some kind of burden, often heavier than your own.

6. Keep an open mind. Discuss, but don't argue. It is a mark of a superior mind to be able to disagree without being disagreeable.

7. Let your virtues, if you have any, speak for themselves. Refuse to talk of another's vices. Discourage gossip. It is a waste of valuable time, and can be extremely destructive.

8. Be careful of another's feelings. Wit and humor at another person's expense may do more damage than you will ever know.

9. Pay no attention to disparaging remarks. Remember, the person who carried the message may not be the most accurate reporter in the world, and things become twisted in the retelling. Live so that nobody will believe them. Nervous tension and bad digestion are common causes of backbiting.

10. Don't be too eager to get the credit due you. Do your best, and be patient. Forget about yourself, and let others "remember." Success is much sweeter that way.

CLEARED TO PLAY

Time for physicals—The 2000-2001 school year is about to begin in Hereford which meant athletes had to be checked out before beginning sports participation. Several students (above) fill out their medical history before running through a series of tests to make themselves eligible for various sports including football, golf and cross country. The physicals were given Thursday evening at the Hereford Independent School District building. Practice for the volleyball and golf teams begin on August 7 while football starts on August 14.

Gripp ceremonies begin

Roping contest begins with introduction of calf ropers tonight at the VFW

Ropers and roping fans get ready because the Sixth Annual Spicer Gripp Memorial Roping contest is about to begin.

The roping event hosted by the Spicer Gripp Memorial Youth Foundation begins this Friday, August 4, at 7 p.m. and will last through Sunday, August 6 at the new Spicer Gripp Memorial Events Center. Proceeds from the event also go to the youth foundation.

The contest kicks off tonight at 7 p.m. with the Introduction of the competing calf ropers at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4818 (VFW).

The event is set to feature open calf roping, pro match roping, invitational team roping, invitational steer roping and junior match roping.

The calf roping contest will take place on Saturday, August 5, beginning at 10 a.m. There will be a total of 52 calf ropers competing in the competition.

Following the conclusion of the calf roping, a pro match between professional ropers Brent Lewis and Trevor Brazile takes place.

Saturday's events will conclude after the introduction of the competing team ropers and steer ropers at 7 p.m. at the VFW.

Beginning at 10 a.m. on Sunday, 20 teams will compete in the invitational team roping. This event will feature some of the world's best team ropers including Hereford's own professional team roper Steve Purcella. Purcella is currently ranked fifth in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association in money winnings.

Immediately following the invitational team roping will be the invitational steer roping.

The steer roping should begin around 1 p.m. Twenty-nine steer ropers are entered in this year's steer roping competition.

On Sunday, a pro-am featuring several local cowboys will take place. The locals will be paired with a professional roper and compete for the top spot after three rounds of team roping.

Hereford youths Rodey Wilson and Marty Eakin will take to the arena after the steer roping for a junior match roping competition.

All tickets for the event are $5 for adults with kids 12 and under getting in free with an adult.

Dallas next AAU stop

The Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) is holding five baseball and softball evaluation camps in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The camps began in Texas on July 29-30 and end in Oklahoma on August 26-27.

The camps are designed to aid and educate the athlete and their parents on how to better their chances of playing baseball or softball at the pro or collegiate level.

The camps will also be coached by college coaches and pro scouts.

Each athlete will receive a written evaluation, a seminar that will explain methods on how to be seen, academic requirements and many more helpful topics.

The student evaluations will be put into a catalog and sent to college coaches and professional organizations.

The first camp was held in Houston July 29-30 followed by the second camp which will be held this weekend Dallas.

The third camp will be in Lafayette, La. on August 12-13. Little Rock, Ark. will hold their camp on August 19-20 and the last camp is held in Tulsa, Okla.

Texas falls to 'Jays

Toronto ends slide but may lose Mondesi

TORONTO (AP) — Raul Mondesi's injured right elbow might end his season and Toronto's playoff hopes.

Frank Castillo ended the Blue Jays' six-game losing streak with a 3-1 win over the Texas Rangers on Thursday night, but the Toronto clubhouse was anything but happy with the news that Mondesi might be gone for the rest of the year.

"I don't want to lose my career for two months," said Mondesi, who has ligament damage and chips in the elbow. "I want to play for at least 10 more years."

The 29-year-old right fielder has been told by three doctors that he needs surgery. Mondesi, hitting .272 with 24 homers and 67 RBIs, can't straighten his right arm.

"Right now, I'm 55 percent," he said.

Mondesi said he will wait five or six days, and if he's not at least 85 percent, then he will have the surgery. He's been told it will take 8-10 months to recover.

The Blue Jays are 5 1/2 games behind the first-place New York Yankees in the AL East. Toronto has struggled since Mondesi was injured July 21.

"We can't afford to lose anymore," said Castillo, who won his seventh straight decision. "We realize the Yankees are playing well."

Castillo (8-5) hasn't lost since June 1. The right-hander allowed just one run on four hits in seven innings. He struck out four and didn't walk a batter.

"He kept us off balance," Texas' Rafael Palmeiro said.

After allowing consecutive singles to open the sixth, Castillo turned a double play by making a sprawling catch in front of the mound on a bunt attempt by Dave Martinez. He then threw to second to double up Royce Clayton.

"Castillo made a do-or-die move, and that killed our chances for a big inning," Martinez said.

Castillo, who barely made the club out of spring training, has been Toronto's second-best starter this season. He's won seven of nine starts and has gone at least seven innings in six of those outings.

"At the beginning of May, my back was against the wall. If I didn't throw well, I didn't know what was going to happen," Castillo said. "Since then, I've put a string of good starts together. Now that I've been throwing the ball well, I haven't been thinking about that."

Chris Woodward, who entered hitting .188, hit a tiebreaking, two-out single off Kenny Rogers in the sixth to give Toronto a 2-1 lead.

Rogers (10-9) allowed two runs on seven hits in six innings.

"I struggled to find the strike zone, but I battled," Rogers said.

The Jays went ahead 3-1 on Shannon Stewart's RBI infield single in the eighth off Jeff Zimmerman.

Mark Guthrie, acquired by Toronto on Monday from Tampa Bay, struck out Chad Curtis — the only batter he faced — to end the eighth inning. Billy Koch pitched the ninth for his 25th save in 29 chances.

Gabe Kapler's 10th homer in the second gave Texas a 1-0 lead.

Marty Cordova tied it with an RBI single in the bottom half.

Notes: Mondesi, on the 15-day disabled list, played a light game of catch before the game. He just returned from a Florida visit with Dr. John Uribe, who works with the Miami Dolphins. Mondesi already saw team doctor Allan Gross and orthopedic surgeon Dr. Frank Jobe of Los Angeles. Castillo was 1-5 after 11 starts. Toronto DH Brad Fullmer broke two bats on consecutive swings in the fifth inning. Kapler has six home runs in his last 15 games. He extended his hitting streak to 17 games.

HASELMAN HELPING

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Bill Haselman is an insurance policy paying off for the Texas Rangers.

While no player could provide complete replacement coverage for AL MVP Ivan Rodriguez, Haselman has been more than adequate since the nine-time All-Star catcher was lost for the season with a broken right hand.

"There's no way you can totally protect yourself against losing Pudge, but if you've got to have a guy sitting behind Pudge, Bill Haselman is as good a guy as there is in the game," Texas manager Johnny Oates said.

Going into the series opener at Toronto on Thursday night, Haselman had made eight straight starts — his longest stretch since seven straight in April 1997 with Boston — and hit .414 (12-for-29) in that span. He had his second three-hit game in three nights Wednesday against the Chicago White Sox.

More important is how

Haselman handles the pitching staff.

"We knew he would step in with no complications because we knew he was prepared. Even before when he knew he wasn't going to catch, he was already prepared just in case," Kenny Rogers said.

Rogers and Rick Helling, the Rangers' other top starter, noted that Haselman would spend hours as a backup watching tape of opposing hitters.

"Obviously with Pudge back there, you love it," Helling said. "But with Has back there, I have just as much confidence in him as I did in Pudge."

"It's not like he's a guy that sits here and knows he's backing up Pudge Rodriguez and isn't going to play, and just shows up at the park. He comes ready to play."

Haselman, 34, returned to Texas last November as part of the nine-player trade that

Fish nip Houston, 4-3

■Dierker frustrated at losing to Florida

MIAMI (AP) — Close games have become routine wins for the Florida Marlins.

The Marlins earned their 24th one-run victory, most in the major leagues, by beating the Houston Astros 4-3 Thursday.

Dave Berg drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning to cap the Marlins' 31st comeback win. They're 24-15 in one-run games.

"After a while you get used to it," manager John Boles said. "I have no nerves or stomach left at this point."

While the surprising Marlins thrive in close games, injury-plagued Houston has been awful. The team with baseball's worst record is 5-21 in one-run games, including losses to Florida the past two days.

"Even as depleted as we are and being on the road — maybe I'm missing something — but I think we should beat that team over there," Astros manager Larry Dierker said.

One reason for the Marlins' success in close games is their bullpen, which has an ERA of 3.82, lowest in the National League. Boles went to his relievers after six innings Thursday with the score 3-3, and Braden Looper (4-1) and Antonio Alfonseca shut out Houston the rest of the way.

Derrek Lee started Florida's winning rally with a single in the eighth. He took third on Andy Fox's third single of the game, and followed with a fly to deep center against Joe Slusarski (1-6).

"That's all I was trying to do," said Berg, who knew his fly wouldn't make it to the wall. "I'm not going to hit a homer all year."

Looper pitched around two errors in the eighth. Alfonseca followed with a perfect ninth for his 32nd save in 35 chances, most in the major leagues.

"We've got the ingredients to win close games," Boles said. "It's a tremendous credit to the bullpen."

Florida improved to 8-1 in games tied after seven innings.

"It's refreshing because we've got a bunch of young guys learning how to win in the big leagues," said Fox, who went 3-for-3 with two dazzling defensive plays in the infield.

"The more tight games you play, the more confident you're going to get."

Moises Alou hit a two-run homer, his 17th, to briefly give Houston a 3-2 lead in the sixth.

"I knew we needed more than that," Alou said. "The Marlins are a team that shows a lot of courage. They kept coming back on us all series. Their record shows they're better than us."

Henry Rodriguez, acquired in a trade Monday, went 0-for-4 in his first start for Florida.

Catcher

sent two-time AL MVP Juan Gonzalez to Detroit.

When finalizing the Gonzalez deal, Rangers general manager Doug Melvin had Haselman added. Melvin wanted a quality backup that could give Rodriguez an occasional day off.

Haselman served as Rodriguez's backup in 1998, hitting .314 in 40 games. He then signed as a free agent with Detroit and hit .273 in 48 games last season while backing up another All-Star, Brad Ausmus.

Melvin also needed some insurance in case of an injury, such as the broken hand Rodriguez suffered July 24 when he hit Mo Vaughn's bat while making a throw to second.

"A lot of people forget Bill Haselman being a part of that deal. If he wasn't, I don't know where we'd be right now with Pudge being hurt," Melvin said.

"It's a real key. A backup catcher of his caliber would have been difficult to get."

Rodriguez had started more games behind the plate than any AL catcher each of the past six seasons. Haselman, who played a season-high 77 games for Boston in 1996, likely would have been the league's least-played backup catcher had Rodriguez (.347, 27 home runs, 83 RBIs) not gotten hurt.

"Of course, that's not the way I want to get to see the opportunity," Haselman said. "I don't like to see anybody get hurt, especially somebody like Pudge who offers so much to our team."

Rockets propse new arena

■Voters have final say in arena decision

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets and local officials were expected Thursday to approve a $175 million downtown arena proposal, but Harris County voters who last year rejected a similar deal will have the final say.

The issue was on the agenda for the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Harris County-Houston Sports Authority, the county-city partnership responsible for developing local sports venues.

If the authority approves the plan and the Rockets sign a letter of agreement, an election is required to set the project into motion.

Last November, a $160 million arena proposal went down in flames despite support from Mayor Lee Brown, popular former mayor Bob Lanier and other prominent Houston names.

A vigorous anti-arena campaign last year by Harris County Republican Party chairman Gary Pollard and Tax Assessor-Collector Paul Bettencourt resulted in a 55 percent landslide that buried the proposal.

Both men were in Philadelphia for the national GOP Convention and were not available for comment Thursday. Bettencourt planned to reserve comment until he had a chance to read the new agreement.

The Rockets and the authority have been negotiating a new arrangement since February. A handful of other cities have wooed the Rockets, but none of the suitors was considered serious.

The Rockets are locked into their Compaq Center lease until November 2003.

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then remember these hints:

- Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of
- Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
- Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

NOTICE OF RECEIPT OF APPLICATION AND INTENT TO OBTAIN A WATER QUALITY PERMIT
PERMIT NO. 10186-001

APPLICATION. City of Hereford, P.O. Box 2277, Hereford, Texas 79045-2277 has applied to the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission (TNRCC) to renew Texas Land Application (TLAP) Permit No. 101186-001 to authorize the disposal of treated wastewater at a volume not to exceed a daily average of 2,000,000 gallons per day via irrigation. The domestic wastewater treatment facility is located 2500 feet southwest of the intersection of Progressive and Dairy Roads, and approximately 3,000 feet south of U.S. Highway 60, east of the City of Hereford in Deaf Smith County. This application was submitted to the TNRCC on June 07, 2000. The permit application is available for viewing and copying at City Hall, 224 N. Lee, Hereford, Texas 79045.
The TNRCC executive director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application. After completion of the technical review, the TNRCC will issue a Notice of Application and Preliminary Decision.
MAILING LISTS. You may ask to be placed on a mailing list to obtain additional information on this application by sending a request to the Office of the Chief Clerk, at the address below. You may also ask to be on a county-wide mailing list to receive public notices for TNRCC permits in the county.
PUBLIC COMMENT/PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting about this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or to ask questions about the application. The TNRCC will hold a public meeting if the executive director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.
Written public comments or requests for public meeting must be submitted to the office of the Chief Clerk, MC 105, TNRCC, P.O. Box 13067, Austin, TX 78711-3067.
ADDITIONAL NOTICE. After technical review of the application is complete, the executive director may prepare a draft permit and will issue a preliminary decision on the application. Notice of the Application and Preliminary Decision will be published and mailed to those who are on the county-wide mailing list or the mailing list for this application. That notice will contain the final deadline for submitting public comments.
OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING. After the deadline for public comments, the executive director will consider the comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant, public comments. The response to comments, along with the executive director's decision on the application, will be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments or who requested to be on the mailing list for this application. If comments are received, the mailing will also provide instructions for requesting reconsideration of the executive director's decision and for requesting a contested case hearing. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in a state district court.
A contested case hearing will only be granted based on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decision on the application. Further, the Commission will only grant a hearing on issues that were raised during the public comment period and not withdrawn. The TNRCC may act on an application to renew a permit for discharge of wastewater without providing an opportunity for a contested case hearing if certain criteria are met.
INFORMATION. If you need more information about this permit application or the permitting process, please call the TNRCC Office of Public Assistance, Toll Free, at 1-800-687-4040. General information about the TNRCC can be found at our web site at www.tnrcc.state.tx.us.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE MOST IMPORTANT ANIMAL IN BIBLICAL DAILY LIFE!

THE MOST VALUABLE OF ANIMALS, IN BIBLICAL TIMES, WAS THE ASS. IT WAS USED EXTENSIVELY FOR RIDING, CARRYING BURDENS, PLOWING FARMLANDS, AND GRINDING THE GRAIN IN FLOUR MILLS. WHEN A FAMILY WANTED TO MOVE, THEY PACKED THEIR ENTIRE HOUSEHOLD ONTO THE BACKS OF THESE STURDY, LITTLE BEASTS AND OFF THEY'D GO!

THE HORSE WAS USED ONLY FOR WARFARE AND, IN THE ROCKY, HILLY COUNTRY OF JUDEA, IT WAS OF NO USE EVEN IN BATTLES, FOR IT COULD NOT MOVE WELL IN THE ROCKS AND RIDGES OF THE MOUNTAINOUS LAND—IN FACT, THERE IS HARDLY ANY MENTION OF THE HORSE BEING USED BY THE JEWS UNTIL KING SOLOMON, WHO IMPORTED THOUSANDS OF THEM FROM EGYPT. BUT THE ASS WAS A NECESSITY IN THE DAILY LIFE OF THE JEWS EVEN TO THE POINT OF PRODUCING FOOD—FOR MANY HERDS WERE KEPT FOR MILKING—THE SHE-ASS GIVING MILK AS RICH AND NUTRITIOUS AS THE GOAT AND COW!

A SPECIES OF PURE-WHITE ANIMALS, BRED IN MESOPOTAMIA WAS IMPORTED BY MANY COUNTRIES FOR CEREMONIAL ACTIVITIES. RICHLY BRIDLED AND SADDLED, THEY WERE KEPT BY KINGS AND PRINCES FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF IMPORTANT GUESTS AND FOR THEIR FAVORITE WIVES! (JUDGES 5:10)

MILKING AN ANIMAL WAS DONE FROM THE REAR—THIS CUSTOM STILL PREVAILS IN PARTS OF NORTH AFRICA AND THE NEAR EAST!

NEXT WEEK: YOU COULD MAKE A LIVING—BY PICKING UP TWIGS?!

THIS DEVOTIONAL & DIRECTORY IS A MADE POSSIBLE BY THESE BUSINESSES WHO ENCOURAGE ALL OF US TO ATTEND WORSHIP SERVICES.
