Program For July 4 Event Is Outlined

Varied Entertainment To Be Offered At Holiday Celebration

Definite steps toward the planning and promotion of a July 4th celebration for Big Spring were taken Monday afternoon by the public relations committee of the chamber of commerce.

Preliminary draft of the program was effected by the group and sub-committee named to arrange the several features of the unusual affair.

Conceived as the means of keeping local folks home and attracting hundreds of out of towners into the city on July 4, the so-called "carnival of fun and frolic" will offer entertainment suited to almost any fancy.

To Dedicate Pool
Centered around the formal dedication of the new municipal swimming pool, the holiday celebration will feature three addresses by prominent officials and aquatic sports.

Invitations have been sent to Congressmen R. E. Thomason of the 21st district and George Mahon of the 19th district and to Julian Montgomery, state PWA engineer to deliver short addresses in connection with the dedication.

What is considered as one of the biggest drawing cards will be a bathing revue from which contestants in surrounding towns and communities will be entered. The bathing beauties will be judged under the lights.

An attempt is being made to get either Buster Crabbe or Johnny Weissmuller, aquatic and movie stars, here for special exhibitions during the day.

Other features centered around the pool opening will be a "kiddy" bathing revue and swimming, diving and water polo contests.

Other Events

For those not interested in this type of entertainment there will be a golf tournament (for men and women), softball tournament, baseball games, wrestling matches, special picture shows, dances, bridge tournament, croquet and old time dancing and fiddling contest.

A check Tuesday revealed that sub-committee chairmen, almost without exception, were shaping up plans for their events and would be ready to report to the committee proper Monday.

When the program is rounded out, the celebration will be thoroughly advertised and publicized in this area. One firm has offered a 30-passenger bus for use in advertising the gathering throughout the Big Spring trade area.

Calles Flays Mexico Regime

Says 'False Communists' Will Bring Destruction Of Nation

TULSA, Okla., June 2 (UP)—Embittered Plutarco Elias Calles, deposed dictator of Mexico, prophesied in his first public address since he was exiled, that the Mexican government under its present regime was headed for destruction.

Calles, speaking before the International Association of Oil Well, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America in their biennial convention here, attacked President Lázaro Cárdenas of Mexico and his satellites as "false communists" who have "no real understanding of what they are doing."

The former "strong man" was deposed by command of Cárdenas in a surprise government recently and since has resided in his palatial home at San Diego, Cal. He came to Oklahoma as a guest of Gov. E. W. Marland and accepted an invitation of the oil workers union to address their convention.

"Today we have in Mexico a group of false communists acting and operating under the inspiration of the government," he said. "I call them false communists because I think half of them have no real understanding of what they are doing beyond the fact that they are seeking to feather their nests."

"Out of this disordered conception of the Mexican nation is headed toward a condition of chaos. The workers will be the first to suffer. That is the most heartbreaking feature of the outlook in Mexico."

MISS WALKER NEW SUPERINTENDENT AT BIG SPRING HOSPITAL

Miss Marguerite Walker, formerly with the Masonic Hospital in El Paso, has accepted the position of superintendent at the Big Spring hospital, effective June 1st, succeeding Mrs. Olive B. Riley. Mrs. Riley and son, Pat, are leaving Thursday for her home in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Miss Walker has already arrived to assume her new duties.

Payments On Cotton Crop Are Received

155 Checks Totalling More Than $6,500 Will Go To Producers

Office force at the county agent's office was preparing today for distribution of 155 adjustment checks to producers who marketed cotton under the 12 cent level last year.

The checks will bring a total of $6,519.34 to the 155 producers, and comes at an opportune time since planting is still underway.

The checks represent the difference in the prevailing price on the day cotton was marketed and 12 cents per pound.

Reports from most sections of the county today revealed comparatively little damage from high winds and a mild sandstorm Monday. One farmer reported loss of 100 acres of cotton, but he was the exception. Outside the deep sandy sections, very little harm was done.

Craig Funeral To Be Held Wednesday

Services for Louis E. Craig, 31, who drowned when the boat in which he was riding was swept over the Ben Ficklin dam near San Angelo Sunday, will be held from the Eberley chapel at 10 a. m. Wednesday, it was learned this afternoon.

Members of Craig's family were located Tuesday afternoon and arrangements were completed.

Two companions, Roy Stallings of Big Spring and Billie Johnson of San Angelo, who were with Craig, swam to safety when the boat's motor died and it drifted toward the dam.

TWO NEGROES HELD FOR THEFT OF AUTO

Manuel Fisher and Jack Calhoun, negroes, were held in the county jail Tuesday awaiting examining trial on charges of stealing a new car from the Big Spring Motor company.

They were arrested Sunday in Abilene after they demolished the machine when officers gave chase. The car had never been registered.

FIVE JURORS PICKED IN ESKRIDGE TRIAL

HOUSTON, June 2 (AP)—Ray Edger Eskridge apparently was unconcerned today as attorneys questioned prospective jurors to try him for the slaying of Police Chief Ed O'Reilly at Orange.

Will Complete Plans For Port Transfer

Security Holders In Airport Corporation To Meet Friday On Negotiations

Details of transferring the airport property from the Big Spring Airport corporation to the hands of the city will be arranged in a called meeting of the organization's stockholders Friday at 4 p. m. in the Settles hotel.

Notices have been dispatched to those interested in the corporation to either be present for the meeting or have their proxies in the hands of a representative.

Rebel Troops Conquer Fort

National Army Takes Final Major Objective In Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 2 (AP)—National army leaders, in rebellion against the government of President Juan Sacasa, announced today that loyal troops had raised a white flag over Fort Leon.

The defenders of Leon held out for three days against troops commanded by Gen. Anastasio Somoza, chief of the national army, who was reported entering the fort to receive the surrender.

The fort, also called Acoasco, was the final military objective of the national army.

Relative quiet today followed an attack on the palace yesterday by revolting troops of the national guard (the regular army).

The number of persons slain and wounded remained undetermined. Several citizens were killed on the streets by stray bullets in the attempt to dislodge President Sacasa.

CENTENNIAL GROUP TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Centennial committee of the chamber of commerce will convene 9 a. m. Wednesday to make arrangements for the Big Spring community exhibit at the Fort Worth frontier centennial all-West Texas display.

ORDER INQUIRY INTO HUEY LONG'S DEATH

BATON ROUGE, June 2 (AP)—The Louisiana house of representatives today adopted without dissent a concurrent resolution calling for an investigation into the fatal shooting of Senator Huey P. Long.

10,000 Soldiers From Tokyo Stationed In Garrisons

SHANGHAI, June 2 (AP)—Japanese authorities announced tonight that the South China government at Canton had declared war against the National Chinese government, demanding that the latter order a national war against Japan.

The move came as a result of pressure from the officers of the valiant Twenty-ninth Route army, defenders of the great wall passes during the Japanese invasion of 1933.

Meanwhile North China seethed restlessly under the mounting weight of Japanese military control.

Students Call Strike
Students in both Peiping and Tientsin, declaring a three-day strike, forced complete suspension of public and private schools and colleges.

Young members of the National Salvation Association convened to weigh their action in the face of heavy Japanese troop reinforcements for North China garrisons, bringing the total of Japanese soldiers in the area to an estimated 10,000 or more.

But Japan gave no indication of retreating.

Her soldiers rushed completion of new barracks for 800 men at Fengtai, vital communications center 10 miles southwest of Peiping. There were rumors of contemplated Japanese outposts at Chungshantien, to give the insular "visitors" even more complete control of the rail lines below Peiping.

Fear New Demands
All the highest Japanese officers on the mainland converged on Tientsin to consider last week's mysterious railroad bombings, which menaced Japanese troop trains. New and drastic demands on China; perhaps even greater Japanese military occupation, were feared by the Chinese.

Great Britain was brought suddenly into the North China picture by official Japanese embassy representations at Peiping, concerning the killing of a Japanese soldier "by a foreign soldier."

A Japanese official at Peiping said it was "clear to the Japanese embassy" that the soldier, Kikaku Sasaki, was killed "by a foreign soldier wearing a British uniform."

The British embassy stated it was "investigating." Sasaki was injured fatally in a fight May 26. Smuggling, blamed by the Chinese on widespread Japanese operations in the north, caused the withdrawal from service of seven Chinese coastal vessels and had a grave effect on American and other foreign commerce.

George B. Terrell Here In Interest Of His Campaign

George B. Terrell of Alto, veteran figure in Texas politics and a union candidate for commissioner of agriculture, was in Big Spring Monday afternoon, contacting acquaintances in the interest of his campaign.

Terrell was on a swing through the western portion of the state. He came here from El Paso, and went on to San Angelo and San Antonio.

Asserting that he offers his past record as a guarantee of future service, Terrell promised honest, efficient and economical operation of the department if he is chosen for the commissioner's office.

PENSION PAYMENTS WILL AVERAGE $20

AUSTIN, June 2 (AP)—Old-age assistance offices said today that a general average of about $20 will be paid to approximately 65,000 persons on the state pension rolls beginning July 1.

Debate Opens In Senate On Revenue Plan

Relief Measure Passed, Only One Major Barrier Before Adjournment

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Determination to vote against passage of any tax bill was expressed today by senate republicans attending a party conference.

Senators attending said their strategy probably would be to support the finance committee compromise tax plan in preference to the house bill on the other proposal, than to vote against it ultimately.

Earlier the finance committee in a majority report estimated its compromise measure would produce $829,000,000 in permanent and temporary revenue in a year.

Minority Report
Another broadside was fired at the revenue measure yesterday by two members of the senate finance committee who contended the plan would perpetuate evils of existing tax law.

In a minority report, Senators Black (D-Ala.) and LaFollette (Prog-Wis.) said the compromise finance committee bill would level a "wholly unnecessary and deadly blow" at small corporations and small stockholders.

Debate was opened in the senate today on the measure, last big barrier in the way of congressional adjournment.

The legislative program was narrowed to the one item when the senate last night passed the $2,428,000,000 relief and deficiency bill. Overriding republican attempts to shift the administration of relief to the states and to block the Florida ship canal, the senate adopted the measure by a 62 to 14 vote.

The measure, as it went back to the house for action on senate changes, carried added items that made it one of the biggest supply measures in peace-time history.

As the senate sat until long after dusk, amendments were added to the relief bill so rapidly that clerks could not compute the exact total, but figured it roughly at something in excess of $2,428,000,000. Included was $1,425,000,000 for continuing the work relief program.

Republican Move Defeated
A long day of heated debate was climaxed by a brief skirmish over an effort led by Senator Vandenberg.

Stanton Man Dies In Crash

Stanley Whitson Fatally Hurt; Three Others Are Injured

MINERAL WELLS, June 2—Four were injured, one fatally, in a head-on collision of two trucks on highway one, six miles east of here at the foot of Millsap hill last night.

Stanley B. Whitson, 23, of Stanton, driver of one of the vehicles, died in an ambulance en route to Mineral Wells from loss of blood and shock. His sister, Louise, 19, whom he was taking to Denton to enter the State College for Women; Ollie McCombs, Rotan, owner and driver of the other truck, and R. E. Batters, Rotan, who was riding with McCombs, were the other casualties.

Bettes suffered a broken arm and other injuries. McCombs and Miss Whitson apparently were not seriously hurt.

The dead youth was a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Whitson, prominent Stanton couple. His sister was graduated recently from Stanton high school and was to attend the Denton college during the summer. McCombs and Bettes were returning from Fort Worth in the former's cattle truck after marketing a load of cattle and sheep. The Whitson car was a new Ford pickup model.

Four Cases In County Court Are Dismissed

Agreed Judgment In Another As Docket Called By Garlington

Dismissal of four cases, agreed judgment in another and passing of nine others marked the calling of the county court docket by Judge J. S. Garlington Tuesday morning.

The judge broke the monotony of the rather dull session when he called out the condemnation case of the city vs. L. E. Coleman, et al., long since settled. It involved right-of-way for highway 1 east of the city.

Reading the title and cause for action, Judge Garlington added: "Score—nothing to nothing." A ripple of laughter broke out.

Dismissals
Cases dismissed included three by E. C. Brand, state banking commissioner, against H. W. Sanders, R. L. Powell, O. W. Cathey and Albert Edens in connection with the Comhoma bank closing several years ago. The cases were dismissed at plaintiff's cost as was one of the First National bank vs. S. T. Franklin for suit on note and foreclosure of chattel mortgage.

Agreed judgment was entered in the case of J. T. Langley, et al vs. W. B. Harrison for writ of sequestration.

Cases passed for one cause or another were Mrs. F. F. Gary vs. W. R. Perry, suit on note; Taylor Emerson vs. Edwin Woody, writ of sequestration; E. L. Snider, administrator for the estate of C. B. Ensign, vs. N. W. Walker in one case and Alex Walker in another, suit on note; Joel H. Britton vs. H. L. McCaughy, et al., suit on note and sequestration; First National bank vs. L. H. Haynes and A. G. Haynes, suit on note; West Texas National bank vs. W. B. Franklin, suit on note; First National bank vs. C. C. Miller, suit on note; and West Texas National bank vs. Anderson Music Co., suit on note.

Conclaves were scheduled for New Jersey, Wisconsin, Kentucky and California. Meetings were held last week in Colorado, Kansas and Wyoming. The organization has members in every state except Mississippi, Louisiana, North Dakota, Nevada, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

The organization's demands were put before both the senate and house sub-committees on appropriations by Lasser when the groups were considering President Roosevelt's $1,425,000,000 recommendation.

"Under this appropriation," Lasser said, "WPA will have to lay off 300,000 or 400,000 workers, which means 1,000,000 or 1,100,000 are being thrown back to increase the ranks of the total unemployed and those who will be dependent upon direct relief."

"The states are finding the burden almost insupportable as it is now. A relief crisis is developing now in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas, and if those 1,000,000 are forced back on direct relief, we are going to be thrust into a nationwide relief crisis."

C-C DIRECTORS TO CONVENE ON FRIDAY

Regular meeting of the Big Spring chamber of commerce directors has been called for 7:30 Friday evening, it was announced Tuesday. Several important matters are to be considered, and all directors are urged to attend.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

MRS. HUGH Skiles and Mrs. C. E. Worrell of Clovis, N. M., were out at the country club bright and early this morning practicing in preparation for the women's tourney. Qualifying starts tomorrow, but a number of golfers arrived Monday and have played the course several times. Both of the New Mexico golfers were getting off some nice drives.

MRS. RHEA J. Vernon of Abilene was listed among the early arrivals. She plays a fine brand of golf and is being tutored as a tourney favorite. Mrs. W. K. Powell of San Angelo is also an outstanding golfer, and will head a delegation from the Concho territory.

RECENT RAINS have put the country club fairways in fine condition, and Chas. Worley, manager of the country club, has spent a great deal of time cleaning up the greens and remanding the traps. The ladies should have a big tournament.

PRACTICALLY ALL of the local lady golfers were out making the rounds yesterday afternoon, and a number were practicing this morning. The weather looks fine, and parties, barbecues and a dance will make the five-day tournament a big success.

FIGHT DOPPESTERS and the ballyhoo boys are taking a new angle on the pending Louis-Schmeling bout. They're trying to build up the German and take Louis down. But despite all they can do Louis will probably be a 3-1 favorite when the gong sounds. A Dallas lad by the name of Beaupre, formerly a butcher boy, may reach the heights in a year or two but he needs lots and lots of experience.

GOLFERS HERE EARLY TO PLAY PRACTICE ROUNDS

ABILENE GOLFER IS THREAT

At noon today twenty-one golfers had registered for the first tournament sponsored by the local Women's Golf Association and other were due in late this afternoon and early tomorrow. Several of West Texas' best feminine golfers toured the country club links yesterday and this morning to familiarize themselves with the peculiarities of the course. Mrs. Rhea J. Vernon of Abilene was among the early arrivals and turned in a good score in a practice round yesterday. Other out-of-town entries were: Mrs. E. C. Bove and Mrs. J. H. Walker of Fort Worth; Mrs. C. E. Worrell and Mrs. Hugh Skiles of Clovis, N. M.; and Mrs. L. O. Schrophire of San Antonio. Local golfers entered at noon were: Mmes. Harry Stalcup, C. L. Browning, Ralph Rix, G. I. Phillips, E. O. Ellington, Obie Bristol, Travis Reed, J. L. Rush, Chas. Worley, V. W. Laitson, M. E. Tatum, H. L. Ellis, Carl Blomsheld, M. H. Bennett and Theron Hicks. Mrs. W. K. Powell of San Angelo and Mrs. Logan Creager of Mineral Wells will be strong contenders for the title. Mrs. Creager will be accompanied by her husband, Logan Creager, president of the Mineral Wells country club and secretary of the men's West Texas association.

Mrs. Gordon Phillips and Mrs. Theron Hicks will be the Big Spring threats. Mrs. Hicks, country club champion, is a consistent shooter, and recently played the back nine in one under women's par and two over men's par. Mixed foursomes were scheduled for this afternoon, with a pre-tournament party this evening at 8 o'clock at the country club. Five Lubbock golfers will arrive here tomorrow morning, and Midland will send Mrs. Bob Hamilton, Mrs. Charles Mix, Mrs. Frank Stacy and Mrs. Paul Osborne. Qualifying round will be held Wednesday, with the long-driving contest in the afternoon. A chicken barbecue is slated at 6 o'clock and a calcutta pool at 8.

Dates Set For Annual Hamlin Golf Tourney
HAMLIN, June 2 (Sp1)—The Lakewood golf club of Hamlin will hold its third annual invitation golf tournament June 14-21. The Lakewood club holds membership in the West Texas Golf Association, and boasts of having one of the most beautiful nine-hole courses in Texas. F. D. Howe is pro.

More than 100 golfers are expected to gather here on June 14 for the start of qualifying, which will extend through the 18th. Match play starts on the 19th with final matches scheduled for Sunday, June 21.

Panny Farmer of Lubbock won the championship in 1935, and has announced that he will defend his title. The following players are expected to take part in the tournament: John Edmiston, Lubbock; Joe Dick Slaughter, Lubbock; Chas. Reasor, Jr., Electra; Jack Parr, Electra; Buddy Wheeler, Seymour; Johnny Marston, San Angelo; Jackie Jackson, San Angelo; D. L. Hunter, San Angelo; J. P. Hill, San Angelo; Johnny Neil, Odessa; H. G. Agnew, Ballinger; Allen Guinn, Mineral Wells; Morris Norton, Wichita Falls; Warren Cantrel, Stamford; T. F. Vaughan, Lamesa; Sam Connor Eastland;

Shirley Robbins, Big Spring; Red Covington, San Angelo; Red Tolor, Hamlin; Frank Johnson, Hamlin; Bob Scott, Colorado; Lyle Scott, Fort Stockton; Pat Rauschalbach, Jacksboro; Harry Tolbert, Midland; Elmer A. Harris, Ranger; C. E. Boyd, Brownwood; W. S. Pendleton, Jr., Shamrock; T. D. Webster, Memphis; Morris McCarty, Knox City; E. M. Whittaker, Haskell; W. J. Arrington, Rule; Saxton Judd, Vernon.

Hutchinson To Bid For Open Title

CHICAGO, June 2 (AP)—If Jock Hutchinson, the "Harry Lauder of the links," could win the National Open at Baltusrol, starting Thursday, the 20th anniversary this summer of his professional stay at Glen View country club here would be just about perfect. The veteran Scot, one-time national P. G. A. champion and holder of the British Open title, is fully recovered from illness which put him on his back last winter. He qualified handsily for the 1936 U. S. Open in the trials at Olympia Fields and says he's in shape to make as good a bid as he ever has for the open crown.

Native of St. Andrews. Just 32 years ago Hutchinson left St. Andrews, Scotland, for this country. He spent four years at St. Andrews club, Mt. Hope, N. Y., then went to the Allegheny Country club at Pittsburgh. He came to Chicago eight years later and through the last two decades has become one of the best known and best liked professionals in these parts. The three pro jobs were the JOCK HUTCHINSON only once he held in 32 years—something of a record for a journeyman professional. His tournament activity began in 1916 at Minikabba club, Minneapolis, where he was beaten two strokes for the open by Chick Evans. That same fall he lost the P. G. A. title by a stroke to Jim Barnes. In the semi-finals Jock beat the great Walter Hagen.

Start With The Putt At Inverness in 1920, he tied with Harry Vardon, Leo Diegel and Jack Burke for second place in the open, one stroke behind Ted Ral of England. This was followed by the first of two victories in the Western Open. A few months later he won the P. G. A. title and, in 1921, returning to England as a citizen of the United States, Jock won the British Open, winning in a playoff with the amateur Roger Wethered. Jock gained the tie which led to the title largely through a hole-in-one.

Hutchinson's advice to beginners is to start with the putt, then take up the chip, and then the long shots. If one starts with the drive, he says, the tendency is to kill the ball, putting too much body into the shot.

Like most of Oklahoma's amateur golfers, Billy Simpson, who took Walter Emery's place at the No. 2 position on the University of Oklahoma golf team this year, learned the game as a caddy.

E. Arthur In Main Bout Tonight

Canadian Meets Rough And Ready Jack Gorman

Jack Gorman, broad-shouldered grappling expert, will bend bones tonight with Ernie Arthur, stocky Canadian. The match will go two out of three falls and will have a two hour time limit.

It will be Gorman's second appearance in the Big Spring arena. He lost two straight falls in semi-final match here several weeks ago, but has taken the prescribed training course and expects to be in No. 1 physical condition for the tiff with Arthur.

Gorman is powerful but does very little scientific wrestling. He differs from a number of the other boys in that he does not try to hide his gouging and choking. The semi-final will be an interesting tussle between two old favorites—Tex Watkins and Ray Meyers. Watkins is a boastful, rough boy who charges in and provides plenty of action. Meyers prefers to wait for an opening but uses more science.

Ed Bows of Fort Worth, pilot for American Airlines, arrived Monday afternoon to join his wife, Mrs. Ed Bows, who is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Ellington. Bows was accompanied by Mrs. Duke Walker and daughter, Miss Sally Anne, also of Fort Worth, who will remain here for a visit.

Three years ago when he won the National Open championship at Chicago, Goodman used the same putter. He's warming it up now on the greens of the Omaha field club for this year's open tourney at Baltusrol, June 4-6.

He calls the putter "Never Out." If he called it "Always In," it would mean the same thing. "I have a lot of confidence in that stick," he explains. "For a while, I tried another putter, but it didn't seem to work just right." There's another club among the youthful Omahans' present formidable array of weapons that he's quite proud of. It's a pitching niblick, designed by Joe Kirkwood. Acquired three months ago, it proved its worth during the Mason-Dixon tourney, Johnny's most recent conquest.

Goodman says the niblick's usefulness comes in lifting the ball 50 to 100 yards out of a tough spot onto the green and stopping it dead where it lands. Once this club has lifted the ball out of the bad spot, his ancient putter will do the rest, Goodman says.

Crown For Prince STOCKHOLM, June 2 (AP)—Prince Gustaf Adolf has added the Swedish saber championship to many other sports crowns he has won. The 30-year-old eldest son of Sweden's crown prince is well known also as a daring and skillful horseman and a front-rank skier.

Chuck Says Left-Handed Hitters All Fail At Wrigley Field

CHICAGO, June 2 (AP)—Chuck Klein is back with his old club, the Philadelphia Phillies, but before the outfielder left the Chicago Cubs he let it be known that while he liked the Cubs—and still does—he has no craving ever to play ball in Wrigley field again as a steady diet.

"The Cubs will never get a left-handed hitter who will hit over .310 in Wrigley field—never," said Chuck before leaving. "I've said that before. And to prove it, the club is swinging back to a right-hand hitting lineup. In the old days the Cubs never had any southpaw hitters outside of Charlie Grimm and Cliff Heathcote."

The Cub park "jinx," a glance at the records shows, has scared other left-handed batters besides Mr. Klein. White shirts in the benches seemed to have their effect on the southpaws, whether it was real or imaginary. Babe Herman couldn't do any good and Klein didn't perform as expected. In the old days Stephen Cuyler and Hack Wilson were the powerhouse hitters—and all were right-handed sluggers. The addition of Ethan Allen gives Manager Grimm an outfield that will hit right-handed as a unit, save for Rookie Johnny Gill.

Once he almost told how old he is when questioned about his family, but he recovered quickly. "Can, I have a family," he said, "got a boy 28 years old, in fact—Atz grins. He usually gets a promise. Atz won't reveal his age. He jumps from an old baseball injury, giving the impression of more years than he actually carries. There was a twinkle in old Jackie's eye as he limped away.

PROMISES TO STICK WITH GAME

(By United Press) John Jacob Atz, known as "Jackie" during his 18 years as a Texas league manager, and for many more years as a player, is offering a "personal contact" campaign to recoup the fortunes of the tottering Galveston Buccaneers. It was a happy Jack Atz who returned to the Texas league Sunday to take over the managerial duties for the Bucs. He admitted he was so happy that he forgot to eat breakfast and spent most of the morning riding up and down the streets, waving to acquaintances.

Cast loose from baseball at the end of the 1934 season, during which he directed the Tulsa Oilers, Jackie vows he will not leave the game again. He was appointed manager of the Bucs by Roy J. Koehler, adding president of the Galveston club, to succeed Jack Mealey, who was suspended for improper conduct during a row with Houston fans.

Under the guidance of the veteran pilot, Galveston defeated the league-leading Houston Buffs in a home stand Sunday, 6-4. Atz talked to each batter before sending him to face Houston pitcher. "And say, we are going to start winning some ball games with this club," Jackie beamed. "Those fans are going to be pouring back into Moody stadium. Things are going to get fixed up."

Jackie had an armful of baseball paraphernalia when he landed in Galveston Sunday—sweat-shirt, sock, etc. But he didn't include a bat. "Ole Jackie ain't gonna take advantage of that lively ball," he confided. His new charges will do his bombarding.

Atz had the fever for winning ball games, for he remembers taking six consecutive pennants while with Fort Worth and packing away five out of six Dixie series back in the days when the Texas league had just stepped up to Class A ball.

Jackie believes that with a couple of changes in the club, the Bucs will be ready to bid for the first division. He isn't worried even though they are a dozen games behind the leaders.

Atz grins. He usually gets a promise. Atz won't reveal his age. He jumps from an old baseball injury, giving the impression of more years than he actually carries. Once he almost told how old he is when questioned about his family, but he recovered quickly.

Miss Trilby McGee And O. Frank Johnson Married Monday Evening

Culminating a romance that began when the two met in Mrs. Sallie Thomas' boarding house, Miss Trilby McGee and O. Frank Johnson were married Monday evening at Mrs. Thomas' with most of the boarders in attendance. Mrs. Thomas herself, attired in a purple crepe gown for the occasion, was the matron of honor.

The Rev. P. Walter Henckell, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church, who has frequented the dining room ever since his stay here, was the minister and read the double ring ceremony. Miss Edith Gay played the wedding march, and Sherman Tingle was the best man.

The bride, a stenographer at the Maytag company, has made her home with Mrs. Thomas for the past two years and was almost a daughter of the house. The groom had taken his meals there for the past year. She wore a frock of navy blue chiffon with white accessories and carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli, and he the conventional black.

Mrs. Johnson was graduated from the high school at Ranger in 1931 and attended John Tarlton for two years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. McGee who live on the Sinclair lease near Cosmons.

Johnson was reared by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Westerman, parents of Cecil Westerman who were present for the ceremony. He is employed at the Cosden refinery. The Johnsons have postponed their wedding trip until the Dallas Centennial exposition opens. They are making their home at Mrs. Thomas'.

Home Talent Play To Be Given At Knott

The play, "Here Comes Charlie" will be given at the Knott school house Wednesday night at 8:30. Proceeds will go to help send the students to the Centennial exposition at Dallas.

In the cast will be: Belle McNew, R. C. Thomas, Nodine Lane, Rip Bailey, Jud Harland, Mrs. Ray Smith, Dick Hatoh, Winona Bailey, Cleo Harland and R. V. Thomas.

Virginia Hilliard Is Graduated With Honors From Midland School

Virginia Hilliard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hilliard who moved to Midland last year, was graduated from the Midland high school this spring with two of the highest honors the school had to bestow.

One was the scholarship medal given to the pupil making the highest average in high school. The other was the medal for general excellence, an award open to all pupils between the fifth and 11th grades.

Three Local Girls Graduated From C.I.A. Yesterday

Three Big Spring girls received bachelor degrees from Texas State College for Women (C.I.A.) at the thirty-third annual commencement exercises held June 1. These girls include Misses Sadie Puckett, Mildred Shelton and Fette Seden. Approximately 240 students, the largest class in the history of the college, were awarded degrees. Mrs. Lee Joseph of Austin, a former member of the board of regents, gave the commencement address, and President L. H. Hubbard conferred the honors of graduation.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Westerman of Lamesa are visiting their son, Cecil, and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Edwards.

MONARCH!

Whoopie! (again)

We have been wanting to tell you, ever since we placed our order, about what a quality of fabric for you this month, but decided it would be better to wait until they arrived to tell you about them, to save you worrying about all of them being sold before you got yours. Well, we are going to list what we have already received, and don't mention what is to follow, but we are fixing you up this time to where you can enjoy the finest eats to be had at prices that are so reasonable for such quality that you will really be surprised and pleased. Hubby will want to increase your allowance after a thorough trial of some of these fine MONARCH brand foods. They are the best to be had.

FISHES

Delicious crab - meat, Tuna Fish and Mackerel, are the three we have for you now. For summer meals they cannot be beaten. No matter who your company is they will enjoy their visit if you serve any of these to them.

DRIED FRUITS

Santa Clara Prunes, to be cooked without soaking or sugaring; Blenheim Apricots, the very finest; and Mulr Peaches. Any one of the three fine enough for anyone.

CANNED FRUITS

Red Pitted Cherries; seedless spiced grapes; cocktail; and Salad - Cut pineapple, vacuum and cold packed, without a bit of fibre left in them. Three of the most delicious.

VEGETABLES

Monarch beets and Monarch Green Beans, as you perhaps already know have never been surpassed.

VARIOUS

Monarch Noodles; Pineapples; pineapple juice; gelatine; sweet mix pickles; sour onions; pepper; rub sage; and finally MINUTES - a very soft after-dinner mint, that can easily be dissolved to give your ice cream the finest of mint flavors.

We have bragged considerably just above here, but all we ask is a chance for you to let us prove what we have said. Afterwards, you will brag too.

CRYSTALIZED RAIL BLAMED FOR WRECK OF SANTA FE TRAIN

GUTHRIE, Okla., June 2. (UP)—Railroad officials today blamed a "crystalized" rail for the wreck of the crack Santa Fe passenger train, the Texas Ranger, at Cimarron river bridge, Saturday night which cost two lives.

The rail, officials said, probably cracked under the locomotive's weight and snapped when the passenger cars rolled over it. They gave Engineer Tom Roche credit for preventing great loss of life when he applied the brakes upon discovering his train was off the track.

Two cars, the tender and a baggage car, broke loose and four overturned. The baggage car rolled into the river, carrying Leonard F. Guiff, 28, Kansas City, and Raymond McNulty, 35, Guthrie, to death. It took seven hours to recover their bodies.

Other trainmen and 85 passengers suffered only minor hurts.

COTTON MEN HERE

J. H. Acton, district manager for Anderson, Clayton and company, cotton factors, with headquarters in Abilene, was a business visitor in Big Spring Tuesday. He was accompanied by Henry Nebhut, also of the same company. Acton succeeded Bill Andrews, who succumbed several weeks ago in Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mathews went to Wink Monday to visit relatives.

Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nell Lester, was reported resting well following a tonsil operation Saturday.

Miss Pat Lester, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lester, left yesterday for California where she will make her home.

Miss Evelyn Jackson has gone to San Angelo for the summer months.

AN EFFICIENT DEPARTMENT

So commonplace to Texans have become the vast, efficient operations of their state's highway department that many of its achievements pass without due public recognition.

The state highway department is one of the state's agencies that has for years ranked at the top from the standpoint of economy, efficiency and good results.

Particularly impressive has been the highway department's activity during this year. In addition to its regular highway building and maintenance program, it took on some added projects in preparing the state's roads for the benefit of Centennial year visitors.

The highway department has met the situation, and as a result Centennial visitors entering or leaving the state at almost any point will find uncommonly good roads which to travel to the celebration points.

No better example of the highway agency's work is to be found than right here in Howard county, where division 8 of the department, working at high speed, completed and threw open to traffic, nine miles of state highway 1, the roadway forming an important link in the gigantic system that will make traveling easy for Centennial visitors.

The job was to connect Howard county's two new overpasses with the surfaced highway. The job was tackled by the highway department itself in order to lose no time on advertising for bids and other routine.

On March 28, the department made an emergency appropriation to get the job done. Work orders were issued and the projects started on the same date.

The work called for speed, highly-g geared organization and efficiency as well as the usual care in highway construction. Howard county particularly has cause to doff its hat to the state highway organization and the state as a whole should be proud of a department that can establish and maintain such operations records.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff: If you need a reminder of how old you are, it's been 10 years since Gertrude Ederle swam the English Channel.

Willie Morris, the singer, is a girl. Arthur Byron, the actor, is a nephew of Ada Rehan, who won fame on the English stage 50 years ago as Lady Teazle in "The School for Scandal."

They say Jean Harlow has a photographic memory for names. If she talks with you five minutes she will remember you and be able to call your name five years later.

The return of Billy Rose from Texas to those amazing and sometimes quiet disconcerting offices of his on top of a 42nd street building revives perhaps the funniest of all his eccentric anecdotes.

"It was great sport," cried Billy, tossing his long black hair out of his eyes. "That was where I shot at some partridges and they shot right back at me."

"You mean," Rose exploded, "there is a heritage of success or failure to the man who wears these old clothes?"

"That's right," he was told. "Then for Holy Cats, let me get out of this shirt," gasped the horrified Billy.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By BREW FEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Chester Davis, diminutive, nervously cigarette-smoking administrator of the AAA, is now definitely out of the Roosevelt agricultural picture.

He is accepting $50,000 a year with Sears Roebuck chief editors of mail order goods to farmers. Davis' knowledge of farm problems and his prestige with the farmers, Sears Roebuck thinks, is worth that salary.

Behind all this is one of the most paradoxical hidden byplays in the new deal. Chester Davis, when he joined the AAA, was not an imposing figure. He was an assistant to George Peek, then chief administrator.

But General William I. Westervelt, ex-army officer, soon cropped up as the real executive. He pretty much ran Peek and the whole show. Davis was very much on the side-lines.

Liberal Aid: About that time, Jerome Frank, AAA legal counsel, Gardner Jackson of the consumer division, and other liberals, put their heads together to help Davis. They felt that General Westervelt was causing him completely out of the picture.

But Westervelt soon joined Sears Roebuck; George Peek resigned, and little Chester Davis proved capable of taking care of himself. He stepped up and up, finally became No. 1 man in the AAA.

And the minute he stepped into real power, Chester fired Jerome Frank, Gardner Jackson, and other liberals who had tried to help him. This purge of the AAA was the first incident to get Chester Davis in wrong with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Wallace remarked to close friends at the time: "Davis and Taggart don't mix. They can't get along together permanently. All I want to do is to keep them both working together long enough to tide things over."

The end of that period came last winter, upon passage of the new AAA bill. After that, Wallace went to the White House and asked for Chester Davis' scalp. He argued that Davis was too close to the meat packers, flour millers and other big processors.

Chender was sent abroad to give him a breathing spell. Simultaneously, General Westervelt, once considered the enemy of Davis, came to his rescue. He offered a $50,000 salary with Sears Roebuck.

Mr. Davis fell all over himself urging Chester to accept it. And he didn't need much urging. He was almost broke.

Davis is parting with the new deal on the best of terms, however, and will make speeches in the Midwest when needed.

Sears Roebuck now has the distinction of being chief haven for ousted new dealers. The roll call includes General Westervelt, Chester Davis, and General Johnson Hagood, who was penalized by the army for criticizing WPA.

A group of eastern republican leaders were out in Topoka the other day stung up Governor Landon. Among other things, they wanted to make sure that he was not too strong for social security.

"It's got the new deal stamp," they said, "and what's more, the supreme court is going to throw it out as unconstitutional."

"Some parts of it, yes," said Landon, "but other parts are constitutional, and must be kept."

They argued but got nowhere. "The system of federal grants to cooperating states is sound," Landon insisted, "and we might as well come out for it openly."

He showed a surprising acquaintance with the details of the social security act, also a genuine interest in the head of the social security board, John G. Winant, former republican governor of New Hampshire.

"What do you think Winant will do in this campaign?" Landon asked. "I think he'll go fishing," the eastern leader replied.

"I don't," said Landon. "I think he'll be out in the field and battling strong."

The GOP group came away feeling that Landon, if animated, might favor Winant as a vice-presidential running mate.

Chief weakness of such a team is that neither is an effective speaker. The Merry-Go-Round recently published an account of the social and economic views of Professor Thomas Nixon Carver, oldest member of the republican brain trust, in which he favored the artificial control of population and a semi-fascist program for the United States.

Some readers have inferred that Professor Carver's program had been or was to be definitely adopted by the republican national committee. This is not the case.

Professor Carver's views, expressed in the pamphlet which was published more than a year before he came into political prominence, also are held in part by some other members of the republican brain trust, but they have not been adopted by the republican party.

FDR Holding Up Attack On Republicans

GOP Setup Still Is Too Indefinite To Take Up Campaign Issues

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of AP Bureau, Washington) The prediction that President Roosevelt would compete with the republican national convention for publicity, and seek to blanket it, seems likely to qualify as the season's worst political guess. There were at least two good reasons, all the time, for being certain he would attempt no political bombarding in the speeches he was booked to make in the south and west during Cleveland convention week. One was that that hardly would be the time, when the republican picture was changing from day to day, to take up major campaign issues. It would be too much like shooting at a rapidly-moving target.

Chapter 12
DISAGREABLE DUTY
 "Since it was your own idea, Dirk said, 'I'd let it be a solution, but you'd have to pay your gambling debts. You might as well pay this one.'
 "Thanks," said Rupert. "I'll look after that end of it, if you don't mind. I suppose she's in the house. Ask her to come in here."
 Dirk urged him to wait.
 "A little later. Your head will be clearer, and the chances are you'll be shaved."
 "I'll talk to her now," said Rupert. His hand moved to the bell.
 "I'll tell her," Dirk agreed. The less the servants saw of this, the better.
 He went down the hall, and knocked at the tower-room. A voice made him enter, and he opened the door to see Hope standing beside the window. She wore the same black dress with the deep white collar. Her hair was smooth, not moist and curling as it had been last night. She looked small and elfish beside the immense furniture. Her eyes met his, and she waited.
 Dirk disliked his errand.
 "I watched for you at breakfast," he said. "But you had gone out."
 "To church," she said.
 "So Mary told me. I had been out to look for you. I thought you had run away."
 She smiled.
 "Where would I run?"
 "To the circus, I supposed. The circus is gone. Did you know?"
 "Yes. They are traveling south. I could have gone with them, of course. . . . Your brother—does he want to see me?"
 Dirk wondered if she had overheard their conversation. He glanced toward the door between the two rooms, a door that had been put in during his grandfather's final illness. It was of thinner, flatter structure than the other doors in Lowrie. It was closed, he noticed, and the bolt had been drawn.
 "As a matter of fact, he does," Dirk said. "I hope you won't mind going to him. He's not very well."
 She came over to him.
 "What's he going to do?"
 "I hardly know. He's talking of annulling. In that case, you have your rights."
 "Rights?"
 "You could make it difficult for him, if you wanted to. Publicity, and that sort of thing."
 She said in a low voice,
 "I wouldn't do that."
 "No, but he doesn't know you wouldn't. You have your rights, your monetary rights. He must pay for his prank."
 A light came into her eyes making them bright and eager. Her eyelids narrowed slightly. Dirk said at once,
 "Don't make settlement difficult. Publicity is your weapon and you can't afford to use it. If you make things too hard he may try to find something in your motives, in your life. It wouldn't be hard for him to find the circus."
 She admitted this.
 "At the same time, I want you to have justice. You married him in good faith, and he has no right to throw you out next morning. I'll be in the room while he talks to you; he'll keep me there as a witness. I'll stand where he can't see me, and if you can manage to look at me each time before you answer him, I'll try to convey to you—you must manage that all the proposals come from him. You are merely to accept or refuse. Understand?"

 Her eyes searched his.
 "You are siding against your brother," she said.
 "This is not a battle," Dirk informed her. "You came here to get a lawyer. You still need one. Do you understand my instructions?"
 Yes, she understood. She would try to follow them.
 "All right, then. Ready?"
 Rupert glanced at the girl as she entered. The hand holding his cigarette was unsteady. Dirk was closing the door, and Rupert said to him.
 "Leave us alone, please."
 Dirk, surprised, stood long enough to catch the girl's eye. He went then, leaving with her a reassuring smile. Her eyes continued to rest on the door when he had closed it. Rupert's voice called her back.
 "Won't you sit down?"
 She took a chair close to the door. Again he glanced at her, surprising revulsion in her eyes. He was conscious for a moment of his uncombed, unshaven state, aware too that he could not have looked much better last night. Why, then, had she married him? Or was she revolted look mere acting? . . . She was a brown, small pixie of a girl, a type he did not care for.
 "You realize," he said, "that I was not sane last night?"
 Rather surprisingly she answered,
 "Yes, I realize."
 "Then you realize, too," he added, "that it won't hold. What are your terms for getting out quietly?"
 She was silent.
 "You need money," he explained. "How much do you want?"
 She answered,
 "I need money, yes. And I think you should pay for . . . your prank. But I don't want to get out . . . quietly, or any other way. I want to stay here."
 "It's out of the question," said Rupert. "I'm talking about annullment."
 "I understand. You can have it annulled if you want to. It wasn't my idea to marry you, but I did it in good faith. And I went in and got my trunk. I'm all unpacked, and it will be hard to move right away."
 "You were rather sudden about getting your trunk, weren't you?"
 Who had told her to do that?
 "I think not. I had no idea that you intended to put me out. I suppose you don't know what it feels like not to have a home, and then suddenly to find one."
 "I suppose not," agreed Rupert. "But I believe you have a home. . . . elsewhere."
 "I had a home," she corrected. "I cut all ties when I came to New York. My father is a clergyman. . . . as I told you last night. . . . one of the old-fashioned sort. He wanted me to stay at home, and I wanted to go. I was here teaching music."
 "I see. My brother has looked into your story. I have no reason to question anything you say, even your statement that our so-called marriage was not your idea. But it's out of the question for you to stay here, pending the annullment."

or after it. If I give you money you can find a home. Suppose I pay you five thousand dollars."
 She looked at him, silent, gone rather pale. Apparently the sum spelled wealth to her. Rupert, who had been ready to bid for his freedom on an ascending scale, realized that he might have had it even more cheaply.
 "You agree," he said, "to leave, if I give you a check for that amount?"
 She agreed. "When may I have it?" she asked.
 He looked at his watch.
 "At four o'clock," he said. "I will come to your room then with a witness. I will give you the check in return for your written agreement."
 She rose, and Rupert, who had not sat down, opened the door for her.
 "I may stay tonight?" she asked. He agreed to that. After all, she could not cash the check until tomorrow.
 A gust of feminine voices ascended from the hall below. Dirk's voice responded. Callers, obviously. Rupert watched the girl go down the hall and disappear into the tower-room. Dirk had been right, he was thinking. Dirk had appeared oversollicitous about the girl—it was natural, of course, convinced as he was of her innocence—so he—Rupert—had shut him out.
 But Dirk had been right in his deductions, and obviously in his findings, too. The girl was respectable (Rupert's mind veered slightly from the word "decent") and inexperienced to the point of naivete. She would make no trouble.
 They would dispose of her, perhaps less expeditiously, but certainly as effectually, as one clears a stray cat out of the house.
 He must dress now, and drive in to town to look over the marriage record and bring Connolly back with him to witness the agreement. (Copyright, 1935, Margaret Bell Houston)

French Leader To Seek 40-Hr. Week

PARIS, June 1. (UP)—Hope of a 40-hour week was placed before thousands of French strikers today by Leon Blum, who is to become the first Socialist premier of France this week.
 Speaking at a Socialist congress, Blum said critics who talked of possible repercussions of a present strike "forget too quickly that the workers have just sent into office a government whose first act will be to ask for a 40-hour week."
 Armies of strikers holding metal factories in the Paris region dwindled today, but the government was disturbed by the prospect of a new wave of strikes Tuesday.
 Independent settlements, hastened by workers who want to enjoy a legal holiday tomorrow, left 8,000 weary strikers encamped in factories, hoping for a truce to permit evacuation.

PARAGUAY CHIEFS BRAND REPORTS OF REVOLUTION FALSE

ASUNCION, Paraguay, June 1. (UP)—Paraguayan officials said today reports of a counter-revolution against the government of President Rafael Franco, which came to power through an army revolt in February, were completely untrue.
 The whole country was reported officially to be absolutely quiet. Unconfirmed reports reached Buenos Aires, Argentina, that revolutionaries had risen in arms against the Franco government and were marching on Asuncion.
 One dispatch from Formosa, Argentina, to the Buenos Aires newspaper Noticias Graficas said a political crisis had developed, the leaders of the opposition to Franco being civilian and military friends of Gen. Jose Felix Estigarribia, Paraguayan commander in the Chaco war with Bolivia, who was detained by the new government. The Paraguayan government censors some outgoing news, but no indications had come directly from Asuncion of any outbreak.

Busy Week Ahead For Governor; To Open Centennial

AUSTIN, June 1. (UP)—A round of Centennial celebrations and commencement week activities climaxed by the opening of the central Centennial exposition Saturday at Dallas, will occupy Gov. James V. Allred this week.
 Last night the governor made the commencement address at Texas Christian university at Fort Worth. From there he went to the Panhandle to attend the Fannin Centennial celebration Tuesday morning, and to officiate at the opening of a new highway and attend a banquet at Childress tonight.
 He will be in Fort Worth again Wednesday for an all-states banquet that night and in Port Arthur Thursday to make the commencement address for the high school there.
 Friday Governor Allred hopes to spend in Austin, resting in preparation for the opening of the central Centennial exposition Saturday at Dallas.

Musical Numbers Presented At Luncheon Session Of Rotarians

Miss Edythe Dow Cordill, Big Spring's entry into the Frontier Centennial Beauty contest at Fort Worth, gave an interesting description of the manner in which entrants were judged in Fort Worth recently at Tuesday's Rotary luncheon held in Hotel Settles ballroom. Program was in charge of Joe Farr. Miss Cordill related the many thrilling experiences during the contest, and the wonderful treatment accorded by the people of Fort Worth during her stay there.

The Lubbock quartet, composed of Messrs. Burleson, Carson, Meek and Webb, with Mr. Snyder as accompanist, guests of Harley Sadler, "brought the house down" with their vocal selections, "Put On Your Old Grey Bonnet," "The Dying Cowboy," "I Know the Lord Laid His Hands On Me" and "The Woman in the Shoe." This musical organization, enroute to Dallas to make several appearances, is scheduled to sing this evening at the Lomax schoolhouse. They appeared in Stanton Monday evening.

Denver Crumpler, radio crooner, with Harley Sadler and his company, now appearing at the municipal auditorium, favored with two selections, with own guitar accompaniment, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and for an encore number, "Shut Your Eyes When You Dream of Me."

Robert Finer told the club of the International Rotary convention to be held in Atlantic City June 22-26. He stated the Texas delegation, including the Big Spring delegates, would leave Dallas June 17 on a special train.

Elmo Wasson reported the proceedings of the forty-first Rotary district convention held in Fort Worth last month.

Visiting Rotarians were W. E. Inman, Lubbock; Lloyd Withers, San Angelo; Randy Randerson, Abilene. Other visitors for the day were Harley Sadler, Messrs. Burleson, Carson, Meek, Webb and Snyder, Lubbock; Denver Crumpler, with Harley Sadler show; Miss Edythe Dow Cordill, Tom Beasley, Big Spring; Mr. Bates, Dallas.

Daughter Of Stanton Couple Dies Tuesday
Death claimed Wanda Allen Odum, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Odum, Stanton, at a local hospital Tuesday at 11:20 a. m.

An infection resulting from a mastoid infection caused her death. Besides her parents, she is survived by one brother, Robert Payne, 5, and Velma Dean, 1, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Minton, Tarrant, and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Odum, Tye.

Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist church in Stanton Wednesday at 11 a. m., with Rev. T. J. Ray in charge. Burial will be in the Evergreen cemetery.

PYEATT IS WINNER IN SALES CONTEST
R. C. Pyeatt, district representative of the Wichita Mills and Elevator company, returned Saturday from the General Mills convention in Oklahoma City with $125 in his pocket as the result of winning first place among all the General Mills salesmen of Texas and Oklahoma for the past twelve months' work.

Pyeatt's record was all the more outstanding since he had been with the company for only 11 months. The award was given for new customers only.

Edwin Rose, assistant to the agent in the union bus terminal here, has gone to Fort Worth for a two weeks vacation. Rose has been relieving agents on vacation at various points along the line for the past few months.

JUDGE FINDS SELF PREJUDICED, ORDERS MISTRIAL IN CASE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 2. (AP)—Federal Judge Edgar B. Vaught ordered a mistrial today in the prosecution of Carl Olson, former Oklahoma federal relief administrator, and three others charged with conspiracy.

The judge acted, he said, because of his own criticism in court yesterday of new deal spending was "unjustified and prejudicial."

berg (R-Mich) to return relief to the states, with the government contributing 75 per cent of the cost. It went down under a chorus of democratic noes, 37 to 14.

The skirmish was marked by a division between two republican presidential nomination possibilities, Senator Borah of Idaho and Vandenberg, as well as democratic chiding about another possible nominee—Governor Alf Landon of Kansas.

Senator Schwelienbach (D-Wash) called the attention of the republican senators to statements made by Landon—before he was prominently mentioned in the presidential race—favorable to the administration's relief efforts.

know what they are fighting for, and where to center their attacks, as they battle not only for the overthrow of the liquor traffic but of other evils as well in national and international life.

We are impelled to ask ourselves the question as to what was their chief source of strength and there came to us the conviction that lay in their reliance upon divine guidance and help. The devotional spirit which was present in all of the gatherings and the prominence of prayer were very noticeable. They invited to their platform men like Dr. Wm. Stidger, for the Sunday night address and Dr. S. D. Gordon of the series of books on "Quiet Talks" who addressed the gathering at its devotional period each noon. The rapt attention which they gave, especially during the devotional addresses of the latter speaker revealed the true spirit of the organization. Their trust is in God and it is this which is going to give them in the future as it has in the past, a power in the warfare which they wage that is bound to achieve great success. They are going places because they have competent leadership, high ideals, an unconquerable spirit and most of all, because they are looking to God for guidance and are keeping the channelway clear through which His power can flow out through them against the forces of evil.—The Christian Evangelist. Watch Re-appears After Two Years

D. F. Bigony, postal employe, has a watch he can't lose—permanently.

Today he had the watch back in his possession after it had been buried in a field for two years. Morris Wooten, plowing in Bigony's field north of here, unearthed the time piece. It was only slightly damaged and still in running order.

Once before Bigony lost the watch in a field only to have it subsequently turned up. He had it cleaned, a new crystal put in, and it kept perfect time.

He has had the watch in his possession—off and on—since he was 21 years of age.

Swimming, Golf Revenues Exceed City's Estimates

Revenues from the swimming pool and golf course will exceed estimates contained in the city's application which the FWA loan for the project was based.

This became apparent Tuesday with the disclosure that revenues last month amounted to $1,013.95 against an estimated $5,812.50 for the season. May, first full month of operation, was held back further because of early cold the forepart and inclement weather the latter part.

With warmer weather, both swimming and golfing tolls will increase, city officials predicted today.

EX-OFFICIAL BLAMED FOR 'BUDGET LEAK'

LONDON, June 2. (AP)—The budget tribunal announced today it found that J. H. Thomas, resigned colonial secretary, had disclosed secrets of the British budget prior to its publication in the house of commons.

The report stated there was unauthorized disclosure of budget information by Thomas and that use was made of it by two men for private gain.

The tribunal cleared Thomas' son, Leslie, of blame.

FINANCIER'S SON IS FOUND IN CHICAGO, 'MAKING OWN WAY'

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP)—The Daily Times in a copyright story said that William Webster Thello, 15, son of a New York financier, missing from his home since May 3, was found today living in an obscure hotel on Chicago's north side, making a living selling magazines.

"I was fed up on society life and decided to make my own way in the world," the boy was quoted as saying. The newspaper stated that the parents had been notified and were on the way here.

TREE SHELTERBELT PROJECT NEAR END

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP)—The great plains tree shelterbelt project will come to an end with the distribution of more than 60,000,000 trees now held by the federal government in nurseries throughout the area.

The conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill contained a $170,000 item to cover expenses of purchasing the trees and delivering them free to farmers.

Rep. Clarence Cannon, democrat, of Elsberry, Mo., member of the house conference committee, told the house the $170,000 appropriation, "disposes finally and completely of the entire shelterbelt project."

ODESSA STUDENTS VISIT FILM STUDIO

HOLLYWOOD, June 2. (AP)—Twenty-five Odessa, Tex., high school students, on a sight-seeing trip, visited a movie studio set (20th Century-Fox) Monday and were received by Shirley Temple, who is making "The Bowers Princess." Today the party, in charge of T. M. Rushing and M. H. Fly, Odessa school officials, and their wives, planned to go to San Diego to see the California Pacific International Exposition.

LIQUOR CANNOT STAND THE LIGHT OF TRUTH

THE STRENGTH OF THE W. C. T. U.

Anyone who underestimates the strength of the Women's Christian Temperance Union is very short sighted. It is a fine leadership, well conceived objectives, and ambitious programs of activity and an indomitable purpose to see this fight against liquor through to the very end. Attending some of the sessions of its recent gathering in Cleveland, where it celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of its founding in this city we were more strongly impressed than ever before with its power. She was given emergency treatment at the Big Spring Hospital for a severe laceration on the left arm.

THIS MAKES LAXATIVE PLEASANT TO TAKE

People who know Fes-a-mint don't have to "talk themselves" into taking a laxative when they know they need it. They like Fes-a-mint, the delightful chewing gum laxative. For just as soon as you start chewing Fes-a-mint, its stomach-settling mint brings a clean, fresh taste to the mouth. As you chew out the laxative ingredient which is absolutely tasteless, the flow of digestive juices is increased. The laxative is mixed with them and carried into the system gently. Fes-a-mint doesn't grip, nauseate or cause upset, and it is non-habit-forming. It passes through the stomach and into the bowels so scientifically that your action is wonderfully easy and thorough. Try the pleasant, refreshing Fes-a-mint way the next time you need a laxative. Doctors prescribe its laxative ingredient for both children and adults. Sold on money-back guarantee. Generous family size package 10c and 25c.
