

Truman Heads Home After A Rousing Sendoff

EN ROUTE TO INDEPENDENCE, MO., WITH TRUMAN, Harry S. Truman, President of the United States, took the long trip home today. After nearly eight years as the head of a great government, he headed for Missouri in the role of "Mr. Truman, private citizen."

California Cowboy And The President

And alone with Mrs. Truman in the splendor of the private railroad car in which he had stormed the country in many a fiery campaign trip, he had opportunity to reflect again upon an eventful career and take thought of the future.

For Harry Truman, despite his 68 years, has made clear that he will be a man to reckon with in the years ahead. His emotions were stirred, as they have seldom been stirred before, by the sendoff he got at Washington last night at the end of a trying day in which he surrendered the presidency to Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Hundreds of cheering Democratic followers thronged around the rear platform of the presidential car which Eisenhower had placed at his predecessor's disposal. District of Columbia Commissioner F. Joseph Donahue described Truman as "the greatest friend" of "little people all over the world."

An obvious lump in his throat, the gray-haired Truman, his wife and daughter by his side, responded that "in all my career, and it has been a long one, I've never had an experience like this." "This is the first time I've had the experience of being sent home in a blaze of glory," he went on. "I'll never forget this if I live to be a hundred—and that's what I expect to do."

For more than 30 minutes, people climbed aboard the car to pump his hand, tell him goodbye and wish him luck and predict that the Democrats again will be restored to power.

Democratic senators, the outgoing Cabinet, government workers and all sorts of people passed through the receiving line in such numbers that the Baltimore & Ohio's National Limited pulled out of Union Station seven minutes late.

Truman is due in Independence, Mo., tonight for a hometown welcome. Meanwhile, his long-time secretary, Matthew J. Connelly, is flying to Kansas City from Washington.

Food Supply Runs Low In Flood Areas

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Two small mountain communities in Northern California are nearing the end of their food supply after floods and slides cut off their contact with the outside world. A three-day supply is left in Sawyers Bar and Forks of Salmon in the Trinity Alps of Siskiyou County.

County engineers said all available snow tractors would be used to haul in supplies over the mountains. Men will carry the supplies when the tractors can go no farther.

Relief expeditions are underway to many other communities isolated by the storm in the Yreka, Calif., area. Pacific Area Red Cross headquarters here said spot checks showed 740 families—2,500 to 3,000 people—were routed from their homes by rising water from the week-end storm. A spokesman said 514 families have been unable to return.

The storm-lagued Oregon coast was hit by a tornado yesterday which ripped off roofs and shattered windows.

County Officials To Attend Austin Meet

Three Howard County officials were to have left for Austin today for a Thursday conference with the State Highway Commission. The officials are County Judge R. H. Weaver and Commissioners Ralph Proctor and Pete Thomas.

The three men will propose that the road from the Snyder highway north through Vincent and on to the Borden County line be made a farm-to-market road or a state highway.

The road at the present time is gravel, and Judge Weaver said the conference is to see about paving the roadway. The conference is slated at 10 a.m. Thursday.

THE WEATHER

Sewage Lift Station Contract Is Awarded To Midland Firm

Contract for construction of Big Spring's first sewage lift station Tuesday was awarded the T&L Construction Company of Midland. The firm's bid of $4,900 was about 28 per cent lower than three others submitted. Contractor promised to start the project in 10 days after work order is issued and to complete the station in 30 working days.

Other bidders were R. P. Phillips Construction Company of San Angelo, Capitol Construction Company of Hobbs, N. M., and A. P. Kasch & Sons of Big Spring. The lift station will be constructed in northwest Big Spring and will make sewer service available to the lowlands area along the extreme western edge of the city.

Primarily, it will serve the 42-unit defense rental housing project for Negroes in the Banks Addition, but will also make sewer available to a considerable area of undeveloped property in the area.

County Judge R. H. Weaver ordered a writ of possession made out to the city today on a 50-foot square in northwest Big Spring for construction of a sewage lift station.

He also ordered that Preston Denton, administrator of the Denton estate, be awarded damages of $675 for the land. The orders follow condemnation proceedings filed by the city in December.

Elsewhere on the residential development front commissioners worried for an hour or more over drainage problems posed by plat of Stanford Park Addition, then postponed for the second time approval of the layout.

Principal question, raised by Commissioner Cecil D. McDonald was whether the addition would shed more water on to Circle Drive, a street which McDonald said already receives more floodwater than it can handle. In the end, commissioners decided City Engineer Clifton N. Bellamy should make an exhaustive study of the present situation and consequences of development as proposed.

They said his recommendation will guide them in either giving approval or proposing changes in the plat.

Bellamy said he would need flood control data now being compiled by Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, consulting engineers, to formulate a recommendation in the matter.

Otis Grafa, who with Pat Stanford submitted the proposed plat, asked for speedy approval so work can start on excavation and fill-work in the area. Commissioners said they will be willing to reconsider the development at a called meeting as soon as the engineer's recommendation is made.

Stanford Park, a 35-acre addition, is proposed for land Grafa purchased last year from Howard, Martin, Midland and Ector Counties. It is situated east of Settles Street and north of Stadium Avenue.

Mayor was authorized to sign quit-claim deeds to a small strip of land between properties owned by Harold Steck and Obie Bristow. The city several years ago offered the land to the two property owners in exchange for paving they paid for.

Tax adjustment requested by John Stanley was okayed after commissioners learned Stanley had mistakenly turned in both real estate and personal property returns for a small rent house. Payment of taxes, credited to the personal property listing, was transferred to the real estate rendition. The personal property rendition was erased as duplicating the other.

Japs Report Seeing Soviets Down US Planes

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese fishermen said today they saw Russian fighter planes and ground guns shoot down a U. S. B29 Superfort last Oct. 7 off Northern Japan. One fisherman said he saw two Russian fighter planes chase the B29, heard gunfire and then: "Black smoke started to stream from the American plane and it crashed into the sea at a tremendous speed."

The fishermen gave their accounts to Japanese reporters at Nemuro on the Northern Island of Hokkaido. Three fishing craft with 23 crewmen were released after six months of hard labor on the Russian-held island of Yuri near Hokkaido. They had been seized for allegedly poaching in Russian waters.

The accounts they gave varied in some detail but most said they saw two Soviet fighters chase a B29 while they were fishing under Soviet orders.

The fishermen said Soviet soldiers guarding them immediately ordered the fishing boats back to Yuri, where they were put under confinement. They made no mention of sighting any parachutes from the B29.

The U. S. government hotly protested the incident to Russia, demanded compensation for the "wanton and unjustifiable attack" and warned of possible grave consequences from the "reckless practice."

Yoshio Miyahara, 35, said he and 15 other Japanese prisoners saw a Russian plane dive at the Superfort and "fire furiously." Moments earlier he had seen a single-engine plane and a four-engine aircraft flying side by side.

The single-engine plane suddenly went into a dive, its guns firing. The four-engine plane, he said, faltered and began to lose altitude, leaving a trail of smoke. It disappeared behind a hill.

Miyahara's account made no mention of a second Russian fighter nor did he say anything of ground fire.

It was pointed out that the city already provides $750 per year to the city-school-YMCA summer program and that supervised recreation was conducted on the north-side last year.

Cost of adding one policeman to the police force is about $4,000 per year, while two policemen and a patrol car, exclusive of operating expenses, will cost the city approximately $10,000 per year, the city manager said.

In effect, action Tuesday authorized addition of two officers as well as the patrol car, but the department already was operating temporarily with one man above the number provided for in the 1952-53 budget.

Counting technical aide, clerk and three radio operators, the police department will consist of 25 workers after employment of the additional officer.

The commission okayed the plan as a temporary measure to provide more policing for the northside until possibly more extensive expansion can be provided in the 1953-54 city budget which will become effective April 1.

Police Department Expansion Okayed

Immediate expansion of the police department to provide constant nighttime patrol of the northside was authorized Tuesday by city commissioners.

The commission okayed recommendation of Chief E. W. York and City Manager H. W. Whitney that one additional patrol car be put in service and another patrolman be added to the police force.

This will enable the department to keep a patrol car constantly on the northside from about 9 p. m. to daylight, the city manager said. He and York also plan revision of the present patrol schedule so that one police car will cover the section of the city south of the railroad and west of Main Street, and another will patrol the area east of Main and south of the railroad, while the department's fourth vehicle will follow a "roving patrol" pattern covering the entire city.

Shift changes also will be arranged so that all officers won't congregate at the police station to meet their relief.

The commission okayed the plan as a temporary measure to provide more policing for the northside until possibly more extensive expansion can be provided in the 1953-54 city budget which will become effective April 1.

The action came after a delegation of northside residents, led by Hosea Banks and Francisco Garcia Salazar, petitioned commissioners last week for additional police protection. The delegation returned yesterday to push their request that Negro or Spanish-American patrolman be added to the force.

Commissioners told the group choice of police personnel remains in the hands of Chief York.

Also present for the meeting was R. W. Whipkey who suggested that the city, school and YMCA consider advisability of enlarging their cooperative summer recreation program, particularly on the northside, as a means of alleviating the wave of petty thievery that has swept the city in recent months.

"A little prevention might be better than a cure," he said. Whipkey, publisher of The Herald, said he was expressing opinion of numerous citizens who have made their feelings known to the newspaper. Many believe that rotating cluster was spotted by two fighter pilots and was tracked on radar.

The sightings occurred over the frozen, ice-locked reaches of northern Japan, a land tense with continued air harassment by near-flying Russian fighter planes.

Russian territory in the Kurile Islands is only 4 1/2 miles northeast of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

The Russian island of Sakhalin is only 30 miles north of Hokkaido. The Reds have dozens of air bases on Sakhalin and the Kuriles.

Mysterious Flying Objects Sighted Over North Japan

A U. S. AIR BASE, Northern Japan, Jan. 21 (AP)—Mysterious flying objects—"rotating clusters of red, white and green lights"—have been sighted over northern Japan by American airmen, the Air Force disclosed tonight.

Intelligence reports placed the sightings close to Russian territory in the Kurile Islands and Sakhalin. They added: "There are too many indications of the presence of something... to be considered an observation of nothing." And they discounted the possibility the sighted objects were mere "reflections of light."

Col. Curtis R. Low, commander of the northern division of the Japan Air Defense Force, said the flying clusters were seen by fighter pilots and ground personnel and were tracked on radar.

The official reports he released were similar to those describing "flying saucers" in the U. S. One said the lights appeared to hang motionless at times and at other times disappeared with blinding speed.

Col. Donald J. M. Blakeslee, World War II ace and commander of an escort fighter wing, took detailed observations on one rotating cluster and tried in vain to intercept it in a jet.

Sightings were made by many persons at many points over northern Japan Dec. 29. On Jan. 9, a rotating cluster was spotted by two fighter pilots and was tracked on radar.

The sightings occurred over the frozen, ice-locked reaches of northern Japan, a land tense with continued air harassment by near-flying Russian fighter planes.

Russian territory in the Kurile Islands is only 4 1/2 miles northeast of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

The Russian island of Sakhalin is only 30 miles north of Hokkaido. The Reds have dozens of air bases on Sakhalin and the Kuriles.

The intelligence report said Blakeslee, Fairport Harbor, O., sighted a mysterious object twice on a night flight Dec. 29. The report said Blakeslee closed on the object after extinguishing all the lights on his aircraft "to make certain he was not getting some reflection from his canopy surface. When all lights were off, he noticed no change in the appearance or brilliance of the object and its color scheme."

The object increased speed and vanished in 30 seconds. Blakeslee made a second approach, five minutes later, with all lights on. This time the object disappeared in five seconds.

The report pointed out that Blakeslee, not knowing the size of the object, had no way of knowing how close he got to it.

High Court Rules Against CRMWD

District Injunction On Martin Voided

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Supreme Court today struck down the Colorado River Municipal Water District's injunction against operation of the Martin County Water District.

The Colorado River District's "delay of seven months in filing the suit was unreasonable," said the majority opinion by Chief Justice John E. Hickman. Associate Justice Graham B. Smedley dissented.

The Colorado River District brought suit after the Martin County District adopted regulations cutting off much of the water supply of wells in the county which the CRMWD planned to use to supply the cities of Odessa and Big Spring.

Dist. Judge Jack Roberts had ruled here last March 22 that an order of the State Board of Water Engineers defining the Martin County District's boundaries was not reasonably supported by substantial evidence. The case was appealed directly to the Supreme Court.

The high court, however, said its opinion should not be construed as holding by implication that the board's order was not reasonably supported by substantial evidence. Had the appellees (CRMWD) filed their suit in time they would have obtained the relief sought."

The majority opinion apparently left the road open for the Colorado River Municipal Water District to continue its contest on other grounds.

Justice Hickman's opinion said: "The section of the statute under which this suit was filed provides for the bringing of two classes of suits—one attacking orders of the board which must be brought in Travis County, and the other attacking the order or rules or regulations of the district, which must be brought in the county in which the district or a part thereof is located."

"The Martin County District filed a plea to the jurisdiction of that part of appellees' (CRMWD) petition which attacked the validity of the rules and regulations."

"The trial court sustained that plea in so far as it constituted an independent ground of recovery, without prejudice however to their right to file suit in Martin County, but enjoined the enforcement of the rules and regulations not on the ground that they were unreasonable or confiscatory, but on the ground that the order of the board creating the subdivision was invalid."

"If appellees (CRMWD) are dissatisfied with those rules and regulations and desire to test their validity, this suit will constitute no bar to their right to do so."

Justice Smedley contended the Supreme Court had no jurisdiction over the lawsuit on direct appeal. He said further he felt "all these reasons" presented by CRMWD in its motion to dismiss the appeal were sound.

"The right of direct appeal is narrowly defined in the Constitution and statute and in the rule, and it ought to be kept within narrow bounds," Smedley argued.

"The Supreme Court is a court of limited jurisdiction, and it should remain so."

"My conviction is even stronger that the opinion of the majority is erroneous in its decision that this case is governed by the substantial evidence rule. . . . The opinion of the majority. . . enters well into the forbidden realm of judicial legislation."

E. V. Spence, general manager, reiterated part of a statement he had made in March when a District Court in Travis County had granted the CRMWD an injunction. In this he had said that the "CRMWD is committed to a sound and conservative production and utilization of water. We want to work in good faith and understanding in an orderly development so all will receive the maximum benefits."

Only information concerning the details of the opinion here was in press accounts. In Stanton, County Judge James McMorris, who had been active in the creation of the Martin County Water District and in litigation which followed, said that he did not feel the decision answered any particular legal points in the questions involved. He expressed satisfaction that the high court upheld the Martin district's contention and said that whatever moves were made now would be strictly to those who comprise the district.

325 Rebellious Felons Refuse To Quit Riot

By LEONARD UNGER BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 21 (AP)—Shouting defiance, some 325 rebellious convicts again spurned surrender ultimatums today in their barricaded cellblock at the Rockview State Penitentiary and refused to release six guards held as hostages until their "grievances" are honored.

It was the third day of their surprise insurrection. Last night 400 of Rockview's prisoners capitulated to a demand for Gov. John S. Fine who warned that additional jail sentences would be given to every man who continues to defy authority.

The newest rejection of the state's efforts to bring peace to the prison came in a yelling exchange between Deputy Atty.-Gen. Edward Friedman, standing on the ground outside Cellblock "A" and the convict leader who peered out barred windows 30 feet above.

Friedman sought to negotiate a surrender of the convict rebels who launched the rioting Monday night. During the rioting, hundreds of mattresses have been burned and plumbing and other fixtures have been ripped off walls and thrown out cell windows.

Friedman said the convicts must first release the hostages and throw out seven guns before a settlement would be discussed.

The prisoners who gave in to an ultimatum by Gov. John S. Fine last night make up the 400-odd convicts in two other cell blocks which joined the riot after the first outbreak. They held no hostages and were not armed, but burned mattresses and other articles causing damage estimated by prison officials as running into the thousands of dollars.

Their surrender came two hours after the main cell block group shouted a defiant "No" to Fine's ultimatum and fired two shots while dousing the electric lights in the block.

Deputy Warden H. R. Johnston said early today: "There will be a complete shakedown today of all men in Blocks C and B (the two that surrendered). You can't tell what they picked up, in the way of weapons, broken glass and so forth."

For the Cell Block A prisoners the outlook was uncertain. Fine's ultimatum ordered them to surrender their hostages and throw out their guns or face the threat of extended prison sentences.

The ultimatum was shouted to the prisoners by State Atty. Gen. Robert E. Woodside. It said no reprisals would be taken if the men surrendered before the 7 p.m. deadline last night.

After the deadline had passed and it became apparent that Cell Block A inmates intended to hold out, Welfare Secretary William C. Brown said the guarantee of no reprisals had expired and the remaining rebels now stood to receive extensions of their sentences for the riot.

After Brown's statement, a spokesman for the prisoners in Cell Block A shouted, "We're bedded down for the night. We'll think it over and give you our answer between 8 and 9 tomorrow morning."

The spokesman also volunteered the information that the captive guards were in good health and had already gone to sleep for the night. He said nothing about the gunfire.

Local Officials In Austin For Hearing On Gas Limitation

Mayor G. W. Dabney, City Manager H. W. Whitney and Champ Rainwater, district manager for Empire Southern Gas Company, were in Austin today to protest limitation of gas production in ESCG fields in Andrews County.

A Texas Railroad Commission hearing was set for 3:30 p. m. on proposal for limiting gas production in the field to the quantity of oil produced. Rainwater said the limitation would cost Empire Southern about two thirds of the gas it produced for distribution in the Big Spring area.

Eisenhower Wastes Little Time In Tackling Business

By STERLING F. GREEN WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Problems of the presidency began crowding in upon Dwight D. Eisenhower today before he scarcely had a chance to draw a long breath after the inauguration whirl.

First was whether he could get Senate approval for Charles E. Wilson to be his defense secretary. The White House said Eisenhower still intends to nominate Wilson.

The situation presumably was the subject of an 8 a.m. conference the President had with his Atty. - Gen. - designate, Herbert Brownell Jr.

But other matters were pressing in and got discussion from James Hagerly, White House press secretary, in a meeting with newsmen. Hagerly told them:

1. Eisenhower intends to hold regular news conferences in the question-and-answer style followed in the Truman administration.

2. The President is thinking, too, of making regular reports to the country by television and radio.

3. The time for Eisenhower's State of the Union message will be decided at a meeting of the President with congressional leaders. No date for the conference has been set.

4. Eisenhower has not yet been briefed on the appeal of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted spies, for commutation of their death sentences.

5. There is nothing to announce at this time on the question of off-shore oil lands. One of Truman's last major acts was to declare this oil to be a naval reserve. States which claim the oil hope Eisenhower will reverse Truman's order.

Hagerly said about all he could say was that Eisenhower does annual Truman's order. Eisenhower's own executive order will be announced when it is ready. He said this did not mean Eisenhower would or would not issue such an order.

Invention

Ross Boykin lowers a TV antenna, left picture, using a new device he has developed which enables one man to lay a 50-foot antenna on the ground in one minute. Above, he grasps the antenna as the pole swings about eight or nine feet above the ground. Boykin believes his apparatus is sturdy enough to withstand West Texas breezes and will facilitate servicing and repairs for TV owners.

TV Is A Stimulant To Inventive Mind

The television bug has stimulated the inventive genius of Ross Boykin, local oil field contractor.

He has come up with a support for TV antennae that already has proved sturdy in West Texas breezes and promises to simplify service problems.

With the Boykin-made equipment, a 50-foot antenna can be laid on the ground with a minimum of effort in approximately one minute. Furthermore, one man can manipulate the apparatus.

Boykin, who with his brother, Zollie Boykin, operates a contracting firm here, got the idea from his experience and observation in rig-building shortly after some of his friends began installing TV sets.

The equipment consists primarily of a base standard, which, in turn, supports a 41-foot pole which Boykin himself constructs, using three different sizes of tubing. The first section of the tubing is three-inch pipe, reinforced with two-and-a-half-inch pipe. The two-and-a-half-inch section then extends to comprise the next segment. The size of the tubing diminishes to two inches for the top section.

This is coupled to the base standard about seven feet above the ground. The coupling is a single large bolt that serves as a hinge. A cable connected to the foot of the pipe is attached to a hand winch near the bottom of the base standard.

The pole itself is reinforced with three truss wires, which eliminate vibration and swaying in the wind.

By disengaging the foot of the pole from the base and turning the small hand winch, one man can lower the antenna within a matter of seconds. One individual also can raise it again with little more effort.

Since more TV antennae are about 10 feet in length, the usual height from bottom to top on one of the Boykin installations is 51 feet.

Boykin already has installed several of the poles, including one at his home, 101 Jefferson, and has several more under construction, all of which have been ordered by TV owners. He also has applied for a patent on some structural details of the device, and if demands continue he plans to step up the pace of production.

"I don't know that my equipment will provide any better TV reception than other types, but I do believe it is practical for West Texas and it makes servicing and repairing easier," Boykin said.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Doesn't Approve Demerit System

Dear Editor:

I think the grading system in our schools should be changed.

In my opinion the demerit system being used in our junior and senior schools as a means of discipline is not accomplishing the purpose for which it was intended. According to the information I have the demerit is supposed to be given for unexcused absence. Each demerit spoils off each grade. That is good so far. I do not believe very many students want to receive credit for work they have not done. I believe there are several questions that need to be looked into by us, the parents, the Board of Education and students.

(1) What is unexcused absence? If a student has a parent's permission, should that be unexcused or excused? Not many parents will allow their children to stay out of school very often.

(2) If a student comes home at lunch and does not return for the afternoon session, is that "hooky" or half-day absence?

(3) Is the demerit being given to some and others do the same thing and receive just a reprimand by the room teacher, or is demerit supposed to be given by the principal? If so, is the demerit system being abused by misuse?

These are only a few questions that have come to my attention, either by experience or by some concerned parent.

I am interested only in the welfare and education of our children, spiritual, mental and physical. I have no desire to put a hardship on anyone, especially our teachers, as they are very important in the building and helping to retain Our American Way of Life.

I would like to hear from anyone interested or that doesn't understand this policy. I would like to hear from parents, teachers, students or any person interested in the progress and the betterment of our schools.

Avalanche Takes Care Of Avalanche Research Station

ALTA, Utah (AP)—The only avalanche research station in the U. S. was without scientific equipment today—due to an avalanche.

Ranger Montgomery M. Atwater of the U. S. Forest Service, which operates the research station at this resort in the mountains near Salt Lake City, said two snowslides on Flagstaff and Cardiff Mountains buried the installation's instrument tower and equipment under tons of snow, brush and debris.

"Our research installation has been set back 10 years," Montgomery said.

Additional Leases To Be Negotiated For Permian Building

Milton H. Mathews, Fort Worth, representing Gus M. Cooley and Associates, is in Big Spring this week to negotiate additional leases for office space in the Permian Building.

He also will make arrangements to complete floor plans for space already leased so that construction work can proceed according to schedule.

Workers now are in the process of placing steel for basement walls and foundation of the Permian Building. All necessary steel is on the site and concrete will be poured to ground level on Jan. 28, barring inclement weather.

Mathews is residing at the Settles Hotel. He may be contacted through the Chamber of Commerce or at the building site, Second and Scurry.

Ike Apparently Rules Out Any Radical New Strategy In Korea

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The basic principles set up by President Eisenhower to guide his administration appeared today to rule out, at least in the immediate future, any radical new strategy for United Nations forces in the Korean War.

His emphasis on the dangers to be found in repeated stress on the need for unity among the free nations seemed to offer this reassurance to uneasy Allied governments.

These governments, particularly those of allied Western European nations, became concerned about the policies of an Eisenhower administration last fall when Republican campaign orators made an issue of ending the Korean War. There was apprehension that the U. S. under Eisenhower might undertake moves which would lead to a broadening of the war.

Similarly there has been concern abroad about a policy of "liberation" for Russian satellite countries. Incoming Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has recently reaffirmed intention to develop such a policy, using moral and political pressures.

Eisenhower did not spell out in his inaugural address how he intends to tackle either the Korean stalemate, the liberation policy problem or any other specific issue of foreign policy. He did make clear, however, that he intends to do all in his power to preserve and develop the unity of Allied nations and of the whole free world.

"The strength of all free peoples lies in unity," he declared, "their danger in discord." He said the U. S. has the responsibility of leadership to develop this unity and, speaking as directly as he could to friendly foreign governments and peoples, he assured them:

"We Americans know and observe the difference between world leadership and imperialism; between firmness and truculence; between a thoughtfully calculated goal and spasmodic reaction to the stimulus of emergencies."

New U. S. proposals for dealing with Korea evidently will have to be formulated in the next few weeks. The problem was given top priority by Eisenhower during the campaign. Furthermore the United Nations General Assembly is to reassemble in New York Feb. 24. It is that meeting the U. S. is due to seek adoption of a resolution dealing with the rejection by Russia and Red China last month of a General Assembly appeal for them to end the fighting on terms which would provide for voluntary repatriation of prisoners.

There has been some speculation that Eisenhower's strategy for dealing with the Korean War might include such measures as a new offensive aimed at forcing an armistice and some kind of blockade—economic or naval—of China. It could also be proposed that the U. N. ask all members which have recognized Red China to withdraw recognition.

Britain's attitude of caution about doing anything drastic was most recently expressed publicly by Prime Minister Churchill when he came to the U. S. early this month to confer with Eisenhower. He said nobody likes a stalemate "but there are worse things than a stalemate." American practice has been to keep the governments with troops in Korea informed of all plans in running the war. This has been done through a committee of ambassadors meeting two or three times a week at the State Department.

o Renew the Spirit that Built Our Country

HAVE FAITH

In God In Ourselves In Our Fellow Men In Freedom

IN THE FAITH WE PLACE IN GOD... in ourselves as individuals... in our fellow men and... in Freedom—rests the future of our nation!

The faith of our country's founders was a sturdy and simple faith.

They believed in the Power which sustains through any crisis. Upheld and guided by that Power, they believed in their own strength to do: to achieve, to build.

And, thus sustained and fortified, they believed that Freedom was more than an abstract dream: they made it an accomplished fact.

This Freedom is our children's birthright—ours to hand on to them and to their children—undiminished, undespooled.

This is a sacred trust—one in which we must not fail.

Yet these are troubled times. What can we do?

We can do as those before us did... renew the spirit that built our country.

We need... Faith in God, Who answers prayer... Faith in ourselves, and in our work... Faith in our fellow men, their courage and their honesty... Faith in Freedom... and in its strength!

When we have done these things—and only then—can we be secure in the knowledge that our children will be free and our country safe.

We must not fail.

From Solemnity To Gaiety — That's The Inaugural Story

By ED CREAUGH
 WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a symbol and a clashing of cymbals. It was an extravaganza and a prayer.
 It was part Mardi Gras, part Saturday night at the country club, part old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, part a simple appeal for Divine blessing.
 It was a little bit of everything that's America—a husbandly peck on the cheek for Mamie Eisenhower, a cowboy's lasso flipped around her soldier-President, a sassy display of bare-timbed high school cuties, a doleful chorus of "Auld Lang Syne" for a man going home to Missouri.
 All this and much more—that was Washington on "I-Day."
 The "I" stands for both "inauguration" and for "Ike."
 It had its solemn moments. Dwight Eisenhower saw to that. He broke precedent by opening his inaugural address with a prayer, one he'd composed himself in the silence of the awesome morning before his formal elevation to the highest office in the land.

 Then—
 The Inaugural Parade. Blaring bands, whooping Indians, prancing drum majorettes, glittering floats, West Point cadets and Annapolis midshipmen marching with machine precision.
 Yes—and elephants, a dog team from Alaska, an atomic cannon, a George Washington, an Abe Lincoln—name it and chances are you could find it in the confetti-strewn parade that filed up Pennsylvania Avenue with a new President of the United States at its head.
 Eisenhower rode from the Capitol, scene of his inauguration, to the White House in a gleaming white open car. His wife rode at his side. That, too, was a break with tradition — past presidents have had their vice presidents alongside them, with the women bringing up to the rear.
 Mamie Eisenhower had the time of her life.
 She spotted in a hotel room window a single spectator, feet on windowsill, a bottle tilted to his lips. Laughing, she tugged at the coattails of her standing, waving husband.
 But he roared with laughter when, after he was seated in the presidential reviewing stand, six pretty girls rolled past in Missouri's "Gateway to the West" float—wearing fur coats.
 "Mink coats!" The cry went up from spectators—recalling the corruption scandals attributed to the administration which had passed into history a few hours before.

 When the Trumans left town, at 6:35 p.m., the Eisenhowers still were gamely reviewing a parade which was supposed to last three hours and eventually lasted more than five. It was 7 p.m. before the last unit rolled past and the new President and first lady were free to enter their new home, have dinner and dress for the Inaugural Ball.
 Police finally put the I-Day crowd at 750,000 — two-thirds of them from out of town. The majority headed for home last night, jamming trains, buses, planes and highways. There were sore feet and upset stomachs aplenty today.
 There was the memory, too, of an unforgettable event.

Woman Doctor Gets Medal From Russians

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has given one of its highest decorations—the Order of Lenin—to a woman doctor it says helped expose the nine physicians previously accused of plotting to kill top Soviet leaders.
 All Moscow newspapers today carried an announcement of the award to Lidiya Fedoseevna Timashuk "for assistance given the government in the matter of exposing doctor-assassins x x x."

Filibuster Ends; Confidence Vote Given To De Gasperi

ROME (AP)—The longest filibuster in Italian parliamentary history ended early today with a steamroller vote of confidence in Premier Alcide de Gasperi's anti-Communist government and approval of the election change his regime demanded.
 Certain of defeat, the Communists and their Socialist allies finally walked out of the parliamentary chamber after seven weeks of debate punctuated by frequent fist-fights in Parliament and strikes outside.
 The remaining deputies quickly gave the Premier's Christian Democrat Cabinet a 330-25 vote of confidence. Then they approved, by a vote of 332-17, his new election law which allots 65 per cent of Parliament's seats to any party winning 51.1 per cent of the vote in next spring's general election. It goes now to the Senate.

 The deputies had been in session for 69 hours when the hoarse, bleary-eyed Communists gave up and walked out. With the Christian Democrats holding 303 of the 570 seats in the chamber, the Communist defeat had been assured.

Damper On Cocktail Parties Being Sought

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Theodore McKeldin will address a temperance mass meeting in Washington tomorrow to urge the new Republican administration to "put the damper on Washington's famous cocktail parties."
 Sponsoring the meeting is the American Temperance Society. Since McKeldin took office in 1951 no alcoholic drinks have been served in the Governor's Mansion at Annapolis.

$305,000 Budget Is Given To Jap Prince

TOKYO (AP)—The Finance Ministry today decided on a $305,000 outlay for Crown Prince Akihito's six-month tour of Europe and America.
 The crown prince, who will leave March 30, will attend the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in June and visit 11 countries. The sum, still to be approved by the Cabinet, will cover gifts for the heads of countries to be visited as well as expenses.

Riding The GRUB LINE

By Franklin Reynolds

Marion Badger Tom Green County agricultural agent and brother of Bert Badger of Big Spring, inspector for the Division of Pink Bollworm Control, was in Big Spring Monday for the District 6 meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. One of the best men the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has ever had, says there is only one 4-H steer on feed in Tom Green County this year.

He says he believes that the time spent on a steer if devoted to other things will prove of much greater future advantage to 4-H Club members. A number of other agents share his views. In view of situations and practices that have developed on the major show circuits a number of agents are discouraging 4-H members from feeding steers for show purposes, not only in Texas but elsewhere.

An incomplete list of 1952 activities in the Dawson County Soil Conservation District shows that 191 soil and water conservation plans were written; 11,403 acres of land were contour farmed following lines or terraces engineered by SCS technicians; cover crops such as vetch, peas, rye, wheat were planted on 7,321 acres; 135 acres of such grasses as Blue Panic, Love Grass, were planted and grew off to a good stand; 246 miles of broad-base level terraces were built, and 20,846 acres had sorghum stubble or other crop residues on it in sufficient amounts to retard erosion.

E. B. Bolin, who lives in the North Lorraine area of Mitchell County, has recently completed five miles of new terraces. He has already started his 1953 work and plans to build another four miles of terraces this spring. The 1953 additions will complete the terrace system on his farm. He has done the work with a regular farm tractor using a whirlwind terracing plow.

Carl Morris of Mitchell County's Dorn Church Community is now prepared to turn out on the grass of his native pastures surplus water that has heretofore (whenever it has rained) washed and gullied a cultivated field.

He has done this by getting the county maintainers and building two miles of terraces since the first of the year. The field washed and gullied because of the steep slope. By extending the terraces into his native pasture he will carry the water there where it will do more good and no harm to the cultivated land.

Among area junior feeders with steers entered in the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth are:

Howard County: Sue White, Bennie Jo Bilsard, Franklin Williamson, James Cauble, Sonny Choate, Edgar Allen Phillips, Darrell Robinson, Joyce Robinson, James Shortes and Leonard Smith. All are 4-H Club members and all steers are Herefords.

Mitchell County: Billy Bridgford, Colorado City 4-H, Hereford; David Bridgford, Colorado City 4-H, Hereford; Johnny Shackelford, Westbrook FFA, one Hereford, and one Shorthorn; Edward Beatty and Kenneth Market, both Lorraine FFA, each one Shorthorn.

Midland County: Norman Drake, Midland 4-H, two Herefords.

Martin County: Bobby Owen Kelly, Stanton 4-H, one Hereford.

Among junior feeders taking lambs to the Fort Worth show are:

Howard County: Jimmy Burkholder and Johnny Wilson, both Coahoma FFA.

Dawson County: Donnell Echols, Monte Griffin, David Hughes and Jack Stone, all Lamesa FFA.

Mitchell County: David Bridgford and Yvonne Lindley, both Colorado City 4-H.

HC Larry Domino 12th, the Hereford bull, a half interest in which recently sold for $105,000, is, indeed, and not because of price, a powerful bull.

One of his sons, Hillcrest Larry 4th, champion at the International in 1949, set a new world's record price at the November of 1950 sale of Hillcrest Farms of Chester, West Virginia, when he went for $70,500 to a Maryland breeder.

He is also the sire of Hillcrest Larry 62nd, International champion in 1951 and again in 1952; and HC Lady Larry 26th, International champion in 1950 and 1951, and champion Hereford female at the American Royal and the Eastern National.

HC Larry Domino 12th was recognized by the American Hereford Association's registration No. Five Million when he won the International; his son, the 4th, became No. Six Million when he won the International; and the other son, the 62nd, became No. Seven Million when he won at the International last year.

The sire of HC Larry Domino 12th was MV Larry Domino 12th, with 345 points on the blue-blooded register of merit maintained by the American Hereford Association to accord credit to sires and dams of winners in show ring competition at the major livestock shows. His dam was Lorena Domino 99, with 46 points on the female side of the register. The grandsire was the mighty Larry Domino 50th, top bull on the register with 699 points.

When the register standings were announced last May, HC Larry Domino 12th had scored the greatest advance in points for the third straight year. His get commanded a total of 172 points during the year to advance the sire from fourth to third place with a total of 601 points. He is the third and youngest sire to exceed the score of Prince Domino who was at the top of the register for many years.

The 13th's advance in 1950-51 was even greater than last year. That season his get won a total of 177 points to move him from 24th to fourth place. He entered the register in May of 1950 and won fourth rank on only three crops of calves.

Tiner Called Them The Top Ones

B. F. Self had the top Fine Wool lamb (left), at the Westbrook High School's FFA Show Monday, according to E. L. Tiner of Big Spring, who judged the show. Leon Byrd (middle) got the top spot with his Southdown-Crossbred, and Charles Richey took another blue ribbon with his Suffolk-Delaine cross. The show was held under the direction of John Hines, vocational agriculture instructor.

NEAR CHINA COAST

CG Fliers Rescued From Heavy Seas

By DON HUTH
MANILA (AP)—Choppy seas surged over the rubber raft. Three American Coast Guard fliers, chilled to the bone, braced against the icy waters.

The raft bobbed and drifted inside a treacherous reef. Land was perilously near — the unfriendly coast of Communist China. There was safety there from the angry seas and winds—but danger, too, of almost certain imprisonment or death.

"We were so cold we didn't care who got us, just so they had fire to keep us warm," says Lt. John Vukic.

Then, in midnight darkness, the U. S. destroyer Halsey Powell picked its way expertly through the reef and plucked the frozen, bedraggled men to safety.

That ended 7½ hours of misery for Vukic, of Pittsburgh, the pilot; Joseph Miller, Jr., chief aviation machinist's mate, of Long Beach, Calif.; and Robert F. Hewitt, aviation structural mechanic, third class, of San Diego.

They were crew members of a Coast Guard Mariner amphibian that overturned in heavy seas, burned and sank Sunday after picking up 11 of 13 Navy airmen shot down off Swatow, a Red China port, by Communist shore batteries.

Vukic told their story at Sangley Point Naval Base southeast of Manila today. All three were battered and bruised. Hewitt had a back injury. Vukic sported a black eye.

The other five crewmen of the Mariner were killed. Two Navy airmen were killed and four are missing and presumed dead.

The other seven were taken to Formosa, from where the Coast Guardsmen were flown to Manila and the seven Navy men to Okinawa, their home base.

Vukic said his crew spotted a half-inflated, half-burned life raft holding the 11 Navy survivors at 4:20 p.m. Sunday.

He set the big amphibian down on the rough waters without trouble while other planes circled overhead.

"The survivors were so physically exhausted they had to be assisted into our plane—they couldn't stand up," Vukic said. Hours later Vukic knew just what that meant.

On the takeoff, the Mariner lurched and a wing dipped into the sea.

"My seat broke and that's the last thing I remember. The next thing I knew I was in the water. My left eye was full of blood and my right eye was blind."

Vukic and six other men made it to a life raft—but couldn't inflate it.

The planes overhead dropped more rafts. Vukic, Miller and Hewitt clambered aboard one.

"The three of us tried to paddle back to the others, but we could not make it. We paddled with our hands and feet. Finally we got so tired we just sat down and lost sight of the crew and plane."

About 9 p.m. they spotted the rescue ships.

The Powell deftly maneuvered into position and picked them up. Aboard, they found the seven Navy men already had been rescued.

Shivers Busy Shaking Hands 3,501 Times

By MARTHA COLE
AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—It took 14 hours and 3,501 handshakes for Gov. Allan Shivers to be inaugurated governor of Texas.

He started at 10 a.m. yesterday dressing for the inaugural parade and wound up at midnight, still shaking hands.

The governor started out quite properly on the round of four inaugural dances last night, dressed in white tie and tails and even a top hat.

But it was bound to happen sooner or later. Somebody presented him a plain old Texas hat, about a 2½-gallon, at the square dance in the City Coliseum. And the governor plopped it on his head.

The square dancers were by far the merriest of the 20,000 persons the Highway Patrol estimated helped the governor celebrate his second inauguration. Some 2,500 of them stood up and sang "The Eyes of Texas" for Shivers and his party when they got to the City Coliseum about 10:30 p.m. Gov. and Mrs. Shivers and Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Ben Ramsey joined in the clapping in tune with "Dixie," and Shivers said a few words about he wasn't going to make a speech, "but I thank all you people that came here."

While he spoke, young John Shivers, 12, shuffled through the crowd in the door and asked, "What's going on?"

The three older Shivers children—John, Allan, 7 today and Marjorie Sue, 5—wanted to see everything. They watched the morning parade from a reviewing stand, sat on the front row when their father took his oath of office on the Capitol steps and watched the grand march and the square dancing.

From 7 until 9, Gov. and Mrs. Shivers, Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Ramsey and 16 other state officials and their wives stood in the rotunda of the Capitol to shake hands with anyone who wished to come. At least 600 came.

The surgery on the twins, who were born joined at the top of their heads, was the first time in medical history the patients had survived such an operation.

Rodney, since the separation, has undergone two plastic procedures to put skin over his brain. He has shown some signs he is on the road to recovery. However, he must undergo further surgery and his condition still is regarded as critical.

"Roger's death was not an unexpected development by any means," said a spokesman at the Neuro-Psychiatric Hospital of the University of Illinois.

The spokesman said attending physicians had explained several times that Roger's chances of recovering consciousness were "virtually nonexistent."

"The child had received minute-to-minute care since the operation," he said. "Feeding through the nose tube continued on a half-hour schedule until a few minutes before he died."

"His condition had gradually worsened, almost imperceptibly. There was a definite indication of sinking during the day, a gradually slowing pulse rate."

Mild Weather Again Expected Over Texas
By The Associated Press
Continued mild to warm temperatures and partly cloudy skies featured weather in Texas again Wednesday.

It had been the same since Sunday when a quick thaw erased all signs of last Friday's and Saturday's sleet and ice storm.

The Weather Bureau said a few showers were probable in East Texas Wednesday night or Thursday, but otherwise saw no real change in the weather.

Ramsey Address May Lead To Governorship In Time

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—Political professionals today looked on Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey's inaugural address as a possible opening bid for the governorship two years from now.

It had elements that have proved themselves politically productive in the past.

The speech by the tall, taciturn East Texas lawyer introduced as "the Sage of San Augustine" had folksy touches fresh from the piney woods. It blended religion and practical politics and held out hope for the old folks and wards of the state.

It underlined water saving, rural roads and teacher salary increases as outstanding, vital issues before the Legislature. The speech emphasized the need for rural road expansion while Gov. Shivers' pattern for the Legislature mainly said: leave the rural road program as it is now.

The speech boiled down Ramsey's political philosophy: "It becomes our duty to operate the people's government as a successful business; to operate it efficiently and economically and honestly."

"It is our duty to hold in closely guarded trust fundamental idealism. Perhaps this second duty is paramount."

"A government can recover from periods of inefficiency; from periods of careless spending; from periods of heavy taxation."

"But it is more difficult to recover from the erosion of principles. American principles are the rich topsoil of this democracy. We must not allow them to be washed away, lost forever in the sea of selfishness, greed, expediency and alien isms."

He urged economy and called waste sinful.

"Wasted dollars are as evil as stolen dollars," Ramsey philosophized.

He spoke out against "surrender of local freedoms for federal dollars" in connection with flood control projects. Ramsey urged Texas to save its own floodwater with state financial help but in local projects.

Duke University's 1952 football team was the nation's No. 2 team on pass defense. The Blue Devils allowed an average of 51.6 yards per game via the aerial route.

Separated Twin Dies In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Tiny Roger Lee Brodie, Siamese twin who for 94 days amazed the medical world by surviving a head-to-head surgical separation, died last night.

The 15-month-old boy had been in a deep coma since the history-making operation Dec. 17. His brain circulation was impaired and his condition had been listed "very precarious" since the separation from his brother Rodney Dee.

Attending physicians had expressed amazement that he survived the 12-hour and 40-minute operation.

President's Inaugural Address Possesses Elements Of Greatness

The inaugural address of President Eisenhower is a profound and moving assessment of the contemporary twins of peril and opportunity. Properly, he dealt with statement of principles and avoided the pitfalls of detailing the implements. The statement has many of the elements of greatness, some of which we set forth that they may speak more eloquently than our meagre ability to appraise: "We are called as a people, to give testimony, in the sight of world, to our faith that the future shall belong to the free. Seeking to secure peace in the world, we have had to fight. In our quest of understanding, we beseech God's guidance. "Are we nearing the light—a day of freedom and of peace for all mankind? Or are the shadows of another night closing in upon us? Trial comes at a moment when man's power to achieve good or to inflict evil surpasses the brightest hopes and the sharpest fears of all ages. Yet the promise of this life is imperiled by the very genius that has made it possible. Nations amass wealth. Labor sweats to create—and turns out devices to level, not only mountains but also cities. Science seems ready to confer upon us, as its final gift, the power to erase human life from the earth. "At such a time in history, we who are free must proclaim our faith. "This faith is the abiding creed of our fathers. It is our faith in the deathless dignity of man, governed by eternal moral and natural laws. This faith... establishes, beyond debate, those gifts of the Creator that are man's inalienable rights, and that makes all men equal in His sight. In the light of this equality, we know that the virtues most cherished by free people—love of truth, pride of work, devotion to country—all are treasured equally precious to the lives of the most humble and the most exalted... We hold that all continents and people in equal regard and honor... Any man who seeks to deny equality in all his brothers betrays the spirit of the free and invites the mockery of the tyrant. "The enemies of this faith know no God but force, no devotion but its use. They tutor men in treason. They feed upon the hunger of others. Whatever defies them, they torture, especially the truth... "No principle or treasure that we hold, from the spiritual knowledge of our free schools and churches to the creative magic of free labor and capital, nothing lies safely beyond the reach of this struggle. Freedom is pitted against slavery; light against dark. "We know that we are linked to all free people not merely by a noble idea but by a simple need... We are persuaded by necessity and by belief that the strength of all free peoples lies in unity, their danger in discord... "To produce this unity, to meet the challenge of our time, destiny has laid upon our country the responsibility of the free world's leadership. It is proper that we assure our friends once again that, in the discharge of this responsibility, we Americans know and observe the difference between world leadership and imperialism... We wish our friends the world over to know this above all: We face the threat—not with dread and confusion, but with confidence and conviction. "We must be ready to dare all for our country... We must be willing, individually and as a nation, to accept whatever sacrifices may be required of us. A people that values its privileges above its principles soon loses both... "These basic precepts are not lofty abstractions, far removed from matters of daily living. They are laws of spiritual strength that generate and define our material strength... Each citizen plays an indispensable role. No person, no home, no community can be beyond the reach of this call... Whatever American hopes to bring to pass in the world must first come to pass in the heart of America."

These Days—George Sokolsky

'They' Are The Jews And They Are Scapegoats For Joe Stalin

The anti-Semitism of Joe Stalin is nothing novel. He displayed it during the Hitler-Stalin alliance when he dismissed Litvinov because he was a Jew. Why does Stalin propagandize his hatred for the Jews at the present time? There is much speculation on the subject. Some believe that it is done to please the Arabs, who are not likely to be taken in because Moslems are a religious people, are uncompromising in their love for God and the Prophet, Mohammed. They will not risk association with the arch-atheist who competes with God, who has feons of himself carried in parades, who demands adoration and worship of himself, who insists that he is omniscient and that his decisions on all questions from linguistics to philosophy, from party politics to world affairs, are perfect, beyond discussion and beyond doubt. The Arabs will not fall for that. Some believe that Stalin is having domestic troubles and that his throne is endangered. There seems to be no evidence of that, although the Korean War has been a failure in the sense that it gets nowhere and the conquest of Asia has been arrested. Also, the fact that he has indicated who his successor is to be must have stifled the ambitions of others. Yet, it cannot be that in the privacy of the Politburo and the intrigues of the Kremlin it has not been known for a long time that Malenkov was the favorite. He had for years been Stalin's secretary and heir-apparent and believed even as a son. Whatever opposition to Malenkov appeared in one form or another must have been liquidated either by breaking the spirit of a man or killing him off. It seems to me from a 36-year study of the Bolsheviks at work that what Stalin is beating up is an increased hatred against the United States. Shouting about "Wall Street" has become tiresome to those who have to listen to it. And the charge that we throw germs out of airplanes was a nine days' wonder. And then the election went very wrong from Stalin's standpoint. No longer will the State Department blot hot and act cold and protect American Communists and spies in the United Nations or within the State Department itself. Certainly, nothing of that sort can be expected from John Foster Dulles, who started off by asking the FBI to investigate his own record as a prelude to a clean sweep of the Department. And Herbert Brownell Jr. will not

Housewife Runs A Manufacturing Firm

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A housewife who would rather have a precision lathe than a milk coat owns her own manufacturing plant which makes all kinds of metal gadgets including some for government defense. Mrs. Mary P. Anderson, who is president of the Wayne Engineering Co. in Ontario Township, has as her chief item a lipstick spreader about the size of a lady's little finger. It was the development of this gadget that got her into the manufacturing business about two years ago. Interested in things mechanical since childhood, Mrs. Anderson forsakes the shop two days a week to act as her own field representative in seeking new contracts.

False Alarmers Had Best Beware

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Police and firemen may get three extra days of vacation with pay for catching adults who pull false alarms if a plan advanced in city council is adopted. The council authorized the mayor to confer with fire and police chiefs regarding the advisability of making the proposal permanent policy. One councilman pointed out that there have been at least 20 false alarms in recent weeks.

Dagmar, In Her New Economy Sized Package, Can Aid GOP Trim Figures

NEW YORK (AP)—There isn't as much Dagmar as there used to be. She just decided she was "too much of a good thing." So now she's in a new economy-size package. And if the Republican administration is looking for advice on how to trim down figures, Dagmar stands ready to help. Deciding her own blonde abundance was outgrowing the nation's television screens, she has trimmed her weight a full 20 pounds. The new Dagmar, a canny lass who skyrocketed her income from $25 for her first video show to $7,500 a week for personal appearances, is positively slinky now instead of buxom. "Honey"—she calls everybody that—"too much weight stymies my mind. The fat was getting around my brain. Now I can think faster. But I'm lucky. When I diet, the weight comes off all over me. I feel so little." She said, however, that whittling down her shape hadn't hurt her celebrated chest expansion—42 1/2 inches normal, 45 expanded. Nor does she feel that her new svelte shape should stir any alarm in two potential blonde rivals—Zsa Zsa Gabor and Marilyn Monroe. "I never did feud with anybody," she said mildly. "The country is so big there is room for all three of us—even when I breathe deeply. "But Marilyn sure was smart to get her picture on that calendar. People have to look at a calendar to see what day it is. That way they get to see more of her." Dagmar portrays a dumb blonde, but in real life she is about as dumb as an albino fox. She is a big, breezy, cheerful gal—as informal as a backyard clothesline hung with laundry.

Your Income Tax—3

Uncle Sam Assists Many With Their Tax Arithmetic

(Third of Six Articles on How To Make Out Your Federal Income Tax Returns.) By FRANCIS J. KELLY Associated Press Newsletters Writer WASHINGTON—Government experts will do the bulk of your income tax arithmetic for you if you are eligible to use Form 1040 A. This single sheet, amber colored optional tax return form contains a list of simple questions such as your name, address, employer, number of dependents, and wages. You answer the questions and the bureau of Internal Revenue will figure out your tax, sending you a bill for any amount not covered by withholding, or a refund, as the case may be. Strict rules govern who may use this form, however. You may use a 1040 A if your total income was less than $5,000 and consisted entirely of wages subject to withholding, or of such wages and not more than $100 total of other wages, dividends and interest. But you will have to use the more complicated Form 1040 return if you had any income from other sources, such as rents, annuities, royalties or a business; or if you claim status as the head of a household. In reckoning your tax, the revenue bureau uses a table which takes account of your exemptions ($600 each) and allows about 10 per cent of your total income as a deduction in place of charitable contributions, taxes, interest, extraordinary medical expenses, etc. If your deductions run more than 10 per cent of your income, it will pay you to use long-form 1040 and itemize them. If you are buying a home, and the interest payments on your mortgage run high, it may pay you to itemize them and other allowable deductions on the long-form. It is impossible to do so on form 1040 A or on 1040 when used as a short-form. The same holds good if you sustain a big loss from fire, flood, or theft, or have large medical expenses. There are a couple of other reasons why you may find it desirable to use form 1040 in place of 1040 A. You may have received reimbursements out-of-town travel expenses, which your employer reported as part of your income. You aren't required to pay taxes on an expense account, so you take this deduction on 1040, used either as a long-form (four pages) or short-form (single sheet). Or, it may be that you want to know right away the amount of your refund or tax due, without waiting for the revenue director's office to figure it. In this case, short-form 1040 is your choice. When you use short-form 1040, you find your tax from a table and write it in yourself. Long-form 1040 requires you to make your own computations. The long-form is required of all taxpayers whose income is $5,000 or more. In general, married couples can save money by making joint returns. Be sure to put the name of both husband and wife at the top of the return, and both must sign it. If you make a joint return using Form 1040 A, the revenue bureau will figure your tax by both the joint and separate methods and bill you for the smaller amount. You are entitled to make a joint return even if you didn't get married until Dec. 31, 1952, or if your spouse died anytime in 1952. But if you were divorced or legally separated on or before Dec. 31, you are considered single for the entire year. Personal exemptions are important. Each cuts $600 off your taxable income. Each taxpayer is entitled to one for himself, his wife, and each dependent close relative. The taxpayer gets an additional exemption if he is over 65, or blind; and a total of three exemptions if he is both blind and over 65. Those same extra exemptions apply to the taxpayer's wife. You can't claim an exemption for a dependent if his or her income for 1952 was $600 or more.

Rotary Is Given Report On Youth Meeting At Austin

Rotarians heard reports on YMCA-sponsored Youth-in-Government programs at their luncheon meeting Tuesday. Janice Anderson, representing the local Tri-Hi-Y Club, and Don Anderson, of the Hi-Y group, told of Youth-in-Government meetings held last year in Lubbock and Austin. Both were delegates to the meetings and participated in the YMCA Model Legislature in Austin. They related experiences and told of knowledge of government operations they received in the state-wide programs. The speakers were introduced by Grover Good, local YMCA executive secretary who also presented Col. Dan C. Pitt Jr., of Plainview, area worker for YMCA. Other guests at the Rotary luncheon were Edmund McQuade, Dallas; Rev. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist pastor; Hollis Keys, Lubbock; E. Kancher, Amarillo; Elroy Miller, Snyder; W. S. Dixon, Pampa; and Lee Mayfield, San Angelo.

Fire Sweeps Loading Wharf At Houston

HOUSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Damages estimated between $100,000 and $150,000 were incurred here yesterday when fire swept a petroleum products loading wharf on the Houston Ship Channel. Firemen from Houston, Galena Park, Greens Bayou, and Pasadena brought the fire at the Hess Terminal Corporation under control after a two-hour fight. Hess Vice President H. C. McCullum made the damage estimate.

Matter Of Dress Is Discussed In View Of Costumes For Inaugural

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note. In perusing the papers about the inaugural in Washington, we note that Texas Journals properly presented the Texas angle. We further note something on which we have felt compulsion to speak for some time, namely the great ingenuity we Texans exercise in our appearances back East and North. One of the pictures we noted was that of a couple of comely lasses, both equipped with cowgirl costumes, boots and big hats. And what else? Six shooters! Of course, they were shooting them all over the place. One of our college bands was there, and in chaps, boots, hats and brightly colored neckerchiefs, no less. Asked for his comment on the Eisenhower problem of whether to wear a silk topper to the ceremonies, a certain Texas sultan snorted in indignation. No indeed, not him. Now a big white Texas hat, that probably would be what he would wear. You can run the gamut and on every hand you find our citizens bedecking themselves—as though by some fresh stroke of genius and novelty—in jazzed-up cowboy togger. I wonder if they took away our boots, our hats and our guns if we could go anywhere? And if they took away our horned loads in the summer, what in the world would we do for souvenirs? Perhaps, I'm frustrated because I don't have a pair of boots, or anything bigger than an average chapeau, and certainly I don't have a hog-leg shootin' iron. At that, I suppose we're no worse off than other provinces. Florida always has a bathing suit, with something in it, of course, to boost everything from grapefruit to real estate. The old South comes up with its cotton and log cabins and calceos. Alaskans have their parkas. Oklahomans have their parkas. Carolinians chant about their moon. Wyoming has its bucking broncos, and I suppose Eskimos will have their ice cubes. These are badges of identification, no denying, but it's kind of like being stuck with the same old face. Anyhow, it spurs us from the ordeal of thinking. Comes convention time, we sit back and wait for someone to rise with the sunburst of revelation radiating from his face and proclaim: "I tell you what. Let's all go dressed in boots, Western hat and loud shirt! And say, wouldn't it be different if we carried six-shooters?" JOE PICKLE

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

Cooperation Can Assure The New Regime Success In Years Ahead

WASHINGTON—After the long drought, the Republican rejoicing is full of a fine fervor. But as the bunting comes down and the parades go home, this capital will see the beginning of one of the most interesting experiments in government in many, many years. The outlines of that experiment are already evident. In essence, it is an effort to apply the management techniques of big industry to big government. The wisecrack about the Eisenhower Cabinet consisting of eight millionaires and an plumber, or more accurately, a steam-fitter, misses the real point. These business men now in government have been handsomely rewarded for their ability. But the money reward has been secondary to the fact of the power and the skills they have wielded as the managers of industry financed by thousands of investors large and small. They will now be managers of the far larger enterprises of government. Often in the past the complaint about the government administrators has been that they never met a payroll. The men in the Eisenhower administration have been responsible for meeting some very large payrolls. But with two or three exceptions they have not met the voters at the polling booth. Republicans in Congress, who feel that through the years they put the political capital into this enterprise, look with skepticism on the experiment of managerial government. The Senate hitch over Charles E. Wilson's confirmation as Defense secretary because of his General Motors stock indicates the relationship between the managers and the politicians may be difficult. The new administration is not, however, without its political managers and very skillful ones, indeed. They come out of the hard-boiled organization built up in New York state by Governor Thomas E. Dewey. They also have roots in California, where Governor Earl Warren has demonstrated how to build up a political following transcending the two-party system as we have known it in the past 20 years. Significantly, in this connection, it is in California and New York, the two most populous states in the country, that the decay of the Democratic party is most conspicuous. The aim is to go down the middle of the road with a party having few resemblances to the old Republican party. Thus a minimum of 10 per cent, and perhaps nearer to 15 or 20 per cent, of the following that has kept the Democrats in power—farmers, labor, minorities—will be permanently won over. This is the pattern since Nov. 4, and it promises to become increasingly apparent as the new administration takes over. One of the able and successful members of the political team which will work toward the long-term goal is Senator Ives of New York. Ives won re-election last fall by the huge plurality of 1,332,198. He carried New York City, which Eisenhower lost, by a plurality of 2,743. In a speech in New York last week, Ives said in effect that the Republican Congress was Republican because of the personal popularity of General Eisenhower. The people, he said, were still progressive and there could be "no turning back of the clock of progress." Then Ives spoke of what is the highest hazard faced by the new administration: "With a spirit of mutual helpfulness and cooperation the new administration can and will succeed. Without it, failure is certain and the Republican party is doomed to defeat in 1956." A member of the Senate Labor Committee, Ives is hoping to head a subcommittee that will study discrimination in industry and business. The political implications of this are obvious. The Republican majority is expected to agree on a compromise civil rights bill providing for a commission to educate and persuade employers that discrimination is not only unfair, but that it does not pay. This would be labeled as a first step and it would be taken by men like Ives as a trial of what can be achieved by a law without power of federal punishment. Thus the pattern will be developed if the able political managers working for the Eisenhower administration can bring it off. They will have many resources, particularly in the honeymoon phase, and they will be working with some shrewd operators. One of these is General Lucius D. Clay, now retired, an old Eisenhower comrade with a unique influence although he will hold no office. Clay serves as a kind of bridge between the business community and Eisenhower's familiar military associations. A man of outstanding ability, as he demonstrated in his military career which concluded with his appointment as occupying chief in Germany, Clay is now chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Continental Can Company. He is also on the board of the General Motors Corporation, which gives him a link with top Eisenhower Cabinet officers. No one in the Eisenhower circle minimizes the hazards ahead. But at least, they will tell you, we know the direction in which we want to go.

College Disc Jockey

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Because Chuck Ferguson got tired of merely filing away records in a radio station, he now has a late-evening disc-jockey program aimed at Southwest college students. Chuck was a vacationing University of Georgia freshman in the summer of 1951 when he got started but the program was so successful he stayed here and enrolled at the University of Houston. The 24-year-old ex-Marine now dishes out campus news of Southwest Conference schools along with recorded music on his College Capers program. He is majoring in radio and chemical engineering.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Fruit Is In Shape Of Sausage

If we could judge by the name, a certain tree might provide us with meat in time of need. I am thinking of the sausage tree, which is a native of central Africa. The sausage tree has wide-spreading branches, and often grows to a height of 35 or 40 feet, or more. It makes an excellent shade tree, but can get along only in a climate which is warm the year around. Reddish-brown flowers, shaped somewhat like bells, appear on these trees. The weeks pass, and fruits take the shape of long, thick sausages; many of them have a length of more than a foot. The outside form of an object may fail to give proof of what is inside. The sausage-shaped fruits of this tree taste nothing like the sausages which we buy at a meat market! Each sausage on the tree has a cord-like stem. On a single tree I have seen scores of fruits dangling from the limbs. Some of the cords are only a few inches long, but others have a length of four feet or even more. African sausage trees have been planted in the Hawaiian Islands, where they grow with success. They grow in Florida as well, but are far from being common trees in the Sunshine State. Also interesting is the eggplant, which was given the name because it produces fruit roughly shaped like an egg. The eggplants which housewives in North America usually buy have purple coverings. Often they are about the size of ostrich eggs. Eggplants which produce large purple fruits are common on this side of the Atlantic, but many of those grown abroad are of different types. Some of them produce white or yellow fruits which have the size, as well as the shape, of hen's eggs. For NATURE section of your scrapbook. Tomorrow: Holy Trees of the Orient. Doing His Part

Hack Miller, incoming manager of the Big Spring Broncs, will share the dressing room being built at Steer Park so he pitches in to help build it. The room will be an office for Hack himself, lockers for all the players and showers.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The Texas Western football team could make quite a splash in the Border Conference race next fall. Only four of the 29 boys who won letters last fall graduate in June. Among those returning will be Dick Shinnaut, a fine passer.

Bill Ledbetter is probably the only golf coach who is also athletic director of a college in the country. He's at Hardin-Simmons University.

When the Texas Tech freshmen defeated Odessa JC in Odessa last week end, Big Spring's Gene Carpenter scored 12 points for the Lubbock team. Carpenter hasn't made the traveling squad at Tech but he's going to make Polk Robinson a fine hand.

Now that the new High School Gym here has been opened, wouldn't it be possible to book the Jack Kramer-Frank Sedgman pro tennis troupe for an appearance here?

Though the game has been neglected here for years, such an attraction probably would draw well. The netters are to work down into Texas before long.

Tommy Gentry, who was just toddling when his pop, George Gentry, left the local school system for a better school administrative job, performed the past season for the Baytown High School football team. George Sr. kept busy, too. When ever the Ganders tried for an extra point, George would trot out behind the goal post and try to catch the ball. Seems it was a superstition with him. Thought it brought good luck to the Ganders.

Something worked, for Baytown went all the way to the finals in the state playoff before losing to Lubbock. At any rate, the radio announcers went to great lengths to describe Cap's antics behind the goal posts.

BARTON MAY INHERIT JOB AT WINK

Frank Barton, who helped that great 1940 Big Spring High School football team to a district crown, may get the head coaching job at Wink, now that Glenn Frazier has moved on over to Andrews. Barton has been at Wink the past three years. Before that, he played a lot of guard for the Sul Ross College team. They say the school's gridders are on his band wagon, which is not surprising.

How can Andrews High School pay such salaries to its football coaches?

Frazier was lured to Andrews with a $7,000. The first assistant will earn $5,400 per annum, the second aide $4,800, notes Jim Lundquist of the Odessa paper. The head basketball mentor draws $5,400. Not many AAAA schools are offering that kind of pay.

A RULE THAT WAS NEVER MEANT TO BE

Grid enthusiasts who are arguing that the abolition of two-plateau system ball is a step backward should consider this:

The Rules Committee never intended to invent two-plateau ball. The committee was trying to make substitution of a player easier. Accidentally, it made possible the substitution of whole teams instead of players. It took the rules makers and the coaches a little time to bring that possibility into focus.

The two-plateau plan didn't become popular until years after the adoption of the free substitution rule, which made it possible. That rule change occurred as far back as 1941.

Full Little League Program Is Indicated At Conclave

All indications point to more youngsters playing baseball here in 1953 than at any time in history.

A meeting of Little League sponsors and managers was held at Dibrell's Sporting Goods store last night and 16 persons, among them nine men representing sponsors, were present.

Chances are good, it developed, that two six-team Little Leagues and a four-team Pony League (for 13 and 14-year-olds) may function here this summer. Last year, a five-team circuit operated here.

Youngsters from Forsan and Coahoma will probably get a chance to compete this year, it was indicated.

Committees were named to locate lumber and light poles for a Little League park. Location of such a plant was not settled but it will very likely be located in the south part of town. A city block in that area may be made available to the recreational program.

D. R. Gartinman, who led the drive to bring Little League baseball here, said the City had offered to supply power for the park, if lights were made available. Gartinman said he thought the lights could be obtained without undue difficulty.

No league president was named.

Meadows, Holland Lead Plainsmen Against HCJC

Amarillo's Badgers have taken an early lead in Western Zone basketball play. Bob Carter's team did it by turning back Frank Phillips JC of Borger, 75-53, in Amarillo last week end.

That same Frank Phillips team heads into Big Spring Thursday night to do battle with the HCJC Jayhawks, defending Zone champions.

Amarillo led by 30 points at one stage of the game. The Badgers boasted a half time advantage of 40-17.

The win was Amarillo's ninth against six losses. Frank Phillips now has won four times in six assignments.

Charlie Meadows and John Holland will lead the Plainsmen into action against HCJC here Thursday. Deb Jones is also due to nose a problem for the Hawks. He scored 15 points for Frank Phillips against Amarillo.

It will be the first appearance for Frank Phillips in Big Spring since the 1950-51 season, although the Plainsmen were members of the Zone last year.

They forfeited their game here with HCJC last season.

Two of the Jayhawks regulars are still ailing.

Bobby Malnes is suffering from tonsillitis and may not see much action a gainst Phillips. Casey Jones is recovering from the flu but will probably play most of the game. When HCJC plays McMurry's B team in an exhibition game here Saturday, the Hawk B team will host Ted Phillips Tire Company's crack independent team in a preliminary contest at 6 p.m. Phillips' quintet is undefeated in Y Industrial League play.

Steers Drop 37-29 Verdict To Lions

VERNON —Big Spring dropped a 37-29 decision to the Vernon Lions here Tuesday night in the opening District 1-AAA basketball game for both teams.

The Longhorns, looking much improved over recent games, made it a horse race until the home stretch and the Lions pulled away when Luke Thompson fouled out the visitors applied the press unsuccessfully.

Thompson played far and away his best game of the season, limiting dangerous Ramon Towry to only one field goal before he went to the penalty box. Towry wound up with 12 points, half of which he picked up from the free throw line.

The Bovines led after one period of play, 8-4, but the Lions went out front at half time by one point.

Bobby Hayworth had his eye on the basket, collecting 15 points for the Steers. Steve Kornfeld tossed in eight for Big Spring.

Towry was the top scorer for Vernon, followed by Gordie Harvey, who had 11.

The Vernon B team also won, 37-25, over Big Spring. Big Spring's chances for victory diminished rapidly in that one when tall Carlisle Robinson turned his ankle early in the game and had to retire.

Lefty Don Reynolds paced Big Spring in scoring with ten points. Smitty Smithson sparked for Vernon with a 14-point effort.

The Steers will next see action against Sweetwater in Big Spring Friday night.

On that date, they play Lamesa in Lamesa. From then on, they'll be occupied with the round-table sport until well into April.

Dykes Absorbs Ring Beating

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (UP)—"Well, that's half the job done," said young Gil Turner as he sat on his dressing room table last night after whipping Bobby Dykes.

The 22-year-old Philadelphia welterweight has lost only two bouts in a 26-fight career, one to Dykes and one to welterweight champion Kid Gavilan. The thumping he gave Dykes last night avenged one defeat. But there's still Gavilan.

Turner hasn't anything against Michigan State's Chuck Davey, but he hopes Gavilan retains the welter crown Feb. 11 in Chicago when the Cuban Hawk risks his championship against the sparkling collegian. Turner wants to win the title from Gavilan to even the score on that other defeat.

Last night fans went home wearing clothespins on their noses. They were asking, "what happened to Dykes?"

Bobby, who hails from both Miami, Fla., and San Antonio, Tex.—take your choice—was a fighter without any fight. After winning the first two rounds, he might as well have gone home for the night.

Blair To Tangle With Bobby Woods

DALLAS, Jan. 21 (UP)—Jack Blair, Dallas lightweight boxer, will meet Bobby Woods of Eureka, Calif., in a return match at Vancouver, Canada, Thursday night. Blair, now fighting out of Hollywood, has met Woods twice. The first fight was at San Jose, Calif., last Oct. 11, with Blair winning. Third second was at Vancouver, Dec. 11, when they went 10 rounds to a draw.

The winner of Thursday night's fight will get a match with Willie Pep, former world's champion.

Houston To Host Next Southwest Cage Tourney

HOUSTON, Jan. 21 (UP)—The annual Southwest Conference basketball tournament will be held in Houston next season instead of in Dallas where the two previous events were held.

A meeting between Abb Curtis, assistant executive secretary of the conference, and Jess Neely, Rice Institute athletic director, resulted in the tournament being moved here.

It will be held Dec. 28-30 at Rice Institute.

Conference officials approved the transfer from Dallas to Houston two weeks ago.

Participating in the tournament will be the seven conference schools, plus a guest team which will be selected in April.

Doubleheaders will be played each afternoon and evening of the three-day tournament.

Tournament officials originally had considered holding the finals on New Year's Eve but dropped the idea because of competing attractions and because many sports fans would be en route to football bowl games.

Curtis said it was found at Dallas that a $14,000 gross was necessary for the tournament to break even on a four-day basis. The 1952 tournament grossed only $11,000 and the conference office suffered the loss. The 1951 tournament broke even.

By cutting the number of playing days from four to three, Curtis believes expenses can be reduced about $1,200. Another $600 can be saved on rent and decorations since the tournament will be held in the 6,500 seat Rice Field house.

Some of these savings, however, are expected to be offset by traveling expenses which figure to be greater in most cases because Houston is not as centrally located as Dallas.

Webb And Wolters To Play Thursday

Webb Air Base's Dusters open a two-game basketball series with Wolters AB here at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Next Tuesday, Webb visits El Paso for a contest with Biggs AB.

Lamesa And Plainview Win Initial 1-AAA Cage Tests

SWEETWATER —Lamesa pulled an upset in District 1-AAA basketball play by defeating the highly touted Sweetwater Mustangs, 58-52, here Tuesday night.

The Pones staged a furious rally in the second half but to no avail. The Tornados had it when the blue chips were showing. Lamesa is the conference's defending champion. Lamesa led at half time, 42-30, using the fast break to good advantage.

Sweetwater tried the stall in the fourth period while leading by one point, only to have the Tornados steal the ball.

Bernal Stevens scored 23 points to pace Lamesa. Carl Anderson counted 22 for the losers.

PLAINVIEW — Plainview outlasted Snyder, 57-55, in a District

Walcott Lashes At Fight Czar

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 21 (UP)—Former Heavyweight Champion Jersey Joe Walcott, incensed at New York State Athletic Commission Robert Christenberry's statement that Walcott would probably never fight again, said yesterday the New York boxing head is "nothing but a bellhop."

"I would appreciate," the ex-titleholder said, "if the governors of different states would stop and consider these boxing commission jobs, and appoint someone that knows and has experience in boxing instead of playing politics."

Banquet Program Is Worked Out

LAMESA — Added entertainment at the District 1-AAA football banquet here Saturday night will include appearances by the Blue Notes, high school musical group; the Barber Pole Quartet; and impersonations by Neal Echols, a Lamesa student.

Jess Neely, Rice coach, will be on hand to deliver the principal address.

The party will be held in the Lamesa High School Cafeteria, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Members of the first District 1-AAA all-star team, chosen by sports writers and coaches, will be honor guests, along with their coaches.

Rulesmakers Meet

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (UP)—Persistent and patient Bert Bell today set ready to offer for the umpteenth time his proposed changes to the National Football League rulemakers—the elimination of the extra point after touchdown and institution of "sudden death" playoffs in regular league games.

1-AAA Basketball Game Played Here Tuesday Night

The Bulldogs pulled into a 50-all tie with 20 seconds left in the game, forcing it into overtime. Snyder blew a glorious chance to win by missing two gratis pitches near the end.

Jerry Forderhase paced Plainview with 20 points. Bill Boyd had 18 for Snyder.

Steerettes Eke Out 24-23 Win

MIDLAND — The Big Spring High School girls' volleyball team squeezed by Midland, 24-23, in an exhibition here Tuesday night.

The much-improved Bulldogs made a game of it down to the wire, outscoring the Steerettes after trailing at half time by a 16-12 count.

Big Spring was behind on three occasions during the game and had to pull the game out of the fire in the final two minutes of play.

Neil Glover and Anna Mae Thorp each scored six points for Big Spring.

Ellis Ann Martin scored eight points for Big Spring. The Steerettes led at half time in that one, 22-6.

Kid Gavilan Meets Cardell Tonight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (UP)—Kid Gavilan, the world's welterweight champion, tonight meets a rough but relatively unknown fighter, Vic Cardell of Wilson, Conn., in a 10-round non-title bout.

The fight will be televised nationally, and it takes on added interest because of this: It's Gavilan's last showing before he meets the popular Chuck Davey in a championship bout in Chicago, Feb. 11.

Cardell is in an enviable spot. He has everything to gain, and little to lose.

If he does the unexpected and whips Gavilan, it obviously would put him in line for a crack at the title.

Cage Star Hurt

BEAUMONT, Jan. 21 (UP)—Lloyd Kilpatrick, Lamar State basketball star, has a chipped foot bone, resulting in practice, that will keep him sidelined at least three weeks.

Kilpatrick's injury was reported yesterday. He has averaged 15.6 points per game for Lamar as the team won 7 out of 11 games played this season.

Waterworks Group Holds Meeting Here

An even 100 waterworks personnel and other municipal representatives, from the length and breadth of the Permian Basin, gathered in Big Spring Tuesday evening for the first 1953 meeting of the Permian Basin Waterworks Association.

Dinner was served the group by Big Spring firemen and business session and program was held in the city auditorium. Pat Hines, Tahoka, new president of the association, presided for the first time and remarks from several other officials were heard.

Highlighting the program were a movie, "Pipeline to the Clouds," shown by Lige Fox, local sanitarian, and a discussion of the Colorado River Municipal Water District by Joe Pickle, secretary of the tri-city institution which is serving as a model for projects of like nature contemplated by several other West Texas cities.

Pickle told of years of preliminary study given the CRMWD, the loss of support of three of the five cities initially interested in the project, and finally successful creation of an adequate supply of water for Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder.

The CRMWD, he said, is an example of what can be accomplished by cities joining together to fight a problem that is too big for any one of them.

Johnny Williams, water department superintendent in San Angelo, discussed the American Waterworks Association, its aims and services, and asked for support of a current membership drive. Bill Haneman, sanitation engineer for the State Health Department, outlined plans for the waterworks short course to be held at A&M College in March. He asked for representative attendance from this area.

Mayor G. W. Dabney welcomed waterworks operators to Big Spring, remarking that he knows of "no more important job" than that filled by water department personnel.

It was announced that February meeting of the organization will be held in Monahans.

PO Dept. Seeks Increased Rates For Parcel Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today disclosed a petition from the Postoffice Department for a new increase in parcel post rates averaging close to 35 per cent.

The petition was filed by Jesse M. Donaldson, who went out of office as postmaster general at noon yesterday. Dated Jan. 15, the plea for higher rates was one of his last official acts.

Postal officials estimated the proposed hike would raise income from parcel post service by about 130 million dollars a year.

These sources said Donaldson who went out of office as postmaster general at noon yesterday, dated Jan. 15, the plea for higher rates was one of his last official acts.

Under congressional mandate, the department must in these circumstances seek higher rates from the ICC or lose its regular appropriation.

The rates were last raised an average of 25 per cent Oct. 1, 1951. This increased parcel post revenues by about 100 million dollars a year. However, the department said subsequent wage increases in the service and a grant of higher railway mail pay by the ICC had created a new deficit.

Donaldson notified ICC as long ago as last June that another increase would have to be made this year if the parcel service was to be kept on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The postal laws provide that parcel post rates may be adjusted either by ICC or Congress.

Remington On Stand Today In Own Defense

NEW YORK (AP)—A fellow student of William W. Remington at Dartmouth College in the 1930s says the two tried to break up a campus club which "in some respects followed the Communist party line."

William Wolf Goodman, a 35-year-old Danbury, Conn., hat manufacturer, testified yesterday at the second Federal Court perjury trial of Remington, a former $10,000-a-year Commerce Department economist.

Goodman gave his testimony when Remington, appearing as his own first witness, took a break in his witness stand appearance. Remington was scheduled to return to the witness stand for more cross-examination today.

Goodman's testimony was offered by the defense in an apparent move to counter testimony by other former Dartmouth students that Remington was a Communist during his college days.

"We joined with others to break up the American Students Union there and form the Dartmouth Liberal Club," Goodman testified. "The ASU in some respects followed the Communist party line and we, who wanted free discussions, not discussions along the Communist line, broke it up."

Goodman, who described himself as an anti-Communist, was asked if he ever heard any one call Remington a Bolshevik.

"Yes," replied the witness. "I recall it being applied to him and sometimes to me. Sometimes, I think, it might have been done out of jealousy."

Remington, who is 35, testified yesterday about data he gave to Elizabeth Bentley, self-admitted former Soviet spy ring courier, when he was a wartime employee of the War Production Board. She had testified he gave her secret information.

Remington said none of the data was secret and that he gave it to her in hopes of winning support for the WPB from persons critical of its policies. He also said he acted because she asked for the data for a book and this made him feel like "a big shot" and made him think he would become known as an economist.

High Plains Area Expected To Get Highway Panel Post

AUSTIN.—One top appointment upcoming from Gov. Shivers in the next few weeks is that of a West Highway Commission and the position is the job will go to a man from the High Plains.

Term of Fred Wemple of Midland expires Feb. 15. Since the High Plains area has never had a representative on the Highway panel, general belief is that the nod will go to a man from that area.

This will be the second appointment to the three-man commission Shivers has made. He appointed Chairman E. H. Thornton, of Galveston whose term expires in 1957.

R. J. Potts of Harlingen, third man on the board, will serve until 1955.

Scores of lesser appointments are due soon—or already overdue—from the governor and are expected shortly.

Terms of three members of the Upper Colorado River Authority expired Jan. 1. They are W. D. Holcombe of San Angelo, Robert E. Bruce of Ballinger and Cumble Ivey of Robert Lee.

Seven members of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District, largely the "downstream" members, will be up for re-appointment on Feb. 1.

Members of such boards are, as a rule, re-appointed. But, there is traditionally a turnover in such a job as that of a highway commissioner.

Terms of three members of the University of Texas Board of Regents, including A. M. G. (Swede) Swenson of Stamford, expired Jan. 10. Terms of three Texas Tech regents, C. E. Weymouth of Amarillo, Charles Woodridge of Dallas and Lon Ince of Houston, expire Feb. 19.

The term of Dana Powell of Austin, named to fill the unexpired term of the late C. W. Dick of Abilene, will expire Feb. 19.

New District Court Sought For Lubbock

AUSTIN.—Sen. Kilmer Corbin of Lubbock is preparing to introduce legislation creating a new district court for Lubbock County.

Lubbock now has 9th District Court exclusively and shares 72nd District Court with Cochran, Hockley and Crosby Counties. But, Corbin pointed out, the two courts have but one district attorney to handle criminal matters for both.

A plan for mass redistricting of the state's judicial setup will come up this session of the Legislature, Corbin said. He is dropping his Lubbock proposal in advance of the redistricting proposal.

Corbin also has prepared a piece of non-controversial legislation validating proceedings of the High Plains Water District, which supervises use of underground water in that area.

University Alumni Club Set In Seoul

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Old grads in Korea now can rendezvous at the Cornell Club of Seoul.

The university said yesterday it had issued its 82nd alumni club charter to a group of 13 Cornellians serving with the military in Korea. R. Seldon Brower, general alumni secretary, said the new club described its organization meeting as "an elaborate affair in swank Kimchi Joe's Rice Paddy Inn" near a Seoul ordnance depot.
