Teaching to plant trees

Pat Reilly, center, soil conservationist with the federal Soil Conservation Service, explains to a group of Troop 54 Boy Scouts and Pack 54 Cub Scouts how to plant trees at Central Park on Monday. The group helped plant a row of trees along the east edge of the new park as part of this month's activities with "Hereford -- Lets Make It Clean and Green in April," which is sponsored by the Hereford Beautification Alliance.

Month-long cleanup begins

Cleanup in Hereford took top billing Saturday as residents began a month-long drive to improve the appearance of their hometown.

Significant in the day's activities was used tire collection, first in a series of three during the month.

Sponsors reported more than 1,400 tires, including passenger, truck and tractor tires, were delivered to the St. Anthony's School parking area.

Residents of the Deaf Smith County Juvenile home helped with the tire collection by loading five county trucks.

The Hereford Beautification Alliance project to clean two sites on U.S. 60 drew 37 participants who brought their own tools, including mowers.

Louise Leasure, cleanup chairman, suggested that residents drive by the sites to see the changes brought about by the volunteer workers.

"Let HBA know your appreciation by becoming a member," said Leasure.

The Hereford Re-Leaf project, involving youth of the community, began Monday with trees planted at Central Park. Tree-planting will continue through the week.

The Brand welcomes letters on subjects of interest to our readers to be included in the "Letters to the Editor" columns. These columns provide an open forum for readers to present their views on community, state and national topics, and they are popular with readers. The majority of letters submitted are published, but a few do not conform to our stated policies.

These policies generally protect the newspaper as well as the writer. The policies are published from time to time, but we think readers might be interested to know why some of these rules have been adopted.

The first rule is that the letters must be signed and include the address and phone number for verification purposes. Most of the letters we reject are unsigned.

The editor reserves the right to edit letters to meet space requirements, for clarity, or to avoid obscenity, libel or invasion of privacy. The newspaper, along with the writer, is responsible for libelous statements.

Another rule which was established several years ago involves letters discussing politics. Letters discussing general political situations will be considered, but we will not publish letters endorsing or denouncing any specific candidates. We found it necessary to adopt this policy because of a flood of letters, which amounted to political advertising, prior to an election.

Short letters are most likely to be chosen for publication, but the use of any material is at the discretion of the editor. We will not respond to a letter unless requested to do so, or unless the subject involves the newspaper's actions.

Market skid continues

By PATRICIA LAMIELL

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market skidded to its lowest level in six months, with Wall Street professionals divided over just how bad things might get.

The drop continued Monday with waves of selling that reflected apprehension about sharply rising interest rates on bonds, which are now at their highest level since President Clinton took office.

After a roller-coaster day, the Dow Jones industrial average finished 43 points down, at 3,593.35, extending the 139-point drop of the week before. The Dow is at its lowest level since early October.

The Dow is now off nearly 400 points, or 9.7 percent, from its record high of 3,978.36 reached Jan. 31.

Still, the panic-stricken sell-off that many Wall Street professionals had feared after the three-day Easter weekend didn't materialize. On the contrary, buyers emerged during the day to pick up stocks considered bargains.

"We're not selling," said Mark Stumm, chief investment officer at PDI Strategies, a mutual fund firm in Short Hills, N.J. He said the market's drop "gives us a great buying opportunity."

In addition, anecdotal evidence showed that millions of small investors - who have been key to the market's vitality in the past few years - aren't rushing to sell.

"We do not sense any great panic, especially on the stock side," said Raymond Worsack, chief economist at A.G. Edwards & Sons, a St. Louis-based network of brokerages that cater to individual investors. "We don't detect any great groundswell of anxiety."

At Fidelity Investments, the nation's leading purveyor of mutual funds, spokeswoman Jane Jamieson said there was no significant selling. Millions of individuals own stocks through mutual funds.

By the end of the day, several big investment firms were recommending purchases of stocks and bonds, asserting they were underpriced.

At the same time, many investment professionals said the market is likely to remain volatile for some time. Some contend that Wall Street may be entering a bear market - a long slide in stock prices.

Stan Weinstein, a seasoned stock picker who publishes The Professional Tape Reader newsletter in Naples, Fla., has been advising clients that the market is in a bear-market pattern.

Groundwater in county dropped 1.47 feet in '93

Deaf Smith County ground water levels declined an average of 1.47 feet in 1993 in 88 privately-owned wells in the observation well network maintained by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 in its 529,200 acre service area within the county.

This represents a decrease of 116,688 acre-feet of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer last year in the portion of Deaf Smith County within the Water District service area.

"Below-average precipitation during 1993 across most of the Water District service area caused irrigators to apply heavier and more frequent irrigations than usual to replenish soil moisture for the 1993 growing season. This significantly contributed to the decline in ground water levels," said Don McReynolds, High Plains Water District Technical Division Director.

Ground water levels within the Water District's Deaf Smith County service area declined 0.83 of a foot during the 10-year period from 1984 to 1994. An average annual decline of 1.09 feet was recorded during the five-year period from 1989 to 1994.

Ground water levels in the Ogallala Aquifer within the 6.7 million acre Water District service area had an average decline of 1.46 feet from January 1993 to January 1994. This is a net decrease of about 1,467,300 acre-feet of ground water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the Water District service area.

A zero average annual change in ground water levels was recorded for the first time in the Water District's history in 1985. Depth-to-water measurements revealed an average ground water rise of 0.50 of a foot in 1986; an average rise of 0.90 of a foot in 1987; an average decline of 0.51 of a foot in 1988; an average decline of one foot in 1989; an average decline of 1.06 feet in 1990; an average decline of 0.73 of a foot in 1991; and an average rise of 0.14 of a foot in 1992.

A network of 1,174 privately-owned observation water wells is used to determine the annual change in the quantity of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the High Plains Water District. The depth-to-water measurements are taken in January and February of each year in order to allow water levels to stabilize from the pumping during the previous growing season.

By comparing the current depth-to-water measurements with those taken the previous year, McReynolds said, Technical Division staff members can determine what changes have occurred in the ground water levels.

Of the 15 counties or portions of counties making up the High Plains Water District, only Cochran County recorded an average rise in depth-to-water levels in 1993. The counties with average declines in depth-to-water levels in 1993 were: Armstrong, Bailey, Castro, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Parmer, Potter and Randall.

Maps showing the location and well number of observation wells in each county or portion of a county served by the Water District will be published in the April issue of The Cross Section.

Tables listing observation wells in each county within the District and the depth-to-water levels at one-, five- and 10-year intervals also are printed.

Indicators suffer drop in February

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government's chief forecasting gauge of future economic activity suffered its first decline in seven months, the Commerce Department reported today, but much of the weakness was blamed on severe winter weather.

The department's Index of Leading Indicators dipped 0.1 percent in February following a revised 0.4 percent increase in January and a 0.6 percent spurt in December.

Today's report could provide some assurance to jittery investors who have been dumping stocks and bonds

City commissioners uphold zone changes, raise golf fees

By GEORGIA TYLER

Staff Writer

Action by the Hereford City Commission Monday evening upheld the city's zoning board on two requests for changes in zoning.

Golfers were served notice, too, that they will pay more for their use of the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The commission also heard a report on dangerous buildings, approved condemnation proceedings on a building, awarded a contract for seal-coating city streets, approved extension of water and sewer services to property outside the city limits and appointed members of the board of electrical examiners and park and recreation district board.

A request from Edwin Bridges to re-zone his property at 600 Grand was turned down by the commission. Earlier action by the zoning board had denied the change from single family residential to mobile home designation.

Bridges spoke to the commission and read letters from residents of the area in support of his request.

The property owner said there are mobile homes located near his lot.

On a motion by Commissioner Roger Eades, second by Dennis Hicks, the commission voted 3-3 to uphold the zoning board.

Mayor Bob Josserrand, who voted with Eades and Hicks to uphold the decision, advised Bridges that the city code provides for a 6-0 vote to overrule the zoning board.

Voting to allow the change were Commissioners Wayne Winget, Nancy Griego and Carey Black. Commissioner Silvana Juarez was not present.

A zoning change to permit a mobile home to be placed at 816 S. Main was upheld by the commission. A review of the area showed that several mobile homes are located in the area. No objections were raised to the change from single family residential to mobile home designation.

A proposal from the golf course advisory committee on fees was adopted by city ordinance.

Golfers will pay $7 per round on weekdays. Senior citizens' rate will be $5. Both fees represent a $1 increase.

Weekend golfers will continue to pay $10 per round. Golf cart rentals will be increased by 50 cents in each rental category.

Annual membership fees will be raised by $50. A city membership will be $350; out-of-city, $380; senior citizen, $200; junior, $150; husband and wife, $550, and family, $650.

The new fee schedule takes effect on May 1.

David Workman, chairman of the advisory committee, and Dave Kaesheimer, club pro, spoke to the commission in support of the fees.

Marvin Gaddy, city inspector, requested approval of condemnation proceedings on a dangerous building, located at 123 Avenue H. Commissioners voted unanimously for condemnation.

Gaddy also presented information about two other buildings to be declared dangerous. Condemnation may begin later on the buildings at 325 Avenue E and at the rear of 400 Austin Rd.

A Borger firm, E.D. Baker, was awarded a contract for seal-coating of city streets, at a low bid of $90,240. Other bidders were Appian-Jordan of Irving, $95,200; Lewis Construction of Dumas, $104,800, and Lipham Construction of Aspermont, $94,400.

Approximately 20 percent of Hereford's streets will be seal-coated this summer, in line with city policy to seal-coat all streets over a five-year period.

The commission granted permission for city water and sewer service to be extended by request of Tim Hammock. Mayor Josserrand observed that Hammock will be required to pay the cost.

After an executive session of about 18 minutes to consider personnel, the commission named Janie Alejandre and Renee Zinser to the newly-organized parks and recreation district. Re-appointed to the board of electrical examiners were Fred Ruland and Lonnie Skelton.

During the public comments agenda item at the end of the meeting, James Brownlow questioned the need for the city to require bonds of certain construction firms.

"We want to try to stop the fly-by-night operators who do a bad job and leave town," said Mayor Josserrand.

City well-wishers

Clintons take health plan on road

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - President Clinton, suggesting Americans are weary of Whitewater and confused about his health care plan, is opening a new offensive on behalf of that proposal and other domestic programs.

Clinton, fresh from a week-long West Coast vacation and a day of watching baseball and basketball, says he wants to "re-emphasize the basic building blocks" of his plan.

He cited surveys suggesting that Americans are confused about what's in his plan but support its basic goals. As he and first lady Hillary Rodham Clinton were kicking off busy out-of-town schedules to pump up support for the plan, he also found himself confronted with new concerns about the economy in view of the plunging stock market. He called Americans to "just remain calm" after the Dow Jones average plunged 42 points on Monday, the latest in a series of declines.

Clinton today was touring Montgomery Memorial Hospital in Troy, N.C. - about 50 miles east of here. He planned an evening town-hall meeting at a Charlotte television station.

And he begins it refreshed from a day of sporting events - throwing out the first ball at a season-opening baseball game in Cleveland and watching his home-team Arkansas Razorbacks defeat Duke 76-72 to win the NCAA basketball championship here Monday night.

Mrs. Clinton scheduled appearances today in Rochester and Syracuse, N.Y.

Clinton, in one of a series of TV interviews Monday in Cleveland following the American League opener between the Cleveland Indians and the Seattle Mariners, said the public may seem skeptical of his health plan - but appear to want the major goals it embraces.

That includes guaranteed private health insurance for all, he said.

"We're going to go back to the town hall meeting, like we did last year, and once again re-emphasize the basic building blocks of this plan," Clinton said. "We believe that, by doing that, we can build support among the people to encourage Congress to act this year to adopt a responsible plan."

Tonight's town hall meeting in Charlotte is also expected to deal with crime.

He groused a little about coverage of the Whitewater affair, telling another interviewer: "One of the things that bothers people is that's all they hear about."

"I can't do anything about that," he added. "I just have to answer the questions, tell everybody what I know to the best of my ability, and just go on."

"We'll just keep answering the questions, and eventually the special counsel will end his inquiry and we'll be done with it," he said.

He asserted anew that neither he nor Mrs. Clinton had been accused of any wrongdoing.

Asked about the stock market's tumble, Clinton noted, as he has done before, that many professionals had predicted such a decline and viewed it largely as a market "correction" from its recent dizzying heights.

"We'll get through this if everybody will just remain calm and let the market work itself out," Clinton told reporters as he shook hands with well-wishers on his way out of Cleveland.

Aides said Clinton was touring the hospital in Troy because he wanted to focus attention on rural health care problems. The community hospital has no fulltime doctors.

According to the administration, some 34 million people live in rural areas with inadequate health care.

Among other things, his health plan would expand the National Health Service Corps to place at least 3,000 more physicians in rural areas by the year 2000.

Hogs get hugs from President Clinton after downing Duke

By STEVE WILSTEIN
AP Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - A misty-eyed President Clinton hugged every sweat-soaked Arkansas player in a locker room celebration unlike any other in NCAA history.

He gave Corliss Williamson a high-five. He smiled at cries of "Whoooo, Pig, Soocy!" He embraced a shirtless and, momentarily, speechless Nolan Richardson, who made the long journey from high school coach to national champion and finally got all the respect he wanted.

When Clinton came to Scotty Thurman, who sank the shot that beat Duke on Monday night, a desperate 3-pointer with no time on the shot clock and 51 seconds left in the game, the president said simply, "Thank you. That was wonderful."

It was, indeed, a wonderful shot, so much so that Thurman couldn't believe it went in. And it was a game distinguished as much by the quality and ferocity of play from tipoff to final buzzer, the tough defenses and breathless pace, as it was by a president rooting loudly for one team and most of his entourage rooting just as loudly for the other.

"You were terrific out there," Clinton told Williamson, whose 23 points in the 76-72 victory led Arkansas to its first NCAA title.

Williamson, voted the Final Four's most outstanding player, beamed after the presidential hug, then said: "I'll see you at the White House."

"I'm looking forward to it," Clinton responded.

Duke played with all the pride that carried it to two national championships the past four years.

Grant Hill seemed to be everywhere at times, blocking three shots, grabbing 14 rebounds, going to the hoop hard. But he crashed to the floor with a terrible thud in the opening seconds after a rebound, and never found his shooting touch, going only 4-for-11 and scoring 12 points.

Antonio Lang scored 15 and Cherokee Parks, his left knee in a brace because of a strained ligament, added 14.

The Blue Devils, undersized and outmanned by the big, deep Razorbacks, appeared on the verge of an upset as they took a 48-38 lead with 17 minutes left.

"I was worried," Clinton said of Duke's 13-0 run that gave it the big lead. "I was worried the whole week. I was worried to the very end. (The Blue Devils) have a terrific team, and they're so well coached, and they play with heart. And you saw tonight they had almost uniform balance among their scorers."

Richardson wasn't as worried. "We got some kids who know how to win," he said. "And that's the difference. You've got to know how to win. We're down 10, we called timeout, and I said, 'Hey, get your composure back. Got to turn your defense out.'"

"We could never put them away and they could never put us away. There is no greater honor a team can achieve than a national championship. It was a well-fought ballgame between two heavyweights."

The knockout blow was Thurman's 3-pointer that gave Arkansas a 73-70 lead.

"I really had no choice but to put the shot up," said Thurman, who lofted the 22-footer over Duke's Antonio Lang to finish with 15 points.

"I was right on him," said Lang, who came into Arkansas' locker room to congratulate the Razorbacks. "I still don't know how it went in."

"I thought they wore us down a little bit in the second half and there was a chance of them exploding," Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "It was a game somebody won, not one that somebody lost. My emotion right now is one of pride."

"I'm sorry for our seniors, especially because they have led us in so many, many wins, 118 in their college careers, three national championship games."

Clinton jumped up as the final buzzer sounded, punching one fist in the air and waving an Arkansas cap with the other. He stood at the box applauding for several minutes as players and fans swarmed onto the floor to celebrate.

He went into both locker rooms and celebrated with the Razorbacks, hugging players and posing for pictures.

"It was an unbelievable game," Clinton said. "It is the way a national championship ought to be, close to the very end."

Williamson named MVP despite imperfect game

By OWEN CANFIELD
AP Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Corliss Williamson's performance against Duke was, in some respects, less than exemplary. He missed more than half his shots, committed five turnovers and had his hands full with Cherokee Parks.

Even so, it was Williamson who walked off the floor as most outstanding player Monday night following Arkansas' 76-72 victory in the NCAA title game.

The 245-pound sophomore, known as Big Nasty to his coach and teammates, had 23 points and eight rebounds, made amends for his turnovers with three assists and two blocks, and made some big plays when Arkansas needed them most.

"Williamson is a great player,"

Track teams find positive results at Levelland meet

Even though the Hereford's boys' and girls' track teams didn't win the Levelland Invitational track meet held Friday, it was a successful experience for other reasons.

"We improved in nearly every area, improved on all our times," boys' coach Ron Young said. "Once again, we were running against some tough competition, really tough."

Hereford tallied eight points in the tough meet, which was won by San Angelo Lakeview with 151 points. Hereford finished 10th.

But Young compares all track meets before the district meet to the football scrimmages that are played in August: they're just for practice, and the score doesn't count. Young has one game to look forward to—the District 1-4A meet set for April 15-16 in Dumas—and his players have been steadily improving over the course of several scrimmages.

Hereford got its points on three fifth-place finishes and two sixth places. Brandon Gearn got one of each, a fifth in the 100 dash in 10.99 seconds and a sixth in the 200 in 22.83. Hayden Andrews was fifth in the 300 hurdles in 41.87, and Michael Brown was fifth in the triple jump at 41 feet, 2 inches. Marquise Brown took sixth in the 100, in 11.12.

Girls' coach Martha Emerson was missing several athletes because of injuries and Easter vacations, so her team only came away with 46 points, but she got a few pleasant surprises.

One was provided by Jamie Harrison, who turned in a personal best time of 2:37.7 in the 800 run and

Boys' golf team competes well with district opponents

The Hereford boys' golf team finished twelfth in the Amarillo Relays Boys' Golf Tournament, held Friday and Saturday in Amarillo.

Hereford was third, though, among teams from District 1-4A. Hereford shot 366 on Friday at Amarillo Country Club, then shot 373 Saturday at Tascosa Country Club for a total of 739. That kept Hereford just ahead of district competitors Caprock (740), Dumas (743) and Randall (744).

Amarillo High won the tournament, totaling 613. The Sandies were followed distantly by two teams from 1-4A. Borger was second at 666, and Pampa was third at 680.

Between Pampa and Hereford were: Monterey, 684; Wichita Falls, 697; Booker, 700; Tulia, 703; Canyon, 704; Coronado, 707; Tascosa, 711; and Lubbock High, 733.

Individually, Hereford was led by David Sims, who shot an 84 the first day and a 95 the second day for a two-day total of 179. He was joined by: Scott Burkhalter, 92-93--185; Keith Riley, 93-93-186; Justin Griffith, 96-93--189; and Carlos Mendez, 101-98--199.

The individual medalist was Ryan Palmer of Amarillo High, who shot 74-71--145.

The Hereford girls played district rounds Thursday and Friday, and this week they'll play in the girls tournament of the Amarillo Relays Friday and Saturday.

The boys will resume district play with rounds Friday in Dumas and Saturday in Hereford, at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Herd's baseball game put off

The varsity baseball game that Hereford was scheduled to play today in Pampa has been postponed to Thursday because of bad weather in Pampa, boys' athletic director Danny Haney said.

The game will be played at 4:30 p.m.

Hereford's junior varsity baseball team overcame a bad start to beat Plainview 19-13 Monday at Whiteface Field.

Plainview scored seven runs in the second to take a 7-0 lead, but Hereford battled back, took the lead and even threatened to finish the game early by the 10-run rule.

John Marty Galan was the winning pitcher, and Sonny Perez relieved and finished the game.

Tribe opens stadium with win; Jays' rookie Delgado delivers

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

On a day when Randy Johnson almost made pitching history at new Jacobs Field in Cleveland, Carlos Delgado was a big hit at the SkyDome.

Delgado launched a 450-foot drive off a window at the Hard Rock Cafe in right field, leading the Toronto Blue Jays over the Chicago White Sox 7-3 Monday on opening day.

"He was kind of protecting the plate with two strikes on him," teammate Paul Molitor joked. "Wait 'til he really gets a hold of one."

Johnson, meanwhile, almost got a hold of another no-hitter. He held Cleveland hitless for seven innings at its new ballpark before the Indians rallied to beat Seattle 4-3 in 11 innings.

In other games, New York defeated Texas 5-3, Baltimore beat Kansas City 6-3 and Boston downed Detroit 9-8.

Molitor, the World Series MVP, and the rest of the Blue Jays got their championship rings in a pregame ceremony. Then Toronto put on another quality show.

Roberto Alomar hit a three-run homer with two outs in the seventh off Cy Young Award winner Jack McDowell for a 4-2 lead. In the eighth, Delgado and Ed Sprague hit consecutive home runs.

"There's no doubt Robbie's hit was the big one," Molitor said. "It gave us the lead. But the guys are still talking about the one Carlos hit."

Delgado, a converted catcher playing left field, joined shortstop

Alex Gonzalez as rookie starters for the champions. Even with a new lineup, Toronto trounced McDowell.

McDowell (0-1) was 0-2 with a 10.00 ERA against the Blue Jays in last October's AL playoffs. He is 3-7 in regular-season games against Toronto.

"That exact team hasn't been together for my six years," McDowell said. "So it's nothing other than chance."

Juan Guzman (1-0) gave up two runs on seven hits in seven innings. Ron Karkovice homered in the ninth off reliever Greg Cadaret.

Frank Thomas, the AL MVP, went 2-for-4 and scored twice for Chicago. The White Sox, who won the AL West last season, lost their first game as members of the reconfigured AL Central.

Indians 4, Mariners 3
Randy Johnson lost his no-hit bid in the eighth inning, then Seattle lost the game in the 11th.

Johnson, who pitched a no-hitter in 1990, was trying to become the only pitcher besides Bob Feller to pitch a no-hitter on opening day. Feller did it in 1940 for the Indians in Chicago, and was in attendance at Jacobs Field.

Sandy Alomar Jr. singled after a leadoff walk in the eighth for Cleveland's first hit. Manny Ramirez tied it at 2 with a two-run double.

Both teams scored in the 10th, and the Indians won in the 11th when Eddie Murray doubled, advanced on a fly ball and scored on a two-out single off loser Kevin King.

Winning pitcher Eric Plunk retired all four batters he faced. Eric Anthony homered for the Mariners. Yankees 5, Rangers 3

Jimmy Key ran his record to 5-0 in openers, pitching into the eighth inning and helping New York win at home.

Hall of Famer Joe DiMaggio threw out the first ball, and then the Yankees hitters took over. Danny Tartabull and Mike Stanley homered and Wade Boggs had four singles.

Key held Texas to five hits before doubles by Will Clark and David Hulse finished him.

Kevin Brown was the loser. Orioles 6, Royals 3

Rafael Palmeiro homered in his Baltimore debut and newcomer Lee Smith got the last out for a save as the Orioles won at home.

Mike Mussina was the winner, allowing one run on two hits in eight innings.

Mike Devereaux homered for the Orioles off loser Kevin Appier and ninth-place batter Jeffrey Hammonds added an RBI double.

Mike Macfarlane homered for Kansas City. Red Sox 9, Tigers 8

Otis Nixon, signed by Boston to add some speed, scored on a passed ball in the eighth inning to beat Detroit at Fenway Park.

The Red Sox won despite Roger Clemens giving up eight runs in 4 2-3 innings.

Boston rallied for three runs in the eighth against loser Storm Davis. Nixon drew a two-out walk, loading the bases, and Billy Hatcher hit a two-run double that tied it at 8.

Cubs' Rhodes pops 3 homers

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

Find a player with just five homers in 280 big-league at-bats, give him a 22-mph wind blowing out at friendly Wrigley Field and what do you get?

How about a major league record - three homers in his first three at-bats of the season? Say hello to Karl Rhodes, who did the swinging while Hillary Clinton did the singing.

Still, it was a sad song for the Chicago Cubs, who couldn't even manage to beat the New York Mets. Maybe Rhodes should try to supply a little more punch?

"I have to tell you I don't try to hit home runs," he said after joining George Bell as the only player ever to hit three homers on opening day. "I go up there and try to hit line drives."

He hit three of them off New York's Dwight Gooden, but the Mets had too much offense of their own. They opened the season Monday with a 12-8 victory, spoiling the first lady's day and that of Chicago broadcaster Harry Caray.

Rhodes had opposite-field homers in the first, third and fifth innings and Cubs fans littered the outfield with hats after his third homer.

The first lady, who threw out the first ball for her favorite team, was on-key when she and Caray - starting his 50th season behind the mike - harmonized in his ritual seventh-inning singing of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

Elsewhere in the National League on professional baseball's 125th opening day, it was San Francisco 8, Pittsburgh 0; Atlanta 4, San Diego 1; Houston 6, Montreal 5 in 12 innings; Philadelphia 12, Colorado 6; and Cincinnati 5, St. Louis 4, in 10 innings.

"It was typical Wrigley Field," said Gooden, whose career record against the Cubs grew to 27-4 despite giving up seven runs on 11 hits in 5 2-3 innings. Gooden didn't get

Strawberry admits drug problem

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Baseball will have to wait for Darryl Strawberry. He's got a more important assignment that will keep him off the field for an undetermined period.

The latest in a long line of personal problems for Strawberry involves the use of drugs, and treatment apparently will begin immediately. "He's dealing with a problem that goes beyond the game," Dodgers executive vice president Fred Claire said Monday at a Dodger Stadium news conference where many expected the team would announce Strawberry's release, but instead offered him its support.

Astros 6, Expos 5

Mitch Williams was the Wild Thing again. But his new team got him off the hook after he walked home two runs in the 12th inning.

Houston's Jeff Bagwell singled in one run and Ken Caminiti hit a decisive two-run double at the Astrodome.

Williams, who finished 1993 by giving up the World Series-ending home run to Toronto's Joe Carter, relieved to start the 12th with the score tied at 3. After getting two outs and allowing two hits, Williams walked three straight batters.

finished fifth. Those were Hereford's first points in the 800 this year, Emerson said.

Erin Dunn and Krista West each finished second in an event: Dunn in the 100-meter hurdles in 16.21 seconds, and West in the 200 dash in 26.41. Marie Crox took fourth in the 300 hurdles, with a time of 51.42.

Hereford claimed third in two relays, the 800 and the 1,600. The 800 team of West, Crox, Courtney Gearn and Beverly Celaya finished in 1:50.25, and the 1,600 team of West, Gearn, Celaya and Harrison finished in 4:20.2.

Another pleasant surprise for Emerson was the performance of the junior varsity girls, who finished a close second behind Frenship, 141 points to 132, in the JV competition.

The JV boys also did well, accumulating 73 points to take fourth.

NCAA

Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "He's got to be one of top five players in America."

He didn't look like it early, missing his first few shots even though he was able to work his way inside against Parks. He made his first field goal four minutes into the game, then didn't score again for nearly five minutes. It was another seven minutes until he scored again.

"It was kind of hard for me to stay in there mentally, because I was missing some easy shots I thought I should have made," said Williamson, who finished 10 of 24 after shooting 71 percent in his previous eight NCAA tournament games.

"We all had a main goal in our mind, and that was to win a national championship, so in order for that to happen I had to stay focused myself."

Williamson had 10 points at halftime. He opened the second half with a bucket in close and scored again on an inbounds alley oop with

The JV girls won seven events, including Monica Don Juan in the 300 hurdles and 100 hurdles, Danielle Cornelius in the high jump and the shot put, Anna Witkowski in the 200 run and Edna Valdez in the 800.

Witkowski and Don Juan helped the 800 relay to a win, along with Robin Chandler and Christy Haney.

Witkowski also took second in the 100 dash.

Courtney Crawford took third place in three events--the 100 hurdles, the 300 hurdles and the triple jump--and she helped Valdez, Clarissa Ramirez and Karon Harder take third in the 1,600 relay.

Ramirez also took third in the discus. Harder took fourth in the 800 run. Hereford added two fifths: Haney in the 200 and Valdez in the 1,600 run.

The boys picked up several second places, including Jacob Moreno in the 400, Tracy Montano in the high jump and Ralph Claudio in the shot put. Claudio was followed in the shot by Josh Hernandez in third and Lorenzo Martinez in fourth. C.J. Kubacak followed Montano with a third in the high jump.

The 1,600 relay team of Moreno, Todd Radford, Sammy Ruiz and David Hicks also took second.

Moreno took fourth in the long jump, and Hicks took fourth in the triple jump. Montano was fifth in the 110 hurdles, followed by Hicks in sixth. Ruiz was sixth in the 300 hurdles. Radford added a fifth place in the long jump and a sixth place in the triple jump.

The 400 relay team of Ruiz, Radford, Moreno and Freddy Jimenez finished sixth.

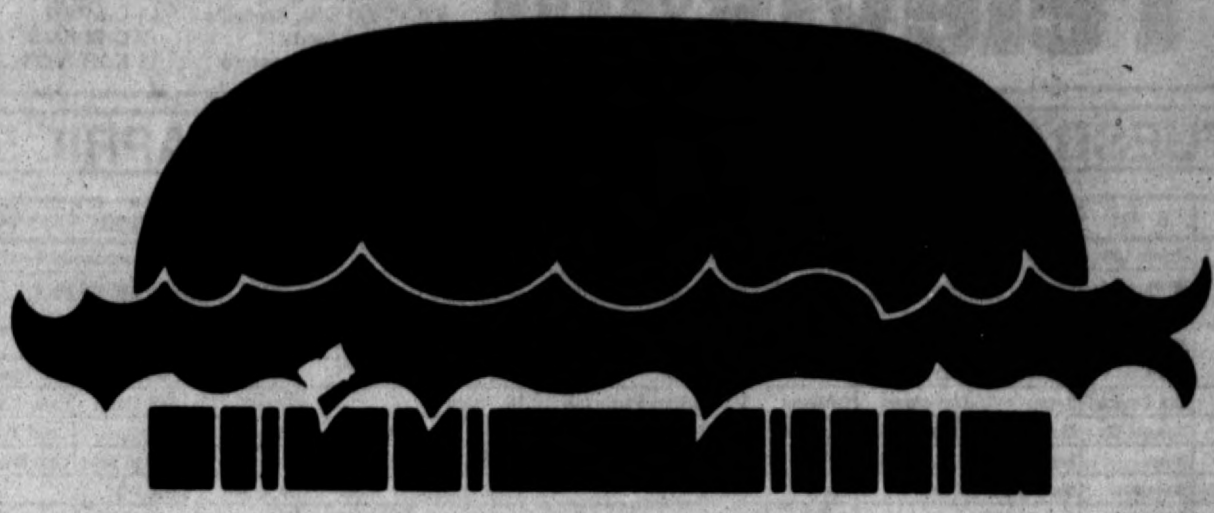

throws and Williamson made one to make it 65-63.

Duke tied it at 65 with 4-1/2 minutes left before Williamson took things into his hands on consecutive possessions. He scored inside, then widened the margin to five with a nifty three-point play.

On the play, Dwight Stewart tried a 3-pointer, but his shot was deflected by Hill. Williamson, standing with his back to the shooter, outjumped Parks to grab the ball and then went up and was fouled by Jeff Capel.

"I knew when the shot went up, it looked like Grant had tipped it and looked like it was going to come short," Williamson said. "I jumped up and, fortunately for me, the ball came right in my hands."

A few minutes later, Williamson ran the floor to block an inside shot by Capel that would have given Duke a 72-70 lead. Arkansas eventually got a 3-pointer by Scotty Thurman to take the lead for good, 73-70.

A Brand movie review '8 Seconds' graphic story of death in the arena

BY RICK LANNING
Staff Writer

Good movies, like good stories, usually have a simple plot. Like "8 Seconds," the story of a bull rider that is currently playing at the Varsity Theatre in Canyon.

Hereford residents for the most part will be familiar with Lane Frost, the bull rider whose life and death are depicted in the film.

Frost followed in the tradition of Larry Mahan, six times World champion bull rider and all-around cowboy who starred in an award-winning docu-drama, "The All-American Cowboy."

What makes Frost's story different is that while Mahan lived to sell Larry Mahan boots, shirts, and other western clothing, Frost didn't.

He died when a non-descript Brahma bull, in an arena in Oklahoma, gored him and left him bleeding in the dust.

Anyone who has been around rodeo people for any length of time realizes you aren't born a rodeo cowboy -- you learn it through trial, hard work, and pain.

Frost comes across in the film as a gregarious, enthusiastic person who wants to be the best in the only business he knows -- bull riding.

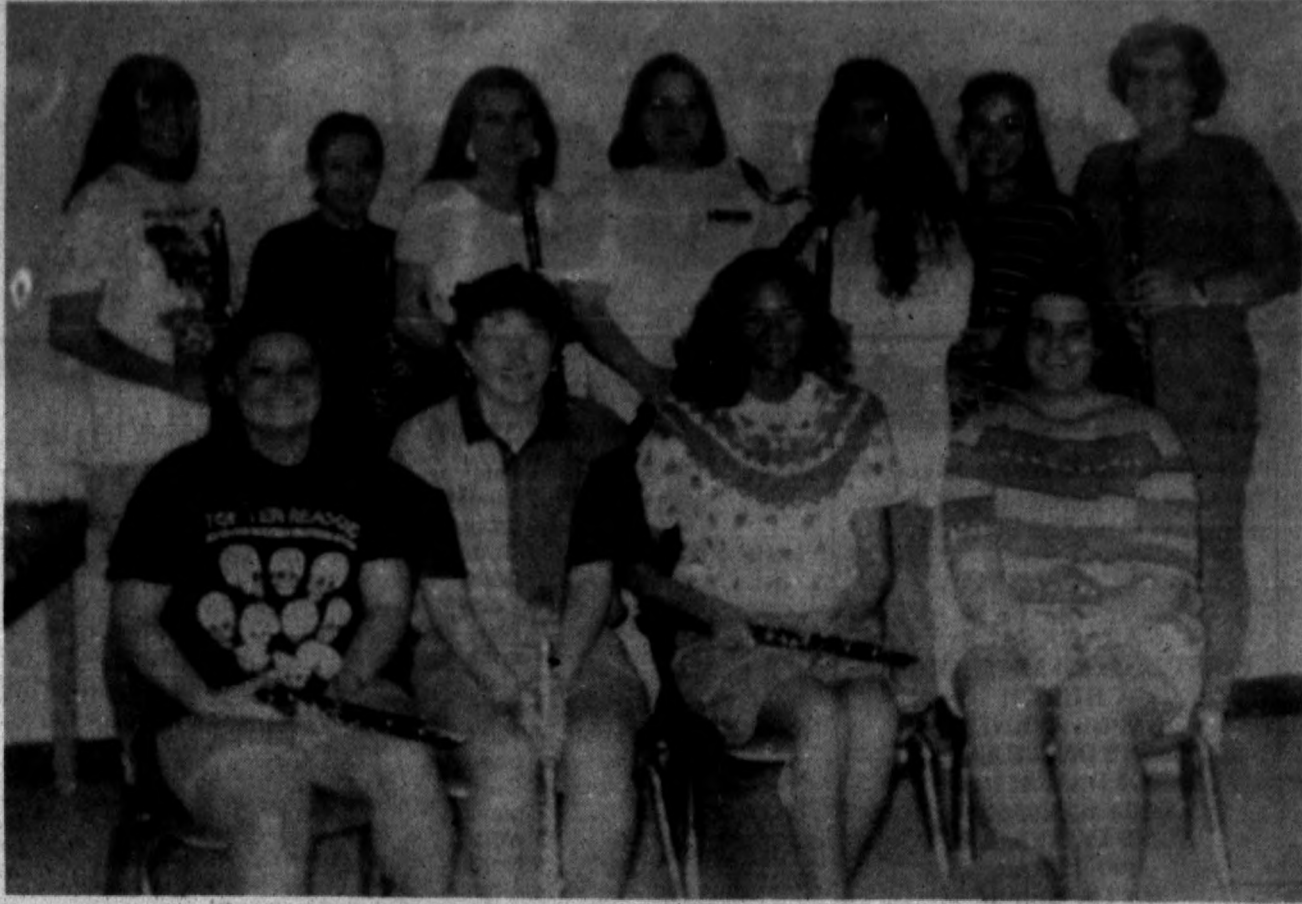

He is a crowd pleaser, signing autographs for kids, trying for his father's affection and praise, and trying to make a go of a marriage to an attractive barrel racer.

Hereford folks will recognize the people in "8 Seconds." They'll understand how two young people who are very much in love can pull apart when the demands of acclaim, fame, and big money on the rodeo circuit wedge between them.

And they'll feel the pain of loss when the young world champion bull rider tries to ride a brahma he has no business being on -- and is killed.

The film I watched with my date Friday night had serious problems with the sound-track. I hope the Varsity Theatre management has been able to overcome them because they were a serious distraction to a good story.

Show times for "8 Seconds" are 7 and 9 p.m. nightly, with a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday. Admission for adults is $2 and for children 18 and under is $1.

UIL contest winners

Several Hereford High School students recently captured a one rating on a Class I woodwind choir division during the UIL contest held at West Texas A&M University. The students will compete in the state contest June 1 in Austin. Among those honored were (front row, seated from left) Sara Melendrez, alto clarinet; Windy Westman, flute; Misty Dudley, clarinet; Mere Denton, flute; (back row, from left) Sara Melendrez, alto clarinet; Allison Farr, clarinet; Gina Brisendine, clarinet; Lori Crofford, bass clarinet; Amy Lisano, clarinet; Edna Delgado, clarinet; and Becky Bridges, clarinet. Not pictured are Randy Sorenson, who played the bassoon, and Jodi Wallace, bass clarinet.

Is cancer cure coming?

There is new hope in the battle against cancer these days and it's thanks to the work done by dedicated young scientists and the contributions of concerned Americans to cancer research.

One hundred percent of every contribution to the Cancer Research Fund of the Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Foundation, for instance, goes to cancer research. It supports young scientists such as Jennifer A. Punt, VMD, Ph.D. Working at the National Cancer Institute, she is researching thymocytes (young T cells) and why some mature but most die off.

Since 1946, the Foundation has awarded more than $79 million in grants and fellowships to some 2,400 young scientists. You can make a donation by writing the Cancer Research Fund of the Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Foundation, 131 East 36th St., New York, NY 10016.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: While using old newspapers to pack up my dishes, I came across your column asking readers who had written you for advice to write again and tell you "how it turned out." Here's my contribution:

When I was 13, I wrote about my romantic feelings toward other girls my age. I said all my friends were getting interested in boys, but I was attracted to my girlfriends. You said that I shouldn't be concerned, that my feelings were part of a phase I was going through and that those feelings would pass.

Well, "those feelings" didn't pass, even though I did everything possible to deny them. I drank and took drugs in an effort to stifle those feelings. I became promiscuous with men in order to prove that I wasn't a "sexual pervert" -- the words I found in the dictionary under the definition of "lesbian."

Eventually, I came to accept my sexuality. Today, at 40, I am a recovering alcoholic and drug addict with six years of sobriety and many hours of therapy behind me. My life is a positive adventure and I am enjoying the journey.

I hope that today, when another 13-year-old girl writes to you and asks what to do about her sexual feelings toward other girls, you explain it MAY be a phase, and then again, it may not be. Tell her that if she is indeed a lesbian, there are other girls in the world just like her, and she is not alone. Please let her know there are support groups for young boys and girls who feel the way she does.

Thanks for giving me the opportunity to let you know how your advice turned out... "Different" in Ohio

DEAR OHIO: True, I missed the diagnosis in your case, but I'm not about to tell a 13-year-old that he or she may be homosexual. Thirteen is too early to tell for certain.

I appreciate your writing, however, and am pleased that you view your life as a positive adventure and are enjoying the journey. The "itinerary," you know, was established when you were born.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently printed a letter from a teenage boy who was afraid of losing his hair. You responded, "I suspect you are going to end up with less hair than you'd like, so you'd better get used to the idea."

I have been a hairdresser for 13 years, and whenever people come in and complain of hair loss, especially if it's in large quantities, whether young or old, I always recommend that they see their doctor.

Hair loss is not always genetic. It can sometimes be due to a vitamin deficiency, stress or the use of steroids, or it can be the symptom of a medical problem.

Please inform your readers, male and female, that if they notice any major change in their hair (thinning, breakage, excessive dryness, etc.) that is not caused by perms, coloring or other chemicals, they should consult a physician at once.--Ruth in Jefferson City, Mo.

DEAR RUTH: Thank you and all the others who wrote for picking up the ball when I dropped it. Hair loss should indeed be investigated, and I am indebted to you for suggesting that I pass the word.

Gem of the Day: The best way to find a use for something is to have thrown it out last week.

Is that Ann Landers column you clipped years ago yellow with age? For a copy of her most frequently requested poems and essays, send a self-addressed, long, business-like envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c.o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - A

17-year-old woman is suing Timothy Busfield, accusing the former "thirtysomething" actor of sexually assaulting her when she was working as a movie extra.

Busfield denied the allegation and filed a countersuit Thursday in Los Angeles, accusing the woman's lawyers of extortion and defamation.

The young woman said Busfield invited her into his trailer on the set of "Little Big League" last fall, gave her beer, propositioned her, massaged her feet and fondled her.

Her lawsuit seeks at least $50,000 in damages.

It could not immediately be determined if the woman filed a complaint with police.

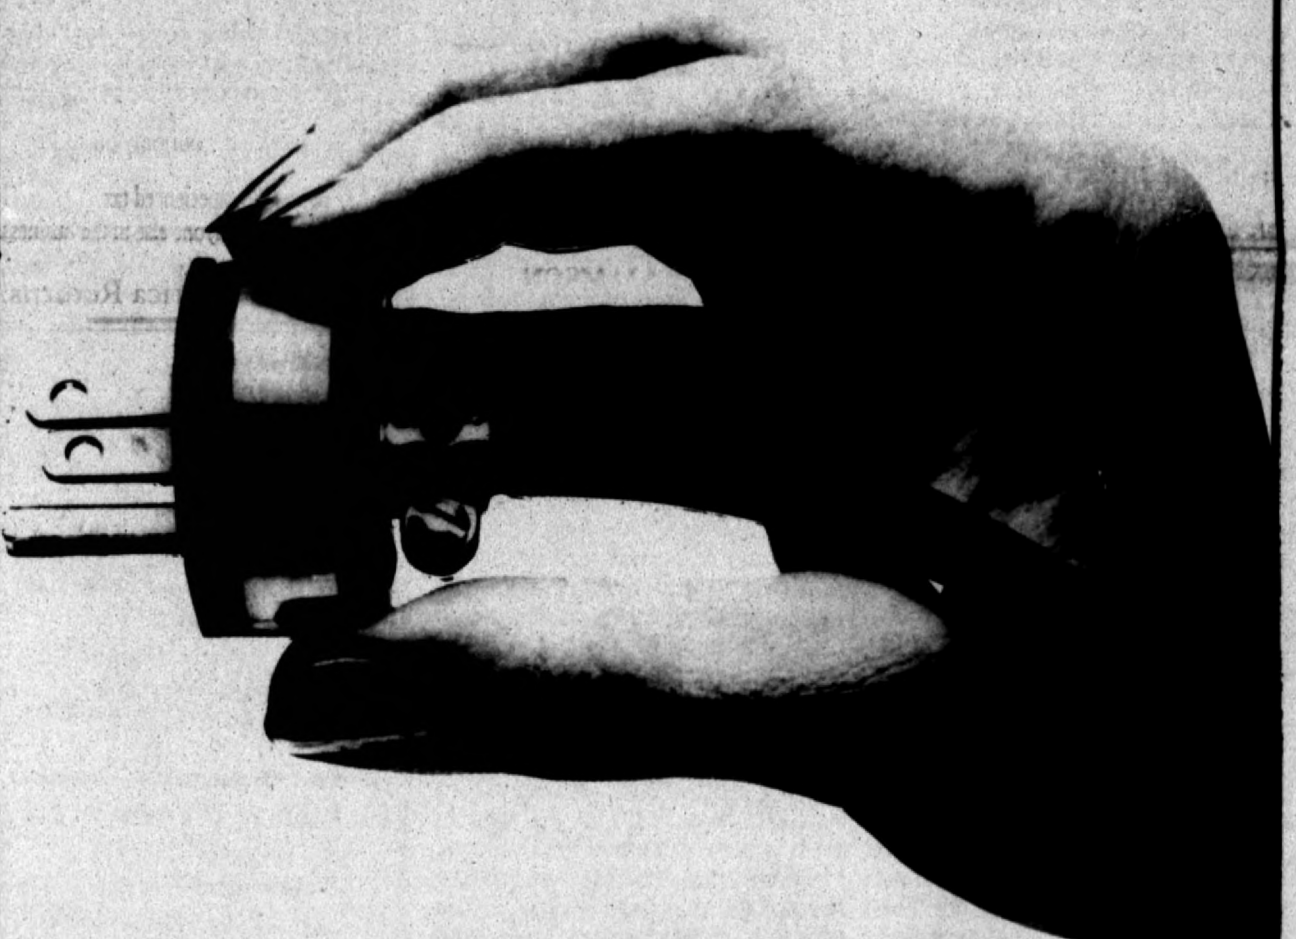

The woman is also suing former Minnesota Vikings player Keth Henderson, who had a role in the movie. She said Henderson assaulted her after she and a friend accepted a ride in his car.

Henderson was charged with criminal sexual conduct a month ago. He pleaded innocent.

Busfield stars in ABC's "The Byrds of Paradise."

A hurricane slammed into the Florida Keys in 1935 with 200 mile-an-hour winds, claiming 423 lives.

Former S&L employee works for government

By RICHARD KEIL
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) - A lawyer at Hillary Rodham Clinton's former law firm who is doing government savings and loan cleanup work was employed previously by the failed Arkansas S&L now at the center of the Whitewater controversy.
 According to a federal official familiar with the case, Patricia J. Heritage, now an attorney at the Rose Law Firm in Little Rock, Ark., prepared records of board meetings at a subsidiary of Madison Guaranty Savings and Loan Association.
 Heritage said in an interview Monday with The Associated Press that she had prepared the minutes of board meetings for Madison Financial Corp., the real estate subsidiary of Madison Guaranty, under the guidance of John Latham, a top official at the S&L.
 Federal regulators have questioned whether those minutes may have been falsified, noting that other S&L documents appear to contradict the official version in the minutes.
 "All I was told to do was to memorialize the meetings that took place between Jim (McDougal) and John Latham (another Madison official)," Heritage said. "I did that, checking accounting records, and land purchases, and I recorded them as needed."

 Heritage, who never has been accused of any wrongdoing, also said she has cooperated with special counsel Robert Fiske. Fiske is probing the failure of Madison and whether depositor funds were diverted to the Whitewater Development Corp., a real estate venture in which President and Mrs. Clinton, along with James McDougal, the S&L's owner, were partners.
 Heritage also said she left Madison in 1987 after serving as an administrative assistant to S&L officials. Investigators did not begin poring over the records prepared by Heritage until after Madison's 1989 failure.
 In the interim, Heritage went to law school, and subsequently was hired by the Rose firm, where Mrs. Clinton was a partner.
 Russia's Peter the Great imposed a tax on beards in 1698.

U.S. crayon recall identifies 11 brands containing lead

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) - The Consumer Product Safety Commission today recalled 11 brands of crayons imported from China - including one brand sold by the Toys 'R' Us chain - because they contain lead.
 "Throw these crayons in the trash or take them back to the store for a refund," said Ann Brown, chairman of the commission.
 CPSC said three of the brands "contain enough lead to present a lead poisoning hazard to young children who might eat or chew on the crayons."
 They are "121 Jumbo Crayons," distributed by Concord Enterprises of Los Angeles; "Safe 48 Non-Toxic I'm a Toys 'R' Us Kid! Crayons," distributed by that firm; and "12 Crayons, glory" and "18 Crayons That Paint," distributed by Glory Stationery Manufacturing Co. Ltd, Los Angeles.

The latter crayons also include the legend "Conforms ASTM D-4236" the CPSC said, which is supposed to be an indication that the formula has been reviewed by a toxicologist.
 The other eight brands, CPSC said, "do not contain enough lead to increase the blood level above the threshold level for lead poisoning" for a child typically chewing on small pieces of lead-containing crayons over a span of time.
 "However, CPSC is very concerned about these crayons because they add to the overall 'lead load' to children who may eat them," the agency said.
 Those brands are:
 -"64 Crayons, School Quality No. 8064," A.J. Cohen Distributors, Hauppauge, N.Y.
 -"64 Crayons, CR 64-64 CT," Baum Imports, New York.
 -"12 Super Jumbo Crayons," Dynamic Division of Agora International, St. Albans, N.Y.
 -"8 Crayons, No. 5 CL 850,"

Dynamic Division of Agora International, St. Albans, N.Y.
 -"Fun Time 72 Crayons, No. B541," Overseas United, New York.
 -"64 Crayons, Kidz Biz," Bargain Wholesale, Los Angeles.
 -"64 Crayons, SKU51-02600," Universal International, Minneapolis.
 -"Feido, 12 Crayons, No. CC8812," Kipp Brothers, Inc. Indianapolis.
 CPSC said parents should buy only crayons and other children's art materials carrying the label "Conforms to ASTM D-4236" or similar words.
 "In the case of the crayons imported by Glory Stationery Manufacturing Limited, it was inappropriate for the crayons to be thus labeled because they contain hazardous levels of lead.
 Lead has long been recognized as a hazardous substance, especially to young children and infants. It can cause irreversible brain damage and can impair mental functioning.

Scholarship applications being taken

Applications are now being accepted from high school seniors and junior and senior college students for two $500 college scholarships, Hereford Brand publisher Speedy Nieman has announced.
 The Brand is a member of the West Texas Press Association, the world's largest press organization because of the wide geographic area it encompasses. The association will present scholarships to two future journalists whose career goals include working with a community newspaper.
 Through the Bob Craig Memorial Scholarship program, named in honor of longtime Hamlin Herald publisher Bob Craig, who died in 1981, a graduating high school senior and a college student will each be presented with a $500 scholarship.

 The scholarship will be divided into payments of $250 per semester for two semesters for each of the two winners, who must be enrolled in at least three hours of college or university journalism courses each semester that the scholarship is awarded.
 Each applicant must fill out an application form and write an essay based on the theme "My Future and Career Plans in Community Journalism."

 Application forms have been sent to member newspapers and high schools throughout the West Texas region and to college journalism departments throughout the state. Application forms are available at the Brand office, 313 N. Lee.
 Applications and essays may be sent to M. Gene Dow, WTPA Scholarship Chairman, P.O. Drawer 1200, Seminole, Texas 79360. They must be postmarked by June 15.
 Recipients will be chosen by WTPA directors and announced at the group's annual convention, July 21-23, in Wichita Falls.
