High winds whip through Hereford

From Brand, AP reports
Trees throughout Hereford lost small branches, at least two full-size trees bit the dust and the sky turned dirt-brown on Monday as heavy winds whipped through the area.

The Hereford Municipal Airport reported continuous winds of 50-55 mph throughout the afternoon, said spokeswoman Donna Smith.

A peak gust of 76 mph was reported at 1:20 p.m. However, Smith said, that is not the highest ever. A few years ago, she said, the airport noted a gust of 81 mph.

The wind caused the loss of one tree on Liveoak when Dr. Nadir Khuri lost -- ironically -- an oak tree to the winds.

Another tree was discovered lying in a parking lot at Sixth Street and Miles with evidence of saw marks on the trunk. However, it was unknown if the tree blew over and was cut down the rest of the way, or if the owners were hewing it and the wind finished the job.

The high temperature Monday was 69 degrees, with an overnight low Tuesday of 41 degrees.

Across the rest of the state, more severe weather was possible across North Texas through tonight in the wake of violent weather that spawned tornadoes and killed 7-9 people in the Dallas suburb of Lancaster and caused widespread damage in the adjoining town of DeSoto.

Fallen tree

This tree, seen in a parking lot at Sixth and Miles on Monday, may or may not have been a direct victim of high winds that whipped through the area. The trunk shows evidence of having been sawn, but it was uncertain if the wind blew it part-way down and was cut the rest of the way, or if the owners were cutting it down and the wind finished the job. Hereford recorded sustained winds of 50-55 mph during the afternoon, with a peak gust of 76 mph recorded at 1:20 p.m.

Commissioners to buy graders

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Purchase of five new road graders was approved by Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday, but a proposal for a service to bring the county into compliance with state records managements law was set aside.

Commissioners' Court also approved bids for liability insurance for public officials and law enforcement personnel, discussed improving signs on county roads and went through a preliminary budget prepared by County Auditor Alex Schroeter.

One road maintainer is earmarked for use in Precinct 4 while Precincts 1 and 3 will use two each.

Commissioners will take advantage of the Caterpillar buy-back program which provides guaranteed value on trade-in within five years.

Commissioner Tony Castillo of Precinct 1 will trade in two motorgraders for a net cost of $112,702, plus $2,000 guaranteed maintenance. Bid from West Texas Caterpillar for the new equipment was $239,648.

Trade-ins of Precinct 3 equipment are two graders and an engine with a net cost of $81,680, plus $2,000 maintenance. The bid cost of the equipment, before trade-in, was $243,830.

A bid of $119,824 was submitted by the company for the Precinct 4 road maintainer. After trade-in, the cost will be $22,075, plus guaranteed maintenance of $1,000.

A proposal was received from Hart Forms and Services for on-site assessment of county records now held in all offices.

State law requires that county offices develop and file a records control schedule by Jan. 2, 1995.

Estimated fee submitted for the service is $22,200 to $27,800.

County Judge Tom Simons suggested that county officials decide if the job could be accomplished with county employees for extra pay on weekends.

Commissioners took no action on the proposal.

A 26 percent increase in cost of liability insurance for law enforcement personnel and a 27 percent increase for elected officials were reflected in a bid submitted by the Texas Association of Counties.

The law enforcement premium will be $26,928 for the next year and the public official premium will be $9,367. Last year, the costs were $21,391 and $7,307, respectively.

Jay Spain, Hereford fire marshal, asked commissioners to look at ways to improve placement and paint on country road signs.

Spain brought the matter to the attention of county authorities because the City of Hereford contracts with the county for fire calls. Spain said many of the signs installed a few years ago have faded and some have disappeared.

"In two years, Deaf Smith County will go to enhanced 911 service and roads must be marked and numbers placed on homes," Spain said.

"We need to plan and work it in," he added.

Commissioners examined proposed spending for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, as prepared by Schroeter. Several changes were suggested before the commission goes over the budget again.

City commissioners review variety of issues at session

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Continuing projects and day-to-day operations of the City of Hereford were reviewed by the City Commission, after a two-hour golf course tour, Saturday morning.

During a work session, the commission:

-- Heard an explanation of duties of office staff at City Hall.

-- Received a report on progress of the parks and recreation district committee.

-- Discussed a proposal on bonding for contractors.

-- Talked about an increase in weekend greens fees at the golf course.

-- Agreed for three commissioners to serve on a water rights committee.

Moving around the John Pitman Golf Course by golf cart, the commission was briefed on measures being taken to improve the course.

Mary Haun, greenskeeper, explained the efforts being used by her staff to improve both greens and fairways. New sprinkler heads were installed in some areas to distribute water more evenly, she reported.

She said aerification has helped irrigation be more effective over the course. Haun told the commission that she expects more improvements to be apparent within a few weeks.

Dave Kaesheimer, golf pro at the course, accompanied the commission, also, describing other projects undertaken at the course, including the driving range.

During the work session at City Hall, Commissioner Dennis Hicks reported on response of entities involved in organizing the parks and recreation district.

He said a budget is being studied and a "bump in the road" may be the expense of employing a director for the district.

Hicks said "there has to be someone in charge" if PARD is to succeed. He said further information will be presented the commission at a later date.

"Everyone seems receptive -- the county, Kids, Inc., YMCA, schools, Hereford Sports Association -- to the idea," Hicks added.

Three city office staff employees, Karen Bankston, Dolores Hernandez and Becky Reinart, were guests during the meeting, explaining the day-to-day operation of the office. Another employee, Janie Gomez, could not attend because of a death (See CITY, Page 10)

Nixon to make final journey to California

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN
Associated Press Writer

YORBALINDA, Calif. (AP) - The pattern of ruin and renewal that defined Richard Nixon repeats itself in his final journey.

The same Boeing 707 that took the 37th president home after he resigned rather than face impeachment over the Watergate scandal was to carry his body to California from New York today for a lavish state funeral in the town of his birth.

Nixon, who spent a political lifetime battling Democrats, will be buried Wednesday on the grounds of his childhood home. One of the eulogies will come from President Clinton, the baby boom Democrat who protested Nixon's Vietnam War policies as a student in Britain. First lady Hillary Rodham Clinton was a lawyer on the House Judiciary (See NIXON, Page 10)

Whatever the words, the circus is coming

On Wednesday, Hereford will receive a visit by kinkers, rubber cows, joeys and the Governor. It's not a political convention -- the Circus is coming to town.

The circus, over its centuries-long history, has developed a language all its own. Kinkers (performers), rubber cows (elephants), joeys (clowns) and the Governor (Circus Manager) are examples of this descriptive circus lingo.

When Carson & Barnes Five-Ring Circus arrives here on Wednesday to set up at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn grounds for shows at 4:30 p.m. and 8 p.m., residents will be hearing other examples of this specialized language.

Another name for elephants in circus lingo is "bulls," although all of the elephants that travel with the show are females. There are some 20 of them with the big show and they will be unloaded, water and fed on circus morning. Then they will help erect the massive Big Top.

The circus invites everyone to the grounds on Wednesday morning to see the 100 exotic and domestic animals which also will be unloaded as the huge trucks carrying them arrive one by one.

This morning set-up is a free show that is fast disappearing from the American Scene. Carson & Barnes is the last big circus in America maintaining this schedule of one-day stands, turning an empty field into a glittering circus city in a matter of hours.

For reference, here are some more circus words you might hear when you visit Carson & Barnes: "butcher," a circus vendor; "Cats," all lions and tigers; "High Grass Show," a circus like Carson & Barnes that performs under the Big Top in small- and medium-sized communities; "Spec," the big-themed parade during the big show, usually as an introduction for the Aerial Ballet; "cookhouse," the tent where all circus personnel eat; "First of May," the term used to describe a new employee; "Cherry Pie," an extra job to be done; "donniker," the circus rest rooms; and "Sunday School Show," a clean and neat family-oriented show like Carson & Barnes Circus.

Advance tickets for the show are available through today at several local businesses at reduced prices. They are being sold at the chamber office, The Atrium, K-Bob's Steakhouse, Troy's Sweet Shop and The Hereford Brand.

On Wednesday, the only place to get tickets will be at the Circus Box Office.

Touring the course

Hereford City Commissioners began a work session Saturday with a tour of the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course. Golf Pro Dave Kaesheimer, driving center cart with passenger, Mayor Bob Josseland, and Mary Haun, greenskeeper, driving cart at left, explained ongoing improvements at the course.

Monica Caperton captured top honors Saturday in the Junior Miss Hereford Pageant, topping a field of 11 contestants in grades seven through nine. She is the daughter of Doug and Nancy Caperton. First runner-up was Melissa Hammock, daughter of Tim and Renee Hammock, while Emily Marie Fry, daughter of Dr. Stan and Beckie Fry was second runner-up. The competition was the last of four for the evening in which 73 girls took part in the four contests.

Two dozen girls in grades four through six took part in Saturday's Little Princess Pageant, held in the Hereford High School auditorium. When the competition was over, Laci Nicole Black, daughter of Carey and Cindy Black, was declared the winner. First runner-up was Kristin Lynn Casey, daughter of Butch and Sherri Casey. Second runner-up was Candice Fay Huckins, daughter of Aaron and Sherri Huckins.

Birthday party hosted by club

Members of the Cultural Family Community Education Club recently entertained the residents of Golden Plains Care Center with a birthday party.

Yves Davila was honored as the "birthday boy of the month." Cake and punch were served to residents and staff members.

Those assisting with the party were club members, Jewell Hargrave, Nell Pope, Perry Keyes, Naomi Hare, Vernis Parsons and Toni Vaughn.

The next regular club meeting is scheduled May 13 at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

On November 30, 1925, photographs were first transmitted from London to New York by wireless telegraph. It took 20 to 25 minutes to transmit each photograph.

New Arrivals

Fred and Sharon Fangman of Hereford are the parents of a son, Chad William, born April 19, 1994, in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. He weighed 7 lbs.

The infant is welcomed by two sisters, Michelle, 4, and Renae, 3.

Grandparents are Eugene and Elsie Fangman of Vega and Frank and Dolores Bromman of Hereford. Great-grandmothers are Adeline Loerwald and Margaret Bromman, both of Hereford.

NEW YORK (AP) - Sylvester Stallone isn't into long goodbyes.

When he wanted to break off his 5-1/2-year relationship with model Jennifer Flavin last month, he sent the painful news by Federal Express.

"He sent me a six-page handwritten letter," Flavin told People magazine for its May 2 issue. "It was pretty sloppy."

Flavin's agent told her Stallone was having an affair with model-photographer Janice Dickinson, who gave birth in February to a daughter reported to be Stallone's.

"It hit me like a ton of bricks," Flavin said of the breakup. "I had no idea this was going to happen. We talked about us having children, about when I was going to get pregnant. We were already picking names, marking down names that he liked and I liked."

Stallone, in Miami for filming of the movie "The Specialist," wouldn't comment on his private life, the magazine said.

"I saw crow's feet yesterday, and there wasn't a bird in sight."

Weishaar, Sandoval make semis at regional tourney

Hereford's tennis doubles team of Brooke Weishaar and Kara Sandoval advanced to the semifinals at the Region I-4A Tennis Tournament Monday in San Angelo.

The Hereford duo received the No. 4 seed and a first-round bye. They won in the second round, 7-6(8-6), 6-4, over Vanessa Blanco and Nitaya Thammasitboon of Fort Stockton.

After the tie-breaker in the first set, the Hereford pair got down 2-0 in the second set, Hereford coach Ed Coplen said, before bouncing back and avoiding a third set.

In today's semifinals, they were to face the No. 1 seeds, Carrie Helbing and Suzanne Singleton of Wichita Falls High. The tournament was to conclude today. Though Coplen said Weishaar and Sandoval played well, Weishaar was more critical.

"We were nervous, kind of tense," she said. "We didn't play as well as we can."

Borger's Lyndee McNeese and Lacey Jordan were seeded No. 3, but they lost in the second round. They had beaten Weishaar and Sandoval for the district championship on April 16.

A few area players were still alive through two rounds: Dawna Denny of Borger in girls' singles; Zach Gibson of Plainview in boys' singles; and Brooks Gentry and Stephan Bressler of Pampa in boys' doubles.

Fullback dive

Pampa's Matt Garvin (right), who played fullback in the fall for the Harvesters, seemed to think it was fourth-and-goal at the one yard line during this steal attempt. Herd catcher Scott Ahola made a strong throw, and second baseman Chris Vallejo (left) was waiting with the ball long before Garvin got there. Hereford beat Pampa, 11-7, Saturday in Hereford.

Girls' golf team stands in seventh at regionals

The Hereford girls' golf team stands in seventh place after the first day of the two-day Region I-4A Golf Tournament in San Angelo.

Hereford totaled 389 Monday at Bentwood Country Club. Andrews' A team set the pace with a 321, and Snyder is second at 338. Stephenville is third at 377, leading a tightly-bunched pack: the third-through ninth-place teams are bunched within 22 strokes of each other.

Hereford coach Stacey Bixler said that the wind was blowing hard all day. But considering the wind and the tough Bentwood course, the scores weren't all that bad.

Kelly Kelso led Hereford by shooting 90, and she stands 12th individually. Karen Manchec and Stephanie Bixler both shot 99, Krista Beville had a 101, and Kristin Calkins had a 104.

"On the first nine (holes) we didn't play too well--anybody or as a team," coach Bixler said. "On the back nine, we came back and had a 42, a 44, a 45...we played better on the back nine."

"A lot of it was nerves, and the pressure, and just being there (for the first time). Other than Kelly, none of these girls have really played here, except for the practice round."

The tournament was to conclude today with another round at Bentwood. The top two teams advance to the state tournament.

Girls' standings: 1, Andrews A, 321; 2, Snyder, 338; 3, Stephenville, 377; 4, Borger, 381; 5, Andrews B, 383; 6, Granbury, 388; 7, Hereford, 389; 8, Lamesa, 394; 9, Burkburnett, 399; 10, Fort Worth Arlington Heights, 415; 11, Justin Northwest, 439.

District 1-4A is making a good showing in the boys' competition, as Borger is second and Pampa is fourth.

Boys: 1, Andrews, 303; 2 (tie), Borger and Plainview, 304; 4, Pampa, 307; 5, Burkburnett, 311; 6, Granbury, 313; 7, Snyder, 320; 8, Monahans, 322; 9, Justin Northwest, 328; 10, FW Arlington Heights A, 329; 11, Brownwood, 332; and 12, FW Arlington Heights B, 410.

Herd holds off Harvesters

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Like the famous wristwatch, Ray Hastings took a licking and kept on ticking.

Before the Hereford baseball team could escape with an 11-7 win over Pampa Saturday at Whiteface Field, Hastings, the Herd's starting pitcher, had to pass a test.

He had cruised through the first five innings, scattering five hits and two walks, while the Herd offense built an 8-1 lead. In the sixth, though, the Harvesters sent 11 men to the plate and made things interesting.

It started with a walk and a hit batsman, but after one out, six of the next seven batters got a hit, interrupted only by a strikeout. Danny Frye hit a two-run double, Matt Garvin had an RBI double, and Tony Cavalier's two-run single moved the Harvesters to within 8-7. With two on, No. 3 hitter Greg Moore grounded out to shortstop.

Herd coach J.J. Villarreal left Hastings on the mound "because we had the lead," he said simply.

The Pampa rally, frightening at the time to Herd supporters, turned out to be anti-climactic. Hereford came back with three insurance runs in the bottom of the sixth, and Hastings got the Harvesters to fall 1-2-3 in the seventh inning.

Hereford improved to 5-1-1 in District 1-4A (11-9-1 overall) and could clinch its first playoff berth since 1989 with a win over Caprock today in Amarillo. The game was to start at 5:30.

Caprock (2-5, 8-13) has lost its last three games to Borger, Randall and Dumas by a composite score of 38-5.

Villarreal, who's turned the Hereford baseball program around in his first year as head coach, kept his composure.

"That's (making the playoffs) been a goal we've had all year long," Villarreal said. "We've taken one game at a time, and that's just a situation we're in right now."

Pampa fell to 1-6 and 12-9, thanks largely to the Hereford bats.

Hereford totaled 14 hits and scored in all but one inning.

Scott Ahola and Armando Zambrano had RBI singles in the first, and Andrew Tijerina drove another home with a groundout, as Hereford got out to a 3-1 lead. (Pampa's Moore tripled and scored in the top of the first).

In the third, Michael Marquez' single drove home Zambrano. In the fourth, Chris Vallejo doubled and Tanner Murphey singled, and both came home on sacrifice flies, by Jacob Lopez and Ahola.

Vallejo's triple plated Marquez and Stacey Sanders in the fifth. In the sixth, Tijerina and Zambrano singled, Hastings drove a run home with a groundout, and Zambrano scored when Marquez reached on an error. Sanders' triple plated Marquez and capped the scoring.

"I thought the kids hit the ball well," Villarreal said. "They hit the ball on the ground and hit line drives, just like we coached them, and it led to some success."

In the second game of Saturday's doubleheader, Hereford's junior varsity team fell to Pampa's JV 11-5.

M's Johnson outduels Clemens

By The Associated Press

As long as he has Ken Griffey Jr. on his side, Randy Johnson always stands a good chance against Roger Clemens.

Johnson outpitched Clemens in just the second matchup between the strikeout ace, and the Seattle Mariners beat Boston 4-2 Monday night, stopping a six-game winning streak by the Red Sox.

Griffey, as usual, feasted on Clemens' fastballs. Griffey went 3-for-3 with a solo homer off Clemens, making him 15-for-33 (.455) with two home runs in his career against him.

Johnson (2-1) pitched a five-hitter and struck out nine. Clemens (2-1) gave up six hits in seven innings.

In other games, Milwaukee beat Chicago 13-4, New York defeated California 11-1, Baltimore beat Oakland 8-6, Kansas City topped Toronto 4-3 and Minnesota downed Cleveland 9-7. The game between Detroit and Texas was rained out.

In the National League, Florida downed Atlanta 4-3, Cincinnati beat Chicago 4-3 in 10 innings, Houston beat Pittsburgh 7-3 and Colorado beat St. Louis 7-6. The rest of the NL was off.

Astros 7, Pirates 3
Andy Stankiewicz hit a three-run homer - his first home run since June 27, 1992 - and Craig Biggio connected for a two-run homer in the Astrodome.

Pete Harnisch (1-2) pitched a six-hitter in his first complete game this season, the 15th of his career. He struck out eight and walked three.

Denny Neagle (1-3) allowed four runs and four hits in six innings, struck out a career-high eight and walked two.

Robinson's 71 draws criticism

By KELLEY SHANNON
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - David Robinson's 71-point performance to win the NBA scoring title annoyed rival Shaquille O'Neal and summoned the San Antonio Spurs to the defense of the Los Angeles Clippers.

Robinson scored a career-high 71 points in the Spurs' 121-97 victory Sunday over the Clippers and finished the regular season with the league's best scoring average of 29.787.

A less-than-thrilled O'Neal, who scored 32 points for the Orlando Magic against New Jersey Sunday, was second in scoring with a 29.346 average.

O'Neal and Magic coach Brian Hill weren't convinced Robinson earned his final points the hard way.

"I heard that no defense was played. No triple teams occurred and they ran every play to (Robinson)," O'Neal said. "If that would happen down here, I would have 70 points, too."

"I hear the Clippers just let David score whenever he wanted," Hill said. "I think it's a farce that's bad for basketball. Somebody needs to address it."

Robinson, showing scratches that still marked his arms and shoulders Monday from Sunday's game, disputed the allegations and said the Clippers played rough basketball.

"Those guys were cursing me out

Cowboys' owner: Johnson endorses selections

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
IRVING, Texas (AP) - For those who question whether the Dallas Cowboys should have taken Shante Carver in the first round of the NFL draft, Jerry Jones got a second opinion.

It was from former coach Jimmy Johnson, who is currently retired and living on $2.5 million in Florida with his exit money from the Cowboys.

The Cowboys owner says Johnson praised his work in the NFL draft, previously a facet of the Dallas operation run by the coach.

"I spoke to Jimmy and he congratulated us," Jones said. "It was a good visit. He congratulated us on getting Shante Carver. Jimmy thinks he's a good player."

It was the first conversation between the two since a split in which Johnson got his freedom and millions and Jones got total control of the team, including the draft.

Carver, chosen 23rd in the first round, arrived at Valley Ranch on Monday and sounded confident that he can help right away.

"I'm not going to be a flop," the defensive end from Arizona State said. "I'll be the first person on the practice field every day and I'll live up to expectations."

Carver will be expected to give the Cowboys a pass rush and fit quickly into the seven-man defensive front rotation.

Dallas coveted Willie McGinest of Southern California but couldn't make a trade to get him.

Carver says no matter, he's better than McGinest.

"I'm not putting (McGinest) down, but I think I'm a better player," he said. "He's more the prototype end as far as size. But if you look at our stats over four years, mine are much better. I think I play harder and I know the game better."

The Cowboys hope so because they ranked 18th in the NFL last year in sacking the passer. Carver had 10 sacks last year and holds the school's career record with 41 sacks.

"He reminds me a lot of Charles Haley," scouting director Larry Lacey said. "Before we get carried away, though, he's still got some growing up to do."

The 6-foot-5, 240-pound Carver batted down four passes and had 49 solo tackles last season.

However, Carver wasn't even among the 13 players the Cowboys invited to Valley Ranch for physicals and one-on-one interviews.

Carver wasn't expected to be too difficult to sign. "I just need a house, a car, a dog and some food," he said.

Carver said he looked forward to playing for Barry Switzer.

"He seems like a guy who won't BS you," Carver said. "All I know about Barry Switzer is that he won a lot of national championships and I read his book."

Dallas needs defensive line help because it lost Tony Casillas and Jimmie Jones to free agency.

The Cowboys spent the second and third rounds drafting large offensive linemen to help protect their $50 million investment in quarterback Troy Aikman.

They took 315-pound Larry Allen of tiny Sonoma State in the second round and 355-pound tackle George Hegamin of North Carolina State in the third round.

Both Allen and Hegamin are considered projects, but the Cowboys need help because they lost John Gesek and Kevin Gogan to free agency.

Allen is recovering from a tear in his left rotator cuff.

Hegamin was second team All-Atlantic Coast Conference and was rated a good pass blocker by the Cowboys.

Although the Cowboys kept Alvin Harper, they took wide receiver Willie Jackson of Florida with the 109th pick in the fourth round. The 6-foot, 205-pound Jackson was Florida's second all-time receiver with 162 catches for 2,172 yards and 24 touchdowns. He was clocked at 4.55 in the 40.

Harper, who thought he was going to be traded to either Cleveland or the Los Angeles Rams, will play for about $850,000 this year for the Cowboys.

"If Jerry still wants to trade me I'll be happy to play for somebody else, but if I'm with the Cowboys I'll give it my best," Harper said.

Michael Irvin was excited about the no-trade.

"The best thing that happened on draft day was keeping Alvin Harper," Irvin said.

Another fourth-round pick Monday was linebacker DeWayne Dotson, a 6-foot, 250-pounder from Mississippi. Dotson made 92 tackles last year and could fill a need on the inside where the Cowboys lost Ken Norton to San Francisco.

In the sixth round, the Cowboys took West Virginia quarterback Darren Studstill, who will be tried as a defensive back.

In the seventh round, Dallas drafted 6-3, 270-pound defensive end Toddrick McIntosh of Florida State.

Oilers fill needs with draft picks

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - As a sophomore at Arizona, Roderick Lewis moved from linebacker to backup tight end.

On Monday, the Houston Oilers drafted him in the fifth round of the NFL draft for the same reason.

After filling needs by selecting defensive ends Henry Ford of Arkansas and Jeremy Nunley of Alabama in the first two rounds, the Oilers went for backup help at other positions.

They took Fresno State wide receiver Malcolm Seabron in the third round and two fourth-round picks on cornerback Michael Davis of Cincinnati and running back Sean Jackson of Florida State, then used their two fifth-round picks on Lewis and tackle Jim Reid of Virginia.

The Oilers signed free agent Pat Carter to become their starting tight end, a rarity in the run-and-shoot offense.

Houston also has made a run at Minnesota quarterback Sean Salisbury. The two have agreed to terms on a one-year deal with a team option for a second season.

Salisbury is expected to sign the offer in a few days, then the Vikings will have the chance to match it because of a clause in his last contract with them, Oilers spokesman Chip Namias said. Terms were not disclosed.

It would be ironic for Salisbury to leave Minnesota for Houston considering he lost his chance at starting for the Vikings when they acquired Warren Moon from the Oilers earlier this month.

Even more ironic is that Lewis' position change helped get him closer to becoming an NFL player.

"I really never expected to be in this position at all," he said. "I've tried to keep things in perspective and remain humble. It's the opportunity that I wanted. Some others weren't even drafted."

Seabron has the speed to play outside in the run-and-shoot and the athleticism to play inside.

"He was very productive in his junior year but he had some injuries last season," Oilers scout C.O.

Brocato said. "He was nicked up a little but he's a good receiver. He can run and get the ball."

Seabron played on the same team with quarterback Trent Dilfer, the No. 6 player chosen overall by Tampa Bay, and was a key receiver until he dislocated an elbow in the season opener against Baylor. He also was hobbled by a sprained knee.

"I really had no idea where I'd get picked up," Seabron said. "I'm just happy. Hopefully, I can perform for them."

Later, Houston spent sixth-round picks on Northwestern wide receiver Lee Gissendanner and Texas El-Paso linebacker Barron Wortham. Alabama linebacker Lemanski Hall was taken in the seventh round.

NFL teams look for immediate help

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - They call them "impact players" - guys who can step in and help a team immediately. And it seemed most teams wanted one in the NFL draft.

The Cincinnati Bengals hope Dan Wilkinson will jump right in on the defensive line. Jim Mora expects Joe Johnson to start for New Orleans. Mike Holmgren wants Aaron Taylor to do the same for the Green Bay Packers. Ditto for receiver Charles Johnson in Pittsburgh.

The search for instant contributors was the theme of the draft, the first of the free agent salary cap era. As high-priced veterans are phased out under the cap, low-priced rookies are brought in.

One of the wrinkles of free agency is a separate rookie salary cap that will hold down the payroll for first-year players.

That's part of the contentious goings-on surrounding "Big Daddy" Wilkinson, the 315-pound defensive tackle who was the top pick overall by Cincinnati.

Wilkinson's agent is Leigh Steinberg, one of the more highly-regarded player representatives in football. He is dealing with a team that is traditionally tight-fisted.

But Steinberg was suggesting afterward that there's room for agreement.

Wilkinson was a sophomore at Ohio State, and he led a crop of underclassmen who were picked early.

Eleven non-seniors were taken with the 29 picks of the first round. It was also a draft for defense - 10 of the first 13 picks were for defenders.

"They've told me they want me to contribute right away," said Charles Johnson, a receiver from Colorado who slipped down to the 17th spot largely because of the rush to draft defenders. Taylor, an offensive lineman, was left at 16th for the same reason.

In fact, the only offensive players taken early were running back Marshall Faulk of San Diego State, by Indianapolis with the second pick of the draft, and quarterbacks Heath Shuler of Tennessee (third by Washington) and Trent Dilfer of Fresno State (sixth by Tampa Bay).

The fourth pick was defensive end Willie McGinest of Southern Cal, a pass rusher who people in New England will expect Bill Parcells to turn into Lawrence Taylor. Parcells was more inclined to compare him to Chris Doleman, who was traded from Minnesota to Atlanta for the Falcons' top draft pick next year and a second-round pick this year.

McGinest was the man the Dallas Cowboys wanted but failed to trade up for.

When New England chose him, owner Jerry Jones, taking over for departed coach Jimmy Johnson as the Cowboys' chief selector, slumped over in his chair and slammed his forehead in frustration.

The Cowboys ended up by moving up from 28th to 23rd and taking Shante Carver, a hybrid like McGinest who is considered more a long-term project.

After McGinest, Indianapolis moved up to take Nebraska linebacker Trev Alberts; the Bucs took Dilfer and San Francisco moved up to take defensive tackle Bryant Young of Notre Dame to plug the gaps in their defensive line. Then Seattle took another defensive lineman, Sam Adams of Texas A&M.

Cleveland took Alabama cornerback Antonio Langham with the ninth pick; Arizona took linebacker Jamir Miller; Chicago took Alcorn State linebacker John Thiery; the New York Jets got cornerback Aaron Glenn of Texas A&M; and New Orleans took defensive end Joe Johnson of Louisville.

Then came three straight offensive linemen and starting with Bernard Williams of Georgia to the Eagles. The Rams took Wayne Gandy of Auburn and the Packers took Taylor. Then after the Steelers took Johnson, the Vikings had two picks, taking cornerback Dewayne Washington of North Carolina State and tackle Todd Steussie of Cal.

Miami went for defensive tackle Tim Bowens of Mississippi; Detroit took wide receiver Johnnie Morton of Southern Cal, and then came three surprises.

First the Los Angeles Raiders took linebacker Rob Fredrickson of Michigan State; the Cowboys took Carver, and the New York Giants took wide receiver Thomas Lewis of Indiana.

The first round concluded with Texas A&M running back Greg Hill going to Kansas City; Houston taking defensive end Henry Ford of Arkansas; Buffalo taking safety Jeff Burris of Notre Dame; San Francisco taking fullback William Floyd of Florida, and Cleveland taking wide receiver Derrick Alexander of Michigan.

In the second round, the biggest moves were the products of trades. The Vikings used Atlanta's second round pick to take David Palmer, the all-purpose wide receiver-kick returner from Alabama who can also play quarterback.

Atlanta got a 1995 No. 1 pick back by trading wide receiver Mike Pritchard to Denver, which already had signed another wide receiver, Anthony Miller from San Diego.

on the floor and saying, 'You're not going to get it. You'll never get it,'" Robinson said. "If I've got to apologize for playing like that, there's something wrong."

Spurs coach John Lucas and his players readily acknowledged that aside from trying to beat the Clippers, their goal was to help Robinson secure the scoring title.

"David deserves it. Sometimes I have to push David to become selfish," Lucas said, disputing the Clippers' claim that Robinson scored easy points.

"The Clippers did not let David Robinson score 71 points. They double-teamed him, they triple-teamed him. I think it's a farce for someone to take a 71-point game and do it a disservice," Lucas said.

Clippers coach Bob Weiss called Robinson's play "spectacular."

"We double-teamed him with our forwards every time we could, but he still scored the points," Weiss said.

Robinson has reached a new level of play, Lucas said.

"I just get mad because David doesn't know how good he can be," Lucas said.

Ann Landers

Miss Petite winners

Rachelle Walker, daughter of Dr. Kent and Janet Walker, topped a field of 11 contestants in Saturday's Miss Petite Pageant. First runner-up honors went to Kealie DeeAnn Fellhauer, daughter of Tom and Valerie Fellhauer, while Jami Nicole Riley, daughter of Richard and Angie Riley, was second runner-up. The Miss Petite pageant was for girls in grades one through three.

Cutest Miss winners

Hannah Garcia, center, daughter of Frankie and Tonya Garcia, won the Cutest Miss title Saturday at the 1994 Little Miss Hereford Pageant. First runner-up honors went to Megan Moore, right, daughter of Randall and Carol Moore. Second runner-up was Heather Calaway, daughter of Randel and Glenna Calaway. They topped a field of 26 children ages 4 through 6 who took place in the pageant.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would appreciate your comments on the following questions. As you might have suspected, they have been a bone of contention among some friends whose opinions I value:

1. Is it professionally correct for a patient to loan a substantial amount of money to his or her psychiatrist?
 2. Is it professionally correct for a patient to loan an expensive piece of equipment (a computer) to a therapist for an extended period of time?
 3. Is it professionally correct for a patient to serve as a baby sitter for her therapist?
- Sign me--Inquisitive in Cambridge, Mass.

DEAR MASS: The answer to all three questions is an unqualified NO. Favors can be a subtle form of seduction. No first-rate psychiatrist would be a party to any of the above.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in a professional office for a team of dentists. I am proud of the job I do for them. Something is bothering me, however, and it has taken several months to get up the courage to write to you.

Many of the patients and agencies we work with bring (or send) gifts of fruit baskets or boxes of candy, especially during the holiday season. All of these gifts are addressed to "Dr. So-and-so and Staff."

Not once has such a gift been shared with the staff or, for that matter, even offered to us for sampling. All these lovely treats are taken home by the doctors the day they arrive.

Since these gifts are specifically labeled "and Staff," am I being petty to feel miffed? When these thoughtful patients and clients return for their appointments, we have to smile and pretend we enjoyed something we never got a whiff of. Please comment, Ann.--Kenosha, Wis.

DEAR KENOSHA: I would say your bosses are ungracious. Or to put it candidly, downright cheap.

I have a suggestion that may or may not work, but it is certainly worth a try. Hang on to this column. On Dec. 10, have Xerox copies made and place one on the desk of each dentist.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father is an abusive alcoholic who enjoys nothing more than fighting with the family. He loves to get drunk and will start an argument over anything and everything.

Like all alcoholics, he refuses to admit he has a problem. Family get-togethers are a nightmare. He has ruined every Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's plus several birthdays in between.

There is no getting through to this man, and we can no longer tolerate his verbal abuse. My sister and I would love to disown him, but we know it's not possible.

You frequently mention Alcoholics Anonymous in your column. If we call them, will they come and get him?--N.G. Dad's Daughters in N.J.

DEAR DAUGHTERS: Alcoholics Anonymous does not come and get people. Your father will have to go to them. Meanwhile, check out the nearest Al-Anon chapter for yourselves.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Guess what Tom Arnold and Jay Leno talked about?

Arnold showed up on the "Tonight Show" on Friday, the day after wife Roseanne dropped divorce proceedings.

Leno asked his guest: "I know both you guys and you're both excitable people.... Did you ever hit her?"

"I've never hit her," Arnold said. "I've wanted to," he said, adding quickly, "But I haven't."

Mrs. Arnold filed for divorce Monday, accusing her husband of physical and emotional abuse. She dropped the lawsuit Thursday.

Backstage in his dressing room moments before he went on, Arnold said his wife told him she signed court papers containing abuse accusations without reading them first.

"But I don't know if that's good enough," he said. "Anyone who says something like that wants to hurt them, and wants to make them feel real bad for some reason, and maybe that's because she feels bad."

PITTSBURGH (AP) - A trip to Africa taught Gregory Peck a lesson about being a Western film hero.

In town Friday for a fund-raiser, he recalled a trip to Mozambique shortly after he won the Silver Spurs Award for performances in Westerns that include "The Gunfighter" and "Duel in the Sun."

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, You who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my idea. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank You for Your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after the third day, your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Than promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor has been granted. Wish granted.

La Plata Study Club has lunch at E.B. Black House

Members of the La Plata Study Club met for a luncheon April 19 at the E.B. Black House.

During the gourmet meal which was served on specially decorated tables, old time songs were played on the piano and models were attired in beaded and sequined dresses from earlier years. Some of the ensembles were originally worn by Hereford residents a generation ago.

The outside flower gardens were viewed by members as they left the grounds.

Entry forms still available for Miss Hereford Pageant

"Evening in Paradise" is the theme of the 1994 Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant planned at 7 p.m. June 11 in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Members of the Women's Division are seeking entrants for the pageant which is open to local women, ages 16-21. Pageant entry forms may be picked up at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, 701 N. Main St., and must be returned to the office by 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Contestants will be vying for scholarship money and prizes. Each contestant will participate an interview with the judges, sports wear, talent and evening gown competition.

Julia Laing and Rita Bell are serving as pageant co-chairmen and other Miss Hereford steering committee members are Peggie Fox, Sheri Jones, Colleen Meyer, Charlotte Modersitzki and Lacy Muggenborg.

For additional information, call Laing at 364-6856 or Bell at 364-6485.

Plant, floral design topic of Bud to Blossom program

Patricia Robinson, master judge, presented a workshop on the basic study of design when members of the Bud to Blossom Garden Club met Thursday in the home of Mildred Fuhrmann.

Robinson displayed various fresh plant materials, containers, etc. The mechanics for design were presented to the group for discussion and three arrangements made by Robinson, which featured line and mass designs, were exhibited.

"My favorite design" was answered during roll call.

Following the meeting, the club provided Westgate Nursing Home residents with the April birthday party. Approximately 40 guests were served cake and ice cream.

Members present were Wilma Bryan, Ursalee Jacobsen, Naomi Hare, Phyllis Brown, Patricia Robinson and Mildred Fuhrmann.

Will you outlive your money?

Today, the retirement question many Americans are asking themselves is a sobering one: Will I outlive my money? Considering that in the U.S., the world's wealthiest country, 87 percent of retirees live on a yearly income of $10,000 or less, this is a critical question.

How Much Will You Need?
To quickly estimate the level of personal investment you will need to secure a comfortable retirement, take this simple test.

1. Calculate how much income you think you will need at retirement. (Experts say most people require about 75 percent of pre-retirement income).
2. List your anticipated sources of retirement income. Estimate how much you depend on each source to contribute to your total income; add these numbers together.
3. Subtract the second answer from

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I've read your column for years but haven't seen this hint mentioned by anyone.

I've owned dogs and cats most of my life, so I've had to deal with the problem of animal waste products. It made sense for me to make use of the bags in which their food come in. These bags are made of three to five layers of material and are moisture-proof.

It seemed fitting that what came out of the bag should be disposed of in the bag after being utilized by the animal. The bags go into the trash, so using them this way is getting two jobs done at the same time.

Simply close bag tightly and throw it in the trash. The bags' sizes are compatible with the pets too. See what I mean? — Janet Sylvain, Roswell, N.M.

Sure do! That's one good recycling hint to reuse those heavy bags. Thanks for writing.

I have a pamphlet for all dog lovers, and it's full of hints and information. If you would like a copy, please send $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) envelope to: Heloise/Dog, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001. — Heloise

PICTURES OF PAINTINGS
Dear Heloise: My mother loves to paint and over the years she has given dozens of her paintings away to family and friends.

So she could still enjoy her paintings and remember who she had given them to, I took pictures of them, put them in an album with the date they were painted and to whom she had given them.

Now as she finishes a painting, Mother gives me a call to bring my camera. It was a Christmas present she truly has enjoyed for many years. — J.H. Houston, Texas

NYLON NET
Dear Heloise: Cover garden rows with nylon net to keep animals and bugs from eating the plants. Secure it with dirt or an occasional stone, and you can loosen it as the plants grow.

This works wonderfully! I used green netting and it wasn't too obvious. Even though it was loosely secured, no rabbit or woodchuck ever got under it.

Any rows not covered were always completely eaten. — Wilma Keidel, Montpelier, Vt.

CARRY-ON WALKER
Dear Heloise: I have a good idea to make it easier for people using walkers to carry things around, especially hot liquids.

Get some S-hooks (large) and a vacuum bottle. It will have a handle to hook on the S-hook and it also has a cup with it.

A basket or bag on another S-hook will carry other items. — Evelyn Eckhardt, Danville, N.J.

I did almost the same when I was on crutches. I would just roll the thermos into the living room and settle in!
Thank you for sharing your hint. — Heloise

Send a money-or-time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000 or fax it to 210-HELOISE. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

News wire upgrade planned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The Associated Press announced Monday that it will upgrade its slow-speed news wire, a mainstay of small daily newspapers for decades, by dramatically increasing its speed.

The new service, which will be called AP Basic, was announced by Louis D. Boccardi, AP president and chief executive officer, at the news cooperative's annual meeting.

AP Basic will send news about 150 times as fast as slow-speed, which moves 66 words per minute, the old teletype speed. The new high-speed will deliver news at more than 9,000 words per minute.

The AP developed the slow-speed wire in the 1950s to combine top world, national, state, sports and business news in a single report.

The new AP Basic will have similar content, but it will be delivered faster.

"Our slow-speed wire service has been a workhorse for hundreds of small newspapers that did not need the large volume of specialized, in-depth news we carry on our other wires," Boccardi said. "They still don't. But in today's hectic environment, they need to get the information more quickly, especially for late-breaking news."

Today, 412 smaller papers and about 80 college papers rely on the slow-speed service. Because many papers have moved up production deadlines, some AP stories do not arrive in time to be published.

"We designed AP Basic to get the news to the smaller papers when they need it, but not to overwhelm editors in small newsrooms," Boccardi said.

The new service will carry modest assessment increases over the old slow-speed service.

in the family.

Hernandez told the commission that she handles data processing and payroll. Bankston explained her duties as accounts receivable and utility collections.

Reinart is the building and zoning clerk and Gomez works at the front counter of the water office.

"All of us know a little about each other's jobs, though," said Bankston, noting that during vacation and sick leave, they fill in where needed.

Asked by Mayor Josseland if any particular problems have been voiced by citizens recently, Bankston replied, "Right now, it's trash. People are having a hard time with that."

A proposal that contractors previously exempt from bonding requirements be placed under the ordinance requiring a bond was discussed.

The commission previously voted to require bond of $10,000 for several kinds of repair and improvement contractors, such as roofers and siding installers, as well as construction, heating and electrical contractors.

Commissioner Wayne Winget suggested that the proposed city ordinance define carefully the requirements.

He said complaints that came to him were related to a feeling that the bonding is "another bureaucratic" requirement.

Commissioner Carey Black observed that the purpose of the bond is to keep "fly-by-night" contractors from taking advantage of residents.

Commissioners agreed to discuss in a future meeting the greens fees for weekend golfers. Several expressed the feeling that the $1 increase imposed for weekday play should be extended to weekends.

Security presentation

Representatives of the American Legion were in Hereford on Friday to present their Veterans Employer of the Year plaque to Burns International Security of Hereford. Lt. Tony Cano, second from right, accepts the plaque in front of Holly Sugar, where the company provides security. Burns was honored for its hiring of veterans in Texas. Joining the presentation were, from left, Miles Cull, a Hereford veteran; Grant Hanna of American Legion Post 192; Bob Lohr, Commander of Post 192; John S. Brukner, American Legion of Texas Department Commander, presenting the plaque to Cano; and at right, Eugene M. Velasquez, 18th District Commander for the American Legion.

Security firm honored for hiring of veterans

Veterans still have battles to fight, American Legion state commander John Brukner said in an awards presentation here Friday at Holly Sugar.

"We are here to honor an employer who has gone the extra mile for veterans, Brukner said, in presenting the Veterans Employer of the Year plaque to Burns International Security of Hereford. Lt. Tony Cano, chief of security for Burns at the Holly Sugar plant, accepted the plaque.

The purpose of the award is to recognize and honor employers who give preference to veterans and place them in employment in the state of Texas.

The security company won the award in the "small category" division of awards being presented around the state. The company has also been nominated for a national Legion award. Local American Legion leaders were on hand to witness the presentation.

Some of the ongoing battles for veterans deal with ensuring adequate health care and employment, said Brukner. He described those who join the armed forces as entering into a contract with their country. As a result of this contract, those who have fulfilled their obligations have certain rights.

"Congress has become forgetful of the role of veterans in this country," added Brukner.

NIXON

Committee as it considered impeachment charges against Nixon.

Those who knew Nixon say the funeral arrangements are fitting for a man who resigned in disgrace only to emerge from political exile as an elder statesman whose counsel was sought by his successors, both Republican and Democrat.

"Politics are full of ironies," said former Nixon aide Ken Khachigian, "and Richard Nixon's politics are probably fuller than most."

The first stop in California today was a Marine base that is closing, the casualty of a defense budget that shrank with the end of the Cold War that shaped Nixon's career.

Nixon's final resting place is the nine-acre Nixon Library and Birthplace, built on the citrus farm once run by his family. The grave is near the site of the house where Nixon was born 81 years ago. He referred to in the opening line of his memoirs: "I was born in the house my father built."

The farmland failed the Nixon family; the lemon trees never took to the soil, one of the first of many setbacks and disappointments in Nixon's life.

Nixon will lie next to his wife, Pat, who died last year of lung cancer after a lifetime in the harsh glare of the political spotlight.

Though he was born in the state, California never entirely warmed to Nixon, nor he to it. His "last press conference," in which he told the press it wouldn't "have Nixon to kick around anymore," came after he lost the 1962 governor's race.

Soon after, Nixon went East on the path that would lead him to the White House and, finally, back home again.

The former president's town is steadfastly proud of its native son, the only California-born president of the United States.

"This is his home. This is his hometown. The circle is now complete," said Mayor Barbara Kiley.

It is here where Nixon chose to have his casket viewed today, not in the Capitol, where he served as a representative and senator before Congress became his enemy. Nixon library officials set aside 23 hours straight for the public to walk by the closed casket.

Man hurt in possible gang-related incident

BY RICK LANNING
Staff Writer

Bat-wielding gang members were believed responsible for two attacks that hospitalized a Hereford man and caused extensive damage to another man's pickup, Hereford Police said.

Nicholas Saucedo was admitted to Hereford Regional Medical Center early Monday morning for observation after 10 to 15 gang members attacked him with bats in Dameron Park, according to police reports.

Saucedo was reportedly walking through the park by himself just after midnight when he was jumped by an unknown number of suspects who began beating and kicking him.

The attack was witnessed by another Hereford man, who was chased by the gang members, according to officers.

A short time later, the man was driving in the 100 block of Avenue H when a Ford Mustang occupied by four males and three females passed him.

Police reports said the occupants of the car threw beer cans at the vehicle. As the man tried to get away from them, the driver of the car stopped suddenly and the pickup ran into the rear of the Mustang, police said.

According to the man, four youths then jumped out of the car with baseball bats and began breaking the windows of the pickup, causing more than $600 in damages. The truck's occupant was forced to flee to escape injury, he told officers.

Hereford Detective Sergeant Esrael Silva said both incidents appeared to be gang-related.

"We believe the attacks were caused by the Los Palacios and Los Machinas," Silva added.

Los Palacios has operated in the Hereford area the past four or five years. Los Machinas, which means The Machines, is a more recent addition to Hereford, according to Silva.

Saucedo, who suffered two black eyes and a large knot on his head, was covered with blood when he was taken to the hospital. He was treated and released.

Police have both incidents under investigation.
