So are the lines.

Tonight's $75 million Lotto Texas jackpot is drawing record numbers of gamblers, lottery officials and retailers said.

"We've got 'em backed up out here," said Melissa Flanigan at White's Northway Chevron in Orange, one of the state's busiest retailers on Tuesday.

Tickets today were selling at 20,000 a minute, with sales reaching $2.7 million by 9:25 a.m. For the third straight day Tuesday, the daily sales mark fell.

Lottery spokesman Steve Levine said sales totaled $12.4 million, easily eclipsing the previous Tuesday best of $6.78 million. After no one picked the six numbers drawn for Saturday night's $55 million prize, sales on Sunday soared to $2.1 million, three times any previous Sunday. Monday's sales of $6.98 million were 2{ times the old Monday record of $2.75 million, Levine

Al Hester hired extra part-time workers two weeks ago at Hester Stateline Oil Co., the Seminole gas station that tops all Texas retailers in lottery sales.

Seventy-percent of Hester's lottery players come from Hobbs, N.M., four miles to the west.

Business was brisk starting when his drive-through window opened at 7 a.m. Tuesday, Hester said. "Tomorrow will just be like DFW (airport)," he quipped.

He predicted the biggest surge in sales in the hours just before Wednesday night's drawing, especially after work shifts end at 5 p.m. Excitement is building, he

"I feel lucky," said Hester, who bought $15 worth of tickets himself. "You've gotta have a positive outlook on that. You've got to feel like you can win."

Although there have been no reports of people flying into Texas just to buy tickets - as they did for a $106.5 million Florida jackpot in 1990 - Levine said that may be coming.

Collider assets' future to be plotted State to submit recommendations for projects

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas soon should receive federal funding to plot a future for the assets of the aborted super collider, a high-ranking Energy Department official says.

Martha Krebs, director of the Office of Energy Research, told reporters Tuesday that she expects some of the $640 million earmarked last year by Congress for the atom smasher's termination to be sent to Texas within a few weeks.

But first, the state must submit its recommendations for projects that could best maximize the assets from the failed $11 billion collider, she

A commission appointed by Gov. Ann Richards has suggested what it considers the three best options to salvage the $2 billion spent to date on the massive science project.

The proposals include creating a regional supercomputing center, creating a superconducting magnet development facility and using the collider's linear accelerator in cancer treatment.

"We're expecting them to tell us what they need to pursue these project a House science subcommittee.

During that hearing, a leading Republican opponent of the now-dead super collider accused the Energy Department of trying to funnel new money to Texas in a bid to boost the political fortunes of Richards, a Democrat.

"DOE is being propelled by neither scientific need nor legal obligation," New York Rep. Sherwood Boehlert charged. "The Department of Energy seems to be more interested in Texas politics than in federal interests."

Boehlert's claim that the federal government is trying to help Richards in her re-election effort drew laughter from the chairman of the Texas National Research Laboratory Commission, the agency overseeing the state's involvement in the collider.

"That's not correct," Shelton Smith said after the hearing. "That's not productive to this debate ... We need to look at the facts is what we need to do and have an honest, legitimate, above-board discussion. Boehlert and other lawmakers who

By MICHELLE MITTELSTADT definition studies by Friday," Ms. last year prevailed in their attempt to Associated Press Writer

Krebs said after she testified before ax the collider are concerned that the project's termination is costing more than it should.

The Energy Department has received $640 million this year for the shutdown and has $95 million in unspent money from 1993, for a total of $735 million.

The department has estimated that shutdown costs, not including any repayment to Texas or future use of the collider's assets, would total $568 million - which would leave a $167 million surplus.

Repeated efforts to ask DOE to explain how a surplus necessitates a need for additional spending have produced only embarrassed silences," Boehlert said.

Ms. Krebs testified that the request for $180 million is based on the department's expectation that there will be a settlement with Texas and future usages of the collider's assets.

With a question mark hanging over the project's total termination cost, subcommittee chairman Rick Boucher, D-Va., said the request for $180 million next year "puts us in a somewhat awkward position."

Boehlert and others aren't concerned only by the $180 million funding request. They're also irritated at the Energy Department's stance during its negotiations with Texas.

Texas contributed upwards of $500 million of the $2 billion spent on the collider before Congress agreed last year to pull the plug. State officials are in negotiations with the Energy Department to recoup the Texas investment and maintain they will resort to litigation if necessary.

But Boehlert and other collider opponents contend that a 1990 agreement signed by Texas entitles the state only to recoup the land and buildings - a position Texas officials sharply disagree with.

"It seems to me Texas is trying to make a profit out of this project,' Boehlert said.

Retorted Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis, whose district includes part of the collider: "To think that we're trying to make a profit is simply counterproductive to an honest dialogue.'

During his testimony, Smith said that Texas stands in fact to lose some $40 billion in economic benefits that would have accrued had the collider been completed.

Hereford business earns honor

Hereford's Poarch Brothers Inc. on Tuesday was honored for having attained an honor that few can reach.

Al Warren, purchasing manager for J.I. Case of East Moline, Ill., was in town to present the company with a plaque denoting they passed a company quality audit.

Warren said there are some 900 suppliers that Case uses, but only 130 have passed the audit.

"I'll commend you that you passed it the second time," he said at an employee appreciation dinner held in the Community Center.

Warren said the company makes a point of traveling to the suppliers who pass the audit to present the slate plaque.

Poarch Brothers owner A.L. Black commended his employees for their work that led to the award, saying what has happened ... has happened because you all have done the work."

Special guests at the dinner were Mayor Bob Josserand, chamber board president Wes Fisher and chamber executive director Mike Carr and Craig Smith from Hereford State Bank.

Carr praised Poarch Brothers for their years in Hereford, noting that the company was founded in 1947 and has undergone several expansions in the years since.

CHICAGO (AP) - Haunted by a federal investigation and hampered by reapportionment, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski still emerged victorious from the toughest re-election battle of his career.

It also was a victory for President Clinton, who campaigned personally for Rostenkowski and is counting on the influential chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee to rally support for health care reform.

Rostenkowski returned the salute Tuesday night as he claimed a surprisingly comfortable victory over a field of four Democratic primary challengers. 'There was a point, a pivotal

Gilley awarded Eagle rank

Darrin Gilley has been awarded the Eagle rank, highest honor attainable by a Boy Scout.

A Court of Honor was conducted by Troop 52. Bill Carroway, scoutmaster, and George Denton presided. Also participating was the new Eagle Scout's brother, Eric Gilley, also an Eagle Scout, who played the National Anthem on the trumpet and read "The Voice of the Eagle."

Darrin Gilley joined scouting in 1985 as a Cub Scout in Fort Stockton. He earned the highest Cub rank, Arrow of Light, in 1989.

To qualify for the Eagle Rank, the 15-year-old Hereford High School freshman, earned 24 merit badges, then completed a service project to show leadership and management

The service project Gilley undertook was cleanup and re-arranging of the remodeled fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church of Hereford. He organized the project and enlisted members of Troop 52 to assist.

Gilley was a guest recently at a Golden Spread Council Scouter recognition banquet in Amarillo where he was honored with about 50 other Eagle Scouts. They were presented with special Eagle belt buckles.

The new Eagle Scout is the son of Terry and Caroline Gilley of Hereford. Special guests at the Court of Honor, held in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church, were his grandparents, H.F. and Evelyn Gilley of Fort Stockton.

Robinson, Kidd lead AP All-America team

By The Associated Press

While it may be old hat for Duke to have an All-America basketball player, it's been a few years for Purdue and Louisville, quite awhile longer for California and a first for Connecticut.

Glenn Robinson of Purdue, the nation's leading scorer at 30.3 points per game, was a unanimous selection Tuesday to The Associated Press All-America team, while California's Jason Kidd was on all but one first-team ballot.

They were joined by Donyell Marshall of Connecticut and Grant Hill of Duke, both of whom were three votes shy of unanimous, and Clifford Rozier of Louisville.

The voting was done by the same 65-member national media board which votes for the weekly poll, each selecting three teams. with points distributed on a 5-3-1

Robinson, who led the Boilermakers to the Big Ten title, is Purdue's first All-America since Joe Barry Carroll in 1980 and was the first unanimous selection since Duke's Christian Laettner in 1992.

'This is a very deserving honor for Glenn, because of all the players I ever coached, he's the best," Purdue coach Gene Keady said. "This guy can do it all and he's a great person besides."

The 6-foot-8 junior forward averaged 10.1 rebounds and shot 49 percent from the field, including 36 percent from 3-point

Kidd's selection was the first for a California player since Darrell Imhoff in 1960, which also was the last time the Bears reached the Final Four. He finished with 323 points, two less than Robinson.

"It's something I'm sure I'll treasure later on in life, but right now I'm concerned about how we do in the NCAA tournament," the 6-4 sophomore guard said. "It's an honor, especially in my sophomore season, but I have to give a lot of credit to my teammates, because I certainly couldn't have done it without them."

Considered an outstanding defender, Kidd led the nation in assists at 9.1 per game. But the other numbers showed his all-around game: 16.8 points, 6.8 rebounds and 3.1 steals. He and third-team selection Lamond Murray combined to lead an injury-depleted Cal squad to a second-place tie in the Pac-10.

Marshall, who had 319 points, is the first Huskie on the first team. The 6-9 junior forward led Connecticut to its highest ranking ever (No. 2) and the regular-season Big East championship. He averaged 25.8 points and 8.9 rebounds and was named the league's player of the year and defensive player of the year.

Hill, a third-teamer last year and the national defensive player of the year, is the third straight first-team selection from Duke, two short of the record set by UCLA from 1971-75. The 6-8 swingman was the only senior on the first team after getting 317 points, and it was his veteran leadership that allowed the Blue Devils to win the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season title.

He averaged 17.3 points, 6.5 rebounds and 5.1 assists and did everything the team needed.

Rozier got 26 first-team votes and 198 points to become Louisville's first first-teamer since Darrell Griffith in 1980. The Metro Conference player of the year the last two seasons, the 6-9 Rozier averaged 19.1 points and 11.2 rebounds to lead the Cardinals to the league title. He transferred to Louisville after playing as a freshman at North Carolina in 1991, when the Tar Heels reached the Final Four.

The second team includes Jalen Rose of Michigan, Corliss Williamson of Arkansas, Khalid Reeves of Arizona, Eric Montross of North Carolina and Melvin Booker of Missouri.

The third team had Bryant Reeves of Oklahoma State, Murray, B.J. Tyler of Texas, Juwan Howard of Michigan and Damon Bailey of Indiana.

Longhorns loosen up for W. Kentucky

By CHIP BROWN

Associated Press Writer AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas coach Tom Penders' decision to cut practices short and start "clowning around" with his players is no reflection on what he thinks of NCAA tournament first-round opponent Western Kentucky.

Penders wants his team to be rested and relaxed so they can handle the Hilltoppers' running and pressing when the teams meet Thursday in Wichita, Kan.

"We'll need to be fresh," he said. "I have a lot of respect for Western Kentucky and their coach, Ralph Willard. They are a very feisty, confident, scrappy team. They don't come at you with blazing quickness. They are just scrappy and fight for 40 minutes.

Penders will be wearing a tie that is 15-0 and a shirt that is 14-1 this season when the Longhorns take the Penders' superstitions peak during tournament. And the Longhorns also March Madness. Against Western Kentucky, he plans to wear his lucky tie and shirt, as well as a watch he wore when his Rhode Island team reached the Sweet 16 in 1988.

"The superstitions come from my upbringing as a baseball player and the fact that my dad was a baseball coach," Penders said. "I was taught never to cross the bats in the bat rack or step on the lines on the field."

Despite his superstitions, Penders said he is more relaxed now than during the regular season.

"I lighten up at this point," he said. "It's not that I am Bobby Knight during the season. But I like to have some fun with the kids. I just don't like them too pumped up or too psyched up for the tournament."

Texas (25-7) steamrolled the field last weekend on its way to a first ever championship in the 18-year history of the Southwest Conference are coming off their first outright regular season SWC title in 20 years.

They have won 18 of their last 19 games and need only one more triumph to match the school record for most victories in a season (26) set in 1947 and 1978.

Despite the success, Penders gives a couple reasons why his sixth-seeded Longhorns won't be overconfident for their Midwest Region battle against 11th-seeded Western Kentucky (20-10), which reached the Sweet 16 last year.

- Two of the Longhorns' senior leaders, guard B.J. Tyler and power forward Albert Burditt, are attempting to improve their stock in the NBA draft, Penders said.

And Rich McIver, a transfer from Michigan, is eager to meet his former team in a second round matchup should both the Longhorns and Wolverines victory Thursday.

"We have talked to them (B.J. and Albert) about the importance of their draftability," Penders said. "As a team wins in the tournament, a player's draft can improve."

Penders said his players would also like a crack at two-time NCAA finalist Michigan, which is favored to defeat Pepperdine on Thursday.

"I asked them if they had any desire to play Michigan, and they said they did," Penders said. "I told them, 'You better focus in and take care of business against Western Kentucky or that will never happen."

He said some of the Texas players have been giving McIver a hard time about his decision to go to Michigan and then transfer after the arrival of the Fab Five freshman class three

"Some guys hum the Michigan fight song to McIver and tease him about going there in the first place," Penders said. "So he should be fired

Rockets' Maxwell arrested for waving gun at motorist

HOUSTON (AP) - Vernon Maxwell faces a potential NBA investigation after the third arrest in 20 months for the Houston Rockets guard, this time for carrying a weapon in his vehicle.

Maxwell's arrest about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday outside a cafeteria continued a trend of erratic behavior that is being monitored by representatives of the NBA office.

Maxwell was not released until about 7:55 p.m., in part because of computer problems that delayed processing of his case. He missed the first half of the Rockets' game at The Summit against the Portland Trail

Blazers, which had a 7:40 p.m. tipoff. Harris County Court-at-Law Judge Sherman Ross scheduled a hearing for today on the weapons charge, a Class A misdemeanor punishable by a year in jail, a $3,000 fine or both. Maxwell also faces a potential NBA probe. Rod Thorn, the league's vice president of operations, said the NBA is aware of Maxwell's arrest and will monitor the situation.

are checking into a case three weeks ago in Fort Bend County. In that incident, they said, the driver of a car whose license plates matched those of Maxwell's 1993 purple Porsche was reported to have pulled a gun on another motorist. Last summer, Maxwell was arrested for arguing with an off-duty police officer who was working as a security guard at a Houston nightspot. Patrons said he tried to enter the nightclub ahead of them as they stood in line. Maxwell pleaded no contest to a charge of resisting arrest and was sentenced to 30 hours of community service and a $500 fine.

The previous summer, Maxwell was arrested on charges of simple assault at another nightclub.

Tuesday's arrest came after he attended the Rockets' morning shootaround at The Summit. A motorist leaving the Luby's parking lot near the arena said a man driving a car matching the description of Maxwell's Porsche blocked him

Police sources said investigators off, allowing the driver's friends following in two cars to enter the parking lot.

> The motorist, who was not identified, said he honked at the Porsche and that the driver waved a pistol at him.

> The motorist went into the Luby's and told two Houston police officers about the incident, according to a police spokesman. The witness told officers he could identify the car but not the driver.

> Police said the officers went outside, saw a gun in Maxwell's car and arrested the player after he and his party left the restaurant. Maxwell was taken to the police department's Southeast Command Station jail, where he remained until his release seven hours later.

> Playing only in the second half after arriving late to The Summit, Maxwell helped the Rockets come from behind in the fourth quarter and beat the Portland Trail Blazers,

Braves dump Gant after motorbike accident

By The Associated Press

With less than three weeks to go until opening day, Ron Gant, Mark Leiter and Tom Bolton find themselves about to become free agents.

The three were placed on unconditional release waivers Tuesday, and will become free agents unless they're claimed for the $1 waiver price by 2 p.m. Friday.

By placing them on waivers, the teams saved big bucks: The collective bargaining agreement calls for 30 days termination pay.

That means Gant is owed $906,593.40 instead of $5.5 million from the Atlanta Braves, Leiter is owed $65,934.07 instead of $400,000 by Detroit, and Bolton is owed $90,659.34 instead of $550,000. But the Braves argue they may not owe Gant a penny because he broke a leg agreeing to his contract and he'll miss at least half the season.

"We are sorry that this unfortunate accident occurred," Braves general manager John Schuerholz said after announcing he was waiving Gant, a 29-year-old outfielder who averaged almost 30 home runs, 97 RBIs and 31 steals during the past four years. "Since he is unavailable to perform as a result of this accident and, according to our doctors, will be rehabilitating for an extended period of time, we have decided to take this action.'

The Major League Baseball Players Association may file a grievance, forcing the issue to arbitrator George Nicolau, but won't decide before Friday.

"It hurts. But we are used to not playing in front of a big crowd. It will be a shocker to see a lot of people at the UMass game. But we are not going to worry about the crowd or what UMass has to say.'

Richard Hastings, a junior transfer from Texas Tech who plays forward, said Southwest Texas fans are probably frustrated now that they didn't see more games on the San Marcos campus, about 30 miles south of Austin.

"I guess they didn't think we would be this good," Hastings said.

But everyone on the team agrees that the NCAA tournament gives them a chance to get the respect of Massachusetts.

The Bobcats apparently don't have to worry about Massachusetts coach John Calipari, who has plenty of praise for Southwest Texas.

"They've won 10 in a row and 19 of their last 20. This is the type of team that scares me. There has got to be another 15 seed in the country (we could play," Calipari said.

Lynwood Wade, the most valuable player of the Southland Conference tournament, said the Bobcats won't change a thing from their pressing style in Thursday's game against

"We took a few notes about what UMass does and how they do it, but we are just going to play our game," said Wade, a senior averaging 18.6

"Coach Wooldridge knows we can beat them. He told us to come out and play our game and be physical with them. He wants us to be the aggressors," Hastings said. "If somebody gets knocked down from an elbow or something, it's going to be them, not us."

While the Bobcats are hungry for respect, they wouldn't mind if second-seeded Massachusetts is looking ahead to a second-round matchup with either Maryland or St.

"They are probably getting ready for Maryland, St. Louis or Michigan," Hastings said. "And if that's the case, so be it. It's an advantage we will have over them. We won't complain."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: So many terrible things are happening these days--young children shot on the doorsteps of their homes, elderly people found frozen to death in their unheated hovels, children sexually abused by uncles and grandfathers.

Please print some words of hope. We need something to cling to. Has the Lord decided to "take a vacation" because his lambs have strayed so far from the path of righteousness? Please tell us .-- R.L.S. in Honolulu

DEAR FRIEND: The Lord does not take vacations. He is always on the job. Here's an essay that will give you more assurance than anything I might

FOOTPRINTS

By Margaret Fishback Powers One night, a man had a dream. he dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand: one belonging to him and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him, and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times of my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why, when I needed you most, you would leave me."

The Lord replied, "My precious child, I love you, and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you saw only one handling) to: Nuggets, c/o Ann set of footprints, it was then that I Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. carried you."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was a widow with a young son when I married a cold, rigid man. I thought I had enough love for both of us, but I

After 15 years of being frozen out, was suicidal. I had four more children with that totally indifferent, uncommunicative husband. I was lonely, angry, hurt and miserable. I finally discovered he was an alcoholic. I was fooled because he drank nothing bu beer--and only on weekends.

I now realize that an alcoholic is incapable of loving anyone but himself. It is part of the disease. I finally found the courage to leave him and am now a family counselor on alcoholics. It was Al-Anon that helped me turn my life around. Please tell people about it .-- Cape Cod, Mass.

DEAR CAPE COD: I HAVE been telling them--for over 35 years. Al-Anon has proven to be a godsend for relatives and friends of alcoholics, when everything else has failed. And it's free, Al-Anon sponsors Alateen, a splendid organization, for teen-age relatives and friends of alcoholics. To find the chapter nearest your home, check your telephone book or write to: Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, P.O. Box 862, Dept. Al Midtown Station, New York, N.Y. 10018-0862, or call 1-800-356-9996.

I urge anyone who is living with an alcoholic to get help at once. A whole new life awaits you.

Try these easy to prepare St. Patrick's Day recipes isn't a St. Patrick's Day that goes by without the thought of my grandmother, Anne Donagan. A native of County Tyrone in Northern Ireland, her story is very similar to most families. She immigrated to this country from her homeland in the late 19th century to build a better life for herself. She then met my grandfather, who was from Germany.

My grandfather told a story about his trip to America. He said that as the boat he was on sailed past Ireland, he saw my grandmother on the shore and asked her to come to America with him! (I think I actually believed that story when I was a kid.) My grandparents raised seven children. Their second daughter, and youngest child, is my mother.

Although Ireland isn't always known for elegant cuisine, there are some simple, yet satisfying foods that we all like, no matter what our heritage. Roast pork has always been a favorite of mine. The smells of my mother's kitchen have left an indelible mark on my memory. Walking into the house on a cold day to smell the aroma of roast pork is one that I will never forget or stop enjoying.

Here are a few favorites from our family recipe box for St. Patrick's Day: roast pork and potatoes and split

A general rule for roasting pork is to allow 30 minutes per pound. Almost any part of the pig is good to roast. A pork shoulder, loin or rib roast works well, but don't hesitate to ask your butcher for a good pork roast if you are unsure of what cut to buy. When cooking, leave a little of the fat on as you roast the pork. It will baste the meat, keeping it moist, and can be trimmed off after roasting. This roast can be served with or without a pan gravy. Other types of vegetables can be added to the potatoes. Turnips, parsnips, even fennel wedges make an excellent and very Irish - addition to this basic recipe. A perfect complement to the roast pork is split pea soup.

Roast Pork and Potatoes 4 to 5 pounds boneless pork roast, rolled and tied

3 cloves fresh garlic, minced 2 teaspoons dried thyme leaves

1 teaspoon salt teaspoon ground black pepper

2 pounds red potatoes, skinned and

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Pat the pork roast dry with absorbent toweling. Combine the garlic, thyme, salt and black pepper; rub this mixture over the roast. Bake roast in a 350-degree F oven for 45 minutes.

Place the pork roast on a roasting rack and lay in a deep roasting pan, leaving enough space to add the potatoes in a single layer. Place the roast in the preheated oven; roast for another 45 minutes.

Add the quartered potatoes to the roasting pan, rolling them in the released juices. Continue to roast the pork until it has an internal temperature of 160 degrees F internally. Remove the roast from the pan and place on a platter or cutting board. Cover it loosely with foil; let the pork

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) - There "rest" for about 15 minutes before carving it.

> Continue to cook the potatoes in the roasting pan until they are golden brown and easy to pierce with the tip of a paring knife. Slice the pork and serve it with the > potatoes and some of the pan drippings (be sure to degrease well first). Serve with a buttered green vegetable such as asparagus or green beans. Makes 6 servings.

Split Pea Soup 1-1/2 cups green split peas 1 tablespoon butter or bacon

onion, small dice

l celery stalk, small dice carrot, peeled, small dice

1 tablespoon all-purpose flour 5 cups chicken stock

1 ham hock (optional) 2 bay leaves

1/2 teaspoon dried savory 1/2 teaspoon dried sage

Small pinch of ground cloves Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste large russet potato, peeled, medium dice

2 tablespoons fresh parsley, chopped

Sort through the peas to remove any foreign particles or pebbles. Rinse well with cool water. Heat the butter or bacon fat in a soup pot over medium heat, add the onion, celery and carrot. Cook, stirring occasionally, for 2 to 3 minutes, or until limp and translucent. Add the flour to the soup pot and cook another minute, stirring constantly. Add 1/3 of the stock and stir until there are no lumps of flour. Add the remaining stock and the ham hock (if desired), and stir well once more. Add the split peas, bay leaves, savory, sage, cloves, salt and pepper.

Bring the soup to a full boil over high heat, then reduce the heat until a gentle simmer is established. Simmer, stirring frequently, for 30 minutes.

Add the potato and continue to simmer until all of the ingredients are quite tender. (If desired, puree about 1/3 of the soup in a blender, then return the puree to the remainder of the soup.)

Stir in the fresh chopped parsley and adjust the seasonings with additional salt and pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

LONDON (AP) - Prince Charles said he wishes he learned more foreign languages, but it's too late to start now.

"Unfortunately, I am getting to the stage where I can't remember anything," said the 45-year-old prince, who speaks only English and

The prince helped launch a $6 million program Monday to teach English around the world. He urged Britons to learn other languages, particularly Japanese and Chinese.

"It is not good enough to expect other people to conduct business in English," the prince said.

Black farmers sue for discrimination

ture Secretary Mike Espy is being sued by four black farmers who contend he has refused to remedy racial discrimination acknowledged by his department.

The four each filed suit in federal district court here Tuesday, seeking $5 million to redress the discrimination they faced from the Farmers attorneys' fees. Home Administration.

The USDA's Office of Civil Rights Enforcement has issued findings confirming that the four were discriminated against by FmHA, the contained language requiring lending arm of the department.

"All of them have suffered grievous financial losses, loss of credit and certainly serious emotional mental anguish," said Les Mendelsohn, a San Antonio, Texas, attorney who is representing the four.

"I believe ... that Secretary Espy is very sympathetic to the plight of these minority farmers who have been discriminated against by prior hiding their heads and saying 'We administrations, but his failure to act decisively is a ratification of the past anything about it other than to discrimination," Mendelsohn said in an interview.

In a prepared statement, Espy said department officials "will do everything we can to ensure that those who have been discriminated against are treated fairly and with justice."

The claim that Espy, the nation's first black agriculture secretary, is tacitly endorsing discrimination drew a swift retort from the Agriculture Department.

In an interview, USDA Undersecretary Bob Nash said: people were discriminated against. some welcome surprises this week as trations. WASHINGTON (AP) - Agricul- fell through in the eleventh hour. USDA officials met last Aug. 27 with the Roscoe, Texas, farmer and his attorneys in San Antonio. A "settlement memorandum" that resulted from the seven-hour meeting instructed FmHA to pay Williams $1.08 million for farm liabilities and damages and $270,743.50 in

It was signed by two attorneys for Williams and Carlton Lewis, acting branch chief for the FmHA's Equal Opportunity Division. The settlement approval from USDA higher-ups. A month later, it was denied. Nash contends Lewis signed the memorandum under pressure.

"We want to satisfy these farmers for the wrong that has been done to them, but we have done all we can do under the law today," Nash said.

Said Mendelsohn: "It's just like stonewalling the situation. They're discriminated, but we can't do renegotiate the loans' and that to me flies in the face of the Constitution and the federal statutes."

Talking about migrants

Two Hereford representatives of Guadalupe Economic Services Corp. in Lubbock recently attended the 1994 National Farmworker Conference in San Antonio, where they attended a variety of panel discussions on topics related to farmworkers and how to obtain grants from the Farmers Home Administration. Here, Romelia Fuentes, left, and Isabel Martinez visit with Cipriano Garza, HUD Special Assistant to Henry Cisneros, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

"We're the ones who found these - Agricultural producers are getting in good condition, but some of the weird weather we've had could be a factor in the outcome."

But everyone agrees that warm weather in the next week will help

"The warmer weather combined with the moisture we've had could help the cool season forages in East Texas," district Extension director Tony Douglas of Overton said.

And with the entire state hoping for this spring's hay harvest to be successful, all eyes are watching as Mother Nature wields some rain and warm temperatures.

"The hay supplies are so short, bring temperatures in the lower 70s any kind of hay harvest will look

> 'The hay supply is very short,' he said. "And all of the supplemental feeding has cost livestock producers much more money than they have that's why they're hoping for a good hay harvest.'

And while spring gets an early District Extension director Doyle start, calving and lambing season are Wilson said the market looks good for cattle and this spring's crop of calves should do well.

And although the rains have perked up some of the winter crops, Wilson said the moisture could

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by district Extension directors:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture short to adequate. Some snow and freezing temperatures. Cattle good. Supplemental feeding continues. Land preparation active; sugar beet planting started.

SOUTH PLAINS: Soil moisture short to very short. Ranges, pastures dry. Supplemental feeding of livestock continues due to extremely dry conditions. Wheat in need of moisture. Land preparation and some pre-irrigation continues.

ROLLING PLAINS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Heavy supplemental feeding continues. Pastures, ranges dry. Some counties reporting limited or no wheat grazing. Prescribed burning continues.

NORTH TEXAS: Soil moisture surplus to adequate. Livestock fair; some supplemental feeding. Cattle market is strong. Pastures good to poor. Hay short. Ryegrass, grain growth improving. Too wet for much activity.

EAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Livestock good. Native pastures poor. Heavy supplemental feedings; hay short. Some heavy rainfall benefiting cool season forages. Land preparation and early spring vegetable planting continue.

FAR WEST TEXAS: Soil moisture very short. Livestock good to poor; supplemental feeding continues due to weather and poor forage quality. Moisture needed in many areas;

WEST CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Livestock good to fair; supplemental feeding continues. Greenbug activity increasing. Small grain growth inhibited. Spring calving in progress. Pruning, dormant oil applications continue.

CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Hay feeding decreasing; cattle market is strong. Some lice infestation of cattle. Spring vegetables being planted. Small grains making good progress. Peach trees being pruned.

SOUTHEAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate to surplus. Cattle feeding, equipment repairs and field cultivation are main activities. Corn 60 percent planted. Spring calving under way. Peach trees in pink bud and blooming.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS: Soil moisture short. Some rainfall over the region. Pasture, ranges in poor condition. Vegetables and grains taking advantage of moisture. Livestock good. Corn and sorghum being planted.

COASTAL BEND: Soil moisture short to surplus. Livestock good. Feeding continues; hay short. Cattle sales down. Some pastures dormant. Some freezing weather. Preparing fields, home gardens for planting. Corn planted. Peach trees blooming.

SOUTH TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Livestock prices low but improving. Corn and grain planting under way. Melon planting has begun. Onions progressing well. Sugarcane, citrus and fall vegetable harvests continue. Pastures better with recent
