Oil, gas industry aid won't come without White House backing

By MICHELLE MITTELSTADT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress won't approve relief for the battered domestic oil and natural gas industry without White House support, Texas lawmakers say.

Their comments Thursday came as President Clinton agreed to meet June 16 with lawmakers seeking to boost the industry's sagging fortunes through tax breaks and regulatory relief.

Lawmakers have been seeking a White House meeting since March, when some 107 members from 29 states wrote the president requesting a session.

Among the proposals they will present to Clinton are tax credits to preserve marginal production and encourage new drilling; allowing producers to deduct some geological and geophysical costs; permitting the export of Alaskan crude oil; and regulatory relief.

"We feel we will not be able to achieve a desired result through the Congress without (Clinton's) active efforts," said Rep. Bill Archer of Houston, ranking Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Echoed Rep. Larry Combest, R-Lubbock: "This could be the last chance this year for any action to reverse the punishing effects of tax laws and regulations that work against our own energy interests here at home."

"With less than 50 legislative workdays left with health care and welfare reform yet to be decided, it is vital to have the administration's support pushing for positive action," added Combest, who represents one of the largest domestic oil-producing regions.

At the time the letter was written in March, oil prices had been hovering around $14 a barrel and some 13,500 jobs were lost over a five-month period.

Since then, oil prices have climbed back up to $18 a barrel or more.

But the need to help an industry that has lost more than half a million jobs in the last decade remains, lawmakers and industry officials said Thursday.

Archer said the need for reform of the nation's energy policies will remain pressing so long as the United States continues to increase its reliance on imported energy supplies.

Last year, the nation posted its lowest domestic oil production since 1958, averaging 6.8 million barrels a day. The country's oil imports rose to 6.7 million barrels per day - accounting for 49.5 percent of U.S. oil consumption.

The president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, which represents small- and mid-sized producers, said she remains hopeful the administration will endorse at least part of the lawmakers' package.

"I think it's entirely fair to ask for a reinvestment of a little bit of that windfall that the rest of the economy got with the low oil prices," said Denise Bode.

The increase in oil prices in recent weeks hasn't translated into new security for the industry, Ms. Bode said. In fact, she added, "The only thing that's certain about this industry is the uncertainty and instability of prices."

Asked what message she would like to see conveyed to Clinton, Ms. Bode replied: "I would like to make sure the president understands what a critical industry this is. This industry has lost more jobs than any other industry on his watch."

Jobless rate dips

By ROBERT NAYLOR JR.
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate fell four-tenths of a percent in May, the government said today, but the report still signaled the economy may be cooling off.

The decline to 6 percent, from 6.4 percent in April, was almost certain to alarm Wall Street, which has been concerned that increased employment will fuel inflation and harm the value of investments.

But the lower unemployment rate was tempered by a smaller-than-expected increase in the number of workers added to the nation's non-farm payrolls. The Labor Department said its survey showed new hires up by 191,000, considerably less than most analysts had expected.

Analysts said the report sent mixed signals - the drop in the unemployment rate to the lowest level this year while the number of new hires was considerably smaller than expected.

The report "points to a moderation of economic activity from the strong gains of late last year and early this year," said Stephen Roach, senior economist with Morgan Stanley & Co. in New York.

"The basic message underneath is that this economy is growing more slowly than before," said Robert G. Dederick, chief economist with the Northern Trust Co. in Chicago. "It is not an economy that has suddenly turned sluggish, but it has lost that vigorous course that it had earlier."

The actual increase in the nonfarm payrolls could be considered even smaller when taking into account the 70,000 striking Teamsters union members who returned to work after a nationwide trucking strike.

Katharine G. Abraham, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the unemployment rate has declined seven-tenths of a percent since January. But the increase in the number of new jobs was lower than 260,000 average increase for the previous four months.

The rate has declined this year for whites, blacks and Hispanics and for adult women and men, but there has been no clear trend on teen-age employment, Abraham said.

She said when large movements occur in a single month, such as the sizable decline in the unemployment rate, "the magnitude of those changes often turns out to have been overstated once additional data become available."

"He said it was 'nonetheless clear that unemployment continues to trend downwards.'"

As expected, most of the new jobs were in service-related industries, although growth in that sector was slower than in prior months. Abraham said employment in finance, insurance and real estate declined, which she said reflected in part "the impact of rising interest rates on refinancing and home purchases."

Economists say mortgage refinancing has come nearly to a standstill.

Defendant sentenced to prison term

A defendant in 222nd District Court Thursday was ordered to serve a four-year prison sentence on revocation of probation and another defendant was given five years probation on conviction for felony driving while intoxicated.

Benjamin Elizondo, originally sentenced to five years' probation, will serve four years in Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division. He was convicted of failure to stop and render aid.

Tried and found guilty of felony DWI by a District Court jury on March 30, Joel Frausto chose to have punishment set by the court. Judge David Wesley Gulley assessed a sentence of five years' probation and ordered the defendant to the Tom Green Treatment Facility.

Terms of probation were modified for Guadalupe Navarro Jr., originally sentenced to five years' probation for burglary of a motor vehicle. He will be required to serve an additional two years on probation.

Clinton honors Americans killed in Italian liberation

By TERENCE HUNT
AP White House Correspondent

NETTUNO, Italy (AP) - President Clinton today honored the thousands of Americans killed in the allied campaign to liberate Italy a half century ago, taking a solitary walk among bone-white headstones. "We stand today in fields forever scarred by sacrifice," he said.

Clinton evoked the memory of his own father, who fought in Italy about 100 miles from here, in solemnly declaring: "We are the sons and daughters of the world they saved."

"Now our moment for common cause has come. It is up to us to insure a world of peace and prosperity for yet another generation," he told some 1,000 veterans and guests at the ceremony on a hot, hazy day.

In the first major commemorative event of his European trip to mark D-Day, Clinton flew by helicopter to the Sicily-Rome American Cemetery, 40 miles south of Rome.

The cemetery is the final resting place for 7,862 Americans who died in 1943 and 1944 during fierce fighting in the mud and mountains and freezing weather of the Italian campaign.

Among those attending the ceremony were four members of Congress who served in Italy: Sens. Bob Dole, R-Kan.; Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii; Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.; and Ernest Hollings, D-S.C.

Clinton saluted the senators, saying: "We honor what they did for us here."

Both Dole and Inouye were wounded in Italy. Dole's right shoulder was shattered by German machine-gun fire, and Inouye lost his right arm to a grenade.

Earlier, the president walked by himself among rows and rows of simple white crosses and Stars of David. At one cross, he reached down and righted a small American flag that had toppled.

In somber remarks, Clinton noted how the cemetery was "lush with pines and cypresses," a contrast to

Lawsuit filed by defendant in sexual conduct litigation

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

The defendant in a lawsuit filed in U.S. District Court last November is the plaintiff in a suit filed Wednesday in the 222nd Judicial District Court in Hereford.

In the turn-about, Hereford Bi-Products, Inc., has filed a petition asking for judgment against three of the federal case plaintiffs if a jury finds that HBP's liability was "due in whole or in part to sexual conduct of those plaintiffs."

Defendants in the state court suit are Sheri Lynn McQuigg, Sylvia Aguilon and Maria Aguilar. Two other women who filed the federal suit, Esther Galvez and Juanita Garza, are not named as defendants in the HBP state court suit.

John Lovell, attorney for HBP, said Thursday that Galvez and Garza are not listed as defendants because the plaintiff, so far, has not found grounds for including them in the suit. Lovell said that because of the nature of the state court suit, it cannot be settled until the federal case is completed.

Although no date has been set, Lovell said he expects the federal case to go to trial next fall or winter.

The five women, all former employees of Hereford Bi-Products, are plaintiffs in the suit filed by lawyers of Texas Rural Legal Aid in the U.S. Northern District of Texas, charging the company and two individuals with sexual harassment.

Filing of the federal suit in Amarillo on Nov. 12 was "coincidental" with a ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court on sexual harassment in the workplace, said Kay Drought, TRLA attorney who announced the suit.

The women claim that two supervisors, Juan Cordova and Juanita Cordova, subjected them to verbal and physical sexual harassment.

"If Plaintiff HBP is found liable to any of the Federal Court Plaintiffs in the Federal Court Case, due in whole or in part to the sexual conduct of those Plaintiffs at the work place of Plaintiff HBP, then Plaintiff HBP is entitled to indemnification from those Federal Court Plaintiffs," the court document states.

The lawsuit also claims that "Plaintiff HBP is entitled to contribution from the Defendants toward any liability that may be found to exist from Plaintiff HBP to the Federal Court Plaintiffs, as a result of the alleged occurrences made the basis of the Federal Court Case, which were, in fact, caused by the sexual conduct of the Federal Court Plaintiffs at the work place of HBP."

Since the state court suit is contingent on the outcome of the federal case, no specific monetary judgment is requested. HBP seeks judgment as well as court costs and expert witness fees.

Josserand, Panhandle leaders complain of permitting process

Hereford Mayor Bob Josserand joined cattlemen, city officials, agribusiness leaders and State Sen. Teel Bivins Thursday in voicing complaints about Texas permitting processes.

The permit issue is being investigated by the Texas Senate Natural Resources Conservation Committee.

Josserand and Sen. Bivins said state bureaucracy has kept the Texas Panhandle from locating new dairies in the area. Josserand, who owns feedyards in Texas and three other states, says Texas is by far the most difficult state to work with in getting permits.

The Panhandle has been a prime relocation area for dairies and the pork industry, as well as expansion of the cattle industry, said Bivins. But industry officials are at a disadvantage in being able to attract new businesses because of permitting problems here and the lack of them in neighboring states.

Bivins said 120 new dairies have located across the border in New Mexico in the past few years and not one in the Texas Panhandle. In talking to dairymen, said Bivins, he found the "very real difference is the effort required and the cost involved in getting a permit."

The TNRC repeatedly has said a streamlined process is forthcoming.

Josserand noted, but there are now 81 new sets of rules proposed by TNRC that also include fee assessments.

Josserand and other speakers at the hearing talked about permit-by-rule or a general permit, which delineates the requirements to potential permit holders up front as to what is necessary to obtain a permit. Then it would be up to the permittee to satisfy the technical criteria, risking penalty and permit cancellation for failure to comply.

One solution voiced at the hearing was to bring as much of the permitting process as possible to the regional level, where individuals would know who and what they are dealing with. Another idea was to adopt rules consistent with the Environmental Protection Agency to allow for one application permit rather than two sets of guidelines and two permits to comply with.

Others suggested a tracking system be set up within TNRC in which an application could be located and accounted for during the permitting process.

TEA says graduation rate is 92.5 percent for Class of '94

AUSTIN (AP) - Another 3,405 seniors have passed the state achievement test required for them to graduate, bringing the passing rate to 92.5 percent of the class of '94, according to the Texas Education Agency.

That's up from the 90 percent of seniors who last year passed all sections of the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills, which tests reading, writing and mathematics.

Results of the latest administration of the test on May 5-7 brings the total number of passing seniors this year to 165,376. They had six chances to pass the test, beginning when they were juniors.

A total of 12,474 seniors took the exam last month. The 9,069 who still failed one or more tests represents 5 percent of current seniors; TEA officials estimate that more than half of them didn't have enough credits to graduate even if they had passed the exam.

The remaining students have left the public school system or did not take the test in May.

Democrats to hear Senate hopeful

State leaders seeking to 'fire up' party rank and file

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer
FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Texas Democrats open their state convention today with party leaders hoping to rally the rank-and-file for the November campaigns.

For the man atop the party's ticket, U.S. Senate nominee Richard Fisher, it's also a chance to erase any lingering doubts Democrats may have about his credentials.

Fisher, a former adviser to Ross Perot's independent presidential bid, will address the convention tonight.

"He's got to fire up the troops. He's going to urge the Democratic Party to unite behind one of the strongest tickets we've had in years," Fisher spokesman Martin Johnson said.

Fisher seeks to unseat Republican Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, winner of the 1993 special election in which Fisher was an unsuccessful candidate. Johnson said Fisher has found the party very receptive to his candidacy. "The fact that he was selected as the nominee is a signal that the party is open to new ideas," Johnson said.

Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle agreed.

"I don't get from any of our Democrats that they're not willing to go ahead and make a maximum effort to elect Richard Fisher, along with re-electing Gov. (Ann) Richards and the rest of the Democratic ticket," Slagle said.

"I think that the general attitude among Democrats now is that he's the Democratic nominee, that he has a good chance to beat Kay Bailey Hutchison, and whatever they think of Richard Fisher they'd a lot rather have Richard Fisher than Kay Bailey Hutchison," Slagle said.

Fisher served as a U.S. Treasury official under Democratic President Jimmy Carter and, during the 1980s, helped organize the moderate Democratic Leadership Council.

As the first of the nearly 10,000 Democratic delegates and alternates began arriving on Thursday, Republicans poked fun at the party and its Senate candidate.

The GOP, which will hold its convention in Fort Worth next week, put up a billboard to "greet" arriving Democrats with a quote from Fisher.

"The Democratic Party is dead in this state," said the billboard, displaying a quote from a newspaper interview Fisher gave in 1993.

"We couldn't agree more," GOP Chairman Fred Meyer said. "The Democratic Party is dead because of politicians like Richard Fisher, who speak out of personal opportunism rather than any philosophical conviction."

But Fisher said the billboard quote was taken out of context and "just more political high jinks from the party of obstruction."

While Fisher acknowledged making the statement, he said he was referring to the party's past record - not its current leaders and philosophies. He said his nomination in a runoff over former attorney general Jim Mattox, a veteran Democratic candidate, shows that.

"The old Democratic Party that the Republicans like to run against is dead. I am living proof of that," Fisher said. "The Democratic Party of Richard Fisher and Ann Richards is vital, thriving and has a new spirit."

TP&WD cooperating in special campaign to urge water safety

AUSTIN - Hundreds of people will drown this year, many from boating accidents on public lakes, rivers and bays in Texas.

In conjunction with national Safe Boating Week, which begins today and runs through June 11, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is promoting a special public education campaign to encourage safe boating.

State game wardens stress boating safety year-round, said Carlos Vaca, assistant commander with TPWD law enforcement. This season marks a stepping-up of ongoing boating safety education and enforcement.

Between Sept. 1, 1992, and Aug. 31, 1993, TPWD received reports on 353 water-related deaths. The number one known cause of death - accounting for 97 fatalities -- was "fell into water."

Swimming and fishing were the top two activities accounting for fatalities, with 103 and 38, respectively.

Of all water-related fatalities, 208 occurred in lakes, rivers, the Gulf of Mexico or coastal bays.

The age group with the most deaths was up to age 5 and 31-35 years old, each of which accounted for 48 fatalities. The 26-30 age group had 38 deaths, followed by 36-40 with 31 and 11-15 and 16-20, which had 28 each.

U.S. Coast Guard statistics, the TPWD reported, show that more than 80 percent of boating fatalities involve people not wearing life jackets. Many of these fatalities involve children.

The American Pediatrics Society lists drowning as the number one cause of child death, according to officials with the National Safe Boating Council. Children under age 7 cannot put on a life jacket alone, and those between ages 7 and 12 cannot do so without formal training.

A good way to save a child's life while boating is to put the child in a properly fitted and adjusted life jacket before hitting the water.

Here are some safe boating tips for children:

- Choose the right weight range for your child. Life jackets come in child weight ranges of under 30 pounds, 30-50 pounds, 50-90 pounds and more than 90 pounds.
- Chest size might be specified, so measure your child under the arms.
- Fasten the life jacket snugly and lift at the shoulders. If it gives more than 3 inches, it is too big.
- Crotch straps keep life jackets in place. Use them.
- Consider collapsed life jackets for children who fear water.
- Let your child test the life jacket in shallow water. It is important for the child to get used to wearing it.
- Choose high-visibility colors.
- Children must never be left unattended.

Effective May 1, 1995, Type 4 Personal Floatation Devices -- the cushion type -- will no longer be acceptable in boats under 16 feet long. TPWD officials encourage anyone who may soon need a PFD to buy a Type 1, 2 or 3 now.

For more information on boater education call the TPWD at 1-800-792-1112. Or call (512) 389-4999 for boater education, (512) 389-4800 for general information, or (512) 389-4828 for boater registration.

Renovations of Texas Capitol make building safer but 'older'

By SCOTT ROTHSCHILD
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - Although the 106-year-old Texas Capitol will look older after it is restored to the 1888 architecture, it will be safer.

"It was time for it to have a facelift, and it needed a major facelift," Dealey Herndon, executive director of the State Preservation Board, said Thursday.

"From a safety standpoint ... we're going to have a fabulous building when it's finished," David Stauch, project manager, said that the building was in good structural shape, "but it had been jeopardized over the years far more than anybody knew."

"We found more damage by ongoing, half-baked repair work and all kinds of remodeling work. That was the biggest surprise to me."

Ms. Herndon and Stauch led reporters on a tour inside the Capitol past mazes of scaffolding and dozens of workers cutting wood, breaking through walls and installing electrical and plumbing systems.

The building has been closed for nearly a year as part of a $187 million project to restore the Capitol, build an underground annex and renovate the old Land Office building.

Legislative staffers and some state senators will start moving into offices in the Capitol in August. By October, the building should be re-opened to the public.

The Senate chamber is nearly finished, but the House chamber is practically unrecognizable, as workers installed a new floor.

But Ms. Herndon promised that the House chamber would be ready for the regular legislative session that starts in January.

"You can't find anyplace else in town for the House members to meet, vote, do all the things they have to do. This has always been the driver and this chamber has got to be ready and it will be."

The most drastic changes completed so far are in the basement, which used to be crowded with cubbyhole staff offices with low ceilings of exposed wires.

Herndon said the basement, which also housed the building's electrical transformers, used to be a fire trap.

Now the ceilings have been raised to 12-feet, and the cubbyhole offices have been knocked out to widen the hallway to 22-feet.

When the restoration is finished, about 750 people will work in the Capitol, about half the number that were working there before the project started.

Third time is charm for speller

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Spell it p-e-r-s-i-s-t-e-n-c-e.

It took Ned Andrews, a seventh grader from Tennessee, three years and three national spelling bees. But today the youngster is America's spelling champion.

Andrews, 13, who says his prowess for spelling gives him an edge with teachers back home in Knoxville, captured the 67th National Spelling Bee on Thursday after two days of grueling competition among 238 of the country's best young spellers.

Twice before he made it to the national competition and finished no better than 14th. But this time he went all the way conquering such words as "dyskinesia" (characterized by involuntary motions), "proboscis" (snout) and "naiad" (nymph).

After winning the title by correctly spelling "antediluvian" (or ancient), in the 15th round, Andrews was asked why he came back a third time after two years of disappointment.

"That's a good question," he replied. "I guess it's just like me to keep trying on something like this."

The championship was his for the taking after runner-up Brian Kane Lee, 12, of Minot, N.D., tripped on the word, "parvenuism" in the 14th round.

The word means to behave above one's station in life and, ironically, Lee said he never thought he would get as far as he did in the competition. "I thought I'd get in the top 50," he said.

After the pressure faceoff, the two youngsters exchanged addresses and said they hoped to remain pen pals. It had been Lee's third appearance at the national bee as well.

Ned, who also likes geography and won the state championship in this year's National Geography Bee, credits his mother, Carolyn, for much of his success in spelling.

"I don't have a professional coach but my mom coaches me," he told reporters when asked the name of his coach. "And she ought to be paid," he added.

"I'm feeling pretty excited," he continued at a news conference minutes after winning the championship, eager to talk about almost anything.

"What about advice to people who have trouble spelling?"

"Read something," he said. Then with a smile added, "And for extremely, awfully bad spellers, give it up."

Ned said being a good speller can have its rewards: "It helps getting the teachers to be nice to me."

His father, Andy, is an electrical engineer and his mother is an editor of technical papers. He also has two brothers.

Ned and the other 237 young spellers, aged 10 through 14, spelled and misspelled 1,068 words during the two days of competition.

Third place went to Anthony Chuang, 14, of Fort Worth, Texas. He was derailed by his 13th word, "psalmodist," a composer of sacred songs.

Ned won $5,000; Brian, $4,000, and Anthony, $2,500.

The National Spelling Bee is sponsored by Scripps Howard Inc. and 228 newspapers that host local spelling contests.

Rickman excels at rodeo finals

Hereford was well represented on the first day of the finals of the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association, which started Thursday at the Tri-State Fairgrounds in Amarillo.

Chasity Rickman, who went into the three-day event leading three events, won the first go in pole bending with a time of 20.570 seconds. She also took eighth in the first go of barrel racing, with a time of 17.647.

Cloudy Meason won the first go in ribbon roping, recording a time of 10.975 seconds.

Misty Meyer was sixth in breakaway roping in 6.358.

Ashley Noland, who rodeos for the Randall club but is from Hereford, was eighth in calf roping in 39.701 seconds.

Overlooked Pacers can make finals with 1 win

By HANK LOWENKRON
AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The Indiana Pacers, on the brink of their first trip to the NBA Finals, are conscious of having been overlooked all season.

"We didn't have anybody on the All-Star team, our coach didn't get a vote as coach of the year, we didn't get on national television until the playoffs, and nobody expected us to be playing now," Indiana forward Dale Davis said Thursday as the Pacers prepared for tonight's Game 6 of the Eastern Conference finals.

"We were supposed to lose to Orlando. We were supposed to lose to Atlanta, and the Knicks were supposed to use us as a tune-up for the finals.

"But we are still playing, and we're winning. That's the important thing," Davis said.

The Pacers, with a 3-2 lead in the best-of-7 series, will be playing for another couple weeks if they can complete the job tonight against the Knicks. A seventh game, if necessary, would be played in New York on Sunday.

Regardless of the outcome, the NBA Finals won't open until next Wednesday at Houston.

"This is going to be a very physical game, and I don't mind it at all," said Davis, who is Indiana's leading rebounder in the series with 48. "I love the banging around the boards. It gets rough down there sometimes, and that's an important part of my game."

The Knicks will be seeking a solution to Reggie Miller's spectacular play. Miller, who had 13 points in the fourth quarter as Indiana won Game 4 here on Monday, tormented the Knicks with a 25-point fourth quarter as Indiana won 93-86 Wednesday night.

"It was a sleepless night," guard

John Starks said just before the Knicks left for Indianapolis. "I got to sleep at about 5 a.m. and woke up again at 7. But it gave me a lot of time to think about what happened."

What happened was that the Pacers overcame a 12-point deficit in the fourth quarter, with Miller making five straight 3-pointers in the first 6:07 of the period.

The Pacers scored 23 of the first 26 points of the quarter - 19 by Miller, who finished with 39 points.

"He was great for them and bad for us," Knicks forward Charles Oakley said. "He just turned it up. It was one of those games you just have to forget and move on."

Davis anticipates the Knicks won't go down easily despite a capacity crowd of more than 16,000 in Market Square Arena poised to take part in the "Pacer Mania" which has swept the city. A crowd of some 3,000 fans went to the airport to greet the team when it returned from New York - at 3 a.m.

"They're definitely going to come out and try and prove a point. It may get a little bumpy out there, but I don't think it will be anything we haven't seen," Davis said. "The definite thing is we can't get intimidated. You've got to meet force with force. If they step it up a notch, and get to bumping and grinding a little more, we have to do the same."

Southern Duel

NEW YORK (AP) - An aerial duel between two southpaw quarterbacks occurs seldom in the NFL.

But it did last fall when Boomer Esiason of the New York Jets opposed Scott Mitchell of Miami in a battle of left-handed passers. It was the first time in nine years that it had happened in an NFL game.

It was a day for the Boomer. The Jets defeated the Dolphins, 27-10.

Bruguera eases past Courier

By DAVID CRARY
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) - Sergi Bruguera, who struggled past Jim Courier in last year's French Open final, made it look easier this year, beating the American in a four-set semifinal today to move within a match of reclaiming the title.

The sixth-seeded Spaniard was far steadier in winning 6-3, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3 on a windswept Center Court. Courier, groping for the consistency that helped him win this tournament in 1991 and 1992, committed 64 unforced errors and eight doublefaults, to only 29 and one for his opponent.

Bruguera will defend his crown Sunday against the winner of a late semifinal between two unseeded players, 23rd-ranked Alberto Berasategui of Spain and 46th-ranked Magnus Larsson of Sweden.

Bruguera reached the semifinal without losing a set. Courier lost three sets, but played well in his four-set victory over top-seeded Pete Sampras in a quarterfinal Tuesday.

In the first set, Courier double faulted twice in the third game as Bruguera broke for a 2-1 lead. Bruguera broke again in the ninth game to take the set.

With Courier down 2-1 and serving in the second set, he was called for a foot fault, swore at the judge who made the call and was given a warning for bad language. Annoyed, he committed four straight unforced errors to give Bruguera a 3-1 lead that the Spaniard soon extended to 5-2.

But Courier suddenly found his rhythm, broke Bruguera for the first time to pull within 5-4 and took the set by winning five straight games.

Both players seemed tense and erratic in the third set. Bruguera broke Courier for a 3-1 lead and Courier immediately broke back, only to lose his serve again in the sixth game.

Trailing 4-2, Courier got a break point, but couldn't convert. Bruguera served out the set, and headed toward victory by breaking Courier again in the first game of the fourth set.

In the last game, Courier double-faulted, then hit a backhand way long on match point.

It was a showdown between two of the strongest clay-court players in the world, with career records on the surface of 82-27 for Courier and 190-62 for Bruguera.

Bruguera's five-set victory over Courier in last year's final was his first win in five career meetings with the American and his first Grand Slam title. This year, both 23-year-olds were struggling - after winning five titles each last year, neither has won a tournament in 1994.

Courier was seeking his fifth Grand Slam title - in addition to his two crowns here, he won the Australian Open in 1992 and 1993. It was Courier's fourth straight trip to the French Open semifinals - he'd won the past three.

While Bruguera gets a chance to defend his crown, the women's final Saturday will have a fresh look.

Either Arantxa Sanchez Vicario will win a second Grand Slam title to go with her 1989 French Open crown or Mary Pierce will confirm her arrival as the new star so desperately sought by those who run the women's tour.

Even Steffi Graf, dejected after her worst defeat in three years, admitted that Pierce's rise is good for women's tennis.

Either Graf or Monica Seles had won each of the past 13 Grand Slam titles. At least one of them played in all but one Grand Slam final since mid-1987.

"It definitely has been very healthy, it is definitely exciting for the spectators here, also for television," Graf said of Pierce's surge. "I think it is a good thing. ... It is difficult for me to say that right now."

Until Pierce's 6-2, 6-2 defeat of Graf on Thursday, the women's field had produced few compelling matches. Most attention focused on Pete Sampras' failed pursuit of a fourth consecutive Grand Slam title.

Graf, thwarted in a bid for a fifth straight Grand Slam, said it was too early to proclaim that Pierce would replace Seles, out of tennis for over a year after being stabbed by a fan, as a new archrival.

"You have to take the results of all the year, and they haven't been all the way up there," Graf said. "You just have to give her some more time."

But Pierce, 19, said she would enjoy a long-term rivalry.

"That would be something fun to me," she said. "It would be something very hard for me also. I would have to stay concentrated and play at the same level I am playing now."

She has lost only 10 games in six matches - a French Open record. So high was her level of play Thursday that she sensed Graf was looking forward to the rainshower that interrupted the second set.

"I think she was waiting for that," Pierce said. "I felt there wasn't much she could do because I was just playing so well."

Graf was asked if she pondered new tactics during the rain break.

"What tactics can you have?" she asked. "My level of game wasn't high enough to push her that far to make errors."

Born in Canada and raised in Florida, Pierce has a French mother and plays for France. During matches, she yells at herself in both French and English.

"That's a very difficult question for me," she said when asked whether she felt more French or American. "I feel very, very good here in France, but I also spend a lot of time in America training. So I don't really know if I'm either-or."

Pierce is markedly happier and more confident since separating a year ago from her father-coach, Jim, notorious for his hard-driving and abusive manner.

"Many things have changed in the past year, on the court and outside of the court," she said. "Life is more fun now."

Her coaches, Nick Bollettieri and Sven Groeneveld, helped her stay cool on Thursday.

"They told me I shouldn't think it was a semifinal against Steffi, that I should think it was like a first round against a player I should beat."

Marshall vows to fight to keep job at WTAMU

By JEAN PAGEL
Associated Press Writer
AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - Former West Texas A&M baseball coach Mike Marshall wants his job back.

Marshall went to the media Thursday with his request for a hearing with the WT officials who declined to renew his contract last month.

"I simply want to face my accusers and address their contentions," Marshall said at a news conference attended by his attorney and eight baseball players.

"I don't understand under any circumstances how they could not keep me," the former Cy Young winner said.

Marshall, 51, coached the Buffalos last season to a 8-48 record in their first year of NCAA competition since 1971.

During his tenure, he said, players were recruited, a baseball field was built, and the team improved throughout a tough schedule.

Marshall said he doesn't know why his contract wasn't renewed. Furthermore, he said, he wasn't notified of that decision by March 1, as required.

WT Athletic Director Mike Chandler made the announcement May 9.

"Basically, we're looking for some new leadership," Chandler said at the time. "There were some problems that we had that we requested correction on and they weren't all corrected to my satisfaction. I'm not going to get any more specific than that."

Chandler was out of town Thursday and unavailable for comment.

A May 11 news release from WT President Barry Thompson listed problems with Marshall. They included insubordination, lack of commitment to the university and "lack of demonstrated knowledge of the fundamental skills of baseball based on the players' performance during the 1994 season."

Marshall said will send his request for a hearing to officials, including the Texas A&M Board of Regents.

"To not embarrass the university more, we preferred confidentiality, but the refusal of the athletic administration to respond has forced us to go public," he said.

Marshall said that although the $30,000 contract he signed was for one year, it was understood he would stay in Canyon longer to build a baseball program.

"They said, quote, 'We definitely want you for five years.' I said, 'Fine.'"

Mets take pitcher with top pick

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Ron Hopkins of the New York Mets has been in the business of evaluating baseball talent for 15 years now and he calls Florida State's Paul Wilson the best college pitcher he ever scouted.

"He obviously has a special arm, good size and command," Hopkins said of Wilson. "He has exactly what you look for in a major league pitcher."

And that includes a 95 mph fastball.

So the Mets made Wilson the No. 1 pick in baseball's amateur draft on Thursday.

Coming out of Boone High School in Orlando, Fla., Wilson was drafted in the 57th round by Pittsburgh. At that point and that late in the draft, the big right-hander wasn't interested.

Rangers select familiar names with draft picks

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers wanted to take a pitcher with their first choice in the amateur draft. They ended up with a catcher - but at least he has the same name as one of their pitchers.

Texas took Kevin Brown, a slugging catcher from Southern Indiana, with the 56th overall pick of Thursday's draft. The Rangers didn't choose until the 22nd pick of the second round because their first-round pick went to San Francisco as compensation for signing free agent Will Clark.

In addition to picking a catcher with a name connection to the team, the Rangers also picked a pitcher with a similar name connection.

In the 17th round, the Rangers selected Reid Ryan, son of former Rangers pitcher great Nolan Ryan. The younger Ryan, who pitched at Texas Christian University, was one of eight college pitchers drafted by the Rangers.

Reid Ryan was not drafted after his junior season but showed promise in being named to this year's All-Southwest Conference team.

In Brown, the Rangers get a somewhat-experienced catcher they hope can rise through their minor-league system to fill the gaping hole of support for All-Star and Gold Glove winner Ivan "Pudge" Rodriguez.

Three years later, the time seems perfect for Wilson, who is 12-5 with a 2.08 earned-run average for Florida State. He has 154 strikeouts in 134 innings and the Mets hope he can be a major piece in their reconstruction.

Later in the first round, the Mets chose high school first baseman Terrence Long of Millbrook, Ala. with a pick obtained from Baltimore for the signing of Sid Fernandez.

Houston was the only other team with two picks. The Astros chose high school catcher Ramon Castro of Puerto Rico No. 17 and right-handed pitcher Scott Elarton of Lamar, Colo., No. 25. Elarton's slot in the draft was compensation from San Francisco for the signing of Mark Portugal.

After Wilson went No. 1, Oakland picked high school outfielder Ben Grieve, whose father, Tom, is general manager of the Texas Rangers. Grieve batted .485 at Martin High School in Arlington, Texas, the same school that produced A's pitcher Todd Van Poppel four years ago.

Two other sons of ex-major leaguers were chosen in the first round. Jarret Wright, a right-handed high school pitcher from Anaheim, Calif. whose father, Clyde, pitched for California, Milwaukee and Texas, was picked No. 10 by Cleveland. Right-handed pitcher Cade Gaspar of Pepperdine, whose father, Rod, played for the 1969 New York Mets, went No. 18 to Detroit.

Next, San Diego selected right-handed pitcher Dustin Hermanson from Kent and Milwaukee general manager Sal Bando went to his alma mater, choosing third baseman Antone Williamson of Arizona State. Then Florida drafted high school shortstop Josh Booty from Shreveport, La.

California had the sixth pick and chose McKay Christensen, a high school outfielder from Fresno, Calif.

Colorado chose, and a few hours later signed, left-handed high school pitcher Doug Million from Sarasota, Fla. Million was 12-2 with a 1.21 earned-run average this season.

After Minnesota selected second baseman Todd Walker from LSU, Cincinnati went for another left-hander, choosing C.J. Nitkowski from St. John's, the program that sent lefties Frank Viola and John Franco to the majors.

Then Wright went to Cleveland and Pittsburgh picked Mark Farris, an outfielder from Angleton, Texas High School.

Georgia Tech supplied two of the next three picks - shortstop Nomar Garciaparra, chosen by Boston, and catcher Jason Varitek, selected by Seattle. They were sandwiched around high school catcher Paul Konerko from Scottsdale, Ariz., who was chosen by Los Angeles.

Other first round picks were:

Rookie fills in nicely for O's

BALTIMORE (AP) - Scott Klingenberg, called up to fill Ben McDonald's spot in the starting rotation, did a pretty fair imitation of Baltimore's pitching ace.

In his first major league start, Klingenberg gave up six hits and four runs, three earned, in seven innings, striking out five and walking four as Baltimore beat Detroit 11-5 Thursday afternoon. The Orioles snapped a three-game losing streak and Detroit's four-game winning streak.

"You only get one first start, and you only get one chance to win it," Klingenberg said. "But we stopped the losing streak. I guess I can say we; I'm still part of the team."

It was the only game played Thursday in the American League.

Phillies' Jackson beats old club

CHICAGO (AP) - Maybe the Chicago Cubs give up on pitchers too early.

A day after Philadelphia starter Shawn Boskie shut down his former team, Danny Jackson did it Thursday, pitching four-hit ball over eight innings to give the Phillies a 4-2 victory.

"I haven't really worried about what happened here in Chicago," Jackson said. "That was three years ago. Now I'm back to where I was in '88. That's what I wanted to do."

It was the only game played Thursday in the National League.

Olajuwon made finals with help from friends

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer
GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - The Houston Rockets are no longer Hakeem Olajuwon and others. The supporting cast has improved so much that Olajuwon didn't have to carry the team to the NBA finals. He got some help this time.

If Vernon Maxwell wasn't exploding with a 3-point display, Kenny Smith was lighting up the scoreboard, Sam Cassell and Mario Elie were coming off the bench to spur momentum, or Robert Horry was galloping through the lane.

"I love passing off to Robert Horry for a dunk going down the lane," Olajuwon said Thursday. "OT (Otis Thorpe) and I are the oldest players on the team now."

"The younger players help us to better our own games. We need the young energy."

The Rockets marched through Portland, Phoenix and Utah to their third Western Conference title, using a blend of youth and veteran talent. It wasn't always as easy for Olajuwon, who used to criticize his supporting cast.

"It was a time when we were always losing in the first round of the playoffs," Olajuwon said. "Management wasn't committed to winning the championship. We were getting older players near the end of their careers instead of young talent."

Portland was the first playoff team to feel the sting of Houston's new balance.

Maxwell took his cue in the first game of the playoffs against Portland, hitting five of eight 3-point baskets and scoring 24 points.

The Trail Blazers single-covered Olajuwon in Game 2, trying to cover the Rockets outside. Olajuwon responded with 46 points and six blocked shots.

"We've got the team to win this thing," Maxwell said. "We just have to keep taking our shots with confidence and make teams go through our defense. That's where it is. When we do those things, we're tough to beat."

In the Western Conference final against Utah, Smith stepped up with the outside bombing that kept the Jazz scurrying between both the inside and outside.

"This is no coincidence," Smith said. "It shows me that everything we accomplished during the season was for real. It's just a great feeling. This is what it's all about."

The Rockets needed a break before the finals to heal their injuries. They took Wednesday off after eliminating the Jazz on Tuesday night. They'll work out through Saturday at their pre-season training site at Texas A&M at Galveston.

"I think it (break) is just gigantic," coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "All the benefits of getting it done will really help us. The longer you play, the more the chances are that something bad can happen. This gives us time to let some people get healthy."

Maxwell is playing with a sore wrist, Thorpe is recovering from a hip pointer and Herrera may be able to play in the finals after recovering from a dislocated shoulder.

"We really have to get ourselves physically and mentally prepared for the next series," Thorpe said.

"Whoever it is has to come to us. We don't have to go to them."

Horry didn't make it to Thursday's workout because he was involved in a minor auto accident en route to Galveston. He was unhurt but arrived too late to practice.

"Some guys will do anything to miss a workout," Smith joked.

Carl Herrera, recovering from a shoulder separation he received May 17 in a game against Phoenix, worked out with the team on Thursday and could see action in the championship series.

Metro, Midwest leagues want UH

HOUSTON (AP) - Officials of both the Metro and Great Midwest conferences have again expressed their interest in adding the University of Houston as a member and say they expect to make quick progress toward a league for their football-playing members.

Metro Conference commissioner Ralph McFillen said Thursday his league, aided by consultant Dick Schultz, "should have all our TV data by the end of June" to present to UH and other interested schools.

Schultz, a former NCAA executive director, is working with the Metro to develop television revenue for football-playing schools.

Louisville, Tulane and Southern Mississippi are the only schools in the seven-school Metro Conference that compete in Division I-A football. All are independents. Conference member Virginia Tech competes in the Big East Conference in football.

Memphis State and Cincinnati are the only football-playing schools in the seven-member Great Midwest Conference. They also compete in I-A as independents.

Great Midwest presidents also discussed a proposed football league during conference meetings last week.

"Our presidents, athletic directors and other officials reaffirmed our commitment to I-A football," said Great Midwest commissioner Mike Slive. "I was asked to continue my efforts to expedite that as quickly as possible."

"We intend to bring football into our great basketball exposure."

Slive and Schultz met last month in Houston with UH athletic director Bill Carr.

"Nothing has changed," Carr told the Houston Chronicle Thursday. "We are waiting to hear from them."

The Metro appears on the verge of being able to present its television arrangement, McFillen indicated.

"Dick is optimistic we are close," McFillen said. "If you have the TV network, there is not much more to finalize."

"Within 60 to 90 days, we hope to be able to present a proposal. It looks good, but let's not put the cart before the horse."

As for UH, said McFillen, "Their attraction is obvious: the location in a large TV market, a tradition of success and a geographical fit."

The 4-year-old Great Midwest intends to couple football with its instant success in basketball. Marquette, St. Louis, DePaul, Dayton and Alabama-Birmingham are members that do not compete in I-A football.

Houston has been looking for a conference since other members of the Southwest Conference have found new conferences in which to compete after the 1995-96 season.

SWC athletic directors voted last week to compete for two more seasons in all sports before Texas, Texas A&M, Texas Tech and Baylor go to the Big Eight Conference and Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian go to the Western Athletic Conference.

Rangers tie Stanley Cup series, 1-1

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Hockey Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Once again, the New York Rangers outshot, outplayed and outthrust the Vancouver Canucks. This time they even managed to win.

"We've had a couple of unfortunate breaks in the last little while but that has not hindered our confidence at all," Rangers center Mark Messier said after Thursday night's 3-1 victory tied the Stanley Cup finals at a game apiece.

During the regular season, the Rangers were a team that couldn't be beaten once they took a lead into the third period. Their record in such contests was 40-0-4.

But in the playoffs, they have lost twice after taking leads into the third period, most recently Tuesday night's 3-2 overtime loss to the Canucks in Game 1.

"We've played unbelievably all year with a lead, we've held it, and that didn't enter our minds at all," Messier said when asked if the Rangers were thinking about blowing a one-goal lead Thursday night.

Certainly coach Mike Keenan wasn't worried.

"You have to show confidence in your leadership and confidence in your players," Keenan said. "For that reason, I put the same group of people on the ice" who gave up the tying goal to Vancouver in Game 1.

"Ultimately, they got the job done. That's all that matters to us. Mistakes are made from time to time. But you have to give them a chance to respond and that's what they did for us."

Tuesday night, the Rangers were leading 2-1 when Martin Gelinas scored with one minute left in the third period. Rangers goaltender Mike Richter blamed himself for giving up a "soft" goal.

On the ice for the Rangers at the time were Mark Messier, Adam Graves, Alexei Kovalev, Brian Leetch and Jeff Beukeboom.

Thursday night, it was Messier, Graves, Leetch, Beukeboom and Steve Larmer on the ice for the last minute.

Leetch was thinking back to Game 1, especially after one particular play.

"Gelinas had a whack at the doorstep and you can't believe that it could happen again," Leetch said.

What happened then was even more of a relief for the Rangers. Leetch managed to control the puck behind the New York goal line and send it all the way up ice into an empty net for the final margin of victory.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print your answer as soon as possible. My daughter, "Cheryl", is getting married soon, and we need your advice to settle a big argument.

Cheryl called her future mother-in-law and told her that I had chosen the color black for my dress. My daughter asked her to please keep that in mind when she shopped for her dress.

A week later, Cheryl's future mother-in-law called her and said, "I just bought the perfect dress to wear at the wedding." Cheryl asked, "Why did you buy black? I told you my mother is wearing black." The woman replied, "What's the difference if we have the same color?" My daughter said, "Because proper protocol says the bride's mother has the choice of color." Her mother-in-law yelled, "If it was two pinks or two blues, then maybe yes, but black is not a color."

Ann, will you please print the code of ethics and proper protocol regarding wedding attire? Which mother gets first choice? Also, is it improper for both mothers to wear the same color?

Cheryl and I are very upset that her future mother-in-law is coming on so strong. She must feel that just because her husband is paying for the wedding, we have no say in it. We need your advice.--Batling in Brooklyn

DEAR BROOKLYN: Actually, it's the bride who should decide on the colors to be worn at her wedding. It sounds, however, as if Cheryl's future mother-in-law is not one to go by the book. (If you're interested, however, "the book" says black is not appropriate for the mother of the bride or the mother of the groom.)

I say it's not worth fighting about. Let the old battle-ax wear whatever she wants, and you do the same. If you both wear black, so what? The important thing is that you all get along and not spoil the bride's day.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I found a man's wallet as I was getting out of my car at the train station. I took it to work, looked through it, and left a message on the man's home answering machine. Then realizing that he might be canceling his credit cards at that very moment, I tried to reach him at work. Finding no work number in the wallet, I called his health plan and asked them to contact him and have him call me.

An hour later, the man's wife called me at my office. She had gotten the message and wanted to thank me and get the wallet back. I explained that I wouldn't be home until 9:00, but since she lived nearby, perhaps she could come and pick it up then.

She thought for a moment and said, "Well, my husband's going out with the boys tonight. Could you possibly drop the wallet off here?" I was insulted and told her I was too busy. She then agreed to come and get it.

I thought it was terribly rude of her. If this had happened to me, I'd be at her house as soon as I could get there.

After all, I went out of my way to find him, so he would know that someone had found his wallet and that it was safe. Was I wrong to feel annoyed?—Edison, N.J.

DEAR ED: The woman is a slob. Your reward was the satisfaction of knowing you did the honorable thing. (I'll bet that's all you got.)

Gem of the Day: Never put off until tomorrow what can be avoided altogether.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to Brides: c/o Ann Landers P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Although female elephants are fertile for only a few days every four or five years, they can attract several males with a "song" - a unique sequence of intense, low frequency calls.

Can you afford college?

By the year 2000, economists predict the cost of an average four-year college education, including tuition, room and board, will rise to over $100,000, with prestigious private schools charging much higher rates.

These are steep figures. However, they are not insurmountable.

Just as your child must study hard from a young age to gain admission to a good college, you must begin doing your financial "homework" today. By disciplining yourself to invest wisely and consistently over time, you can build a fund capable of providing your child a quality education.

One way to establish good investment "study habits" is to make monthly contributions to a college fund that you establish through a diversified portfolio of mutual funds. Each time you make a payment to a mutual fund, you will receive a confirmation notice, along with a return envelope for your next investment. Treat this as a monthly "bill"-one that goes to building your college nest egg-and pay it without fail.

How much should you save? This depends on the cost of the school your child attends, the number of years you have left to save and the prevailing inflation rate over those years. Let's just say that if your child is 11 and you need $50,000 by the time he or she turns 18, you must put aside $429 monthly (assuming 9 percent annual return with principal and dividends reinvested). If you start early, however, your monthly commitment drops dramatically; begin when your child is one, and you need set aside just $26 a week.

Female elephants are more vocal than males, both using an effective communication system of low-frequency rumbles that humans cannot hear.

Saddles give clue to man who owns locating service

By BRIAN COFER
Lubbock Avalanche-Journal
LEVELLAND, Texas - Blink and you'll miss it.

There's not much to see. Just a small portable structure west of Levelland on Texas 114. The saddles hanging out front are the only clue that Son Wright is inside.

But he's there, and he's ready to deal.

For decades, Wright has been known in these parts for his horse trading. If one's looking for a good horse, Wright, 73, probably can help. "I had a lady up at Three Way call me the other day," he said. "She was looking for a mare."

Being the equine locator service that he is, Wright soon had the woman fixed up and ready to ride. Not only can he locate a horse, he also can fix it up. For seven years, he has operated a tack shop, selling accessories for the horseman, ranging from bits and bridles to saddles and spurs.

Some items, such as the cavalry bits and antique spurs on his walls,

In 1870, Thomas Mundy cast a ballot in a municipal election in Perth Amboy, N.J., becoming the first black to vote following ratification of the 15th Amendment.

are not for sale. However, Wright concedes, "If you offer me enough..."

To be sure, Wright has packed a whole lot of living into those 70-odd years. In addition to trading horses, he farmed cotton and ran cattle, helped build the highway between

That's how it is for a man who has been trading since he bought some cows at age 10. He learned these skills from his family, which moved from Anson to Levelland, about 30 miles west of Lubbock, in 1924 when he was 3. A windmill located at Levelland Country Club marks the location of his family's home.

In those days, Hockley County was in its infancy, and settlers still were coming in to break the land for farming.

"I rode on an Indian pony when this county was just grass," he said. Levelland, then called Hockley City, was a tiny settlement centered on a dusty main street. It wasn't even listed in the 1920 census. A collection of photos Wright keeps in his shop shows a jawn of wooden, false-fronted stores and a small frame structure housing the courthouse.

"I've seen a lot of changes," he said, noting that he's grown up with the county over the past seven decades.

Brownfield and Littlefield, worked in a refinery and was a partner in a car dealership in Tahoka.

All that living has slowed him down somewhat. A ginning accident mangled his hands, and a heart attack seven years ago in Canada almost killed him. However, he still rides his horses every day, and his friend and neighbor, Gary Mellberg, said Wright continues to maintain a fast pace.

"You can't keep him still," Mellberg said.

To maintain his active lifestyle and obey doctor's orders, Wright opened his tack shop. "I'm not one to just sit around," he said. "So I bought this building. I didn't know what I was going to do with it. I moved some saddles in here, and pretty soon people were stopping. I have people come in asking the darnedest questions."

It's a relaxed concern, operating without a name, and opening and closing as Wright feels the urge. Nevertheless, word has spread, and ranchers and rodeo cowboys know it as the place to go for quality goods at a fair price.

"I'm not in it to make money," he said, sharing the secret of his success. "I'm doing it because I enjoy it, and I like meeting people."

In a given day, Wright will have several visitors from around the South Plains and Panhandle stop in. As a result, the shop serves as a resource for information, as well as conversation and old-fashioned storytelling.

"It gets pretty thick in here," Mellberg said. "You think fishermen tell good stories. You ought hear some of the stories here."

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE BIBLE'S HOLY MEN!

THE ORDINARY HEBREW WORD FOR "HOLY" IS KADOSH--SEPARATED, CONSECRATED--IN OTHER WORDS, "SET ASIDE" FOR SACRED USE, LIKE THE UTENSILS IN THE SANCTUARY, ETC., ETC... PROPHETS, AND THE PRIESTS OF THE TRIBE OF LEVI, WERE ALSO "SET ASIDE" FROM THE COMMON MAN--THEY DID NOT WORK AS COMMON MEN BUT ATTENDED TO THE WORK AT THE TABERNACLE AND ITS SERVICE. THESE INHERITED DUTIES KEPT THE PRIESTS FROM EARNING A LIVING LIKE THE OTHER MEN OF ISRAEL! BUT MOST OF THE SACRIFICES THAT WERE BROUGHT TO THE TEMPLE BY THE PEOPLE--DOVES, LAMBS, BREAD ETC., WERE USED AS FOOD BY THE PRIESTS AND IT WAS MOSAIC LAW THAT EACH TRIBE HAD TO CONTRIBUTE, TO THE TRIBE OF LEVI, A CERTAIN AMOUNT OF EVERYTHING THAT THEY GREW OR MADE (DEUT. 18:1-8). SO, FOR THE LEVITE, MAKING A LIVING WAS OF NO CONCERN--THEY WERE CARED FOR BY ALL THE OTHER TRIBES. IT WAS SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT FOR THE LONE PROPHET! THE PROPHETS DID NOT INHERIT THEIR OFFICE LIKE THE LEVITE PRIESTS DID. THE CALL OR "THE WORD OF THE LORD" CAME TO THEM DIFFERENT WAYS AND, ONCE THE CALL CAME, THEY SPENT THEIR DAYS IN WANDERING FROM VILLAGE TO VILLAGE, PREACHING THEIR MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE. FORTUNATELY, THE TRUE PROPHET WAS RECOGNIZED BY THE PEOPLE BY HIS WORKS, BY HIS PREDICTIONS, THAT CAME TRUE, AND HIS DOCTRINE OF TEACHINGS. THESE PROPHETS WERE TRADITIONALLY FED AND HOUSED BY PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS FOR THEIR GOOD WORKS! FOR EXAMPLE, AS THE RICH SHUNEMITE WOMAN TOOK CARE OF THE PROPHET ELISHA (II KINGS 4:8-11).

LITTLE DOES THIS WOMAN REALIZE THAT GREAT THINGS SHALL BE DONE FOR HER BECAUSE OF HER KINDNESS TO ELISHA!

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - John Bobbitt is feeling the pain of notoriety in his pocket.

A judge Wednesday denied Bobbitt's request for a court-appointed guardian to untangle the money mess that came with the instant fame he received after his wife cut off his penis.

Bobbitt, 27, said agents and lawyers have kept him in the dark about his finances and have given him little of the money he made from public appearances that were supposed to help pay his legal debts.

On Wednesday, State Supreme Court Justice Mario Rossetti said that was Bobbitt's problem, not the court's. He said Bobbitt could hire a good accountant or lawyer for that.

Newspaper article brings wartime buddies together

By DAN CALDERON
San Antonio Express-News
KARNES CITY, Texas - Erineo Gonzales saw a ghost on the pages of a newspaper Sunday.
He was reading a San Antonio Express-News report about fellow D-Day survivors when he came across a name - Julio Perez - from his past.
"I thought, 'Well, there are probably a lot of Julio Perezes,'" Gonzales said. "But when I got to the part that said he was from Karnes County, it rang a bell."
"I thought, 'No! It can't be! Julio is dead!'"
On Thursday, nearly 50 years after they last saw each other in war-torn France, Army buddies Erineo Gonzales and Julio Perez reminisced about their younger days during an emotional reunion at the Karnes County Courthouse.

"Boy, am I glad to see you," Gonzales told Perez as they embraced. "I buried you 50 years ago in my mind, man. You're supposed to be dead."
Perez smiled and said: "Nope. I've been right here."
The men fell silent for a minute. Then, they hugged again.
Gonzales, 73, and Perez, 74, met at boot camp in 1943 near Mineral Wells.
The two South Texas farm boys became good friends during 13 weeks of grueling basic training that included torturous obstacle courses and daily forced marches of nearly 50 miles.

After they completed training, the soldiers were assigned to different regiments in the 29th Infantry Division.
They left a New York harbor bound for England on board what were the world's two largest vessels. Perez crossed the Atlantic on the Queen Elizabeth, while Gonzales was on the Queen Mary.
In England, there was more training. For two months, members of the 29th prepared for a massive amphibious assault.
Then came June 6, 1944. Perez and Gonzales were among the first wave of soldiers to storm Omaha Beach at Normandy.

Gonzales recalled being pinned down by enemy fire along the shoreline for eight hours before troops could move forward. Perez remembered the harrowing vertical rope climb up the cliffs overlooking the beach.
The pair never saw each other in the chaos and confusion following D-Day until their regiments briefly crossed paths en route to the July 18 battle at St.-Lo.

"We were glad to see each other," Perez said. "In war, if you get separated from your friends, you don't know what happens to them."
On Sept. 9, Perez was hit in the left ear by shrapnel from a mortar round while fighting through a hedgerow in France. He recovered, but was wounded again Nov. 21, when shrapnel from another mortar round nearly severed his right hand.
Perez was sent back to the United States and was honorably discharged. But stories circulated through the division that Perez died in combat.

"Somewhere down the line later on, word started to spread that he was killed," Gonzales recalled. "It was hard for me to take that. Julio was such a gentleman. He wasn't supposed to die."
But Sunday, he read a story that recounted the recollections of several D-Day veterans, including Perez.
It stated that Perez returned from the war to his home in Karnes County, where for the past 35 years he has served as an administrative assistant to four county judges.
Gonzales, a retired glass maker from California who is visiting relatives in San Antonio, called the newspaper and got Perez's telephone number from an editor. He called Perez and was surprised to learn his old friend also believed Gonzales had been killed in the war.

They reminisced by phone throughout the week and agreed to meet for a reunion Thursday at the Karnes County Courthouse. Gonzales made a point to thank County Judge Robert Thonhoff, who sent information to the newspaper about Perez.
"I lived with that pain in my head for 50 years," Gonzales said. "He (Thonhoff) helped me not to have to live with it anymore."

Thousands of years before Spanish expeditions brought horses to the New World, earlier horses had roamed the continent, only to vanish with the last glaciers of the Ice Age.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Texans served and died in World War II

June 6 marks the 50th anniversary of the landing of Allied forces on the beaches of Normandy, France, to drive the Nazi army back into Germany. U.S. General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was born in the North Texas town of Denison, directed the Allied invasion. Of the 16.5 million U.S. troops who served in World War II, about 1.5 million men were trained for military service on Texas bases, while 21 prisoner-of-war camps were located in the state. Of the 830,000 men and 12,200 women from Texas who served in the war, more than 14,000 were killed in battle.

Couple's honeymoon interrupted by D-Day

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

ABOARD THE QE2 (AP) - A GI picked up by military police on the second night of his honeymoon is celebrating his 50th wedding anniversary by taking his British war bride to the D-Day observance.

The romance of Humbert "Bert" Betti and the former Eileen Ellis sounds more like a TV sitcom than the sort of wartime weepie that entwined Robert Taylor and Vivien Leigh on Waterloo Bridge.

Bert was a sergeant with the 509th Military Police detachment in Bristol, England. Eileen, from Beckenham in Kent, was living with her aunt while working for the Auxiliary Territorial Service, plotting maps for anti-aircraft batteries stationed around the key port of Bristol.

They met at a Red Cross dance, which she still pronounces with a Julie Andrews accent, in August 1943 and fell in love.

Battling the formidable Army bureaucracy, Bert finally got permission from the chaplain and his company commander to wed. They were married by The Rev. Cyril Hookway in the little Roman Catholic church at Westbury on Prym on May 14, 1944.

"My mother opposed the match because she wasn't Italian," Bert confided over breakfast poolside on the liner QE2, which is taking more than 1,000 veterans and their families to the Normandy anniversary. Eileen added that her aunt and friends in the Auxiliary Territorial Service predicted the union "would last seven months at best."

Bert was given a four-day pass and, ignoring the doomsayers, the newlyweds checked into the Hotel Bristol.

"The honeymoon lasted less than 24 hours," Eileen said, picking up the story. "The MPs pounded on the door in the middle of the night and pulled Bert out. The D-Day curfew was on. All leaves and passes were canceled and all troops ordered to return to their units."

The MPs, or military police, "were guys from my own outfit," Bert interjected with lingering chagrin. They knew where to get me.

Eileen vividly remembers that Bert threw her some money, said she'd have to pay the bill, and was gone.

Married exactly three weeks, Bert landed on Omaha with the First Army on D-Day plus one. He didn't see his bride again until the following March when he got a one week furlough to England from Germany.

Early in 1946, Eileen came to America as a war bride aboard the Queen Mary, the QE2's fabled predecessor as the Cunard line's flagship.

In New York, Bert's mother took on the education of Eileen with a crash course in how to make pasta. "Now," Bert says proudly, "the best Italian meals I get are at home. She's the best Italian cook I know, next to my mother."

After the D-Day ceremonies, the two are going to make amends for the Bristol Hotel experience by celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at the Grand Hotel in Eastbourne on June 11.

"All my living relations in the south of England are coming," Eileen joyously proclaimed the happy ending to this war story. "All of our children and all 8 grandchildren are flying over for the celebration. There'll be 60 at a big luncheon."

MPs, stay away from their door.

Grilled Sirloin Steak With Red Onion Kabobs

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Marinating time: 30 minutes
Cooking time: 16 to 20 minutes

- 1 1/4 pounds boneless beef sirloin steak, cut 1 inch thick
- 2 teaspoons dried oregano leaves, crushed, divided
- 3/4 teaspoon cracked black pepper, divided
- 1 medium red onion, cut into 8 wedges

- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon honey
- 1/2 teaspoon each dry mustard and salt

Combine wine vinegar, oil, 1 1/2 teaspoons oregano, honey, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper, mustard and salt. Place onion wedges in plastic bag; add marinade, turning to coat. Close bag securely and marinate while preparing coals. Meanwhile soak eight 6-inch bamboo skewers in water 10 minutes. Combine remaining 1/2 teaspoon oregano and pepper. Press herb mixture evenly into both sides of beef sirloin steak. Remove onion wedges from marinade; reserve marinade. Skewer onion wedges in two place through all layers, placing 2 wedges on each skewer; repeat 3 times with remaining onion wedges and bamboo skewers. Place steak and kabobs on grill over medium coals*. Grill steak 16 to 20 minutes for rare to medium and until onions are tender, turning steak and kabobs once and brushing with reserved marinade occasionally. 4 servings.

*To check temperature, cautiously hold hand about 4 inches above coals. Medium coals will force removal of hand in 4 seconds.

Note: A boneless beef sirloin steak will yield three to four 3-ounce cooked, trimmed servings per pound.
