Kelly Kelso named 1994 Honor Student

By GARRY WESNER
 Managing Editor
 In a matter of minutes it was all over for the Class of 1994. Twelve years of compulsory education came to a close on Friday with the flip of a tassel, the tossing of a cap -- and, of course, the claiming of that all-important diploma clothed in a Herd maroon case.

The weather cooperated, as the sun streamed over the packed home stands of Whiteface Stadium to cast shadows across the platform set across the middle of the field.

The graduates -- minus those playing one last time with their fellow band members -- marched into the stadium to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," waving to family members and friends who called their names from the stands.

It was a sea of maroon as graduates sported Herd Maroon gowns, mortarboards and maroon-and-white tassels. Honor graduates were set apart by the gold cords that were supposed to be draped across the front of gowns.

Some graduates, however, chose to display their honor cords in other ways, such as tying them around their waists like belts or about their necks like ties.

With everyone in their assigned seats, the band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and class president Hayden Andrews led the invocation.

The somber spirit of the ceremony was broken briefly when soloist Amy Pesina had problems with the tape player for the accompaniment to the class song "Hero" that she sang, but after one false start she finished the number to thunderous applause.

Salutatorian Heather Kleuskens and valedictorian Chris Lyles took their turns at the podium, exhorting their peers to continue on after graduation.

Miss Kleuskens told the audience and fellow graduates that this year's class is one of the most competitive ever at Hereford High School -- "and believe me, I know."

She said she was locked in a tight race with three other seniors up to the final six weeks of school for who would be salutatorian.

But, she confessed to laughter from the class, every time she got tired of putting in the effort to graduate second in her class, "I thought of one of you up here giving this speech" and it spurred her to work hard again.

Lyles quoted the class motto -- "If you can imagine it, you can achieve it. If you can dream it, you can become it" -- during his message.

Graduates, he said, need to remember "the future holds no bounds," but to approach that future with ambition and determination.

"In the next few years you will find that the going gets tough," he said, but that the graduates should not give up.

He brought up Thomas Edison, who failed the first 10,000 times he tried to invent the filament that made electric light bulbs possible.

Instead of seeing his work as failure, Lyles said, Edison simply told people he had found 10,000 things that did not work.

"I cannot control what life does to me," Lyles said, but added that he can control how he responds to what happens.

Highest honor student
 Hereford High School principal Terry Russell watches as Kelly Kelso returns to her seat after being named the Hereford High School Class of 1994 Honor Student. She was selected by a vote of the faculty and honored for academic performance, character, service and involvement. The announcement was made during commencement exercises Friday.

One last greeting
 Commencement exercises moved with proper pomp and ceremony on Friday in Whiteface Stadium, but there was still room for some fun, as these two seniors used the flat tops of their mortarboards to impart one final high school greeting to the world. Other students used masking tape, paper and other substances to create similar messages on their caps.

Golf, China trade make week tough one for president

By TOM RAUM
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House headlines were not the ones President Clinton might have chosen: a "cave in" on human rights in China and a top aide taking a presidential helicopter to play golf.

And, although overshadowed by the other items, there were new White House disclosures on Hillary Rodham Clinton's trading in commodities markets that suggested that she may have received preferential treatment from her brokerage.

The White House tried to cut its losses by quickly announcing the departure of the errant aide who used the helicopter - but the episode appeared likely to linger after the White House was forced to admit late Friday, after first denying it, that two helicopters were involved.

The fallout on Clinton's China reversal is also likely to hang on for some time.

The president, who goes to Europe next week to participate in D-Day 50th anniversary ceremonies, tried to clear the decks before his trip by getting the China decision behind him.

His action to renew most-favored-nation benefits to Beijing was widely expected.

Bold front-page headlines everywhere told a story that must have made White House officials wince: "Clinton Reverses Course on China," read The Washington Post; "Clinton Caves In on Trade vs. Human Rights," said the Los Angeles Times; "Profit Motive Gets the Nod" and "A Policy Reversal" read two headlines in The New York Times.

The Wall Street Journal told its readers Clinton had administered only "a slap on the wrist" in announcing he was separately banning Chinese gun and ammunition imports, and keeping earlier sanctions in place.

Clinton said there was no point in isolating China and that his new approach offered "the best opportunity to lay the basis for long-term sustainable progress on human rights."

His decision to break the link between human rights progress and trade benefits for China was seized by critics as a further sign of administration vacillation and drift on foreign policy.

The telling photograph - taken by staff photographer Skip Lawrence of the Frederick (Md) News-Post - of a Marine guard saluting White House aides as they boarded a shiny presidential helicopter after a round of golf graced many front pages.

"If ever a picture was worth a thousand words, this was it," said Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Md.

The helicopter episode is certain to be cited repeatedly by Republicans as a sign of hypocrisy and arrogance within the White House.

David Watkins, the White House's chief administrative officer, was forced to resign. And Clinton promised taxpayers would be reimbursed.

That lessened the potential damage of the episode, but it still remained an embarrassment to a president who is trying to demonstrate strong leadership and reverse slipping approval ratings.

The negative headlines came as Clinton prepared to embark on a politically delicate mission.

Clinton is the first president since that war to have not served in the military. His avoidance of the draft during the Vietnam War and his participation in anti-war protests at the time still rankle many in the military.

It may have been a things-couldn't-get-any-worse mentality that prompted the White House to pick such a time to release additional records on Mrs. Clinton's commodities trading.

The new records show that she began trading in cattle futures in October 1978 with insufficient funds in her brokerage account to cover possible losses.

Much has been made of her parlaying of a $1,000 stake into $100,000 profit in less than two years.

Remembering veterans

Increase in property taxes shown in report

AUSTIN -- Since 1982 the average property tax rate in Texas has more than doubled, according to the Texas Research League, which recently presented an analysis of tax rates throughout the state.

According to the league's figures, the average property tax rate in Texas has gone from $1.037 per $100 valuation to $2.258 per $100 valuation between 1982 and 1992-93.

These figures do not reflect changes in 1993-94 tax rates.

Locally, property taxes were $2.4375 per $100. That rate consisted of $0.4345 levied by the City of Hereford, $1.2819 by the Hereford Independent School District, $0.2276 by the Deaf Smith County Hospital District and $0.4934 by the County.

For a single-family house that would sell for $80,000, the highest tax bill was $2,678 in Dallas (the Wilmer-Hutchins Independent School District) and the lowest was $1,232 in Dalhart. With homestead exemptions, the lowest would have been $956 in New Braunfels and a high of $2,371 in Robstown.

In Hereford, the tax bill on an $80,000 house in 1992-93 averaged $1,859 if it was rented or $1,649 if the homeowner claimed homestead exemptions.

In addition, the report notes, homeowners over age 65 are eligible for both state-mandated and local-option exemptions and would pay lower property taxes. In addition, school tax bills for the elderly are frozen at the level in place when the homeowner turned 65.

Equitable appraisals among different types of property are a significant factor in attracting new industry and jobs to a community, the report says. The 1992-93 property tax on industrial equipment and inventories valued at $80,000 ranged from $1,231 in Fairfield to $2,639 in Robstown.

For property worth $80,000 in Hereford, the report shows a combined average tax of $1,950 for all types of property, $1,885 for industrial equipment and inventories and $1,919 for commercial inventories and fixtures.

The report cites two reasons for the wide range of taxes. First, local officials adopt budgets and set tax rates and the amount of homestead exemptions.

Second, unless all property is (See INCREASE, Page 2A)

Local Roundup

First holiday of summer

City of Hereford and Deaf Smith County will close offices Monday, except for law enforcement and emergency personnel, in observance of Memorial Day. Also taking a day off will be state and federal employees. Some retail businesses will take a holiday while others will be open for customers. The offices of The Hereford Brand will be closed on Monday as well.

HISD board to meet

The Hereford Independent School District Board of Trustees will meet in regular session at 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 31, in the board room of the administration building, 601 N. 25 Mile Avenue. Among the items for consideration on the action agenda are the 1994-95 school calendar; the tax abatement board; the Compact for Safe Schools; and contract with the Region XVI Education Services Center. The information agenda includes a report on the Exit Level TAAS test and the Deaf Smith County Youth Home. The meeting is open to the public.

Juvenile board meeting set

The Deaf Smith County Juvenile Board will hold its regular meeting at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 2, in the Deaf Smith County Courthouse. The agenda includes a review of facilities used for processing juvenile offenders.

Summer assistance available

Panhandle Community Services will have funds available beginning June 1 to help clients with cooling bills. Priority will be given to the elderly, disabled and/or handicapped. For more information call the PCS office at 364-5631.

Immunization schedule noted

The Texas Department of Health has announced its June immunization clinic schedule for Hereford. Vaccines against polio, diphtheria, lockjaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella, mumps and HIB (hemophilus influenzae type B) will be offered. The Texas Department of Health charges to help with the cost of keeping the clinic open. Charges are based on family income and size and the ability to pay. Regular clinics will be held from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. The clinic will be on Thursday, June 2, then June 9, 16 and 23 in the Health Department offices, 205 W. Fourth St., Suite B.

Swimming pool set to open on Tuesday

The Hereford city swimming pool will open for the summer at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, May 31 according to an announcement Friday.

The pool will be open every Tuesday through Sunday from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Admission is 50 cents per person under age 12 and 75 cents per person age 12 and over.

All swimmers must wear regular swim suits. No street clothes, cutoffs or shirts will be allowed in the pool.

Private parties may be booked nightly from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The American Red Cross will offer swimming lessons at the pool during the summer.

Dates and times will be announced by the Red Cross at a later date.

INCREASE

appraised uniformly, tax burdens will vary. The lowest average ratio of tax appraisals to market value (selling price) was 67.7 percent in Lakeview ISD (Hall County), while the highest ratio was in the Divide ISD in Kerr County at 836.2 percent.

Locally, the report shows a ratio of 103.5 percent for all properties in the Hereford ISD and 107.4 percent for all types of property in the Walcott ISD.

Taxes levied by counties ranged from $0.157 per $100 of market value in Titus County to $1.122 in Jim Hogg County. Including countywide special districts, county rates ranged from $0.170 in Somervell County to $1.160 in Schleicher County.

In Deaf Smith County, the true rate was $0.494 per $100 valuation or $0.721 if countywide special districts are included. The only countywide special district here is the Deaf Smith County Hospital District, which has a tax rate of $0.228 per $100 valuation.

Gary Wood, president of the Texas Research League, cautioned that the figures presented by the group are for last year. Taxpayers have already paid their 1993-94 taxes.

Inventors group sets last meeting

The Amarillo Inventors Association will hold its last meeting of the season at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 31, in the basement of Boatmen's First National Bank, Eighth and Tyler Streets in Amarillo.

A wrap-up of business is scheduled.

The next regular meeting will be in September.

Party time!

Dignity has its place in a graduation ceremony, but the party began early for many Hereford High School seniors as enthusiasm -- and a handful of confetti -- created a party-like atmosphere for those waiting at the end of the graduation line on Friday.

SENIORS

School as the Outstanding Honor Student.

Principal Terry Russell made the presentation after praising Miss Kelso as an honor student who was recognized not only for scholastic achievement but also for character, service and involvement.

After Superintendent Charles W. Greenwalt officially presented the class for graduation, the part the seniors had waited 12 years for began -- the handing out of diplomas.

Ron Weishaar, president of the HISD Board of Trustees during the 1993-94 school year -- handed students their diplomas as senior counselor Sara Pesina read off their names.

The new alumni then passed through an official receiving line of district officials offering congratulations -- Russell; Greenwalt; trustees Steve Wright, Raul Valdez, Randy Tooley, Joe Flood, Mike Veazey and Jim Marsh; and administrators Nena Veazey, Corky Lockmiller and Richard Souter.

Lockmiller left his place in line one time, to push Weishaar aside and present a diploma to his daughter, Hayley, along with a paternal hug.

Weishaar resumed his place in line, dropping the role of board president and claiming that of father as he gave his daughter, Brooke, her diploma.

After everyone from Maria Acosta to Theresa Zepeda had received their diplomas and thrown their mortarboards in the air, the now-graduated senior cheerleaders led the class in the final singing of the school song.

The HHS alumni raised their hands in salute to the school, then, accompanied by the depleted band, marched out into the parking lot to hugs, kisses, tears and congratulations from fellow graduates, family members and friends.

Gambling news mixed as lottery begins second year

AUSTIN (AP) - While Texas lottery officials are pleased with the $4.25 billion worth of tickets sold in the contest's first two years, not all the state's gamblers are happy.

Pari-mutuel wagering, especially dog racing, has suffered with easy gambling offered by the lottery, says David Freeman, executive secretary of the Texas Racing Commission.

Wagering at dog tracks in Corpus Christi and Harlingen has dropped about 40 percent since the lottery has come into full swing, Freeman said.

"Anytime there is competition for the discretionary dollar, someone is going to lose," Freeman said.

He said the lottery is easier to play, and with 15,000 retail outlets selling tickets, much more accessible.

Freeman said the tracks could be more aggressive in advertising, but the Legislature may ultimately have to help.

"There is going to have to be the ability for these racetracks, through legislation perhaps, to get into an off-track betting situation where they can have their product throughout Texas," he said.

The gloomy outlook at the dog tracks didn't stop lottery officials from celebrating two years of continued growth since the first lottery ticket was purchased by Gov. Ann Richards on May 29, 1992.

"We have no sophomore slump. We expect to continue the sales the way we are going and hopefully have a successful third, fourth, fifth year as we continue to go on," said Nora Linares, Texas lottery director.

Average daily sales for the second year were 42 percent higher than the first year, Ms. Linares said.

In March, the Texas lottery hit a record $75 million. The prize was shared by five winners from Arlington, Corpus Christi, Dallas, the Dallas area and the Houston area.

The record jackpot was $20 million larger than any ever offered previously in Texas and ranked No. 9 nationally. Its size lured many first-time players to the numbers game.

The highest prize ever offered by

Health Department eyeing no-consent abortion rule

AUSTIN (AP) - A rule being considered by the Texas Department of Health to ensure that minors have access to abortion without parental or spousal consent has been met with strong opposition by anti-abortion forces.

State Health Department rules currently don't address parental consent, but officials are considering a proposal stating that "neither spousal or parental consent may be requested or required" for minors seeking to terminate their pregnancies.

The proposal does, however, direct counselors to encourage minors to talk to a "trusted or significant adult" about their decision.

Health Department guidelines must be followed by clinics if they are operated by or have contracts with the state agency.

At a hearing Friday, officials representing Right to Life Committee Inc. said the new rule would "gag" counselors from suggesting to pregnant girls younger than 18 that they seek help from their parents.

"This gag rule eliminates parents as a resource and source of support for their daughter when she most needs them," said Lisa Salcedo, press secretary for the Texas Right to Life Committee.

The proposed rule is one of many the Health Department is reviewing for family planning procedures.

a U.S. lotto game was $118.8 million by California on April 17, 1991. It was split by 10 winners.

Calls to the hot line set up for compulsive gamblers have risen with sales, and the lottery could face competition in the years to come from casinos, video poker and other forms of gambling.

Casino promoters have already started talking to legislators about legalizing their businesses in Texas, and advocates of video poker would like to bring those games to Texas.

NAFTA seminar scheduled

PLAINVIEW -- The Plainview/Hale County Industrial Foundation will present a four-hour seminar on the ramifications of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

The seminar will be held at 10 a.m. on Monday, June 6 in the Nunn Business Auditorium on the Wayland Baptist University campus.

The meeting will attempt to present areas of opportunity to businesses in the West Texas/Panhandle region.

The event is co-sponsored by U.S. Rep. Bill Sarpaluis.

Questions may be directed to foundation executive director Grady Elder, (806) 293-8536.

Program speakers will include: -- Sue-Ann Linnemann, assistant district director for commercial operations of the U.S. Customs

Fog rolls in across Panhandle

By The Associated Press
Visibility was less than a mile over the Texas Panhandle on Saturday as low clouds and fog developed.

Temperatures at daybreak Saturday were mostly in the 50s and 60s in West Texas, ranging from 56 at Amarillo to 67 at El Paso.

The National Weather Service said showers or thunderstorms could be expected much of Saturday across West Texas, with highs in the 80s and 90s.

Highs Friday were in the 80s across most of North Texas, but temperatures fell into the 80s across the region.

Strong thunderstorms developed rapidly in and just east of the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex around sunset Friday.

Numerous funnel clouds were reported as the strongest storm exploded in Van Zandt County. Tornadoes were sighted at Ben Wheeler and just north of Frankston.

Patchy dense fog also formed over the coastal plains of South Texas. Temperatures across South Texas ranged from 66 at Junction to 77 at Brownsville.

Thunderstorms continued over extreme Southeast Texas on Saturday morning along a stationary front that was draped across Central Texas.

The forecast calls for a chance for showers and thunderstorms over the Coastal Plains and Southeast Texas today. Otherwise it will be partly cloudy and warm for South Texas on Monday, a holiday.

Paper says plea refused

CHICAGO (AP) - Rep. Dan Rostenkowski has decided to reject a prosecutors' plea bargain offer and fight allegations of misusing government funds, the Chicago Sun-Times reported Saturday.

Rostenkowski informed prosecutors on Thursday of his decision and, barring any last minutes changes will be charged Tuesday, the newspaper said, citing unnamed sources.

Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is under investigation by the U.S. attorney's office over his use of office and campaign accounts. He could face indictment, raising speculation he might resign from Congress.

Prosecutors plan to ask a federal grand jury in Washington, D.C., to return an indictment accusing Rostenkowski of defrauding the government of hundreds of thousands of dollars over a period of two decades, the paper said.

No negotiations are scheduled over the Memorial Day weekend, but Rostenkowski could still change his mind and accept the plea bargain by the Tuesday deadline, the Sun-Times said.

In their final plea bargain offer, prosecutors demanded that Rostenkowski plead guilty to a felony, serve a short prison sentence, resign from Congress immediately and make restitution.

Report shows large numbers of farm workers are illiterate

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - More than half of all hired farm workers lacked high school diplomas, compared with only 14 percent of all wage and salary employees, says a newly released Agriculture Department study.
"In fact, 14 percent of hired farm workers were functionally illiterate; that is, they had completed less than five years of schooling, compared with only 1 percent of all other wage and salary workers," USDA's Economic Research Service said in a Rural Conditions and Trends report based on 1992 figures.
It said 57 percent of all hired farm workers had not completed high school. Years of schooling varied significantly by racial and ethnic group, the report said. Only 11 percent of Hispanics had completed high school, compared with 60 percent of whites and 39 percent of blacks and others, it said.
Not unexpectedly, farmhands earned significantly less than most other workers.
Among those working 35 hours of more per week, hired farm workers had median weekly earnings of $240, or only 54 percent of the average $446 earned by other U.S. wage and salary workers, the report said.
The weekly earnings of hired farm workers varied by education level, ranging from a median $193 for workers who did not complete high school to $300 for those with some college education.

Number of cases of skin cancer up

DALLAS (AP) - Melanoma, the deadliest form of skin cancer, is of more concern to doctors than ever before, with the number of cases rising about 4 percent a year since the 1970s.
With more people moving to southern states and evidence that the earth's protective ozone layer is thinning, public health officials worry that the cancer will only get worse. The Dallas Morning News reported in its Saturday editions.
In 1960, one American in 600 was diagnosed with melanoma. By 2000, that number is expected to be one in 75.
This year, the American Cancer Society expects 32,000 new cases, about 1,600 of those in Texas. For all skin cancers in the United States, the numbers are expected to exceed 700,000.
In southern states, about 30 percent of the population is expected to develop skin cancer at some point in their lives.
"It's particularly tragic because it affects young people," said Dallas dermatologist J.B. Howell, who has seen melanoma rates climb during his 50 years in practice.
The newspaper said scientists are constantly working out strategies to protect sun worshippers.
Among recent findings, Texas researchers have focused attention on sunscreen, suggesting that the lotion might not be the chemical suit of armor that many people believe it to be.
Also, doctors are now emphasizing children's exposure to sunlight as a foreshadowing of their melanoma risks as adults.
To protect the eyes as well as the skin, a San Antonio scientist has come up with a new kind of sunglasses that guard against the potentially harmful effects of visible light as well as ultraviolet light.

"We're exposing ourselves more to sunlight, and we're starting to see the consequences," said Stephen Ullrich of the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston.

Three of Ullrich's colleagues found themselves embroiled in controversy in January after publishing reports showing that sun screens didn't protect the components of the skins' immune systems that may keep melanoma cells in check.

The scientists suggested that perhaps sunscreens actually increase a person's chances of melanoma by lulling susceptible people into staying out in the sun longer than they would without protection.

In short, they said, stopping a sunburn might be like disabling a smoke alarm that might work of a free agent before it does too much damage.

Dr. William Jacott, a family practitioner at the University of Minnesota and a board member of the American Medical Association, joined doctors from three other professional associations Friday in issuing their strongest warning yet that children are in great danger from the sun's rays. The organizations issued a set of guidance called "Save Our Skin" that emphasize keeping children out of the sun and protecting them with an SPF-15 sunscreen when they go outside.

Frances Cleveland, wife of President Grover Cleveland, gave birth to a daughter in the White House Sept. 9, 1893.

By Speedy Nieman

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says the difference between adults and children is that adults have toys that require monthly payments.

Politics is the art of making yourself popular with the people by giving them grants out of their own money.

Some people believe that this country, and the world as a whole, is going to pot. But, I think if you check back in history, our parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents probably thought the same thing.

Things sure seem worse, primarily because of dope and drugs, and one other thing—communications. We hear more about all the nation's woes in today's society. The national news is sensationalized on TV, especially those dumb "magazine" shows that parade folks who tell about crime, immoralities, bad kids, bad parents, bad spouses, and different lifestyles.

But we recently noticed a study on American families conducted by MassMutual magazine that dispels the following myths about U.S. families.

Myth: Parents of pre-teen children are too busy and stressed out to enjoy their family life.

Reality: About 74 percent of American parents with children ages 3 to 12 are satisfied with the quality of their family life.

Myth: Between work and other demands, parents do not spend enough time with pre-teen children.

Reality: More than 59 percent say they spend the right amount of time with their children.

Myth: Things were easier for parents 20 years ago, and parents, particularly mothers, had more time to spend with children.

Reality: Despite the increasing amount of working mothers (69 percent in this study), 71 percent of women say they spend the same amount or more time with their children than their own mothers spent with them. Sixty-four percent of fathers make the same claim.

Myth: Because working mothers are not there to supervise them, children spend more time with the television as a baby sitter.

Reality: Children of working mothers spend the same amount of time in front of the TV by themselves as do children of stay-at-home mothers.

Myth: Today's children are overscheduled, and parents spend too much time caring their children from activity to activity.

Reality: Parents do not report that their children are overscheduled. Only 5 percent say their children are involved in too many activities.

Myth: Today's families never have time to eat together.

Reality: Parents report they are together for dinner on average five days per week, and mothers say they are together six days per week.

Myth: Children play too many video games.

Reality: Parents report that their children average less than one hour a day playing video games. More than half say their children do not play any video games.

Only when a republic's life is in danger should a man uphold his government when it is in the wrong. There is no other time. —Mark Twain

While President Clinton likes to portray his promise to "end welfare as we know it" as a radical new project, we've heard such rhetoric before. Thirty years ago, Lyndon Johnson heralded the introduction of his War on Poverty with the similarly bold vow that "the days of the dole are numbered."

Well, 30 years later we're still waiting. The Heritage Foundation recently released figures showing that welfare spending, even after adjusting for inflation, has soared since Johnson's pledge—from less than $50 billion in 1965 to more than $300 billion in 1992.

And, this happened while the welfare population has remained nearly the same as in Johnson's day!

The welfare industry now eats up a full 5 percent of our entire gross national product, up from just 1.5 percent in 1965. All told, there are not at least 76 different welfare programs administered by the federal government.

Nearly one out of every seven children is enrolled in Aid to Families with Dependent Children, the nation's largest cash welfare program. In 1991, welfare spending exceeded defense spending for the first time since the 1930s. By 1998 welfare spending—if not controlled—will total $540 billion per year, more than twice the projected defense budget.

It would be one thing if all this spending actually were helping the poor. But it's not. Out-of-wedlock births are up...crime is up...drug and alcohol abuse are up...Work is down...intact families are becoming increasingly rare...educational achievement is down...hope is down.

Congressman Larry Combest, representing our 19th district, has continually pushed for true welfare reform. We only hope worthy goals translate into concrete politics, otherwise 30 years from now our children will be confronted with a money-devouring welfare state that makes today's mess look like a drop in the bucket.

First off, congratulations to the Hereford High School Class of 1994. Welcome to the real world (and we'll be praying for you).

Before we finish this class off, one final note to a certain honor graduate I spoke to last week.

I accused her of kibitzing and this young lady -- who professed before witnesses that she knew everything -- did not know the meaning of the word "kibitz."

So, here it is: to meddle in the affairs of others or to give advice without invitation.

Well, on to other things. Seems poor President Clinton has had a rough week.

First there was his vacillating on the issue of China's Most Favored Nation trade status -- which he eventually renewed after pledging not to unless there were significant improvements in human rights there.

Second, there were the allegations Thursday that several aides took the presidential helicopter on a golfing jaunt to Maryland.

Of course David Watkins -- who gained fame during the so-called "Travelgate" scandal last year -- was fired immediately.

But still, the damage had been done. Then came further revelations that there were two helicopters involved, not one as the White House had first said.

Finally, the administration has had to release additional papers about Hillary's commodities trading quick before someone else finds out she began trading in cattle futures in 1978 without enough money in her brokerage account to cover possible losses.

That seems to suggest that she did receive some sort of preferential information that enabled her to parlay $1,000 into $100,000.

Of course, let's not forget that we get to look at Clinton's draft dodging once more next week as he goes to Europe to celebrate the 50th anniversary of D-Day to honor men who gave their lives to preserve and regain freedom for the rest of the world.

All this -- added, of course, to the volumes of scandals that have rocked the Clinton administration over the past year and a half -- make me wonder what we have in store the next 2-1/2 years before someone else is elected.

Add to all this the fact that Clinton's Health Plan champion -- Dan Rostenkowski -- is likely out of the U.S. House and there is a good shot the already shaky Democratic majority in the House will shrink following the fall elections means Clinton (and Hillary) are probably really starting to sweat.

Is it any wonder there are few people around these parts who admit to having voted for him?

Speaking of Hillary, did you notice the latest news about her?

Seems some friends of the First Lady are testing the waters for a possible presidential run in 1996 for Mrs. Clinton.

Now if things aren't bad enough now with Bill in the Oval Office and Hillary working behind the scenes, imagine what things would be like if the rolls were reversed?

It gives me chills just thinking about it!

And, back to Bill for a while. You heard, didn't you, that Clinton has ordered continuation of the draft registration that has been in effect since 1980.

You see, some people in the House wanted to do away with the registration system as no longer needed, but Bill said it needs to be kept.

I guess this is part of the "Do What I Say, Not What I Do" philosophy.

Finally, something kind of scary in terms of freedom of speech and the rights of the unborn.

Clinton has signed into law a bill making it a federal crime to block access to abortion clinics.

First of all, this is totally unconstitutional, because it infringes on our rights to free speech and assembly.

Secondly, no matter what your opinion is on abortion, this new law should be a great concern, because now that the federal government has the power to stop one group from demonstrating against something, it can step in and use this and similar laws to shut down other groups with which it disagrees.

So you see, this is not an abortion issue -- it is an issue of free speech and government control.

If we allow the government to control pro-life protesters, who will be next? Anti-homosexual protesters? pro-family activists? Christians?

Well, that's it for this week. Have a good week and remember, graduation is the end of compulsory education, but your real education is just beginning.

An AP news analysis Feminists caught in a quandry

By JILL LAWRENCE

AP Political Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - On one side, a long-awaited sympathetic president. On the other, a woman who accuses him of sexual harassment. What's a feminist to do?

Women's groups are making strenuous efforts to appear neutral about Paula Jones' harassment suit against President Clinton. When asked specifically about it, feminist leaders offer what they say is their customary response, regardless of who is involved: The charges are serious and each side deserves a fair hearing.

"Our role isn't to try these cases and decide whether they have merits," said Harriett Woods, president of the bipartisan National Women's Political Caucus.

"Until we have a chance to review the statements and evidence of parties of both sides of this suit, we will not comment on the truth of their allegations," NOW President Patricia Ireland said in a statement.

One magazine reported that Jones had tried unsuccessfully to get help from the NOW Legal Defense and Education Fund in New York. But the fund had no record of a call. Legal director Deborah Ellis said that when she called Taylor and threatened him with a defamation suit, he admitted neither he nor Jones had contacted the organization.

Clinton is by far the most prominent target of such allegations. Jones is accusing him of making unwanted sexual advances in a hotel room in 1991, when he was Arkansas governor and she was a state employee. The White House denies that the encounter occurred.

Jones has told her story on evangelical broadcasts and at press conferences with Clinton's arch-enemies. Her conservative defenders include Concerned Women for America, Operation Rescue and Accuracy in Media.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped with the "Neighbor-to-Neighbor Walk" for the American Heart Association, Deaf Smith County affiliate. We had 42 walkers who volunteered their time.

Due to only having 42 walkers, we were not able to knock on everyone's door. We do apologize for that. If you would like to make a donation, you may still do so by sending your check to the American Heart Association at Box 272, Hereford, TX.

Without your contributions, the research and advances in technology relating to heart disease would not be possible. You are all appreciated.

A special thanks to Troy's Sweet Shop and McDonald's for donating the refreshments for the walkers.

Thanks, Betty Drake, chairperson Neighbor-to-Neighbor Walk

Dear Editor:

The senior parents of the Hereford High graduating class of 1994 would like to thank the merchants and individuals who contributed to the Senior Prom, which was held May 21 at the Administration Building.

All the parents, as well as the students, are very appreciative of all your support throughout their years at Hereford High School.

Thanks, again, for your support! 1994 Senior Parents

Dear Editor:

Northwest Primary School would like to thank the following people for helping to make our recent Animal Fair a success: Western Ford, McDonald's, Steve Johnson, Tom Draper, Lavada Gulley, Ann Washington, Don Nall, Kerin Kelley and HHS ag students, Sony Ebers and Gobo's, Ramaldo Garcia, Wade Lewis and Hereford Feedyard, Lisa Huffaker.

Mr. Kelley and his students set up pens for us; Mr. Evers let us borrow some cattle panels to make a pen for a donkey; Western Ford donated popcorn, and McDonald's donated juice.

The other people let us borrow an animal for the students to see. Mr. Nall helped bring the animals to school, and stayed all day to make sure everything was O.K. We had a lot of fun.

Thanks from students at Northwest Primary School

Dear Editor:

It saddens me to think we have kids in our community who get thrills in ruining people's property without even thinking that, in the process, they could hurt someone.

On May 24th, at 9:45 p.m., my family and I were driving west on Plains Street when something that sounded like a gunshot hit the side of our car, breaking a window. As soon as I made sure my family was okay, I backed up and saw a couple of kids running down the alley between the 100 block of Aspen and Beach.

They were obviously teenagers because they were able to jump a five-foot fence on Beach Street and disappear. When I drove around to Beach, I noticed they had thrown a large rock which lay broken into pieces on the street. I did call the police, but of course unless you catch them red-handed, there is not anything that can be done.

I don't think it's the first time this has happened. Those kids know what they were doing. I hope everyone is cautious when driving down this area.

To the parents in that area, if your child came in huffing and puffing around that time last Tuesday, I hope you question them on where they were. I'm glad I didn't get a hold of them because I was so angry at that time--not so much because of what it was going to cost me to replace the window, but because someone had jeopardized my family's lives.

Thank you, Mike Galvan

Dear Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank Mrs. Carolyn Waters for her dedication and devotion as the sponsor of the Junior Historian Club of Hereford Junior High.

It's a dream of parents that their child will have a teacher in his life who inspires, challenges and motivates him to do more than he thought he could. Mrs. Waters has been that kind of teacher to our sons and surely to countless others as she involved herself with the youth of Hereford.

She never expected or accepted less than their best, and then worked seemingly tirelessly to help them achieve it. Mrs. Waters has literally "gone the extra mile" as a teacher and touched the lives of our young men, and we want her to know that we appreciate her. We need more teachers like her!

Sincerely, Jay & Terisa Brown Mark & Billie Landrum

Dear Editor:

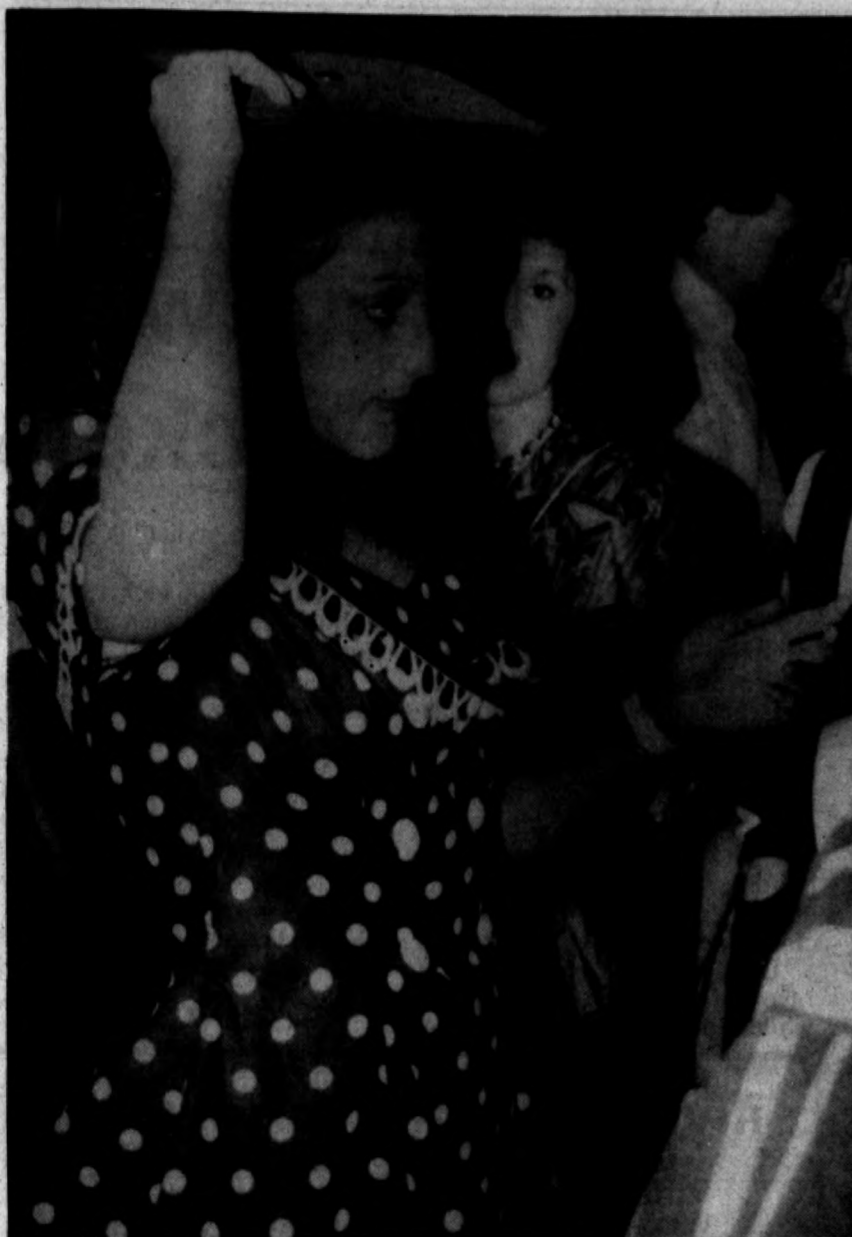

We want to give tribute to a very special teacher who has helped us so much this year on our History Fair project. Mrs. Carolyn Waters really did a lot to encourage us and keep us going. She helped us in every way and always made time for us when we needed her. We were able to do very well at state competition and most of the credit goes to Mrs. Waters.

She has also done a lot for the Junior Historians Club of Hereford Junior High, and we want to thank her for all the time and effort she puts in there, too. We owe a lot to Mrs. Waters and we just want to say, "Thank You!" Justin Landrum & Clay Brown

Changeover from apartheid to black rule in South Africa quick

By JOHN DANISZEWSKI
Associated Press Writer
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) - Somehow it has all changed so quickly and so smoothly.

President Nelson Mandela, who spent more than two decades in prison on an island in nearby Table Bay, emerged last week from the doors of a sparkling state mansion built by gold-and-diamond magnate Cecil Rhodes.

He stood comfortably on the back steps of his new presidential estate, situated on the flank of Table Mountain, overlooking manicured lawns, acres of gardens, a helicopter pad and a tennis court. Two flags of the now democratic South Africa flapped serenely in the breeze.

At Mandela's elbow was the leader of the pro-apartheid Conservative Party, Ferdi Hartzenberg. Respectful and amiable, he was thanking the new president for their meeting in which Hartzenberg pleaded for an amnesty for white rightists arrested in a series of pre-election blasts that killed 21 people.

Mandela gave every indication he would consider it, in the interests of "healing the wounds."

Such incongruous scenes have become commonplace 2-1/2 weeks after the African National Congress began settling into the halls of power and Mandela was inaugurated the country's first black president.

If the country's first non-racial election was preceded by apocalyptic rhetoric, racially inspired murders and fears of civil war, the immediate aftermath has been one of a lingering good feeling.

One agency counted just 12 deaths nationwide from political violence, making the week the most tranquil in four years.

"Miraculously, the afterglow of the peaceful election and cathartic inauguration is still with us," said the Star newspaper in Johannesburg this week after Mandela opened the country's first representative parliament.

However, there was also a feeling afoot that the government's real work has not yet begun. Several weeks of back-patting for the successful transfer of power from the white minority to the black majority was good for the national spirit. But some South Africans inevitably were starting to focus on the enormous tasks ahead.

Addressing the first joint sitting of parliament Tuesday, Mandela said, "Let us all get down to work!"

He outlined a moderate domestic program designed to uplift the country's black majority. It was leavened with repeated promises to the white business establishment to hold down government spending and taxes and to maintain fiscal discipline.

Although the speech was widely praised, one black South African newspaper columnist said it went down better among whites than blacks and warned that black ANC supporters might become disillusioned if Mandela doesn't make more changes.

Mandela's Cabinet members were starting to make their marks. Communist Party leader Joe Slovo, the new minister for housing, called together housing officials from the nine provinces to plot how to meet the ANC's goal of 1 million new homes in five years.

Deputy President Thabo Mbeki, whose father was an ANC prisoner with Mandela on Robben Island, jettied off to New York to be on hand when the United Nations lifted the last trade sanctions against South Africa.

The other deputy president, F.W. de Klerk, moved out of the gracious, antique-filled Tuyn Huis presidential office to make room for his new chief, Mandela. In parliament, de Klerk made a point to welcome the new black members, who for decades were kept out by his National Party.

Foreign Minister Alfred Nzo restored full diplomatic relations with Angola's leftist government, long opposed by the old South Africa.

Meanwhile, new black Defense Minister Joe Modise announced that he was retaining the services of the former white commander of the army, Gen. Georg Meiring, to lead the new South African National Defense Force. He will be responsible for merging the old South African army with 23,000 ANC guerrilla troops and troops from now-abolished black homelands.

Ex-ENMU official charged with having stolen secrets

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) - Attorney General Tom Udall will help prosecute a former Eastern New Mexico University official charged with possessing trade secrets stolen from a Silicon Valley company.

Donald Zarlengo, who formerly headed the Computer Science Center at ENMU, was arrested on March 8 and charged with criminal possession of stolen property worth more than $20,000 and conspiracy.

Zarlengo resigned his job at ENMU in April.

The stolen property was a contractor's proposal for renewal of a $100 million contract with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Udall said Friday.

Udall said he would assist Ninth Judicial District Attorney Randy Harris in the state's case against Zarlengo. Udall said he was asked to join the case because of the complex issues involved.

No trial date has been set.

Zarlengo, 52, worked as a consultant in charge of software support for Serv-Air of Mountain View, Calif. He was accused of having trade secrets from NSI Technology Services Corp. of Sunnyvale, Calif., which was said to be competing for NASA contracts potentially worth more than $99 million.

According to a court affidavit, the largest contract for which Serv-Air and NSI were competing was for technical and mechanical support for an airborne telescope project. Trade secrets worth an estimated $142,000 involved the Kuipper Airborne Observatory contract proposal to NASA.

Investigators seized computer peripherals and a diskette from Zarlengo's ENMU office and a pair of diskettes from his car. In a raid of Zarlengo's home in Portales, investigators seized 1,186 diskettes, along with 17 NASA documents and papers relating to both Serv-Air and NSI.

FINDING THE DOWN PAYMENT PART 1

The down payment can be the single biggest stumbling block for many first time buyers. The amount needed for the down payment depends on the type of loan and the purchase price of the home. With VA loans, there may be no down, but many lenders now require one. And Don't count on borrowing the down payment. As laws do not allow for the borrowing of money for down payments and closing costs on a conventional loan. Coming up with the down payment is as simple or difficult as saving money. Ten percent of the net income is the amount usually suggested for a good savings plan. If a payroll deduction plan is available at the work place, this is another good way to save the needed money. "If you don't have the money in your hands, you will not spend it." There are also loan programs that will permit a portion of the down payment to be paid by the seller. Next week more on creating the down payment for a future investment.

'Wild Thing' faces two Phillies on rough night

By TOM WITHERS
Associated Press Writer
Philadelphia fans got their first up close look at Mitch Williams as a Houston Astro. It may have also been their last.

Entering the game to a standing ovation in the ninth with a two-run lead, Williams allowed the first two batters he faced to reach base - walking one and hitting the other - before getting Kim Batiste to line out to left.

That was all Houston manager Terry Collins needed to see, yanking Williams, who said he thought his time in baseball was running short.

"I think it's time for Mitchy-poo to take it to the ranch," he said, referring to his cattle ranch in Hico, Texas. "The way it looks, I'm not going to be here past Monday."

Scott Servais and Steve Finley hit solo homers in the seventh for the Astros, and Houston's other closer, John Hudek, got the final two outs to beat the Phillies 4-2.

Williams has struggled this season after giving up the World Series-winning home run to Joe Carter last year. The Phillies traded him to Houston on Dec. 2.

Elsewhere in the NL it was: Atlanta 7, Chicago 2; Montreal 4, Colorado 2; New York 10, Cincinnati 2; San Francisco 4, Florida 3; San Diego 8, St. Louis 6 and Los Angeles 6, Pittsburgh 5 in 10 innings. Braves 7, Cubs 2

At Atlanta, Greg Maddux won his eighth game and David Justice hit a two-run homer as the Braves battered Mike Morgan early.

Maddux (8-2) allowed five hits and struck out seven in seven innings. He won his fourth consecutive decision and the Braves won for the fifth time in seven games.

Justice's second homer in two games keyed a five-run second inning off Morgan (0-6), who has dropped eight straight decisions.

Rangers slip past Red Sox

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Hector Fajardo, making his first start in three seasons, got his first big league victory and rookie Rusty Greer put Texas ahead with a two-run single as the Rangers rallied past the Boston Red Sox 4-3 Friday night.

Fajardo (1-0), who missed most of the last two seasons with arm trouble, allowed four hits in seven innings, struck out four and walked none. The 23-year-old right-hander hadn't started in the majors since Oct. 5, 1991.

Roger Clemens allowed two runs and five hits in six innings with seven strikeouts and four walks, but play stoppages took their toll. The game was delayed by rain for 1 hour, 31 minutes in the first inning and by a power failure for 15 minutes in the second.

Damon Berrhill's third homer, a two-run drive, put Boston ahead 3-2 in the seventh, but David Hulse singled off Todd Frohwrth (0-1) in the bottom half. Jeff Frye sacrificed and Jose Canseco walked.

Will Clark grounded out - with Canseco beating the throw to second before Clark was caught on the relay - Juan Gonzalez was walked intentionally and Greer singled through the left side of the infield.

Cris Carpenter got the last four outs for his third save.

Scott Cooper's RBI single put Boston ahead in the second, but Frey walked in the third and Clark hit his third homer of the season for a 2-1 lead.

First-round playoff flop puts Spurs' front office in turmoil

By KELLEY SHANNON
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Call it post-playoff depression. Or "As the Spurs Turn." Or panic time.

Whatever it is, the San Antonio Spurs are in turmoil.

So far the soap opera has revolved around the team's top management. As the summer wears on, look for the off-season upheaval to move to the players.

With David Robinson playing his best basketball yet and time ticking away on his contract - he has three years left in a 10-year deal - the Spurs face an ever smaller window of opportunity to win an NBA championship.

Fans and the Spurs' year-old ownership group know it. The Spurs' disappointing first-round playoff elimination only irritated the sore spot.

Armed with little inside knowledge of pro basketball and lots of experience at giving orders, the Spurs governing board led by a retired

Utah unites to claim win in series against Rockets

By CHRIS SHERIDAN
AP Sports Writer
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - The Utah Jazz won a game they desperately needed by finally playing like a team.

After failures in Games 1 and 2 that were marked by unbalanced scoring and Hakeem Olajuwon's dominance, the Jazz reversed those trends Friday night and beat the Houston Rockets 95-86 to cut their deficit to 2-1 in the Western Conference final.

The Jazz, who never trailed, got strong contributions from almost every player. Karl Malone had 22 points and 16 rebounds, Jeff Hornacek had 17 points, Jay Humphries 15, David Benoit 14, John Stockton 13 points and 11 assists and Tom Chambers added 10 points.

In the first two games, only three players - Malone, Hornacek and Stockton - scored more than 15 points in a game.

Olajuwon missed his first eight shots of the game, misfired on seven of 16 free throws and was reluctant to pass the ball when faced with double coverage. He finished with 29 points and 13 rebounds, but it was easily his worst game of the series.

Utah opened a 12-point lead at halftime, upped it to 18 in the third quarter and didn't let Houston get closer than eight in the final period.

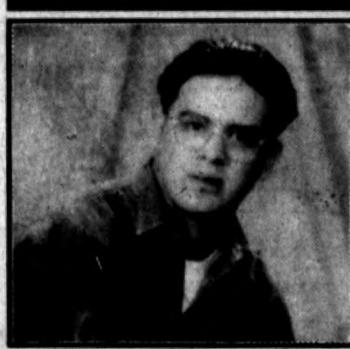

Utah had a 53-39 edge in rebounding, made 4-of-7 3-pointers while Houston went 6-of-21 from beyond the stripe, and shot 42 percent to Houston's 36.

The Jazz will look to even the best-of-7 series in Game 4 on Sunday afternoon.

After going 4-for-15 from the field in the first three quarters, Malone hit his first three shots of the final period as Utah took an 84-67 lead. Humphries' 3-pointer with 5:45 left made it 89-74, and from there it was only a matter of keeping Houston from going on too big of a run. The Rockets missed 15 of their first 18 shots in the quarter, but had a 7-0 run after Humphries' basket to get the Hornacek answered with a driving layup with 1:34 left, and when Vernon Maxwell and Robert Horry missed 3-pointers in the next 48 seconds, Houston's final charge was over.

The last time Utah was in the conference final was 1992 when the Jazz lost the first two games at Portland and then won Game 3 at the Delta Center. From that team, only Malone, Stockton, Corbin and Benoit are still in uniform.

Maxwell had 17 points and Sam Cassell 14, but no other Houston player reached double figures. Mario Elie was 0-for-7, Kenny Smith 1-for-5 and Cassell 2-for-9.

The Jazz got the lead as high as 73-55 midway through the third quarter after a 17-7 run in which Benoit scored the last six points. Houston scored seven of its next nine points from the free throw line, and Cassell's 3-pointer with 13 seconds left got the deficit down to nine.

Utah held a 52-40 lead at the half. The first two periods were noteworthy for the poor shooting by Olajuwon (4-for-15) and Malone (2-for-10) and for Houston's four technical fouls, none of which were prompted by any ranting or raving. The officials called one each on coach Rudy Tomjanovich, Olajuwon, Maxwell and Cassell after close calls and what seemed like normal back talk from the Rockets.

Utah had a 9-0 run bridging the first and second periods and a 7-2 run midway through the second quarter. Olajuwon didn't score his first basket until 7:27 remained, although he finished the half with 10 points and seven rebounds.

Humphries had 12 points for Utah and Stockton had 11 in the half.

Olajuwon missed all six of his shots in the first quarter, thanks mainly to the Jazz forcing him beyond the 15-foot range or making him shoot over two defenders. Horry and Maxwell kept Houston close, each hitting three shots.

Rutherford recalls special Indy 500 victory

By JOHN STURBIN
Fort Worth Star-Telegram
FORT WORTH, Texas - Twenty years ago, Johnny Rutherford was preparing to win the 58th Indianapolis 500 and to lose his father.

That was the bittersweet script John Sherman Rutherford III dealt with on May 26, 1974. Eleven years after his first race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Rutherford rolled into Victory Lane for the traditional swig of milk, donning of the laurel wreath and promise of motor racing immortality.

Back home in Fort Worth, John Rutherford Jr., Johnny's 61-year-old father, climbed back into his bed. Cancer would end his life in two months, but at that moment he and his son were scripted onto the same page. They were dealing with immortality.

"In Victory Lane I said that I wanted to dedicate the race to my father, who was seriously ill in Fort Worth," said Rutherford, who made no mention of the disease his father had been silently battling for two years. "It was really the first (public) notice I had made of the illness."

"It was very sad. He was doing all he could, but we knew it was a matter of time. He'd been to all of my other 10 races at Indy. He just couldn't be there in 1974."

The elder Rutherford settled for listening on radio and watching on television, tuning in as his 36-year-old son drove the race of a lifetime.

En route to victory, Rutherford overcame a rules snafu that had relegated him to the 25th starting position in the field of 33 cars despite having posted the month's second-fastest speed.

He raced wheel-to-wheel against an oil-spewing A.J. Foyt, the pole-sitter who was in the prime of his storied career with three Indy 500 victories.

Combined with impeccable pit work by his Team McLaren crew, Rutherford's tiny orange race car led 122 of the 200 laps around the two-and-a-half mile oval.

"It was almost like it was predestined," said Rutherford, then in his second season of driving for Team McLaren. Founded by driver-designer Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, Team McLaren was the Team Penske of its day. The wedge-shaped M16 McLaren, powered by a 4-cylinder turbocharged Drake Offenhauser engine, represented cutting-edge technology.

None of that, however, impressed Tom Binford, rookie chief steward for the race-sanctioning U.S. Auto Club. In his book, "A Checkered Past," Binford set up the most unusual qualifying scenario in race history.

"The 'energy crisis' of 1974 affected the entire country, and the Speedway was no exception," Binford recalled. "To save fuel, instead of four days of qualifications, we had four 'sessions' of 3 1/2 hours instead. The sessions were held on two Saturdays, and practice was eliminated during qualifying."

Before the first session, the Offy engine in Rutherford's No. 3 machine blew up. Rutherford's crew executed a record 58-minute engine change, but the car was not in its place in the qualifying line when the session began at 11 a.m.

"Harlan Fenger, the former chief steward had interpreted the rule that if you were in line when your time came up to qualify, you were legal," Rutherford said. "Binford said you had to be in line at 11, when qualifying started. He had his cronies checking numbers up and down the line and when we weren't there, we were sent to the end of the line."

Along with Al Unser Sr., who had suffered a similar engine problem, Rutherford in effect had been relegated to the "third day" of qualifying. He and his car - among the fastest all month in practice - were not eligible for the pole position.

That went to Houston's Foyt, who qualified his Gilmore Racing Team entry at 191.632 mph. Rutherford averaged 190.446, good for the "pole" of the ninth of 11 rows.

"When Johnny came into my office later to 'discuss' the matter, he slammed his helmet on the floor for emphasis," Binford said.

"I knew the car was good and quick," Rutherford said, "but the reality was we had the deficit of starting 25th."

Ten laps into the race, Rutherford was up to fourth - a gain of 21 positions. He was third on lap 20 and second on lap 30. On lap 65, he took the lead from Foyt for what would be the first of a series of position swaps.

"We raced real hard and then Foyt's engine finally began throwing a lot of oil," Rutherford said. "All of a sudden - whack - I was just covered up with oil. I backed off 75 or 100 yards and watched him and the track."

Foyt, who had led 70 laps that day, ultimately headed for the pits after completing 142 laps. As key as Foyt's exit was to Rutherford's victory, Betty Rutherford, Johnny's wife, pointed to an equally important factor.

"The turning point was we hit every pit stop exactly when we wanted to," said Betty, who under the Speedway's liberalized track rules was allowed to perform her scoring and timing duties from the pits for the first time in '74.

Rutherford made eight pit stops that day, consuming a flawless 5 minutes, 43 seconds.

"The confidence he had that May relayed itself to the whole crew," Betty said. "None of us had ever experienced a victory before. We were eager to find out what it was like."

Rutherford needed 3 hours, 9 minutes and 10.06 seconds to cover the distance at an average speed of 158.589 mph. He finished 21 seconds ahead of Bobby Unser, who like J.R., was a three-time winner-to-be.

Back in Fort Worth, Rutherford's father - a former Air Force mechanic who had raced motorcycles and Midget cars - took a phone call from his son.

"He sat up to watch the race, but as soon as it was over he went back to bed," Rutherford said. "He was virtually never out of bed again until he died in July. It was almost like he hung on until the dream was realized."

Rutherford walked into Victory Lane in 1976 after the rain-shortened, 255-mile race. In 1980, he started from the pole and dominated en route to Indy victory No. 3 in the Chaparral of Midland's Jim Hall.

"The 1974 victory is the one I rank best," said Rutherford, whose 24th and most recent Indy 500 start was in 1988. "That classic battle with A.J., a tremendous team and race car and winning it for my dad ... all those things happened just right and made it very sweet."

military general and several corporate chieftains promptly held private meetings after the season's end.

The board contemplated personnel changes and mapped out a three-to-five-year plan for winning a championship.

For days word leaked out that the board was debating the ouster of vice president Bob Bass and coach John Lucas. Those threats led to the May 12 resignation of Spurs president Bob Coleman, who cited philosophical differences with the governing board and proclaimed his support for Bass and Lucas.

Ultimately, Lucas was allowed to remain as coach, but Bass, who had served in top-level posts for 20 years with the Spurs, stepped down as vice president for basketball operations to be a team advisor.

Spurs chairman retired general Robert McDermott told reporters it was Bass's idea to "step aside" because of news media speculation about him. The general insisted the Spurs owners applied no pressure for him to resign.

Few in San Antonio buy that story.

A search is on for Bass's replacement, and the name circulating the most is Gregg Popovich, former Spurs assistant coach and currently a Golden State assistant coach.

If Popovich comes aboard, and even if he doesn't, questions remain about whether Lucas will want to stay in San Antonio. He has amassed a winning record in less than two seasons as an NBA coach and has helped push Robinson to a new level of play.

The lively Lucas apparently already has caught the eye of a couple of teams in need of a coach. He reportedly has three years remaining on his Spurs contract, with two years guaranteed.

Meanwhile, the off-season is ripe for player transactions.

Only Robinson and Rodman are sure to remain.

Rodman's rebounding talent is treasured, but his wild antics aren't. The Spurs aren't likely to get what they would want in a trade of the 33-year-old, temperamental player who led the league in technical fouls and got suspended for a crucial playoff game. The team has indicated it wants to keep Rodman.

Several other Spurs players now become restricted or unrestricted free agents. Three-point shooter Dale Ellis has the option of becoming an unrestricted free agent. Those scenarios could make for sticky negotiations or create salary openings to fill with other needed players.

In his post-playoff meeting with Spurs owners, Lucas presented his plan for next season and emphasized the need for a point guard.

"We promised that we would pursue and help him get the best possible man for that particular position," McDermott said.

Whoever the Spurs acquire or let go, the team needs more than a quick fix. It must stick with a core of strong, consistent players, something Robinson has pleaded for each of his five NBA seasons.

Author says West Texas was a music mecca

"In my semi-official capacity as a person supposedly capable of explaining Texas to normal people, this theater asked me to explain to San Franciscans why so many great musicians come from Lubbock. How fortunate that I know: There's nothing else to do in Lubbock." Molly Ivins, Dallas Times Herald, Feb. 3, 1987.

By JEAN PAGEL
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - In the years when Buddy Holly played his guitar on the roof of the Hi-D-Ho hamburger drive-in, Hope Griffith was recording rock 'n' roll tunes like "Harboring the Blues."

Hope who?
"For every Buddy Holly there were a lot of us people who were involved you never heard of," says Hope Griffith Crabtree, a Lubbock native who now teaches at Floydada High School.

Never heard of the Picks? That trio of Texas Tech University students sang backup to Holly.

Or how 'bout the Velvets, the Odessa teen-agers who sang doo-wop with their English teacher in the early 1960s?

Those aspiring artists - along with legends like Holly and Roy Orbison - made the windy plains of the Lone Star State what author Bill Griggs considers a musical mecca.

Griggs' "A 'Who's Who' of West Texas Rock 'N' Roll Music" looks at 98 singers, songwriters and others who made their mark in the 1950s and '60s.

The 55-page publication ($9.95) features anecdotes, tidbits and snapshots that capture slick-haired performers wearing ties while strumming out the new sound of teen-age rebellion.

"From Amarillo to Odessa, I'd stack West Texas (recording talent) up against any other part of the world," Griggs said. "This gives the whole story, gives them some credit and due."

The magazine-style format includes profiles of Holly and the Crickets of Lubbock; Orbison, from Wink; Waylon Jennings, from Littlefield; and Buddy Knox, from Happy. Others hailed from towns like Meadow, Aspermont and Ropesville.

"People in this particular area do not realize themselves how much talent and influence Lubbock and this area had," said disc jockey Larry

Byers, who contributed to the booklet. "If it wasn't for those early rock pioneers, the modern performers wouldn't have something to go on."

Griggs and others describe a cozy atmosphere in which the hit-makers and wannabes in West Texas knew each other and played together. The influence went both ways, they said.

"Some of the best songs I ever heard were from people who didn't make it," said Virgil Johnson, the teacher who recorded with his students at Odessa's Blackshear High School.

Music fans will find a wealth of trivia in Griggs' work: Radio stations, for instance, refused in 1961 to play "Big Bad John" until Jimmy Dean of Plainview struck the word "hell" from the last line of his biggest hit.

Other details, though, are sketchy: Griggs knows the names of only three of Borger's Five Bops.

Photographs show the performers in concert, at the recording studio, at radio stations and on album covers.

Griggs, the 52-year-old founder of the Buddy Holly Memorial Society, said rock 'n' roll became a popular outlet for rural teen-agers trying to entertain themselves.

"You have to transport yourself back to 1950s West Texas," he said. "If you weren't into farming, there was nothing else to do."

Mrs. Crabtree said performers back then didn't think in terms of laying the bedrock for future rock music.

"If you had told any of us at the time that that was what was happening, I'm sure we would have said, ha ha, forget you," said Mrs. Crabtree, who cites Eric Clapton and Robert Plant as her current favorites.

"We tend to romanticize it, and I'm sure every bit of it wasn't as fun as I remember, but there really was a nice sense of freedom in what everybody was doing."

Senior gospel singalongs bring back 'Good Old Days'

By BARBARA MORRISON
Big Spring Herald

STANTON, Texas - Years ago, going to visit Grandma was one of the highlights of a child's life. Grandma and Grandpa provided those extras that were unique only to them.

Who else could bake cookies that tasted so good? Who else would give you a clove to put on a toothache? Where else would someone put a smelly mustard poultice on your chest when you had a cold?

Nowadays, some people say that those are days gone forever. But they're not.

In fact, a good old fashioned recipe has taken hold in Stanton every second Tuesday of the month. Like the mustard poultice, it offers relief - a remedy from the rat race of every day life.

What has taken hold in Stanton, and across West Texas, is senior citizen gospel singing.

"Tis a lovely land, a wonderland, where the angels sing..."

More than 40 seniors - many of them from Midland and Big Spring - turn out to sing their favorite hymns once a month.

They travel to as many areas and organizations that they are able to. They sing whenever and wherever they can.

"We don't have a whole bunch to do and we love to sing," explains Midland's Pat Merritt.

"We're too old to do much of anything else," he jokes.

"Speak for yourself," pipes in Pat Cates. "I've still got a lot of plans."

Foot tapping and hand clapping, shouts and loud halclujahs frequently are heard when the seniors are singing.

May Wood Kelley, who just turned 80, practically dances a jig while encouraging her friends to sing. She stomps, claps, and belts out a strong alto.

The Seniors take turns leading songs, choosing favorites and joking with each other. All are quick to point out that they are not "Old Soreheads."

"We're just a bunch of older folks who love to sing," explains Edna Moore of Lenora. "We love it when visitors come. This is a wonderful way to make new friends."

And visitors are truly welcome, almost to a fault. The group won't allow anyone to sit in the back and stay uninvolved. Instead, they're

LOS ANGELES (AP) - More fans will have to wait even longer for Barbra Streisand's long-awaited concert.

Inflamed vocal chords forced the 52-year-old singer to put off until late July shows scheduled for Friday, Sunday and Tuesday in Anaheim, her manager said Thursday. Earlier, Streisand postponed this past Wednesday's Anaheim show until July.

"I feel terrible that these quick to find a seat, a book and a friend for anyone new to the gospel singing scene.

Anyone in attendance may be asked to lead the singing, or may even be motivated to "volunteer." Volunteering may be in the form of being taken by the hand and being led to the front of the room.

"I'm not sure I can do this," one senior was overheard to say. "It's been a lot of years, but don't ask me how many," she joked.

When a song was repeated, the group joined in razzing their songmate. "Boy, we just sang that one ... but then again age does make the memory fade," someone piped up. "I'm glad I'm not that old!" added another.

Yes, the gospel-singing seniors sing about angels. They sing about sunshine being in their soul. And they sing about lands where "living waters flow."

postponements may cause severe scheduling problems for so many of my fans, who have waited for so long for me to perform live," Streisand said in a statement.

Streisand, who has long suffered from stage fright, is in the middle of her first concert tour in 28 years.

Concerts next Monday and Wednesday in Anaheim are still on, said her manager, Marty Erlichman. Streisand's representatives said she has viral laryngitis.

Bush library being sorted inside old bowling alley

By MICHAEL GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer
COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — History is being sorted and organized in an old bowling alley.

In fact, there's so much history the people doing the work behind the walls of the unmarked building in a nondescript shopping strip have had to cram some of the stuff next door in what used to be the kitchen of a Chinese restaurant.

The unlikely setting is the temporary home of 36 million pages of documents, some 1 million photographs and 40,000 objects that will become the George Bush Presidential Library and Museum at Texas A&M University.

"Our job is to preserve, arrange and review and ultimately try to make as much available as we can to the American people," says David Alsobrook, acting director of the Bush Presidential Materials Project.

The actual library and museum — an $83 million project — is about 90 percent complete on an engineer's drawing board. Groundbreaking is planned for November with dedication in 1997.

That means Alsobrook and his staff of 10 researchers from the National Archives have three years to catalog and organize items that filled four C-5A cargo planes in the days just before Bush vacated the White House in January 1993.

The material isn't confined to Bush's presidency. Other items come from his eight years as vice president, his tenure as a Texas congressman, as CIA director and other government stops that accounted for dozens of moves his family made around the globe.

They even include scarred furniture that made many of the moves and date back to home movies of Bush as a child. The museum also has the left-handed first baseman's glove Bush used as a Yale. "BUSH," prominent in capital block letters, was carved into the leather decades ago.

The crates and boxes were flown from Andrews Air Force Base in Washington to Texas' Fort Hood, where they were transferred to 20 tractor trailer trucks for delivery to the old Chimney Hill Bowl in College Station.

But material from all over the world continues to arrive as foreign governments and ordinary citizens deliver gifts and Bush memorabilia.

"This is not a static collection," says Patricia Burchfield, the museum curator. "It's forever growing."

"Every day is like Christmas around here. There's some really spectacular things."

Like a gold model of a Saudi palace and gold swords and jewelry from grateful Saudis and Kuwaitis for Bush's role in the Gulf War.

There's a saddle from Mexico, at least two golf bags and sets of clubs, a porcelain candelabra from Germany.

Items range from tiny jewel boxes to a section of the Berlin Wall.

"What you're looking at here is very recent American history," says Alsobrook, who spent 10 years at the Carter Presidential Library in Georgia before drawing the Bush assignment.

"I've always found it very exciting and interesting. Sometimes you never know what you might find next."

One man from Oklahoma who served in Desert Storm sent a piece of marble column he said came from Saddam Hussein's summer palace in northern Iraq.

An emir from Kuwait sent Bush a door from his palace, trimmed with gold and engraved with the names of American soldiers killed during Desert Storm.

Researchers don rubber gloves to handle many of the items.

According to federal law, anything given to Bush and worth more than $180 became property of the government.

While archivists assign no monetary value, the collection obviously is priceless.

Uniformed guards patrol the premises. There's closed-circuit television monitors and sophisticated electronic detectors along walls and doors. Some printed material is classified, will remain so for years and is open only to those with top-secret clearances.

"We've got every piece of important campaign memorabilia that deals with George Bush," says Ms. Burchfield, who spent 20 years at the Lyndon Johnson Library in Austin.

Rows of shelves hold campaign signs, banners, buttons, even a huge likeness of Bush's head that someone wore at a Republican National Convention.

Organizers are planning on a rotating display of the objects in the museum to keep visitors returning.

Another warehouse-like room that once served as lanes for the bowling alley now has 58 lanes of stacked shelves filled with boxes of printed documents.

"You just take little bites," Alsobrook says of the daunting task of going over each item.

While Alsobrook and his staff try to organize the Bush collection, Don Wilson is charged with finding a way to pay for the three-building complex on a 90-acre site at the west end of the Texas A&M campus, across from the A&M goat and sheep center.

The museum and library will be the centerpiece of the Center for Presidential Studies, the Center for Public Leadership Studies, the Center for International Studies, the George Bush School of Government and Public Service and several Texas A&M academic departments.

The university has committed $41 million. Wilson, executive director of the Bush Presidential Library Foundation and former director of the Gerald Ford Library, has raised about half of the $42 million he needs. He expects to complete the fundraising in a year.

"We're in good shape," he says. "It's not a tough sell."

The buildings will be of Texas limestone trimmed in pink Texas granite, include a rotunda area and be of a style known as "simplified federalist."

Bush, who is kept apprised regularly of the project, has insisted it be a working place for historians and students.

"He's a little bit self-conscious and really doesn't want this to be a monument," Wilson says. "But he's pretty comfortable with it and very interested because he wants to spend a lot of time here."

Wilson says computer technology should make the Bush library the most high-tech of the 10 presidential libraries operated by the National Archives.

Computerization of written documents already is making the job or sorting documents somewhat easier. Historians eventually will be able to use key words or phrases to find what Bush said about a particular subject and when he said it.

For example, historians will be able to note that in 6,786 speeches or public statements, Bush mentioned his not-so-favorite vegetable — broccoli — 54 times.

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — James Carville and Mary Matalin haven't exactly cornered the market on the concept that opposites attract.

Makers of a new romantic comedy about two speechwriters for opposing political candidates say their film wasn't based on the celebrated pair of operatives behind the 1992 presidential campaign.

"If it was inspired by Carville-Matalin, it was thanks to the psychic ability of our screenwriter, Robert King, because he wrote the script in 1990," said producer Renny Harlin.

Geena Davis and Michael Keaton play a Democrat and a Republican in "Speechless." The movie is set for release in December.

Carville directed President Clinton's 1992 victory. Matalin was a strategist in the Bush re-election campaign. They were married last year.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Edwin Edwards got a new bride and Louisiana a new first lady.

"I'm very nervous, but a happy nervous," Candace Picou Edwards, a 29-year-old operating room nurse, said after the wedding Thursday.

"I'm a happy man," echoed Edwards, 66, who met his wife in 1990 when he was representing a client in court and she was a legal secretary.

When did they decide to get married?

"Candy was ready four years ago," the governor wisecracked.

Circle of Friends party set June 4

The Hereford Circle of Friends is planning a "garden party" from 6-8 p.m. Saturday, June 4, at the home of Ernest and Carmen Flood, four-and-one-third miles west of Hereford on FM 1058. Valet parking will be provided.

Submarine sandwiches, dips and chips, brownies and other cookies, tea, coffee and lemonade will be served in the garden area of the home. In case of rain, the party will be held at the Hereford Community Center.

Membership into the organization is $25 per couple or $15 per person. Anyone not receiving an invitation but wishing to attend this benefit may contact one of the party's hosts or hostesses.

Serving as this year's host couples are: Jeri and Frank Bezner, Carmen and Ernest Flood, Jan and Dale Furr, Pat and Don Graham, Kay and Elmo Hall, Wanda and Charles Hoover, Betty and Gary Kriegshauser, Glenda and J.L. Marcum, Claudia and Dr. Duffy McBrayer, Ann and Donald Meyer, Judy and Cal Mitts, Ruth and Carroll Newsom, Nance and Jim Perrin, Betty and Milton Rudder, Leona and Edward Schilling, Sue and Bob Sims, Mysedia and Craig Smith and Judy and Johnny Wall.

Pat Graham serves on the board of directors for the Circle of Friends Organization.

The main objective of the organization is to provide financial assistance to cancer patients and their families in times of crisis and to support education and research programs directed toward improving the patient's quality of life.

The Circle of Friends is a non-profit volunteer organization founded to support the philosophy and goals of the Harrington Cancer Center which was established and opened in 1981 because of the generous support of thousands of people throughout the High Plains area. That support is still vital today to continue programs in cancer treatment, research and education.

Cancer patients receiving treatment in the Harrington Cancer Center's service area are eligible for financial support. The Circle of Friends assists with services not covered by insurance or available through other agencies. Limited funds are available for out-of-pocket expenses such as travel, lodging, prescribed nutritional supplements and other special needs. Assistance is provided on a short-term basis for crisis situations.

Information about financial support through the organization can be obtained by contacting the Harrington Cancer Center, Director of Supportive Care at 1-359-4673 or by calling 1-800-274-HOPE. At the patient or family's request, the health care provider conducts a brief financial assessment which helps patients and families define their needs and explore available resources.

Applications are referred to the Division of Supportive Care of the Harrington Cancer Center. Requests for assistance are reviewed by the Financial Support Advisory Committee comprised of health care professionals from community agencies and cancer patients. The Advisory Committee meets monthly to review applications which are considered on an individual basis. Funds are distributed immediately after application approval.

The Circle of Friends' socials are held as one of the two major sources of funding. The other fundraiser is the sales of the Caring Touch Christmas Cards. Each November area school children are given the opportunity to enter their Christmas card designs in a contest. More than 1,000 entries are received each year and the designs of the six top winners are used for general sales. Neiman Marcus stores also sell these cards.

The Circle of Friends hosts holiday parties for children in the pediatric oncology department and the organization also sponsors a Hereford child to attend Camp Alpic, a camp for pediatric patients in the summer. In addition, members provide lunches for the Parents Camps.

The organization also supports weekly "dialogue" support groups for cancer survivors and their families. The weekly meetings are held so that participants may talk, listen and learn.

LARA REYNOLDS, DAVID WEHMEYER

Couple to marry

Lara Elizabeth Reynolds and David Dobbs Wehmeyer, both of Kerrville, plan to wed July 9 in First United Methodist Church in Kerrville.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Doris Reynolds of Kerrville and Jack Reynolds of Ruidoso, N.M. She is the granddaughter of Hereford residents, Irving and Gladys Willoughby of 146 Hickory. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Pat Dobbs of Kerrville and Karl Wehmeyer of Ingram.

Miss Reynolds is a 1992 graduate of Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos where she earned a bachelors degree in exercise and sports science. She is currently teaching freshman English and coaches the junior varsity volleyball and basketball teams at Tivy High School. She is a fitness specialist with emphasis in group and personal exercise instruction.

The groom will be studying the culinary arts at Scottsdale Culinary Institute in Scottsdale, Ariz. following their marriage.

12 young women to compete in pageant

Twelve young women will be competing in the 22nd Annual Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant to be staged at 7 p.m. Saturday, June 11, in the Hereford High School auditorium.

The event, which is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, is being co-chaired by Julia Laing and Rita Bell. Pageant tickets are priced at $4 per person and may be purchased at the door.

Those vying for this year's Miss Hereford crown include: Amice Alley, who is being sponsored by H&R Manufacturing; Leticia Barrientos, Garrison & Townsend, Inc.; Misty Dudley, Merrick Pet Foods; Gabriela Gamez, Colortyme TV Rentals; Fidelia Hernandez, Lithographics Printing & Office Supply; Heather Hernandez, Arrowhead Mills, Inc.; Jenifer Holmes, Hereford State Bank; Lexi Sciombato, AZTX Cattle Co.; Sarah Wagner, Terry's Floral & Design; Jill Walser, The Pants Cage; Beth Weatherly, Plains Insurance Agency; and Lori Wilburn, Merle Norman Cosmetics.

The contestants will participate in an interview with the judges, the talent competition and evening gown competition. Prizes and scholarship money will be awarded to the winner and first and second runner-ups. A special award will go to Miss Congeniality.

The current Miss Hereford Dusty Saul will perform and take the traditional final walk on the stage runway prior to crowning her successor.

The 1994 Miss Hereford steering committee members are Peggie Fox, Sheri Jones, Colleen Meyer, Sandy Josseland and Lacy Mueggenborg. Helpers include Janie Alejandre, Marilyn Culpepper, Betty Drake, Leslie Easley, Charlotte Modersitzki, Kim Porter, Sonya Torbert, Melinda Whitfill and Marsha Winget.

Mike Culp to speak at meeting

Mike Culp will be the guest speaker at the Hereford Flame Fellowship meeting which will start at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Hereford Community Center. The public is invited to attend.

Culp, who is the son of Niles and Joan Culp, was born and raised in Hereford and is currently working for Energas. He and his wife, Christy, and their three children attend Community Church. His message will be one of encouragement.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Doctors say Norman Schwarzkopf should recover fully from surgery for prostate cancer.

The retired general, who headed U.S. forces in the Persian Gulf War, had the operation Wednesday at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Dr. David McLeod, chief of urology at Walter Reed, said Schwarzkopf is in excellent condition and should recover in a matter of weeks.

—Thank You—

We would like to thank each of you for the memorials, cards, food, visits, flowers and prayers you shared with us in the loss of our Mother, Maggie Duvall.

You have truly blessed us with your kindness.

Reinart, Sullivan exchange nuptials

Former Hereford resident, Melinda Renee Reinart, and John Michael Sullivan Jr. celebrated the sacrament of holy matrimony during an evening liturgy Saturday at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Presiding at the ceremony was Monsignor O.R. Blum, pastor of the parish, assisted by Deacon Scott Raef, cousin of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Elmer and Irene Reinart of Hereford and the groom is the son of Mike and Diane Sullivan of Rochester, Mich.

The church was decorated with two eight-foot spiral candelabra and seven-foot candelabra flanking the altar. Also, adorning the church were wreaths of bluebonnets, red paintbrushes, yellow roses and greenery accented by vibrant blue ribbon.

The bridal couple's mothers lit the symbolic unity candles while the bride's cousin, Angeline Reinart, performed a violin rendition of "Ave Maria."

The bride was presented in marriage by her father to "Trumpet Voluntary" played by organist, Denise Detton, who was accompanied on the trumpet by Ray Jenkins. Ralph Detton served as cantor and Brother Denis Sennett S.A. of Graymoor, N.Y. was lector. The bride's sister, Janie Banner, delivered the sermon.

Candles were lit by the bride's sister, Julie Larimer of Rossmore, and the bride's nephew, Todd Reinart.

Guests were escorted by the bride's brothers, Wayne and Roy Reinart; her brother-in-law, Mark Banner of Hereford; and brothers-in-law, Gary Larimer and Bryan Edmister of the Dallas-Forth Worth area.

Serving at the altar were Marcus Banner, Godson and nephew of the bride, and Wesley Reinart, also a nephew.

Ringbearers were children of the bride's family, Clay Larimer, Tyler Cromey and Trevor Mize. They carried silk moire pillows designed by the groom's grandmother, Mary Frances Barrows of Eufaula, Ala.

Ministers of the Eucharist were the bride's Godfather Ed Wieck of Canyon; her uncle, Joe Artho; her mother, Irene Reinart; her brother-in-law, Mark Banner; her cousin, Scott Raef; her niece, Renee Banner; and Msgr. Blum and Bro. Denis Sennett.

Phyllis Cornelius of Amarillo served as matron of honor and best man was the groom's father, Mike Sullivan Sr.

Bridesmaids included the bride's sister, Rhonda Cromey of Grapevine; the bride's niece, Melani Banner; the groom's sister, Erin Weber of McKinney; and Tina Goldsmith of Dallas.

Groomsmen were the groom's brother, Casey Sullivan of Dallas; the bride's brother-in-law, David Cromey of Grapevine; the groom's brother-in-law, Ted Weber of McKinney; and Michael Dun of Nevi, Mich.

The bride's gown of silk taffeta was fashionably styled with lavish details on the sheath silhouette. Appliques of delicate alencon lace covered the entire gown which was enhanced by a V-neckline and puffed capped sleeves. The fitted bodice, attached to a graceful chapel-length train, completed the designer gown.

Her fingertip-length, crown veil was encrusted with pearls and sequins on Italian lace. The bride wore her maternal grandmother's gold bracelet and pearls given to her by the groom as a wedding gift.

The bride's ensemble also included a drawstring purse designed by Ms. Barrows. The purse was made of satin fabric from the bridal gown worn by the bride's mother 47 years ago on May 27 when the bride's parents were wed. Carried in the purse were the First Holy Communion pin and a thimble belonging to the bride's paternal grandparents as something old; the groom's maternal grandfather's World War II Croix de Guerre Medal as something borrowed; and a remnant of the bride's maternal grandfather's overalls as something blue.

The bridal attendants wore form-fitted, sleeveless, black crepe dresses with sweetheart necklines. Their dresses were accented by elbow-length black gloves. Each attendant carried a bouquet of bluebonnets, red paintbrushes and yellow roses.

Guests were greeted by Darbrina Borgognoni and Abigail Edmister, the bride's nieces, at the reception held at the Hereford Country Club.

The bride's cake was served by Karla Lynch of Denton and Alice Reinart of Chicago. The groom's cake was served by Tricia Birchum of Dallas and Paulette Edmister of Hurst.

The off-white cake was lavished with candy yellow roses, bluebonnets and red paintbrushes. The sides were graced with elegant lacework in swags and built up lace borders. One-half of the cake was done in Italian cream and the other half was white. Both were iced in butter cream.

The groom's cake was German chocolate and was decorated as a camping scene, complete with Texas A&M University sleeping bags, canoes and a campfire. Photographs of the bride and groom as toddlers decorated the table. Coffee, nuts and M&M candies (standing for the couple's names: Mike and Melinda) were served in heart-shaped boxes from the grooms' table.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Washington, D.C. They will make their home at the Lakes of Valley Ranch in Irving.

The bride graduated from UT Arlington and is employed as a neonatal pediatric transport-flight nurse by Medical City Dallas Hospital.

The groom graduated from Texas A&M University. He is vice president and director of Client Services at David Hadeler and Associates in Dallas.

Out of town guests represented the states of Michigan, Illinois, Alabama, Kansas, Florida, New York and a multitude of Texas cities.

Western party hosted by Wyche FCE Club

A "Gone to Texas" western party was hosted recently by members of the Wyche Family Community Education Club. The event was held in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library.

Guests from local Family Community Education Clubs were greeted by the hostesses who were attired in western wear which included bonnets, long skirts and dresses, western shirts and boots.

It was noted that during pioneer days it was not uncommon for settlers to post signs on the gateposts of old homesteads announcing that they were leaving with a "gone to Texas" sign.

Argen Draper read a biography of Charlie Parkhurst by H.N. Ferguson. He was a whip on a Wells Fargo stagecoach and his route ran between St. Louis and San Diego from 1852-1879. Draper related stories about encounters with Indian attacks and robbery attempts.

Guests were invited to sign the registry book which consisted of a Big Chief tablet placed on a table covered with a red and white dolby print cloth. A vase of sunflowers and mixed flowers were arranged in a crock pitcher.

The serving table was laid with a burlap cloth overlaid with a red and white checked cloth. The centerpiece was created by giant sunflowers arranged in a checked slat bonnet. Other decorations included a crock dasher churn, an antique coffee mill and a wooden butter mold. Lemonade was served from a crock jug.

Other refreshments of sour dough biscuits, bean dip, gingerbread, bread pudding, dried apple cobbler and cookies were served on red and white picnic ware.

Tables were also adorned with miniature windmills and pictures of past FCE events.

Guests who were not dressed in western wear were fined 25 cents to "get out of jail."

Approximately 35 guests were in attendance.

Piano recital is presented recently by local students

Performing duets were Erin

Noland, Linden Duggan and Riley and Kali Hall.

Riley Hall, Kali Hall and Sloane Merrick received trophies for receiving three consecutive superior ratings in the local Junior Music Festival held in March. Erin Noland received a trophy at the Nazarene competition in Amarillo with her solo, "I Have the Joy."

Upcoming rock shows discussed

Upcoming rock shows were discussed by Dale Henson, president of the Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club, when members met Monday evening in the Heritage Room of Deaf Smith County Library.

Also, reports were given on sick and traveling members.

Jane and Ralph Packard furnished the door prize which consisted of slabs of rocks cut by Ralph. The prize was won by Ezell Sadler.

Carey Lyles reported on his summer plans which includes a trip to Colorado.

Floyd and Juanita Coker and L.D. Combs served as hosts for the meeting.

Those present included Verba and Ezell Sadler, Floyd and Juanita Coker, Betty and Dale Henson, L.D. Combs, Thama Pearson, Ruth King, Cecil Lady and Carey Lyles.

Ways to save time

Get ready now - for next summer's heat,* warn forecasters.

"Buying an air conditioner shouldn't be a spur of the moment, take-any-model-on-the-floor decision," add home economists. They explain that for the best cooling and lowest operating cost, it's important to match an air conditioner to the specific area to be cooled.

When shopping for that air conditioner, they advise having this information along with you:

-Size of area to be cooled (length, width, ceiling height);

-Number of rooms and windows, direction they face, whether shaded or sunny;

-Size of windows and type of glass (thermo-pane, etc.);

-Electrical service available in your home (120 or 240 volt outlets, amperage, etc.)

Also, it's important to understand that some units are more energy efficient than others with similar cooling power. They generally cost more initially, but cost less to operate; saving money over the long run.

YOUR EYES POST-CATARACT OPTIONS

When the eye's natural lens becomes clouded and the cataract is removed, it must be replaced by another clearer lens to focus light onto the retina so the patient can see clearly. There are a number of options open to the patient; the doctor will usually recommend the one most appropriate for the particular individual.

• Glasses can be worn to take over the task of the missing lens. The glasses can enlarge the image, but side vision will be restricted.

• A contact lens can be worn in the affected eye to take over for the natural lens. Soft or extended-wear lenses are usually prescribed if they are effective for the patient's vision needs. The patient must be able to insert and remove the contact lenses.

• An intraocular lens can be implanted directly in the eye during surgery as a permanent replacement for the lens removed.

Most often eyeglasses will still be needed to provide additional correction for sharper vision, even if contact or implants are used.

Between The Covers

REBECCA WALLS

Graduation is over, school is out, and summer vacation has begun for many. Remember June 6th the Summer Reading Club "Familiar Faces Faraway Places" begins. For the 6 weeks following, children are encouraged to read books on their reading level and at their own speed and keep track of the number of minutes spent reading each week. The awards for reading 100 minutes each week are to encourage children to use the reading skills they have worked so hard to develop during the school year so those skills are not lost over the summer months. In order for a child to participate in the Reading Club a parent must come with the child to get them enrolled. For more information call 364-1206 or come by the Deaf Smith County Library at 211 E. 4th St. While you are here enrolling your child, get a book for yourself. Among the new books this week is the Fist of God by Frederick Forsyth. This story about the Persian Gulf War is set at a neck breaking pace. In an effort to penetrate the Iraqi regime, British intelligence working with Israel's Mossad contact "Jericho," a mole in Iraq who is part of Saddam's government. It is Major Mike Martin's job to identify and contact "Jericho." Disguised as an Arab, Major Martin begins his mission. General Schwarzkopf and his colleagues are haunted by a scenario in which Saddam used his ultimate weapon. It is up to Major Martin and "Jericho" to locate that weapon in time.

Loyalties: A novel of World War II by historian Thomas Fleming is a "dazzling mosaic of men and women caught in the crossfire of history." Kapitanleutnant Ernst von Hoffmann commands the submarine that torpedoes and destroys the USS Spencer Lewis off the coast of Iceland. Lieutenant Commander Jonathan Trumbull Talbot is denouncing President Roosevelt's unconstitutional, undeclared war against Germany when the torpedo cuts his destroyer in half. In Berlin Berthe Von Hoffmann, Ernst's wife, becomes a part of the German Secret Service and the Schwarze Kapelle - a circle of courageous men and women sickened by Hitler's war on the Jews, who comprise the secret supremely dangerous resistance to Nazism. After Pearl Harbor catapults America into the war these three meet in Spain which results in a tangled web of love, jealousy and patriotic deceit.

Clive Cussler's Inca Gold begins in 1532 when a fleet of ships secretly sail to an island in the middle of an inland sea. There a magnificent treasure is hidden with only a great stone demon left to stand guard over the hoard. After the treasure is hidden all those involved disappear. In 1578 Sir Francis Drake captures a Spanish galleon containing Inca gold, silver, and the key to the lost treasure. Drake's ship is destroyed by a tidal wave while trying to return to England. In 1998 a group of archaeologists diving into a sacrificial pool high in the Andes of Peru, almost drown, Dirk Pitt who is in the area on a marine expedition arrives just in time to save the archaeologists. The archaeologists and Dirk find themselves in a struggle for survival when a party of smugglers searching for the lost ancient treasure arrive. The battle of wits in a race against time and danger includes art thieves, the FBI, Customs Service, local Indians, Pitt and his NUMA friends and an unexplained underground river that runs through the ancient treasure chamber.

Reba: My Story by Reba McEntire is the story of a star so rare and popular that she is known by her first name. In Chockie Oklahoma Reba grew up as a part of a hardworking rodeo and ranching family. "This little red-headed girl started singing, and it just blew me away," says Reba. As a teenager Reba began to perform in VFW halls, honky-tonks, fair shows and "holes-in-the-wall" dance halls, where dances were more like fistfights set to music. With fierce determination Reba set out to challenge the experts who believed female singers could never match the popularity of male singers. Reba envy with strong family bonds has had to face many of life's ups and downs such as the break up of her first marriage and then the blessings of singing, falling in love and marrying Norvel Blackstock and giving birth to their son Shelby. Reba also shares the greatest tragedy of her life. The 1991 plane crash that resulted in the deaths of seven band members and her tour manager. "Filled with spirit, humor, faith, honesty and inspiration" this story reveals a "woman of sass and strength with legions of female fans, many young enough to be her daughter or old enough to be her mother" says U.S.A. Today.

Robin Carlile feted with bridal shower

Robin Carlile, June 4 bride-elect of D. Anderson, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday morning, May 21, in the home of Susie Merrick.

Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, Lynne Carlile; her sister, Lyndi Carlile; the prospective bridegroom's mother, Jo Evelyn Anderson; and the hostess, Susie Merrick.

Pam Robbins and Janie Young served refreshments of applesauce and cream cheese coffee cake, banana and strawberry pound cake, ham-asparagus-broccoli-cheese quiche, fruit plate, fruit punch and coffee.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered by an arrangement of fresh cut flowers. Silver appointments completed the table setting.

The honoree was presented with a double wedding ring quilt and shams and a Battenburg lace coverlet set and down comforter by the hostesses: Beth Gearn, Pam Robbins, Susie Merrick, Janie Young, Pat Confer, Dee Anne Trotter, Patty Hill, Celie Parham, Beverly Bryant, Sandy Stagner and Vinita Wright.

CHICAGO (AP) - Mary Tyler Moore teased Bernadette Peters as she presented her friend with the Sarah Siddons Society's Actress of the Year Award.

"When I heard Bernadette was getting this award, my reaction was 'Why?'" Moore joked.

In accepting the award Monday for her part in the Chicago and Broadway productions of Neil Simon's "The Goodbye Girl," Peters looked at Moore and shot back, "I don't even know why we're friends."

Cornfoot, Anderson wed in San Antonio

Julie Lynn Cornfoot and Keith Wayne Anderson, both of Dallas, exchanged wedding vows in Alamo Heights United Methodist Church in San Antonio Saturday evening, May 14. Officiating was the Rev. Mark Buchanan.

The bride is the daughter of Jim and Rebecca Cornfoot of San Antonio and the bridegroom is the son of Don and Linda Anderson of 205 Ranger Drive and Sandra Chick of Arlington, Va.

Wildflower arrangements were used as decorations for the candlelight ceremony.

The bride was presented in marriage by Jim and Rebecca Cornfoot.

Kellie Mrizek served as maid of honor and the groom's brother, Don Anderson, was best man.

Bridesmaids included Paula Cook, Erin Nevelow, Kristie Mrizek, Rebecca Hawkins and Tia Ralston. Groomsmen were Mark Artho, Rob Franks, Westley Brown, Bobby Baker and Kirk High.

Guests were escorted by Kent Walterscheid, Walter Brockman and Jack Wharton.

Emily Mrizek, daughter of David and Ann Mrizek, was flower girl. Ring bear was Jimmy Cornfoot, son of Jim and Rebecca Cornfoot.

Pat Mutchler was organist and Amy Vandivere was vocalist. Principal wedding selections included

"Bridal Chorus," "The Wedding March," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was attired in a white silk Shantung basque waist-styled gown designed with V-shaped front and back bodices. Sequins and pearl beading adorned the bodices and cathedral-length train.

The fingertip-length bridal veil was attached to a white pearl tiara and the bride carried white roses, gardenias and ivy.

Bridal attendants wore royal blue two-piece suits.

Kristi Inabnet invited guests to register at the reception held in the Fort Sam Houston Officers' Club.

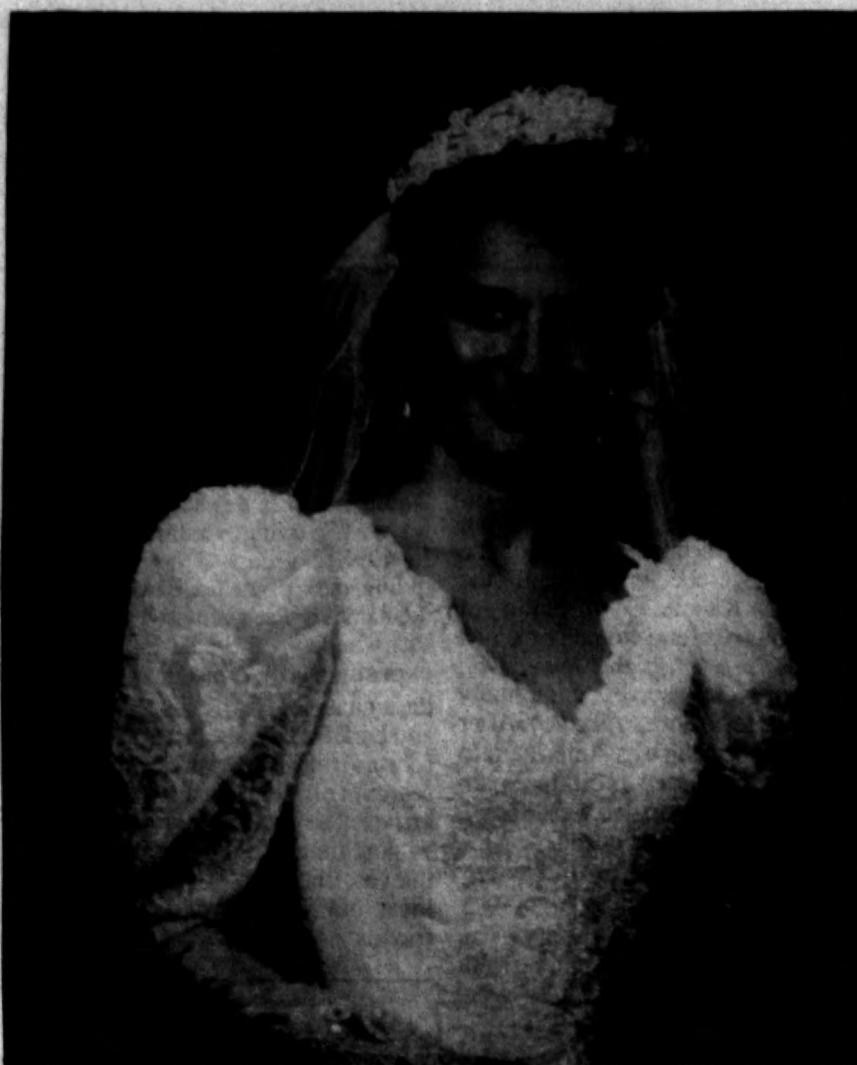

The bride's four-layered basket weave cake was accented with fresh gardenias and ivy.

Leaving for a wedding trip to St. Lucia, the bride wore a white crepe two-piece suit.

The couple resides in Dallas.

The bride graduated from Churchill High School and attended Texas Tech University. She is a member of Chi Omega Sorority and Tech Marketing Association. She is currently employed by American Airlines.

The bridegroom graduated from Hereford High School. He attended Texas Tech University and is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity and the Mortar Board. He is employed by Ernst & Young Accounting Firm as a C.P.A.

Summer picnic planned during council meeting

Plans for a summer picnic were made when members of the Deaf Smith County Family Community and Education Council met Monday in the Heritage Room of Deaf Smith County Library. The Cultural FCE Club hosted the event.

Jo Lee, FCE chairman, announced that all FCE members are invited to the picnic at 10:30 a.m. July 18 in Veterans Park. Each member is asked to bring a sack lunch and a chair.

It was also announced that the Council will man a booth during the Annual Town & Country Jubilee Celebration Aug. 13. Cold drinks will be sold.

Jo Lee called the meeting to order and the FCE prayer and pledges to both flags were recited. Perry Keyes read the poem, "Garden Prayer."

Welcomed as visitors were Vernis Parsons and Virginia Summers.

It was noted that there were six clubs represented at the Council meeting with five having 100 percent attendance.

Also, during the business meeting, the minutes were read by Carmen Rickman; communications was given by Perry Keyes; the treasurer's report was given by Kate Bradley; and the TAFCE report was given by Maudette Smith. Also, Beverly Harder, Deaf Smith County extension agent, reported that Dr. Judy Flynn, District I extension director, had died recently.

Delegates for the state meeting planned in Lubbock in September are Edith Higgins, Jo Lee and Maudette Smith. Nell Pope is alternate.

The next Council meeting is scheduled Aug. 22.

Red Cross Update

A disaster training class will be held from 6-10 p.m. Thursday, June 9, at the Hereford Community Center. Damage assessment will be taught by Laura Blount of Amarillo. Introduction to disaster is the prerequisite for all disaster services classes. To make arrangements for the introduction to disaster services, call the office. One of our disaster services committees' goals is to train enough volunteers to meet all of the requirements of a disaster involving 50 families.

The Red Cross office will be closed Monday, May 30, for Memorial Day. For after hours and holiday emergency assistance, call 364-1295 or 364-5163 or use our pager number, 357-2842.

We really appreciate all of the donations of clothing, household items and furniture. We are asking that no donations be left at the office after office hours. Most of the donations are stolen that are left when the office is closed. Call the office for telephone numbers to call when you have something to donate when the office is closed.

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

Safari is theme used during installation

Using a safari theme, new L'Allegra Study Club officers were installed by President Jan Weishaar when the group met recently in the home of Barbara Kerr.

Dee Anne Trotter will serve as the 1994-95 president; Suzanne Smith, vice president; Ella Marie Veigel, recording secretary; Sandy Josseland, corresponding secretary; Shelly Moss, treasurer; Sylvia Khuri, assistant treasurer; Hilda Perales, historian; and Jan Weishaar, parliamentarian.

Assisting Kerr as co-hostesses were Micah Noland, Sandy Josseland and Diane Hoelscher.

Jody Skiles was welcomed back as a new member.

Micah Noland, treasurer, gave a report of the success of the recent benefit geranium sale. It was announced that $2,500 will be donated to the Hereford Beautification Committee.

The new president, Dee Anne Trotter, concluded the meeting after presenting a gift of appreciation to the outgoing president, Jan Weishaar.

Job hunting suggestions for grads

Now that you've graduated, get ready for your next big challenge! A successful job search requires an organized approach.

Here are a few suggestions, especially for graduates.

-List supervisors, addresses, phone numbers and length of stay for each for your resume and on-the-spot applications.

-Use a daily calendar to set aside time to work on your resume, do research, write letters and establish contacts.

-Use a monthly calendar to keep track of interviews, appointments, seminars and training sessions.

-Friends and family are the best source of information and contacts. Talk to everyone you can about your field of interest.

-Keep a log of contact names, numbers and job leads.

-Record conversations and dates on a special contacts page.

-Arrive about five minutes early for each interview.

-Be prepared. Research the interviewing company in advance and have answer ready for commonly asked questions.

-Bring extra copies of your resume in case you have more than one interviewer.

-Interviewers notice details...a personal organizer tells the world you're in control.

In the two years following the signing of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 - otherwise known as the "GI Bill" - enrollment at many of the nation's colleges more than tripled.

HEALTH CLAIMS

A health claim is any claim on the food label that describes a relationship between a food or food component and a disease or health-related condition. To make a health claim, a food must meet specific nutrient levels that are set by the government.

A health claim is only allowed if it is approved for regulation. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has authorized health claims for seven diet and health relationships that are supported by sound science. Foods that qualify may make more than one of these health claims. The seven areas in which health claims are allowed are the following:

- *Calcium and Osteoporosis
- *Fiber-containing grain products, fruits, vegetables and cancer.
- *Fruits and vegetables and cancer
- *Fruits, vegetables and grain products that contain fiber and coronary heart disease.
- *Fat and cancer
- *Saturated fat and cholesterol and

It is in games that many men discover their paradise.--Robert Lynd

coronary heart disease

*Sodium and hypertension
Diet is only one of the factors that can reduce the risk of certain diseases.

The relationship between diet and disease is complex and must be viewed in the context of an overall lifestyle.

A food must satisfy three nutrient criteria categories to qualify for a health claim. A food must not exceed set nutrient levels to qualify for a health claim. A food must meet specific nutrient requirements for each of the seven health claims. A food must contain at least 10 percent of the Daily Value per Reference Amount of one or more of the following nutrients: protein, dietary fiber, vitamin A, vitamin C, calcium or iron, prior to any nutrient addition.

Manufacturers may use a model health claim provided by the government or choose similar wording so the claim is complete, truthful and not misleading. These new labeling regulations mean that consumers can now trust health claims made by manufacturers.

RED BANK, N.J. (AP) - A day in the life of an ordinary man. It clinched James Joyce's reputation, and it created one for Kevin Smith.

Smith encouraged other independent filmmakers to follow the path he took to make "Clerks," a comedy about a New Jersey convenience store clerk that won an International Critics' Week award at the Cannes Film Festival.

Miramax Pictures bought distribution rights for about $250,000, nearly 10 times what Smith invested by selling his comic book collection and running up debt on his 12 credit cards.

Local Rebekah Lodge honors Sadie Shaw

Sadie Shaw was honored Tuesday evening by the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228.

Following a supper, an award ceremony was led by Brig. Gen. R. Ben Conklin of the Patriarch's Militant I.O.O.F. The Obligation of Degree of Chivalry was given and the Degree of Chivalry Jewel was presented. Ocie Bolton, chaplain, gave the prayer.

Noble Grand Peggy Lemons presided as the president's commission was read and Joylene Costen of Muleshoe was given honors as the district deputy president of District V.

Twenty-five visits to the sick, 56 cheer cards, 18 dishes of food and seven flowers were counted.

Others attending were Anna Conklin, Susie Curtsinger, Faye Brownlow, Ursalee Jacobsen, Erma Loving, Leona Sowell, Dorothy Collier, Illa Inman, Tony Irlbeck and guests, Ruby Green and Fern Davis of Muleshoe.

How to stop the spots, stains

While no home is immune to everyday spills and stains, your house doesn't have to show it.

Here are a few hints on restraining those stains.

-To remove mineral stains or cloudiness from the bottom of an ornamental bottle, fill it partially with water and ammonia and let it stand for several hours or overnight, then rinse it thoroughly.

-A piece of lemon dipped in salt may remove corrosion from brass. The piece can then be finished with brass polish.

-Grease spots on wooden furniture can sometimes come out if you wipe them carefully with cleaning fluid and then polish.

-To clean a pleated lampshade, take it outside and spray it with a can of compressed air.

-If your carpet or upholstery is what's got the spot, remember the faster you treat it, the better the treatment will work. Many turn to a powerful, lightweight, portable deep cleaning machine.

When a spray cleaning solution is applied to a stain, a residue may be left behind on the carpet or upholstery. The residue acts like a magnet, attracting additional dirt to the area.

Hutton, Fellers wed Saturday afternoon

Hereford residents, Shelly Hutton and Will Fellers, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in the First United Methodist Church with Dr. Joe Woods, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Elvis and Jean Davis of Route 3, Hereford, and the bridegroom is the son of Dick and Pam Fellers of Route 1, Hereford.

The altar in Ward Parlor was decorated with a traditional bouquet of mixed spring flowers. A unity candle was also placed at the altar.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father.

The bride's daughter, Shayla Moore, served as maid of honor, and the groom's brother, Randy Fellers, was best man.

Guests were escorted by the bride's brothers, Tony and Travis Gilliam.

Karen Wagner, accompanied by Carolyn Richardson, sang "I Swear."

The bride wore a pastel mauve, brocade double breasted suit with a knee-length pleated skirt. The jacket was trimmed with white pearl buttons.

She carried a cascading arrangement of mauve lilies, miniature pink carnations, white poms, Queen Anne lace and baby's breath tied with a teal ribbon.

The maid of honor wore a brocade white princess style A-line dress with splashes of pastel mauve, teal and blue floral print. The decorative V-shape collar was trimmed in white applied lace. She carried a hand-tied floral arrangement of mauve lilies, pink carnations, white poms and baby's breath gathered by a teal ribbon.

Karla Fellers, the groom's sister-in-law, served cake, and the bride's sister-in-law, poured punch and coffee.

The bride's two-tiered white cake with ivory butter-cream frosting was separated by Grecian pillars. The sides of the cake were graced with scalloped ruffles and accented with clusters of ivory roses, tiny rose buds and leaves. Borders of shell completed the trimming. A Precious Moments bride and groom adorned the top cake tier.

Outstanding Student Award presented to Kevin Paetzold

The Industrial Advisory Board at Texas Tech University recently named Kevin L. Paetzold as the Outstanding Graduating Senior for the spring of 1994. He is the son of Sylvia Paetzold and James Paetzold, both of Hereford.

Kevin has maintained a grade point average above 3.0 since transferring to the department of engineering technology in the fall of 1990. He has been very active in the Naval ROTC Detachment, holding the positions of Color Guard Commander and Battalion Executive Officer. He has received many awards including Marine Corps Association Honor Graduate, the Retired Officer Association Scholarship, the Captain's List Honoree and the NROTC Outstanding Physical Fitness Award.

Second Lt. Paetzold, who is currently stationed with the United States Marine Corp in Quintana, Va., is a 1989 graduate of Hereford High School. He received his B.A. degree in mechanical engineering from Tech.

Outside his activities in the Naval ROTC Detachment, Kevin participated in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program in Lubbock and was also a resident assistant in one of the dorms on the Tech campus.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

Regardless of how expensive an education is, it will never be as expensive as ignorance. So much is provided for students in the public schools to prepare them for a higher education, it is foolish for any person to not have an education, at least a basic one!

The rain kept some students and parents from attending the annual Awards Assembly Tuesday night, but we are thankful for those who did attend. Several hundred "H" Awards were given out as well as a number of special awards. The complete story of this event will be in another section of the Brand.

Students and teachers were invited to an "epicurean delight" dinner in Mrs. Gooden's Ceramics II classes. Her students, working in groups, chose their menu and then created each food selection from clay. The finished "foods" did look good enough to eat and we were tempted to try to do so! Three of the History Fair, Austin, students received yet another award this past week. Kris Friel, Justin Landrum and Clay Brown received Superior ratings certificates and letters from Austin informing them that their projects had been considered in the finals in judging.

All of the History Fair students are to have their projects, four in all, displayed in the Board Room at the administration building on May 31. If you would like to see these projects, and we hope that you do, plan to go by between 4:30 and 6:00 on Tuesday.

Justin and Clay presented their projects to the fifth and sixth graders at Blackbonnet on Wednesday. We feel that this may encourage some of those students to become involved in this activity next year.

Many HJH students owe fines--on books, athletic equipment, library books, supplies and other lost items. Even though you know your child couldn't owe a fine, do check on it anyway! Even my children sometimes owed fines when they were in school. Just because school is out, the fine is not excused, they are still due, overdue now! Maybe their first summer chore should be to clean their room and maybe the lost items will be found! Please help us out in this area--those fines for these items does add up!

Over half of the HJH enrollment took a field trip to Wonderland Park on Thursday. They had earned the trip by having NO Noon Study Halls, ISS or Saturday School assignments.

If each student will continue their education at home this summer by reading, visiting the library, touring museums, attending Vacation Bible Schools and working whenever they can, they will be much better prepared for the next school year!

Improve your indoor air

The energy conservation emphasis of the 1970s led many home and building owners to reduce ventilation to a minimum. But today, for the sake of cleaner air, things are changing.

More people realize that indoor pollutant such as dust, mold, spores, pet hair/dander and residue from dust mites and roaches can cause allergic reactions ranging from sneezing and headaches to serious asthma attacks. These allergens can be found all around the house, in mattresses, furniture and carpeting.

Carpet, in fact, may be a friend to those who suffer allergies; it traps and holds allergens, which can be removed with appropriate cleaning.

Fortunately, mites and their allergens can be greatly reduced, say experts. Here's how:

-Monitor moisture. Fix leaks promptly and use dehumidifiers to control damp conditions.

-More air. Open the windows! An air cleaner on your home's heating and cooling system, or free-standing room air cleaners featuring a high-efficiency particulate (HEPA) filter may also be helpful.

-Clean effectively. Vacuuming and cleaning carpet and other furnishings can reduce dust particulate and allergens significantly. Dry extraction carpet cleaning systems, such as the rental and professional systems reduce live dust mite populations and dust mite allergen levels by over 70 percent, studies show.

Here are some additional cleaning tips:

-Use an upright, revolving-brush vacuum. Disposable bags are recommended.

-Dust furnishings with damp pick-up cloths.

-If you're especially sensitive to dust, leave the house while vacuuming and dusting chores are being completed.

DALLAS (AP) - An auction at the pink palace of makeup mogul Mary Kay Ash ended up well in the black.

The sale of 1,200 antiques and furnishings from April 29 to May 1 at Ash's pink-stucco mansion made about $1 million, said the National Auction Group and Clements Antiques and Fine Furnishings, which held the sale.

Many of the items belonged to Ash, including a pair of vases that sold for $30,000 and an antique baby grand concert piano that went for $9,500.

The mansion itself was supposed to be part of the auction, but a Dallas doctor bought it last month for an undisclosed price.

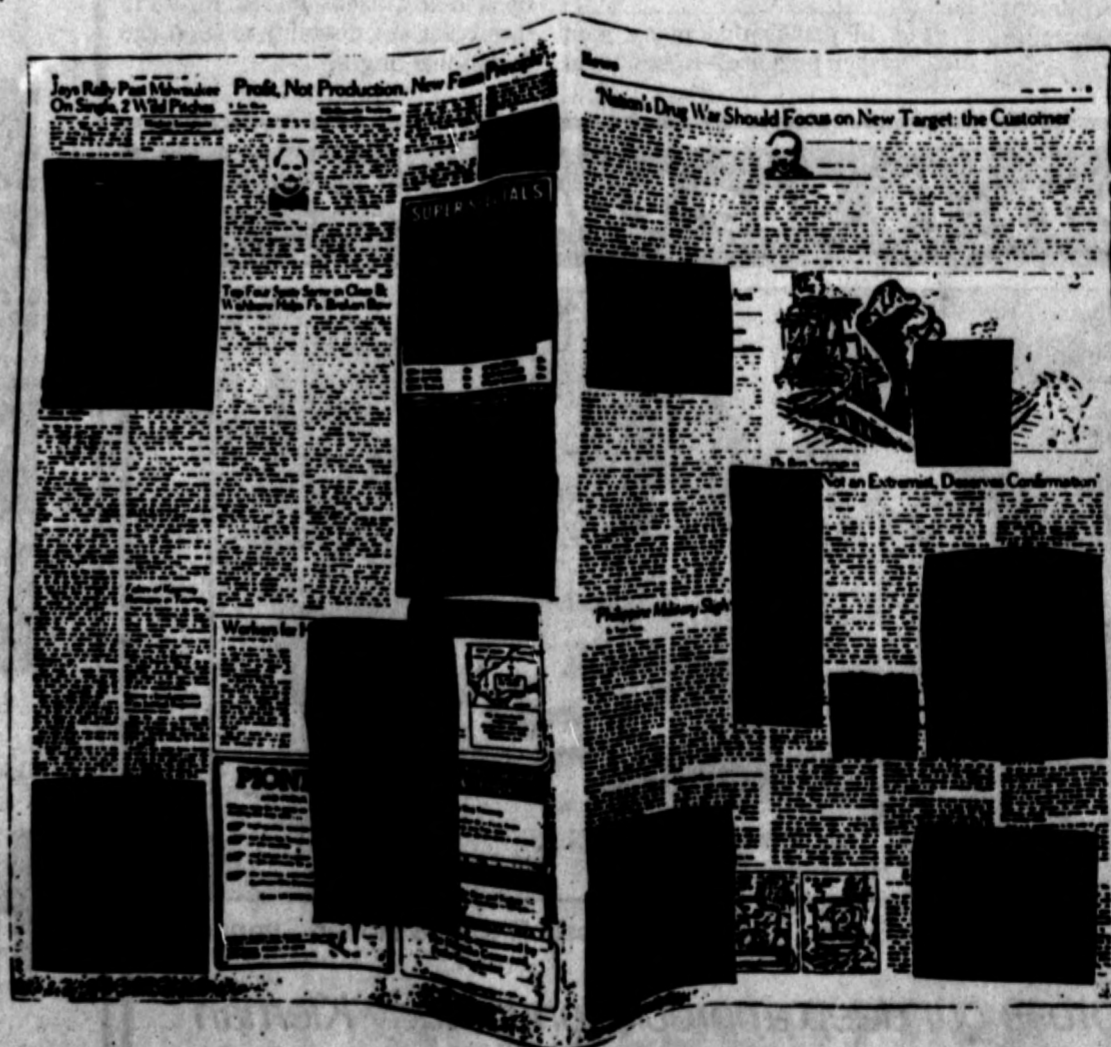

Mrs. Ash founded Dallas-based Mary Kay Cosmetics. She has moved to a home elsewhere in Dallas.

FIRST FLOOR MASTER BEDROOM SUITE FIVE BEDROOMS

Precise Orchestration of Perfect Harmony

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

FEATURE HOMES

BY W.D. FARMER, F.A.I.B.D.

A more comfortable foyer eloquently speaks for itself with its open rail stair and view to the balcony above.

The formal dining room and private living room flank this area and the foyer continues on to the family room, basement stair and kitchen access.

A master bedroom suite is secluded from the family, a benefit that should please the homeowner. The master bath has a combination of qualities with its enormous walk in closet, separate shower and tub and twin lavatories.

A small bar area is thoughtfully inconspicuous but convenient to the family area.

An optimum kitchen/breakfast room is provided and the laundry room is extraordinary.

There are four relatively equally sized bedrooms upstairs, all of which include large closet space and which share two central baths.

The especially distinguished exterior maintains an ideal large country/victorian porch which also includes a balcony porch accessible from the upper foyer. Horizontal wood siding and fish scale gable ends along with a massive hip and gable roof design complete the picture.

The plan is Number 3019. It includes 3,089 square feet of heated area and is drawn in accordance with FHA and VA requirements. All W. D. Farmer plans are furnished with special construction details for energy efficiency. For further information write W. D. Farmer Residence Designer, Inc., P. O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 31145.

Construct fences to fit the surroundings

By POPULAR MECHANICS For AP Special Features

Americans, since the first settlers, have always been enthusiastic fence builders. Early fences contained livestock, while today's fences are used to frame the lawn, define boundaries and provide privacy.

When you consider building a fence, pick a style that will fit its surroundings. Then measure the proposed perimeter to see how many sections you'll need.

Most fences are built in 6- or 8-foot sections. Posts are commonly 4x4s, although 6x6s and 8x8s are sometimes required for corners and gateposts. Rails, the horizontal bars, are 2x4s, and fence pickets or vertical boards may be 1x4s or 1x6s.

To prevent rust from staining the wood, use aluminum or hot-dipped, galvanized nails and hardware. Estimate the amount of gravel you'll need for drainage. If you set the posts in concrete below the frost line, figure that a 90-pound bag of pre-mixed concrete occupies about two-thirds of a cubic foot.

Use wood that has been pressure treated with a preservative to resist rot and insects, or wood that resists decay naturally, such as cedar, redwood cypress and locust.

Begin laying out the fence by locating the corner posts and driving in stakes. Then run mason's twine tautly between two corner stakes. Mark the correct on-center position of each intermediate fence post on the twine with chalk. A plumb line against the mark centers each post on the ground. Drive a stake here.

In loose, sandy soil, it's best to set posts in concrete - but only in frost-free areas or where the concrete will be below the frost line. Generally, set one-third of the post in the ground. Start with the corner posts.

Whether you set a post in gravel or concrete, dig the hole 4 to 6 inches deeper than the post bottom for drainage material - a large flat stone or gravel bed. Flare the hole at the bottom for good support. Then stand the post in the hole on the drainage material.

To set the post in earth, fill in with 6 inches of gravel and tamp it solidly before replacing and tamping the excavated soil. Fill several inches at a time and tamp each layer.

Lay a level vertically on two sides of the post to make sure it's plumb. Add a last layer of rocks at ground level and cap with a tamped-earth cone to drain water away from the post. In concrete, make the hole 6 inches deeper for gravel, set the post on the gravel and fill around it with concrete. Slope the top for drainage.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

IT COULD HAPPEN

I don't have a crystal ball. I don't even claim to be a futurist. I certainly can't predict the future. However, that doesn't keep me from speculating on what may happen in the next few years.

Two areas of business I've been watching with some interest are the finance and the fast food industries. There have been many changes in both of these industries over the past 10 years. We may see some significant reorganization in the next five years.

Let me give you a real quick example. Six years ago I was the keynote speaker for a group of savings and loans executives and in addition to paying my fee they presented me with a beautiful silver-plated toaster. This year I spoke to a group of toaster manufacturers and in addition to my honorarium they gave me my very own Savings and Loan! Times are changing.

Mergers and Saturation

In the last decade, banking industry regulations allows banks to merge and establish branches all across the country. West Coast banks moved east, East Coast banks moved west, and banks in the middle expanded in both directions.

Big banks and little banks are all growing, branching-out and extending services. All of this merging and expanding has left some of the big players short of cash. Hold that thought.

Now look at the fast food industry. Tens of thousands of stores popping up like mushrooms. Burgers, subs, dogs, pizza and chicken stores are on nearly every corner. Fast food shops are locating in malls, new super stores and even in university and college student centers. We have to be nearing the saturation point.

That's when it hit me: The perfect solution for the future. Merge these two industries to create a "Fast Finance Industry." The fast food players have the cash, but no place to put it. The banks know the financial industry, but need the cash. Bingo-it's the perfect union.

The Fast Finance Industry
Five years from now you'll be driving down what used to be Fast Food Boulevard or Restaurant Row. The brightly colored signs will look familiar as will the uniquely shaped buildings. Then you'll take a closer look and see that the mergers have occurred. The Fast Finance Industry is a reality.

The first sign you see is a distinctive red and yellow beauty with a pair of golden dollar signs. It reads, "McBank, More than 70 Trillion Loaned." On the next corner is a big red and orange "Banker King" sign. The banner on the Banker King touts a high interest rate for investors who purchase large CD's known fondly by bank personnel as "Whoppers."

There are others: "What-A-Banker," "Mr. Banker," "Bankees," and even a "Lendy's." Then you see a clown in a three-piece suit with a fist full of dollars popping out of an Automatic Teller Machine. Yes it's a "Jack-In-The-Bank."

Of course the saving and loans folks would jump into the act. In the next block there would be a big red and white basket full of bucks with a dapper man with a goatee. The sign reads, "Kentucky Fine Checkin." Across the street is a familiar Jolly Roger waving over the yellow and blue logo that proclaims this place as "Long John Savers."

The next block includes a "Captain D'posits," a "Sonic Savings and Loan," a "Sumway Savings" and a "Penny Hut."

As you drive over on Slow Food Avenue, you notice that the more traditional family restaurant chains have jumped into the finance business, too. There's a "Red Loanster," a "Wampum House," a "Bob's Big Bank" and a "Penny's." And there is more: The next block includes a "Furr's, Luby's and Duff's Cashaterias."

You may write to Don Taylor in care of "Minding Your Own Business," Box 67, Amarillo, Texas 79105.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: Remember the 33-year-old fellow who wrote to say he had never been to bed with a woman because he wanted to bring to his marriage the same purity that he would expect from his bride? He signed himself "Feeling Like the Last Holdout in Illinois."

Well -- you would not believe the mail his letter generated. I received more than 700 letters from women in every state of the union, plus 10 from Australia, five from Tokyo and four from Guam. They all would love to have his address.

Two women in Honolulu are willing to come to Illinois to meet him. One woman in Klamath Falls, Ore., offered to send him airfare to go there. Another in Gettysburg, Pa., said she would drive to Chicago to meet him if he would pay for the gas.

Several women sent their pictures. A reader in Montreal sent a photo of her large home with two cars in the driveway.

Of course, I had to inform all who wrote that it is against my policy to put readers in touch with one another. Sorry about that.

Not all the mail was so sanguine, however. Keep reading:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a couple of questions for that 33-year-old virgin who is looking for a woman as pure as he is.

What is he meets the perfect woman and it turns out that...

1. She's a widow.

2. She was raped?

3. She was a victim of childhood sexual abuse?

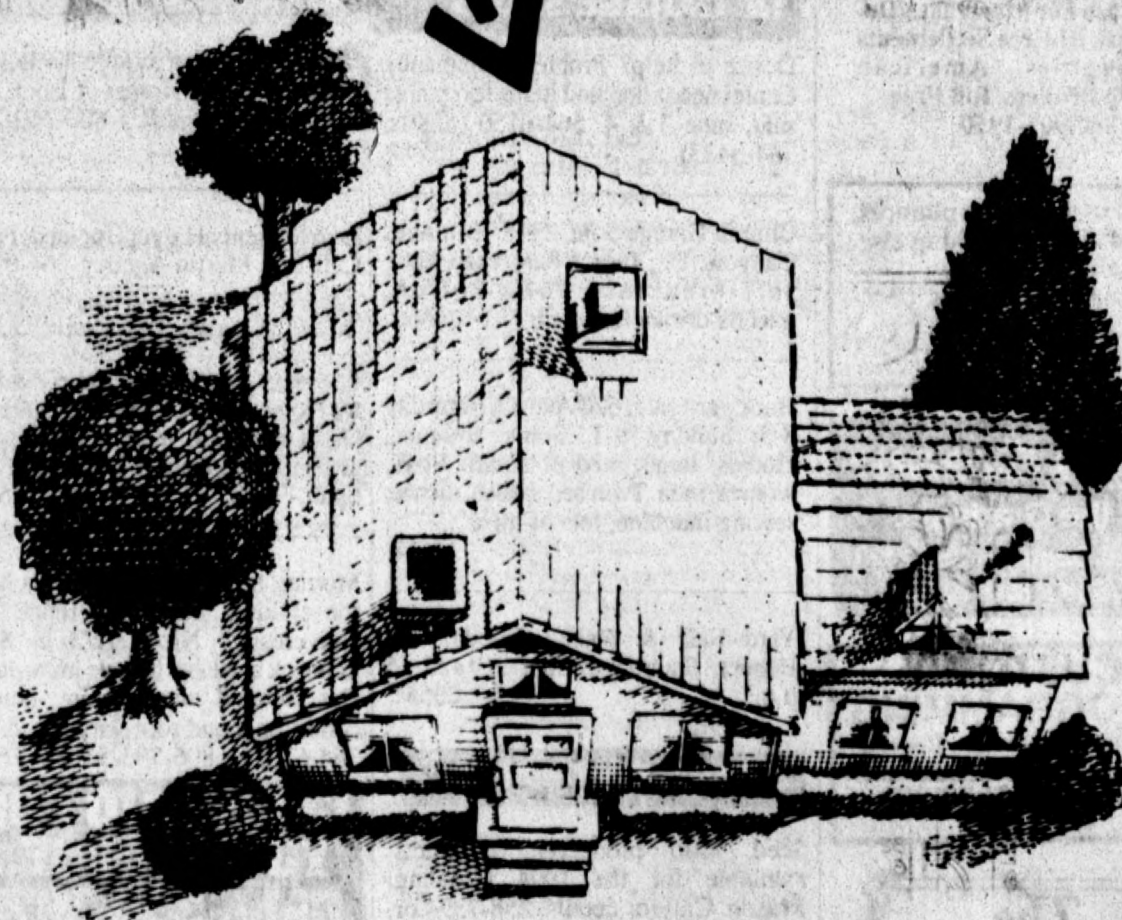

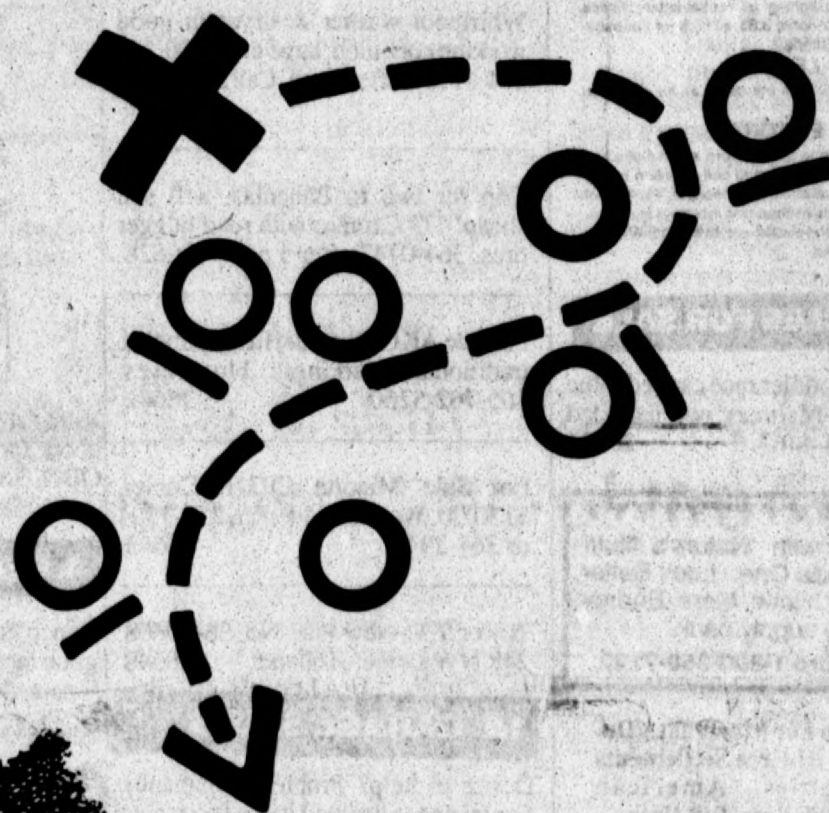

Would he still marry her? If his answer is "yes," he is a man of principle, looking for a woman who did not voluntarily have sex outside of marriage. I respect that.

If the answer is "no" he has an irrational hang-up, his priorities are out of whack and he should do ALL women a favor and stay single.--Skeptical in Albuquerque

DEAR SKEPTICAL: Thanks for the input.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Pointers for parents

Noise pollution is a part of our environment, a serious hearing hazard against which we need to protect ourselves. Excessive sound can damage our hearing without our being aware of it. The loss is gradual, completely painless and permanent. But it can be prevented. It is important that children and teens develop good listening habits early and do not become conditioned to hearing sounds at excessive levels. Take an active role in their hearing conservation and become more aware of noise pollutants. If you notice you are shouting in order to carry on a conversation, your environment is too loud. When you cannot control the volume or do not have car plugs, remove yourself from the scene and give your ears a 10 minute rest. A ringing sensation in the ear or a muffled sense of sound are warning signals that the situation may be hazardous to your hearing.

Detailed information on noise pollution, hearing conservation and protection can be found in "Hip Talk," an educational package developed as part of the Hearing is Priceless (HIP) conservation program. The program was designed to teach students in grades 6-12 about the dangers of over-exposure to loud sound over long periods of time. The "Hip Talk" materials include a teacher's lesson guide, teaching aids, a 30-minute videotape, a video guide and student activity sheets which can be presented in a variety of classes such as health, science and music. Using successful music industry professionals, the tape teaches students the importance of hearing protection and the dangers in listening to loud music. Individuals will come to understand that practicing safe health habits should include protecting one's hearing. Conserve your community's hearing because noise induced hearing loss is permanent—but can be prevented.

Ice cream flavors tell a tasty tale of the times

Ice cream and apple pie may be more than the ultimate American food treats - in the ever evolving world of wacky flavors, ice cream has practically become a social barometer. Consider these flavors developed by Baskin-Robbins over the years, each capturing, and in some instances immortalizing, a moment in time. Baseball Nut, 1957. The company developed its first-ever themed ice cream flavor, vanilla with cashew nuts and a raspberry ribbon, to salute the great American pastime of baseball and the arrival of the Dodgers to Los Angeles. Baseball Nut was so popular that it returns to stores every baseball season! Beatle-Nut, 1964. 1964 was the year of the Beatles, Nehru jackets, long hair, Ed Sullivan and more. "Beatle mania" was everywhere, even the local ice cream shop. The flavor Beatle-Nut, a mixture of pistachio ice cream woven with a chocolate ribbon and walnuts, was a great delight to fans, who ate it up faster than the Beatles could produce new albums. Lunar Cheesecake, 1969. Within a few minutes after Neil Armstrong took mankind's first step on the moon, the company unveiled an ice cream exclusive, Lunar Cheesecake, with almost as much fanfare as the moonwalk itself. An unusual combination of green-tinted cheesecake ice cream laced with a marshmallow ribbon, the flavor was simultaneously scooped and sampled for the first time at ice cream stores across the U.S. before Armstrong even returned to the space capsule. Valley Forge Fudge, 1976. In the bicentennial spirit, Baskin-Robbins saluted America's freedom to indulge in fudge, Valley Forge Fudge. Chocolate fudge ice cream with chewy fudge brownie pieces and a chocolate ribbon combined to make this flavor as popular as fireworks on the fourth of July. Orba Chocolate, 1988. Ice cream lovers celebrated perestroika, glasnost and Mikhail Gorbachev's first U.S. visit, Baskin-Robbins style. Orba Chocolate - a rich milk chocolate ice cream loaded with white chocolate chunks - was so good, it was rumored that Gorbachev sampled a scoop in Moscow. Did ice cream "thaw" the Cold war? Cinnamon almond Tax Crunch, 1994. Baskin-Robbins' newest current event flavor will feature the President's favorite snack, cinnamon-coated almonds, and a cinnamon ribbon in vanilla ice cream. The flavor, to be unveiled in April 1994, is Baskin-Robbins' way of providing tax-weary customers with sweet relief from their 1040 forms.

Hints given for homeowners

Most people will experience temporary or permanent loss of abilities at some point in their lives--and most homes are ill-equipped to meet their changing needs and circumstances. Many specially designed homes feature:

- level handles on doors and drawers that require no grabbing or gripping.
- stair landings wide enough to accommodate lifts.
- audible and visual alarm systems.
- storage space, counters, sinks, cooktops and shelves within reach of both short and tall people.
- wider doors and corridors.
- grab bars, fold-up seats and transfer surfaces in tubs and showers.

Solutions to critical issues studied

LUBBOCK - Recommendations for solutions to critical issues facing the food and fiber industry in Texas in the 21st Century were prepared during a recent conference at Texas Tech University.

Some 200 "stakeholders" in the future of Texas agriculture gathered to seek solutions to five critical issues.

Issues -- identified during the Texas Agricultural Summit last October at Texas A&M University -- steps recommended at the TTU conference are:

-- Protecting the environment and natural resources: use economics to promote wise use of resources, compensate landowners for desirable use or non-use of resources, take interdisciplinary, regional approaches to problems and concerns, get agencies working together.

-- Competitiveness of Texas agriculture: accelerate technology, explain research benefits to public, promote commodity checkoffs for research, reorganize to avoid duplication, develop additional value-added enterprises, maintain a highly-skilled, highly-education agricultural work force.

-- Public policy for agriculture and rural areas: build coalitions between urban, municipal and agricultural sectors to develop win-win plans to benefit all, develop an agricultural group or agency to educate the public on values and importance of agriculture.

-- Education and information needs of consumers: form an alliance to develop a united agricultural message for Texas, search and identify existing successful programs, seek funding sources to implement education programs, target specific audiences for programs and implement and expand such programs.

-- Agricultural leadership for the 21st Century: encourage pro-active, risk-taking agricultural leadership, coordinate and publicize existing programs to train leaders, make programs bilingual, build coalitions to speak for agriculture with a common voice.

State Rep. Pete Laney of Hale Center, Texas House speaker, in an address to the conference cautioned that solutions "can't be put on hold" and said that the next session of the Legislature is expected to consider actions that are within the issues.

Also addressing the conference, State Sen. John Montford of Lubbock, observed that agriculture contributes $13 billion in cash receipts to the Texas economy, with "$4 billion of that from right here in West Texas."

Texas agriculture is competing in the international arena with China, Germany, Japan and Russia, said Montford.

He also assured the conference that the Legislature will pay "very close attention to what you report out and what you come up with" in the discussions.

The conference at Texas Tech was one of five being held across the state to address the issues identified in the summit in October.

FmHA offers loan program

Farmers Home Administration is looking for persons who qualify for loans to acquire land for farming in Deaf Smith, Oldham and Randall Counties.

The program is offered to help members of socially disadvantaged groups who are interested in farming.

FmHA may sell or lease a farm held in its inventory or extend a loan for purchase of land on the open market to eligible persons.

The federal program targets socially disadvantaged population groups such as Hispanics, Native Americans, Afro-Americans, Asians and Pacific Islanders.

Information is available at the FmHA office in Hereford, 313 W. Third, telephone 364-2802.

WASHINGTON (AP) - There were 5.56 billion eggs produced in the United States during February, up 2 percent from the number produced in the same month of 1993.

WTAMU to conduct dryland workshop

West Texas A&M University will host a four-week training workshop on dryland agriculture, beginning June 6.

Dr. B.A. Stewart, director of the program, reported that approximately 25 persons have registered. Primarily researchers and administrators, the participants are from Argentina, China, Egypt, Ethiopia, Qatar, Mexico, Pakistan, Philippines, Senegal and Thailand, said Stewart.

The first week will be spent on the WTAMU campus in Canyon with field trips to the USDA Conservation and Production Research Laboratory, Agriculture Research Service and Texas Agriculture Experiment Station facilities at Bushland.

The second and third weeks will be spent on the road, with stops in Temple, San Angelo, Brady, Big Spring and Lamesa as well as Woodward, Okla., Garden City and Tribune, Kan., and Akron, Sterling and Colorado Spring, Colo.

Concluding the program, participants will spend another week on the WTAMU campus.

During the four-week workshop, Dr. Stewart said that participants will have an opportunity to see failures as well as successes in dryland farming

WASHINGTON (AP) - The value of broiler production rose 13 percent in 1993, the Agriculture Department says.

The department says the value of broilers produced during 1993 was $10.4 billion, compared with $9.17 billion the previous year. The total number of broilers produced was 6.69 billion, up 4 percent from a year earlier.

The 1993 average price per pound was 34 cents, compared to 31.8 cents the previous year.

AGRIFACTS

GRAIN SORGHUM
Sorghum is planted across Texas, with high-producing counties located in the High Plains and South Texas. Producers harvested 182 million bushels last year, about a third less than in 1992.

"I told you to plant NUTRI-CHOICE™"
Planting NC+ NUTRI-CHOICE is "unfair" to other forage crops. This dual-purpose, semi-dwarf forage sorghum gives you faster maturity than other shorter stature sorghums, and you don't have to settle for "short maturity" yields. Early or late, NUTRI-CHOICE is gaining wide usage because of its plant health, vigor, stress tolerance and ability to yield big. Contact us for results from this area.

Field scout training to be held Thursday

PLAINVIEW - A training session will be held on Thursday in Plainview for scouts who survey crops to assess pest infestations in integrated pest management programs.

The workshop at the Ollie Liner Agricultural Center is open to summer scouts of private consultants and aerial applicators as well as farmers who scout their own fields.

Conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the session will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end by 4:30 p.m.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has accredited the workshop for five continuing education units toward recertification requirements for private, commercial and non-commercial pesticide applicators.

Instruction will be provided on scouting cotton and grains, identification of plant disease and nutrient deficiency symptoms, use of herbicides and safe handling of pesticides, said Dr. Pat Morrison, extension entomologist at Lubbock.

Isaac Singer was granted a patent on his sewing machine in 1851.

In the United States, urban areas (towns, cities and their suburbs) cover less than two percent of the land but are home to about 75 percent of the people.

Margie's Notes

BY MARGIE DANIELS
Executive Director, HSCA

This is a very exciting time at the Center. I always look forward to this week when all get together for Pioneer Week celebration. There is nothing that makes a place more warm and exciting as seeing old friends greet each other, and we're always anxious to see who will be our Pioneer of the Year.

I still have a few openings for the trip to Branson. Please call me immediately if you can go. We always have a good time, and we have a very good itinere. Call me at the Center, 364-5681, or at home, 364-0428.

May is Older Americans Month and we are honoring our volunteers. We were going to select a Volunteer of the Year but couldn't choose one over the other. We have so many who work so many hours and each is so important to our program. There is no way we could serve as many people as we do without each of you. Starting next month, we are going to honor and list groups, for example, the Quilting Ladies Group and also instructors for each of our classes. Thanks to all of you. We want you to know how much we appreciate you!

Group launches new 800 number

Choice in Dying, the nation's leading advocacy group for patient rights at the end of life, recently unveiled its 50-state public education campaign, entitled "CHOOSE...or someone else WILL" to urge one million more Americans to sign living wills. The group also launched a new, toll-free consumer hot-line, 1-800-989-WILL, to provide free living wills and information about end-of-life decision making.

Choice in Dying (CID), a national, not-for-profit organization, pioneered living wills - legal documents that allow you to decide which medical treatments to accept or refuse at the end of life - and remains the nation's largest distributor of them.

"Whether you are 18 or 80 - you need a living will. Think of it as an insurance policy that will safeguard your end-of-life wishes, so that your loved ones don't suffer outrage in addition to grief," explained Karen Orloff Kaplan, Sc.D., Executive Director of Choice in Dying.

Here are facts you should know about "advance directives" (the general term for a living will or a durable power of attorney for health care):

-A living will is a legal document that lets you indicate your wishes about accepting or rejecting medical treatments at the end of life, if you become unable to speak for yourself. -A durable power of attorney for health care is a legal document that allows you to appoint someone you trust, such as a spouse or adult child, to make medical treatment decisions for you if you are unable to do so yourself.

-Although all 50 states have passed some type of legislation enabling Americans to sign advance directives, few people exercise this legal right. A recent poll reveals that 75 percent of Americans approve of living wills, but only 20 percent actually sign them.

-Laws authorizing living wills vary from state to state. Preparing the form is not difficult, and does not require a lawyer. However it's essential to ensure that the advance directive conforms with state law.

-Choice In Dying provides free, state-authorized advance directives and has trained staff that can answer questions about advance directives and state law. The group also provides information to families struggling with end-of-life medical treatment decisions. The phone number is (800)-989-WILL(9455).

For free pre-printed, state-specific forms, write: Choice In Dying, Box M, 200 Varick Street, New York, NY 10014-4810, or call 1-800-989-WILL.

Branson tour set June 14-18

If you want to participate in the Hereford Senior Citizens' Branson Tour, call Margie Daniels soon!

The group will leave the Senior Center on a TNM&O Bus at 6 a.m. on Tuesday, June 14. A brown bag lunch will be provided and we will drive straight through. We will spend four nights at the Howard Johnson Hotel, Branson's newest landmark. The hotel is located within one mile of 25 music theaters.

The hotel has elevators in every building, electronic locks on every room, luggage service, a continental breakfast and coffee served 24 hours daily. It has a recreation area with a pool, jacuzzi and a gazebo.

We will have a dinner show, "Yak in a Box," featuring Yakov Smirnoff, the Russian comedian. Other shows we will see: Shoji Tabuchi (the Japanese fiddler), Bobby Vinton, Charlie Pride, Osmond Family, Kenny Rogers, and Mel Tillis.

We will tour the Silver Dollar City and visit the Engler Block Mall. We will return home on Saturday, June 18.

Double occupancy is $425 a person.

Coming Events

'TEXAS'

We still have openings for the musical TEXAS on June 10. We will be leaving at 5:30 p.m. You can take a sack lunch, buy from the snack bar, or buy the famous barbecue dinner before the show. Make reservations soon!

55 Alive!

Driving course sessions will be held June 1 and 2 in the Golden K room at the Center, 1 to 5 p.m. each day. The training will qualify you for insurance premium reductions. Please register; cost is $8.

Monthly dance

The monthly dance will be held at the Center June 4. The dance will begin at 8 p.m.

Membership dues

Our Senior Citizen membership dues are due in June. They are still $12.50 per year. If you like, you can mail your check to the Senior Center, P.O. Box 270.

Nixon's death prompts interest in living wills

Former President Richard M. Nixon, in keeping with his wishes, chose not to use extraordinary life-support measures. This has sparked several questions to arise in people's minds regarding Living Wills, Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care and Directive to Physicians.

Information regarding these issues is available at no charge by calling or writing: The Legal Hotline for Older Texans, 1-800-622-2520, 815 Brazos, Suite 1002, Austin, Texas, 78701.

The Legal Hotline is a joint project of Texas Legal Services Center and the American Association of Retired Persons/Legal Counsel for the Elderly, with support from the Texas Equal Access to Justice Foundation and the Texas Department on Aging.

AARP is the nation's leading organization for people age 50 and over. It serves their needs and interests through legislative advocacy, research, informative programs and community services provided by a network of local chapters and experienced volunteers throughout the country. The organization also offers members a wide range of special membership benefits, including Modern Maturity magazine and the monthly Bulletin.

Young at Heart Choir

Young at Heart Choir has had a busy year under the direction of our new director Margaret Williams. Officers for this year are president Bill Lamm, Vice President, Mary McCutcheon, Secretary, Juanita Coker and Treasurer, Frances Crume, Marcella Bradley continues as our able pianist.

The choir has performed several times this year. Sunday, January 23 found us at the Assembly of God Church for the evening worship service. We had a good time of food and fellowship following the service.

Saturday, April 9 the choir went to Canterbury Village in Dimmitt. The residents there were very appreciative of our program.

Tuesday, April 19, at 3:00 several choir members joined the residents at Golden Plains Care Center for a time of hymn singing and fellowship.

Friday, April 29, at 2:00 choir members presented a program for residents of Hereford Care Center. One of our members, Lola Curtsinger, was a big hit as she played her harmonica for everyone. Everyone had a good time.

We always welcome new members. Come join us.

On March 7, 1936, Adolf Hitler sent three battalions of German troops to occupy the Rhineland, the area between the French border and the Rhine demilitarized by the Versailles Treaty that ended World War I.

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: When I changed wallets, I must have left my Social Security card in the old one. How can I get a replacement?

A: If your card has been lost or stolen, you can get an application for a free replacement card by calling the toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, or by visiting our office located at 3501-E W. 45th. If you come to the office to apply in person, please be sure you have personal identification, usually a driver's license. If you are not sure what identification is acceptable, call us at 376-2241.

Q: My sister's diabetes has been getting progressively worse and we think it is likely she will need kidney dialysis at some point in the not too distant future. She's 54, unmarried and doesn't make a lot of money. Is there a government program that would help her out?

A: Yes. Under Medicare, there are special rules for people with permanent kidney failure. Under these rules, your sister is eligible for hospital insurance regardless of her age if she is receiving maintenance dialysis or a kidney transplant. She must also have worked long enough under covered employment to be insured for Medicare. Have her contact her nearest SSA office as soon as possible.

Q: Last year I filed for an extension on my Federal income tax return, but Social Security penalized me for filing my annual earnings report late. I don't think that's fair. Do you?

A: The Internal Revenue Service and the Social Security Administration are different agencies with different reporting requirements. You would need approval from EACH agency to be late with each report that you needed to file. If you are not certain what SSA's reporting requirements are, please contact us at 376-2241.

Q: After retiring, I found I had more time on my hands than I needed. I'm thinking about taking a weekend job as a starter at a local golf course. How much can I earn before Social Security will reduce my benefits?

A: In 1994, people under 65 can earn $8,040 before their benefits are reduced. Those who are ages 65-69 will be able to earn $11,160 without a reduction. The amount of the reduction is $1 for every $2 earned over $8,040 for individuals under 65 and $1 for every $3 of earnings over $11,160 for those age 65-69. There is no earnings limit for people age 70 and older.

If you wish to have your questions answered in this column, please write to Jim Talbot, district Manager, Senior Scene, Social Security Administration, 3501 W. 45th, Suite E., Amarillo, Texas 79106.

Reduce your sleep deficit

Following are some tips to help ensure that you get the better sleep you need:

Keep Regular Hours. Try to go to bed at the same time each night and wake up at the same time each morning - even on weekends.

Exercise regularly. Some form of exercise, for 20 to 30 minutes at least three days a week is ideal - but be sure not to exercise too close to bedtime.

Cut down on stimulants. Consuming stimulants such as caffeine in the evening makes it harder to fall asleep.

Sleep on a good bed. It's difficult to get deep, restful sleep on a bed that's too small, too soft, too hard or too old. It won't provide the comfort and support you need to rest well.

Don't smoke. Smokers take longer to fall asleep, awaken more often and spend less time in deep sleep.

Drink only in moderation. Drinking alcohol before bed makes it difficult to fall asleep, interrupts the sleep stages and causes awakenings in the early-morning hours.

Unwind early in the evening. Try to deal with worries and distractions before going to bed.

Don't go to Bed stuffed or starved. A stomach that is either too full or too empty may cause physical discomfort, making it difficult to sleep through the night.

Fat foods that can help you sleep. If you're hungry and can't get to sleep, try eating foods that contain the amino acid L-tryptophan, such as: milk, eggs, tuna fish, cottage cheese, and poultry. Develop a sleep ritual. Make the transition from nighttime to bedtime easier by doing the same things each night just before bed.

Give sleep priority. Say "yes" to sleep even when you're tempted to stay up late. You'll thank yourself in the morning.

Adult Hearing Tests

Ask yourself these important questions:

1. Do you hear people speaking, but have difficulty understanding the words?  Yes  No
2. Do others ever feel you turn up the radio or television too loud?  Yes  No
3. Are you asking people to repeat?  Yes  No
4. Are you favoring one ear or straining to hear?  Yes  No

Even one yes answer may mean you should have your hearing tested.

Make an appointment for a free hearing test. You'll be glad you did!

Put the puzzle pieces together

Studies are currently being conducted at the University Medical Center in conjunction with researchers at the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center to determine whether the synthetic hormone tamoxifen is effective in preventing breast cancer and whether the drug finasteride is effective in preventing prostate cancer.

Although results from the studies will not be available for several years, researchers are hopeful that a breakthrough will be made in preventing these types of cancers for those individuals at a high risk for developing the diseases.

Although many cancers cannot be prevented, many needless deaths can be prevented by early detection. Routine cancer-related checkups are the best means of early detection for many cancers. Awareness of changes in the body and prompt medical attention can lead to an early diagnosis with an excellent chance for successful treatment.

The possibility of one dramatic cure for all types of cancer seems unlikely today. Most realistically, the next few decades will probably see continual advances in preventing and earlier detection. By putting together all of the pieces, the puzzle of cancer prevention will eventually become a clear picture for everyone affected by this disease.

Anyone in the family can get mouth sores. Fortunately, researchers have shown how to ease the irritation and speed healing.

They are a pain in the mouth

Just about everybody gets mouth sores. The two most common types are awfully irritating but easily treated.

Cold sores and fever blisters form on the lip and outside the mouth. They're caused by a form of the herpes virus that's so common, doctors call it "the universal infection." This virus stays with us for life. Every so often, owing to stress or strong sunlight for example, the virus reproduces and causes blisters. Untreated, an outbreak can last from two weeks to months.

Clinical studies show that a clear liquid medication, Zilactic-L, is dramatically effective in treating cold sores and fever blisters. Many sufferers report that Zilactic-L applied at the first tingling of a coming sore often avoids the blister altogether!

Canker sores are burning, circular little sores inside the mouth. Nearly half the population gets them. They often appear when we are tired or stressed, or when we eat rich foods. They can result from a cheekbite or a cut from braces. In a Journal of the American Dental Association article, Dr. Brad Rodu, Chairman of Oral Pathology at the U. of Alabama/Birmingham Dental School, recommends Zilatin "for sustained pain relief"-Lasting up to eight hours! In another study, UAB researchers reported Zilactin is "clinically superior" in its staying power, pain suppression and comfort.

Zilatin and Zilactin-L are available without prescription in drug and food stores or from Zila Pharmaceuticals, 1-800-922-7887.

New car buyers are being misled

Expecting something for nothing can only hurt a consumer in most cases, especially when it comes to new-car purchase, experts agree.

New-car buyers may have been misled by recent stories that a fair dealer profit for a new car or truck is $100 to $300 over dealer invoice, says the National Automobile Dealers Association (NADA).

"It's irresponsible and a disservice to consumers to lead them to believe they can make that kind of a deal," says NADA President Jim Lust. "for a new-car dealer, who has a huge financial and personal investment in his or her business, to accept $100 to $300 over dealer invoice on a product that averages $18,000 would be a shortcut to bankruptcy."

One of the great myths of the retail auto industry, according to Lust, is that dealers are making a huge profit on the sale of new cars. "In reality, dealers today make an average of less than seven percent gross profit on the sale of a new vehicle. From that gross profit, dealerships must pay their operating costs, which include facilities, equipment, interest on inventories, advertising and employee salaries and training. After those expenses are deducted, there is very little, if any, net profit from the sale of a new vehicle," he says.

NADA research data shows that the average dealership actually lost money on the sale of new vehicles in 1990 and 1991, and barely broke even in 1992. The average net profit before taxes from all dealership sales, which includes used cars and service and parts, was one percent from 1988 to 1991, and 1.5 percent in 1992.

"To sell and service today's high-tech cars and trucks and to satisfy today's more educated and more demanding customers, all dealership have invested heavily in training, equipment and facilities," says Lust. "They cannot be expected to sell their products at no profit or a loss."

"New-car buyers have the advantage of a manufacturer suggested list price required by law to be attached to every new vehicle. In most cases, this represents a fair market price and a reasonable, not excessive, markup for dealers.

"The actual sale price will depend on the demand for that particular model, the value of your trade in and any rebates or other buyer incentives offered by the manufacturer or dealer on that mode," says Lust.

Help prevent medication errors

The most important thing you can do to prevent a medication error is to ask questions and make sure you understand the answers.

Make sure you know the name and strength of the medicine you are taking. Ask your physician, or other prescriber to print the name of the medicine and the directions for taking the drug.

Ask your physician questions about the medication. Be sure you know:

-How the medicine is supposed to work.

-What side effects might occur and how long they could last.

-What to do if the medicine doesn't seem to be working.

Discuss your medication with the pharmacist. This helps to catch errors that may have occurred when reading and transcribing the written or phoned prescription. Be sure you know:

- what the medicine is for
- how to take it
- when to take it
- how long to take it

Be sure to take your medication as the directions say you should. Medicines don't have the end result you want and need if they're not taken as instructed. If you are taking a medicine for a chronic condition, it is especially important that you understand how the medicine is to be taken: how much, how often, for how long, and what to do if you miss a dose.

Remember, when you take a medicine or help others to take theirs, you become part of the human drug therapy chain. As a patient or a caregiver, your responsibility is to make sure you understand what the medicine is for, how it looks, how it should be taken, what results to expect, and what to do if you don't see the results.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Barbra Streisand, one of the millions of people who suffer from constant ringing in the ears, has donated $25,000 to fight the disorder known as tinnitus.

"I hear noises all the time," the singer said, adding that the problem dates back to her childhood. "It's pretty horrible. I long for the silence."

She made the contribution to the American Tinnitus Association, the Portland-based organization announced on May 11.

The association says 10 million to 20 million Americans have chronic tinnitus.

Nutrition Notes

BY CHARLOTTE CLARK
MS RD/LD

Nutrition labeling will be available for almost all foods under new FDA labeling rules.

Manufacturers were given to May 8, 1994 to comply with the new labeling rules. They must comply with the rules for meat and poultry products by July 6, 1994.

In addition, nutrition information is currently voluntary for fresh fruits and vegetables and raw fish at point of purchase.

The FSIS rules require mandatory labeling for most meat and poultry products except raw, single-ingredient products such as raw chicken breasts. The information is based on products "as packaged"—it does not include additional consumer preparation such as frying in oil. A label may also include information "as consumed."

Although the labeling for raw produce and raw meat, fish, and poultry is voluntary, the regulations carry strong incentives for retailers to participate. If voluntary compliance is not adequate, nutrition information for such raw foods will become mandatory.

FDA and FSIS have exemptions for certain products:

Parents and grandparents can help children learn about investing by buying them shares of stock.

You can help grandchildren

Grandparents who want their grandchildren to learn more about money are looking into an interesting idea.

To help youngsters gain experience as investors and build income for their future education or first home, families are getting them into a low cost investment plan from the National Association of Investors Corporation. This organization offers investment education for individual investors and investment clubs.

You can start a child with just one share of stock, add others on birthdays, holidays, even monthly. This can help children learn more about money and have more money with which to learn.

For free brochures, write National Association of Investors Corporation, Low Cost Plan, P.O. Box 220, Royal Oak, MI. 48068.

Shick, Inc., marketed the first electric razor in 1931.

1. Food produced by small businesses;
2. Food served for immediate consumption (restaurants, institutions, hospital cafeterias unless nutrient content or health claims are made);
3. Food in small packages;
5. Food shipped in bulk.

The new food label will have a new title on the nutrition panel. "Nutrition Facts" will replace "Nutrition Information per Serving." A new set of dietary components will be provided on the nutrition panel.

The mandatory and voluntary (underlined) components and the order in which they must appear on FDA-regulated foods are as follows:

1. Total calories
2. Calories from fat
3. Calories from saturated fat
4. Total fat
5. Saturated fat
6. Polyunsaturated fat
7. Monounsaturated fat
8. Cholesterol
9. Sodium
10. Potassium

11. Total carbohydrate
12. Dietary fiber
13. Soluble fiber
14. Insoluble fiber
15. Sugars
16. Sugar alcohols
17. Other carbohydrate
18. Protein
19. Vitamin A
20. Vitamin C
21. Calcium
22. Iron
23. Other essential vitamins and minerals.

If a claim is made about any of the optional components, or if a food is fortified or enriched with any of them, nutrition information for these components then become mandatory.

The aforementioned mandatory and voluntary components are the only ones allowed on the nutrition panel. The required nutrients were selected because they address today's health concerns. The order in which they must appear reflects the priority of current dietary recommendations.

In addition to the aforementioned components, FSIS will also allow stearic acid to be listed voluntarily.

TERMS ON FOOD LABELS

GENERAL TERMS

High: 20% or more of the Daily Value for a given nutrient.

Less: at least 25% less of a given nutrient than the comparison food (see individual nutrients below).

Low: an amount that would allow frequent consumption of a food without exceeding the dietary guidelines (see individual nutrients below). A food that is naturally low in a nutrient may make such a claim, but only as it applies to all similar foods (for example, "fresh cauliflower, a low-sodium food").

More: at least 10% more of a given nutrient than the comparison food.

Reduced: must identify the comparison food, the percentage of reduction, and the amount in the comparison food (see individual nutrients below).

Source of: product provides between 10 and 19% of the Daily Value.

CHOLESTEROL

Note: Foods containing more than 11.5 g total fat or per 100 g must indicate those contents immediately after a cholesterol claim. As you will see, all cholesterol claims are prohibited when the food contains more than 2 g saturated fat per serving.

Cholesterol-free: less than 2 mg cholesterol per serving and 2 g or less saturated fat per serving.

Low in cholesterol: 20 mg or less per serving and per 100 g of food, and 2 g or less of saturated fat per serving.

Less cholesterol: 25% or less cholesterol than the comparison food (reflecting a reduction of at least 20 mg per serving), and 2 g or less saturated fat per serving.

Reduced cholesterol: 50% or less cholesterol per serving than the comparison food (reflecting a reduction of at least 20 mg per serving), and 2 g or less saturated fat per serving.

ENERGY

kCalorie-free: fewer than 5 kcal per serving

Light: one-third fewer calories than the comparison food. Any other use of the term must specify what it is referring to (example, "light in color" or "light in texture").

Low kcalorie: less than 40 kcal per serving and per 100 g of food.

FAT

Extra-lean: less than 4.9 g of fat per serving and per 100 g of food.

Fat-free: less than 0.5 g of fat per serving (and no added fat or oil).

Lean: less than 10.4 g of fat per serving and per 100 g of food.

Low fat: 25% or less fat than the comparison food.

Less saturated fat: 25% or less saturated fat than the comparison food.

Low fat: 3 g or less fat per serving and per 100 g of food.

Low saturated fat: 1 g or less saturated fat per serving and not more than 15% of kcalories from saturated fat.

Percent fat-free: may be used only if the product meets the definition of low fat.

Reduced fat: 50% or less of the fat in the comparison food and reduced by more than 3 g fat per serving (for example, "reduced fat, 50% less than our regular cookies, reduced from 10 g to 5 g per serving").

Reduced saturated fat: 50% or less of the saturated fat in the comparison food and reduced by more than 1 g.

FIBER

High fiber: 20% or more of the Daily Value for fiber, a high-fiber claim made on a food that contains more than 3 g fat per serving and per 100 g of food must also declare total fat.

New Food Labels Are Here!

The new food label can be found on food packages in your supermarket. Reading the label tells more about the food and what you are getting. What you see on the food label—the nutrition and ingredient information—is required by the government.

This brochure shows what the new label looks like and explains some of its new features.

Nutrition Facts Title
The new title "Nutrition Facts" signals the new label.

Serving Size
Similar food products now have similar serving sizes. This makes it easier to compare foods. Serving sizes are based on amounts people actually eat.

New Label Information
Some label information may be new to you. The new nutrient list covers those most important to your health. You may have seen this information on some old labels, but it is now required.

Vitamins and Minerals
Only two vitamins, A and C, and two minerals, calcium and iron, are required on the food label. A food company can voluntarily list other vitamins and minerals in the food.

Label Numbers
Numbers on the nutrition label may be rounded for labeling.

Why do some food packages have a short or abbreviated nutrition label?

Foods that have only a few of the nutrients required on the standard label can use a short label format. What's on the label depends on what's in the food. Small- and medium-sized packages with very little label space can also use a short label.

% Daily Value
% Daily Value shows how a food fits into a 2,000 calorie reference diet.
You can use % Daily Value to compare foods and see how the amount of a nutrient in a serving of food fits in a 2,000 calorie reference diet.

Daily Values Footnote
Daily Values are the new label reference numbers. These numbers are set by the government and are based on current nutrition recommendations.
Some labels list the daily values for a daily diet of 2,000 and 2,500 calories. Your own nutrient needs may be less than or more than the Daily Values on the label.

Calories Per Gram Footnote
Some labels tell the approximate number of calories in a gram of fat, carbohydrate, and protein.

1994 survey focuses on health risks, sleep loss

A new poll confirms that most adults don't get the sleep they need. Though three-quarters of all adults believe that sleep loss is bad for their health, more than half admit to not getting enough sleep, according to the survey of 1,000 adults commissioned by the Better Sleep Council (BSC).

Conducted by Bruskin/Goldring Research, the poll examined adults' sleep deficit - the amount of sleep people need but don't get. Results indicate that North America's sleep deficit is running high. In fact, according to the National Commission on Sleep Disorders Research, adults today are getting 20 percent less sleep than they did 100 years ago.

Experts who reviewed the study found it underscored their concerns. "Sleep debt is potentially the most costly problem to our society in terms of both dollars and human suffering," says Dr. William Dement, Director of Stanford University's Sleep Disorders Clinic and Research Center in Palo Alto, CA. Sleep's role in a healthy lifestyle should not be underestimated, he adds: "Sleep should be a full partner in the triumvirate of health - fitness, good diet, good sleep."

What's the best way to pay off the sleep debt? "The only way to reduce a sleep deficit is to sleep more or get better quality sleep," says Dr. James K. Walsh, Director of the Sleep Medicine and Research Center at St. Luke's Hospital in Chesterfield, MO.

Quality is particularly important: people with busy lives may find it difficult to control the quantity of sleep they get, but they can control the quality. As Dr. Walsh explains, "The entire sleep environment should be examined to ensure a quiet, comfortable place to sleep. This includes factors such as light, noise, temperature and mattress quality."

"Feeling drowsy during the daytime generally means you have a sleep debt," says Dr. Demand. But many people have mistakenly learned to accept daytime drowsiness as a fact of life - ignoring its implications.

Dr. Mark Mahowald, Director of the Minnesota Regional Sleep Disorders Center in Minneapolis, suggests that "we're taught that the way to keep up with increasing demands is to get less sleep - in short, that sleep is unimportant. This implies that sleep loss has no consequences, which is untrue."

Indeed, the study found evidence of some of those consequences. Half of those surveyed in the new BSC poll that said lost sleep caused them to lose energy. With so many already reporting a lack of sleep, the results - lack of energy and productivity - are significant and widespread. Dr. Walsh adds, "There are obvious consequences of the sleep debt, such as traffic and industrial accidents. However, more difficult to measure is fatigue's undoubtedly substantial role in family and social relationship problems associated with depression and irritability." The bottom line, according to Dr. Mahowald, is that "people must acknowledge that sleep is a biological imperative and make it a priority - sleep is not a negotiable need."

Poll results indicate that even people who know they need sleep try to do all their catching up on the weekend. Experts like Dr. Dement say that's not enough: "Even though the only way to reduce the sleep deficit is to get more sleep, most people's sleep debt is huge and can't be made up in one night." Nevertheless, the poll found that twice as many people (38 percent vs. 19 percent) get more than 8 hours of sleep on weekends than do on weekdays. Men of all ages and young adults aged 18-24 are particularly apt to make up sleep this way.

"We commissioned this survey to bring the vast array of sleep statistics out there down to a personal level," explains Better Sleep Council Director Andrea Herman. "We also want people to realize it's not just how long they sleep but how well they sleep. In fact, some people don't get enough sleep even when they make a special effort to because they aren't getting good quality sleep."

Experts say this is where other factors come into play: a healthy diet and regular exercise contribute to deeper sleep. Another item most people overlook is right under their nose - or rather, their whole body - their bed. Herman agrees with the doctors, who stress the importance of a healthy sleep environment: "An old, worn-out mattress can prevent a person from getting a good night's sleep. People should consider a good mattress an investment in their health - just like their running shoes or gym membership."

Offer your support for foundation

If you know anyone with Parkinson's disease, a disorder of the nervous system that interferes with muscular control, here's encouraging news.

Support groups for patients and family members are helpful and medications are available that do much to relieve the symptoms.

The Parkinsons' Disease Foundation produces helpful literature, makes referrals to competent physicians and support groups. The PDF, the first organization established to address the problems of PD, is now actively pursuing Parkinson's patients and their families to take advantage of the help the foundation can give.

Surprisingly, some 15 percent of the contributions to the foundation are made in memory of someone who dies with Parkinson's disease. The foundation appreciates these contributions, but notes that fewer than half of the honorees were known to the foundation in their lifetime. Since it is there to help people, the foundation hopes to bring in more people as they may benefit from its many services.

Social Security

"Special provisions can help people who are blind or near blind qualify for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments," said Jim Talbot, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office. "And there are also other provisions to help people who are blind and already receiving SSI to return to work and still receive SSI benefits or Medicaid protection," he noted.

SSI makes monthly payments to people 65 and older and to people with disabilities at any age (including children) whose income and assets are below a certain level. And people who receive SSI usually qualify for Medicaid and food stamps, too.

If local Social Security officials determine that individuals can receive SSI payments for up to 6 months while they wait for a formal decision by a state Disability Determination Service. If they're later found not to meet the SSI definition of blindness they do not have to pay back any money.

Other provisions within the law also help people with disabilities receive SSI while they're working. For example, when figuring a disabled person's earnings, SSI does not count any work expenses directly related to the disability. "These exclusions are important because the SSI payment is offset by other income a person has," Talbot explained.

People who are blind receive additional exclusions. SSI excludes most of their work expenses (not just those related to their disability). Some examples include Federal, State, and Social Security taxes; routine transportation costs to and from work; and union dues.

People who are blind also can ask for special handling of any letters sent by Social Security about changes in their SSI. "At their request, we can either telephone them or send the letters by certified mail," Talbot said.

Anyone who wants more information about it or who want to apply for benefits should call the local Social Security office at 378-2241.

Healthy eyes are not only eyes needed for donations

Glaucoma patients can help scientists understand this sight-threatening disease by donating their eyes to support glaucoma research.

Research tissue supplied by people who had glaucoma allows scientists to explore the fundamental questions—the biology, chemistry, physics and genetics—of this eye disease with no known cure.

"Glaucoma is essentially a plumbing problem in the eye—the fluid produced in the eye does not drain properly, in most cases causing a build-up of pressure. The increased pressure permanently damages the optic nerve at the back of the eye," said Tara Steele, executive director of the Glaucoma Research Foundation. An estimated three million Americans have glaucoma. It is the second leading cause of irreversible blindness in the U.S.

The Glaucoma Research Foundation is a national, tax-exempt organization dedicated to protecting the sight and independence of people living with glaucoma. The foundation operates the nation's only glaucoma-specific eye donor program. To date, more than 1,300 eyes have been dedicated to glaucoma research as a result of this program.

One registered donor enrolled in the Glaucoma Research Eye Donor Network considers donating her eyes "a tremendous boost to my ego, because part of me is going to do someone else some good." The Network, which was founded in 1984, supplies valuable eye tissue needed for basic and clinical studies which provide a better understanding of glaucoma.

Currently 22 research laboratories in the United States, Canada and Germany receive tissue through the Network.

Many important research projects depend on the availability of glaucoma specimens. Unfortunately, the short supply of donated eye tissue delays vital research that may someday lead to prevention of glaucoma, and perhaps a cure.

If you have glaucoma, you may want to consider donating your eyes for research. No matter how long you have had the disease, what medications you have taken, or what surgeries and procedures have been performed, your eye tissue could benefit thousands of people, including members of your own family.

Glaucoma eye donors carry a special wallet identification card that includes the telephone number of their local eye bank. Donating your eyes to the Glaucoma Research Eye Donor Network will in no way affect your funeral plans, not even arrangements for an open casket. There is no cost to eye donors or their families, thanks to public support and a generous grant from the Norris Foundation.

For free information about glaucoma and the Glaucoma Research Eye Donor Network, please write to the Glaucoma Research Foundation, 490 Post St., #830N, San Francisco, Calif., 94102 or call (800)826-6693.

NEW YORK (AP) - Director Richard Donner would rather be fishing - especially on a weekend when his movies open.

While Donner's "Maverick" opened with the highest gross of the year its first weekend ($17.2 million), Donner fled to his vacation home on the San Juan Islands near Seattle.

"I try not to answer the phone," he told The New York Times after answering the phone. "I can't read. I can't do much except go fishing. I live in fear."

Donner, who directed the "Lethal Weapon" trilogy, said he has no great aspirations for the comedy-Western starring Mel Gibson, Jodie Foster and James Garner.

"It's not Shakespeare," he said. "It's light entertainment."

Tips for healthy lungs

Since its founding in 1904 to combat tuberculosis, the American Lung Association has been working to conquer lung disease.

The fight is not over--while the death rates for heart disease and cancer are dropping, the lung disease death rate is climbing.

With the generous support of the public and the help of volunteers, there have been many advances in lung disease. The work, however, is far from finished.

Here are some tips for lung health:

-If you have a persistent cough, frequent colds, chest pains, cough up blood, or if you are out of breath after moderate exercise, see a doctor.

-If you already have a lung disease or any chronic disease or are over age 65, get flu shots yearly and a pneumonia shot.

-If you have been in contact with someone who is sick with tuberculosis, see a doctor.

-Motor vehicle exhaust is comprised of many dangerous air pollutants that can cause lung disease and irritation. Help yourself and others by keeping your car well-tuned.

-Check for lung hazards in the home to eliminate them or protect yourself; test your home for radon.

-Don't smoke.

-If you do smoke, quit!

-Avoid second-hand smoke.

-If you have asthma, see a doctor on a regular basis. You can manage your asthma and avoid asthma attacks.

For more information on programs, services and volunteer opportunities, call the American Lung Association at 1-800-LUNG-USA or write your Lung Association listed in the white pages of the telephone directory.

NBC's 'Roommates' tackles AIDS and homophobia

BY JOHN CROOK

"Roommates," premiering Monday, May 30, on NBC, tells the dramatic story of two very different men who form an uneasy friendship as each faces life with AIDS. Written by Robert W. Lenski ("Breathing Lessons," "Decoration Day"), this crackling TV movie stars Eric Stoltz, Randy Quaid, Charles Durning and Elizabeth Pena.

Inspired by a real-life situation that producer Michael Filerman brought to Lenski's attention, "Roommates" takes a conventional "odd couple" situation and fills it with pain, humanity and compassion. The results are so compelling, so bristling with conviction, that even wary viewers will find themselves completely hooked by the time the first commercial break arrives.

Jim Flynn (Quaid), a heterosexual ex-con on parole for bank robbery, was just in the process of getting his life back on track when a barroom brawl led to an HIV-tainted blood transfusion.

Tired of constantly fighting with his blue-collar father, Barney (Durning), Jim moves into "The Residence," an apartment complex for people living with AIDS.

At first, Jim's homophobic rantings ensure that he has his apartment to himself. But administrator Lisa Elliott (Pena) has a shrewd card trick up her sleeve - Bill Thomas (Stoltz), an AIDS education volunteer, whose own battle with the disease has worsened a strained relationship with his family.

Lisa introduces Bill to Jim as his new roommate. It's not a match made in heaven.

"I don't really care what kind of crap you hand 'em at the civic and professional groups," Jim bellows in Bill's face. "It is my firm conviction that AIDS is God's way of cleanin' house

- including me, pal."

"Well," replies Bill blandly, surveying the sloppy apartment, "I see even God doesn't do windows."

After a single tense night, both men appear in Lisa's office demanding a change. She decides to play hardball: "I am not the reservations clerk at the Ritz. ... Now, either you both try it, or you can both take a walk."

Resigned, the two roommates declare an uneasy truce, then slowly begin to come to terms with their own hidden prejudices. When Jim faces avoidance and prejudice from his old buddies, Bill joins them for a game of pool - with surprising results. And when Bill is heckled during an address to a local women's group, a surprise visit from Jim gives Bill a new understanding of how important it is to put a human face on a health tragedy.

Just as they are finding common ground, two serious medical emergencies challenge their friendship. The conclusion is a touching and very hopeful testament to tolerance.

Pena, a splendid actress whose work is too little known (she previously costarred with Stoltz in "The Waterdance"), gives Lisa both soul and steel. Durning, in a part he probably could phone in, reveals all of his character's inner conflicts, most of them the product of his upbringing.

Since his character is afflicted with crushing headaches, Quaid has the more flamboyant role, roaring and blustering uninhibitedly. Yet ultimately it is the quiet performance of Stoltz, his piercing blue eyes framed by his red hair, that will stay with the audience for some time to come.

"Roommates" is a tough yet tender drama that examines tricky issues and avoids easy answers. It deserves a chance.

LET'S TALK

How Grasshopper's son got his start; Montalban murder mystery sleuthed

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: I am a huge fan of "Kung Fu: The Legend Continues" and was wondering if you could tell me as much as possible about Chris Potter who plays Peter on the show.

A: Also, could you please provide me with an address where I can write to him and could you tell me where the show is taped? -J.K., Sydney, Nova Scotia.

A: Potter was born in Toronto and raised in London, Ont., Canada. His appearances in community theater productions drew the attention of one of Canada's leading actresses, Martha Henry, who cast him in her production of "Biloxi Blues" at the Grand Theatre in Toronto.

Potter later landed a role in the popular Canadian TV series "Material World." During his three-year tenure with the series his career took off, landing him guest-starring roles in such American television series as "Counterstrike," "The Hidden Room" and "Top Cops."

"Kung Fu: The Legend Continues" is filmed in Toronto. You can write to Potter C/O the show at Warner Bros. Domestic Television Dist., 4000 Warner Blvd., Burbank, Calif. 91522.

Q: My husband and I truly enjoy the series "Renegade." Could you please tell us what other movies Lorenzo Lamas has played in besides "Bounty Tracker"?

A: Also, who performs the title song for the show? It sounds like Waylon Jennings. -Deborah M. Fox, Union Lake, Mich.

A: Lamas' feature film credits include appearances in "Grease," "Take Down," "Body Rock," "Final Impact" and the three "SnakeEater" films.

Lamas starred in and co-produced "Night of the Warrior" and "Human Target."

The title song for "Renegade" was written and recorded by Mike Post Productions.

Q: I am a very big fan of the show "Big Brother Jake," and I really enjoy watching Gabrielle Carmouche, who plays Kateri on the show.

A: Can you please give me some information on her? Where is she from? How old is she? What shows or movies has she appeared in other than "Big Brother Jake"? Also, can you give me an address where I can write to her? -K.R., Vallejo, Calif.

A: Carmouche, of Woodbridge, Va., is 15 years old, and other than a guest appearance on "The Cosby Show," her role on "Big Brother Jake" has been her only acting experience.

Even though the show has been taken out of production, you could try writing to her C/O "Big Brother Jake" at The Family Channel, Public Relations Dept., 1000 Centerville Turnpike, Virginia Beach, Va. 23463.

Q: I have been infatuated with Christian Bale since I was 13 and saw him in "The Land of Faraway."

I am now 19 and still as entranced with him as I was then. Can you please give me an address where I can write to him? I would be eternally grateful! -J.L., Fallon, N.Y.

A: Try writing to Bale C/O Creative Artists Agency, Inc., 9830 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

-Robert S. Parkin of Lincoln Park, N.J., has come up with the title of a movie which escaped me in a recent column.

Frances C. Wallace of Oroville, Calif., was looking for the title of a 1950s murder mystery starring Ricardo Montalban. Mr. Parkin deduced that the title she was seeking was "Mystery Street," from 1950, written and produced by John Sturges.

Thanks to Mr. Parkin for his time and attention to this matter.

HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 20)
Indecision is a weakness, and it will cause great instability in your life. You know what is best for all concerned; now get out there and do it.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)
Someone's unpredictable behavior is driving you crazy, and you do not know what to do. It may help if you try looking at the situation as an outsider.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)
Someone has taken advantage of you, and you may not be able to do anything about it. Try to redirect your energies into more positive outlets.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)
There is a good chance you have been given the wrong impression of a person and you need to take a second look. Do not depend so much on others.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)
A goal will be in reach, but you may have changed your mind about attaining it. There is an indication of travel, possibly related to business.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)
It is important that you choose your friends carefully. There could be a problem with unfaithfulness in a relationship.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
You would like to be in charge of a situation, but it may not be possible at this time. Hard work is necessary to get what you really want in life.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)
There will be a need to rely on your own intellect and instincts. Your versatility will come in handy for you in the future.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)
A careless approach to an important situation could ruin everything. Check into new ventures carefully. There is no shame in changing your mind.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)
There could be some intrigue or deception going on in a personal relationship. Emotional problems will come to the forefront.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
You are not applying yourself in the right way and could be on the path to destruction. Stop looking for the easy way out and deal with your problems.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)
A pessimistic attitude could get you in big trouble. Put past mistakes behind you and get on with life. All is not lost; it is just beginning.

Another cable channel, more awards, video stores barking arrival of 'Lassie'

The art house at your house: Bravo, the "culture for everyone" network, has announced the launch of The Independent Film Channel on Thursday, Sept. 1.

The 24-hour, commercial-free channel will feature about three dozen feature-length films a month, plus documentaries, short subjects, animation and works by emerging filmmakers.

Charter members of the channel's advisory board are Martin Scorsese, Robert Altman, Joel and Ethan Coen, Martha Coolidge, Spike Lee, Steven Soderbergh and Ed Saxon. IFC has been promised carriage by cable operator Cablevision Systems.

A release from Sony's Wonder video label says the company hopes to have consumers "playing fetch" at their local video stores come Tuesday, June 21. That's when four half-hour "Lassie" adventures hit the shelves as part of a 50th-anniversary salute to the world's favorite collie. (The release dovetails nicely with the summer's new "Lassie" theatrical movie, too.)

With a suggested retail price under $10, each tape contains two vintage episodes and includes a "Lassie" activity book. The episodes are the first of 500 scheduled for video release.

Glenn Close and the cast of Broadway's "Sunset Boulevard" are scheduled to perform at the 1994 Tony Awards ceremony, to be broadcast Sunday, June 12, on CBS. Anthony

Martin Scorsese

Hopkins will serve as host.

In other award news, a new statuette will be gracing mantles about this time next year as "The Top Cop Awards" becomes a reality. No relation to the late CBS series, the awards are meant to honor law enforcement officers for the work they do throughout the year.

The project is supported by the Fraternal Order of Police, The National Sheriff's Association, Crime Stoppers International and others.

"Seinfeld," the show that "isn't about anything," is expected to earn $2 to $3 million per episode when it goes into syndication in the fall of 1995. The biggest bidder so far is WSBK in Boston, paying about $100,000 per program.

Robert De Niro (left) and James Woods star as Noodles and Max, two friends who grew up "Once Upon a Time in America." Director Sergio Leone's gangster epic airs Saturday on A&E.

HIGHLIGHTS

Nigel Havers stars in the real-life drama "A Perfect Hero," airing as part of PBS' "Masterpiece Theatre" series beginning Sunday, May 29, and continuing Sundays through June 19 (check local listings).

Havers portrays dashing, young, British fighter pilot Hugh Fleming, living a privileged life at Cambridge University before the second World War.

When Hugh's plane is shot down in the Battle of Britain, he is left hideously burnt and disfigured, and must try to readjust to life ... and love.

HIGHLIGHTS

Host Patrick Swayze leads viewers and audience members through an evening of song and dance with a royal flair as ABC airs "The 1994 World Music Awards" Tuesday, May 31.

The event features performances by internationally popular music artists and is presented under the patronage of Prince Albert of Monaco.

Awards are presented to the top-selling recording artists in each of the world's major record-buying countries.

TV FOR KIDS

'Break the Silence' a must for parents, too

BY SUZANNE GILL

Homework for the evening of Tuesday, May 31, may include "Break the Silence: Kids Against Child Abuse" on CBS. If so, parents should join their children in watching the half-hour special, which airs commercial-free and was funded by United Services Automobile Association.

Parents of young or sensitive children may want to tape the special and preview it before sharing it with the family.

"Break the Silence" informs children about neglect, and physical and sexual abuse. Using interviews and animation it presents four youngsters who describe the abuse or neglect they have suffered and survived. It is directed at kids ages 8 to 14, but the program's crayon colors, animation and narration (by Jane Seymour) make it appear to be aimed at a younger audience.

"It's friendly to children," says executive producer Arnold Shapiro ("Rescue 911"). "It's not going to scare them and give them nightmares. It's meant to warn them about a dangerous situation."

Jim Henson and his Muppets made their national television debut on NBC's "Tonight Show," with then-host Steve Allen.

TRIVIA

Rumor has it Al Pacino and Winona Ryder will star in a remake of "Love Me or Leave Me" (1955), based on the life of singer Ruth Etting.

TRIVIA

As a child, actress Patricia Arquette ("True Romance") appeared in a television commercial for Libby's canned vegetables and fruits.

TRIVIA

Some songs on Johnny Cash's fine new album were recorded in his country cabin, while the rest were cut in his producer's living room.

SOAP WORLD

Alfonso returns to 'Days of Our Lives'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: Could you please tell me if the actress who plays the role of Stefano's mysterious houseguest on "Days of Our Lives" is the same one who played Hope in the past? She looks different, and I thought maybe it was a different actress. -M. J. in New York.

Dear Reader: It is the same actress. Kristian Alfonso is the only one ever to play Hope. She has returned to the role after four years, and her character will most likely cause trouble for Billie (Lisa Rinna) and Bo (Robert Kelker-Kelly). There is a good chance that Billie will be paired with Mike Horton (Roark Critchlow).

Dear Candace: I recently saw an old episode of "The Rat Patrol." An actor named Hans portrays a German officer, but he looks just like Eric Braeden, who plays Victor Newman on "The Young and the Restless." Am I crazy or what? -Linda, Orangeburg, S.C.

Dear Reader: Braeden did star on "The Rat Patrol," but at the time he was using his real name, Hans Gudegast. After he starred in the film "Colossus: The Forbin Project," the brass at Universal Studios asked him to change his name. It was not an easy task for the proud German-born actor. "I needed something I could identify with," says Braeden. "I took Braeden from the name of my village in Germany, and Eric was a family name."

Dear Candace: I watch "Days," and I would like to know what happened to Lark Voorhies, who played Wendy. I have nothing against the actress who plays the role now, but I am a fan of Voorhies and wonder what happened. -Brenda Newman, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Dear Reader: Voorhies told producers she wanted to pursue other interests, so she was replaced by Tammy Townsend.

Dear Candace: I would like to know what happened to Mackenzie Cory on "Another World." The character was Rachel Cory's husband. -L.W., N.H.

Dear Reader: Douglass Watson, who portrayed Mac, died suddenly of a heart attack in 1989. His character's death was subsequently written into the show.

Because you can't see it, taste it or smell it, carbon monoxide can kill you before you even know it's around. Today's homes are more airtight, thus trapping the potentially fatal gas inside. First Alert introduces its carbon monoxide detector which signals when the gas is found in your home. Now there's a convenient, inexpensive way to protect yourself and your family.

What you should know about our Pricing Policy: Not all items in this publication are on sale. Percent and dollar savings are off regular prices on in-stock items. Selection may vary by showroom; some items may not be available thru Mail Order. An item's reference retail price, indicated by the † symbol, is your guide to its regular selling price at department stores and similar retailers. It is not our present or former selling price. It is either the retail price suggested by the mfr. in this publication's distribution area or our own determination of full retail price based on customary retailer markups for similar merchandise. Best Values are exceptional regular prices. Appraised values represent an IGI appraiser's determination of insurance replacement values. Rain Checks: available, unless an item is marked Clearance, Limited Quantity or Special Purchase, except for some seasonal merchandise. Clearance Merchandise: limited quantities; may not be available thru Mail Order; selections may vary by store. We reserve the right to limit quantity purchases.
