Bloody ski mask, weapon reportedly found

Evidence mounts against Simpson in murder case

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Police reportedly found a bloody ski mask in O.J. Simpson's mansion and the weapon believed used in the stabbing deaths of his ex-wife and a friend - a sharp, military-style digging tool.

Detectors also questioned witnesses who cast doubt on Simpson's alibi, and expanded their investigation halfway across the country, using metal detectors Thursday to search an overgrown, junk-strewn field near the Chicago hotel the former football star checked into hours after the bodies were found.

A homicide detective who spoke on condition of anonymity told The Associated Press that investigators had finished their reports and that Simpson's arrest was imminent. He would not elaborate.

The 46-year-old Simpson has denied any involvement in the slayings of Nicole Brown Simpson, 35, and Ronald Goldman, 25. Their bodies were found Sunday night outside Mrs. Simpson's condominium in the city's Brentwood section.

Police were analyzing the bloody military-style entrenching tool, which resembles a sharp-edged shovel, the Daily News of Los Angeles reported today, citing unidentified police sources. The newspaper did not say where the tool was found.

KCOP-TV, citing unidentified police sources, said that police found a bloody ski mask in Simpson's house. The station also said that police believe a military knife was used in the killings, but it did not elaborate.

The football Hall of Famer flew to Chicago from Los Angeles late Sunday for a business meeting, then returned a few hours later after he was told of his ex-wife's death.

Detective Bert Luper, one of two Los Angeles officers in Chicago investigating the slayings, said that someone who stopped at a gas station near the O'Hare Plaza Hotel in Chicago reported seeing a person who looked like Simpson in the field. Luper wouldn't say what searchers were looking for.

"We're working on an anonymous tip," he said.

Meanwhile, a woman who jogged by Mrs. Simpson's condo at about the time of the killings told a detective that a vehicle generally resembling Tax reform plan: one rate, no deducts, no lobbyists?

WASHINGTON (AP) - The days and weeks leading up to April 15th could be a little less complicated for many Americans under a tax reform plan being proposed by Texas Congressman Dick Armey.

Gone are the varying tax rates for different income brackets. Gone are the tax loopholes. Gone are the intricate calculations over which deductions to take for both individual taxpayers and businesses.

The Lewisville Republican on Thursday introduced a "Freedom and Fairness Restoration Act" that would abolish the current system, setting up in its place a flat 17 percent tax rate for individual taxpayers and businesses.

Not only would Armey's system be easier, but he contends it would save most taxpayers money too. After starting at a flat 20 percent, the tax rate would be reduced to 17 percent in its third year.

"The plan is so simple you will be able to do your taxes on a form the size of a postcard," Armey said at a Capitol news conference.

Of his quixotic venture, he added: "All special-interest deductions will be eliminated. It's guaranteed to throw Washington's special-interest lobbyists out of work."

And, there's the rub. Armey's plan is sure to be challenged by the industries, lobbyists, tax attorneys and others who derive benefit from the complications of the current tax system and its specialized tax breaks.

Armey's plan would:

- Tax all wages, salaries and pensions at a flat 17 percent rate. Earnings from savings wouldn't be taxed. Individuals would get a $10,000 personal exemption; $14,000 for a single head of household; $20,000 for a married couple filing jointly, with $5,000 more thrown in per dependent.

- Businesses would pay 17 percent on the difference between revenue and expenses. No deductions would be permitted for fringe benefits, interest or payments to owners. No more depreciation schedules, capital gains, loopholes and targeted tax breaks.

- Force hundreds of federal programs to prove their worthiness, forcing Congress to decide which to keep, which to abandon.

- Set rigid spending caps on government spending.

Clinton officials wary about N. Korean offers

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Clinton administration said it would be willing to hold a new round of high-level talks with North Korea if it confirms that the North is making concessions over its nuclear program, but it isn't satisfied yet or ready to suspend pursuit of U.N. sanctions.

"We need more information," Vice President Al Gore said today of the latest North Korean offer relayed to former President Carter, who met today with President Kim Il Sung in the North Korean capital.

According to a CNN report from

Pyongyang, Carter told the North Koreans today that the Clinton administration was conditionally willing to hold off pursuit of the U.N. sanctions and had provisionally agreed to hold a third round of high-level talks.

White House Press Secretary Dee Dee Myers said today that report was premature. She said U.S. officials "will continue our discussions about sanctions in the U.N. Security Council while we evaluate what North Korea said yesterday. ... We have not in any way said we were ready to suspend pursuit of sanctions."

Gore, asked on CBS if the administration would suspend its push for sanctions, said, "It depends totally on what the circumstances are. We are proceeding with the consultations concerning sanctions now, but depending upon the clarification we receive on what the North Koreans said, then we will evaluate it at the time."

Gore spelled out what the North Korea offer must include if the North wants new talks with the United States:

"If the North Koreans are saying they'll freeze everything in place ... that they'll stop reprocessing, stop refueling, keep all those (U.N.) inspectors there and allow them to function, than that's something new.

"That's a fundamentally new situation and under those circumstances, then we would be willing to enter into a third round of negotiations and obviously that would lead to a stop in the pursuit of sanctions. But we don't know that that's what they are saying yet."

Carter said Thursday that during his private talks with Sung in Pyongyang, the communist leader gave assurances he would not expel U.N. nuclear inspectors so long as there were "good-faith efforts" to end the dispute.

President Clinton and U.S. military officials said they needed to hear more details after Carter holds a second day of talks today before judging the Kim proposal.

"It depends on what the Koreans meant by what they actually said today," Clinton told reporters Thursday. "If North Korea means by this also that it is willing to freeze its nuclear program while talks take place, this could be a promising development."

High-level U.S.-North Korean talks broke off last July.

Hereford insurance men qualify for Texas Leaders Round Table

Two Hereford life insurance professionals have qualified for 1994 membership in the Texas Leaders Round Table, an honor organization affiliated with the Texas Association of Life Underwriters.

Charles Bell and B.J. Gilliland of Hereford, both members of the Amarillo Area Association of Life Underwriters, were named to the TLRT. Bell has been a TLRT member for 31 years, and Gilliland has qualified for 15 years.

SIMPSON

Simpson's was parked across the street, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

"I saw a light-colored Ford Bronco or Blazer-type car," the woman, who requested anonymity, told the Times. The newspaper reported previously that bloodstains were found in Simpson's white Ford Bronco.

Simpson's lawyer has said that at the time of the slayings, Simpson was two miles away at his Brentwood mansion waiting for a limousine ride to the airport.

But the limo driver said Simpson wasn't home when he arrived at 10:45 p.m., according to TV reports. The driver said a sweaty and agitated Simpson got in the limo shortly after 11 p.m. The driver, who was not identified, has been interviewed by detectives, the syndicated TV program "Hard Copy" reported.

A friend of Simpson's, Howard Bingham, told The Boston Globe that he was with Simpson on Sunday's 11:45 p.m. flight to Chicago and "nothing seemed different about him."

"He was talking to me about his golf game," Bingham said. "He wasn't bleeding. I shook hands with him in the airport and in Chicago. He seemed like always. This whole thing is unbelievable."

In other developments, nationally renowned forensic scientist Henry Lee arrived from Connecticut to join Simpson's defense team. Simpson's lawyer has also hired New York State Police forensic scientist Dr. Michael Baden.

And Simpson attended his ex-wife's funeral. He emerged from a white limousine wearing a black suit, and kissed his 9-year-old daughter Sydney and 6-year-old son Justin as he entered St. Martin of Tours Catholic Church.

There was an undercurrent of anger as 500 mourners gathered to bury Goldman.

"I want O.J. to turn himself in, that's all," said Frank Enderle, a friend of Goldman's. "Now O.J., if you turn yourself in at least your children would have some money because you are going to spend all your money on court cases and you are going to lose."

Dousing fire

Hereford Volunteer Fire Department responded to a trash fire seven miles north of Hereford. The blaze was put out after about an hour. Firefighters also spent an hour and a half on a grass fire 29 miles west of Hereford off Harrison Highway. Fire Marshal Jay Spain reminded residents that fire hazard is great because of dry grass and other vegetation.

State's budget growth blamed on U.S. government initiatives

AUSTIN (AP) - Nearly two-thirds of the $20 billion growth in the state budget since Gov. Ann Richards took office is due to federal initiatives, according to a new study.

The Legislative Budget Board, which prepared the analysis released Thursday, said the budget has increased from about $50.1 billion in 1990-91 to about $70.1 billion in 1994-95.

About $13 billion of the $20 billion in growth growth, or 65 percent, was due to federal initiatives, according to the study.

The report follows attacks on the Democratic governor by Republican challenger George W. Bush over state spending.

The budget board is headed by two Democrats, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and House Speaker Pete Laney. Its members include Democratic and Republican lawmakers.

The study said about $9 billion of the spending growth since 1990-91 is due to program expenditures that are mandatory to receive federal aid, including required Medicaid spending, highway planning and construction, and Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

It said the rest of the $13 billion resulted from federal court orders or lawsuit settlement agreements, including a decades-old lawsuit over prison crowding; discretionary expenditures that make the state eligible for more federal aid, such as the national school lunch program and optional Medicaid spending; and programs required by federal law, such as unemployment insurance.

Medicaid alone represented $8.3 billion of the increase, the study said.

The report said expenditures related to federal initiatives account for an increasing portion of the state budget - 49 percent in 1994-95, compared with 42 percent in 1990-91.

"Obviously, the federal stick and the federal carrot are out of balance," Bullock said. Laney added, "Between the courts and federal policies over the past years, Texas has been squeezed hard."

Republicans dismissed the study.

Karen Hughes, who has been state GOP executive director and is going to work for the Bush campaign, said other states have not seen the same spending growth as Texas.

"The LBB is saying our experience in Texas has been totally different from the experience of all 49 other states... That frankly defies common sense," she said.

"I think it (the study) is the lieutenant governor's attempt to preserve his job and Gov. Richards' job by blaming someone else for their record increases in state spending," Ms. Hughes said.

Bullock spokesman Glen Castlebury said, "It is not an attempt to do anything but lay out the facts.

"Much of the increase is due to federal health and human services programs that were approved by the Congress," he said.

Texas is different from other states, Castlebury said. "Texas has a faster-growing population. Texas has a faster-growing poverty population. Texas has a faster-growing prison population. And Texas has had years of neglect, and we have had to cover additional ground to make up for that neglect."

Bush campaign spokesman Reggie Bashir said, "We believe, and the people of Texas believe, that the governor is the chief budget officer as defined by the Texas Constitution. In that role, the governor does have a responsibility and accountability for the growth in the budget."

Richards campaign spokesman Chuck McDonald said, "It really is the height of hypocrisy for George (W.) Bush to continue to point at Ann Richards for costs that were incurred under President George Bush," the gubernatorial candidate's father.

"The growth that has taken place in the last decade has been entirely driven by Washington, D.C.," he said.

McDonald added that the increase does not reflect federal mandates that may have resulted from actions by President Clinton. The 1994-95 budget was approved in 1993.

Teen will be confined 40 years for death of man in Levelland

By JEAN PAGEL
Associated Press Writer

LBBOCK, Texas (AP) - An alleged victim of sexual abuse is headed for juvenile lockup after being found responsible for killing his 4-year-old girl. He asked the jury: "What message do you want to send these young, arrogant, out-of-control punks who want to carry a pistol?"

The jury took three hours to find him guilty of delinquent conduct by shooting Jackie Condren in the back last September. The Texas Youth Commission will confine the boy until he turns 18, when a judge will decide whether he goes to prison for no more than 40 years.

Condren's estranged wife, Johnell Condren, awaits trial on charges she had sex with the teen-ager in 1991.

Prosecutors denounced the idea the boy was so traumatized he couldn't help being violent.

"He has been just plain mean, delinquent, incorrigible - a classic conduct disorder," said Hockley County District Attorney Gary Goff.

Goff called the murder "horrible, despicable, cowardly" and pointed out that the boy already has spent time in juvenile custody for sexually assaulting a 4-year-old girl. He asked the jury: "What message do you want to send these young, arrogant, out-of-control punks who want to carry a pistol?"

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Dr. Ed Williamson and the membership of First Church invite all who are searching for a church home to join with them in worship and other church activities. Sunday's schedule of events include: Sunday school, 9:30 a.m.; morning worship, 10:45; evening worship, 6; confirmation class, 6 p.m.; and UMYF water-volleyball at the church, 6 p.m.

Pastor Williamson's message for Sunday morning is entitled "I'm Glad For Dad" with scripture references taken from Luke 15:11-21.

The Jubilate Ringers Handbell Choir will perform "Gift of Love" by Hopson for the anthem during Sunday's morning worship service. "People Need the Lord" by Nelson will be sung as the offertory by the Sanctuary Choir.

San Pablo United Methodist Church will be serving enchilada dinners as a fundraiser from noon until 3 p.m. Saturday at the Hereford Community Center. The menu will consist of three enchiladas, rice, beans, chips and salsa. Cost per plate is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

A get-acquainted ice cream social to welcome the Ed Williamson family to Hereford and FUMC with homemade ice cream, cake and cookies is planned at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the fellowship hall. The church family and friends are asked to bring their favorite recipe of the above items and to give a big FUMC welcome to Ed, Mary Elaine, Polly, Mark and David Williamson.

The youth of the church will meet in the early afternoon June 22 for separate boy and girl outings with their sponsors. Boys will meet at 1 p.m. and travel to Palo Duro Canyon for some spelunking while the girls will remain in Hereford and meet at 2 p.m. in the fellowship hall preparing homemade ice cream and cookies for the ice cream social scheduled that evening. The youth recently welcomed Bob and Camille Beville as youth coordinators.

The Methodists from the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church met June 6-9 in Midland for the 85th Session of Annual Conference of the Northwest Texas Conference and were told of the recently opened University of Africa in Zimbabwe. This university is the only privately owned university on the African continent. It is a Methodist institution of higher learning which will educate students in their own culture at a much lower cost than sending them to other countries to study. The special offering for scholarships at the University of Africa collected at the annual conference totaled over $6,000.

Local residents representing Hereford churches at the annual conference were Ed and Mary Elaine Williamson, Bobby and Bera Boyd, Mark and Billee Landrum, Paul and Lois Scott and Margaret Bell, all of FUMC; John and Frances Westman, and Elmer and Norma Carlson, Wesley UMC; and Lanny and Jackie Wheeler of King's Manor.

ST. ANTHONY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

St. Anthony's Parish Evangelization Census is set for July 9-10. Many parishioners will be needed to complete the work the Franciscan Sisters from Amarillo had been doing for us, going door-to-door to invite people into SACC and RCIA programs and to encourage inactive, cultural and casual Catholics to a greater participation in the life of the church. A training session for this census will be offered at 7:30 p.m. July 6.

Parish office adjustment is needed because of the excessive demands on Annette's time, attention and energy. Her roles as receptionist and crisis-outreach staff person frequently hinder her bookkeeping because they keep interrupting her as she works on the ledger, pays bills or prepares reports. To alleviate this inefficiency and the wear and tear on one of our parish's most valuable assets, Annette will not be available on Wednesday afternoons. Other staff members will answer the door and phone and take care of those who come to the parish for helping their crises.

The Problem Pregnancy Center's garage sale was very successful.

Heavy sand is needed for the school playground.

New parishioners include David and Cindy Rohrbach of Dimmitt.

Vacation Bible School is planned from 7-9 p.m. July 10-15 at the church. Coordinators are Jan Reeve and Laurie Paetzold. Assistants and teachers are needed. If you can assist with VBS, call 364-7200 or 364-1961.

A new program for youth who have completed grades 5-8, is scheduled from 6-9 p.m. Wednesday through Friday, July 6-8. Details will be announced at a later date.

Five items are needed for the fall DCCW Convention silent auction planned at Saint Vincent De Paul Church in Pampa. Call Leona Schilling at 364-4793 for more details.

The eucharist minister schedules for June and July and available at the back of the church.

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

Pastor Lonny Poe and the church congregation welcome the community to worship with them Sunday. Bible study begins at 9:30 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

This Sunday morning, we will have a special parent-child dedication time during the morning worship service. The message for the service is entitled "A Day to Choose" taken from Joshua 24:15. During the evening service, we will continue our study through the book of Acts.

The Wednesday evening Bible study will be held at 8 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

This Saturday is the monthly meeting of the Lord's Ladies. This month the ladies will be meeting at the Hereford Country Club at 11 a.m.

The men's breakfast will be held June 25 at 7 a.m. in the fellowship hall.

Vacation Bible School is planned June 27-July 1. It will be held every evening from 5:30-8:30 p.m. Children ages two through those who just completed the sixth grade are welcome.

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

Last Sunday was a very special day at the church. We began by worshipping together and a fellowship meal was shared with the Spanish congregation. There were approximately 170 guests that stayed to eat. Those involved in the prison ministry then left for Amarillo and spent the afternoon visiting with the prisoners. Sunday evening, we worshipped together in a special song service. Many different men and boys led their favorite songs and read scriptures. After the close of the services, there were some who had not yet had enough and continued to sing.

The youth of Central will be going to Friona to a youth rally Saturday. Black Mesa Bible Camp Jr. Session will begin June 26. A group plans to attend. A van load of kids traveled to Clovis, N.M. to a Vacation Bible School session this week.

Senior Citizens Day is scheduled June 23.

We would like to invite everyone to come and worship with us. Bible class begins at 9:30 a.m. and the worship services are held at 10:25 a.m. and 6 p.m. each Sunday. Bible study is conducted at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday.

The "Amazing Grace" Bible Class is shown each Sunday morning at 7:30 on Channel 4.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENES

Sunday school begins at 9:30 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Meeting each Wednesday at 7 p.m. are the Super Book Olympics and Teen "Club Paradise."

A special Father's Day message will be delivered by Pastor Ted Taylor during the Sunday morning service. The sermon is entitled "The Call to be Promise Keepers."

Vacation Bible School is scheduled from 9 a.m. until noon June 21-24. This year's VBS will be an unforgettable adventure in the untamed west called "Covenant Rider." You are invited to come and experience four days of action-packed adventure, both on screen and live. Numerous activities are planned.

The Super Book Olympics meet from 7-8 p.m. each Wednesday for children ages 4-12. Be sure to wear your old clothes.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

The church is having an all-church work day beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday. All members of the church who are able are asked to come help with this work to clean-up the church and its grounds.

The brotherhood of the church, 700 Ave. K., invites all men and boys to join them for breakfast Sunday morning in the church fellowship hall.

The congregation and the Pastor H. Wyatt Bartlett invite everyone to join them in worship Sunday beginning at 9:45 a.m. for Sunday school and Bible study. The morning services start at 11 and the pastor will be preaching on the topic "Jesus, The True Vine" taken from John 15:1-10. The pastor will speak on "Every Person In His Place" during the 7 p.m. service. The scripture lesson is taken from Numbers 2:1-35.

The mid-week prayer meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Studied will be Proverbs, Chapter 10.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Jacob Brewer has accepted the position of full-time youth minister of the church.

The summer youth events schedule includes: "hangtime" at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday; youth visitation, 8 p.m. each Monday; the "Big Picture" video party following the June 26 evening service; and the youth mission trip July 9-16 to El Paso and Juarez.

A homemade ice cream fellowship is planned at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday following the revival service. If you plan to attend the fellowship, please bring a freezer of ice cream, cookies or cake.

Sunday School Promotion is planned July 3.

The family fish fry is scheduled from 6-7:30 p.m. Friday, July 8, at High Plains Baptist Assembly in Amarillo. It will be catered by Sea Food Galley.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"I Love You, Jesus, Did You Hear Me Honk?" is the title of the Rev. Don Shepherd's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service. The scripture lesson is Exodus 3:1-8, 13-15 and I Corinthians 11:1-13.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. Fellowship time meets between Sunday school and the worship service. Stop for a few minutes of fellowship between services.

The Women's Bible study meets at 9:30 a.m. Monday. Helen Rose will lead the study in I Peter 3:8-22, Lesson 7, "Suffering for Doing Good."

NBA Finals comes down to 3 games

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - What started as a best-of-7 series is now best-of-3, with each game becoming even more important than the one before it.

The New York Knicks and Houston Rockets are tied 2-2 in the NBA Finals, with Game 5 tonight at Madison Square Garden. New York's 91-82 victory Wednesday night guaranteed that the series would return to Houston for the sixth game Sunday night, with Game 7 on Wednesday night if necessary.

"Game 5 will be the swing game of the series," Knicks coach Pat Riley said Thursday. "For the team that wins it, it puts you in a position to win the series the next time out."

Riley is hoping the Knicks, 10-2 at home in the playoffs, can take a 3-2 lead back to Texas, because if the Rockets win tonight, they would take the 3-2 edge into the last two games at the Summit, where they are 8-3 in the postseason.

"We're in pretty good position," Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "We can't lose homecourt advantage (by losing Game 5), but we can better our situation. I hope our attitude is like it's a seventh and deciding game. Winning Game 5 would put us in the driver's seat."

"The final result of this series is getting closer and closer for both teams," Riley said. "It's getting closer and closer to culmination. One team is going to win the championship, and the players realize that. All I can do is help them find what is within themselves to help win this thing."

One of Riley's players searching to find himself is Patrick Ewing, who has missed 20 shots in each of the last two games and has missed two-thirds of his shots for the series.

The Knicks survived another poor shooting performance by Ewing in Game 4 because Derek Harper scored 21 points, with five 3-pointers, and John Starks had 11 of his 20 points in the last 5:03. Charles Oakley had 16 points and 20 rebounds and Ewing 16 points and 15 rebounds despite 8-for-28 shooting.

"I thought I had good shots," Ewing said. "I just missed them. Some of them I faded too much, but for the most part they were good shots."

While Ewing continued to misfire, Hakeem Olajuwon played a breakthrough game for the Rockets, with 32 points on 14-for-20 shooting. Criticized in the first three games for fading in the fourth quarter, he had 14 points in the final period.

"I don't listen to people telling me I was tired," Olajuwon said. "I know if I'm tired or not. There are some games that I get tired in the first quarter. There are some games where you just play into the fourth quarter and overtime if necessary. It depends on how the game is played."

Harper, the Knicks' top scorer the last two games, said they don't plan to change the way they're covering Olajuwon.

"We've had pretty good success and great players are going to come through," Harper said. "You have to guard against over-reacting to him scoring so many points against you."

The performance of the "supporting casts," a term made famous by Michael Jordan to describe the players surrounding a team's superstar, has become a key to the series. Ewing's supporting cast - primarily Oakley, Harper and Starks - is outplaying Olajuwon's - Vernon Maxwell, Otis Thorpe, Robert Horry and Kenny Smith.

"Our game plan coming into the series was to contain his supporting cast as well as we could, not necessarily to stop him, because he's virtually unstoppable," Harper said.

Harper called Oakley "the glue that keeps us together. In this situation, you need guys that play a unique role. Charles plays a unique role in the fact that he doesn't need the basketball to contribute to our success. Throughout the finals, the little things are the things that win basketball games for you - and Charles does all of them."

"Some nights I can break through the wall," Oakley said of his 20-rebound performance that helped New York outrebound the Rockets 50-33, including 21-7 at the offensive end.

"Any time you get outrebounded that way on the offensive boards, you are going to find yourself in big trouble," Rockets forward Otis Thorpe said. "We just can't let that happen anymore. Rebounding is the biggest key for both teams."

While Starks and Harper are doing the job for New York, Maxwell and Smith are not.

Smith is averaging 3.8 points on 26.3 percent shooting and Maxwell 13.8 points on 36.1 percent shooting. Maxwell said he has been pressing Smith to be more aggressive.

"I told him, 'If we lose, everyone will blame the guards, and that's you and me. You owe it to me, Kenny,'" Maxwell said.

Players decide not to set strike date

CHICAGO (AP) - Instead of setting a strike date now, baseball players decided to wait a little bit.

A three-hour meeting of the union's executive board didn't decide much Thursday. But the union will begin taking routine strike authorization votes among teams, and the executive board may set a strike date when it reconvenes at Pittsburgh on July 11, the day before the All-Star game.

"Basically we are going through what their proposals were, and we're still waiting to get some answers and explanations to what is all involved with the salary cap and revenue sharing. We still don't have the answers to that," said Philadelphia Phillies pitcher Larry Andersen, one of 55 players who attended the meeting at O'Hare International Airport.

Owners, claiming they need to eliminate the disparity between clubs from large and small markets, would give players a 50-50 split of revenue in exchange for the union agreeing to a salary cap that would force clubs to have payrolls of 84-110 percent of the average.

Salary arbitration would be eliminated under the owners' plan, but the threshold for free agency would be lowered from six years' major league service to four - with the provision that a player's former club could match any offer until he has six years' major league service.

"Even though the plan we now have received contemplates a massive transfer of money from players to owners because you are going to destroy a free market and set an artificial limit on salaries, we are told once again this is not about money; it's about competitive balance," union head Donald Fehr said.

They were not alone, however. Irwin, 49, playing just behind Watson, just missed on a last-hole birdie that would have given him a share of the lead. Instead, it left him in a tie with Nicklaus.

South African Ernie Els, who birdied two of the last three holes, and Frank Nobilo of New Zealand, who holed a 176-yard 7-iron shot for eagle-2 on the 10th, also got in at 69, one off the pace.

"I took a look at the leaderboard," Watson said, "and figured if Nicklaus can do it, Watson can do some of the same."

But he was a little better, a 3-under-par 68 against Nicklaus' 69 and a one-shot lead going into today's second round.

Mary Shelton in the second flight,

Pat Goforth in the third flight and Therese Albracht in the fifth flight all won matches Wednesday in the first round of consolation, but they all lost on Thursday.

Watson, 44, playing hours later in temperatures that reached into the mid-90's and slowed play to a crawl, more than 5 1/2 hours for the late finishers.

"I took a look at the leaderboard," Watson said, "and figured if Nicklaus can do it, Watson can do some of the same."

Tribe rallies for 15th straight win at Jacobs

By TOM WITHERS

Associated Press Writer

If you build it, they will win. As if blessed by the baseball gods, the Cleveland Indians, baseball's biggest joke the last 40 years, are enjoying a magical run in their new home - Jacobs Field.

The Indians, who finally left dreary Cleveland Stadium after four decades of failure, won their 15th straight home game Thursday night, rallying for three runs in the ninth inning for a 7-6 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

"Our momentum is so strong right now, it's really hard to stop us," said Omar Vizquel, who had three of Cleveland's 17 hits.

The win was Cleveland's sixth straight overall. The Indians' 15 straight home wins is the longest home winning streak in the majors since Boston won a record 24 in a row at Fenway Park in 1988. Their last home loss was on May 1.

The Indians are one away from matching their team record of 16 straight, set at Cleveland Stadium in 1951. They are a major-league best 20-7 at home and have won eight games at Jacobs Field in their final 17 games at home.

Steve Farr (1-1) won despite yielding the second of Tom Brunansky's home runs.

Jeff Russell (0-4) was the victim of Cleveland's latest ninth-inning rally.

Cards lose despite seven double plays

By HANK KURZ Jr.

Mark Whiten caught the ball, cocked his arm and let fly.

Once again, a baserunner was daring him to make a perfect throw, and this time the St. Louis Cardinals' right fielder did just that. Luckily for the Pittsburgh Pirates, the damage had already been done.

Whiten's throw Lance Parrish to third base to complete a double play, the Cardinals' record-tying seventh of the game, and close out the top of the 10th. But the Pirates had already scored three times in the inning, and they held on for a 7-5 victory.

Earlier in the inning, Jeff King lofted a fly ball to Whiten with none out and the bases loaded. Kevin Young scored the tie-breaking run when Whiten's throw went up the first base line.

King said he sweated out the play at the plate.

"With any other mortal guy, it's a no-doubter," King said. "The guy scores standing up. But with Whiten, you never know. When he cut loose with that bazooka, I wasn't sure if we were going to score or not."

Parrish added an RBI fielder's choice in the 10th, then enabled St. Louis to gain a share of the double play record by foolishly trying to take third on Carlos Garcia's sacrifice fly to right.

St. Louis is the fourth team to get seven double plays in a game. The last was the Atlanta Braves in a 14-inning game against Cincinnati on June 27, 1982.

Joe Torre, the Cardinals' manager, was the Braves' manager then, and he didn't remember the game.

"I hope we won that game so I'm 1-1 in these kind of games," he said.

And first baseman Gregg Jefferies, who participated in the first six double plays, didn't sound like he'd remember the game, either.

"Those double plays are a meaningless stat," Jefferies said. "This is ridiculous. We find a different way to lose every day."

Alejandro Pena (3-2) won despite allowing Gerald Perry's seventh career pinch-hit homer with two outs in the ninth. Rick White came on after Blas Minor gave up a run on Whiten's single in the 10th and earned his sixth save.

Mike Perez (2-2), who came on to start the 10th, took the loss.

Elsewhere Thursday, it was Florida 4, New York 2; Atlanta 11, Colorado 8; Houston 6, San Francisco 3; and San Diego 7, Chicago 1.

Astros 6, Giants 3

At San Francisco, Tony Eusebio's two two-run homers - his first since April 13 - and Ken Caminiti's 13th Homer propelled Houston.

Darryl Kile (5-2) pitched six strong innings and John Hudek worked the ninth for his 10th save. Mark Portugal (5-6) was the loser.

Barry Bonds hit his 15th homer and added an RBI single for the Giants.

Braves 11, Rockies 8

At Atlanta, Charlie O'Brien's two-run homer highlighted a five-run eighth.

King said he sweated out the play at the plate.

"With any other mortal guy, it's a no-doubter," King said. "The guy scores standing up. But with Whiten, you never know. When he cut loose with that bazooka, I wasn't sure if we were going to score or not."

Carlos Baerga said after he scored the winning run on Albert Belle's two-run, two-out single in the ninth inning.

The Indians, who lead Minnesota by 1 1/2 games and Chicago by three games in the AL Central, will play 14 of their next 17 games at home.

"We're down, we come back," Baerga said. "One day it's Jim Thome, one day it's Albert, one day it's Eddie Murray."

Steve Farr (1-1) won despite yielding the second of Tom Brunansky's home runs.

Jeff Russell (0-4) was the victim of Cleveland's latest ninth-inning rally.

Brunansky, traded back to Boston by Milwaukee earlier in the day, and Cooper each hit a two-run homer off Cleveland starter Jason Grimsley in the first four innings, giving Boston a 4-0 lead.

Athletics 6, Rangers 4

At Arlington, Texas, Ruben Sierra hit a two-out RBI single in the ninth and the A's added a run on a wild pitch.

With two out, Stan Javier and Brent Gates beat out infield hits off rookie starter John Detmer (0-1). Jay Howell relieved and gave up Sierra's grounder to right, scoring Javier. Gates scored from third on Howell's wild pitch.

Mark Acosta (3-0) pitched one-plus innings for the win, and Dave Leiper got the final three outs for his first save since 1988 with San Diego.

Brewers 5, Tigers 4

At Milwaukee, Matt Mieske hit two home runs, including a one-out ninth inning shot.

Mieske hit a solo shot off starter

Tim Belcher to tie it 4-4 in the seventh, then hit a 1-2 fastball off Buddy Groom (0-1).

Graeme Lloyd (2-3) pitched two innings of one-hit relief.

Junior Felix homered for the third straight game for the Tigers.

Yankees 6, Orioles 1

At Baltimore, Jimmy Key won his career-high ninth straight decision and Pat Kelly homered and drove in three runs.

Wade Boggs also homered for the Yankees.

Key (10-1) allowed one run and eight hits in 7 2/3 innings.

Key outpitched Mike Mussina (9-4), who gave up five runs and 11 hits in 6 1/3 innings.

Leo Gomez homered for the Orioles.

Royals 4, Mariners 1

At Kansas City, Mo., Wally Joyner celebrated his 32nd birthday with three hits and three RBIs.

Mike Magnante (2-2) relieved starter Tom Gordon and got the victory with three innings of four-hit relief. Jeff Montgomery got the final four outs for his 10th save.

Angels 6, White Sox 5, 10 innings

At Chicago, Chili Davis' second homer of the game snapped a tie in the 10th inning.

Davis, who hit a three-run homer in the third, led off the 10th by hitting a 1-2 pitch from Kirk McCaskill (0-2) for his 13th homer. Davis also hit two home runs in a May 11 game at Texas.

Joe Grahe (1-3) pitched 2 2/3 innings of relief for the win.

Oilers complete first minicamp with new QB, defensive coach

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Oilers players have had a sneak preview of their new-look offense and defense.

The Oilers completed mini-camp on Thursday with Cody Carlson as the starting quarterback instead of Warren Moon and Jeff Fisher as the defensive coordinator instead of Buddy Ryan.

"They'll have a better idea of what to expect when they open pre-season training camp July 18 in San Antonio."

The run-and-shoot offense will be supplemented this season by two-back sets and tight end Pat Carter, who left the Los Angeles Rams for a chance to be part of the new-look Oilers.

Fisher, who replaced his former boss Buddy Ryan, plans to add a color-coding system designed to teach the complicated "46" defense that Ryan installed last year.

"I think I'll have a chance to catch some passes, but we're not doing away with the run-and-shoot," Carter said. "You don't do away with something that's been so successful."

Thanks to the new NFL salary cap, the Oilers' locker room has taken on a new appearance during this off-season of change.

Moon has been traded to Minnesota and Pro Bowl defensive ends William Fuller and Sean Jones are gone in the free-agent shuffle.

Sean Salsbury, a starter for the Vikings last year, has taken up residence in Moon's old locker as Carlson's backup.

"I really feel excited about the upcoming season for the team and my opportunity to play," Carlson said. "I was happy before, doing what I was doing, but not satisfied."

"Really, as far as the game, until we win the Super Bowl, we won't be

Fisher, who played for Ryan at Chicago and coached under him at Philadelphia, will continue preaching the defensive scheme that Ryan installed before leaving to become head coach of the Arizona Cardinals.

One major difference is that the players are getting more tutelage, such as color codes for identifying certain offensive formations, than Ryan offered.

Ryan had one color for several formations and expected his players to make the correct call.

"When I played for Buddy we had three uses for the term 'blue,'" Fisher said. "Buddy would be yelling at younger players and I'd say 'Why don't you make it red, green and black?'"

Ryan, typically, wouldn't budge.

"He said, 'If he's too dumb to know the difference in the blues he's too dumb to play,'" Fisher said. "I think it's important they understand what they're supposed to do and what the guy next to him is doing because at times their responsibilities will switch."

Players are warming quickly to Fisher's patient approach.

"He's a little more talkative," safety Bo Orlando said. "He's kind of the same as Buddy work-wise, but you can go in to Jeff a little more and get a discussion about the situations."

"It's kind of hard to tell in mini-camp. He's feeling us out and we're doing the same thing. I have a feeling he'll be tougher when we get to (training) camp."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After seeing the aftermath of the earthquake that devastated Southern California, I was amazed at the blind faith animals have and the inner drive that keeps them going even in dire circumstances. I wrote this prayer, and I hope you think it's good enough to share with your readers-Mrs. Walter Van Sandt in California

DEAR MRS. VAN SANDT: I do. Here it is:

CHICAGO (AP) - Joycelyn Elders can really ruin a party.

The surgeon general unwittingly drove women smokers at the American Medical Association meeting out of their haven Tuesday.

The cloakroom smokers scattered when Elders repaired to the ladies' room at the hotel to relax and review her speech.

"I didn't even think about it," Elders said, laughing. "I was just sitting down reading."

She has been known to have a chilling effect on smokers.

"I was walking down the street once and I saw two young men, and they said, 'Oh, my god, there's the surgeon general.' I'm sure they burned themselves," she said. "They took their cigarettes and just squeezed them in their hands."

The world's biggest switchboard is the one in the Pentagon, Washington, D.C. with 25,000 lines handling over 200,000 calls per day through 1,000 miles of telephone cable.

ANIMAL TRAITS

Give us the gentleness of the rabbit, the working ability of the beaver, the courage of the lion, the cunning of the fox, the bravery of the tiger and the fortitude and resilience of the coyote, whom man has nearly obliterated.

We need the lovely family life of the wolf, whose members care for each other in sincere devotion. We need the common sense of the horse and the strength of the ox, and most of all, we need the humor, comedy and simple playfulness of the sea otter and the squirrel who chase each other around trees.

We also need the concentration and swift striking ability of the snake when an enemy is near. We need to copy those masters of good grooming, affection and relaxation, our domestic cats, and the loyalty and devotion to a job or leader that the dog has. And finally, we need to top all of the above with the sheer joy of the songbirds at dawn, heralding a new day and forgetting the past.

Animals seem to go about their daily lives without dwelling on the past as though they had complete trust in God or nature, and this we need most of all.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We would like your opinion. Our younger brother, age 34, is getting married this fall. "Jack" lives in our parents' large suburban house, pays no room or board and has held the same low-wage part-time job for the last 10 years. He has had two years of college but never looked for full-time work. Our parents spend most of their time in the home they own at a nearby resort.

Jack's fiancee, 28, works full-time but is paying off student loans. She lives by herself in an apartment.

Our parents have suggested that perhaps "Jill" should move into the big house with Jack after the wedding. They would let them have it cheap. We feel, however, that Jack should move out so the folks can sell the house.

Mom and Dad are extremely kind and generous, but we fear this may be Jack's last chance to grow up and pay his own way for a change. He certainly is capable of supporting himself but will never make the effort if he gets everything handed to him.

As I was writing this letter, I realized that four of our friends are in similar situations. Yes, we know that jobs aren't plentiful, but they don't make any effort to find work when their parents provide them with free room and board. Why should they? Please comment.--Troubled in Burnaby, B.C.

DEAR BURNABY: Sometimes too much "help" can be crippling. A child who is carried all the time has no incentive to learn to walk. I agree that Jack should vacate the premises and build a nest of his own.

Gems of the Day: Marry an archeologist, girls. The older you get, the more interested he will be in you.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Add muscle to workout

With isokinetics one can experience all of the benefits of strength training without the negatives of negative resistance.

For years, isokinetic products such as Cybex were used by athletic trainers and sports physical therapists only for rehabilitative purposes because they were more effective, efficient and safer than equipment using isotonic. Because isokinetic equipment had typically been very expensive, its availability to the general public was limited.

Today, isokinetics are available in both commercial and home strength-training equipment. Using what is known as "accommodating" resistance, isokinetics automatically adjusts to accommodate the user's strength. For example, as you push harder during an exercise, the resistance increases. Conversely, the less force you push with, the less resistance from the machine.

Isotonic or Isokinetic

Most strength training equipment uses one of two basic forms of resistance - isotonic or isokinetic. There is a tremendous difference between the features of each type.

Isotonic resistance uses what is called constant resistance (free weights or weight stacks). This traditional form of resistance works the muscle at the same resistance level through the full exercise movement. The disadvantage of this is that muscles are weaker at some points during the exercise than at others. Another disadvantage is that isotonic uses negative resistance which has been shown to cause excessive post-exercise muscle soreness and discomfort.

Isokinetic resistance, by definition, the term isokinetics means "same speed" and this form of resistance gives muscles maximum workout through the full exercise movement. A positive-only resistance method, it is the newest form of resistance in the area of training and conditioning and has gained tremendous popularity.

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

George & John Lehtis Distributors Inc., Mahwah, NJ 07430 NATIONAL SALES REPRESENTATIVE: Dan Adams, Service PO Box 10798, Greenville, NC 27833

THE EVIL OF BLASPHEMY!

BLASPHEMY, THE INTENTIONAL REVILING AND CURSING OF GOD, OR THE KING, WHO WAS GOD'S REPRESENTATIVE, WAS PUNISHABLE BY MANDATORY DEATH IN BIBLE TIMES! UNDER THE OLD MOSAIC LAW, DEATH WAS ACCOMPLISHED BY STONING THE MISCREANT! (LEV. 24:16) IN THE OLD TESTAMENT, THERE IS ONLY ONE ACCOUNT OF A CASE OF BLASPHEMY—AND THAT INVOLVED A MAN WHO WAS ONLY PART ISRAELITE, FOR HIS FATHER WAS AN EGYPTIAN (LEV. 24:10-16). THERE WERE SAFEGUARDS IN THE LAW SO THAT ONE COULDN'T BE WRONGLY CHARGED OF THIS CRIME. BLASPHEMY HAD TO BE WITNESSED BY MORE THAN ONE ACCUSER! NEVERTHELESS, FALSE ACCUSATIONS WERE MADE AGAINST NABOTH IN THE OLD TESTAMENT (1 KINGS 21:1-13) AND STEPHEN IN THE NEW TESTAMENT (ACTS 6:8-14) AND JESUS OF NAZARETH ON MANY OCCASIONS (MATT. 9:3, 26:65-66) (JOHN 10:36). IN THE CASES OF NABOTH AND STEPHEN, THE VILLAINOUS FALSE ACCUSERS WERE SUCCESSFUL IN THEIR CLAIMS AND BOTH MEN WERE PUT TO DEATH BY STONING! IN THE CASE OF JESUS, ALTHOUGH THE PRIESTS AND THE PHARISEES AND SADDUCEES CHARGED HIM WITH BLASPHEMY, AND ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS LARGE CROWDS PICKED UP STONES, INTENDING TO KILL HIM, HE ALWAYS ESCAPED THIS FATE—"THAT THE SCRIPTURES MIGHT BE FULFILLED!"
