HEDC paperwork reviewed, Garrison named president

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Legal documents to put the Hereford Economic Development Corporation into operation were reviewed by the City Commission during a work session Monday evening. Formal adoption will be on the agenda for the next regular City Commission meeting.

Designation of terms for the five men appointed to the first board of the corporation were noted and Mayor Bob Jossrand announced his intention to appoint Shirley Garrison as president and Cliff Skiles as vice president.

Garrison and Don Graham initially will serve two-year terms on the board. Skiles, Rosendo Gonzalez and Jerry Stevens will serve three-year terms.

After the first year, the board will elect its own officers, Jossrand pointed out.

During the work session, the commission also discussed a personnel policy for formal adoption at the next meeting. The policy conforms with federal and state mandates on employment practices.

The commission will meet next Monday in regular session, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

On conclusion of the work session, agenda, the commission went to Jaycee Park for the last neighborhood meeting on park development.

Discussed were needs of Jaycee and Central Parks.

For Jaycee Park, additional playground equipment, a sprinkler system, lighting, a shelter, picnic tables and improvements in the area across Tierra Blanca Creek were listed. A suggestion was made for a bridge to be constructed across the creek to allow better use of the whole area.

Central Park could use a walking path, lighting, a shelter, picnic tables and barbecue grills.

Benches are needed in all city

parcs, according to the suggestions received.

The park meetings began several weeks ago as the city looked for input from neighborhood residents of each park in Hereford.

Mayor Jossrand said that the park meetings brought renewed interest by citizens.

"I think the idea now is 'our parks' instead of city parks," said Jossrand.

City staff will prioritize park needs as listed by citizens so a plan for improvements may be developed.

Jossrand expects the commission will have the recommendations for a work session on Oct. 10.

"We can work out what we can do on a yearly basis," he said.

The voluntary park fund, established three years ago, will finance improvements over several years.

Approximately 65 percent of the city's utility customers contribute $1 each per month to the fund.

In the last year, approximately $27,000 has been spent from the fund for such improvements as playground equipment, picnic tables, barbecue grills, restroom facilities and trash receptacles in parks.

Funds available now amount to more than $125,000.

School enrollment nears 4,400 mark

Enrollment in Hereford schools neared the 4,400-student level this week, according to a report from the HISD administration.

Total enrollment as of Monday was 4,391 students, which was up from the first day of school enrollment of 4,203 students.

However, Monday's number reflects a drop of eight students from last Friday and is below the number reported this time last year.

As of Sept. 10, 1993, the district had 4,530 students. The final enrollment report for the 1993-94 school year -- filed on May 23 -- indicated there were 4,302 students in school here.

Enrollment is not the same as Average Daily Attendance, which is the figure used by the state to determine district funding.

In Monday's enrollment report, there were 2,214 elementary school students, 736 at Hereford Junior High and 1,187 at the high school.

Another 254 were enrolled in programs at the Stanton Special Populations Center, including 159 in the pre-kindergarten program, 13 in the 7-8 grade SOAR and 44 in the 8-12 grade SOAR.

After the first day of classes, there were 2,136 in elementary classes, 724 at the junior high, 1,116 at the high school and 227 at Stanton.

Investigators target plane's right engine as possible crash cause

By CLAUDIA COATES
Associated Press Writer

CORANOPOLIS, Pa. (AP) - Federal investigators have identified three possible causes of the crash of US Air Flight 427: The right engine went into reverse, it came loose, or the air brakes were unevenly deployed.

Investigators believe something may have caused the plane's right wing to rise, which caused the plane to roll to the left and go out of control, National Transportation Safety Board member Carl Vogt said Monday.

"We want to examine everything that might have caused the right wing to rise," Vogt said.

The Boeing 737-300 dropped from 6,000 feet Thursday and nose-dived into a wooded ravine at 300 mph, killing all 132 people on board.

The NTSB and the Boeing Co. will create computer models to see if one of the three scenarios would cause a 737-300 to behave the way Flight 427 did, Vogt said.

Crews have hauled about half the wreckage - seven truckloads full - to a hangar and arranged the pieces in the shape of the plane. Investigators planned to start digging today to recover more pieces.

Investigators also were looking for the pilot of a corporate jet who may have been in a good position to see Flight 427 during its final moments, Vogt said.

In downtown Pittsburgh, hymns echoed softly off office buildings at lunchtime Monday as 2,000 people gathered in Market Square to mourn the crash victims.

"Maybe God will give me some answers to what happened," said Pam Kastelmeyer of Baldwin. Her neighbor's daughter died in the accident.

Some of the victims' loved ones were stoic through several prayers, then broke down and sobbed when a priest read the names of the dead. A wreath adorned with red carnations and tiny white flowers stood alone in front of a stage.

Searchers have been unable to find the right engine's rear mount, supporting the theory that the right engine may have come loose from its position beneath the wing. Vogt said the front mount was still attached to the engine, as were both mounts for the left engine.

A second scenario could be that the air brakes on the wings, which help control the plane's direction, may have deployed unevenly, Vogt said.

A third possibility is that the plane's right engine somehow went into reverse. The thrust reverser, which helps stop a plane once it has landed, was found deployed on the right engine. It's possible that the impact of the crash knocked it into the deployed position.

Records show that a crew flying the 7-year-old plane reported difficulty 21 months ago in putting the right engine into reverse. Part of the reverser was replaced July 3 and the device was lubricated. There had been no complaints since then, Vogt said.

"It would be unfair to say that was the focus of our investigation," he said.

Smithee welcomed

State Rep. John Smithee visits with Doris Bryant, president of the Hereford Retired School Employees Association, during a meeting Monday that was sponsored by the association. Smithee spoke on a number of different topics, addressing issues that will face state lawmakers when they go to work in January 1995.

Smithee gives update on legislature, praises retired teachers group

State Rep. John Smithee praised the lobbying efforts of the Texas Retired Teachers Association (TRTA) and responded to questions about legislative issues when he appeared in Hereford Monday for a noon meeting of the Hereford Retired School Employees Association.

Smithee and State Sen. Teel Bivins were scheduled to speak at the meeting. Bivins, unable to attend because of a state senate committee meeting, was represented by an aide, Kristi Young.

State sends out sales tax checks

AUSTIN (AP) - The state has returned $128.3 million in monthly sales tax payments to Texas cities and counties, a 9.3 percent increase over a year ago.

Comptroller John Sharp said Monday that the increase reflects a record number of Texans on the job and increasing consumer confidence.

The monthly rebates for September covered taxes collected on July sales.

Sharp said that more than 226,000 new jobs were created since July 1993, putting an all-time high of 7.7 million Texas at work.

A total of 944 Texas cities received $115.5 million of the rebates, a 9.2 percent increase from the $105.7 million of September 1993, while 111 counties were sent $12.8 million, a 9.4 percent rise.

"TRTA has done remarkably well in its lobbying efforts," said Smithee, "especially in view of the fact that it has no paid lobbyist."

Among the priorities presented by TRTA to the 74th Legislature were an appeal to maintain the Teacher Retirement System as a separate trust fund as established by a constitutional act in 1937; seeking approval of an annuity increase to be funded by the TRS and a state contribution; and urging the lawmakers to protect the integrity of the Texas Homestead Act.

About 70 retired teachers and guests attended the noon meeting at Hereford Senior Citizens Center Monday. The group also raised questions about the health care plan, teacher contracts, the school book selection process, and use of lottery funds.

Ms. Young read a prepared statement from Sen. Bivins on the questions raised by TRTA and listed the primary concerns of the group to take to the senator.

Doris Bryant is president of the Hereford Retired School Employees Association. Margaret Lomenick was program chairman for Monday's event. Several district TRTA officials attended the meeting, including Kenneth Gilson, TRTA past president of District XVI; Alegra Bush, incoming president; Lamont Veatch, TRTA legislative chairman and former Plainview superintendent; and Lee Welch, Plainview district president.

Probe ordered in White House crash

By RON FOURNIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Investigators believe National Airport radar picked up a single-engine plane moments before it crashed on the White House lawn and are trying to determine if the Secret Service was warned.

Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen, who oversees the Secret Service, ordered an immediate review of the agency's security procedures after the tiny, two-seat Cessna 150 sneaked up on stunned White House guards Monday with only a moments' notice.

Senior administration officials did not publicly find immediate fault with the security system or Secret Service agents, but pointedly failed to guarantee that current procedures are adequate to prevent a similar incident.

Some security experts predicted investigators will reach an unsettling conclusion: There are limits to what can be done to protect a president housed in the middle of a major city.

An administration official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said investigators believe Washington's National Airport radar picked up the plane minutes before the crash and that Secret Service was not notified.

The official, who has been briefed on the inquiry but is not an investigator, said the investigators are working to confirm that the Secret Service indeed wasn't notified and, if that is the case, to determine why.

Frank Corder, 38, a Maryland native with a history of drug and alcohol problems, died when his plane darted over the White House's wrought-iron fence, slammed into the South Lawn and cartwheeled against the mansion two floors below President Clinton's private quarters.

Clinton and his family were staying at a government guest house across Pennsylvania Avenue because of White House repairs. Clinton worked Monday in the Oval Office and the family returned home as scheduled after work.

"We take this incident seriously," Clinton said, "because the White House is the people's house and it's the job of every president who lives here to keep it safe and secure."

As the wreckage was removed for closer inspection, federal investigators began interviewing Corder's friends and family in search of clues to his motive. Some relatives said the desperate flight was an act of suicide; others left open the possibility that Corder's death was the result of a blundered prank. Investigators did not rule out either theory.

Special agent Carl Meyer, briefing reporters at an afternoon news conference, said Corder's motive did not appear to be hurting Clinton or his family. Preliminary findings show his intrusion "does not appear to be directed toward the president," Meyer said.

Corder, who worked as a self-employed freight truck driver at Baltimore-Washington International Airport, was described as an upbeat, "jeans-and-flannel shirt type of guy," otherwise haunted by substance abuse problems and plagued by a string of bad luck.

"Frank has been down on drugs and alcohol before. He told me that sometimes ... he just wished he had a gun," said a cousin, Dee George.

Family said Corder's marriage had just fallen apart and his father had recently died of cancer.

He was reported to have undergone alcohol detoxification at the Veterans Hospital in Perry Point, Md. Clinton mentioned the hospital during a speech Sunday in Corder's native Aberdeen, Md., and the Secret Service was investigating a possible link.

At least one family member said Corder may have had publicity - not suicide - in mind. His brother, John, said Corder admired how teen pilot Mathis Rust "made a big thing for himself" when he landed a small plane in Moscow's Red Square in 1987.

The Washington Post today quoted John Corder as saying his brother once spoke of crashing a plane into the White House if he ever wanted to commit suicide. The brother refused to confirm the report.

Amarillo offers $8 million to move company there

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - If you haven't received your $8 million check from Amarillo, give city officials a call.

They sent out checks to 1,300 chief executive officers this week, with the caveat that to cash the check, they must bring their business and 700 jobs to Amarillo.

"A city like Amarillo has to do this because nobody else is going to help us," Mayor Kel Seliger said. "We're a more sparsely populated area of the state. Dallas, Austin, Houston, San Antonio will get all the help they need from across the state. We have to help ourselves."

In the letter sent to executives, Seliger tells companies that if they open operations in Amarillo, they can cash the check. Actually, each company would qualify for a variety of incentives, including grants for equipment or land, low-cost loans or tax incentives.

Amarillo officials say they don't expect all 1,300 CEOs to uproot and move to their Panhandle city. But they do have incentives that can multiply to as much as $70 million in grants and loans through the issuance of bonds, they said.

A few companies on the mailing list said they hadn't heard of such a ploy before.

"Oh, this is like the magazine thing that promises a bunch of gifts if you'll buy the magazine," said Bob Kniffin, spokesman for Johnson & Johnson. "In general, there is a keen competition to attract industry. This sounds like an innovation in that competition."

"Now, Amarillo, is that near Lubbock?"

Commission gets insurance report

Prospects for medical insurance for Deaf Smith County employees in the future were reviewed for Commissioners Court Monday morning.

Rick Holder of Lubbock, insurance representative, reminded that several changes in medical insurance may be implemented within a few years.

He said that a PPO -- preferred provider organization -- is the direction medical coverage may take.

Information about administering the health care plan will be provided the commission at the next meeting, on Sept. 26. Deaf Smith employees are covered by a self-insurance plan. Commissioners heard a report from Don Kundert, superintendent of construction for the City of Hereford aquatic center. He expressed appreciation for the cooperation of commissioners on the project.

Kundert also said that work being done by the SPAW unit from the Deaf Smith County jail has been excellent and noted that several participants are learning skills they may use when they complete their sentences.

Commissioners accepted bids to sell equipment from Precinct 4. A Lubbock bidder, Gerhard and Lowen, bought a lathe for $1,601.79, and Jimmy D. Walker bought a band saw for $768. They were the only bidders for the items they bought.

A contract was approved for First Texas Telephone, Inc., to continue operation of pay phones installed in the Deaf Smith County jail. Only collect calls may be made from the equipment.

No action was taken on a request from New Mexico Natural Gas to lay a pipeline on county road right-of-way.

County Clerk David Ruland was authorized to employ a deputy to fill a vacancy in his office.

Commissioner Tony Castillo of Precinct 1 asked about the county acquiring a caliche pit. Consensus of the commission was that operating a caliche pit would be too expensive.

An elevator operator in north Deaf Smith County, Bob Veigel, talked to the commission about improvements on County Road FF, north of FM 1062.

The commission agreed to obtain information on cost of the project, noting that if property owners on the road want to pay for caliche for the improvement, the county would do the work on the road.

Local Roundup

Rain possible on Wednesday

Hereford recorded a high temperature on Monday of 86 degrees, with an overnight low Tuesday of 62 degrees. For Tuesday night, expect partly cloudy skies and a low in the lower 60s with south winds at 10-20 mph. For Wednesday, look for partly sunny skies and breezy, with a 20 percent chance of afternoon thunderstorms. High will be in the mid- to upper 80s, with southwest winds at 15-25 mph and gusty. Caution is advised on area lakes.

News Digest

FORT WORTH - A researcher at Texas Christian University is getting rave reviews for a system he designed to clear up polluted waters - particularly in ponds near small towns or chemical plants.

CORPUS CHRISTI - The accomplice whose testimony helped convict Kenneth McDuff on capital murder charges earlier this year has admitted his part in the 1991 abduction, rape and murder of Austin accountant Colleen Reed.

HOUSTON - Nine cities targeted to use reformulated gas beginning next year might face periodic shortages of the cleaner fuel at up to 12 cents more a gallon, some refining analysts say.

BASTROP - Tucked away in an antiseptic county prison facility in Bastrop are 18 Cubans, housed as criminals. They have served their time in American jails for the chance at freedom, but they have found few inalienable rights. While it is difficult to call them victims - they all were originally imprisoned for crimes ranging from drug possession to attempted murder - they exist in a bureaucratic limbo with few supporters and an unresponsive federal government. So they wait to be released.

Discovery given okay for 10th day in space

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - NASA today added a 10th day to Discovery's flight so the crew can perform more experiments to learn about the damaging effects of space shuttle exhaust.

The six astronauts had been dimming the lights and even using flashlights whenever possible to conserve enough power for the extra day. Their efforts paid off.

"Good job," Mission Control told the crew in a written message.

The flight will now end next Monday.

Today's other highlight for the crew was the planned late-afternoon release of a $14 million sun-gazing satellite named Spartan.

Spartan has two telescopes that will focus on the sun's corona, or outer atmosphere. The astronauts will retrieve the satellite Thursday for the trip home.

In the experiment on the effects of exhaust, the crew spent parts of the last three days firing steering jets toward monitors on the end of a boom extending from the cargo bay. With the extension of the mission, they will now have more time to do more tests Saturday.

NASA wants to determine whether jet plumes could damage a space station as a shuttle approaches for docking, because shuttle Atlantis is to dock with Russia's Mir space station next May. The experiment also could help NASA design a planned international space station.

Discovery's jet-exhaust plumes were strong enough to shake the shuttle's 50-foot robot arm and a 32-foot extension carrying the monitors. And the jet firings themselves shook the shuttle.

Researchers on the ground said the plumes' effects didn't appear to be worse than expected, but they seemed dramatic enough to the crew.

"It's a pretty good force," astronaut Mark Lee said Monday.

"It's kind of scary to see those jets fire and see them hit the arm and make it move. We're definitely worried about the forces that it could input to a structure up in space."

was a member of San Jose Catholic Church and served as an usher. He had worked for Gary McQuigg and had been employed by Gearn Industries for 20 years.

Survivors are his wife; three sons, Ruben Romo and Johnny Joe Romo of Amarillo and Francisco Romo III of San Antonio; three daughters, Grace Marie Molina of Altus, Okla., Diana Marie Martinez and Lorie Lee Romo of Hereford; a sister, Maria Zuniga of Charlotte; six brothers, Alfonso Romo, Delfino Romo, Leonardo Romo, Emetario Romo and Gil Romo, all of Charlotte, and Raymond Romo of Hereford, and 11 grandchildren.

LERAH OLIVE ROGERS

Sept. 11, 1994

Lerah Olive Rogers, 76, of Canadian, mother of Sandra Blevins of Hereford, died Sunday in Canadian.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday in the First Baptist Church of Canadian with the pastor, the Rev. Jack Lee, officiating. Burial will be in Lipscomb Cemetery, by Stickley-Hill Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Rogers was born in Lipscomb County and lived there for a number of years. She married Russell Minton in 1942 in Liberal, Kan. He died in 1973. She married Robert Rogers in 1977 in Hereford. She had served as a clerk and, later, as postmistress for the U.S. Postal Service for a number of years before retiring in 1977. She was a member of First Baptist Church of Canadian.

Survivors are her husband; another daughter, Lana Graham of Pearsall; two sons, Ray Minton of Moore, Okla., and R.H. Minton of Grand Prairie; 13 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

TEXAS LOTTERY

By The Associated Press

No ticket correctly matched all six numbers drawn Saturday night for the twice-weekly Lotto Texas game, state lottery officials said.

The numbers drawn Saturday night from a field of 50 were: 9, 15, 17, 28, 32 and 39.

There were 238 tickets sold with five of the six numbers, with each ticket worth $1,071. There were 11,089 tickets with four of six numbers, with each winning $83. And there were 183,390 tickets sold with three of six numbers, with each worth an automatic $3.

Lottery officials estimate the jackpot for Wednesday night's game will be $20 million.

Invasion of Haiti could be imminent

By GEORGE GEDDA

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - As the Pentagon readies two aircraft carriers for duty off Haiti, the White House said today military action could come "very soon." Republican indignation over the invasion preparations is escalating, with one senator demanding an end to "gunboat liberalism."

The strident GOP attacks were voiced despite warnings by Secretary of State Warren Christopher that domestic divisions will only encourage Army chief Lt. Gen. Raoul Cedras and his allies to hang on to power.

And White House Chief of Staff Leon Panetta predicted today that despite widespread opposition to a U.S. invasion, "ultimately, the American people... will always rally to their president."

Panetta, interviewed on ABC, said the time for Haiti's military leaders to leave "is now. And if they don't, then action is going to be taken against them very soon."

Panetta said if the United States does invade, "the American people will unify behind the president... and that certainly happened in Panama, it happened in Grenada, it happened with regards to the Persian Gulf...."

In hopes of avoiding mixed signals, administration officials persuaded Rep. Bill Richardson, D-N.M., not to proceed with an effort launched earlier this summer to try to negotiate Cedras' departure, congressional sources said.

Richardson was invited by Cedras to make a return trip to Port-au-Prince but bowed to administration wishes that he drop the initiative, the sources said, speaking Monday on condition of anonymity.

The administration is adamantly opposed to giving Cedras any hint that he has room to maneuver but is worried that he may draw that conclusion based on Republican criticism of the invasion plans.

Pentagon officials ordered that two aircraft carriers be ready to join the more than 15 ships already in the Caribbean. The carriers would be assigned to haul troops and special forces into Haiti, should an invasion be ordered. The USS America, currently in Norfolk, Va., will join the USS Eisenhower in the effort.

Special operations forces, which usually enter a hostile zone to capture vital targets in advance of the main invasion force, will be on the America, the officials said.

Pentagon officials have said some reservists could be called up for action in Haiti, because the action would depend to a great extent on military police units to help keep the peace after an initial invasion, but the reservists would not necessarily be part of the initial invasion force.

Officials have said in Pentagon briefings over the past several weeks that they might rely on volunteers from the reserves rather than activating reservists.

The Washington Post reported in today's editions that President Clinton may call several hundred reservists to active duty for Haiti.

USDT bars trucking firm in interstate

The U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Highway Administration, Office of Motor Carriers in Fort Worth, announced Tuesday that Adon Burns Trucking of Hereford has been ordered to cease its interstate operations.

The out-of-service order declares the trucking company "unsafe in its compliance with the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations and must cease interstate operations immediately."

The DOT announcement said the shutdown order of the for-hire carrier was based on investigations conducted by the Texas Division of the Office of Motor Carriers.

Del Toro recognized at Toastmasters Club

Margaret Del Toro was recognized as the best speaker for her speech "Why Toastmasters" when members of the Hereford Toastmasters Club met for their evening meeting Thursday at Siroloin Stockade.

Joe Weaver was given top honors as the best evaluator and was also recognized as best topic speaker. Nancy Griego led the pledge and Dianna Kimmel gave the invocation.

During the business meeting presided over by Joe Don Cummings, Albert Cervantez was introduced as a new member to the evening Toastmasters. He is the director of the Deaf Smith County Youth Home. A new member is installed into Toastmasters after giving their first speech, "The Ice Breaker." Rick Jackson served as Toastmaster; Dave Kimmel, timer; Dan Hall, "ah" counter; Joe Don Cummings, grammarian; Pat Varner, wordmaster, and "volition" was the chosen word.

Topicmaster was Wayne Winget and topic speakers included Pat Varner, Dennis Detten, Ed Gilbert and Joe Weaver.

Sharon Cramer gave the reading and Gayla Sanders told the joke. Jigger Rowland served as general evaluator.

Guests attending included L.V. Watts, Tina Cervantez, Adolfo Del Toro, Delores Rowland, Jeannin Zimmerman, Teresa Zimmerman, Irene Zuniga, Shiela Constancio and Janice Gilbert.

Club welcomes new member, seeks recipes

Merlyn Smith was welcomed as a new member by the Cultural Family Community Education Club during a meeting Friday at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

President Nell Pope presided over the meeting and Wilma Goetsch gave the opening prayer. Pope presented the opening exercise entitled "I Am A Little Old Lady."

Roll call was answered by "what is a blue thumb?"

During the business meeting, Perry Keyes gave the council report and members were urged to turn in recipes for the cookbook—meat and casseroles.

Nell Pope urged all members to keep track of volunteers hours for assisting in the community.

Perry Keyes gave the program, "Blue Thumb or Natural Resources," concerning long term protection of the water supply.

Members attending were Byrdie Fellers, Naomi Hare, Jewell Rogers, Edna Marnell, Vernis Parsons, Virginia Sumner, Fannie Townsend, Sarah Walden, Merlyn Smith, Goetsch, Keyes and Pope.

Calliopian Club starts new season

Calliopian Club had the first meeting of the 1994-95 season at the home of Jan Furr Thursday evening, Sept. 8. Doris Cagle and Carlynn Delozier were guests.

Guests and members were served a special meal from tables decorated with fall colors which were used in table appointments and the floral centerpieces. Hostesses were Jan Furr, Dorothy Ott, Cynthia Streun, Louise Leasure and Kathryn Ruga.

Following the meal, Doris Cagle and Carlynn Delozier presented an interesting and informative program on the HOSTS program at Northwest and West Central Schools. They stressed how helpful the program was to individual students and also noted how beneficial it was to the entire community as the citizens of Hereford became involved with the schools and their students by serving as mentors in the program. There was a question and answer session afterward.

Members of the club brought one of their favorite baked goods for a silent auction which was conducted by Jan Furr and Dorothy Ott.

Cynthia Streun, president, presided over a brief business meeting.

Guests were welcomed by members present: Louise Leasure, Linda Gilbert, Wilma Nobles, Claudia McBrayer, Mary Frasier, Kay McWhorter, Irene Coneway, Jan Furr, Cynthia Streun, Audine Dettman, Mary Sue Hull, Kathlee Palmer, Dorothy Ott and Kathryn Ruga.

Potatoes fit into almost any menu

By NANCY BYAL

For AP Special Features
Piled high with toppings or fried to golden perfection, potatoes fit into almost any menu. When paired with vegetables and cheese, they turn into a meal in their own right. No wonder they're one of America's favorite foods.

This truly tremendous tuber has a relatively smooth skin with a few buds or eyes that may need to be removed. The skin can be brown, yellow, red or purple.

Tuber Types

Fall is the peak season for fresh potatoes. Depending on the time of year, you may see these potato varieties in your store:

Long white: A thin-skinned, all-purpose potato with a firm and waxy texture.

Round white: A thin-skinned potato with a firm and waxy texture that is best for boiling and frying.

Round red: A thin-skinned potato with a firm and waxy texture that works well for boiling.

Russet: A thick-skinned potato with a dry, mealy texture that works best when baked or fried.

Purple: A violet-purple potato with purple meat. It has a dry, mealy texture and retains its color when cooked. Purple potatoes are good for baking and frying.

Yellow: Any of several varieties of golden, thin-skinned potatoes. In general, these potatoes have creamy yellow meat, a smooth texture and a buttery flavor. Most work well for boiling and frying; some may be good for baking. You'll find these spuds labeled as Finnish Yellow, Yellow-Rose and Yukon Gold.

New potatoes: Traditionally harvested in the spring, these young potatoes are small and haven't been stored long. Because of their delicate flavor and texture, they are best boiled and served with simple seasonings.

Best Bets for Fresh

Choose fresh potatoes that have clean, smooth skins, a firm texture and good shape for the variety. Avoid potatoes with green spots, soft or moldy areas, or wilted skins.

In 1606, England adopted as its flag the original version of the Union Jack.

The surface pressure on Mars, equivalent to Earth's atmosphere at an altitude of 100,000 feet, is so low that human blood would boil there.

As late as the 1700s, some people in Europe and America believed that lightning could be kept away by ringing church bells.

The optimum storage location for potatoes is a well-ventilated, dark place that's cool and humid, but not wet. Potatoes should keep for several weeks. Lengthy exposure to light will cause greening of the skin, resulting in a bitter flavor. Avoid refrigerating potatoes because they become overly sweet and may darken when cooked. Home freezing of raw potatoes is not recommended because it causes the texture to change. Beyond Fresh—

The ever-growing variety of convenience products makes including potatoes in everyday meals more fun and easier than ever.

Canned: Whole and sliced canned potatoes need no cooking before adding to salads, casseroles and skillet dishes. Fried shoestring potatoes make a crunchy casserole topper. Mayonnaise-style or German-style potato salads are ready for the picnic table.

Frozen: From loose hash browns and hash-brown patties, to cottage-fried and french-fried potatoes, to potato nuggets, there's a frozen potato ready to meet any need or taste.

Refrigerated: In some supermarkets, you can find shredded and mashed potatoes in the refrigerator case. Use them in recipes or follow the package cooking directions.

Dried: Boxed products store well, making them great to keep on hand for last-minute meals. Use instant mashed potatoes in recipes or on their own. Customize convenient boxed potato mixes with a little fresh parsley or other favorite herb.

Holmes hits

Hereford's Tarabeth Holmes collects a kill during the Lady Whitefaces' 15-4, 15-0 whipping of Lubbock High Saturday in Whiteface Gym.

Herd volleyball team routs Lubbock High

In only a half an hour's work, the Lady Whitefaces volleyball team closed pre-district play with a 15-4, 15-0 rout of Lubbock High Saturday in Whiteface Gym.

The Lady Whitefaces, now 14-4, start district play today at Randall. The junior varsity teams will play at 6 p.m., with the varsity teams starting 20 minutes after the end of the JV match.

Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said her team has been playing well defensively and has been working hard on blocking. The key to district, she said, is playing aggressively.

"Randall, Pampa, Dumas--those are three teams that are capable of winning," she said. "They're much improved over last season. We'll

Cross country runners compete in Plainview

The Hereford cross country team participated in the Plainview Cross Country Meet Saturday. The girls team finished sixth, and the boys finished seventh.

Coach Martha Emerson said she was pleased that her runners showed a tendency to run in a pack, which is good strategy in cross country, but that their pack is still to close to the back.

"The top five boys on the varsity team ran together and we showed improvement over last week," she

Freshman football team hands defeat to Borger

Hereford's ninth grade A football team took a 14-6 win over Borger Saturday in Whiteface Stadium. It was the first time that group of Borger players had lost a game in just more than two years of playing together, Hereford coach James Salinas said.

The teams were scoreless at halftime, but Jacob Gonzales scored on a 23-yard run in the third quarter to give the Herd a 6-0 lead. In the fourth quarter, Gonzales added a 13-yard TD run, and Hereford made the two-point conversion on a pass from Jeremy Urbanczyk to Rodney Gomez. Borger did not score until the final two minutes of the game.

Salinas emphasized that the win came against an exceptional Borger team, and many of the Whitefaces contributed to the team effort.

Hereford's B team lost to Borger, 14-0, Saturday in Hereford.

Both freshman teams had identical results and scores in their first games at Randall on Sept. 2.

Also Saturday, the Herd sophomore team went to Lubbock and fell to Lubbock High junior varsity 40-0.

Herd tennis team ready for district

The Hereford tennis team warmed up for District 1-4A play by taking sixth place in the Amarillo Open tennis tournament, held Friday and Saturday.

The tournament has the Herd ready for the district, coach Ed Coplen said. Randall's team will come to Whiteface Courts today to start district play. The team match will start at about 4:15 p.m.

"It was a real good tournament to (go into) district play with," coach Ed Coplen said. "It was a good warm-up because we got some real good competition."

"I feel good about our chances (in district) now. I saw a lot of bright spots this weekend," Coplen said. "Last week was our best week by far. I think we're ready for district."

Hereford breezed to wins against two Class 5A teams, but fell badly to another 5A team and a team in its own district. The Herd beat El Paso Irvin 16-2 in the first round and dispatched Plainview 10-5 (10 wins clinches the match) in the third round.

Amarillo High knocked Hereford out of the winners' bracket with a 17-1 beating. In the fifth-place match, district rival Borger defeated the Herd 14-4, entrenching the Bulldogs as the favorite in 1-4A.

Wichita Falls Rider won the tournament, beating Lubbock Coronado in the finals. Coronado beat Amarillo High in the semifinals. Following are the results of all four team matches the Herd played.

Eagles fend off last-minute challenge by Bears

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The finish line seemed to be moving further away from the Philadelphia Eagles as the Chicago Bears got closer and closer to them.

The Eagles were sensational for three quarters Monday night, then held on for a 30-22 victory that never should have been so close. Without the superb work of Randall Cunningham in the first half, they might not have broken a seven-game losing string against Chicago.

Cunningham threw for three first-half touchdowns and had his second successive 300-yard passing performance. Instead of getting a well-earned rest in the fourth quarter, though, he had to come back with two key completions on Philadelphia's final series to clinch it.

"I wasn't worried," said Cunningham, who was 24-for-36 for 311 yards, including 250 yards in the opening half. "You've got to have faith."

The Eagles had faith and everything else going for them for 45 minutes. Cunningham hit Calvin Williams for touchdowns of nine and 14 yards and Maurice Johnson for a 7-yard score and Eddie Murray kicked the first of his three field goals for a 24-0 halftime edge. Murray added two field goals in the third period.

"It was pretty obvious in all areas, Philadelphia made the plays and we didn't," said Bears coach Dave Wannstedt, whose defense gave up more than two touchdowns for the first time in his 18-game regime. "We felt we were ready to play, but we didn't do it. We had plenty of opportunities, but we just were out of synch."

Philadelphia kept the Bears punchless until the fourth quarter, with newcomers William Fuller (two sacks), Burt Grossman (one) and Greg Jackson (an interception and 31-yard return) making the big plays. Then, suddenly, second-year receiver Curtis Conway went wild.

Conway, who finished with seven catches for 148 yards, had a 22-yard TD catch and a 75-yard bomb, plus a two-point conversion reception. When Marv Cook scored on a 16-yarder with 3:35 remaining, the Bears stunningly were within eight points.

Cunningham completed two more passes on the Eagles' final series, enabling Philadelphia to run out the clock.

"We were able to play smart, and if we would have played smart last week, we wouldn't have been in the situation that we were in," Cunningham said of an opening loss to the New York Giants. "It's a tough league, and a lot of teams are going to be 8-8 this year. Hopefully, we can be one of the teams that has a better record than that."

If they repeat their performance early in Monday night's game, the Eagles can think about a lot more than 8-8, which was how they finished last year despite having Cunningham for only the first four games, all victories.

Williams made a reaching catch of a 9-yard pass on a fade pattern for Philadelphia's first score, concluding an 83-yard drive on which Cunningham was 6-for-8. Williams then beat Mark Carrier to the back left corner of the end zone for a 14-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter.

The Eagles' third touchdown was set up by Jeff Sydnor's 47-yard gallop on a punt return.

have to play aggressively to beat them."

Hereford showed aggressiveness Saturday against Lubbock High, and Lubbock High showed a lot of mistakes. Heather Hodges led the attack in the first game, as her kills started runs of five points and eight points for the Herd. After LHS scored to make it 13-4, Hodges had a kill for a side out, then she served up two aces to end the game.

Hereford took a quick 9-0 lead in the second game before the teams traded sideouts for eight rotations. Hereford scored the final six points quickly, as Tarabeth Holmes, Crystal Kelley and Cassie Abney took turns getting easy kills on bad Lubbock High passes. A Hodges ace also ended the second game.

In the second match Saturday in Whiteface Gym, Hereford's ninth grade team duplicated the varsity's performance with a 15-4, 15-0 win over the Borger freshmen.

Nichole Albracht served for 10 points in the match, and Jamie Marquez served for eight. Each accounted for six points in the first game.

The freshmen improved to 5-2. They were to play at Randall Monday, but no results were reported.

Hereford's junior varsity took second in a tournament held Friday and Saturday in Amarillo.

The Herd fell to Amarillo High, 12-15, 15-1, 18-16 in the finals. Amarillo High led 8-3 in the third game, but Katie Betzen served for six points, including three aces, as Hereford made the Lady Sandies work for the trophy.

Hereford beat Palo Duro 15-13, 15-4 in the first round, as Julie Rampley served for 10 points. In the second round, Hereford defeated Tascosa 12-15, 15-11, 15-13.

teams were swept by Dumas Monday at HJH.

The eighth grade A team fell 15-8, 15-9, with Angie Pena serving for 10 points in the losing effort. The eighth B team lost 15-6, 15-9, though Kasey Curtis served for five points. The seventh grade A team lost 15-9, 15-8, and Nicole Bailey led Hereford with four points. The seventh B team fell 15-6, 15-12, but Jennie Rankin and Janet Blakely each served for four points.

The HJH teams were more successful on Thursday, winning three-of-four matches in Borger. The seventh A team won 15-12, 3-15, 15-4; the seventh B team won 15-11, 7-15, 15-13; and the eighth B won 9-15, 15-10, 15-17. The eighth grade A team had the only loss, falling 15-13, 14-16, 15-7.

CROSS COUNTRY

said. "We still need to work to get ahead of Borger and Randall."

Canyon won both the boys' and girls' races. In the girls' race Canyon got 30 points, followed by Randall with 44; Amarillo High, 79; Borger, 88; Tascosa, 140; Hereford, 172; and Plainview, 178.

In the boys' competition, Canyon had 39 points followed by Clovis, N.M., with 62; Plainview, 91; Borger, 116; Randall, 116; Amarillo High, 117; Hereford, 144; and Tascosa, 207.

Individually, Pedro Del Hoya had the Herd's highest finish, completing the three-mile course in 18 minutes flat and finishing 26th. Hereford's other boys were: Lee Mungia, 27th in 18:05; Inez Lopez, 28th in 18:09; Tommy Mather, 33rd in 18:16; Miguel Carrillo, 35th in 18:44; and Sammy Ruiz, 47th in 20:45.

Hereford girls were led by Nora Herrera, who was 30th in 14:01 over two miles. The other girls were: Marie Crox, 34th in 14:20; Teresa Lopez, 37th in 14:30; Jamie Harrison, 38th in 14:32; and Karon Harder, 53rd in 16:06.

The junior varsity girls were: Beverly Celaya, 68th in 15:50; Michelle Ochoa, 69th in 15:50; and Anna Witkowski, 71st in 15:53.

The JV boys, who finished sixth, were: Miguel Huerta, 15th in 19:21; Brandon Coleman, 25th in 19:57; Rafael Del Hoya, 26th in 20:03; Justin McDowell, 28th in 20:07; Flavio Cardenas, 29th in 20:09; Justin Criner, 35th in 20:38; Ignacio Garcia, 52nd in 22:02; and Edgar Herrera, 58th in 23:01.

Mohair in fashion spotlight for winter

By FRANCINE PARNES
For AP Special Features
Mohair is winter's new wool, and it's appearing in shapes that are anything but the same old yarn.

Awaiting the terribly trendy is Jill Stuart's pink mohair backpack. So are Vivienne Tam's lipstick-red mohair boa and Anna Sui's feathery, plaid mohair miniskirts that bear an uncanny resemblance to shag rugs.

"The fabrics in fashion today are ticklish, and there's a current emphasis on all things furry," says Hope Brick, fashion director for Foley's in Houston. "We're seeing a lot of textural interest, and mohair is probably the sublime texture."

On the downside, mohair may cling to your mascara and float up your nostrils. It may also shed all over your clothes - and those of others. So if you're bent on looking au courant, buy a lint brush and chalk it up to the price of style.

"Because mohair is such a new fashion story, we can tolerate some of the itchiness," Brick says. "Whenever fur blends are in style, that can be a challenge, but it's never been a deterrent."

Indeed, fashion promoters say mohair's soft personality makes up for the itchiness.

"With its surface interest, mohair adds another dimension," says Lynn Tesoro, vice president of public relations at Calvin Klein. "You put a mohair baby-blue vest under a charcoal wool pants suit, and it offers a completely different aspect to the look. Mohair takes it out of the realm of serious dressing and softens it up."

Calvin Klein's CK collection includes mohair in sherbet shades of pink, lemon and sky blue. Sweater vests, cardigans and V-neck minidresses run about $120 to $220 at Bloomingdale's, Saks Fifth Avenue, I. Magnin and Macy's.

"Pastels and softness really lend themselves to the fluffiness of mohair," says New York designer Cynthia Rowley. "I love mohair because it's so traditionally feminine and goes back to those really fluffy, cozy sweaters of the '50s. This is a season of glamour, and it's everything about being a girl."

Rowley's group of mohair pastels includes waist-cropped pullovers, A-line jumpers, and T-shirt dresses. They cost about $140 to $240 at Macy's East, Henri Bendel, and Barney's.

But there's more to the color story. On the racks, you'll find these fashions in every hue from snow white to plaids, even neons from Anna Sui.

Since it's lighter than wool, mohair absorbs dye better and can take the brightest or softest of shades.

"This fall, color is upon us, and mohair colors very well," Brick says. "The yarn looks so vibrant when dyed."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was upset when you gave the impression in a recent column that palm reading was not a science but a business. Under discussion was the length of the lifeline in the palm. I hope you will be fair-minded enough to print my letter.

I used to do some palm reading as a hobby, and I believe the palm does contain many secrets that can be revealed by a talented palmist.

I never read a palm unless the person asked me to. My boyfriend used to kid me a lot about my "hobby," and then one day, he said, "OK, read my palm, and let's see how accurate your reading is." I agreed.

When I looked at his palm, I was visibly upset. It had one of the shortest lifelines I had ever seen. He could tell by my face that I had seen something disturbing and insisted on knowing what it was.

I told him he had a very short lifeline and it bothered me. "Well," he joked, "maybe I should get a knife and make it longer." We both laughed, but I didn't enjoy the joke.

Ann, the next day, he fell off a roof and was killed. That dear young fellow, so full of life and joy, was only 20 years old.

Since that day years ago, I have stopped looking at palms. My young children keep begging me to read their hands, but I refuse to do it--and who can blame me? I'm signing my name, but please don't print it.--Still Grieving in Hartford

DEAR HARTFORD: Do you

believe in coincidence? Well, I certainly do, and I am convinced that you "reading" had nothing whatsoever to do with your boyfriend's death. Read on for another letter on the same subject:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I make a few comments about the lady who believed so strongly in palmistry?

I was 17 and lived in Virginia Beach, Va. My sister was one of those who believe your future is preordained and the palms tell the story. She kept nagging me to go with her and have my palm read. I tried to get out of it by saying, "I haven't got the money." When she offered to treat me, I knew I was stuck.

This is what the palmist said: "You are going to marry twice." I am now 76 years old and have never married, so I had better hurry up. She then told me I had a brilliant mind and should go into either law or medicine. I had just flunked 10th grade and quit school. My parents agreed that I was not cut out to be a student and I should go to work.

I took typing in night school, and although it was hard, I passed the course. I could not get a job as a secretary because I couldn't spell and was unable to learn shorthand.

I hope I am not boring you to death, Ann, but the end of my story is that I got a job in a printing company and spent my entire adult life working there.--No Name, Just Baltimore

DEAR BALT: Boring me? No way. I loved your letter and thank you for writing.

Gem of the Day: Remember that everyone who makes it big in this world started from another place.

What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' booklet, "Gems" is ideal for a nightstand or coffee table. "Gems" is a collection of Ann Landers' most requested poems and essays. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Tips on care of cut flowers

Vase of yellow daisies like beam of sunlight on table

By LEE REICH
For AP Special Features
A vase of yellow daisies is like a beam of sunlight on a table. Now that marigolds, dahlias, and daisies are spilling out of the flower beds, you have plenty of extra flowers to cut and bring indoors.

With a little care, cut flowers will retain their freshness indoors for days, in some cases even weeks.

The secret to long-lasting and beautiful cut flowers can be summed up in one word - water.

Needless to say, make sure to put cut stems in water quickly. Once in water, flowers need special care to get that water up into their stems.

Snip most flowers before breakfast, while plants are swollen with water. Make exception to this rule with plants such as zinnias and gladioluses, which have hollow stems. Early in the morning these hollow stems are filled with water that might cause the cut flowers to rot. Such plants are best cut before supper, in late afternoon.

Cut stems cleanly with a sharp knife or scissors. Sawing the stems with a dull knife plugs the cut cells with debris.

Rather than cutting squarely across the base of the stem, make a slanting cut to provide more avenues for water uptake.

Sometimes water uptake is prevented by little air bubbles that collect at the bases of flower stems as they are plunged in water. Simply recut the stems while they are under water or put the stems in warm water for a few minutes. Recutting the stems every few days renews the freshness of most cut flowers.

Not all flowers need that careful cutting with a sharp knife. Chrysanthemums and stocks keep best if the bases of their stems are lightly bashed with a rock or a hammer before they are put into water.

Severe treatment is also prescribed for plants that, when cut, bleed a milky sap which clogs the stems. For these, which include poppy, butterfly weed, and heliotrope, pass the cut ends quickly through a flame or briefly immerse them in boiling water to stop the flow of sap before you arrange the flowers in a vase.

Once stems have been cut and are in water, bacteria are liable to plug up stems. Ward off the bacteria with starvation. Start with a clean vase and give your cut flowers an occasional fresh change of water. Never put sugar, as is sometimes suggested, into the water for cut flowers or you will be catering a bacterial banquet.

The bottom of the cut flower now has been taken care of so that water can enter the stems; next, reduce water loss from the tops of the plants. Cut off any leaves. Leaves transpire great amounts of water, and bacteria will gobble up and multiply on any leaves that flop into the water. The tiny pores through which plants lose water open in response to light, so keep vases of flowers out of direct sunlight.

Warmth and wind also speed water loss, so keep vases of flowers away from open, sunny windows.

Which flowers are best for cutting? The list is long: flat-topped umbels of yellow and pink yarrow; spikes of delphinium, larkspur, snapdragon, and foxglove; round heads of marigold, zinnia, and calendula; and delicate, crepe-petaled poppies. Daisies keep for two weeks or more.

Do not overlook wildflowers. Fragrant, white Queen Anne's lace, blue chicory, orange butterfly weed, wild daisies and black-eyed Susans are blooming along roadsides and in fields. Sprays of yellow goldenrod, wrongly blamed for allergies, are also blooming.

Cutting flowers from your garden is like having your cake and eating it. When its flowers are removed, a plant no longer has to devote energy to making seeds. So the more you cut its flowers, the more a plant will continue its colorful show of blossoms.

YMCA

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Genevieve Bujold, who was supposed to be the newest "Star Trek" captain, has jumped ship.

Bujold resigned from "Star Trek: Voyager," scheduled to debut next year on the new United-Paramount network.

"After several days of production, she realized that the rigors of episodic television were too demanding," said a statement released Friday by the show's executive producers.

The producers said they still expected to meet their January 1995 launch date, and would continue production while looking for a replacement.

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) - Grace Slick is suing Marin County, claiming that employees working on a fire gate sparked the blaze that burned her home.

Her lawsuit claims workers started a 12-acre fire while welding the gate downhill from her house in September 1993.

In the suit filed last month, Slick, the former singer for Jefferson Airplane and Starship, also accused the town of Corte Madera of allowing firefighters to steal a shotgun and backstage passes from her home.

Neither town nor county officials would comment on the lawsuit.

Prayer To The Holy Spirit
Oh Holy Spirit! Thou Who art all knowing who brightens every path that I may reach my ideal. Thou who giveth me the divine gift of forgetting and forgiving wrongs done unto me and who in every instant of my life art with me. I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all my blessings and reaffirm once again that I never want to part again from Thee. Though the illusion of material things abound--my desire is to be with Thee and all my loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank You for Your mercy on me and my loved ones. Persons should pray three consecutive days without revealing petition. Within three days grace will be attained regardless of how difficult the petition may be. Publish this prayer once grace has been attained.
Grateful For Grace attained.

Clinton signs crime bill; Dole among the uninvited

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton invited politicians of both parties today to the signing of an election-year crime bill he muscled through Congress. Pointedly uninvited, however, were those who opposed it, including Senate Republican leader Bob Dole, a potential presidential candidate. The Democrats could not have passed the $30.2 billion measure without some Republicans who helped the majority party overcome GOP hurdles. Those obstacles were erected partly to wipe out some of the bill's $6.9 billion for crime-prevention programs and partly to deny Democrats a victory on the issue Republicans considered their own.

But when Congress finally passed it last month, Clinton praised what he called a bipartisan spirit that "overcame the... divisions and false choices" that had blocked major anti-crime bills for the past six years.

"And because they did, children will be safer and parents will breathe a little easier," Clinton said. "Police officers will no longer be threatened by gangs and thugs with easy access to deadly assault weapons designed only for war."

However, Dole vowed to take revenge at the ballot box in November, saying the GOP would call attention to "all the ludicrous, ridiculous items in this bill."

One candidate taking that tack was Michigan GOP Senate nominee Spencer Abraham, who called it "just another one of the big-spending liberal programs that looks good on paper, but doesn't do anything." His opponent, Democratic Rep. Bob Carr, voted for it.

Nevertheless, the White House acknowledged the support of Republican and Democratic mayors and members of Congress by inviting a bipartisan gathering of 2,000 to the signing ceremony today on the White House South Lawn, where a lone pilot crashed a plane and died early Monday. Also invited were representatives of the major law enforcement groups that lobbied hard for the bill.

The legislation fulfills a 1992 Clinton campaign pledge to help put 100,000 more police on the street. It also authorizes thousands of new state and local prison cells, life sentences for some three-time felons and a ban on assault-style firearms.

Attorney General Janet Reno has said 20,000 of the 100,000 new police officers should be on the streets in the next 16 months. By October 1996, she said last week, she expected 40,000 new officers to be on the job and 300,000 young people to be involved in crime-prevention programs.

The billions of dollars in the bill is to be appropriated over six years. Some already has been appropriated.

An immediate impact of the legislation will be the ban on the manufacture of new assault-style firearms and ammunition magazines that carry more than 10 rounds.

ask IRS

Caring for Elderly Relatives

Following are examples of common questions people ask the Internal Revenue Service. They are presented as a public service of this publication and the IRS.

Q. My husband's 86-year-old mother is widowed and lives with us because she is unable to take care of herself. The only money she receives is a small amount of social security, but it's not enough to pay for all her expenses. Can we claim her as a dependent on our 1993 tax return?

A. Maybe. There are several "tests" that you must pass to determine if you can claim a dependent. Generally, the person must be a member of your household or a relative, must be a U.S. citizen or resident, or a resident of Canada or Mexico, and must not file a joint return.

In addition, the person cannot have had $2,350 or more in gross income, and you must provide more than half of his or her support.

If the only income your mother-in-law received was social security, the benefits are generally not taxable and are not counted as gross income. However, they may be counted when figuring support.

Q. My husband and I both work and we hired a woman to come into our home during the day to care for my grandmother. Can we deduct the money we pay her?

A. You may be able to claim a credit on Form 2441, "Child and Dependent Care Expenses," if you file Form 1040 or 1040A and meet all the tests.

Some of the requirements are:
1) You must keep up a home that you live in with a qualifying person;
2) Generally, you must pay for the care so you and your spouse can work or look for work, and;

3) The person you pay cannot be claimed as a dependent on your return.

The other tests you must pass are found in Publication 503, Child and Dependent Care Expenses.

Remember, if you pay a caregiver to come into your home, you may have to pay employment taxes. More information about your responsibilities can be found in Publication 926, Employment Taxes for Household Employers.

Q. Where can I get more information?

A. To order any of the free publications and forms mentioned, you can call 1-800-829-3676. Publication 17, Your Federal Income Tax, is also a helpful guide for basic tax information.

'Frasier,' 'Picket Fences' nab top Emmy awards

By LYNN ELBER
AP Television Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — "Frasier" faces No. 1-rated "Home Improvement" this fall with power to match Tim Allen's tool box: the freshman sitcom captured five Emmys, including best comedy series.

"NYPD Blue," the expected big winner at Sunday's 46th Annual Primetime Emmy Awards, managed only six awards after a record 26 nominations, and only one was major: Dennis Franz won for best dramatic actor.

"Picket Fences," the CBS drama that explores ethical and moral issues in a small Midwestern town, captured the best drama award for a second consecutive year.

Besides stealing the drama trophy many expected ABC's "NYPD Blue" to win, "Picket Fences" also had a much better batting average: it won a total five awards with just 10 nominations.

Kelsey Grammer, who plays neurotic psychiatrist Frasier Crane in NBC's "Cheers" spinoff "Frasier," was named best actor in a comedy.

Grammer, who nearly hit bottom several years ago fighting a cocaine dependency, extended thanks Sunday to all who have been part of his life.

"I want to say how much I love you all, the good ones and the bad ones. You are all part of the deal," he said.

"Most important, Moose, this is for you," Grammer added jokingly, a reference to his canine "Frasier" costar who plays Eddie the dog.

"Home Improvement" got just one Emmy, a technical award given Saturday. Allen's name wasn't submitted in time for the nominations.

"I almost didn't make it," Allen joked after bounding, breathless onto the stage as a presenter. "My staff forgot to tell me what night it was."

Allen and Grammer will face off at 9 p.m. EDT Tuesdays this fall. NBC had boldly moved "Frasier" into the time slot opposite ABC's "Roseanne," but ABC countered by swapping top-rated "Home Improvement" with "Roseanne."

CBS won the network race with a total of 26 Emmys, including Saturday's non-televised awards. NBC was second with 14 and ABC had 13.

The best dramatic actress award went to Sela Ward of NBC's "Sisters" for her role as free-spirited artist Teddy Reed. The big loser in the category was Angela Lansbury of "Murder, She Wrote," whose 14 nominations have yet to yield a win.

Her shutout ties the record held by Susan Lucci, who has played Erica Kane on "All My Children" for 23 years with nary an Emmy. Co-host Ellen DeGeneres suggested Lansbury and Lucci were going to "steal a convertible and do some kind of 'Thelma & Louise' thing. I don't blame them."

Candice Bergen, the feisty TV reporter on CBS' "Murphy Brown," won for best comedy actress.

Kirstie Alley won as lead actress in a miniseries or special for the CBS TV movie "David's Mother," about an autistic child. The show also won Emmys for writing and supporting actor, Michael Goorjian.

The breezy ceremony turned briefly somber as John Lithgow paid tribute to veteran actress Jessica Tandy, who died Sunday morning at age 85. She was a nominee this year in the category won by Alley.

"Your friends in television say goodbye to you tonight," said Lithgow before a moment of silence and slow fade to black. "We will all miss you very, very much."

Tandy's husband Hume Cronyn, who costarred with her in CBS' "Hallmark Hall of Fame: To Dance with the White Dog," won for lead actor in a miniseries or special.

"Late Show with David Letterman" was a winner in its first year on CBS.

Laurie Metcalf, who plays the sister Jackie on ABC's "Roseanne," and Michael Richards of NBC's "Seinfeld" won for supporting acting in comedy series; both had won last year.

"I'm getting spoiled," said Richards, who plays Jerry Seinfeld's wacky neighbor Kramer.

James Burrows, a veteran of "Cheers," won for comic directing for the pilot of "Frasier." The "Frasier" episode "The Good Son" won for best comedy series writing.

Tracey Ullman was honored for best individual performance in a variety or music program for HBO's "Tracey Ullman - Takes on New York."

Emmy winners were chosen by Academy of Television Arts & Sciences members. The show was seen in 85 foreign countries by an estimated record overseas audience of more than 500 million, the academy said.

And, the winners are . . .

Actress was star of stage, screen and TV

By MICHAEL KUCHWARA
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jessica Tandy, who in "Driving Miss Daisy" won an Oscar and movie stardom after a lifetime on the stage, has died of ovarian cancer. She was 85.

Tandy, a Broadway favorite since she played Blanche DuBois in "A Streetcar Named Desire" in 1947, conquered Hollywood 42 years later with "Daisy." The film was named best picture of the year and Tandy was chosen best actress at the age of 80.

Her husband, actor Hume Cronyn, was by her side at their home in Easton, Conn., when Tandy died at about 6 a.m. Sunday after a four-year battle with ovarian cancer.

The couple worked together for most of their careers, and were honored last June at the Tony awards with the first-ever Special Lifetime Achievement award.

She and Cronyn also were Emmy Award nominees Sunday night for performances in "Hallmark Hall of Fame: To Dance With the White Dog." Cronyn won the award for best actor in a miniseries or special for the CBS movie about an elderly man who is comforted when his dead wife's spirit returns in the form of a dog. Leslee Dart, their press agent, said it was "hard to imagine one without the other."

Tandy won her first Tony — Broadway's highest honor — for "Streetcar," and earned two more opposite Cronyn, in "The Gin Game" in 1978 and "Foxfire" in 1983.

But Tandy earned her widest fame as Daisy Werthan, the crotchety widow in "Driving Miss Daisy" who forms a deep friendship with her black chauffeur. The film, adapted from Alfred Uhry's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, was an artistic hit and grossed more than $100 million.

Karl Malden, who starred with Tandy and Marlon Brando in "Streetcar" and was a lifelong friend of Tandy and Cronyn, said she was "like a mother hen" to the other actors.

Born in London on June 7, 1909, Tandy was the daughter of a rope manufacturer who died of cancer when she was 12. Her mother worked several jobs to put her through private school.

Tandy made her professional debut in 1927, married actor Jack Hawkins in 1932 and had one child, Susan, before they divorced.

In 1940, Tandy and her daughter immigrated to the United States in search of work and to escape the war. She landed minor parts in several Broadway plays, and met Cronyn.

The couple wed in 1942 in California. In between film roles, the actress had two children, Chris, born in 1943, and Tandy, born in 1945.
