8 Employees Of St. Louis Take Lives

Strengthened Finances Caused By Political Shake-Up Blamed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Suicide of John Boitz, Jr., Friday increased to eight the number of city employees who have succumbed because of strengthened financial condition after their discharge in a political shake-up here.

WASHINGTON By George Durno

Mirrors—Mr. Roosevelt's plain and fancy tinkering with gold have the boys in Washington hanging on the ropes.

Ever since the President's idea of boosting commodity prices went into effect all the bright lads have been running to and fro for some clue as to exactly how it all works.

One prominent official next to the operation answered a group of newspaper men thusly: "There's only one man in Washington who knows and I'm not so certain about him."

One group of observers believes there are too many false mirrors in the trick. They are hoping like mad that Mr. Roosevelt will get something it's possible to get on to.

Included in this school of thought are, naturally enough, Great Britain's representatives on the ground. Take note though that the Brits don't seem to fear any big international money war with America's invasion of the world gold market.

They thus flick off such a suggestion: "That would be disastrous for everyone concerned."

Next?

If the gold juggling act fails to cause our commodity prices to shoot for an encore the question naturally arises, What's next on the bill?

Economists seem agreed the United States is no ready for stabilization of the dollar. Until our indexes reach a more normal level such a step would be economically and politically impossible.

That line of reasoning makes it hard to see ahead and date the day of devaluation of gold content. This at least would be in the outer office of definite stabilization.

Greenbacks

Because of all this, out-and-out inflationists are taking heart—especially because of early failure of gold-price juggling to show its stuff.

They now trot out the argument that printing press currency would hurt a rich nation like the United States as it did Germany, always cited as the dire example.

Several billions of greenbacks could be pumped into circulation without unduly affecting our economic structure, they insist, because the gold price is down in the Treasury.

If this method of blowing up the dollar comes to a head, a fixed salary hopes the inflationists know what they're talking about.

Men Of Three Cities Unite At Joint Ladies' Night Banquet Of Rotary Here Thursday Evening

Ranger, Former District Governor, Principal Sweetwater-Midland-Big Spring Program Of Unusual Entertainment Value

Business and professional men of three West Texas cities, with their wives and women friends, gathered at the Settles hotel here Thursday evening in a joint Ladies' Night banquet program of the Big Spring, Sweetwater and Midland Rotary clubs. More than 140 persons were present.

A program of rare entertainment value followed the banquet. Logan Hoke, the Midland president, Robert T. Finster, of the Big Spring club was master of ceremonies.

Mr. Paxton, a frequent visitor here in his capacity as Buffalo Trail Area scout chief, commented upon the value of joint meetings of service clubs of neighboring communities.

Relations of Sweetwater, Big Spring and Midland always have been cordial, in Rotary, as well as in football, Paxton said, adding that his town would be ready to welcome hundreds of Big Spring fans Friday of next week when the high school teams of the two towns meet here.

Mr. Howe, the Midland club president, called on W. Iley Pratt "to make my speech." Mr. Pratt delivered a brief address in which he declared that codes of fair competition devised under NRA as a part of the New Deal put into practical operation principles of the Rotary Code of Ethics.

Mrs. H. O. Dean of Sweetwater captivated the audience with two solos. By request she sang "The Last Round Up" in truly artistic manner. Mrs. Dean is one of the greatest singers in the southwest.

Her hearers Thursday night agreed. Mrs. Zille Steakley played her accompaniment for the quartette from Midland. Messrs. W. W. Lackey, Winston Borum, Ray Haytt and Percy Mims, sang a group of negro spirituals which added much to enjoyment of the occasion.

Rev. Borum, pastor of the First Baptist church at Midland, a widely known entertainer, was heard in a humorous musical skit replete with "gags" that brought laughter. His act ended with rendition of a medley of choruses of well-known melodies.

Mrs. Borum played his accompaniment. "Charlie Paxton will tell you what a grand town Sweetwater is, that it is there the Santa Fe crosses the T. & P., and all about the great refinery there. E. J. Mary will point out Big Spring's importance as a railroad center, its refineries and other industries. John Howe will tell you a lot about Midland as a center of activity for the oil fraternity—they're all right. These are fine communities. Ranger is a great town too. She may not be as large as some others but we've got a darned good football team," said H. S. "Andy" Anderson, immediate past governor of the forty-first district of Rotary in this area.

Voters in the City of Sweetwater, by a narrow margin, favored sale of beer within the city limits. Beer is being sold openly in Sweetwater and there are many who consider it but right that the city and county should receive taxes.

WALL STREET IDOLS DESTROY THEMSELVES

The most important single element back of all the experiments of the New Deal is the general public's state of mind. And an excellent way to get a size-up on this mental attitude is to review the case of Mr. Albert H. Wiggin.

THREE HELD IN ALLEGED PLOT TO KIDNAP BOY

Charged with having written letters threatening the kidnaping of 9-year-old Willard Beach, 3rd, (left), this New York trio (left to right), Dominich Ronco, John Brack and Alexander Rigosa, faces prosecution under the "Lindbergh Law." Authorities say they wrote three letters to Dr. Willard P. Beach of New York, saying they would abduct his grandson, the Beach boy, and kill the physician unless he paid them $500.

ed to $250,000. And less than a fortnight after he had received his pleasant little increase, he issued a public statement, recommending that the wages of industrial labor be reduced.

High wages, he explained, do not make prosperity. He suggested that "many industries can ask their labor to accept moderate reductions of wages to decrease costs and improve the buying power of labor."

And he himself just had been lifted to a quarter million a year! There is abroad in the land today a pretty widespread conviction that we need a much fairer distribution of our national income.

For what we get out of this disclosure is a peek at a thoroughly suburbanized ruling class. The financial and industrial oligarchy represented by Wall Street could see nothing wrong with recommending general wage reductions at a time when the compensation of its own inner clique was going up beyond all reason.

And if the general public at last has decided that it wants no more leadership from that kind of outfit, has Wall Street much reason to be surprised and shocked? The fallen idols of today are not important as individuals, but as symbols. That is true of Wiggin. What the New Deal must do, if it is to satisfy public expectations, is to get us away from conditions in which national leadership is exercised by the class which produced them.

And if that class objects, it has only the antics of its own members to blame.

South Ward Parent-Teachers Association Holds Session

Officers Make Reports; Chairman Of Council Gives Encouraging Message To Mothers; Miss Amerson's Room Gives Program

The South Ward Parent-Teachers' Association held its November meeting Thursday at the school building with Mrs. R. W. Henry in the chair. Mrs. Watson opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer followed by a sing-song.

The officers made their report. Mrs. Nell, treasurer, announced that the carnival netted $34 which gave the association over $66 in the treasury.

Mrs. Rice, welfare chairman, asked the mothers who had discarded garments on hand to bring them to the school for the teachers to give to needy children. Miss Amerson thanked the association for the globes and other school supplies it had bought.

Talks were made by Mrs. Fisher, chairman of the council; by Mrs. Stripling, who spoke on "Dental Care"; and Mrs. Henry who read the message of the state president.

Miss Amerson's room gave the children's part of the program. Mary Elizabeth Workman and the Claude McDaniels gave readings; a group of children sang a song. Miss Amerson's room had the most mothers present.

Those attending were: Mmes. C. T. Watson, L. S. Dahms, C. S. Berryhill, L. C. Madison, Ed Lowe, A. E. Smith, Albert M. Fisher, Wayne Rice, W. M. Galloway, R. E. Blount, Harry Lee, E. C. Dr. J.R. Spann Is Honored By Kiwanis Club

Work Of Methodist Pastor, Soon To Leave City, Praised By Speakers

The Kiwanis club honored a valued member Thursday with a special program under direction of Garland A. Woodward. Honoree of the occasion was Dr. J. Richard Spann, pastor of the First Methodist church, who will leave early next week for Baton Rouge, La.

Speakers were Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church, Thomas J. Coffee and C. T. Watson. Miss Lula May Carlton was generously received in two vocal numbers, "Russian Nightingale" and "Annie Laurie." Miss Elsie Willis played the accompaniments.

In his remarks on "Dr. Spann As A Preacher" Rev. Day said: "Dr. Spann deserves to be considered outstanding in this section for the foundation of theological training that has prepared him for the ministry. His personality and congenial manner among young and old, rich and poor, saint and sinner, make of him a real servant of the Lord, a consistent representative of Christianity. He not only preaches in the pulpit, but in a quiet, unassuming way, knocks at the door of home and office and in a positive but tactful way brings the truths of Christ to hundreds.

Sometimes preachers forget to practice what they preach but Rev. Spann has been thoroughly ethical. He has been a straight shooter. I would not be afraid to risk my best friends with him."

Mr. Coffee spoke of Dr. Spann as a Kiwanian. "He is Dick Spann to us. He hasn't preached to us yet by example he has given us ideas and principles far more effective than preaching," he declared. "He has exemplified in his life as a member of the club the true principles of Kiwanis. His life is truly a life of service. I have gained the impression from him that he does these things not merely as a matter of duty but because he likes to do so and finds in his work kept pleasure," said Mr. Coffee.

"True friendship seeks to give, not to get; to help and not to be helped, to minister and not to be ministered unto," declared C. T. Watson in his talk on Dr. Spann as a friend and citizen. He said that Mr. Spann's life and work followed such a principle. "There is a lot of difference between a preacher and a minister. Dr. Spann has ministered in many ways," said Watson. "A man may be legally a citizen of a community and not be a good citizen. To be a good citizen one must do more than pay his debts and taxes. Those things are to be expected and deserve no special praise. You couldn't build a community on that alone. One must give of his time and talent and energy to make his community greater spiritually, morally and culturally. Dr. Spann has done that. We will miss him because he has given, given and given," Watson concluded.

"You embarrass me so" said Dr. Spann in a brief response. "You make it so hard for me to go, yet after these things have been said I feel I must go because I could not live up to all the things you have said."

Mrs. Usery's helpfulness to the club was emphasized by Mr. Woodward and others. She has at all times been ready to help with programs and has been more prompt in attendance at club meetings than many of its members.

President Carl Blomaheld named Nat Shick, Harvey Clay, Wendell Bedelchek, George Henry and Jack Cummings as a committee to arrange a Christmas program for newsboys.

Next week's program will be in charge of L. A. Eubanks and Gordon Graham. Guests of the day included Mrs. Carlton, Miss Willis, C. T. Watson, Mrs. Gordon Phillips, John Whitmore, Frank Edens, Rev. Day, Bob Schermerhorn, Dr. Charles K. Bivings, Cecil C. Collins, Miss Nell Hatch, Joe Galbraith, Dr. P. W. Malone, Joe Pickle, Dr. W. B. Hardy.

Administrative Cost Of Relief Would Be Cut To Ten Per Cent By Estes

DALLAS, (UP)—Declaring that the cost of administration of relief in Texas with state and national funds had been too high, Carl Estes, Tyler newspaper publisher named recently to membership on the commission to handle relief funds, announced here he would ask the board to set a limit on administrative expenses of 10 per cent.

"I will ask the committee to adopt as a policy a limit of ten per cent as the cost of administering funds," Estes said. "I am certain that other members will have the same ideas as I have about holding down costs, but if this is not the case I do not intend to continue as a member of the relief commission."

Cheese and Tomato-Ginger Conserves Sandwiches
The recipe for tomato-ginger conserve is as follows. Drain juice from fresh or canned tomatoes. Mix two cups pulp with two cups chopped apple, one lemon put through the food chopper and four tablespoons preserved ginger, chopped. ## Let's Celebrate Recovery

RECOVERY really does seem to be on the way. The "New Deal" is moving toward its goal. A new and better day seems to be dawning for all of us.

Let's celebrate. Let's pull ourselves out of all the old ruts in which we have been traveling. In particular, let's pull our menus out of the rut of monotony. Let's hail the new deal for the nation by a new deal in menus.

The necessity of stringent economy may have been handicapping us in planning our family's meals, but just as soon as possible let's add the special touches that give them real zest, and so help to build morale.

Below are two specially delicious "Recovery" vegetable dishes. They sound elaborate, but they really aren't. The chief secret of their appetizing appeal lies in their careful seasoning. A little spice or cheese, a little chicken stock, most important of all a dash of sugar to blend the other flavors—that is all.

This last touch, by the way—the dash of sugar to blend flavors—is one that you will do well to remember, for it gives added zest to practically all vegetable dishes.

Onions Arragonaise
Melt one-third cup butter in a saucepan. Add two cups peeled, small onions, pressing down firmly. Sprinkle over top one scant teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, and one-fourth teaspoon sugar. Shake until seasonings are well distributed. Add enough chicken stock to cover. Cover saucepan and simmer until onions are tender. Remove cover and boil rapidly until liquid is reduced to about one-fourth. Butter squares of toast, sprinkle cheese over them, then pour over them the onions. Place in hot oven to broil.

Cauliflower Bernaise
Wash thoroughly one large head of cauliflower and separate into clumps. Cook until tender. Drain and place in greased casserole. Mix together two cups peas, one large slice onion, two peppercorns, two cloves, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar. Simmer in one cup of water until peas are very soft. Melt three tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Add three tablespoons flour and stir until

Autumn Breakfast Suggestions To Take Place Of Summertime's Orange-Juice-Toast-And-Coffee

You are apt to be hungrier on crisp autumn mornings when there's just a threat of frosty winter in the air. The glass of orange juice-toast-and-coffee combination, while adequate in sultry summer, is not sufficient to send you off with a warm snug feeling when days grow longer—and colder! So here are some breakfast suggestions to give you that "well begun is half done" feeling.

Poached Eggs
Beat the egg whites stiff and make a nest of the whites on each square of toast. Into this is dropped a little butter and the unbroken egg yolk. Salt is sprinkled over the top. The toast is placed in a moderately hot oven until the egg is set.

Horses Coming Back At A Gallop, Will Rogers Opines While In Texas

ANACACHO RANCH, Zavala County, Tex., (UP)—"Horses are coming back at a gallop," Will Rogers is the authority for the prediction. He was speaking conversationally on the second-story plaza of R. W. Morrison's palatial ranch home. Below and to the left of the speaker were the spacious Anacacho stables housing saddle horses valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"What we need," continued the humorist, "is more of this Lady Godiva stuff."

"Bicycle riding became very popular when women started riding in shorts," he added. "Now if fashion would only decree that women should ride horseback in shorts, what a comeback for horses that would be."

Rogers estimated that within two miles of his Santa Monica, Calif., home there were at least 600 horses trained for the bride path or polo fields.

The galloping comeback of horses is not confined, however, to bride paths and polo fields, Rogers declared. "The farmer has started driving Old Dobbin right down the row. Farmers have learned they don't have to buy parts for Old Dobbin every three years like they had to for tractors."

"They've learned also they can't raise gasoline in the fields—except in East Texas, and there they can't raise anything else."

High School Football Favorites Appearing in Most Of Districts

Amarillo, Ranger, Sweetwater, Wichita Falls, Highland Park, Greenville, Temple Among Favored Eleven

Autumn leaves have fallen and so have scores of football teams in the Texas Interscholastic League, but there are still Titanic battles due in the scrap for district titles at November's days and the nip of winter weather in the air bring interest to fever heat.

Favorites have taken definite shape in all the districts. Those standing out definitely are: Amarillo, Ranger, Sweetwater, Wichita Falls, Highland Park, Greenville and Temple. It's more or less a toss-up in the other districts.

Cisco's drive back toward the top has featured the Oil Belt race though Ranger became the outstanding favorite with a victory last week over Abilene. Sweetwater faces the Big Spring and San Angelo menace in sector three.

In the El Paso section Bowie and Austin will scrap it out. Central and Masonic Home are the big shots of the Fort Worth division.

Sunset and Dallas Tech are tied for the lead in the San Antonio district. Jefferson Davis and San Jacinto lead the flock in the Houston district. Corpus Christi has only to beat the weak Learedo outfit Nov. 10 to cop honors in division fifteen and Brownsville meets Harlingen Turkey Day for honors in district sixteen.

In the Beaumont district a new threat has arisen in the Port Arthur team. All along it had looked like Beaumont would come through.

Cardui Good For Run-Down Condition

"I have found Cardui a good medicine to take for a run-down condition," writes Miss Hazel Authement, of Houma, La. "I had pains in my sides. This made me nervous, and I felt I should take something for this trouble. I was with my sister. She was taking Cardui, so I took it, too, and found it very helpful. I am glad to recommend it to others." Cardui is safe and wholesome for women of all ages. At drug stores.

West Texas Sport Hash

It would be funny if Jim Cantrell's Colorado club tied or beat the San Angelo Bobcats. Haven't seen the Wolves play but, after having seen San Angelo operate, one might observe that if Cantrell has his line charging low and fast and tackling low and hard there's no telling what might happen.

San Angelo didn't look so hot at tackling. Especially that big center, Castello, who seemed to have a terrific yen for necking 'em instead of shoe-stringing 'em.

Harry Taylor is a good guy and it would be plenty bitter for Colorado, where he formerly coached, to whip his team, which had been favored by many to take the district championship.

Charles Paxton, Sweetwater's popular refinery executive-scout chief-Rotarian-school trustee at -eters, took a shot at kiddin' Big Spring Thursday night at the Rotarian banquet. "We're scared" said Paxton of the November 10 contest with the Steers. Charlie may be, we sort of doubt that he's badly frightened. But its pretty safe to say the blonde fox, Coach Hennig, is not the least bit frightened. The old boy has plenty of tricks in his bag. He has a scrappy team, finely coached. Sweetwater is supposed to beat the Steers. Remember that. Of course, San Angelo also was supposed to whip 'em but didn't.

That's what makes the current Steer club so interesting. You don't know what to expect. It is an interesting club because thus far it has accomplished more than was expected. Which is just the opposite of fluking out when you're expected to do a lot.

The peculiar sense of humor that has led football fans, as well as teams, throughout the country, to take souvenirs from towns where they play in the form of property belonging to hotels is not helping high school sports any.

You can't blame the kids so much, though. The example has been set by the adults. If you searched every family's linen closet you'd be surprised how many pieces of linen you'd find with some property. The lone exception: a player took a telephone directory. The directory was returned by

And, also, this is from the San Angelo scribe's typewriter: "A check-up of the San Angelo team situation shows that with one exception not a member of the squad broke anything or absconded with any of the Big Spring hotel's property. The lone exception: a player took a telephone directory. The directory was returned by

Scoring Leader

The San Angelo football team DID take something else, but it did not belong to the hotel. The Bobcats got away with the football that was used in the game. It is customary for the winning team to take the ball. In this instance, the score was tied. The Bobcats spirited the ball. A mob of Big Spring youngsters charged into the hotel after the pigskin, so-called, and a free-for-all was narrowly avoided. Coach Taylor offered to flip a coin with Coach Bristow for the ball. Bristow refused.

"The football was paid for, half-and-half out of the gate receipts, by each school. It cost $9. Bristow now has San Angelo high school refund Big Spring $4.90 for Big Spring's end.

Walter Duff, a close follower of football who lets nothing slip his notice, suggests that Taylor request Bristow to return the football he "borrowed" from the San Angelo team two years ago. The Bobcats were booked on the Big Spring gridiron. The teams rolled out and started warming up. Bristow came over and asked use of a hall until his business manager brought out Big Spring's balls, which apparently had been left in the dressing quarters when the team checked out for the field. Duff says to this day that ball has not been returned."

against one white man and three negroes having been set for trial some time during the week of November 8, subject to certain civil cases. If not completed then, the assault trials will be continued to the third week or that of November 13.

Defense Scores Heavily In Disbarment Act

FORT WORTH, (UP)—The defense scored heavily in defending Julien C. Hyer, prominent Fort Worth attorney and former state senator, in a disbarment suit filed by the Fort Worth Bar association. Hyer, former president of the Lions International and former head of the American Legion here, is charged with soliciting two disbarment cases and with misappropriation of $75 in county funds while serving as county personal tax attorney.

ST. MARY'S AND FORDHAM MEET IN NEW YORK TILT

From California St. Mary's ponderous and powerful Gaels will trek across the continent to do battle with Fordham, one of the strongest eleven on the eastern frontier. They play in New York November 4. The battering ram of Fordham's attack is Capt. Ed Danowski, a spectacular backfield ace. Del Isola is considered one of the greatest centers the New York school has seen in many a year. Much of the ball carrying duties for St. Mary's will rest on the capable shoulders of Sid Ahern. ## TENSION GROWS IN PALESTINE

With 30 persons killed and 200 wounded in demonstrations against migration of German Jews to the Holy Land the situation among the Arabs continued tense. ## ARMY CRASHES TO FRONT OF EASTERN FOOTBALL

Lieut. Gar Davidson is showing the east a few things in his first year as head coach of the Army football team. Given three regulars and no ready-made yearling talent at the beginning of the season Davidson has developed a Cadet eleven six a piece as a strong contender for the mythical national grid title. The main attacking weapons in the soldiers' armory are Paul Johnson, quarterback, and Texas Jack Buckler, half-back. A whirlwind on one of the wing positions is Pete Kopsak. (Associated Press Photos)

Accused Of Attack

Lieut. John H. Murrell, former West Point football star and now attached to the ninth infantry in Texas, was held in San Antonio on a charge of attacking Blanche Baile after a roadhouse party. Under federal law the offense is punishable by death or life imprisonment. (Associated Press Photo)

McCARL MAY MAKE NRA DECISION

A ruling bearing on the controversy between Henry Ford (below) and Gen. Hugh S. Johnson (upper right), recovery administrator, over whether the government legally can make purchases only from owners of NRA codes may be made by Comptroller-General J. R. McCarl (upper left). A Ford dealer in Washington contends that he has bid for Glidden Conservation Corps trucks should be accepted despite the fact that Ford has not signed under the NRA. (Associated Press Photo)

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN
The Pace of Things

The novice plants the seeds and then the next morning before breakfast rushes out into the garden to see whether they have sprouted. Seeing no sign of life above the ground he digs up the seeds to have a look at them. The amateur cook would like to eat the cake when he has mixed the dough. The bad golfer looks up to see where his shot has landed before he has hit the ball. The results are invariably disappointing. In the application of measures during this crisis most of us fall into these bad habits, and raise unnecessary difficulties and disappointments. It is the part of wisdom in human affairs to have a true sense of the pace of action and the timing of events.

Leads Yale Eleven

One of the most dangerous forms that savagism can take is to fix a date and say: unless this or that is achieved by that date, all is lost. In the months preceding the World Economic Conference for example, statesmen all over the world make a point of telling their people that they must do or die at London on June twelfth. There was to be either recovery or catastrophe at a certain point in the calendar. What was the result? Though there was neither catastrophe nor recovery, the unwarranted expectations brought on such corresponding disappointment, that the whole effort, necessarily complex and difficult, of international co-operation was brought to a complete standstill. The world has to forget what it expected in June before it can again begin to do what it can.

ed that in a marathon race a runner does not try to sprint the first mile. An equally mischievous form of anxiety about the clock is that now prevailing in the circles most concerned about a sound and stable currency. A phobia is rapidly being evolved which has fixed upon the assembling of Congress in January as the Day of Judgment for our monetary system. It is a dangerous phobia. If we put ourselves into the state of mind where we have to solve the monetary problem in the next sixty days we shall only make more likely the dangers that we fear.

In our domestic affairs we have indulged heavily in calendar-worship. In Washington, for example, the administration of the NRA has been beset by a kind of breathless anxiety that certain definite results had to be achieved on a particular day. There had to be a million men at work by Labor Day. There had to be a million more by the New Year. And if there were not, the whole thing was a failure. At least two different kinds of mischief have resulted from this feeling that the whole enterprise was a race against the clock, inexorably ticking its way to the millennium or to disaster.

For it may not be possible to solve the monetary problem in 60 days, and it is the height of unwise to inculcate the belief that, if we do not, we shall never solve it. I am not arguing that we should drift; on the contrary, I have ventured to believe that we should have begun at least as early as July to exercise control and steady the exchange. But it is one thing to exercise control and to demonstrate your control; it is quite another to settle the question finally. It may require more than sixty days to find the level of depreciation from the old gold parity which can be made to work and more than sixty days to work out with the British, and then with the French, practicable rates of exchange. It would be folly, therefore, to build up an expectation that would produce either a wrong decision or no decision followed by great perturbation because there was no decision.

It inspired the NRA administrators to attempt much more than they could effectively handle. Instead of taking up the problem of making codes for industries in the order of their importance, achieving a series of definite reforms where they were most urgently needed, the NRA jumped to the blank code and itself entangled in a maze of inconsequential matters pertaining to little industries and little shops to industries which are relatively in good condition, and left itself all to little energy and time for considered action on the industries that most needed attention. The NRA will, I believe, prove itself to be a great boon. But there is no doubt that real progress under it would have been greater if problems had not been raised faster than the Administration was prepared to deal with them. The sense of urgency, the feeling that the clock was ticking, has distorted the perspective of the NRA executives.

This is, I hope, no plea for complacency or inaction. It is a plea for a recognition that when you set the kettle on the stove you can not make it boil faster by blowing on it.

Sleeping Sickness Among Horses Takes Large Toll In Texas

FORT WORTH, (UP)—One of the most baffling diseases of veterinary science, a "sleeping sickness" among horses somewhat similar to that which afflicts human beings, is taking a mounting death toll in Texas. More than 2,500 horses have been afflicted in Texas in the past several weeks, with more than 500 succumbing. The principal affected area is in the Panhandle from Garza and Lynn counties north. The disease is known technically as equine encephalomyelitis and resembles blind staggers, or botulism, in symptoms induced. It is highly perplexing to scientists, Dr. Lewis C. Crabb, veterinarian for the Texas Live Stock Sanitary Commission, told the United Press. Dr. Crabb has spent several weeks in the affected area making a personal study of the disease. Extreme care must be taken by persons handling diseased horses, since it is known that human beings are susceptible to the ailment, although no cases of human beings catching the malady from horses have been reported in Texas. The disease first appeared in the United States in 1930 in the San Joaquin valley in California, gradually working eastward, Dr. Crabb said. It penetrated Nevada and New Mexico border, last year. It has appeared in many other states west of the Mississippi river.

The malady, believed spread by mosquitoes, is a cerebral and spinal affection. It attacks those parts of the body that lethargic encephalitis, such as took many deaths in St. Louis, attacks in man.

The animal shows drowsiness and signs of stupor. The first symptoms are frequent yawning, fever, walking in circles or along fences, dragging of the hind legs and leaning against objects for support, as if the animal were too weary to support itself.

Prostration follows, with the animal unable to rise, Dr. Crabb said. While lying prostrate the animal keeps up an incessant thrashing with its feet, thrashing itself to death.

The affliction seems to be confined more to draft and work animals, with mules, apparently less susceptible, Dr. Crabb said. Few cases among saddle horses have been reported in the Panhandle area. Of 300 to 400 cases studies in that region, only four mules have been found afflicted.

About 300 deaths have occurred in Crosby, Floyd and Briscoe counties, the worst afflicted in Texas. Dr. Crabb pointed out that these counties contain large lake areas. Sporadic cases have been reported in other sections of the state, around San Angelo, Brady and Brazoria and Fort Bend counties, he continued.

Only about 10 per cent of the horses exposed contract the disease, with between 25 and 40 per cent of those contracting it recovering without treatment, Dr. Crabb said. The animal's usefulness is greatly impaired after recovery. In few instances have farmers had their entire herd of work animals wiped out. Peculiarly the disease in virtually all cases has affected only one or two animals in the herd.

An anti-encephalomyelitis serum has been produced for vaccine purposes and treatment. The serum seems to be successful, Dr. Crabb said, but because of the complex nature of the many factors involved, it is difficult to deduce concrete, indisputable conclusions.

Mrs. Nool T. Lawson spent Thursday in San Angelo.

McMurry Exes To Gather November 25

ABILENE—Departing from the usual custom, McMurry College's fifth annual homecoming will be held Saturday, November 25th. It has been the custom for Homecoming to be held on November 11, but in order to permit Alumni and Ex-Students who are teaching school to attend it has been shifted to the later date.

High lights of the day will include the fourth clash between the McMurry Indians and the A.C.C. Wildcats in the afternoon at the Abilene High School football field; the barbecue luncheon to be served at noon; a meeting of the Mothers and Dads club; and a meeting of the Alumni and Ex-Students association. Plans for the day are being completed by a committee headed by Howard Miller, president of the Alumni and Ex-Students association; Irish Graham, registrar of the college; President J. W. Hunt; James E. Freeman, secretary-treasurer of the college; Miss Julia Luker, McMurry faculty; Rev. R. R. Glibreath of Higgins, president of the Mothers and Dads club; and Amon Johnston, president of the students association.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barham of Shreveport, La., are in town for a few days on a business trip. Mrs. Bruce Stanton, Mrs. Ringo of Foran, and Mrs. Conners, of Whitney, California, returned Thursday from a trip to the Carlsbad Caverns. Thorpe, most complete paint and paper store in West Texas—adv.

International, who was principal speaker of the evening.

"Most of our communities need to get rid of the smokestack complex," he observed after reviewing the manner in which people are wont to expound the industrial facilities of their respective communities. "Rotary has shown the way for men to get away from selfish and narrow viewpoints. There is no place in Rotary for race prejudice, religious prejudice or political friction," he declared.

Mr. Anderson reviewed the principles and methods being employed by the Roosevelt administration, comparing them with the Code of Ethics which has guided Rotary since its inception. The Golden Rule is being applied to business, to industry, to society, he declared, pointing to the presence of that rule in the Rotary doctrine.

"The glory of life is to give, not to get. To love not to be loved, to serve not to be served," he declared.

Harpooned—
The manner in which NRA headquarters announced Henry Ford's decision to submit a wage and hour report to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce was clever stuff.

A two-page mimeographed statement was issued in General Johnson's name detailing advice from the Auto chamber as to the status of its members' reports.

On page one were the names of 24 manufacturers in alphabetical order who had responded already.

On page two were the names of those who had promised to report "on or before the dates as indicated."

Among the F's was the name Ford and behind it, "Nov. 6 or 7."

That was the only indication in the statement that Henry had decided to inch along with the Code Authority to that extent.

The reason for this delicate handling was that Ford has complained bitterly to NRA against the manner in which he has been singled out.

Now that both sides of the big Blue Eagle controversy are manifesting a heated desire to go out of the song and into the dance a corking of the NRA harpoon is one of the conditions.

The boys do whisper that Henry was on the verge of coming into the fold two or three times much earlier in the game. Unfortunately Johnson picked the wrong time to sound off and ruffled his temper on each occasion.

Fogged—
There is just one angle to General Johnson's swing around the circuit in defense of his blue bird that seems to have gone unnoticed.

One of the most important stops—from his viewpoint—in the itinerary will be California. Disturbing reports have seeped in from the West Coast and Johnson would like to straighten them out. Full of patriotism, California rushed to the front at the very start and passed a state code law. Chambers of commerce, labor and everybody else swung in behind.

But now the land of sunshine is all involved in a conflicting maze of codes. The state codes involve price-fixing right and left. It costs 65 cents for a haircut in one city and 50 cents in another. Labor operating under federal codes is squawking about the breaks their intra-state brothers got.

General Johnson is most anxious to bring order out of chaos. He will get hearty support from any number of Californians. The maze isn't doing NRA any good.

Notes—
Washington is breathing a sigh of relief since George W. Wickersham admitted the other day he had made a mistake about the views of the American public on prohibition.

The boys here remember that report. A summary printed in pamphlet form—signed by ten of the eleven Wickersham commissioners—said the body was unanimous against repeal.

Perusal of the individual reports gave 7 to 4 in favor of Col. Louie Howe, the President's chief secretary. First broke in on a metropolitan newspaper because of his ability to compile a racing chart.

As a cub he had done it at Saratoga. The New York Herald kept him busy at the race tracks for a year and a half.

NEW YORK

Advice—
Hot Springs was an appropriate site for the Investment Bankers' convention.

Returning New York delegates say the inside heat was well above the boiling point and the toughest job the authorities had was to prevent an overt explosion which would hardly have helped public relations. Members were invited to submit reports on the Securities Act. Then the heads had to "edit out the bitterness" before making the reports a part of the record. Some contributors refused to stand for the editing and withdrew their offerings.

But the upshot is that the IEA is inching towards partial acceptance of regulation. If the Act were amended to abolish personal liability except in case of direct and

Crack-Down—
Some big time commodity speculators are due to be stepped on hard and soon. Every time grain prices have shown signs of life these fellows have dumped holdings acquired earlier and flattened them out again. That's terribly discouraging when you are trying to boost farm products. The government is just about fed up.

Beer—
Brewers are talking about a vast advertising campaign to increase beer consumption. Sales are not up to expectations.

One of those who knew beer before prohibition have shown much interest. The younger generation sticks to bathtub gin and so must be educated.

Untermeyer—
Sam Untermeyer nearly ditched New York City's financial applecart at the last minute. The day before the agreement between the City and the bankers was to be signed he asked the bankers for further concessions. The banks simply stated that the time for discussion has passed and the agreement would go through as drawn or not at all. It went through.

Election—
The Majority election is tightening up as the zero hour approaches. Tammany's dig-out-the-vote campaign is getting results. O'Brien's chances remain thinner than a cat's whisker but a lot of the boys would give their gold teeth if he could nose out McKee and smash the Farley-Flynn machine. All three candidates are holding back last minute dynamite. A switch of about 200,000 votes could be decisive. LaGuardia has the edge so far.

Both LaGuardia and McKee campaigns have suffered from an excess of zeal. In the case of Fusion it can be attributed to inexperience but political observers say that McKee's political management has been incredibly bad considering its sponsors. Tammany has profited by sitting tight and saying as little as possible.

Advertising—
There seems to be substantial advertising money in the offing. A New York agency with fine banking contacts is making a nationwide psychological survey. Its results are expected to promote and coordinate advertising activity among the big-timers.

WHAT are the PURCHASING AGENTS DOING?

EVERY big company has one or more men whose entire time is devoted to buying the things which that company needs.

buy. And they are buying because they know that prices are going up.

These men are specialists. It is their business to know prices . . . materials . . . sources of supply . . . present and future trends. They are the shrewdest, canniest buyers in the world.

But all of us, in a small way, are purchasing agents. We have to buy a certain number of things, if only to keep alive. And most of us aren't very skillful at it. We waste a lot of money. We miss the good bargains. In fact, we could learn a great deal by watching a professional buyer at his work.

At this time, especially, it may be helpful to know what the big purchasing agents are doing. Are they cutting down? Are they opening up? Do they think this is a good time to buy or a bad time? What do they think about the future?

Well, the answer is that they are all buying as fast as they can.

"Pig Iron has advanced 13%", the purchasing agent of a $20,000,000 corporation recently said. "Brass is up 42 1-2%. I am paying 41% more for lumber than I did in March, and fiber packing cases have doubled in price. In fact, everything we use in this business is costing us more today, and will in my opinion cost us still more tomorrow. I believe that many commodities will be back to or near 1929 levels by spring."

That's the way the professional purchasing agents feel about it. And they know. They have special sources of information. They are closely in touch with industry. They have studied the workings of the NRA codes.

Prices are going up. And it's a good thing for everyone. For things had come to the point where nothing had any true value. A man's time . . . his product . . .

his property . . . all had sunk so low in value that he couldn't even get a decent living.

That couldn't go on. So the Government set up the machinery of the NRA codes in order to make everything worth something again.

This process is now under way. Wages are being raised. Commodities are bringing better prices every day. But it is not yet over. Before fair values . . . living values . . . can be reached, prices will have to go higher than they are now.

Before they do, take a leaf from the purchasing agent's book, and lay in a supply of the things you need. There are many good bargains still to be had. But these stocks are strictly limited. Now is the time to buy.

UPTURN ITEM NO. 4

Prices are going up. And it's a good thing for everyone. For things had come to the point where nothing had any true value. A man's time . . . his product . . .

The advertisements in this newspaper bring you news of many splendid bargains of every description. Study them carefully . . . then stock up wherever you can!
