Dropout rate decrease more good news for state schools Meno defends appearances as non-political

By PEGGY FIKAC Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - State Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno, who formerly had few press conferences, has changed his style in recent weeks.

In the last 21 days, he has had three announcing good news about Texas schools.

His latest announcement Tuesday: The dropout rate is down, with fewer than one in five students projected to leave before finishing school.

The change comes as the November election nears. But Meno said his recent appearances haven't been prompted by Democratic Gov. Ann Richards, who appointed him and is running for re-election.

"I have enough work to do to just be commissioner, let alone get involved in politics," said Meno. He also spoke at news conferences on June 22 and last week about gains in student performance on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills, or

A primary issue in the campaign between Richards and Republican challenger George W. Bush has been education. Bush charged Tuesday that the

But Richards said that Bush 'doesn't know what he's talking about." Meno rejected as "absolutely false" the implication that numbers have been manipulated to create a

'What we have been trying to do with the (school) accreditation system is provide an absolutely fair system," said Meno.

In order for a school's performance to be considered acceptable, 20 percent of students had to pass all the TAAS sections they took last year. The test includes reading, writing and math.

The state is looking individually at the different test sections this year. The new standard requires 25 percent of students to pass each section. However, different students might pass reading than math or writing.

The change was made in response to school officials' concerns, in order to give a more precise picture of performance, Meno said.

He said the 25 percent level was chosen because it corresponds to last year's standard.

Meno, asked about schools that have reported a marked decrease in the number of low-performing schools using the new standard, said, "The reason that they have been perspective," said Bush. "I would dramatically reduced is that the performance in those campuses went up dramatically.'

On Aug. 1, the Texas Education Agency is scheduled to report statewide results of its school rating system. Last year, TEA reported more than 300 campuses - out of more than 6.000 - were performing at below the acceptable level.

At Tuesday's news conference, Meno was joined by Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, who has sponsored legislation since 1987 aimed at keeping children in school. Among other programs, he cited one that provides care for the children of school-age mothers.

Meno said the latest estimate that 18.42 percent of seventh graders will leave school before finishing represents "the lowest dropout rate that there has ever been in the history of Texas public schools."

Data was first collected statewide in 1987. In the 1987-88 school year, the rate was about 34 percent. The latest figures are based on the 1992-93 school year and represent about a 2.3 percentage point reduction from the previous year. Latest figures show the highest dropout rate was reported among Hispanics, at 25.95 percent. The rate for blacks was 22.76 percent; whites, just over 12 percent; and other groups, 13.42 percent. The figures show the dropout rates for all groups have gone down.

Vegetable prices shot up 6.3 percent, led by an 11.3 percent increase in tomatoes. But meat prices dropped 0.7 percent.

Airline fares also turned around, climbing 3 percent after dipping 5.4

The core rate of inflation, excluding food and energy, also was up 0.3 percent and for the first six months is up just 3 percent at an annual rate.

TV station says DNA on glove matches

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Blood on a glove found at O.J. Simpson's state contained DNA material from Simpson and the two people he is accused of killing, a television station Forensic tests on the blood from the glove showed a "strong probability" of a DNA match with blood from Simpson, his ex-wife and her friend, KCBS-TV reported late Tuesday, citing unidentified sources close to the investigation.

The test results received by the district attorney's office came from a right hand glove found at Simpson's estate after the June 12 killings of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman the report said.

A left hand glove, believed to have been abandoned by the killer, was found at the murder scene in front of Ms. Simpson's condominium. Authorities believe the two gloves are a matched set.

Meanwhile Tuesday, investigators took hair samples from Simpson and asked the district attorney to charge Simpson's friend Al Cowlings, who drove the white Ford Bronco seen by millions on national television during a 60-mile police chase June 17.

Simpson cowered in the back, holding a gun to his head at times. He had fled after learning he was about to be charged with murdering Ms. Simpson and Goldman.

After the chase ended in Simpson's driveway, Cowlings was arrested for investigation of aiding Simpson's escape and freed on $250,000 bail. The district attorney could decide to file charges, dismiss the case or ask for further investigation. A decision expected before Cowlings' scheduled court appearance Friday.

Simpson attorney Robert Shapiro has said Simpson planned to go to his ex-wife's grave and commit suicide, but Cowlings talked him out of it.

Homicide detectives collected the hair from Simpson, who is being held without bail at the downtown Los Angeles County Central Men's Jail.

A judge had ruled that up to 100 hairs could be taken for comparison with those found in a knit cap discovered at the murder scene. Authorities have said they want to use NA testing to compare the hairs.

Meanwhile, Shapiro said the defense is preparing to file a series of motions, including one to dismiss the case based on lack of evidence expulsion, President Clinton again directly linking Simpson to the murders, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am another kvetch when it comes to wind chimes. Give me a house by the railroad tracks any day. Trains that made me think I was in the middle of an earthquake didn't bother me when I lived a block away from the tracks. This proves that one man's junk is another man's treasure.

I wonder, however, if one's pleasure inflicts pain on others, how can it continue to be pleasurable? Who is competent to judge what type of noise someone else might like? Who is competent to judge what type of oise someone else might like? There are a lot of people who actually enjoy the sound of train whistles, planes zooming overhead and foghorns that pierce the night. And, I'm sure, the

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Prince Frederic Von Anhalt had to surrender his gold-colored, pope-blessed crucifix to Elke Sommer's lawyer.

The crucifix was seized in court Monday after Von Anhalt failed to produce documents regarding his land holdings in Germany, said his lawyer, Ronald Jason Palmieri.

A jury has ordered the prince and his wife, Zsa Zsa Gabor, to pay Miss Sommer $3.3 million in damages for calling her a Hollywood has-been.

"If it's valuable I will apply it to the judgment, but if it's not valuable I'll give it back to him," said Sommer's lawyer, Richard Posell.

The crucifix, a gift from Von Anhalt's mother, was blessed by Pope John Paul II, Palmieri said.

Many people become so accustomed to specific noises, they would feel deprived if those noises were eliminated. I'm referring to loud music, blaring TVs, boom boxes, barking dogs, foghorns, wind chimes and even the sound of kids yelling. Those of us who do not share these neuroses may be considered square and kvetch alone.--Colton, Calif.

Hereford stars fall to Plainview

Hereford's 14- and 15-year-old Babe Ruth All-Stars started off their district tournament with an 8-6 loss to Plainview Tuesday in Canyon. Hereford will play again at 6 p.m. Thursday. Their opponent has not yet been determined

Plainview scored at least once in every inning, plating two in the first and third innings.

Hereford scored single runs in the second and fourth innings, by Eric Ambold and Anthony Lopez, respectively. Hereford scored four runs in the third inning, as John Marty Galan's bases-loaded double drove home Stephen Cloud and Arturo Nava, and Nathan Gavina and Galan scored on throwing errors.

That gave Hereford a 5-3 lead briefly, but Plainview tied it in the bottom of the inning. Plainview sied it again in the bottom of the fourth, then shut out Hereford the rest of the way. Matt Roberson pitched the complete game for Plainview, striking out nine and helping himself with a homer Ambold started on the mound for Hereford, and three relievers pitched.

ments recently about dates for homecoming and scrimmages.

The sprinters enjoyed the first 10 stages, jockeying for position and bonus seconds in intermediate sprints and mass finishes. But their fun is over. Now the climbers will have their moments.

Tuesday's stage was won by Jacky Durand of France, a two-time French national champion. Three-time winner Miguel Indurain of Spain finished in the pack less than two minutes behind to stay in the overall Wednesday's 11th stage brings the riders to the Pyrenees with a 164-mile leg from Cahors to Lourdes with the first of the major climbs up Mount Houtacam, 5,363 feet.

Then it gets tougher.
After a rest day on Thursday, there will be four climbs on Friday including the famous Tourmalet (6,937 feet) and Luz Ardidan (5,625 feet) both rated "out of category" in terms of steepness and distance.

Then come the Alps next week with a return to l'Alpe d'Huez and its final slope of more than six miles where Indurain and Tony Rominger

Indurain now has a lead of two minutes, 28 seconds over Rominger of Switzerland. Moving up to third was Italian Gianluca Bortolami, 4:37

Durand broke away from a small group with six miles left to win the stage before the home crowd. It was the 630th French victory of an individual stage but they are coming less frequently now.

Last year, only one Frenchman won a stage and the op French finisher overall was in 15th.

Durand was in a group of four that broke away from the main pack about midway through the race.

Then Durand went out by himself and held that advantage until the end of the stage of 100 miles from Bergerac to Cahors.

Marco Serpellini of Italy was second with Stephen Hodge of Australia third. Gianluca Bortolami of Italy was fourth, suffering a broken wheel just when Durand broke away.

"I really was afraid, especially of Bortolami," Durand said. "His team manager told him to stop because he had a broken spoke. He wanted to continue nonetheless.

Brazil, Sweden meet in Cup semis

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - Now it's for real.

Brazil and Sweden aren't exactly strangers at the World Cup. They've played six times in the tournament, dating to 1938 and including a 1-1 tie in the first round last month that each team regards differently. Brazil is 5-0-1 in such matchups.

"There is an advantage that we know this team," Brazil coach Carlos Alberto Parreira said of the rematch, the first in a World Cup since 1982. "It's better to play a team you know than a team you've never played before."

That knowledge won't make it any easier for the Swedes, who are solid underdogs against the World Cup favorites. Nor does the knowledge that before the first-round tie, Brazil already had qualified for the second

"This game is going to be a lot tougher because we already knew at halftime in the first game against Brazil that both teams had reached the second round because Russia had beaten Cameroon," said Swedish striker Martin Dahlin, who didn't play in the 1-1 game because of a suspension and approached the semifinals nursing leg problems.

Of course, that's a lot better than the alternative - being at home, where other pretournament picks such as 1990 champion Germany, Argentina and Colombia will be watching today's game on television.

"It's going to be fun," Dahlin said. "We're all enjoying it. It's always fun to play Brazil in the World Cup because the atmosphere is always fantastic. We have to be very concentrated and play at the highest level. If we do that, then we Sweden didn't have. Against Saudi have a good chance.'

Perhaps. But while Sweden benefited from a lift in confidence provided by the tie with Brazil, the Brazilians also can find positives from that game. If it gave the Swedes confidence, it also demonstrated to the Brazilians that unless they play their best, they will be tested. And they could be bounced out two victories short of an unprecedented fourth championship.

"The spirit is totally different from the first game because both teams already had qualified," assistant coach Mario Zagallo said. "Win, lose or draw, it wouldn't have changed Brazil's course. In fact, it might have been easier had we lost. Brazil has been tested and the team has grown with difficulties that Arabia, they had an open field to play, and is it possible that Brazil can't create the chances that Romania

Possible, not likely. With Romario and Bebeto getting room, Brazil is capable of almost anything offensively. The chance for the match to turn into a high-scoring affair certainly is there with that pair at one end of the field, plus Dahlin, Tomas Brolin and Kennet Andersson up front for the 'Sweden is undefeated and very dangerous," Parreira said. "We are concerned with Brolin, a technically skilled player who charges and penetrates well. And they have two excellent finishers in Andersson and

"There is no favorite."

Judge urges NBA, players to settle

one-day trial, a federal judge once again urged the NBA and the Players Association to work out their differences before he issues a ruling they won't necessarily like.

But despite the admonition from U.S. District Judge Kevin Duffy, no talks between the two sides were immediately scheduled.

The league and the union were in court Tuesday because both have suits pending concerning the expired collective bargaining agreement. The NBA wants the salary cap, draft and right of first refusal ruled legal; the union wants those aspects to be declared violations of the antitrust

"Maybe it will end up that neither one of you is very happy getting stuck with what I decide," he said. "This whole thing should have been resolved by collective bargaining, no two ways about it," Duffy

After the trial, NBA commissioner David Stern issued a statement saying the NBA would prefer to settle the issues rather than let Duffy decide

In court, Stern testified that basketball enjoyed a boom in the early 1980s and both players and teams have profited.

"The profits of the teams have gone up very nicely and the profit and the salaries of the players have gone up very nicely under the system as it currently exists," he said.

He predicted "complete and total chaos" if the restrictions are lifted. "This is a system that has been in operation in its component parts since 1976," he said.

If it was taken apart, the league would not have the system that has provided for competitive balance," Stern added.

The players that testified - free agent Dominique Wilkins, Buck

Williams of the Portland Trail Blazers and Danny Manning of the Atlanta Hawks - said money is not the only problem.

I also would like the right, the choice to live in Cleveland if I desire ... and basically give me the rights that every human being has," said Williams.

"This is not about money," Manning said. "I didn't like Los Angeles. ... I wanted to be closer to home."

A temporary restraining order was issued after the playoffs, barring any signings until the matter comes up in court. Duffy continued it until he rules.

Williams, the president of the NBA Players Association, said players helped the National Basketball Association recover from a drug-stained reputation and financial troubles in the early 1980s by accepting salary caps in a collective bargaining agreement.

In questioning several witnesses, NBA lawyer Jeffrey A. Mishkin suggested repeatedly that the NBA enjoyed success today because salary caps and other rules created balanced teams and thrilling games.

Some witnesses, though, insisted that the growth in revenues paralleled greater success at the box office and television contracts for all sports.

Meanwhile, the players said they were unfairly penalized by salary caps that gave them a smaller share of the growth in revenues than they otherwise would get.

McMurtry makes comeback with Astros' farm team

By TIM WAITS Temple Daily Telegram

TEMPLE, Texas - At 34, Craig McMurtry's age and nearly four-year absence from the major leagues have been bright red flags to potential major league suitors.

His allies, however, have been a healthy right arm, a new philosophy toward pitching and a fierce competitive spirit. All that has helped Troy's native son land in Wednesday's Minor League All-Star Game and leaves the possibility alive for a return to the Big Show.

Backed by the urging of Temple native Gene Pemberton, the Houston Astros pulled McMurtry off baseball's scrap heap by inviting him to spring training. He has made the most of what figures to be his last stab at professional baseball.

"I never did doubt my abilities," said the 6-5 righthander, who is a member of the Tuscon Toros, the Astros' AAA affiliate. "Teams just don't want to give a guy who's 34 years old a look.

"It's a deal where I go out there and I don't know if this will be the last time for me, but it could be," he said. "I don't want to let it go by without giving it one last chance. I just want to go out and have fun."

McMurtry is having success at the same time he's having fun in the Arizona Heat.

McMurtry was 5-1 with a Pacific Coast League best 2.74 ERA through Thursday. He has started 10 of his 19 appearances and has a team-high 72 strikeouts in 75 23 innings with just 18 walks. The opposition is hitting .220 off him.

"When he came out in spring training at 34 years old, we were looking for any reason not to keep him," said Tuscon pitching coach Brent Strom. "He wouldn't give us any reason." McMurtry opened the year with Tuscon in long relief, but as needs arose because of injury and major-league call-ups, he has filled the gaps exceptionally. Wednesday he'll be part of the National League staff for the All-Star Game in

"I don't want to downplay (the

"I don't know how many other all-star games I'll play in. I don't want to turn it down.'

McMurtry said he's not throwing the best ball of his life, but it is the best stuff he's had in "five or six

The veteran is finding his niche with a variety of pitches, claiming his fastball, curveball and slider are all getting over the plate. Those, plus his sidearm fastball and curve, have played havoc on right-handed batters. "I mix up all of them, all five instead of one or two," he says, "and some

"He has great command of his breaking ball," said Strom. "The leverage he gets with his height creates a lot of problems for left- and right-handed batters."

The key change in McMurtry's approach is mental. He battles hitters more. "I'm more aggressive," he said. "I'm not pitching defensively."

A return to the majors, if that's in the cards, would be as much a testament to McMurtry's persever-

All-Star Game selection)," he said. ance as his talent. He last pitched in him," said Strom. "He's better than the majors in 1990 with the Texas Rangers.

Since then, he had a two-year stint in Phoenix, then pitched for Buffalo last year before hooking on in Tuscon.

McMurtry won 15 games in his rookie season of 1983 with Atlanta. He's won a combined 13 over the course of five more major league seasons with the Braves and Rangers. His major league won-loss total stands at 28-41.

Obviously, returning to the majors is a goal. The Astros simply haven't had a place for him to date.

"I hope (major league scouts) look beyond their previous reports on McMurtry for putting on catcher's gear a number of people in the majors."

Heck, McMurtry might like to get back to the majors on his offensive prowess alone. He is 4-11 for a .364

It's safe, however, to say he won't get called up for his base running skills. McMurtry was recently caught trying to steal second by a day or so. He joked to Pemberton later that he had to get off the phone so he could teach fleet young outfielder Brian Hunter how to run the bases. Hunter was caught napping and picked off first that night.
"I told him he better leave those baserunners alone," said Pemberton.

Strom has had to rebuke workaholic to warm up other pitchers for fear of injury. McMurtry explained that that was part of his duties in Buffalo.

"He's very confident and one of the leaders on the ballclub," said Strom.
"You can't ask for better work habits. He's competitive and unselfish. It's wonderful to work with him. "I hope he gets rewarded," Strom added. "I've written glowing reports for him."

McMurtry looks at his prospects and career realistically.

"I'm a 34-year-old who's been in the minor leagues," he said. "My career has been up and down, down mostly. Right now I'm enjoying playing. If I do end up back there, that would be great."

ALL STAR

his array of power hitters, Gaston shifted gears in mid-game to play an NL-like game of speed, steals and strategy. It worked: three stolen bases in the sixth and seventh innings led to six runs, and it seemed, the inevitable AL victory.

But it wasn't over. Not even close. Gaston has never managed in the NL, so he didn't know that as soon as Smith steps on a pitching mound in Pittsburgh, he more resembles the batting-practice pitchers in Monday's home run derby than one of the game's greatest relievers ever.

McGriff knew it, and he didn't give up when he fell behind in the count 1-and-2. He had waited the whole game for this chance.

"One of the best moments of my life. I came in to pinch hit when we were down two runs. That's stuff you dream about," he said. "I got a fastball and I hit it out."

Way, way out. Just like Lloyd McClendon, Orlando Merced and Kevin Young - not exactly Ken Griffey Jr., Frank Thomas and Joe Carter - homered off Smith the last time he pitched in Pittsburgh 15 months ago. Lifetime at Three Rivers Stadium, Smith is 3-10 with an ERA approaching four digits and a mindset that seems to border on panic. "This definitely isn't big Lee's favorite place to pitch," Ozzie Smith said. "I can remember Jeff King beating him here, Barry Bonds, Bobby Bonilla, Tom Foley, even Curtis Wilkerson hit one maybe 500 feet off him here for a grand slam. There's no explanation for it, but he does not like to pitch here."

Still, Lee Smith insisted, "It was exactly where I wanted it, down and away. It was a hell of a pitch. I guess he was looking for it.'

The NL got exactly what it was looking for an inning later as a dirty, sweating Gwynn, who played all 10 innings and looked it afterwards, beat shortstop Cal Ripken's relay throw to the plate on Moises Alou's game-winning double off Jason Bere.

The throw and Gwynn arrived at the same time, but Gwynn, a 10-time All-Star not known for his speed, slid his shoe between Rodriguez's legs to

Nutrition facts given

Everyone knows that dads love simple-to-eat foods. And for many fathers, no food is more simple to eat and more satisfying than a can of

It seems everyone has a story to tell about their dad and the amazing sardine sandwiches he could concoct. All the strange fixings he managed to pile between two slices of bread, have given sardine sandwiches the reputation of being a man's type food, eaten standing in the kitchen over the sink or taken along on hunting and fishing trips. Sardines--and especially sardines from the cold, clear waters of the North Atlantic--are packed with nutrition for do-it-all dads. A single can of sardines packed in water contains only about 160 calories but is chock full of protein, heart healthy omega-3 fatty acids, B and D vitamins, and minerals such as calcium and potassium.

Let your dad know sandwiches aren't the only way to enjoy sardines.

Keep a few cans of sardines on hand and share these recipe ides with your

Decorate beautifully on a tight budget

By BARBARA MAYER For AP Special Edition

"Next time you need a story about design at the poverty line, let me know," jokes Mary Ann West. "Other than a $75 beach umbrella, none of the furniture in my house cost more than $15."

West, who recently relocated to New Canaan, Conn., from southern California, has opted for a Caribbean decorating theme to remind her of the tropical colors she left behind. Another reason for the choice was economy.

'I decided that there was no way I could afford serious furniture, so why not have fun?" says West, who relied mainly on paint to refurbish the rooms and furnishings of her 600-square-foot, two-level townhouse. While small, it includes enough space for West and her six-year-old daughter, with a living-dining room and a kitchen on the main level and two bedrooms and a bath on the second floor. There's even a small patio and a garden outside.

Unusual paint finishes are an economical method of adding decorating excitement, and West didn't stint. The sponged paint living room walls are mixture of pink and terra cotta. She created the illusion of a curved canopy on the dining room ceiling with midnight blue paint. The kitchen ceiling is sky blue with painted fluffy white clouds. Near the bathroom ceiling, she put up a wallpaper border depicting violets and green leaves. West then bought a quart of violet paint and used it to make polka dots all over the white-painted walls. The $5 (for the paint) treatment created a similar effect but was less expensive than violet striped wallpaper that she priced at $20 a roll. West painted her bedroom walls white; then, using a combination of white paint and leftover terra cotta paint from the living room, she applied pale terra cotta stripes with

Three named to Dean's Honor List

Jeffery Carlson, James Carter and Jay Kinsey from Hereford have been named to the spring 1994 Dean's Honor List at South Plains College.

"We are very proud of these students for their hard work and dedication to their studies," said Dr. Gary McDaniel, SPC president. "They are a real asset to South Plains

To be eligible for the President's Honor List, students must maintain a 4.0 or straight A grade point average while taking a minimum 12 semester hours. Students named to the Dean's Honor List must maintain a minimum 3.25 GPA.

Actors' Equity Association was organized in 1913.

a three-inch roller in order to create a stylish muted striped effect.

A friend redoing a kitchen gave her some used kitchen cabinets which a carpenter installed in West's bedroom for a $50 labor fee. The cabinets, with a new plywood countertop, now form a complete storage wall. The cabinets were already white and didn't need to be repainted; West gave them a minor touch-up.

There are other items of furniture hand-me-downs as well as items found at charity bazaars, yard sales, and second-hand outlets. Many of the pieces were treated to new colorations. Two cane rockers, once brown, are teal blue. When purchased for $15 apiece at a store carrying used furniture, they had holes in the seats. West recaned them herself.

Some of the accessories with special character, such as the beach umbrella and a large, wooden fish she bought for $5, she found in clearance sections of home furnishings stores. If an item was slightly damaged, she bought it anyway, so long as she could do the repairs herself: the fish was chipped, so she repainted it in tropical colors. West splurged on the 9-foot green-and-white striped umbrella that is the focal point of the living room. It was $75 on sale at Kmart. The umbrella stands open between the two rockers, anchored in a sand-filled stand that she bought for $3.99 in a local discount emporium called The Amazing Store: Other living room furniture includes a $15 Salvation Army sofa, donated side tables and a wrought iron-and-glass coffee table she found at a yard sale, also for $15. All her lamps are giveaways from friends. At a Boy Scout flea market, West found a secretary desk. She painted it salmon pink and applied gold spray paint to the hardware. She also bought three pairs of louvered screens for $1 each. These she now uses two sets as a room divider to separate the living room and dining area and one set in front of a sliding glass door as a kind of window treatment.

Six-foot-tall garden torch lights, live plants and two large floor pillows in hot pink covers add to the Caribbean feeling.

I got the pillows on sale for $3.99 each in the dead of winter," says West. "Hot pink floor pillows probably don't sell well during Connecticut winters.

By spray painting all her lamps black, she was able to impose color order on a disparate conglomeration of shapes. West also relied on paint to transform an old oak dining table with fat legs. Now the top is white and the legs are lavender.

"I enjoy improving my own living sace, says West, who has redecorated all the places she has lived in. "I have always hung my own wallpaper, done my own painting, and I have my own drill and jigsaw.

This do-it-yourselfer is pleased that such skills are catching on with her daughter.

"There was a nail jutting out of a wicker bedtray," says West, "and my daughter just went and got the hammer and whacked it down herself."

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 29year-old woman. I was diagnosed six years ago as having a pituitary tumor. At that time, my doctor prescribed Parlodel. I took it for about a year, but it made me nauseated and nervous, so I stopped taking it. For five years, I have had migraine headaches and mood swings. My menstrual periods have stopped. What do you advise about the diagnosis I had? Incidentally, can I still get pregnant, even though my monthly periods have stopped? - R.A.

ANSWER: From the symptoms you describe today and the medicine prescribed six years ago, I'm presuming that the pituitary gland tumor was contributing too much prolactin, a hormone that promotes milk production and affects menstrual cycles. Typical signs of such overproduction include headaches, breast enlargement and a change in normal cycles. Some women have breast milk production and leakage.

Such tumors can remain stable, perhaps even stop the excess prolactin hormone production; or the tumor might grow and create new problems. Your headaches and mood swings could be evidence of tumor

In any event, loss of your periods must be explained. For whatever reason, you are not making sufficient estrogen, and that brings new fears to the surface concerning bone weakening.

Do not, whatever you do, rely on your absence of periods as a birth control factor. If you do, you could be in for a surprise.

You need to get back with the doctor who examined you so long

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been unable to digest fat for the past few months. My doctor advised waiting a few months before consulting a surgeon about gallbladder removal. Why would gallbladder removal help? Will I need medicine after? What are the negatives of such surgery? — S.P.B.

ANSWER: The gallbladder is a bile storage reservoir. Fat digestion requires lots of that bile, so when the person eats fat, the gallbladder contracts automatically, squeezing bile out into the digestive tract.

The goal of gland removal is to stop the gland contractions. which might be causing pain, as with gallstones. I assume you have gallstones, and guess on my part. Not all digestive symptoms mean gallstone problems. And, in fact, you do not mention Gallbladder removal does not stop digestion or necessitate digestive medicine thereafter. The liver goes right on producing its bile. Without the gallbladder storage facility, your body simply skips that phase in favor of direct excretion from the liver's bile duct into the digestive tract. The gallbladder booklet I'm sending you goes into greater detail. Other readers can order a copy by writing: Dr. Donohue — No. 40, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539, Enclose $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) No. 10 envelope.

DEARDR. DONOHUE: Would you please write about the protime test? What kind of test is it? Why does a person have to have it done every week or so? - A.S.

ANSWER: "Protime" is short for "prothrombin time." prothrombin being one of the blood's key clotting

Many times, when you want to thin a person's blood, you give Coumadin for the purpose. Because Coumadin interferes with prothrombin action, clotting time increases. The protime test measures how well the medicine is working.

The test is done periodically to be sure you are getting the proper amount of Coumadin. Too much would cause bleeding. With too little, you wouldn't get the anti-clotting

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: When I went in to get new eyeglasses, the optometrist said I had high pressure n the eyes. What does that mean? My doctor wants further checks, and says it can be controlled. Is this glaucoma? Can it be halted? How?-

ANSWER: The optometrist has done you a great favor by detecting the pressure rise. Such specialists are a major part of the front line of glaucoma prevention. It is called "glaucoma" when the pressure rises to a point where the optic nerve is threatened. That can lead to blindness. When everything is functioning properly, the eye produces about a teaspoon of fluid daily, which is automatically drained off. That way, a fluid balance is maintained. If something happens to block the drainage, that they are causing pain. That's a a buildup occurs. It all happens so gradually that its effect might not be obvious for some time. And that is why it is so valuable to check eve pressure now and then, not just when getting lens prescriptions.

Does the optometrist's tonometer test automatically mean glaucoma? No, pressure rise is but one sign. You need to take it to the next level and check the optic nerve status and such things as side vision.

Glaucoma responds well to treatment, which often involves eye drops to lower the pressure.

DEARDR. DONOHUE: I read that by age 15, almost everyone has been exposed to the chickenpox virus. Doesn't that mean that everyone will get shingles? As I understand it, shingles is the stirred-up chickenpox virus. Am I right? Will we all eventually get shingles? - I.N.

ANSWER: It's true that at least 90 ercent of us have been exposed to the chickenpox virus. And it's also true that the virus stays with us and is what causes shingles later in life.

There's just one flaw in your logic: While the virus is necessary for shingles, it does not guarantee it. Many escape shingles, because the virus never does get "stirred up," as you say nolols

Son apparently holds reins in North Korea transfer was taken at a party plenary

By PAUL SHIN

Associated Press Writer SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - The transfer of power in secretive North Korea appeared complete today, with the North's media dropping referenc-es to the late Kim II Sung as president approves party decisions.

and party chief. Northern media stopped short of bestowing those titles on Kim's son and heir apparent, 52-year-old Kim Jong II. It had been expected they would wait to do that until after Sunday's state funeral for the elder Kim, who died Friday of a heart attack.

Signs have grown steadily since the death was announced Saturday that Kim Jong II was assuming power.

The South's government-run Naewoe Press, which monitors developments in the North, today cited Radio Pyongyang broadcasts as the strongest indications yet of the younger Kim's ascension.

Northern broadcasts stopped referring to the late Kim as head of state and general secretary of the communist Workers' Party on Tuesday night, Naewoe Press said -suggesting the jobs were being passed on to his son.

Until Tuesday morning, North Korean radio had referred to the elder Kim by those titles. "The Dear Leader (Kim Jong II), the sole successor to the Great Leader, is now revered as the top of the party, the nation and the revolutionary forces," the radio said

The first signs that younger Kim's leadership was being formalized came Monday, when the party's Central Committee met in Pyong-yang. South Korean officials said approval of the younger Kim's leadership was believed to have been

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

... one of the wisest investments a community can make for itself because it attracts new industry. New industry means JOBS and GROWTH for our community.

JOBS bring more people, more businesses, more retail sales, more personal income and a much broader tax base. By supporting this vote for economic development we let others (non-residents) who shop in Hereford help pay our taxes. In addition, every new tax dollar

YOU DON'T HAVE TO PAY!

is a dollar of tax

raised as a result of job creation

WE NEED ECONOMIC DEVELOPN

To get it, WE NEED THE 1/2¢ SALES TAX. Based on current projections, the 1/2¢ sales tax would yield some $330,000 per year which could be used only for specific economic development projects as mandated by state law.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

How Will Economic Development Funds Be Managed?

A five member Economic Development Board will be appointed by the Hereford City Council. They will serve WITHOUT PAY. Funds can be used for:

- Business development recruitment and retention
- · Workforce development education and training
- · Infrastructure development water & waste water, electrical and street improvements
- for job-related projects Facility development - new and existing buildings

Sales Tax? NO! A city sales tax does not affect most essentials. You pay no sales tax on medical services, prescription drugs, most food products, rents, mortgages, gasoline, automobiles, or agriculture items which are exempt.

Will All Purchases Be Affected By The 1/2¢

What Will A 1/2¢ Sales Tax Cost The Average Family?

According to the State Controller, a family with a gross income of $35,000 would pay about 98¢ more per week. The extra pennies are more than offset by savings on your property taxes.

Is This 1/2¢ Sales Tax Permanent?

Only if you, the voters, want it to be. Under state law, what voters vote in, they can vote out.

What's At Stake?

Our very future is at stake. This election is about JOBS. GROWTH, EXPANDING OUR TAX BASE, AND GET-TING HEREFORD ON THE MOVE. A VOTE FOR THE 1/2¢ SALES TAX ON AUG. 13th WILL ALLOW HERE-FORD TO COMPETE, AND HELP SECURE A BRIGHTER FUTURE THAT WILL BENEFIT US ALL.

"We will have space for the state jail felons who are convicted beginning Sept. 1," said Carl Jeffries, deputy director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Under a new law that goes into effect Sept. 1, many property offenses and other nonviolent crimes will become fourth-degree felonies, a new category of crime punishable by up to two years in state jails.

By September 1995, 24,770 state jail beds are to be open at new, community-based lockups, officials

'The other state jail projects are not behind schedule to my knowledge, and we will be occupying each one of them as soon as we can," Jeffries said.

Shopping? Bring Along a Bag

American shoppers use billions of bags annually. But, if we all use just one less a month, we'll cut that use by hundreds of millions a year. That adds up to a BIG BONUS, because one 20year old tree makes only 700 or so brown grocery bags. If your purchase is small, think twice about taking a bag. Or, bring a bag from home to use one more time before it's recycled. Washable canvas shopping bags are inexpensive and last for years.

Sign of the Times

Concerned manufacturers and retailers now label products and shelves to help consumers choose products that are GOOD for the environment. Look for symbols or copy advising which boxes and bags are made from "recycled" paper. Other packages may say "recyclable". These use new raw materials, but at least they are suitable for recycling. So-called "biodegradable" plastics never really break down to more than smaller plastic bits under the ideal conditions. Other bags and bottles may use plastics reclaimed through recycling, consuming no new petroleum products.
