Bush, Richards even as early voting begins

By The Associated Press
With early voting starting today, the race for governor remains a virtual dead heat.

The Texas Poll, published Tuesday in several newspapers, gave Republican George W. Bush 45 percent support, Democratic Gov. Ann Richards 44 percent and Libertarian Keary Ehlers 1 percent. Ten percent were undecided.

"If ever there was a race too close to call, the 1994 Texas governor's race is it," said Candace Windel, the poll's director.

"Given the four percentage point margin of error inherent in a survey sample of this size, a rainstorm or a traffic jam could decide it. The outcome all depends on who turns out to vote and how mad they are when they do," she said.

The Texas Poll was conducted Oct. 6-15 for Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. by the Office of Survey Research of the University of Texas College of Communications. The telephone survey of 675 likely voters had a margin of error of plus or minus four percentage points.

The poll, the latest in a series of surveys, showed Bush continuing to climb slightly from the 39 percent support he had a year ago.

Richards, who had 47 percent support in each of four previous Texas Polls since the fall of 1993, slipped for the first time. The change was within the poll's margin of error.

"The polls show this is still up in the air and up for grabs," Bush said Tuesday. "I really do believe I'm going to win. I can feel it. I can see it."

Richards spokesman Chuck McDonald said the poll surveyed too few women and that skewed the results. "This poll is 52 percent male and 48 percent female, when in 1990 the vote was 53 percent female and 47 percent male," McDonald said.

In-person early voting will run from today through Nov. 4, the Friday before the Nov. 8 election. Officials have said that as many as 25 percent of ballots may be cast during the early voting period.

In other political developments: The Houston Post reported that Bush, who took eight months to notify the government of his sale of stock in a company on whose board he served, also missed the filing deadline for reporting other trades involving Harken Energy.

The newspaper, citing Securities and Exchange Commission records, said it found additional instances in which Bush "ran afoul of the SEC rule requiring notification within 10 days of the end of the month in which the transaction took place."

Bush's lawyer, Robert Jordan, said, "I don't recall right now whether they (filed) those as timely as the rule literally suggests or not."

Geraldine Ferraro, the 1984 Democratic vice presidential nominee, campaigned for Richards. "This race is not just about Ann Richards. Without your help, the door of open government is going to slam shut on election day if Gov. Richards is not re-elected," she told a Monday night gathering of about 500 Richards supporters in Austin.

Pickin' Bales of Cotton

Checking the cotton

David Varner, manager of Hereford Farmers Gin Inc., checks the progress of cotton bolls on the Eric and Jeanette Fowler Farms south of Hereford on Tuesday. Varner said this year's cotton harvest, which has just begun in and around Hereford, looks very good. Above right, another load of cotton is transferred from the cotton stripper to the "boll buggy," which transports the harvested crop from the stripper to the module builder. This work was going on at Circle R Farms south of town, which is owned by Brian and Leander Reinart Jr. Once the cotton reaches Hereford Farmers Gin -- the only cotton gin in the county -- it is pulled into the machinery by a vacuum suction, operated at lower right by Ruben Campos. Optimism high about year's cotton crop in Hereford area

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

As October heads toward November and the air gets cool, some Hereford area farmers are getting ready to harvest their crop.

Look across the fields and it appears that snow has blanketed the plants. But look closer and that "snow" is part of a crop that is gaining a following around the county.

This is David Varner's season, as cotton farmers pull their strippers into the fields and start harvesting the 6,000 acres of cotton grown annually in Deaf Smith County.

Varner, manager of Hereford Farmers Gin Inc., said this year is a sign of things to come in Deaf Smith County cotton farming, adding that he expects more farmers to plant corn next year.

The gin is located on South Main. "We've gotten new varieties that are helping us a lot," he said, as well as harvest aids that enable cotton farmers to bring in their crops without having to wait for that first freeze.

"I think that this year's going to be really good," said Dennis Newton, Deaf Smith County Extension Agent-Agriculture. "It's going to be the best one I've seen in the 11 years I've been here."

Newton expressed optimism that this year's cotton harvest could yield 1-1/2 bales to the acre.

Varner said the first load of cotton arrived at the gin on Oct. 13 from Eric Fowler. That load made the county's first bale of cotton.

Varner said there are varieties that mature quickly, allowing farmers to have high-quality bolls ready for harvest sooner than they could have in the past.

Newton said he has heard talk around the county that more farmers will plant cotton next year because of the crop's lower demand for water, although that talk may have come about because of this year's hot, dry summer that required more irrigation of corn.

Newton agreed with Varner that the development of cotton varieties suited to this area are what has helped improve the yields and increase acreage.

Cotton, Newton said, is a tropical plant that, "if the freeze doesn't kill it, it'll keep growing."

Now, however, there are new "terminant" varieties that put out fruit, then quit growing.

Although cotton crops don't need as much water as corn, Newton said county cotton does get more water than does that grown in the South Plains.

"A lot of it is what I'd call semi-irrigated," he said, with water applied before planting, then again once or twice during the early part of the season. The rest of the time the cotton is left alone, watered by rainfall.

"The biggest portion of the cotton will get some irrigation water," he said.

On Tuesday, Varner described the process cotton goes to from field to Local man hurts hand in accident at plant

A Hereford man was hospitalized in Amarillo today after an industrial accident on Tuesday.

Gilbert Leal was listed in satisfactory condition at High Plains Baptist Hospital after undergoing surgery Tuesday afternoon for injuries to his right hand.

According to reports, Leal, who is about 40 years old, was working at Holly Sugar's main plant at about 1:20 p.m. when his right hand got caught in some machinery.

The hand, which had been initially reported as being cut off, was crushed by the machinery.

Fellow employees were able to remove Leal from the machine and put him in a pickup, then drove him to meet Hereford EMS on South Kingwood.

Leal was stabilized at the scene, then transported to Northwest Texas Hospital by Medivac helicopter.

He underwent surgery on the hand Tuesday afternoon at Northwest Texas, then was transferred to High Plains Baptist later in the day. This was Leal's second season to work at the sugar plant.

Flood waters continue to rise

HOUSTON (AP) - Gene Kirsch braved the swirling fire ant- and snake-infested waters of the San Jacinto River to climb into his flood-ravaged home and claim a treasured memory.

"It's my wedding dress," said Diane Kirsch, clutching the box and embracing her husband of 34 years. "It's important and I'm glad to get it back. We've had so many years together, our kids, our nice life. Those are the only valuable things we went back for."

The Kirschs were among thousands forced from their residences Tuesday by flooding with more than 2 feet of rain in some areas.

At least eight people were dead and two were missing and presumed drowned from floods that began Sunday. More than 10,000 people were estimated to have fled their homes and 42 evacuation centers were opened around southeast Texas for those left homeless.

"I've seen this city respond in a very orderly fashion," Houston Mayor Bob Lanier said after touring flooded areas in a fire truck. "People may get hurt and some property damaged or destroyed. We'll try to temporarily house them, try to protect them as best we can and get them some financial relief."

Among the shelters was the Houston Astrohall, adjacent to the Astrodome, and near a southeast Houston area where more than 450 people were ferried out of fast-rising waters of Sims Bayou by fire department airboats and fire trucks. "It's just a matter of pulling up, letting them climb in and taking them to safe ground," Fire Capt. Robert Small said, piloting an airboat in and out of the neighborhood.

"I've been here since '75 and we've never had a problem like that," said Dante Thomas, 25, pointing to the swollen streets of waist-deep water.

"My momma just got her home remodeled and got a new car, not even four months old. It's in the driveway, under water."

"It's pretty devastating, pretty awesome," said Gov. Ann Richards, who designated 48 counties as state disaster areas and summoned some 330 National Guard troops to help with evacuations and security. President Clinton declared 26 counties federal disaster areas.

"We're going to try to prevent any looting that might take place where those people had to abandon their homes," Richards said.

The Coast Guard also sent helicopters from as far away as New Orleans to pluck frightened residents from the roofs of their homes. Four more National Guard choppers were headed today into hard-hit Montgomery County, just north of Houston.

"There's very little hope it's going to stop for awhile," Richards said, noting that the forecasts continued to call for rain. "What we're seeing now is just a part of it."

Late Tuesday the level of Lake Houston hit 51.3 feet, 7-feet-over flood stage. The San Jacinto River was at 63.3 feet, 13-feet-above flood stage.

"Your biggest problems are the snakes and fire ants and the fences you can't see," Caroline Traglano, helping evacuate people from the Cypress Creek area of northwest Harris County, said.

Problems also were spreading beyond immediate Houston to spots southwest of the city.

Early today, nearly the entire eastern half of Texas, all the area east of Interstate 35, was under at least a flood watch. Nearly a dozen counties in southeast Texas in the Houston area were under a flood warning.

The Texas Transportation Department, fearing rising river and creek levels, closed U.S. Highway 59 from just outside Houston to Victoria, a nearly 100-mile stretch of road. More than 800 roads were listed as closed throughout Texas due to flood problems.

Some officials worried that continuing rains would allow the disaster to reach record proportions.

Probation revoked here

A seven-year term in prison was assessed a defendant on revocation of probation in 222nd District Court.

Terms of probation were modified for two other defendants and sentences were pronounced for two persons who entered guilty pleas, during the court session Monday.

Esequiel Mendoza, originally sentenced to an eight-year probation term, was ordered to Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division for seven years on revocation of his probation by Judge David Wesley Gulley.

A five-year probation sentence was given Reymundo Salas Ayala, 43, on his plea of guilty to felony driving while intoxicated.

Charged with possession of methamphetamines with intent to deliver, Jesse Steve Chilton Sr., 38, was sentenced to 10 years' probation after entering a plea of guilty to the charge.

Terms of probation were modified for Juan O. Lopez Jr., and Clemente Zavala. Both men were convicted of felony driving while intoxicated.

Judge Gulley granted probation to Gilbert Cano, who completed a sentence in boot camp. He will serve five years' probation for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

City's October sales tax rebate dips some Hereford's sales tax rebate for October was $56,881, which represented a 1.5 percent decrease from the same month a year ago. The payment includes the 1 percent tax collected on August sales.

While the monthly payment was down, the year-to-date total of $573,144 is still ahead of last year's payments of $566,344.

Deaf Smith County's check for October amounted to $30,927. The half-percent sales tax rebate last October was $31,182. The year-to-date total of $296,380 was ahead of last year's total of $292,471.

State Comptroller John Sharp announced that job growth in metro areas had pushed the total of state payments to 9.7 percent over the same time a year ago.

Amarillo's 2 percent rebate drew a check of $2.57 million, up 8.8 percent over the same month a year ago. Houston always leads the top 20 cities on tax rebates, while Amarillo ranked 8th in the state and Lubbock was 12th.

Other cities in the area, with tax rate and October check, were: Plainview (1.5) $186,393; Pampa (2.0) $205,047; Borger (2.0) $147,734; Dumas (1.0) $62,305; Perryton (2.0) $40,343; Levelland (1.5) $110,702; Dimmitt (1.5) $25,029; Friona (1.0) $9,004.

Clinton to address parliaments in Jordan, Israel, may go to Syria

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton will address the Israeli and Jordanian parliaments and visit U.S. troops in Kuwait on his Mideast trip next week, and his advisers are considering a meeting with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

The schedule was still open Tuesday night, with consideration also being given to a brief detour to Cairo to see Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, whose advice on the views of Arab leaders has benefited the Bush and Clinton administrations.

If Clinton decides to go to Damascus and to Cairo it would be the most extensive presidential trip to the Middle East since Richard Nixon's 18 years ago. Jimmy Carter also made an important trip in 1978, prodding Israel and Egypt toward the peace treaty they signed in 1979.

The centerpiece of Clinton's first trip to the Middle East as president is the signing next Wednesday of a peace treaty between Israel and Jordan on the two countries' border. Negotiations were held largely without U.S. involvement, but the president is pleased to share in the celebration of Israel's second treaty with an Arab country.

Clinton's likely theme is the changing face of the Middle East, the growing acceptance of Israel in the Arab world. Tuesday evening, for instance, Israel's ambassador, Itamar Rabinovich, was a guest at the independence day celebration of Qatar, an oil-rich Persian Gulf state that has eased its economic boycott of the Jewish state.

Clinton will send Secretary of State Warren Christopher ahead to talk to Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin in Jerusalem and sniff out any issues that might be helped by presidential intervention.

White House press secretary Dee Dee Myers said Tuesday that details of next week's trip had not been finalized. Other administration officials told The Associated Press that visits to Egypt and Syria were under consideration.

Asked Tuesday night if there was a decision yet on a meeting with Assad, an official replied: "Too early."

Clinton is expected to leave next Tuesday night, with Christopher flying to Jerusalem 24 hours earlier.

Ginning the cotton

Once cotton bolls harvested from area fields reach Hereford Farmers Gin, it is processed to remove the seeds, leaves, sticks and burrs, leaving behind refined bales of cotton. Here, Raul Mendez and Oscar Machado monitor the cotton as it passes through the refining machinery at the gin.

Stripping of cotton around Hereford is just gearing up. Varner said production is increasing as more fields are killed off.

However, he noted, full production will not begin until after the first freeze kills off plants of farmers who do not do so chemically.

In a field south of Hereford, Varner looked across fields farmed by Eric and Jeanette Fowler, noting that the crop was just about ready to be stripped.

Nearby, Circle R Farms was stripping cotton from fields, with a four-row stripper stopping periodically to transfer its contents to a "boll buggy," which enables the stripper to keep working instead of having to make frequent trips to a module builder.

Varner said the module builder takes the cotton from the field -- which at this point still contains leaves, twigs, burrs and unopened green bolls -- and compresses them into a large block.

"An average module is about 20,000 pounds and makes about 10 bales of cotton," he said.

Later, the gin will come by the field and pick up the module in a specially-designed truck that carefully lifts the module from the ground for transport to the gin.

At the gin, large vacuum hoses suck the cotton into the gin. Heavy objects such as green bolls and larger particles fall out before entering the ginning machinery.

The process of ginning, Varner said, removes all foreign objects from the cotton -- sticks, burrs, leaves and the cotton seed.

The seeds are pulled from the bolls and deposited in a shed at the back of the gin. Varner said those are sold either to as cattle feed to dairies or to oil mills to make cottonseed oil.

Once the cotton is cleaned, it is compressed into large bales that are put in yellow bags and prepared for transport to a warehouse.

Of the bales, "2,000 pounds is about the average it takes to make a bale of cotton," Varner said.

The bales are loaded on flatbed trucks and shipped to a warehouse in Tulia for storage until they are sold.

Varner serves as marketing agent for the gin, arranging purchasers for the cotton who will pick it up at the warehouse and transport it to mills or arrange for export to other countries.

Varner said the good outlook for county cotton will help his gin as well.

Currently, he said, "we gin right now approximately 10 bales an hour."

In the near future, he said, he plans to begin upgrading that to an ultimate capacity of 20 per hour.

Varner said if the weather holds, he will be working cotton from now until Christmas.

Bomb in Tel Aviv kills 22

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - A terrorist bomb shattered a bus in the heart of Tel Aviv's shopping district today in an apparent suicide attack by Islamic militants. Police said 22 people were killed and 48 wounded.

Israeli officials warned of retaliation following the blast, the third major attack in 11 days claimed by radicals of the Hamas group who oppose Israel-Arab peacemaking.

Authorities said they believed a suicide bomber, reportedly carrying about 110 pounds of explosives, boarded red-and-white Dan bus No. 5 headed up tree-lined Dizengoff Street in the center of Israel's largest city.

The 9 a.m. explosion ripped apart the northbound commuter bus and wrecked a second bus that was passing in the other direction.

"People went flying into the air, arms and legs. It was a very terrible thing," said Moshe Reiner, who was walking to work when the blast occurred.

The bus, a charred skeleton of twisted metal, stood in the middle of the city's main street with bodies of women and a child sprawled on the sidewalk.

Police spokeswoman Eti Greenburg said 22 people were killed and 48 wounded. She said authorities had not ruled out the possibility that the bomb was planted.

Officials threatened reprisals. President Ezer Weizman said Israel would have to take "extraordinary action" to find the roots of the Islamic extremist groups and "rip them to pieces."

Westex FLBA notes rights of landowners

DIMMITT - In recognition of the importance of private property rights in Texas, the Westex Federal Land Bank Association is commemorating all landowners during this year's annual Landowner's Rights Week as designated by the Texas Legislature.

The association is one of many observing the week of Oct. 16-22 as Landowner's Rights Week. In accordance with the state resolution passed during the last legislative session and in light of recent events across the state involving property rights, the association salutes the farmers and ranchers who provide the food, shelter and fiber of this nation.

"As agricultural lenders, our objective is to improve the income and well-being of American farmers and ranchers," said association president John Morris. "We support the rights of property owners to be able to produce and make a living on their land. Laws such as the Endangered Species Act and the Clean Water Act are lowering land values, impacting tax bases and creating compulsory land use situations which are not in the best interest of our stockholders or the rural communities in which they live."

"These detrimental laws and regulations in turn affect financial institutions' ability to serve the credit needs of agriculture," he continued. "If these issues are not addressed properly and fairly, the very fabric and economy of this community and nation will suffer."

The Westex FLBA has 568 member/borrowers in four counties, with approximately $61 million in outstanding loans.

Realtors see video on property rights

A video concerning property rights, "Who Owns the Land? When the Environment collides with the Constitution," was shown Tuesday when the Hereford Board of Realtors held a monthly luncheon meeting at Hereford Country Club.

Mark Andrews presided at the meeting and introduced the film. He also reported on programs presented at the Texas Association of Realtors convention. Andrews, Jigger Rowland and Don Tardy represented the local board at the meeting.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your notion that cats make good pets because they don't annoy the neighbors missed the point completely. Undoubtedly, you have lived your entire life in an apartment building, otherwise, you would see cats in a totally different light.

I live in one of the nicest subdivisions in the East. I am sick and tired of my neighbors' cats being turned loose after dark. Every night, I am awakened by a cat fight under my window. I must get out of bed, go outside and chase the cats away so I can get a decent night's sleep.

The patio furniture gets damaged, and the storm doors get sprayed. So far, I haven't found anything that will get rid of the odor. The flower beds and shrubs have been destroyed after being used as a litter box. Replacing them is useless and expensive.

A most disturbing experience is to have someone ring your doorbell on Easter Sunday before you have had time to check the front porch. The first thing you see is a bloody stain and a dead bird or squirrel left there by a neighbor's cat.

My sentiment is this: If you want to have a cat, keep it on your own premises at all times. There should be a leash law enforced for cats as well as dogs. Thank you for listening.--No Cat Lover

DEAR N.C.L.: I can understand why you are fed up with cats, and I don't blame you. Too many cat owners fail to grasp the importance of having their cats spayed or neutered, which is the only humane way to control the cat population. This procedure also makes a cat more welcome since it reduces the howling and spraying.

If cat owners would keep their pets indoors and adequately fed, the hunting instinct would also be sharply curtailed. Please, folks, no more cat letters. There are at least 40 million cat owners in the United States and Canada, and I think I have heard from at least half of them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I say something to your pint-sized reader who was complaining about how tough it is to be short?

I am 6 foot 6 and have tried all my life to be just a face in the crowd. But there is always someone who makes a point of how tall I am and asks endless questions. Yes, I AM as tall as Michael Jordan. No, I don't play basketball. No, my girlfriend is only 5 foot 2, but that is no ta problem.

When I buy clothes, I have to trust a catalog, go to a tall men's store and pay a lot more or be content with a poor fit. I have to sleep diagonally in a queen-sized bed, let my feet hang over the end or sleep curled up in a ball.

At any rate, I'm used to my height and have learned to deal all day long with people who are shorter. I have pat answers to all their questions because I've heard them dozens of times.

It certainly would be nice to be accepted as I am -- minus the third degree. Printing my letter might help.--D.Z., Ventura, Calif.

DEAR D.Z.: Don't bet the rent. Most people say the first thing that comes into their head. Take comfort in knowing that given a choice, almost everyone would peer to be too tall rather than too short.

Gem of the Day: An old-timer is a man who has had a lot of interesting experiences--some of which may even be true.

Baa, Baa, Black Sheep

NEW YORK (AP) - Black sheep got a bad rap because their wool was considered useless.

But Eileen Fisher bought black and other natural wools from Winston Natural Wool of Rutland, Vt., for her fall sportswear collection. These natural colors, she says, eliminate the need for dye or chemical treatments, which can be harmful to the environment. Also, natural colors won't fade.

Fabrics include solids in natural black and deep taupe and a cream and black basketweave. Styles include jackets, vests, pants, a wrap skirt and a rollneck sweater.

Too Many People Suffer Back Problems

Back problems are the most commonly suffered maladies in our society and there is a reason! Modern society has become highly complex, not only in the workplace, but in every area of the human environment. Technological changes and their effects on the human being have created new stresses, many of them related to body and structure. At its best, this results in discomfort, dissatisfaction and limited performance; at its worst, it results in serious health problems. You can do something about that back problem. The doctor of chiropractic is a physician who considers the human as an integrated being, but gives special attention to spinal mechanics and neurological, muscular and vascular relationships.

Netters clinch regionals; Dumas has three losses

The Hereford tennis team's win Saturday over Pampa did clinch a spot in the Region I-4A tournament. There was some doubt, because Hereford coach Ed Coplen didn't know the record of Dumas, Hereford's last opponent. Coplen found out Tuesday that Dumas has three losses, which means Hereford is in.

Borger has already clinched the district, with a 5-0 record going into the last weekend of play. Hereford is 4-1 with a loss to Borger. Pampa and Canyon each have at least two losses, but even if Hereford loses to Dumas, Hereford has the tie-breaker over Pampa and Canyon: Hereford beat both of them.

Hereford will play Dumas Saturday in Dumas, starting at 10 a.m. The regional tournament will be Oct. 28-29 in Lubbock.

HJH gridders win in Friona

Hereford's seventh grade Maroon B football team went to Friona and took a 26-0 win, but that was the only HJH team that won Tuesday.

Daniel Carnahan led the winners with two touchdown runs, of 20 and 60 yards. Rodey Wilson also ran five yards for a score and ran for the two-point conversion. Brian Hysinger added a 4-yard TD run.

The seventh White A team nearly beat a strong Borger team in Hereford, but fell 16-14 in a game that saw both defenses force several turnovers in the clutch.

Hereford scored twice early in the first half, on a nine-yard run by L.J. Vallejo and a 35-yard run by Tony Lopez, after which Matt Lusk ran for a two-point conversion.

Hereford forced three Borger turnovers deep in Herd territory to preserve the lead, but a Hereford fumble on its own one-yard line set up Borger for a touchdown and the go-ahead two-point run.

The B team lost 26-6, with Chris Diller scoring for Hereford on an eight-yard run.

In Borger, the eighth grade White A team lost 20-0 and the B team lost 20-6. In the B game, Leroy Galan scored on a 70-yard run, and Brent Carlson picked off a Borger pass.

Three teams were off this week: the seventh Maroon A and the eighth Maroon teams.

In a 1966 game, the Washington Redskins and New York Giants scored a record 16 touchdowns between them.

JV spikers get 21st win

Although the varsity volleyball team took Tuesday off from the schedule, Hereford's powerhouse junior varsity team went to Plainview and picked up an easy win by the score of 15-3, 15-3 over the Plainview JV.

The Hereford JV improved to 21-3 on the season.

Plainview is trying to restart its volleyball program and doesn't have a varsity team this season. Their JV is their top team, and they're struggling with growing pains.

"They couldn't handle our serves at all," coach Royce Spies said. "We had seven aces."

Julie Rampley and Cassie Abney each had two aces, and Julie Cole, Katie Betzen and Raquel Villareal each had one. Cole served for 14 points in the match, including 11 in a row in the second game.

Cowboys missing Stepnoski Tuinei on ailing offensive line

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
 AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - No coach wants a crippled offensive line when his team is going against a blitzing, gambling, aggressive team like the Arizona Cardinals.

But that's what Dallas coach Barry Switzer will have on Sunday when the Cowboys meet the Cardinals for the second time in three weeks.

The Cowboys are missing two of the best players in their offensive line, and Switzer is concerned quarterback Troy Aikman might take a beating.

Pro Bowl center Mark Stepnoski has a sprained ankle, and left offensive tackle Mark Tuinei has a sprained right big toe that hinders his mobility.

In a 38-3 victory over Arizona on Oct. 9, Aikman threw two touchdowns passes against the blitzing Cardinals but took some big hits in the process. He had a sore back for several days after the game.

"I don't think Step is going to play," Switzer said. "Tuinei is a big question mark. It's hard to come back from the kind of sprained ankle Step has, and Mark can't get around."

The required juggling in the offensive line has Switzer nervous.

"We can't play Dale Hellestrae at center like we did when Step went out against Philadelphia because you need a big center with (Arizona's) Eric Swann on the line," Switzer said. "It would be a mismatch. Dale isn't as physical or as strong as Eric."

Switzer said the Cowboys could move Derek Kennard from guard to center and put rookie Larry Allen, who played well two weeks ago against the Cardinals, at either tackle or guard. Seldom-used Ron Stone could fit into the equation at guard.

"It's a big concern because of the philosophy of their defense," Switzer said. "It's so important to make the right blocking decisions. Troy took some hits last time. We know they'll be coming after him again."

Then Switzer joked: "The Cardinals are running 40 plays a game, and we might, too. It might be a game where you see 80 running plays."

This is the first time rookie coach Switzer has had to deal with playing an opponent a second time in a season.

"It's a unique experience for me," Switzer said. "We got a lot of turnovers against them the last time for the game to get out of hand. I see they are running on first, second, and third downs now and letting the defense try to win the game. They aren't going to allow their own offense to beat them."

Switzer said he will talk to the team about being overconfident but added: "These guys have been there before. They know what can happen in the NFL."

Aikman said: "This team has never had a problem with focus. We've always been pretty good about putting previous games out of our mind. We know the Cardinals will be a tough test in Phoenix. They always are."

Class 4A could put 3 teams in playoffs from each district

By CHIP BROWN
 Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - The University Interscholastic League's Legislative Council has taken steps aimed at helping Class 4A high schools prepare for an impending expansion.

The council approved a measure Tuesday that will allow Class 4A superintendents to vote on whether a third team from each district should be admitted into playoffs for football, baseball, basketball, soccer, softball and volleyball.

The superintendents have indicated in surveys that they would approve such a measure.

Currently, only Class 5A allows three teams from each district to enter team sports playoffs.

"The same positive advantages that were instituted in 5A I think you will see in 4A," said Virgil D. Tiemann, superintendent of Columbia-Brazoria Independent School District and chairman of the UIL's Legislative Council.

"More kids would be able to participate in activities that are good and wholesome. With a third team going into the playoffs, the anticipation in communities for a possible championship stay alive longer."

"I don't see any added cost. I think it's good for kids and communities."

Boston Red Sox hire Kennedy on rebound

BOSTON (AP) - Kevin Kennedy doesn't have the reputation as a players' manager that Butch Hobson had. More importantly, Kennedy is the general manager's manager. Red Sox general manager Dan Duquette brought in his own man Tuesday when he hired Kennedy to succeed Hobson, who was fired Sept. 20 as Boston's manager. Less than two months after Duquette became Montreal's general manager Sept. 19, 1991, he hired Kennedy as director of minor league field operations. Seven months later, Kennedy was named major-league dugout coach. "We worked very well together," he said. "I know what Dan's all about, so this is really the first and only place, at this time, I'd want to be." Duquette, who joined the Red Sox last January, inherited Hobson as manager. There was speculation all season that Duquette would prefer to make his own choice for that job. Kennedy, who had one year left on his contract with the Texas Rangers, faced the same job security problem when Doug Melvin became general manager after the strike-shortened season. Last Wednesday, Kennedy was dismissed. Melvin said he wanted to start with a "clean slate." Kennedy understood.

"I don't think there's any secret that when there's change, a lot of times a general manager has that right to bring his own people in," he said. "I pretty much knew my situation." "We had an inkling he would be available a couple of weeks ago," Duquette said. Kennedy, 40, is the only one of four managers fired after the season to get another managing job. He might still be waiting had Tony La Russa not agreed Tuesday to a 3-year contract extension as manager of the Oakland A's. La Russa was widely believed to be Duquette's top choice, although the general manager said with a smile Tuesday that it was coincidental that both announcements came the same day. The AL Manager of the Year voting also was announced Tuesday, with Buck Showalter was the overwhelming winner. La Russa was fourth and Hobson sixth. Kennedy didn't get any votes. Hobson is still unemployed. In his three seasons with the Red Sox, Hobson almost never criticized a player publicly. In Texas, there reportedly were grumblings in the clubhouse. The Rangers finished first in the AL West with a 52-62 record. They lost their last six games and finished one game ahead of Oakland. "Anytime you struggle and you lose six straight and you have a team that had high expectations, you're going to have some people that are unhappy," Kennedy said. "I know Jose Canseco said some very nice things (about Kennedy) on the air in Texas the other day. "I'm a disciplinarian, but I'm also a players' manager." "If you're a no-nonsense manager, you're going to have some griping," Duquette said. "His relationship with the players will be fine as long as we win games." That was an elusive goal under Hobson. He presided over three straight losing seasons, Boston's longest stretch without a winning record since 1959-1966. The Red Sox were 207-232 under him and 54-61 in 1994 when they finished fourth in the AL East, 17 games out of first place. Texas finished second in the AL

West in 1993 with an 86-76 record and was 138-138 in Kennedy's two seasons. The day he was fired, Kennedy spoke with Duquette. They met in Boston last Thursday and Friday. Duquette also had interviewed Johnny Oates after he was fired by Baltimore and Yankees coach Rick Down. But Kennedy, who had spent eight seasons managing in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization, appeared to be the leading candidate from the moment the Rangers fired him. "We share the same basic philosophy that power hitting and power pitching wins the games," Duquette said. The day he was fired, Kennedy declared, "I'll be back." On Monday, after less than a week of unemployment, he was offered the Boston job. "I'm happy it happened fast," Kennedy said. "When I got the call, I was elated."

Baseball owners, players plan meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) - Baseball players and owners finally resume negotiations today, this time with new mediator W.J. Uesery. Still, it's clear the sides didn't have much to talk about. "It's preliminary," union head Donald Fehr said Tuesday. "I think just ground rules." The sides haven't talked formally in 40 days. Owners still demand a salary cap, and players say they'll never accept one. "Tomorrow is a day the process begins and we'll go from there," acting commissioner Bud Selig said Tuesday. Eleven members of management's bargaining group met Tuesday in Washington with Richard Ravitch, their head negotiator. Fehr said several players were planning to attend today's meeting, just the fourth since the union struck Aug. 12. Uesery, picked by the Clinton Administration last Friday, is considered the top mediator in the country. He wasn't talking about his expectations, or even how long the meeting would last. "I don't know," he said. "I'll talk after the meeting." The sides last met Sept. 9, five days before owners canceled the World Series for the first time since 1904. Selig attended that meeting but didn't plan to go today's. "He's a very aggressive guy and I like that," Selig said of Uesery. "He has a commitment from me that I will be there whenever he or I think I should be." Boston chief executive officer John Harrington and Colorado chairman Jerry McMorris, who appear to be the owners the union feels most comfortable with, will be at the meeting. So will Selig's daughter, Wendy Selig-Prieb, the Brewers' general counsel.

Other owners attending the talks are Jerry Reinsdorf of the Chicago White Sox and Drayton McLane of the Houston Astros. They will be joined by Atlanta Braves chairman Bill Bartholomay, Kansas City Royals CEO David Glass, Chicago Cubs president Andy MacPhail, Braves president Stan Kasten, former St. Louis CEO Stuart Meyer and Philadelphia executive vice president Dave Montgomery. Paul Beeston, the Toronto Blue Jays president, will be unable to attend because of a prior commitment.

Rangers may have managerial prospects narrowed to Oates

DALLAS (AP) - Johnny Oates should win the Texas Rangers' managerial job because there aren't any other candidates, according to a published report. The Dallas Morning News reported today that general manager Doug Melvin eliminated the other two prospects: Cleveland infield coach Buddy Bell and Oakland pitching coach Dave Duncan. Bell was dropped because of his tepid response to an interview request. Melvin followed that by telling Duncan the matter was closed. "He said there was no reason to talk to me, that they already had made their choice," Duncan told the newspaper from his home in Arizona. Oates could be unveiled as the fourth Rangers manager in 29 months as soon as Wednesday. He would replace Kevin Kennedy, who was fired by Melvin then beat out Oates for the Boston job. Melvin could not be reached for comment Tuesday night. Bell indicated he wanted to talk with his family, Cleveland general manager John Hart and manager Mike Hargrove before deciding if he should come to Arlington for an interview. "This isn't a knock at Buddy, but I didn't get a feeling the enthusiasm was there," Melvin said earlier Tuesday. "When you ask somebody to interview for a job like this, you expect to hear, 'When do you want me there.' We need to speed this process up." Bell couldn't be reached for comment, but earlier Tuesday he called the Rangers' job "appealing." However, he also said that "on the other hand, I've got a good situation here. Managing is a goal, but I'm not going to do it just to do it. I'm not obsessed with managing." Melvin opened the search with two candidates: Cleveland pitching coach Phil Regan and Oates. Regan bowed out Sunday, becoming Baltimore's manager. Baltimore owner Peter Angelos fired Oates as manager in September after the Orioles finished second in the American League East at 63-49. Oates finished at Baltimore with three consecutive winning seasons and a 291-270 record overall. Oates' 237-199 record for the last three seasons is third-best in the American League for that span. Chicago's Gene Lamont (247-190) and Toronto's Cito Gaston (246-193) ranked ahead of Oates.

The Melvin-Oates relationship began with the New York Yankees in 1980, when Melvin was a combination batting-practice pitcher and scouting-report coordinator. Oates was playing out his career. Melvin, as Baltimore's assistant general manager, hired Oates as manager with Class AAA Rochester in 1988. Oates joined Baltimore's major league staff a year later and replaced Frank Robinson as manager during the 1991 season. Oates had a 54-71 record that season, his only losing mark in seven years of managing at all levels. The new coaching staff also will bear a Baltimore flavor. Jerry Narron is expected to accompany Oates as the third-base coach. Former Baltimore minor league instructor Moe Drabowsky is a leading candidate for the pitching-coach job. Drabowsky served as the Chicago Cubs' pitching coach this season. Melvin also interviewed Colorado minor league manager Rudy Jaramillo, a former hitting instructor in the Rangers' organization. Melvin said Jaramillo, a Dallas resident, is "a good, interesting guy," but a decision on a hitting coach will be held off until after a manager is hired.

Tarpley suffers slight knee injury

DALLAS (AP) - Newly reinstated Dallas Maverick Roy Tarpley will miss two preseason games because of a bruised knee, which coach Dick Motta said could set him back since he's out of shape and has lost too much weight. Tarpley bruised his knee during Monday night practice, but the injury isn't the only problem. Motta said Tarpley's lack of conditioning has worried him since the start of training camp. He attributed the problem to a case of pancreatitis that put Tarpley in the hospital for five days this summer. Pancreatitis, a gastro-intestinal disorder, is inflammation of the pancreas. "He's not in as good of shape as I expected him to be," Motta said. "The doctor said that he lost 30 pounds. I wasn't aware that he was sick. In fact, I didn't even know he'd been in the hospital until after he got out." Tarpley said right now he's trying to get his strength back and build his muscles back up. "It's going to come, because I'm a hard worker. I'm just a little frustrated right now, after falling and hurting my knee," Tarpley said.

The NBA reinstated Tarpley, 29, earlier this month after he was kicked out of the league in 1991 for violating the substance-abuse policy. The Mavericks immediately signed him to a six-year, multimillion-dollar contract. The 7-foot Tarpley reported to the Mavericks at about 245 pounds. He played at about 260 the first time he was with the team. Motta said Tarpley's weight loss may have explained his lack of progress in training camp. Team doctor T.O. Souryal said much of the weight loss was muscle. He also said Tarpley appeared to be healthy when he passed his physical before joining the team two weeks ago. "Right now, it's a matter of him regaining the muscle mass he lost. It's not really about conditioning, it's about stamina," Souryal said.

Forego's Titles
NEW YORK (AP) - Forego, who ran in the silks of the Lazy F Ranch, is the only horse ever to win "Horse of the Year" honors three times. Forego did it in successive years, 1974, 1975 and 1976. One of his most spectacular victories came in his finale for the 1976 season. The big stretch-runner, ridden by Bill Shoemaker, carried 137 pounds and ran down the flying pacemaker, Honest Pleasure, with a furious run through the stretch.

Turf Climbing
NEW YORK (AP) - When you read about a race-horse "climbing" it has nothing to do with going up hill. Climbing in the lexicon of the turf means a fault in a horse's stride which has him running with his front legs reaching out and up instead of in rhythm.

Corsicana junior RB sets pace in Class 4A

By JAIME ARON
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The player who arguably is the best high school running back in the state this year won't be playing college football next season.

Ketric Sanford will be back for his senior season at Corsicana to see if he can do even better than he's done so far as a junior.

Sanford continued his solid season last weekend with 238 yards and five touchdowns on 27 carries in a 35-7 victory over Whitehouse.

He now has a Class 4A-best 1,548 yards on 233 carries, an average of 6.6 yards per carry, and he holds top billing on this week's Associated Press honor roll.

"Every time he gets the ball, it's a new experience and he learns things," Corsicana coach Tom Wilson said. "He develops some different moves each week and his vision keeps getting better."

"The best thing about him is that he's just a junior."
Sanford exploded on the scene as a sophomore with 1,385 yards in just six games after the senior starter in front of him was hurt.

In the off-season, the 5-foot-9 Sanford added about 13 pounds of muscle to his upper body, putting him at 185 pounds. The extra weight has translated into more strength, toughness and durability this season.

There's no doubt that Wilson, who was head football coach at Texas A&M from 1978-81, is a huge Sanford fan. He's changed the Corsicana offense to revolve around Sanford getting 30 to 32 carries per game and each week Wilson just loves watching Sanford run.

So much success at such a young age can sometimes cause egos to erupt or personalities to change. Keeping with his golden image, Sanford has remained the same quiet, soft-spoken teen he was before, Wilson said.

In other outstanding Week Seven performances:

- Burkeville's Jeff Spikes continues putting up the state's gaudiest numbers, this time gaining 318 yards on just 13 carries in a 67-2 victory over High Island. He scored on runs of 80, 76, 37 and 64 yards, giving him 1,462 yards in six games.

- Fort Worth Paschal's Stanley Johnson, who earlier this season had one of the nation's best-ever receiving games, caught eight passes for 227 yards and TDs of 83 and 88 yards in a 37-0 victory over Fort Worth Trimble Tech. He also returned a kickoff 89 yards for another score.

- One of the do-it-all players of the week is Enrique Waldo of Laredo Cigarroa. In a 42-0 victory over Laredo United South, Waldo scored on runs of 15 and 5 yards, caught TD passes of 32 and 2 yards, and returned an interception 45 yards for a fifth TD. He also was in on 10 tackles and had a second pickoff.

- Refugio's Toya Jones also was everywhere, rushing 10 times for 115 yards and two TDs, catching four passes for 85 yards and a TD, and returning a kickoff 75 yards for a TD in a 68-6 victory over Pettus.

- Killen's Vaughn Carpenter ran 21 times for 241 yards and TDs of 18, 51 and 67 yards in a 41-10 victory over Georgetown. He had 211 yards on 12 carries at halftime.

- El Paso Eastwood's Darius Ellison, a senior receiver getting his first start of the season at running back, ran 10 times for 239 yards and six TDs in a 46-8 victory over El Paso Montwood.

- Borger's Cornell Jones rushed 25 times for 157 yards and two touchdowns, and he caught five passes for 118 yards and a score in a 56-21 victory over Dumas. His quarterback, Toby Guest, completed 20 of 31 passes for 313 yards and three TDs in the victory.

- Lamont Zachery of Linden-Kildare ran for 261 yards and three TDs on 22 carries as 3A's new No. 10 team defeated Omaha Paul Pewitt 35-6. Zachery has 1,558 yards and 19 TDs this season.

- Comanche workhorse Brian Bruton churned out 273 yards on 40 carries and two TDs in a 22-8 victory over Eastland.

- Hays running back Steve Hardaway ran for 272 yards and three TDs and caught a pass for another touchdown in a 27-21 victory over Bastrop.

- El Paso Coronado's Jody Nalley ran for 265 yards and four TDs in a 71-20 victory over El Paso Burges.

- Gorman's Don Mauney rushed

23 times for 243 yards with five TDs including a 90-yarder in a 46-21 victory over Rising Star.

- In a quarterback duel, Jason Stuckey of Mansfield completed 25 of 39 passes for 320 yards and three TDs but lost to Arlington Bowie, 49-35. Bowie quarterback Erick Johnson came off the bench to complete 11 of 13 passes for 219 yards and four TDs and ran 28 yards for another score.

- Stephenville quarterback Glenn Odell completed 8 of 15 passes for 238 yards and five TDs, all in the first half of a 62-15 victory over Joshua.

- Burnet quarterback Phillip Neal ran for 227 yards and two TDs and threw for a two-point conversion in a 16-15 victory over Brady.

- The special teams star was LeAndre Brown, a sophomore at Fort Worth Wyatt who returned punts 78 and 69 yards for TDs in a 45-0 victory over Fort Worth Southwest. He also had eight tackles as a defensive back.

- Chris Thierry of Baytown Lee has four solo tackles; assisted on four others; had three sacks, one for a safety; recovered two fumbles; and forced another fumble in a 42-13 victory over Galena Park North Shore.

- McKinney linebacker Ryan Marquard had 21 tackles in a 24-0 victory over Wylie.

Rice trio honored by AP

Josh LaRocca dreamed about the moment, being the Rice quarterback when the team did something stupendous, like beating the Texas Longhorns and snapping their 28-year winning streak over the Owls.

And when it finally happened, it was hard for LaRocca to fully express his feelings.

"It's just like I always dreamed it would be, only greater," LaRocca said. "Even better, we did it on national television and showed the whole country."

LaRocca completed only three passes, but two went for touchdowns and he milked the Owls' spread option for all it was worth, leading the Owls to a 19-17 victory.

It gave the Owls their first victory over Texas since a 20-17 triumph in 1965 and earned the junior from San Antonio the Offensive Player of the Week Award from The Associated Press.

Rice's defense played a dream game of its own, led by end Ndukwe Kalu and linebacker Larry Izzo, whom the AP named co-Defensive Players of the Week.

Blackburn is honored as outstanding junior

Laura Leigh Blackburn of Friona was given special recognition when members of the Los Ciboleros Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution met Oct. 13 at the Hereford Community Center.

Blackburn was honored as an outstanding junior member of Los Ciboleros Chapter. She had pieced and quilted a quilt for a chapter fund raiser. Regent Kathryn Ruga presented the Outstanding Junior Certificate to her in appreciation of her contribution to the chapter.

Joe D. Rogers, a teacher at Hereford High School, presented a program on the "Oregon Trail." He told that historians recognize 1843 as the official beginning of the Oregon Trail when men, women and children, wagons and cattle assembled at Elm Grove, Mo. to begin the 3,000 mile journey to Oregon. Rogers and his family retraced this route at the time of its sesquicentennial.

Regent Ruga led the ritual assisted by Ruth Fish. Wanda Jones led the Pledge to the Flag of the United States of America; Mary Williamson led the singing of "America"; Charlotte Clark led the chapter in repeating the "Preamble of the Constitution of the United States of America"; and Patricia Robinson led "The American's Creed."

Vice Regent Helen Rose brought the President General's message from the October 1994 issue of Daughters of the American Revolution magazine. President General Wayne G. Blair stated that the NSDAR had sponsored plaques that were installed this summer in the Memorial Cloister of the American Cathedral in Paris in memory of 138,000 members of the armed forces who gave their lives in Europe during World War II and all civilian victims of concentration camps and resistants, dead or missing in Europe during WWII.

Clark, the National Defense chairman, presented excerpts from an article from the National Defender entitled "What's Happened To Our Schools" by Philip C. Clarke. Paraphrasing, Mrs. Clark told that since 1960, per capita spending on education in the U.S. has risen, while average SAT math and verbal scores have declined.

Ruga reported that a total of 15 Constitution Week posters had been placed in all Hereford Schools as well as Walcott School and other locations around town.

Members were reminded to bring gifts for the Veterans Hospital Christmas Gift Shop and "Stamps for the Wounded" to the November 10 meeting to be held in the Hereford Senior Citizens Center Blue Room. (This is a change from the yearbook).

Nell Norvell and Mary Williamson were hostesses to Laura Leigh Blackburn, Charlotte Clark, Argen Draper, Ruth Fish, Lois Gilliland, Frances Hennen, Wanda Jones, Ruth Newsom, Patricia Robinson, Helen Rose, Kathryn Ruga and guest, Joe D. Rogers.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I just read about Paget's disease, the bone problem. The writer mentioned a drug, Didronel, which helps it. He told of patients who take it periodically, going on and off it. Can you tell me more? I am wondering if it helps in osteoporosis? — G.E.

ANSWER: In Paget's, the person's normal bone metabolism has gotten out of kilter, resulting in weak bone areas here and there. Perhaps we'd all benefit here from a short course in bone metabolism, for Paget's and the drug you mention go to the heart of that process.

Bones are not static, but living substance. Their cells are in a constant flux between dissolution and rebuilding, a process that continues up to the moment of death.

Different kinds of cells take part in each of the two phases of bone turnover, osteoclasts, the bone-dissolving cells, and osteoblasts, cells that do the rebuilding. We are not sure what disturbs this balance to cause Paget's, but the result, as I said, is spotty weakening in parts of bones. A test, the blood alkaline phosphatase test, shows this imbalance of Paget's.

Didronel (etidronate) returns order to the Paget's bone. It does so by slowing down the dissolving activity of the osteoclast cells. That lets the remodeling osteoblasts play catch up. But because of the on-again-off-again nature of the bone building process, the Paget's patient takes the drug in an on-off schedule. It is during off weeks when rebuilding occurs.

Didronel is approved for use in Paget's specifically. However, some doctors have used it for the more general bone weakening problem, osteoporosis. For more background on osteoporosis, see the osteoporosis report I'm mailing. Other readers can order a copy by writing: Dr. Donohue — No. 23, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539. Enclose $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) No. 10 envelope.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - Heather Whitestone came back to Alabama for the first time since being crowned Miss America and discovered that it's still home, sweet home.

Q. I read your column every day and now I need your help.

Can you recommend what I can clean my washing machine with to get rid of an odor? I've tried cleaning the inside with detergents, baking soda and vinegar, but it won't go away.

I would appreciate any suggestions. —C.G., Metairie, La.

A. Using the highest water-level setting, fill the washing machine with hot water. While it is filling up, fill a bucket with hot water from a sink. When the washer has filled, add the extra bucket of hot water and a quart of chlorine bleach.

Let the machine go through the wash cycle, then turn it off and let it sit for about 15-20 minutes, then run the rest of the cycle.

The bleach should help clean away the source of the odor, which may be mold or mildew under the rim.

Also, between washing loads, leave the lid open to keep the inside of the washing machine dry to help prevent odor-causing mildew. —Heloise tuck-in material. —Beverly Tomasic, Mesa, Ariz.

You could use an end portion of an old king-sized fitted sheet. When attached to the blanket, it will help it stay tucked in. —Heloise

CROSS-STITCH HINTS

Dear Heloise: I would like to share four hints about cross-stitching.

1. Tape the color/symbol guide to the cardboard accompanying the kit, leaving a 2-inch margin. Punch holes in the margin and hang the corresponding colors.

2. Use one thread instead of two. Double it and thread the loop through the eye of needle, stick the needle through the loop and pull the thread evenly. The thread is the right length, tangles less and the needle will not become unthreaded.

3. Thread needles with the various colors and insert next to the symbols on the guide. This saves threading needles when changing colors.

4. Use small, curved manicure scissors for cutting the thread. The scissors stay sharp, cut close and using them reduces the danger of cutting your work. —Flo Fenlon, San Antonio, Texas

BLANKETS

Dear Heloise: When we bought our king-size bed, we bought new sheets and cases but did not want to discard our good double-bed blankets.

I simply put them on sideways, and since we are not tall, I did not need to tuck them in at the foot. However, sewing strips of old white sheets on the bottom could provide

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000 or fax it to 210-HELOISE. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS STORY

"Everybody Already Knows My Store And What I Carry."

Sound Familiar?

Advertising is news about the marketplace, if you don't advertise, you're telling consumers there's no news from your store. But your competition is fighting for the public's interest with regular ads; if you want to keep your share of the market, you need to be in the same arena, bidding for the business. You need to advertise in the newspaper. Plus, people move out of the area and new people move in. Advertise to bring new customers into the store. Sell your store and your service through newspaper advertising.

NOT CONVINCED?

Newspaper advertising is unlike any other media choice. You're reaching a friendly, receptive audience with your advertising message. So receptive that they pay to have the paper delivered to their home. No wonder consumers consider newspapers the most believable advertising medium.

Newspaper advertising can help your business. It can increase sales and in a competitive market, it can give your business and edge over the other guy.

Don't tempt fate. Join the many successful businesses who know what works for them and what doesn't. Advertise in the newspaper and get results.
