World/Nation

JERUSALEM - Taking a short break from Mideast shuttle diplomacy, President Clinton, commander-in-chief, reviews U.S. troop emplacements on the Kuwait-Iraqi border. In advance of his visit, the Pentagon announces that two dozen American "Warthog" tank-killer jets will be based in Kuwait to discourage any Iraqi aggression.

WASHINGTON - It may be premature to alert the ground crew. The economy's anticipated "soft landing" seems to be on hold, analysts say. While the recovery is nearly four years old, the expansion continues at a surprisingly healthy clip despite higher interest rates that sent 30-year home mortgages over 9 percent this week for the first time since March 1992.

UNION, S.C. - At the McBeth Baptist Church, the choir dedicated its songs to the missing little boys. In the schools of this rural town, students bowed their heads in silence.

At a high school football game, fathers clutched their kids' hands and talked of searching, hoping to find the boys and the man their mother said abducted them after jumping in their car. "I've been praying," said one mother. "That's about all you can do - that and lock your doors."

WASHINGTON - Check the inside back cover of "The New Democrat" magazine and you'll still find Bill Clinton's picture on the Democratic Leadership Council membership application. But check the preceding pages, and this year's campaigns, and you won't find many of these self-styled New Democrats bragging about the man they helped put in the White House.

WASHINGTON - Linda Sargent Thompson has spent 20 years searching for her birth mother. For many adoptees and the parents who give them up, a reunion is a healing experience. Congress came close to helping reunite the adult adoptees, birth parents and siblings who search for one another. The legislation, which would have established a centralized, national network to process requests for reunions, died in the last days of the session.

BOZAJ, Yugoslavia - In normal times, little but spectacular scenery would distinguish this Montenegrin village perched among towering mountains on the edge of Lake Skadar. But the pervasive stench of gasoline shows that life here nowadays is hardly normal. In a scene that illustrates the porousness of supposedly tough U.N. trade embargo against Yugoslavia, tanker trucks siphon fuel smuggled to the Yugoslav side from Albania.

ROME - The coroner counted 24 stab wounds on the body of the red-haired girl who hoped to become a fashion model. Police charged Stefania Massarin's former boyfriend with the murder. And Italians joined the victim's distraught mother in her tearful cry: "Why? Why?" Some suggest young men are lashing back at the growing independence of women. Others blame the influence of violent television programs or a resurgence of a strong macho culture.

State

AUSTIN - Democratic Gov. Ann Richards says Republican challenger George W. Bush hasn't done anything for minority interests. Bush, managing general partner of the Texas Rangers, responded that he personally recruited black businessman Comer Cottrell of Dallas to join its ownership ranks.

AUSTIN - A tale of two campaigns. While U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, R-Texas, picked up the endorsement of more than 200 Texas mayors at a posh hotel Thursday, Democratic challenger Richard Fisher held a news conference at a Goodwill warehouse.

DEER PARK - Either big money or a big name will attract voters in Texas' 25th Congressional District. The big name belongs to Democrat Ken Bentsen, nephew of Lloyd Bentsen, the former U.S. senator from Texas and current treasury secretary. The big money comes from Republican Gene Fontenot, a physician and hospital owner who has pumped more than $2 million of his own money into the campaign.

GRAPEVINE - Vice President Al Gore says government can and should take action to prevent fatherless families, something he calls a national epidemic. Gore told the first National Summit on Fatherhood Thursday that while government can't solve the problem of fatherless families, it can help.

CORPUS CHRISTI - A Corpus Christi man was in critical condition today after something went wrong when he pretended to hang himself during a haunted house party.

HOUSTON - Noe Bocanegra isn't sure if he did a "good thing" or a "dumb thing" when he rammed the getaway car that was to be used by two bank robbers and then joined in the police chase that resulted in the arrest of two men.

HOUSTON - With the last burning pipeline capped and thousands of barrels of crude recovered, crews have begun their work on area shoreline ravaged by the spills and floods.

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico - President Carlos Salinas de Gortari is pledging that Mexico will safeguard the rights of its citizens abroad. The president told an enthusiastic crowd in this border city Thursday that Mexico is committed to ensuring Mexican immigrants in the United States are accorded their due.

AUSTIN - The same approach used to reduce deaths and injuries in motor vehicles should be used to curb gun violence, according to a study examining gun-related deaths in Travis County.

TYLER - Two police officers fatally shot a Tyler man at the scene of a traffic accident after the 21-year-old man, who had struck two vehicles, pointed a gun at police and himself, authorities said.

SAN ANTONIO - A priest who has been named auxiliary bishop of San Antonio by Pope John Paul II said his appointment will not stop his anti-abortion protests.

HARLINGEN - It was either an immediate response by the federal government or simply a coincidence. Hours after a group asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture for a study of a pesticide program in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, the agency said it had already decided to do so.

WASHINGTON - The United States hit a grim landmark this year: More than 1 million people behind bars for the first time in history. California's 124,813 inmates and Texas' 100,136 accounted for more than one-fifth of the total.

Democrats' publication wastes no space on Clinton presidency

By JOHN KING

AP Political Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - Check the inside back cover of "The New Democrat" magazine and you'll still find Bill Clinton's picture on the Democratic Leadership Council membership application. But check the preceding pages, and you won't find many of these self-styled New Democrats bragging about the man they helped put in the White House.

Prospective juror resents questioning

By LINDA DEUTSCH

AP Special Correspondent LOS ANGELES (AP) - As the questioning went on and on, the jury prospect got angrier and angrier. "You're asking me a lot of questions I don't know," the 71-year-old black man complained as Deputy District Attorney William Hodgman quizzed him for a half-hour Thursday.

When Hodgman finally asked about lie detectors, the man exploded. "You're pumping me as if I'm on trial or something," he said. "I don't like that. You're sort of riling me." Superior Court Judge Lance Ito apologized to the man and kept him in the jury pool. But defense attorneys complained that Hodgman's questioning shows prosecutors are trying to keep blacks off the jury.

"It implies an insidious effort to try to get black jurors removed for cause because they are black, because they have black heroes, and because O.J. Simpson is one of them," Robert Shapiro said. "There's no other reason. I think it's subtle and it may be intentional."

Defense attorney Johnnie L. Cochran Jr. also noted that Hodgman had brought a black woman prospect to tears by bringing up her brother's drug record.

Hodgman was outraged by the defense attack. "This appears to be just the latest in a series of efforts to try to manipulate public opinion," he said. "We've tried to be very careful, very cautious to try and select a fair and impartial jury."

Ironically, the defense's statements came on a day when the jury pool was shaping up as predominantly black. Three of six prospects questioned Thursday were retained for further screening. All three were black.

Of 34 prospects who had passed the first rounds of questioning, 18 were black, nine were white and seven were Hispanic, American Indian or another minority.

Simpson is charged with murdering his ex-wife Nicole Brown Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman, who were white. Testimony might not begin until December or January.

this year's campaigns, and you won't find many of these self-styled New Democrats bragging about the man they helped put in the White House.

As Democrats of many stripes seek to distance themselves from Clinton this fall, perhaps most striking of all is this irony: Clinton is being openly rebuked by members of the centrist group he used as a stepping stone to the White House while openly being embraced by the icons of the liberal wing he once chastised for leading the party astray.

"Determined to avoid Jimmy Carter's difficulties in getting the Democratic Congress to pass his program, and mindful of the primary challenge to Carter from the party's liberal wing, the president made several strategic choices early in his administration that limited his ability to govern as a New Democrat." Al From, the DLC president, writes in the organization's November magazine. "The president accommodated, rather than challenged, the Washington Democratic establishment."

On the campaign trail, the criticism of Clinton from members of the DLC is even more blunt, a startling turn of events just two years after Clinton's candidacy fulfilled the organization's dream of electing one of its own as president.

"The president's problems were created because he ran as a new Democrat and has failed to govern as one," said Oklahoma Rep. Dave McCurdy, the current DLC chairman. "People feel cheated."

McCurdy, who gave a seconding speech for Clinton at the Democratic convention and is now running for the Senate, said the appeal of the New Democrat label has all but vanished because of Clinton.

"It is very frustrating," McCurdy said. "It undercuts the strong and positive message and work that we have done for years to try to bring the Democratic party back into the mainstream."

Demand exceeds supply for recyclable materials

AUSTIN (AP) - For the first time, the demand in Texas for recyclable material - including newspapers, steel and glass - has surpassed the supply, state environmental officials report. John Hall, chairman of the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission, said the finding runs counter to the view of many that recycling in Texas is rich in supply but poor in demand.

"It is clear that recycling is taking off in Texas," Hall said. His comments came Thursday at a meeting of the Texas Recycling Market Development Board, which released a strategic plan for recycling markets.

Major recyclers told the board that large investments have been made in recycling facilities and that the capacity now exists to process more materials than ever before.

"Recycling has moved away from being an environmental fad and has developed into a mature, stable, market-driven industry. We can now focus our efforts on ensuring that this new industry has a reliable supply of materials so that it will continue to grow," Hall said. The strategic plan looked at seven products: waste paper, glass, motor oil, steel cans, plastic packaging, tires and compost.

The study found that for the most commonly recycled materials - paper, brown and clear glass, steel cans, plastics and used oil - more programs need to be developed to meet the increasing needs of those industries.

Texas, which has a 14 percent recycling rate, has the potential to outpace many other states' recycling efforts, officials said.

Some liberals, never fans of the DLC to begin with, don't try to hide their disgust with this criticism. "Where is their loyalty?" Iowa Sen. Tom Harkin said in a conversation about the rivalries within the Democratic ranks.

The divide is striking, because one reason many analysts predict disaster for Democrats in the midterm elections is apathy among more-liberal, traditional Democratic voters. In this line of thinking, these voters are not motivated to vote because of the lack of a major achievement they view as important, something such as health care. Instead, in their view, Clinton's major achievements have come in fights in which most liberals were against him, such as the North American Free Trade Agreement.

"A lot of liberal Democrats and liberal-leaning independents see no reason to vote," said Michigan pollster Ed Sarpolus. "The DLC-Republican alliance seems to be set" is Jesse Jackson's reason for apathy among more-liberal Democrats.

Sarpolus said the percentage of likely voters in his statewide surveys who identified themselves as pro-choice on abortion has fallen from 54 percent in the summer months to 44 percent this month. "People aren't changing their mind about abortion," he said. "But a lot of pro-choice voters, who are very likely to be Democrats, are staying home."

In turn, however, DLC leaders blame liberals for keeping the Democratic Party from attracting more moderate voters, continuing an argument both sides concede has left Democrats confused about the direction of the party.

"We made no progress because the debate this year focused on an issue that in many ways was the antithesis of what those voters wanted to hear: big government health care."

From said. "As long as Democrats are defined as liberal, Republicans can win just by remaining standing."

Other officials said Israeli investments are helping to revive the citrus industry here.

Robaina also expressed satisfaction with the vote of the European Union. Most members of the European community are military allies of the United States but none sided with the United States on the vote.

Lopsided U.N. vote opposes embargo

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer HAVANA (AP) - A lopsided U.N. vote in opposition to the U.S. embargo against Cuba was hailed Thursday by the Castro government, which acknowledged that more is needed to convince Washington to end the sanction.

Foreign Minister Roberto Robaina said the vote was a show of support for a country "whose only sin is to choose a different path."

The U.N. General Assembly voted 101-2 Wednesday for a nonbinding resolution to end the embargo. There were 48 abstentions.

Robaina said the vote raises the question of whether "it is Cuba which is isolated or the United States."

It was the third consecutive year that the General Assembly approved such a resolution, each time by a larger margin.

Robaina cautioned against raising "false expectations" about the impact of the vote in the United States, saying U.S. officials had ignored the two previous resolutions.

He said U.S. policy is based largely on the sentiments of influential Cuban exiles opposed to President Fidel Castro.

Robaina spoke to reporters in a shaded patio on the grounds of the foreign ministry. Consistent with his informal style, he turned up wearing a white sport jacket, a polo shirt and no socks.

The embargo here is commonly referred to as a blockade even though Cuba is free to trade with other countries. Many Cubans see the embargo as responsible for the relatively low living standards here.

The United States says Cuba's economic problems are largely the result of an unproductive economic system, a view shared by some here as well.

Robaina said the United States was not satisfied merely to suspend bilateral trade with Cuba. He said Washington seeks to use its influence to limit Cuban trade with other countries as much as possible.

Robaina noted that the United States was joined only by Israel in opposition to the U.N. resolution. Despite Israel's vote, he pointed out that Israel itself has investments in Cuba.

Other officials said Israeli investments are helping to revive the citrus industry here.

Robaina also expressed satisfaction with the vote of the European Union. Most members of the European community are military allies of the United States but none sided with the United States on the vote.

Herd-Dumas match could be Monday

The Hereford and Dumas volleyball teams will most likely play a match Monday to determine seeding in the playoffs for the two representatives from District 1-4A, Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said today. Reeh is waiting on confirmation from Dumas officials.

If it is played Monday, it will be at 7 p.m. at the Tascosa High School Activity Center in Amarillo.

The district playoff would be played only if both teams win their final regular-season matches on Saturday, or if both lose. They are now tied for the district lead with records of 10-1. Hereford (25-5 overall) is to play Caprock (12-13) at 10 a.m. Saturday in Amarillo, while Dumas (21-6) hosts Canyon (5-18) at 3 p.m.

Dumas officials requested that the District 1-4A Committee make a ruling on whether the playoff would also decide the district champion, Reeh said, but the committee ruled the playoff would determine only seeding in the state Class 4A playoffs, which begin next week.

Hereford and Dumas have byes in the first round of the playoffs because District 2-4A is vacant. The winner of the district playoff would face either District 3 champion El Paso Parkland (12-17) or District 4 runner-up Andrews (19-12). The loser between Hereford and Dumas would face either District 3 runner-up El Paso High (12-17) or District 4 champion Monahans (16-12).

Records given are the teams' records on Saturday. Some may have played games since then. Hereford's first playoff match would most likely be played Nov. 5, Reeh said.

Herd picked by 11 over Canyon

Hereford will be an 11-point favorite over Canyon, according to the Harris Rating System, when the Herd and Eagles meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Canyon's Kimbrough Stadium.

Hereford stayed at No. 68 in Harris' Class 4A rankings despite the Herd's 28-18 loss to Borger last week. Hereford's power rating went down one point to 184.

Canyon is ranked 130th with a rating of 173.

Pampa remains the top-ranked team in District 1-4A, at 33rd with a power rating 192, while Randall is close behind at 34th and 192. The other teams in 1-4A are: Borger, 46th at 189; Dumas, 161st at 162; and Caprock, 169th at 157. There are 187 teams in Class 4A.

In other games in 1-4A, Harris picks Randall by 35 over Caprock in Amarillo and Pampa by 30 at home against Dumas.

Stephenville is ranked first in Class 4A with a rating of 216. Sweetwater is the top-ranked team from West Texas, at 21st and 197. Other 4A teams from West Texas are: Estacado, 24th at 196; San Angelo Lake View, 36th at 191; Frenship, 59th at 186; Snyder, 67th at 184; Levelland, 69th at 184; Big Spring, 75th at 183; Monahans, 87th at 181; Andrews, 95th at 179; El Paso Parkland, 143rd at 169; Lamesa, 147th at 168; El Paso Jefferson, 155th at 164; El Paso High, 162nd at 160; Pecos, 164th at 160; Canutillo, 166th at 158; and Fort Stockton, 183rd at 146.

In other games involving area teams, Harris picks: Amarillo High by 32 at Lubbock High; Monterey by 20 at Palo Duro; Plainview by 2 at Coronado; Frenship by 2 over Levelland; Estacado by 12 over Snyder; Littlefield by 9 at Friona; Dimmitt by 16 over Muleshoe; Canadian by 19 at Panhandle; Hale Center by 11 over Lockney; Sunray by 2 at Shamrock; and Vega by 14 at Bovina.

Clyde's Double
LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Clyde Lovellette of the University of Kansas set a record in 1952 that a list of college basketball stars have shot at and missed. That was the year Lovellette became the first and so far the only Division I player to lead the country in scoring and also play on the national championship team.

Kansas won its first national title in 1952 and Clyde scored 28.4 points per game, tops in the nation.

Cross country team ready for district meet

The Hereford cross country team's season culminates Saturday with the District 1-4A Meet, set in Thompson Park in Amarillo.

The first of four races starts at 9:30 a.m., in this order: junior varsity girls, JV boys, varsity girls and varsity boys.

In other events involving Hereford, the tennis team is playing today and Saturday in the Region 1-4A Tennis Tournament in Lubbock, and the volleyball team will close out the regular season against Caprock, starting at 10 a.m. at Caprock High School in Amarillo.

Little is known about the tennis tournament. Coach Ed Coplen did not know who the Herd would face today until he went to a meeting Thursday night in Lubbock. Results of today's match were not available early today.

More is known about the cross country meet. The top two boys teams and girls teams will advance to the regional meet, but Hereford's teams would need exceptional performances for either to finish first or second. Both Hereford teams have run in several meets which included all or most of the district's teams, and Hereford's teams have generally finished behind at least two district teams.

Canyon has proved that moving up to Class 4A from 3A is not always difficult, at least in cross country. Hereford coach Martha Emerson said she expects Canyon's teams to win both the girls' and boys' competitions. Emerson expects second-place finishes for Caprock's boys and Borger's girls.

"I predict Borger will beat Randall—they're (both) the contenders for second," Emerson said. "I'd like to think I was one of them, but we'll have to run really well."

In the boys' race, "Canyon's sitting on top, and Caprock is probably the challenger there," she said. "Pampa has some good guys, and Borger, but I'm not sure team-wise if they're there. I hope we can sneak in there, if all six of mine will run at the same time."

The name of the soccer great, Pele, translates to the "Black Pearl."

Herd cross country team

Herd JV pulls out last-minute victory

After a mostly uneventful first 44 minutes, Thursday's junior varsity football game at Whiteface Stadium firmed up considerably in the final four minutes.

John Marty Galan's 25-yard field goal with 10 seconds left gave the Hereford JV a 17-15 win over Canyon's JV, capping a game that featured 18 points scored in the final 3:08.

The game was tied 7-7 from early in the second quarter. Hereford's Dwayne Thomas scored on a two-yard plunge in the first quarter and Galan kicked. In the second quarter, Canyon scored on a 35-yard run.

Much of the second half became a punting battle, and Hereford punter Sonny Perez won that. Midway through the fourth quarter, Perez' punt pinned the Eagles at their own one-yard line.

The Herd defense stopped Canyon, and a short punt set up Hereford at the Canyon 38-yard line. Thomas, Hereford's tailback, had runs of 20, and 10 yards to set up his nine-yard TD run. Galan's kick gave Hereford a 14-7 lead with 3:08 left.

Canyon got the big play it needed when two Herd defensive backs both went for an interception on a pass over the middle. Both missed. A Canyon receiver caught the ball behind everyone and had an easy sprint to the end zone for an 81-yard touchdown pass and run. Canyon ran for two and made it, giving itself a 15-14 lead with 2:09 left.

Hereford wasn't through, though. The offense moved down the field on two big passes by Joseph Artho: a 30-yard bomb to Ruben Flores and well-set-up screen to Anthony Cervantez which gained 27 yards to the Canyon 10-yard line.

After a couple of unsuccessful plays, Hereford set up Galan in the middle of field. Galan got a good snap from Johnny Delgado and a good hold from Artho, and he kicked it through.

"These kids have had a lot of adversity this year, but they've done everything we've asked them," coach Craig Yencer said. "They've become a real good football team."

In the first game of Thursday's doubleheader in Whiteface Stadium, the Herd sophomore team fell 60-7 to a large and talented Clovis team.

Nathan Gavina caught a two-yard touchdown pass from Jace West in the second quarter. Adan Tarin kicked the extra point to make the score 32-7.

The Herd freshmen were scheduled to play a game at Canyon, but coaches did not report results.

Jockey Bill Hartack was named to the Racing Hall of Fame at age 27, the youngest rider ever elected.

Scottish golf fans gave American golf great Ben Hogan the nickname "The Wee Ice Mon."

Bagwell named NL MVP by unanimous selection

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - Jeff Bagwell doesn't intend to analyze his season. He'll just enjoy it along with the National League Most Valuable Player award.

"What turned me from 20 home runs to 39, I'm not going to try to figure it out," Bagwell said. "I'll just ride it out."

The Baseball Writers Association of America had no trouble figuring out a winner. Bagwell received all 28 first place votes, becoming only the third unanimous NL winner along with Orlando Cepeda in 1967 and Mike Schmidt in 1980.

There have been seven unanimous picks in the AL.

Bagwell was the Astros' first rookie of the year in 1991 and he became the club's first MVP finishing with a 292 total points with a marvelously consistent season that had few dips.

"Hopefully, I have an idea what my mechanics are and ow to get out of slumps," Bagwell said.

There was little need to escape slumps in the strike shortened 1994 season for Bagwell.

In 110 games, Bagwell hit .368, second in the batting race to Tony Gwynn's .394. His 39 homers were four behind Williams' 43.

Bagwell led the majors in RBIs and the league with 104 runs. He had 32 doubles and two triples and his 300 total bases tied Cesar Cedeno's club record set in 1972.

His 39 home runs, 116 RBIs, 72 extra base hits and .368 batting average were all Houston club records. Bagwell almost doubled his previous career high of 20 homers in a season.

"I don't think I could have played much better than I did," Bagwell said Thursday. "It feels great but it still feels strange too not having the World Series."

Bagwell's season ended on Aug. 10, two days before the strike started, when he broke a bone in his left hand after being hit by a pitch from Andy Benes of the San Diego Padres.

"I'm becoming an all pro at breaking my hand," Bagwell said. "I seem to learn things the hard way but now I'm having a pad put on my batting glove so hopefully this won't happen again."

Second place went to San Francisco's Matt Williams, the NL's home run champion, who had 201 points. Moises Alou of Montreal was third with 183.

Barry Bonds, winner of the last two NL MVP awards and three in the last four seasons, finished fourth with 144 points. Bagwell and Williams were the only players named on all 28 ballots.

It took the injury to slow Bagwell. Until then, he was on course to more than double his career high of 20 homer runs.

"I just learned how to hit with more backspin on the ball," he said. "I used to hit a lot of top spin and I'm also pulling the ball."

If the owners impose the collective bargaining contract they want, Jeff Bagwell would become a restricted free agent.

Bagwell, who had a $2.4 million base salary, got a $50,000 bonus for winning the award. Under the expired collective bargaining agreement, he'd be eligible for salary arbitration again this winter.

Under the owners' proposal, he'd be a restricted free agent if the 52 days of the strike are included in his service time.

That means any team could make an offer but the Astros would have the right to match it.

"I've been traded before," he said. "I've learned that baseball is a business. All of America has learned that. So I'm not going to worry about it."

Houston acquired Bagwell in a trade with the Boston Red Sox.

"When they traded me it was devastating but it turned out to be the best thing that could have happened to me," he said. "So I thank Boston for trading me and the Astros for taking me."

Irvin keeps Bengals in perspective

By The Associated Press
Hand it to Michael Irvin for putting the Dallas-Cincinnati mismatch into perspective.

"It's one-sixteenth of our record," the Dallas receiver said.

Therein lies the reason why Dallas (6-1) is taking nothing for granted against the Bengals (0-7).

Cowboys coach Barry Switzer, who won a lot of one-sided games while coaching at Oklahoma, recalled those days in explaining Sunday's game.

"The reference point I always use is Iowa State," Switzer said. "If we play our game, it's no problem. If we don't, it could become one. I was always wary about those games when I was at Oklahoma."

While the Cowboys try to take the Bengals seriously, the league's other leading teams also line up against teams with losing records. Cleveland (6-1), coming off a 37-13 defeat of Cincinnati, calls on Denver (2-5) and San Diego (6-1) entertains Seattle (3-4). San Diego was knocked from the unbeaten ranks last weekend by Denver.

In other games, it's Detroit (3-4) at the New York Giants (3-4), Kansas City (5-2) at Buffalo (4-3), Philadelphia (5-2) at Washington (2-6), Miami (5-2) at New England (3-4), Houston (1-6) at the Los Angeles Raiders (3-4), Minnesota (5-2) at Tampa Bay (2-5), the New York Jets (4-3) at Indianapolis (3-5) and Pittsburgh (5-2) at Arizona (2-5).

On Monday night, Green Bay (3-4) is at Chicago (4-3).

Idle this week are Atlanta (4-4), the Los Angeles Rams (3-5), New Orleans (3-5) and San Francisco (6-2).

"This is going to be their Super Bowl," Cowboys guard Nate Newton said of the Bengals. "They're like a snake waiting to strike."

"Cincinnati has a very talented defense," running back Emmitt Smith said. "I just hope all that cream doesn't come to the top this week."

A defensive bright spot for the Bengals would seem to be a ranking of 11th in the AFC in pass defense, allowing 208.4 yards a game. But the Bengals are vulnerable to the run, allowing 125.4 yards a game, 26th among the 28 NFL teams.

Another indication why the Bengals are winless and the Cowboys share the best record in the league is the giveaway-takeaway category. Dallas leads the NFL with a plus-9; Cincinnati is the league's worst at minus-9.

Given that disparity, it is perhaps a surprise that Cincinnati has come so close to winning. Four of its losses have been by 8 points or less.

The game is important enough that quarterback Troy Aikman, who suffered a concussion last weekend, is determined to start on Sunday.

"Troy says he's going to play so that means he's going to play," Switzer said. "I'm not going to try to talk him out of it. It's tough to tell a guy to sit down."

"Besides, I don't want him putting and upset around here. I'm just a rookie coach around here and I'm trying to get people to like me."

Oilers' line coming together

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers offensive line may finally be coming together, despite having allowed 31 sacks this season.

The young and often porous group has received plenty of criticism this year, but they played their best game of the season in a 21-6 loss to Philadelphia on Monday night.

"It gets to the point in some of the intricacies of offensive line play where you both know what each other is thinking without a word having to be spoken," guard John Flannery said.

"You've got to think what the guy next to you is thinking," Flannery said. "On a stunt or a twist or a blitz, you can't have one guy thinking he's going to block man protection and one guy thinking he's going to zone it off."

The Oilers still allowed three sacks against the Eagles, but they're encouraged for Sunday's game against the Los Angeles Raiders.

"That's the stuff that was killing us early in the season," Flannery said. "Now guys are on the same page. That comes with experience and playing together over time. Now we're starting to think alike."

Most of the Oilers line still hasn't been in the NFL long enough to meet line coach Bob Young's requirements for veteran status: four or five years. But his linemen should be reaching their potential soon.

After Monday night, even Young is softening.

"They took the challenge and played better," Young said. "Early in the year we weren't very good. They're getting older and stronger and maybe madder."

Their improved effort against Philadelphia can be a building-block.

Dallas' Williams set for surgery

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboys All Pro tackle Erik Williams will undergo surgery Monday to repair a torn ligament in his left thumb.

Williams, who was injured in a one-car wreck earlier this week, was moved from Parkland Memorial Hospital to Baylor University Medical Center Thursday. The Cowboys use Baylor for all surgical procedures.

Meanwhile, defensive end Shante Carver said he was speeding when he crashed his truck Monday.

Carver's truck was found overturned about 2:30 a.m. on northbound Central Expressway at the ramp to westbound I-635.

Huskers, Buffalo backs to face tough defenses

By The Associated Press
Rashaan Salaam of Colorado and Lawrence Phillips of Nebraska, two of the best running backs in college football, might feel as if they're on treadmills Saturday - rushing to nowhere.

That's because the two backs will be going against defenses that are nearly impenetrable against the run.

The winner of the game at Lincoln, Neb., between the second-ranked Buffaloes (7-0) and the No. 3 Cornhuskers (8-0) could jump to the top of the rankings, even if top-ranked Penn State beats No. 21 Ohio State.

"If the winner plays a great game, I think they will (jump to No. 1)," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said.

Salaam leads the NCAA an with average of 179 yards per game, but he will be running against a Nebraska defense that has yielded an average of only 61 yards.

Lawrence, third nationally with a 154-yard average, will be facing a defense that has allowed an average of 99 yards rushing.

The game should also decide the Big Eight title, as it has the last five times the two schools have played.

Nebraska needs quarterback Brook Berringer to stay injury-free because there is no reliable backup. Berringer, who replaced Tommie Frazier, out for the season with a blood clot, is supposedly recovered from a partially collapsed lung.

Penn State (6-0) has had a week to rest its high-powered offense since its dramatic 31-24 Big Ten victory at Michigan. Ohio State (6-2) goes on the road to Happy Valley coming off a 48-14 trouncing of Purdue.

Other unbeaten members of the Top 25 in action Saturday will be No. 4 Auburn (7-0) at home against Arkansas; No. 7 Texas A&M (7-0) vs. Southern Methodist at San Antonio; No. 12 Utah (7-0) at home against Texas-El Paso and No. 16 Duke (7-0) at No. 9 Florida State. No.

Bush refutes Richards' accusations

Governor points finger on minority hiring practices

By PEGGY FIKAC
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - Democratic Gov. Ann Richards says Republican challenger George W. Bush hasn't done anything for minority interests. "He's never been a participant in anything to move African Americans ahead," she said Thursday. "I don't know of a thing in the world he's done in relation to the Hispanic community, literally. "I don't think that he comes from the background or the experience of thinking that everybody deserves an equal opportunity in this state, and if they don't get it, then you are going to see our economy hampered." Richards cited her work as governor "to bring African Americans and Mexican Americans and Asian Americans to the table." Bush, managing general partner of the Texas Rangers, responded that he personally recruited black businessman Comer Cottrell of Dallas to join its ownership ranks. "There's one baseball team with African American ownership. It's the Texas Rangers," he said during a campaign stop in Houston with his wife, Laura, and his mother, former first lady Barbara Bush. A radio commercial for Richards' re-election says Bush "refused to hire minority businesses to build his baseball stadium or run concessions there." Bush responded that "of the $20 million worth of bids that minority business bid on, over a third of those contracts went to minority businesses." "This is typical Ann Richards politics," he said. "I suspect the governor knows what I know, that she's fixin' to get beat and is willing to throw preposterous claims out there that try to sway people's votes. It's just simply not true." Richards also appeared with singer Bonnie Raitt at a University of Texas rally, where she said that a woman's right to choose abortion is at issue in her race. "This is about whether a woman is going to continue to be able to exercise her right to choose. This election is about whether or not government is ... going to get in and mess around in your private life," Richards told cheering students. A newspaper column quoting Bush as saying, "I will do everything in my power to restrict abortions," elicited boos from the crowd of about 1,200 when cited by Ms. Raitt. She also has done a radio ad calling Richards "the clear pro-choice candidate." "Roe vs. Wade started here in Texas," said Ms. Raitt, referring to the landmark case establishing a constitutional right to abortion. "I don't want to see what we started here 21 years ago end in Texas." Bush was asked whether his mother is closer to Richards than to him on the abortion issue, since she said in her memoirs that she supports abortion rights. "My mother is going to vote for me just like a lot of other women are going to vote for me," Bush said after speaking to thousands of cheering elementary school students from the Spring Branch district at an anti-drug rally. "Both of us agree that minor daughters ought to have their parents' consent prior to getting an abortion. Ann Richards does not agree with that. Most Texans agree with me on that issue," he said. Mrs. Bush added that she supports adoption as an alternative to abortion and limiting abortion to the first trimester.

Former officer sentenced

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - A former police officer accused of holding a gun to a woman's head and ordering her to undress has been given a probation sentence and fined $1,000 on a misdemeanor charge of reckless conduct. The 21-year-old woman testified that Craig Booker, who was the neighbor of a relative, invited her to his home on Sept. 2, 1993. He pointed a gun to her head and demanded that she undress, she said. The woman said Booker put the barrel of the gun against her head and repeated the demand. She testified that she refused to strip, then tried to leave. She said Booker then tried to force her back inside the house, but let her go when she began crying. Booker said the gun was not loaded and that he was trying to teach her a lesson about working at nightclubs and going to bars. The woman said the gun was loaded. Defense attorney Floyd Holder told the jury that Booker had encountered so many rape victims that he was willing to go to extraordinary lengths to keep her from being a victim. The jury had the options of acquitting Booker, convicting him of felony aggravated assault or convicting him of reckless conduct, a Class B misdemeanor. The jury on Thursday assessed a 180-day sentence and probated it for two years, meaning Booker, 31, must meet the conditions of probation for two years or he'll face 180 days in jail. Booker, a six-year police veteran, was fired Sept. 21, 1993.

Senate candidates campaigning with very different approaches

By SCOTT ROTHSCHILD
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - A tale of two campaigns. While U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, R-Texas, picked up the endorsement of more than 200 Texas mayors at a posh hotel Thursday, Democratic challenger Richard Fisher held a news conference at a Goodwill warehouse. Speaking at Austin's Four Seasons Hotel, Mrs. Hutchison pledged to end "stealth taxes" caused when Congress orders state and local governments to do things but doesn't provide the funding to pay for it. A few blocks away, Fisher sorted donated coats in the Goodwill's Coats for Kids program and said he plans to spend the next nine days on the campaign trail working with community service programs across the state. Fisher called it the "Make a Difference" tour. He said he will travel 3,500 miles by automobile and visit more than 50 towns and cities over the course of the tour.

"The purpose of the exercise is to underscore a point. That point is that I want to serve the people of Texas. My opponent's focus is special interest groups," he said. "Hers is an antiseptic, Peter Pan collar, AstroTurf type of approach to politics. The fact is she won't get down with the people, work with the people," Fisher said. "She's in the pocket of special interest groups. She's not working for the people of Texas." Mrs. Hutchison said Fisher has accepted money from the national Democratic Party, which also accepts special-interest funds. "My opponent takes political action committee money. I take it. I report it. I think that's the way we ought to do it. ... I think he needs to be honest and up front and say, 'I take PAC contributions,'" she said. Speaking to the mayors, Mrs. Hutchison reiterated her belief that federal regulations, including environmental rules, are too expensive and too prohibitive. "I have introduced a bill that will put a moratorium on new Endangered Species Act designations until we reauthorize the Endangered Species Act to hopefully put some common sense into it," she said. Fisher said stops on his tour will include a program for the homeless, a soup kitchen, midnight basketball and a public library in Del Rio where he said he will read to children. Asked how he could compete with Mrs. Hutchison, who is flying to points throughout the state, he said, "That just shows the difference. We're down here with the people. She's up there in the sky." Despite being down in the polls, Fisher predicted he would win by 1 percentage point. Mrs. Hutchison said Fisher, a former Ross Perot adviser, has flip-flopped repeatedly since first running for Senate in the 1993 special election. "I don't know exactly where he stands on any one day on any one issue. He changes his position on major issues in this campaign," she said.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was very surprised by your answer to the person who asked about the causes of her "night sweats." The diseases you mentioned were fine, but what about TB, which is so much on the increase in the United States? Because of my age, that was my first thought when I began having night sweats. Could it be TB? — E.C.

ANSWER: Yes, tuberculosis is a smoldering illness among whose clues might be nighttime sweating. I did not mention TB specifically in my earlier answer, to B.K., but lumped it among the general unidentified "infections" for which such perspiration might be symptomatic. It is not sound policy to infer such illnesses from what is, after all, a rather common complaint; you'd be wrong more often than right.

In fact, in the vast majority of cases, a patient's sweating excess can be laid to undramatic and banal sources, such as poorly regulated bedroom heat, high humidity or too many covers.

If I were to list all the dire and rare things night sweating might bring to mind, I would need far greater space than that reserved for me here.

Often, increases in perspiration reflect natural circumstances. For example, perspiration increases nocturnally along with a natural lessening of kidney function at that time.

I am sure your doctor has mulled over your complaint of night sweats. He probably concluded that they have no negative role in your health.

For more information, see the Health Letter special report on the topic. Readers can order a copy by writing: Dr. Donohue — SR90, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539. Enclose $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) No. 10 envelope.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was told I had spine compression (stress fracture), but it is not causing great trouble. What about exercise for this? My doctor seems to think it is OK. I am leery. Your comment, please? I am only 61. — Mrs. R.T.U.

ANSWER: Exercise is sometimes prescribed, but it is miles away from being the sole answer. And you do have to be careful about what kind of exercise you do. Having stress fractures makes careful exercise selection even more critical.

I stress the care in exercise selection because you do not want to do a lot of body twisting. Nor should the exercise be one that calls for sudden strain. In short, you need to guard against creating new stress fractures or worsening those already present. You should look to a more general approach to osteoporosis, for that's what's behind the stress fractures. They occur in weakened bones that are lacking substance.

Ask your doctor to outline a total anti-osteoporosis program suitable for you.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 69-year-old man, and cannot go more than two hours without the urination urge at night. What can I do for this? — O.L.

ANSWER: The immediate suggestion in a man your age is of an enlarged prostate gland. Such enlargement impinges the urinary bladder outlet and triggers frequent voidings, which are only partially satisfied each time.

That's my transcontinental guess, and I am trusting you to go beyond your letter to me and have a thorough checkup, including a test to determine the size and tissue consistency of your prostate gland. Will you do that?

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My wife and I both had physicals, and all was fine, except that my wife's cholesterol was high (299). Mine was low (125). We seldom eat out, and she cooks for us both at home, so this is hard to understand. Our doctor gave her a diet to follow to lower cholesterol, but as a matter of fact, it is not much different from our regular meals anyway. We eat lean meat, fish, fowl, fruits and vegetables. We are both about 10 pounds overweight, and I believe she exercises more than I do. Will further dieting help her? — R.D.

ANSWER: You pose an unusual puzzle. You say that you and your wife share diet, weight and exercise in common. In spite of that, your cholesterol levels are at opposite poles of acceptability.

More than diet and calorie figures are at work here. One apparent answer is that your metabolisms differ with regards to fat foods.

Remember, we all make our own cholesterol in our bodies, independent of the amount we get "ready-made" in dietary fats. Your wife seems to be extra-bountiful in that kind of built-in cholesterol-making capacity.

I suspect that for you, continuing your present diet regimen and adopting a modest exercise program will in time bear results.

Your wife might need a fresh approach. It might be time to look into the medicines available today to lower cholesterol.

For diet-balancing hints, see the Health Letter special report on that subject. Readers can order it by writing: Dr. Donohue — SR90, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539. Enclose $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) No. 10 envelope.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was interested in the 100-year-old man who stayed fit but who insisted he never ate fish. How come? Most advisers say fish is good for you. Maybe he just doesn't like the taste or smell of fish. What do you think? — J.M.

ANSWER: I don't argue with 100-year-old people who get out and exercise daily the way that correspondent does. I don't even care to ask why he never eats fish. Your thought about taste or odor is probably correct, however. ***

No society can make a perpetual constitution or even a perpetual law.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

DRAFTING MEN FOR THE ARMY!

THE FIRST TIME THAT THE ISRAELITES HAD NEED TO DEFEND THEMSELVES OCCURRED IN THE WILDERNESS AT REPHIDIM, WHEN THE AMALEKITES THREATENED THE SAFETY OF THE PEOPLE! IT WAS THEN THAT MOSES APPOINTED JOSHUA AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF AND TOLD HIM TO CHOOSE SOME MEN AND GO AND FIGHT THE ENEMY! (EX. 17:8-9) FROM THAT BEGINNING IT WAS PROBABLY OBVIOUS TO MOSES THAT HE WOULD NEED YOUNG MEN FOR WAR, MANY TIMES, BEFORE THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL COULD GET SETTLED IN THE PROMISED LAND. SO IT BECAME LAW THAT ALL ABLE-BODIED MEN, TWENTY YEARS AND UPWARD, (NUM. 1:3) WERE ENROLLED FOR MILITARY SERVICE! BUT, JUST LIKE TODAY, THERE WERE EXCEPTIONS! THE LEVITES (PRIESTS) WERE NOT NUMBERED IN THE WILDERNESS FOR MILITARY SERVICE (NUM. 8:48-50) ALSO, ANY MAN WHO HAD BUILT A HOUSE AND NOT YET LIVED IN IT, OR PLANTED A VINEYARD AND HAD NOT EATEN OF IT, OR ANY MAN WHO HAD BETROTHED A WIFE BUT NOT YET CONSUMMATED THE MARRIAGE, (DEUT. 20:5-8) AND LASTLY, ANY MAN WHO WAS FAINTHEARTED AND AFRAID TO GO INTO BATTLE WAS EXEMPT FROM SERVING, BY REASON, THAT HE MIGHT ALSO MAKE THE SOLDIER NEXT TO HIM, AS FEARFUL AS HE WAS AND THUS CAUSE PANIC IN THE RANKS—WISE THINKING WHEN YOU COME DOWN TO IT AND PROBABLY THE REASON THE ISRAELITES DIDN'T FLEE IN TERROR AS MUCH AS OTHER TROOPS DID IN THOSE BIBLICAL DAYS!
