WASHINGTON
By George Durno

It is becoming more and more obvious in Washington that President Roosevelt is going to have to appoint a grand field marshal for his emergency recovery army very shortly.

The Allies foundered around in the world war under separate commands until the wisest heads finally had sense enough to accept a common leadership at the hands of Marshal Foch. It was only then that the tide began to turn against von Hindenburg.

Every day is producing increasing pressure from the outside for a co-ordination of NRA, Public Works, Agricultural Adjustment and the other setups under a man whose word will be law right down the line.

Mr. Roosevelt himself has been attempting this correlation but the Presidency lays on him too many other exactations. Even in normal times his job is known as a mountain. It will take all of any one man's time to handle the emergency co-ordination alone, and so it takes all of a President's time to handle normal functions of government. Speculation is keen as to the man to be picked. He will have to possess the dynamic personality of a General Johnson and the brains of a President. The job will require plenty of sub-welding and down-shooting.

His friends believe Bernard M. Baruch would take the assignment. He did a similar job in 1917 in running the War Industries Board and was able to escape criticism. Still those same friends will tell you he has too many enemies in the business world to be acceptable in this line.

Challenge

The calendar is bringing on the crisis that will compel selection of a single general to keep all of the initials in step (NRA, AAA, AGRA, PW, FERA, etc.). Football weath is not conducive to sleeping in the parks and the ice hockey temperatures which will prevail shortly thereafter make the practice really unpleasant.

President Roosevelt knows that the coming of the winter will be his supreme challenge. He has met every other major issue fearfully. Take it on the strength of his record and the world of his aides he'll be there when the shooting starts.

Dribbles

Application of the direct payroll pump still remains the answer to many of the present difficulties, according to the most earnest White House advisers.

Public Works under direction of Secretary Ickes, continues to make lump sum allotments but men are returning to work only in comparative dribbles.

Josee Jones, heading Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has been begging bankers to borrow government money and re-lend it for payroll purposes at a 2 per cent premium with scant success. The bankers say their walls are already bulging with money they'd loan anywhere they had an assurance of getting it back.

Water

Another school of thought goes even further and suggests payment of these new workers in printing press currency backed only by the ability of the government to pay.

This would be direct: inflation and the administration is frowning on such a move with an ever-increasing contraction of the brows. Those advocating this step argue in return it merely is Federal application of the practice indulged in by big trusts—the issuance of stock far in excess of capital and application of the money thus derived to improvement and expansion which will enable retirement of the excess capitalization.

Phil Dawson Victim; Arch Morgan Makes $5,000 Bond

Arch Morgan, Midland mechanic, was free Saturday afternoon under $5,000 bond in connection with the fatal shooting in Midland of Phil Dawson, operator of a roadhouse at Warfield between Midland and Odessa.

Family trouble was blamed for the shooting. Dawson was shot once in the chest as he stood at the entrance of the Scharbauer hotel Saturday morning, and once in the back after he had fallen to the sidewalk, testimony at a preliminary hearing Saturday afternoon revealed.

Morgan voluntarily surrendered to officers following the shooting. At his hearing he said he "felt justified inasmuch as Dawson had taken my wife and child."

Dawson died from internal hemorrhage three hours after the shooting. At the request of District Attorney Bob Hamilton, bond was set at $5,000. It was posted within an hour.

Knowing that their cause is just, farmers and business men in the West Texas area in which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been lost by cotton growers because of pink bollworm regulations, are renewing the campaign for reimbursement of these farmers by the state.

The State of Texas has never had such a blot upon its record of fair-dealing with its own citizens as the repeated delay and defeat of the bill for reimbursement of pink bollworm losses created.

It is noteworthy that the men who have kept this fight going for the most part business men, chamber of commerce managers, a minority of the leaders are themselves farmers.

One of the most ridiculous proposals of numerous ones of that nature that bob up in the legislature from time to time has served on at least one occasion to prevent payment of West Texas farmers for the money they lost that cotton growers in other parts of the state might be protected from pink bollworm infestation. This proposal, made by Senator Holbrook of Galveston, would have the state pay for milk that cows which die from hoof and mouth disease might have produced had they lived to a ripe old age.

The state paid for the cow when they die. Holbrook wants to tack onto the bollworm appropriation bill an amendment asking a large sum as payment for this milk the Bovines would have given if the disease had not taken their lives.

Holbrook and Senator Margie Neal already have served notice that they will introduce this milk bill and an appropriation to pay claims of losses due to tick eradication work done by the Live Stock Sanitary Commission. Madame Senator Neal forgets that the state paid for dipping of cattle that their owners might be protected from losses and seeks to tack on an additional appropriation for payment for season which strangled to death or otherwise lost their lives en route to, or en route from the dipping vats.

The fundamental difference between the claims of the east and south Texans and of the West Texas cotton growers is: the tick and the hoof and mouth disease control campaigns were primarily for protection of the very individuals who seek redress, while the pink bollworm regulations out here were not primarily for protection of cotton growers in this area but for cotton growers in lower and warmer sections of the state.

The pink bollworm does not thrive out here. Very slight infestation occurred by the Black fly from the Gulf of Mexico. Our farmers could have gone on year in and year out with about one worm in 10,000 or 20,000 acres of cotton infesting the fields.

Various governors have figured in various stages of this fight for payment by the sovereign state of Texas of a just debt to its sovereign citizens.

Governor Moody vetoed the bill on the argument that it was unconstitutional.

Ott's Tenth-Inning Homer Captures Deciding Game Of World Series 4 To 3

NEW YORK—The World Championship came back to the National League Saturday when the New York Giants beat the Washington American League team 4 to 3 in a hair-raising 10-inning game, the fourth Giant victory in five games.

After Fitcher Schumacher had driven in two runs in the second inning with a sizzling single, Schulte, Senator center fielder, eluded a terrific sixth inning rally with a home run that scored two runs ahead of him tying the count. New York had scored a third run in the first half of the sixth inning.

Mel Ott, whose hitting in the initial game led the team to victory, poled a homer into the center field stands in the tenth inning. The ball barely dropped over the barrier and Schulte was slightly hurt when he fell into the stand trying to make the catch.

A last abbreviated threat came from the Senators in their half of the tenth. With two out Manager Joe Cronin came to bat and singled. Joe Kugel, next up, struck out to end the game and series.

Steers Battered Mercilessly By Fast-Charging Harvesters

Bovine Line Beaten Down By Plainsmen

20 To 0 Win Marked Up By Visitors In Saturday Afternoon Game

Pampa's driving backs and hard blocking line beat the Big Springs Steers into submission Saturday on the Steer stadium turf, 20-0.

From the time Hamilton, Harvester halfback, cut back over the guard, squirmed into the open and then outstripped the Steers' 51-yard dash to the goal, there could be no doubt of the outcome.

Pampa's first score came on the fifth play the Harvesters tried. Cordill made a heroic stand for Big Spring, carrying the ball most of the time. But it was little Good "Gravy" Graves, guard, that turned the stubborn fight for the Steers.

While the Harvesters were ripping gaping holes in the Steer line, Graves was holding his own and setting tackle after tackle.

Bob Flowers did yeoman service in backing up the line and Cordill got his share of tackles.

In the fourth quarter after Pampa had piled up twenty points, it looked as if Big Spring had the lead to bring a score. Dean intercepted Hamilton's basket pass and broke into the open with two Harvesters after him. Dean just didn't have the speed and he was brought down from behind on the Pampa forty-two yard line after a thirty six yard run.

Reverses spelled defeat for Big Spring. Time after time the Pampa lads cut back behind good blocking and picked up substantial gains.

Marbaugh, Harvester fullback, ripped away at the Steer line until he was taken out. A big, 225 lb. player, he turned in much yardage for Pampa.

After the first touchdown it appeared that the Steers might be starting a counter rally with Cordill skirting the ends. But two wild passes spoiled the flurry and Cordill had to kick.

Big Spring buckled up and fought the Harvesters on even terms until the middle of the second quarter. On a lateral back of the line, Hamilton tossed the ball to Stevens who twisted through the entire Big Spring team and was away for a forty-nine yard dash for a touchdown. Fletcher crashed in and blocked Marbaugh's try for extra point.

Once more in the third quarter the Steers carried the fight deep into Pampa territory. Cordill kicked a kick, which Mills killed on the Pampa three yard line gave Big Spring the advantage. Bit by bit the Harvesters worked it out and finally Gregory broke the spell with a twenty-six yard run off a reverse.

Pampa smashed the ball up the field to the Big Spring four yard line. There the Steers bristled in stubborn defense. A hard tackle jarred Hamilton loose from the ball and Cordill pounced upon it. He kicked out of danger.

Late in the quarter Hamilton inaugurated a drive for another touchdown with a sixteen yard sprint off a reverse. Showing it near the Steer goal line, Pampa encountered unexpected resistance and Hamilton had trouble in backing it over from the three-yard line. His try for point was perfect.

From then to the game's end, it was a rather lull affair. The Steer linemen, battered by the harder driving Harvesters, almost crawled into their places. Back field men pulled slow motion plays.

Thomas, guard, and Mills, end, had to be carried off the field. Both had received leg injuries when blocked as they attempted to bring down Pampa backs.

Patton, Harvester end, drove two perfect passes after pulling far into the open.

The Steers, green from top to bottom, gained bitter but nevertheless good experience from the withering Pampa drives.

In defeat the team had nothing of which to be ashamed. Pampa had what it took. There was no denying the Harvesters.

McCamey Cats Hosts This Week To Colorado Team

ADADO—After having engaged three non-conference opponents, the Roscoe "Howboys," Roby Lions and the Winters club, the Wolves are to journey to McCamey next week for their initial Class A conference game. In engagement with the touted McCamey Cats the Centurion is to face a formidable contender for district pennant.

It is not planned to take the pep club to McCamey for the October 13 game, but several fans plans accompanying the Wolves to the Cats rendezvous. The team, accompanied by Coach Cantrell and other officials, are to motor to McCamey Thursday of next week.

Harvester-Steer Play By Play

Pampa took the field first, warming up some twenty minutes before the Steers, Captain Flowers leading, streamed in amid cheers of the stands.

FIRST QUARTER
Captain Flowers won the toss and elected to kick, defending the north goal. He had a slight breeze behind him. Cordill kicked to Marbaugh on the twelve yard line. He returned to the thirty one yard line. Marbaugh picked up four yards through the line. On a reverse Dunaway was tackled by H. Flowers after a three yard gain. Marbaugh picked up four yards and a first down through the line. Stevens picked up five yards around left end on a reverse. Hamilton broke through right guard for fifty-one yards and a touchdown. Green converted.

Score, Pampa 7, Big Spring 0.
Marbaugh kicked to Cordill on the ten yard line. He twisted back to the forty-four yard line where he was tackled by Marbaugh. Cordill was tackled by a mass of players after picking up three yards around left end. Cordill faked a pass and made six yards around right end. McAuley got the tackle. Time out for Pampa.

Cordill made five more around left end and first down. Hamilton brought him down. Cordill was thrown for a yard loss at left end. Pinnell tackled him. Thomas was injured on the play and Vines was sent in a guard for Big Spring. Helmskell went in for Marbaugh for Pampa. On a spin, Cordill passed to Flowers but the ball was wild.

On a similar play the throw was again high to Dean and barely missed interception by Hamilton. Cordill kicked thirty one yards and the ball was brought to the twenty-four yard line. Helmskell fumbled but Pampa recovered for no gain. Helmskell picked up three yards through the center of the line. Dunaway punted forty yards to Satterwhite who ran it back to the forty-five yard line. Gregory went in for Dunaway for Pampa. Cordill, attempting a right end run was thrown for a four yard loss. Cordill passed to Flowers, but the pass was a bit high and bounded off the receiver's hands. Cordill passed to Flowers. Hamilton smashed it down but Woods was in to scoop it up for a thirteen and a half yard gain. Hare made it first down through right guard. Helmskell getting the tackle. Cordill made three yards on a left end run, but Patton was off side, and Big Spring took the penalty instead of the gain. Cordill faked a run and passed to Dean for ten yards, putting the ball on the Pampa twenty-eight yard line.

Time out for Pampa.
Cordill was smeared by Sartin at left tackle for no gain. Satterwhite was smeared by Stevens after picking up a yard on a spin over left tackle. Cordill picked up three at left end but Big Spring was off side. Cordill passed to Woods for six yards. Hamilton making the tackle. Cordill kicked nineteen yards out of bounds on the Pampa seven yard line. Gregory gained two on a spin. Hamilton made four through the center of the line. Hamilton took it to the twenty yard line on a spin off right end. Gregory picked up three yards over right guard, being stopped by S. Flowers. Pampa fumbled but Patton recovered for a yard loss. Hamilton smashed over left guard for seven yards. Austin went in for French and Madison went in for Graves for Big Spring. Gregory punted forty-three yards out of bounds. Cordill was hurt on the play and Jones went in for the Steers. Big Spring's ball on her own thirty-one yard line. Jones was hit at the line around right end by Pinnell. Time out Big Spring. Smith went in for McAuley for Pampa and McCrary for Fletcher and Mills went in for Dean for Big Spring.

Hamilton intercepted Satterwhite's pass and returned it twenty-one yards to the Steer thirty-one yard line. He came very near breaking loose as the quarter ended.

SECOND QUARTER
Marbaugh passed to Patton, who dropped it with clear field ahead of him. Marbaugh found a hole over left guard and made seven yards before B. Flowers tackled him. Marbaugh rammed the center of the line for a first down on the twenty yard stripe. Graves went in for Madison for Big Spring. Graves broke through and tossed Marbaugh for a three yard loss. Marbaugh passed to Gregory, but the throw was wild. Marbaugh ploughed over center for eight yards. Bob Flowers threw Marbaugh for a two yard loss and the ball went over to the Steers on downs. Jones kicked thirty-six yards to Gregory who was dumped by Mills and S. Flowers. Stevens made two yards through center. Marbaugh cut over left guard and was finally stopped on the 21-yard stripe by Hair. Cordill went in for Woods. Hair and French and Fletcher went in at tackle for Big Spring. Marbaugh made four yards over left guard. Marbaugh made three more over line, and Gregory downed him on the 26-yard line. Cordill's pass to the 26-yard line. Cordill's pass to the 26-yard line. Cordill's pass to the 26-yard line.

is. Cauble lost a yard at left end. Jones dodged a heavy of tacklers and threw to Cordill down the side line, but the pass was high. Cordill kicked thirty yards to Stevens, who ran it back to the 24-yard line. Elkins for Stevens. Mills was hurt on the play when he was blocked while trying to tackle Stevens. Winslow relieved him. Noblett for Pinnell, Reynolds for Owens. Woods for Hare. Gregory took the ball on a reverse and ran thirty one yards before Cordill chased him out of bounds. Patton dropped a perfect pass from Marbaugh. Elkins took the ball on a reverse and picked up five yards before Vines tackled him. Hamilton smashed right guard for three yards. Coburn got the tackle. A pass was wild from center and Winslow and Fletcher recovered for Big Spring on the Pampa 42-yard stripe. Cordill pulled a sort of slow motion play for one yard over left guard. A smash at the line netted a yard. Big Spring was off side and drew a five yard penalty. Jones was handled hard at the line on a 15 around right end. Development Of The Passion Play Through Middle Ages Is Reviewed

(Editor's Note—This is the second of a series of articles by Dr. Alfred E. Wolfe, author of the English version of The Passion Play, upon its early history and development. The Passion Play will be presented at the Municipal Auditorium here Friday evening, October 13, by the original Freiburg players.)

The people of those distant periods responded in amazing fashion to the dramatization of the Life of Christ. Intellectual curiosity had grown and flowered into the Renaissance. Crusades had brought and were bringing back to Europe with each homeward-bound company of knights, a new and broader conception of life. The crowd became more dense within the cathedrals, as man became more evident to himself through the power of sacred stories retold by word and gesture. Christ's power no longer overpowered the multitude, for they could visualize His suffering. Undoubtedly the religious dramas played a tremendous role in disclosing to men and women their individuality.

At Freiburg, Baden as in all the other medieval towns, built up under soaring Cathedral towers, the rush of the people at the Passion Plays grew so great that the improvised stages were overrun. The voices of the participants could not be heard above the roar of the crowd. Even repeated requests, written into the dialogue of "Let There Be Silence," were not sufficient to relieve the situation. Finally the custom to erect the stage in front of the Cathedral, in the shadow of the facade. At Freiburg, the very earliest mention of the Passion Play indicated that the plot was unfolded during the progress of a procession winding slowly on the outside of the muenster. But from the time that the spectacle emerged from out the dim, dust-tinted interior of the nave, the church lost its hold on the Passion Play purely as a religious ceremonial. Monks and Friars still took part in the production; but their influence decreased year by year. When the dramatized Life of Christ moved into the light of the sun, the revival of the drama as an independent art was assured.

The Passion Play at Freiburg was enacted for many years before any definite script was prepared to guide the production from year to year. The monks knew their roles by heart, but when the laymen of the town first began to appear in the sacred roles, they had to be taught their parts. The two oldest existing manuscripts in the city archives at Freiburg consist of 21 pages and cover leaves. The first bears the date 1599, and the second that of 1804. In the older version there are scenes depicting the defeat of the devil, that are not

Two different methods of presentation are provided for in the manuscripts. One gives the directions for the processional enactment of the drama, the scenes to be given as the actors walk around the outside of the Cathedral; the other is the silent stage version for the unfolding of the play on a platform to be raised in front of the facade of the Cathedral. Thus the two oldest versions of the Passion Play at Freiburg mark the whole transition from church to town council control; for it was not long before that august group of men assumed the responsibilities for the ceremony.

Western Railway Executives Vote Reductions In Passenger Fares And Elimination Of Pullman Surcharge

CHICAGO—The Western Railway Executives' association Friday decided on a sharp reduction in passenger fares as an experiment in increasing their business. They voted to reduce from 3-6-10 cents a mile to three cents the rate on one-way rail transportation. A 2-1-2 cent a mile round trip rate was agreed upon and the present pullman surcharge of 50 per cent was eliminated.

The rates will be effective December 1 for a six months trial period. A large increase in passenger travel on cut rates during the Chicago world's fair was said to have awayed the roads toward cutting the rates.

The 3 and 2-1-2 cent rates are mandatory and the roads also are permitted to make a round trip rate of two cents a mile, within a ten-day limit, the tickets on such a rate to be honored in all classes of equipment.

The agreement was reached at a meeting of the executives of 50 railroads, including all of those having offices in Chicago.

The pullman surcharge, which is one-half the regular pullman fare, has been paid to the railroads. It was put into effect shortly after the world war to compensate the carriers in part for wage increases.

Red Cross Roll Call Chairman Stresses Need For Support Of Activities Of That Organization

Jess Hall in announcing the organization's annual Roll Call, to be conducted between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving, considers it is now more important than ever that the citizenship respond to the humanitarian call for support, not only to make it possible for the Red Cross to help others help themselves, but to insure the future of the agency's normal activities which, after all, will mean more lasting contributions to the thousands of communities it serves.

"Our community, state and nation have made encouraging steps toward recovery in the last half year," the chapter's Roll Call Chairman added, "to banish all thought of the suffering caused by business dislocation, we must not be unmindful of those who still find it impossible to assume their full responsibilities. Danger lurks at the turning point in any national crisis.

"Through its regular services," the chairman added, "the Red Cross makes health popular among millions, trains workers in First Aid, teaches proper care of the sick, urges preventive measures, assists war veterans and their families and answers promptly whenever and wherever disaster strikes. In peace-time as in war; in lean years as in more prosperous ones, the Red Cross carries on.

"In the fiscal year ending last June 30," he said, "benefits from the National Organization were felt in practically every county in the United States. In a single task the distribution of government flour and cotton products—the Red Cross helped more than 25,000,000 persons. This program amounted to the largest distribution of commodities in the annals of relief giving.

Red Cross performance, the Roll Call leader pointed out, is necessarily gauged by the degree to which its work is supported by the public. When this year's membership campaign opens November 11, every adult of this and thousands of other communities will be extended an opportunity to join. The minimum annual membership fee is $1.00; the contributing membership $5.00; sustaining, $10.00; and supporting, $25.00. Regardless of which amount is subscribed only 50¢ goes to the National Organization, the remainder being retained for local chapter services.

Last fall, during the worst economic period this generation has experienced, nearly 4,000,000 persons enrolled in the Red Cross. In addition approximately 7,000,000 children became members of the Junior Red Cross in the schools throughout the nation.

H. M. Campbell, C. S. Berryhill, Roy Green and C. E. Penny.

Mrs. Rogers will be the next hostess.

300 'Passengers' On American Airways Ship Help Fight Disease

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Massed for a concentrated fight on the sleeping sickness epidemic, 300 air line "passengers" left Memphis recently on a single American Airways' plane for St. Louis.

The "Passengers" were mosquitoes, collected here under the direction of H. A. Johnson, of the Federal Malaria Investigation office, and are now being used in an effort to curb the spread of the mysterious disease. It is hoped, Johnson said, to prove that sleeping sickness can be transmitted by the sting of insects.

Outlining the manner in which tests are being conducted, Johnson said the mosquitoes were confined without food for a time, then allowed to sting the arm of a sleeping sickness patient. Next, the shaven arm of a monkey is introduced into the mosquitoes' cage and, after being exposed to the bites, the animal is closely watched for the disease.

The insects were shipped by plane because there would be no danger of their dying of starvation in the short time required for the shipment, Johnson said, plenty of moisture was necessary inside the plane to keep the insects from drying out.

THE RETAILER--

Molder of the American People!

The Administration clearly recognizes the vital importance of the retailer in the influencing of public taste, public opinion. General Johnson has termed the retailer the most important cog in the recovery program . . . not only because the retailer employs so many persons, but more because of his intimate, direct, persuasive relationship to the consumer. The General has stated that NRA will succeed only if public opinion accepts it, works with it . . . and that in the molding of public opinion the influence of the merchant is next only to that of the press of the nation.

The alert producer is ever conscious of the close and influential relationship of the American retailer to the American people. He knows that the favorable interest and sustained good will of the country's merchants are essential to the most efficient and most profitable merchandising of his product. He also knows that the daily newspaper which the retailers find indispensable in their business is of the utmost importance in developing and sustaining that interest, that good will. Little Miss Mary Elizabeth Newsom Honoree At Pink-Blue Birthday Party

Little Miss Mary Elizabeth Newsom, charming daughter of E. L. Newsom, was honored at a happily planned party Wednesday afternoon at her home on South Nolan street. This was the ninth birthday of the honoree. A large number of friends were invited to help celebrate with her. The honoree was lovely in a mauve crepe gown with matching accessories.

The party, as planned by her father, was not only greatly enjoyed by every guest but was also voted one of the prettiest children's parties of the season. The guests began arriving at 4 o'clock. They were given party hats and blow-out whistles in pink and blue, the party colors.

Mary Elizabeth and her friends were kept busy in a continuous round of entertainment, consisting of games and contests supervised by Mrs. A. L. Mitchell and Mrs. Earl Bryant, aunt of the honoree. A fish pond where each guest displayed his ability as a fisherman created much enthusiasm.

The honoree received numerous and pretty gifts which were viewed by the guests.

After the games, the guests were ushered to the refreshment table set in the yard and spread with pink and blue. In the middle was a birthday cake. Flapper dolls were dressed in pink and blue ruffled dresses and bonnets were placed at each plate as favors. Plates and napkins also carried out the color scheme.

The birthday cake was very pretty in white decorated with pink roses. On one side was the inscription, "Mary Elizabeth." On the other in pink was "Birthday Congratulations." Nine pink candles burned on top.

Birthday wishes were made by the guests to Mary Elizabeth as she blew out the candles. Refreshments consisted of cake, pink and white Dixie cups and pink lemonade. The mothers present assisted Mmes. Mitchell and Bryant in serving the guests.

After the refreshment hour Mr. Newsom gave the boys and girls rides on Mary Elizabeth's Shetland pony, which was a thrill for the kiddies.

Local Beauty Expert Returns From School Roundup In Ft. Worth

Miss Emma Miller of the Douglas Beauty Shop, who has returned from the Sellers Beauty Roundup in Fort Worth, reports the following new beauty hints:

Artificial fingernails. The Curly bob. Facial treatment that will remove summer's tan. A makeup that will be a contrast to the dark clothes—in other words a lighter complexion.

And that goes for the fingernails, too. That brilliant or dark red polish you have been wearing must fade out a bit. Make the color more of a coral shade—it must be lighter.

"We're through with Summer," said Miss Miller, "if the fingernails have been broken off playing golf, canning peaches or without, then we have something new, the artificial fingernail."

The thin narrow line for an eyebrow is a thing of the past, at least for Winter.

"It doesn't look well with those wavy Gibson also gave readings. "Leap Year Leap" and "Bill in Trouble."

Miss Elizabeth Northington entertained the many friends of Miss Mable Eddy Friday afternoon at her home, with a lovely miscellaneous shower. Miss Eddy's engagement to Don Wallace of Colorado was announced Thursday.

Roses and daisies charmingly arranged in the spacious Northington home carried out the afternoon's color scheme of pink and green.

The party was a complete surprise to the honoree, who did not know it was being given for her. When she came in and sat down, the doors were thrown open and Miss Mable Eddy was greeted by the guests.

When the doors were open, they brought her a large pink and green basket filled with many beautiful gifts. During the presentation Don Eddy sang a parody on "Shuffle Off to Buffalo."

After the gifts were admired and passed around, the guests were ushered into the dining room and served tea.

The dining table was decorated with ruffles of pink and green crepe paper and centered with a bouquet of orange cosmos and purple bachelor buttons. Pink candies burned in green holders. The glassware was also in pink and green.

Mrs. Clarence Wear poured and Mrs. Northington, mother of the hostess, assisted with the serving. Punch and coconut macaroons were served.

Those sending gifts who could not attend were: Mmes. Obie Briscoe, Allen Hodges, E. H. Hoppel, W. D. McDonald, Bob Eubank, J. W. Terry, Lindsey Marchbanks, L. S. Dudley, Bill Tate and J. H. Anderson.

Those present were: Mmes. D. M. McKinney, Alfred Collins, Glen Gulliver, Roy Lamb, P. E. McClanahan, Sidney House, Henry Edwards, Aaron Lloyd, Clarence Wear, Herbert Whitney, E. D. Eddy, Misses Eddy, Nell Davis, Lucille Rix, Mary Alice Wilke and Little Misses Margie Leigh and Dana Lou Harrison and Luan Wear.

Several other parties are being planned in honor of the prospective bride.

New Enlistments In Tree Army Now Being Listed Here

Registrations for entrance into the Citizens Conservation Corps, the United States "tree army," are being received here at the office of Homer McNew, county relief administrator, in the Flager building, 100 block on Main street.

Mr. McNew said registrations will be received for enlistments of six months from men who have never served in the C.C.C. and that not more than one young man of a family will be received. The enlistments now being considered will be for replacements in the corps of men who have served an enlistment and have left the corps.

The men in the C.C.C. are paid $30 per month, with clothing, lodging and food, and are required to designate a dependent to whom $25 per month will be sent out of the monthly salary.

small chic hats," said Miss Miller. She blamed the hats, too, for the change in hair dressing. "These new hats that cover the right eye have brought about a change in the dressing of hair," she continued. "We must build up the detail out the right side. The hair must have an upward swing. It should be three inches long in the back and the shingle bob has passed. A new hair cut is the curly bob. The hair, we have learned, can be cut so that if it has a natural curl at all it will grow out with more curls than it would under the old style of cuts."

Hearings To Be Held At Once By NRA On Profiteering By Makers Of Various Specialized Products

Definite action is to be taken by the National Recovery Administration to curb profiteering by certain industries now operating under codes of fair competition, it was announced Saturday by Recovery Administrator Hugh E. Johnson.

As a result of complaints by retailers that manufacturers of specialized products in which competition is limited have boosted prices out of all proportion to increased costs under their codes, public hearings are to be ordered at once. The hearings are to be conducted by Deputy Administrator A. D. Whiteside who is now preparing notices requiring a number of manufacturers to publicly justify their price advances.

Among the complaints by retailers, who are to be invited to testify during the hearings, is the charge that certain manufacturers, in anticipation of the approval of permanent codes, built up huge stocks of merchandise which they are now forcing on the retailers at exorbitant prices with the explanation that increased costs under the codes are responsible.

Mustangs Victors Over Lubbock Hi

Sweetwater Takes Second Inter-District Game Of Season

SWEETWATER — Sweetwater's Mustangs accomplished their second inter-district victory in an easy win Friday when they defeated the Lubbock Warriors, 6 to 0, in a game of much futile ground gaining. The Ponies had the margin in first downs, 12 to 6.

In the latter part of the second quarter Sweetwater struck for its only counter, on a 37-yard drive. The offensive ended with Whitten scoring on a 7-yard sweep. He was not touched as he tackled up the only points of the game.

Practically all yardage by both teams was the result of running plays. Sweetwater tried four passes, completing one for seven yards and Lubbock attempted five, with one completion for twelve yards.

With few variations, the Westerners relied on spinners, which worked moderately well behind a line in which the tackles, Daugherty and Wimberly and the ends, Griggs and Calhoun, starred. Ryan, Newton, and Haley all performed well in the Lubbock backfield. Whitten and Jones were leading men for the victors.

As this rate is optional it is necessary for you to make inquiries since it would require too much time to visit each consumer individually at your home to explain its advantages to you. Ask any employee. He will gladly explain and demonstrate whether this rate would be to your advantage. Its advantages are too numerous to explain fully in an advertisement. Of course, you may be one of the few which would receive no benefit by electing this rate; again it may mean a considerable saving. We all welcome any reduction in our living expenses. For The Love of Eve by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER XXVIII

Eve entered the office of the brokerage firm of Sloan and Sanford with trepidation. Yet she felt no urge to turn back. She had made one investment through the bank and now was exploring new fields. Eve had decided to shift the scene for her next financial venture.

She asked for Mr. Sanford and this time he was at his desk. Her name must have amused him, for more than once she noticed a twinkle in his large blue-gray eyes.

"I'm through with Pure Soap," Eve told him. "I don't want to do any more of that. You see, I thought I might like to try one of the industrials. Will you tell me about them?"

Mr. Sanford told her about the industrials and agreed with her that it might be well to invest in one of them. He advocated Atlas Coupler. Eve placed her money on Atlas Coupler.

As she left the office she wondered vaguely what a coupler was. She had not felt like asking Mr. Sanford. At any rate, it was listed on the stock exchange. She noticed this when Charles brought the stock edition newspapers into the office that afternoon. As soon as she had time she got out the newspaper file and looked up Atlas Coupler ratings for the last two months. Yes, Mr. Sanford had told her the truth concerning the stock valuation. She could dismiss from her mind any misgivings concerning her new investment.

Eve liked the atmosphere of the brokerage house. She longed to feel the same ease of manner displayed by the men she saw trading there. Yet she could not quite smother a sense of excitement each time she visited the exchange. She formed the habit of dropping in frequently during lunch periods. Usually she asked Arlene to go with her, since she felt timid about appearing alone among a group of men devoted to watching market quotations being chalked on the board.

"I certainly get a great kick out of coming up here," Arlene assured her. "If father could only see me now! He thinks anyone who invests in stocks is bound for perdition. And he couldn't for the life of him, understand that I'd be interested in this place without investing."

Tuesday was pay day at Bixby's and the following Wednesday found Arlene in Mr. Sanford's office with Eve. Arlene was being initiated into making her first investment.

"I think it would be fun to margin," she commented when the methods of investing were explained to her. "I'd love the excitement of it!"

So Arlene also bought Atlas Coupler.

To Eve it had always been necessary to share each new experience with some one. Only after confiding in another and relieving the event did she get the utmost joy from it. Hence her spirits were greatly exhilarated after Arlene made her investment and they watched the trend of the market together. There were days when both of them felt the stimulation of a rise in the price of Atlas Coupler. And there were days when a slight decline sent them into the very depths of discouragement.

Atlas Coupler had long lain dormant. Eve learned after looking up the price of Atlas Coupler that it had been a lengthy, uncertain delay in marketing the issue, owing to the power of the holding company behind the coupler that was to be displaced by Atlas. But now contracts had been signed and manufacturing had begun. A reliable brokerage concern guided the activities of the issue and demand for it caused an extended flurry in the stock. The girls had every reason to believe quick riches were to be theirs for their stock and they anticipated their return eagerly.

Eve really longed to tell Dick of her investments, but she felt she could score a greater triumph by waiting until her gains were substantial. Not that she wished to flaunt her success, she assured herself but she must be able to justify her desire to earn her own money.

Eve felt these days an almost overwhelming sense of hope and expectancy. She attributed it to the apparently established upward trend of Atlas Coupler, but it might have been born of the springing Mrs. Brooks, who was in her garden at six o'clock each morning watching for Eve and gave her a bouquet of fragrant lilies of the valley for her desk. This came the week toward which the entire household had been looking forward when the lilac bushes were in bloom and purple and white clusters filled the air with their fragrance.

"Dick!" called Eve softly from the shabby old front steps where she was sitting with her arms locked around her knees. Dick, lounging in a gay steamer chair on the lawn below, looked up at her. The moon was sending beams of light through the newly-leaved

New Era Seen For Missouri Valley

NEBRASKA CITY—A new era for the upper Missouri River valley was envisioned by leaders of this section as allocation by the Federal Public Works administration of $14,000,000 for river development marked the first step toward realization of an old dream.

For years this section has dreamed of a nine-foot channel in the Missouri river, between Kansas City, Mo., and Sioux City, Ia. The fight has been carried to Congress to make it possible for Iowa, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Missouri to find a cheap means of transportation to the markets of the country.

Announcement by Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes that the $14,000,000 has been allotted for development of a six-foot channel as the first step toward the nine-foot channel was hailed as the realization of the dream.

Development of the river means that great industrial progress for Nebraska and surrounding states will follow, according to Fred Eisler, president of the Nebraska State Federation of Labor.

Arthur Weaver, of Falls City, former Nebraska governor, who has led the fight for allocation of federal funds for the development, saw in the allotment assurance of eventual construction of a nine-foot channel.

Meanwhile, speculation became current as to prospect of construction of a giant reservoir at the headwaters of the Missouri at Fort Beck, Mont., to control flood waters and insure sufficient flow to permit navigation at all seasons of the year.

Cost of the reservoir project at Fort Beck was estimated by army engineers in 1929 at $84,000,000, although subsequent unofficial estimates, based on lowered costs, placed the figure at a lower level. Army engineers at present are surveying the site, taking borings of subsurface strata to determine feasibility of the project.

Guardsmen Stop Firing Near Mines

19 Wounded Before Illinois Militia Clears Towns Of Picketers

HARRISBURG, Ill.—Illinois national guard commanded this coal mining community Friday where 19 persons have been wounded by gunfire of picketers attempting to stop operation of Peabody Mine 43.

Six companies of guards cleared the streets and highways Thursday. Their commander said he expected no further trouble of major importance.

TYLER (UP)—The government stood victor in another court test of its power to regulate the oil industry.

Federal Judge Randolph Bryant denied application of the Panama Refining Company and others for an injunction to restrain department of interior agents from requiring reports on oil received, refined and shipped in the East Texas oil field.

The court based its decision on a "presumption of validity of the acts of the constituted authorities," the same factor which recently prompted the supreme court of the District of Columbia to overrule an injunction by the Southport Refining company.

Judge Bryant expressed "the gravest misgivings" regarding constitutionality of federal recovery legislation as applied to the refining industry, but added his experience in similar cases had shown him congress "has full and plenary powers" over interstate commerce.

J. Howard Marshall, government counsel, had argued that 85 per cent of Texas produced oil goes into interstate commerce.

maple trees and fantastic shadows danced on Eve's face. "I just love this place!" she declared.

Dick blew a curling wreath of smoke rings from his pipe upward toward the star-spinkled sky. Then he answered slowly, contently. "We'll never find a better place in the city."

"I wish we could stay here forever!" Eve went on. "I mean happy and peaceful, just as we are now."

"Um!" responded Dick. And then Miss McElhinney, one of the teachers who lived upstairs, came out on the porch. "It's such a gorgeous evening and you look so snug here! I hope you don't mind if I join you."

She perched herself on the newel post, nearer to Dick than to Eve. Before many minutes had elapsed she was off on a monologue which threatened to continue for hours.

"You see," Miss McElhinney confided in her slow voice that held a suggestion of a lisp. "I do like to come out of my character! All day long I have to be the stern 'schoolmarm' and after hours I long to be just the little girl I feel!"

Dick coughed but refrained from comment.

Eve studied the newcomer with some misgivings. Apparently her line was flattery.

"I think," Miss McElhinney continued, facing Dick directly, "that you are wonderful to accomplish all you do. Building that beautiful theatre! And giving orders to so many men. Engineering must be so thrilling. I used to watch you on stormy winter mornings as you waded through the snow to get your car. It was so cold I hated even to get out of bed. I would take one look at the 'frozen north' out in the yard and then slip back under the covers until almost time for the school bell to ring."

Presently the girl's voice dropped to a lower, more confidential tone that seemed to exclude Eve. She moved nearer to Dick. Twice he turned and tried to draw his wife into the conversation. Eve angered by Miss McElhinney's impudence and irritated at Dick for not discouraging her chatter, answered in monosyllables and presently rose abruptly and went indoors.

When Dick did not follow, as she had hoped he would, she went to bed, though it was still early. Half an hour later she heard Dorothy McElhinney's husky laugh as she lode Dick good-night in the hall. Eve fancied there was an exultant and excited note in that laugh.

Dick paused at the bedroom door with the comment that the weather had changed and a sharp breeze was blowing in from the lake. When Eve did not answer he closed the door softly and settled himself for the evening with his pipe and a book. He had made no apology, no explanation. Eve, nervous and tired, cried herself to sleep. That husky exultant laugh echoed mockingly in her ears.

Buddy Meyer Stars in Senators Victory At Home

Buddy Meyer opened the Senators' hitting offensive in the third game of the world series with the Giants at Griffith Stadium, Washington, D. C. He is shown above as he singled through short in the first inning. He made two more hits later in the game.

that there was serious discussion of a gesture which would have actually cost the banks money. The plan involved accepting the RFC preferred offer and paying 4% for the funds thus acquired. This would have set the example to the rest of the country that Mr. Jones talked so much about. Only instead of making loans to industry with the money—the plan was perfectly good in itself—the idea was to re-invest it in government securities with an average yield of 3%.

Credit—
Many banks are applying a credit criticism which has important implications for the future. Loan applications have been turned down—even though the borrower's rating was perfectly good in itself—on the ground that the particular industrial field represented by the borrower was over-crowded. If this principle is extended and adhered to it would prevent the excessive industrial production which helped bring about the depression.

Gold—
Secretary Woodin's friends say he is besieged with pleas for a free gold market in New York. The plan is for the Treasury to buy gold on a rising price scale which would lift the price level proportionately. Advocates claim this would give absolute control over the dollar as a monetary unit.

Scalps—
The inflation crowd here is pretty peeved at the way their property prescription has been pigeon-holed. They have given up hope of forcing immediate action but they will be out for scalps by way of revenge when the time is ripe.

Turkey—
Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC doesn't discourage easily. The local banks kicked his credit expansion plans all around the block the first time he tried to get them to sell preferred stock. Whereupon he turned around and came back for more.

Dollar—
Local insiders say that we are drifting toward a commodity dollar in terms of a flexible gold content (the Irving Fisher dollar) more rapidly than most people realize. They add that assurance of Britain's cooperation is about all that is needed before it becomes a reality. That may not be so easy to get.

Falling Out—
New York gets a kick out of the disagreement between William Randolph Hearst and Paul Block on inflation. Hearst wants it, Block doesn't. Each has expressed himself publicly. It's like an open wrangle between King George and the Prince of Wales although neither mentions the other.

OTT'S TENTH—
No runs, no hits, no errors.
Washington—Schulte beat out a ground ball to Jackson. Kuehl singled to left field. Bluge bunted a foul ball and was out. Sewell flied out to Moore. On a wild pitch Schulte went to third. Crowder grounded out Ryan to Terry, retiring the side.

Washington—Meyer popped out to Jackson. Goslin went out, Critz to Terry. Mannish singled to right field. Cronin singled to center. Mannish went to third base. Schulte hit a home run into the left field bleachers, tying the score. Mannish and Cronin scoring ahead of him. Kuehl singled to center. Bluge got credit for a hit on a hard smash to Jackson, who threw wildly to Terry and Kuehl went to third base. Luque took the box for the Giants. Sewell grounded out, Critz to Terry, retiring the side.

AUDITORS—
represented interest on daily balances accrued on the Tax Collector's account during the year ended June 30, 1933. The Collector failed to remit this interest to the County, hence we are charging him therewith as may be observed by reference to Schedules 1 and 2.

Credits
By reference to Schedule 2 it will be observed that the Collector reported certain tax collections aggregating $861.28 but remitted cash to the extent of $747.03. This variation, of course, results in a charge to the Collector of $114.25.

By reference to Schedule 3 it will be observed that we have given the Collector credits to which he is entitled to the extent of $85.47. These items are all self-explanatory and go without further comment other than the item of $12.88, which represents commissions due the Collector. In Schedule No. 3 we present a statement of commissions earned by the Collector during the period under examination. It will be observed therein that commissions were earned to the extent of $4,608.17 and that commissions retained amounted to $4,595.29 which results in a net credit to the Collector of $12.88.

In Schedule No. 4 we present the amount due from the Collector to the respective common school districts, the total of such amounts being $214.03. This amount with the sum of $1,260.54 shown to be due Howard county represents the total amount due from the Collector at August 31, 1933 as revealed by the Collector's Statement of Account, Schedule No. 1.

All current 1933 duplicates of tax receipts issued were checked in detail to the 1932 tax roll, and were then checked to the Collector's monthly reports. Redemption, insolvents, supplemental and occupation taxes collected were checked in detail to the monthly reports to determine that all such collections had been properly reported. Highway taxes collected were checked against reports and the details thereof tested for commissions withheld.

Annual Fee Report
We have not incorporated in their report a reconciliation of the 1932 tax roll due to the fact that at the time of our visit the delinquent, insolvent and error rolls had not been compiled. For the purpose of verifying collections on the roll, however, we took into consideration open items appearing therein after checking duplicate receipts thereto.

ely prepared with one exception. The report reveals fees earned but uncollected in the amount of $1,260.54. Such fees representing commissions on December 1932 collections. Since the fees were not earned until the taxes were collected and the taxes were collected in December, from which the fees should have been retained, it is quite evident that the fees in the amount of $1,260.54 were not only earned in 1932 but were also collected. When considered in this light it is therefore evident that the fees under discussion were due the county at the time the annual report was made, together with the $2,028.37 which was remitted to the county. The Collector is of course, entitled to obtain his maximum fees for the year 1932 from the unremitted amount, which fees would amount to $14.79, after consideration of which there would remain due the county $1,299.97 in excess fees.

No Final Settlement
Inasmuch as Mr. Acuff served as Tax Collector for only eight months of 1933 and the office was taken over by a successor through appointment it will be impossible to make a final settlement with him until the close of the year. This is due to the fact that it will be necessary to establish the total fees of the Tax Collector's office for the year of 1933 so that such fees may be apportioned to the two collectors in proportion to the time served, and in that manner determine if there exists any excess fees of office due the county accruing during that portion of 1933 which Mr. Acuff served.

All these delays for various reasons and causes have prolonged the fight into a period when the state is more pressed for funds than would have been the case if it had been approved two or four or six years ago. Some legislators who then would have voted for it now ask: "Where are we to get the money?"

Those merchants who have taken advantage of the President's Re-Employment Agreement to go into local or regional agreements designed to eliminate or reduce advertising are out of line with the real purpose of the National Recovery Administration.

The following statement issued by General Johnson through press dispatches from Washington is sufficient to show that this is true: "American industry must help the public to find the goods it needs. The modern method is advertising. The American public looks to advertising for news of good merchandise and good values. In order to increase sales at the present moment, we believe that two courses of action are absolutely essential. They are: First, give the public attractive, up to date merchandise, fairly priced, and second, aggressively promote your products to the public.

Advertising, both by national firms and by distributors and retailers, in the chief instrument the administration has chosen to push the buying campaign. "All local NRA committees have been asked to obtain either a statement signed by outstanding citizens setting aside the next three months as a time during which all the resources, patriotism and cooperative spirit of your community be mobilized to translate into permanence the progress already made in the NRA Blue Eagle campaign and to make a further advance on the road back to prosperity."

Four bits will buy a ticket to the Big Spring-Tampa football game by Saturday afternoon. The largest crowd ever gathered here ought to be on hand when the whistle blows. The Steers are improving every day. Coaches Bristow and Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, through her husband, James E. Ferguson after declaring in her first campaign against Ross Sterling that she would ask that the claims be paid, caused the bill to die on the senate calendar in the last regular session.

We make this statement advisedly. The bill had been introduced in the house, approved by the house committee, and was ready to be reported favorably to the lower house. But, Jim Ferguson told the chairman of the committee to hold onto that bill and not to let it get out of the committee for awhile. When it was reported out the house passed it in the last days of the session and it died on the calendar of the senate. It was a neat way for Mr. Ferguson to wriggle out of being "put on the spot" when it came to having the governor approve or reject the bill.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the auditor's report of the various county offices. The articles will be taken up in the order in which they appear in the auditor's report, which has been duly filed with the County Clerk and is a part of the public records of Howard County.

By reference to the annual fee report filed by Mr. Loy Acuff for the calendar year of 1932, it is our observation that there existed $2,408.87 in excess fees of office which were due the county. In our examination of the Treasurer's records we find wherefore this amount was properly remitted to the County.

"Although we did not check out the complete details of the items comprising this amount, due to the fact that such was composed of items beyond the period embraced by our audit, we made a comparison of the Collector's fee book and report and insofar as we are able to determine the report was prop-ly prepared with one exception. The report reveals fees earned but uncollected in the amount of $1,260.54. Such fees representing commissions on December 1932 collections. Since the fees were not earned until the taxes were collected and the taxes were collected in December, from which the fees should have been retained, it is quite evident that the fees in the amount of $1,260.54 were not only earned in 1932 but were also collected. When considered in this light it is therefore evident that the fees under discussion were due the county at the time the annual report was made, together with the $2,028.37 which was remitted to the county. The Collector is of course, entitled to obtain his maximum fees for the year 1932 from the unremitted amount, which fees would amount to $14.79, after consideration of which there would remain due the county $1,299.97 in excess fees.

Now the bill has been submitted to the special session by the governor after having had a petition filed with her signed by a number of legislators. But a letter from Senator Arthur Duggan of this district says Senator Holbrook and Neal have announced they will again try to sack the milk and tickle the nose of it. That will again give the governor plenty of argument for vetoing it.

Bill Riddle, the manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone company in the district extending from Big Spring nearly to El Paso and down through the Big Bend country, came in Wednesday to report a strange discovery—a wet county in which there is no dealer in beer. The county is Ward, of which Barstow is the seat. It always has been wet, insofar as local option is concerned. The August 26 state-wide beer vote made sale legal once more without a local option vote. But no one in Ward county took out a permit.

You Can't STAY WHERE YOU ARE

YOU turn through a kodak album and smile at old-style clothes. Skirts cluttering the ankles . . . hats perched high up on hair . . . wasp waists . . . awkward sleeves—odd how your taste has changed!

Yet day by day your taste changes in all you wear and do. . . You don't like the same books, enjoy the same movies, choose the same underwear, prefer the same soap you did a short while ago. You are so used to the better, you wonder why you liked the old. Advertisements make you know the better as soon as it's proved to be better. They tell of good things accepted as good taste in the best homes. The honory, glass-curtains, lighting fixtures other moderns use; why their use is preferred. Advertisements influence so many around you, sooner or later you'll feel the change. Even if you never read an advertisement, you'll use in time some of the conveniences which advertisements urge you to use today. Advertisements form a tide of taste that sweeps you forward; you can't stand still. Since you'll enjoy what they advertise anyway, why not begin enjoying it now?

The Kappa Gammas did their best to look like their mothers and grandmothers Thursday night at the Gay Ninety bridge-dansant given at the Country Club by Misses Jeannette Barnett and Jeannette Pickle. It is doubtful, however, if their parents and grandpas would have seen much resemblance, although the 1933 awards seemed satisfied.

all-over embroidered chiffon. Pleated ruffles trimmed the skirt and the sleeves were as full as 1933. Jeanne is also wore the orange blossom spray around her hair that went with the dress.

Jeannette Pickle was attired in her mother's graduation dress of lace-trimmed organza with many girlish ruffles and tucks. There was a hint of the Gibson girl era in its puffed blouse.

Gibson Girl The real Gibson Girl was Maurine Leatherwood, so far as costume was concerned. A little more business woman would have made her a Mae West. She wore a slightly antique black taffeta blouse, belonging to Larson Lloyd's mother, with a black serge skirt from Mrs. Della K. Agnell's trousseau.

Mrs. Bill Turpin wore a black cambrie dress she obtained from Mrs. Gus Pickle. It was trimmed with a white ruffle, and white buttons down the front of the waist. Her costume's finishing touch was a pair of narrow-pointed high-top, black shoes.

Lillian Shick was flourishing about in a pale lavender dress of Mrs. F. F. Gary's, another trousseau treasure. The dress was made in New York and was in which Mrs. Gary was married on.

Assembled Costume Vanessa Keneaster was another with an assembled costume. She was proudest of her petticoat, an old rose affair with a ruffle of rose ribbon fastened onto bands of flit insertion. Mrs. W. L. McCarty lent it for the evening.

"Vapor" and "Humours"

In Elizabethan times unknown diseases were blamed on "Vapours" or "Malignant Humours." Such childish ideas serve less as a cure than the person who fails to avail himself of the modern physician's scientific help.

Will Rogers In 'Dr. Bull' At The Ritz

Picture Taken From Popular Novel Cozzens 'The Last Adam'

Will Rogers comes to the Ritz Theater beginning today in his latest picture for Fox Film, "Doctor Bull." It is the screen presentation of the famous novel by James Gould Cozzens, "The Last Adam," best-seller and recent Book-of-the-Month selection. It is reported as the most powerful vehicle the popular philosopher-comedian has had on the talking screen.

The story concerns a physician in a small town who, in addition to ministering to the health of the community, acts as its unofficial father confessor. None of the town's secrets escapes him. He knows the inner life of every one of its inhabitants. But it is not as a gossip that he finds himself interested in the private lives of the village. He is a mellow gentleman to whom everyone's reactions are an interesting bit of human document.

The film does not present the story of one character. Like "State Fair," the last of the Rogers screen plays, it deals with many characters, each typical of a kind. It is more than the story of one town. For it is the story of thousands of similar towns all over the country.
