Happy Thanksgiving! As you sit down for Thanksgiving dinner this year, or plop down in the recliner in front of the Cowboys game, can you do me a favor?

Just for a moment (you can do it during the commercials, since they just advertise stuff you don't need anyway), why don't you think about why we celebrate Thanksgiving.

I was giving this subject some thought the other day and really think we have lost sight of the real reason and motivation behind Thanksgiving.

You see, like so many other religious holidays, Thanksgiving has become obscured by commercialism and profiteering (not to mention a certain degree of gluttony and slothfulness) that we forget that it really IS a religious holiday.

As I recalled my school history lessons, I remembered that the Pilgrims hazarded the unknown Atlantic Ocean because they were tired of the English government telling them that they had to be members of the Church of England, when they held the conviction that the Church of England was not the right church.

(Gee, I wonder how they came to that conclusion, just because it was "founded" by Henry the Eighth because the Catholic church frowned on him divorcing wives in quick . Hebrews 11 that talks about great succession, so he started a church that didn't care.)

Anyway, the Pilgrims were looking for a land where they could worship in freedom, calling on God whenever and wherever they wanted.

When they arrived in the New World, I'm sure they got a lot more surprises than they expected, with a harsh winter, little food and high casualty rates.

But they endured that first winter and enough people survived to keep every one of you!

the dream of freedom alive.

It was for this reason that the Pilgrims decided to hold a Thanksgiving feast (with a little help from the Native Americans who lived in the area and had helped out some during the early months the Pilgrims were here.).

The first Thanksgiving was not a "see-how-much-we-can-eat" feast, or a "This Year It's Christmas with my Family and Thanksgiving With Your Family" holiday.

It was a special time set aside to give thanks to God for bringing them through a time of trial and keeping them alive.

Of course these people had thanked God each day for their survival and continued existence, but this was an opportunity to show thankfulness in a concrete way.

I'm not saying we should throw away the turkey, put the TV in the garage and put on funny black and white clothes and eat berries on an Indian reservation.

What I am saying is that we really ought to sit back sometime this Thanksgiving and do more than just the obligatory mumbled blessing before dinner.

Why not sing a hymn, read a few ppropriate verses from the Bible (any verses will do, but I think faith in times of adversity would be especially fitting) and just thank each family member for being there and loving you.

Then you can enjoy that meal knowing you brought back at least a little bit of the real meaning of Thanksgiving and you can enjoy the Cowboys game a little more because God has blessed you with life, freedom and a loving family.

Have a good day and God bless

"I have looked closely at some of the bills being pre-filed and apparently some House members and some senators don't agree with me on that because I do see that quite a few new programs are being suggested in bill form."

Both Bullock and Laney said they haven't yet felt the momentum of an expected push to legalize casino gambling in Texas during the legislative session. The men said they haven't heard any debate that casino gambling would generate substantial revenues for the state.

"I have not seen any revenue stream that it (casino gambling) would bring in that would be a positive," Laney said. "I don't think anything has been given to us on the economic benefits.

'We have made all this information available to the statewide leadership," Criss said. "That's all I can say. Maybe they're busy. They get a lot of material. Maybe they haven't looked at it. I will send them copies of those studies again."

Karen Hughes, a spokeswoman for Gov.-elect George W. Bush, said Tuesday that Bush "will make public schools his top spending priority." She said Bush generally agrees with Bullock and Laney on the need to place basic services at the top of the funding list.

Bullock went on to say that his "mind has fast become closed on the administration of the Teacher Retirement System. I am about wore out with them over there."

Bullock said his cause for concern stems from an investigation by the Texas attorney general's office in 1992 of investments made by the Teacher Retirement System.

Michael Barron, chief financial officer of the retirement system, said Tuesday that the attorney general's probe found that some commercial real estate investments made during the 1980s "may have had a conflict of interest."

Barron said the attorney general's investigation was then turned over to the Travis County district attorney's office last year. Barron said the district attorney's office hasn't contacted the retirement system since.

"The attorney general's report, which has been widely reported on, didn't draw any conclusions," Barron said. "The attorney general has since referred that to the district attorney. However, we have never been contacted further."

Claire Dawson-Brown, assistant Travis County district attorney, said Tuesday, "It's still an open case. It hasn't been closed. The case refers to some commercial real estate investments and to different interests some employees had in those investments.

Barron said roughly four employ-ees were involved with the questionable real estate transactions and all have since been let go by the retirement system.

Back problems are the most commonly suffered maladies in our society and there is a reason! Modern society has become highly complex, not only in the workplace, but in every area of the human environment. Technological changes and their effects on the human being have created new stresses, many of them related to body and structure. At its best, this results in discomfort, dissatisfaction and limited performance; at its worst, is results in serious health problems. You can do something about that back problem. # Cowboys pick up QB Hodson IRVING, Texas (AP) _ The Dallas on game day." Cowboys have signed an emergency backup quarterback and found out their usual backup may be available for the Thanksgiving Day game against the Green Bay Packers.

The Cowboys signed Tommy Hodson as an emergency backup on Tuesday morning. Later that afternoon, injured backup Rodney Peete was well enough to throw some passes during practice.

"Peete threw the ball today," coach Barry Switzer said. "He wore a glove, and he looked like he might be our emergency third quarterback. He might be able to take some snaps

Free agents Hodson and Mike Pagel were brought in as a possible backup for third-stringer Jason Garrett, who will start against the Packers.

Garrett starts because starter Troy Aikman has a knee injury, and Peete has a thumb injury.

Hodson became the backup of choice when Pagel _ who formerly played for Baltimore, Indianapolis, Cleveland and Los Angeles Rams_ wasn't mobile enough in a workout to suit the coaches.

Pagel sustained a knee injury in an Arena Football League game three months ago, and coaches didn't feel he would be ready Thursday.

Hodson, 27, played for New England for three seasons after he was drafted out of Louisiana State. He was a non-roster player in Miami for a brief period last season, but hasn't played this year. He had a one-day tryout with Denver.

Hodson's career passing totals are 171 of 315 attempts for 1,809 yards. He has had seven touchdown passes and 11 interceptions.

Hodson's best game was 25-of-43. for 267 yards and two touchdowns against Miami in 1992.

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports Writer IRVING, Texas (AP) _ Twenty years ago on Thanksgiving Day, the Dallas Cowboys thought they were down and out. Roger Staubach had a concussion and rookie Clint Longley was rushed into the game against the Washington Redskins.

The Cowboys were down for a while, but they weren't out: Longley hit Drew Pearson with a touchdown pass and the Cowboys rallied for a 24-23 victory.

The Cowboys are looking for another unlikely hero this Thanksgiving against the Green Bay Packers.

Jason Garrett, a third-stringer who played college football at Princeton, will start at quarterback.

"I've got a chance to make a name for myself," Garrett said. His teammates think he'll be OK.

"He'll do a fantastic job," quarterback Troy Aikman said. "We're not worried about Jason. He's got good stuff."

"He did a great job against the New York Giants and Phoenix when he had to play last year," fullback Daryl Johnston said. "We feel very confident he can get the job done if everyone else performs. We don't foresee any problems with Jason in there.'

Garrett starts against the Packers because Aikman sprained hi knee and backup Rodney Peete strained his right thumb ligament in Sunday's 31-7 victory over Washington.

"Jason can't throw the ball like Troy, but he can do good things and the whole team believes he can get it done," running back Emmitt Smith said.

Garrett has played for five years in three professional football leagues. He spent the 1992 season on the Dallas practice squad, and moved onto the active roster in 1993, replacing Steve Beuerlein.

He won a game against the Giants last year after Aikman left with a pulled hamstring, taking the Cowboys on two touchdown drives. The following week Garrett started in a 20-15 victory over Phoenix.

"It was a good experience for me last year," he said. "I think I learned a lot. What's important is I'll be practicing with the first team this week. That really helps. I'm fident. I know my limitatio strengths.

"We'll probably scale the offense as any guarterback," Switzer said. "Execution won't be a problem. He's down a little bit. My strengths are I know the offense and I think I can too smart to get you beat. He knows his limitations. He knows he doesn't throw the short stuff with good have an arm like Troy or Rodney. We accuracy. I can run this offense. I just . have to remember I'm just 1-llth of may scale back some. the team out there and not try to do too much. I realize I can't win the behind a guy like that," Holmgren said. "I know he's tough and smart. He has to be considering where he went to school. Of course, you would think it would work out better for us without Aikman and Peete around.

Green Bay coach Mike Holmgren said Garrett worries him. "You expect a team to rally

"But you never know."

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) _ Byron Hanspard had two options for getting to the end zone: He could go over the Houston Cougars defenders, or he could go through them. He chose a sideways catapult, and it was good for one of his two touchdown's Saturday in Texas Tech's 34-0 victory over Houston.

"I was trying to decide whether I wanted to run over them or whether I wanted to jump," the Red Raiders' tailback said of his 14-yard score. "So it happened that I just put my head down and spun."

Hanspard rushed for 114 yards on 24 carries in the victory. He also scored from 5 yards out.

The Associated Press named Hanspard the Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week for a performance that also included three receptions for 42 yards.

Defensive honors went to Texas A&M's Ray Mickens, who had two tackles and two broken-up passes as the Aggies beat Texas Christian 34-17.

Mickens thwarted a third-quarter touchdown attempt with an interception in the end zone that could have oulled the Horned Frogs within 24-17 had they scored.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was in- scribe Cytotec to protect the stomterested in the drug Oruvail. I am an arthritis sufferer. My doctor gave me a two-week supply. After a week, I had severe gastrointestinal bleeding. I was hospitalized. I am glad to say I recovered with a restricted diet. Readers should be warned. -W.D.

ANSWER: The most innocent of drugs can have potential for occasional serious side effects, even the common non-steroidal antiinflammatories, of which Oruvail is one. Others include the familiar aspirin, indomethacin, ibuprofen, naproxen and ketoprofen.

Oruvail is a time-release form of ketoprofen.

Such medicines are often chosen for common illnesses such as arthritis, bursitis and tendinitis.

On the plus side, the drugs provide a welcome option to stronger cortisone anti-inflammatories. They do so much good for so many patients who tolerate them that their benefits cannot be discarded.

But no doubt about it, they do have the potential for a serious side effect such as you encountered. Indeed, they can cause trouble even when there have been no previous stomach symptoms.

So you do need to be as careful about their use as with any medicine. Rare dramatic side effects like yours underscore warnings that apply to all medicines, and they prompt searches for ways to prevent such complications. General guidelines include adherence to usage limitations. For example, the person should not drink or smoke when taking such medicine. Sometimes, a doctor prescribing a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug for long periods will preach lining from damage.

I am glad you are well now. DEARDR.DONOHUE: Please tell me the effects of thiazide. I have been taking this drug for two years and I am not happy, because some-one told me I should be taking an alternate medicine due to my age, 78. My doctor will not change it. Please advise me. - Mrs. L.C.

ANSWER: Thiazides are diuretics, also known as water pills. They are often used to control high blood pressure.

Some years back, an issue arose concerning the safety of thiazides, having to do with an alleged role in raising cholesterol levels. However, subsequent studies have shown no such effect. In fact, some now say that the pills might actually lower blood cholesterol. Such are the va-. garies of drugs and their effects.

Thiazides can be safely used by most, even by someone your age. If your cholesterol levels are not being affected and if you are not losing potassium - another thiazide side effect - then you can'tell your friend that thiazides are working just fine for you, and your doctor has matters in hand.

If diuretics do cause potassium loss, other water pills that don't do that can be used

For more on high blood pressure, see my hypertension report. It is available by writing: Dr. Donohue-No. 4, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539. Enclose $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) No. 10 envelope.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: The doctors say that unless you break out with the rash, you don't have shingles. My optometrist disagrees. What are your feelings on the subject? — L.G.

ANSWER: Shingles without a rash has been reported. It is called zoster sine herpete. It is not common, and some experts actually dispute its existence. Others say it does exist.

That leaves you the luxury of believing exactly what you want to believe

Rainy weather brings cotton, peanut harvest to halt

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) to wait for fields to dry before Texas producers won't be giving thanks this Thanksgiving for the rainy weather that is slowing cotton and peanut harvests across the state, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

Dr. Billy Warrick, Extension agronomist in San Angelo, said that rainy weather has halted harvests because farmers can't work in soaked fields.

"Usually by Thanksgiving growers are finished with the cotton harvest, but it looks like this year that won't happen," Warrick said. "Many producers aren't even at the halfway mark.

Peanut growers in West Central Texas still have 20 percent to harvest, but wet fields are stopping their harvests as well.

Warrick said that this fall's mild season has also taken its toll on dryland cotton waiting for the first killing frost. He explained a freeze knocks down excess growth on the cotton plant before harvesting.

"The freeze already is 18 days late, and each day of delay cuts yields for dryland cotton growers," he said.

Emory Boring, Extension entomologist in Vernon, said the Rolling Plains finally received its killing frost, but now producers have harvests.

We have finally got the killing frost we were waiting for across most of the area, and we expect the rest of the region will drop below freezing Wednesday," he said. "However, due to the rains last weekend, we still have to wait on the weather."

Jose Pena, Extension economist in Uvalde, said that cool fall weather has finally arrived for Southwest state. Texas.

cool for grains and pastures," Pena reported by district Extension said. "The weather is working with directors: us; bringing rain and cooler temperatures when we need them."

Pena said right now his region is harvesting spinach in a few weeks. Jon Zeitler, meteorologist at the National Weather Service Agricultural Service Center in College Station, said a high pressure system will bring cooler conditions to Texas this week. "Moist air in the upper levels of the atmosphere will cause an increase in cloud cover over the next few days," Zeitler said. "The state can expect to see fair skies today and Day.

Zeitler said a warming trend is proceeding with the peanut and cotton expected for the weekend, but scattered showers and thunderstorms will accompany these mild conditions.

High temperatures over the next five days will range from the 50s and 60s Wednesday, warming to the 60s and 70s by Friday. Low temperatures will vary from the 20s and 30s in the northern one-third of the state to the low 40s and 50s in the rest of the
