Bush speech kept to campaign goals

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP)—Republican Gov. George W. Bush didn't stray from his campaign standbys, but Democratic Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock says his first state of the state speech still struck a chord.

"I think the governor punched all the right buttons. He touched all the issues which he ran on in his race for governor, and the number of votes which he received pretty much speaks for itself," Bullock said.

"He pointed us in a direction that he wanted us to proceed in, and I feel like the Senate will be working extremely hard on those types of issues, such as tort reform that we're into now," Bullock added.

In his speech Tuesday, Bush reiterated his call for stricter welfare rules, more local control of education, tougher laws for young criminals and changes to help limit damages and frivolous lawsuits.

Those were his key campaign promises, and Bush pledged to keep faith with voters.

"You and I know that people have become cynical. It has happened partly because government has tried to do too much. It has also happened because people run for office saying one thing and then do another," Bush said. "I intend to keep my word."

Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland said he expected the Legislature to address all four of Bush's priorities.

"And if not, I think that the Legislature has really shirked its responsibility to the state," said Craddick, chairman of the House Republican Caucus.

"People are fed up with the problems they're having in those areas and I think he just needs to keep banging on them 'til they're solved," he said.

Not everyone in the Democratic-controlled Legislature was as enthusiastic.

Texas Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle chided Bush for not offering specific programs. "Listing goals for Texas makes a nice speech, but a real Texas leader would also put for a substantive plan that charts a course to achieve those goals," Slagle said.

Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, noted that Texas welfare benefits already are among the nation's lowest.

"To blame some of the problems that we have on poor people in this state is ridiculous," Barrientos said. "He won the campaign. He is the governor of Texas. Leave the political rhetoric at the door. We've got work to do."

Bush told the lawmakers his guiding philosophy is one of "limited government, personal responsibility, strong families and local control."

The governor said the current welfare system "rewards illegitimacy, diminishes the motivation to work and robs Texans of dignity and self-worth."

Tickets still available for annual chamber banquet

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual banquet on Thursday in the Hereford

SPIKE DYKES

ISD banquet hall, 601 N. 25 Mile Avenue.

Tickets for the event are still available. They cost $15 each and are available at the chamber office, 701 N. Main, or by making reservations at 364-3333.

Deadline to purchase tickets is 5 p.m. Thursday.

Special speaker for the event will be Texas Tech University head football coach Spike Dykes, who will present what has been billed as an entertaining and enthusiastic message.

Also during the banquet, the Hereford Lions Club will honor the 1994 Citizen of the Year with the announcement of the recipient by club President Carey Black.

Outgoing Chamber President Wes Fisher will be honored and 1995 President Wes Klett will share his plans for the coming year.

County farmers need water to get fields ready to plant

Deaf Smith County producers within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 service area need two to eight inches of water from precipitation and/or irrigation to bring the five foot root zone soil profile to field capacity before the 1995 spring planting, according to pre-plant soil moisture survey data released by the Water District and the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS).

"We found that six percent of the Water District service area will need from zero to four inches of moisture to bring the soils to field capacity. About 45 percent of the area will need four to six inches of moisture, and 48 percent will need six to eight inches of moisture. One percent of the area needs eight to ten inches of moisture to refill the soil profile," says Gerald Crenwelge, USDA-NRCS Soil Scientist.

Soil moisture readings are taken by lowering a neutron probe into a permanently installed aluminum access tube at each of the 301 monitoring sites within the 15-county Water District service area. Each site is chosen based upon the soil type, the variations in the saturated thickness of the Ogallala Aquifer which indicates potential well yields, and typical farming operations in the area.

Plant available soil moisture varies according to the previous crop produced at the site. For example, soil moisture varies according to the previous crop produced at the site. For example, soil moisture at cotton sites averaged about 0.4 inches at the one foot soil level, 0.3 inches at the two foot level, 0.3 inches at the three foot level, 0.4 inches at the four foot level, and 0.5 inches at the five foot level.

Sites in corn producing areas had about 0.6 inches at the one foot level, 0.6 at the two foot level, 0.6 inches at the three foot level, one inch at the four foot level, and one inch at the five foot level.

Available soil moisture for grain sorghum and wheat sites was found to be between that of corn and cotton. Grain sorghum sites averaged 0.5 inches at the one foot level, 0.5 inches at the two foot level, 0.4 inches at the three foot level, 0.6 inches at the four foot level, and 0.7 inches at the five foot level.

Generally, each foot of soil has a capacity to hold about two inches of soil moisture, or a total of about ten inches in the five foot root zone soil profile.

Historical data shows that above-average crop yields are more likely when the five foot root zone soil profile is at or near field capacity at planting.

"We hope the area will receive significant precipitation that will help reduce these soil moisture deficits prior to planting," says Crenwelge. Rain gauge readings taken by Water District staff at the soil moisture sites in Deaf Smith County show 15.69 inches of precipitation during 1994.

Use of furrow dikes will help keep any moisture that falls between now and spring planting on the field so that it can soak into the soil.

The annual pre-plant soil moisture survey data informs producers about general plant available soil moisture conditions across the Water District. "Irrigators can use this information to estimate the amount of water needed to bring their soil closer to field capacity without wasting water by over-irrigating. This information reflects general soil moisture trends and should not be used in place of individual soil moisture testing on farms," says Crenwelge.

Fire danger here very high

Spain urges care in regards to fire

With less than a quarter of an inch of rain having fallen on Deaf Smith County in 1995, Fire Marshal Jay Spain said the fire danger is "extremely high."

Through the first 38 days of 1995, firefighters had run on 10 grass fires -- "that's a third of them (days) just that," he said.

So far, the fire department has recorded a scant 0.14 of an inch of rain this year.

That, Spain said, is less than areas north and east of here that have had at least a little snow this winter.

"Ours is worse," he said. "This area of the Panhandle is in worse shape than anywhere else. We've had no moisture."

With fire danger high -- and fire officials expecting to see little moisture between now and April -- Spain said caution is advised in handling fire.

In addition, "if they live in a rural area they need to plow a fire line around their improvements and structures," he said.

The fire line needs to be 15 to 20 feet wide. Then, if there is a grass fire that threatens property, firefighters will be able to set backfires from that line, widening the safe area around property.

Spain said the high fire danger, combined with high winds and thick stands of Conservation

Reserve Program grass may create a situation where firefighters cannot battle a blaze -- instead they would simply focus on getting people out of the path of the flames.

That, he stressed, is a worst-case scenario and doesn't think it would happen, but added that the fire department will not put human life in danger to save property.

Spain said moisture is the only thing that will reduce the danger of a serious fire right now.

"We need two feet of snow and it not melt till July 4," Spain said -- only half joking -- "then it start raining for another month or two or three."

All department fire trucks, including the new county grass fire truck "Sasquatch" are up and running and ready to go in case of a fire.

Spain urged residents to report any uncontrolled fires they see, but added that some farmers are still burning off stubble fields, so the fire should be out of control before it is reported.

He also said farmers who plan to burn off fields should call the fire department at 364-5552 or the Hereford Police Department at 364-2323 to let officials know ahead of time.

"We're ripe" for a major fire, he said.

Anti-abortion groups attack Foster's record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both Democrats and Republicans say Dr. Henry Foster Jr.'s nomination to be surgeon general is in jeopardy because of uncertainty over his record on abortions.

On Tuesday, anti-abortion groups fighting the nomination stepped up their attacks, producing information indicating that the Tennessee obstetrician-gynecologist led a study in the early 1980s to test do-it-yourself abortion drugs.

The National Right to Life Committee and the American Life League said that while chairman of the Obstetrics and Gynecology Department at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Foster headed a study involving about 60 women and financed by Upjohn Pharmaceutical Corp.

The women, who were up to eight weeks pregnant, were given prostaglandin drugs in vaginal suppositories, the groups said.

White House press secretary Mike McCurry said an article Foster wrote on the testing was available when Foster was being considered. He said Foster was poring over his medical records to be able to answer all questions thoroughly.

President Clinton continued to back Foster. Asked about the differing reports on how many abortions Foster had performed, the president said, "I believe that they've been cleared up and I certainly support him."

In a floor speech Tuesday, Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., who supports abortion rights, urged his colleagues to "withhold judgment."

But he said, "I am very much concerned about allegations that Dr. Foster misrepresented his record. If the issue is veracity and character, that may be a basis for disqualification."

The White House and Foster's congressional supporters continue to argue that performing legal abortions should not be a litmus test.

But as Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., put it Tuesday, "I think this should not be a litmus test issue regarding Dr. Foster, but whether the White House or myself or anyone else believes it should be, it is."

Trouble over Foster's nomination began over the number of abortions he has performed. Foster maintains he has done fewer than 12--mostly in cases of rape, incest or threat to a mother's life.

But anti-abortion groups circulated a transcript on Monday of a 1978 ethics advisory board meeting in which a participant identified as Dr. Foster said: "I have done a lot of amniocentesis and therapeutic abortions, probably near 700."

Even in speaking out for Foster at a press conference on Tuesday, and calling the attacks on him the work of "the radical right," numerous House Democrats criticized the White House for ever talking about the numbers of abortions Foster performed.

"I was outraged when we got into the numbers game," said Rep. Jerry Nadler, D-N.Y.

On Tuesday, the White House appeared to have learned that lesson.

Fire danger high with heat, winds

By JEAN PAGEL
Associated Press Writer
LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Firefighters see a dangerous brew in the unseasonably high temperatures and gusty winds this winter.

Across West Texas, where precipitation was several inches below normal in 1994, small fires that sizzled across dry pastures have signaled the likelihood for bigger blazes.

"If it doesn't rain pretty soon it's going to get real bad," said Levelland fire chief Thurman Davis, whose department fought a square-mile blaze Jan. 31 in eastern Hockley County.

"There's no moisture in it," Davis said Tuesday. "Just being so dry it just goes up like gasoline."

Four puppies and a cat died in that fire west of Lubbock. Five mobile homes were damaged; officials think it started when someone threw a cigarette out a window.

Lt. Game Warden John Rische of Texas Parks and Wildlife in Lubbock said dry conditions have created an extremely great potential for fires.

"Any time you go this long without rain, especially this time of year when the grass has pretty much died off, the danger is great," Rische said.

The Soil Conservation Service warned ranchers against prescribed burns of their rangeland.

Agriculture researchers say moisture conditions vary from very short in the South Plains to surplus in North Texas and East Texas.

Several areas of the state -- including the Rolling Plains, far West Texas and South Texas -- consider their moisture levels at adequate or less.

"You take the dryness and some heat, it doesn't bode well," said National Weather Service forecaster Mike Young in Abilene.

Near Denton last week, several firefighters were treated for smoke inhalation from a fire that started when a television set exploded at Aubrey Electronics. Winds up to 30 mph Friday fanned the flames into nearby grass.

Mahlon Hammett, information specialist for the Texas Forest Service, said his agency's weekly report lists a moderate fire danger for the Panhandle south through Midland-Odessa.

Hammett said he hasn't heard of any large fires lately. But that could change with the high spring winds that dry out dormant vegetation, he said.

Anne Easterling, a program director for the Texas Commission on Fire Protection, said fire frequency generally diminishes in the winter.

"People just aren't out doing things," Ms. Easterling said. "The concern for grass fires is not the same as what we would see during the summer months."

Basketball royalty

The boys and girls basketball teams at Hereford High School selected their King and Queen, who were announced at Tuesday's games. Members of the boys varsity team selected Heather Hodges as Basketball Queen, while the girls varsity team chose Benton Buckley as Basketball King. The two play on their respective varsity teams.

Local Roundup

Slight chance of rain

Hereford recorded a high of 46 Tuesday and the overnight low was 24, according to KPAN Weather. Tonight, mostly cloudy with a slight chance of rain. Any rain could change to snow late. Low in the lower 30s. Southwest wind 10-20 mph and gusty. Chance of precipitation is 20 percent. Thursday, a slight chance of morning rain or snow showers. Otherwise becoming partly cloudy. High in the mid 50s. North wind 10-20 mph. Twenty percent chance of moisture.

Immunization schedule noted

The Texas Department of Health has announced its February immunization clinic schedule for Hereford. Vaccines against polio, diphtheria, lockjaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella, mumps and HIB (hemophilus influenzae type B) will be offered. The Texas Department of Health charges to help with the cost of keeping the clinic open. Charges are based on family income and size and the ability to pay. Regular clinics will be held from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. The clinics will be on Thursday, Feb. 9, then Feb. 16 and 23 in the Health Department offices, 205 W. Fourth St., Suite B.

World/Nation

WASHINGTON - President Clinton, unable to bring baseball players and owners any closer to settling the six-month-old strike, says he will ask Congress today to pass emergency legislation requiring binding arbitration. Earlier, Republicans in Congress discouraged him from such action.

WASHINGTON - To hear Republicans tell it, they are shocked that a president would dare to send Congress a budget that never anticipates a year when the government will not operate in the red. Democrats wonder where these deficit hawks were during the Reagan and Bush years.

WASHINGTON - The House is inching toward passage of a Republican anti-crime package, voting unanimously to compel criminals to compensate their victims. More controversial measures are to be taken up in the days ahead.

LOS ANGELES - The witness says he first heard the dog's "plaintive wail" between 10:15 and 10:20 p.m. on the night of June 12.

As writer Pablo Fenjves drifted off to sleep an hour later, the animal's cry still rang in his ears. Prosecutors say the lonely wail is the closest clue so far to establishing a time of death for Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman.

NAZRAN, Russia - The true toll of dead and wounded in Russia's war on separatist Chechnya may never be known, but new estimates suggest thousands of casualties in just two months.

WASHINGTON - Stephen Dube's colored-pencil rendition of a dress dangling from a clothesline was drawn on a flattened brown grocery bag. It hangs with hundreds of other works by young artists along a well-traveled tunnel on Capitol Hill. But it's part of a national arts competition that has fallen to the congressional budget ax.

Discovery crew gets to relax

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Discovery's crew kept tabs on a slew of science experiments today and checked out the bulky suits two astronauts will wear during Thursday's five-hour spacewalk.

It was a day of relative relaxation for the six-person crew, coming after a historic rendezvous with Russia's Mir space station and a telescope release.

Mission Control let the crew sleep in as a reward for all its hard work.

"Thanks for the extra hour," shuttle commander James Wetherbee told ground controllers. "We used it."

Today's lull gave astronauts a chance to check on 20 science experiments in a shuttle laboratory, and Bernard Harris Jr. and Michael Foale double-checked their space-suits.

Harris, a physician, will become the first black to take part in a spacewalk. He said during a TV interview this morning that he'd like to dedicate the spacewalk to "all African-Americans, to African-American achievements."

He noted that his opportunity to walk in space comes during Black History Month, adding, "Really, I get emotional when I think about it."

Dry land farming

A farmer plows his field west of Hereford on Tuesday, kicking up clouds of dust and turning over large dirt clods. Soil conditions in the area are extremely dry; creating high fire danger on CRP lands and forcing farmers to irrigate earlier and more often than usual.

Dog's 'plaintive wail' used to pinpoint time of killings

By JEFF MEYER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)--The witness says he first heard the dog's "plaintive wail" between 10:15 and 10:20 p.m. on June 12--a mournful cry that punctured the darkness and continued sporadically for at least an hour.

"It sounded like a very unhappy animal," Pablo Fenjves testified Tuesday in the O.J. Simpson trial.

Prosecutors say the lonely wail is the closest clue so far to establishing a time of death for Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman. They believe the barking and howling came from Ms. Simpson's Akita, Kato, who left bloody paw prints near the murder scene.

With no known witnesses to the murders, prosecutors used testimony from Fenjves and two of Goldman's co-workers to try to pinpoint for jurors the time of the bloody killings.

Prosecutors contend Simpson killed his ex-wife and her friend about 10:15 p.m., which would give him time to return to his Brentwood estate, clean up and board a limousine to the airport just after 11 p.m.

Simpson's lawyers say he was in his front yard practicing his golf swing when the killings occurred.

Fenjves' home is across an alley from Ms. Simpson's condominium, where the bodies were found. He said he was watching the 10 o'clock news when he heard "a very distinctive barking" coming from around Ms. Simpson's home.

"It was at a significant pitch, and as you may recall I described it at the time as a plaintive wail," said Fenjves, who also testified last summer at Simpson's preliminary hearing.

Fenjves, a writer, said he looked out his bedroom window, saw nothing amiss and went downstairs to work in his soundproof office. When he returned to his bedroom at 11 p.m., he said, the dog was still barking.

"I mentioned to my wife I was concerned about the dog," he said. "The dog didn't sound like it was in pain. It was just unhappy."

He peered outside again, saw lights in the neighboring condominium and went back to bed. He estimated he fell asleep about 11:20 or 11:30 p.m., still hearing the sporadic barking.

In cross-examination, defense attorney Johnnie Cochran Jr. noted that a police report quotes Fenjves as saying he heard barking between 10:15 and 10:30, rather than 10:20. Fenjves stuck with the 10:20 time.

Earlier Tuesday, two employees of the Mezzaluna restaurant, where Goldman worked, described the victims' final hours. Ms. Simpson ate with family members at the restaurant the night she was killed.

Waitress Tia Gavin said Ms. Simpson and her party left the restaurant about 8:45 p.m.

A manager, Karen Lee Crawford, said she received a telephone call at 9:37 p.m. from Ms. Simpson's mother asking about her glasses, which she had dropped in the gutter outside the restaurant.

Less than 10 minutes later, Ms. Simpson called and asked to talk to Goldman, Crawford said. Goldman then asked Crawford to give him the glasses and left about 9:50 p.m., she said.

Meanwhile, Goldman's sister,

Kim, identified a pair of black pants and a white shirt she said she found hanging over a door in her brother's apartment three days after his death.

Prosecutor Marcia Clark displayed the clothing to show that Goldman had stopped by his house and changed clothes on the way to Ms. Simpson's condo, which was about a 10-minute walk from the restaurant.

Other developments Tuesday:

--A court spokeswoman said Superior Court Judge Lance Ito dismissed a 63-year-old white woman from the jury because her arthritis doctor may be called as a witness for Simpson, who claims bad knees and arthritis rendered him incapable of committing the murders.

The woman, a retired legal secretary, was replaced by a 54-year-old black man who works as a postal operations manager. The jury now has nine blacks, one white and two mixed-race members; there are seven women and five men. Nine alternates remain.

The Daily News of Los Angeles reported today that the woman got into a shoving match with another juror. Quoting unidentified sources, the newspaper also said the dismissed panelist accused several black jurors of being sympathetic to the defendant and of forming opinions about the case.

--Cochran objected to a tiny angel lapel pin that Clark wore to show sympathy for Ms. Simpson and Goldman. He said the gold pin violated Ito's order forbidding attorneys to wear any symbols linked to the case.

Ito deferred a ruling on whether Clark could continue to wear the pin, but told her it was inappropriate.

Immigrants twice as likely to collect welfare as citizens

WASHINGTON (AP)--Immigrants are nearly twice as likely to collect welfare as citizens, congressional investigators say in a report likely to fuel debate over Republican calls to deny welfare to legal immigrants.

The General Accounting Office, the congressional watchdog agency, said 6 percent of legal immigrants in the United States receive cash welfare, compared to 3.4 percent of citizens.

The total number of immigrants on welfare, however, is much lower than the number of citizens because legal immigrants represent only about 6 percent of the U.S. population.

According to the GAO, 1.4 million legal immigrants were collecting either Supplemental Security Income or Aid to Families with Dependent Children in 1993, compared with 18.6 million citizens.

The issue of public aid to immigrants has divided the Republican-controlled Congress as GOP leaders write a bill to dramatically revamp the nation's welfare system. Rep. Clay Shaw, R-Fla., the chairman of the House Ways and Means subcommittee that is drafting the legislation, is under pressure from some Republican lawmakers and governors to drop his plans to cut most legal immigrants from welfare. House Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., also has questioned the proposal.

But Shaw, who will announce details of his welfare reform plan Thursday in a speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, has indicated that he will not abandon the ban on aid to immigrants, although he is willing to make exceptions for hardship cases.

The measure would save $22 billion over five years, money the GOP needs to balance the federal budget. Shaw has also said that if citizens are denied benefits as part of reform, it would be unfair to leave non-citizens unscathed. Nearly all illegal immigrants are ineligible for most welfare programs.

Robert Rector, a welfare specialist at the conservative Heritage Foundation, said elderly immigrants are the fastest growing segment of the country's welfare population.

"There is currently a tidal wave of non-citizens immigrating to the United States specifically to get on welfare. The welfare system cannot serve as a deluxe retirement home for elderly persons from the Third World," Rector said.

But Sonia M. Perez of the National Council of La Raza, an advocacy and civil rights organization, said in prepared testimony before Congress earlier this month that immigrants come to the United States to be reunited with family members and to work--not to go on welfare.

Guidelines say women need to be leaner to avoid excessive health problems

CHICAGO (AP)--Lenient federal weight guidelines are encouraging men and women to be too overweight for their own good, researchers say. A study of more than 115,000 nurses found that middle-aged women should be far leaner than the standard recommendations in order to have healthy hearts, with even a 10-pound change making a significant difference in risk.

"There's a complacency about overweight among both health professionals and the general public," said Dr. JoAnn E. Manson, co-director of women's health at Harvard-affiliated Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston. "There's a misconception that weight is a cosmetic issue rather than a health issue," she said. "The truth is that overweight is very much a health issue."

Women of average weight had about a 50 percent higher risk of having a heart attack than women who weighed 15 percent less than the U.S. average, the study found. And women who gained just 15 to 25 pounds in early to middle adulthood had a 65 percent greater risk than women who gained fewer than 10 pounds, Manson said.

"I don't want to be scaring people with these findings, but we have been overly complacent about obesity and weight gain in adults," she said.

She recommended increasing physical activity, lowering the fat content and calorie content of the diet and eating more fruits, vegetables and grains.

At the same height, a weight of 130 to 142 pounds carried about a 20 percent higher risk. At 142 to 155 pounds, it was about 50 percent higher; at 155 to 180 pounds, it was about double; and at more than 180 pounds, it was about 3 1/2 times higher than for the 130-pound woman.

In 1990, the federal government revised its guidelines upward for desirable weights, saying Americans over age 35 could be significantly heavier than under 1985 guidelines.

The 1990 guidelines say a 5-foot-6-inch woman should weigh between 130 pounds and 167 pounds. Under the 1985 standards, the same woman was to weigh between 118 pounds and 148 pounds.

The increase was based on life insurance data that failed to account of the fact that many lean people were smokers or had life-shortening illnesses, Manson said.

The guidelines will be revised again by the end of the year, and will include input from the Harvard researchers, said Bill Grigg, a spokesman for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Dr. Walter C. Willett, who led the study, said the 1990 guidelines suggest that gaining 10 to 15 pounds in middle age is healthy.

But the study found that regardless of a woman's weight at age 18, putting on more than 10 pounds afterward is linked to more heart-disease risk.

Dr. Diane E. Wallis, a cardiologist at Loyola University Medical Center in the Chicago suburb of Maywood, said the Harvard team's findings are supported by many other studies.

Local student studies law in special in-depth course

SHERMAN--Throughout the sensationalized O.J. Simpson murder trial, the prosecutors and defense attorneys in the case have become quite familiar to the general public. The jury selection itself was part of the nightly news. And during the proceedings experts have explained and critiqued all that the judge, attorneys, client and witnesses have said and done and how those words and actions may affect the case.

A group of Austin College students, including Hereford resident Tamarah Martinez, has spent January studying just those sorts of things in the course, Law and Psychology, taught by AC psychology professor Dr. Gerald Middents.

The first weeks of the course were spent observing actual criminal, civil and domestic court cases, with educational commentary by lawyers, judges, psychologists, physicians and other expert witnesses.

The final weeks of the course students have taken on the roles of defense attorneys, prosecutors, defendants, character witnesses, law enforcement personnel, jurors, and expert witnesses in medicine, psychology and criminology.

The students are conducting mock trials of two famous murder cases outlined in the books The Yale Murder Case: The Fatal Romance of Bonnie Garland and Richard Herrin, by Peter Meyer; and Evidence of Love: A True Story of Passion and Death in the Suburbs, by John Bloom. (The students voted by a 5-1 margin not to examine the Simpson case, but preferred the older cases involving the murders of Yale coed Bonnie Garland and Collin County housewife Betty Gore.)

Judge R.C. Vaughn, Texas District Judge of the 15th District Court for over 30 years prior to his retirement, will preside over the cases, plus coach and mentor the students throughout the trials.

Austin College's January Term is a four-week session in which students take only one course, offering them the opportunity to study one subject in depth.

The spring semester began Feb. 6 at the 145-year-old Presbyterian-related liberal arts college located 60 miles north of Dallas.

Garden Club program on home decor

The Garden Beautiful Club met Feb. 3 at Interiors with Cindy Miller giving the program on home interior decorating.

Miller stressed using cool colors for the west expanse, warmer colors for east, south and north, and bright colors throughout the house. She also said it is acceptable to use old or antique pieces with new and modern furniture.

After the program, president Vada Axe began the business meeting with the poem "Priceless Things."

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Helen Spinks and Dorothy Noland gave the treasurer's report.

Refreshment were served by hostess Marguerite Cole and co-hostess Leona Andrews to Vada Axe, Louise Axe, Audine Dettman, Thelma Axe, Louise Streun, Spinks, Margaret Young, Bessie Story, Jeane Dowell and Noland.

The next meeting will be March 3 with Story.

Public speaking project to open

The 4-H public speaking project begins Feb. 13. This project is open to all members of all ages.

The project will help students speak to large groups and utilize visual aids.

There are many areas of public speaking to choose from.

The orientation meetings are scheduled for Feb. 13th, at 4 p.m. and 5:15 for new 4-H members and their parents.

It is important to have your subjects selected by Feb. 27.

Meetings thereafter are scheduled on Mondays from 4 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Edgar Allen Poe's "The Murders in the Rue Morgue," published in 1841, was the very first detective story.

Herd girls end with win; boys finish sweep

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Lady Whitefaces needed about seven minutes to pull away from a weaker Caprock team, while the Hereford boys needed nearly all of its allotted 32 minutes to secure a win.

Either way, Hereford came away with a sweep of Caprock Tuesday night in Whiteface Gym. The girls closed their season with a 68-37 rout, while the boys pulled out a 66-56 win, keeping their playoff hopes alive.

The Lady Whitefaces finished 18-11 overall and 6-6 in District 1-4A--good for fourth place in the tough seven-team district. Caprock fell to 0-11 and 1-27. Caprock and the other girls' teams in 1-4A have one game left, but Hereford doesn't because Friday is Hereford's open date.

The Hereford boys improved to 7-3 in district and 18-9 overall. The Herd moved a half-game ahead of idle Canyon (6-3) for the second playoff spot. Hereford is off Friday, hosts Pampa Tuesday and finishes at Randall Feb. 17. Canyon is at Dumas Friday, at Borger Tuesday and hosts Caprock Feb. 17.

Hereford needed most of the game to shake a Caprock team that seems better than its 2-7 and 4-23 records would suggest. The first meeting Jan.

13 at Caprock also was close, as the Herd squeaked out a 72-69 victory.

"They do cause some matchup problems for us because they don't play a true post in the game," Hereford coach Randy Dean said.

"Anytime you shoot threes like they can, you'll be able to stay in a lot of games."

Caprock led most of way, but the Herd managed a 6-0 run to close the third quarter with a 46-42 advantage. Hereford made it 48-42 quickly on a Michael High bucket, but Caprock responded with an 10-1 run of its own and led 52-49.

Hereford's Ronald Torres nailed a trey with 4:10 left, tying the game. The teams traded free throws to tie it at 54-54. Michael High picked up a loose ball and passed to Isaac Walker, who passed to Benton Buckley for a layup.

Moments later, the Caprock coach Terry Ferguson was hit with a technical foul. Walker hit both free throws and High scored on the possession. Hereford led 60-54 with 1:50 left.

"The technical on their coach was the key to that run and maybe the whole ball game," Dean said.

Caprock scored quickly, but Buckley answered immediately with two more Hereford points, and the Herd led 62-56. Caprock didn't score again.

Caprock took the lead early and led most of the way. The Longhorns led 17-13 after the first quarter. Consecutive baskets by Michael Power, the second one a three-pointer, gave Hereford a 26-24 lead midway through the second. Caprock quickly reclaimed the lead and went to the lockerroom with a 35-30 advantage.

"They were really outthrusting us in the first half," Dean said. "They got lots of loose balls and lots of rebounds. We made some plays and got the game tied up, but then made some mental mistakes and let them jump back in front before the half."

Hereford's Buckley opened the second half with a steal and a pull-up jumper, then Buckley made a layup on Ashley Noland's long fast break pass. There were four lead changes in the third quarter.

There were four lead changes early in the girls' game, but that was it. Caprock led 10-6 midway through the first quarter, but Hereford put together a 9-0 run and led 15-11 at the end of the quarter.

"We changed our offense late in the first quarter, and that carried over to the rest of the game," Herd coach Eddie Fortenberry said. "We switched to get defensive mismatches. They were trying to guard people with the wrong player. (After the switch) we could catch them with, say, Danielle (Cornelius, who is 6-foot-1) sliding down on a smaller post player."

Caprock never got any closer, as

Rodman's rebounding sparks Spurs

By The Associated Press
The fans notice his hair - it's purple this week - his tattoos and his earrings. Management pays more attention to his attendance record. His fellow players, however, know the true value of Dennis Rodman.

"He gets 11 offensive rebounds, they get five as a team," San Antonio coach Bob Hill said. "That tells you what kind of a rebounder Dennis Rodman is."

Awesome might be the best word. The 6-foot-8 Rodman grabbed a season-high 27 rebounds - 11 at his own end of the court - as the Spurs defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 106-103 Tuesday night.

"When his mind is in the game like tonight, he's an awesome player who provides us a great spark," Spurs center David Robinson said. Robinson wasn't too shabby himself, scoring 31 points in the Spurs' eighth straight win.

In other NBA games Tuesday night, it was Milwaukee 95, New York 87; Cleveland 90, Philadelphia 84; Indiana 95, Charlotte 92 in overtime; Detroit 119, Washington 115; Minnesota 109, Golden State 100; Phoenix 114, Dallas 113; the Los Angeles Lakers 85, Denver 83, and Utah 101, the Los Angeles Clippers 88.

"There isn't any question in my mind that Rodman wins that game because of his 11 offensive rebounds," Sonics coach George Karl said. "It gives them a great deal of confidence."

With the victory, the Spurs broke a streak of seven consecutive losses to Seattle. And they're 23-5 since Rodman began playing full time on Dec. 10 following his latest suspension.

San Antonio had problems finding the basket, shooting only 39 percent. And that's where Rodman's special knack on the offensive boards really shone.

"Dennis allows us to get more shots," Avery Johnson said. "You need it when you shoot like we did tonight."

The Spurs held the Sonics to four baskets in the final quarter and outrebounded Seattle 52-37.

Kendall Gill scored 24 points for Seattle, who lost its third straight at home.

Suns 114, Mavericks 113
Elliott Perry scored seven points in the final 1:38, including the go-ahead basket with 13.8 seconds to play as visiting Phoenix edged Dallas.

The Suns were playing without second-leading scorer Danny Manning, who was lost for the season after tearing a knee ligament Monday, along with starting point guard Kevin Johnson and reserve forward Wayman Tisdale, both of whom are injured.

And they lost Charles Barkley when he was ejected with 4:25 to play after scoring 28 points.

Jamal Mashburn led Dallas with 35 points.

Pistons 119, Bullets 115
Joe Dumars scored 22 of his season-high 43 points in the fourth quarter as Detroit came from behind to beat visiting Washington. The Pistons trailed by 15 points early in the fourth quarter, but Dumars scored 15 points in the final four minutes to help pull out the win.

In the last 1:41, Dumars outscored the Bullets 12-4.

Chris Webber and rookies Juwan Howard and Anthony Tucker each had 18 points to pace the Bullets.

Timberwolves 109, Warriors 100
Playing at home, Isaiah Rider scored a career-high 41 points and Minnesota used the highest-scoring first quarter in franchise history to knock off injury-ravaged Golden State. Rider tied a team record with six 3-pointers as the Wolves snapped a five-game losing streak.

Chris Gatling matched a season-high with 25 points for Golden State. Lakers 85, Nuggets 83

Eddie Jones scored 20 points and Vlade Divac had 17 points and 13 rebounds as the visiting Lakers won. Starters Cedric Ceballos and Elden Campbell didn't suit up because of thumb and ankle injuries, respectively.

The Nuggets were led by Dale Ellis with 18 points.

Jazz 101, Clippers 88
Karl Malone scored 37 points in Utah's latest road victory. The Clippers kept it close on Gary Grant's jumper that made it 74-70 to start the final quarter. But the Jazz used an 11-7 spurt, including six by Malone, for an 85-75 lead with 7:10 remaining.

Jeff Horacek added 16 points and John Stockton had 14 points and 13 assists. Loy Vaught led the Clippers with 21 points and 14 rebounds.

Cavaliers 90, 76ers 84
After the Cavaliers blew a 10-point fourth-quarter lead, John Williams scored on three consecutive possessions as Cleveland beat visiting Philadelphia for the 15th time in the last 16 meetings.

Williams and Tyrone Hill led the Cavs with 16 points each. Clarence paced the 76ers with 20 points.

Bucks 95, Knicks 87
Eric Murdock scored 22 points and Vin Baker had 22 points and 13 rebounds for the Bucks, who beat the Knicks for the first time in eight games.

Glenn Robinson finished with 20 points in the balanced Milwaukee attack.

Staunch defense

Hereford's Michael Power tries to keep a Caprock player from passing. Hereford won 66-56 Tuesday in Whiteface Gym.

Terps upset NC; UMass game halted by protest

By The Associated Press
Top-ranked North Carolina lost, and No. 4 Massachusetts didn't even get to finish.

Guards Duane Simpkins and Johnny Rhodes scored 21 points apiece and center Joe Smith had 14 points and 16 rebounds as No. 8 Maryland upset the visiting Tar Heels 86-73 Tuesday night.

"I can't say enough about our backcourt," Terrapins coach Gary Williams said. "They competed against a very good backcourt. They showed up ready to play."

UMass trailed Rutgers 31-29 at halftime when a student sit-in forced the game to be suspended. The protesters were upset at Rutgers president Francis Lawrence, who said in a November speech that minorities don't have the genetic background to do well on college entrance exams.

Lawrence apologized last week after the comments were publicized, but that didn't end the controversy. More than 150 students, nearly all of them black, sat on the floor at the Rutgers Athletic Center until the game was suspended.

"The students are not satisfied with the answers they got from president Lawrence," said Roselle Wilson, Rutgers' vice president of student affairs. "They do want to

HERD

Hereford outscored the Lady Longhorns 20-8 in the second quarter and 11-3 in the third.

"We have played great defense probably five games in a row," Fortenberry said. "Great defense starts the running game, and that's going to help us next year."

HERD SCORING

Boys: Isaac Walker, 18; Benton Buckley, 13; Michael High, 11; Michael Power, 7; Ashley Noland, 7; Todd Dudley, 5; Ronald Torres, 3; Wade Backus, 2.

Girls: Julie Rampley, 14; Kari Barrett, 12; Heather Hodges, 10; Danielle Cornelius, 10; Britney Binder, 9; Tarabeth Holmes, 6; Catie Betzen, 4; Julie Cole, 3.

The girls' junior varsity finished its season with a 51-12 rout of Caprock. Cassie Abney and J.J. Hill each scored nine points to lead Hereford.

Bryant McNutt poured in 32 points to lead the JV boys to a 63-43 win. David Sims added 12 points.

The sophomore boys played Palo Duro Tuesday in Hereford, and the Herd won 58-56. Trip Robison scored 12 points to lead a balanced offense that had Eric Ambold with 11, Colt Perrin with nine and Stephen Cloud and Jeremy Reiter with eight each.

make this statement in a public way."

No decision was reached on when, or if, the game will be completed. An announcement should come later this week. If the game isn't completed, Rutgers would have to forfeit.

In other Top 25 games, No. 25 Purdue beat No. 7 Michigan State 78-69, No. 16 Villanova downed Miami 73-63, and No. 23 Alabama defeated Southern Mississippi 65-60.

The loss by North Carolina (18-2, 8-2 Atlantic Coast Conference) came one day after the Tar Heels regained the No. 1 ranking.

"Like I told everybody, that was an omen," said Tar Heels center Rasheed Wallace, who had 15 points and eight rebounds. "I didn't like it."

Maryland (18-4, 8-2) avenged a 100-90 loss to North Carolina earlier this season and snapped a six-game losing streak against the Tar Heels.

"Either they had an amazing new offense or our defense was nonexistent," North Carolina coach Dean Smith said. "I think it was the same offense, it was just well-executed."

Long-range shooting by Rhodes and Simpkins kept North Carolina at bay whenever it looked like the Tar Heels were about to catch up in the second half.

Rhodes' 3-pointer started a 7-0 run that gave Maryland a 54-44 lead. When the Tar Heels pulled to 56-52, Simpkins hit a 3-pointer. Another 3-pointer by Rhodes made it 64-54 with 7:15 left.

Simpkins also made a three-point play with 2:04 left to put Maryland up by 10.

"I think that's what makes us a great team," Smith said. "Anyone can step up on any given night."

Small-town police blotters fixtures of newspapers

EDITOR'S NOTE - What's doing? Where newspaper readers in small-town America turn to find out is the police blotter. The "crimes" that usually appear may seem trivial to big-city sophisticates accustomed to reports of mayhem and murder. Which can be more reassuring than quaint.

By LINDSEY TANNER
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) - A scarecrow is abducted. A house is egged. Two driverless cars assault each other. This is the underworld of small-town America.

Big-city dwellers used to murder and mayhem can chuckle at such seemingly quaint perils. But these are the sort of entries chronicled day after day in newspaper police blotters across the land. For local residents, it's important to know where that screeching siren was heading last night.

Police blotters are fixtures in community newspapers in places where violent crime has not yet become commonplace. And yes, such places exist.

Take Montpelier, Vt., population around 8,000. "Juveniles throwing

Reports tell residents where the action happens snowballs in front of the City Center, hindering pedestrians," was the most shocking item in a recent Barre-Montpelier Times Argus blotter.

With only two murders in the entire state of Vermont in the past year, Times Argus blotters typically are filled with "real small stuff" like moose accidents and kids hanging on the courthouse lightpole, says City Editor Steve Costello.

Ditto Quincy, Ill. That's where that scarecrow-kidnapping was perpetrated, according to the blotter in the local Herald-Whig. It was valued at $15, snatched from a local residence.

Murders in the small Mississippi River town are still rare enough that they'd make the front page, says Editor Joe Conover.

"Most of the blotter stuff is pretty routine ... a DUI arrest, bicycle stolen, a fight in a tavern - that kind of thing," he said.

Conover says new residents from more cosmopolitan areas have asked him, "Geez, why do you print that stuff?" "Because people read it," Conover responds. "This sort of thing is extremely well-read. People are just interested in what their neighbors are doing."

Tonda Rush, president of the National Newspaper Association, says police blotters are fixtures at nearly all the 4,000 community newspapers her group represents.

Rush says some newspapers may run blotter items for the humor value. But she defends even the most seemingly trivial of blotter crimes. "Any crime that happens next door to me is a major crime," she says. "I think most of our readers feel that way, whether it's a stolen radio or a mugging."

The police blotter has been a fixture of American newspapers, large and small since as far back as the 1830s, according to Mary Ann Weston, an assistant journalism professor at Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism. That was about the time the now defunct New York Sun borrowed the idea from newspapers in England.

Here's a sampling of items from blotters across the country:

- the Centralia, Ill., Sentinel reports on two parked cars that assaulted each other - one rolled into the other in a grocery-store parking lot.
- the Daily Register in Portage, Wis., tells of a door that was egged.
- The Valley Voice in Penn

Valley, Calif., lists a false alarm for a vehicle fire. (A non-fire perhaps?)

Former big-city residents say such anecdotes are a refreshing change when they move to small towns.

Chuck Matroni left the Los Angeles area last year to become an innkeeper in Nevada City, Calif., in the Sierra foothills. He also became a regular reader of the blotter page in The Union of nearby Grass Valley.

"That's the fun thing to read in the newspaper," he said.

His all-time favorite blotter item appeared shortly after he moved in and involved a barkeeper who was putting up Christmas decorations that irritated a drunken customer.

"The owner got pretty annoyed by it all and hit the guy with a beer mug. The guy came back with a bunch of buddies and they went at it with baseball bats," Matroni said.

"When I saw that I said, 'What's going to top this?'"

He also is aware that the blotter might be the best-read feature in the paper.

"My wife got locked out one night and had to put up a ladder to get into the house," Matroni said. "Her biggest concern was she would wind up in the police blotter the next morning." She didn't.

Names in the News

NEW YORK (AP) - Fresh from rehab, Gary Oldman is acknowledging his alcohol addiction and trying to redefine himself before the rest of the world has the chance.

"I think people are naive about just what chemical dependence is," Oldman says in the Feb. 10 issue of Entertainment Weekly, "about how destructive and powerful and overwhelming it is."

The 36-year-old English actor, who's played Sid Vicious, Lee Harvey Oswald and Dracula, spent a night in a Los Angeles jail in 1991 for a drunken driving incident. But these days, the 36-year-old star of "Murder in the First" and "Immortal Beloved" is taking responsibility for his actions.

"We're given a code to live our lives by. We don't always follow it, but it's still there," says Oldman, who's engaged to actress Isabella Rossellini.

PHOENIX (AP) - What more could David Lederman want from life after flexing his pectoral muscles on national television to the tune of "Dueling Banjos"?

"I think for pec flexing, this is probably the pinnacle," Lederman said after performing with brother Joel during Stupid Human Tricks on

Thursday's "Late Show with David Letterman."

Lederman - whose name is pronounced like that of the talk show host - has been flexing his pecs to music for years alongside his brother. But this was their first public performance.

The audience seemed to like the act, he said, "but then, anytime you disrobe in public, it gets applause."

Lederman, who leases coin-operated washers and dryers to apartment buildings, works out daily at a gym. "I'm 39 years old and I'm trying to be a role model for my children," he said, laughing.

Good citizen awards announced by Los Ciboleros Chapter DAR

Los Ciboleros Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution has announced the recipients of the DAR Good Citizen Award for the 1994-95 school year. Chosen by their faculties, the senior students named are Karen Manchec of Hereford High School and Carla Petty of Dimmitt High School.

Manchec is the daughter of Pat and Mal Manchec of Hereford. Petty is the daughter of Doris Petty of Dimmitt.

The students are selected based on the qualities of leadership, dependability, service and patriotism. Both of the young women will be honored at a reception April 23 and at the honors assembly at their respective schools.

Manchec has received first team all-district honors on the HHS golf team, having participated in the sport for four years. She has played in the regional golf tournament.

Other interests have been volleyball for one year, band for two years, PALS (Peers as Leaders) for three years, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the National Honor Society for three years.

Honors received by Manchec at HHS include being in the top five percent of her class for four years, H-Awards in health, advanced chemistry, honors algebra II, PACE English, trigonometry, Spanish II and golf. She has maintained perfect attendance during this time.

Manchec is an active member of the First Baptist Church where she belongs to the youth group and Acteens and has performed in three musicals presented there. During several summers she has helped with swimming lessons and has taken a water safety instructor course to enable her to teach.

Her hobbies include reading and playing the piano, having studied piano for nine years. She also has a special interest in activities involving young children whom she hopes to influence in a positive way.

After graduation, Manchec plans to attend Wayland Baptist College in Plainview where she will major in mathematics in preparing to become a teacher.

Petty has been involved in many activities at Dimmitt High School, including Future Farmers of America where she served as reporter, secretary and sweetheart. During her senior year, she is the sentinel and Plover Girl. She shows animals at various stock show events and attends many of the area's stock show. She has also been a member of Future Homemakers of America for three years.

Petty has been listed in the top ten of her class scholastically for the past three years.

A varsity cheerleader for three years, Petty is now the head cheerleader at DHS.

Active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes for four years, Petty has been secretary, publicity chairman and vice president of this student group. She has been a member of Interact for the past two years and of the Key Club for four years.

Petty has served on the DHS student council for four years. Special assignments have included being secretary, chairman of the spirit committee, district secretary of student councils, chairman of the teacher appreciation committee and a member of the pride and patriotism committee. The DHS student council sponsored a Veteran's Day ceremony at which Petty read a tribute to all United States veterans.

After high school graduation in May, Petty plans to enroll in Texas Tech University. She will pursue a business course of study and hopes to travel after her college graduation.

Exhibit features ten years of art by various artists

Ever since it opened in 1967, the Square House Museum in Panhandle has been featuring the works of regional artists in a series of temporary exhibitions. To celebrate the 30th anniversary of the Museum's founding in 1965, a special exhibition of 30 works by 30 of these talented artists who have shown at the Museum during the last 10 years has been put together.

Many of the works are in the Museum's permanent collection, gifts of the artists. Others have been borrowed for this show, either from the artists themselves or from the owners of the works.

Decade Retrospective is an exceptionally varied and interesting collection of art. About half of the works are paintings, but four different media are included.

There are oil paintings by Ann Crouch, Don Ray, Doris Smith, Marie McCubbin, Marlin Adams, Len Slesick, Rodney Nichols, and LaNelle Poling.

Adrienne Burruss, the late Viola Coffee and Martha Jacobs are represented by watercolor paintings.

Ben Konis, Amy Winton, Beth Thomas and Karen Wiseman paint in pastels; and there are acrylic paintings by Wally Criswell and Laura Fields.

The photographic art is represented by Jim Jordan, Scott Hyde and Louise Daniel. There are prints by J.D. Challenger and Tom Panger, and a silkscreen by Robert McKenzie.

Pan Eimon, Ben McCaulley and Kyle Singleton drawings are part of this show.

Wooden sculpture by Christopher White, paper sculpture by Gerald Sanders, ceramic sculpture by Ann Allen, and a replicated prehistoric pot by Alvin Lynn add a three-dimensional aspect to this exhibition.

The public is invited to a reception in honor of these 30 artists. It will be held in the Square House on Feb. 26 from 3-4:30 p.m. This is also the last day of the show.

L'Allegra Club meets recently

L'Allegra Study Club met at the Hereford Community Center on Feb. 2 with Cathy Guseman and Micah Noland serving as hostesses.

Committee reports were given and a letter was read from Hereford Regional Medical Center thanking the club for its recent donation.

Becky McDonald, registered-massage therapist, presented the program. She explained Swedish massage, reflexology, deep tissue and headache relief.

Members present included Carmen Flood, Kitty Gault, Diana Griffin, Guseman, Nancy Haysom, Poppy Head, Patsy Hoffman, Sandy Josseland, Barbara Kerr, Sylvia Khuri, Mary Kay McQuigg, Noland, Karen Payne, Hilda Perales, Jody Skiles, Suzanne Smith, Dee Anne Trotter and Ella Marie Veigel.

The art of pleasing consists in being pleased.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work for one of the largest retailers in America. Will you please print this message on behalf of all store personnel? IF YOU ARE GOING TO SHOPLIFT MERCHANDISE, LEAVE YOUR CHILDREN AT HOME.

A shoplifter took more than $200 worth of merchandise from my store last week. Of course, the woman did not have any identification. Shoplifters who do this for a living do not carry I.D. When the woman gave us a fictitious name and a number for a disconnected phone and could not recall her address, we had no alternative except to call the authorities.

The police took the woman's baby into custody, together with the diaper bag, which was filled with unpaid-for merchandise. The baby was given to social services, and the mother was escorted out the back door.

Please, mothers, do not take your children along when you go to steal. Give them a break. Leave them at home. -- Carol in New Port Richey, Fla.

ing law without a license. There could be some validity to May's request to be paid for unused time off, but I'll leave that up to the legal eagles.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 20 years old and have never met my real father. When I was 18, I found his name and phone number in my mom's desk. I called the number and got hold of him on the first call. I told him my name, and he said he didn't remember me. I then told him who my mother was. Suddenly, he remembered.

We were on the phone for five minutes, and it was very pleasant. We had a real nice conversation. I told him I would love to meet him, and he said he felt the same way and that he was putting a plane ticket in the mail immediately. I was thrilled. The ticket, however, never came.

Two months later, I tried calling him. His phone number was unlisted.

Is there any agency that can help me get in contact with my father? Please help, Ann. I really want to meet him. -- Oregon

DEAR OREGON: The risk of sounding hard-hearted, I must say it is apparent that your father does not wish to meet you. Please do yourself, as well as him, a favor and forget it. Trying to track him down will only lead to more rejection and unhappiness.

PROMISE KEEPERS NOTICE!

The Hereford Promise Keeper's regular monthly meeting scheduled for Feb. 9th has been re-scheduled for March 2nd due to scheduling conflicts.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
 Holy Spirit, You who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my idea. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen, Thank You for Your love towards me and my loved ones. (Grace obtained).

Dry conditions affecting field preparation

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Dry weather conditions are hurting some Texas producers preparing their fields for spring planting, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

Zan Matthies, Extension agent in Pecos County, said producers in Far West Texas are pre-irrigating their dry fields and hope to begin planting in mid-April.

"This last year has been the driest I have ever seen it," Matthies said. "Even with irrigation, we expect dry weather will take its toll on our vegetables."

In the last three years, some of the areas around Pecos County have received less than nine inches of total rainfall, and many producers say irrigating isn't proving to be a viable solution.

"When things get as dry and as hot as they have been, water evaporates too quickly to provide adequate moisture the plants need," he said. "What we really need right now is a good steady rain to combat the conditions."

Ranchers in the area also have been hit hard, with pastures becoming impossible for the livestock to graze, he added.

"Many ranchers have had to cut their herds by 33 percent because of the dry conditions," Matthies said. "As I said before, we need rain, so if any part of Texas is interested in donating any, send it my way."

In contrast, producers in North Texas are waiting for the sun to come out and dry their soaked fields so producers in the area can begin planting spring vegetables.

Randy Upshaw, district Extension director in Dallas, said the soil is too wet right now for good vegetable production.

"More sunshine and wind is needed to dry out the soil," he said. "We have been receiving both of these over the last week two weeks so producers are hopeful that things will start drying up soon."

He added that some farmers have been able to plant peas, cabbage and onions, but the majority are having to wait for better soil conditions.

As winter weather conditions move out of Southwest Texas, producers are not complaining.

Jose Pena, Extension economist in Uvalde, said winter weather appears to be in their past and producers now are concentrating on spring crops.

"Our wheat and oats are making good progress," he said. "Right now everything else looks good as well so we have no complaints thus far."

Pena noted the warmer temperatures did cause an increase in disease problems for wheat and oat crops in December, but producers say as they enter into February, their problems seem to be disappearing.

With winter conditions behind them, he said, many producers did comment about the mild conditions and some say that they never really experienced a cold freeze.

"Producers have said they have had about a half dozen days of mild early morning frosts, but on the most part the weather has been pleasantly warm," Pena said. "The result of this has been that many grasses didn't go dormant so some woody species are starting to sprout."

Southwest producers also are still harvesting spinach, cabbage, southern greens and other winter vegetables with good yields and quality reported, he noted.

Jon Zeitler, meteorologist at the National Weather Service Agricultural Service Center in College Station, said an upper level low pressure system will produce cloudy skies and scattered showers today through Thursday.

"High pressure will build into the state on Friday, setting up fair skies and mild conditions for the weekend," Zeitler said.

High temperatures will warm into the 60s and 70s in the southern half of the state, while the High Plains and North Texas experience highs in the 50s and 60s, he noted.

The outlook for next week calls for near normal rainfall in East Texas and along the Upper Coast. These conditions suggest a return to the warm and dry conditions the state has experienced over the past two weeks.

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by district Extension directors:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture short. Pastures, ranges need moisture. Wheat in poor condition; lack of moisture slowing growth. Preparing land for spring planting. Supplemental feeding for cattle continues.

SOUTH PLAINS: Soil moisture very short. Pastures, ranges need rain. Preparing land for spring planting; applying fertilizer to many fields. Livestock in fair condition; supplemental feeding continues.

ROLLING PLAINS: Soil moisture very short to adequate. Pastures, ranges in good condition; some areas need rain. Wheat progressing; insect activity increasing. Winter grasses in excellent condition. Supplemental feeding for cattle continues.

NORTH TEXAS: Soil moisture surplus to adequate. Pastures, ranges in fair to good condition. Oats progressing. Planting peas. Wet soil slowing vegetable planting. Pruning, spraying peach trees. Livestock in good condition.

EAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate to surplus. Pastures, ranges improving with moisture. Preparing land for spring planting. Pruning, spraying peach trees. Cattle in fair condition; hay supplies plentiful.

FAR WEST TEXAS: Soil moisture very short to adequate. Pastures, ranges need rain. Wheat progressing. Planting cabbage. Irrigating onions. Cutting, baling hay. Preparing land for spring vegetable planting. Cattle in good condition.

WEST CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Oats progressing. Disease damaging wheat. Planting onions. Preparing land for spring gardens. Shearing goats.

CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges in fair to good condition. Pecan harvest completed; poor quality. Planting onions, potatoes. Some pest problems for wheat.

SOUTHEAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges benefiting from moisture. Preparing land for vegetable planting. Some peach trees blooming. Cattle in fair to good condition.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS: Soil moisture surplus to adequate. Pastures, ranges progressing. Wheat, oats in good condition; some disease problems. Harvesting spinach, cabbage, southern greens. Livestock in fair condition.

COASTAL BEND: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Preparing land for spring planting. Early variety peach trees blooming. Ryegrass, small grains progressing. Livestock excellent.

SOUTH TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Pastures, ranges improving with rain. Preparing land for spring planting. Tomatoes, onions, peppers progressing. Livestock in fair condition.

Clinton prepared to nominate Carns as intelligence director

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Clinton's choice for CIA director is described by colleagues as a defense intellectual with a flair for innovative thinking.

The House and Senate committees that oversee the CIA's activities said Tuesday the White House had indicated that President Clinton intends to nominate retired Air Force Gen. Michael P.C. Carns, 57, as director of central intelligence.

The announcement was expected as early as today.

Carns, 57, would replace R. James Woolsey, who abruptly announced his resignation last December and left the post in early January with the CIA in turmoil over the size and shape of its budget, its future mission and internal strains.

Carns, if confirmed by the Senate, would be the first military officer to head the CIA since Adm. Stansfield Turner in the Carter administration.

Adm. William Studeman, who was deputy CIA director under Woolsey and has been the acting director since Woolsey left, would have to leave the deputy's post if Carns takes over, because the National Security Act of 1947 that created the Central Intelligence Agency says military officers may not hold the top two spots simultaneously.

People who worked with Carns during his 35-year Air Force career said Tuesday they believed he would do well, even though he had never worked for an intelligence agency.

"I think he's a terrific appointment," said Robert Gates, who was CIA director during the Bush administration and has known Carns since Carns was at U.S. Pacific Command in Hawaii in the mid-1980s.

"He's been a user of intelligence, and he understands a good deal about how intelligence is prepared," Gates said.

Retired Gen. Michael Dugan, a former chief of staff of the Air Force, said he has known Carns for about 35 years and considers him an excellent choice for CIA chief.

"He's an intellectual," Dugan said. "In the Air Force he was known as a thinker and a planner."

Rep. Larry Combest, R-Texas, chairman of the House Intelligence Committee, said, "I certainly will not quibble" with the choice of Carns. Rep. Norman Dicks, D-Wash., the ranking Democrat on the committee, applauded the Carns choice and predicted, "He'll be easily confirmed."

Efforts to reach Carns for comment were unsuccessful Tuesday. Calls to his home in Pebble Beach, Calif., went unanswered.

Carns, a native of Junction City, Kan., flew 200 combat missions in the Vietnam War. He was vice chief of staff of the Air Force when he retired last year.

December 17 has been declared Wright Brothers day to commemorate their first successful flight.

HELP IGA RAISE $1,000,000!

Please help your local IGA, and IGA Stores all across America raise $1,000,000 to help support our Country's Sponsorship of the "1995 SPECIAL OLYMPICS WORLD GAMES" on July 1st thru July 9th, 1995. Each time you buy and deposit any label or Proof of Purchase from any IGA, Rainbow, Marquee or Marquee Premium Product through June 30, 1995, you will be donating 2¢ towards IGA's Nationwide effort to feed over 8,900 Athletes and Coaches from 129 Countries! Ask your IGA manager for details on how your company or organization can help participate.
