

McWhorter, Messer win school board seats

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

The completion of the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees changed on Saturday when voters elected two newcomers to the seven-member panel.

Cherry Holt McWhorter stunned incumbent board President Steve Wright, beating him more than 2-to-1 to capture the District 5 seat, while Roy Dale Messer held off a challenge from Elizabeth Agan to claim the District 4 seat.

Mrs. McWhorter's upset of Wright was the big story of Saturday's municipal elections, which saw incumbent city commissioners and hospital board members returned to office unopposed.

The school board, hospital board and city commission officially canvassed the votes and certified the elections during meetings Monday night.

The city winners were sworn in to their new terms during Monday's regular commission meeting.

The three hospital board members will be sworn in at the regular May 16 meeting, at which time the board also will be reorganized.

Mrs. McWhorter and Messer are scheduled to be sworn in and assume their seats at the board's May 23 meeting. At that time, board officials also will be elected.

Mrs. McWhorter grabbed 61.8 percent of the vote in District 5 HISD election, capturing 204 votes to the 101 votes, or 30.6 percent, for Wright. Third place went to another challenger, Jeff Matsler, who garnered 25 votes, which was 7.5 percent of the vote.

In the District 4 school board race, Messer and Mrs. Agan were vying for the seat previously held by Mike Veazey, who decided not to run. Messer ended with 77 votes to 63 for Mrs. Agan.

In the city commission election, Mayor Bob Josseland and Commissioners Sylvana Juarez and Scott Hall were all elected with no opposition.

Josseland claimed his second term as mayor with 340 votes, while Juarez was returned to her Place 1 seat with just 17 votes.

Hall, who was running for a complete term after having been appointed in March to fill out the unexpired term of Commissioner Dennis Hicks, received 195 votes to claim the Place 3 seat for a full two-year term.

There were no contested races in the hospital board election, either, with three official candidates seeking three seats.

Board president Mal Manchee and trustees Scott Keeling and Jo Beth Shackelford received, respectively, 270, 328 and 235 votes.

Keeling, who was appointed to an unexpired term last year, was elected to a full two-year term. Shackelford was her second term, while Manchee will begin his third term on the board.

Five individuals received one write-in vote each, even though none of them were officially declared write-in candidates.

Those were: Nancy Denton, Ron Rives, Merle Clark, Mary Sue Hull and David Earl Jury. HISD Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt said the trustee election had "one write-in (vote) for a cartoon character."

Write-in votes in the city races were not disclosed.

With a cumulative grade average of just over 108, Karen Manchee on Monday was named Valedictorian of the Class of 1995 at the annual Senior Awards Assembly.

Miss Manchee topped the class with an average of 108.3750. Salutatorian is Misty Bree Perrin, whose average is 107.2083, just 1.1667 behind Miss Manchee.

In announcing the selection of the two top class members, Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt noted it is district policy that when the top two graduates are the same gender to present a special award to the highest ranking student of the opposite sex.

That award went to David

Vermillion, who has a grade average of 106.4546.

The announcement of the top seniors came at the end of the awards assembly, which featured presentation of numerous scholarships and awards to members of the graduating class.

Plaques were presented to each of the 28 seniors who have a cumulative grade average of 100 or above, and the 98 seniors who have an average of 90 and above were recognized as well.

Miss Manchee was honored during the assembly with numerous scholarships and awards, including the DAR Good Citizenship Award, which is selected by HHS faculty.

She was presented a scholarship from First Baptist Church. Previously announced scholarships were a $1,400 Christian Leadership Scholarship from Wayland Baptist University and a $14,400 academic scholarship to Wayland Baptist.

Miss Manchee plans to attend WBU.

Miss Perrin plans to attend the University of Texas-Austin on the $7,000-a-year renewable Dedman Scholarship, which was announced Monday.

County approves funding requests

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Responding to requests for funding from two agencies, Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court dipped into reserves Monday for $3,500.

Judge Tom Simons told commissioners that the general fund can absorb the expenditures.

A request from Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District for $1,000 was approved. And, a grant of $2,500 to a regional accident reconstruction team was voted.

A bid of $30,782, plus trade-in, for a new motor grader for Precinct 2 was accepted. The low bidder was West Texas Equipment, Caterpillar dealer. A bid of $34,843, plus trade, was submitted by Yellowhouse Equipment for John Deere equipment.

In discussion on the request from Tierra Blanca S&WCC, Judge Simons reminded that the state requires matching funds for some programs. The $1,000 will be taken from the general fund, he added.

On motion of Commissioner Johnny Latham of Precinct 4 and Commissioner Troy Don Moore of Precinct 3, the vote was unanimous to provide the funding.

Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul answered questions about the Department of Public Safety accident reconstruction team project.

A request for funding was made two weeks ago by Terry McEachern, district attorney at Plainview, for start-up expense of the team. He pointed out that the DPS will continue the team after the initial expense has been covered.

Replying to a question about Deaf Smith County's need for the service, Saul pointed out, "We may need it only occasionally, but when we do, it would be very beneficial."

The DPS personnel use investigative reports and other materials to reconstruct a highway accident. Saul said the service could be especially useful in incidents that may have been alcohol related.

Commissioner Lupe Chavez of Precinct 2 questioned the need of the service, saying, "We've always had very thorough investigators."

Saul said, "I worry about those nightmare accidents where officers need the expertise."

"It's no reflection on the people we have now, but juries just expect more... they want to know what happened."

In the presentation by McEachern, he said counties are being asked to contribute 15 cents to 25 cents per capita.

On a motion by Latham to provide $2,500, and a second by Commissioner Tony Castillo of Precinct 1, the vote was unanimous to join in funding the project.

Twenty die in series of weekend storms

By STEFANI G. KOPENEC
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP)--A group of first-graders have learned an unwelcome lesson about nature's fury, which claimed the life of their teacher and 19 others over the weekend.

A series of storms knocked the Lone Star State to its knees, particularly northern Texas, packing a punch loaded with deadly tornadoes, torrential rains and softball-sized hail.

The death toll stood at 20 at last count.

At University Park Elementary School in the Dallas suburb of Highland Park, officials helped students cope Monday with the death of longtime teacher Mary Goodloe, 63, who drowned Friday night.

Mrs. Goodloe's husband, Robert, survived after being pinned between a guard rail and the couple's car, which had become stalled in high water, police said.

Principal Gail Hartin read "The Fall of Freddie The Leaf," by popular author and lecturer Leo Buscaglia, to the 21 children in Mrs. Goodloe's first-grade class on Monday, said district spokeswoman Linda Prichard.

"It's a very inspiring illustration about the delicate balance of life and death that both children and adults will understand," she said.

Also Monday, rescuers recovered the body of Cruz Aguilar, 34, one of three men who were missing since they washed down a manhole in Dallas on Friday night, said Charles Gaylor, a field agent with the Dallas County medical examiner's office.

The two other men were still missing and presumed drowned.

In Cherokee County in East Texas, a car carrying two people attempted to follow a truck through a swollen creek on FM 855 near Cuneo Monday

Local women injured

The tornado which hit west of Canyon early Sunday morning left two Hereford women injured, one critical, and moved on to cause extensive damage at the High Plains Baptist Assembly--including a building owned by First Baptist Church of Hereford.

The Hereford women were injured when the twister touched down by US-60 about five miles west of Canyon. Blandina Dominguez, 30, and her friend, 21-year-old Christie Aranda, were driving back to Hereford from Amarillo when the twister blew the car off the highway.

Dominguez was in critical condition at St. Anthony's Hospital. Aranda was in satisfactory condition after sustaining a broken wrist, broken knee, lacerations and bruises. She was taken to Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon Sunday. Both women were employed in the law offices of Gerald Gamboa.

Aranda's brother, Robert, reported that his sister said the tornado picked up Dominguez's car and spun it around for a few seconds. The women were found in a muddy field, apparently thrown from the car.

The twister left extensive damage at the Baptist campground, located about 18 miles southwest of Amarillo. First Baptist Church of Hereford reported its building was damaged, but it was not flattened like some of the other structures.

Sunday's storm destroyed five church buildings and three associational buildings at the site, according to Rev. Roy Kornegay, director of missions for the Amarillo Baptist Association.

Several Hereford men joined area church members in clean-up operations Monday. The Hereford building had broken windows and the roof was lifted up and set back down, damaging several rows of brick. The windows were boarded up Monday. An insurance adjuster was to assess the damage Tuesday.

Commission divides over operation of golf course

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

An issue that had divided the golfing community produced a split vote on the Hereford City Commission Monday evening with a result that operation of John Pitman Municipal Golf Course will continue seven days a week.

After hearing from several golfers, a motion by Commissioner Carey Black, seconded by Commissioner Silvana Juarez, to close the course on Mondays was defeated.

Voting against the motion were Commissioners Roger Eades, Scott Hall and Wayne Winget. Mayor Bob Josseland as well as Black and Juarez supported the motion. Commissioner Nancy Griego was not present.

After the motion was defeated, Eades offered a motion to close a portion of the course on separate days of the week and Hall seconded.

Club professional Dave Kaesheimer told the commission that he would prefer to remain open seven days a week than try to regulate play on the basis suggested by the motion.

Eades withdrew the motion and no further action on the question was taken with the result that operation of the golf course will not change.

In other business during the special meeting of the commission, winners of awards for suggestions in the recent community survey were announced, vote in Saturday's municipal election was canvassed and the oath of office was administered to those elected.

Prior to the discussion of the golf course advisory board's recommendation to close the course on Monday each week for maintenance purposes, Josseland called for an end to controversy that has swirled around the course for some time.

Playing conditions and application of water to the course were addressed some weeks ago by the commission.

The advisory board's recommendation to close one day a week and raise annual fees for senior golfers was presented two weeks ago but action was delayed to allow further comment from the community.

Josseland said that "in the last year to year and a half, we've started to (See GOLF, Page 2)

Birkenfeld honored as Citizen of Year by group

Hereford's Hispanic community celebrated Cinco de Mayo during the weekend, honoring Father Darryl Birkenfeld as the Citizen of the Year at festivities Sunday.

The annual celebration is sponsored annually by the Hereford Public Service Association.

Father Birkenfeld, said organizer Joe Soliz, was honored for his commitment to the community and for his leadership among Hereford Hispanics.

The San Jose Catholic Church priest also was honored for his efforts to "bring everyone together," Soliz said.

Earlier in the weekend, Michelle Ochoa was crowned Cinco de Mayo Queen. She was honored at the front of Saturday's parade, which featured floats from a number of local individuals and organizations.

Sunday activities were held in the new Soliz Community Center, 150 Pine, and featured local bands, lots of music, dancing, games for children and space to just sit and visit.

Soliz said the event was moved inside to escape spring winds.

About 400 people attended Sunday's celebration, the same as attended Saturday's crowning of Miss Ochoa, also held in the Soliz Civic Center.

A softball tournament scheduled for the weekend was curtailed on Sunday because of wet fields.

The Cinco de Mayo celebration is held annually around the fifth of May to commemorate the country's victory in 1982 over French forces.

French armies had marched from Vera Cruz to Puebla, where they were met by about 2,000 poorly trained Mexican troops led by Gen. Ignacio Zaragoza, who forced retreat of the better-trained French army of 6,000 men.

Local Roundup

Migrant parents meeting Thursday

The final HISD Migrant Division Parent Advisory Council meeting of the school year will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in the southeast quadrant of the HISD administration building, 601 N. 25 Mile Avenue. The meeting will include election of officers for 1995-96 and discussion of plans for next year. In addition, some special presentations will be made. Child care will be provided and refreshments will be served.

Sunny weather ahead

Hereford enjoyed a high temperature of 76 degrees Monday and a low Tuesday morning of 44 degrees. KPAN Radio reported .15 inch of rain for Saturday night to bring the total to more than 3/4 of an inch in two days. The forecast for Tuesday night calls for mostly clear skies, a low in the upper 40s and a north wind, 5-10 mph. Wednesday will be mostly sunny with a high in the mid-70s and winds from the northeast at 5-15 mph.

Commission to inspect center

Hereford City Commission will tour the new aquatic center during a work session, scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday.

night, witnesses said.

The truck driver reportedly saw the car swept away by the rushing water. The Cherokee County Sheriff's Department, a dive team and other emergency personnel were searching for the car and the two occupants late Monday.

Meanwhile, residents were cleaning up from the storms that demolished a body shop and damaged a private school as it moved through North Texas late Sunday.

Two men were killed and 15 others injured in tornado touchdowns near Amarillo and in Montague County near the Red River.

Waterlogged Texans can look forward to a respite, said National Weather Service meteorologist Jim Stefkovich.

"Most of the state is going to be pretty dry at least through mid-week," he said.

In Amarillo, Robert LeGrand, 38, was killed early Sunday when a tornado smashed his mobile home, just north of Canyon, authorities said. Two women whose car was hit by the twister on U.S. 60, remained hospitalized, one in Canyon and one in Amarillo. At least eight mobile homes were destroyed and three houses heavily damaged.

The Montague County tornado destroyed 15 homes and damaged 30 others around Nocona, St. Jo and Forestburg on Sunday afternoon. A short time later a tornado struck across the border in Ardmore, Okla., killing three people and leaving behind widespread devastation.

Jose Castillo, 97, died late Sunday at a Fort Worth hospital after a tornado struck his Forestburg home, said Rick Clayton, an investigator with the Tarrant County Medical Examiner's Office.

Ten other people were injured in that storm, said DPS Sgt. Richard McDaniel of Wichita Falls. Two were hospitalized in Fort Worth and two in Bowie.

Sixteen other people also died in the storm system that moved through North Texas.

Late Sunday, strong, heavy thunderstorms accompanied by damaging high winds and frequent lightning again roared across the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

The path of the damaging winds was about 3 miles long and a 1/2-mile wide, officials said.

More than 400 people were injured, according to the Texas Department of Public Safety's division of emergency management.

make strides in uniting our citizens and I think we have begun to make significant improvements."

Saying that a recreational activity has dominated the commission's business to the detriment of other problem-solving, Josserrand continued, "No more should we let an issue divide our community. It's not conducive to accomplishing anything."

The mayor told an audience of approximately 30 persons that the only issue to be addressed by speakers should be on closing the course to improve it.

"The question is, will closing improve the course," declared Josserrand.

Speaking first was Joe Kerr, who asked what kind of plan would course staff make to improve conditions.

Mary Haun, greenskeeper, responded, saying, "On closed days, we could complete aerifying, make chemical applications as weather permits, accomplish other projects without endangering others."

"We could get in and complete jobs without needing to stop to let golfers play," she added.

Bill Allen suggested that the solution might be to close either the front or back on different days. He said that "they don't mow on Mondays."

Haun disputed Allen's statement, reciting the mowing schedule for the course, including Mondays.

Addressing the issue of revenue losses from closing one day each week, Kaesheimer said that events scheduled on Monday and holidays would not be disrupted by the closing.

"I don't think it would affect revenue because we would still have holidays . . . we wouldn't take anything away," he said.

Mayor Josserrand acknowledged

Fire department recipient of gift

The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department was recently presented a $150 check by the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies.

The donation was made as an expression of thanks for the fire department's efforts at a fire on the property of Randy Berryman.

The company makes donations to fire departments when the department works a fire in rural areas involving Farm Bureau-insured property.

that petitions from city golfers had been delivered to the commission calling for continuing operation as in the past and making no increase in fees "until significant improvements are evident" at the course. Approximately 50 residents signed the petitions.

After the commission's vote on closing, Josserrand called on City Manager Chester Nolen for a statement.

"Since I came here, the golf course has been the main problem the city has had. Staff members are dedicated to serving the public and I don't think we should be in the position of feeling abandoned."

"This is the first time in three years, the commission has split three-three on any issue."

"If the decision is to close, we can improve the course. If not, we'll try our best to give the public the best we can."

Nolen added, "We want the issue over so we can get on with business at hand."

Moments later, after Kaesheimer stated that he would rather make no change than do an alternate nine-hole closing each week, Eades withdrew his motion.

The regular meeting of the commission closed after golf course staff was directed to prepare course rules to be distributed to golfers.

Although the issue apparently was settled, a member of the advisory board asked to speak during the public comments section of the work session agenda.

Jeff Yates criticized the commission for failing to support the recommendations of the board and drew a sharp reply from Eades.

Yates said he serves on the board because he sees it as an opportunity to help the community, "but when people who can make things happen don't support and a small group can apply pressure, and 'until people stand up and take control, there won't be anything done.'"

Eades defended the commission, saying that the action was not a sign that the commission does not support the staff at the golf course.

Yates answered, "Why have an advisory board?"

During the regular meeting, the vote in Saturday's election was canvassed and certified. Eades administered the oath of office to Josserrand, Juarez and Hall. They will serve two-year terms. Nolen announced that 50 Hereford

City concerns discussed

Hereford Mayor Bob Josserrand, back right, reviews concerns of the city with citizens who joined him Monday morning for a Breakfast with the Mayor program. He explained water, beautification, golf course and a variety of other concerns during the hour.

Mayor reviews city concerns during early-morning session

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Continuing concerns over the appearance of Hereford and the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course were brought to the attention of Mayor Bob Josserrand Monday morning.

Meeting with about a dozen citizens in a Breakfast with the Mayor format, Josserrand also reviewed several departments of city government.

Pat Reily asked if the city has any solutions to the problem of littering, noting that the Hereford Beautification Alliance has addressed the issue by cleaning areas of the city.

"As far as I know, though, we don't ask people not to litter," Reily observed. "Maybe some signs would help."

Earl Stagner questioned Josserrand about plans for the golf course, saying he wonders if the problem is in management of the facility.

"When the economic development committee brings people to town, there are four things they look for," Stagner said. "They want to know about schools, churches, hospital and recreation."

Josserrand responded that the golf course advisory committee recommended closing the course one day a week to allow for better maintenance procedures.

"The committee is serious that closing one day would help improve the course," said Josserrand. "If it won't help, then it would be stupid to close it."

He pointed out that the city can allocate only so much water to the course and "Mother Nature" hasn't been much help.

Josserrand said he regrets what he calls an issue that "has polarized the community." He called for cooperation within the community, saying, "We need to pull together, work together . . . we're all neighbors."

Reily, during the discussion on litter, suggested that some effort be made in public education to reduce the litter.

During a review of city department operations, Josserrand noted that "the overriding issue in the survey we did is cleaning up on both highways through Hereford."

He said a new code enforcement officer recently employed by the city will be responsible for contacting property owners about cleaning up.

"He'll try to get people to clean up voluntarily," said Josserrand. If that is not successful, he continued, the city will look at enforcement of city codes.

Reviewing city operations, Josserrand:

-- Reported city fire and police departments have encountered "no major problems" recently. The juvenile curfew is a success, he said.

-- Explained that he has no doubt that the Premium Standard Farms delay in construction is nothing more and "the plant will be built" but not as soon as expected.

-- Reported that animal control is continuing efforts to keep loose animals off city streets.

-- Announced that a new water well in Veterans Park will be completed as an Ogallala producer instead of Santa Rosa. "We got good water in the Ogallala so we'll look for another site for the Santa Rosa well," he said.

-- Commended residents for efforts in reducing garbage for transport to the Amarillo landfill and for stacking leaves and limbs beside dumpsters.

-- Reported that city officials hope to prepare a long-range plan for replacing city sewer and water lines as well as improving streets.

HISD, city join in talks on concerns

An opportunity for the Hereford City Commission and Hereford Independent School District board to exchange ideas on mutual concerns was applauded by Mayor Bob Josserrand as he welcomed HISD trustees to City Hall Monday afternoon.

A three-item agenda was reviewed during the joint work session. Progress of construction of the Hereford Aquatic Center, a proposal for a daytime juvenile curfew and a suggestion of a joint project to build a municipal auditorium were items of discussion.

City Manager Chester Nolen introduced Sandra Kilanowski, who recently accepted the position of manager of the Hereford Aquatic Center.

Nolen reported that the target for opening the center is mid-June. He said the manager is in the process of meeting with community groups to begin scheduling. Expenditures on the facility so far add up to about $800,000, Nolen said.

The question of a daytime juvenile curfew was raised by HISD Superintendent Charles Greenawalt. He suggested that the curfew could ensure that students not in school would be at home.

Asked if the attendance officer could not accomplish the same thing, Greenawalt said, "The students know there's only one truant officer."

The commission agreed to seek further information on success of daytime curfews in other cities.

Greenawalt also explained the need for an auditorium that would serve the schools as well as the community.

He said seating, curtains and other equipment are 40 years old. He said the auditorium seats only 900 persons and the high school needs seating for 1,200 to 1,500.

Complaints about the condition of the facility have been frequent, Greenawalt said, adding, "I'm embarrassed by it."

The auditorium is not in compliance with regulations under the Americans with Disabilities Act, he said. Greenawalt estimated an expenditure of about $1.5 million to redo the facility.

The school board suggested that the city search for grants that might be available to municipalities for improvements such as an auditorium.

Trustee Joe Flood said HISD had considered a performing auditorium but that would not solve the problem of a large facility for the school's student body.

Commissioner Roger Eades suggested that Deaf Smith County officials be approached to determine their interest in the project.

HRMC Auxiliary hears reports at regular luncheon meeting

The Hereford Regional Medical Center Auxiliary met recently in the hospital board room for a luncheon meeting.

Margarette Daniels called the meeting to order. The auxiliary prayer was led by Anna Stindt.

Janis Bell read the minutes and Lupe Cerda gave the treasurer's report.

Bonnie Sublett reported that the Auxiliary had contributed 228 volunteer hours to the hospital in April. Grace Covington reported 18 baby books were given to new mothers.

Jo Lee, chairman of the scholarship committee, related that 15 applications had been received for the four scholarships that the Auxiliary offers to eligible graduating seniors.

The Auxiliary voted to distribute Media Publications magazines to patients in the hospital.

Jim Robinson, HRMC administrator, announced that a new physician assistant is being hired for the rural health clinic. He also advised that arrangements are being made to allow inmates of city and/or county correctional facilities to do yard work for the hospital.

Members viewed a film on "Drug Policy in the Work Place" and received information on "Substance Abuse and Drug Testing Policy at Hereford Regional Medical Center".

In attendance were Irene Boardman, Elizabeth DeKoster, Irene Reinart, Ruth Lueb, Theda Seiver, Mary Jane Burrus, Billie Kelley, Cerda, Stindt, Bell, Daniels, Sublett, Lee, Covington and Robinson.

Toastmasters meetings held morning, evening

The Hereford Toastmasters met for morning and evening meetings on May 4.

Nancy Griego presided at the morning meeting and served as toastmaster.

Charles Minchew was timer, Jigger Rowland was AH counter and Clark Andrews served as grammarian.

David Jury, wordmaster, introduced the word abnegate.

Linda Minchew served as topicmaster while topic speakers were Margaret Del Toro, Jury, Rick Jackson, Dr. Milton Adams and Rowland.

Speakers for the meeting were Bud Jowell and Joe Don Cummings. Jowell spoke on "Hitting Little People" and was evaluated by Wayne Winget.

Cummings gave a speech entitled "Applesed - John" and Jackson was the evaluator.

General evaluator was Dave Kimmel.

Jowell was voted best speaker, Jackson was voted best evaluator and Del Toro was voted best topic speaker.

Adolfo Del Toro was a guest for the meeting.

The evening meeting was held at the Hereford Community Center game room with Dianna Kimmel presiding.

Dave Kimmel led the pledge.

Toastmaster for the meeting was L.V. Watts, Jigger Rowland was timer and grammarian, and Dave Kimmel was AH counter and topicmaster.

The word impetuous was introduced by wordmaster, Rick Jackson.

Topic speakers were Jackson, Rowland and Watts.

"Sisters" was the title of the speech given by Pat Varner. "Introduction to Christian Radio" was given by Dianna Kimmel. Both speeches were evaluated by the group present.

Jackson served as general evaluator.

Varner was named best speaker and Watts was best topic speaker.

The reading was given by Varner.

Samarah Sciumbato, right, daughter of Albert and Betty Sciumbato, was second runner up in the group of eight contestants of seventh, eighth and ninth graders.

Katherine Diana Fry, left, was the winner in the Little Princess for 1995 division of the Little Miss Hereford Pageant. Katherine is the daughter of Dr. Stan and Beckie Fry. First runner up in the field of 13 contestants was Rebecca Artho, center, daughter of Duane and Valerie Artho. Laura Lynette Jesko, right, daughter of Mary Ann and Randy Alexander, was second runner up in the category for fourth through sixth graders.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have very low blood pressure, sometimes around 107 over 59. But I have a very fast heart, around 95. Does this make sense? I am a 21-year-old woman. — F.A.

ANSWER: Your blood pressure is fine. Your heart rate is a bit fast, but certainly not alarming, since you apparently are not having any other symptoms with it. I'm assuming that.

Certainly, a fast heart can stem from hidden problems, such as thyroid overactivity, but with that there would be overt signs.

Perhaps you just find it strange that your blood pressure is a bit low while your heart rate is a bit on the fast side. That should not concern you. Blood pressure and heart rate are quite independent functions. That is to say a fast heart doesn't cause a rise in blood pressure. Nor, with a few exceptions, does low blood pressure cause a heart speedup. That can happen in extreme settings, as when there is sudden loss of blood pressure, the kind that occurs with shock or great loss of blood.

A complete physical examination could ease your concerns. Many women your age do benefit from such an examination.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was diagnosed three years ago with cancer of the prostate. I've had lots of radiation therapy and now am taking Lupron injections. I would like to know how long I have to take the injections. Also, is it possible they have to do with my breasts enlarging? — A.K.

ANSWER: You take injections of Lupron — leuprolide — for as long as they work to keep your prostate cancer at bay.

Breast enlargement is a possible side effect of the injections.

The drug acts by shutting down production of testosterone, a growth hormone that stimulates growth of the prostate cancer.

I am sure many readers being treated for prostate cancer will want to know why they are not getting Lupron injections. The injections are only for certain kinds of prostate cancer. Not all kinds call for Lupron therapy.

Borger stays in hunt with 6-0 win vs. Herd

By JAY PEDED
Sports Editor

Matt Ormon kept the Borger baseball team in the playoff hunt by shutting out Hereford 6-0 Monday in Borger.

While Hereford has one more game left in the season--Caprock visits Whiteface Field at 4:30 today--Borger ended its regular season Monday with a guarantee that it would at least tie for second in District 1-4A.

Monday's game was originally scheduled for Saturday but was postponed because of wet field conditions.

Hereford had exactly as many hits as Borger outfielder Tony Lopez had home runs: two. Only Ronald Torres and Homer Hamilton hit safely for the Herd. Lopez had solo homers in the third and fifth innings that stretched the Borger lead to 5-0.

The Bulldogs broke on top with three runs in the second.

"We had three errors, and they scored all their runs that way," Herd coach Pete Rodriguez said. "They had men on first and third. A guy laid a bunt down and (catcher Tanner) Murphey makes a wild throw to first, and those two guys score."

The batter who bunted ended up on third base. He scored on a loop hit, and Borger led 3-0.

Borger added a sixth run in the sixth inning on a double, a sacrifice and a Herd fielding error.

Ormon went the distance against the Herd.

"He'd come with fastballs and get on top of us, then he'd throw off-speed pitches," Rodriguez said. "Everything we hit was a little dribbler back to the pitcher, or to the first baseman."

Sophomore pitcher John Marty Galan got his first district start and went four innings.

"They got their first three runs on errors, and he gave up that solo homer (in the third), but other than that, he threw pretty well for four innings," Rodriguez said.

"We just didn't produce with our sticks," he said.

Sonny Perez pitched the fifth inning, allowing Lopez' second homer, and Gregg Kalka pitched the sixth.

Eric Ambold will start today's Caprock game, Rodriguez said.

The Hereford junior varsity team lost to San Jacinto 12-10 Monday in a game that was not on the schedule.

San Jacinto scored 10 of its runs in the first inning. Hereford scored two in the first and eight in the second to tie the game. San Jac scored two in the top of the fifth and won when the game was ended after only five innings.

Hereford had only three hits to San Jacinto's 10, but San Jac helped with seven errors.

All of District 1-4A's teams will finish the regular season today, and only the Hereford-Caprock game is meaningless to the playoff race. In the other games, Randall is at Pampa and Canyon visits Dumas.

--If Randall and Dumas both win, the district ends in a four-way tie for first among those two and Pampa and Borger.

--If Randall and Canyon win, there will be a three-way tie among Pampa, Borger and Randall.

--If Pampa and Dumas win; Pampa will the district title outright and Borger and Dumas tie for second.

--If Pampa and Canyon win, Pampa wins the district and Borger is second.

Spurs slip past unlucky Lakers in overtime, take 2-0 series lead

SAN ANTONIO (AP)--A sloppy playoff game marred by poor shooting turned into a lucky overtime victory for the San Antonio Spurs and a miserable defeat for the Los Angeles Lakers.

Now the teams have four days to sort out the mess and get ready for Game 3 of their Western Conference semifinal.

"It's a lesson for us. Sometimes the close ones send up a red flag," said Spurs coach Bob Hill.

The Spurs beat the Lakers 97-90 in overtime Monday night to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 series, which continues Friday in Los Angeles.

"I thought the game was ours," said Lakers coach Del Harris. "We outplayed them."

In other series, Indiana is at New York for Game 2 tonight, while defending champion Houston visits Phoenix to open their Western Conference match-up. On Wednesday night, Chicago is at Orlando, which has a 1-0 lead.

San Antonio came dangerously close to losing its first playoff game this year, but the Lakers blew a chance to win it in regulation when Vlade Divac missed two free throws with 4.6 seconds remaining and the score tied 83-83.

"I had the game in my hands," said Divac, who made his other four free-throw attempts Monday. "It hurts a lot to let this one get away."

The Spurs considered themselves lucky.

"We don't know if we deserve it, but we will sure take it," said Avery Johnson, who had 12 points and nine assists.

David Robinson had a pitiful shooting game, but made a crucial field goal and two free throws in overtime to seal the victory.

"I was missing shots from point-blank range, and that's pretty tough," said Robinson, who was 6-for-26 from the field, but still led the Spurs in scoring along with Dennis Rodman. They scored 22 points each.

With 1:54 left in the extra period Robinson grabbed the ball after he missed a shot and made a basket to give the Spurs a 90-86 lead.

He sank two free throws with 1:14 remaining when Elden Campbell fouled out. The 92-86 advantage sealed it for the Spurs.

Rodman also grabbed 22 rebounds, a San Antonio playoff record, and Robinson added 16, along with five blocks. The Spurs outrebounded the Lakers 62-46.

"Rodman was huge," Robinson said. "When we shoot poorly, we all have to pick up the slack. I told him before the game we needed 20 rebounds, and he got it."

Rodman said he had no choice but to score.

"I even shot a jumper. That's the first time I've done that in many months," said the eccentric forward who sported newly dyed green hair.

San Antonio shot only 35 percent from the floor, while the Lakers made only 39 percent from the floor and 68 percent from the line.

Rodman tied it 83-83 with a field goal with 26.2 seconds remaining in regulation. Then, under the Lakers' basket, Rodman collected his sixth foul and sent Divac to the line.

After Divac missed both shots, the Spurs inbounded with 4.1 seconds left. They got the ball to Robinson, whose 12-footer slammed off the backboard.

The Lakers scored only two field goals in overtime, both in the last 10 seconds.

A 25-15 run in the third quarter and early in the fourth, keyed by Campbell's 12 points during the rally and capped by his go-ahead dunk, gave Los Angeles the 65-64 lead.

"It doesn't matter that I played a good game as long as the team loses," said Campbell, who led the Lakers with 25 points and 18 rebounds.

Eddie Jones scored 20 points and Nick Van Exel had 17 plus 10 assists.

Braves' Cox denies he hit wife in face

ATLANTA (AP)--Atlanta Braves manager Bobby Cox, who was jailed briefly after his wife called police to their home, appeared with her at a news conference Monday to deny he had assaulted her.

Cox said he planned to continue managing the club.

Pamela Cox sat next to her husband of 18 years at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium and supported his account. She said police over-reacted to her request that officers break up an argument Sunday night and jailed Cox despite her request he be allowed to remain home.

"There was no hitting of any sort," Cox said.

He said the redness in his wife's face noted in the police report was a result of her crying.

Cox called the incident "just a domestic dispute that has been brewing a little bit for the last five, six months" because he hadn't been paying enough attention to what was going on at home.

Police in Cobb County, in Atlanta's northwest suburbs, charged Cox with simple battery for allegedly punching his wife and pulling her hair.

Asked at the news conference if she had told officers Cox had hit her, Pamela Cox replied, "No, no."

Asked if she knew why it was in the police report, she said, "I don't know."

Cox, 53, was arrested about 10:15 p.m. at his home near Atlanta Country Club. He was released on $1,000 bond and faces a court hearing May 26, said Lt. Bob Kimbrough of the Cobb sheriff's office.

The police report said Pamela Cox called officers and met them at the door. She told officers her husband and some guests were drinking when Cox spilled a drink on the carpet and she made a comment about it. After the guests left, he hit her in the face with his fist and pulled her hair.

"When they left we got into an argument and basically that was it," Cox said. "There was no hitting of any sort. I grabbed her forehead and her hair a little bit just to keep her a distance away from me and we were both going at it pretty good."

Borger boys, Dumas' McInturff stand 4th at state golf tourney

Both of the District 1-4A representatives at the state tournament in Austin were fourth after the first day of competition Monday at the Jimmy Clay Golf Course.

The Borger boys team totaled 325 for a tie for fourth. Austin Anderson led the eight-team field at 309, with Rockwall and Waco Midway close behind at 312 and 317, respectively. Jamie McInturff of Dumas was fourth in the girls' medalist race after firing a round of 76 Monday.

Kelli Kuehne of Dallas Highland Park was in the lead with a 69, the best score of any boy or girl in Class 4A, 3A, 2A or A.

Bastrop's Amanda Workman was second at 70, and Snyder's Brook Lowrance was third at 72.

Bastrop, seeking its third straight state title, is in the team lead at 321. Following Bastrop are the two teams from Hereford's Region 1-4A: Andrews (332) and Snyder (333).

Kiwis lead America's Cup

SAN DIEGO (AP)--Nothing but stern.

That's what skipper Dennis Conner and his crew aboard Young America saw of Black Magic 1 for the second straight race as Team New Zealand's rocket ship made history in the America's Cup.

Slow at the start but uncatchable after getting the first wind shift, the Kiwis led at every turning mark and overwhelmed Conner's borrowed boat by 4 minutes, 14 seconds on Monday.

Black Magic 1 became the first foreign yacht in 61 years to take a 2-0 lead over a U.S. defender. In 1934, England's Endeavour won the first two races, then lost four straight to Rainbow.

And it was the biggest margin by a challenger over a defender since England's Livonia beat Columbia by 15:10 in 1871. Nonetheless, Columbia and Sappho ganged up on Livonia to win the series 4-1.

New Zealand's short America's Cup history is marked by collapse, but Team New Zealand has shown no weaknesses in this regatta. It is 39-1 on the water in four months of racing and needs to win just three more races in the best-of-9 series to take the America's Cup to Auckland, the City of Sails.

America has lost the America's Cup only once in 144 years, when Conner let it slip away to Australia's John Bertrand in 1983. Conner won it back with a 4-0 sweep of defender Kookaburra III in 1987.

Race three is scheduled for Tuesday.

Tribe hands Appier 1st loss after 3 wins

By CHUCK MELVIN
AP Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP)—Mike Hargrove preferred the conservative approach: Don't assume a pennant for his Cleveland Indians on the strength of one good showing against one of baseball's best pitchers.

"I think we caught Kevin Appier on an off night," the manager said Monday night after the Indians beat the Kansas City Royals 6-2, ruining Appier's bid to become the first pitcher to win four this season. "But even on an off night, he was pretty tough."

Appier (3-1) entered the game with a microscopic 0.46 ERA and 27 strikeouts in 19 2-3 innings; four days earlier, he struck out 12 in seven shutout innings at Minnesota.

The Indians entered the game leading the majors in batting average, runs per game and home runs.

Appier, it seemed, would be the perfect gauge of how good their hitters really are.

Three batters into the first inning, the Indians had their answer. Kenny Lofton led off with a triple, scored on Omar Vizquel's infield single, and after Vizquel was awarded second because of a wild throw, Carlos Baerga singled him home.

"I never thought we were going to hit him like that," Baerga said. "He's a great pitcher. But we started hitting right away."

"We knew he was going good. You have to be selective. He throws a lot of sinkerballs. If you try to hit home runs, you're going to strike out. You have to take him up the middle and try to hit line drives."

Baerga had another RBI single in the third, and the Indians finished Appier with three runs in the sixth. Albert Belle doubled and scored on Eddie Murray's single, and Murray continued to second on the throw and scored on Manny Ramirez's double. Paul Sorrento then greeted reliever Billy Brewer with a run-scoring single.

In the only other AL games Monday night, Chicago beat

Minnesota 4-2 and Texas downed Oakland 7-4 in 10 innings.

Mark Clark (2-0), who entered the game with a 17.05 ERA, yielded two runs and eight hits in 5 1-3 innings. Cleveland's bullpen, weary from Sunday's 17-inning victory over Minnesota, still managed to shut the Royals out the rest of the way, with Jason Grimsley going the final 2 1-3 innings for his first career save.

Kansas City scored both its runs in the fifth on an RBI double by Michael Tucker and a sacrifice fly by Vince Coleman.

White Sox 4, Twins 2
Frank Thomas and Warren Newson hit back-to-back homers in the first inning and Alex Fernandez (1-1) went eight innings at Comiskey Park.

Fernandez gave up 10 hits, only one after the fourth inning. He retired 13 of the final 14 batters he faced, walked none and struck out six.

Thomas hit a two-run homer, his third, and Newson hit his second, off Pat Mahomes (0-1). Tim Lincecum added a solo homer in the eighth.

The Twins got one run in the second on an RBI single by Pedro Munoz and another in the third on singles by Jeff Reboulet, Chuck Knoblauch and Alex Cole.

Rangers 7, Athletics 4
Otis Nixon's two-run single in the 10th inning off Dennis Eckersley led the Rangers in front of 9,680, the lowest crowd of Oakland's four-game season-opening homestand.

With one out in the 10th, Dean Palmer and Mark McLemore singled. One out later, Nixon singled to shallow-center to drive in two and he later scored on an error by second baseman Brent Gates.

Pinch-hitter Andy Tomberlin had tied the game 4-4 when he led off the ninth with a home run off Jeff Russell (1-0).

The Rangers broke a scoreless tie with a four-run fourth and Nixon drove in the third run with a sacrifice fly. Oakland made it 4-2 in the sixth on a walk and consecutive doubles by Geronimo Berroa and Mark McGwire.

Phillies complete sweep in Atlanta

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer
For sure, it had been a while since the Philadelphia Phillies last swept a four-game series in Atlanta.

How long?
So long ago that four starters from the Braves and Phillies in those days are now major league managers. (Answers later). So long that the winning pitchers for the Phillies in those games were Jim Lonborg, Dick Ruthven, Ken Brett and Wayne Twitchell.

It hadn't happened since July 20-23, 1973—until the Phillies finished off another four-game sweep in Atlanta with a 3-2 win Monday night.

"That's never happened to me before," said Gregg Jefferies, who hit a two-run homer in the first inning for the Phillies. "I've never swept the Braves anywhere, three games or four."

In other games, San Diego stopped Los Angeles 5-2, Chicago beat St. Louis 7-4, Montreal defeated Florida

7-5 and Houston beat Pittsburgh 6-3.

So which starters from the Braves and Phillies in 1973 are now managing? Outfielder Dusty Baker and second baseman Davey Johnson of Atlanta, and catchers Johnny Oates of the Braves and Bob Boone of the Phillies.

Since then, four-game series have become rarer and rarer in baseball because of expansion and schedule switches.

Tom Glavine (1-1) began the game by walking Lenny Dykstra. One out later, Jefferies hit his first home run of the season.

Phillies reliever Gene Harris escaped a first-and-third jam in the eighth, getting pinch-hitter Charlie O'Brien on a foul pop and Marquis Grissom on a routine fly.

Heathcliff Slocumb worked the ninth for his fifth save, including three in a row against Atlanta. Kyle Abbott (1-0) was the winner.

Padres 5, Dodgers 2
San Diego stopped a seven-game losing streak despite Tony Gwynn going 0-for-4. Gwynn had hit safely in the Padres' first 12 games.

The Dodgers had won four in a row. The host Padres had been 0-7 against NL West opponents.

With the score tied at 2 in the seventh inning, Brad Ausmus singled off Antonio Osuna (1-1) and later scored on a passed ball by Mike Piazza. Eddie Williams followed with his third hit, a two-run single.

Dustin Hermanson (1-0) retired all three batters he faced after relieving in the seventh with a runner on second and none out.

Trevor Hoffman closed for San Diego's first save of the season.

Astros 6, Pirates 3
Houston took advantage of physical and mental mistakes by Pittsburgh in the ninth inning to win at Three Rivers Stadium.

With the score tied at 3, Dave Magadan opened the Astros ninth with a single off Jim Gott (0-1). Phil Plantier followed with a grounder to second baseman Carlos Garcia, who threw the ball into left field.

Tony Eusebio followed with a sacrifice fly and Orlando Miller, who earlier hit a two-run homer, had an RBI single. Reliever Jason Christianen relieved and retired Milt Thompson on a grounder but, thinking it was the third out, rolled the ball back to the mound and allowed Miller to score.

Todd Jones (2-0) pitched two innings and John Hudek got his third save.

Cubs 7, Cardinals 4
Former minor league infielder Jim Bullinger lowered his league-leading ERA to 0.51 and also drove in two runs as Chicago won at St. Louis.

Bullinger (2-0) pitched 5 2-3 innings and allowed four runs, all of them unearned. Randy Myers got his fourth save.

Bullinger hit a sacrifice fly during a four-run second inning and an RBI single in the sixth. Steve Buechele homered for the Cubs.

Allen Watson (1-1) got the loss.

Underdog Thunder Gulch takes Derby

By JIM LITKE
AP Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - He was not the No. 1 horse in his own barn. He wasn't even No. 2.

All week long, trainer D. Wayne Lukas worked the backstretch at Churchill Downs wearing a baseball cap with the name of his other chestnut colt, Timber Country, inscribed atop the bill. All week long, almost every conversation Lukas engaged in began and ended with the name of the bay filly, Serena's Song, on his lips.

Saying Thunder Gulch was overlooked is like saying Madonna is overexposed. Anyone who doubts it should remember the old adage about money talking: He returned a very handsome $51 on a $2 bet to win.

"We liked this horse all week," Lukas said Saturday afternoon.

The trainer whose three-horse entry Saturday gave him a record 26 horses entered in thoroughbred racing's main event paused to adjust his sunglasses in the glare of the television lights. His tone of voice was almost defensive, this despite having just won the Kentucky Derby for a second time.

"The thing was, he got stuck standing between a ballerina and the 2-year-old champion," Lukas started again. "So he became kind of a forgotten man. But he'll be all over the news tonight."

And maybe even at the top of the tote board when the Preakness, the second leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown series, resumes two weeks from now.

Then again, maybe not. Coming into Churchill Downs, Thunder Gulch had won four times in nine career starts, but had hardly set the world on fire. The fact that the Kentucky-bred wintered in Florida, where the weaker competition tended to collect, was one strike against him.

Then, Thunder Gulch finished fourth in the Blue Grass Stakes in his last pre-Derby start April 15, violating the racetrack gospel that says a horse has to be steadily approaching his performance peak to win the race of a lifetime.

Strike three came Thursday at the post-position draw. Thunder Gulch drew No. 16, the second spot in the auxiliary starting gate. Without the blazing starting gear of Serena's Song or the tactical speed of Timber Country, the only way most people figured he'd get to rail fast enough to contend was by calling a cab. And in Louisville around Derby time, even he couldn't afford it.

But Gary Stevens never doubted the colt's toughness. There was something about Thunder Gulch that Stevens, the jockey who drove the Lukas-trained filly, Winning Colors, to a front-running win in the 1988 Derby, liked. Liked enough, in fact, to return to Louisville from Hong Kong, where he had been lured by a very lucrative offer that would have kept him overseas for most of the season.

What a payoff: Stevens' hunch not only turned out to be right; he knew it was right just seconds into the race. "I was ecstatic 50 yards out of the gate," he recalled. "I had a smooth trip to the rail."

That was all that Thunder Gulch needed. By the half-mile pole, he had settled in comfortably behind only Serena's Song and Talkin Man. Barely a second later, Lukas, who had three pairs of eyes to track his entry, only had eyes for Thunder Gulch.

"At the five-eighths pole, I turned to a friend and I said, 'Timber's got traffic problems. Serena's going too fast. Thunder Gulch is going to win it.'"

Lukas turned out to be as good a prognosticator as a trainer. The pace was too blistering for Serena's Song. A hole opened on the rail and Talkin Man went through first, then Thunder Gulch, urged on by Stevens with a left-handed whip. By the eighth pole, Stevens switched the colt to a right lead, the better to throw dust back at the field now chasing him futilely.

When it was over, Stevens told how Jeff Lukas, who is D. Wayne's son and was nearly killed in a trackside accident in December 1993, had helped him climb into the saddle aboard Thunder Gulch. The last time the two had teamed up on that particular task, the horse was Winning Colors and the year was 1988.

That was the family's only entry that year. There were no hunches or favorites to play. This time, there were both.

"We thought maybe we could just play on the grace of the gods a little bit," D. Wayne Lukas recalled, "that maybe that chemistry would work again."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've printed several letters over the years bashing ex-wives. Here is one in support of them. I hope you will print it.

My husband always paid child support without a hint of grumbling. In fact, when I complimented him on it, he gave me an incredulous look and said, "Why wouldn't I pay it? They're my kids."

Throughout the years, both my husband and his ex-wife have participated in the upbringing of their children, even when they lived in different cities. This took a great deal of effort, but it paid off. The children are now fine young men with a great deal of integrity and high standards. One son is a professional ballplayer, and the other has an excellent position with a well-known, multinational company. We are very proud of them.

If his ex-wife calls and my husband isn't at home, she will talk to me. She is a fine, strong, lovely person and has raised two wonderful sons. Divorce doesn't have to mean you are enemies for life. This is nonsense, and it is damaging to all concerned. If you have children, it is important to stay involved. Being civil, polite and respectful to your ex works much better than hostility and mudslinging.

On the wall of my guest room hangs a picture of my husband's kids when they were quite young. In that picture, standing with the kids, is my husband's ex-wife. It is a lovely picture, and I am delighted to have it there. Even though the woman is a part of my husband's past, she is also a part of our present family, and I'm proud to know her. -- A Second Wife in Calif.

DEAR SECOND WIFE: You've

written a letter that should be taped to several million makeup mirrors across the continent. No higher compliment can be paid to any woman than to be admired and respected by her ex-husband's wife. What a terrific role model you are, lady.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: "Betsy" and I are quite content in our first-floor apartment in an old three-decker. The only fly in the ointment is the stomping on the floor by our upstairs neighbor.

This woman cannot walk across a room without each step delivering a crushing blow to the floor. When we are in the kitchen, she is shatteringly above us. After meals, those noises accompany us to the living room. At night and early mornings, our sleep is punctuated by an even bolder crunch. I work at home, and it is unnerving -- it sounds like the Grand Army blasting across Europe, the galloping of a platoon of maddened bog dancers, or a 43-foot, goose-stepping steel robot.

The lady is not unaware of the problem. She has apologized several times. We accept her apology, but the stomping continues.

Because she is expressing her entire character through her feet, any further discussion of the matter has risks. We wonder if it is humanly possible to make the transition from Stompmeister to Floatmaiden.

How can we persuade this woman that gliding is good? Please give me some badly needed advice. -- Brookline, Mass.

DEAR BROOKLINE: The Stompmeister knows about the problem, and she has apologized. Now, why don't you buy her a pair of lovely felt bedroom slippers? Can't hurt. Might help.

Seniors receive scholarships

Two Hereford High School seniors, Heidi L. Ruland and Shawn T. Lance, have been awarded Carr Academic Scholarships at Angelo State University for 1995-96.

Over 300 Carr Academic Scholarships for 1995-96, ranging in value from $1,000 to $6,000, have been awarded to qualified high school seniors.

As a general rule, students must rank in the top 15 percent of their high school class, have a high school grade average of 90 or above, and present a combined math and verbal score of 1000 or higher on the SAT or a composite score of 25 or higher on the ACT.

Paradise is where I am.

—Voltaire

Biochemist demystifies DNA for jury in critical phase of Simpson's trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—With the co-author of O.J. Simpson's genetic material looking on, prosecutors began showing how Simpson's DNA blueprint could place him at the scene of a double murder.

Launching the most critical phase of the prosecution's case, a biochemist took the stand Monday to demystify DNA for the jury and explain how one blood sample can be matched with another.

Coincidentally, Simpson's elderly mother, Eunice, returned to court for the first time in weeks. She sat in a wheelchair near the front of the courtroom just a few feet from her son.

Robin Cotton, director of Cellmark Diagnostics in Germantown, Md., used diagrams and hand-drawn pictures to explain how the body's "genetic blueprint" is passed from parents to child, and how the storehouse of this information—the DNA molecule—can be unraveled, diced up and photographed.

Time ran out before Cotton got to actual test results. She was to return to court today.

Legal experts gave Cotton high marks for her thoroughness and clear delivery, and said her explanations are crucial to whether jurors accept DNA evidence.

"I thought she was spectacular. I thought her explanation was lucid, was clear. She was really a teacher much more than a traditional witness," said Erwin Chemerinsky, a law professor at the University of Southern California.

Most jurors appeared to pay close attention, as they have through all but the most tedious parts of the trial. Those in the back of the jury box craned forward to get a better view of the charts. Many took notes during the afternoon.

How well the jury—which has only three college graduates—comprehends the concept of DNA testing is vital to the prosecution. It hopes to show that the genetic blueprint in small drops of blood leading from the bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman match the genetic blueprint of Simpson's blood.

Since no eyewitnesses or murder weapon have been found in the killings of Simpson's ex-wife and her friend, prosecutors are relying on analysis of blood, hair and fibers to prove they have the right person.

The defense is expected to wage a fierce assault on DNA test results, suggesting the outcomes were skewed by shoddy blood collection, bad lab work and flawed math. The defense also suggests that authorities bent on framing Simpson planted his blood.

Under questioning from Deputy District Attorney George "Woody" Clarke, a DNA expert on loan from San Diego County, Cotton gave a basic biology lesson to the jury.

She told them, "If a blueprint contains all information on how to build a house, the DNA contains information on how to build you."

"DNA has four basic components," Cotton explained. "They are referred to as bases, spelled b-a-s-e-s, so there are four bases that make up all the DNA. And they have the names adenine, guanine, thymine, and cytosine. And they are abbreviated... just by their first letter, A, T, G, and C."

"These four bases are the DNA alphabet," she continued. "It's just like if you look at the English alphabet, it has 26 letters. And you can put those letters together to make words which, in turn, makes sentences, which, in turn, makes paragraphs."

She focused on familiarizing jurors with the technology, explaining such terms as "gels" and "autorads" and showing them the small black bars on pieces of film that scientists read to determine whether one blood sample matches another.

She only vaguely addressed defense contentions. Once, for instance, she explained that improper handling of DNA evidence—the defense took evidence collectors to task for leaving blood samples in a hot truck—may break down the DNA, but doesn't alter it.

"This process of degradation, can it change my DNA into looking like your DNA?" Clarke asked.

"No," Cotton said.

The judge halted testimony early so he could attend the funeral of "Jigsaw" John St. John, a legendary Los Angeles police detective who solved more than 1,000 murders.

DAR honors citizens

Los Ciboleros Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution recently honored Jess L. Robison with the Medal of Honor and Sylvia Khuri with the Americanism Medal. The reception was held in the Hereford Community Center. Robison was honored with the Medal of honor for his trustworthiness, leadership, patriotism and service. Khuri, right, received the Americanism Medal, a honor given to a naturalized citizen, for her leadership and patriotism. She reminds native born Americans that they are blessed and in return should give something back to their community. She is noted for her generous involvement in the community. Pictured with the recipients is Los Ciboleros Regent Kathryn Ruga.

The average depth of the Persian Gulf is 328 feet.
