

$77.6 B state budget passes House hurdle

By PAULINE ARRILLAGA Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - The House has endorsed a $77.6 billion state budget for 1996-97 that increases spending on public schools and prisons but falls short of maintaining current services for higher education and social programs.

The House tentatively approved the bill 118-18 on Monday following a five-hour debate. It faces a final vote of the House before heading to the Senate, which is writing its own spending plan.

bill built into this. The bad news is everybody is treated equally unfairly throughout the system," said Appropriations Committee Chairman Rob Junell, D-San Angelo.

is a limited pie, and yet the purses contained within that pie continue to grow," Junell said. "What happens then is that pie gets diluted."

The proposed budget is an increase of $2.8 billion, or 3.7 percent, over current spending. It requires no new taxes or tax increases

Of the total, $44 billion would come from the state's general revenue fund, which includes sales and corporate franchise taxes. The federal government would provide $23 billion, and the remainder would come from other sources.

Under the plan, the largest chunk of state spending would go toward education.

The bill would boost spending on public education by $1.8 billion, amendment to the budget plan, state including $170 million to help school officials could use unclaimed lottery districts build new facilities, and fully money to help pay for juvenile crime

"Once again, we followed your priorities in this bill by allocating major increases to public education," Junell told House members.

But House Public Education Committee Chairman Paul Sadler, who voted against the bill, said the spending plan does not go far enough. "The appropriations bill in the area of education does nothing for alternative education ... what all of you ran on, what the governor ran on, what we all talked about," said Sadler, D-Henderson.

Sadler said the bill doesn't provide "The good news is there's no tax enough money for school construction or teacher benefits. He noted the plan does not include a pay raise for Texas teachers, whose salaries are among the lowest in the nation.

"When you and I make up our "One of the things that you have mind that we're going to do right by the teachers of this state and the children of this state, we will. It just simply takes a vote," he told House members. "I'll vote my conscious, you vote yours."

Junell said an additional $200 million to $300 million could be needed to fully fund public education if enrollment expectations increase.

Spending on public safety and criminal justice would increase by $768.5 million under the plan, with most of that needed to open and operate new prisons. About $77 million would go toward substance abuse treatment for inmates.

Another $56 million would go into the Texas Youth Commission for new juvenile lockups, and. under an fund the public school system as reforms passed by the House last Overall spending on health and human services would increase by $754 million and Medicaid spending would be boosted by nearly $1 billion under the plan.

But budget writers said that's about $1 billion short of the amount needed to maintain current services and meet federal Medicaid requirements, and could force cuts to programs benefiting low-income children, battered women and the elderly.

The spending plan also is about $300 million short of what budget writers said colleges and universities need to maintain current services.

Additional funding for those items and others are included in a $5 billion "wish list" of items lawmakers would like to see receive more money if additional revenue becomes available.

Junell said public and higher education, juvenile justice and Medicaid would take priority should new dollars become available.

Fifty amendments were considered during the debate. Among those adopted by the House were:

- An amendment eliminating the State Preservation Board, with the exception of the agency's management of Capitol restoration projects and the Capitol grounds. The action cuts all but $193,000 of the board's $2.5 million budget for 1996-97.

- An amendment reducing about 12,000 state government employment positions that had not been filled. Budget writers said the action would save about $330 million. The appropriations bill already capped state

Debate on term limits gets going

By JILL LAWRENCE Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Republicans headed into a touchy debate over their own careers still short dozens of votes in their drive for a constitutional amendment limiting terms in Congress.

Despite and perhaps because of deep divisions within the GOP leadership, House Speaker Newt Gingrich said Monday there would be no arm-twisting in advance of this week's historic vote. Debate is scheduled to begin today.

Supporters of limiting House tenure "are not going to try to muscle" their GOP colleagues, Gingrich said after an appearance in Georgia.

"On constitutional amendments, people have to be allowed to vote their conscience," he said.

The abstinence pledge, however, does not extend to the grassroots. Radio talk shows are filled this week with guests from several term-limits lobbying groups. They are dispensing advice on how to best pressure members of Congress who are resisting the term-limits tide.

Seven in 10 Americans support the idea of capping congressional tenure. Most of them support a three-term, six-year limit for House members, according to a poll released Monday by the National Taxpayers Union.

The House is scheduled to vote this week, possibly as early as Wednesday, on a variety of options ranging from 12 years each in the House and Senate, to six years in the House and 12 years in the Senate.

The most popular proposal will then be subject to a final vote requiring a two-thirds majority - 290 Δ four-fifths of House Republicans, or 184 of them, to support the amendment. By some estimates, only about 25 Democrats were solidly in favor leaving much ground to make up.

"None of these are expected to pass," said Paul Jacob, executive director of U.S. Term Limits. Furthermore, he said, the three-term limit supported by most Americans "is likely to get the least support in Congress. We want people to know this is a shell game.

Even so, a number of House leaders oppose term limits - including four committee chairmen and House GOP Whip Tom DeLay, R-Texas.

DeLay, normally in charge of nose-counting for the majority, is the highest ranking Republican to break ranks. He has essentially recused himself from the issue and turned over his counting chores to Rep. Dennis Hastert, R-III.

Bivins bill provides buildings for schools

AUSTIN (AP) - School districts would get money to help build classrooms under a bill approved by the Texas Senate.

Senators approved the measure by Sen. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, on a preliminary vote of 29-1 and then sent the bill to the House on a voice vote. Its provisions also were added to a separate, massive education overhaul bill.

Bivins' proposal would cost $286 million over the next two-year budget period. He said school districts could use that to help finance $2 billion in new construction debt and $1 billion in existing debt. The lone vote against the bill was cast by Sen. Greg Luna, D-San Antonio, who said lawmakers should instead create a $1 billion grant program and give more help to property-poor school districts with many construction needs.

Bivins said his measure is what the state can afford and added, "The poor school districts in Texas would receive the lion's share of the state aid" under the proposal. He said it's important for the state to help pay for facilities, noting that the Texas Supreme Court has suggested that equitable funding of classroom construction is needed to keep the school funding system constitutional.

Bivins said his bill would represent the first time the state would directly assist school districts in paying debt service.

The measure includes two components.

A new facilities program would make $172 million available to school districts through a sliding scale based on district wealth. A second program would distribute $114 million to school districts with existing debt service above 25 cents per $100 property valuation. Fast-growing districts would get more money through the second program.

1996-97 that increases spending on public schools and prisons but falls short of maintaining current services for higher education and social programs.

AUSTIN - The no-pass, no-play rule would be eased, state control of schools would be loosened and parents would have more choices of where to educate their children under a bill that has won state Senate approval.

LUBBOCK - U.S. Housing Secretary Henry Cisneros says his former mistress knew the risks of an affair with a public official. But Linda Medlar hasn't accepted her share of the responsibility, Cisneros said.

GALVESTON - Defense attorneys contend no evidence exists to convict two police officers accused of animal cruelty for allegedly using a stray dog for target practice. The widely publicized case against Bayou Vista officers Greg Trantham, 27, and John Overstreet, 32, was turned over to a Galveston County jury Monday.

WASHINGTON - The Clinton administration, Congress and domestic energy producers agree that national security is threatened by the United States' increasing reliance on foreign oil. They can't agree what to do about it, though.

HOUSTON - Federal agents raided the Houston office of a physician who has distributed a controversial cancer drug only hours after the physician appeared on a national television news show.

I have read several articles about Japan objecting to the use of "V-J Day" in referring to the approaching 50th anniversary of the event on Aug. 18, because it offends their very sensitive feelings.

Evidently they have convinced the President of the United States to use instead "end of World War II." One article stated that all references to any nemoration emanating from the White House now use End of World War II and not V-J Day. The planned commemoration to be held at Pearl commemoration to be held at Pearl Harbor (you do remember Pearl Harbor don't you?) has been drastically toned down because of Japan's sensitive feelings. I wonder whose "feelings" should be paramount to the people of this country, and to our public servants sitting on The Hill in Washington: the country feelings of Japan or the itive feelings of Japan or the lotic feelings of the many men men who served with valor to he ond.

I find it an insult and a slap in the face of every man and woman who served in that war and particularly those who served in the Pacific theater to be told it was not V-J Day when Japan surrendered.

I hope you too will call Sens. Phil Gramm and Kay Bailey Hutchison and Rep. Larry Combest and voice your disapproval at having the Japanese tell the people of the United States of America what we should call the day that ended their vicious, atrocious rampage through Asia and the Pacific.

Some time ago I read that the history books in Japan now portray America as the aggressor in World War II, and the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor is totally left out of Japanese history

Ann Landers Grandchildren are not beneficiaries for will

DEAN ANN LANDERS: My husband died last June. Two months ago, my lawyer told me my grand-daughter, "Ginny", had requested a three-way conference call with the estate lawyer and her brother in Vermont to discuss their grandfather's will. The lawyer then told Ginny the will was a matter of public record and he would mail her a copy.

Ann, I am devastated to think my granddaughter would call my lawyer rather than me. I get the felling she and her brother can't wait for me to die. These are children who never sent me a Christmas card, yet they always found time to write when they needed money.

My lawyer also wrote to Ginny and her brother, telling them there was no law saying either Grandpa or I had to leave them anything. This stirred up a hornet's nest like you wouldn't believe. Both these kids who were too busy to pick up the phone to wish me a happy Thanksgiving have suddenly found lots of time to write me several unpleasant letters.

My husband was a schoolteacher who retired 23 years ago, before the cost of living escalated. His pension and Social Security were based on his salary at the time of his retirement. My grandchildren were mighty disappointed when they found out they inherited nothing .-- Disillusioned

Hereford hosts Deaf Smith C of C track meet

Hereford's track teams invited a for the Herd. bunch of teams to the Deaf Smith "The comp County Chamber of Commerce Invitational track meet, held Saturday at Whiteface Stadium.

"The competition was extremely stiff," Hereford boys' coach Ron

Young said. Whiteface Stadium. The Hereford girls' team totaled That made points hard to come by 31 points and finished 10th. The boys

Haile hurls

Hereford's Beth Haile strains in an effort to throw the discus more than 100 feet. Her best throw of 104 feet, 7 inches was good for third place.

finished with 19.5 points, in ninth place.

The onlyHereford athlete to win a varsity event was Marquise Brown, who ran the 100-meter dash in 10.86 seconds. Two girls took second place in their events: Erin Dunn in the 100meter hurdles and Tarabeth Holmes in the discus. Beth Haile claimed third place in the discus, giving the girls' team almost half its points from one event

Young said his team was hurt by Spring Break March 13-17.

"It was a typical after-Spring Break track meet: we took a week off, and when they get a week off they don't work out," he said. "We're about two weeks behind. We've got two weeks to catch up before the district track meet rolls around."

Girls' coach Martha Emerson, on the other hand, didn't think her team was harmed by the Spring Break.

"We had a good hard workout last week, and it showed (Saturday)," she said, adding that last week's weather was ideal for track workouts. "Spring Break didn't get us."

Many of the Hereford girls who placed did so with personal bests (results are below). And while the 400- and 800-meter relays didn't place, they posted their best times of the year.

"I was just pleased with our improvement," Emerson said. As for the boys, Brown shone.

"Marguise was extremely sharp in the 100 and the sprint relay. He didn't miss a beat," Young said. "And Jason Eades showed a lot of improvement in the open quarter (400 dash)."

Eades took fifth in the 400.

"We've got a lot of work to do before the district meet rolls around," Young said. "We will peak at the district meet."

Herd netters 3rd in Beef tourney

The Hereford tennis team took third place in the Beef Capital of the World tennis tournament, which was held Friday and Saturday in Hereford.

Vernon won the tourament with 131 points, and Andrews was second with 113. Hereford totaled 100 points in the flighted tournament.

Of the 18 brackets played, only one was won by a Hereford player--B.J. Lockmiller, who won the No. 3 boys' single bracket.

"I was a little disappointed in performance as a team," Hereford coach Ed Coplen said. "We should have finished a whole lot higher then we did in several places.

What the tournament showed us was that we've got a lot of work to do in three weeks, because the teams that we beat pretty soundly in the fall have improved a lot," Coplen said. "We'll try to use the next two tournaments as stepping stones toward district."

Coplen said the Hereford team was not at full strength. Four of the Herd's top players--Taylor Sublett, Tom Jarecki, Tyler Merrick and Tamara Diller--missed the tournament to attend other school-related activities, Coplen said.

Team points: 1, Vemon, 131; 2, Andrews, 113; 3, Hereford, 100; 4, Dumas, 91; 5, Borger, 81; 6, Pampa, 78; 7, Brownfield, 74; 8, Wichita Falls Hirschi, 31.

Quick racket

postponed because of winter weather. Athletic Director Danny Haney said the game would be rescheduled, possibly of later this week.

In Canyon Saturday, Hereford starting pitcher Gregg Kalka gave up only two runs in the first four innings, but nothing went right for the Herd of its four pitchers in the fateful fifth. "We told Kalka before he went out there that the score was 8-2, all you've got to do is throw strikes and let the defense make the plays--because the 'defense was playing good," coach Pete Rodriguez said. "Next thing you know, the score is 8-6, they've got men on first and third, and we hadn't gotten an out. We brought in several pitchers to try and got rocked. Jacob Lopez struck out one batter for the first out, then walked two more batters before getting out of the inning with an unlikely double play: a strike out on a botched suicide squeeze play. After Canyon scored twice in the first inning, Lopez put Hereford on the board with a home run, his second of the year. That started a five-run third-inning for the Herd. Joe De La Cruz had an RBI single, and three more runs came home on two costly Canyon errors.

Hereford got three more in the fourth. The first two came home on two more errors, and Wade McPherson had a run-scoring single. By The Associated Press as can be.

San Antonio and Utah stayed within a half-game of each other Monday night with victories against overmatched Eastern Conference. teams. The Spurs beat Detroit 114-93 and the Jazz clobbered Washington 128-102, keeping both teams

Borger golfers play well at home, pass Hereford

The Hereford girls' golf team slipped to second behind Borger in District 1-4A competition after the second district round was played Saturday in Borger. Borger shot a 350 at its own course for a two-round total of 730, while Hereford had a 366 for a total of 742. Borger a linguide to a total of 742. Borger a linguide to a total of 828. Borger a total of 828.

Pampa slipped back to 792 with a 390 on Saturday. The top two teams advance to the regional golf tournament, and there are only two more district rounds to

"We usually lose strokes at Borger's course, but we feel all right where we are coming to Hereford for Priday's round," Hereford coach Stacey Bixler said.

Hereford's boys stand in fifth place after firing a 329 Saturday in Borger for a total of 663. Borger leads the pack at 611 after shooting an even 300 Saturday. Between Borger and Hereford are: Pampa,

The B girls' team is seventh after shooting 404 for a total of 828.

Following are the indiviuals scores for each Hereford player on Saturday. Girls A: Karen Manchee, 88; Jami Bell, 89; Jana Baird, 91; Krista Beville, 98; and Stephanie Bixler, Boys A: Justin Griffith, 78; Tom Munoz, 82; Scott Burkhalter, 83; Keith Riley, 86; and Cory Schumacher, 88.

Schumacher, 88. Girls B: Katie Bone, 96; Jennifer Phipps, 101; Lindsay Ward, 101; Jacque Bezner, 106; and Amy Killingsworth, 107. Boys B: Jeremiah Baros, 80; Carlos Mendez, 80; David Farr, 88; and Reinart, 89.

Defense puts OSU in Final 4

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) ich to do with state of mind as Xs nd Os. Most everyone likes to shoot, out not many players want to chase he other guy all over the floor. Which helps explain why Oklahome State is headed to the Final

Pour instead of sitting at home, which he Cowboys were doing after the second round of last year's NCAA

Bryant Reeves and Randy berford, both solid defenders an oone of this team, were vita arts of last year's team as well. But ey're getting more help at the efensive end this season. "It's almost like they say it's you against me, and I'm not going to let you score," assistant coach Sean Sutton said Monday.

Sutton said Monday. That wasn't the case a year ago. The Cowboys had Brooks Thompson playing point guard a year ago and Pred Burley at one of the forward spots. Both were outstanding offensive players - Thompson was drafted by the NBA's Orlando Magic - but they wouldn't make anybody's all-defense team.

ADDRESS STICKERS

Dear Heloise: Here is our handy use for address stickers: When we go to the fair in our small town, there are booths that give away presents (flags, feed, etc.). We use a sticker and don't have to write out our name or address. - Donna Hart, Logansport, Ind.

DRY-CLEANER HINT

FYI: One of the dry-cleaners I frequent doesn't give me a receipt. Therefore, many times I forget what I dropped off and sometimes forget at which cleaners I've left it.

So, now what I do is I write in my pocket calendar that I carry with me "dry-cleaners" or the initials "DC" with a brief description of what the item is I've left there - for example: BK for black, S for shirt. That reminds me and I have a record. -

Hereford ISD conducts science fair for local middle school students

More than 175 Hereford middle school students last week participated in the Hereford ISD science fair, putting together projects in four areas that were judged by a panel of judges based on grade and topic. Students competed in Earth Science, Life Science, Physical Science and Chemistry.

Winners were selected for each school.

After judging by campus was completed, overall district winners were selected by grade level. Shown below are campus winners, listed by subject area and grade. In some cases, more than one student worked on a project. Those projects are listed under the names of both students. Names of district winners Blanca Hernandez SHIRLEY INTERMEDIATE

Once vibrant area looks for new life

By DIANNE HENK Associated Press Writer

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) - The people of the Catskill Mountains once a vibrant Borscht Belt, now in desperate need of something more restorative than chicken soup - are depending on unlikely rescuers.

They're relying on the Oneida Indians, who have announced plans to build a casino on the site of Monticello Raceway, 90 miles north of New York City.

The Oneida envision a gold mine that would attract 10,000 gamblers a day, the closest legal gambling hall to New York City. The locals foresee a return to the glory days of Catskills tourism.

"We in Sullivan County have been

"Hotels that are worth $5 million. $6 million, $10 million - they're going for a couple of hundred thousand, if that," said Erlich. "Brown's didn't even get a bid on it that the bank would take."

Guests at The Pines will say they haven't been back in 10 or 15 years. said Erlich. "Well, we never really gave them something to come back to.

Erlich led the effort to get the Oneidas to come to Monticello. The idea is to draw the New York City area's gamblers away from Atlantic City. "There's a lot of money heading said south, New York money," Andrew Boyar, chairman of the providing for the consolidation of the Perryton Bank, the Bank, the Pampa Bank and the Amarillo Bank under the charter of the Perryton Bank and the title "FirstBank Southwest, N.A."

The Board has fixed the close of business on February 28, 1995, as the date (the "Record Date") for the determination of shareholders entitled to receive notice of and to vote at the Meeting or any adjournment(s) thereof. Only shareholders of record of the Bank at the close of business on the Record Date are entitled to receive notice of and to vote at the Meeting. r a dark cloud for some time. said Jack Simons, Liberty town supervisor. "When I heard this, I saw after the dark clouds a little glow of light shining down."

Gov. George Pataki opposes the casino because of the meager revenues that Indian gaming halls generate for the state and because of the difficulty of regulating Indian gambling ventures.

"I don't understand at all how the state won't give some opportunity for the people," said Claudio Braga, a native of Brazil who helps his sister run the Countryside Diner near the track entrance.

The area used to be booming with vacationers, many of them Jewish and most of them from New York City.

Famed resorts like Grossinger's, Kutsher's and Brown's hosted big-name entertainers for the throngs of tourists. Up to 17,000 patrons would fill the Monticello Raceway on a weekend. Downtown's Broadway was jammed with traffic.

Gradually, the Catskills fell out of fashion. The race track draws 800 bettors on an average night. Cliff Erlich, one of the owners of The Pines Hotel in South Fallsburg, says department stores won't consider coming to the area. Even the cable television company is leaving.

Some of the resorts - including Grossinger's, the largest - are defunct. Others are threadbare. The ones that survive swim against the Sullivan County board of supervisors. "I think there's a tremendous market here because of New York City and the population within a driveable distance," said Raymond Halbritter, leader of the Oneida Indian Nation.

Halbritter said he expected revenues would be greater at Monticello than they are at the Oneidas' Turning Stone casino near Syracuse, which has provided $11 million in revenue to the state since it opened in 1993. The tribe does not publicly disclose its casino revenue figures.

The deal would begin with the purchase of the raceway by a Bahamas-based firm, Watermark Investments Ltd., which includes some Catskill region investors. Watermark would then give a tract to the federal government to be held in trust for the Oneidas, who would build and operate the casino there.

The Oneidas promised $5 million to refurbish the raceway, $2.5 million annually for 10 years to a local community development fund, and $2.5 million a year to Sullivan County until gambling becomes legalized in the state.

The federal government also must approve the arrangement. The major hurdle remains Pataki's opposition; "There's only one person in New York state that can really stop this from happening and that's Gov. Pataki," Erlich said.

Senator Teel Bivins reports:

AUSTIN - It's 11:45 p.m., and I've been sitting in the same chair in the Senate Education Committee since 2 p.m. Questions flow through my blurry mind, like: Are you really sure you want to be doing this? Then my attention is drawn back to stare you want to be doing this? Then my attention is draws back to yet another witness wanting to testily on Senate Bill 1 - the bill totally rewriting the state's education have. A Senate-House interim committee on the Education Code was ap-pointed in 1993 to examine the edu-cation laws and make recommende-cation laws and make recommende-tions for a new code. I was a mem-her of that committee, which met overy month for 16 months - com-times for several days each month. The committee submitted a lengthy report to the Laplaheure. Its chairman, state Sep. Bill Ratiliff (R-Mount Pleasant), also chairs the Sep-ate Education Committee. A civil engineer by trade and methodical by nature, Ratiliff and his staff turned the committee report into a LOBEmmittee report into a 1,088-

If the goal of the Interim commit-tee was to streamline the Education Code and decontraine education, why should it take 1,000 pages? The answer is that all current law must appear in the bill. The parts of law that are to be struck have a line through them, and the additions are underlined. The bottom line is Sen-ate Bill 1 takes the Education Code and cuts it in half. Currently, it's about 400 pages long. If Senate Bill 1 passes, it'll be closer to 200 pages. More over, it'll be organized in a fashion that's logical and usable.

More over, it'll be organized in a fashion that's logical and usable. For more important than the length and organization of the code is what's in it. When Sas. Ratilif introduced SB 1, he assured us there'd be something in it for every-one to dislike. He followed that statement with a ples to focus on the overall impact of these major re-forms, as opposed to voting on each individual change. That's difficult, if not impossible, for a legislator to do. The impact is, in fact, very posi-tive. The state would determine what students we want educated, what curriculum we want the stu-dents to learn, then create an asses-ment and accountability system to see to it those objectives are achieved. Local districts on the other hand ought to be allowed, with maximum discretion, to determine natimum discretion, to determine how to achieve those basic state

Despite Ratiff's admonition, the details of SB 1 have received all the attention. Some of these details are by no means small. Issues such as textbook selection, home-rule school by no means small. Issues such as textbook selection, home-rule school districts, pilot voucher programs, teacher pay, recall elections of school hoard members, ao pase-no play and funding to small schools are all vi-tally important details in SB 1. Hours of public testimony spread over a month of Senate Education Committee hearings have brought into focus the vast majority of those details. An equal amount of time and energy has been spent working with legislators and interest groups to achieve compromise on how major reforms should be put in place. I was particularly pleased with the work done by Bill Grussendorf and the Amociation of Rural Schools to achieve a compromise on the small-school adjustment and funding for-mule. As the bill moves through the school adjustment and funding for-mule. As the bill moves through the Senate and inter through the House, you'll have the opportunity to read far more than you want to about education reform and my position on each of these larges. each of these issues. The House of Representatives also has been working on its education bill. Paul Sadler (D-Henderson) chairs the House Education Committee. He represents a district in East Texas that lies within Sen. Ratliff's Senate district. So, for better or Senate district. So, for hetter or worse, we've got two East Texans heading the education committees. Sadier's approach to this formi-dable task differs from Ratilif's. He has not introduced a bill, rather he is attempting to lead his committee through the process of writing a bill in committee. Fortunately he and Ratilif' have agreed on the organiza-tion of the Education Code so at least the chapters will be the same in the Senate and House bills.

Senate Bill 1 was voted out of committee near midnight on Thurs-day, March 16. The full Senate is upting on it the week of March 27. If the bill person the Senate, it'll go to the House. The bill person by the House then will come back to the House then will come back to the Senate with changes. At that point, Chairman Ratliff can other accept the House amend-ments or appoint a conference com-mittee to work out differences be-tween the two bills.

that at its heart offers a human, life-affirming hopeful story."

The film also won for editing and visual effects, and star Tom Hanks became the first performer since Spencer Tracy to win consecutive Oscars for best actor.

"I can never get through one of these moments without my lower lip quivering," Hanks, who won last year as a lawyer with AIDS in "Philadelphia," said after another emotional acceptance speech.

The night was not a total success for "Gump." With a leading 13 nominations, it lost in seven categories. "Pulp Fiction," "Bullets Over Broadway" and "The Shawshank Redemption" each received seven nominations, but won just two Oscars among them.

There was little controversy in the show, which dragged on for more than three hours. A handful of participants voiced support for the National Endowment for the Arts, but even politically outspoken presenters Tim Robbins and Susan Sarandon held their tongues.

New host David Letterman proved to be only occasionally successful with the Academy audience. He dragged out some of his "Late Show" gags, including a stupid pet trick and a street-cam bit.

He also tried to be Hollywood-hip with references to the new DreamWorks studio and, in a 10 Top list, the Academy's failure to nominate the documentary feature "Hoop Dreams."

The winner of that category -"Maya Lin: A Strong Clear Vision" - is likely to renew debate over how non-fiction films are selected for Oscar consideration.

The film's co-producer, Freida Lee Mock, chairs the Academy's documentary committee. Even though she recused herself from the nomination voting this year, her film was poorly reviewed and a surprise pick.

Lost in the "Forrest Gump" triumphs were several notable wins. Jessica Lange won the best actress prize for "Blue Sky," whose release was delayed three years by a studio bankruptcy. "This is such a wonderful honor, especially for a little film that seemed to have no future," said Lange, who won a best supporting Oscar for the 1982 comedy "Tootsie."

In another salute to patience, veteran actor Martin Landau took home his first Oscar, for best supporting actor in "Ed Wood." "What a night, what a life, what a moment, what everything!" Landau said.

Dianne Wiest's Oscar for best supporting actress ("Bullets Over Broadway") was her second in that category and her second for a Woody Allen film. She also won for 1986's "Hannah and Her Sisters."

"This is as surprising and marvelous as it was the first time," Wiest exclaimed as she began reading her acceptance speech. "Although this time I need glasses."

"Burnt by the Sun," directed by Russia's Nikita Mikhalkov, was heralded as best foreign language film of 1994. "Pulp Fiction" won for best original screenplay.

Meanwhile, Disney animated films continued to clean up in the music categories. "The Lion King," the year's second-highest grossing feature, won twice, for best original score, by Hans Zimmer, and for original song, "Can You Feel the Love Tonight, by Elton John and Tim Rice.

"Ed Wood" and the thriller "Speed" also were double winners.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Is Making Big Promises To Keep Its Monopoly. Five years ago, Southwestern Bell made a deal with the Texas Public Utility Commission: the PUC would postpone rate hearings and loosen regulation if Bell would upgrade telecommunications technology around the state. This deal did not work! Southwestern Bell's profits are close to tops in the nation ... but Texas ranks close to the bottom in advanced telephone technology. Now Bell is at the Texas Legislatu with yet another deal: to invest $1 billion in overdue improvements, but only if its earnings are kept under wraps, competition stalled, and regulation further diluted. It's time to give the Bell monopoly a wake-up call; it's time to give consumers and businesses alike a choice in local telephone service; and it's time to open the information superhighway in Texas to fair competition. If you own a phone, use a computer, subscribe to a newspaper or watch television, the telecommunications debate in the Texas Legislature will dramatically affect you and your family. Make your voice heard in Austin above the promises of Southwestern Bell's powerful monopoly.
