

Erin suffers from landfall

Hurricane downgraded to tropical storm after going aground in southern Florida

By JACKIE HALLIFAX
Associated Press Writer
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Hurricane Erin blasted its way into this resort city today and sliced across central Florida, pounding the home of the space shuttle and the home of Mickey Mouse. It lacked the fury of Andrew three years ago and there were no immediate reports of serious damage or injury.

The storm, which at its peak packed sustained winds of 85 mph, was downgraded from a hurricane to a tropical storm as it weakened over land.

Sections of roof overhangs and bits of roof tile blew off in coastal communities near Cape Canaveral when the normally flat Indian River spit and sprayed as if it were a choppy ocean. Downed trees and power lines also were reported.

In Kissimmee, 80 children were among 260 people who spent the night in the cafeteria of Osceola High School, and shelter volunteers responded in a tourist-pleasing sort of way.

"They had a clown come in, and I think that took the wind out of them," said chemistry teacher James Perlmutter.

Walt Disney World had "very minor problems, trees down, that sort of thing, but nothing that impacts any major part of the park," said spokesman Bill Warren. The normal opening time of 9 a.m. was delayed to 11 a.m.

The worst-hit section was believed to be Brevard County, NASA's home, with lesser damage in St. Lucie and Martin counties, said Florida Power & Light spokesman Bill Swank. Power outages were widespread but the company had no specific details.

The space center itself got off relatively lightly, a NASA official said.

"About the only thing we had was some exterior corrugated steel got ripped off the vehicle assembly building and that was it," said Dave Flowers, NASA test director. Space

Detective says White House hindered Foster death probe

By CASSANDRA BURRELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - A detective says he believes the White House hampered the investigation of Vincent Foster's suicide two years ago because it was trying to hide documents - possibly about Whitewater.

Testifying before the Senate Whitewater Committee on Tuesday, Sgt. Peter Markland also said he didn't believe the White House's explanation of why it took six days to find a bitter, handwritten note left by Foster, the White House deputy counsel found dead July 20, 1993.

Bernard Nussbaum, then the White House's chief counsel, has said an aide stumbled upon the torn-up note six days later at the bottom of Foster's briefcase. The White House waited an additional 30 hours before telling police about it.

In the note, Foster complained about his final days in Washington, saying, "Here ruining people is considered sport."

Markland said he saw Nussbaum peer into the briefcase at least twice after taking files from it while reviewing documents in Foster's office for investigators on July 22. At the time, Nussbaum told officers the briefcase was empty.

Markland said Nussbaum had the briefcase "spread open with both hands" after the files had been removed and was looking down into it. "If the note had been at the bottom of that briefcase as he said, he would have seen it," Markland said.

But committee member Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., said any suggestion that Nussbaum didn't simply overlook the note is "just pure conjecture."

Foster was working on several personal matters for President Clinton and his family, including tax matters connected with their unsuccessful Whitewater real estate venture in Arkansas. Foster's body was found in a small park outside Washington, and the case was handled by the U.S. Park Police.

Markland, an 18-year park police veteran, said investigators believed their efforts to confirm that the death was a suicide were impeded by Nussbaum, who wouldn't let them search Foster's papers for a suicide note or other evidence.

Nussbaum quickly sifted through the documents and described them to investigators two days after Foster's death, saying he was protecting the confidentiality of Clinton's personal and presidential documents.

Committee Democrats have said a police search would have made the investigators' job easier, but that Nussbaum acted properly in shielding confidential papers. Republicans asked whether the White House had something to hide when it limited police access to Foster's papers. No law required him to allow the police full access to Foster's office, Democrats said.

When Nussbaum was asked why he didn't see the scraps of paper earlier, "he simply said that he didn't see them," Markland said.

Investigators also would have run across any documents about Whitewater, but those papers probably wouldn't have meant anything to them, Markland said.

"The word would have meant nothing to me," Markland said.

WORKIN' ON THE RAILROAD

End of the line

A section of railroad track overs in mid-air as workers guide it into place along a section of track here Tuesday afternoon, while another railroad construction worker looks over a new switch in the foreground. The project, taking place behind Colville and Wilson Inc., is the final step in a job that began in Farwell in February. Railroad crews have been replacing switches and track along the main line since then. Work is expected to be done by Friday. Workers are installing a new switch on the main line, plus installing a track connecting the main line with a line servicing Colville and Wilson, then re-connecting the side track back into the main line at another new switch.

Back to school Registration set Thursday for 1995-96 fall semester

School registration for the 1995-96 HISD school year gets under way here Thursday.

Class sign-up for students who will be in kindergarten through sixth grades kicks off at 7 a.m. Thursday at campuses throughout the district.

Registration will be held from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on all elementary and intermediate school campuses. Registration for Shirley School will be held in the HISD Central Office, 601 N. 25 Mile Avenue, because of continuing construction at the school.

Parents need to register their children at the campuses where they will attend.

Kindergarten students who pre-registered in May will not be required to register on Thursday.

All campuses will be open through the noon hour.

Parents who have kindergarten or first graders entering school for the first time must bring proof of age, immunization records and Social Security number when they register their children.

Parents registering any student attending school in the district for the first time should bring all available educational records, proof of age, immunization records and the child's Social Security number to the school.

Bus information will be available at the time of registration.

Kindergarten classes will be held at Aikman, Northwest and Tierra Blanca primary schools, and at Bluebonnet Intermediate School. Registration on the paired campuses of Aikman and Bluebonnet will be on a first come basis only.

Students registering for class at Aikman will go to Bluebonnet when the primary campus classes are full.

Student assignments to teachers will be made by the building principal.

Also scheduled for Thursday is pre-kindergarten registration, which will be held in the Stanton Special Populations Center, 711 E. Park Avenue.

Registration for pre-kindergarten will be from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Pre-kindergarten classes will meet for half a day -- from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 11:55 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Morning or afternoon assignments will be made by the principal.

Transportation for pre-kindergarten students will be provided outside the two-mile limit for morning classes. Students attending these classes will be taken to bus drop-off points.

Students in the afternoon classes may also be picked up. These students will be delivered back to bus drop-off points at the end of the day.

Parents are responsible for all other transportation.

Breakfast and lunch will be provided for students in the morning

Citywide Promise Keepers meet set

A citywide Christian rally will be held at Whiteface Stadium Thursday at 7 p.m. with Jon Randles, prominent evangelist and former Baptist pastor, as guest speaker. The rally is sponsored by Hereford Promise Keepers.

The rally will begin with pre-entertainment activities at 6:30 p.m. "Raising the Standard" will be the theme of the rally for Christ, according to Jim Robinson, pointman for Promise Keepers.

"We want to encourage everyone to be part of this citywide rally for Christ," Robinson said. "We believe the experience that will come from this celebration of God's unity and inclusiveness will be a blessing for our community."

Promise Keepers is a men's organization in which men challenge men to stand up and seize the opportunity to live with honesty and integrity.

Randles has been a featured speaker for numerous Promise Keeper meetings and Fellowship of Christian Athletes programs. He is the former pastor of Indiana Avenue Baptist Church of Lubbock.

Randles has preached and led teaching ministries in Hungary, Romania, Kenya, Mexico, Alaska and India. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and received his master's degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Indicators rise in June

By JAMES H. RUBIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - The government's main forecasting gauge of future economic activity broke a four-month losing streak in June and rose for the first time this year.

The Commerce Department said today the Index of Leading Economic Indicators eked out a 0.2 percent gain in June.

The modest improvement appears to be in line with other recent data and projections by analysts, who said the economy is showing signs of recovery.

The index had declined 0.2 percent in May, 0.6 percent in April, 0.4 percent in March and 0.3 percent in February before making its June comeback. The four straight declines was the first since it fell for six straight months in the last recession in 1990 and early 1991.

The index was unchanged in January and had not increased since a 0.2 percent advance in December.

The government reported Friday that the economy almost came to a halt in the second quarter this year that ended June 30. In its weakest performance in nearly four years, the gross domestic product grew at a 0.5 percent annual rate in the spring.

Today, using a new system of calculating growth, the government said the economy actually contracted 0.2 percent in the second quarter. The new system is designed to be more accurate by giving greater weight to price changes that have occurred in recent years.

In today's report on leading indicators, nearly all of the 11 components rebounded. Eight components made positive contributions to the overall report, the first time that has happened in eight months.

The hints of economic recovery have not been well received on Wall Street. The stock market faltered Tuesday after a robust economic report from the manufacturing sector led to new doubts about the outlook for lower interest rates. Stocks followed the bond market's lead in losing ground.

In today's report, the components that made positive contributions were money supply, stock prices, consumer confidence, initial weekly claims for state unemployment insurance, average work week, building permits, new orders for plant and equipment and unfilled orders for consumer goods.

Stadium no match for hungry kitten

A Hereford cat made a valiant attempt at a birdie Thursday, but was grateful to wind up with a Parr.

No, the cat wasn't playing golf...he was looking for lunch in a bird's nest high atop a steel beam at Whiteface Stadium. The cat became stranded after reaching his destination, and Don Parr of Southwestern Public Service came to the rescue.

The Hereford Police Department received a call about the stranded cat Thursday morning. Javier Frausto, a dispatcher who is subbing for animal control officer Mark Loyd, looked the situation over and called SPS for assistance.

SPS sent a bucket truck to the scene about 2 p.m. Tuesday. Parr was raised as high as possible, but he couldn't reach the cat, even with a noose used by officers to retrieve animals. Parr climbed out of the bucket onto a girder, then put on his pole-climbing belt and got to a beam just below the feline.

Police officer Carol Keyes reported that Parr spent a little time calming the cat, then retrieved him from the nest and brought him down to safety.

The event marked the second animal rescue in less than a week. Police and fire department officials rescued a goat from an overpass last Thursday.

Makes you wonder what's next.

Registration Information

Grades K through 6: 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 3, on individual campuses (Shirley School students register at Central Office, 601 N. 25 Mile Avenue.) Kindergarten students pre-registered in May need not register again. Class assignments will be made by principal.

Pre-Kindergarten: 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 3, at Stanton Special Populations Center, 711 E. Park. Morning or afternoon class assignments will be made by principal.

Junior High: Orientation meeting will be held 6:30 p.m. Aug. 17 in the school. Parents/guardians may pick up schedules at that time. All remaining students may pick up schedules from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 18.

High School: Students should pick up their schedules Aug. 9 through 11 between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Local Roundup

County to work on budget

Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court will work on the budget for the next fiscal year during a special meeting at 8 a.m. Thursday. The new year begins on Oct. 1.

Cool weather to end

After a respite from the heat -- the high temperature Tuesday was 71 degrees and the overnight low, 64 degrees -- the weather is expected to heat up again. The low Wednesday night is expected to hover in the 60-degree range under partly cloudy skies and east winds, 5-15 mph. The temperature will climb Thursday to 85 to 90 degrees, under partly sunny skies and a south wind, 10-20 mph.

Pre-school immunizations set

The Texas Department of Health will hold two immunization clinics between now and the first day of school for those needing shots before they can register. The weekly immunization clinic will be held from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. Thursday, which is registration day for children in pre-kindergarten and elementary schools. Also, a special immunization clinic will be held on Friday, Aug. 4, from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Immunizations are given at the Health Department office, 205 W. Fourth. There is no charge and parents are reminded to bring shot records for children receiving immunizations.

Shrimpers get more than bargained for

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Texas (AP) - Crew members of a shrimp trawler found something other than shrimp when they hauled in their net. Something big and unmistakable.

It's hard to miss a whale's head when you see one.

The crew of the shrimper Teresa was plying the Gulf of Mexico near Port Lavaca last week when it hauled up the skull of a sperm whale, weighing 500 to 1,000 pounds.

It took three men using pulleys to drag the skull and half a jawbone onto the deck, said Andres Garza, owner of the Port Isabel-based trawler.

"We're lucky it didn't tear up the nets," he said. "It's the first time I've seen anything like it."

For five days, the shrimpers fished with the mammoth skull lying on the deck of the boat. Upon their return to port, the crew gave the specimen to the University of Texas-Pan American Coastal Studies Laboratory on South Padre Island.

Sperm whales are the largest toothed whale, eating mainly giant squid. Fewer than 2 million sperm whales are living in the world, said Don Hockaday, the director of the lab.

The dead whale could have been about 30 feet long, "a two-third grown female or a half-grown male," Hockaday said.

Sperm whales are deep-water mammals that usually live in at least 200 fathoms of water. The skull was found in 19 fathoms of water, or about 115 feet.

Weight-loss drug gets high level of attention

By PAUL RECER, AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - How much would you pay for a drug that melted fat, calmed a savage appetite and replaced dimpled sag with youthful lean? What's it worth to shrink from a size 18 to a 6, from a 52-inch belt to a svelte 34, without ever breaking a sweat?

The answer: A great deal. A very great deal.

Experts in the field say that in America, the sky is the limit. People deplore fat bodies, particularly their own. Thin is in.

"This one is going to be astronomical," said one obesity specialist.

Phones started ringing in fat clinics all over the country last week after three studies published in the journal Science reported that injections of a protein called leptin caused abnormally fat mice to lose up to 30 percent of their weight within weeks. The rodents also ate less and exercised more.

When Amgen Inc., a California pharmaceutical firm that bought rights to the protein, said it would be tested on humans in about a year, volunteers quickly fell in line.

"We've recorded more than a thousand calls from people asking to get into the study," said Amgen spokeswoman Lynne Connell.

So many people were calling Amgen that the company installed a special phone line. The same thing happened at Rockefeller University, where Howard Hughes Institute researcher Jeffrey M. Friedman first cloned the OB gene that makes leptin and then isolated the protein itself.

"It's still very, very early (in the research)," said Marion Glick, a Rockefeller spokeswoman. "We're not trying to recruit patients. But I think it's clear that people would really love to have something that works."

Connell said Amgen has yet to prove the safety of the protein, much less put a price on its eventual use.

But others in the fat industry are already talking about it.

"The potential is astronomical," said Dr. Arthur Frank, medical director of a George Washington University obesity treatment center that has been swamped with calls from eager heavyweights. "How much would they be willing to pay? You can almost pick a number."

"The sky is the limit," said Adam Drownowski, a professor of psychiatry who treats eating disorders at the University of Michigan. "People have been looking for a magic bullet for obesity. And you can bet it is going to be very expensive."

About a third of Americans are overweight. They spend $30 billion a year to sweat, strain and starve in an unending, relentless pursuit of the body lean. Whole industries are built around the U.S. obsession to assassinate unwanted fat cells.

And yet, despite it all, statistically, most efforts fail. The lost pounds usually are found again.

Such disappointment may be in store for many if and when leptin hits the market.

The safety of the protein is still an unknown and Friedman, himself, said that weight manipulation with the hormone should be approached carefully.

"There appeared to be no side effects," he said, "but my instinct is to be cautious. We now have to prove that the hormone is safe."

Some overdosed mice have starved to death on leptin. And still other types of mice are not even affected.

This suggests that if leptin is ever proven safe, it may not be a magic bullet for everyone, says Steven Hotzman of Millennium Pharmaceuticals Inc., a Cambridge, Mass., firm that has isolated a fat gene, called TUB, as in "tubby."

"Obesity is a very complex problem," said Hotzman. "The OB protein may not be a drug for everyone who is fat. It may only work on a subset of the obese."

Leptin may have another serious problem. It is a protein that is digested in the stomach. This means the drug, barring new developments, will have to be injected. And many people hate needles.

"It's going to be like insulin," predicted Frank, referring to the daily shots taken by diabetics. "It may make controlling weight easier, but people are still going to have to be determined to take care of themselves."

Sally A. Greer, an Arlington, Va., psychologist who treats obesity, said that the constant, never-ending discipline required of weight control is where many people fail. Having to stick in a needle daily may hasten that failure.

"People will do it for a while, but then taper off," she said. "People will just get tired of the shots."

U.S. officers accused of spying; expelled from China mainland

By CHARLENE FU, Associated Press Writer
BEIJING (AP) - China expelled two U.S. Air Force officers today after accusing them of illegally gathering military intelligence.

The expulsions came as relations have sunk to their worst point since China's 1989 crackdown on pro-democracy demonstrators in Tiananmen Square.

The expulsions were reported by the official Xinhua News Agency and were announced on the nationally televised evening news.

The two officers "sneaked into a number of restricted military zones in China's southeast coastal areas and illegally acquired military intelligence by photographing and videotaping," Foreign Ministry spokesman Shen Guofang was quoted as saying.

The two officers were identified as Joseph Wei Chan, Air Force liaison officer, and Dwayne Howard Florenzie, assistant Air Force liaison officer. Both are based at the U.S. consulate in Hong Kong, Xinhua said.

China's state security authorities gave the two men 24 hours to leave the country.

In Washington, both the State Department and the Pentagon had no official comment on the reported expulsions.

No one could be reached at the U.S. Embassy for comment. Xinhua reported the expulsions after business hours, and there was no answer at home phone numbers for embassy spokespeople.

The Xinhua report said the two officers applied for Chinese visas saying they wanted to hold consultations with the U.S. Embassy in Beijing and with staff members at consulates around China.

"The activities of Joseph Chan and Dwayne Florenzie have violated the law ... on the protection of military facilities, the law ... on state security and the law ... on control of entry and exits of aliens, and seriously undermined China's national security," Xinhua quoted Shen as saying.

China's southern coast is a sensitive area that contains military installations. The coast faces the island province of Taiwan, which is held by the rival Nationalist government, and for decades the two sides were in a state of war.

China's military held exercises in the area last week, firing six surface-to-surface missiles in five days. The exercises were viewed as an attempt to intimidate Taiwan.

The Foreign Ministry summoned Scott Hallford, charge d'affaires at the U.S. Embassy, this morning to lodge a formal protest and to demand assurances from the U.S. government that similar incidents do not occur in the future, Xinhua said.

Hallford confirmed to Cable News Network that he was called in by the Foreign Ministry, but declined to give other details, including where the two officers were.

On Tuesday, Secretary of State Warren Christopher and Chinese Foreign Minister Qian Qichen met for talks that appeared to set the two countries on the road to better relations.

U.S.-China relations in recent months have been on a downward spiral over China's arrest of a Chinese-American human rights activist, the U.S. decision to grant a visa to Taiwanese President Lee Teng-hui and evidence of Chinese arms sales to rogue states.

Neither country currently has an ambassador in the other's capital.

China recalled its ambassador to the United States over Lee's visit, and has refused to approve Washington's choice for a replacement for Ambassador Stapleton Roy, who left Beijing earlier this summer.

Erin was expected to shoot into the Gulf of Mexico about 75 miles north of Tampa and possibly brush Apalachicola in the Panhandle as early as Thursday. As it moves over the gulf waters, it could strengthen again somewhat, forecasters said.

It came ashore in this resort city around 1 a.m. Wind gusts of 100 mph were reported.

About 70 miles of coastline north of Palm Beach was battered by wind and rain that fell in sheets. Hundreds of thousands of people were driven inland.

As Erin struck Vero Beach, it ripped palm fronds from their bases and knocked out power in much of the area.

Erin ripped boats from their moorings and caused extensive damage to orchards of bananas, avocados, mangoes and watermelons in the Bahamas. Elsewhere Tuesday, heavy tropical rains were blamed for a plane crash in Jamaica that killed five people.

In Florida, supermarkets and gas stations were jammed with residents and tourists caught by surprise at Erin's northerly path, replaying the scenes of panicked preparation that took place a day earlier in Miami.

Erin moved farther north than was earlier expected, and late Tuesday authorities lifted an evacuation warning for 400,000 people in Dade County, which includes Miami and Homestead, the city to the south that was pulverized by Andrew's 145-mph winds in 1992. Andrew was the nation's costliest natural disaster with $30 billion in damage.

Blown transformers and power outages were reported in the central coastal counties early today. There were no estimates of how many customers were out of service, said Ed Duchene, an emergency supervisor for Florida Power & Light in Miami.

shuttle Endeavour had been moved to a hangar as a precaution.

At 7 a.m. Erin was estimated to be just east of Polk City in northern Polk County, roughly halfway between Orlando and Tampa in the central part of the state. It was moving west-northwest at about 17 mph with steady winds of 60 mph.

With the storm's winds below 74 mph, the minimum to be classified as a hurricane, all hurricane warnings were discontinued for the Atlantic Coast early today. But tropical storm warnings remained in effect for much of the state's two coasts.

Defense scores rare legal victory

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN, Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) - For O.J. Simpson, it was a rare legal victory - but an important one.

Simpson's lawyers were given the judge's guarded permission to present evidence the police DNA lab is a contaminated mess, with procedures so sloppy that much of the most damaging evidence against Simpson is suspect at best.

The theory that evidence, from blood to hairs, was tainted by the twin evils of contamination and conspiracy is the heart of the defense case. Simpson's attorneys are likely to try to make the most of the opportunity the judge handed them, analysts said.

"I think it was a very important hit and will prove to be something that won't be easy for the prosecution to manage," Northwestern University law professor Robert Pugsley said.

The ruling clears the way for today's testimony by defense DNA expert John Gerdes. Also today, two journalists, KNBC-TV's Tracie Savage and magazine writer Joseph Bosco, await rulings that could lead to jail sentences if they refuse to disclose confidential sources of stories about DNA test results on socks found in Simpson's bedroom.

Both Savage and Bosco are invoking the California Shield Law, which they say protects them from revealing their sources.

On Tuesday, Superior Court Judge Lance Ito didn't give the defense everything it wanted. During a hearing outside the jury's presence, he limited the defense questioning to six hours and said he would only allow "some latitude" beyond the actual testing done in the Simpson case by police technicians.

Ito, a former prosecutor, also gave some free advice to Deputy District Attorney George "Woody" Clarke: keep the cross-examination as brief as possible or he will lose the sequestered jury's attention.

The defense says the next witness after Gerdes would be Nobel Prize-winning scientist Kary Mullis, who developed the form of DNA testing used in the police crime lab.

In other developments Tuesday: - Michele Kestler, director of the LAPD crime lab, testified outside the presence of the jury that she thinks the news leak about DNA tests on the socks came from outside her lab. She conducted no investigation beyond speaking with a couple of employees who had access to the test results.

- More than 200 pages of newly released transcripts show two jurors were dismissed for allegedly lying to Ito about communicating with each other in the jury room, while a third juror was dismissed for "offensive behavior."

Francine Florio-Bunten was ousted because she wouldn't admit reading a note scribbled by juror Farron Chavarria after her own interview with Ito. The note told Florio-Bunten that the judge was investigating: "They asked about a juror writing a book."

"She out-and-out lied about this communication," Ito told attorneys. Ito also dismissed Chavarria for her lack of candor about the note.

Juror Willie Cravin was accused of staring at and bumping into Chavarria in what she described as "mind games." Several other jurors complained about Cravin's intimidating ways, and Ito ultimately dismissed him for conduct "disruptive of the truth-finding process."

Former HHS exchange student returns to visit American 'family' after 38 years

Exchange student returns

Elisabeth (Brummer) Hornsey, left, was an exchange student at Hereford High School in 1956-1957. She and her husband, Frank, left, are visiting in Hereford with their sons, Carl and Sven. A reception will be held Saturday from 1-5 p.m. at the Ted Sumner home to renew old acquaintances.

A reception honoring Elisabeth (Brummer) Hornsey will be held Saturday from 1 p.m.-5 p.m. in the Ted Sumner home. The reception is planned as an opportunity to renew old acquaintances.

The Sumner home is located on County Road 8, 3/4 of a mile east of Hwy. 385 N.

Elisabeth Brummer first came to Hereford in the fall of 1956 as an exchange student under the auspices of the American Field Service.

As a 17-year-old from Alfta, Sweden, she had not seen color television nor some of the other luxuries that Americans took for granted even then.

She lived with the Sumner family and attended the 12th grade at Hereford High School, graduating in the spring of 1957. Then she returned to her native Sweden.

But she never lost contact with her American "family" and after 38 years she has returned for a visit bringing her own family.

When Brummer returned to Sweden after her year in Hereford, she completed her formal education there and graduated from Uppsala University in Stockholm in 1967.

On a trip to England she met a police sergeant named Frank Hornsey. They were married in 1969 and she has resided in England since then, pursuing her career as a teacher and raising two sons.

"One of the goals of the exchange program is to improve international relations," said Mrs. Hornsey. "I think we have developed a lasting relationship with Ted and Virginia. Now our children are getting a chance to develop this same kind of relationship with the next generation."

As a teacher, Hornsey compared the schools in England and America.

The school year is divided into three terms beginning in September, January and April. There is a one week break at the end of October, February and May and a six weeks break following the summer term which ends in July.

Mrs. Hornsey said this schedule is "far better" because when the breaks are too long, the students "seem to forget everything."

A new national curriculum has just been implemented. The Office of Standards in Education performs inspections at the schools to see that standards are met.

Mr. Hornsey will begin teaching this fall, also, since retiring after 31 years on the police force.

The Hornsey's sons are Carl, 18, and Sven, 16. Carl will attend the university this fall to study French. Sven will attend school, at a college comparable to our junior colleges, to study English, art and psychology.

After their visit in Hereford, the Hornsey family plans to drive to Las Vegas, San Francisco and Spokane to visit relatives and have an opportunity to see more of the United States.

"When I got off the plane in Dallas I felt like I was coming home," said Mrs. Hornsey. "I certainly don't intend to wait 38 years before I come back again."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Six years ago, I was a happily married newlywed. My husband and I decided to start a family right away. A few days before I learned I was pregnant, I had extensive dental work and was in the dentist's chair for an hour, inhaling nitrous oxide.

Within a week, I miscarried. I've never forgiven myself for what I may have done to my unborn child. I never told a soul how I felt. Although we finally had a beautiful baby two years later, our marriage did not survive my guilt. I am now a single parent, and my son is the light of my life.

Please consult your professionals, and tell me whether the nitrous oxide could have caused the miscarriage. I need to face the truth once and for all. -- Mournful in Michigan

DEAR MICHIGAN: According to the American Dental Association, nitrous oxide may be harmful for pregnant women, although the risk is minimal. Spontaneous miscarriage has occurred in cases where pregnant women were exposed to nitrous oxide for five or more hours a week with inadequate exhaust ventilation.

Approximately 50 percent of all miscarriages occur in the first three months. Women who are pregnant or trying to become pregnant should inform their dentists.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I had to write after reading the letter from the woman whose mother was pressuring her to correct her child's left-handedness. She should leave him alone.

Left-handedness is a condition of hard wiring of the brain. If an effort is made to change it, a perfectly normal youth is handicapped during crucial years of his or her development.

I was a lefty whose parents forced me to change so I would "be like everyone else." As a result, I grew up with a number of problems, including stuttering, poor motor skills, no sense of balance and terrible penmanship. For the assumed benefits of fitting into a right-handed world, I was forced to give up more than I will ever know.

I have children, and they happen to be left-handed, they will grow up that way. -- Leftie in Boise

DEAR LEFTIE: Thanks for telling your story. Children who are left-handed should not, repeat NOT, be forced to change. As you pointed out, it could create other problems that are much more severe.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read your column about the sure-fire alarm clock -- a loud alarm bell connected to a timer that went off every 15 minutes. That reminded me of our younger son's dilemma when we went on vacation and left him alone for the first time.

"Danny" had a job, which meant he couldn't afford to oversleep. On his own, he figured out the solution. Our old-fashioned alarm clock was of no use. He never heard it. So he connected a string from the alarm clock key to the switch on the vacuum cleaner. When the alarm rang, the vacuum went shwoosh and kept going until he got up to turn it off. (He didn't think about moving the vacuum, so there was a worn spot on the carpet by the time we got back.)

Danny is grown now, but we still remember his invention and laugh. -- R.D. McK. in Walnut Creek, Calif.

Ann Landers' booklet, "Nuggets and Doozies," has everything from the outrageously funny to the poignantly insightful. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $5.25 (this includes postage and handling) to: Nuggets, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a retired nurse. My husband is 75. He has been diagnosed with chronic myelogenous leukemia. Trying to find more information on this type of leukemia is difficult. Our doctor is not communicative. -- P.H.

ANSWER: Chronic myelogenous leukemia, as you probably do know, is no minor illness. It is a special kind of blood-cell cancer in which a mother cell of the bone marrow begins multiplying out of control. I can take you through typical stages of chronic myelogenous leukemia, but understand that they can vary. Predictions are not reliable.

In the early stage, of uncertain length, the white cell count elevates greatly, and the patient's spleen and liver enlarges. There is weight loss and fatigue. That phase precedes one where bone pain and fever become predominant symptoms. Finally, the illness enters a third, so-called blast phase, frequently terminal.

I have mixed feelings answering your letter. I neither want to paint a totally bleak picture nor to hide facts.

Chemotherapy is often brought into play. And for those younger than 55, a bone-marrow transplant is considered. For others who ask, I might note that such a transplant involves reconstitution of the marrow from a closely matched donor.

I cannot say just where your husband stands in the evolution of phases. But I will say one thing: You and he have every right to an update as to just what is going on, if that is your desire. I see no need to deal in reticence, no matter how well-intended.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a woman of 70, and I recently found a bald area the size of a quarter on my scalp. I didn't see any visible cause for this. Is it curable? How do I prevent its spread. -- S.H.

ANSWER: It sounds a lot like alopecia areata, a rapid onset of hair loss in a sharply defined, usually round area of scalp. You might find other such areas.

Why alopecia areata occurs is unclear, but it has been blamed on the body's immune system. Why the immune system should turn against hair follicles is equally unclear.

For patients with a few small patches, watchful waiting becomes a good plan. For some patients, hair regrows on its own. If it does not, you can look into treatments. One is with cortisone injection into the bald areas in hopes of reversing the immune attack.

In a few patients, the phenomenon reflects some other illness, such as lupus or a thyroid disorder.

New Arrivals

Joseph Anthony Martinez, son of Mary Lou and Juan Martinez, was born July 29 in Northwest Hospital in Amarillo.

The infant weighed 6 pounds, 8-1/4 ounces and was 19-3/4 inches long.

He has three older sisters: Cassandra, Sabrina and Danielle.

Grandparents are Andrez and Irene Serna and Leonardo Martinez, all of Hereford. Aunts are Linda Garcia and Irene Zepeda of Hereford and uncles are Andy Serna of Hereford and David Serna of Amarillo.

Campo takes charge of Cowboys' defense

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Dallas Cowboys defensive coordinator Dave Campo will be under the microscope from the first regular season game.

It will come on Monday Night Football in the Meadowlands against the New York Giants on Labor Day, Sept. 4.

If the Cowboys defense plays poorly, Campo knows who will catch the flak.

"I know what happened to Butch Davis in his debut and if we have a bad night on defense I'll get the blame like he did," Campo said Tuesday.

Davis left the Cowboys to become head coach of the Miami Hurricanes after molding Dallas into one of the top defensive teams in the NFL. Davis did so after Dave Wannstedt vacated Valley Ranch to become head coach of the Chicago Bears. Wannstedt's Cowboys were the No. 1-rated defense in the NFL.

Davis had a disastrous debut. It was on a Monday night that the Washington Redskins tore the Dallas defense apart in a 35-16 victory in 1993.

The critics said Davis wasn't a worthy successor to Wannstedt but he proved them wrong. It wasn't easy.

"It's a tough way to break-in under the national spotlight," Campo laughed. "But you have to start somewhere. It might as well be with everybody in the nation watching."

Campo is short, wears glasses, and has the bookish looks of someone who works with computer chips instead of coaching football players. But make no mistake how he teaches the violent game.

His philosophy is attack. His secondary played close, tough coverage. His overall defense will be the same.

"I'm not afraid to gamble to stop a drive," is the way he puts it. "The way the game is being played now you have to put more pressure on teams. Because of the shorter kickoffs, there are shorter drives. You have to be aggressive to make teams take the long, hard way to score."

Campo has players on his team that fit his aggressive style such as defensive end Charles Haley, cornerback Kevin Smith and safety Darren Woodson.

"Charles will be a big leader for us this year," Campo said. "We need for Robert Jones to take control at middle linebacker. We'll miss James Washington at safety (signed a contract with the Redskins) but we think Brock Marion will do a good job replacing him."

The Cowboys were ranked No. 1 in pass defense last year under Campo.

Now, he moves from the sidelines to the press box, a trek he makes with regrets.

"I'll have to be in the press box," he said. "I enjoy the sidelines but you can't be as productive down there. I learned from Dave and Butch who moved to the press box that you have to be there to get into the game mentally."

Campo said "you just have to be able to divorce yourself from the emotion of the sidelines."

It will be easier said than done for the fiery Campo to stay unemotional. He knows he'll have to keep his head when the Giants and Cowboys play in September.

If the Giants offense has a big night, he'll expect the critics to be calling his name.

"I relish the challenge," Campo said. "I've worked a long time for this."

Volleyball tourney to include 6-man teams

The Town and Country Jubilee Volleyball Tournament will now include six-man teams in addition to two-man teams, organizers announced Tuesday.

Both divisions will start play Aug. 10 in the sand pits at Dameron Park, and the entry deadline has been extended to 4 p.m. Aug. 8. The two-man tournament originally was to begin Saturday, but that was changed.

Both six-man and two-man teams can be made up of men, women or both. The tournament is single elimination. Winners of the finals, which will be held after the parade Aug. 12, receive one-month family passes for each player to the Hereford Aquatic Center.

Entry fees are $10 for two-man teams and $30 for six-man teams. Payment must be made at the time of registration from 8 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Hereford Aquatic Center.

Other sports events to be held during the Hereford Town and Country Jubilee include:

--The Hereford Aquatic Center Beach Volleyball Challenge, set for Saturday, will be a four-man tournament pitting teams from Hereford governmental agencies, charitable organizations and media outlets against each other.

The tournament, which celebrates the opening of the Hereford Aquatic Center, starts at 10:30 a.m. with a match between Hereford Brand employees and radio station KPAN.

First-round matches that will follow are: Chamber of Commerce vs. the school board; Red Cross vs. senior citizens; YMCA vs. the city commission; and the hospital board vs. the county commission.

With a 10-minute time limit on each match, the finals should start at about 11:50 a.m.

--The Town and Country Jubilee 3-on-3 basketball tournament will be held Aug. 12-13. Participants are limited to boys and girls entering the 6th-9th grades. A $40 per team entry fee guarantees three games.

For more information, call 364-5375, 364-8002 or 364-8408.

--The Greg Black Memorial 10-K Run will start at 8 a.m. Aug. 12 in front of the Hereford YMCA. The race also includes a two-mile fun run and a two-mile walk.

The 10-K race includes many divisions: six age groups each for men and women, plus wheelchair divisions for each gender. The two-mile run and two-mile walk races are divided only by gender.

Entry fees are $8 in paid in advance at the Hereford YMCA. Day-of-race entries cost $10 and should be paid from 7-7:45 a.m. Aug. 12 at the race site.

For more information, call the YMCA at 364-6990.

--If those activities are too much for those with more leisurely lifestyles, there's always a nice dip in the pool. The Hereford Aquatic Center is due to open to the public Saturday.

VFW-Hospice golf tournament starts Saturday

The annual VFW-Hospice Partnership Golf Tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course, with a 40-team field already signed up.

Format will be a two-person scramble and teams will be flighted after the first day of play. Shotgun starts will be at 1 p.m. Saturday and noon Sunday. Golfers 65 and over will play from the senior tee markers.

Entry fee is $75 a player and includes greens fee, cart, and dinner Saturday at 6 p.m. Since the field is limited to 40 teams, interested golfers can sign a waiting list.

Paul Hubbard and Craig Nieman won the championship last year and will be back to defend their title.

Heat lost four close games

The West Texas Heat, a 14-under girls basketball team which included four girls from Hereford, had some tough luck at the national AAU tournament last week in Indianapolis, losing four games by a total of 14 points.

The team went 1-3 in pool play - its one win was by 22 points - then won a game in the consolation "Shootout" bracket before being knocked out of the tournament.

Julie Rampley of Hereford scored 21 points a game to lead the Heat. Geronica Tucker of Amarillo and Palo Duro High School was the second leading scorer at 18 points a game.

Makesha Rives, another Hereford girl, scored a total of seven points in the games. The other Hereford girls on the team were Kendra Wright and Tiffany Mercer.

Following are the scores and high scorers for each game in order, starting with the first game:

--South Carolina Lady Sonics 62, Heat 58: Rampley, 18; Tucker, 18; (Rives, 3).

--Sho-Me Ladies (Independence, Mo.) 70, Heat 66: Tucker, 30; Rampley, 17.

--Heat 73, Missouri Hot Shots 51: Rampley 20; Tucker, 18; (Rives, 2).

--Potomac Valley Classics 69, Heat 66: Rampley, 25; Tucker, 15.

--Heat 58, Lady Jazz (Norman, Okla.) 52: Rampley, 17; Tucker 13; (Rives, 2).

--American Eagles (Albany, NY) 76, Heat 73: Rampley, 29; Tucker, 15.

Oilers may release Flannery

By The Associated Press

When the Houston Oilers bumped up against the NFL salary cap, it was third-string quarterback Bucky Richardson who had to go. Guard John Flannery could be next.

"It's like monopoly, you only have so much money," Oilers offensive coordinator Jerry Rhome said. "When you run out, you have to get rid of people."

Richardson, a favorite in Texas, was waived by the Oilers on Tuesday to make room under the team's cap for rookie running back Rodney Thomas. Both Thomas and Richardson are from Texas A&M.

"This has nothing to do with ability, it's all starts with money and the salary cap," Richardson said. "They've already told me they want me back."

Chris Chandler is the Oilers starting quarterback and Will Furrer is now the backup at the NFL's $178,000 minimum salary. Steve McNair, the Oilers' No. 1 draft pick who signed a seven-year pact worth $28.5 million, is No. 3.

Packers

Green Bay wide receiver Mark Ingram says his 11-day absence from training camp was due to poor communication with Packers general manager Ron Wolf.

"We had a couple of phone conversations," said Ingram, who also skipped the mandatory post-draft minicamp and the voluntary June minicamp. "I told him what was on my mind and he told me what was on his mind. After a few more conversations, we went further into detail and we ironed them out."

Future Aggies lead All-Star win

FORT WORTH, Texas. (AP) - Judging by their performances in the Texas all-star football game, Texas A&M has a lot to look forward to with its incoming recruiting class.

The Aggies by far had the most incoming players in Tuesday night's game with 11 and many of them were the difference in the North's 21-7 victory over the South.

Probably the most impressive was Marc Broyles, who helped lead Tyler John Tyler to last season's Class 5A Division II title.

Broyles, the game's offensive MVP, led all rushers with 86 yards on 15 carries. His 1-yard touchdown was the game-winner.

Broyles' game isn't fancy. At 5-foot-11, 235 pounds, he just plows into the middle of the line and usually doesn't come down until he can be gang-tackled. It often took three or four players to slow him and another to come flying in to knock him down.

"I saw him and I said, 'Uh-oh,'" said Schulenburg's Steve Sartain, an incoming Aggie whose athletics will be confined to intramurals. "I just grabbed on as long as I could."

Another running back who looked great at times was D'Andre Hardeman of Galena Park North Shore. He had 37 yards on 11 carries, including the South's only score on a 2-yard run in the second quarter.

On special teams, the Aggies can look forward to getting Shane Lechler of East Bernard. He blasted a game-record-tying 63-yard punt and completed 1-of-2 passes.

As for utility players, Stephenville's Jason Bragg had a solid all-around game. He gained 92 yards between his receiving, rushing, passing and punt and kickoff returns.

Angels not intimidated by M's Johnson in 7-2 win

By The Associated Press
The California Angels are in such a groove, not even the formidable presence of Randy Johnson rattles them.

The Angels won their seventh straight game Tuesday night, beating Johnson and the Seattle Mariners 7-2. It was only Johnson's second loss this year, and it came against a team he had beaten six times in a row.

California starter Brian Anderson (6-2) won his fifth straight start as the Angels stretched their AL West lead to 11 games over the skidding Texas Rangers.

"With the lead they have and the way they're playing," Seattle's Mike Blowers said, "it looks like they're going to win the West unless they just fall on their faces, which I don't expect them to do."

The Rangers are the ones falling flat. A 4-3 loss to Oakland after they took a 3-1 lead in the top of the 11th was their 13th in 15 games.

Tim Salmon and Greg Myers each drove in two runs for the Angels, and Salmon had three hits to end a 1-for-19 stretch against Johnson (11-2).

Salmon hit his 21st homer in the first and added an RBI single in the fifth to give California a 3-1 lead.

"He's got three great pitches, and he's always seemed to strike me out," Salmon said. "I had a little luck tonight."

Tino Martinez tied it for Seattle in the second with his 23rd homer.

The Angels scored four times in the eighth to chase Johnson, who allowed seven runs and 10 hits in 7 1-3 innings. He walked two and struck out 10 to increase his major league-leading strikeout total to 195.

Twins 6, Indians 5

Chuck Knoblauch's homer with two out in the ninth lifted Minnesota over Cleveland, which lost for the fifth time in seven games.

Trailing 5-3 before a rain delay at Jacobs Field, the Twins came back to tie it in the seventh on Rich Becker's two-run double. Minnesota had two runners thrown out on the basepaths in the ninth before Knoblauch hit his fourth home run off Julian Tavarez (6-1).

Pat Mahomes (1-4) pitched two-thirds of an inning for the victory, and Dave Stevens got the final out for his fifth save.

Athletics 4, Rangers 3

Oakland scored three times with two outs in the bottom of the 11th inning to win its first extra-inning game of the season.

The Athletics trailed 3-1 in their last at-bat after Luis Ortiz hit a two-run triple for Texas.

Jason Giambi singled off Matt Whiteside (3-4) to pull Oakland within a run, and Geronimo Berroa and Mike Aldrete followed with consecutive RBI singles to make a winner of Carlos Reyes (1-2).

Red Sox 13, Tigers 3

John Valentin had a career-high six RBIs, and Mike Moore had another disastrous outing.

Valentin hit a two-run homer off Moore in the third before adding two-run singles in both the fourth and fifth.

Mike Greenwell, Mo Vaughn and Troy O'Leary also homered for Boston.

Zane Smith (6-6) won for the fourth time in his last six decisions. He went seven innings, giving up one run on five hits at Tiger Stadium.

Moore (5-11) lost his fifth straight start and fell to 1-9 in his last 13 starts.

Blue Jays 12, Orioles 10

Toronto scored six runs off Baltimore closer Doug Jones (0-4) in the ninth inning, including Domingo Cedeño's three-run homer, to beat the Orioles.

Ken Robinson (1-0) earned his first major league victory. Tony Castillo pitched the bottom of the ninth for his eighth save.

Angel Martinez and Cedeño each had career highs with four RBIs for the Blue Jays.

Harold Baines hit his ninth career grand slam and Bret Barberie and Chris Hoiles had solo homers for the Orioles.

Yankees 7, Brewers 5

New York blew three leads and gave up an inside-the-park homer, yet still hung on to beat Milwaukee.

Tony Fernandez broke a 5-5 tie with a two-run bloop single with two outs in the seventh. It came after the Yankees tied the game on a bases-loaded walk to Gerald Williams by Angel Miranda (4-4).

The visiting Brewers, who hit three home runs but lost their fifth straight game, left 11 men on base and failed to take advantage of eight walks by rookies Andy Pettitte and Mariano Rivera (4-2).

White Sox 4, Royals 3

Dave Righetti held Kansas City to two runs on six hits in eight innings as Chicago beat the Royals.

Righetti (2-0) walked two and struck out four in his third start.

Roberto Hernandez pitched the ninth for his 18th save despite giving up a leadoff homer to Gary Gaetti, his 20th, to cut the lead to 4-3.

Mark Gubicza (7-9) gave up four runs, two earned, with one strikeout and two walks in seven innings at Comiskey Park.

Dodgers manhandle Rockies' rookie

By VINCENT CINISOMO
Associated Press Writer

The Colorado Rockies, trying to reach the playoffs in just their third season, got one starter before the trade deadline to shore up a weak starting rotation.

It looks like they'll need more. With starters Bill Swift, David Nied, and Joe Grahe on the disabled list, and newly acquired Bret Saberhagen not available, the NL West-leading Rockies turned to rookie Mark Thompson in the first game of a series against second-place Los Angeles.

Thompson performed as expected - like a first-year player thrust into a pennant race.

He gave up two-run homers in the first and third innings to Raul Mondesi as the Dodgers jumped to a 4-0 lead en route to a 9-6 win Tuesday night.

Rockies manager Don Baylor said his team "shut down (Mike) Piazza and (Eric) Karros pretty good, but Mondesi was the player of the night. You just can't spot them four runs, come back and tie, and then spot them four more. You run out of innings after a while."

Colorado was able to tie, thanks to homers by Mike Kingery, Dante Bichette and Andres Galarraga, and an RBI single by Eric Young.

But the Dodgers broke the tie against Thompson (2-2) in the sixth, going ahead 6-4 on a sacrifice fly by Tim Wallach and an RBI single by Todd Hollandsworth. Steve Reed replaced Thompson, and Mondesi followed with a two-run single.

Thompson gave up seven runs in 5 1-3 innings, and has an ERA of 5.83.

Mondesi, who finished with a career-high six RBIs, is hitting .450 in his three-year career against Colorado.

"The first homer came on a slider," Mondesi said. "The second was a fastball. I give 100 percent all the time - it doesn't matter if it's the Colorado Rockies. They're in first place, and we have to beat them."

The Dodgers, unbeaten in four games at Coors Field this season, reduced Colorado's lead to 2 1/2 games.

"Winning the first game was very important," Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda said. "This is the team we've got to gain ground on."

Even Colorado's enormous home-field advantage couldn't help. The Rockies became the first major-league team to reach 2 million in attendance this year. A crowd of 48,071 - their 23rd straight sellout - raised the season total to 2,044,594, an average of 46,468.

Ismael Valdes (8-6) held the Rockies hitless until the fourth when Colorado hit three solo homers. He allowed six hits and four runs in five innings.

Astros 8, Cardinals 6

Mike Hampton allowed three runs in seven innings and Craig Biggio hit two home runs as visiting Houston handed St. Louis its fifth straight loss.

Hampton (7-3) has won 10 games in his two-year major league career, five against the Cardinals.

Danny Jackson (2-11) took the loss.

Marlins 5, Expos 2

Andre Dawson, just off the disabled list, went 3-for-4 and drove in two runs as Florida handed Montreal rookie Carlos Perez his first loss at home.

Pat Rapp (5-6) allowed a run on five hits in 5 1-3 innings.

Perez (9-3), who came in 8-0 with a 1.37 ERA at Olympic Stadium, gave up five runs on a season-high 12 hits in 7 1-3 innings.

Reds 4, Mets 3

Ron Gant doubled in two runs, Thomas Howard had a solo homer and Pete Schourek took a no-hitter into the sixth against his former team as Cincinnati beat New York in Riverfront Stadium.

Foyt plans return in Brickyard 400

By MIKE HARRIS
AP Motorsports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - When A.J. Foyt thinks about fun, he thinks about racing, and that's why he's driving again.

When the Houston race driver announced his retirement in May 1991 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, where he had started a record 35 consecutive Indianapolis 500s, Foyt says a lot of the fun went out of his life.

Now, at 60 years old, Foyt plans to start having a good time again, beginning with Saturday's Brickyard 500 on the same historic 2 1/2-mile oval on which he became the first four-time Indy 500 winner.

"I'll tell you, I just want to start racing a little bit more, get back in shape, take off about 20 pounds," he added. "It's something I enjoy, and what's life all about if you can't have fun? This (retirement) deal hasn't been much fun for A.J. Foyt."

Foyt's Hall of Fame resume includes 63 other Indy-car wins, seven NASCAR triumphs, including the 1972 Daytona 500, and two wins in the Daytona 24-Hour sports car race.

Bride-elect of Heiman honored with shower in Betzen home

A bridal shower honoring Jennifer Betzen, bride-elect of Darrin Heiman, was held July 29 in the home of Cheryl Betzen.

The couple plans to be married Aug. 19.

Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, Janet Betzen, and Delores Heiman, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Catie Betzen, sister of the bride, invited guests to register. Refreshments of cinnamon rolls, sweet breads, fresh fruit platter, fruit punch and coffee were served by Mary Beth Jones and Christy Urbanczyk.

The refreshment table was decorated with a fresh spring flower arrangement and a large antique silver candelabrum.

A bread making machine was the gift from hostesses Eileen Alley, Brenda Barrett, Cindy Cassels, Gertrude Grotegut, Mary Johnson, Christine Mameil, Cheri McWhorter, Joyce Schwertner, Karla White, Cheryl Betzen, Valerie Arthro, Janice Betzen, Martha Debord, Cissy Hunter, Sylvia Khuri, Karen March, Brenda Reinauer, Melody Seiver, Debbie Tardy and Nadine Berend.

Proper nutrients essential for longer, healthier lives

Most American women are not getting the nutrients they need to lead longer, healthier lives.

Women's bone mass is 10 to 25 percent less than that of men, and a lack of dietary calcium can put women in jeopardy for health problems. After menopause, women are more at risk of developing osteoporosis. An estimated one-third of all women are at risk of having a hip fracture by age 65 from this "brittle bone disease."

About 1,000 milligrams (mg.) of calcium per day is sufficient from age 25 onward, except for pregnant and lactating women, who need 1,200 to 1,500 mg. After menopause you'll need about 1,500 mg. per day unless you take replacement estrogen.

The best place to find calcium is in dairy products. If you are worried about fat, don't forget all the lowfat and nonfat varieties on the market! One cup of milk has 300 mg. of calcium, regardless of whether it's whole, two percent, one percent, or skim milk. If you drink one 12-ounce glass (or eat a cup of yogurt, or two ounces of cheese), you'll meet one third to one half of your daily calcium needs.

Non-dairy food sources of calcium are tofu, canned sardines and salmon, some vegetable (especially broccoli, beet and mustard greens, collards, spinach, parsley, and watercress), and foods like calcium-fortified orange juice. If necessary, take supplements, which contain about 200 mg. per tablet.

Women -- especially those who must meet the demands of menstruation, pregnancy, or lactation -- also tend to be deficient in iron. Inadequate iron consumption can lead to anemia, which robs women of energy.

Most adult women need to absorb 15 mg. of iron daily. Sources include red meat, poultry, seafood, eggs, beans, dried fruits, fortified breads and cereals, and leafy green vegetables.

Fiber in the diet helps protect against certain conditions like colon cancer. Fiber is particularly important after age 50, due to the gradual

Mint Julep Fruit Cup

- |                            |                          |
|----------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 medium pineapple, cubed  | Garnish:                 |
| 2 cups sliced strawberries | 6 fresh mint leaves or 6 |
| ¼ cup creme de menthe or   | pieces crystallized mint |
| ¼ teaspoon mint extract    | leaves                   |
| 1½ cups lime sherbet       |                          |

Combine fresh fruit and spoon into compotes. Sprinkle with creme de menthe or mint extract. Serve with a small scoop (¼ cup) of lime sherbet and garnish with a fresh mint leaf or with crystallized mint leaves.

Note: You may substitute any other fruit you wish. Serves 6; ½ cup per serving

Names in the News

BALTIMORE (AP) - An aspiring Maryland filmmaker has filed a $1.8 billion lawsuit accusing Sony Pictures and John Singleton of stealing the film script for "Higher Learning."

Darryl Wharton said that in 1991, he submitted his script, "Caught Out There," to Singleton, who wrote and directed "Boyz n the Hood." "Higher Learning" contains "similar scenes, similar themes and even a character with the same name," Wharton said.

The suit seeks $900 million in compensation and $900 million in punitive damages from Oscar-nominee Singleton, his production company, Sony Pictures, Columbia Pictures and a Sony Theaters representative.

A spokesman for Columbia declined to comment, and calls to Singleton's publicist and agent were not returned. A Sony lawyer declined to comment.

"Higher Learning" grossed $38 million nationally this year before leaving theaters, according to Entertainment Data, a Los Angeles company that tracks movie revenue.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Take it from country crooner Sammy Kershaw: It pays to dream big.

Once he wondered if he could even earn a living as a country singer, but he's thinking bigger now that he has a string of Top 10 hits under his belt.

His latest fantasy is to be inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame, in "20 or 30 years."

"I made that (a) dream eight months ago," Kershaw told The (Nashville) Tennessean.

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Gov. George W. Bush said last week that Texas should not duplicate the University of California's decision to discontinue programs aimed at making sure minorities get into state universities.

"I believe the Texas schools are doing everything in their power to try to recruit the best and brightest of our minority students," Bush told reporters.

The governor said he will examine Texas' affirmative action programs to see whether they are fair and inclusive for people they are designed to help.

"I think what Texas needs to do, which I intend to do, is to address what we expect out of a program that tries to be inclusive," Bush said. "Is it an economic development device or is it a preference toward people who have already benefited from the system?"

"I don't think people in Texas like the idea of a few benefiting at the expense of others or that there be reverse discrimination. I think we ought to address that."

Bush said he would work with members of the General Services Commission, which oversees large contracts for state agencies, to look into race- and gender-based programs.

State law requires agencies to make a "good-faith effort" to spend 30 percent of public works contract budgets with businesses owned by women and minorities, known as historically underutilized businesses or HUBs.

"If the affirmative action programs are meant to be helpful to start-up companies ... then we ought to design them so they're that way," Bush said.

3 Investment Firms Hired

The State Board of Education has broken with tradition by contracting with three private companies to invest $3.5 billion of the $12.2 billion Permanent School Fund this year and more next year.

The companies, Capital Guardian Trust Co. of Brea, Calif., Wellington Management Co. and Harbor Capital Management Co. Inc., both of Boston, Mass., plan to invest $1.2 billion in international markets — the first time in the history of the 141-year-old fund that investments will be made beyond U.S. borders, the Associated Press reported.

According to Texas Education Agency figures, the new "active" investment strategy could yield as much as $64.2 million more a year than a "passive" investment of $2 billion.

The trust fund is expected to provide $1.3 billion to Texas school districts in 1995-96.

Authority to contract with private investment firms was allowed by the 1995 Legislature's rewrite of the state education code, signed into law this spring by Gov. Bush.

Perry Square with EPA

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry has not been lax in enforcing federal pesticide laws, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has concluded after conducting a three-month investigation.

Complaints against Perry's enforcement of the laws had been lodged by labor, consumer and environmental groups, who asked that the EPA usurp the Texas Agriculture Department's enforcement role.

Isolated problems the EPA found included record-keeping errors, untimely reporting and failure to document reasons when a penalty was changed from the recommendation of the department's review committee, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

"We did not find any major problems where we would even consider rescinding the agency's primary enforcement responsibility," said John Larson, life scientist with the EPA's Dallas office.

The EPA did, however, encourage Perry to beef up his department's communications and interaction with the public.

Mayors Fear Budget Cuts

Seventeen mayors attending the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Austin last week expressed fears to Vice President Al Gore that deficit-reduction efforts in Congress would devastate their cities.

The vice president agreed with the mayors and criticized Republican budget bills designed to reach a balanced budget in seven years.

"The budget resolution now being considered in the Congress would in fact be devastating to the cities of America," Gore said. "And it doesn't matter whether the mayor is a Democrat or a Republican."

Despite Gore's criticism, President Clinton appears ready to sign the measure after negotiating an easing of some cuts with congressional leaders.

Kenedy Prison Opens

Texas' prison-building boom ended last week with the opening of a maximum-security facility in Kenedy, about 60 miles southeast of San Antonio.

The John B. Connally Unit, a 2,850 bed facility began accepting inmates on July 28 and likely will reach capacity within four weeks, Warden Dayton Poppell said.

The prison is the last of three maximum-security centers the state built under a $1.1 billion prison expansion program.

With the completion of the Connally Unit, the state now has 104 facilities representing about 132,000 prison beds, said Glen Castlebury, a spokesman for the Department of Criminal Justice.

Logo design has come long way from early symbols on television

By LYNN ELBER
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Painters sign their works, sometimes with a flourish. So do TV producers, who are electronic artists with big, big followings.

When those end credits roll, as viewers prepare to bolt for the kitchen, the savvy producer offers a signature with flair. A logo that marks the creator's identity with eye-catching personality.

And, occasionally, more wit than the series preceding it.

Since MTM Enterprises' mewing kitten popped on the scene in the early 1970s, tweaking the pretentious trademark ritual embodied by MGM's roaring lion, the number of clever TV logos has multiplied.

Pre-MTM, we had a grimy arm pounding "Mark VII" into stone, a subtle way of announcing that viewers had just been bludgeoned by a program from Jack Webb's ("Dragnet") production company.

Or an authoritarian voice intoning "A Quinn Martin Production" ("The Fugitive," "The F.B.I.").

The message: These were serious professionals.

Producers still sought to remind us that actors don't make the story up as they go along. The new breed of TV artist proved they could preen with style.

We got the likes of "Sit, Ubu, sit" for a Gary David Goldberg ("Family Ties") UBU Productions offering. It was a droll moment of fame for Goldberg's dog, as well as Goldberg.

Or this winning program credit from the producers of "Taxi": A weary figure shambles down a hallway as a voice calls out "Good-night, Mr. Walters." A groan comes in reply.

A child's voice proudly exclaims "I made this!" for Chris Carter's Ten Thirteen Productions ("The X-Files").

The logo is "meant as a lark," says Carter. "I think all of us ultimately are the same kids making mud patties and showing our moms and dads. That's what that's about."

Bruce Helford cooked up a unique I.D. for his upcoming Mohawk Productions series "Bless This House" and "The Drew Carey Show." A sonogram shows Helford's son Aven in utero; there's a voice-over laugh from the boy, now 2.

"Mostly because it was a cute thing to do," explains Helford. "Also probably, subliminally, because when you create, you're birthing something. A little bit of that, too."

He consciously took a light approach: "I think everyone's worried about coming off as too serious."

Stephen J. Cannell, seeking to retain his writer's identity as he branched into producing on "The Rockford Files" and other series, inserted himself typing into his company's logo sequence.

Steven Bochco ("NYPD Blue," "L.A. Law") pays tribute to his father's musical artistry with the violinist's image backed by the trill of Vivaldi's "Four Seasons."

We get the moon, a wolf and sometimes a plaintive howl to mark a Dick Wolf ("Law & Order," "New York Undercover") series.

"There is an economic basis to it," Wolf says. "Reputation in television is very important. You're building goodwill by having that logo appear at the end of multiple shows."

Not everyone who wants a logo gets one, apparently. Wolf says there are "arcane and unwritten rules" governing the issue.

A company perceived as an independent entity, even if it is backed by studio financing, is considered eligible, he said.

A network trend toward erasing between-show "clutter" has put logos and more on the endangered list. Carter had to fight to keep the distinctive opening credits for his "X-Files," let alone the brief "I made this!" end chortle.

"A couple networks cut out the sound. Run in its full glory you hear the howl," Wolf said. "It's still on Fox. On NBC, I don't think we get the howl. We had a partial howl on CBS; they couldn't decide which way to go."

During "spirited discussions" to protect his signature, Wolf argued that it helps build reputation and attract viewers.

"The networks say that isn't true. I say 'So why don't you take your logo off?'"

Lack of rain, high temperatures stress crops, pastures in state

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Record heat across much of Texas dried out some crops and depleted soil moisture before the remnants of tropical storm Dean moved inland, according to the state Agricultural Extension Service.

Paul Gross, district Extension director in Amarillo, said the Panhandle last week had especially hot temperatures, breaking a record high on July 27.

"Thursday it reached 104 degrees," he said. "This broke the record of 102 degrees that was set last year."

"These high temperatures are depleting soil moisture at very rapid rates and are stressing pasture and range grasses," Gross said. "Right now adequate grazing is still available, but if these temperatures remain this high, it certainly will cause some concern."

Dr. Billy Warrick, Extension agronomist in San Angelo, said after recently experiencing 11 straight days of temperatures of more than 100 degrees, rangeland is drying out and sorghum fields are burning up in West Central Texas.

"Some days temperatures have reached as high as 104 and 106 degrees," he said. "These temperatures are detrimental to plants because it prevents them from being able to cool themselves."

"Sorghum is reducing its leaf size to match the lack of soil moisture and it is getting to the point where it is considered nonfunctional and can't recover," Warrick said. "Once it gets to this point, all it can be used for is feed grain."

Warrick said ranges are turning from green to brown, which creates an increase in fire hazards. Luckily, he said, it rained one-fourth of an inch Tuesday and another one-fourth of an inch Tuesday night.

"The rain has offered us a little relief and we are thankful for that," he said, "but all it will take is a couple of days with temperatures of more than 100 degrees to put us right back where we were."

Jose Pena, Extension economist in Uvalde, said Southwest Texas has experienced hot weather without significant rainfall for nearly a month.

"This extremely hot and dry weather is causing some problems in the area," Pena said. "Dry roadside grasses are increasing the incidence of roadside fires. Several have been reported, but thankfully, only minor damage has resulted so far."

"Pastures and ranges are deteriorating quickly as a result of the hot weather conditions," he said.

Pena added that one good thing about the dry weather is it is allowing producers to complete their harvests.

"The hot, dry weather is helping to dry down corn and sorghum,"

Pena said. "The sorghum harvest is about complete and the corn harvest is gaining momentum."

"So far, good quality and yields are being reported," he said.

Jon Zeitler, meteorologist at the National Weather Service Agricultural Service Center in College Station, said producers should monitor conditions because they may be in for some rainy weather as a result of the remnants of Tropical Storm Dean and the possibility of Hurricane Erin moving in.

"The best chance for rain will be in the Low Rolling Plains, North Central Texas and South Central Texas on Wednesday and Thursday," he said. "Flooding is possible in these areas, as rainfall totals of two to three inches is possible."

"Moist airflow from the Gulf of Mexico will bring scattered showers and thunderstorms on Friday, and Hurricane Erin will likely move into the Louisiana coast on Friday, affecting East Texas and the Upper Coast of Texas," he said.

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by district Extension directors:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture short. Pastures, ranges stressed due to hot, dry conditions; adequate grazing still available. Most crops making good progress where moisture is available. Most corn fields have tasseled and ears are developing.

SOUTH PLAINS: Soil moisture short to very short. Corn is approximately 15 percent in dough stage. Cotton near complete squaring; approximately 50-60 percent blooming. Very little sorghum is heading. Harvesting potatoes, onions. Some heat stress on livestock.

ROLLING PLAINS: Soil moisture adequate to short. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Cotton showing growth; insect activity heavy; insecticides being applied for boll weevil, fleahopper control. Peanuts in good condition. Livestock in good condition.

NORTH TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate to very short. Pastures, ranges in very poor to good condition; need moisture. Baling hay. Corn, cotton, sorghum, peanuts in poor to excellent condition. Spider mites still a problem in vegetables. Harvesting watermelons.

EAST TEXAS: Soil moisture short to very short. Forage conditions declining due to hot, dry conditions. Hay production slowing; cattle feeling stress; market numbers increasing. Vegetable harvests nearly complete; fall garden preparations underway.

FAR WEST TEXAS: Soil moisture short to very short. Forage decreasing due to hot, dry weather. Cutting, baling hay. Cotton, sorghum in fair to good condition. Vegetable production slow due to hot weather. Livestock suffering from heat stress; supplemental feeding.

WEST CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Pastures, ranges dried out. Most sorghum fields burned up. Fire is a big threat. Pecans continue to progress. Good hay crop. Casebearer damage evident. Livestock in good condition.

CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture very short to adequate. Pastures, ranges in need of moisture. Crop yields average. Harvesting late maturing peach varieties. Heavy pecan aphid infestation. Peanut planting complete.

SOUTHEAST TEXAS: Soil moisture very short to short. Harvesting watermelons, corn, grain sorghum. Peach harvest nearly complete. Heat stressing pastures, ranges, livestock. Cattle market depressed. Insects causing problems for commercial vegetables.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS: Soil moisture short. Pastures, ranges deteriorating quickly due to hot, dry conditions. Increased incidence of roadside fires. Conditions are helping to dry down corn, sorghum. Cotton making progress under heavy irrigation.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics.

Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features: too numerous to list.
