

Democrats react to 210-210 tie Vote on EPA called break for polluters

By ALAN FRAM

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democrats are accusing Republicans of giving polluters a break after the House reversed itself by the closest of margins and voted to restrict government enforcement of environmental laws.

By a 210-210 tie, the House voted Monday to kill an effort by Democrats and moderate Republicans to let the Environmental Protection Agency continue fully enforcing laws and regulations overseeing the cleanliness of water, air, wetlands and food.

The House had voted 212-206 last Friday to remove restrictions on the EPA's enforcement powers from an underlying bill, in a defeat for the GOP's pro-business, anti-regulatory agenda.

Monday's vote left intact a provision in a spending bill that would block EPA's enforcement of 17 anti-pollution laws and regulations for the next fiscal year. Amendments, such as the one seeking to remove the restrictions from the bill, need majority votes to be approved.

Lawmakers then voted 228-193 to approve the overall bill in which the restrictions were contained, a measure providing $79.4 billion for 1996 for environmental, housing, space and veterans' programs. The legislation, which makes severe cuts in the EPA and housing programs, already has drawn a veto threat from President Clinton. It now goes to the Senate.

"Today's action is a dangerous combination of special favors and drastic cuts to environmental enforcement, to local drinking water protections and to toxic waste cleanups," said Carol Browner, EPA administrator.

Most Republicans said the vote was an effort to free business from cumbersome, outdated requirements that accomplished little but hindering companies from operating efficiently.

Rep. Jerry Lewis, R-Calif., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee that authored the bill, said Monday's vote was not "anti-environment but anti-bureaucracy."

The vote would crimp EPA's enforcement of laws regulating drinking water, lakes and streams, automobile emissions, sewage, wetlands and pesticides in foods.

Monday's vote was just the beginning of a week in which Congress hopes to complete as much spending work as it can. The House begins its August recess this weekend, the Senate probably a week later.

Today the House planned to debate a $244 billion Pentagon spending bill that would add $8 billion to Clinton's request for 1996. The money includes an extra $493 million to expand the B-2 Stealth bomber fleet, which defense officials say they do not need.

Monday's House reversal came after GOP leaders spent the weekend trying to figure out how to please party conservatives, led by House Whip Tom DeLay, R-Texas, who have pushed to erase many regulations on business. Several Republicans said that if they had not successfully restored the restrictions on EPA, conservatives would have voted against the spending bill itself.

Monday's vote was in doubt until the very end. The roll call was gavelled to a close - and to a victory for the GOP leaders who control the chamber - moments after the vote went to 210-210 from 210-209 in favor of protecting the EPA's enforcement powers.

The effort to allow environmental regulations to continue unimpeded was sponsored by Reps. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, and Sherwood Boehlert, R-N.Y.

Gramm's aide visits Hereford

Gramm aide unveils bill here to protect property rights from regulations

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm's bill aimed at safeguarding the rights of property owners against federal regulations which reduce the value of the property was the main topic of discussion when Ed Hodges, state director for the senator, appeared here Monday afternoon.

Only a dozen citizens attended the meeting, sponsored by the legislative affairs committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Wes Fisher, chairman, introduced Hodges.

Hodges outlined the purpose and provisions of the Private Property Rights Restoration Act, then briefly answered questions on other legislative issues--including welfare reform, the crime bill, and Medicare.

He pointed out that Gramm's bill addresses "regulatory takings" of private property without just compensation. Gramm says the "takings clause" of the Fifth Amendment keeps the government from taking land without just compensation, but with the rise of federal land-use regulations, the regulatory taking has become an issue in courts.

His bill would require compensation to a property owner when the government imposes such stringent controls over land use as to substantially erode its value. The Supreme Court has ruled on both sides of the issue, basically asking Congress to adopt appropriate legislation.

At present, there is no clear legal definition of a regulatory taking and, in the absence of such a ruling, property owners have had only two choices--go to court, a lengthy and costly process, or cave in and absorb the loss.

Mantle reveals doctors found areas of cancer on his lungs

By LINDA LEAVELL

Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Baseball great Mickey Mantle told ABC's "Good Morning America" program that he has lung cancer.

"About two weeks ago doctors said they found a couple of spots of cancer in my lungs," Mantle said. "Now, I'm taking chemotherapy to take care of the cancer."

Dr. Robert Goldstein, Mantle's transplant surgeon, told ABC that after a "routine follow-up, cancer had spread to his lungs in couple of spots. This is a new problem unknown to us and it is beginning to show some growth."

Goldstein said that Mantle would not have gotten a liver transplant on June 8 if they knew he had cancer. Goldstein was, however, optimistic for Mantle's recovery.

"I think we'll see him rebound and give him aggressive therapy."

A half hour before ABC aired its report, Baylor University Medical Center said "a significant new development" in the medical condition of baseball great Mickey Mantle was to be announced.

The hospital reported the new development in a news release issued about 5:30 a.m. CDT.

One of Mantle's doctors said Monday night that Mantle returned to the hospital last Friday after undergoing a debilitating chemotherapy treatment, which did not suggest that his liver condition was worsening.

On Monday night, Dr. Daniel DeMarco said Mantle's team of doctors will offer a "complete progress report" on his condition at a news conference scheduled for 11 a.m. today.

DeMarco made no mention of "a significant new development" Monday night in a telephone interview with The Associated Press.

Mantle, 63, who underwent a liver transplant June 8 after he was diagnosed with a malignant tumor, was readmitted to Baylor University Medical Center on Friday, said DeMarco, Mantle's gastroenterologist.

Mantle has been undergoing a series of chemotherapy treatments that include the use of adriamycin, which is a 30-minute infusion treatment, and cis-platinum, a nine-hour procedure, the doctor said.

On Friday, the former New York Yankees star had a second cis-platinum treatment, which causes such unpleasant side effects as nausea, vomiting and weakness.

Mantle wanted to remain in the hospital throughout the weekend to rest, but he likely will be released

Tuesday, DeMarco said.

"He tolerated it less well this time," DeMarco said of the treatment. However, doctors were not characterizing the situation as a setback, he added.

"He (was) doing real well... when I saw him just a few hours ago," DeMarco said. "He may very well be going home (this) morning."

Mantle, who lives in Dallas, was discharged from the hospital June 28, nearly three weeks after receiving his new liver.

Mantle's doctors had said the Hall of Famer's prospects for recovery was good, despite signs his body had been slightly rejecting his transplanted liver.

Doctors said Mantle's original liver deteriorated because of years of alcohol abuse and a long-dormant hepatitis C infection.

Mantle replaced Joe DiMaggio as the Yankees' center fielder and became one of baseball's premier sluggers. He retired in 1968 with 536 home runs, which ranks eighth on the career list. He was inducted into the Hall of Fame five years later.

His career was sidetracked by many injuries. Doctors speculated Mantle contracted hepatitis from blood transfusions he received during operations he underwent while a player.

Corn, wheat, hog prices increase; prices for cattle hit eight-year low

By ROBERT GREENE
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - High corn, wheat, hog and broiler prices boosted the July index of prices farmers received for their products, offsetting another bad month for cattle producers.

The 2 percent increase from June marked the first growth in the index since March. In its monthly report Monday, the Agriculture Department noted that prices also fell for cantaloupes, lettuce and tomatoes.

Cattle prices fell to their lowest since March 1987 because of continued herd expansion. The index rose 5 percent from July 1994, as higher prices for wheat, corn, hogs and cotton offset lower prices for cattle, broilers and calves. Wheat rose 39 cents a bushel to $4.24 from June to July, the highest this decade, because of strong export demand and lower expected production in the United States, Canada and China. A year ago, wheat was $3.04.

Corn rose 16 cents to command $2.67 a bushel, propelled by hot, dry conditions in the Midwest and lower projected supplies. Last year, corn was $2.29 amid expectations of a record harvest.

Hogs rose to 46.3 cents a pound, up from 42.3 cents in June and 42.2 cents a year ago, for the best prices since February 1994. Seasonally tighter hog supplies and increasing competition between domestic retailers and foreign buyers likely contributed to the higher prices, the report said.

Broilers rose to 34.5 cents a pound from 32.8 cents in June and 36.4 cents in July 1994. The Agriculture Department noted smaller increases in production and good movement of chickens through fast-food outlets.

Beef cattle prices fell to 59.7 cents a pound, compared with 60.9 cents in June and 62.9 cents in July 1994. Cattle on hand reached 114.3 million head on July 1, some 2 percent above a year ago.

The department expects losses for higher-cost producers this fall and for most producers next year. The surpluses should mean lower store prices for beef, however.

PSF to distribute pork to retailers in Japan

Premium Standard Farms has signed an agreement with a major Japanese distribution company to begin exclusive marketing of PSF branded pork to the Japanese retail market, it was announced Monday at the company's Princeton, Mo., headquarters.

The agreement between PSF and Marubeni America Corporation means Premium Standard will immediately begin weekly shipments of high value pork cuts to Japan.

PSF has announced plans to build a pork processing plant near Hereford, after completing expansion of hog production facilities in the Dalhart area. Start of construction on the plant, originally estimated to be in the last quarter of 1995, has been delayed.

The agreement with Marubeni "marks another milestone for PSF, and means a dramatic increase in our export volume," said Russ Sanders, senior vice president for marketing.

"The potential for PSF pork at the retail level in Japan is tremendous, and having a world class partner like Marubeni will help us realize that potential," said Sanders. Japan is the fastest growing market for U.S. pork.

Exports to Japan of fresh or chilled pork from the U.S. have increased more than 100 percent from 1994 to 1995.

The PSF system will deliver both quality and value to Japanese consumers, according to Roy Anabuki, general manager and senior vice president of Marubeni America Corp. "We are proud to be associated with Premium Standard Farms, which is recognized worldwide for producing top quality, lean pork, and for the modern management system of their fully integrated pork operations."

Anabuki said the Japanese market demands consistent quality, freshness and taste. "This agreement is the first step to making Premium Standard Farms one of the top brands in Japan."

The agreement includes an extensive merchandising plan designed to educate Japanese consumers on the quality and food safety controls built into the PSF system. The plans includes PSF labeling at the retail level, education programs for retail meat managers, in-store sampling, consumer feedback and various point-of-sale materials.

Reno continues to defend use of tear gas in Davidian attack

By MARCY GORDON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Attorney General Janet Reno, facing a grilling from GOP lawmakers over her decision to order a tear gas attack that ended the siege against the Branch Davidians, insisted today that cult leader David Koresh was solely responsible for the deaths of 80 followers.

"We all mourn the tragic outcome. But the finger of blame points in one direction - it points directly at David Koresh," Reno said in written testimony for the final day of House hearings on the 1993 siege near Waco, Texas. "The fate of the Branch Davidians was in David Koresh's hands, and he chose death for the men and women who had entrusted their lives to him. And he, David Koresh, chose death for the innocent children of Waco."

For weeks, Reno has been on the defensive as Republicans attacked her decision to authorize the FBI to use tear gas on April 19, 1993. And a GOP co-chairman of the hearings, Rep. Bill Zeff of New Hampshire, said the government "killed over 80 people" at the Davidian compound

Prosecution advances new idea of blood found on Simpson sock

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - To explain a bloodstain on a sock, prosecutors posed this haunting possibility: Nicole Brown Simpson, in her final moments, reached out a bloody hand and grabbed O.J. Simpson's ankle.

Simpson's own blood expert acknowledged it could have happened that way. But then Herbert MacDonell said the blood could have gotten there in any number of ways, including methods consistent with the defense theory that police planted it.

Presenting this image - of a bleeding Ms. Simpson lying on her condo walkway gripping her attacker - was the centerpiece of prosecutor Marcia Clark's cross-examination of MacDonell on Monday, a contentious court day marked by high-stakes trial tactics and even higher emotions.

Among the wide-ranging developments:

Prosecutors, winning with strategy where they lost with the judge, scared the defense away from questioning MacDonell about an experiment intended to debunk the prosecution claim that gloves in evidence didn't fit Simpson because they shrank from being soaked in blood.

Clark said that if the defense brought up the experiment, she might show jurors videotape of Simpson wearing brown leather gloves similar to the bloody gloves. One blood-stained glove was found near the bodies of Ms. Simpson and Ronald Goldman, its mate was seized from Simpson's property.

Clark, her voice shaking, lambasted defense attorney Peter Neufeld for suggesting she should be fined for some of her cross-examination questions. "This is sickening what we're descending to in this case," Clark told the judge. No sanctions were immediately ordered.

Defense attorney Johnnie Cochran Jr. implored Judge Lance Ito to intervene in a North Carolina ruling that denied the defense access to a screenwriting professor's tapes of interviews with Detective Mark Fuhrman. Cochran said Fuhrman talks about framing people and uses racial slurs. "We were chilled by what we heard," Cochran told Ito. The defense contends the tapes would show that Fuhrman lied to Simpson's jurors. Ito said he has no jurisdiction over the North Carolina matter.

A television news reporter was forced to take the stand but refused to reveal her sources for a September 1994 report that DNA on socks found in Simpson's bedroom matched Ms. Simpson's. KNBC-TV reporter Tracie Savage invoked California's Shield Law, which is designed to protect journalists who use confidential sources. A second journalist, Joseph Bosco, also was subpoenaed to testify about a similar report.

Court resumes today with a hearing outside the jury's presence. The defense sought to question Michelle Kestler, head of the police crime lab, about the news leak to Savage. After Kestler, MacDonell returns to the stand for more cross-examination.

The defense also intended today to read the preliminary hearing and grand jury testimony of the jail nurse who drew Simpson's blood the day after the June 12, 1994, murders. It was Thano Peratis' estimates of the amount of blood in the vial that formed the groundwork for the defense's frame-up theory. Peratis is too ill with heart problems to testify.

property owners to come from the budget of the agency issuing the regulation. This, he says, will assure a cost analysis if the agency is taken to court. The government is not required to compensate land owners if the property is declared a nuisance.

Hodges said there appears to be strong support for the bill, which is coming out of Utah Sen. Orrin Hatch's committee in the senate. Hodges is discussing the bill in 38 cities during a two-week period.

While discussing other legislative issues, Hodges said Gramm wants to re-write the crime bill, which he said was more of a social spending plan. He also wants to cut illegal immigrants' benefits in the welfare reform bill. Gramm is studying both the consumption tax and the flat-rate tax, but not action is expected until after the next election.

Hodges pointed out that congress has had a big turnover. More than half of lawmakers are in their first or second term, and 30 percent of the members have never held an elective

Texas given leeway to do experiments in welfare reforms

By MICHELLE MITTELSTADT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas and two other states have been granted leeway by the federal government to initiate specific welfare experiments of their own.

The announcement was made Monday as President Clinton appeared before the National Governors' Association, where welfare reform emerged as a topic of presidential jockeying.

Clinton cited the granting of the welfare waivers to Texas, Utah and West Virginia as proof of his administration's flexibility on welfare reform. Texas joins 30 other states that have received welfare waivers from the Clinton administration.

But in his own speech to the nation's governors, GOP presidential hopeful Bob Dole, the Senate majority leader, touted his welfare reform plan, dismissing the president's moves as too little, too late.

Dole didn't escape without criticism, though, with fellow Republican presidential candidate Phil Gramm taking shots at the Kansan's welfare alternative as "token" reform. Gramm is pushing a conservative plan of his own, backed by 24 other senators.

Federal officials will allow Texas to undertake a six-year welfare demonstration project requiring that recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children prove that their children have been immunized. Parents will have to present their child's immunization records or see their benefits cut by $25 per child per month.

During an average month in 1994, more than 787,000 Texans received AFDC payments. Some $544 million in AFDC payments was distributed to Texas recipients last year. Of the recipients, 549,000 were children - with more than 60 percent under the age of 6. Children must be immunized by the time they begin school.

"The Texas demonstration promotes the Clinton administration's goal of encouraging parental responsibility under welfare reform," said Health and Human Services Secretary Donna Shalala. "It also ensures the health and well-being of children."

But an attorney for the Children's Defense Fund, which has opposed the immunization requirement in the 11 other states where it has been approved, said the emphasis should be placed elsewhere. "The sort of rush to penalize welfare recipients doesn't make sense when you first haven't improved the system so you make sure the shots are readily available to children who need them," said Jim Weill.

While Gov. George W. Bush expressed satisfaction with the granting of the waiver, sought by his administration last April, he said it offers proof that reform is needed. "Texas is still forced to go to the federal government and say 'Big Brother, may I?'" said gubernatorial spokeswoman Karen Hughes.

Bush supports block-granting of welfare programs, allowing states to decide how to structure their programs.

The Texas Legislature earlier this year approved overhaul of the state's welfare system. Recipients would see their funds cut off after three years and would be required to participate in job training programs.

Texas officials are preparing 27 additional waivers to send to the federal government requesting leeway to implement the state plan, Ms. Hughes said.

Defense attorneys contend some of the vial blood is missing, and they have accused police of planting it on evidence.

On Monday, MacDonell backtracked from his initial testimony that a stain on the ankle of one of the socks was a "compression" transfer. The defense contends that such a description bolsters its claim the blood was put there, rather than the blood being splashed on the sock during the murders.

Pressed by Clark, MacDonell acknowledged that the stain could have been swiped on, not just compressed, in several different ways.

"If Nicole Brown Simpson reached out a bloody hand to touch the ankle of the murderer wearing those socks, could that cause a compression or swipe transfer?" Clark asked.

"Certainly, it could," MacDonell replied.

The answer came over numerous objections from Neufeld, who later clashed with Clark over the nature of her questions. He objected to her efforts to question MacDonell about his work in an unrelated case without first warning the defense and the judge.

Ann Landers

Reader worries about rehabilitation of father who abused daughter

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When my daughter was 7, she told me her daddy had been molesting her. This disclosure was very painful for her and, of course, for me as well as the rest of our family.

My father-in-law, who is a police officer, picked up "Barry" at work and turned him in. He served a short jail sentence, and I decided we should separate. Both my daughter and Barry have been in counseling ever since.

I feel OK about Barry seeing the children. Our son is now 7, and our daughter is 11. I am quite comfortable about him being granted supervised visitation rights. I still care for my husband but will not endanger the well-being of my children by leaving them alone with their father.

I have done a great deal of reading on the subject of child molestation and have had many discussions with counselors. All the research I have done has not turned up a single instance of a permanently "cured" child molester. It would be a comfort to believe that my husband is completely rehabilitated and will never do this again, but I am not sure.

My question to you is this: Are there any "former" molesters out there who are truly recovered and do not molest anymore? -- No Name or City

DEAR NO NAME: I, too, have done a good bit of research on child molestation, and according to the experts (I am not one), the only molesters who can be considered permanently cured are those who have been surgically castrated. A drastic measure? Yes. But it's the only one that is guaranteed to work.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When my husband and I were married seven years ago, his father and stepmother gave us a crystal sugar and creamer set that had originally belonged to my husband's grandparents.

A year ago, my husband died of cancer. My husband's stepmother called me last week and asked me to return the set. She said another relative saw it on my dining room table the day of the funeral and has been upset ever since. This relative is concerned that I might remarry, and she wants the set to remain in the family. Apparently since my husband is dead, I'm not considered family anymore.

Of course, I will give the set back, but my feelings are really hurt. In my opinion, asking for the set was not only in very poor taste but downright cruel. I've always been close to my in-laws, but now I feel like an outsider. Please comment. -- Crushed in Philadelphia

DEAR PHILADELPHIA: How tacky. Ralph Waldo Emerson got it right when he said, "Things are in the saddle, and ride mankind." How nice that you needn't associate with the clods anymore. Read on for another in-law saga.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When my in-laws come to visit, we eat every meal out. We tell them it's our usual habit, but that's not true. I simply do not want to cook for them.

My mother-in-law is a nice person, but she is fussy and judgmental. She makes a HUGE production out of cooking. Every meal takes forever to prepare and must be served precisely on time -- at the dining room table.

Their visits are stressful, and we dread them. Since my in-laws are retired, they have plenty of energy and want to be constantly entertained. Any suggestions on how to deal with this? -- Northern Calif.

DEAR CALIF: Go visit them -- and I am not kidding.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Every year, we rent a summer cottage on a beautiful lake, and every year our son gets an ear infection from swimming. Is there something to prevent this from happening? We need help. It does not bother the rest of us, just this kid. -- Mrs. J.O.

ANSWER: A wet ear canal has provided the setting for many a case of repeat ear infections. Some ears are anatomically set up for such infections.

The solution lies in strict attention to the ear canals, to keep them as dry as possible for as long as possible. If your son has not adopted the ritual shaking of his head after immersion, especially after diving, he should adopt the procedure. That gets rid of most of the ear-canal droplets.

But he needs to go further. He should wick-dry the canals. For that, he should use a snippet of a regular towel. I don't advise use of cotton-tip applicators for this maneuver. Their tight edges can scrape away protective skin in the canal, adding irritation to the equation, inviting germ multiplication.

While at the beach, take special precautions.

You might want to use a solution of equal parts white vinegar and rubbing alcohol after swimming. Use a clean dropper, instilling two drops into each canal. That can keep the ear canal dry and restore its natural acidity and ability to fight off invading germs. If your son has pain when instilling the drops, stop immediately. Pain would indicate a hole in the eardrum. In fact, Mrs. O., it might not be a bad idea to have your son's ears examined for that very possibility before heading to your cottage.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have had varicose veins most of my adult life. They do not give me much trouble, but I would like to know if you think support stockings would help. Also, would you advise someone to wear them on a long airplane trip this summer? -- Mrs. C.G.S.

ANSWER: Support stockings help many. Yes, you can wear them on long trips, air or otherwise, summer or winter.

Let me say that there's another factor many women -- most sufferers are female -- ignore: the matter of crossing one leg over the other. It might feel comfortable and sedate, but it is not helping maintain blood flow. It reduces return circulation to the heart, and lets the blood pool, worsening the varicose situation.

Get up and move around from time to time. Keeping leg muscles toned up helps keep lower-body circulation perking.

DEAR DOCTOR: It's summer. Great. But can fall be far behind? I suffer from seasonal affective disorder. I react physically to abysmal changes in seasons. I have to educate my doctors about it. A close friend reacts with disbelief when I mention my sun box. A few words from you might help. -- L.T.M.

ANSWER: I believe you. Seasonal affective disorder is for real, and so is the sun box. People such as yourself get depressed in the fall and winter and recover in the spring and summer.

For SAD victims, dreary days bring appetite loss and insomnia. Things that once brought joy seem stale. You feel kinship with the bear. No one knows why.

Some SAD victims have found relief with a sun box, a rectangular fixture containing full-spectrum fluorescent lighting to approximate that of a bright summer day.

Don't get hung up trying to explain something that remains inexplicable to those who do not suffer from SAD. Florida is a good sun box.

Trojans take eighth at national tourney

The Texas Trojans boys' basketball team brought an eighth-place trophy to the Panhandle from the national 12-under AAU tournament in Salt Lake City.

The Trojans, a team which includes three Hereford boys and six Amarillo boys, lost their last game of the tournament Saturday morning, 57-48 to a team from Winston-Salem, N.C. A win would have meant fifth place.

The Trojans took eighth place out of 63 teams at the national tournament. Trojans' coach Steve Hodges estimated there were between 2,500 and 3,000 12-under boys' teams nationwide.

The team included Hereford boys Chayse Rives, Cody Hodges and Slade Hodges, plus Amarillo boys Derrick Whitney, Bobby Nickum, Graham Bowmer, Jeff Simpson, Dominique Perkins and Rex Emerson. Ron Nickum of Amarillo helped coach the team.

"This team started in January, played our first tournament in February, and playing in 12-year-old (divisions), we were 43-4," Steve Hodges said. "I'm so proud of the effort the boys put into it. They worked hard all year, and it paid dividends: coming in eighth in the nation. Hereford certainly supported these young men, and I wanted to thank the businesses and individuals."

Hodges said Saturday morning's game was maybe the worst game the Trojans played all year. It was their eighth game in seven days.

"The week's games took their toll," Hodges said. "We got outplayed, no excuses, we got outplayed. The hustle wasn't there. The desire was there, but they couldn't get their bodies to respond to their minds saying, 'Go, go, go!'"

Slade Hodges led the team with 13 points in the final game, and Cody Hodges and Rives each scored six.

The boys won a team trophy and individual medals. Each boy also received a sports bag from NIKE, the shoe company (boys on the top four teams got jackets, while those on the fifth-tenth place teams got sports bags).

Oilers waive Richardson

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The Houston Oilers waived popular reserve quarterback Bucky Richardson today to make room under the team's bulging salary cap for rookie running back Rodney Thomas.

"I felt this was going to happen from Day 1," Richardson said shortly before leaving training camp early today. "When you start losing reps in practice the writing is on the wall."

Thomas, the Oilers' third round pick from Texas A&M, took part in his first workout today while Richardson, also from Texas A&M, packed his gear and looked to the future.

"This has nothing to do with ability, it's all starts with money and the salary cap," Richardson said. "They've already (Oilers) told me

Rodeo finals participants

Stevens team triumphs in Oldsmobile Scramble

The annual Oldsmobile Scramble got off to an exciting start Sunday afternoon when Tom Conewayaced No. 9--the starting hole for his foursome, then the golf tourney climaxed with the sponsor's foursome winning the tourney.

The foursome of Jerry and Linda Stevens, Steve Stevens and Jeff Wilson won the loss gross score with a 59. Three teams tied for the low net score of 55, with the team of Frank Bezner Jr., Bub Sparks, Charles Hoover and Art Clark winning a two-hole playoff for the right to advance to a sectional tourney.

Coneway won a $500 gift certificate at the pro shop for his hole-in-one. Members of the winning low-gross and low-net teams each won $70 in gift certificates and are eligible to play in the sectional tourney in Dallas Aug. 28.

Coneway's ace was witnessed by partners Gary McCulloch, Chip Guseman and Mike Hatley. Coneway hit a 3-wood on the 200-yard hole. Hatley said the shot looked close but they weren't sure it was in the hole until they got to the green.

Hatley, who assembles clubs as a hobby, made the 3-wood used by Coneway. "I tried to claim a part of the prize, but to no avail," quipped Hatley.

The Coneway team tied with another team for runner-up position in low gross scores. The other 61 was carded by the team of Wade Easley, Rodney Ruthart, Mike Cabbiness and Don Graham.

Winners of $30 gift certificates on specific holes included: Nearest to pin on second shot at Nos. 2 and 15, Gail Cash and Wade Easley; longest drives on Nos. 7 and 17, Craig Nieman and Paul Hubbard. Prizes were offered for a hole-in-one on each Par 3, with a new Oldsmobile offered on the shorter No. 3.

All three of the teams tying on the net score had team handicaps of 8, the most allowed under the Olds Scramble system. Each of the teams

Wilson claims saddle

Rodey Wilson, a young Hereford cowboy, picked up a trophy saddle for taking reserve all-around cowboy honors in the 9-12-year-old age group of the High Plains Junior Rodeo Association.

The HPJRA held its finals over the weekend in Clovis, N.M., and Wilson was one of several Hereford youngsters who competed.

Wilson also won belt buckles for finishing first in the year-end competition in all three roping events: calf touching, steer stopping and breakaway roping.

Monty Lewis took a buckle for winning the year-end 13-15 boys breakaway roping. He also finished third in tie-down calf roping and sixth in ribbon roping for the year.

Other Hereford participants who placed in year-end standings:

--Amy Northcutt (8-under girls) was third in goat tying, sixth in barrels and sixth in pole bending.

--Ryan Thomas (13-15 girls) was 10th in breakaway roping.

--Pecos Alford and Kip Kendrick

(13-15 boys) were eighth and ninth in team roping.

--Johna Wilson (16-19 girls) was eighth in pole bending.

Rodey Wilson also was the reserve all-around cowboy for the finals, and he won finals average in calf touching and breakaway. He won the second go-rounds in both those events.

Other Hereford participants who placed in the finals average:

--Ike Blasingame (13-15 boys) was fifth in breakaway roping.

--Northcutt (8-under girls) was fourth in pole bending, also taking fourth in the second go-round.

--Lewis (13-15 boys) was fourth in ribbon roping in both the finals average and in the second go-round. He won the second go-round in tie-down calf roping.

Others from Hereford who participated in the finals were Misty Meyer, Melissa Meyer, Kayli Wilson, Marty Wilson and Shay Henderson.

The HPJRA included nearly 500 young cowboys and cowgirls.

Trading deadline sends top pitchers to airports

By The Associated Press
Baseball's version of musical chairs sent a number of pitchers to new addresses.

In a flurry of deals before the trading deadline, Bret Saberhagen, David Wells, Andy Benes, Mike Stanton, Kevin Tapani and Mark Guthrie changed teams Monday night.

The final-hour trades capped a wild week in which the New York Yankees obtained pitcher David Cone from the Toronto Blue Jays and the Baltimore Orioles gained some power by obtaining Bobby Bonilla from the New York Mets. Two first-place AL teams - California and Cleveland - also picked up starters, the Angels getting Jim Abbott from the Chicago White Sox and the Indians getting Ken Hill from the St. Louis Cardinals.

While trades can still be made, players involved now must clear waivers.

Cincinnati, trying to protect its NL Central lead, got left-hander Wells from the Detroit Tigers for its top pick in last year's draft.

"When you get to this point in July and you have a chance to improve your team, you have to go out and do it, even if it means giving up a top prospect," Reds general manager Jim Bowden said after sending C.J. Nitkowski, minor league pitcher Dave Tuttle and a player to be named later to Detroit.

Wells, 32, was 10-3 with the Tigers this season - including 8-0 in his last nine starts - with a 3.04 earned-run average in 18 starts. In eight big-league seasons, Wells is 73-56.

"David Wells is having an outstanding season and we trust will continue to succeed with Cincinnati," Tigers general manager Joe Klein said. "But we feel with the amount of good young arms we are developing in our system with the addition of two more, we are putting together what could turn out to be an outstanding young pitching staff within the very foreseeable future."

Saberhagen, a two-time Cy Young award winner, was dealt from the Mets to the Colorado Rockies, who have a 3 1/2-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the NL West, for minor league pitchers Juan Acevedo and Arnold Gooch. Saberhagen was 5-5 with a 3.35 ERA this season, his fourth with the Mets.

"I'm going to play with a club that's in first place in the division, and maybe I can help them make the World Series," said Saberhagen, who's expected to be on the mound Thursday night in the finale of Colorado's key three-game series against Los Angeles.

Colorado, who will also receive a minor leaguer to be named from the Mets, also obtained left-hander Bryan Hickerson from the Chicago Cubs for future considerations. Hickerson, 31, was 2-3 with a 6.82 ERA with Chicago, all in relief.

The Rockies have two starters on the disabled list - David Nied and Joe Grahe - and Bill Swift is bothered by a sore shoulder.

The Rockies led the NL with a .282 batting average going into Monday's game, but were second-to-last with a 4.75 ERA.

Benes went from the San Diego Padres to the Seattle Mariners, who are 11 games behind California in the AL West. They are in the running for a wild card, which would be their first postseason appearance.

Benes, 27, was 4-7 with a 4.17 ERA in 19 starts with the Padres and was second in the NL with 126 strikeouts. In seven years with the Padres, he was 69-75 with a 3.57 ERA in 187 games.

The Dodgers sent three minor leaguers - pitchers Jose Parra and Greg Hansell and infielder Ron Coomer - to the Minnesota Twins for Tapani and Guthrie.

Tapani, a right-handed starter, was 6-11 with a 4.92 ERA.

Jays win to stay in playoff hunt

By DAVID GINSBURG
AP Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) - Yes, the Toronto Blue Jays dumped David Cone and are mired in last place in the AL East. They're still the defending World Series champions, though, and have no intention of giving up that title without a fight.

The Blue Jays won for the fifth time in six games Monday night, riding a strong performance by right-hander Pat Hentgen to a 6-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles, who fell into third place in the AL East behind New York, five games behind first-place Boston.

Getting two RBIs apiece from Lance Parrish and Devon White, Toronto moved within 5 1/2 games of the AL wild-card spot and closed to 10 games behind the Red Sox in the AL East.

In the only other AL game Monday, Chicago beat Kansas City 6-4.

While trading Cone for minor leaguers, the Blue Jays held on to outfielder Joe Carter and second baseman Roberto Alomar, both of whom were rumored to be headed elsewhere before the trading deadline midnight Monday.

"Right now, I'm kind of glad they're not making any more deals and getting rid of anyone else," Carter said. "We still have a chance to sneak into the playoffs somehow. With that wild-card spot, we're still in the hunt."

This week could tell the story - after the four-game series with Baltimore that ends Thursday, the Blue Jays play host to Boston for four games.

"We go 7-1 or 8-0 and things get very interesting," Carter said. "We have nothing to lose. No one expects us to go anywhere. We traded away our best pitcher, so it's like, 'Let's go out and have some fun now.'"

It was just like old times for Toronto on Monday. Hentgen (8-8) overcame a shaky start, and the Blue Jays rocked Baltimore starter Jamie Moyer (6-4) for six runs in 5 2-3 innings, handing the left-hander his first loss since June 21.

"Even though we traded Cone away, our guys still haven't quit," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said. "These guys are professionals and they have a lot of pride. No matter what, these guys are going to go out and play hard."

Hentgen gave up five hits, struck out two and walked four in eight innings. He allowed only two singles after the third inning in a worthy encore to his complete-game effort against Minnesota last Wednesday.

"It feels good. It feels real good to smile leaving the ballpark," he said. "There's nothing like getting a 'W' and winning for the team."

It wasn't easy. Hentgen gave up a two-run homer to Cal Ripken in the second inning and walked two in the third before retiring Ripken and Harold Baines on pop-ups with the bases loaded.

"I just felt that could have been a bad inning for me, and it could have been real ugly for the Blue Jays," Hentgen said. "I was able to get out of it with no runs, so I was pumped up and felt good."

Ripken homered twice and drove in three runs for the Orioles, who fell into third place in the AL East, a half-game behind the New York Yankees and five games back of Boston.

White Sox 6, Royals 4

Ron Karkovics' three-run homer highlighted a five-run sixth inning as host Chicago beat Kansas City.

White Sox starter Alex Fernandez (5-7) allowed four runs and eight hits in six innings.

Jason Jacome (0-1) gave up 10 hits and six runs in six innings in his second start for the Royals since being acquired from the New York Mets.

Rockies learning how to stay in pennant race

By VINCENT CINISOMO
Associated Press Writer

In just their third season, the Colorado Rockies are learning how to be a real playoff contender.

The Rockies are already in first place, they are starting to win consistently away from hitter-friendly Coors Field, and on Monday night they made their first deadline-beating trade to shore up a weakness for the stretch run.

Welcome to a pennant race.

Colorado beat Montreal 3-2 Monday to take three of four games at Olympic Stadium and improve their road record to 21-24. They are 28-15 in homer-happy, high-altitude Denver, and lead the NL West by 3 1/2 games.

Then, after the game, the Rockies, with starters David Nied and Joe Grahe already injured and with Bill Swift headed to the disabled list, won the Bret Saberhagen sweepstakes.

The Rockies acquired the two-time Cy Young winner from the New York Mets for two minor league pitchers. A staff with the second-worst ERA in the NL may have found an ace.

Saberhagen, 5-5 with a 3.35 ERA this season but a two-time 20-game winner with Kansas City, had been rumored to be going to the Boston Red Sox, but they dropped out of the bidding early Monday.

The Rockies, who open a three-game series with second-place Los Angeles, don't have a starting pitcher with an ERA below 4.00. Saberhagen will probably pitch the finale of the series against the Dodgers.

He was excited by the opportunity. "You look at last place to first place, throwing in front of 50,000 people every night and first-class facilities out there, hey..." Saberhagen said.

But he'll also face the challenge of pitching in a hitter's ballpark with short fences and thin air.

"In the higher altitude, you have to keep the ball down," Saberhagen said. "We call it ArenaBall. Like (Colorado manager) Don Baylor said, when you come up to bat there, you're in scoring position."

Dante Bichette drove in the go-ahead run in Monday's game with a sacrifice fly in the seventh inning, and Vinny Castilla homered as Colorado beat Montreal.

OILERS

they want me back."

Chris Chandler is the Oilers starting quarterback and the departure of Richardson moved Will Furrer into the backup role. Furrer earns the NFL's $178,000 minimum salary.

Quarterback Steve McNair, the Oilers' No. 1 draft pick, is working at the No. 3 spot. He has signed a seven-year contract worth $28.5 million.

OLDS

scored a 63 and had a net of 55.

The team of John Stagner, Bob Sims, Temple Abney and Pat McGinty was eliminated on the first hole of the playoff. Their second shot was just short of the green, and two birdie chips barely missed.

The other two teams had approach shots on the green. The Ellis-led team putted first from about 10 feet and made birdie, then Sparks knocked in the birdie for the other team.

On the third hole, the Ellis team hit a second shot from about 120 yards out and Cash put it within six feet. Bezner's drive was just 15 yards short of the green, and Sparks chipped to about six feet. All four members of the Ellis team missed the short birdie putt, then Hoover knocked in the putt on the Bezner team's first attempt.

Fourteen teams entered the tournament. Stevens Olds treated players to barbecued hamburgers after the event and each golfer received a "goodie" bag which included one dozen golf balls, a golf towel, bag tag and tees and ball markers.

Richardson would have earned $400,000 this season. He could re-sign with the Oilers, probably for the $178,000 NFL minimum, but he'll consider other options.

Richardson has been among the most popular Oilers since he was drafted by the Oilers in the eighth round in 1992. He was a spot starter last season when the quarterback position was hit with injuries.

Richardson's departure allowed the Oilers to pay for Thomas' three-year, $832,500 contract but general manager Floyd Reese is still working on other options for All-Pro center Bruce Matthews, who has agreed to a four-year deal worth $10.4 million.

But general manager Floyd Reese can't close the deals until he waives players or renegotiates contracts to keep the Oilers under the NFL salary cap. It's a process Reese admits can be unsettling during training camp.

"I'm sure it doesn't help, but this is football in the '90s, and every team in the NFL is going through it," Reese said.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Recent inquiries in your column have concerned moisture that causes photographs to stick to the glass in frames.

A major cause for this happening in the first place is that people spray glass cleaner, however sparingly, directly on the outside of the glass. Even a small amount of cleaner that gets between the frame and glass can create moisture that causes the photos to adhere to the inside glass. So spray the cleaner onto a soft clean cloth, then wipe the outside glass to no closer than 1/4 inch from the frame.

Usually buffing with a dry cloth will be sufficient for the outer edge, but if it isn't, the picture should be removed from the frame and returned only after all parts are thoroughly dry. — Grace Rogers, San Angelo, Texas

Your good advice is picture perfect and it just may save someone from ruining a favorite photo. Thank you for taking the time to write. — Heloise

CHROME POLISH

Dear Heloise: What is the best way to clean bathroom faucets? They always look yucky because of the soap buildup.

I have tried some commercial cleaners and they don't remove all of the gunk. Can you help? — Vi Dobson, Indianapolis, Ind.

Vinegar to the rescue! Just wipe the faucets with some undiluted vinegar, leave it for about five minutes and then rinse well. Voila! Sparkling and clean.

For stains that are hard to remove, cover the faucet with a tissue and spray with vinegar, leave it for a while and then scrub with an old toothbrush or net plastic scrubbie.

Vinegar has a multitude of uses! It's safe and cheap too. I have compiled a pamphlet chock-full of ways to save money by using vinegar around the house. To receive a copy, please send $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped (55 cents) envelope to: Heloise/Vinegar, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001. — Heloise

DECORATIVE ICE CUBES

Dear Heloise: My helpful hint: If you are having a party or get-together, you can decorate your ice cubes by adding food coloring.

For example, make red and green for Christmas or purple and yellow for Easter. It helps make the occasion more festive. — Dorothy Krumpfer, Flanders, N.J.

DRUGS CAN STUNT YOUR GROWTH.

Drugs can devastate your small business. Illegal drug users are absent more frequently than other workers. They file more insurance claims, they cause injuries on the job and they're less productive.

You lose. Your employees lose. Your customers lose.

Here's what you can do: Call 1-800-269-4237 for your free Drugs Don't Work booklet. It tells you how to implement a drug-free policy at work. It doesn't take much time. It's easy. And it can be cost-free.

You can't afford drug abuse. You can afford to do something about it.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS STORY

“Everybody Already Knows My Store And What I Carry.”

Sound Familiar?

Advertising is news about the marketplace, if you don't advertise, you're telling consumers there's no news from your store. But your competition is fighting for the public's interest with regular ads; if you want to keep your share of the market, you need to be in the same arena, bidding for the business. You need to advertise in the newspaper. Plus, people move out of the area and new people move in. Advertise to bring new customers into the store. Sell your store and your service through newspaper advertising.

NOT CONVINCED?

Newspaper advertising is unlike any other media choice. You're reaching a friendly, receptive audience with your advertising message. So receptive that they pay to have the paper delivered to their home. No wonder consumers consider newspapers the most believable advertising medium.

Newspaper advertising can help your business. It can increase sales and in a competitive market, it can give your business and edge over the other guy.

Don't tempt fate. Join the many successful businesses who know what works for them and what doesn't. Advertise in the newspaper and get results.

Disney company purchase of ABC is $19 billion deal

Takeover is second largest acquisition in corporate history of United States

By EVAN RAMSTAD
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Dear Peter, Barbara and Ted. Welcome to the Wonderful World of Disney.

The Walt Disney Co. realigned the hierarchy of global media Monday with a $19 billion deal to purchase Capital Cities/ABC Inc., owner of the nation's leading television network.

The combination will pass Time

Warner Inc. in size as the world's top purveyor of entertainment, bringing in more than $17 billion annually with properties ranging from Disney World to "Pocahontas," the ESPN cable channel to top-rated shows like "Home Improvement," "Roseanne," and "World News Tonight with Peter Jennings."

"We think these two companies are the premier family entertainment and communication companies in this country," Michael Eisner, Disney's chairman and chief executive officer, told a news conference. "And we think the combination of the two together gives us the opportunity around the world to grow."

The deal is the second-largest takeover in U.S. corporate history, eclipsed only by the $25 billion acquisition of RJR Nabisco Inc. by the Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co. investment firm in 1989.

It is the most vivid sign yet that big entertainment companies view the key to future growth as greater control of both creation and distribution of their products.

Capital Cities/ABC will become a subsidiary of Disney. Eisner, a former entertainment president at ABC, will continue to lead it. Thomas Murphy, chairman and chief executive of ABC, will become a director of Disney but step down from daily management.

"I've been in the business of broadcasting for 41 years and this is the high point of my career, seeing these two companies agreeing to go forward together," Murphy said.

In Texas Capital Cities/ABC owns WBAP/KSCS radio in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, KTRK-TV in Houston, and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The ABC Radio Network also is based in Dallas.

Disney will become the fourth company to own both a Hollywood studio and a broadcast TV network. It is buying the biggest and strongest broadcast network while News Corp.'s Fox, Viacom Inc.'s UPN and Time Warner's WB Network started from scratch.

ABC's viewers won't notice any immediate changes. Whatever changes are made are likely to be subtle, such as Disney characters promoting the network's Saturday morning cartoons.

But Eisner said, as he thought about new business possibilities, he had trouble concentrating on the deal. "My mind kept wandering from debt and public markets to 'Hmmm, ESPN bars, we could do 40 of those,'" he said.

Disney and Capital Cities/ABC have strong historic connections, going back to a $4.5 million loan ABC made that helped get Disneyland built in Anaheim, Calif., in 1954. ABC also broadcast Disney's first three TV productions: "Disneyland," "The Mickey Mouse Club" and "Zorro."

Their top executives said they had considered a merger twice during the past three years.

The decision to finally go ahead came when the CEOs - guided by billionaire shareholders Warren Buffett and Sid Bass - met informally at a conference in Sun Valley, Idaho, July 20.

Eisner approached Murphy near the end of the conference, suggesting the time to combine was right because both companies were performing well.

The two negotiated last week, settling on a package that gives Capital Cities/ABC shareholders both cash and stock in the combined company.

KING'S LYNN, England (AP) - The Queen Mother made a rare concession Wednesday to her 94 years, giving up her walking stick for a golf cart to tour a flower show.

She still stopped along the route to chat with the judges and the exhibitors displaying their blooms on the grounds of the royal family's Sandringham House in southeast England.

The mother of Queen Elizabeth II and the most enduringly popular member of the family, the Queen Mother has kept a busy public schedule despite her advancing years.

Financial advisers and attorneys joined the process Thursday to evaluate the terms and draft the deal, which was finished Sunday.

Capital Cities/ABC shareholders will receive one share of Disney stock and $65 in cash for each of their shares, giving Capital Cities/ABC a value of $122.37-1/2 per share based on Disney's share prices before Monday's trading. That placed the overall value of the deal at around $19 billion.

Capital Cities/ABC stock jumped $20.125 to $116.25 per share Monday and Disney rose $1.25 to $58.625 per share. Both are traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

While there have been buyout rumors during the past year for each of the three major broadcast networks, speculation in recent weeks has been most intense that CBS Inc., which finished a dismal season, will soon be bought by Westinghouse Electric Corp. for $5 billion.

Media industry analysts were caught a bit off guard by Disney.

"Given that ABC is probably the best-run network and Eisner has had a familiarity with ABC, it makes a good fit," said Ed Hatch, analyst at UBS Securities Inc. "There's probably a thought by many people that, with CBS in play, that might have been the more obvious choice."

Eisner declined to discuss CBS in detail, but he did say ABC has expanded overseas and in cable more extensively.

Because the businesses are complementary, Eisner said he does not expect jobs will be lost. The companies had combined annual revenues of about $16.5 billion in 1994, above Time Warner's $15.9 billion.

Robert A. Iger, president and chief operating officer of Capital Cities/ABC, will lead it as a Disney unit. While the deal may give ABC more access to Disney movies and TV shows, the network will continue to work with the Hollywood community at large, he said.

"Our goal at the television network is to attract the largest possible audience, particularly in the key demographic categories," Iger said. "It would not make sense for us to force programming onto the schedule that in any way reduces the size of our audience."

For instance, ABC agreed last fall to invest $100 million in DreamWorks SKG, the studio co-founded by Jeffrey Katzenberg, who departed bitterly last August as chief of Disney's movie studio.

"My point of view is we want the best shows on this network that are possible to get," Eisner said. "If Dreamworks can come up with a show that the American public will want to watch, I am thrilled."

Besides theme parks and movie studios, Disney operates the Disney Channel on cable television, has 400 Disney Stores and licenses its characters to manufacturers. Disney also publishes books, magazines and music.

The ABC-TV network, with 225 affiliates, is the flagship property of Capital Cities/ABC. It also owns eight TV stations and will soon acquire two more.

It also owns 80 percent of sports cable broadcaster ESPN Inc., has interests in the Lifetime Television and A&E Television Networks cable channels, and has 21 radio stations. Other interests range from newspapers and magazines to investments in overseas broadcasting.
