We are not the problem

Store owners argue economics of wet-dry issue. They also want to know why no one from dry forces ever came to visit.

Hereford's alcohol retailers feel they are being blamed for a problem they say isn't theirs.

Petitions have been signed calling for a vote on the wet-dry issue in Deaf Smith County. Commissioners may call an election if 1,441 names can be certified on petitions turned in to County Clerk David Ruland in November.

Dry forces have called for the county to go dry, to end package store sales of alcoholic beverages. They have claimed alcohol is too accessible to juveniles, and that alcohol is to blame for increases in the crime rate in Hereford.

"I wish I felt like going dry would solve the problems they want to solve, but I have a hard time thinking it will," said Marcy Hughes at 19th Hole Package Store, and The Country Store. 19th Hole sells hard liquor; Country Store sells beer and wine, all for off-premises consumption.

"I don't think this election is solving the problem," she said.

T.H. Sossaman at Sam's, a liquor store on the north side of Hereford, says there will be a half-dozen bootleggers in operation the day after the election if the county is voted dry.

"The bootleggers won't care if the customers are 12 or 15 or 18 or whatever," said Sossaman. "I know those kids are not getting it from us because they can't come in here." In fact, a person under 21 isn't allowed in a liquor store to buy a Coke or use a telephone or anything else, unless they are accompanied by a parent.

"That's where the problem is, or one of the problems: the parents," said Hughes. "We can't control who gets it after it leaves here. We are not anyone's babysitters. We've already raised our families, and we're not raising everyone else's kids."

"In fact, most of us (in the liquor business) have lived here for a long time, raised our families here. It's discouraging for us to have lived here 30 years and have someone trying to lock our doors."

Hughes said she wasn't going to argue morals but economics. That's the thrust behind a fledgling group calling itself the Hereford Retail Association. It is being formed as a loose-knit group of folks to fight for the wet side.

"The bootleggers won't care if the customers are 12 or 15 or 18 or whatever. I know those kids are not getting it from us because they can't come in here."

"I just made some phone calls to get some people together, then I am going to bow out," said Joe Soliz Jr. Soliz, who has an interest in Joe's Country Club along with his father, said he was on the "dry" side, for a while.

"I thought it would help the club if we went dry," Soliz said. "Then I thought about it and talked to some people about the economic impact. I don't think we can stand 50 people being out of work and five more empty buildings in town."

Sossaman said the stores could move south, into Castro County, which used to have a strip of five stores along U.S. Highway 385 until 10 years ago, when Hereford went wet. Or, store owners could go east, into Randall County, where there were a couple of stores for a short time between here and UMBARGER.

"It will cost you $75,000, $100,000 to do that," said Sossaman. Hughes pointed out that alcohol retailers can't just move. They have to go through permits and hearings and other steps before getting approval from Texas Alcohol Beverage Commission.

"TABC is so strict on everything, and I think some people who are against us don't understand that," said Hughes. "We can't be the contributor to all of these problems. We have to make sure the customers are the right age. We have to make sure they aren't drunk. We have to make sure of everything."

"We are not the band guys, and it's not like we are selling something illegal. We are very monitored and very regulated. Sometimes it really bothers me that they make us feel like we are the enemy. We are not the enemy. All we are trying to do is make a living--legally."

"We are not the problem."

Next week: the other side.

Wanna save almost $100? Shop at home

Is it really cheaper at WalMart than it is at home?

A comparison of prices in recent advertisements says no.

The Brand compared prices listed in a recent Gibson's circular and a recent WalMart circular. There were differences, and some things were cheaper at WalMart.

There were a few comparisons done between toys at Gibson's and the same items listed in a Toy "R" Us circular.

Once differences in sales tax (another cent on every dollar), gasoline and other costs are added in, there are more savings indicated.

Here are some of the comparisons for a shopping list you might have. We'll let you play with the Brand's money to see what you might be able to spend and possibly save.

140 lights in motion

--at Gibson's, $7.97

--at WalMart, $7, plus a total of 250 lights.

We'll take one set.

Totally Hair Barbie:

--at Gibson's, $9.83

--at Toys R Us, $9.99

I need one for each niece, so we'll get three.

Men's Sweaters:

--at Gibson's, 100% Acrylic, $9.88.

--at WalMart, Shaker stitch knit, $12.

One for each of my brothers, so I need two of those.

Christmas Dorm Shirts:

--at Gibson's, $9.88.

--at WalMart, $11.

One for each of the girls, so two of those.

Brach's Chocolate Covered Cherries:

--at Gibson's, 94 cents.

--at WalMart, 88 cents.

How about six of those.

Color television:

--at WalMart, 20-inch RCA with remote, 147 channel tuner, auto-programming, $239.76.

--at Gibson's, 19-inch Emerson with remote, 181 channel tuner, auto-programming, $199.96.

She will love that. Will she notice the difference between 19-inch and 20-inch? Probably.

Christmas cards:

--Box of 18 at Gibson's, $1.39 each.

--Box of 20 at WalMart, 2 boxes for $7 ($3.50 each).

Two boxes will do well.

Gun Cabinet:

--7-gun Sauder cabinet at Gibson's, $114.99

--at WalMart, Gusdorf cabinet, $134.

I always wanted Santa to bring me one. Ho ho ho.

Autofocus 35mm camera:

--At WalMart, Minolta Freedom AF-35, with camera bag, film and batteries, $69.

--At Gibson's, Olympus Trip AF S-2, batteries and film not included, $59.88.

No more out of focus pictures!

Iced Tea Makers:

--West Bend at Gibson's, $19.97

--Mr. Coffee at WalMart, $22.96.

Are these really good?

Auto Batteries:

--At Gibson's, 60-month, $34.88.

--At WalMart, 60-month, $37.84.

I always wanted to give Uncle Richard a 200-pound Christmas gift.

VCR:

--At WalMart, Emerson VCR with remote, 181 channels, on-screen programming, 4-week/4-event timer, $169.87.

--At Gibson's, Shinton VCR with remote, 181 channels, 14-day/4-event timer, $179.96.

Who needs 181 channels?

Batteries:

--AA Duracell batteries at Gibson's, 4-packs, $1.99 each, or $5.97 for 12.

--AA Energizer batteries at WalMart, $5.96 for a 12 pack.

Now, let's ring up the savings.

Churches will help with CSF

Local churches seeking to assist the community's less fortunate this holiday season are being asked to coordinate their efforts with the Christmas Stocking Fund.

Church officials are asked to contact the office of the Deaf Smith County chapter of the American Red Cross in order to inform CSF of assistance to families or individuals.

The local Red Cross office will pass along word to the anonymous volunteer committee which administers CSF, informing them of people being helped, thus avoiding duplication of effort and allowing assistance to be delivered to more of those in need this Yule season.

Churches, civic organizations or individuals who wish to deliver their own assistance to the needy this holiday season may also contact the local Red Cross office to obtain the names of families or individuals who are in need.

The Red Cross office here is not affiliated with CSF, but provides office space, clerical assistance and delivers messages to the volunteer group.

Donations may be made to CSF through the New Year holiday by leaving them at the offices of The Hereford Brand, 313 Lee, or by mailing them to CSF in care of Box 673, Hereford.

New system takes cooperative effort

Field crews of Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative will now have clear communication with their Hereford headquarters, and with one another when working in the cooperative's service area, thanks to an ultra-high-band radio system.

The system was sold, designed and installed by WT Services, Inc. of Hereford, a wholly-owned subsidiary of West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative.

WT Services technicians did a whirlwind job of installing radio units in REC service vehicles. They installed 25 mobile radios on November 9 and 10. Ralph Bell, Freddie Flores and Gary Parker of the Hereford WT Services and radio shop, were joined by Carlos Elizarraraz of the WT Services Amarillo radio shop in performing installations at Deaf Smith REC headquarters.

Much of the backbone of the new REC radio system was put in place last summer and this fall.

Deaf Smith REC's old radio system lacked sufficient range to reach throughout its 4,600 square mile service area, which includes Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer and Oldham counties.

Because Deaf Smith REC crews must service 3,780 miles of line, much of it in remote locations, good, audible communication is essential.

Fran Kaluznick of WT Services, Inc. met with Steve Louder and Dick Montgomery of Deaf Smith REC to discuss the REC's radio needs. Ms. Kaluznick proposed replacing the aging REC system with a 450 MHz repeater-equipped system and Deaf Smith REC later approved the proposed system.

WT Services put in place a radio system which includes a license for two 450-470 MHz repeater pairs. WT Services handled the licensing of these facilities.

WT Services also took care of the construction of a repeater building at a tower site in Dimmitt, and the building of a 150 ft. tower at the REC's Hereford office. Deaf Smith REC is leasing three repeater sites from WT Services, Inc., located at Summerfield, Dimmitt and Lariat, and is leasing a fourth site at Adrian from XIT Rural Telephone.

All told, the electric cooperative purchased 25 mobile radios, three portable radios and a base station. Numerous remotes were also wired into the system. Using the Hereford office remotes, individuals in the local office will be able to talk to anyone in the field and hear both sides of the conversation.

Kaluznick says that the ultra-high-band radio system will provide uniform radio coverage throughout Deaf Smith REC's service area, and will greatly decrease system noise, which was a problem on the old system.

(See COOPS, Page 2A)

New communications system fills a need

Fran Kaluznick, a customer service representative with WT Services, discusses a new communications system with employees of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative. The new system allows DSEC employees to have better communications with their home base in Hereford.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

People have fought for centuries over whether men or women are smarter. In "Trifles," a play by Susan Glaspell, Mrs. Montgomery's eighth graders were challenged to view this age-old question again by seeing whether men or women can best solve the mystery of who murdered John Wright. Students must read carefully if they want to discover whether or not some little things, "trifles," which are found by the women, will prove Mrs. Wright guilty. Serious drama like "Trifles" studies the characters of people and the ways in which they change. As students read they tried to discover what thoughts and feelings make them act and speak as they do.

Mrs. Montgomery's classes have also completed "The Man Without A Country" and became very interested in what it would be like to never be able to go home again and to spend 56 years no closer than 100 miles from the American coast.

Science classes of Mrs. Hendrickson are beginning their unit on dissecting frogs, worms and grasshoppers, while Mr. Barham's science classes are studying the earth's revolution and motion.

From a list of over 350 HJH students with perfect attendance for the second six weeks, three names were drawn for prizes of Hereford Bucks. The winners were Samuel Pesqueda and Salvadore Orozco, with $50 each, and Jennifer Villarreal won $25. Congratulations to each one!

Two hundred letters were sent to parents of honor roll students and many favorable progress reports and post cards have been mailed to parents.

HJH students currently enrolled in S.O.A.R. and Prime Time are doing well and most are "keeping up" with their peers scholastically.

Mr. Farr's American history classes are comparing colonial architectural features with those of homes in Hereford and this has proved to be an interesting study.

Student representatives that helped in leading the Pledge to the Flag from Dec. 1 to December 18 are Nancy Bravo, Staci Betzen, Francisco Vasquez, Andrew Carr, James Aguilon, Monique Napoles, Darrin Gilley, Ruben Flores, Meredith Tabor, Jacquelyn Bezner, Christopher Garth, Briar Baker, Roger Gaitan and Lilianna Ramirez.

Essays solicited by Brand

The Hereford Brand is asking for readers to submit essays of 200 words or less on "My Favorite Holiday Memory."

The Brand will print as many essays as possible in the Christmas Greeting edition on Dec. 20 and others during the week before Christmas. The deadline for the essays is Dec. 11, and will be printed on a first-come, first-served, space-available basis. Essays should be legibly printed or typed, and may be mailed to the Brand at PO Box 673 or dropped by the office at 313 N. Lee.

Keywanettes plan blood drive

Hereford Keywanettes will host a blood drive Monday from 2:30 to 7 p.m. at the Hereford High School auditorium.

The Panhandle's blood supply is low because several scheduled drives were canceled because of inclement weather across the area. All eligible persons interested in keeping a safe, reliable blood supply for the Panhandle are urged to give blood Monday.

Santa letters needed by Brand

The Hereford Brand is now accepting letters to Santa for inclusion in the Christmas Greeting edition on Dec. 20.

Letters should be brought to the Brand no later than 5 p.m. on Dec. 9 for the special edition of the Sunday Brand. Teachers are also encouraged to have their students write letters to Santa, or essays about the Christmas season. The letters and essays may be placed in the special box in the Brand office entrance at 313 N. Lee, or may be sent to the Brand at PO Box 673. Letters will, of course, be forwarded to Santa.

Lighting contest underway

The annual Christmas Lighting Contest is underway, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Categories include residential window or door and total home, and business window or door and total business. Last year's winners must enter in a different category.

Entry forms are available at the Chamber office, Seventh and Main, and several businesses. There is no charge for entry, but forms must be turned in by 5 p.m. on Dec. 14. Judging will be conducted Dec. 14-16, and winners will be given Hereford Bucks.

City will meet Monday

Hereford city commissioners will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

The agenda includes bid awards on five new police cars; repairs for the non-directional beacon at Hereford Municipal Airport; assessment paving projects on Knight and Lafayette streets; agreement with the Texas Forest Service; and approval of the personnel policy.

Hospital open house is Sunday

Deaf Smith General Hospital will help the community celebrate the Christmas season with a "Holiday Open House" Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. The event will be held in the front lobby of the hospital with cookies and punch being served.

"We want residents to stop by, visit with their friends and neighbors, and look at the changes we've made in their hospital," said Ron Rives, DSGH administrator. "We're very proud of the changes and, even more importantly, we are extremely grateful for the wonderful support our community has given us. We invite everyone to join us as we say, 'Thank you.'"

Police field reports

Hereford police are investigating a report of providing alcohol to minors in the 300 block of Ave. J on Friday.

Other reports included assault in the 300 block of Ave. J; beer taken from a convenience store; phone harassment; a child custody and family dispute; tire and tractor weight found in the 300 block of E. First; criminal trespass in the 200 block of Elm; an accident was reported on West U.S. Highway 60, but nothing was found; and two runaways reported in the 300 block of Adelito Calle.

Police issued seven tickets Friday.

Former ministers will be honored

A get-together for two retired United Methodist ministers, both closely associated with Hereford, will be held Friday to mark the anniversary of their joining the Northwest

REV. NOEL BRYANT

Texas Methodist Conference in 1938 when they were still students in Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University.

Rev. Noel Bryant, who was born and grew up in Hereford, and Dr. Jordan Grooms, who served from 1973 to 1978 as pastor of First United Methodist Church here, will be honored by their families and friends with a series of events open to the public.

There will be a service of Holy Communion in First UMC here Friday at 10:30 a.m., conducted by Rev. Joe Woods, pastor. Then the two families will go to Hereford Senior Citizen Center for lunch, where they invite friends of both ministers to join them for the meal and an informal reception at the center afterwards.

The celebration will continue Sunday morning, Dec. 13, when both Dr. Grooms and Rev. Bryant will take part in the morning service at Polk Street UMC in Amarillo. Their families will be seated together in the congregation.

Dr. Grooms now resides in Amarillo and Rev. Bryant in Dallas. They were close friends at SMU, graduating in 1939. Both were ordained to the ministry that year at the NWT Conference session in Sweetwater.

Rev. Bryant's first appointment was as associate minister of St. Paul's UMC in Abilene, while Dr. Grooms was given the same position at Polk Street UMC in Amarillo. Each was pastor of several Northwest Texas churches before Rev. Bryant transferred to the North Texas Conference in 1954 from Borger.

Dr. Grooms served as superintendent of the Big Spring and Brownwood districts in addition to pastoral duties. He was pastor of Polk Street Church when he retired.

Saying that he "didn't want to sit around," he accepted the invitation of Bishop De Falco to a job in the Office of Christian Formation for the Catholic Diocese of Amarillo, to engage in teacher training.

Rev. Bryant, son of the Homer Bryants, graduated from Hereford schools and McMurry College before entering seminary. He is a brother of Cawthon Bryant of Hereford.

His transfer to North Texas UMC Conference sent him as pastor to Oak Cliff Church in Dallas, then to Denton and Sherman. He became superintendent of Wichita Falls district, where he served as Conference Council Director, then went to Sherman-McKinney district from which he retired in 1984.

Since retiring, he has worked with the intern program of SMU, and teaches a Sunday School class at University Park UMC in Dallas. He has been active in civic affairs in every town where he lived. In 1986, McMurry College honored him as "Outstanding Alumni of the Year."

COOPS

The system will allow office remotes to hear both sides of main dispatch to mobile communications, allow portables to operate the main dispatch, and allow all mobile units to hear main dispatch. All repeaters and base stations are also equipped with a battery backup, in case of power outages.

"REC's old radio system was subject to a lot of 'skip' and the noise level was terrible. Radio messages should be much more legible over this new system," says Kaluznick.

WT Services will also provide service on the radio units purchased by Deaf Smith REC, and will be on 24-hour call for servicing fixed equipment in the system, such as repeaters and base stations.

The sale of the radio system to Deaf Smith REC by WT Services, Inc. continues a long-standing relationship between two local cooperatives.

West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative, the parent company of WT Services, got its start via the old Deaf Smith County Rural Electric Cooperative, which took the lead in establishing rural telephone service in Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties. Deaf Smith County REC applied for a rural telephone cooperative in Hereford in 1949.

West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative was headquartered with Deaf Smith County REC, (later renamed Deaf Smith REC) during its first ten years, although the telephone and electric cooperatives had separate boards and employees.

WTRT parted from the electric cooperative in 1962 in order to be headquartered in its own facilities.

Today, WTRT is a customer of Deaf Smith REC, purchasing power for its business office and numerous central offices scattered over the service area.

Deaf Smith REC has purchased communications equipment from WTRT and subsidiaries over the years.

Aid convoy canceled in Somalia

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) - A relief agency tired of waiting for warlords to allow them to deliver food canceled today's departure of two loaded convoys amid squabbling between the warring clans.

The convoys were set to make the treacherous journey from the seaport to the northern part of the divided capital by afternoon, but an agreement between the sides to let the trucks through broke down several hours later.

Rhodri Wynn-Pope, the team leader for CARE International, called the effort off near sundown.

Crossing the line that divides the city "takes about 10 minutes normally, but these are not normal conditions. We have got two convoys of 20 trucks each, and we're not going to take a chance," he said. "If we let them go late, it's possible they could get looted."

Wynn-Pope said his agency would try again in the morning to move out the convoys loaded with tons of rice, beans and wheat.

Relief agencies trying to feed Somalia's starving have often stood by in frustration while food is stolen or left to sit in warehouses. The chaos prompted Washington to lead an international armed rescue effort expected to begin Monday with a first wave of U.S. Marines.

Relief workers say there are 12,000 metric tons of food at the port - enough to feed 1 million people for a month.

Ready to communicate

Employees of WT Services and West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative install new communications equipment in one of many trucks for Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative.

Angel Trees at local banks

Angels are on trees at Hereford State Bank and First National Bank of Hereford ready for you to adopt this season. The names of children and adults who have special needs are on the angels, along with needs you can meet. The trees are sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Volunteer Board in cooperation with the Texas Department of Human Services.

Obituaries

ANITA RODRIGUEZ

Dec. 3, 1992

Anita Rodriguez, 83, of Snyder, died Thursday, Dec. 3, 1992.

Services are planned for 2 p.m. Sunday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home Chapel.

Mrs. Rodriguez was born in San Juan, Mexico. She married Ismael Rodriguez in 1928 in Uvalde. He died in 1972. She was also preceded in death by two daughters, two sons and two brothers.

Survivors include four sons, Gilbert Rodriguez of Hereford and Moises Rodriguez, John Rodriguez and Raymond Rodriguez, all of Snyder; a daughter, Ophelia Hernandez of Snyder; 26 grandchildren; and 29 great-grandchildren.

Child CPR class set Tuesday

Deaf Smith General Hospital has scheduled a second infant/child CPR class, open to anyone who wishes to attend. The four-hour class will be held Tuesday, from 6 to 10 p.m. in the Hereford Community Center.

The class will be taught under the CPR guidelines of the American Heart Association.

L.V. Watts, instructor for the program, noted the importance of understanding the distinct difference between infant/child and adult CPR. "Many people have learned basic CPR in recent years," said Watts.

"The smaller size of the child requires a little difference in technique. However, it is a simple technique that anyone can learn quickly--and the few hours in class could mean the difference between life and death. When people know exactly what to do in an emergency, they are more likely to respond quickly and correctly."

Parents, grandparents, baby sitters, day-care workers, teachers and others who deal with children are encouraged to attend the class. Class participants will practice on infant and child-size resuscitating dummies to learn the technique. Space is limited, and reservations should be made with Watts at 364-2141 as soon as possible.

The class is part of "Neighbors Saving Neighbors," the DSGH-sponsored community-wide effort to teach CPR skills to the majority of Hereford's adult population using the American Heart Association CPR guidelines. Classes to learn adult CPR are planned for Tuesday evenings through May, according to hospital administrator Ron Rives.

"The program is taught by American Heart Association volunteers--most of whom are part of our professional staff at DSGH," said Rives.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says a hamburger by any other name is more expensive.

The auctioneer interrupted his chant to announce that someone in the audience had lost a billfold containing $1,000 and that a reward of $100 was being offered for its return. A voice from the rear of the crowd called, "One hundred and ten!"

The Christmas Stocking Fund will make the holiday season brighter for many Hereford families again this year. It will happen because of the sharing and caring attitude of local residents who make contributions so that the anonymous CSF committee can provide assistance to the less fortunate people in the community.

Each year, as we head up the fundraising efforts, we look at a week's total and become concerned that the drive is not going well. Then, we look back at last year's total on that date and discover that it's about the same.

CSF was started by Jim Wither- spoon's Sunday School class at the First Baptist Church in 1980. It grew each year in the amount of contributions and, of course, in the number of families it reached. A larger, cross-section of community volunteers took over the cause after a few years and CSF has been a blessing to many needy folks in the community.

If you don't "adopt" a family and personally deliver assistance, then you can do it through CSF. Bring your donation to The Brand office, or mail it to CSF, care of Box 673. You can be assured that the CSF group will do the best they can with your gift!

We like to think of our elected representatives as ordinary folks that we send to Washington. Many of them seem to think they're privileged characters after getting a taste of that life.

Three living former House speakers can attest that there is life after Congress--and a good one.

Carl Albert, Tip O'Neill and Jim Wright all have official offices in their hometowns. Last year the federal government budgeted $600,000 to hire nine staffers and to run the offices of the retired speakers. They also get free rent in a federal office building, and they continue to enjoy free postal service.

The Office of Former Speakers was created in 1970 so speakers could "wrap up business after leaving Congress." It is up to an individual former speaker to decide when his business is concluded. Albert left Congress in 1977.

Last year, Albert's total expenses were $154,634; O'Neill's total was $184,857, and Wright's expense total was $170,054.

Old habits--like spending--or hard to break.

During tough economic times, those with imagination figure out how to make ends meet. Of the more innovative ideas we've read about comes from a guy in Colorado who is literally cleaning up on prairie dogs.

Farmers and ranchers will tell you that prairie dogs can be a lot more than just a nuisance. We've heard local farmers and ranchers complaining about the pesky varmints, and there are several prairie-dog "towns" around the county.

All types of eradication processes have been used, including traps, bait, poison, fire and water. Environmentalists frown on some of these methods and about the only thing you ever get rid of is a good disposition.

The guy in Colorado uses a modified sewer cleaning truck to vacuum the critters out of their underground burrows. The prairie dogs are deposited, dazed but unharmed, in the padded tank of a giant vacuum truck.

The man's going rate for sucking the critters out of the ground is anywhere from $800 to $1,000 a day.

According to a business magazine, the man is thinking about starting a franchise. The man, Guy Balfour, said he dreamed up the idea when his two existing businesses--welding and a marina--were on the ropes.

His wife was skeptical about the new venture, but now she is a firm believer since his first job was such a success. On its maiden run, the device captured 23 dogs in less than two hours.

The technique, he says, works with any burrowing animal. He's already been contacted by Australians, who have a long-running problem with rabbits.

An AP News Analysis

Democrats, Republicans blame one another

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - Democrats blamed Republicans. Republicans blamed Democrats.

After three weeks of a special legislative session on school finance, nothing was resolved when the session crashed into adjournment Thursday.

Less than an hour after 57 House members - 53 of them Republicans - blocked the Democratic leadership's proposed constitutional amendment on school finance, lawmakers headed home empty handed.

And some at the Capitol wondered whether the three quarrelsome, contentious weeks might be a preview of things to come.

"We have seen very cynical partisan politics played on this (House) floor. And you can look at the vote right down the line. It's a straight party line vote. It's obstructive. It's cynical. It's sad. And it does nothing for this state," said Gov. Ann Richards, a Democrat.

"From a political aspect, she is the one that's played the school issue like a yo-yo. ... She's the one that's supposed to be leading this state, and she's the one that's supposed to have a bill out there that the people are for," responded Midland Rep. Tom Craddick, leader of the House Republican Caucus.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, the Democrat who presides over the Senate, was subdued.

"If nothing else, we learned gridlock and partisan games accomplish nothing," he said.

The GOP had real muscle to flex on this issue.

After three Texas Supreme Court rulings overturning school finance laws, Democratic leaders wanted a constitutional amendment to provide an answer once and for all.

But that requires a two-thirds vote of the Senate and a two-thirds vote of the House.

The amendment, which essentially would have allowed the state to redistribute some local property tax money from wealthy districts to poor ones, sailed through the Senate 29-2. Seven of the nine Republican senators joined 22 Democrats in voting yes.

But things were different in the House, where Republicans hold 58 seats, eight more than one-third. Democratic leaders needed several Republican votes. They only got two.

The House Republicans balked at approving a constitutional amendment without also seeing a detailed blueprint spelling out how the school money would be spent.

"The Republicans did not kill this session," the GOP caucus said in a statement. "We simply represented the people who elected us. Those people elected us to hold the line on state taxes and local property taxes. That is what the Republicans in the House did."

Richards, whose language grew more heated as the session wore on, called the GOP lawmakers "obstructionists" on the final day.

"It's a good thing for these legislators to go home and hear from the people. I think they're going to be very disappointed. What it appears like is a bunch of junior high school wrangling and it's time for them to grow up," she said.

Since Reconstruction, Democrats have controlled both houses of the Legislature.

But slowly, election by election, the GOP has been gaining ground.

The party reached one-third of the House in the mid-1980s. It gained more than one-third of the Senate seats in this year's balloting. Come January, the new Senate will have 18 Democrats and 13 Republicans.

School finance, admittedly, is one of the most difficult issues for the Legislature. Given the importance Texans place on their local schools, each lawmaker must remember the folks back home when he casts a vote on the question.

So this special session's single topic might not foreshadow further partisan paralysis when lawmakers return for the 1993 Legislature.

But next year, they'll have more on their agenda.

There's the budget, a projected multibillion-dollar deficit and taxes. And after Thursday, they're still looking at school finance.

Letters to the editor

Dear editor,

A number of high school teams are fortunate enough to win games. Some are fortunate enough to make it to the playoffs. Few make it to Austin.

Fewer still are fortunate enough to get the support and enthusiasm from their communities like our volleyball team received from ours. We could have had a good year, but thanks to tireless supporters we had a great year.

We thank all of you who cheered us on. You helped us get excited about winning and encouraged us when we lost. Most importantly, you stuck with us.

We thank the student body and faculty at the high school. Your enthusiasm was tremendous. We also appreciate the merchants who sponsored ads and broadcasts, and used their signs to wish us luck. We're grateful to the Hereford Brand and KPAN for showing such interest in us and our sport.

We thank our parents, who were with us from the beginning. You've always believed we were capable of great things.

Sincerely,
The 1992 Lady Whiteface Volleyball Team

Dear Editor:

The new treaty weighs 12 pounds, 4 ounces, and is a socialistic "turkey" which has the potential of all sorts of trouble for the American economy. The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) has little to do with free trade and a lot to do with more government bureaucracy and tyranny.

The NAFTA treaty is 741 pages with an additional 348 pages of annexes and 619 pages of footnotes and amplifications. This incredible mammoth document creates a regional government of Mexico, Canada and the United States to be known as the Free Trade Commission, which would implement the treaty.

The appointed bureaucrats would have enormous powers, including a blank check of power to "consider any other matter that may affect the operation of the agreement." NAFTA delineates policy on virtually every industrial, agricultural, environmental and labor policy--which means that the Free Trade Commission would be authorized to consider just about everything its "Secretariat" could dream up. The Secretariat would contain at least eight permanent committees, four subcommittees and six "working groups."

The extra taxes on Americans needed to finance this socialist juggernaut would affect every U.S. citizen either directly with tax increases or indirectly with increased costs of operation by the businesses to comply with the myriad of new regulations.

Any reasonable assessment reveals that NAFTA is the framework for a socialist tyranny as part of the New World Order. Protest should be made by labor unions, farmers, businessmen and taxpayers. There is not much time before the "turkey" hatches. Protest now!

Sincerely,
MacDonald Hays, Amarillo

Dear Editor:

In behalf of fairness to the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in United States and Canada, I would like to make three comments concerning the full page ad by Christ's Church Fellowship on Nov. 29.

(1) Within the congregational freedom of the Disciples, the former First Christian Church, Hereford, has exercised its rights. Yet, this was done without responsible involvement or dialogue with this denomination since 1986 when they closed off the final financial support with the larger church body. The pastor of that period had led the congregation in this direction and was later dismissed for other reasons. Nevertheless he was accepted on comments and attitudes toward Disciples and losing members to other congregations.

(2) The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) have always focused on the centrality of faith in Jesus Christ but with freedom of interpretation. In receiving, but not approving the Commission on Theology Report in 1989, the official documentation reads: (The general assembly of the Disciples of Christ) "reaffirms our belief that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the Living God, and proclaims Him Lord and Savior of the world; and we acknowledge that no statement of faith can fully express the whole faith of the whole church. We offer this report as one resource to congregations, regions, general units, organizations, and institutions within the church for study and response. We urge ongoing dialogue and searching that we may grow in our understanding of the Lordship of Jesus Christ and in our freedom to embrace all who name Jesus Christ as Savior."

(3) The choice of identifying with Christ's Church Fellowship seems quite natural since their pastor for the past two years has been a leader of that organization and does not and has not held standing as a Disciple pastor. We regret the loss of this congregation but we understand the flow which has happened because of leadership in isolation from the denomination in which they had a strong history.

Cordially yours,
Harold E. Cline, Area Minister

Snow thoughts

BY JIM HUDSON
The Perryton Herald

Besides the beautiful scenes of layers and layers of white snow in the aftermath of the blizzard last week, there are also many scenes of basic human kindness that played themselves out in the days following the storm. Strangers helping each other battle through the drifts, ditches and ice brought warmth to the cold weather.

I know that this scene was replayed a hundred times, but I witnessed this one while parked in the lot of a local retailer. A young woman, piloting a car full of small children, was desperately trying to get out of her parking space. She gunned the car forward until the wheels spun, then slammed it into reverse until she spun to a halt. Through the back window of the car I could see kids yelling and bouncing on the seats. I am sure they thought it was just another amusement park ride. The mother was not amused.

After the fourth or fifth attempt back and forth, a couple of young men who were walking by pointed at her hood and pantomimed a push. She nodded her head and the duo started pushing. A little huffing puffing later, the young woman was back on her way with a smile and friendly wave. Not a word was spoken, but the meaning was clear. The assistance was freely given and gladly received.

In my travels all over town, the same little dramas were replayed. People with four-wheel drive vehicles used their chains to pull the less fortunate out of drifts and holes in the snow pack. Others gladly shared their battery power with jumper cables to those whose batteries had gone dead. Many people were driven to work by friends and neighbors with trucks or other vehicles that could break through the snow.

Sunday afternoon, I was driving back from the store and noticed another little courtesy. A man that I know was busy shoveling snow from the sidewalk. Now, that may not seem too unusual because a lot of people were shoveling snow off their sidewalks and drives. What was unusual was that it was not his walk. It was his neighbors' sidewalk and I'm sure that the elderly couple appreciated his efforts.

Taking all those observations collectively, I have once again been convinced that the worst in weather brings out the best in people. We should all be proud of the kindness, helpfulness and concern shown to others by our neighbors. That is what makes Perryton such a great place to live.

Ann Landers

Jamie Steiert named first alternate

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been a faithful reader for many years. It has always annoyed me the way the animal rights people gang up on you because you believe it is essential that animals be used for medical research.

Where were these animals lovers when a bull named "Wild Willie" was publicly castrated in front of Mississippi State's college football team? This was part of the coach's plan to psyche up the players for a match against the favored University of Texas Longhorns.

Ann, this "operation" was performed without any anesthetic. When several spectators complained, the coach apologized and said that it was "educational" and that he had ordered it done to motivate the players.

Mississippi State went on to upset Texas 28-10. Too bad. I now fear that this nutty coach may decide it's a good way to motivate the team and he may dream up something more bizarre and inhumane next year.

What do you think about this kind of "motivation," Ann? I hope you will print my letter and let that guy have it.—Disgusted in Greenwood, Miss.

DEAR DISGUSTED: So am I. That coach sounds as if he needs a brain transplant. But you'll be happy to know that Willie is going to be just fine (I checked). A couple of kindhearted Mississippi Delta businessmen heard about this outrage and put up $2,000 each so the steer could receive excellent medical care. Willie is going to be in clover from now on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have never seen this problem discussed in your column or anywhere else.

My wife and I spent weeks planning and looking forward to a river cruise, elegant dining and spending the night at a posh hotel in a nearby city. Our hotel stay was ruined when the slob in the next room kept us awake until 4 a.m. with loud talk, shrieks of laughter and door slamming. They even rattled the door to our room several times just to make sure we didn't get any rest. When they finally decided to go to sleep, they hung a "Do Not Disturb" sign on their door.

This isn't the first time this has happened to us. Complaints to the noisy neighbors usually fall on deaf ears or result in even more noise as a means of retaliation. It is useless to complain to the management unless you are willing to get up, get dressed, pack up and move to another room in the middle of the night.

I am ashamed to admit that at 6 a.m., I turned the "Do Not Disturb" sign around so it requested early maid service. Then I ran their phone every 15 minutes, turned up the volume on our TV and went to breakfast. I know that they were bothered by this because they banged to the wall and yelled a few obscene "suggestions."

Why don't hotels enforce some kind of curfew which prohibits such noise after midnight? You travel a lot, Ann. Has this ever happened to you? What should be done about it?—Disappointed in Peoria.

Dear Peoria: Yes, this has happened to me, and on more than one occasion. I call the assistant manager, who notifies the security officer. He goes at once to "visit" the guests (drunks), and you wouldn't believe how fast they sober up and quiet down.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 29-year-old professional woman who was sexually molested by my older brother when I was a child. There is a six-year age difference between "Pete" and me.

When I was in my early 20s, my boyfriend and I were overnight guests at Pete's summer cottage. After everyone had gone to bed, Pete made a move on me. I slapped him so hard his ears must have rung for a week.

The following day, I told my sister about the childhood molestation and Pete's recent attempt. She was stunned and insisted that I see a therapist, which I did. The therapist said I must take control of my life and confront my brother in a forthright and self-assured manner. I did. Pete said the usual sick things, "You never said it" and "You enjoyed it as much as I did." This made me furious. I kept calm, rebutted intelligently and left feeling in control. I never brought the subject up again.

My problem is this: I was caught up in a self-assertive, take-control mode at that time in my life and told my boyfriend and several others about the molestation. (My doctor said it was healthy to talk about it.) I no longer see that boyfriend and recently married "Jim." He knows nothing of this past history and adores my entire family. He is especially fond of Pete.

Should I tell Jim what Pete did to me? I believe there should be no secrets between a husband and his wife, but I'm afraid if he knew about the past, he would be so angry he would want to kill my brother.

I'm extremely ambivalent about this and would welcome your input. Sign this letter—Silent So Far in Massachusetts.

Dear Silent: I can see no useful purpose served by telling your husband something that would guarantee a lifelong rift between him and your brother.

Apparently you are over the anger and there is no need to talk about it, so I suggest you leave well enough alone.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me why intelligent, educated people sign their names in a way that renders their signatures totally illegible?

Do these people want to appear so busy that they don't have time to write properly? Or do they believe a hastily scribbled signature announces to the world that they can't be bothered with anything so mundane as careful penmanship?

Invariably, the first two or three letters are fine, but the rest of the signature is a hen-scratch scribble or a wavy line.

We hear a lot about adults who can't read. How about the ones who can't write? Can we blame this on poor education or plain old-fashioned laziness?—An Irritated Teacher in Oregon.

Dear Irritated: Illegible signatures are not necessarily a matter of poor education or laziness. There are several reasonable explanations. Some of those inscrutable signatures are carefully crafted so they will be difficult to forge.

Four South Plains area residents advanced to the state competition in the 1992 Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool District contest. The contest was held Nov. 21 in the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech University.

The four district winners are Jeffrey Ty Gray of Lubbock, pre-teen division; Regina Britten of Panhandle, junior division; Cassi Smith of Colorado City, senior division; and Carol Moore of Denver City, adult division. They will advance to state competition Dec. 5 in Granbury.

The contest, sponsored by the College of Home Economics, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Auxiliary, the American Sheep Industry and Friends of the Industry, is designed to focus attention on the beauty and versatility of wool and mohair.

The contestants entered garments made from loomed, knitted, felted, spun fabric or yarn of 100 percent wool or a minimum of 60 percent wool and no more than 40 percent of any other fiber. Entrants could use any amount of the specialty fibers designated by the Wool Products Labeling Act, including mohair, cashmere, alpaca, camel, llama and vicuna.

Named first alternates in the contest were Jamie Lee Steiert of Hereford, pre-teen division; Justin Stone of Evant, junior division; Mary Williams of Hale Center, senior division; and Lou English of Sweetwater, adult division.

Third place finishers were Jamie Steiert of Hereford, pre-teen division; Amber Godinez of Slaton and Josie Villareal of Lubbock, senior division; and Margaret Ragus of Lubbock, adult division.

PERIPHERAL VISION

What do you see there? There? Over there? Fact is, we need to see everything in front of us -- and off to the side as well.

Peripheral vision, seeing out of "the corner of the eye," enables us to be aware of what's going on all around us even while we're focusing on something right in front. Our eyes are so well designed that we don't have to turn our eyes from side to side. Somehow, the eyes can see what's going on all around -- IF your vision is good.

Trouble is, if peripheral vision is not dependable, neither is side vision. Crossing streets, biking, especially driving, can be hazardous. Among the causes of side-vision problems are retinal damage and the onset and progression of glaucoma -- or just not using the vision in one eye.

Test your own vision now and then. Look at an object in an unfamiliar setting across the room; while you keep staring, name as many objects as you can spot to the left and right. See your optometrist for help.

Herd dumps Seagraves; girls lose two close ones

The Hereford boys' basketball team got its second win of the season Friday, but their momentum will be broken by Mother Nature.

Saturday's action in the Denver City Invitational has been canceled because of ice and snow all over the Panhandle. So has the Brownfield Tournament, where the Lady Whitefaces lost a pair of squeakers Thursday and Friday.

The boys jumped out to a big first-half lead and cruised to a 54-47 win over Seagraves in a consolation bracket semi-final. The Herd led 14-5 after the first quarter and 35-18 at the half. Richard Sanderson led the Herd with 18 points, and Eric Sims added 10. Their record is now 2-4.

In Brownfield, the Lady Whitefaces held third-quarter leads in both games but couldn't hold on for a win. They fell to Midland Greenwood 57-53 on Thursday and Brownfield 42-40 on Friday.

"In Thursday's game they were coming along very well," Coach Loy Triana said. "We were leading late, but we were 0-for-9 from the line in the fourth quarter. We had a two-point lead but got put on the line three times.

"In the Brownfield game--they beat us by 19 in the first game of the year--(on Friday) they won with two free throws with 5 seconds on the clock. They hit both ends of a one-and-one."

Stephanie Wilcox scored 14 points in each game. Kara Sandoval had 14 against Brownfield and 11 against Greenwood.

The Lady Whitefaces are now 0-8, but Triana is pleased with the team's progress. Making up 17 points on Brownfield in two weeks is a good sign.

"The defense and the offense are coming along," Triana said. "The girls are still coming along. I'm very pleased with their effort. We're going to get there. They gave great effort throughout the tournament. We're wreaking lots of havoc with our press. That's what we're wanting."

Both the boys and girls will play their second home games of the year Tuesday. The girls host Frenship for a 6:30 p.m. game, and the boys host Dimmit at 8. Both games will be played in Whiteface Gymnasium.

The girls' junior varsity will play at 5 Tuesday, and the boys' JV will play at 6:30. The boys' JV was to play this weekend in a tournament in Amarillo, but it also was canceled.

Jowell, Sandoval break records

Two Lady Whitefaces broke Hereford single-season records during the 1992 volleyball season.

Angie Jowell, a senior, recorded 229 digs, breaking the record of 195 set by Robin White in 1990.

Kara Sandoval, a junior and the team's sole setter, assisted on kills 728 times, bettering the 482 assists Brek Binder had in 1991.

Sandoval was a first-team all-district selection in District 1-4A, and Jowell was selected to the second team.

The Lady Whitefaces finished the 1992 season with a 22-10 record. They advanced to the state volleyball tournament in Class 4A, where they lost in the semi-finals. It was the Hereford volleyball program's first trip to the state tournament.

 DALLAS (AP) - For the last four years, Southlake Carroll and Schulenburg have been the teams to beat in Classes 3A and 2A. This

Astros ink Swindell

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Astros on Friday signed their second premier pitcher this week, agreeing with left-hander Greg Swindell to a $17 million, four-year contract.

Swindell, a former Houston schoolboy and University of Texas pitcher, joined Victoria native and former University of Houston star Doug Drabek, who signed a four-year, $19.5 million deal on Tuesday.

"Even before Doug signed I knew where I wanted to play," Swindell said. "Being able to follow someone like Doug will just help me even more. Only good things can happen."

Swindell's contract contains a club option for the 1997 season, the same as Drabek's deal.

After signing Drabek, Astros General Manager Bill Wood turned his attention to negotiations with St. Louis shortstop Ozzie Smith, but those talks cooled and the focus shifted to Swindell.

"Yesterday (Thursday) was a long day," Swindell said. "They told me they were going to wait until 7 p.m. on Ozzie. Then they called back and said they were waiting until midnight."

Wood took the offer to Smith off the table, however, and gave an enthusiastic Swindell the call.

"I went to sleep about four o'clock this morning and woke up at six," Swindell said. "I was thinking

Johnson: Cowboys will prepare for Elway

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

DENVER (AP) - Jimmy Johnson doesn't care what he hears from Dan Reeves or anyone else in Denver. As far as he's concerned, John Elway will be at quarterback when his Cowboys play Reeves' Broncos on Sunday.

Not Tommy Maddox. Not Shawn Moore, the two backups whom Reeves says might alternate at quarterback if Elway can't play, but John Elway, Denver's one-man offense.

"In my mind, I don't think his status is in question," Johnson says of Elway, who has been listed as "day-to-day" for the past two weeks and missed two-and-a-half games now.

"We've got to be prepared for the Denver Broncos at their best. If he doesn't go, it's a heck of a lot easier for us to prepare for Tommy Maddox than it is to adjust for John Elway."

The Broncos, meanwhile, have had to adjust without Elway and haven't done it very well. While his status has remained "questionable" since he hurt his throwing shoulder three weeks ago, the Broncos' playoff chances have dropped from "probable" to "doubtful."

Elway went out late in the first half of the Nov. 15 game with the New York Giants when he dived forward on a scramble instead of using the traditional quarterback slide and was hit on his right shoulder.

The Broncos, who have led the AFC West most of the season, won that game 27-13, but then lost 24-0 to the Los Angeles Raiders and were shocked Monday night in Seattle when the 2-10 Seahawks scored a touchdown on the last play of regulation and won in overtime, 16-13. Those 13 points represent the Broncos' total in the two games Maddox has started.

That left Denver at 7-5, a game behind Kansas City in the AFC West and tied with San Diego. If the playoffs started this week, the Broncos would be a wild-card entry.

However the Broncos have by far the toughest schedule of the contenders. In addition to 10-2 Dallas, which can wrap up a playoff spot with a victory, they must visit AFC East leader Buffalo and Kansas City. And while they're 6-0 at home this year, they're 1-5 on the road.

"The best we can do is 11 and 5 and it's going to be tough to do that," says linebacker Simon Fletcher.

They may face Sunday's critical game with a new wrinkle.

Reeves says that if Elway can't play, he may alternate Moore and Maddox every play, with the new quarterback bringing in the play from the sideline. He says that would give the quarterbacks time to talk to the coaching staff about the plays and think about formations.

"In our situation, it may be the best because we've got two basically rookie quarterbacks," Reeves said.

"I don't think Tommy has shown he is not capable of playing. Shawn has the ability to play, too," he said. "I just think there are some advantages to doing it by alternating that can eliminate some of the problems that you have with young quarterbacks."

The Cowboys, however, present more problems than most teams.

Dallas' defense, sparked by Charles Haley, faced two rookie quarterbacks on Thanksgiving and beat the Giants 30-3 as Kent Graham and Dave Brown spent the afternoon running for their lives. Dallas also has 10 days rest since its last game. It is 18-6 in post-Thanksgiving games.

Maddox, Denver's top draft pick this year, is 40 of 73 for 478 yards with just one touchdown and five interceptions.

Moore spent most of last year on the practice squad, played in the World League last spring. His only appearance this season was to mop up in a 30-0 loss in Philadelphia, when he threw one incomplete pass.

Pardee to go against former team

HOUSTON (AP) - Fifteen years ago and before the Chicago Bears were "Da Bears," Jack Pardee ignited his coaching career and started the team on its upward rebound.

"Not only were we not a very good football team when I got there, but we had no facilities," said Pardee, the Bears' coach from 1975-77.

"Our stadium had just been condemned. We worked out in a park on the side of a hill. And late in the season we couldn't even practice there because of the weather."

Now Pardee will lead the Houston Oilers against his former team Monday night in the Astrodome.

Pardee played a pivotal role in the reversal of fortunes for the Bears, who went on to become one of the most successful teams of the 1980s, winning the Super Bowl in 1985.

After a 4-10 season in 1975, Pardee guided the Bears to a 7-7 mark in 1976 and then a 9-5 record in 1977 that gave the Bears their first playoff berth in 14 years.

Pardee also was responsible for bringing Walter Payton to the team. Payton broke every major NFL rushing mark and spearheaded the Bears' renaissance in the 1980s under current coach Mike Ditka.

Instead of signing a new contract after the Bears made the playoffs in 1977, Pardee accepted an offer from the Washington Redskins where he stayed three seasons.

So much has changed since Pardee left Chicago, the Oilers coach hasn't given much thought to his former association with the Bears. But he said he'll never forget those winters.

Pardee herded his team into an abandoned building at the Great Lakes Naval Air Station to escape the sub-zero temperatures. There, the Bears worked out on a concrete floor striped like a football field.

He looked for an alternative to the hard floor, finally finding an old warehouse in the middle of the Moraine Forest, a 45-minute bus ride from Chicago.

"It was an old storage shed with a dirt floor," he recalled. "The problem was that once we got going in that thing, the dust kicked up real thick and just hung in the air. Everybody went away coughing and wheezing."

PREP

surprisingly wasn't in doubt was Pilot Point's 37-12 victory over Van Alstyne to avenge its only previous loss.

But the results of the night's top two games were never in doubt.

Alpine, playing its first December game since 1973, saw Carroll score a touchdown on its opening drive, add another after an interception on the Bucks' second play, score a third after blocking a punt then turn a second interception into a fourth straight touchdown for a 28-0 lead with 45 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Dragons (14-0), who have won a state-record 61 straight regular-season games, have reached the semifinals the last three years and five of the last six. They won the state title in 1988 and were ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press schoolboy football poll all this season.

Carroll next plays No. 9 Gainesville (12-2), a 35-21 winner over Commerce. The Dragons beat the Leopards 46-6 in the second game of this season.

In the other 3A game, Coldspring scored on all three of its second-half possession for a 20-17 comeback victory over previously undefeated Bellville, ranked third.

Schulenburg's victory may not have been as resounding as Carroll's, but it was just as convincing.

The defending 2A champions held No. 7 Randolph to 62 yards of offense - only seven on the ground - and had three interceptions to advance to its fourth-straight semifinal appearance.

"The kids just come out and work hard year after year, and this is why we work hard," said coach David Hushman, whose No. 3 Shorthorns (13-1) are a state-best 56-3 since 1989.

Casey Taber rushed for 64 yards and two touchdowns for Schulenburg. He threw for only 66 yards, but it was enough to reach the 2,000-yard mark for the season.

Schulenburg, which is trying to follow Groveton's 2A back-to-back state titles in 1989-90, next takes on Omaha Paul Pewitt (12-1-1), a 28-21 winner over Timpson.

In the closest game of the night, Goldthwaite's two-point conversion with 2:04 to play gave the Eagles a 15-14 victory over Springlake-Earth in another 2A quarterfinal.

"This is the greatest win I've ever been involved in," said Goldthwaite coach Gary Proffitt. "We had our backs to the wall all night."

Springlake-Earth dominated much of the game, but was haunted by an interception and four fumbles, including two inside Goldthwaite's 5-yard line.

The Eagles (13-1) turned its final fumble recovery into the winning score when Craig Auldridge caught a 5-yard pass from Jon Robello. Auldridge then ran in the conversion.

That drive was kept alive by a 24-yard pass from Robello to Auldridge on a fake punt. Those two Auldridge receptions were Robello's only completions of the game in eight games.

Goldthwaite next faces Pilot Point (13-1). The No. 5 Bearcats had lost 32-10 to No. 2 Van Alstyne in the second week of the season.

They avenged that loss Friday night by returning two blocked punts for touchdowns as they jumped out to a 21-0 first-quarter lead.

Russell Jones rushed for 140 yards and a touchdown and William Clark had 114 yards and a score as they became the first two players to gain 100 yards against Van Alstyne this season.

The Panthers, who were averaging 50 points per game, were stymied all night. Toby Noe, who entered the game with 1,143 yards rushing, gained only eight yards.

In the night's two semifinals, San Antonio Holmes beat San Antonio Madison 23-14 in a Class 5A Division I game and Panther Creek topped Christoval 58-12 in six-man action.

Probably the biggest upset of the night was Valley View's 21-14 Class

A victory over No. 4 Tenaha, which had been undefeated.

Valley View (11-2-1) next plays the winner of Saturday night's game between No. 1 Bartlett and No. 2 Runge.

On the other side of the bracket, Riesel (11-1-1) and Sudan (12-2) advanced to a semifinal meeting.

Riesel beat Crawford 21-6 and Sudan defeated Hart 7-0.

Aggies get good grades for 12-0 performance

An AP Sports Analysis
By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - To win 12 regular season games, a team has to be good, be lucky, learn to handle adversity and overachieve.

Give coach R.C. Slocum and his unblemished, Cotton Bowl-bound Texas Aggies an A-plus in each department.

The defending Southwest Conference champions were pretty salty to start with, but there was a rather scrappy missing ingredient named Bucky Richardson, now with the Houston Oilers.

The Aggies, minus an established quarterback, had to play a Stanford team with new coach Bill Walsh and a veteran defense. Jeff Granger, who had played only one game, rescued A&M with a touchdown pass to tight end Greg Schorp and Slocum's "Wrecking Crew" beat Stanford 10-7 in August's Disneyland Classic.

The Cardinal went on to be Pacific-10 co-champions.

The game gave an inside glimpse at the Aggies. They would have a tremendous defense and their offense would find a way to win. They also wouldn't panic if they got behind.

That's the way it was in a 31-22 victory over Louisiana State, a 19-9 victory over Tulsa, a 26-13 victory over Missouri, a 19-17 cliffhanger over Texas Tech, a 35-9 victory over Rice, and a 19-13 nail-biter over Baylor.

Enter freshman Corey Pullig in a 41-7 victory over Southern Methodist after Granger got a concussion.

The heady Pullig, who showed a maturity far beyond his one year out of Deer Park High School, lit an offensive bonfire that produced a 40-18 victory over Louisville, a 38-30 victory over Houston, a 37-10 victory over TCU, and a 34-13 victory over Texas.

The 12-0 season is already the best in school history. The Aggies went 11-0 for the first time since 1939 when Homer Norton's team won the national championship.

The Aggies became only the fifth college team to win 12 regular season games - SMU in 1935, Nebraska in 1971 and 1983, and Brigham Young in 1984 were the others. Only the 1971 Nebraska team and the '84 BYU team won their bowl games to finish 13-0.

Both those teams won the national championship.

That doesn't seem to be in the cards for the Aggies, who are ranked fourth behind Miami, Alabama and Florida State. The Aggies will play either Florida State or Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl.

Slocum crafted a masterpiece considering there were only two seniors on offense and two seniors on defense.

It was a team with a special inner fiber that didn't panic when it got behind. The Aggies rallied to win from six halftime deficits.

There was some luck. It took a field goal at the gun by Terry Venetoulis to beat Texas Tech after Granger had made a big third down by somehow shaking a Red Raider tackler off his back. Most of the calls went A&M's way against Baylor in another pre-Pullig nail-biter.

The Aggies were good at handling adversity. Houston scored a touchdown on a pass when the receiver stepped out of bounds and everyone in the Astrodome saw it but the Southwest Conference official. The Aggies came right back and scored themselves thanks to a 96-yard kickoff return by Billy Mitchell.

There probably isn't a better one-two running punch in college football than Greg Hill and Rodney Thomas. Each had excellent seasons in an offense that kept building each week under coordinator Bob Toledo.

Bob Davie, A&M defensive coordinator, worked some green troops into his system with excellent results, although this defense hasn't reached the level of the 1991 defense ranked No. 1 in the nation. Marcus Buckley kept alive the A&M linebacker tradition and will be playing on Sundays.

But it was Slocum who put all the ingredients together for the winningest team in Texas A&M history.

It was a job to be admired.

about all that could happen and they were all good."

Swindell spent more than five seasons with the Cleveland Indians and recorded three straight winning seasons from 1988-90. He won a career-best 18 games in 1988 and in 1989 pitched 1.2 scoreless innings in the All-Star game.

After the 1991 season he was traded to Cincinnati for Jack Armstrong, Scott Scudder and Joe Turek. He had a 12-8 record with the Reds, and a 2.70 ERA in 31 games.

But he wanted to return home after his learning experience in Cleveland.

"My Cleveland experience was nothing but a help to me," Swindell said. "I learned how to pitch and I learned how to deal with losing."

"Luckily, I was able to get out of there and had a chance to come home. It was kind of emotional when they called. I actually broke down and cried some. I really wanted to be here."

Astros manager Art Howe said it wouldn't be hard picking the first two pitchers in his rotation.

"I must have been a good boy this year because my Christmas list has already come true," Howe said. "It will feel good to run these two guys out there every fifth day.

"I could go back in the clubhouse until about the seventh inning. It means fewer trips to the mound for me."

Wood said his pursuit of Smith, seen as a possible replacement for the error-prone Andujar Cedeno, is over.

"I did inform Ozzie this morning that our offer was off the table and that we were going to the winter meetings and continue to work to improve our club," Wood said. "At this time it's not our intention to pursue the situation with Ozzie any further."

Wood said he had good reports on Cedeno, who is playing winter baseball in the Dominican Republic.

"He's too young and too talented to just throw him out," Wood said. "But that doesn't mean we won't try in some other way to improve ourselves at that position."

Unless the Astros make more deals involving pitchers, 1991 starters Pete Harnisch and Mark Portugal would drop down in the starting rotation and Darryl Kile and Brian Williams would battle for the fifth starting role.

Score well on this test, and you could win some BRAINS for Christmas!

Groups look at wetland help

TEMPLE—The Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board recently received approval of a $100,000 project through the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to gather data and develop a pilot watershed demonstration wetland restoration plan. Cost of the project will be shared with EPA furnishing $75,000 and the State Board providing $25,000.

The plan, when developed, is intended to enhance the conservation of the state's wetland resources on private lands.

More loans are available

WASHINGTON -- U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has announced that small businesses depending on farmers and ranchers in 47 Texas counties are eligible to apply for low-interest loans to help recover from agriculture damages.

Deaf Smith and surrounding counties are eligible.

The areas were designated as eligible for disaster assistance by the Small Business Administration, Gramm said, due to agriculture damages caused by excessive rain and hail which occurred between May 1 and July 30, 1992.

The closing date for loan applications is June 28, 1992.

The program covers small businesses which are without credit elsewhere. The interest rate available is 4 percent with a maximum of 30 years allowed for repayment.

The Small Business Administration provides these loans to small businesses which have sustained substantial economic injury resulting from natural disasters.

The TSSWCB's application was one of eleven proposals selected for funding by EPA's office of Wetlands, Oceans, and Watersheds and EPA's Region 6 office in Dallas.

Funding for the project is expected to be forthcoming as soon as the TSSWCB's plan receives EPA's final approval.

"This project is unique because many wetlands in Texas are under private ownership. Historically, private landowners hesitate to accept programs with potential regulatory implications, particularly when regulations could impact rights of the landowner to make land use decisions," according to Stephen Deiss, TSSWCB project coordinator.

"Part of the project study is to determine what kind of incentives will be agreeable to landowners to interest them to participate in the restoration of wetlands on their property.

EPA is actively encouraging states to develop standards for the implementation of state wetland conservation programs. They are also interested in how private landowners may be approached and persuaded to conserve and restore wetlands in a voluntary manner. That's the reason for EPA's interest in awarding the TSSWCB the grant."

EPA has established a goal to assist all 50 states with the development of state wetland conservation plans on a voluntary basis by the year 2000.

"Given the sensitive issue of wetland policy, soil and water conservation districts and the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board are in a unique position to assure the success of plans to work with private landowners in wetland restoration while simultaneously conserving resources and protecting water quality," Deiss said.

The project is designed to identify what is needed for adequate implementation of wetland conservation efforts as well as to establish methodologies to utilize information to assist in the development of a statewide plan.

"These objectives will be accomplished through inventories of wetlands, prioritization of wetlands based on ecological values and development of a prototype watershed wetland restoration plan," said Deiss.

According to the TSSWCB project coordinator, the agency will coordinate with appropriate governmental and private entities to identify and select a watershed in Fort Bend County for the project. A decision as to what specific watershed will be the basis for the study in Fort Bend County is expected to be made by December 31.

A minimum of four meetings will be scheduled to inform the public about the status of the project.

"The first meeting will be a panel discussion which will include representatives from EPA, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and USDA Soil Conservation Service. The project will be presented to landowners to obtain feedback regarding their concerns about wetlands," said Deiss.

A second meeting will include a field presentation by EPA on identifying and assigning values to wetlands. The third meeting will present information to the public on the status of data collected on the project.

Christmas holidays in full swing

Members of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society took advantage of the warm, sunny weather this past week to decorate the E.B. Black House for the Christmas holidays. Bright red velvet bows and assorted greenery grace the entrance of the historical home and the interior is gaily decorated with a large, old-fashioned Christmas tree, wreaths, greenery and numerous red poinsettia plants. The public is invited to view the Black House or rent it for holiday parties by calling the Deaf Smith County Museum from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The museum has also been specially decorated for Christmas and is open each day except Sunday for viewing.

Plans finalized for bazaar

Plans were completed for the Christmas Bazaar and Bake Sale when members of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met Tuesday evening.

The fundraisers will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 12, at 205 E. Sixth St. Tables are available for $10 each. Hot dots will be served throughout the day.

Noble Grand Anna Conklin presided at the business session. Reports of the sick were made including 48 visits to the sick, 39 cheer cards, 16 dishes of food and three flowers.

Members brought gifts to the meeting which were donated to the Texas Department of Human Resources to be distributed to the elderly during Christmas.

New officers were elected and will be installed in January 1993. Anna Conklin will serve as noble grand; Jo Irlbeck, vice grand; Susie Curtsinger, secretary; Genevieve Lynn, financial secretary; and Sadie Shaw, treasurer.

Ann Werner served as hostess to Conklin, Peggy Lemons, Ben Conklin, Sadie Shaw, Irene Merritt, Tony Irlbeck, Marie Harris, Frankie Ruland, Rosalie Northcutt, Dorothy Collier, Faye Brownlow, Ursalee Jacobsen and Susie Curtsinger.

STORMY WEATHER FOOD SAFETY

Severe storms can cause power failures lasting anywhere from several hours to several days.

In addition to coping with other problems caused by storms, consumers need to take steps to ensure a safe food supply and to prevent the loss of perishable foods stored in freezers or refrigerators when the power fails.

Q: How can I prepare in advance to avoid food safety problems during power failures?

A: When your freezer is operating but not full, insert blue-ice freezer packs or freeze water in plastic containers to help keep foods frozen in the event of a power failure.

Q: The power has been off for half an hour. What can I do to keep the food in my freezer and refrigerator safe?

A: First, call your local power company and see if they can tell you when the power will be restored. If it will be back on in a couple of hours, everything should be fine, as long as you minimize opening of the freezer and refrigerator doors.

A fully stocked freezer will usually keep food frozen for two days after losing power. A half-full freezer will usually keep food frozen for about one day. If the freezer isn't full, group packages together so they will retain the cold more effectively. Be sure to keep raw meat and poultry items on a tray so that as they thaw, the juices won't get onto other foods.

In the refrigerator, food will usually keep for four to six hours, depending upon how warm your kitchen is. If the power will be out for longer time, you may want to add block ice to the refrigerator to keep it cool.

Q: If the power is turned on now, how can I decide what to do with foods which were frozen before the power went off?

A: IF ICE CRYSTALS ARE STILL INTACT AND THE FOOD IS STILL AT 40 DEGREES OR BELOW, it is safe to refreeze. Raw meats and poultry can be refrozen without substantially compromising quality. Prepared foods, vegetables and fruits can be refrozen safely, but quality may suffer. Juices can be refrozen without compromising quality.

IF THE FOOD THAWED BUT WAS HELD ABOVE 40 DEGREES FOR TWO HOURS OR LESS, it is NOT generally safe to refreeze. Raw meats and poultry should be cooked and either served immediately or frozen. Prepared foods and vegetables should be cooked or reheated thoroughly and served immediately. Fruits can be refrozen if they taste and smell acceptable. Juices can be refrozen without compromising quality. Well-wrapped hard cheeses, butter and margarine can be refrozen. If in DOUBT, THROW THEM OUT! FOODS HELD ABOVE 40 DEGREES FOR OVER TWO HOURS should generally be discarded because bacteria that cause food poisoning can multiply to unsafe levels on perishables held under these conditions. Fruits and vegetables can be cooked and served immediately, as long as they are still firm with no evidence of mold, a yeasty smell or sliminess. Juices can be used provided they look and smell acceptable. Well-wrapped hard cheeses, butter and margarine can usually be refrozen, but should be discarded if mold or rancid odors develop.

Additional information can be made available by the local Deaf Smith County Extension Office at 364-3573.

Focus on your future

Have you been living life at arm's length? Many adults, including the nation's 76 million baby boomers, do. They have presbyopia, a natural and unavoidable change in the eye's ability to focus on near objects. A classic sign of presbyopia is having to move reading material to arm's length to bring the print into focus.

Presbyopia affects adults in their late 30's, 40's and 50's. By age 55, virtually all adults have it. The condition is easily corrected by prescription eyeglasses or contact lenses. Helping many people learn more about presbyopia and what to do about it is a first-of-its-kind education awareness program that teams actress and singer Diahann Carroll with the Better Vision Institute (BVI).

Ms. Carroll was diagnosed with presbyopia several years ago. Through proper eyewear and regular examinations by her vision professional, she has enjoyed the benefits of clear and comfortable vision ever since. She has several pairs of eyeglasses that she wears interchangeably to create a certain fashion look or mood.

December is here and the shopping day countdown has begun. Remember the library when you're searching for those gift ideas and patterns. If woodworking, cross-stitch, quilting, painting, sewing, or maybe a few reading suggestions are what you need come by the library. If you need ideas on how to decorate for Christmas we have several books and magazines that might help. If you want some new recipes for those special parties, teas or lunches come by the library and check it out.

As the pressures of the holidays get greater and you need a quick escape remember you can travel far away in a matter of seconds through a book. Keep one close at all times in case of emergencies.

This week's new book list begins with Irene At Large by Carole Nelson Douglas. Irene Adler and her husband, dashing barrister Godfrey Norton, are having coffee with their friend Nell Huxleigh in a Parisian sidewalk cafe when a stranger, clad in Oriental garb, falls at their feet. The man has been poisoned, but not fatally. As the stranger recovers, it is discovered that he is an Englishman named Quentin. Quentin is on his way to London to find Dr. Watson who is also in danger. But as quickly as Quentin enters Irene's life so he vanishes, following a shot through a window. Now it is up to Irene to solve the mystery and find Quentin.

Dick Francis has another "life and death neck-and-neck" thriller in Driving Force. Young Freddie Croft, an ex-jockey, owns a profitable fleet of horse vans that convey runners to the tracks. Freddie is usually a stickler for security but breaks his fast rule of "never pick up a hitchhiker." Now even he is startled by the violence that erupts. But one of many ironies is that the passenger, not the driver turns up dead. Freddie is swept into a world in which appearances deceive and being duped can be murderous.

Midnight Whispers by V.C. Andrews returns to Cutler's Cove, and the lives of Dawn, Daddy Jimmy and daughter Christie Longchamp. Christie lives in a fine house, has fine clothes and has two parents that love her. Because of the unanswered questions Christie can't help but feel a dark cloud hovering over her. Gavin, Jimmy's younger brother, is planning to spend the whole summer working at Cutler's Cove. Then a fire destroys the grand old hotel, claiming the lives of Jimmy and Dawn leaving 16 year old Christie and her little brother orphans. Fleeing Uncle Phillips, Gavin is Christie's only hope, but even he is torn from her. How will Christie and her brother survive?

Woman of Egypt by Jehan Sadat is the intimate story of her love for Anwar Sadat and her country. Beautiful, courageous and controversial Jehan Sadat was a woman at the center of a turbulent ancient land. Jehan was 15 when she began her life with the thirty-year-old, penniless revolutionary. Jehan defied tradition by becoming the first wife of a Muslim leader to have her picture in the newspaper, travel outside her country and battle for women's rights and education. She influenced the reform of Egypt's divorce laws. Jehan supported her husband's quest for peace in the Middle East, and feared for his life as Anwar made the historic journey to Jerusalem. The San Jose Mercury News states "Jehan Sadat tells a story richer in romance, revolution, political intrigue, personal courage and tragedy than the most fervid fictional potboiler."

Irresistible Impulse: A True Story of Blood and Money by Robert Lindsey is the account of what became of one of England's most celebrated criminal cases. It began as a fairy tale come true. Monika Zumsteg, a modest California beauty was swept off her feet by the quiet, handsome English motorcyclist. Michael Telling politely asked her father for Monika's hand in marriage. Michael is an heir to the billion dollar fortune of the Vestey's, Britains 2nd wealthiest family after the royals. In the beginning life in England was idyllic. Monika learns to ride and hunt foxes, dabbles in Victorian antiques and applies to Oxford. Then Michaels lies begin and he becomes sly, deceitful and wildly erratic. In fits of jealousy Michael rups the house apart and threatens Monika with guns and knives. At first Monika makes excuses for Michaels lies and disappearances. Monika discovers later that Michael spent most of his childhood in a psychiatric hospital. With the encouragement of Michael's family, Monika can't resist trying to help him, but she never knows what to expect.

Other titles of interest are: Second Careers by Caroline Bird. The Holy Warrior and The Sainly Buccaneer by Gilbert Morris. Morning Star by Marian Wells.

Home tour planned today

The public is invited to tour three outstanding homes today from 2-5 p.m. during La Madre Mia Study Club's 1992 Christmas Tour of Homes. Featured this year are the residences of Justin and Ruth McBride, 824 W. Park Ave.; Buster and Cynthia Miller, 220 Ranger Drive; and Joe and Annie Brown, 206 Ironwood. Tickets are priced at $3 per person and may be purchased at the tour homes today. Proceeds will be used for a scholarship to be presented to a Hereford High School graduating senior and for various community projects. Discussing the event in the livingroom of the Brown home are club member, Francyne Bromlow, at left, and Annie Brown.

Donations needed for foster kids

Local residents are asked to assist the Golden Spread Foster Parent Association.

Each year, the association solicits donations to fund a Christmas celebration for local foster children. Although foster families are reimbursed monthly for the day-to-day needs of foster children, there is no allocation for the added expense of Christmas.

Funds received will be used for a Christmas party (including Santa) for all the foster children in Deaf Smith, Oldham, Palmer and Castro counties. Any excess money will go to help these children throughout the year with special needs such as band, sports or extra school events.

Those interested in making donations, which are tax deductible, are asked to contact Dee Hernandez at 364-8527 or Cindy Hall in Adrian at 1-538-6303. You can also make a direct deposit at Hereford State Bank or mail the contribution to P.O. Box 645, Hereford, Texas 79045.

The association would also greatly appreciate any donations of food, paper plates, etc., to help with the Christmas party.

An individual may also sponsor a child. One does not need to be a foster parent in order to be affiliated with the group.

Anyone interested in becoming a foster parent or in providing support for existing foster homes is invited to attend any of the association's monthly meetings which are held on the third Tuesday of each month at the Hereford Community Center.

The word tragedy comes from the Greek word tragos meaning "goat."

WENDY ALLRED, SHANE JACKSON

Couple to wed

Wendy Allred of Amarillo and Shane Jackson of Temple plan to exchange wedding vows Jan. 23, 1993, in Palo Duro Baptist Church in Wildorado.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Roddy and Janice Allred of Wildorado and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Roy and Patty Jackson of Vega.

Miss Allred, a 1988 graduate of Vega High School, graduated from Amarillo College in August 1991 with an associate degree in radiology technology. She is presently employed as a radiology technician at the V.A. Hospital and Family Hospital in Amarillo.

Jackson, a 1985 graduate of Vega High School, graduated from West Texas State University in December 1991 with a bachelor degree in ag business. He is currently employed as a field supervisor for Rain and Hail Crop Insurance Co. in Temple.

MR. AND MRS. JACK GRAY

50th anniversary reception planned

A reception honoring Jack and Trudie Gray's 50th wedding anniversary has been scheduled from 2-4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 12, in the fellowship hall of Avenue Baptist Church.

Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

The former Trudie Trimble and Jack Gray were married Dec. 12, 1942, in Munday. They have been residents of Hereford for 34 years.

Hosting the event will be the couple's children and grandchildren. They include Billie Anne Willson of Amarillo, Jackie Warren and Vicki Yocum, both of Hereford, and Sam Gray of Green Bay, Wis.

The Gray's have seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Lady Bird Johnson wanted a quiet celebration for her 80th birthday, but a full-fledged bash was unavoidable for the former first lady, organizers say.

"She said to keep things low-key, but with millions of friends and the enthusiasm for her, there's no way to keep it low-key," said Liz Carpenter, Mrs. Johnson's former press secretary.

Those invited to the celebration today and Saturday at the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library include relatives, Johnson administration members and even a former college roommate.

Mrs. Johnson plans to spend her actual birthday, Dec. 22, in a private celebration with family. Her husband - president from 1963 to 1969 - died in 1973.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

WE NEED TQM PDQ

(First of Two Parts)

The operation of American businesses during the glory decades after World War II, might aptly be compared to early freight traffic down the Mississippi River. Let's join a voyage of the raft, American Business, as it travels from St. Louis to New Orleans.

The American Business, is a large well-made craft filled with American-made goods to sell when it reaches the gulf port. The management team is settled comfortably at the front of the raft, pointing out sand bars and other potential snags. The well-paid crew is resting between shifts of checking the cargo and manning the tiller.

The current is swift, progress is good and the sun feels warm. It is business-as-usual and everyone is enjoying the ride. Suddenly, a raft filled with Japanese entrepreneurs passes by swiftly on the left. This raft too, is piled high with goods to sell. The only obvious difference is that every crew member aboard, including the management team, has an oar. Each is using his oar with power and precision to propel the raft quickly forward. Soon the Japanese raft grows small in the distance ahead.

The management team of the American Business, exchange puzzled looks. "Wasn't that old Demming's management technique?" the president asked. "Yes, that was Total Quality Management," the vice-president replied. "Didn't we try that once?" the president asked. "Yes, but it made our arms hurt," the vice-president said. "Oh yes, I remember now," the president said, "it made my back hurt too."

Focusing on quality
Fortunately, it didn't take American businesses too long to recognize the error of their ways. Not long after the Japanese sold their first "raft load" of goods, a few American firms began to take a long hard look at W. Edwards Demming's quality technique. Demming, an American professor, taught the Japanese about Total Quality Management (TQM).

Today, quality is the business community's most used buzzword. Almost everyone is talking about it. However, many small business owners believe that the TQM process is too complicated and the cost too high. Actually, TQM will save money. It is the cost of poor quality we can't afford.

High cost of low quality
Most of us believe if we did our work right 90 percent of the time, we would be successful. However, even 99 percent quality is not an acceptable level in many business situations.

For example, 99 percent quality would allow 3 mistakes or misspellings on every page of every book published to date. Ninety-nine percent quality would have us drinking unsafe water 4 days per year. It would cause us to be without phone service and electrical power nearly 15 minutes every day.

With 99 percent quality, every major airport in the United States would experience 2 fatal plane crashes each day. Fifty newborn babies would go home with the wrong parents and doctors would perform 500 incorrect surgeries daily.

Kind of a scary thought, isn't it. Actually, 99 percent quality isn't a very high standard for business. We must aim higher. We must strive for perfection. We must set our sights on doing the job right every time. We must constantly strive for improvement.

The Japanese have a single work that describes their concept of the TQM process. Their word is Kaizen (Ky'zen). Kaizen means continuous improvement, involving everyone. The Kaizen message is that not a day should go by in any business without some measureable improvement.

Next week we'll share a Kaizen success story from right here in the United States. We'll tell you all about an 88 year old company that is using this Japanese management theory to do some very American things. Don't miss TQM PDQ Part 2.

You may write to Don Taylor in care of "Minding Your Own Business," PO Box 67, Amarillo, Texas 79105.

THE SOLID LOOK OF PERMANENCE

Four Bedrooms - Two of Which Are In The Attic

© BY W.D. FARMER, F.A.I.B.D.

A formal entry foyer will access all areas of the first floor by way of a gallery through the center. There are two bedrooms on one end, the master being impressive with a superb master bath and colossal closet space. A tiny hallway separates the master suite for better privacy and a U shape stair from this hall leads to two bedrooms and a bath upstairs. The basement stair is under this stair.

There are two fireplaces, one in the formal living room and one in the family room. The dining room is banquet size and a game room or office is also located on the first floor. The fantastic kitchen joins the breakfast area and/or the colossal laundry room that also includes a powder room. Then - there is a separate hobby room at the hallway to the double garage on the rear.

The traditional exterior is constructed of brick and the facade is appointed by dentils at the overhang, multiple lite shuttered windows and three dormers.

The plan is Number 4602. It includes a total of 4,644 square feet of heated space. All W. D. Farmer plans include special construction details for energy efficiency. For further information write W. D. Farmer, P. O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 30345.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

| TIMES | RATE | MIN |
|-----------------|------|-------|
| 1 day per word | .15 | 3.00 |
| 2 days per word | .26 | 5.20 |
| 3 days per word | .37 | 7.40 |
| 4 days per word | .48 | 9.60 |
| 5 days per word | .59 | 11.80 |

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Facts about drugs

Although many people are still getting the wrong idea about drugs and who uses them, that may soon change. A recent survey by the Parent's Resource Institute for Drug Education found almost twice as much drug and alcohol use in suburban and rural schools than in inner city schools. By high school graduation, one-quarter of American students are frequent users of illegal drugs, two-thirds are frequent users of alcohol, and one-fifth are daily tobacco users. According to the latest survey of youth ages 7-10, as reported in a nationwide survey sponsored by HASBRO and its G.I. Joe Drug Enforcement Action Figure line, over one-fourth of all American children have actually seen drugs in their neighborhoods or schools.

Statistics also disprove the common belief that the heart of the drug problem lies in the heart of American cities. Teenagers in a suburban county of Georgia were three times more likely to use drugs and alcohol than were teens in Atlanta.

All children are vulnerable—black and white, urban and rural, from all sorts of family backgrounds. There are groups that can help, however. For a free brochure with tips about drug-free education and local resources write: The National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth, 11159-B South Towne Square, St. Louis, Mo. 63123, or call: 314-845-1933.

More than 900,000 copies of The Hereford Brand were distributed in 1991. If your advertising message was not included in many of these issues, you need to call Mauri Montgomery or Julius Bodner, 364-2030, and let them put together an advertising schedule to fit your budget.

Concert planned today

The Hereford Chamber Singers will be featured in concert at 3 p.m. today, Sunday, at St. Thomas Episcopal Church. The concert will include original works composed especially for the Chamber Singers. The public is invited to attend free of charge. Rehearsing for the event are, from left, Katie Claypool, Sharla Moody and Ann Meyer. This is the 19th year for this choir of select voices.

Atlas presented

Rebecca Walls, Deaf Smith County librarian, presents a world atlas to Marcella Robinson who won the book as a promotion for National Children's Book Week. Marcella, five-year-old daughter of Richard and Celece Robinson, registered for the drawing when her class from First Baptist Kindergarten toured the library on a field trip.

PONCE, Puerto Rico (AP) - Magic Johnson is about to get an offer to resume his pro basketball career - as a coach in Puerto Rico.

Johnson retired from the National Basketball Association last year after becoming infected with the AIDS virus, and ended a comeback attempt this fall because other players were concerned about playing against him.

But the Arecibo Captains, this year's runner-up in the Puerto Rico Basketball League, want Johnson as their coach. Team owner Luis Ruiz said he is traveling to the United States this weekend and will try to contact Johnson.

"I think Magic, now that he retired, may be willing to discuss the possibility of coaching," Ruiz said. "Coaching here would help Magic prepare for a job in the NBA."

Hysterectomy breakthrough

Women facing hysterectomies may be out of the hospital in two days and back to work within two weeks thanks to a new minimally invasive surgical technique that dramatically reduces pain, scarring, recuperation time and costs for many patients.

Called Laparoscopically Assisted Vaginal Hysterectomy, or LAVH, the procedure is gaining wide acceptance because it is performed through 3-4 tiny openings instead of a 4- to 6-inch incision. The small incisions mean patients avoid a hospital stay of nearly a week and up to six weeks of painful recovery at home.

World Community Day observance Monday

The public is invited to participate in the special service observing World Community Day planned at 10 a.m. Monday in the King's Manor Lamar Room.

Janie Banner of St. Anthony's Catholic Church will be delivering the message, "Prayer: Where Does It Go and Does It Really Work?" and music will be provided by Betty Wille of First United Methodist Church and Barbara Manning of Fellowship of Believers.

The annual event is sponsored by the Church Women United of Hereford with Eloise McDougal serving as president.

World Community Day was first begun in 1943 as a nationwide observance concerned with the possibilities of an enduring peace. During that year, a 10-point program for "Church Women in a World at War" was developed. It was suggested that Armistice Day be set apart as a special "peace day" with a program on the theme: "The Price of Enduring Peace." A ballot to register opinion on certain questions was prepared and 85,000 leaflets promoting the observance were distributed. Women gave an offering for the Church Committee on Relief and Reconstruction, and according to reports more than 100,000 ballots were cast. With such great interest evident, it was proposed the following year that this observance become one of the special days celebrated annually in the church women's calendar to be known as "World Community Day." With the support of denominational women, it was hoped that, like World Day of Prayer, World Community Day might ultimately be observed internationally, binding church women together in a common search for peace that would endure.

In the years that have followed, church women, as part of the World Community Day observance, have collected tons of used clothing in cooperation with agencies like church World Service.

Thank You

The many acts of kindness and the love and concern shown to our family during our recent loss has so very much helped to ease the pain we now feel. Thank you for being here for us.

The family of Clifton Robison

Thank You

We would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to the doctors, nurses and staff of Deaf Smith General Hospital, Pastor Ron Cook, our Sunday School classes, and our friends and neighbors for all the support and concern shown toward our family.

We offer additional thanks to those who served and brought food to our family from the First Baptist and the Mormon Church.

Hepburn good company for 'Man Upstairs'

Katharine Hepburn makes a rare television appearance in The Man Upstairs, premiering Sunday on CBS. The four-time Oscar winner plays an irascible spinster who offers refuge and even Christmas cheer to a small-time thief (Ryan O'Neal) who's hiding from the police.

Gentle film a soft-spoken holiday treat

By Dan Rice

Katharine Hepburn is an actress of such stature and accomplishment that her presence alone guarantees the watchability of any project, no matter what its shortcomings. Unfortunately, the 83-year-old grande dame of the cinema proves to be the only saving grace of the telefilm The Man Upstairs, airing Sunday, Dec. 6, on CBS. Ryan O'Neal, a leading man whose box-office appeal dissipated in the '80s, is her co-star, and Burt Reynolds is the executive producer.

O'Neal plays Moony Polaski, a small-time jewel thief who escapes from prison and flees into the forest. Hungry and cold, Moony sneaks into the attic of Victoria Browne (Hepburn), a reclusive spinster attended to by her day housekeeper, Molly (Helena Carroll). Hearing a noise one night, Victoria finds the escapee raiding her refrigerator. He pulls a gun, she pulls a cane, and, well, Victoria feeds him leftovers before ordering him out of the house. But because the stranger in need reminds her of her long lost love, Victoria calls him back and offers her hospitality until "the heat is off." Besides, harboring a fugitive might provide a welcome diversion during the usually lonesome Christmas season.

Written for the usually neglected senior audience, The Man Upstairs is a gentle, sometimes poignant story of friendship and dignity. While the script never gets more exciting than a cup of warm tea and contains ample clichés (Moony blames "the System" for his troubles), it probably won't offend anyone in its target group. Without being patronizing, the scant moments of humor reinforce the film's premise that the elderly are not as helpless or married to routine as people generally believe. The film's most memorable line addresses Hepburn's constant tremor: When Moony asks Victoria to hold a flashlight steady, she replies, "I'm beyond keeping anything steady."

Hepburn's credentials eclipse the grandest notions of this telefilm. The winner of a record four best actress Oscars (Morning Glory, Guess Who's Coming to Dinner, The Lion in Winter and On Golden Pond), Hepburn made her first film, A Bill of Divorcement, in 1932, four years after her professional stage debut. She excelled in the screwball comedies of the '30s, notably Bringing Up Baby and The Philadelphia Story. The films she made with her longtime intimate friend Spencer Tracy, including Woman of the Year and Adam's Rib, are among her best. Hepburn defined the spinster-with-depth in the '50s films The African Queen, The Rainmaker and Summertime. A woman of style who shunned the traditional Hollywood trappings, Hepburn came to be known in the industry as a talent who demanded respect, earning her the nickname "Katharine of Arrogance."

O'Neal, first widely known as a TV heartthrob living in Peyton Place, displays his patent dumb affability as The Man Upstairs, but it does not serve him here as it had in comedic pairings with Barbra Streisand (What's Up, Doc?, The Main Event) or his daughter Tatum (Paper Moon). (The outstanding role of O'Neal's career was in Stanley Kubrick's highly objectified period film Barry Lyndon, in which emotional depth was not an issue.) The chemistry required for relationship films is simply not present in The Man Upstairs. But Katharine Hepburn is.

'Saturday Night' on Sunday

By Dan Rice

Live on tape, it's Saturday Night on Sunday, Dec. 6, when two cable channels air all-day marathons of Saturday Night Live. VH-1's "best of" festival runs 21 1/2 hours, while Comedy Central's Saturday Night Live Merry-Thon lasts a mere 12 hours but concentrates on holiday skits, such as Eddie Murphy in "Gumby's Christmas Special" and Jon Lovitz as "Hanukkah Harry."

Way to go, Teach. Also on Sunday, during The Disney Channel's free holiday preview, The Walt Disney Company Presents the American Teacher Awards honors outstanding elementary and secondary teachers from across the United States.

All that glitters is not nutritious. On Monday, Dec. 7, HBO's Buy Me That 3! A Kid's Guide to Food Advertising cuts through the animated characters and toy tie-ins to reveal just how good those cereals, snacks, etc., really are.

It's a heavenly mission when each of three angels is assigned to help a troubled soul find salvation and happiness in the afterlife. A&E's Angels, airing Sunday, stars Cathy Tyson, Tom Bell and Eric Mallett as the ministering spirits and Louise Lombard (The House of Eliott), James Purefoy (The Cloning of Joanna May) and Alfred Molina (Ashenden) as their cheerless charges.

Sunday in CBS' The Man Upstairs, Katharine Hepburn plays a spirited spinster who befriends a fugitive.

FAMILY FAIRE

'Buy Me That 3' lets buyers beware

By Chris Carpenter

HBO's latest journey down the darkened path of deceptive advertising is Buy Me That 3! A Kid's Guide to Food Advertising, premiering Monday, Dec. 7, on the pay-cable giant.

As with its predecessors, every effort is made on Buy Me That 3! to let children know how ludicrous certain types of commercials can be.

Claiming to be a little wiser for his trouble is Buy Me That panelist Sean Connors, a 10-year-old from Richwood, N.J., who used to believe Coca-Cola was not only the real thing, but the only thing. After a round or two of on-camera taste-testing, however, Connors learned what really separates one cola from another.

"I flunked the taste test," he says with no remorse, reflecting on his first television appearance. "The only difference between (the colas) is the advertising. All of them are just in it for the money."

As host Jim Fyfe goes on to show through wonderful sketches and animated sequences that are as entertaining as they are informative, cola is far from the only culprit. So-called fruit drinks, snack cakes and breakfast cereals are pitched harder to kids than a Nolan Ryan fastball.

Buy Me That 3! won't prompt revolt at the check-out counter, but it's sure to make some labels required reading.

If We Ran This Ad On Radio, You'd Only Have 30 Seconds To Hear It.

Now you'd only have 25 seconds, and you wouldn't be able to go back and look at the opening line or pause [19...18...17...] to consider its significance. You wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with this advertisement and it wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with you. In fact, if we tried to say just this much in a 30-second radio advertisement, throwing in only a brief mention that newspapers offer coupons, give you great flexibility of size, and can leave a lasting impression on your customers, we'd run out of...

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

'The Shack' makes magic in Orlando

By Michael Scogin

Basketball fans should get a good look at the changing of the guard in the NBA Tuesday, Dec. 8, on TNT, when the Boston Celtics, playing in their first year without the venerable Larry Bird, take on the Orlando Magic and budding superstar Shaquille O'Neal.

O'Neal, the highly touted rookie center who left college early to enter the NBA, has burst upon the scene at just the right time for the league.

With the retirements of Larry Bird and Magic Johnson, the NBA lost the two stars most widely credited with reversing the league's fortunes in the late 1980s.

"Magic and Larry were there to turn things around, and the world of pro basketball will be eternally grateful," says TNT basketball analyst Hubie Brown.

"The league is going through a period where there are a lot of young stars on the horizon," adds Doug Collins, Brown's fellow TNT analyst, "and now is the time for the young teams and young stars to step forward and realize their potential."

O'Neal, for instance, appears to be headed for star status. He has quickly become a dominating force in the NBA, averaging over 20 points and 10 rebounds a game and exceeding the extremely high expectations placed on him by fans and the media.

As Brown puts it, "The Magic have a guy in the middle who is really going to cause a major rumpus in this league."

Masters of the Universe ★★ He-Man comes to Earth seeking the secret of the universe. Dolph Lundgren, Frank Langella PG Profanity, Violence. 2:00. (1987) Dec. 9 8:35pm.

McGuire, Go Home! ★★ A woman stumbles upon information involving terrorists. Dirk Bogarde, George Chakiris 2:00. (1966) Dec. 11 3:00am.

Meatballs III ★★ The ghost of a porno star takes a nerd's virginity at a summer camp. Sally Kellerman, Patrick Dempsey R Profanity, Nudity, Adult Situation. 2:00. (1987) Dec. 11 8:00pm.

The Mechanic ★★ A syndicate assassin is hired to kill his former mentor. Charles Bronson, Jan-Michael Vincent PG 2:00. (1972) Dec. 12 11:05am.

Autry concerned about race 'In the Heat of the Night'

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Alan Autry, who plays a "big ole redneck cop" in the CBS series "In the Heat of the Night," says he learned something about race relations as a boy picking cotton alongside blacks.

Autry, who had a brief football career as a quarterback for the Green Bay Packers, plays Capt. Bubba Skinner of the Sparta, Miss., police in the drama which has just moved from NBC to Wednesday night on CBS.

"I'm very concerned about race relations in this country and where we're going," says Autry, whose real name is Carlos Brown. "White supremacists think I'm a black lover. Black nationalists think I'm a white supremacist. They're wrong, and black leaders are wrong when they say whites don't understand.

"I grew up picking cotton beside my mother and black mothers and their children in California's Central Valley. That was equal opportunity cotton. I never had anything given to me because I'm white. We were poor and white and uneducated. People looked down on us.

"I get mad when I hear blacks say I don't understand. I can relate to a poor black man better than I can to a rich white man."

Autry contends "In the Heat of the Night" is the only show on television in which the cast is evenly divided among whites and blacks.

The series is based on the 1967 Academy Award-winning movie in which a racist Southern police chief reluctantly accepts the help of a Northern black detective in solving a murder. The movie starred Rod Steiger, who won an Oscar for his role as the police chief, and Sidney Poitier, who was the detective in the movie and two sequels.

In the series, which made its debut on NBC in 1988, Carroll O'Connor as Chief Bill Gillespie has adapted to the times. In fact, he even has a black girlfriend played by Denise Nicholas. Howard Rollins also stars as Chief of Detectives Virgil Tibbs. Autry's character was not in the movie.

"In the Heat of the Night" has never been a hit, but it has had respectable ratings. NBC dropped it in its search for a younger audience.

Nor has the series ever gotten much attention from the critics, despite the fact that it has gotten better each season and is now one of the best dramatic shows on the air.

"The important thing about this show is that the races get along and that we do stories where race isn't an issue," Autry says. "Conflict is the essence of drama, but we don't fight among ourselves. They call it a crime drama, but to me it's a microcosm of what society would like to be. That doesn't get played up."

"Here I am a big ole redneck cop and I get along with everybody. My character had racial attitudes. He never had to get along with blacks before. NBC sent a note saying I was playing it too rough. I said this man is going to grow and learn. Let him see that Tibbs is like any other man and can protect his backside. Let it chip away."

Autry sees Bubba Skinner as a flawed man who isn't afraid to work to correct the flaws.

"I don't want him to be the stereotypical Southern cop," he says. "Let me tell you, that is a stereotype. For every racist Southern cop you'll find thousands who are levelheaded and don't care what race you are. It was important to me to show they are not the enemy."

Autry was born in Louisiana, but at the age of 2 his family moved to California's Central Valley. He chose college over a pro baseball contract and attended the University of the Pacific. After that, he played professional football for two seasons with the Packers beginning in 1975 and was briefly with the Los Angeles Rams.

Producer Robert Altman, a football fan, offered him a role in "Remember My Name." He was also in such movies as "Southern Comfort," "Popeye" and "North Dallas Forty," and appeared in two earlier series, "Semi Tough" and "Gib."

Autry, who is divorced, says he wants to spend more time with his 11-year-old daughter and to pursue other projects. He says he stopped drinking and "cleaned up my life" six years ago.

"I want a shot to see if I can carry a feature of a series on my own," he says.

But, he adds, "I don't know how badly this town wants somebody who talks with a Southern accent as a role model."

In 1983, Autry was in a modern-day Western pilot for NBC called "Lone Star," but it lost out to "The Yellow Rose."

He bought the rights to the Chuckie Mullins story, the black University of Mississippi player paralyzed in a football game with Vanderbilt in 1989. He died six months ago. Autry would play Ole Miss Coach Billy Brewer.

Autry has also written two feature scripts for Largo Productions and 20th Century Fox.

John Heard (left) and Emmy winner Christopher Lloyd star in Dead Ahead: The Exxon Valdez Disaster, airing Saturday on HBO. The docudrama also stars David Morse, Michael Murphy and Rip Torn.

JENNIFER 8: Starring Andy Garcia and Uma Thurman. Ah, yes. A good, old-fashioned (almost, that is) psychological thriller "like they used to make." Only just a little better. Andy Garcia is Sgt. John Berlin, a burnt-out (is there any other kind?) L.A. cop who joins the police force of a small Northern California town. Soon it is discovered that one-or possibly two-murders have occurred. As Berlin investigates, he comes to believe that he is on the trail of a dangerous serial killer who just claimed an eighth victim, code-named "Jennifer".

While many of its parts are predictable, the best part of this entertaining film is its intelligence. The script allows the audience to follow along as the psychological elements, the twists and turns (and things that go bump in the night), are unveiled and examined. Each character has a reason and a place in the plot. As you watch the mystery, romance, and characters ravel and unravel, you'll enjoy being treated as an adult movie-goer. Rated R for extreme violence. Three Boxes

WONDERFUL LESSER-KNOWN HOLIDAY VIDEOS

CHRISTMAS IN JULY: (1940/Black & White) Starring Dick Powell. Directed by Preston Sturges. This is a touching, insightful comedy-drama about a young couple's dreams and aspirations. Dick Powell is great as the enthusiastic young man who mistakenly believes that he has won a contest and finds all the doors open to him - until the error is discovered. This one is a treat for all audiences. Once you've seen it, you'll want to see all of Preston Sturges' films. Not rated. Would be a G. Four Boxes

PENNY SERENADE: (1941/Black & White) Cary Grant and Irene Dunn. Cary Grant and Irene Dunn are one of the most fondly remembered comedy teams in films (The Awful Truth and My Favorite Wife). This film is a radical change of pace, for it is a ten-hankie tear-jerker about a couple's attempt, in the midst of a Christmas season (with its childhood pageants), to adopt a child. Not rated. Would be a G. Four Boxes

SOAP TALK

'Santa Barbara' fans speak out

By Candace Havens

Wow! You folks are really upset about the demise of Santa Barbara, and who can blame you? I have received many letters concerning the show (enough to write a year's worth of columns), and each of you has made it clear that you want to do whatever it takes to keep SB on the air. I am forwarding each of your letters to the network.

Here is what a few of you had to say: "I am very upset about SB going off the air. I am not a tired, bored, dull little old lady with nothing to do but watch soap operas. I have a life, but I am hooked on SB. The show has very real actors with real, everyday problems. I think NBC is doing the American soap watcher a great disservice by taking it off the air." —Jonnie Prescott, Denton, Texas.

"The writing for SB is like a breath of fresh air compared to other soap operas. I love their subtle humor and their fantasy sequences, especially the ones shown at Christmas. I realize ratings are the name of the game, but what about us viewers?" —Barbara Shimkus, South Holland, Ill.

"I cannot understand why NBC keeps fooling around with their good programs. They are going to lose a lot of their viewers if they don't stop pulling off all the good shows!" —C.M. Baker, Mojave, Calif.

"My husband and I love to watch SB every day - we're hooked. We think there are already too many talk shows and game shows on TV. We don't need another one." —Mr. and Mrs. B.C. Oden Sr., Trinity, Texas.

"There are a lot of stupid game shows on the tube already, and nobody would miss them if the network dumped them! But dump SB? Never!" —Ellen Moore, Ripon, Calif.

"I let NBC take Generations without a fight, but not SB. The segment on sexual abuse is very close to my heart and has helped me with my own problems as well as the foster children we have had in our care at one time or another. This is a cruel world, but SB's humor makes it a little better. Keep SB and address the abuse, AIDS and other real problems of the world. No more talk shows!" —Cheryl Broughton, SB Fan, West Union, Ohio.

'Dead Ahead' a powerful indictment

HBO chronicles Exxon Valdez oil spill

By Steven Alan McGaw

Moments after midnight on Friday, March 24, 1989, Exxon's oil tanker, The Valdez, ran aground on a reef in Alaska's Prince William Sound. The accident ruptured several of the ship's storage tanks and eventually spilled 11 million gallons of oil into the sea. Over 1,000 miles of previously pristine shoreline were affected and the impact on the area's wildlife was colossal, killing nearly 400,000 birds and thousands of land animals. The most conservative scientific estimates say the true toll of the event will not be sufficiently appreciated until well into the next century.

On Saturday, Dec. 12, HBO unveils Dead Ahead: The Exxon Valdez Disaster, a dramatic chronicle of the event and its aftermath.

Christopher Lloyd stars as Frank Iarossi, an Exxon executive in charge of shipping. Within hours after the Valdez accident, Iarossi is awakened in his Houston home and dispatched to Alaska to ensure the safe containment of the tanker's remaining oil and head Exxon's role in the cleanup. What follows, however, is day after day of finger-pointing, name-calling and argument as Exxon, the Alyeska pipeline consortium, various environmentalist groups and even the Coast Guard squabble over who's to blame, who should do what and whose head(s) should roll.

Dead Ahead producer Leslie Woodhead says the problem became shockingly clear as he and his staff did their research. "What was going on," he says, "was an attempt on all parts to clean up their own image rather than clean up the oil spill." The result, he charges, was a "devastating inertia" in mobilizing cleanup efforts, making the disaster far worse than it had to be.

John Heard co-stars as environmentalist Dan Lawn and David Morse plays outraged fisherman Rick Steiner. Rip Torn also appears briefly as Adm. Paul Yost. Each of the film's principals, as well as the supporting players and many extras, contribute to the film's gripping sense of urgency.

YOUR GET-AWAY TRIP FROM MERVYN'S.

ROUND-TRIP AIRFARE FOR 2 MEXICO OR HAWAII*

SAVE $300 IN MERVYN'S RECEIPTS - YOU'LL RECEIVE ROUND-TRIP AIRLINE TICKETS FOR TWO*

It all begins with Christmas at Mervyn's. And it ends when you fly to a fabulous vacation in the tropical paradise of your choice with our compliments.

You and a companion can visit exotic Honolulu to enjoy the relaxation, fun and romance of Hawaiian sun and surf. Every moment will be a pleasure you'll treasure for life.

Or travel to the magic of Mexico. It's a fiesta for the senses as you experience the enchantment of one of three breathtaking resorts - Cancun, Cabo San Lucas or Puerto Vallarta.

You'll jet to your destination as our guests. And enjoy all the luxuries of the accommodations we'll arrange for you at deluxe hotels featuring the Plaza las Glorias Hotels in Mexico and selected Outrigger Hotels in Hawaii. Special family arrangements can be made for travel.

*Exclusive of $12 handling fee. Purchase of hotel accommodations required. See store for details.
