HERE'S TO SUCCESS

We carry a smile for the winner, and rush for the shake of his hand, no matter if saint or a sinner, he captures the fruits of the land. . . We pay our respects to the Baron, who stands on the peak of renown, but we give our regards mighty sparin' to the lone-hearted feller that's down. . .

We flock whar the diamonds are gleamin' and worship the spert of gold. Let fools waste their effort in dreamin' of them that's left out in the cold. . . Let's bask in the magnate's approval, and shun the cheap trash of the town, whose presence suggests their removal,—away with the rabble that's down!

I never could quite understand it, but I'm jest as gully as you. . . The High-muckets hardly demand it—to smear it as thick as we do. . . Sometimes, when we bask in their sunshine, they could freeze us to death with a frown,—but we wouldn't be courtin' no danger, to smile with the brother that's down.

An oil tank explosion at San Angelo, Texas, caused a fire which did $150,000 damage.

Reports from various sections of Texas indicate a record corn crop.

According to information received by President Bissell from the War Department, the A. & M. College of Texas has for the thirteenth time been ranked as a distinguished college. Only nine other colleges in the United States now have that rank.

MOTOR VS. RAILROADS

Some time ago we told a little story about how the railroad lost $200,000 in freights because the onion farmers of Texas found that the hauling charges by boat from Galveston, Texas, to New York City were about half what the railroads were charging under their present unconscionably high rates. The onions just floated into New York. The Texas farmers saved a lot of money and the railroads lost $200,000 even if they had only charged the boat freight rate.

A. D. Hill is a general store keeper at Pineville, N. Y., 40 miles from Kingston, and buys his goods at Kingston. The railroad station at Pineville is a mile uphill from Mr. Hill's store. The railroad charges 30 cents a hundred for freight from Kingston to Pineville and after that there is the cost of loading and hauling down that mile to the store. A motor trucking concern now brings Mr. Hill's goods from Kingston at 30c a hundred and DELIVERS IT AT HIS DOOR.

Another case of the motor putting it over the railroad. There are thousands of such examples the country over and there will be more. If the railroads don't wake up pretty soon, the motor will take all the profit there possibly can be in railroading.

And it isn't rates alone that show the backwardness of railroad management today. Not only are their methods wasteful, but their very fundamentals are unduly expensive. Compare what a locomotive will do with what the same cost in motor trucks will do?

It will be interesting to hear what Henry Ford will get finally in speed and hauling ability, cheapness of construction and fuel, reduction of running expense, and efficiency of transportation out of the new motor locomotives with which he is experimenting.

WHY, SAM!

The News editor was "among those present," who sat on a residential veranda some weeks ago in a certain Texas city, and saw a young lady in the home across the way lay herself down for the night, reach into the window seat by her bed, select a cigaret, light it, turn out the light and make it glow as the firefly until it had been consumed. The family in whose home we were stopping expressed very great surprise that this young lady, so charming, so refined, etc., could be clandestinely indulging in the lowering habit of smoking cigarets. For a number of years we have heard of the society women of the north and east, "rolling and smoking their own," but it has always seemed unreal in the distance. But, folks, here it is, already among us. Recently, in Amarillo, a reporter visited the cleaning establishments of that city and found that very frequently the pockets of the skirts or blouses brought there for cleaning, contained cigarets, stubs, matches—all the evidences of the smoker. We have never heard of a young lady in Clarendon smoking. We don't believe they do and we will join all good citizens in denying such a rumor—if occasion should demand—until there is ocular proof. Girls, it's bad enough for the boys.—Clarendon News.

A. & M. Special

The Banker-Farmer livestock special which is to leave College Station July 30 for a three-weeks tour of the corn belt states and the Central West promises to be the most representative of Texas of any group that has ever gone out of the state, according to C. M. Evans, dairy specialist, Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas, who will be in charge of the special on its trip. Tickets for this train permit of stopovers at any point and a good many of the tourists have signified their intention of taking the stop-over privilege at College Station for the week of the Farmers' Short Course at the College. The club boys of the state, who are competing for the free trips being offered, will enter the competitions given in connection with the Short Course the week of July 25-30.

Home building is coming back to a price at which no family can afford to pay rent. Prices are down as low as actual cost production, based upon the readjusted wage scale, will permit.

Why Accident and Health Insurance

One person in seven is killed or injured by accident each year.

One person is killed in an automobile accident every 35 minutes.

For every accidental death there are from 120 to 140 disabling injuries.

One out of every eight deaths is accidental between the ages of 20 and 60.

Five times as many people are killed and injured as have been killed or injured in any war of the last 200 years.

There are constantly about 3,000,000 persons seriously ill. Approximately 400 out of every 1,000 persons are sick every year.

More Americans died from influenza and pneumonia during the epidemics of 1918, 1919 and 1920 than were killed in the European War.

Fifty-six thousand people were killed during 1919 as a result of automobile accidents—an average of more than 4,000 a month, or more than 1,000 a week.

Always a Satisfying Service.

ANOTHER CHAPTER TO OLD OIL STORY

Mrs. Helen Bergdren was the victim of a very painful accident last Friday. Intending to build a fire in the kitchen range, she placed some corn cobs in the stove and poured coal-oil on them, leaving the can on the stove. She was not ready to light the fire, and went in to another room. When she returned in a few minutes and struck a match, the whole front of the stove blew off and the flames ignited the young woman's clothing.

She ran into a bedroom and tried to get a coverlet to wrap round her person, but the covering had been pinned in place, so she ran elsewhere and secured a coat, then ran into the yard screaming. Neighbors came to her rescue.

She was found to be badly burned about the thighs and back. At this writing she is getting along as well as could be expected.

It is supposed that there was enough heat in the stove to have formed gas which exploded when Mrs. Bergdren struck the match. —Texline Enterprise.

Last year Midland had a two days affair of this kind and it was such a success that it is to be repeated and on a larger, more extensive and expensive scale.

Everybody is wanted for the occasion, being assured of good entertainment and hotel accommodations unsurpassed.

ALMOST BLINDED WITH FLY POWDER

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gosnell of Post City, formerly proprietors of the Algerita Hotel at that place, have been in Lubbock the past ten days, while Mr. Gosnell was receiving treatment from one of our local eye specialists. Mr. Gosnell had the misfortune some time ago, while dusting fly powder about the room, to have some of it blown in his eyes. It was first thought total blindness would be the result, but we are glad to report the vision has been partially restored and in time it is thought the improvement will continue. —Lubbock Avalanche.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cates were awakened by the squeal of chickens and when they went out to investigate they were attacked by a vicious wolf. Mrs. Cates was bitten on the leg and Mr. Cates was bitten on the hand before the animal was killed. Upon returning to the house they were followed by the wolf and Mr. Cates shot it thru the screen. More than two dozen chickens were killed by the animal, a fine registered sow was bitten and perhaps other stock around the place.

The wolf was brought to town and the head shipped to Austin, but it being so evident that the animal was effected with rabies, Mr. and Mrs. Cates left on the north bound train yesterday for the Pastern Institute at Austin to be ready for treatment in case it is found that the wolf had rabies. —Foard County News.

AN ENGINE BACK-FIRES INTO EYES

Just as we are going to press, the Herald received information that J. J. Vance, one of our county commissioners, is in the hospital at Amarillo where he is being treated for injuries sustained Wednesday. It seems that Mr. Vance was starting an engine when it back-fired into his eye. It is reported that little hopes are entertained for saving the eye.

Next week the Herald will give a more detailed account of the sad accident, and we hope at that time to be able to report that Mr. Vance's injuries are not so serious as now believed. —Panhandle Herald.

Jeff M. Foster, 18 years old son of E. E. Foster, who lives 8 miles northwest of Mountain Park, was killed by lightning Wednesday afternoon. He was pitching wheat from wagon to stack when struck. In the days when creating freighters brought supplies to the Panhandle plains the hardy pioneer could have little thought of what was to come after him —that in the not far-distant future those far flung plains, then the home of buffalo and coyote would become the source of the world's finest hard wheat.

Nor as he munched his hoe-cake did he dream of the time when in the heart of that Plains country there would be a great milling plant making a flour so fine in quality and so consistent in purity as to gain the respect and patronage of the entire section.

Great West Mills and Great West Flour typify the spirit of progress that has marked the Plains country from pioneer days until the present hour.

Surprise Birthday Dinner

The beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Palmer was the scene of much pleasure Saturday when a number of the close friends of Mrs. Palmer surprised her with a lovely dinner in honor of her birthday.

In the absence of the hostess the table was laid and spread with a veritable feast of delicious entrees, and upon her return, she was welcomed and congratulated and then shown to the dining room where the attractive dinner was waiting.

Social conversation added to a number of clever contests provided an enjoyable afternoon's program.

Guests of the occasion were Mrs. G. A. F. Parker and her mother, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. W. M. Cogsdell, Mrs. W. O. Fox, Mrs. D. E. Turrentine and daughter, Mrs. Charles Paddock, Mrs. Rex Tynes and daughter, Mrs. J. B. Phillips, Mrs. L. I. Garton, Mrs. J. Frank Potts, Mrs. Roy Stocking, Mrs. Seth B. Holman, Mrs. Ezra Norton and Mrs. A. L. Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Cockrell Celebrate Cotton Wedding

Of the smaller social affairs of the week none have been prettier or have given more pleasure than the twelve o'clock dinner party which, on Sunday, July tenth, celebrated the second wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Cockrell.

Originality and beauty marked the decorative scheme which gave unusual attractiveness to the pretty home and was so happily suggestive of the "cotton" wedding. Sprays of the cotton plant, through whose opening bolls the fleecy whiteness of the cotton was revealed, were effectively combined with sweet peas in a pretty arrangement of basket bouquets. These reached their greatest charm in a table centerpiece showing a cut glass basket of the cotton sprays used with pink sweet peas.

Unique place card were made of glazed sheet cotton in shell-pink with the words, "Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Cockrell, 1919-1921, in gilt lettering, gave a distinctive touch to the beautifully laid table.

The dinner was served in three courses and gave pleasure to Mrs. W. F. West, Jack West, Misses Grace Lucas, of Canton, Mo., Ethlyn Cockrell, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cockrell.

Barn Dance Most Delightful Event

Unique among social affairs in Hereford was the barn dance of Friday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barber extended the hospitality of their home in South Hereford to some fifty friends, the list being limited to no particular crowd or age—just a cosmopolitan party of jolly, congenial friends from the younger to the older.

The mammoth barn, almost new and with floor space fifty by thirty-eight feet, was an ideal place for dancing and accommodated, besides the dancers, four tables of bridge. The Smith brothers orchestra furnished delectable music while bales of straw used for seats and tubs of lead water served with tin cups gave the rustic touch that completed a perfect setting for the time-honored country dance.

The cordial hospitality of the hostess and host was reflected in a very manifest spirit of social enjoyment that marked the occasion as one of the most delightful of recent social happenings.

Col. Woodburn Celebrates Birthday

A birthday celebration replete with fullest measure of happiness was a pleasant reminder to Col. E. T. Woodburn, on Friday, July fifteenth, that life is not measured by the passing years but by the qualities which enrich it with love and friendship and universal esteem.

Friday was Col. Woodburn's seventy-eighth birthday and a family reunion in honor of the day brought to the old home most of the children and near relatives in an enjoyable birthday celebration.

Most of the guests arrived Thursday and remained until Saturday. Friday an elaborate dinner was the feature of the festivities, the social good cheer which accompanied it, and which characterized the entire two days' program making the occasion one long to be treasured in the memories of those participating. Enjoying the happy event with Col. Woodburn were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Woodburn and children, Gydelle and Jimmy Jo, and Mrs. W. E. Betts, all of Claude; Mrs. Charles Woodburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Woodburn, of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fry and daughters, Louise Ann and Virginia Caroline, J. D. all Hereford joins in congratulations and in the hope that to the honoree may be given many years of usefulness and happiness, brightened by a continuance of Friday's happy associations.

NORTH TEXAS TESTS ABOUT CONDITIONS

 purchase of lands than most anything in the United States. In Holland where by comparison each acre of land produces more to the man than any country today, can be purchased, where for sale, for $114.00 per acre. In the United States, where there are more acres and less production per acre, per capita than any country on the globe, we find such higher prices. I had some land quoted to me last week at $2500.00 per acre—bargain price, and you all know that $300 per acre lands in the past few years are not rare. When an investigator begins the investigation of bank stock to buy, he inquires about its earning capacity, its possibility of the future and many other things that go into that to make its real value. I know of bank stock that its book value is more than 25 percent above par, that would not command par—it is not busted, but it has so little earning power, the investment in its stock would not bring any returns—how many farms in this state of Texas could be put on the same bargain counter, yet those same farms have been sold and re-sold from $25.00 to $125.00 per acre. From a dividend standpoint, what is the value of the lands in Deaf Smith county today? We that live here are today suffering for this over-valuation, and will continue to suffer, because many of us will not live long enough to live it down. Thousands of acres of land are lying idle here now because ten years ago about half of Deaf Smith county lands were placed in the hands of real estate men, having only one thought, and that was to unload those lands at least double and in some instances quadruple the purchase price—those same lands are today in the hands of men, who are not developing their resources, yet they are able to continue to hold them idle, demanding their money back with interest and I don't know of any way to remedy it, but pay the bill. One day last week I took the application of a stock-farmer for a Government loan on his half section of land. He bought this tract in 1918, agreeing to pay $4800.00 for this land, for which he executed twelve notes of $400.00 each, yet his application disclosed he had not been able to pay the 10 percent interest on those notes, make a living for his family and pay any of those notes during all this time, save one. Did he pay too high for this place? I have no fight on the honest real estate man—he is a booster always—it is stock-in-trade, every community has him, but if there is anyone I hate, detest, despise, abhor with all my strength, blood, bone, muscle, skin, hair, marrow, sight, voice and soul, it is those human snakes that are always preying on the unaware. Take up a man or woman and transport them across several states and sell them land at four times its real value, and leave them in that community either as charity objects, or to go back 'yonder' to forever knock this country. There was a bill introduced into the last legislature to curb these vultures, but like many good movements, it failed. A few years ago, there was a farmer, living outside the city of Jefferson, Mo., whose boys had gone to town—he had a model farm—he had raised his family there—he knew what it was worth, and was willing to sell it for $275.00 per acre. It stayed on the market for two years. A real estate man came to his house one day and bought it, paying him all cash. He brought a man from Kansas City, who had spent the best part of his life in that city working for wages—he had the land-see. He bought that 100 acres, paying $375.00 per acre, paid $16,000 cash and agreed to pay in the future $275.00 per acre, evidenced by his notes—after two years failures, he went back to Kansas City to get him another job—that real estate man did not add one cent value to that place for which this man paid $16,000 bonus. That was wrong—that is only one instance. To my mind the flock of appraisers put out by the Government land banks will have a tendency to curb this and stabilize values. We have in this county an institution that has up to this time placed with the farmers of this county money at a cheap rate of interest equaling the combined loans of all the banks in the county and that is not all, we are today offering, with some restrictions to take up the needs of the farmers and carry them for thirty-three years, if he desires, and many are availing themselves of this opportunity, but we have not one cent to offer to the cattle man on his cattle, and if we are rightly advised, it is hard to find a man who will own to having that commodity.

"Thru the operation of this act, the farmer is on equal footing with the commercial interest of the country. Every banker, son of a banker, or would-be banker knows what is meant by Prime Commercial paper and at any time a banker has idle money in his vault, he seeks this kind of paper, and in this way many big concerns, like Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago, Swift, Armour, and others, carry on their business with this cheap money. The farmer, if he needed any money to do business on, had to seek it alone, and by this fact has been the easy prey of insurance companies and loan brokers for high interest rates. But through the operation of this act, ten men in a community or county get together, obtain a charter out of the Treasury Department of the U. S. and begin business. After that they can continue as long as anyone in that community will apply for loans, and through this cumulative effort, they are getting as cheap credits as the Banks of the county themselves, and a this particular time they are even getting it cheaper, for the discount rate with the Federal Reserve Bank is six and a half percent, whereas we are placing this money with the farmer at six percent per annum, and we are only limited by the limited money resources of the investing public.

"Now let us get to values of this land. We are placed into a zone by the Board at Washington, called a semi-arid zone, and they are right about it and, being placed that way, we are necessarily restricted in values, and until we have demonstrated the possibilities of this country and what it will do to produce values we are not going to get any change—in fact at this time we have been out values twenty percent by the Land Bank at Houston, over the values obtained in 1919, and I believe they are right. They won't make a loan on raw land at all. Why? Because it has no value from a productive standpoint. How much money would you give for land that will command only 5c per acre grass lease? Unless you have in your mind some fellow who will pay you a profit on it, you would not invest anything in it—that is the way the bank looks at this, and the sooner we get this land to producing something worth while, the sooner we will be able to get the relief we need from this Loan agency.

"In conclusion, there are just two things I have to offer Deaf Smith county this morning. First and foremost, is for us to not let the last of another month find us without a contract with a live Farm Demonstrator and help him to make this County the banner agricultural county on the plains. If we are going to develop this country, we need help, otherwise, this land is worth what it was appraised by the State, $1.00 per acre.

Second, get at least one man in this town, whose business it is not to sell real estate, but to buy it—that is, represent the man coming to this county to make a home—see that he gets his home at an honest price and has an even chance to make good. In the failure to get such a man, let this body of men composing this Chamber of Commerce take it on themselves to help out in such work. And we want to handle this like a certain preacher I heard of once, but we want to stay closer home. A traveling man boarded a train and finding a vacant seat by a man, asked if he might share the seat. He said to the traveling man, 'I perceive you are a traveling man? Yes. And what line do you represent?' 'I handle Dry Goods for Sanger Bros. You are a traveling man, and what line is yours?' 'I am handling whiskey with my gloves off,' said the preacher. Not understanding just what that meant, the traveling man said, 'Who are you traveling for?' The preacher answered, 'For the King Lord.' The traveling man studied a moment and said, 'Well, you are a H— of a long ways from home.'

CANYON REJECTS ALL PAVING BIDS

There will be no paving around the public square of Canyon until a contractor is located who will do the work within the boundaries set by the engineers. All bids for paving were rejected by the city council at the meeting Monday evening owing to the fact that the lowest bid was $6,000 more than the engineers' estimates made eighteen months ago.

The city council opened the bids of the contractors at the meeting Monday and found all of the three bids filed to be very close together. The lowest bid was $40,014.00. After discussing the paving proposition at great length, the council rejected all bids and decided to wait until conditions were more favorable.

Eighteen months ago when material and labor were at the very highest point, the city employed Hess & Skinner to make estimates on the paving of the public square. These gentlemen estimated the job would cost approximately $34,000.00. For the past six months material and labor has declined very greatly, especially this being true with labor. Men may be employed today for $3 and $4 who would not work for less than $6 and $8 six months ago. The council believed that a contract could be closed at around $30,000 owing to the decline in prices.

The contractors state that one hundred cars of material would have to be shipped to Canyon for the paving job. Freight rates have increased 50 per cent since the estimates were made. Members of the council told the contractors that the increase in freight rates could not possibly more than offset the decline in price of material and labor.—Randall Co. News.

POULTRY BREEDING DEMONSTRATION

Discussed and planned poultry breeding demonstration, advises B. W. Eaton, County Agent in Fischer county in his weekly field report to the Extension Service. The plan of the demonstration will be the same as two others planned for this year. The purpose is to breed up a standard bred flock to better layers. Since farmers who have various farm duties have not the time to devote to trap-nesting for this purpose, while buying eggs or fowls from breeders is often disappointing, the following plan has been adopted in order to secure fair results at a small cost of time. The hens are leg-banded and a small booklet is prepared for keeping a record of the laying condition of each hen at fifteen to thirty-day periods, opposite the list of numbers corresponding to the leg band number is a column for each of the twelve months. The county agent visits the farm and goes over the flock recording in the month column the laying condition of the hen, whether fair, poor, excellent, or not laying at all. A list of abbreviations is prepared for every condition of the hen which is desired to be kept, such as B for broody, S for setting, P for poor laying conditions, M for moulting, etc. Each month or less the flock is gone over and the condition of each individual recorded. The farmer is instructed how to determine the laying condition of the hen so that he will not have to depend on the county agent further.

During the early moulting season, by means of the record of previous months as a guide, the best layers can be selected in a very dependable way.

It has been found further that by keeping the record of laying or other conditions of the hen, taken at short intervals, causes the farmer to begin to study his flock for individual characteristics, rather than to look upon the whole as just a flock of fowls, each and all of equal value to him. It has been observed that the farmer will be little the record keeping at first, but as previously mentioned, his curiosity, if for no other reason, will cause him to go to watching certain hens and as a result pretty soon he sees the benefit of the record. The plan is, of course, not as dependable as trap-nesting, but its great advantage lies in the fact that it requires very little time throughout the entire year.

County Agent Work

The value of a county agent is best exemplified by reference to Wheeler County, where the fair and pure-blood stock sales have grown into big events in the community and county life. At the Kutch hog sale near Wheeler last week the top hog sold for $500, and the average for the sale was $186 per head. The sales totaled almost $10,000.—Canadian Record.

Editor Loomis is to be congratulated in his utterances and stand in favor of a county agent. A real, live, capable, interested, conscientious county agent is one of the most valuable men in any community. To be without the services of such a man is little short of a county calamity—it is certainly a county-wide misfortune. No money is more wisely or judiciously expended than that invested in the salary of a county agent. The religious communities have their pastors, the schools have their teachers, the clubs have their leaders, the lodges and counties their officers, and it is but fair, progressive and desirable that the farmers and the farmers' wives should have the county home demonstrator.—Amarillo News.

DEPUTY SHERIFF GETS BOOTLEGGER

Deputy Sheriff Williams did a splendid day's work last Friday when he succeeded in rounding up a "sure enough" boot legger who had in his possession about ten quarts of genuine Canadian Club whiskey.

Mr. Williams had been in Amarillo during the day and while there learned of this party and that he was headed toward Panhandle. Mr. Williams immediately left for home, but upon reaching here found that his man had gone on to Pampa in company with a member of the Amarillo Base Ball Club who was playing a game with Pampa.

Mr. Williams kept close watch, and toward night the man made his appearance driving a Buick roadster and headed toward Amarillo. He changed his plans, however, as Mr. Williams placed him at once under arrest and securing what remained of his supply of booze.

He afterwards gave bond and was allowed to return to Amarillo.—Panhandle Herald.

THE CENTENARY OF A GREAT AMERICAN WOMAN, MARY BAKER EDDY

Birthplace and childhood home of Mary Baker Eddy, Bow, near Concord, New Hampshire.

Granite Pyramid Memorial marking birthplace of Mary Baker Eddy at Bow.

On July 16th, the thought of hundreds of thousands of earnest Christian people will turn in loving memory toward the little town of Bow, New Hampshire, where one hundred years ago was born the child who later became known to the world as Mary Baker Eddy, the founder and discoverer of the most remarkable of all modern spiritual movements.

A few years ago a writer in a great London magazine, when commenting on Mrs. Eddy's "strength of character mingled with extraordinary tenderness for humanity," said her "one paramount impulsion has ever been the good of mankind."

While only the sober estimate of posterity can rightly estimate the work of the human figures that pass across the world stage, the world is now inclined to accept the view of some of its more thoughtful leaders that among the great and good women of history, none will have a more enduring place than Mary Baker Eddy.

Born of sturdy Scotch-English ancestry, her forbears were among those who carved the mighty American nation out of the wilderness. Apparently of that high type of character which with deliberation chooses the spiritual things of life, Mrs. Eddy blazed a pathway of light along which have traveled with joy and gratitude millions of human beings. At an age when the average person counts his best work finished, Mrs. Eddy began her greatest effort, and unlike other spiritual leaders of history, she lived to see her teachings established as a recognized influence for good in the world.

Mrs. Eddy's ancestry includes some of the most distinguished families of England and Scotland. A direct ancestor was a daughter of a king of Scotland, and so her line is connected with the present royal house of Great Britain, and thus according to some authorities, straight back to David, king of Israel.

It was on February 4, 1806, at Swampscott, near Lynn, Mass., that Mrs. Eddy experienced a remarkable spiritual healing from the effects of a fall which had been pronounced fatal. This experience, with further Scriptural study, led to her discovery that all causation is mind and all effects mental phenomena, and that there is a definite spiritual law which, understood, governs all human affairs. She spent the next nine years in working out, proving, and teaching the truth of her discovery, and then published her book, "Science and Health," in 1875. In June of the same year she opened regular services at her home in Lynn, and gave to the little group who there worshipped with her, the name "Christian Scientists." These students commenced at once to practice Christian Science healing, and from that day to this the healing of the sick and the regenerating of the sinful have constituted the practical ministry of Christian Science. In June, 1878, Mrs. Eddy began her Christian Science work in Boston, and on Patriots' day, April 19, 1879, she formally organized the first Christian Science church which she declared was "designed to commemorate the word and works of our Master, which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing."

There followed the establishment of a college for the teaching of the new Science, and in 1883 the publication of the first of the influential periodicals which have helped so tremendously to spread the teachings of Christian Science. Ten years after founding her church in Boston, Mrs. Eddy returned to her native state of New Hampshire and established her home at Concord, almost within sight of her childhood home at Bow.

Then followed a period of almost twenty years of retirement at her beautiful estate, "Pleasant View." There her time and thought were given to further spiritual research and plans for the further extension of the great religious Movement she had established and in which she held the honored title of Pastor Emeritus. Perhaps her most important accomplishment during this period was the development of a code of rules to govern the members of her church and to provide for its orderly and continuous extension. These rules or "by-laws," together with certain other important matter, are contained in the church "Manual." The provisions of this "Manual" are jealously guarded by Christian Scientists because they consider that it embodies the essential requirements for guiding them individually and collectively and insuring the ultimate understanding and acceptance of Christian Science by the world at large. In fact, some Christian Scientists believe that this manual is designed to identify and protect the progressive minority in each successive stage of the development of the church body and to stimulate the more rapid unfoldment of each advancing footstep in the line of spiritual evolution. Some also believe that a system that will insure the successful accomplishment of these results when honestly and intelligently applied to a collective body or community, means far more than at first appears on the surface; in fact, that Mrs. Eddy has evolved a scientific system which will ultimately affect all human government and organization and insure the world's progress on a definite and practical basis by impelling the more rapid dawn of each succeeding stage of progressive unfoldment and the elimination of the long and bitter struggles which have always obstructed humanity's advancing footsteps.

In the 42 years since her first church was organized, Mrs. Eddy's teachings have spread throughout the world, through approximately two thousand distinct organizations, and have become a powerful influence in the lives of millions of people. The Christian Science publications, including the Christian Science Monitor, a daily newspaper of universally recognized excellence, carry their messages throughout the world.

The earthly pilgrimage of the venerable Founder of this great religious movement came to a close on December 3, 1910, and on that occasion appeared in the press of the world a remarkable tribute to the work of this great religious figure. Agreement or disagreement with her teachings had nothing to do apparently with the sincere appreciation expressed on every hand that this gentle American woman had lifted up a standard of conduct and character that had worked vastly in the improvement of the moral standards of the world. As an indication of the estimate in which she was held by those who knew her best, the city council of her home city, Concord, N. H., on this occasion passed a formal resolution declaring "that by the death of the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy the world has suffered an irreparable loss and the citizens of Concord the loss of an honored and a devoted friend of our city whose motto was 'to injure no man, but to bless all mankind.'"

That the citizenship of Mary Baker Eddy was of a high order may perhaps be gleaned from a sentence published in a Boston paper many years ago when Mrs. Eddy was asked for her political beliefs: "I have none in reality, other than to help support a righteous government, to love God supremely, and my neighbor as myself."

When one has climbed the green-clad hills of Bow rising from the beautiful waters of the Merrimack, he reaches the rolling uplands where stood the Baker homestead. Marking the birthplace today, like a silent, immovable sentinel, stands a great granite pyramid memorial hewn from the largest block of granite ever quarried in New Hampshire. It seems to appropriately symbolize the life work of Mary Baker Eddy which Christian Scientists believe to have been the discovery that principle is God and that Christianity and Science are in reality identical. On one of the bronze tablets on this memorial appear these words, quoted from Mrs. Eddy's writings:

"This truth is the rock which the builders rejected, but the same is become the head of the corner. This is the chief corner stone, the basis and support of creation, the interpreter of one God, the infinity and unity of God."

CLAUDE PROPOSES TO PULL OFF BIG PICNIC AUGUST 3

Claude, Texas, is planning to pull off a big Picnic and local celebration on Wednesday, August 3. Secretary Hunter of the Claude Chamber of Commerce has written the Hereford organization, asking whether or not there is a possibility of securing the Hereford Band for that date, and the cost of such service. He is also endeavoring to secure some carnival attraction for the day.

The matter of furnishing the Hereford Band will be referred to that organization for solution this week.

Rich Top Dressing Revives Faded Lawns
Lawns get a tired look late in the summer and can be stimulated and made fresh, according to experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, by a light top dressing, composed of 2 parts good loamy soil, one of well-rotted manure, finely comminuted, or any good compost in which soil predominates, with 1-1.2 pounds of sulphate of ammonia or nitrate of soda, for every 1,000 square feet.

The mixture should be applied evenly and will result in quick stimulation and new green growth. A mixture with a good proportion of soil is strongly urged, especially when the chemicals are used, as they will burn the grass when used too liberally on the lawn. If the grass is watered after the fertilizer is applied it should be thoroughly and liberally done.
