Fluoride may lead to more fractures

Hereford may be "The Town Without A Toothache," but it may have more hip fractures than other towns of similar size for the same reason there are fewer toothaches.

A study published last week found a "small but significant" increase in the risk of hip fractures in elderly people who drink fluoridated water.

Hereford gained worldwide fame in the 1920s and 1930s as "The Town Without A Toothache" because of a low incidence of tooth decay. In the 1930s, Dr. G.W. Heard, a long-time dentist (his practice, still in existence, is owned by Dr. Charles Hennessey) completed a study that linked a high amount of naturally-occurring fluoride in the water to the low amount of tooth decay. High levels of fluoride here prevents a lot of tooth decay, but also leads to a "mottled," brown look on teeth.

Dr. Heard's study led to many cities in the United States and other countries adding fluoride to the water supply. Sixty-one percent of Americans live in communities that fluoridate their water. Most major American health organizations, including the AMA and the American Dental Association, have endorsed fluoridation as a means of preventing dental cavities.

The authors of the study in the Journal of the American Medical Association acknowledged that more investigation was needed because previous studies have found conflicting evidence about fluoride's effects on bone.

The AMA study, led by Christa Danielson of the University of Utah, examined data on patients ages 65 and older who were hospitalized with hip fractures between 1984 and 1990 in three Utah communities.

Brigham City has added fluoride to its water supply since 1966 at a rate of one part per million, the level recommended by most major health organizations. Logan and Cedar City do not fluoridate their water and had naturally occurring fluoride levels under 0.3 part per million.

Women living in Brigham City were 1.3 times more likely to suffer hip fractures than those living in the other two communities. Brigham City men were 1.4 times more likely to suffer hip fractures, the researchers reported.

"We found a small but significant increase in the risk of hip fracture in both men and women exposed to artificial fluoridation at (one part per million), suggesting that low levels of fluoride may increase the risk of hip fracture in the elderly," the study says.

The number of hip fractures occurring in Hereford, and comparisons with other cities, were not available. However, some medical professionals acknowledged privately that Hereford may have a higher-than-normal rate of hip fractures. They qualified that by saying the number of hip fractures could be due to the city's higher percentage of older residents than to fluoride in the water.

Maloufs translate heritage

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

In a day when interest in family history seems at epidemic proportions, a Hereford man has assembled a record that reaches in the past to Biblical times.

George Hanna Malouf began with a book first published in 1907, in Arabic. His wish to bring the record up-to-date was ambitious, to say the least.

That he persevered when faced with a gigantic job of language translation is a tribute to his tenacity.

Several years ago, Malouf was visiting with his father, Hanna Malouf, in Friona, talking about their family. The elder Malouf showed him the 1907 book, written by a foremost scholar of that day, 'Eesa Iskandar Ma'loof.

George Malouf had never seen the book but was fascinated with it. And, he wondered whether he could get the book translated.

"I wanted my kids to know about their history," he said. Malouf found though that he couldn't "make a deal" to get it translated.

The result was predictable -- Malouf decided to do the translation himself, from Arabic to English.

More recent history of the Hereford man and his immediate family is a story as old as the Middle East.

"We came to the United States because of war in the Middle East," Malouf said. "My father sold everything to come here."

George Malouf was born in Jerusalem but his parents moved to Lebanon when he was about two years old because of the troubles between Jews and Palestinians as the Jews attempted to establish their own country.

After settling his family in Tyre, Lebanon, Hanna Malouf went to Saudi Arabia where he worked as a construction contractor in the developing oil fields. He returned to Tyre after two years and opened a fabric shop.

George Malouf said that when the family of eight children and parents emigrated to the U.S., they settled in Lubbock. He and an older sister were taken to school where they found themselves constantly at sea because of the language barrier. Gradually, the problem abated and what apparently was a natural talent for languages stood young George in good stead later in life.

The Maloufs -- the family eventually included five more children born in Texas -- moved to Hereford after a few years in Lubbock and Lockney.

George was graduated from Hereford High School in 1965 and went to Texas Tech where he earned a bachelor of arts degree, majoring in French and Italian.

(See MALOUFS, Page 12A)

Family history published

A 1907 book, held by George Malouf, was translated by him and became the basis of a new family history he compiled. His wife, Yiota, is holding Malouf, The Ghassani Legacy which was published this summer.

City gets 29 to apply for chief job

A search for a new police chief for the City of Hereford gets down to serious business this week as the city manager begins reviewing applications already in hand.

By Friday afternoon, 29 applications had been received by City Manager Chester Nolen. Resumes postmarked Saturday, the cutoff date, and received this week will be considered, also.

The resignation of longtime chief, Caydon Brush, was submitted June 9, effective July 31. Brush had served as police chief since 1969.

Among the applications received are two persons living in Hereford with law enforcement experience, said Nolen. The remainder are from residents throughout West and North Texas.

"Some are in chief positions now and some want to be," said Nolen.

The city manager is responsible for reporting a candidate for the position to the city commission for approval. Nolen expects to narrow the application list, conduct interviews and recommend a new chief to the commission.

"I may come down to one person or I might choose two candidates and ask a review board or committee to interview them," said Nolen. "It will depend on the candidates we have."

Senior officer in charge of the police department since departure of Brush is Capt. Pat Michael, a veteran of law enforcement.

DSGH plans ambitious CPR training

Do you know cardio-pulmonary resuscitation? Chances are you will know in the next few months.

Deaf Smith General Hospital and Hereford Emergency Medical Service have an ambitious goal: teach 5,000 adults in the Hereford area the basic skills of CPR. A special kickoff meeting will be held at 7 p.m. August 25 at the Community Center to announce details of the program, called "Neighbors Saving Neighbors."

The program will include Elizabeth Davila and Jennifer Elliott of Dimmitt, who saved a life near Dawn last winter with CPR. Also on the program will be John Sappington, American Heart Association; Terry Bavousett, director of public health, Region II, Texas Department of Health; and Gene Weatherall, chief of the state Bureau of Emergency Management.

"Last year, Hereford EMS trained over 1,000 persons in CPR," said Ron Rives, DSGH administrator. "Our goal is to see that every adult in Hereford has the opportunity to learn this life-saving skill."

Rives expressed thanks to the Health and Safety Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and the Deaf Smith County affiliate of the American Heart Association for their help.

After the kickoff, "Neighbors Saving Neighbors" CPR classes will be held every Tuesday night, September through May, from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the Community Center.

"We have several certified instructors and hospital employees who will take turns teaching the classes," said L.V. Watts, Hereford EMS director. "Students will use special mannequins to practice the techniques. We know that CPR saves lives, so we hope that every teacher and coach, every law officer, every parent, every adult will take advantage of this opportunity to learn the basic techniques."

Rives said invitations will be sent to organizations, and then to residents of the city, block by block.

"We want to include every resident of Hereford in the invitation," Rives said. "We're inviting employers to participate in the early sessions of the program so that they can encourage all their employees to sign up for a class."

"Our mission is to provide the best health care possible," said Rives

Rives said many hospital employees have volunteered to help with the classes.

"Health care workers know how critical CPR can be in an emergency situation, so our employees are enthusiastic about this effort," Rives said. "Our mission as a hospital is to provide the best health care possible to the community. Sometimes, however, trained medical personnel are not present when an emergency occurs. In an emergency situation, minutes count. Neighbors can save neighbors. That's why it is so important for every person to know how to use CPR."

When there's no time to call 911

Response time on the 911 system in Deaf Smith County is among the quickest in the Texas Panhandle, but sometimes you don't have time to call 911. That's why CPR is so important.

CPR is the administration of external cardiac compression massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to someone who has collapsed with no heartbeat. According to medical experts, it is vital to restore the circulation of oxygen-carrying blood to the brain as quickly as possible, because permanent brain damage can result if the brain is starved for oxygen for more than three to four minutes.

Filing begins Monday in special election

A two-week filing period for primary candidates for commissioner of Precinct 1 in Deaf Smith County will begin Monday.

For candidates in the primary in March who choose to run in the new election next month, there was good news last week. They will not be required to pay a filing fee.

"The secretary of state agreed that prior candidates should not have to pay the $600 fee," said County Clerk David Ruland. "Any new candidate, though, must pay the fee or file a petition signed by 50 qualified voters in the precinct."

The new primary election was ordered by a panel of three federal court judges as part of a compromise settlement of a lawsuit challenging the March Democratic primary. In that election, the incumbent in Precinct 1, John Stribling, narrowly defeated the only challenger, Tony Castillo.

The lawsuit, Trini Gamez vs. Deaf Smith County, claimed that the Precinct 1 primary was illegal because the county's commissioner precinct boundary lines had not received preclearance from the U.S. Justice Department, as required by law.

The compromise reached in negotiations and submitted to the federal judge panel called for new a primary election for Precinct 1 and a shift of residents to raise the number of Hispanics in Precinct 1.

Because of changes in the precinct lines, some special rules will be in effect for the primary on Sept. 19.

Residents of the precinct will not be required to vote in the primary of the party in which they cast ballots in March.

And, prior candidates are not bound to seek the nomination of the same party.

The unusual rules for the election were ordered by Federal Judge Mary Lou Robinson of the Northern of Texas.

In effect, voters may change parties. There were no candidates for the Republican nomination in March but the GOP primary drew voters because of state and national candidates. Those voters will be eligible to vote in September in the Democratic primary, if they wish.

There also are some voters who were changed to Precinct 1 from Precinct 2 in the boundary line shift. They will be eligible to vote in September.

Precinct 1 residents who do not have current voter registration certificates may register in the county clerk's office through Thursday this week to be eligible for balloting in the new primary.

Ruland reported Friday that 1,640 persons apparently are qualified to vote in the primary.

Filing for a place on a primary ballot will continue through 6 p.m. on Aug. 28. Democrats should contact the county chairman, Roddy Allred, and GOP candidates should file with Fran Tooley. A statement designating a campaign treasurer must be filed with the county clerk by each candidate.

ELECTION '92

Primary election date is Sept. 19. A runoff, if necessary, will be held on Oct. 3. The general election will be held on Nov. 3.

City Commission to meet Monday

Hereford city commissioners have only four items of business on the agenda for their regular meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. The commission will consider authorization for staff to prepare specifications for a computer for the city secretary, hear a request from the consulting firm engaged to prepare a plan for closing the landfill, authorize a payment to Kids Inc., and consider canceling the Sept. 7 meeting because of the Labor Day holiday.

DSGH board meets Tuesday

Deaf Smith County Hospital Board members will meet Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

The agenda includes establishment of the 1992-93 tax rate; advance refunding bond with First Southwest Company; renewal of the contract with Methodist Hospital; indigent health care program; DSGH strategic plan; physician recruitment; administrative, medical staff and operations reports; and an executive session to discuss litigation and buying property.

Commodity distribution Thursday

Panhandle Community Services will hold a commodity distribution Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn. A variety of commodities will be given to eligible persons who attend the distribution.

Senior citizens may use the east door; all others should use the west entrance to the Bull Barn.

Medical fund established

A medical assistance fund has been established at First National Bank for Taylor Paige Martin, the 10-month-old daughter of Philip and Deanna Martin of Hereford.

The infant will have open heart surgery on Sept. 8 in Lubbock. The fund has been established to help pay expenses for the surgery. Donations may be given to any teller at the bank.

Crimestoppers offers reward

Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers is offering a reward of up to $300 for information leading to an arrest and indictment in the Crime of the Week.

Hereford police are investigating a burglary in the 400 block of Jewell sometime Monday or Tuesday. A collection of old, rare liquor bottles, many still containing alcoholic beverages, was taken. About $500 worth of items were taken in the break-in.

If you have information about this or any other crime, call the Clue Line at 364-2583. If your information leads to an arrest and indictment, you will receive a reward of up to $300. Final rewards are determined by the Crimestoppers board of directors. Callers may remain anonymous by using a code name or number.

Senior parents meet Thursday

Parents of Hereford High School seniors will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the HHS auditorium.

All senior parents are urged to attend the meeting to help plan for the class supper and other activities this year.

Man injured in accident

Guadalupe Rios, 45, of Friona, received slight injuries when he was struck by a light truck near City Hall on Friday morning.

Rios was crossing the south intersection of N. Lee and Third when he was struck by a 1987 Chevrolet pickup driven by Kevin Lea, 34, of Clovis. Rios received abrasions and was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital for treatment. Lea was cited for making an improper left turn by cutting the corner.

Police arrest two Friday

Hereford police arrested two persons Friday: a man, 44, for driving while intoxicated, and a man, 33, for inhaling a volatile substance.

Reports included theft in the 400 block of Barrett, where a man said his girlfriend pawned his stereo without his permission; a man in the 400 block of Barrett said a man had taken a handgun from him several months ago but never returned it; disorderly conduct in the 900 block of E. Park; a man in the 200 block of Ave. C said his girlfriend had taken his pickup without his permission; phone harassment in the 300 block of Austin Road; criminal trespass in the 500 block of E. Fourth; and dog bite in the 300 block of McKinley.

Police issued 14 tickets Friday.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

Following Thursday night's orientation for seventh graders and their parents and eighth grade registration on Friday, Hereford Junior High teachers and students will be ready for the 1992-1993 school year.

Returning teachers and eighth graders will welcome the seventh graders, as well as five new teachers. Teachers new to HJH this year are Jana Rudd, who will be teaching eighth grade reading and English; Jason Culppepper, Self-Responsibility and girls athletics; David Vincent, Life Science, Earth Science and math; Elizabeth Witkowski, seventh math and Pre-Algebra, and Bobby Nino, athletics. Our new principal, Marilyn Leasure, and new assistant principal, Sara Lawson, will join assistant principal Ken Helms in leadership positions.

Seventh and eighth graders will spend time daily during the first six weeks to prepare for improved scores on the TAAS exam. This study time will be in addition to the daily routine of scheduled classes.

Hereford Junior High students will have an opportunity to become more involved in history activities by joining an entirely new organization for HISD. Plans are underway for a Junior Historian Chapter that will be an extra-curricular activity. Junior Historians will be involved in History Fairs, contests, field trips, essays and learning more about their community, state and nation.

Visitors to HJH will quickly notice the bulletin boards, for which we owe Dona Hendrickson a "round of applause" for her continued excellence in always having these areas updated and enjoyable. Also, to be on floors so "shiny clean one almost hate to walk on them" shows more evidence of preparation for the new year.

Visitors are encouraged to visit HJH to become better acquainted with YOUR faculty, YOUR staff and YOUR students. Please "check in" at the office when you arrive. By appointment, you may receive a guided tour of the "Home of the Proud Crowd."

Barb's still the popular Bush

HOUSTON (AP) - She was the girl who, swept off her feet by a handsome Navy aviator, dropped out of college to marry him, "the first man I ever kissed," and thence was destined for a lifetime role as Supermom.

For years, Barbara Bush also has been a sunny presence in America's life, the sort of person who would make herself - and you - comfortable at your kitchen table.

Underneath all that is one tough lady. Just the raw outline of her biography tells that. And her biographers have come around to the view that there's more there - more pain, more strength and more politics - than she has permitted to meet the public's eye.

In the course of being George Bush's wife, she had to pack up and move the household 28 times before the move to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Largely alone, she raised the children. When her second-born, a 3-year-old daughter, Robin, lay dying of leukemia for seven months, Barbara Bush kept the hospital vigil. She made the decision about whether to try a risky procedure - it failed - to save the child's life. George Bush was off, most of the time, traveling.

As an oil matron in Texas, she shook with nervousness when asked to speak before the Houston Garden Club. But she overcame that fear and two decades later toured the country with a slide show talk about her life as an envoy's wife after she and Bush returned from China.

On Wednesday night, Mrs. Bush gives the most important speech of her life, a prime time address at the Republican National Convention, intended to bolster her husband's uncertain prospects of re-election.

No first lady has ever been assigned so prominent a role at a political convention. Cynics, noting his low ratings and her high ones, say Bush is the first president to run on his wife's skirttails.

"I think she's the biggest asset we have, frankly," says Sheila Tate, who was Bush's press secretary during his 1988 White House campaign.

"I think she's probably the most loved woman in the country. She comes by that honestly. She's down to earth, she has an abundance of common sense, she's kind, and she's a pretty good politician."

And how much of an adviser to the president is she?

"We will never know," says Ms. Tate. "She often says no one will ever know."

Carl Anthony, author of "First Ladies," a two-volume study of presidential wives, thinks Mrs. Bush - for all her self-effacing humor as a "fat, white-haired wrinkled lady" - keeps much from public view.

"We've been allowed to see a part of her that plays very well and is genuine - a warm and funny grandmotherly figure, but I think that is only about 40 percent of what makes up Barbara Bush," he says.

"Barbara Bush is much more political than Nancy Reagan," he adds. "She knows Capitol Hill, she knows Washington, she knows which senators are voting yea or nay, with or against the administration."

Writer Marjorie Williams, in a Vanity Fair magazine profile (that Mrs. Bush calls "mean") portrays a "caustic," "judgmental" "domineering" first lady.

But the article's theme is that Mrs. Bush has paid a heavy private price to subvert her own strong will and carry off her role as "the humble helpmate."

Mrs. Bush herself has occasionally given a glimpse into that cost.

In a speech in 1985 she told, not entirely joyfully, of the years of being spouse to a businessman-congressman-Senate candidate-China envoy-UN ambassador-GOP chairman-CIA director:

"This was a period, for me, of long days and short years," she said, "of diapers, runny noses, earaches, more Little League games than you could believe possible, tonsils, and those unscheduled races to the hospital emergency room, Sunday school and church, of hours of urging homework, or short chubby arms around your neck and sticky kisses; and experiencing bumpy moments - not many, but a few - of feeling that I'd never, ever be able to have fun again and coping with the feeling that George Bush, in his excitement of starting a small company and traveling around the world, was having a lot of fun."

"Barbara," wrote Bush, in his own biography, "was the mainstay, of course, the parent who was always there to help solve the daily problems and emergencies of teen and preteen life."

Has she been a political mainstay too?

Barbara Bush

Age: 67.
Parents: Pauline and Marvin Pierce. He was president of the company that published McCall's and Redbook. She was a gardener, violinist, antique collector and civic booster.
Married: The handsomest man she ever met, and the first man she ever kissed, George Bush, on Jan. 6, 1945.
Children: Five survive--George, Jeb, Neil, Marvin and Dorothy. Robin died of leukemia at age 3.
Interests: Scaring people to death about illiteracy in the U.S. She tries to scare people, too, about how insidious the problem is in America. Also: reading, needlepoint, gardening, tennis, swimming, walking her dog, writing. She has written two books under the byline of her dogs. The royalties went to charity. Her trademark: Three-to-five strand artificial pearls.
Embarrassing quote: In the 1984 campaign, she referred to Geraldine Ferraro as a "$4 million, I can't say it, but it rhymes with rich." She thought she was speaking off the record; she apologized to Mrs. Ferraro.

She was probably influential in bringing into government the only black in Bush's Cabinet, Health Secretary Louis Sullivan, with whom she served as a college trustee. But beyond that, evidence of her dominion is hard to come by.

She once told of a piece of advice she gave Bush. At the height of Watergate, Richard Nixon wanted him to take over the Republican Party. "Accept the national committee chairmanship only over my dead body," she advised Bush. ... You're a statesman, stay out of that." He didn't listen.

Unlike Eleanor Roosevelt, who served as her husband's on-site eyes and ears, or Rosalynn Carter, who sat in on Cabinet meetings, or Nancy Reagan, who is said to have conferred with an astrologer to arrange her husband's schedule, Mrs. Bush denies trying to influence her husband.

"I don't fool around with his office, and he doesn't fool around with my household," she likes to say. She once said she "muzzled" herself in 1967, when Bush entered Congress.

She also has said, "I'm not a wave maker. I do not agree with my husband on everything and I'm not going to tell you if I don't agree. Because I am going to tell George Bush how I feel. Upstairs."

She still declines to publicly echo Bush's strong anti-abortion views. While Bush espouses "family values," she has offered a definition of family that goes beyond the traditional. "Extended families may not even be related," she said. "They may be neighbors, friends."

During her famous 1990 commencement address at all-women Wellesley College - famous because students had protested the selection of a speaker prominent only "through the achievements of her husband" - she urged the view that people should be who they are, and be happy with that, no matter how different from conventional society.

Accepting an honorary degree from Smith College - the school she dropped out to marry her aviator - she advised young women not to let her become their role model. "I'm saying to young women, wait - you've got years to have a family."

President enjoys leisure time

WASHINGTON (AP) - It takes determination to relax when you are president of the United States. Consider what happens when George Bush decides to play golf:

-An army of Secret Service agents is dispatched to the course; police block traffic along the route.

-Six motorcycle cops lead the 17-car presidential motorcade, which includes a SWAT team with enough firepower to invade a small country, a bearer of nuclear codes that could destroy the world, official camera crews to record each word and three van loads of reporters and photographers.

-Golfers already on the course are asked to stand aside while the president plays through. Just as he never has to stop at stoplights, George Bush never has to wait to tee off on the next hole.

-With bodyguards nearby in golf carts, a helicopter overhead and a doctor within shouting distance, Bush races through 18 holes and pronounces he's had a good time.

It seems improbable, but it's true. Bush, the most athletic of modern presidents, has a good time when he hunts, fishes, jogs, plays tennis, throws horseshoes, swims - in short, anything outdoors.

He calls this "fun stuff." He relaxes, too, with grandchildren, old friends, movies and country music but any account of Bush in his ease must deal with manly sweat.

"He is such a good athlete, whatever he takes up, he can do well if he puts his mind on it," says Wilbur Heminway, who has been Bush's golfing partner for 30 years. "He's in great shape. Boy, is he in great shape!"

The president is so keen on fitness that when he travels, he often has an exercise bicycle brought to his room.

Heminway was in the foursome when Bush set a personal speed record for 18 holes - 1 hour, 59 minutes.

"Normally, it takes 2 1/2 hours," he said. "If it gets up to 3 hours, he gets itchy and wants to know why it takes so long."

Bush shoots in the 80s and 90s and could be better, Heminway says "but you can't be president and shoot in the 70s." Bush's style is to step up to the ball and hit it without much hesitation. Heminway calls it golf polo: "You hit and you run, like being on a horse."

On his first birthday as president, in 1989, Bush jogged extra-long to show "that 65 can still do three miles." He kept a promise to jog on his 68th, running near the beach in Rio de Janeiro during the Earth Summit in June.

NAFTA could be downfall of Canadian prime minister

TORONTO (AP) - George Bush is hoping the North American Free Trade Agreement will boost his presidential election campaign, but it could be the issue that sinks Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney.

Mulroney is already in deep political trouble. His Progressive Conservatives won only 21 percent in the latest opinion poll, and the prime minister gets only 12-16 percent when stacked up against his rivals.

There is little doubt the pact known as NAFTA, approved by trade negotiators Wednesday in Washington, will be ratified by Parliament where the Conservatives control both the House and the Senate early next year.

But opposition leaders vow to make free trade the main issue in the next federal election, which must be held before November 1993. The U.S.-Canada free trade pact that went into effect Jan. 1, 1989, topped the agenda of the 1988 elections. But since then many Canadians have soured on it.

The issue then as now is jobs and prosperity.

Jean Chretien, leader of the Liberal Party, currently leading the polls with 44 percent, says if elected he will renegotiate the agreement with the United States. Audrey McLaughlin, head of the New Democratic Party, at 16 percent, says she would give the required six months' notice and scrap it altogether.

"We've taken the bad Canadian-U.S. deal and made it worse," McLaughlin said, referring to the new North American pact. "People don't trust this government and know they're being sold out again."

Said Chretien: "We can't support this deal, and the Canadian people don't want it, so we're going to fight against it."

Mulroney says he's confident he can regain the public's support.

The government says Canada's trade surplus with the United States is $8 billion higher now than before the 1989 U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreement, which helped attract $15 billion in new foreign investment.

Last year Canada exported $5.7 billion more in goods and services to the United States than it did in 1988.

But with 11.6 percent unemployment and 2 million of Canada's 27 million people receiving government assistance, many remain unconvinced.

"Canadians are not stupid," said Bob White, head of the 2.3 million member Canadian Labour Congress. "They know what the FTA has done to their country. They know what's in store for them with NAFTA. And you can be sure they will not be indifferent on election day - we'll make sure of that."

Said Bob Rae, the left-leaning Ontario premier, "It's like a shoe salesman telling you, 'Those shoes are great. They fit perfectly.' The people whose feet are hurting know when the shoe fits. And this shoe doesn't fit."

BUSH

On one energetic vacation Sunday at his home in Kennebunkport, Maine, Bush jogged, went to church, played tennis, swam, fished in the ocean, played golf and then fished again. He still found time to pilot his boat to a seafood carryout.

"Anything that requires a modicum of skill and competition has got his name on it," said another close friend, former Rep. Thomas (Lud) Ashley of Ohio.

"He's a great walker. If you are not into running the way he is, he loves at the drop of a hat to knock off a two-mile walk," Ashley said.

From these two friends and others comes a picture of George Bush that matches the public perception; what you see is what you get.

Bush's well-known dislike for broccoli ("I do not like broccoli and I haven't liked it since I was a little kid and my mother made me eat it and I'm not going to eat any more") extends to other green stuff. "He doesn't like salad," says Heminway.

The foods Bush does like won't prompt parents to hold him up as a good example for their children. Bush is big on popcorn, peanuts and generic junk food. He's been chided for that by none other than Arnold Schwarzenegger, chairman of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and otherwise a great admirer.

On one campaign trip in New Hampshire, Bush stopped at a coffee shop and dismayed cholesterol counters by wolfing a cheeseburger, French fries, and an ice cream sundae.

He seems equally at ease in black-tie formality and T-shirt comfort. Thus, he can preside over the pageantry of an arrival ceremony for Russian president Boris Yeltsin one day, and persuade him to discard jacket and tie on a cruise the next.

The Bushes have found that Camp David, the mountain retreat a 15-minute helicopter ride away, is a perfect escape from what Harry Truman called "The Great White Prison." They go up nearly every weekend. It's the only place where he can really be alone with his family.

That's hardly alone. He invites up "a cluster" of grandchildren - the Bushes have 12 - and they spend time together.

"Both he and Barbara have a way of getting into the life of a kid," Ashley says. "They are with them as equals whether it's a 4-year-old or a 14-year-old. They really think out during the week what would be fun

A Deaf Smith County firm is, at least figuratively, riding along each time an ambulance rolls in the county. WT Services, Inc., a subsidiary of West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative of Hereford, helps to maintain the Panhandle Emergency Medical Services System, a network of 17 radio repeaters scattered over for the people who are going to be there."

On Sundays, Bush is up early, works an hour before breakfast, and goes to church services conducted by an Army minister, at nine.

Until noon, the activity involves exercise or sport - anything from walking to horseshoes to tennis and volleyball. "Bad weather doesn't keep him inside," says the friend. "He's going to do a 2-mile run or 2-mile walk in any event."

The Bushes often invite friends for dinner and maybe a movie in the White House theater. Bush doesn't like raunchy movies but he also doesn't veto a film just because it has bad language. They both laughed uproariously at the slapstick opening scene in "Naked Gun 2 1/2" where the president's wife is knocked over by the hapless Leslie Nielsen.

He doesn't have the reputation of an avid reader, but does read history and novels, especially those of Tom Clancy. Recently, he read "The Pelican Brief," a novel, and "Barbarians at the Gate," an account of the takeover of RJR Nabisco.

Political decor in Washington offices is a wall of photographs of the resident bigwig posing with others of the high and mighty persuasion.

But not Bush. "He has mementos, but they don't all involve him," says a friend. "He has things that are meaningful to him. It might be something like a wall hanging given to him. If you're looking at it there's nothing that says 'Bush.'"

One friend says "I don't think he has to remind himself of the job that he has. He feels you are there for four years and others were there before. All you can do is the best you can to make sure the office continues to be a distinguished office."

The president rises at 6 a.m., drinks coffee and juice in bed and reads about five newspapers, Barbara Bush has said. He is in his office by 7 a.m. for meetings with his top aides.

He watches the evening news, sometimes on several stations at the same time, and sometimes has a vodka martini before dinner. The Bushes, says the friend, are "great talkers, they love to talk - about small, non-crucial things. He leaves his work at the office."

To the Secret Service, Bush is known as "Timberwolf," as in "Standby all units. Timberwolf is on the seventh hole." It's a call that's heard often with the athletic president. But not as often as he would like.

the Panhandle. The repeaters connect a communications center at NWTW with ambulances operating in rural areas.

WT Services sales staff, radio shops and technicians in Hereford, Amarillo and Borger work closely with NWTW to upgrade and improve the system.

Radio communication is a vital link between ambulance service in Hereford, Deaf Smith General Hospital and hospitals in Amarillo, said Kenneth Jones PEMSS program manager at NWTW.

"Two hours or more is a long time for a paramedic to be managing a trauma victim. If paramedics have to administer medication en route to NWTW, they have to get physician clearance. Paramedics aboard ambulances can communicate with NWTW via the PEMSS radio system

Remembering those who made it fun to learn.

Everyone can remember the excitement and the dread as a new school year emerged, but it's also easy to remember those teachers who turned that uncertainty into bold new confidence.

Good teachers engrave a part of themselves into everyone's life. They are the individuals who have found a way to make learning fun, who fill young hearts with pride and encouragement, and who recognize accomplishment in gains large or small.

We at Hereford State Bank regard each educator in our school system with high esteem, and we commend your efforts in providing each student in our community with the desire to learn new and wonderful things.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says nothing can make you look older faster than trying to look younger than you are.

"It's just not fair," one buddy complained to another. "High taxes have driven me to drink and smoke, and now they've raised the taxes on alcohol and cigarettes!"

"It's a sponge cake," the wife said as she placed a cake on the table in front of her husband. "I sponged the eggs from Mrs. Brown, the flour from Mrs. Smith and the milk from Mrs. Jones."

Another successful Town & Country Jubilee concludes today and many folks can pat themselves on the back for a job well done. The celebration doesn't just happen; there are people "Making It Happen," as the parade slogan suggests.

Congratulations go to Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and the Jubilee steering committee, to the Women's Division of the chamber, to other event sponsors such as the Whiteface Kiwanis Club, the YMCA, the Pilot Club, Hereford Riders Club, the Nazarene Church, Hereford Senior Citizens, Hereford Cattlewomen, to the clubs and organizations participating in Jubilee Junction, and to retail merchants who are involved in the program.

At least four class reunions were held during the Town & Country Jubilee. It might be an appropriate time to repeat a column, author unknown, about reunions:

Reunions are a competitive sport. At early reunions, classmates compete with each other on jobs and incomes; at about the 20th gathering the talk turns to spouses, children and vacation homes. As we near the 40th, we realize 90 percent of the competition is just in showing up. And, we regard with envy or glee—our classmates' waistlines, hairlines and wrinkle lines.

It is said there are three ages of classmates—the young, middle age, and "you haven't changed a bit." But change is the name of the game. Consider:

We were before VCR's, frisbees, American Express and $1.25 gasoline, but we had hula hoops. For us, time-sharing meant togetherness, not computers; a chip meant a piece of wood; hardware meant hardware, and software wasn't even a word.

In our time, closets were for clothes, not for coming out of; bunnies were small rabbits, and rabbits were not Volkswagens. We were before training bras, and we wore FM radio, tape recorders, electric typewriters, word processors, Muzak, disco dancing, and that's not all bad!

When we were in high school, pizzas, frozen orange juice, instant coffee and McDonald's were unheard of. We thought fast food was what you did during Lent. We were before FM radio, tape recorders, electric typewriters, word processors, Muzak, disco dancing, and that's not all bad!

Almost no one flew across the country, and trans-Atlantic flight belonged to Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart. We were before India, Pakistan, Indonesia, the Philippines—and a host of others—became independent countries. And, we were before the cataclysm of nuclear fission.

We were before panty hose, drip-dry clothing, ice makers, clothes dryers, and student beer busts, sprokette and drug busts. We were before unmarried members of the opposite sex took trips together, before men wore long hair and, for the most part, before premarital sex.

In our day, cigarette smoking was becoming fashionable, grass was mowed; Coke was something you drank, and "gay" was used to describe a happy person, not an oddball.

In the 1950s, schools in this part of the country were not desegregated, blacks did not play in the major leagues, "Made in Japan" meant junk; and the term "making out" referred to how you did on an exam. We had five-and-ten variety stores where you could buy something for a nickel or dime.

For just a nickel, you could buy a Coke, make a phone call, or buy a stamp to mail a letter. We were not before the differences in sexes were discovered, but we were before sex changes. We just made do with what we had. And we were the last generation that was so dumb as to think you needed a husband to have a baby.

But the late 1950s were super days. We had Elvis, Fabian, Jerry Lee Lewis and Ricky Nelson. Unlike the "break" dances of today, we knew how it felt to hold your partner close, or we could rock and roll with Little Richard. We played 45 rpm records and learned to do the "stroll."

We'd never heard of stress and we didn't have to deal with consciousness-raising or sensitivity training. We didn't have to jog, pump our own gas or practice yoga.

We have witnessed and dealt with the above changes, and we have returned for our reunion in 1992 to reassure ourselves that there are some things that never change—such as our ability to have a good time, and our pride in and love for our classmates and our Alma Mater!

See you at the next Jubilee!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We, Gloria Herrera and her family, wish to thank the Fiestas Patrias Committee and San Jose Church for their efforts in coordinating the Fiestas Patrias Celebration for 1992.

We also wish to express our appreciation for the $1,200 scholarship that was awarded to Gloria.

It will be a tremendous help in easing a very real financial burden on our family and it will make it possible for Gloria to realize her dream of attending Texas Tech, a dream she has had since the age of 12.

I would also like to add that we had first, second and third-place winners at the celebration. Everyone has worked hard for the last six months; everyone received financial rewards for their efforts and, in my book, we had no losers.

Once again, a sincere "Thank You" to all and congratulations to Gloria for a job well done. You've done us proud!

Most sincerely,
Hope Herrera

Editorial opinion around Texas

By The Associated Press

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from Texas newspapers:

--- Aug. 5

The Midland Reporter-Telegram on school financing:

The battle over how to finance public schools in Texas continues, and as it does few are happy with the status quo.

Some taxpayers are incensed that the state will be allowed to continue to collect a tax already deemed unconstitutional, many Texans believe that the Legislature is to blame for not addressing school financing before now, and others believe that the financing fight is merely a facade for the real battle - which is all about dollars and bureaucratic control. ...

State officials know what they must do. They also should realize that the state's voters are not going to accept a "Robin Hood" plan or one that simply thunders money at the problem. In fact, it appears that after several years of debating the matter the legislators' choices are greatly diminished. They could greatly increase state spending on education, which raises the question of how to pay for it without even guaranteeing results on student performance. They could throw the door open to school choice, an alternative which has the public education establishment running scared. Or they could do nothing - which would threaten all kinds of civil litigation. ...

A solution must be found to the financing dilemma and it's entirely possible that the answer is not where legislators have been searching.

--- Aug. 7

El Paso Times on deficit:

Some say the budget-balancing plan drawn up for one-time near-candidate Ross Perot by a former U.S. budget director was so tough Perot knew Americans wouldn't buy it.

Credit card living is certainly easier than living on what you earn and paying your debts. But we Americans must face facts: It's time for the federal government to pay its bills and get out of the habit of borrowing for luxuries.

That's going to take spending cuts - real ones - and perhaps higher taxes.

... Here are three ideas that those in Washington should look at to save us a few hundred billion.

-Index Social Security and Medicare benefits according to income. If you make over a certain amount of money in retirement, then your benefits should be reduced proportionately. If you make over, say $100,000 a year from any sources, you get no Social Security and no Medicare benefits.

-End the 20-year military retirement program ... Military retirement benefits should start at age 59. But anyone who's already been in the service for 10 years should be exempt.

-Ask veterans with small disabilities to give up their monthly benefits - and make it easy to do so. Allow them to retain their disability ratings for tax purposes and future medical-care eligibility. But let them give up the $70 to $200 monthly payments for 10 to 20 percent disabilities if they are gainfully employed.

--- Aug. 9

Waco Tribune-Herald on health care costs:

Exploding health care costs must be reined in before the American economy can expect long-term recovery.

Democratic presidential nominee Bill Clinton has correctly diagnosed America's runaway health care costs as "the core of our national economic discontent." No president, he said, can turn the economy around without a national health care plan that brings skyrocketing administrative costs back to earth.

The U.S. health care system costs Americans more per capita than completely nationalized systems in other industrialized countries that cover all medical costs for their citizens from the cradle to the grave.

Today Americans can work all their lives and see their entire retirement savings and everything they own disappear in a few months when a major medical emergency strikes. The system is not fair, and it needs to be changed.

Exploding health care costs are breaking state budgets as well as household budgets. Voters should insist that the candidates offer comprehensive health care

--- Aug. 10

The Corpus Christi Caller-Times on redistricting:

The convoluted tale of State Senate redistricting in Texas has taken another turn. Armed with a ruling from a three-judge panel in Washington approving a plan written by the Democratic-dominated Legislature, Secretary of State John Hannah has declared that a previous plan drawn by three federal judges in Austin, which tended to favor Republicans, is no longer operative.

Got that? Pro-Democrat plan, in; pro-Republican plan, out. Of course, the GOP is screaming to high heaven, threatening lawsuits. Texas Republican Chairman Fred Meyer has accused Gov. Ann Richards, Attorney General Dan Morales and Hannah of a "bloodless coup." Hannah blandly responds that he is simply doing what the law requires him to do.

It's all most puzzling - particularly for those who naively thought that district lines should reflect natural boundaries and communities of interest rather than simply ensure the victory of this or that party. Public is really indeed question whether concern over what's best for the public is what is driving the dispute. They may be onto something.

--- Aug. 6

The Huntsville Item on recyclable lottery tickets:

The subject: The Texas Lottery has created a few millionaires and a truckload of litter.

Our position: It's not a moment too soon for the lottery industry to begin producing fully recyclable lottery tickets.

A friend once reminded, with just a touch of subtlety: Create the demand; supply will follow.

That refrain came to mind ... while reading of the hardly new idea of using recycled paper. This time, however, it is new, since a fully recyclable lottery ticket has not ever before been produced.

Not a moment too soon. ...

It is somewhat incredible, in this age, to realize that no one else among lottery game host states have pursued a fully recyclable ticket before. While it's always nice to lead the way, it's taken far too long for this to come around.

State Comptroller John Sharp is bragging that "we're committed to taking innovative steps to help keep Texas free of lottery litter," but the truth is that someone with a little foresight should have dealt with this long before Christmas 1992. ...

--- Aug. 11

Fort Worth Star-Telegram on economic reporting:

Attention, Republicans, and also Democrats: Sure, it's an election year, but let's try to be a little bit fair and truthful about the economic news.

For instance, the current economic mess is not entirely President Bush's fault. Most of it is the result of the Reagan period - when boom years were paid for with huge public and private debt, making it harder now to grow out of the bust years. And, yes, Democrats were party to all this and must accept some of the blame.

Now the political issue is how to get a recovery moving and who is best situated to manage the job. In the meantime, it does not contribute to a solution when the president says the media "distort" the economic news.

When the first-time unemployment benefit claims increase 69,000 to 469,000 as they did in the week ending July 25, are the media supposed to lie about it? ... And then are the media supposed to say that the existence of continued 400,000-plus jobless claim reports is good news, when there are 9.76 million Americans unemployed? ...

If that is not what ... the president want(s) to hear, (he) should work on changing the facts, not on misrepresenting them or blaming the messenger for the bad news.

Notes on the Law

The standard automobile insurance policy in Texas includes several different types of coverage. These are comprehensive, liability, uninsured/underinsured and personal injury protection coverages.

The uninsured/underinsured and liability coverages are generally understood. Uninsured/underinsured coverages and personal injury protection coverages are not as well understood.

Uninsured/underinsured coverages protect the insured and the insured's family. The purpose of uninsured coverage is to provide a source of recovery in the event you are involved in any accident caused by a driver who has no insurance, that is a driver who is uninsured.

Underinsured coverage is available and can provide protection in addition to the liability insurance of the driver who causes an accident. If you purchase underinsured coverage in the amount of $50,000.00, for example, then, in the event you sustain injuries or damages in an accident caused by a driver with only $20,000.00 of liability insurance, you would be entitled to recover under your policy for damages in excess of $20,000.00 and up to $50,000.00.

Personal injury protection coverage applies to a limited amount of injuries or damages that you suffer regardless of who is at fault in an accident. Personal injury protection is commonly in the amount of $2,500. It provides a means of obtaining a minimum amount of protection from the financial hardship connected with an accident regardless of whether you or the other driver was at fault.

In today's world, an accident can cause great financial hardship as a result of being unable to work for a period of time or as a result of the cost of medical care and rehabilitation. The legislature enacted the uninsured/under-insured laws to provide you, the individual, with the option of providing protection against financially irresponsible drivers. The amount of uninsured/underinsured coverage you buy sets the minimum amount of coverage that will be available in the event you are injured by another driver. Thus, if you want $100,000 of minimum insurance, then you should purchase $100,000 under the uninsured/underinsured provision of your policy.

In some states, the statistics are that one of every three or four drivers has no insurance. This makes it very important for you to understand your automobile policy and its provisions for uninsured, underinsured and personal injury protection coverages.

to get such clearance, and instructions on patient care. Communication from St. Anthony's Hospital and High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo also can be patched into PEMSS radio.

The remote location of many Panhandle communities and the need for a standard of care where all emergency services are operating under the same protocol make good radio service essential. Radio contact with the doctor while a victim is en route to Nwth from remote locations, such as Bootleg Corner, Westway, Milo Center or Simms, can make the difference in someone living or dying," said Jones.

The Amarillo Emergency Receiving Center also is staffed with two crisis and trauma physicians. Jones said emergency services in Hereford can communicate with these physicians.

"We've seen a lot of rural hospitals closing, and there's a great deficit in physicians in these rural areas as well. The PEMSS communications network allows access to crisis and trauma care physicians 24 hours a day."

physicians in these rural areas as well. The PEMSS communications network allows access to crisis and trauma care physicians 24 hours a day," said Jones.

While several Panhandle communities handle their own ambulance dispatching through the local police or fire department, 15 rely on the communications center at Nwth for 911 service and ambulance dispatching.

Dispatchers handling 911 calls at Nwth take information and get an ambulance rolling. An EMS dispatcher remains on the line with the caller to offer assistance, such as instructions on how to clear and obstructed airway, or how to perform CPR.

Among communities that count on the Nwth communications center for ambulance dispatching are Amarillo, Canyon, Borger, Texline, Pampa, White Deer, Panhandle, Claude, Lake Tanglewood, Wayside and Fritch. Dispatching in Deaf Smith County is handled through local emergency agencies.

Radio equipment currently is being replaced or upgraded in some Panhandle locations to improve PEMSS.

Jay Green, WT Services sales representative in Amarillo, said that WT Services has replaced PEMSS channels to improve the emergency network.

"We have relocated towers from Hereford to Summerfield and from Tulia to Silverton to make the radio signals more powerful. The Summerfield site is located on a taller tower. This gives ample coverage for Hereford and Deaf Smith County, and more coverage in Dimmitt, Bovina and Farwell area. The Silverton site will cover the Tulia area and reach into isolated locations in the Rolling Plains, such as Quitaque," Green said.

Other PEMSS tower sites are located at Dalhart, Stratford, Spearman, Glazier, Dumas, Borger, Miami, White Deer, Vega, Canyon, Claude, Clarendon, near Palo Duro Canyon and at Amarillo.

The PEMSS originated in the 1970s when the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission saw the need for a uniform EMS system in the Panhandle. PRPC received a federal grant to help put EMS in place. Participating communities received ambulances fitted with the necessary radio equipment. Some ambulance services are still using essentially the same equipment nearly 20 years later.

Green said that if federal grants are provided, PEMSS might replace its present radios with a new, high-band system — a potential $3 million project.

"This would give PEMSS clear channels. They could transmit data, and use microwave links that would allow running video. Such capability could put a doctor in Amarillo right in the emergency room of local hospitals, such as Deaf Smith General, though a video hook-up," said Green.

WT services also maintains paging systems for Nwth, St. Anthony's and High Plains Baptist Hospitals in Amarillo and for Deaf Smith General Hospital in Hereford.

Toothbrush "Deathgrip"

CHICAGO (AP) - Considerable damage to teeth and gums can result from holding a toothbrush in a "deathgrip," while brushing, according to the Academy of General Dentistry.

Inflamed gums and abrasion of the dental enamel can be caused by this brushing method, which involves clamping the toothbrush with the entire palm and applying heavy pressure to the teeth, notes Dr. Terry Dickinson, an academy representative.

Vigorous, long horizontal strokes should be avoided, Dickinson cautions.

"Some overdo the brushing to feel 'extra clean,' scrubbing for a long time several times a day," says Dickinson. "This harms the gums and can cause dental abrasion."

WHAT'S WRONG WITH OUR HOME?

Q. We have had our house on the market for six weeks, with an open house every weekend. We know our home is reasonably priced because we are asking less than a similar home listed near us. So far we have not received one reasonable offer from the 25 prospective buyers who have stopped in to inspect our home. What should we do to get our home sold?

A. First, get yourself a professional real estate agent! Not receiving any reasonable offer from any of the prospects is very rare. Your problem sounds like a cosmetic one, or it's not realistically priced. There are obvious drawbacks that prospective buyers don't like. A professional agent can offer help in many ways, before the home is advertised. After all a home is a very important investment, why not intrust it to a professional. A professional agency knows what buyers want and has access to hundreds of buyers through the local multiple listing service.

Herd aims for return to playoffs

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

In 1991, Hereford High School's football team was excluded from the playoffs for the first time since 1987. In 1992, the Herd hopes to start a new playoff streak.

"Making the playoffs is the major focus of every season," said second-year head coach Danny Haney.

"We're going to do our dead-level best to achieve that every year."

If the Herd is to make the playoffs this year, Haney will have to fill some holes. For example, on the offensive line, two starters return: Steven Blea and Ramiro Garza. Garza will be moving to the defensive line, partially because no starters are coming back there.

The top returner on defense would be linebacker Eric Sims, who led the Herd in tackles last year with 106 and made second-team all-district. Rover Shawn Fogo also returns on defense.

Three other returning starters from last year's defense will be back, but Haney plans to use them on offense. Richard Sanderson, an all-district selection at safety last year, will concentrate on quarterbacking in '92. He had earned the starting job at quarterback by the end of last season, completing 52 percent of his passes (28-of-54) for 532 yards. Sanderson also started five games at quarterback as a sophomore in 1990.

Jason Tatarevich was a cornerback but will be moved to wide receiver. Petey Colvin, the other cornerback on defense and the tandemback on offense last year, has the inside track at tailback after rushing for more than 300 yards in '91.

From the offense, Kyle Hansen started at fullback last year, but will play linebacker this year, Haney said.

Of course, this is how Haney felt at the beginning of practice Monday. He said changes still could be made. Some players could end up playing on both sides of the ball, but Haney would like to avoid that.

All of these players have some experience at their new positions, including some varsity experience.

"These are positions these people have played throughout the years," Haney said. "Ideally, we'd want to start 'em in seventh grade and leave 'em at the same position, but that's impossible."

There are a total of 14 returning lettermen, including Joel Gaytan, who started a few games at both middle linebacker and defensive end. He'll start out '92 at rover.

The other returning lettermen are lineman Craig Hiltbrunner and backs Chris Brummett, Quincy Curtis, Nathan Henderson and Michael Ramirez.

Blocking the Herd's playoff trail will be defending district champion Pampa and the rest of District 1-4A.

"We'll probably be as balanced this year as the district's ever been," Haney said. "Dumas and Randall upgraded their football programs last year. Borger will be better with the coaching change."

Stocky Lamberson, who coached Randall into its first playoff berth last season, moved over to Borger. Replacing him at Randall will be Hereford native Alan Cornelius, who moves into a job with a growing winning tradition and a star quarterback already in place. Brandon Barker, nephew of Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Bobby Brister, was featured as the 4A coverboy in Dave Campbell's Texas Football.

Hereford and Pampa are the consensus choices to make the playoffs according to three publications: Texas Football; the Harris

Defense is the name of the game

Angie Jowell is going to have to make a lot of digs like this one if the Lady Whitefaces are to win this season. Jowell is one of five players who return from last year's varsity squad.

Sims leads D

Linebacker Eric Sims led the Herd defense with 106 tackles last year and is back for another season.

Spikers to stress defense

How do you follow the best volleyball team in Hereford High School history?

Last year's Lady Whitefaces went 26-5 and advanced to the regional finals of the state playoffs. They captured the attention of a football town with power and grace.

Then they graduated--seven seniors--leaving only a few girls with varsity experience.

So how do you follow the best team in school history?

You scrap. You get down and dirty. You play defense, and you play smart.

"We're basically a small team," coach Brenda Reeh said. "We'll have to be better defensively than other teams. We'll have to keep the ball alive. We'll have to be smarter hitters, not power hitters like we've been. We'll have to be smarter than most of the teams since we're lacking in size. We won't be able to just muscle the ball."

The tallest girls who return from last season's varsity are Erin Bullard and Jill Robinson--both 5-7 1/2. "It's

Glavine breaks team record with 12th straight win

By The Associated Press

Tom Glavine pretended the game was scoreless. The Pittsburgh Pirates wished it was.

A 22-hit attack keyed by Lonnie Smith's grand slam enabled Glavine to tie a 78-year-old team record with his 12th straight victory as the Atlanta Braves routed the Pittsburgh Pirates 15-0 Friday night in the battle of NL divisions leader.

"Any time you go out with a lead, it makes it easier. I didn't want to get too relaxed or too complacent," Glavine said.

Glavine didn't have much stress. Ron Gant's two-run double in a four-run first helped chase Zane Smith (8-8), who retired only one batter and lasted 17 pitches in the Pirates' worst defeat since a 17-1 loss to the New York Mets on April 17, 1976.

Glavine (18-3) allowed five hits in seven innings in the Braves' major league-leading 20th shutout. He matched a club-record winning streak set by Dick Rudolph during the Boston Braves' 1914 World Series championship team.

Smith, who had allowed just two earned runs in his previous four starts, retired only one of six batters, surrendering Pendleton's RBI single, Gant's two-run triple and Hunter's run-scoring double.

In other National League games, Montreal beat St. Louis 4-1, San Diego beat Cincinnati 5-1, Chicago beat Houston 4-2, Philadelphia beat New York 6-2 and San Francisco beat Los Angeles 3-2.

In the American League, Minnesota beat Seattle 9-6; Toronto beat Cleveland 9-5; Baltimore defeated Kansas City 3-1; Detroit outscored Texas 9-6; Chicago beat New York 6-2 and Milwaukee swept a double-header from Boston, 8-7 in 13 innings and 1-0.

Expos 4, Cardinals 1

Dennis Martinez allowed two hits in seven innings as Montreal extended its winning streak to a season-high six and closed within 1 1/2 games of Pittsburgh.

Martinez (13-10) struck out seven and walked two at Olympic Stadium before John Wetteland pitched a hitless ninth for his 27th save.

Rheal Cormier (3-10) gave up five hits, struck out nine and walked two as St. Louis lost for the fifth time in seven games.

Padres 5, Reds 1

Gary Sheffield hit his second grand slam of the season as visiting San Diego closed within a game of the second-place Reds in the NL West.

San Diego has won seven of eight while the Reds have lost four of five and dropped 5 1/2 games behind first-place Atlanta, their biggest deficit of the season.

Jim Deshaies (3-2) allowed one run and seven hits in 8 1-3 innings. Chris Hammond (6-7) gave up five runs and six hits in five innings.

Cubs 4, Astros 2

Ryne Sandberg homered in the first and doubled home the go-ahead run in the fifth as Chicago stopped a four-game losing streak.

Mike Harkey (3-0) allowed two runs - one earned - and six hits in seven innings, his longest stint since returning from shoulder surgery on June 20. Paul Assenmacher got four outs for his seventh save.

Darryl Kile (2-7) gave up four runs and six hits in six innings as Houston dropped to 7-11 on its 26-game road trip, which was caused by the Republican National Convention.

Phillies 6, Mets 2

Ben Rivera (2-2) pitched a seven-hitter at Shea Stadium for the first complete game of his career. Darren Daulton hit his 21st home run and drove in three runs, tying San Diego's Gary Sheffield for the NL RBI lead at 83.

Rivera, a 23-year-old right-hander acquired from Atlanta on May 28, struck out eight and walked one in sending the Mets to their ninth loss in 10 games. He also contributed an RBI single for his first major league hit.

Dwight Gooden (6-10) lost for the fourth time in five decisions, giving up six runs and eight hits in 5 2-3 innings.

Giants 3, Dodgers 2

Kirt Manwaring drew a bases-loaded walk in the ninth inning as San Francisco scored the winning run without a hit to win at Dodger Stadium.

John Candelaria (2-3) issued a leadoff walk to Will Clark, who stole second. Jim Gott struck out Chris James, then walked Matt Williams intentionally. Rookie Ted Wood walked after checking his swing on a 3-2 pitch and Gott then missed with a 3-1 pitch to Manwaring.

Rookie Bryan Hickerson (5-2) earned the victory with a scoreless eighth inning and Rod Beck pitched the ninth for his 10th save.

Twins 9, Mariners 6

Kirby Puckett hit two homers, including his third grand slam of the year, and knocked in a career-high six runs in Seattle.

The Twins' victory moved them within three games of the AL West-leading Oakland Athletics, who lost 2-1 to California.

David West (1-1), who replaced starter Bill Krueger to start the fourth with the score tied at 6, got the victory. West gave up one hit in five innings. Calvin Jones (3-3) was the loser.

Angels 2, Athletics 1

Chad Curtis hit a two-run homer in the seventh to lead visiting California over Oakland.

Curtis' ninth homer of the season came on a 2-2 pitch from Dave Stewart (8-7), who through six innings had allowed only Curtis' second-inning single.

Gary Gaetti singled with one out in the seventh and moved to second when Stewart balked while facing Von Hayes. After Hayes flied out, Curtis homered.

Mark McGwire hit his major league-leading 38th homer of the year in the second for Oakland's only run off California starter Bert Blyleven (6-5).

Tigers 9, Rangers 6

Lou Whitaker homered and Gary Pettis hit a pair of triples and each drove in three runs to help the Tigers beat the Rangers.

Tiger starter David Haas improved to 2-0 in his second major-league start, allowing eight hits in 6 2-3 innings. He walked one and struck out four before getting relief help from Kurt Knudsen.

Texas rookie Roger Pavlik (0-1) only got one out, giving up six runs on five hits.

Blue Jays 9, Indians 5

John Olerud and Candy Maldonado hit consecutive home runs to key a seven-run third inning for the visiting Blue Jays.

David Wells (7-6) benefited from Toronto's 13-hit attack, giving up three runs on eight hits over 5 1-3 innings.

Orioles 3, Royals 1

Leo Gomez hit a two-run homer and Rick Sutcliffe continued his domination over Kansas City as the Orioles beat the Royals to keep pace with Toronto in the East.

SPIKERS

unusual not to have a kid taller than that," Reeh said.

Three other girls have varsity experience: Kara Sandoval, Angie Jowell and Kathy Hernandez. Bullard was the only junior starter last season. She played the front line, and Sandoval came in to serve and play the back line.

Those five will be joined by the best of a junior varsity that went 9-1 in district: Robyn Watts, Heather Kleuskens, Traci Deckard, Claudia Ramirez, Tonya Castillo, Jeannie Barrientez and Michelle Brock. Jessica Evers, a sophomore, also made varsity.

"It's going to take some time," Reeh said. "Basically what we'll do is look for bits and pieces of improvement in every practice and in every match—especially the pre-season matches. We have lots of kids who haven't been in leadership roles in the past who will have to emerge as leaders, will have to learn how to become good leaders."

Reeh hopes that instead of being intimidated by the legacy of past Lady Whitefaces, the 1992 squad will be inspired by all that success.

"That's one of the things we've talked about," she said. "We've been in the playoffs the last four years. It's pressure, but it's positive pressure. We hope we're in a situation where a little tradition will help us out—not only with our kids, but with the people we play."

Despite all the Herd's new faces, a District 1-4A championship is a possibility. Dumas, which beat Hereford in the regional finals the last two years, suffered similar graduation losses: five of six starters plus key bench personnel. Dumas' JV also was 9-1 in district, splitting two matches with Hereford. The two schools' rivalry should continue.

"I think Dumas will still be the major team to deal with," Reeh said. "There's no doubt they'll be a good defensive team."

The other district matches should be interesting, too. Randall, Borger and Caprock could all be improved, and they'll probably remember the poundings they've taken from the Lady Whitefaces and the Demonettes over the past few years.

"I certainly don't see it as a situation where two teams are going to absolutely dominate," Reeh said.

The Lady Whitefaces scrimmage at Brownfield at 2 p.m. Monday, then open for real Tuesday as they host Canyon at 6 p.m. in Whiteface Gym.

They'll play in the Lubbock Invitational this weekend, then in the Amarillo Invitational and the San Angelo Invitational the next two weekends. Last year, Hereford finished second at Lubbock and won the other two.

Hereford's schedule stays tough right up to district with two matches against Amarillo High and one each against Tascosa and Coronado.

District play starts Sept. 26 when the Dumas Demonettes come to Hereford.

Mark your calendar.

GRIDDERS

Rating System; and Top O' Texas. Campbell picked Hereford to win the district, while the other two picked Pampa.

"Pampa returns nearly every one of their linemen," Hancy said. "They'll be a good football team."

They'll be an even better football team at home, where the Herd will have to meet them Oct. 23.

The Herd starts out with Tascosa on Sept. 5, a Saturday, then hosts Palo Duro, Monterey and Frenship on consecutive Fridays. For the fifth game, the Herd will go to Levelland hoping to avenge last year's only non-district loss.

Pampa is Hereford's third district game, following Borger in Borger and Randall at Whiteface Stadium. After the Pampa game, Caprock visits Hereford. The Herd closes out the regular season Nov. 6 in Dumas.

If the Herd gets its way, Dumas will only be the last game of the regular season.

Voters don't doubt Mojo in '92: Permian's No. 1

DALLAS (AP) - Odessa Permian has MoJo-ed its way back on top of Texas high school football.

Despite the Panthers' tradition, they began 1991 unranked, before winning all 16 games and winning their 16th state Class 5A title since 1965.

Voters in The Associated Press preseason poll went to school on last year as the Panthers were picked first on 18 of 27 ballots and 252 points in voting by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

A&M Consolidated also is picked to successfully defend its Class 4A title from last year. Should Permian and A&M defend their crowns, they would become the first back-to-back 5A and 4A champions since Plano and West Orange-Stark in 1986-87.

Other preseason No. 1s are Southlake Carroll in 3A, Grapeland in 2A and Bartlett in Class A.

"We feel like we could have a good football team," said third-year Permian coach Tam Hollingshead. "We have some good players, but we've got to improve on daily basis."

"We don't worry about expectations. Our goal is just to improve every week."

Dallas Carter is second in the 5A rankings with two first place votes and 215 points; Temple, which was first on three ballots, is third; followed by Jersey Village and Dallas Kimball, both of which received one first place vote.

Next come Arlington Sam Houston and Spring Westfield, which each had one No. 1 vote. The rest of the Top Ten includes Aldine MacArthur, Converse Judson and Aldine.

Hollingshead said he has several question marks, but he knows he there is one factor his team has that cannot be matched.

"No one wants to let any of the traditions down," said Hollingshead, whose town and team have become nationally known since being profiled in the controversial best-selling book "Friday Night Lights."

"I think that has a great deal to do with motivating the youngsters. They see the kid down the street grow up and turn into a great football player and they want to do it also," he said.

A&M Consolidated is building a similar tradition in College Station.

The Tigers received 19 first place votes and 259 points. They hold the largest lead over second place in any of the classes, with 79 more points than Dallas Roosevelt, which was first on one ballot.

Bay City is third, having received three first-place votes.

The rest of the 4A poll shows the first influences of the University Interscholastic League's biennial realignment, which reshuffled classes and districts in January.

Austin LBJ, coming off four consecutive 5A playoff appearances, received two first place votes and wound up fourth in 4A, followed by Carthage, Austin Reagan, Tyler Chapel Hill, Bastrop, Houston C.E. King and Austin Westlake. Carthage and Tyler Chapel Hill had the remaining first place votes.

LBJ and Reagan meet Oct. 30 to renew their longtime rivalry. The game also could decide their district race when the 25-4A foes meet in the season's second-to-last game.

Southlake Carroll was named the top 3A team on 18 ballots, and had 257 points compared to 192 for second place Vernon, which received one first place vote, and Bellville, which was first on five ballots, is third.

Southlake Carroll has built a 51-game regular season winning streak behind a wishbone offense. The Dragons return 22 letterman, including 13 starters, from last season's 14-0-1 semifinalist.

The rest of the 3A Top 10 is cluttered with former 4A teams - Carrizo Springs is fourth, Gainesville is fifth and Kaufman is 10th. Anahuac is sixth and Forney is ninth. Carrizo Springs was first on one ballot and Gainesville was picked on top on two.

Defending 3A champion Groesbeck is eighth, one spot behind Burnet, whom Groesbeck defeated in the 1991 title game.

Class 2A boasts the closest preseason fight, with only 27 points separating top three vote-getters Grapeland, Schulenburg and Pilot Point.

Grapeland, a semifinalist last season, tops the poll with 13 first place votes and 231 points, only 15 ahead of defending champion Schulenburg, which was first on seven ballots. Pilot Point, with three No. 1 picks, is third with 204.

The rest of the Top 10, with narrow margins again separating many of the teams, includes Freer (two first place votes), Hamlin, Groveton, Universal City Randolph (1), Albany (1), Yorktown and Van Alstyne.

Joining the 2A battle are former A powers Memphis, Thorndale, Valley Mills, Wheeler, Rotan and Italy. They combined for three titles since 1987 and dominated the 1991 final regular season AP poll.

The early favorites to replace those schools atop the A rankings are former 2A teams Hico, Valley View and Overton.

But Bartlett isn't ready to give up the A race. The Bulldogs enter the season a heavy favorite, earning a preseason-high 23 first-place votes. Second place Runge got two first place votes and 53 points.

Tenaha is third, just ahead of Hico. Flatonia is fifth, followed by Valley View, which received one first-place vote, Iola, Overton, Agua Dulce and Happy.

Bartlett, the lone A champion since 1989 still in the class, returns all but four starters from last season's 11-2-1 quarterfinalist.

Oakwood, which was unranked, received one first place vote.

AP Schoolboy Poll

THE WARMTH OF THE EARTH

The heat pump captures it to heat and cool your home naturally.

The Dual Fuel Heat Pump uses existing heat to keep your home comfortable...naturally. Because it does not have to create heat, it is very efficient. For each unit of energy it uses, the Dual Fuel Heat Pump creates two or three units of heat.

Dual Fuel Heat Pump owners say it costs them less to operate than other systems. And, because it's electric, the Dual Fuel Heat Pump is cleaner.

There is heat in the air on the coldest days. The heat pump captures it to warm your home.

In summer, it becomes a high efficiency air conditioner. During hot weather, the heat pump captures the heat inside the home and takes it outside.

Contact your heat pump dealer or Southwestern Public Service Company for more information.

A&M Consolidated goes from rags to riches

DALLAS (AP) - Jon Chancellor remembers the agony his older brother suffered during the days of A&M "Consolidated."

It was only four seasons ago that Chancellor, now a senior offensive lineman at the College Station school, watched the Tigers struggle to win five games - in the previous three seasons combined.

But since the arrival of coach Ross Rogers, A&M Consolidated has become the team to beat in Class 4A, winning 14 games in each of the past three seasons. The Tigers capped their rise last December with the school's first state title.

A&M enters the 1992 season as the leading vote-getter across all classes in The Associated Press preseason schoolboy football poll. Consolidated is picked to become the first repeating 4A state champs since West Orange-Stark in 1986-87.

With 19 of 27 first-place votes and 259 points, the Tigers received 79 more points than second-place Dallas Roosevelt.

"It's just great," said Chancellor, whose older brother, Jeff, was a member of the 1986-88 A&M teams that went 5-24-1.

"Back then, there wasn't 'Tiger Pride.' They went and played and not everybody was excited. Bryan called us 'Consolidated.'

"Now, it's a lot different. Everyone goes out and has that winning attitude and works as a team to win," Chancellor said.

The Chancellor family has played an important role in A&M's turnaround, especially Jeff and Jon's father, Ray Chancellor.

Rogers says it was Ray, the school district's superintendent, who lured the coach from Giddings High to College Station before the 1988 season with promises of a new stadium, a drop from 5A to 4A and a schoolwide dedication to improved athletics.

"I saw there was potential for it to be a good 4A job," said Rogers, who also serves as the school's athletic director.

Rogers had a rocky first season, but in 1989 guided the Tigers to a 14-1 record, with the lone loss coming in the 4A championship game. It was A&M's first postseason appearance since 1960.

Last year, A&M proved itself to be a powerhouse comparable to Class 5A title-factories Odessa Permian and Dallas Carter, winning the championship after graduating the two offensive stars who keyed their 1989 and 1990 revival.

"We feel like we've built a great program, not just one great team," Rogers said.

Few people expected the Tigers to succeed in 1989. They were picked to finish, at best, in the middle of their district.

Instead, they won their first 14 games. Their dream season ended in the championship game with a 14-0 loss to Tyler Chapel Hill.

In 1990, A&M rode the success of quarterback Tommy Preston and running back Cliff Groce to another 14-1 record only to lose to Austin Westlake in the state semifinals.

The following fall, Groce and Preston were still in town, but they were playing for Texas A&M University, leaving a major void in the Consolidated backfield.

Rogers turned the team over to then-sophomore Jeff Watson. He instantly sparked the team, winning the first three games while the defense did not allow any points.

But consecutive losses for the first time since 1988 threatened A&M's growing reputation. The Tigers were outscored 62-28 in losses to Lufkin and Belton.

A convincing victory over a weak Magnolia squad put A&M back on track. The Tigers did not lose again, their closest victory being a 14-12 third-round playoff game against Corsicana.

This year, 13 players return, including four offensive and four defensive starters.

"A&M Consolidated just believes it can win," said Lynn Etheredge, coach of district-rival Tomball.

"They were an average team at midyear (last season) and just got better and better. They wound up peaking in the playoffs."

Tomball and Brenham are expected to be A&M's top district foes, with a wild card added to the District 17-4A race by Navasota, a perennial 3A powerhouse moved up a class in the recent realignment.

Watson is back as the starter, with a full recovery from an arm injury expected. He is the 4A returning passing leader with 2,247 yards and 23 touchdowns. He also ran for 971 yards and 15 touchdowns.

His favorite target likely will be Rudie Majette, who gained 457 yards last year on 27 receptions, five for touchdowns. The 6-foot, 187-pound senior will use his 4.6 speed in the 40 as a tailback this season.

The returning defensive starters include stoppers Johnny Swarb, Cliff Harris and middle linebacker Shatner Gooden, who led the team with 150 tackles despite standing only 5-foot-5. Harris had a team-high 14 sacks.

The Tigers also have AP Super Team punter Kyle Bryant. He booted 55 extra points, six field goals and averaged almost 40 yards per punt last season en route to being named second-team all-state kicker.

Dunbar could go out as champions

By JAIME ARON

Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) - Almost every high school football coach is happy this time of year. Every snap is filled with hope and each player seems destined to be an NFL star.

Prognosticators look pretty good, too. They haven't missed a prediction in almost nine months.

So, following conversations with ever-hopeful coaches and hours spent peering into a crystal pigskin, here are the 1992 state champs:

Arlington Sam Houston in Class 5A's Division I, Odessa Permian in Class 5A's "small school" bracket, Austin LBJ in 4A, Lubbock Dunbar in 3A, Grapeland in 2A and Hico in A.

The Permian Panthers are unbeatable - again.

They will slide right through 5A's Division II despite an Average Daily Membership of almost 3,100 because district-rival San Angelo Central has about 145 more student bodies.

Because of the UIL's wacky rules, the school with the larger ADM from each district goes into Division I.

That's why we should again see a "small school" champ, Permian, with more students than predicted "big school" winner Arlington Sam Houston (ADM: 2,414).

Permian may not yet have a starting quarterback, but it's not like this team needs Joe Montana.

Practically anyone can hand the ball off to blossoming star John Williams, then let the Panthers' defense shut down opponents - which it will.

Mojo madness kicks in gear early, with Permian traveling to Temple in week two for a matchup of No. 1 and No. 3 teams in The Associated Press' preseason poll.

If Permian clears that hurdle, don't be surprised to see back-to-back no-loss seasons.

Arlington Sam Houston, a "big school" quarterfinalist in 1991 and ranked sixth, will win because it has a quality team full of the interesting subplots that most champions seem to possess:

-Texan quarterback Chris James, a soon-to-be blue chip recruit, pitched in the Little League World Series. He will be starting for the third season, bench presses more than 300 pounds and runs the 40 in 4.6 seconds.

-Linebacker Kevin Conrad could become class valedictorian - if he can dodge recruiters and hit the books as often he smacks opponents.

Add in intangibles like a big-time running game, a consistent kicker and a mega-experienced squad (five of their returning 14 starters have been regulars since their sophomore seasons) and Sam is a sure bet.

Austin LBJ has history on its side. The Jaguars, who begin the year ranked fourth, get the nod because of their success the last four seasons in Class 5A and the sterling track record of teams dropping into 4A.

The guess here is that the Panthers will join Beaumont Hebert (1976), Dickinson (1977), Denison (1984), West Orange-Stark (1986-87) and A&M Consolidated (1991) as schools who won the title in the second-largest school division after dropping from the biggest-school class.

Although Lubbock Dunbar lands in 3A from 4A, the drop in class is a secondary reason for picking the Panthers.

Here's a school that won only five games last year, but now is giving it the old school try - for the old school, which is closing after this season.

Mix that incentive, the two previous years under coach Otha Woodard, 24 returning letterman and a drop to 3A from 4A, and the final result is one of the most improbable state champs in many years.

But Woodard said he doesn't plan to ask his Panthers to "win one for the Gipper."

His battle cry is "'62 and '92," in honor of Dunbar's 1962 state title and in hopes of a repeat performance this season. The Panthers' only other postseason appearance was in 1974.

"I don't think we're going to win because the school's going to close. We're going to win because our players are talented," Woodard said. "We have good athletes at nine of the 11 positions - and that's going both ways," he said.

Besides, it's hard not to root for a team that has a player nicknamed "The House;" 6-foot-6, 350-pound offensive lineman Johnathon Grey.

While it seems absurd to pick against runaway 3A favorite Southlake Carroll, the two would not meet in the playoffs until the quarterfinals - assuming the Dragons also last that long.

Grapeland came two points away

Killeen RB Marion heads Super Team

By JAIME ARON

Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) - When Killeen running back Dion Marion last walked off a high school football field, he carried the Class 5A Division I trophy under one arm and the championship game's most valuable player trophy under the other.

Although suspended by his coach for the season opener, a bigger, stronger and faster Marion will return the second week, hoping to pick up where he left off last December.

"Right now, I think I'm running my best," said the 6-foot-1 Marion, who has gained about 10 pounds of muscle to reach 195 pounds. "Now that I've got the extra strength, I feel like I have more power."

Marion leads a powerful backfield for The Associated Press preseason Super Team, an all-class all-star squad selected by a panel of sports writers.

He is joined by running back Chris Abron of Richardson, a 2,000-yard rusher last year, and Beaumont West Brook's double-threat quarterback James Brown, who threw for almost 1,500 yards last year and ran for more than 700.

from the 2A championship game last year, and will run away with its first title this fall behind Cedrick Coleman and Travis Taylor, both of whom rushed for more than 1,350 yards last year.

The Sandies return 14 lettermen, including five starters on each side of the ball, and play only one game - at home - against a ranked team.

Hico will take the Class A title thanks to a bevy of two-way players seasoned in 2A. The Tigers return 15 lettermen including six offensive and seven defensive starters from last year's 8-3 team.

Marion gained more than 1,500 yards last year on 195 carries and 30 receptions. This year, his goal is to rush for 1,500 yards.

Marion was suspended from the season opener because he attended a dance instead of a spring scrimmage, will only have eight regular season games to reach his goals. The Kangaroos are idle the fourth week.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area dominates the defensive Super Team, with Carter, Kimball and Western Hills each boasting two selections.

Brandon Ashley (6-4, 255) and William Carr (6-2, 266) star on Dallas Carter's defensive line. They are joined on the AP team by Fort Worth Western Hills' Henry Thomas (6-3, 240) and Matt Harper (6-6, 210) of McKinney.

Linebackers Greg Bell (6-3, 225) of Austin Reagan and Dallas Kimball's Allen Wilbon (6-2, 220) were unanimous choices. Waco Midway's David Maxwell (6-4, 240), who averaged 18 tackles a game last year, rounds out the corps.

Wilbon, a starter since his sophomore year, had 75 solo tackles as a junior and recovered seven fumbles.

The defensive secondary also had two unanimous choices in Tomell Hurd of Kimball and Lake Highlands' Corey McLane. Roderick Manuel of Western Hills joins them.

Hurd had 32 tackles and seven interceptions last year, none more important than a last-minute one which led to an upset of Dallas Carter, ending a five-year losing streak. McLane, who also had seven interceptions last year, ran a 10.4 in the 100 at the Texas Relays.

Mark Schultis of Sherman and A&M Consolidated's Kyle Bryant shared the top kicker-punter spot.

Schultis connected on 13 of 17 field goals last year including a 46-yarder. Bryant booted 55 extra points, six field goals and averaged almost 40 yards per punt.

AFTER CATARACTS

Old age is terrible, the old saying goes -- until you consider the alternative. Similarly, when cataracts form, it's a sign that one has lived long enough to reach that stage.

Sooner or later, many people will experience the clouding of the eye's clear lens.

Fortunately, new surgical procedures have simplified the removal of the cataract. Afterward, the clouded lens must be replaced to help the patient see clearly. There are several options: Intraocular lenses may be implanted during surgery to permanently replace the lens that was removed. Additional correction may be needed in the form of eyeglasses.

Contact lenses may be worn in the affected eye to replace the lens removed. Soft lenses are usually prescribed if they can offer the necessary correction.

Glasses can take over for the missing lens. They enlarge the image seen, but may restrict side vision.

AFFORDABLE HOUSE FOR FIRST TIME BUYER

Special Touches Add Appeal To Starter Home

© BY W.D. FARMER, A.I.B.D.

A porch entry presents a broad vista that adds a sense of spaciousness to this conservative home plan. The living room and dining room areas combine to create a large space for the gathering of friends and family. A real wood burning fireplace is shown in the living room. Notice that the dining room is easily served from the kitchen, making entertaining easy. The snack bar between the kitchen and dining room can double as buffet service counter.

The U shaped kitchen allows efficient meal preparation and cabinets are more than adequate for a small home.

A central hall will direct you to either of the two bedrooms and the separate laundry room. The laundry is convenient to all areas of the plan and doubles as garage access. A central disappearing stair is provided for attic storage. There are two full tub baths, one private to the master bedroom.

Plan options are single or double garage and slab or crawl space foundations. Exterior storage is shown at the rear of the garage.

The country exterior is enhanced by the wood rail porch, enclosed garage, gable roof, wood siding and the location of the chimney on the front.

The plan is Number 186. It includes only 1,083 square feet of heated space. All W. D. Farmer plans include special construction details for energy efficiency and are drawn to meet FHA and VA requirements. For further information write W. D. Farmer, P. O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 30345.

Texas Republicans hope to lead way in Houston

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Republicans head to Houston this weekend for their national convention with adopted son George Bush trailing in the polls and a sense of déjà vu.

"We've seen all this before," says Karl Rove, an Austin political consultant, recalling that Bush trailed Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis in polls taken before the 1988 GOP convention.

Two polls in Texas this week showed Democrat Bill Clinton leading Bush in the president's home state.

The Texas Poll, released Monday, gave Clinton a 49 percent-35 percent edge; a Houston Chronicle poll published on Sunday had it 43 percent Clinton, 29 percent Bush.

"Look, we've never been able to win Texas easily. We've always had to run hard," Rove said. "But Bush went into the 1988 race behind in Texas and came up a big winner. Similarly, in this election, I feel confident."

The new poll results reflect the Democrats' unified convention last month in New York, said state Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison, who will address the GOP convention Monday night.

"That is just a bounce. The president will get a bounce from his convention. That's always the way it is in the summer. It will change when we start talking about issues," she said.

Houston oilman Rob Mosbacher Jr., a delegate and leader of the Texas GOP's Victory '92 committee, agreed.

"It really didn't surprise me. The Democrats had a good, solid convention from the standpoint of it going well for them. They got a big bounce out of it," Mosbacher said.

"The president, meanwhile, has been hounded relentlessly in the national media for months and has decided to wait until our convention to launch his counterattack," he said.

Republicans eagerly await that counterattack.

"I think the president is stronger than he has been here. We've still got a ways to go," said state GOP Chairman Fred Meyer, who believes Bush's positions on economic and other issues will appeal to Texas conservatives.

Meyer also says Bush will attract Ross Perot's former supporters.

"When we start talking about the issues, the people who were supporting Ross Perot - particularly on economics - are going to be with the president," Meyer said.

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry says he looks at the latest polls and is reminded of his own 1990 race against two-term Democrat Jim Hightower.

"I think back two years ago, when I was running for office, and in August we were down - depending on the poll - anywhere from 30 to 50 points. People just haven't focused on this race yet," Perry said.

"Once our convention occurs and Republicans have an opportunity to have a day in the sunshine ... then the polls are going to close a great deal," he said.

Texas say Bush must spell out a clear and effective message for voters, however, to get back on a winning track.

Meyer said Bush could put his troubles behind him with a great convention speech, or at least one that rivals his 1988 acceptance speech.

"It has to happen or we won't win the election," Meyer said.

Dallas oilman Barry Williamson, a delegate and the GOP candidate for Railroad Commission this year, said he expects Bush to do just that during the convention.

"I think he's going to lay out a clear message. That's what he has to do. He's got to tell people why they should vote for him," Williamson said.

Consultant Rove said he actually was encouraged by the recent round of Texas polls, even though they put Clinton in front.

"I was surprised in a good way by the polls," Rove said. "If Bill Clinton, banging away as he has been coming out (of New York) with his big bounce, was not able to edge above 50 percent - then that's his high water mark."

MALOUF

While at Tech, he met a young Greek woman, following in the footsteps of her father who came from Greece to attend the Lubbock school in the 1930s.

Yiota and George were married in 1971 in her hometown in Greece, then honeymooned in Lebanon. The trip was the only visit he's made there since leaving in 1959.

They settled in Hereford where they are bringing up a family of three children.

And, it's because of those children that George Malouf elected to tackle the job of translating the 1907 history.

"It took a year to do 35 pages," he said, noting that an Arabic-English dictionary was his closest companion during the project.

"The second year, I did about 160 pages and by the third year, I was able to finish the remaining 700," he said.

Together with recent research done by Malouf and genealogy, the translation fit into a 9X12 book of more than 600 pages, weighing between five and six pounds. It's roughly the size of a college yearbook.

The family name comes in many spellings - Malouf, Maloof, Mallouf, Maallouf, Maallouf, Melof, Malof, Moluf. The list seems endless.

From George Malouf's point of view, the spelling makes no difference. They all belong to the same family.

"We are one of the largest, if not the largest, Christian Arabic families," he explained.

Today's Maloufs -- by whatever spelling -- are descended, apparently, from Noah through his son Shem.

Through the centuries -- other families may count time in years or decades -- the line has built an impressive record of service and leadership.

Originally, the name given the family was Ma'yooof, meaning exempt, because they were of the royal Ghassani household and not required to pay taxes, thus the exempt tag. Ghassani Ma'yooofs exercised authority over areas of the Middle East and even into the Roman empire.

A son of a Ghassani Arab chief, Marcus Julius Feyrus Philippus, was emperor of Rome and is credited with promoting Christianity throughout the empire.

George Malouf said his relatives, both close and distant, live in all states of the union and many foreign countries. They get together regularly in convention as Maloufs International, an organization the Hereford Malouf now serves as executive chief.

"We want to perpetuate the heritage and culture of our people," said Malouf, "in a non-profit organization that can do good in the world."

During the 1992 convention in Washington, D.C., with several hundred persons in attendance, Malouf had the pleasure of introducing his book to the family. The council of the District of Columbia issued resolutions honoring the family and the book was presented to the Library of Congress and the Smithsonian Institute.

Malouf relishes the feeling he had when he saw his work acknowledged.

"I think it meant something to my children, too," he said, which was the purpose he had in mind when he started the project.

The convention, July 30 through Aug. 2, afforded an opportunity for Maloufs-Maloofs from all over the U.S. as well as Australia, Brazil, Canada, France, Leganon, Italy, Guatemala, Switzerland, Jordan and Honduras to examine the book and find their place in it.

George Malouf devised a unique kind of "family tree" for the book -- a circular chart that moves from the center outwards. In Malouf, The Ghassani Legacy, individuals and families may find their own branch and put together their chart.

The Hereford man has done the hard part, the rest is up to them.

Couple united during candlelight ceremony

Amid the glow of soft candlelight, Poppy Dione McMennamy of Amarillo became the bride of Christopher Todd Tardy of Hereford Saturday evening at Trinity Fellowship Church in Amarillo.

Officiating at the marriage was Pastor Garvin McCarrell, youth pastor of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Pastor and Mrs. Jerry McMennamy of Amarillo and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Tardy of Hereford.

The church sanctuary was decorated by 10 candelabra accented with an array of white silk flowers and assorted greenery. Pews were marked with white bows.

Amy Malkuch served her sister as matron of honor and Don Carl Tardy was his brother's best man.

Bridesmaids included Amy Parsons, Leslie Frith, Kari Sprowls and Shannon Massey. Groomsmen were Gabe McMennamy, the bride's brother; Gerald Malkuch, the bride's brother-in-law; and Wade Holcomb and Glenn Purcell.

Guests were escorted by the groom's cousin, Jared Wirt, Cody Page and Greg Urbanczyk.

Flower girls were the bride's cousin, Chere Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morrison, and Kortnee McCarrell, daughter of Pastor and Mrs. Garvin McCarrell.

The groom's cousin, Caleb Harmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Greg Harmon, was ring bearer.

"Precious Love", a pre-recorded song sung by the bridal couple, was played as the unity candle was lit. Vocalists included Mike Vinyard, Susie Merrick and Melanie Dzierba, accompanied by Steve Simpson.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white designer gown of regal satin featuring French puffed sleeves and a fitted bodice heavily encrusted with pearls and jewels. It was also fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and an elongated waistline in the front. The back of the dress plunged low and the full and flowing satin skirt featured a cathedral-length train which was accented with European lace cut-outs.

The bride's designer fingertip-length veil of bridal illusion cascaded from a French pouf at the back of a headband.

She carried a cascading arrangement of white, blush pink and fuchsia silk roses, stephanotis with greenery and baby's breath attached to an antique linen and lace handkerchief which was a special gift from the groom. To complete her wedding attire, the bride also wore a pearl necklace belonging to the groom's mother, Debbie Tardy, which was given to her on her wedding day by her husband, Don Tardy.

Bridal attendants and the flower girls were attired in straight, fitted full-length emerald green satin dresses which were fashioned with short, pleated puff sleeves with pearl clusters arranged on the shoulders from which strands of pearls draped across the plunged low back. Each attendant carried a single long stem, blush pink silk rose.

Following the wedding ceremony, guests were invited to a reception at the church. White lattice work, interwoven with fresh greenery, created a garden atmosphere.

Todd Lane and Jameson Longanecker invited guests to register.

Shanda Blackwell and Gretchen Hare presided at the bride's table and Amanda Greaser and Jamie Jacobs were at the groom's table.

Kristin Organ and Jennifer Hurt poured punch and coffee.

Gifts were registered by Stacy Tardy, the groom's sister-in-law.

The classic Lady Windmere-styled wedding cake was created by three tiers of elegance encircled by four matching cakes around the base. The diamond-shaped scallops were decorated with cornelli lace, trimmed with interlocking heart-shaped shells, set off by seed pearl sized droplets of icing. There were pale pink roses surrounding the center columns and cascading at the center scallop.

The groom's cake was in the design of a modern home made of cinnamon chocolate with raspberry filling and decorated with gum paste rose gardens, trees, grass and a swimming pool. The cake featured a Don Tardy and Son Real Estate "sold" sign on the front lawn.

Following a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico, the couple will make their home at 213 Ave. J.

The bride is an honors graduate of Amarillo High School. The groom graduated from Hereford High School in 1991 and attended Amarillo College where he received his real estate license. He is currently employed with the Don C. Tardy Co. in Hereford.

MRS. CHRISTOPHER TARDY
...nee Poppy McMennamy

Out of town guests included Mrs. Tom Morrison, grandmother of the bride; Billie Morrison; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morrison Jr. and family; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woelfel; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Copeland and family; Carl Tardy of Roaring Springs, grandfather of the groom; Don Carl and Stacy Tardy of Duncanville, brother and sister-in-law of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harmon of Lubbock, great aunt and uncle of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fite of Duncanville; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sorrells of Odessa; D'Anne Harmon of Dallas, the groom's cousin; Mr. and Mrs. Greg Harmon, Caleb and Hannah of Durango, Colo., the groom's cousins; Mrs. Charlie Schull of Belton; and many family and friends from the Hereford and Canyon area.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Amarillo Club.

Pre-nuptial parties included a bridesmaids' luncheon hosted by Vicki Cumming; bridal showers held in the home of Mrs. John Curry of Amarillo and the E.B. Black House; and a personal shower given at the home of Shannon Massey of Amarillo.

Wedding vows spoken by Noyes, LaComb

Wedding vows were exchanged by Cynthia LaNell Noyes and Jimmy Ray LaComb Jr., both of Hereford, Saturday evening, Aug. 1, at Temple Baptist Church. Ronny Sanders officiated for the marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Leaton and Joann Noyes of 504 Schley and the bridegroom is the son of Jim and Shirley LaComb, former Hereford residents.

The church was decorated by two spiral candelabra accented with English ivy. A heart-shaped arch was arranged over the unity candle which was placed on a table draped with a handmade ivory lace cloth belonging to the bride's grandmother. Also, enhancing the church setting were two baskets filled with ivy and pink and teal bows. Pews were decorated with matching bows.

Serving as matron of honor was Christie Vanlandingham and best man was Ronnie Satterfield, the groom's brother-in-law.

Sabrina Noyes, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid and Clint Ruland was groomsman.

Ushers were the bride's cousins, Shawn and Audy Sciumbato. They also lit candles.

Carrying the wedding dress train were the bride's cousin, Sammie Sciumbato, and the groom's niece, Paulette White.

The bride's sister, Kayla Noyes, was flower girl, and ring bearer was the groom's nephew, Chantry Martin, son of Terry and Deanna Martin.

Jan Walser accompanied Vanessa Gonzales as she sang "Wind Beneath My Wings," "The Rose," "Unchained Melodies" and "Everything I Do, I Do For You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an elegant white formal-length gown of satin with intricate embroidery mingled with illusion net to form a detailed front fitted bodice and basque waistline which were heavily encrusted with seed pearls and beading. Simulated pearls dangled from the neckline and satin sleeve bows and scalloped lace accented the sleeves and hem. The back bodice closed with dainty satin covered buttons and was marked by a large white satin designer's bow. The chapel-length train, which fell from a full, flowing skirt, was embellished with embroidered cut-outs.

The elbow-length bridal veil formed a double net pouf at the back of a crown headpiece created by delicate silk petals and simulated pearl hearts.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white roses and blush pink flowers intermingled with teal flowers, matching ribbons and beaded pearl sprays.

In keeping with bridal tradition, as something old, the bride wore diamond earrings belonging to her grandmother; something borrowed, a gold chain bracelet belonging to the matron of honor; something blue, the bridal garter; and something new, the wedding dress.

Bridal attendants wore tea-length floral print dresses designed with high sweetheart necklines, fitted bodices, dropped waistlines and large pouf sleeves. They carried bouquets of pink and white silk roses with teal ribbons. Their hair pieces were created with teal silk roses and ribbons.

The bride's cousin, Lexi Sciumbato, invited guests to register at the reception held in the church fellowship hall. It was decorated with pink, teal and white balloon bouquets.

The bride's cousin, Tanya Broom, served the bride's cake and the groom's cake was served by his sister, Sonja Satterfield. Punch and coffee were poured by the groom's sister, Deanna Martin.

The bride's table was covered with a pink cloth and lace overlay and featured teal bows at the corners. It was decorated with the bride's bouquet and centered by the bride's three-tiered heart-shaped white cake trimmed by heart lace and pink roses. The cake, which was placed over a flowing fountain, was topped by Precious Moments figurines.

The focal point of the groom's table, which was covered with a teal cloth and lace overlay, was the chocolate horseshoe-shaped cake iced with light chocolate frosting and accented with white roses and silver leaves. The table was appointed with a sterling silver coffee service. Other refreshments served to wedding guests included nuts, and mints shaped as wedding bells, love birds and hearts made by the bride's mother.

Leaving for a honeymoon to San Antonio, the bride wore a floral print dress accented with gold and pearl buttons down the front. The couple resides in Hereford.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and is presently employed by Hereford State Bank.

The groom attended Odessa High School and is employed at Big T Pump. Wedding guests represented Clovis, N.M., Hobbs, N.M. and Walsh, Colo.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at Sirloin Stockade.

Hereford couple hosts 45th annual reunion

The 62nd Armored Field Artillery Battalion held their 45th annual reunion at the Fifth Seasons Inn West in Amarillo Aug. 4-8.

Hosting the event were Lester and Viola Wagner of Hereford. Over 100 were in attendance for the reunion and banquet.

Fort Bliss, El Paso was the origin of the 62nd, which was activated Feb. 10, 1941, from a cadre of soldiers from the First Cavalry Division (horse drawn) field artillery and men from the first draft of Selective Service.

The battalion went ashore at Casablanca, French Morocco in November 1942 and participated in the African Campaign. Members are veterans of two assault landings, "D" Day on Sicily and "I" on Omaha Beach. It served with five U.S. Armies, the First, Third, Fifth, Seventh and Ninth as well as the French and British Armies.

Among the many decorations it's men were awarded are seven Campaign Stars, six Legion of Merits, 38 Silver Stars, 19 Air Metals, 107 Bronze Stars and 120 Purple Hearts.

Guam's out-of-control, mildly poisonous brown tree snakes number in the millions and have wiped out nine of 12 native bird species and subspecies on the Pacific island, reports National Geographic.

along with eight Battlefield Commissions. The battalion received seven Commendations with 20 indorsement from the second and third Infantry Divisions, first, second and third Armored Divisions, 18th and 39th Infantry Regiments and the fifth Armored Artillery Group.

Red Cross Update

BY BETTY HENSON

Special thanks is extended to Mike Manchec for teaching a basic water safety and emergency rescue class.

Congratulations is extended to the five WSI people who completed the new update worship. They include Laura Carter, Dalene Burns, Mike Manchec, Barbara Franks and Karen Martin. Ronny Sanders is the WSI trainer.

A disaster training workshop is scheduled from 8 a.m. until noon and 1-5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 17. Laura Blount of the Amarillo Chapter will be teaching introduction to disaster service and mass care.

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

In 1970, the United States cast the first veto in the U.N. Security Council, killing a resolution that would have condemned Britain for failure to use force to overthrow the white-ruled government of Rhodesia.

Pizza party attended by study club

A summer pizza party was held Thursday evening at the Pizza Inn for members of La Madre Mia Study Club.

The highlight of the meeting was an exchange of secret pal gifts. Secret pals will be revealed at a breakfast meeting Sept. 12.

Club President Nicky Walser conducted a brief business session. Tricia Sims was elected to serve as club secretary as Janet Schroeder has moved from Hereford.

Those attending included Judy Williams, Merle Clark, Glenda Marcum, Nancy Paetzold, Mysedia Smith, Francyne Bromlow, Mary Herring, Lucy Rogers, Linda cumpton, Gladys Merritt, Lavon Nieman and Walser.

Fatalities of West Indian manatees living in Florida waters exceeded 170 last year - more than the sea-cow population can sustain and still survive, according to National Geographic.

Mitts, Lowrey wed in Hereford Aug. 8

Former Hereford resident, Sharon Lea Mitts of San Diego, Calif., and James Lowrey, also of San Diego, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, Aug. 8, in First United Methodist Church of Hereford. The Rev. Joe Woods of the church officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cal Mitts of 415 Centre St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lowrey of Lake Havasu City, Ariz.

The church altar was decorated with three candelabra trimmed with greenery, and pink, yellow, blue and white flowers. Pews were marked by

Cummings best topic speaker

Joe Don Cummings was named as best topic speaker during the Hereford Toastmasters meeting held Thursday morning at the Ranch House.

Clark Andrews served as Toastmaster and Jigger Rowland was timer. Cummings was the "au counter" and Suzanne Finch, presiding officer, was grammarian.

Clint Savoini, wordmaster, introduced the word "adroit."

Topicmaster Joe Weaver asked members to review books and judge them on their titles.

Topic speakers were Wayne Winget, Savoini, Dave Kimmel, Gayla Sanders, Rowland, Cummings and Finch.

Bob Lohr, who was evaluated by Sanders, spoke on "You Can Go Home Again" (if it ain't too far!).

Margaret Del Toro served as general evaluator.

Toastmasters is an organization designed to assist people in improving their communication skills. Interested parties are welcome to attend either the meeting at the Ranch House each Thursday at 6:30 a.m. or in the Community Center lounge at noon each Tuesday.

NEW YORK (AP) - Former "Today" show co-host Deborah Norville will return to network TV this fall as a correspondent for the CBS news program "Street Stories."

"I've been on the sidelines, and I feel ready to get back at it," said Norville, who will join "Street Stories" host Ed Bradley in October.

The network made the announcement Thursday. Norville succeeded longtime "Today" co-host Jane Pauley in January 1990, but failed to attain her predecessor's popularity. She went on maternity leave in April 1991 and was replaced by Katie Couric.

white bows.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Rob Ross, served as matron of honor, and best man was Charles Lamb of Indiana.

Mrs. Ed Terrill of Fort Worth was bridesmaid and Steve Marshall of Denver, Colo. was groomsmen.

Guests were escorted by the bride's brother, Stuart Mitts of Austin. He also lit candles.

Mrs. Tony Calkins accompanied Jan Walsler as she sang, "The Wedding Song" and "There Is Love."

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin designer's gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, basque waistline and puffed sleeves, all embellished with pearls and sequins. The back of the gown was accented with a large designer's bow, and the full skirt, adorned with pearls and sequins, swept into a chapel-length train. Delicate scalloped lace trimmed both the skirt's hemline and train.

The three-tiered tulle bridal veil with pencil edging formed a pouf at the back of a crown halo of white satin flowers and pearl sprays. She carried a cascading arrangement of white roses, lilies, greenery, baby's breath and tiny seed pearls.

Bridal attendants were attired in pastel pink, blue and yellow floral print dresses fashioned with off-the-shoulder sleeves. Each carried stem flowers in colors of pink, yellow and blue accented with baby's breath.

Mrs. Troy Bearden of Lake Jackson invited guests to register at the reception held in the E.B. Black House.

Cake was served by Mrs. Wes Rhea of Arlington and Mrs. Doug Selliff of Hereford. Punch and coffee were poured by Mrs. Danny Cornelius of Canyon.

The three-tiered white Italian cream bride's cake was decorated with an array of pastel flowers and the groom's German chocolate cake was topped with strawberries. White cloths covered the refreshment tables which also featured fruit trays, cheese and punch.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Hawaii and will make their home in San Diego, Calif.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Hereford High School and received a B.A. degree from Angelo State University.

Out of town guests included Leonard Ruppel, the groom's grandfather; Bessie Mitts, the bride's grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Eichner, the groom's sister and brother-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Keese of Carrollton; Mr. and Mrs. Donnell Anderson of Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Todd Bains of Amarillo; and Mrs. Georgia Sykes of San Angelo.

Pre-nuptial parties included a bridesmaids' luncheon held at the home of Bobbie Kitchens. Serving as co-hostesses were Sue Sims and Joyce Wartes.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

LOWERING THE STANDARDS

Recently, I read where a significant percentage of students who completed four years of high school, could not pass the exit exams. Therefore, they could not graduate. After the announcement was made, a cry arose from the "do-gooders". They claimed that the tests were unfair to the students who could not pass. Their solution: lower the standards and let them graduate.

I began to think of what kind of world we would have if others picked up the philosophy of lowering the standards. For example, I considered the pole vault event in the summer Olympics. Dozens tried, but only one cleared 21 feet. Unfair, the others claimed, so the judges awarded every participant a gold medal.

How would this work in business? Let's assume I got a small business loan to start my business. I agreed to pay principal and interest each month. The business does poorly and I stopped making payments. "Don't worry about paying me back," said the banker. "We'll just write the loan off."

Perhaps, you hired a new truck driver. On the way out to your parking lot, the driver side-swiped seven cars. Then he cut the corner too sharply and dropped the trailer wheels off in a culvert. As the wrecker pulled the truck out to the ditch, you asked if your new employee had a driver's license. "Of course," was the reply. "I didn't pass the test, but I tried real hard, so they gave me my license anyway."

Constant Improvement

Stupid examples? Different situations? Not the same thing? Nonsense. America didn't get to be a great country by lowering the standards. We became a great nation because we constantly aimed at being better. It works in education and in business.

We are a world-class competitor in a global economy. However, if we begin to relax our standards for education, quality or leadership, we will find ourselves locked in the morass of poverty-stricken, third-world countries. This is not the time to ease up or relax. Rather, it is a time to bear down, pull up and set higher goals than ever before.

Now is the time to seek constant improvement. If test scores are falling, don't be too quick to blame the tests. If our business is failing, don't blame the customer or the competition.

Treat the problem

Too often in this country, we spend all of our energy and resources in treating the symptoms, not the problems. Lowering educational standards to increase graduation rates does not solve the problem. It makes the problem worse.

Education is one of the cornerstones on which this country is built. Educated citizens build better businesses, are more productive workers and are more capable of solving problems. We must have an educated work force who can read, write, do basic math calculations and operate computers.

If a large portion of high school students are unable to pass the exit tests, let us examine the cause. There are those who say we don't spend enough money on education. From 1950 to 1989 spending on education increased by 370 percent in 1989 dollars. Test scores have declined since the early 1960's. It doesn't appear that spending more is the answer.

Was the material not covered in the curriculum? Was the curriculum not covered effectively by the teacher? Was there no support or motivation at home?

We may find Johnny missed too many classes. Perhaps Johnny didn't study or maybe he was too busy enjoying his puberty.

Our constitution does not guarantee Johnny an equal education. It does promise equal access to the educational system, but Johnny has to do his part.

Let's be careful not to lower our standards and water down the value of a high school diploma. Mine still means that I can read and write.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID MCCARTY

Pierson, McCarty wed recently in Arizona

Wedding vows were exchanged by Playas, N.M. residents, Cynthia Pierson and David McCarty, early Saturday afternoon, Aug. 1, in Faith Assembly of God Church in Tucson, Ariz.

Officiating were the Rev. Dutton of the church and the Rev. Billy Pierson, pastor of Jacksonville First Assembly of God Church.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Billy Pierson of Jacksonville. The pastor graduated from Hereford High School in 1968. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCarty of Playas.

The altar was decorated by candelabra, and pews were marked with white and purple bows with small bells.

Rebecca Shivel was maid of honor and Brent Parmerton was best man. Bridesmaids included the bride's sister, Debby Pierson, and Loric Beth Jeter. Groomsmen were Randy McCarty and Bill Cavalier.

Jessalynn Grun Wald, daughter of James Grun Wald, was flower girl. Ring bearer was Jeremy Pierson, son of Rev. and Mrs. Billy Pierson. Candles were lit by Debby Pierson and Randy McCarty.

Helen Sullivan provided wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore the traditional white wedding gown which featured a long train. The white bridal veil was borrowed from Mrs. David Morris of Hereford. She carried a bouquet of roses.

As good luck pieces, the bride wore her mother's necklace and placed a 1940 penny in her shoe.

Bridal attendants carried purple heart-shaped roses and white carnations.

Nedra Lucas served cake at the reception held in the church fellowship hall. Punch and coffee were poured by Frances Moore, the bride's aunt.

The couple resides in Playas. The bride is a graduate of Faith Christian High School in Tucson and Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie.

The groom is a graduate of Playas High School and Southwestern Assemblies of God College.

Wedding guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pierson of Hereford. Other guests were Frances Moore and Rose, the bride's aunts; Mrs. Manual Lewis, a grandmother; and Ruth Pierson of Dell City, a niece.

Executive completes program

Pamela Stephens, president of Security One Federal Credit Union, Arlington, has graduated with honors, from Southwest CUNA Management School, a three-year summer program for credit union executives held at the University of North Texas. Stephens received the 1992 Award of Excellence.

Stephens, the daughter of Edgar and Loleta Vinson, is a 1978 graduate of Hereford High School.

The school, sponsored by the Credit Union National Association (CUNA) and the Texas Credit Union League and affiliated with the University of North Texas, emphasizes strategic long-range planning for credit unions. The primary requirement for graduation is completion of a three-year plan for the student's credit union.

Stephens has been with Security One Federal Credit Union since 1986. She is the Vice President of the Fort Worth Chapter of Credit Unions.

NEW YORK (AP) - Mayor David Dinkins told graduates of a job training program that a little hot air can go a long way - especially when you're selling peanuts.

Reflecting Thursday on the many odd jobs he held as a youngster, Dinkins shared some of the secrets of peanut vendors.

"You'd put a few in there and you'd flip it and you'd tighten the bag so the air would puff it up a bit," he said at a City Hall ceremony.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

'Citizen Cohn' portrays American monster

James Woods plays ruthless lawyer Roy Cohn in Citizen Cohn, debuting Saturday on HBO. Manipulative and remorseless, the attorney was a protege of Sen. Joseph McCarthy in the Communist "witch hunts" of the '50s, and his career flowered even after McCarthy's downfall. The film also stars Joe Don Baker, Frederic Forrest and Pat Hingle.

Grim history repeated in HBO movie

By Dan Rice

Politics sometimes breeds monsters, sucking the ambitious on power and corruption. Among the vilest of these was Roy Marcus Cohn, the subject of the HBO original film Citizen Cohn, debuting Saturday, Aug. 22.

James Woods' much-publicized temperament is well-suited to the title role of the power-hungry lawyer who was a central figure in the Communist witch-hunts of the '50s. Woods almost effortlessly infuses the near-mythical beast with vim and vinegar.

Based on the book of the same name by Nicholas von Hoffman, Citizen Cohn begins in a hospital where Cohn lies dying of AIDS in 1986. Hallucinating from dementia, he is taunted by the ghosts of his nemeses: the electrocuted Ethel Rosenberg, whom he prosecuted for espionage; Robert Kennedy, who lost out to Cohn in a bid for the job of chief counsel to Sen. Joseph McCarthy's Communist-hunting committee; and a gory collection of those driven to suicide by his ruinous and often trumped-up prosecutions. On this final battleground, Cohn relives the backstabbing and the betrayal of friends, all without remorse. Rosenberg asks him, "You were a Jew who persecuted Jews, a homosexual who persecuted homosexuals. Why?"

"I did it for the headlines," Cohn replies.

Though feared and reviled by many, Cohn maintained a large circle of influential friends, including Cardinal Spellman, gangster Carmine Galante, Norman Mailer and Barbara Walters, who was his college sweetheart. Woods was able to find positive aspects of Cohn's character to figure into the role. "One of the things I think he was legitimately for was loyalty," Woods says, "in his whatever perverse sense he had of what loyalty meant."

Lee Grant plays the mother of cold-hearted attorney Roy Cohn (James Woods) in HBO's Citizen Cohn.

Despite its despicable subject, Citizen Cohn succeeds as a biographical drama thanks to the efforts of Woods and a fine supporting cast. Joe Don Baker reaches a new plateau with his insightful portrayal of Sen. McCarthy, and Joseph Bologna is perfect as crusading columnist Walter Winchell. Pat Hingle proves himself the definitive movie version of FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover, and Frederic Forrest once again re-creates the blacklisted novelist Dashiell Hammett with a cool style that leaves the viewer wanting much more. The most interesting casting is Lee Grant as Cohn's mother, in that Grant herself was blacklisted in the '50s by the Un-American Activities Committee. "The irony of playing Roy Cohn's mother — when he was everything that was loathsome to me — was irresistible," she says.

Director Frank Pierson, whose writing credits include Cool Hand Luke, admits that some dramatic license was taken in the film but defends Citizen Cohn as an accurate portrait of the

Disney recruits voice artists for 'Goof Troop'

By Suzanne Gill
 "If you scream right, you can do it all day long," says April Winchell. Like tennis elbow and varicose veins, screaming can be an occupational hazard — and not just for harried mothers. Winchell, a versatile voice-over artist, sometimes screams for a living. Though she has performed in comedy clubs and at the Grand Ole Opry, Winchell does most of her work in a recording studio, bringing to life animated characters, including her most famous: Roger Rabbit's difficult co-star Baby Herman.

Winchell's current assignment is the part of Peg, the volatile next-door neighbor of Disney duffus Goofy, in the upcoming animated series Goof Troop. Set in cartoon suburbia, the show follows the adventures of single dad Goofy and his 11-year-old son, Max, Max's best pal, P.J., and P.J.'s family: father Pete, mother Peg and baby sister Pistol.

Affable Bill Farmer is the voice of Goofy, a role he has played since 1987 in the short films Mickey's Christmas Carol and The Prince and the Pauper. Playing son Max is Dana Hill, a former child actress whose credits include Shoot the Moon and Cross Creek. Jim Cummings, the voice of Winnie the Pooh, plays Goofy's neighbor Pete. Goof Troop joins the syndicated Disney Afternoon lineup on Monday, Sept. 7, and runs concurrently in the ABC Saturday-morning cartoon block beginning Sept. 12.

Fountains of youth; political propaganda

By Dan Rice

"What a drag it is getting old," sang the Rolling Stones in the '60s. Both science and quackery have marched to the beat of that drum, providing potions, pills and plastic surgeries in a billion-dollar industry catering to the desire to halt the aging process. On Monday, Aug. 17, HBO debuts the America Undercover documentary Never Say Die: The Pursuit of Eternal Youth, a humorous and provocative look at the extreme and unconventional paths taken by those latter-day Ponce de Leons.

Talk is cheap, but a good laugh is priceless. The outrageous interviewing style of comedian Ruby Wax is far from the norm of American talk shows, so leave it to the BBC to produce The Full Wax, a four-part comedy series that makes its North American premiere Sunday, Aug. 16, on A&E. Joining the all-American Wax and her British co-host Jennifer Saunders are guests Zsa Zsa Gabor, Lauren Bacall, Tracey Ullman and Grace Jones.

But they looked so good on TV. Debuting Friday, Aug. 21, on A&E, Investigative Reports: The Living Room Campaign examines the 40-year history of political advertising. From Eisenhower's "issue statements" and LBJ's anti-Goldwater "Daisy" and LBJ's anti-Goldwater "Daisy" commercial up to Bush's Willie Horton spot, TV campaign messages are seen to exert no small influence on presidential races.

BITS AND PIECES

The Three Stooges: a primer in violent art

Don't try this at home. He doesn't hit you over the head with it, but magician Penn — of Penn & Teller — has strong feelings about the television he viewed as a child.

"The Three Stooges taught me the most important lesson a kid could learn, which is the difference between fantasy and reality. They taught about a kind of friendship that lived outside of society.

"And they also taught me by the age of 5 or 6 that you could do wonderful violence in art, and it didn't have to spill into life at all — which has been an important crusade of ours. I've never hit anyone in my life, nor has Teller, and yet we do violent art."

Penn & Teller

It's not just the birds and the bees anymore. Sex education is more complicated than it used to be. Today, parents have to make sure their children understand the threat of AIDS, along with the other consequences of sexual behavior.

An upcoming special for parents and teens alike is Understanding HIV: Does Teen America Know the Facts? Airing on or after Sept. 3 in many parts of the country, the one-hour syndicated program will feature the stars of several popular prime-time series, as well as teens who have tested positive for HIV.

The "King of All Media" is how controversial talk-show host Howard Stern describes himself. After earning a string of citations from the FCC for violation of decency standards on his radio and TV shows, Stern is now set to make his mark in motion pictures. Hitching a ride on Stern's ego trip is Michael De Luca of New Line Cinema, which is developing a comedy feature starring Stern. De Luca claims, "We predict that this film will be the most original, the most outrageous and the most talked about comedy motion-picture event of the '90s."

TIME OUT

Drysdale drives ESPN's Volvo coverage

By Michael Scogin

ESPN begins its coverage of the men's 1992 Volvo International tennis tournament from New Haven, Conn., on Monday, Aug. 17. Live early-round matches continue through Friday, Aug. 21, with same-day coverage of the semi-final and final matches on Saturday, Aug. 22, and Sunday, Aug. 23, respectively.

The Volvo is now in its 20th year, but 1992 marks just the second time the tournament has been held at the new Connecticut Tennis Center.

Cliff Drysdale, former-championship player and ESPN's primary tennis commentator since 1980, expects many of the world's top players to be on hand, including 1992 Wimbledon champion Andre Agassi.

"The Volvo has always attracted a good field of players. Agassi really made a name for himself at the Volvo and it has been like a home tournament for him."

Agassi will be the main attraction at New Haven, and Drysdale likes his chances to win.

"It was a big breakthrough for him to win Wimbledon, and it has really changed things for him. He's coming off another big win at the Canadian Open and is very much on a roll."

"Everybody was all over Agassi for not winning a Grand Slam title, which I didn't think was really fair. He had, after all, been to three Grand Slam finals, which is a pretty good achievement in itself."

New Hall of Famers; Sagansky untied

Sheldon Leonard

Here's looking at you, kids. The Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (ATAS) has announced the next six inductees into the ATAS Hall of Fame: Bill Cosby, Andy Griffith, Ted Koppel, Sheldon Leonard, Dinah Shore and R.E. (Ted) Turner. The official induction will be held on Oct. 3 at the Walt Disney World Resort in Orlando, Fla.

The ATAS has also announced that the Disney/MGM Studios Theme Park in Florida will become the East Coast home for the ATAS Hall of Fame Plaza.

No nose is good nose. Since the New York Times declared the flowered tie dead on Father's Day, fashion-conscious men everywhere have been tugging at their collars, wondering what's next. In couture-correct Hollywood, the cravat of the moment must display an abstract or geometric pattern or one found in nature (a rain forest-inspired motif is good). But in a recent interview, Jeff Sagansky, head of entertainment programming for CBS, television's No. 1 network, sidestepped the whole issue: Sagansky's white button-down shirt was open at the neck. Instead of a tie, he sported a white hankie in his breast pocket ... for dabbing the crocodile tears he sheds for other networks, one presumes.

... It's who you know. Beverly Hills, 90210 co-star Tori Spelling is "the best assistant casting director we've ever had," according to her dad, executive producer Aaron Spelling.

"She reads all the fan magazines, and she knew everybody. She's the one who suggested Shannen Doherty to us (for 90210). She's the one who suggested Jason Priestley. She's the one who told me I had to meet Grant Show (Melrose Place).

"I think that was for her own benefit," the father says of his 19-year-old daughter.

Will Grand Old Party make dull TV viewing?

Audiences may vote with their remotes

By Suzanne Gill

"If anything really important happens, you'll learn about it at Comedy Central within about, oh, two to three minutes after you'd learn about it watching a real network."

Comedy Central anchorman Al Franken took that pledge as part of his preparation for this summer's political convention coverage on the cable network.

"We can make this pledge because in our studio, writer Roy Blount Jr. will be watching the other networks. So if anything important happens, he can tell me."

Unfortunately for television, that may be all the coverage any of us needs from the Republican National Convention, which begins Monday, Aug. 17, in Houston. It's not that the G.O.P. gathering hasn't had an impact: It forced the Houston Astros on a monthlong road trip. But for most of us, watching four nights of convention coverage will be like trying to stick with a whodunit once you know who did.

Unless ...

Unless George Bush decides not to keep Dan Quayle as his running mate for the fall election. That development would send network news organizations into high gear, offering more than one hour of coverage in prime time each evening. Comedy Central, on the other hand, has committed itself to two hours of coverage on each of the four nights.

While the folks at Comedy Central aren't exactly news purists, they were prepared to go to court to secure rights to the same video feed the other networks share. As spokesman Tony Fox puts it, Comedy Central has "a very strong First Amendment position." The Democrats, he adds, granted press credentials for reporters Buck Henry and Joy Behar without a struggle.

Asked about the Republicans, Franken says, "They seem a little more wary.... I think it's going to be fine, just fine."

Fine it may be, but exciting? In a week like this, a group of pachyderm specials airing on The Discovery Channel sounds like a potential ratings hit. Where's that Eveready bunny when you really need him, anyhow? © TV Listing Inc.

Networks and cable news channels will offer live coverage of President George Bush's acceptance of his party's nomination for re-election, Thursday at the Republican National Convention.

K2: Starring Michael Biehn and Matt Craven.

K2, at 28,250 feet is the second highest mountain in the world. (Only Everest surpasses it at 29,028.) K2, for Karakoram peak 2 in the Karakoram mountains in Northern Pakistan, is also the steepest and, because it is not visible from any inhabited place on earth, the most remote and mysterious - 27 people have died trying to reach its summit, earning it a grim nickname, The Savage Mountain. K2, based on the critically acclaimed 1983 Broadway play by the same name, is about two friends who join an expedition to climb the mountain. As expected, the friendship is challenged by the danger of the climb and their great personal differences dramatically brought to light. While the exposition of the film is trite and the dialogue quite forgettable, the climbing sequences are startling. Fortunately, the bulk of the film is the ascent of the mountain - a visceral and astonishing experience for the audience. This film literally takes you to a place, and to heights you never expect. The climbing scenes and the cinematography will take your breath away. The ascent of the mountain, as captured on

LET'S TALK

Streep's throat, in this case; 'Just Imagine' it's good

By Taylor Michaels

Q: Were we listening to the actual singing voice of Meryl Streep in Postcards From the Edge?—Mrs. L.C. Blair, Sun City West, Ariz.

A: Yes, that's actually Streep singing her heart out as the credits roll, with backup sound from the band Blue Rodeo.

Q: After seeing Batman Returns, I've become interested in Christopher Walken, who plays Max Shreck. Could you please tell me about him—personal facts and what he's done in the past?—L. Slater, Royal Oak, Mich.

A: Walken was born the son of a baker on March 31, 1943, in Astoria, Queens, N. Y., and attended Hofstra University.

Walken is perhaps best known for his Oscar-winning supporting role as one of the three Pennsylvania buddies whose life is shattered after making the fateful decision to enlist for duty in Vietnam in The Deer Hunter. His typical, soft-spoken modesty was never more evident than just before the Academy Awards when, lavished with praise by everyone in the business, he simply said, "I know what I'm doing on stage, but in films, I have to depend on the kindness of strangers."

A short list of films of interest starring Walken might include: Annie Hall (1977), Brainstorm (1983), At Close Range (1986), The Milagro Beanfield War (1988) and The King of New York (1990).

Q: Back in 1969, I made a Western movie with Gregory Peck and Eva Marie Saint, and I would like to write these very special people. I played the half-breed son of Saint in the movie, called The Stalking Moon. It was produced by Alan J. Pakula and directed by Robert Mulligan. The movie was made in the state of Nevada.—Noland Clay, Whiteriver, Ariz.

A: What a thrill that must have been! You may write to Peck in care of International Creative Management, 8899 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., 90048, and you may write to Saint in care of Borinstein, Oreck and Bogart Agency, 8271 Melrose Ave., Suite 110, Los Angeles, Calif., 90046.

Q: I would like to find a copy of the movie Becket with Richard Burton and,

Meryl Streep

I believe, Peter O'Toole. Is it on video?—Janet Glampapa, Springfield, Va.

A: This award-winning 1964 film detailing the tempestuous relationship between King Henry II (Burton) and his Archbishop of Canterbury, Thomas Becket (O'Toole), is available on video. Like most really good dramatic period pieces that are brilliantly acted and photographed, you'll probably have to dig deep on the video-store shelf to find it. Try looking underneath a copy of Bolero.

Q: I have written and inquired about the movie Just Imagine to many places, but I have never heard back. I was just a teenager when the movie came out (I'm 74 now), and I'd like to know who the actors were, what year the movie came out and any other information you can find.—Martha Paschen, Jacksonville, Fla.

A: Just Imagine made quite an impression on theater audiences in 1930. Disillusioned with the condition of America in the present, they soaked up the futuristic settings and characterizations of this escapist musical. The picture concerned the resuscitation of a man (El Brendel), supposedly dead since 1930, in 1980, when he is unable to cope with contemporary conditions. Maureen O'Sullivan, John Garrick, Marjorie White and Frank Albertson are among the co-stars. Be warned, Martha, the story and the sets will probably enthrall you much less today than they did as a child.

This new video release is a gem from the past and one that is not to be missed.

DIVORCE ITALIAN STYLE: (1962) Starring Marcello

Mastroianni. A jaded Sicilian (Marcello Mastroianni) steers his domineering wife into an affair, thereby giving him reason to shoot her and, if he can hang onto his cool and bring it off, marry his sultry sixteen-year old cousin. The real trick, though, is to lust and kill in such a way as to earn the sympathy and even admiration of the local citizenry. Such a scheme naturally requires the most rigorous planning, from the recruiting of a plausible lover for the wife to proper placement of a tape recorder to gather evidence of their liaison, to the selection of a lawyer who can present the case with a straight face. That all doesn't go just right is to be expected in Pietro Germi's film, which won Oscars for its story and screenplay, and is memorable for a finely shaded performance by Marcello Mastroianni. The twist ending adds a perfect - and most ironic - finale. Not rated. Would be a PG-13.

Life's a beach for Fox star Schneider

By Dan Rice
Lew Schneider is a stand-up comedian who would love to find a home on prime-time TV. CBS had him roaming about Europe with a camcorder in the short-lived Wish You Were Here but never gave him a return ticket. And now the lease is up on his summer home in Fox's Down the Shore. The limited comedy series concerns three men and three women in their 20s who share a beach house. As with many of Fox's programs, the world Down the Shore revolves around sex. Schneider reveals that the sitcom's salaciousness is due in large part to the Fox formula for titillating television. "The show that the producers wanted to do initially is opposed to the network's vision of the show," Schneider says. "What you see on TV is a compromise. They'd (Fox) like us probably to be naked." "When the network wants irresponsible sex, what they usually have is some beautiful woman cast for the week, and then there's a fight about her. There's your conflict, and there's your comedy. But the network loves that stuff. And we have to deal with that." Fox has recently drawn fire from the press for its exploitative content, but network president Jamie Kellner defends its programming. "By and large, I think our standards have been appropriate, given the audience that we reach," he says, referring to Fox's low share of over-50 viewers.

Geary and Samms: soap supercouple?

By Candace Havens
First there was Luke and Laura, then Luke and Holly, then Holly and Robert. Now General Hospital is hoping to add Bill and Holly to its list of soap supercouples. In the early '80s, the romance between Luke (Anthony Geary) and Laura (Genie Francis) was a phenomenon. Ten years later, GH is hoping to spark the same kind of fireworks between Holly (Emma Samms) and Bill (Geary) on General Hospital. Are Samms and Geary banking on supercouple status? Not really, but executive producer Wendy Riche thinks there's a chance for a hot romance between their characters. "I think that the chemistry is undeniable both on-screen and off-screen between these two," says Riche. The two stars are glad to be back on the show that made them so popular in the first place. Geary is back as Bill, a different character than he played before. He couldn't resist the challenge to prove he could play another character, but fans weren't happy about the change at first. "Luke Spencer was an exciting and compelling character ... and people were disturbed when I came back as a different character. But it's been a year now, and people aren't as resentful as they were before," says Geary. Samms had other reasons for coming back. "I was given a very, very nice money deal and was given the opportunity to do other projects during the year," says Samms. "But it was more than that; I really missed the sense of family you have working on the soaps and the ability to really grab hold of a character over an extended amount of time." So what about the rumors of Genie Francis returning to GH now that she is off All My Children? "I've been hearing that for 10 years," says Geary. "I have never had a conversation with anyone, with Wendy or anyone at ABC, regarding Luke and Laura." Is there any truth to the rumor that Mary Beth Evans (ex-Kayla, Days of our Lives) and Stephen Nichols (ex-Steve, Days) could turn up on GH in the near future? Riche leaves the possibility open, answering, "I have photos and cassettes from a lot of people on a lot of shows, both prime time and daytime."

Tom Hanks is the host of this week's edition of NBC's Saturday Night Live, featuring Bruce Springsteen.
