HISD hopes program SOARs

Hereford school officials got the go-ahead Tuesday from the school board to revamp the alternative school program for the 1992-93 school year.

Alternative school has been a strict environment for students who have created problems in school. Some students and parents, however, have requested placement in the special school because of the strict focus on academic work.

Under the guidance of Marilyn Leasure, director of secondary instruction for HISD, the program has been renamed S.O.A.R. High. It has a special "academic high school" for students who may have problems at home or in the traditional school environment.

Students who have continual discipline problems will be referred to the new Prime Time Behavioral Unit. For both programs, parenting classes will be offered for persons who may have problems with their children.

The programs are not without cost. Leasure, who will become principal at Hereford Junior High later this summer, told the board the program will cost about $75,000 above the current program cost.

"I realize we are talking about $75,000...but it is time to do something," said Superintendent Charles Greenawalt. "We have children who need a structured program. We have many cases we can point to where grades improve, the conduct improves, after exposure to this program."

"We need to reach out and help these students before they go to the Prime Time program. There are all kinds of doors we can open up."

The school district is considering inviting Dimmitt, Friona, Bovina, Vega and Adrian schools to participate in the program. That could lower the cost of the program to local taxpayers.

The plan was adopted after two years of studying the program. School officials visited similar programs in the Dallas area and in Amarillo before tailoring the program here. The new program will use space in the Stanton Special Programs Center.

In other business Tuesday, the board:

--Approved revisions in the five-year technology and transportation plans.

--Agreed to meet in the next two weeks to discuss renovation priorities at Hereford High School.

--Applied for waivers for more staff instruction days for the 1992-93 school year and for exemptions from finals for high school students, based on student grades and attendance.

--Learned the district will lose about $250,000 in state funds this year because Texas is short of cash; the state will give HISD $500,000 less next year.

--Accepted the report on the joint project with the Job Training Partnership Act on a grant for TAAS remediation for students. Students received money for improvements in TAAS test scores and attending classes.

Resignations were officially accepted from Raymond Schroeder, Janet Schroeder, Dickie Faught, Terri Faught, Mary Ann Marquez, Jimmy Thomas, Pat Hickman, Lee Seman, Tonja James and Patricia Rojas-Natividad.

Hired by the board were Scott Calkins, Carol Washington, Doug Voran and Julia Arrendondo, high school; Melissa Soliz, Aikman; Kay Cooper, Tierra Blanca; Maria Tarr and Amy Scott, Northwest; and Mark Stokes and Susan Rogers, West Central.

Grades vary considerably

This graph shows how scores from April's NAPT examinations were high in the third grade for Hereford students, fell tremendously in the fourth, and continued to jump up and down while remaining below the national "middle" for the tests.

Schools plan new effort on test deviationsBy JOHN BROOKS

Year after year, the test scores of Hereford students look like a heart monitor. The needle goes up and down, up and down, up and down.

Students do well in the third grade, then scores plummet in the fourth. Test scores get better by the sixth grade, then drop again in the seventh.

Hereford school administrators and board members want two things: they want higher scores for everyone, and they want to get rid of the drops.

Last year's scores from the NAPT, taken in April by all Texas students in grades 3-11, are a good example. HISD third graders were in the 70th percentile of all students taking the test. Fourth graders, though, were in the 46th percentile. In fact, the only group after the third grade to score above "average," the 50th percentile, were sixth graders, who were in the 51st percentile.

Seventh graders fell to the 42nd percentile, but eighth and ninth graders were in the 46th percentile before scores again fell.

It's not an isolated incident. Achievement test scores from 1991 followed the same pattern. Third graders were at 62.7; fourth graders logged a 43.7. Scores fell from sixth to seventh grades, and eighth to ninth grades.

Why?

School officials aren't exactly sure, but the problem isn't being ignored. In July, the HISD board will review, and probably accept, improvement plans from each school campus and for the district. Each campus has plans to address the problem.

"Students start the dropping out processing, getting frustrated and giving up, in the fourth grade," said HISD administrator Nena Veazey. She said one example is that bilingual students receive strong support through the third grade.

"Then we begin to transition them out and it's too soon for some. They can't handle it," she said.

Corky Lockmiller, assistant superintendent for special programs, said the state has required students in the past to be completely in or out of bilingual programs. He said the state, beginning this fall, will allow the district to give students the support they need from bilingual services.

Administrators stressed the problem can't be pinned only on students in the bilingual program, but pointed to the program as one area where the district, and other school systems in Texas, have been hamstrung by the state. In some cases, students may have been hampered by outmoded concepts, officials said.

"We have some campuses, some teachers, that don't want to abandon the self-contained concept for the bilingual program," said Superintendent Charles Greenawalt. "We are dealing with teachers, students and parents to get our program where it needs to go to help the children."

In the next year, each campus in the district will have a program similar to the Super Lab program begun three years ago by former Aikman Primary School principal John Poindexter. The program gives any student that needs help as much individual help as necessary in a unique approach.

Grants should help study brain defects

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - A private grant will allow independent medical investigators to step up their study of the environment's role in an alarming series of birth defects in South Texas, officials say.

The $12,000 grant presented by Levi Strauss Tuesday to the Brownsville Community Health Center will be used to buy software to evaluate data already amassed and fund field investigations, said Dr. Carmen Rocco.

Until now the independent probe of neural tube defects (NTDs) in Cameron County has been largely restricted to local physicians gathering data in their spare time and some air and water sampling.

NTDs include anencephaly, a lethal malformation characterized by an underdeveloped brain, and spina bifida, in which the spine develops outside the body.

The local team began probing

NTDs last year after learning the rare disorders were occurring in Cameron County at high rates, sometimes as high as six times the national average. A similar occurrence has been reported immediately across the border in Matamoros, Mexico.

The Centers for Disease Control and the Texas Department of Health have also been studying the problem. A report on that study is due next week.

But whereas the governmental agencies have concentrated on reviewing the backgrounds of the babies' parents, the independent team has focused on environmental issues, including natural causes.

The group is particularly interested in looking at the industrial pollution released by factories in Mexico.

"I believe that is what is responsible for causing the disorders," said Dr. Margaret Diaz, a Brownsville physician.

Strike shuts down US railsBy CHRISTINE DONNELLY
Associated Press Writer

Freight railroads shut down today coast-to-coast and Amtrak stopped passenger service almost everywhere after a union went on strike against one of the nation's biggest freight lines.

Freight shippers, farmers and a small number of commuters scrambled to arrange backup ways to markets and to work.

Union leaders accused the rail companies of locking out workers in an attempt to create a national emergency and force Congress to intervene. And Transportation Secretary Andrew Card called on Congress to do just that.

"They should step in quickly," Card said this morning on Cable News Network.

"We need to keep the economy moving. ..." he said. "This is jeopardizing that recovery."

President Bush said before the strike that a nationwide shutdown would be so devastating to the economy that "it ought to end the day it begins," through legislation if necessary.

The shutdowns came less than two hours after other unions had agreed to extend contract talks with Amtrak and Conrail and other freight railroads for at least 48 hours past a strike deadline of midnight Tuesday.

A strike by the Machinists union against CSX Transportation derailed that agreement.

The Association of American Railroads, which represents all major freight railroads, said the Machinists had placed pickets at key CSX points.

"Because of the seamless nature of the nation's freight rail system, a strike that begins in one region of the country affects service in the entire nation. Thus, the freight railroads are taking steps to proceed with a safe and orderly shutdown," said AAR President Edwin L. Harper.

Minutes later, Amtrak suspended operations because the vast majority of the 24,000 miles of track over which it operates is owned by the freight lines.

Amtrak spokesman Howard Robertson said the only unaffected service would be the line between Washington and Boston, which is entirely owned and operated by Amtrak. But in Chicago, Amtrak said service between that city and Milwaukee also continued, because the 90-mile route was on Soo Line track, which is not affected by the stoppage.

Robertson said there would be "a mixed impact" on commuter lines around the country that use Amtrak stations or tracks, but that hundreds of thousands of commuters in New York should not be affected. Officials of the Long Island Railroad and NJ Transit said trains were running close to normal today.

Commuter rail service in the Boston area was unaffected today, said transit agency spokesman Bob Devin. And service also was normal in Chicago, where Amtrak workers who help route commuter train traffic into Union Station were on duty even though most long-distance Amtrak service was canceled.

But service on two commuter lines that carry about 5,000 people a day from Baltimore and western Maryland into Washington was suspended, said Dianna Rosborough, Maryland Transit Administration spokeswoman. Service on the busiest line into Washington continued, she said.

A leader of a maintenance workers union said that the Machinists' strike was limited and that the rail companies had escalated the action to get their way.

"They have locked out every freight employee in the country and are holding the American people hostage by creating a severe economic emergency," said Joel Myron, a negotiator for the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees. "They're trying to play Congress for a sucker."

Card said whether it is a strike, work stoppage or lockout isn't the main question.

"I don't take sides in this dispute," he said. "The reality is that the trains are not running."

The dispute involves unions representing about 20,000 carmen, engineers, dispatchers, machinists and other employees. More than 200,000 other rail workers were expected to honor picket lines.

McALLEN - A reputed drug lord who fled to Mexico and eluded authorities for about two years was shot and bludgeoned to death in a fight over money, the DEA says.

WASHINGTON (AP) - A former Pentagon intelligence chief says the United States had "irrefutable" evidence that American prisoners were being held in Vietnam long after the war ended in 1975.

Despite the information, the government declared all missing servicemen dead in the late 1970s because "it was the humane way of bringing the issue to a close," Retired Air Force Gen. Eugene Tighe said in an interview with The Associated Press.

"I think they just disregarded the evidence because they knew there was no way they were going to be able to prove it and we weren't about to undertake hostile activities against Vietnam," Tighe said.

The Pentagon says it has no conclusive evidence of POWs being alive after 1973.

Tighe headed the Defense Intelligence Agency from 1976 to 1981 and in 1986 conducted a classified Pentagon study that concluded the U.S. government had reliable evidence of Americans being held in Southeast Asia long after the government declared they had all returned in 1973.

"We concluded while there was no coverup evident in government on the issue, that there was still a strong possibility that there were live Americans held against their will," Tighe said. He would not be any more specific.

Capt. Susan Strednansky, a Pentagon spokeswoman, said Tuesday that Tighe was "entitled to his own opinions" but insisted that his 1986 report "does not contain conclusive proof that American POWs were held in captivity beyond 1973."

Tighe, who retired more than a decade ago, is scheduled to tell his story today to the Senate Select Committee on POW-MIAs. The committee released classified documents Tuesday indicating some 125 POWs from the Korean War, previously presumed dead, had been interrogated by the Soviets and possibly taken to China.

Tighe, in an interview last month, said the most convincing evidence concerning live, Vietnam-era POWs that the DIA collected during his tenure came from witnesses, including a flood of reports from Laotian refugees who fled to the United States.

Many of the live sightings, along with some technical evidence gathered by satellite photography and other means, were deemed "irrefutable" under the rules of evidence used by the American intelligence community, he said.

"By that I mean we could not break the stories of individuals who claimed to have seen Americans of a significant number having been given lie detector tests and quite a number of other measures," Tighe explained.

"Although there were always doubters... what we had for the most part was human intelligence sifted out of thousands of reports, which was considered very, very good human intelligence," he said.

Asked whether he believed there could still be live POWs, Tighe said he had not been privy to intelligence reports for some time.

Tighe's comments are part of a growing body of evidence that U.S. prisoners may have been left alive after the war despite the Nixon administration's insistence all were returned in 1973 and the Carter administration's decision to declare all 2,266 unaccounted servicemen as dead in the late 1970s.

Last week, Russian President Boris Yeltsin said he believed POWs from the Vietnam War had been brought to the Soviet Union and that some could be alive. No evidence has emerged from Russia since his comments.

The Senate committee has been collecting evidence from dozens of witnesses, including intelligence officers who suggest that some of the American POWs listed as being alive during the war were inexplicably not included on the lists when prisoners were returned in the 1973 exchange with Vietnam.

The Wall Street Journal reported Tuesday that some of the committee's investigators have told the senators they believe U.S. servicemen remained in captivity in Vietnam and Laos as late as 1989.

Drawing puts seven in running for million

AUSTIN (AP) - Seven Texans have a chance to win the lottery's $1 million prize. Their names were chosen Tuesday for the third million-dollar drawing, this one scheduled to be held July 2 at the Texas State Aquarium in Corpus Christi.

Lottery officials announced that the finalists are:

Jean Van Lam, Port Arthur; David A. James, Pearland; Pat Lainson, Fort Worth; Steve William Hokans, Spring; Santiago Martinez, Del Rio; Manuel Ochoa, San Antonio, and James De Baun, Bastrop.

The winner of the drawing will receive $1 million. Second place will pay $50,000 cash, while the other finalists will receive smaller prizes ranging from $25,000 down to $10,000. Twenty percent of the winnings is given to the IRS.

Three names were selected as alternates for the drawing. They are Ron Stout, Alvin; Tri Nguyen, Houston, and Ramiro P. Lopez, Lubbock.

Annabel Huerta of Abilene won the first $1 million drawing held last week in Dallas. The second $1 million drawing is scheduled for Thursday at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

The lottery plans weekly $1 million drawings until Sept. 3. Anyone who finds three of the words "entry" on their scratch-off lottery tickets may enter the contest.

Also Tuesday, lottery officials said that ticket sales through the first three weeks of the instant-win games that began May 29 totaled $210.1 million.

Eighteen prizes of $20,000 had been awarded from those games, along with 309 $10,000 prizes, said Steve Levine, lottery spokesman.

Harris County is the most popular lottery market, with sales there totaling $40.1 million. Dallas County sales totaled $23.5 million; Tarrant County $16.4 million, and Bexar County, $15 million.

NASA hopes Columbia problem is limited to temperature sensor

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - NASA has reopened the engine compartment of space shuttle Columbia to check a fuel temperature sensor that was giving erratic readings, a problem that threatened to delay Thursday's launch.

The sensor could be replaced if necessary and still allow for an on-time liftoff at 12:07 p.m., NASA said Tuesday.

"What happens if the sensor is not the problem remains to be seen," said NASA spokesman Bruce Buckingham.

A problem with the engine controller instead would mean a one-week delay to install a new one, said shuttle test director Mike Leinbach. The engine controller is an electronics box that regulates the engine.

The 13-day research mission will be the longest shuttle flight yet. The longest mission to date, in 1990, was just under 11 days.

The engine compartment was reopened late Tuesday, and NASA ordered technicians to enter it overnight.

The countdown proceeded despite the sensor problem and the last-minute failure of two navigation units, which had to be replaced. Thursday's weather was expected to be favorable.

To make use of practically every moment in space, the seven astronauts are divided into two teams - red and blue - that will work 12-hour shifts in orbit.

Already, the crew is keeping offbeat hours. The three blue team members had dinner at 8 a.m. and went to sleep three hours later. The four others were up at 6 a.m. and had a 10 p.m. bedtime.

Among the experiments planned: studying drops of liquid in zero gravity; setting fires in sealed containers; undergoing medical tests on the effects of space travel; and growing crystals in the weightlessness of space.

Space-grown crystals are bigger and better than those cultivated on Earth, where gravity introduces flaws that hinder efforts to perfect drugs, semiconductors and infrared detectors.

Perot reports unsolicited funds

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas billionaire Ross Perot gave another $1.98 million to his own fledgling campaign in May and for the first time received a large influx of unsolicited private donations.

Democrat Bill Clinton, meanwhile, reported his campaign debt soared to $3.93 million in May. He spent $5.29 million and raised $2.38 million.

Clinton has raised $14.2 million since entering the race but still trails President Bush's fund-raising by nearly a 2-to-1 margin.

Perot has promised to bankroll his independent bid for the White House and says he's not asking for contributions. But he reported Tuesday that he received $728,779 in private donations during May, more than double the $300,000 for the previous two months combined.

His May donations included a mix of the in-kind contributions from volunteers that dominated earlier reports as well as cash donations of up to $1,000 apiece, the legal limit, his report to the Federal Election Commission showed.

Perot spokesman Jim Squires did not immediately return a telephone call Tuesday seeking an explanation.

Perot's own contribution to his volunteer-led campaign raised his total to $3.24 million since March, when he began to plan an independent presidential bid.

Clinton's campaign blamed the debts and fund-raising gap mostly on the campaign's late start and the huge expenses of converting from a primary to a general election campaign.

"You can't raise money faster than we're raising it, at least not as a challenger," said Bob Burkette, Clinton's California fund-raiser.

"The real problem is we're spending in a general election mode and raising it in a primary mode."

It is not unusual for nominees to finish the primaries in debt - Mondale was $3.5 million in the hole in 1984 - but Democrats had hoped Clinton would avoid such a fate after gaining a virtual lock on the nomination by late April, far earlier than any other in recent memory.

Rahm Emanuel, Clinton's national finance chairman, said the campaign plans to take in $3 million in June and to reduce its debt to $1.5 million by next month's Democratic convention in New York.

Meanwhile, Democrat Jerry Brown, the former California governor, reported finishing May in better financial shape than Clinton despite losing every primary since March 24 and limiting donors to $100 each, well below the legal limit.

Brown reported raising $324,646 in contributions in May, raising his total to $4.4 million, and finished the month with about $217,000 more in cash on hand than outstanding debts.

Bush continued his commanding fund-raising edge in May, adding another $2.08 million in donations to raise his total to $24.3 million. Candidates can legally spend about $27 million during the primary.

Bush spent $2.9 million in May and finished with $8.18 million in cash on hand, by far the most of any candidate.

Identify your eating patterns

You race out of the house in the morning -- grabbing an éclair for breakfast -- to make it to work on time. Because you don't have time for a sit-down lunch, you opt for a burger and fries to eat on the run. Then, in lieu of time constraints, for dinner you pick up a prepared, greasy chicken.

Sound familiar? The fast-paced lifestyle so many of us lead can challenge our weight-loss efforts. However, identifying our "patterns" or lifestyle rhythms can assist us in trimming our waistlines. Here are examples of different patterns and how to deal with them:

Busybody--If you like your life filled to the brim, try taking a few minutes the night before or wake up earlier to plan the day's meals and prepare a healthy brown-bag breakfast and lunch to be eaten in the car. A bagel, muffin, cheese sandwich and fruit are all good take-along items.

Layed back--time spent reading, watching television or talking on the phone can often cause us to reach for high-calorie foods without thinking. Try creating non-food related alternative activities which can be performed during leisure times. For example, work on a jigsaw puzzle while visiting on the phone or reorganizing the photo album while watching television. Use your imagination!

NOt living in the present--constantly dwelling on -- and feeling guilty about--past overeating binges doesn't accomplish anything. Neither does worrying incessantly about future events. While it's natural to glance back at unhealthy eating habits, the purpose should be learning from our mistakes. And instead of worrying about tomorrow, try planning for it.

Keep marshmallows fresh by storing them in the freezer.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Garth Brooks has obtained a court order to stop the sale of unauthorized Garth Brooks souvenirs.

A federal judge on Monday issued the injunction.

"He intends to pursue this nationwide," said the country star's lawyer, S. Ralph Gordon. "It's not the money situation, either. What he's saying is he wants his fans to get a genuine article of first-quality merchandise as opposed to being ripped off with an imitation product." "You can tell right off the difference," Gordon said. "A Garth Brooks shirt is the Cadillac T-shirt of the business, so to speak."

Dark cloud remains over Ryan

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - A dark cloud continues to hang over Nolan Ryan's season.

Tuesday night, it washed out Ryan's 14th attempt at his first victory of 1992. Ryan gave up one run on one hit in two innings before rains washed out the Toronto-Texas game.

Ryan will try again in Detroit this weekend, and if he fails to win there, the victory drought will become the longest of his 26-year major league career.

Ryan has gone 13 starts, including 11 this year, since last winning on Sept. 25, 1991 against Seattle.

Ryan said he didn't view the rainout as another jinx in a season of bad luck, which has included a stay on the disabled list and four blown saves by his bullpen that have left him stuck on career victory No. 314.

"That's just the way things have worked out," Ryan said. "You just don't let it get you down. Tomorrow's another day. ... No, I'm not going to take it out on my dog."

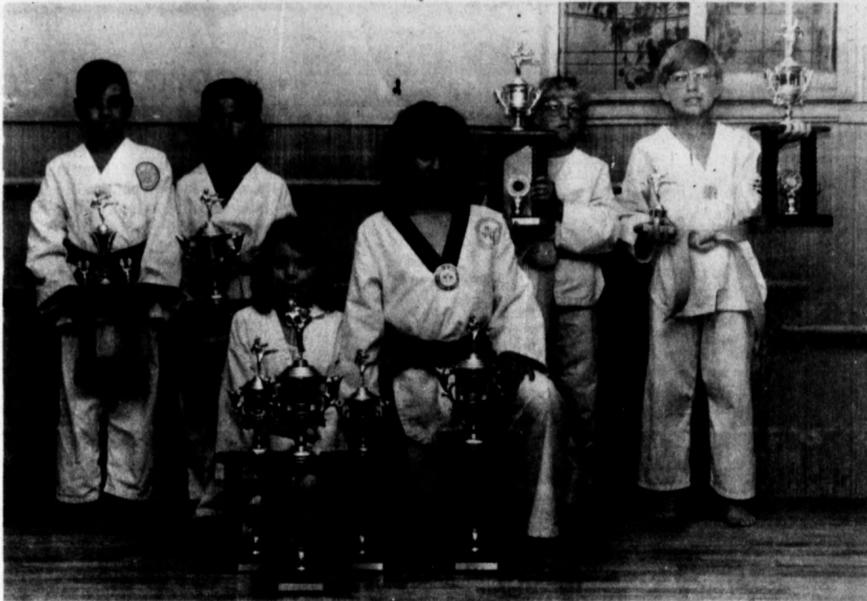

Texas manager Bobby Valentine said he would announce today whether Ryan will pitch before his next scheduled start, Sunday at Detroit.

Ryan, who threw only 30 pitches, said the earliest he could start would be Friday against the Tigers because he will go through his normal weight program today and he never pitches the day after a post-game workout.

"It shouldn't be too long. What I did today wasn't any more than a good day throwing on the side," Ryan said. "It depends on how they want to work the rotation."

The score was tied 1-1 when the Rangers came up in the bottom of the second and a massive thunderstorm sent both teams into the clubhouse and 35,000-plus fans scurrying for cover. A rainout was called 55 minutes later.

The torrential downpour that dumped several inches of rain on Arlington Stadium also washed away career strikeouts 5,571, 5,572 and 5,573 for Ryan. Also erased was Dave Winfield's first career homer off Ryan, a wind-aided shot leading off the second.

Lions' Andolsek killed by truck

THIBODAUX, La. (AP) - Detroit Lions offensive lineman Eric Andolsek, killed when a truck careened through his front yard, was remembered by a former college teammate as a big leaguer who never outgrew his south Louisiana roots.

"Here was a guy making great money in the NFL. He could have played 10 more years and he came back to Thibodaux," said Shawn Burks, a linebacker who played at Louisiana State University with Andolsek in 1984-85.

"He built his own house, he moved right next to his mom and dad, and he still had the same friends from high school, which says everything about the guy right there. He'll be missed."

Andolsek, 25, was working with a weed cutter in his front yard on Tuesday when the truck ran off a straight stretch of Louisiana Highway 1, struck him and continued 400 feet before stopping, said Sgt. Hamilton Mixon, a state police spokesman.

The vehicle was a big diesel truck cab, which was not pulling a trailer, and its driver apparently fell asleep at the wheel, Mixon said. The accident was still under investigation.

The accident happened about 1 p.m. at Andolsek's home in rural Lafourche Parish, state police said.

Hereford falls to AHS

Amarillo beat Hereford 10-5 in a West Texas League baseball game played Tuesday in Amarillo.

Amarillo scored in five of their six innings, putting together a series of bloopers and bleeders, according to Hereford coach Bill Watts, in the early innings to take a 6-0 lead. A pair of triples helped Amarillo score four more in the sixth.

Hereford scored twice in the sixth and three times in the seventh. In the sixth, Russ Watts was hit by a pitch and Jerry Rincon walked. Both moved twice on passed balls (Watts scored), and Rincon came home from third on Ruben Ramos' groundout.

In the seventh, Chris Brummett bunted for a single, stole second base and scored on Rene Cano's double. Cano scored on Watts' single, and Watts scored on yet another passed ball.

Ray Hastings started the game on the mound for Hereford and allowed four of the runs in three and two-thirds innings. Ramos relieved in the fourth and finished the game, giving up six runs.

Hereford will play in a tripleheader Saturday at O'Banion Field in Lubbock. They take on Cooper at 12:30 p.m. and Coronado at 5:30. Coronado and Cooper meet at 3.

The automatic timekeeper in boxing was used first in 1891.

Laettner or Jackson: Mavs wait for chips to fall

DALLAS (AP) - In tonight's NBA draft, the Dallas Mavericks have the fourth selection and the second-easiest decision.

Orlando will use the top pick to select Shaquille O'Neal, the 7-foot-1 All-American prize who's leaving Louisiana State after three seasons. O'Neal is considered the first franchise player available in the draft since San Antonio won the lottery in 1987 and selected Navy center David Robinson.

With the No. 2 pick, Charlotte will team Georgetown power forward Alonzo Mourning with last year's top pick, NBA Rookie of the Year Larry Johnson, to form one of the most imposing front lines in the league.

That leaves Minnesota to pick between Duke forward-center Christian Laettner or Ohio State shooting guard Jimmy Jackson. The Timberwolves are expected to take Laettner.

Either way, Dallas takes whomever Minnesota doesn't.

"Minnesota has got the cards," said Mavericks vice president Rick Sund.

Neither Laettner nor Jackson are franchise players like O'Neal or Mourning. But both are building blocks for rebuilding franchises.

Jackson is a 6-6, 220-pound guard who averaged 19.2 points in three college seasons. Like O'Neal, he enriched this year's draft by coming out of college a year early.

"Jackson makes people around him better," Sund said. "He's a director at whatever position he plays."

Sund describes Jackson as "a leader and a winner ... really understands the game ... excellent body for a guard ... great hands, good passer, good shooter ... has the versatility to play two or three positions."

Of course, if Minnesota pulls a surprise and grabs Jackson, Laettner, a 6-foot-11, 235-pounder who led Duke to back-to-back NCAA titles his last two years, would be headed to Dallas.

"He was a star of a team that made the Final Four all four years," Sund said. "He's a proven winner with a great shooting range and great toughness."

The Mavericks are expected to make their pick about 6:55 p.m. Dallas also has the No. 30 overall pick in the second round, which should be made just before 9 p.m.

The Mavericks brought in Jackson, Laettner, Southern Cal guard Harold Miner, Todd Day of Arkansas and Maryland guard Walt Williams for interviews.

Dallas was expected to battle for the Western Conference crown last year, but Roy Tarpley was banned from the NBA just before the season for violating the league's anti-drug program. Then, injuries forced the team to turn their attention toward getting young players court time, and attendance at Reunion Arena sagged.

With their hopes pinned on the future and the lottery, the Mavericks had a league-high five rookies and finished 22-60, third-worst in the NBA.

They ended the season with eight players (Terry Davis, Brian Howard, Randy White, Donald Hodge, Mike Luzzolino, Tracy Moore, Doug Smith and Brian Quinnett) 26 years old or younger.

The Mavericks had hoped to cut their five- to six-year rebuilding program in half with O'Neal, the most anticipated NBA rookie since Patrick Ewing went to the New York Knicks in 1985, the first year a lottery was held.

But they slipped to fourth in the lottery, which is nevertheless the highest pick they have had since the lottery began.

"We hope No. 4 is a continuation of what we began last winter, looking toward a future with a talent base that will be well-seasoned," Sund said.

Rockets hope to put pick with Hakeem

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich wants to get an outstanding player in the NBA draft and keep star center Hakeem Olajuwon in a Rockets uniform.

The Rockets will have the 11th pick in the first round of tonight's draft but most of the last-minute speculation involved the status of Olajuwon, who has asked to be traded following last season's squabble with the front office.

The Rockets' pick could come from a group of players that includes UCLA's Tracy Murray, Alabama's Robert Horry, Bryant Stith of Virginia and Harold Miner of Southern California.

"Generally, we're looking for a guy who could come in and be a contributor as soon as possible," Tomjanovich said. "That doesn't happen very often. Look at the last couple of No. 11 picks."

Cleveland had the No. 11 pick last year and selected Terrell Brandon of Oregon. Xavier's Tyrone Hill was the 11th pick in the first round by Golden State in 1990.

"Brandon is a good player but he hasn't broken into the starting lineup," Tomjanovich said. "But eventually those guys will be starters. That's the kind of player we're looking for and we hope the adjustment period isn't very long."

The Rockets have their highest selection since 1984 when they chose Olajuwon, who teamed with 1983 No. 1 pick Ralph Sampson to form the Twin Towers.

The Rockets missed the playoffs for the first time in nine years following last season in which coach Don Chaney was fired and Olajuwon was suspended in a contract dispute.

When Tomjanovich took over for Chaney, he installed several new wrinkles and the Rockets compiled an 11-4 record.

Naturally, Tomjanovich would like to build his team around Olajuwon, who has three years remaining on his Rockets contract.

"I felt we had a sound plan with Hakeem and Otis (Thorpe) and the way I've come up in basketball I played on a team with two 7-footers," Tomjanovich said. "I was there with Moses Malone's development and the Twin Towers situation."

"I've been around big teams. That's the way I've learned to coach. I love to exploit that and Hakeem fits right in with that philosophy."

Olajuwon was suspended by the Rockets after he refused to play despite being given medical clearance from a team doctor. Olajuwon said he could not perform because of a hamstring injury.

Rockets officials said Olajuwon was faking an injury as a contract negotiating ploy.

He hasn't talked to Olajuwon this off-season, but Tomjanovich sees nothing unusual in Olajuwon's off-season absence.

"During the season I've never had a problem," Tomjanovich said. "We put in a new system and a lot of it benefited him. I stress going inside, that doesn't just mean throwing to the big guy, it's off the dribble too."

The Rockets also have two second round picks, the 41st and 53rd overall.

240 pounds an equally talented but smaller center than O'Neal.

Christian Laettner, who played center in leading Duke to two national collegiate titles, is expected to be drafted by Minnesota after O'Neal and Mourning.

Denver, which has two picks in the first round, is believed to be deciding among power forwards Adam Keefe of Stanford, LaPhonso Ellis of Notre Dame and Tom Gugliotta of North Carolina State. All three will be available with the Nuggets' fifth pick and will be gone by the time they select again at No. 13.

Leonard Armato that he doesn't want to do that.

O'Neal, a two-time All-American who dominated opponents with 24.1 points, 14.0 rebounds and 5.2 blocked shots last season at LSU, said that reports that he wanted to play only in Los Angeles were blown out of proportion.

"I was asked that if this was a perfect society, where would I like to play and I said LA," O'Neal said. "But I'm going to be drafted by Orlando."

The Charlotte Hornets, who own the second pick, plan to take Alonzo Mourning of Georgetown, at 6-11 and

O'Neal expects to play well for Orlando

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Shaquille O'Neal has no expectations from the NBA other than playing well.

"A 7-footer shouldn't get five points and four rebounds," O'Neal said on the eve of today's NBA draft. "I don't expect 25 points every night, but I should get 15 every game and 10 or 11 rebounds. Five points and four rebounds? My mother wouldn't allow that."

O'Neal, Orlando's certain No. 1 pick in the first round, said he won't be motivated by any contract he signs with the Magic, who may have to pay him $5 million per year to sign.

"My motivation is winning and playing hard," O'Neal said. "I want to be a winner and a hard-nosed player."

O'Neal said he had no plans to hold out, although he said he wanted to be patient during contract negotiations with the Magic.

That team won just 21 of 82 games last season, presenting a challenge for O'Neal to turn the Magic into a winner.

O'Neal, who already has signed a $3 million deal with Reebok, could re-enter the draft next year if he is dissatisfied with Orlando's contract offers. But he said he told agent for acquiring a guard. But just who will be available for San Antonio at the 18th spot is difficult to say.

The Spurs also have the 44th overall pick.

The team's current starting backcourt is uncertain, with point guard Rod Strickland becoming a free agent this summer and guard Willie Anderson recuperating from surgery on both legs.

The Spurs plan to celebrate draft night with their usual draft party for fans at HemisFair Arena. It will be the first chance for many Spurs supporters to see and meet new head coach Jerry Tarkanian, who will address the crowd and answer questions from fans.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - For days the San Antonio Spurs looked like they would trade their first-round pick in today's NBA draft for Milwaukee guard Dale Ellis.

Now it looks like it's back to the draft for the Spurs.

As draft day approached, it appeared unlikely San Antonio would trade its 18th overall selection, a move that reportedly was nearly complete last weekend.

The San Antonio Light reported Tuesday the deal encountered a contract dispute. Ellis' agent told the Spurs he no longer wanted to modify Ellis' contract to fit it into an open $1 million salary slot the Spurs have, the newspaper reported.

Ellis is scheduled to make $1.35 million in the upcoming season and $1.25 million in 1993-94. He had agreed to take some of his contract's deferred money in a lump sum up front in order to fit into the pay slot. The Light reported.

"We said we weren't going to comment on it, and I'm going to stand by that," said Bob Bass, Spurs vice president of operations.

Spurs officials have said they are looking for a shooting guard, and observers say the team's draft position could prove to be a good one

Baines knocks in seven runs as A's blast M's

By The Associated Press

Mark McGwire was right in the middle of it. Still, he could hardly believe it.

"A 10-run inning? My God! That's a lot of runs," McGwire said Tuesday night after homering in the big third inning as the Oakland Athletics outslug the Seattle Mariners 12-7.

McGwire's two-run shot wasn't the biggest blow in the A's explosion. Harold Baines had a three-run homer and a two-run double in the inning, then added a two-run single in the fifth, tying his career with seven RBIs.

"I just know when Harold gets his at-bats this season, the production is going to be there," A's manager Tony La Russa said.

It certainly was against Seattle as Oakland matched its season high for runs.

"I've always thought that you create your own pressure. I like to see a guy on second base," Baines said.

The A's wasted no time putting away their ninth consecutive win over the Mariners at Oakland.

Rickey Henderson - who after the game said he wants to be traded - led off the third, the third 10-run inning in club history, with a single off starter Randy Kramer. Jerry Browne walked and Baines followed with his two-run double.

McGwire hit his 24th homer, bringing in Baines, before Terry Steinbach grounded out. Carney Lansford popped out.

Walt Weiss then walked and Mike Bordick doubled. But left fielder Dave Cochrane's made an errant throw to third for an error and brought in Weiss, giving the A's a 5-1 lead.

Kramer was replaced by Dennis Powell, who hit Lance Blankenship and walked Henderson. Browne drove in Bordick and Blankenship with a single before Baines' sixth homer of the season. McGwire struck out to end the big inning.

Twins 5, Angels 3

At Minneapolis, Pedro Munoz's bases-loaded double sparked a four-run rally in the third inning against former Twins pitcher Bert Blyleven. Scott Erickson (5-5) walked three, hit a batter and allowed seven hits in seven innings; he was helped by three double plays.

The 41-year-old Blyleven, who missed all last season after shoulder surgery and began 1992 in the minors, entered the game with a 1.67 ERA. He had allowed only two earned runs in his previous five outings.

But he gave up five hits, five runs, three walks and a run-scoring balk in the first three innings.

Orioles 7, Brewers 1

At Milwaukee, Cal Ripken continued his hot hitting with two homers.

The Orioles star, now 23 for 47 during an 11-game hitting streak, hit a solo homer in the fifth off Jaime Navarro and added a three-run shot, his 10th of the season, off James Austin in the seventh.

Jose Mesa (3-7) got his first victory since May 30, allowing only three hits over five innings. Storm Davis pitched four innings for his second save.

White Sox 7, Indians 1

At Chicago, Jack McDowell won his 10th game with an eight-hitter. McDowell (10-3) handed the Indians their fourth straight defeat. He walked three and struck out three in his fourth complete game.

Robin Ventura drove in three runs with a two-run double and a single.

Royals 2, Yankees 1

At Kansas City, Hipolito Pichardo, who had not won in his last five starts, allowed four hits in 6 1-3 innings. Rusty Meacham and Jeff Montgomery finished for Pichardo, who started the season at Class AA

Memphis and whose previous longest start was six innings. Montgomery got his 17th save.

Melido Perez (7-6) lost despite pitching a four-hitter.

Keith Miller tripled and scored on Gregg Jefferies' single in the first. George Brett doubled leading off the sixth and Jim Eisenreich was safe on second baseman Mike Gallego's throwing error. Mike MacFarlane walked to fill the bases, and Brent Mayne delivered a sacrifice fly.

Tigers 11, Red Sox 7

At Detroit, Cecil Fielder hit his fourth career grand slam, capping a seven-run fourth inning. Fielder hit it off Matt Young, the second slam Young has allowed the Tigers slugger.

Travis Fryman had four hits, scored twice and stole a base for Detroit. Mickey Tettleton and Skeeter Barnes also had home runs for Detroit, while Boston got homers from Wade Boggs and Tim Lincecum.

Braves maintain heat; Glavine gets 11th win

By The Associated Press

For the past month, Tom Glavine and the Atlanta Braves have been practically an unbeatable combination.

Glavine pitched a five-hitter and became the majors' first 11-game winner as the red-hot Braves blanked the San Francisco Giants 7-0 on Tuesday night.

It was the fifth straight win for Glavine (11-3) and the fourth consecutive victory for Atlanta. The Braves have won 20 of 23 since May 27, when Glavine began his personal winning streak.

"We're playing as well as a team can play," said Glavine, who has four shutouts and six complete games this season. "And I feel the same way about my pitching. I feel that I'm not going to give up any more than two or three runs. If I do that, we're going to win."

"We're firing on all cylinders. It makes it very hard for the other team to beat us."

Glavine needed only 83 pitches to finish off the Giants, getting eight hitters on his first pitch and eight others on two pitches.

"You can't pitch a greater ballgame," Atlanta manager Bobby Cox said. "You feel like you're going to win every time Tommy goes to the mound."

Glavine didn't walk a batter and struck out four before a crowd of 39,890, Atlanta's fifth straight sellout and team-record 20th of the season.

"We were overmatched tonight," said San Francisco manager Roger Craig, whose team has lost eight of its last 10. "Glavine pitched another great ballgame. He's come up with a heck of a changeup to go with his fastball. He's had one before, but not that good."

Deion Sanders had a two-run triple and a solo homer in Atlanta's season-high 17-hit attack.

The Braves broke the game open in the fourth, scoring four times and knocking out starter John Burkett (5-4).

Mets 4, Cubs 1

At New York, Todd Hundley hit a tiebreaking three-run homer and Pete Schourek won for the first time since being recalled from the minors.

Schourek (1-3) broke a personal seven-game losing streak, including four straight losses while pitching at Triple-A Tidewater.

Padres 8, Dodgers 4

At San Diego, hot-hitting Gary Sheffield had a three-run homer and Darrin Jackson added a solo shot and two RBIs.

Sheffield connected in the first inning for his first hit in 15 career at-bats against knuckleballer Tom Candiotti.

Dan Walters also drove in two runs off Candiotti (6-6) as the Dodgers finished an 11-game road trip with a 1-10 record. Rookie Frank Seminara (2-2) won his second straight, giving up three runs and eight hits in 6 1-3 innings.

Reds 10, Astros 6

At Cincinnati, Reggie Sanders' two-run triple capped a five-run fifth inning.

Joe Oliver and Paul O'Neill each had two-run homers in the Reds' 15-hit attack.

Tim Belcher (7-6) blew two leads but benefited from Houston's sloppy fielding in the fifth, when the Astros committed three errors and the Reds sent 10 batters to the plate.

Phillies 5, Expos 0

At Montreal, Curt Schilling (6-4) pitched a six-hitter for his second shutout in 15 days.

Schilling, acquired from Houston last February for pitcher Jason Grimsley, struck out five, walked three and worked out of two jams - one in the third, the other in the seventh.

The Phillies broke open a scoreless game with three runs in the sixth inning, two on a double by Ruben Amaro.

Pirates 6, Cardinals 4

At Pittsburgh, Orlando Merced's two-run homer broke an eighth-inning tie and Dave Clark hit a three-run shot.

Jay Bell singled and Andy Van Slyke struck out before Merced, who was homerless this season until Sunday, hit a 1-0 pitch into the right-field seats off Todd Worrell (3-3).

Winner Roger Mason (2-3) pitched two scoreless innings before Bob Patterson finished for his fourth save.

Pirates starter Victor Cole allowed just three hits and owned a 4-1 lead before leaving in the sixth following consecutive walks to Geronimo Pena and Todd Zeile. Ray Lankford then tied the game with a three-run homer off Denny Neagle.

WTC drops basketball

SNYDER, Texas (AP) - Western Texas College, which won a national championship under former coach Nolan Richardson, has dropped its men's basketball program for 1992-93.

Trustees for the junior college made the decision Monday night. Last week, head coach Kelly Green resigned to accept an assistant's position at Texas-Pan American.

Board members reserved the right to consider reinstating the program later, but said it was doubtful. The women's basketball program, men's golf and rodeo will continue.

In addition to Green's resignation, school officials also said budget considerations played a part in the move.

Western won its second national title in 1980 when the Westerners went 33-0 under Richardson, who now coaches the Arkansas Razorbacks.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 72-year-old lady and in fairly good health. For better than two months, I have had a constant noise in my head that resembles a locust singing in hot weather. I have not had a problem with headaches, just a pounding in my head when I bend over to pick up something from the floor. The only medication I take is Questran powder to control my cholesterol problem. What causes this constant noise?

DEAR READER: There are many causes for ear or head noises, called tinnitus. Individuals who have such complaints need an examination by an ear specialist. Rarely, they can be caused by a tumor (acoustic neuroma) in the brain where the hearing nerve enters the brain itself. Or the noise may be associated with an inflammation of the eardrum or various causes for hearing loss.

In your case, I would wonder if it is related to changes in your arteries because of your age and the need to take Questran to control your cholesterol levels.

Sometimes, various medicines people take will cause it, such as aspirin and the quinine group used to treat heart irregularities. Or it can be as simple as having an ear plugged with wax.

Read about the causes of tinnitus and what can be done in Special Report 112, Ear Noises (Tinnitus), which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/112, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

Treatment depends on the cause. Improving a person's hearing with a hearing aid will help sometimes. If your hearing is not good, you may be more aware of sounds created by circulation to the brain. If it is a tumor, the tumor must be removed.

If it is wax in the ear, the wax must be removed. Often the cause is not identified. Xanax may help in these cases. There are also tinnitus maskers which provide a constant input of noise and mask the ear noise so you are unaware of it.

Tips for easy transition

- Here's a check list of "going away things" you may need in a new life, a new dorm and a shared bathroom:
- Check out the new "bed in a bag" from major department stores. You get a coordinated pillow case, comforter, dust ruffle and fitted sheet all packed in a bag ready to make your bed a little friendlier.
- Take a laundry bag for all that dirty stuff.
- Take stamps, envelopes and stationery so you can keep in touch.
- You'll probably have to share a bathroom so tote all your shampoos, conditioners and soaps in a shower bucket.
- Keep all your makeup and accessories organized.
- Finally, take some family photos as well as your favorite posters-you don't want to get too homesick-and don't forget your address book and a camera.

the chapter was Beverly Brooke and Courtney Brooke was seated as worthy patron.

Reynolds competes well in Olympic trials

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - After the broken-field running Butch Reynolds had to do to get to the U.S. Olympic track trials, his smooth, long-legged glide through the 400 meters seemed easy.

Reynolds, who needed an order from the U.S. Supreme Court to compete in the trials, flew past his competitors in both the qualifying and quarterfinal heats on Tuesday.

Reynolds, the world record-holder in the 400 meters, ran in the first heat of the quarterfinals. Running in lane five, Reynolds, moved strongly and battled Darnell Hall through the last curve before pulling away easily in the stretch to finish eight yards ahead of Hall, winning in 44.68.

"Darnell Hall came off the curve even with me and looked like he was trying to surprise me a little bit by coming up very fast," Reynolds said. "Coach Brooks Johnson told me I ran the last 100 in 11.3 after doing it in 11.8 earlier today."

Hall was second in 45.39 and Derek Mills was third in 45.61, Frankie Atwater was fourth at 45.69.

Just 1 1/2 hours earlier, Reynolds was timed in 44.58 in his qualifying heat. His times not only were the best of the day in both races, they were the seventh- and eighth-fastest in the world this year.

Reynolds, under suspension by the IAAF for alleged steroids use, fought his ban through the courts and obtained a Supreme Court order requiring The Athletics Congress, governing body for American track and field, to let him run in the event that selects the U.S. Olympic team.

Tuesday was originally scheduled to be an off day, but was used for the two 400-meter races after the IAAF issued a statement waiving the "contamination rule" so athletes competing against Reynolds would not face sanctions.

"It's taking a toll on him mentally. Of course it is," said Brad Hunt, Reynolds' agent. "I'm just surprised at how little a toll it's taken."

Jeff Reynolds, Butch's younger brother, barely qualified for the second round with a time of 46.09. He did not advance to the semifinals, finishing fifth in his heat. Only the top four advanced.

Danny Everett won the second heat in 45.01, followed by Andrew Valmon in 45.18, Deon Minor in 45.77 and Aaron Payne in 46.10.

The field will be cut to eight after a semifinal heat today. The finals are scheduled for Friday evening.

Reynolds was suspended in August 1990 for two years after allegedly testing positive for steroids. He says he is innocent and that his court victories prove it. He has filed a $12.5 million damage suit against TAC and the IAAF.

He won a Supreme Court ruling last week that allowed him to compete in the trials despite the IAAF's insistence he won't be allowed to run in the Olympic Games in Barcelona, which begin next month.

"Regardless of the athlete Reynolds' eventual placing in the U.S. Olympic trials, he will, in no way, be eligible to compete in the Olympic Games in Barcelona in as much as this event takes place before his suspension period expires," Tuesday's IAAF statement said.

Hunt pointed out that the IAAF had said Reynolds would not run at the trials, either.

The IAAF called on the U.S. Olympic Committee and TAC, U.S. track's governing body, to petition the United States government to legislate to "prevent civil courts from acting in the matters of amateur sports activities."

Reynolds' suspension expires three days after the end of the Olympics on Aug. 9.

Reynolds won his first victory in his 21-month fight after TAC's Athletes Advisory Committee investigated the testing procedure that resulted in the suspension and found numerous irregularities.

Unknown pockets Chang

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Guitar-playing buddies by night, racket-toting opponents by day.

Former Wimbledon champions John McEnroe and Pat Cash, who have jammed together in a rock 'n' roll band, won first-round matches Tuesday and will meet across the net in the next round.

"You've just got to do it. It's just part of the game," Cash said. "Sometimes it's easier to do that because you are friends. At least you know if you don't win, your friend is going to win."

While McEnroe and Cash are unseeded this year, the first two days of the tournament have been kind to the seeds. Michael Chang is the only seed who was defeated Monday or Tuesday.

The seventh-seeded Chang, whose baseline game is not suited to grass courts, lost 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 on Tuesday to Jeremy Bates, a Briton ranked 113th in the world.

But for the other seeds, Tuesday was like a sunny stroll on the grass - well, partly sunny. After a bone-dry Monday, there was a late drizzle

Tuesday evening that suspended play for the night.

Defending women's champion Steffi Graf, nine-time champion Martina Navratilova and third seed Gabriela Sabatini had little trouble advancing.

Graf, the second seed this year, swept to a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Noelle van Lottum and Sabatini was a 6-1, 6-1 winner against Christelle Fauche. Navratilova, seeded fourth, won 6-2, 6-2 over Magdalena Maleeva.

Sixth-seeded Jennifer Capriati had to work harder to complete a 6-0, 7-5 victory over Chanda Rubin in a battle of American 16-year-olds.

Other women reaching the second round included No. 7 seed Mary Joe Fernandez, eighth-seeded Conchita Martinez, 11th-seeded Jana Novotna, 13th-seeded Zina Garrison, No. 15 Kimiko Date and No. 16 Judith Wiesner.

Ninth-seeded Manuela Maleeva-Fragniere had won the first set against Nicole Muns-Jagerman when play was suspended.

The victorious men's seeds were

No. 9 Guy Forget, No. 11 Richard Krajicek and No. 16 David Wheaton. Andre Agassi, the 12th seed, was trailing Andrei Chesnokov 7-5, 1-6, 2-1 when play was suspended.

McEnroe and Cash admit they have little chance of winning Wimbledon this year, but remain dangerous on grass.

McEnroe, a three-time Wimbledon champion, defeated Luiz Mattar 5-7, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3, settling down after a first set in which he committed five double faults.

Cash, the 1987 champion, won 6-4, 6-4, 7-6 (7-3) against Jacco Eltingh.

"I don't feel like a legitimate title contender. I'm down the list of guys," McEnroe said. "But because of the experience I've had and the fact that I've won, you can't totally discount me. And if two or three guys break their legs and if someone gets struck by lightning ..."

Cash has fallen to 191st in the world rankings after playing infrequently this year, but McEnroe won't be taking him lightly.

Public invited to cowboy gathering

Visitors can get a taste of "living history" when authentic chuck wagons come in for the Red Steagall Cowboy Gathering at Lake Meredith June 27 and 28.

The cook-off for the ten or twelve wagons will carry over $2,000 in prize money—but the public will be the real beneficiary when eating the meat, beans, tators, bread and dessert prepared according to each cooking team's personal recipes.

Guests will also be entertained with authentic cowboy poetry and music during the two hour dinner period Saturday evening, 6 to 8, for the prize of their meal ticket.

The chuck wagon is believed to have originated after the Civil War in the late 1860's when the West was being settled. Charlie Goodnight fitted an ex-Army wagon with a chuck box and cooking equipment, giving birth to the cowboy's summer 'home.'

The cook on the chuck wagon was paid twice as much per month as the ranch hands. He certainly earned it. He was up about 3 a.m. with kerosene lantern cooking breakfast for the crew.

After breakfast the boss would tell him where he should have the wagon for dinner...dinner was at noon, supper in the evening. The cook would pack up everything, hitch up the team, drive to the next camp area and prepare dinner and supper for the men.

Sometimes he had to change camp twice in a day, or sometime they camped several days in one place, depending on how many calves had to be branded and the work to be done.

The crews numbered 8 to 15 men to each chuck wagon. The spring branding and moving herds in May ran until November when cattle were driven to the railroad for shipping. The ranch hands lived, slept and ate in the open all this time. Needless to say, the outfit that had the best cook usually got the top hands.

All social activity in a row camp centered around the wagon. After supper as the stars came out, the hands sat or lounged around the campfire telling their stories and singing their songs about the cowboy way of life.

The public is invited to take a trip back in time as modern chuck wagon cooks prepare the same kind of grub served to the cowboys 100 years ago. You will be entertained with the poetry and music of the Old West during dinner.

Later Saturday evening Red Steagall and the Coleman County Cowboys will play for an outdoor dance in the same vicinity as the chuck wagons. Friday evening Red Steagall, Buck Ramsey and Curt Krigbaum will entertain at a concert in Lake Meredith amphitheater just below the chuck wagons.

Tickets for the chuck wagon meal are $10 for adults, $5 for children 6 to 12. Dance tickets are $10. Friday night concert tickets are $5.

For more information contact The Eagle Press, Box 1659, Fritch, Tx. 79036, 857-3123, or the Fritch Chamber of Commerce, 857-2458.

New officers installed

Sarah Lawson, outgoing president of Toujour Amis Study Club, installed new club officers recently. Judy Barrett, at left, will serve as president. Other officers are Trish Brown, vice president; Donna West, treasurer; Patti Brown, secretary; Lisa Formby, reporter; and Sarah Lawson, parliamentarian.

Lawson conducts installation ceremony

Members of Toujour Amis Study Club met recently in the dining room of Deaf Smith General Hospital for their annual installation ceremony conducted by Sarah Lawson, outgoing president.

Using a "Wagon Train" theme, Lawson installed Judy Barrett as wagon master/president. Other members of the wagon train are Trish Brown, vice president; Patti Brown, secretary; Donna West, treasurer; Lisa Formby, reporter; and Cathy Carthel, historian. Lawson will serve as parliamentarian. Each officer was presented a gift representative of their office and their role on the wagon train.

Lisa Formby served dessert to the following members: Judy Barrett, Cindy Black, Patti Brown, Trish Brown, Kim Buckley, Tami Charest, Shannon Hagar, Sarah Lawson, Leisa Lewis, Kyla McDowell, Kim Porter, Becky Reinart and Donna West.

Adding water to beaten eggs, rather than milk, will make for a more tender omelet.

Love those living air purifiers

Want to breathe easier at home and in the office? The Plants For Clean Air Council says philodendron, ficus, spider plants and others effectively combat "sick building syndrome" by removing airborne pollutants indoors.

The Council bases its claim on a 2-year study by Dr. B.C. Wolverton at The National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA). Wolverton says 15 to 20 such plants in a room "should do the work of a high-efficiency home air filter." He cautions that to be effective plants must be clean, healthy and actively growing. Here are some tips.

-Check to see if the plant has become rootbound or if the soil is compacted. Repot, if necessary, using a lightweight, soilless potting mix.

-Remove any dead or diseased foliage and clean the remaining leaves using warm, soapy water or a non-clogging, professional leaf cleaning product.

-When you water, water deeply; then allow soil surface to dry out before watering again.

-Feed regularly (early spring through late fall) with liquid houseplant food or plant food spies. Dr. Wolverton used Miracle-Gro in his experiments.

-Provide lots of light, but not strong sun.

-Now take a deep breath...ahhhh!

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) - Dan Quayle's son Tucker enters Lehigh University in the fall.

The teen-ager, a lacrosse player, is among 1,050 incoming freshmen, admissions director Patricia Boig said Monday. Freshmen must live on campus and eat in the school cafeterias. They cannot have cars on campus, she said.

The vice president's elder son plans to study engineering.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I saw a news story on TV that said residents of a "nice" neighborhood had discovered an hours-old baby in their driveway, wrapped in a duffel bag. Next to the infant was a note saying, "I'm sorry. I'm only 14 years old."

Ann, I want that young girl to know that I'm sorry, too. Her baby was another missed opportunity for my husband and me and others like us. Why don't these girls realize that it costs a birth mother nothing to place her child with an adoption agency? If she tells her minister or school counselor that she can't keep her child, she can be assured of help in finding it a loving home.

Three years ago, my husband and I decided to have a family. We assumed that we would have no trouble. We were wrong.

We tried for 10 months and then went to a fertility specialist. We worked with her for another nine months without success and were then referred to a reproductive endocrinologist.

My husband has tested "normal" since the beginning. I have been poked, prodded, pushed and probed, have had injections and laser treatment, and was finally told I had endometriosis and oocyte ovarian disease.

Now we've been informed that my insurance will no longer cover infertility treatment, diagnosis or drugs. The next step is a drug that will cost $8,000 with only a 45 percent chance of success.

To the 14-year-old girl who wrapped her child in the duffel bag: Someone will want and need your newborn. To the others who might do something like this: Please don't jeopardize the health of your baby by not placing it directly into the hands

NEW YORK (AP) - Ringo Starr says he has come up with an album he can be proud of - finally.

In the July 9 issue of Rolling Stone magazine, the 51-year-old drummer said that during his post-Beatle drinking days, he was content to exist as a "celebrity" rather than a musician.

"I'd be at movie premieres in London with my bow tie on and a bottle of cognac in my pocket, mixed with some Coca-Cola so people would think it was just soda. It got really sad," he said. "Someone in England put it so cruelly. They said, 'If there's an opening of an envelope, he'll be there.' That hit me."

Starr has since undergone rehabilitation for a drug and alcohol problem, and he called his new album, "Time Takes Time," a "beautiful piece of work."

"I've done something I can be proud of - finally, you know - and I'm going to give it my best shot," he said.

To keep food from sticking, add the oil or butter to a hot, not cold, pan.

of people who will help you and know how to contact couples like us.

I'm sorry about the circumstances that led that girl to give up her child and equally sorry that I can't have that baby.--Infertile in indianapolis

DEAR INDIANAPOLIS: Thanks for a letter that could change lives. For those who need help with infertility, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Resolve, Inc., 1310 Broadway, Dept. G.M., Somerville, Mass. 02144-1731.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell us, what is a dysfunctional family? My husband and I have been married 37 years and raised four children. I thought we did a good job.

We did without many extras so our children's needs would be met. They had good clothes, new shoes, doctor and dental appointments and plenty of good books, along with a library card. We had a large portable pool in our yard so we always knew they were within arm's reach, playing with the neighborhood children.

We didn't coddle our kids--they had chores to do and we saw that they did them. We were firm but loving parents, attended PTA meetings and took part in all their activities--scouting, Little League, etc. My husband and I never argued in front of the kids and tried hard to be good role models for them.

Now my son's counselor tells me he is overweight because he came from a dysfunctional family. What did we do wrong?--Hurt Parents in Providence, R.I.

DEAR PARENTS: Probably nothing. "Dysfunctional" is one of those buzzwords that happens to be in vogue at the moment. Telling people their parents damaged them serves no useful purpose. Placing the blame is always counterproductive. I hope that counselor sees this.

Gem of the Day: Keep your mind clean. Change it occasionally.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's Wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Be on allergy alert

While most people associate allergies with the hayfever and sneezing brought on by plants such as ragweed, severe allergic reactions to insect bites and stings, food, exercise and medication occur frequently and, in some cases, become fatal.

These severe reactions, known as anaphylaxis, are brought on in susceptible people by exposure to an allergy-causing substance. For some people, the body can become a time bomb waiting for the next exposure to trigger an explosion.

"Anaphylaxis is most common in the spring and summer when insects are out in full force," says Dr. Susan Wynn, allergist, Fort Worth Allergy and Asthma Associates. "An estimated one to two million people in the U.S. are severely allergic to insect bites, resulting in between 40 and 100 deaths each year."

Know the Symptoms

The symptoms of anaphylaxis are itching of the skin and raised rash (hives) progressing to:

- flushing, swelling of the tissues of the lips, throat, tongue, hands and feet
- wheezing, shortness of breath, coughing, hoarseness
- headache
- nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps
- sense of impending doom, loss of consciousness

First Aid Made Easy

Because death can occur within minutes rapid, severe responses require immediate attention and should be treated as medical emergencies.

Those with known life-threatening allergies should consult a physician about the drug epinephrine, the medication of choice for treating anaphylaxis.

Hope offered to childless couples

Childless couples who have tried for years to start a family may benefit from a new test developed by doctors at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Microsperm penetration assay (micro-SPA) is a modified version of the standard test that measures sperm quality in men with low sperm counts.

"The micro-SPA is a valuable diagnostic tool for assessing the sperm's health," said Dr. Larry Lipshultz, a professor of urology at Baylor. "It is a reliable test that may help us better understand the man's role in infertility."

One out of six American couples are infertile, many of whom have no history of reproductive disorders. In half of these cases, the problem is attributed to male infertility.

In the micro-SPA, hamster eggs are paired with the patient's sperm in a specially designed test tube. Results are based on the number of sperm that penetrates each egg. Lipshultz says unlike other routine fertility tests, the micro-SPA provides doctors with useful clues on sperm function.

"For example, a semen analysis will only tell you the number and movement of sperm, but not if the sperm are capable of fertilization," he said.

Surgery or mediation is usually the next step in improving sperm quality and its ability to travel from the testis to the egg.

However, if surgical and medical treatment are ineffective, assisted reproductive techniques, such as placing sperm into the uterus, can be an alternative. Although these new treatments can be beneficial, they can be time-consuming and costly.

"The micro-SPA helps us determine if the sperm is capable of in vitro fertilization," Lipshultz said. "Couples who take the micro-SPA before entering an in vitro fertilization program may save themselves unnecessary anxiety, time and money."

Although Lipshultz says no fertility test is 100 percent successful, the SPA's predictions are fairly accurate.

In many cases, it is just a matter of time.

"It takes some perfectly healthy, young couples under age 30, six months to a year to get pregnant," he said. "If a man or woman has had surgery or injury to the reproductive tract or suspects a problem, they should get an early check-up from their urologist and gynecologist respectively."

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) - Whoopi Goldberg has issued a videotaped appeal for help in finding a newborn kidnapped from a hospital.

The baby, identified by police only as Baby Kerri, was snatched from Alta Bates Medical Center on June 12. A woman posing as a county relief worker persuaded the child's 16-year-old mother to give her the 2-day-old baby.

"At this moment, the woman who took Baby Kerri is probably visiting with friends, neighbors and relatives, telling them about her new baby. You may even be living with this woman," Goldberg said in the public service announcement.

"If you know, or just suspect, that the infant recently brought into your home or neighborhood is Baby Kerri, please - show your humanity and help us return Kerri to her real family."

The comedian is in the area to shoot the movie "Made in America."

NEW YORK (AP) - Geena Davis, who helped define the female "buddy movie" in "Thelma & Louise," says she never got to be Madonna's pal while making "A League of Their Own."

"We never got close. I mean, you know, she's had a different life than the rest of us," Davis said in the upcoming issue of USA Weekend.

The film, which comes out this week, is about a women's professional baseball league that was organized during World War II.

Davis plays a dairy worker who becomes a star catcher.

The North American F-100 Super Sabre, a U.S. fighter plane, flew for the first time in 1953 and became the first jet plane to reach supersonic speeds in level flight.

Youths place at state round-up

Deaf Smith County 4-H members, Cady Auckerman, at left, and Karon Harder, placed third in Horticulture Preparation and Use at the recent 4-H State Round-Up.

4-H'ers win at state

Deaf Smith County 4-H'ers participated in competition at State 4-H Round-Up June 9-12.

Two Deaf Smith County teams placed in the top three slot in their respective divisions. Kinann Campbell and Lee Harder placed third in clothing educational event and Cady Auckerman and Karon Harder in horticulture preparation and use.

Karon Harder placed fourth in the State Food Show in the fruit and vegetable category.

Jim Bret Campbell was awarded 10th place in Reasons on Livestock Judging and Don Metcalf placed 14th in overall individual standings in the Dairy Judging Contest.

The 4-H'ers participating included Jennifer Hicks serving on State 4-H Council; Wade Johnson and Trey Skiles in Dairy Judging; Jeffery and Michael Carlson and Lori Urbanczyk in Livestock Judging.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Egg whites can be frozen for up to a year.

Advice on lock, alarms

A growing number of Americans are installing electronic locks and alarm systems in their homes. Among the systems available are card readers, which replace keys with credit card-sized cards. There are also systems that use keypads, which let you code a set of digits that will unlock the door.

Alarm systems generally fall into two categories.

-Security systems that automatically notify the authorities of an emergency. This generally requires the services of a central alarm station company which monitors your alarm system and calls the police in an emergency.

-Alarm systems that set off lights or sirens, but do not automatically notify the authorities.

According to the Associated Locksmiths of America, the trade association for locksmiths, most alarm systems can also be used as medical alert systems for the elderly and handicapped to alert authorities to medical emergencies. Many say the best way to choose the right system is to seek advice from a professional locksmith, particularly one who displays the ALOA symbol in his or her store. A professional locksmith will usually survey your home and discuss your needs before making recommendations.

About 16 percent of American workers are union members.
