Stribling switches parties to GOP

By GEORGIA TYLER Staff Writer

In a surprising move, the incumbent Deaf Smith County Precinct 1 commissioner, John Stribling, has filed as a Republican candidate in a special primary election to be held in September.

Stribling was the winner of the Democratic primary election last March, but results of that election were declared invalid by a federal court panel of judges.

The challenger in the March primary for the county commission seat, Tony Castillo, will be a Democratic candidate in the special election on Sept. 19.

Stribling's decision to switch from Democratic to Republican came after he "thought about it a lot and discussed it with a lot of people," he said Thursday morning.

"I think we'll get a better turnout in the general election, too," said the incumbent commissioner. "I think it's the fairest way for the voters."

Although there have been other Republican candidates for Deaf Smith County offices, no Republican has ever been elected, Stribling said.

Deadline for candidates to file for a place on primary ballots is 6 p.m. Friday.

If no other candidates file on either party ticket, the general election on Nov. 3 will be a repeat of last spring's contest.

In that election, Stribling won by a narrow margin over Castillo, 329 votes to 288.

However, a lawsuit, Trini Gamez vs. Deaf Smith County, was filed after the election, claiming the election was illegal because precinct boundary lines, redrawn by law after the 1990 U.S. Census, were not precleared by the U.S. Justice Department.

In mid-summer, a settlement of the lawsuit was reached and approved by a panel of three federal judges. In accordance with the agreement, areas of Precinct 1 and Precinct 2 were switched, a move that raised the percentage of Hispanic residents in Precinct 1.

The federal panel ordered a new primary election to be held to choose political party candidates for the commissioner's post.

Stribling's change of political identification for the election was addressed specifically in an amendment to the original order by the federal judge panel.

Judge Mary Lou Robinson ruled early this month that neither candidates nor voters would have to participate in the same primary in which they ran, or voted, in March.

There were no Republican contests at the local level in March but presidential primary voting attracted some GOP voters.

Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland, voter registrar, reported that approximately 1,640 persons are eligible to cast ballots in the primaries.

Applications for places on ballots for the primaries must be filed with county party chairmen. Roddy Allred accepts Democratic applications and Republicans file with Fran Tooley.

Early voting for the Sept. 19 primary elections will begin on Sept. 9. A runoff, if needed, will be held on Oct. 3.

Girl's body found in rural field

A body believed to be that of a five-year-old girl from Earth was found Wednesday evening northwest of Earth.

The remains are thought to be those of Shawnlee Perry, who has been missing since May 7. Positive identification will probably be made today.

Officials from Earth this morning sent out a cancellation of the "attempt to locate" bulletin that was sent nationwide on May 7-8. Fliers with the girl's picture have been posted on windows of stores across the region since May 8.

The body was found about 5:35 p.m. Wednesday two miles north and three miles west of Earth. A man cutting grass in the area found the body among grass and weeds about five feet tall.

The girl has been missing since the evening of May 7 when she was playing near her home. A huge search including law enforcement officers and volunteers from Lamb, Bailey and other area counties conducted a sweeping search of Earth. A tracking dog picked up the girl's scent around her home and neighboring areas, but was not able to pick up the scent anywhere else. Authorities searched every house and building in Earth and in the area around the town of 1,200.

Shawnlee's disappearance was featured on "America's Most Wanted" on May 15. The search was stalled in June when heavy rains of over 10 inches in the area made many areas unreachable.

US begins no-fly-zone effort

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. warplanes are in the air and ready to enforce President Bush's ban on Iraqi civilian and military flights over southern Iraq in defense of the region's oppressed Shiites, Pentagon officials say.

Bush's deadline of 9:15 a.m. CDT today was dusk in Iraq.

U.S. surveillance planes and their fighter escorts would then be free to cross Iraq's borders south of the 32nd parallel to pinpoint the movements of Saddam Hussein's ground and air forces, Pentagon officials said.

"No Iraqi aircraft, either fixed-wing or rotary-wing, military or civilian, will be allowed to fly south of the 32nd parallel," Pentagon spokesman Bob Hall said Wednesday.

"We will respond appropriately and decisively to any Iraqi failure to comply with this requirement or with any other interference in our air operations," Hall added.

Pentagon sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said they fully expect Saddam's forces to test U.S. and allied resolve with possible "cat and mouse" ploys, perhaps by flying aircraft just over or quite near the border of the "no-fly zone."

In advance of Bush's announcement, the Iraqis moved all rotary and jet aircraft out of the southern region but put some of their top-of-the-line Mirage jets just north of the 32nd parallel, one defense official said.

U.S. combat pilots have been given "a certain flexibility" in deciding whether to pursue the Iraqis. But they will go after any aircraft acting aggressively, the official said.

"We know we won't catch everything. But we're not going to be stupid about it," he said.

Shortly after Bush made his announcement, Iraq said it would not abide by the order. It proposed setting up a "wisemen committee" to investigate conditions in Iraq's south for Shiite Muslims, whom Western governments contend have been brutally repressed by Saddam.

Bush said his ban was authorized under U.N. Security Council Resolution 688, which demands an end to Saddam's repression of civilians.

Apparently attempting to blunt criticisms that he was motivated by personal political interests, the president said the allies agreed to act in response to "new evidence of harsh repression" by Saddam against the Shiites.

Perry, Stenholm tout pact

LUBBOCK (AP) - Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry calls it the biggest domestic job program since World War II.

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm says it's the answer to sluggish farm prices.

Both men touted the North American Free Trade Agreement Wednesday while speaking to 1,600 members of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee convention.

"We have to have access to foreign markets," said Stenholm, D-Stamford. "It needs to be a fair and level access. If it is we will do well. If it's not, we have bigger problems than we have seen in the past."

Bill and Al's Texas adventure

Bus tour comes to San Antonio, East and Central Texas

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Bill Clinton and running mate Al Gore today are embarking on a bus tour through Central and East Texas that Democrats say is aimed at forcing President Bush to defend his home base.

"If you can challenge him there, then you've got an election being fought on our terms - on Democratic terms," said Clinton senior adviser Henry Cisneros, the former mayor of San Antonio.

The two-day tour was starting with a San Antonio River rally, then heading northeast through Austin, Waco, Corsicana, Athens and Tyler.

"Every stop is laden with political significance," Cisneros said.

The Clinton campaign considers the state's southern and eastern areas crucial: South Texas with its predominantly Hispanic, Democratic voters and East Texas with its traditional base of "yellow dog Democrats."

"Those two areas will probably be the two parts of Texas that will decide the election," said Texas campaign spokesman Craig Sutherland.

Cisneros said he expects Clinton to visit other parts of South Texas this fall to secure Hispanic voters' support.

Sutherland said the Republicans have declared East Texas "the battlefield of Texas."

San Antonio attorney Roy Barrera Jr., a co-chairman of the Bush-Quayle campaign in Texas, agreed East Texas will be hotly contested. While Republicans view Dallas, North Texas, West Texas and Central Texas as Bush strongholds, he said, the eastern region is a political war zone.

"I think East Texas clearly is going to be a bloody field of get-out-the-vote phone banking on both the Democrat and Republican sides," Barrera said. "We're not going to abdicate any region to the Democrats."

Clinton's Texas supporters expect their candidate to stress his economic proposals, including a tax cut for the middle class, to his Texas audiences.

"We're going into the heart of Texas and talk about how we're going to create jobs and get this economy moving again," said Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, Clinton's Texas chairman.

After San Antonio, Clinton, Gore, their wives and key Texas Democrats were attending an Austin rally and commemoration of Lyndon B. Johnson's birthday, then planned to head to Waco.

Friday's schedule includes another Waco stop, then visits to Corsicana, Athens and Tyler.

The Republicans say they don't intend to let Clinton capture all the public's attention this week.

Victory '92, the Texas GOP's campaign arm, has announced its chairman, Rob Mosbacher, presidential assistant Clayton Yeutter and Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry will unveil a new newspaper campaign "blasting Bill Clinton while he is in the state this week."

Clinton and Gore brought the bus tour to Texas today.

Billboard is innocent

This billboard looks innocent enough, with a message saying "Hello Sugar," and a packet of sugar being spilled. However, barely visible against the white sugar are the letters "anger," which piqued the anger of a few sugar beet growers. A spokesman for Donrey Outdoor Media in Amarillo said the "anger" is actually part of "ranger," and the billboard will eventually say "Sugaranger," a new brand of sugarbeet seed.

Local Roundup

Seven arrested Wednesday

Hereford police arrested a man, 38, at Ave. H and 15th on a warrant for violation of probation; a man, 34, for public intoxication at Grand and U.S. Highway 385; and a man, 33, at Third and Lawton for violation of a court order.

Animal control officers took a rabbit into custody after the rabbit attacked a person in the 200 block of Beach. A woman told police she was trying to catch the rabbit. The rabbit apparently became upset with her efforts, charged her and bit her on the back of her left leg.

Other reports included a vehicle striking a utility pole in the alley in the 900 block of S. McKinley; criminal trespass in the 300 block of E. third; reckless driving in the 600 block of 15th; disorderly conduct in the 200 block of Ave. F and 700 block of Ave. F; and theft in the 300 block of N. 25 Mile Ave. and 600 block of E. First.

Police issued four tickets Wednesday and investigated a minor accident. Hereford firefighters were called to Third and McKinley when streams of smoke were reported in the neighborhood. It turned out a barbecue grill had gotten out of control, but was contained before firemen arrived.

Sheriff's deputies arrested four persons Wednesday, including a woman, 27, for possession of marijuana under two ounces and possession of paraphernalia; a man, 17, for forgery by passing; a woman, 17, for sale of alcohol to a minor; and a woman, 42, for violation of probation.

Dry, warmer weather

Tonight, clear and cool. Low in the mid 50s. Southwest wind 5 to 10 mph.

Friday, sunny and warmer. High in the mid 80s. South wind 10 to 15 mph.

This morning's low at KPAN was 54 after a high Wednesday of 80. KPAN recorded .76 of an inch of rain from a storm overnight. Reports ranged up to 2.5 inches three miles west of Bootleg, where hail covered the ground; and an inch in the Milo Center area. A possible tornado destroyed several buildings and downed power lines near Friona, knocking out power over a large area overnight.

State lawmakers urge delay in park closing

AUSTIN (AP) - As the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission prepared to consider a budget plan for 1993, several state lawmakers were urging the panel to hold off on closing parks until the Legislature can consider the issue.

Sen. Bill Haley said that he wants a "full hearing" by state lawmakers, who meet in regular session in January.

"Postpone it until we can come back," Haley, D-Center, told the commission.

His idea drew applause from park supporters, who filled the hearing room Wednesday and spilled out into the hallway. The crowd was estimated at 300.

Haley, D-Center, said a July 30 announcement by Parks and Wildlife Department staff that 11 parks would be closed "caught us all off-guard." State leaders had expressed concern that they weren't consulted about the proposal, and there was an outcry from communities involved.

The reaction prompted the department to revise the plan, which must be approved by the commission to take effect.

The commission was scheduled to vote today on the few proposal, which would keep open four of the 11 parks. The plan would give the other seven parks a 90-day funding extension while the staff looked at alternative ways to keep them open.

Andrew Sansom, department executive director, emphasized that even if those alternative means are not found, some access to the seven sites would be preserved. For example, school groups could visit them on a reservations-only basis, he said.

A lot depends on support communities can give toward keeping the parks in operation, said Sansom and Commission Chairman Ygnacio Garza of Brownsville. For example, Sansom said, communities could help with maintenance or give volunteer support.

The seven sites are Magoffin Home, El Paso County; Starr Family Home, Harrison County; Fort Lancaster, Crockett County; Eisenhower Birthplace, Grayson County; Cassells-Boykin, Angelina County; Confederate Reunion Grounds, Limestone County; and Old Fort Parker, Limestone County.

Operations also would be reduced or consolidated at 18 other parks.

The move would redirect $1.1 million to other park priorities, parks officials said. Sansom has said the department wants to operate in a businesslike way and offer the best service within its revenue.

The department has said the needed state park improvements can't be made without budget changes. Since 1988, it said, 12 new parks have created new costs, park visitation has increased and such costs as utilities have gone up.

Haley said that a park closure and cutbacks proposed for his area would hurt the economy of local communities that "cannot afford the loss."

"The most difficult question we have to answer is we're opening new parks while saying that it is necessary to cut," he said, to applause from the crowd.

Rep. Elton Bomer, D-Palestine, also asked the commission to consider waiting, and Rep. Billy Clemons, D-Pollock, called the idea a fair one.

"It would be devastating to our community" if Cassells-Boykin park were closed, Zavalla Mayor Opal Gant said.

Rains, flooding plague storm area

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The remnants of Hurricane Andrew drenched the South today after a rampage that left 20 dead, at least 250,000 homeless in Florida and thousands more in Louisiana unable to find out what's left of their homes.

Flooding, fallen trees and other debris on roads prevented Louisiana residents from learning the extent of the damage caused by Andrew, already the costliest natural disaster in U.S. history at more than $15 billion in Florida alone.

"There are going to be a lot of broken hearts when they see the damage that was done," said Rita Folsie, a cashier at a restaurant in New Iberia.

Earlier Wednesday, the hurricane plowed across low-lying southern Louisiana with gusts to 140 mph, spinning off tornadoes and unleashing torrential rain. New Orleans, the state's biggest city, was spared the worst of the storm.

In south-central Louisiana, Andrew ravaged houses, turned trailer homes upside down and toppled trees. "We've got no house, no money," said Margie Powell, 53, of LaPlace, whose trailer was smashed by a tornado. "I'm scratched. I'm scared. But I'm alive."

By late Wednesday, the storm had weakened into a tropical depression with winds below 38 mph and was centered over Natchez in southwestern Mississippi.

Showers and thunderstorms caused minor flooding in Mississippi and knocked out power to 35,000 homes and businesses, authorities said.

On Monday, Andrew cut a swath across South Florida, wrecking 63,000 homes and leaving 250,000 people homeless. Preliminary estimates in Dade County put the damage at $15 billion to $20 billion; the damage wasn't immediately known in Louisiana.

"Our first priority is just clearing roads of trees and getting people back home," said Lionel Oubre, spokesman for Iberia Parish Emergency Management Center.

Meanwhile, water, food and medical supplies were trucked into ravaged neighborhoods south of Miami. About 600,000 homes and businesses remained without electricity as search teams picked through ruined homes for bodies.

"The destruction from this storm goes beyond anything we have known in recent years," said President Bush, who met with evacuees Wednesday at a sports arena in Lafayette, La.

Bush said he had freed $77 million for emergency relief in Louisiana and $10 million for cleanup. Florida is slated to get $50 million, plus $10 million to hire temporary help to rebuild.

About 322,000 Louisiana homes and businesses were without power Wednesday, and at least one person was killed. At least 15 died in Florida and four in the Bahamas.

Louisiana officials said the damage could have been far worse, but the storm hit west of New Orleans, over a largely rural area of marshland and sugar cane fields.

Hundreds of people were in the dozen shelters that remained open. Some 500 people remained in the Cajun Dome in Lafayette, where Bush visited Wednesday.

In Alexandria, 350 bedridden people who were evacuated from nursing homes remained in the Rapides Parish Coliseum today.

"There's nowhere for them to go back to," said Coliseum assistant manager Ed Desselle. "The nursing homes they were in have the roofs gone, or are without electricity or they're damaged some way."

State police were called in to guard against looters in Jeanerette, about 150 miles southwest of New Orleans. About half of the city's business district was destroyed.

"You have everything from roofs off, walls destroyed to doors and windows out," Capt. Ron Jones said.

On Grand Isle, 50 miles south of New Orleans, Mayor Andy Valence told the more than 1,400 residents not to return because the storm had knocked 200 feet out of the only road to the island.

At its height, Andrew lashed Grand Isle with 85 mph winds and an 8-foot surge, burying three-quarters of the island under 3 feet of water.

But all of the island's houses, which are built on stilts, survived, Valence said.

News digest

WASHINGTON - U.S. warplanes are in the air and ready to impose President Bush's ban on civilian and military flights over southern Iraq in defense of the region's oppressed Shiites, Pentagon officials say.

BOSTON - A battery of simple blood tests can help doctors spot about half of all pregnant women who are carrying fetuses with Down syndrome, a report today indicates.

LONDON - World leaders wage a fierce verbal attack on Serbian-led Yugoslavia for its role in the Bosnian civil war and say Belgrade faces two choices: peace, or banishment from the international community.

WASHINGTON - The economy approaching the presidential election is caught in a "never-never land," teetering between recovery and recession, analysts say.

MIAMI - In one field, armed guards kept people away from boxes of military field rations. At another spot, food relief workers were harassed. Tensions rose as high as the temperature in the effort to get fresh food, clean water and shelter to the victims of Hurricane Andrew.

NEW ORLEANS - Thousands of people were unable to go home today to see whether Hurricane Andrew had spared their homes as it tore through southern Louisiana. The hurricane broke up in Mississippi, bringing to an end a rampage that killed at least 20.

Railey waives extradition to Texas

DALLAS (AP) - A Methodist church has continued to support a former minister's wife who remains in a vegetative state following a near-fatal choking attack in which her husband is now charged.

Walker Railey, former pastor of First United Methodist Church in downtown Dallas, was expected to return to the city this week after he decided not to fight extradition on an attempted murder charge.

"Numerous people from our church have continued to visit Mrs. Railey, and our choir has even sent a group to the Tyler nursing home where she is," the Rev. Dr. Hal Brady, now senior minister at First United, said Wednesday. "There have been a lot of attempts of ministry."

A fund for Peggy Railey, who remains at the Clairmont home in Tyler, totals more than $100,000, Brady said. He said a church rummage sale several years ago raised the initial money for the fund.

Brady said he wrote his congregation to be prayerful and patient as their former minister returns to Dallas. Railey Wednesday waived extradition proceedings in California after indictment in the 1987 attack.

"We know that old wounds will be rekindled, just because some of these are just below the surface," Brady said. "On the other hand, there are a number of people who have joined our church during the past five years, and they are not as close to the situation as others. But we as a church will do whatever we can to identify with our people's agony," he said.

In Los Angeles, Municipal Court Judge Elva R. Soper set a return date for Sept. 10 if Dallas police hadn't extradited him by then. Dallas County Assistant District Attorney Cecil Emerson expected Railey to return within two days.

Ms. Soper asked Railey if he realized he was giving up his right to an extradition hearing.

"I've read it, I understand it and I've signed the paperwork," Railey told the judge, wearing a grey suit and peering from behind a glass-faced cage. He was represented by a public defender.

Police, accompanied by a Dallas detective, arrested the 45-year-old Railey about 3 p.m. PDT Tuesday in his administrative offices at Immanuel Presbyterian Church in Los Angeles.

The Rev. Kenneth Heaton of Lancaster, Calif., denounced the show of police force used during Railey's arrest at the church.

Plainclothes officers from the Los Angeles Police Department's fugitive division kept watch outside the church for several hours until Dallas Police Detective Stan McNear arrived to take him to jail.

Dallas County Criminal District Judge Pat McDowell Wednesday set a $25,000 surety bail bond for Railey and imposed a gag order in the case, a spokesman said.

Railey could post just $2,500 to satisfy the surety bond, officials said.

Adams honored for perfect attendance

Dr. Milton Adams, right, was honored for 45 years of perfect attendance by the Hereford Lions Club on Wednesday. Presenting Adams with his special pin was John Brooks, boss Lion of the club. Adams is active in the local club and on the Lions Hi-Plains Eye Bank board.

SAT scores reported rising, if just slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) - Scholastic Aptitude Test scores for high school seniors were up marginally this year for the first time since 1985, leaving some educators heartened but others unconvinced that the nation's academic slide is ending.

The College Board reported Wednesday that average SAT scores rose 2 points to 476 in math, and 1 point to 423 in verbal skills, compared to last year's results. The two-part test, though not universal, is administered throughout the nation, primarily to high school seniors interested in pursuing higher education.

A perfect score in each part is 800. "One or two points may not seem like much, but each point is meaningful on a test taken by more than a million students who represent roughly two-thirds of all entering college freshmen," said Donald M. Stewart, president of the New York-based testing agency. "We hope we are beginning to see a trend, upward."

In math, the 1992 average was still 17 points behind the 1969 mark of 493.

Women's scores rose one point this year in verbal skills, to 419, and three points in math, to 456. Men's scores rose two points in each, to 428 and 499, respectively.

The last year in which both verbal and math scores rose was in 1985, when the verbal score went up from 426 to 431 and the math rose from 471 to 475. Scores were unchanged in 1986.

Both sections of the multiple choice exam are scored on a scale of 200-800, with a combined 1600 being the highest. There is a 30-point margin of error.

The latest report showed that the number of minority test takers rose to 29 percent, almost double the 15 percent in 1976, when the College Board began an accounting by ethnic group. Since 1976, the mean scores of black students rose 20 points on the verbal sections and 31 points on the math sections, while the mean scores of whites fell 9 points on verbal and 2 on math.

The SAT is designed to help predict the college academic potential of secondary students.

4-H bake show participants

Four local 4-H'ers advance in show

Four Deaf Smith County 4-Hers-Lori Urbanczyk, Karon Harder, Ashley Bridge and Amber Vasek will advance to the District 4-H Better Bake Show on September 21st at the Tri State Fair in Amarillo.

The contest is co-sponsored annually by the Tri-State Fair and Texas Wheat Producers in Amarillo, Arrowhead Mills of Hereford and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The 4-Hers who advance to the district contest won first place honors in the Deaf Smith County Bake Show on Monday, September 17th. The purpose of the contest is to promote the use of wheat which is one of the Panhandle's leading agricultural products.

In the baked product division, the 4-Her prepares a product using a minimum ratio of 1/3 total whole wheat to white flour. The emphasis is on the nutritional value of the recipe chosen, the taste, texture and appearance of the product.

Lori Urbanczyk will represent the county with a Cinnamon Roll recipe utilizing whole wheat flour and Ashley Bridge will represent the county with Lemon Muffins. Project record forms are also entered at the District level. Karon Harder will represent the county at District level and Amber Vasek will also represent the county at District level. Records are scored on the basis of goals set, knowledge learned, educational activities, leadership, citizenship and community service, awards and a summary of the bake show activities.

Alternate winners are Cady Auckerman in Senior product and Betsy Weaver in Junior product. Erin Auckerman and Cady Auckerman will be alternates in the junior and senior record entries.

Other junior entries included Kylee Auckerman, Brent Carlson, Staci Betzen, Anne Weaver, Bryan Vasek and Jaime Steiert.

Special appreciation was expressed to Ford Extension Homemakers Club and Westway Extension Homemakers Club for winner and participant prizes; Jaime Broman and Jo Bidwell for judging; Shirley Carlson for organizing and implementing the Bake Show; and 4-H Parent Leaders Association for their support and providing ribbons. Nosy sister-in-law told to MYOB

DEAR READERS: I am on vacation, but I have left behind some of my favorite columns that you may have missed the first time around. I hope you enjoy them.--Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My youngest brother, "Dennis," waited until he was 38 years of age to marry and then he selected a woman who has a master's degree but doesn't know enough not to put a wet towel on a mahogany table.

I can't stand to see the way his "brilliant" wife cooks and keeps house. She boils the vegetables until they are mushy. When she serves steaks they are either burnt to a crisp or bleeding.

Dennis lived with me until he married. Every shirt I ironed looked like it was brand new. Now he wears the same shirt for three days in a row and he looks like a tramp. His wife probably never heard of a needle and thread. Last night when they came here for dinner, Dennis' cuff was pinned together--no button.

Should I offer to teach the women few things? My dear brother never utters one word of complaint. He is so in love he's unconscious. What is your advice, Ann? I'll do as you say.--A Sad Sister

DEAR SIS: MYOB, dearie. If Dennis is happy the way things are, that's all that matters.

Your offer to help may be interpreted as criticism or worse yet, interference. It might even make you persona non grata--which means "plenty unwelcome" as the woman with the master's degree will explain.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll cut the gobbledgeook and get to the problem. I'm 54 and married, and I own my own business. I have good insight into my problems (booze is No. 1) and am well aware that the tyranny of a ruthless father damaged me emotionally at an early age.

A very pretty 23-year-old woman works in my office. "Lois" is unmarried but confided that she had a "heavenly affair" with a fast-talking chap who promised marriage, then scrambled. She lives at home with a timid mouse of a mother and a punitive, domineering father (like mine). He has filled Lois with the fear of hellfire and damnation since he learned of her affair (by accident) and refuses to let her forget it.

You may not believe this, Ann, but I see the same pressures building up in this girl's life that ruined mine. My primary concern is to help Lois become a well-adjusted person. She is a normal woman who needs a normal outlet. I must admit that I would benefit from a romantic liaison also, since my wife is a bit of a bore and complains of recurring back trouble.

I am writing to you because I think you are a practical and realistic person who will give me some up-to-date advice. A letter (or even a Confidential at the end of your column) saying, "OK, bub, would help a lot. Thank you--Synergistic Male In Houston

DEAR SYN: Mighty generous of you to want to help the girl out, but an affair with a married alcoholic (old enough to be her father, yet) is not my idea of "a normal outlet." All I can see is more trouble--for HER.

Lois needs the courage to break away from her family. If you REALLY want to help, urge her to get some counseling.

Netters have numbers back

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford High School tennis team has 14 players back from last year's squad, and that has coach Natalie Sims excited.

"I'm excited to have 14 of 20 players returning to varsity," she said. "Borger lost some of their important people—it's always Borger, Pampa and Hereford—so I definitely think we'll be in the top two. The way everybody's hitting the ball so far, I think we'll be in the top two. The attitudes are good and the strokes are good."

This season again should see a battle between Hereford, Pampa and Borger for the two playoff spots. Last year, Borger won District 1-4A and Hereford was second. Hereford lost in the first round of the playoffs to powerful Wichita Falls.

Hereford, Borger and Pampa all had graduation losses—Borger lost Barry Thrutchley and Danett Jordan, the district's two best players—but Sims sees her losses as less than the Bulldogs' and Harvesters'.

"They lost a bunch of seniors," she said. "We lost some important ones, but not a lot."

Hereford will even have two top players they didn't have last fall, as Greg Coplen and Bobby Perales will attempt to play tennis and football. They played football only last fall, then were two of the top tennis players in the spring.

Joining Coplen and Perales on the boys' side will be Richard Drager, Tom Jarecki, Jamie Kapka, Chris Lyles, Justin McWethy, Jay Moore, Donny Perales and Lupe Perez. The girls battling for spots are Michelle Berend, Emily Fuston, Sherry Fuston, Gabriela Gamez, Lezly McWhorter, Bri Reinauer, Lori Schlenker, Amy Solomon, Sherry Vermillion and Brooke Weishaar.

Borger and Pampa both have new coaches, while Hereford will have the same coach for two consecutive semesters for the first time in two years.

"Having that spring behind us, I think the kids know more what we expect of them, and we know more of what they can do," said Rex Burke, who along with Kristen Cassels assists Sims.

The team's schedule will be a tough one since they play both Borger and Pampa on the road. They've also got Class 3A power Canyon twice, but Canyon will provide good practice; their first meeting is right before Hereford's district match with Borger on Sept. 19.

"That'll do nothing but help," Burke said.

The Herd starts the season with a dual match at 9 a.m. Saturday at Tascosa High School, then they'll play in the Amarillo Tournament Sept. 11 and 12. Canyon comes to Hereford on Sept. 15 for the Herd's first home date.

Genius fails against Aggies

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Paging Joe Montana. Calling Jerry Rice.

Coaching without the San Francisco 49er superstars who helped make him an NFL great, Bill Walsh didn't look like an offensive genius in the first game of his coaching comeback.

No. 17 Stanford struggled to move the ball and lost to No. 7 Texas A&M 10-7 Wednesday night in the Pigskin Classic, spoiling Walsh's return to college coaching after 14 years and his first game of any kind since the 1989 Super Bowl.

Stanford went scoreless after taking a 7-0 lead on J.J. Lasley's 5-yard TD run at the start of the second quarter. The Cardinal didn't make a first down in the third quarter and gained only 78 yards in the second half of college football's 1992 opener.

"I was frustrated," Walsh said. "I hadn't been so frustrated in a long time over a team's inability to move the ball."

Walsh rarely had that problem with the 49ers, who won three Super Bowl titles during his 10-year tenure in San Francisco. Yet he resisted the temptation to blame Stanford's offensive woes on his players or

29 wins Wednesday Scramble

The team of David Kaesheimer, Scott McGinty, Tim Northcutt and John Yoakum combined on a 29 to win the Wednesday Scramble at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

In second place with a 30 were Lily Shipman, Rocky Lee, Rose Marie Robinson, Martha Jones and Clay Cantrell. Robert Jones, Danny Ibison, David Irellano and Cliff Jones shot a 31 and beat out another team in a scorecard playoff for third place.

Jays' Stottlemyre comes close to perfection

By The Associated Press

Toronto's Todd Stottlemyre proved once again that the best pitch in baseball is often Strike One.

Stottlemyre, a 15-game winner last season who's struggled for most of 1992, went with a more-aggressive pitching philosophy Wednesday night against Chicago - and got immediate results. He had a no-hitter for 7 1-3 innings and finished with a one-hitter, the best outing of his career, in the Blue Jays' 9-0 victory over the White Sox.

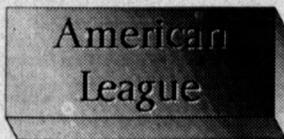

"I tried to go at them with a first-pitch fastball strike," he said. "I've been off-and-on all year, and I just tried to be aggressive tonight."

Stottlemyre's "offs" had been better than his "ons" - he came into the game with a 7-9 record and a 5.13 ERA. This time, though, he retired 16 straight batters before walking Carlton Fisk and got within five outs of the second no-hitter in team history before Dan Pasqua spoiled it with a double to right-center.

Dave Winfield drove in three runs for Toronto. His ninth-inning homer was the 1,000th extra-base hit of his career.

Toronto went ahead 1-0 in the first on Winfield's RBI single off Kirk McCaskell (9-10).

The Blue Jays scored three unearned runs in the sixth, helped by a pair of throwing errors by shortstop Esteban Beltre. Ed Sprague's two-run single and three more Chicago errors, two by right fielder Pasqua, sparked a four-run eighth inning for Toronto.

Rangers 3, Royals 1

Rookie Roger Pavlik stopped Kansas City for 7 1-3 innings before getting relief help from Jeff Russell as Texas beat the visiting Royals.

Pavlik (2-1) gave up one run on six hits, struck out four and walked two. Russell got the last five outs for his 28th save.

Juan Samuel stole home in the top of the fifth to give the Royals a 1-0 lead, but the Rangers rallied with three runs in their half of the inning against Rich Saveur (0-1).

Orioles 6, Angels 4

Mike Devereaux and Randy Milligan each hit two of Baltimore's five home runs as the Orioles ruined John Wathan's final game as California's interim manager.

Milligan and Devereaux hit successive homers off Mike Butcher (2-1) in a four-run seventh inning, capping a comeback from a 4-1 deficit.

Todd Frohwirth (4-2) pitched 1 2-3 innings of scoreless relief and Gregg Olson worked the ninth for his 29th save.

Wathan took over for Buck

Rodgers on May 22, one day after the team bus crashed on the New Jersey Turnpike on the way to Baltimore from New York. Rodgers, the most seriously injured in the accident, is scheduled to return Friday.

Yankees 4, Brewers 3

Danny Tartabull's second grand slam of the season against the Brewers helped New York complete a three-game sweep of Milwaukee at Yankee Stadium.

Tartabull's homer in the fourth inning made a winner of starter Scott Kamieniecki (4-10). Steve Farr pitched the ninth for his 21st save.

Milwaukee's Bruce Ruffin (1-6) failed to win for the 14th consecutive start.

Red Sox 2, Athletics 1

Tom Brunansky's bases-loaded, two-out single in the 10th lifted

Boston over Oakland at Fenway Park.

Brunansky singled after reliever Kevin Campbell (2-2) had walked the bases full.

Boston's Frank Viola (11-10) allowed six hits and three walks and struck out four.

Twins 1, Tigers 0

Brian Harper homered with one out in bottom of the ninth to give John Smiley his first American League shutout.

Harper lined a 1-1 pitch from reliever John Kiely (4-2) over the left-field wall at the Metrodome for his third hit of the game.

Smiley (14-6) pitched a six-hitter for his first shutout since April 17, 1991, against the New York Mets.

Indians 6, Mariners 3

Carlos Baerga drove in four runs, two with a tie-breaking double in the 10th inning, leading Cleveland over Seattle at the Kingdome.

Baerga's two-run double off Russ Swan (3-9) broke a 3-3 tie. Albert Belle followed with a double off Jeff Nelson to score Baerga, who also had a run-scoring grounder in the first and a game-tying sacrifice fly in the sixth.

Eric Plunk (5-2) got the win by striking Tino Martinez with the bases loaded and two outs in the ninth. Steve Olin worked the 10th for his 23rd save.

Bucs' win knuckleball battle

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

The only things spinning when Tim Wakefield and Tom Candiotti pitched against each other were batters' heads.

In the first NL matchup of knuckleballers in 10 seasons, Wakefield earned his first major league shutout as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 Wednesday night.

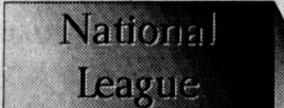

The last time that knuckleballers faced each other in the NL was Sept. 13, 1982, when Joe Nickro and the Houston Astros defeated brother Phil and the Atlanta Braves 5-3.

"I got to meet Tom when we first came in and he was very receptive," Wakefield said. "I finally got a chance to just talk with him. We didn't trade any secrets or talk about knuckleballs at all. He pitched an outstanding game, too."

Wakefield (4-1) gave up six hits, struck out three and walked two. He also picked off two runners in one inning, and went on to pitch his third complete game in six starts since joining the rotation on July 31.

Wakefield's slowest pitch went 58 mph. Candiotti (9-11) threw a knuckler at 53 mph, and frustrated most every Pittsburgh hitter except Jose Lind, who singled and scored in the fifth inning and singled home another run in the sixth.

"He was right around the zone with it all night," Candiotti said. "He changed speeds with it, used his fastball in the right spots and threw knuckleballs to the guys he should have thrown them to."

In other games, Montreal beat Atlanta 5-4, Cincinnati defeated

Philadelphia 4-3, San Diego stopped Chicago 3-0, Houston downed St. Louis 6-5 in 10 innings and New York defeated San Francisco 5-3.

Astros 6, Cardinals 5

Eddie Taubensee singled home the winning run with two outs in the bottom of the 10th inning at the Astrodome.

Houston won after loading the bases on a single and two walks. Luis Gonzalez, whose two-run homer in the seventh tied it at 5, singled off shortstop Ozzie Smith's glove to start the inning.

Xavier Hernandez (8-1) pitched two innings for the victory. Mike Perez (7-3) was the loser.

Rangers shop Guzman, Witt

ARLINGTON (AP) - The Texas Rangers are shopping pitchers Bobby Witt and Jose Guzman, but they'd rather deal Witt, according to a published report.

The Toronto Blue Jays and the Oakland A's, leaders of their respective American League divisions, have inquired about Guzman, but the Rangers have tried harder to peddle Witt, The Dallas Morning News reported in its Thursday editions.

The newspaper quoted two major league officials, whom it did not identify.

"If any team is interested in our players, we're perfectly willing to talk with them," Rangers general manager Tom Grieve said.

Since both teams are contenders, a deal likely would be made by Monday night. Players traded on Sept. 1 or later are ineligible for postseason games.

"I think the chances of us making a deal in the next week are less than 50-50," Grieve told the newspaper. "But they're not non-existent. I'd be surprised if we did, but I wouldn't be shocked if we did."

Cowboys trade for pass-rush specialist Haley

IRVING (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys' long search for an elite pass rusher has ended with the acquisition of defensive end Charles Haley from the San Francisco 49ers, who dealt him for a package of high draft picks in 1993 and possibly 1994. "I think everybody understands the last couple of years we have been looking for a pass rusher," Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson said Wednesday.

"We felt we had improved our defense significantly over the last couple of years, and I think this undoubtedly will make it even better. He will have an immediate impact on our pass rush."

Haley, 28, made the all-pro team the past three seasons.

He tied for the 49ers lead in sacks last season with seven. The pass-rushing specialist had 63 sacks in his stormy six-year career with San Francisco, including a National Football Conference-leading 16 in 1990, when he was named NFC defensive player of the year.

But he had feuded openly with San Francisco management. He said on several occasions last season that he wanted out.

However, despite the growing rift, the 49ers were reluctant to deal him and had said so publicly - until Wednesday.

"It is believed to be in the short- and long-term best interest of this organization and we sincerely hope it's in the best interest of the player as well," 49ers president Carmen Policy said.

The 49ers have the option to swap draft positions with Dallas in the first and third rounds of the 1993 draft. San Francisco will get Dallas' second-round pick next year outright and will receive Dallas' third-round pick in 1994 if the 49ers decide against the first-round swap.

"When you add it all up, the total sum value of the deal is probably the equivalent of a No. 1 ... but we will not get their No. 1 pick without giving them our No. 1 pick," Policy said.

Dallas owner Jerry Jones said the Cowboys wouldn't surrender their first-round choice. The key to the deal, he said, "was to reach a consensus with San Francisco on the equivalent of a No. 1 pick. And it's certainly fair to say it was a No. 1-type deal."

Policy said the deal is also conditioned on Haley passing a physical. Haley had off-season surgery to repair a torn rotator cuff, but had practiced with the 49ers during training camp and was a projected starter.

Haley was to be in the Cowboys' camp sometime today "and we'll give him a complete physical on Friday," Johnson said.

Johnson said Haley will be on the sidelines Friday night for the Cowboys' final exhibition game against the Chicago Bears but will not play.

"We are going to try to be a little imaginative in using him. He's a good pass rusher, he goes well side to side. We'll try to use him in a way that best utilizes his talents rather than tie him down to one position," Johnson added.

"He's a 6-5, 245-250 pounder that plays much bigger than that. He's got great ability to make the plays that can impact the ball game, whether it's sacking the quarterback, blocking a kick or whatever," Johnson said.

Though Haley was regarded as the 49ers' premier defensive player, he had clashed with coach George Seifert as well as management. He openly questioned such player personnel moves as the decision to leave Ronnie Lott and Roger Craig unprotected following the 1990 season. Both Lott and Craig left the team as Plan B free agents.

Following the 49ers' 12-6 loss to the Los Angeles Raiders last season, Haley had a locker room tantrum. He yelled at quarterback Steve Young for throwing a couple of key interceptions and calmed down only after Lott, summoned from the opposing locker room, came to talk to him.

Haley also criticized Seifert last season, accusing him of insulting his defensive unit by showing them films of the Philadelphia Eagles defense, and spoke sarcastically of owner Eddie DeBartolo's attempts to cut the 49ers' operating costs.

Haley long believed the 49ers were trying to get rid of him, especially after they obtained Tim Harris, another pass-rushing linebacker, in a trade last year with Green Bay.

"We can't speak for the 49ers as to why he's available and we didn't really get deeply into that," Johnson said. "This deal was made on the merits of what he can do for the Cowboys and for him as a player, but nothing we heard from San Francisco was in any way a negative regarding the Cowboys' acquiring him."

The 49ers drafted Haley out of James Madison in the fourth round of the 1986 draft.

Cowboys still want holdouts

IRVING, Texas (AP) - A trade for all-pro defensive end Charles Haley will have "no effect whatsoever" on the Dallas Cowboys' efforts to sign their last three contract holdouts, owner Jerry Jones says.

Jones said Haley's $1 million base salary for 1992 "is very much within the parameters and standards of what you see in the National Football League for players of his ability. It will have no effect whatsoever."

The Cowboys acquired Haley on Wednesday from the San Francisco 49ers for future draft considerations.

Citing club policy, Jones declined to elaborate on the club's progress toward signing wide receiver Michael Irvin, tight end Jay Novacek and center Mark Stepnoski, all returning starters, except to say "we're in communication" with their agents. "We're talking."

Irvin and Novacek were Pro Bowl performers last year.

Even if the three holdouts are signed this week or next, it's questionable how much the three could contribute in Dallas' season opener against the defending world champion Washington Redskins in a Monday Night TV game Sept. 7.

Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson said. "People think they can just come right in and play. It just doesn't happen that way," Johnson said.

Running back Emmitt Smith missed training camp his rookie season and it took him time to get into the flow of the Cowboys offense.

Smith said he believes Irvin and Novacek could fit in right away.

"They know the pass patterns, the coverages and they know our offense," Smith said. "If we get them signed, I'd throw 'em in there against Washington."

Irvin said it's important that he be signed before the Monday night game against the Redskins because the Cowboys can't afford to fall behind Washington early in the NFC East standings.

"We need to move in the right direction at the start of the season," Irvin said.

The Cowboys split their first two games last year, but rallied for a 11-5 regular season.

"I work out every day and I'm ready," Irvin said.

Oilers should dominate AFC Central division

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

The Houston Oilers might be tempted to look ahead to Dec. 27, a Sunday night on the final weekend of the regular season. THAT could be their Super Bowl.

The evening's activity is a game in the Astrodome against the Buffalo Bills that might decide home-field advantage for the AFC playoffs. Given the Oilers' recent history - a league-leading five straight playoff appearances but never a voyage beyond the second round - playing in the Astrodome may be mandatory in what could be a last shot at the Super Bowl for several players.

The key to this aged cast is quarterback Warren Moon, who will turn 36 in November.

The biggest problem for Houston may be paying attention in what is arguably the NFL's weakest division. The Oilers won it last year at 11-5 but were eliminated a game away from the AFC title game when John Elway directed an 87-yard drive in the final minutes to beat them in Denver 26-24.

Both Pittsburgh and Cincinnati have new coaches. Bill Cowher has replaced Chuck Noll as the Steelers' first new coach in 23 years. Dave Shula, son of Don, leads the Bengals. Shula, 33, and Cowher, 35 are the NFL's youngest coaches. They join 39-year-old Bill Belichick, in his second year of rebuilding the Browns, in the Central Division.

That makes 56-year-old Jack Pardee of the Oilers the senior coach on what should be by far the best team.

Moon remains one of the NFL's premier passers. Last season, he joined Dan Marino as the only quarterback ever to throw for 4,000 yards two years in a row. He might not make it this year as Pardee and offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride try to add more run to the run-and-shoot.

The main runner is Lorenzo White, finally starting to live up to his promise after holdouts and injuries. He hopes to play his way out of the shadows of former Oilers Mike Rozier and Allen Pinkett.

Moon and Pardee also want that - it's tough to score inside the 20 without a running game. Moreover, Drew Hill and Tony Jones defected to Atlanta under Plan B, depriving Moon of two important targets.

But Moon still has Ernest Givins, Hayward Jeffries and Curtis Duncan to run his quick routes and an experienced anchored by center Bruce Matthews and guard Mike Munchak to block.

The defense, as usual, has more questions. But Ray Childress is one of the better unsung linemen in the NFL, middle linebacker Al Smith made the Pro Bowl last season and Lee Williams should provide a pass rush in his second year with the team. Cornerback Cris Dishman and safety Bubba McDowell anchor the secondary.

You can take your pick with the rest of the division.

Cowher has some superb talent in Pittsburgh, like 275-pound tight end Eric Green, cornerback Rod Woodson, and safety Carnell Lake, and some little-known Pro Bowlers like linebacker Greg Lloyd. Unfortunately, none of the talent plays quarterback, where Bubba Brister is being challenged by Neil O'Donnell for the job he's had by default for four years.

Belichick doubled Cleveland's win total last year, going from 3-13 to 6-10. The centerpiece of the offense remains Bernie Kosar at quarterback and running backs Kevin Mack, Leroy Hoard, Plan B pickup James Brooks and rookie Tommy Vardell. The offensive line remains shaky and so is the receiving corps.

Shula goes into Cincinnati trying to rebuild from the ashes of a 3-13 season under Sam Wyche, who departed for Tampa under less-than-friendly circumstances.

Shula immediately lost his best receiver, Eddie Brown, to a neck injury. Linebacker Albert Williams, last year's No. 1 draft choice, was troubled by an irregular heart beat.

Hopes for the defense remain. Ron Lynn, the new coordinator, has installed an attacking system that sometimes brings as many as nine men to the line of scrimmage.

Prediction: Houston (12-4); Pittsburgh (7-9); Cleveland (5-11); Cincinnati (5-11).

AGGIES

coaching staff, which includes five of his former 49er players.

"I think everyone but me did a good job," said Walsh, who left the television booth to return to Stanford, where he coached in 1977-78. "Offensively, we were groping because we just couldn't get anything on track."

Texas A&M quarterback Jeff Granger finally got on track in the fourth quarter after suffering through a miserable first half and being replaced for several series in the third quarter.

Granger, who rejoined the football team after failing to make the U.S. Olympic baseball squad as a pitcher, threw a 21-yard TD strike to Greg Schorp with 12:10 left and scrambled 33 yards to set up the game-winning 39-yard field goal by Terry Venetoulis with 4:27 remaining.

"We didn't execute well in the first half and we began to get down on ourselves," said Granger, who completed 11 of 31 passes for 132 yards. "But me and the offense got a second chance. ... I think (the long run) really helped pump up the team."

Stanford linebacker Ron George agreed.

"The tide shifted on that play," he said. "We were thinking, 'We got 'em, we got 'em.' Then it was, 'Oops, they got out of the cage.'"

Stanford dominated the first half, holding A&M to 33 yards and allowing the Aggies' past midfield only once. But the second half belonged to the Aggies, whose "Wrecking Crew" defense picked up where last year's top-ranked unit left off.

Stanford quarterback Steve Stenstrom completed 17 of 33 passes for 164 yards, but he was sacked five times and intercepted twice.

"Their defense played a great game," said Stenstrom, the Pac-10's leading passer last season. "We knew going in they were a blitzing team, and that's the way they played."

Venetoulis, a junior who made 13 of 18 field-goal attempts last season, was thrilled by his game-winning kick.

"Kickers live to win the game like that," he said. "I've been thinking about being in a situation like that since I was knee high."

Stanford star Glyn Milburn gained

158 all-purpose yards, including a 27-yard punt return that set up the Cardinal's only score. A&M's Greg Hill, who gained 1,000 yards as a freshman last year, was held to 25 yards on 13 carries.

"A lot of our problems could be credited to the aggressive play of Stanford's defense," Texas A&M coach R.C. Slocum said. "They pretty much took away our ability to run the football."

The Aggies got an early lift from a player who wasn't even expected to play a few days ago.

After Stanford drove deep into A&M territory on the opening drive of the game, Aggie linebacker Marcus Buckley blindsided Stenstrom, forced a fumble and recovered the ball to end the threat.

Buckley, an all-Southwest Conference linebacker last season, was doubtful for the game because of a swollen leg. Although his playing time was limited, his hit on Stenstrom gave the Aggies a big boost.

"Just having him play was big," Slocum said. "It gave our defense a lift. It gave us one more guy to rush the passer."

Names in the News

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Spike Lee is asking blacks to skip work or school to see his film "Malcolm X." "It's not Hollywood...this ain't Walt Disney. This is about the state of race relations in the world," the black director said in Wednesday's Los Angeles Times. "We're telling them they've got to turn out to support this film and support Malcolm."

The film, starring Denzel Washington as the black leader assassinated in 1965, runs about three hours and cost an estimated $35 million. It opens Nov. 20. Lee's other films include "Jungle Fever" and "Do the Right Thing."

NEW YORK (AP) - Ivana Trump is demanding that ex-husband Donald live up to an agreement to pay her $4 million before she moves out of his Manhattan condominium.

In papers filed in court this week, she alleged that Trump plans to evict her from the condo in Trump Tower next year without paying the $4 million housing allowance from their divorce settlement. She asked the court to let her stay until Trump pays up.

Mrs. Trump now holds the mortgage on the condo as security, according to court papers.

Trump has asked a judge to cancel his alimony obligation because his former wife is living with Riccardo Mazzuchelli. Mrs. Trump has said Mazzuchelli is a house guest.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour and Red Buttons are on the guest list for Martha Raye's 76th birthday party, her husband says.

The actress-comedian, whose birthday is today, will celebrate on Saturday at the Friar's Club in Beverly Hills, said Mark Harris.

Harris, who married Miss Raye last September, said his wife is subject to memory losses but is otherwise in good health. She has had several strokes.

"She gets frustrated with herself," said Harris, 43. "She knows she forgets things. ... She makes fun of it at times, but the sad times are when she's frustrated."

Lapidary Club hears of trips

The Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club met Monday at the county library with the program highlighted by a video from the Bureau of Mines and reports on trips by two families.

The Weldon Robersons reported on their trip to Germany, and the Jack Nunleys reported on their trip to California. Joe Williams showed a rock road runner he had found years ago.

President Dale Henson presided at the meeting which was hosted by the Nunleys and Robersons. Ruby Mulkey furnished the door prize, which was won by Cecil Lady.

The next club meeting will be Sept. 28 at the library. Present for this meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Roberson, Dale Henson, Ralph Packard, Bud Cawthon, Jack Nunley and Hazel Botts, Cecil Lady, L.D. Combes, Thama Pearson, Merle Newell, Joe Williams and Bert Brown.

Rebekahs learn about meetings

Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 met Tuesday evening and heard Mary Lou Weatherford, Lodge deputy, present a program on conducting meetings and parliamentary procedure.

Noble Grand Anna Conklin presided at the business session. Sixty visits to the sick, 30 cheer cards, 15 dishes of food, and one gift of flowers were reported. Comments were also heard on the success of Friendship Night, where special guests were Ruby Smith, Betty Boggs, Essie Martin, Alyene West and Juanita Boynton.

Twenty members were present. Fay Brownlow served as hostess to Conklin, Weatherford, Ben Conklin, Marie Harris, Susie Curtsinger, Erma Loving, Jim Loving, Genevieve Lynn, Rosalie Northcutt, Irene Merritt, Leona Sowell, Jo Irlbeck, Tony Irlbeck, Ann Werner, Ocie Bolton, Connie Ivey, Gene Ivey, Frankie Ruland and Ruby Baker.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I've read with interest several reports on apparent benefits of aspirin in avoiding heart attacks and colon cancer. My problem is they never define the term "aspirin" or give a hint as to the amounts. By aspirin, do they mean only pills labeled as "aspirin" or will Tylenol, Advil, etc., serve as well? And how large a dose do they recommend? Since these pain killers come in so many different strengths these days, "one pill every other day" leaves me confused. Please clear up my little headache.

DEAR READER: Aspirin means only aspirin; it is the salicylate in aspirin that is important. Aspirin is really a tradename for acetylsalicylic acid. If you use cold remedies or analgesics, look at the labels to see if they contain salicylates or not. If they do, that is added to the effects of aspirin.

Advil, Tylenol and all those other medications used as pain pills that do not contain salicylic acid do not have the same beneficial effects attributed to aspirin.

All of these medications are called non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs). Many of them are used to control the pain of arthritis. To help you sort out these common medications, I am sending you Special Report 101, Aspirin, Tylenol and Related Medicines. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/101, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

There is still a lot of discussion about what is the best dose of aspirin to prevent heart attacks or strokes or possibly to help prevent colon cancer. At present, in terms of preventing a first heart attack, it appears the dose is one 325 mg tablet of aspirin every other day. There is no evidence that taking a larger amount is beneficial. Some groups believe that 80 mg a day -- one baby aspirin is sufficient.

Now I must add than no responsible group has yet recommended that everyone take regular aspirin to prevent a first heart attack. Aspirin is not a completely harmless medicine. Its best use is probably in men who are 55 years of age or older, and particularly if they have increased risk factors such as a high total cholesterol level.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I need your opinion about estrogen replacement for me. I'm 51 years old and recently had a large ovarian cyst removed. They had to do a complete hysterectomy because of many adhesions. I had ovarian surgery 25 years ago for Stein-Leventhal syndrome which caused the adhesions.

The doctor wants me to take estrogen. My regular doctor advises against it because it causes high blood pressure, water retention and weight gain. I recently lost 100 pounds and no longer need to take medicine for high blood pressure. I gained 20 pounds back, but am holding at this weight while exercising and trying to follow a low-calorie diet. I worry that I will have a harder time maintaining my weight if I take estrogen even though there are other benefits.

DEAR READER: Women who have Stein-Leventhal syndrome have an ovarian cyst, are usually overweight and have excess hair and menstrual disorders. Now that both ovaries are removed you may have less of a problem with weight control.

A few women have increased blood pressure from estrogen, but most do not. The only way to tell in your case would be to take it and see what happens. You don't need progesterone since you don't have a uterus, but the estrogen could provide some very meaningful benefits for you now and in the years to come.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: A while ago I read your article on a kitten who got its head stuck in a jar, with life-threatening results. Although a skunk doesn't qualify as a house pet, I would like to tell you of an incident which is related.

One morning I noticed a small skunk helplessly stumbling around with a foam cup stuck on its head. What a predicament! Unless it got that cup off its head, it would have starved or wandered out into traffic.

A young lady took care of the problem. She grasped the cup, lifted it and the skunk shook itself free. We expected the worst, but the skunk just looked around dazed and trotted off into the woods.

It appears that leaving plastic cups and glass jars is unhealthy for wild animals too. I believe they're like baited lures (there's usually some food or drink residue in them), and they entice the animal. -- John Carrona, Merrimack, N.H.

I'm so happy the poor little skunk was set free and the young lady was not harmed.

My veterinarian, Dr. Tom Vice, told me that skunks have the highest rate of rabies of all wild animals and it's pretty dangerous getting close to them.

If anyone else happens to come across a wild creature in trouble, the best thing to do, if at all possible, is to call a wildlife rescue service. They're equipped with the right tools and knowledge to save little creatures. -- Heloise

EXTEND SPOON
Dear Heloise: I can't stand those little spoons that come in boxes of plant food.

To solve the problem of my hand getting as much plant food on it as in the spoon, I taped the spoon on the end of a paint-mixing stick. It's long enough to get to the bottom of the box when needed. -- Rod Smith, San Antonio, Texas

ATTENTION DOG OWNERS!
Dear Readers: My pamphlet, Heloise's Guide to Dog Ownership, will answer many questions you might have about caring for your dog. Order it for $2 and a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, legal-sized envelope from Heloise/Dogs, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001.

LEAD DANGER
Dear Heloise: I just learned an interesting thing that I would like to pass on to you.

I never realized that when running water from a faucet, the first water out of the tap can contain higher-than-normal lead levels because the water stays in the metal pipes overnight.

Infants and young children are more susceptible, so when giving them water from the tap first thing in the morning, make sure it runs about two minutes. -- Sarah Michaels, Atlanta, Ga.

SHOWER CAPS
Dear Heloise: I had company coming and was a little embarrassed about a couple of bar stools (backless ones) that were a little worn.

I ran out and bought a couple of frilly patterned shower caps (the thick kind) and they fit just right.

They don't take the place of upholstery, but they'll do in a pinch. -- L. Anderson, Security, Colo.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines, those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALIS
Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.
