City prepared to crack down on junk, abandoned vehicles

City police and other officials will begin cracking down on junked and abandoned vehicles next month in an effort to help clean up Hereford. City commissioners brought up problems with abandoned and junk vehicles in the city at a commission meeting in October. City Attorney Terry Langehennig, Police Chief David Wagner and others are reviewing the existing ordinances to make sure they still comply with state laws. "We should be ready to go by the middle of December," said Wagner.

Although the city has had a law on its books for several years, it hasn't been enforced much in recent years. Wagner said that will change. "We're not going to be bad about it, and we will work with people if they will work with us," Wagner said. Basically, an abandoned vehicle is any vehicle which doesn't have a current license plate or inspection sticker; a junked vehicle is one which has been "stripped" for parts. It doesn't have to be out in the front yard; if it's in the back yard and can be seen from the alley, it could be declared a nuisance. Once city police or others have filed on a vehicle for being a nuisance, the city will basically give you 10 days to get the vehicle out of sight or taken to a salvage yard. Persons who fail to comply after being cited could be fined $200 and the vehicle could be taken away for sale or disposal by the city. "They could cover it with a tarp or something, but it would have to be a nice tarp, nothing with a lot of holes in it," said Wagner.

Junk vehicles, lots will be target of new crackdown

This lot in Hereford is one of several that will be the target of a new crackdown against unsightly areas and junked or abandoned vehicles in the city. Weeds have grown up high enough to not only obscure an axle and tire (right), and old engine (left) and this old pickup, but Hereford High School is barely visible in the background.

HELP needs help with right names

HELP needs some help getting the right names on its petitions to call for a wet-dry vote in Deaf Smith County. HELP is an acronym for "Help Eliminate Liquor Problems." The group has circulated petitions since Oct. 25 to get 1,441 valid signatures to call for a special election. About 30 percent of the names on the petition have been thrown out because they do not match exactly the name as printed on the voter registration list. David Alvarado, a HELP spokesman, said the group has almost enough signatures. Many of the signatures, however, were not exactly like the names on the voter registration list. A volunteer said many persons may be signing their first name, middle initial and last name. However, if their full first, middle and last names are on the voter list, their signature is not valid. Many of the persons whose names have already been eliminated have been contacted to sign again. Petitions are available at many businesses in Deaf Smith County and at most churches.

HELP has until Nov. 24 to turn in the petitions. The names will be presented to commissioners court for verification. If there are at least 1,441 valid signatures, commissioners must call an election on the issue. Practically all of Deaf Smith County was voted "wet" for package store sales eight years ago. The group is hoping to vote the county "dry" to cut down on the availability of alcoholic beverages to young people and to slice the crime rate in the county.

Beet harvest going strong; sugar's good

Sugar beet harvest is almost 90 percent finished in the region, and should be wrapped up by Thanksgiving. Dennis Printz, agricultural manager at Holly Sugar in Hereford, said the beets are averaging 15 percent sugar content, which is a little above average. Yields are a little lower than earlier estimates, but are still above historical averages at 22 tons per acre. "It's been dry, and that has affected the yield quite a bit," said Printz. "With normal rainfall, we would have had the potential for another 3 tons per acre." Compared to any year, harvest this year has been great, Printz said. Compared to last year, and Holly officials and farmers are having a great time. "No below zero, no snow, nothing at all to slow us down," Printz said. Last year, a bitter cold storm on Oct. 30 ruined what was going to be a bumper crop. Printz said the plant is operating eight dump sites outside the plant, with 16 pilers in operation. The campaign will put over $40 million into the area's economy this winter.

Harvest is going strong at Holly Sugar

Trucks are waiting as a piler builds a new mountain of beets at Holly Sugar. Much of the plant is obscured by steam rising as sugar processing is going strong. The harvest should be wrapped up by Thanksgiving, according to Ag Manager Dennis Printz.

Clinton wants to remake Washington

EDITORS' NOTE: This is one of a series of stories examining how President-elect Clinton intends to handle a variety of issues.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President-elect Clinton wants to reshape parts of the federal bureaucracy - and two prime targets are the Commerce and Energy departments. Clinton says he will enlist the aid of both as part of his effort to boost the nation's economy. "The Departments of Commerce and Energy ... those are very major appointments," Clinton said Thursday in Little Rock, Ark., at his first news conference since the election. Cabinet secretaries at those two departments will affect "the success or failure of this administration's economic efforts," he added. Commerce and Energy are two pieces in an agency-by-agency review of executive branch operations promised by the Clinton transition team. Clinton may want to make a number of changes - particularly when he sees that agency duties sometimes overlap. The Agriculture Department and Environmental Protection Agency share responsibility for pesticides and wetlands; USDA and Health and Human Services participate in nutrition research and welfare programs. The Agriculture Department and HHS were just in a much-publicized spat over food labels. The U.S. Forest Service's responsibilities for public lands overlap with duties of the Bureau of Land Management and the Interior Department. A Clinton administration may decide not to waste political capital on trying to reorganize the bureaucracy. But change may come in other ways. Antitrust experts say the Justice Department is more likely to challenge corporate mergers, an area that was largely ignored during the past 12 years.

Plans ready for CSF campaign

Applications for assistance from the 1992 edition of the Christmas Stocking Fund, a community holiday charity, will be accepted beginning Monday, Nov. 23, and will continue through Friday, Dec. 11. CSF assists the less fortunate of Deaf Smith County during the holiday season, focusing its aid primarily on clothing and food for the youngsters of needy families, and utility and medical assistance for those in dire need. Signups will be conducted at the offices of the Deaf Smith County chapter of the American Red Cross, 224 S. Main. The CSF is a non-profit charity composed solely of volunteers from across the community. It is not affiliated with any other organization.

The Red Cross chapter is not affiliated with CSF, but does provide office space and clerical assistance during the signup period in order to protect the identity of CSF committee members, who choose to remain anonymous. Individuals who apply for assistance need to take proof of Deaf Smith County residence, such as a driver's license or a bill receipt showing their local address. Applications must be made in person. If applying for help with utility, pharmacy or medical bills, applicants need to provide a copy of the bill and clear instructions on where or to whom payments should be made. Placing an application with CSF does not automatically guarantee that assistance will be received. Help extended by CSF is limited by the amount of contributions received. Members of the all-volunteer CSF committee screen applications and give priority to helping the most needy. The Hereford Brand will begin accepting CSF contributions on Nov. 27 and will continue taking them through the New Year holiday. Donations may be made in person at the newspaper office or mailed to The Brand, CSF, Box 673, Hereford. The Brand serves as the fund-raising vehicle for CSF and will run listings of contributors and totals collected. Donors who wish to remain anonymous should so designate on their contributions.

HJH Roundup

Okay parents, it's your turn! Either explain the electoral college process to your children or call for a constitutional amendment to change the process! Seriously, if this group of HJH seventh and eighth graders stay as attuned to politics and to the electoral process as they are now, they will make some changes. Students have, not only in their social studies classes, but in science, math and other classes, been fielding good questions on this subject on a many occasions there have been lively discussions. They are learning! Perhaps an amendment would be in order to let them vote!

Student representatives will be leading the Pledge to the Flag each morning, rather than having an administrator to do so. Representatives leading from Nov. 9 to Nov. 30 are Wes Blackwell, Russel Manning, April Villarreal, Jeffrey Brown, Missy Lemons, Chris Casarez, Keesha Kimball, Erin Whipple, Nancy Cepeda, Jesse Salazar, Tonya Cervantez, Rob Reinauer and Monia Tijerina.

Three seventh graders, Jeremy Gonzalez, Efrain Mendoza, and Jim Moudy are working diligently on the Geography Bee. They are presently using Geografacts and Global Pursuit games, the glossary from a high school world geography text and the geography section from The Dictionary of Cultural Literacy and A First Dictionary of Cultural Literacy. These young men are serious about this endeavor as they are usually at work by 7:45 each morning.

Mr. Allen's science classes are finishing a unit of Stars and will begin a new unit on Earth Rotation and Revolution. Science teachers use a wide variety of methods to interest their students in science—from lab exercises, movies, discussions and research.

Deanna Redelsperger, eighth grade and Zack Wall, seventh grade, received student-of-the-week honors. Each of these students are involved in not only school activities, but church-related activities as well.

Report cards were sent home last week. It's hard to believe that we have one-third of this school year behind us! The third six week period will end Dec. 18, just before the Christmas holidays.

Veterans' Day was discussed in a number of classes. Most students seem to have some knowledge of the day's meaning and were able to add to the discussion. A number of students asked their parents what the memorial day meant to them and brought this information to class to be shared with others. Evidently many of our students have been watching television as well as Channel One because they knew the number of names on the Vietnam Memorial and how long it would take to read the names and many could list all wars that the United States has been involved in since the Revolutionary War. We believe that patriotism is making a strong comeback!

City Commission to meet

A proposal from a paving contractor for an assessment program for some streets in Hereford will be looked at closely during a Hereford City Commission meeting Monday.

Other items on the agenda are bid consideration for a personal computer, hand-held meter devices, health insurance contract and employment of another DARE officer for the police department. The commission meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Four arrested Friday

Hereford police Friday arrested two men, 20 and 46, for driving while intoxicated; a man, 30, for driving while license suspended; and a man, 23, for disorderly conduct.

Reports on Friday included criminal trespass in the 600 block of Austin; assault in the 100 block of Lake; disorderly conduct in the 300 block of Ave. B; a sewer line machine, worth $800, unlawfully taken from the bus barn; theft of two rings in the 600 block of Blewins; and a VCR stolen in the 100 block of Ave. H.

Police issued five tickets Friday and investigated two minor accidents.

Bluebonnet School sets open house

Bluebonnet School will hold an open house Tuesday from 7 to 8 p.m. All parents and interested citizens are invited to attend. The Book Fair will also be open that night.

Perot's campaign may have lasting impact

DALLAS (AP) - Next time, if there is one, maybe Ross Perot's campaign will have a middle. Until then, he will be remembered as the candidate who entered the presidential blocks twice and never got set. It was simply on your mark, go.

The first round, remember, was when he virtually launched his candidacy, during a "Larry King Live" interview. The next day, he said frankly that "I don't know what will happen. Wait and see."

But almost overnight he had a 100-line phone bank, volunteers across the country, political pros on the staff, and he was out campaigning. In mid-July, he quit himself.

And when he re-launched himself in October, just 33 days before the election, it was with much the same pell-mell rush, insisting along the way that "My objective is not to commit political suicide."

Perhaps he didn't, even after his bizarre and combative airing of a variety of unproven conspiracy charges that led friends and foes alike to raise questions about his election just a week before the election.

Despite the episode, the Dallas billionaire did better than most thought possible, taking 19 percent of the popular vote, more than any other third-party candidate since Theodore Roosevelt got almost 30 percent in 1912.

And though Perot's campaign office folded rapidly, there are signs of endurance. His issues book, in its 11th printing, spent its 10th week at the top of the best-seller list. A seven-hour video of his commercials and rally appearances also has gone on sale.

Volunteers at the phone bank signed up 1,200 supporters the day after the election to what may remain as Perot's political power base, his "United We Stand, America" organization.

And Perot himself told supporters on election night he was available "any time, any place, anywhere" for them, and held up a bumper sticker that read, "Perot in '96."

Relying almost solely on TV, his October campaign was unlike any before. And it may well help determine the shape of presidential campaigns to come.

"Perot has signaled something new to us," said Harold Barger, political scientist at Trinity University. "He changed the nature of campaigning and advertising for the future."

"He wanted to do it just like he could go to the office every day, run for president, and go home and eat dinner," Clay Mulford, general counsel to the campaign, said afterward.

"He thought he could do it that way," Mulford said, pausing and then laughing. "He kind of did!"

Perot left Dallas for the debates and only seven political rallies. He was back home every night.

He spent more than $60 million, at least $40 million in October alone and most of that for TV and radio time.

"That was the difference between Perot getting 10 and 11 percent maybe and Perot getting 19 percent," said Larry Sabato, political scientist at the University of Virginia.

But the ad blitz wasn't enough to overcome the electorate's loyalties to the two-party system, day after day of missed media opportunities, and Perot's baffling side trip into his unsupported charges of Republican dirty tricks.

"I'll tell you how stupid we are," Perot associate Hays Kirby said the day after the election. "We thought we could win this thing."

Perot's strongest move toward that end was hiring an advertising team led by Temerlin McClain, a Dallas agency that is the largest in the Southwest.

Perot and the ad team quickly formed a basis for their 33-day push - to treat voters as intelligent, interested and not apathetic.

"We talked about fair, shared sacrifice, bringing the deficit down over time, the national debt," said Dennis McClain, the agency principal who led the team. "We talked about future generations, all of the elements that are essential in relationship-building as opposed to selling a product."

Perot said he only wanted broadcast ads and wanted the first to be 30 minutes, a length the agency had never dealt with. No one on Perot's team was prepared when the first one, with him using flip charts and a pointer, drew more viewers than the National League baseball championship game airing on another channel.

"When we previewed that one here, some thought it was ridiculous," Mulford said. "They thought it was horrible, was going to be a laughing-stock. They were completely wrong."

It worked because of Perot's folksy way of making a complex idea simple.

"It was kind of thrilling" to voters, said James David Barber, a Duke political scientist. "Here is somebody they can understand."

Perot made 11 half-hour programs and broadcast nine. His short ads had the same look, sound and pace, a consistency that was different from previous political ad campaigns.

While Perot's unorthodox campaign strategies proved a winner with voters, his personality worked against him at times. His biggest mistake, aides said, was to discuss unprovable conspiracy allegations on "60 Minutes" nine days before the election. That arrested the improbable momentum he had achieved.

Perot's disdain for political handlers was a standard theme in his interviews and speeches. The rift between Perot and some of the professionals he hired in the spring helped lead to the campaign's July collapse.

But the conspiracies debacle showed how badly Perot needed them.

"He would react to a situation unlike a professional politician without thinking 'What's the political effect of this?'" Mulford said. "He would do what he believed was right and straight forward."

"If you tried to explain to him, there are other ways to address it, he would think that amounted to being handled and then that wasn't direct and sincere. It's really an appealing trait about him but it ended up being described as a negative."

Perot resisted most ideas that appeared to be politics as usual.

For instance, he refused to let aides issue-of-the-day briefings that would elaborate his position on health care one day, education the next and so on.

And he nearly scrubbed all personal appearances.

"We had to tell him, 'You will do these. This is politics and you made the choice to run,'" one aide said during Perot's multistate swing the weekend before the election.

His reliance on volunteers gave the campaign weight, but made it difficult to hold together and deliver a consistent message.

At the same time, Mulford said Perot's followers showed that "there's a lot of motion that isn't really relevant" in the major parties.

"It's as though there's a business that has built up around running campaigns," Mulford said.

"The truth is there's a simpler way to operate things. There's nothing wrong with people showing up at debates and just going head to head. You don't need staffs of 300 people managing every nuance."

Robbins named to HPBH board

CORPUS CHRISTI—A Hereford man was elected to a major position on Texas Baptist boards during the annual meeting of the 2.5 million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas here Nov. 9-10.

Pat D. Robbins was elected to serve on the board of trustees of High Plains Baptist Hospital. Robbins, a farmer, is past president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Texas Baptist institutions include eight universities, two academies, Hispanic Baptist Theological Seminary in San Antonio, seven hospitals and children's homes and homes for aging in multiple locations throughout the state.

Southern Baptists in more than 5,500 Texas congregations support these institutions through the Cooperative Program unified budget, which also provides support for missions in Texas, the U.S. and 126 foreign countries. The basic 1993 budget is $63.5 million.

County gets funds for food, shelter needs

A grant of $11,072 for emergency food and shelter in Deaf Smith County has been announced for 1993.

The amount is slightly more than the $10,430 allocated last year. Total funding for Texas is approximately $9.1 million.

A committee has been designated to distribute funds where needed. The Deaf Smith County chapter of the American Red Cross is fiscal agent for the distribution which will be made through the Good Shepherd Program and San Jose Outreach Program.

From the allocation in 1992, distribution agencies were able to provide 15,052 meals and 77 utility bills.

Funds from the new grant will not be available until after Jan. 1.

CLINTON

And look for more aggressive enforcement by the Justice Department of job discrimination laws against state and local governments that discriminate against women and minorities.

At the Labor Department, the Bush administration "hasn't had much of a regulatory focus," said a Labor Department official who spoke on condition of anonymity. "I think there will be more refocusing on the needs, the concerns and the desires of America's workers."

The Clinton White House "will have more attention and focus" on telecommunications issues than the Bush administration did, predicts Stuart Brotman of the Annenberg Washington Program in Communications Policy Studies.

Perhaps the biggest questions of all: how rapidly and how deeply will Clinton cut defense?

Clinton didn't say how he would change the way Energy and Commerce operate. But he's getting plenty of advice.

The priorities at the Energy Department are promoting nuclear power and the use of coal and oil.

The American Gas Association and others are urging on the Clinton transition group "an alternative energy future."

Shifting away from oil and coal would not only save energy, but give a job to the economy and provide jobs, says Mark Hopkins of the Alliance to Save Energy.

Trade war could hurt Texans

FREDERICKSBURG, Texas (AP) - As proposed tariffs threaten to hike the price of European white wines, Texas wine producers say they are poised to carve their own bigger niche in the marketplace.

But some Texas producers doubt the U.S. government will ever impose the punitive sanctions on $300 million worth of European goods. The 200 percent tariffs could triple the cost of a bottle of French white wine.

"I think it's a lot of Washington silliness," said Karl Koch, owner of Pedernales Vineyards near Fredericksburg.

Koch believes the United States and the European Community will resolve the trade dispute before the Dec. 5 deadline.

So does Walter Haimann, chief operating officer and president of Llano Estacado winery in Lubbock.

"I think somebody's going to blink," Haimann said. "It's like two kids playing chicken with a car. Somebody's going to veer to the right or the left."

The United States has demanded that the European Community make cuts in its farm subsidies, which Washington contends keep prices unfairly low for European farm goods while robbing American soybean farmers and other oilseed farmers of international sales.

EC leaders have warned they will respond with retaliatory tariffs on American goods if the U.S. sanctions are imposed. Top EC negotiators said Wednesday they would meet their U.S. counterparts within a week to try an avert a trade war.

Haimann said the mere threat of sanctions could hurt Texas wine sales before the holidays if retailers, distributors and importers are "begging, borrowing and doing anything they can to get cash" to buy European wines before the tariff deadline.

"I do believe if the French could have cooked this one up, they would have cooked it up," he said.

But what about long-term effects of a stiff wine tariff?

For Llano Estacado, a major Texas producer and exporter to Europe, business could get rough if Europe imposes retaliatory sanctions on American wines, Haimann said.

Still, Haimann and other wine makers agree Texas wineries could boost their sales in the long run if Americans purchase more domestic wines.

"I feel certain that our white wine sales will increase," said Ned Simes, owner of Grape Creek Vineyard between Fredericksburg and Stonewall.

Simes already had planned to be in Houston this weekend, and now he intends to deliver more Grape Creek wines to customers requesting it because of the tariff threat.

But Simes, who also believes the European dispute will be resolved, said he doesn't depend on a trade war to boost his wine's sales.

"If we can't stand the heat of the European pressure, we should not be in the business," said Simes. "I love the French wines, frankly."

Kim McPherson, wine maker at Cap Rock Winery in Lubbock, said of many Texas wine producers about the proposed tariffs: wait and see. "We're not going out and buying extra chardonnay or anything," he said. "We've got enough to do now, bottling this year's crush."

Once commonplace in Texas, almost all the state's wineries shut down with the onset of Prohibition in the 1920s. In the mid-1970s and 1980s, Texas vineyards and wineries began a comeback. Now there are more than two dozen in the state.

Wine makers say it has taken years to overcome the public's lack of knowledge about Texas wines. At last,

McPherson expressed the attitude

Applications accepted for disaster loans

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by adverse weather conditions are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located in Hereford, FmHA County Supervisor James D. Webb said today.

Deaf Smith, Oldham and Randall counties are 3 of 47 in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the adverse weather conditions.

Webb said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Webb said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until June 28, 1993 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," Webb said.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

RENTING TO YOUR CHILDREN

When a child leaves home for college, you as a parent will write checks to the college for dorm living. If you would like to save money and gain tax benefits you should look into purchasing in the college town and let your child live there instead of a dorm. As long as the house is the student's primary residence and you charge them at least 80% of the fair market rent, you can deduct depreciation, utilities, maintenance and other household costs. To offset the child's rent, you could pay them to act as janitor and renting agent to bring in other paying renters. When your child graduates hire another student to take over these duties if the real estate income appeals to you. If not you can always sell the home. Intra-family leasing arrangements must be carefully structured to meet IRS scrutiny. If you are thinking about an arrangement like this check with a professional real estate agency.

If we've told you once, we've told you 8 MILLION TIMES!

Twenty three years ago this weekend, Hereford State Bank provided a unique and special service to Hereford -- a 24-hour telephone answering system that offered local residents time and temperature information.

It has been a very popular service. The phone has been ringing off the wall so to speak. Since that November weekend in 1968, we've averaged about 347 thousand calls per year. If we took each call which lasts about 15 seconds, multiplied by an average of eight million calls, we've had one call every second of every day for almost 4 years.

We're very proud to offer this service to Hereford, and just in case you're interested -- the Hereford State Bank Time & Temperature was 10:01 a.m. and 49 degrees when this ad was put to bed for publication in this issue of the Sunday Brand.

We invite you to DIAL 364-5100. We're ready for caller number 8,000,00?

Speaking of politics, LaJean Henry, over at the Pants Cage, says she and her 13-year-old granddaughter were discussing the recent presidential election. Her granddaughter commented that the public was going to get some change out of the new administration, all right. "Change is all their going to have left in their pockets," she stated.

LaJean defended her position by telling her granddaughter they would meet again in four years and "we'll see if you're still disenchanting with the Democrats," she countered.

"Okay," her granddaughter responded, "Are we going to meet in your cardboard box or mine?"

Have you seen Mike Carr, the chamber exec, running around in his pajamas?

Earl Brookhart said Mike approached him the other day and asked, "Was that outfit I bought a week or two ago a jogging suit or pajamas?"

"They were pajamas," answered Earl. "Why do you ask?"

"Well, I just wondered if I'd worn a jogging suit or pajamas to the supermarket last Saturday!" explained Carr.

Things got so bad in Congress that voters this year rejected the appeals of some members to be returned to office. So what do the other Congressmen think of their efforts--they're taking a 3.2 percent pay hike come Jan. 1. This is the result of a cost of living included in the last salary measure and approved by both the House and Senate. The wily members of Congress hoped to defuse the salary issue by tying their pay to the overall rate of inflation.

But there is hope. Twenty members of Congress are following the oath of office and attempting to uphold the Constitution. They have filed suit to block the pay raise on the basis of the 27th Amendment, which states "No law varying the compensation for the services of the senators and representatives shall take effect until an election of representatives have intervened."

The logic is simple. Congress is receiving a pay hike without an election between the increase and it taking effect. Predictably, the Democratic leadership does not see any constitutional conflict and is fighting the ban. Clearly, the automatic pay raise procedure is in violation of not only the spirit, but the letter, of the law. The courts should stop the practice and force an open vote on all Congressional pay raises.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

Would you please publish this letter concerning the petition drive to dry up Deaf Smith County?

To Whom It May Concern: We all know how proud Hereford is of itself and its achievements and what a strong family spirit and pride we all feel for the Herd. Pride in our schools, our sports teams, band, the accomplishments of our children, and our cattle and ag industry.

We've shown time and time again that when times got tough, we got tougher. But we pulled together and adjusted to the situation. Our ability to maximize our strengths and defy the odds silenced the taunts of adversity. We've got class! We've got style!

But for years now, there has been something going on here that is slowly beating us and giving us a bad name and we need to do something about it. Lives have been hurt and lost and a lot of property has been damaged.

We're all family. We're the "Herd" and I know that if someone were beating up on one of your own children, you wouldn't hesitate to take whatever measures were necessary to stop it. It's not someone else's problem; if it is someone else's fault, then you step in and correct it.

I'm talking about the availability of alcohol to those who are irresponsible with it. And to those of you who are responsible drinkers, I know this will be an inconvenience for you, but for the sake of the "Herd" family and those who are being hurt, I ask you to please make the sacrifice.

The longterm benefits will far outweigh the immediate drawbacks of any readjustment period. Sign the petition to call for a special election to dry up Deaf Smith County. Do it for the "Herd."

Sincerely, a concerned citizen,
William Harrison Jr.

Pornography in libraries?

BY JACK CHAMBERS

I remember a time when boys would peek at photos of topless native women in National Geographic. That was mighty tame compared to what is now available for viewing in public libraries.

Not it is possible for virtually anyone to view photos of Madonna engaged in various sexual acts with men, women, and a dog. The public libraries of Houston and Austin have joined other libraries in Texas and across the nation by ordering copies of the infamous book Sex, which contains explicit photos and essays on Madonna's erotic fantasies.

The book is basically a collage of sado-masochism, masturbation, lesbianism, sodomy, bi-sexual orgies, and bestiality. It has sparked a rash of criticism from a wide spectrum of public life. Referring to the book, syndicated columnist James J. Kirkpatrick writes: "In its own infinitesimal way, Sex adds to the pollution of our rivers and the smog of our cities."

Wichita Falls pastor Morris Chapman, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, says he was "shocked" to find out that the same company which prints many SBC publications, R.R. Donnelly & Sons of Chicago, chose to print Sex. Even Molly Ivins, the liberal columnist with the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, concluded after viewing the book, "This culture is going to the dogs."

An AP News Analysis

Clinton faces double challenge

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) - In a season of change, there is a time for reassurance and stability as well, and President-elect Clinton's careful beginning sends both messages.

There's hard work to be done but no rush to reach decisions, he says, as his transition managers talk of careful judgments in preparing for the Democratic administration that will take power at noon, 10 weeks from tomorrow.

The reassurance factor shows in Clinton's plan for an economic summit conference with business leaders and experts on the economy to talk about priorities in the new administration. His policies already are promised, in writing and in countless campaign speeches. At an economic summit next month in Little Rock, he would be seeking broadened backing among leaders who outlast candidates and administrations.

"... It will be an attempt to make an audit of where we stand now, to get advice from these individuals who run big companies or who are well-known in the economics field," said Warren Christopher, Clinton's transition director.

Any incoming president faces a double challenge: he's got to satisfy the expectations of the supporters who elected him and, at the same time, convince his defeated opponents that differences don't mean they cannot count on his leadership.

The new Clinton administration may face more pressure from the former - Democrats returning to power after 12 years in White House exile, with high expectations and resumes ready, bent on an instant overhaul of government.

In the week since his election, Clinton's statements and choices have pointed to a more cautious, methodical route. That was demonstrated in his choice of the two men in charge of his transition operations - including the screening of his Cabinet.

Christopher and Vernon E. Jordan, the transition chairman, were advisers to the nominee, and helped him pick running mate Al Gore. But they were not part of the Clinton campaign organization. In prior transitions, the newly elected president has almost invariably turned to a manager or top official of his campaign to oversee the transition.

He left the talking to them. Between them, they covered four Sunday TV interview programs.

"I'm not going to have any official comments for a while," Clinton said. "I just don't think I should say much right now."

He'd said the morning after his election that other world leaders, friend or adversary, should remember that President Bush is in charge until Jan. 20, and that "no one should doubt America's resolve during this period of transition."

That is traditional for an incoming president. "Foreign leaders must be aware that the president is still the president," Ronald Reagan said after he was elected to begin the Republic can rule Clinton has ended. The situation was different - foreign policy was paramount then, and the Iran hostage crisis had been a major factor in the defeat of Jimmy Carter. As president-elect, Reagan said the Iranians should not think there was anything to be gained by holding the embassy hostages until the change in presidents. They were freed at the hour Reagan took office.

Richard Nixon went overboard in the continuity department before he succeeded President Lyndon Johnson. Nixon said during his transition that LBJ would speak for both of them during the transition, later amending that to add that it would apply only when there had been prior consultation.

In this transition, the overwhelming issue is domestic, the economy. On that, Clinton is committed to change. And on a home front issue, an incoming president isn't constrained as on foreign policy.

But it still can be tricky. After Carter's election in 1976, he said a tax cut to boost the economy was a strong possibility, but that he wasn't

Notes on the law

A man now sits on death row in Texas. He has been convicted of murdering two Texas police officers 11 years ago. On October 7, 1992, his attorneys presented argument to the United States Supreme Court regarding a claim of newly discovered evidence.

We often hear about a last minute stay of execution being granted by some judge or court based on the latest in, perhaps, a series of post-conviction appeals. The costs associated with these types of appeals and the housing of the death row inmates has provided political grist for many politicians in recent years and also provided a subject of conversation over many a cup of coffee.

In Texas, state law limits the filing of claims based on newly discovered evidence to a period of 30 days following the date of sentencing. In the present matter, the 30-day time period has long since expired. The only other state remedy is for the inmate to petition for executive clemency. Thus, the attorneys argued that federal law should override the Texas state laws to allow a new hearing through a writ for federal habeas corpus.

At common law, the most common writ of habeas corpus was the habeas corpus ad subjiciendum. This writ directs the person in command of an inmate to produce the person in court so that a hearing contesting the legality of the imprisonment can be held. The hearing on a writ of habeas corpus does not directly address the issue of guilt or innocence, but rather addresses issues of procedure and due process rights.

In the present matter, the newly discovered evidence consists of four affidavits of witnesses who did not testify at the original trial. All four witnesses identify the inmate's brother as the murderer. One of the witnesses is the son of the inmate's brother and another is the attorney of the inmate's brother. The attorney can now testify because of the subsequent death of the inmate's brother, which ended the attorney-client privilege. The attorney states that the inmate's brother confessed to him that he had murdered the two officers.

These four affidavits of course present only the death-row inmates attempt to side-step execution and, obviously, the 12 jurors were convinced of his guilt after the original trial. Nevertheless, the case does raise the serious issue of what limitations society should impose regarding the review of convictions. Perhaps, the petition for executive clemency is an adequate safeguard against execution of innocent persons or, more precisely stated, against execution of persons whose guilt is not established beyond a reasonable doubt.

In the argument before the United States Supreme Court, Justice Anthony Kennedy asked the lawyers this question:

"Suppose you have a videotape which conclusively shows the person is innocent and you have a state which, as a matter of policy or law or both, simply does not hear new evidence claims. Is there a federal constitutional violation." (in the denial of a new hearing?) (parenthetical language added.)

The attorneys for the State argued there was no federal constitutional violation, while the inmate's attorneys asserted there was.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY
GREAT AMERICAN SMOKEOUT

Hospital is headquarters for smokeout on Thursday

Deaf Smith General Hospital is headquarters this year for the Great American Smokeout on Thursday, according to Nicky Walser, president of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society.

From 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., smokers who come to the Deaf Smith General Hospital lobby will be given information, healthy snacks, and encouragement to help them make it through the day, Walser said. During the Smokeout, smokers can take home several informational brochures and enjoy healthy snacks.

"We'll even trade the smoker a nice, shiny red apple for their cigarettes," she said.

"The Smokeout is a good-natured effort by the Cancer Society to encourage smokers to give up their cigarettes for one day," Ron Rives, DSGH administrator said. "If smokers see they can quit for 24 hours, they may quit forever."

Tobacco use is the single greatest cause of premature death in the United States, and lung cancer is the number one cause of death from cancer, according to the American Cancer Society. The Society estimates there will be over 160,000 new cases of lung cancer this year. It estimates that tobacco use will cause over 400,000 deaths this year alone.

Deaf Smith General hospital and the American Cancer Society, Hereford Chapter, urges all the residents of Hereford and the area to join the Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout November 21.

The Smokeout, celebrated each year on the third Thursday of November, is in its 16th year.

Non-smokers are urged to adopt smokers during the Smokeout, giving them gum, healthy snacks, and encouragement during the day.

According to the ACS, more than 18 million smokers participated in 1990. About half stayed off cigarettes for the full 24 hours, and almost 5 million were not smoking 1-3 days later.

To quit permanently, smokers need support from family, friends, and co-workers. The American Cancer Society offers the following tips for staying off cigarettes during the Smokeout:

-Throw out all cigarettes. Clean out all ashtrays in your office, home, and car, and put them away. Discard matches; give your lighters to someone to hide.

-Keep busy. Hold a pencil or pen. Chew on carrot sticks or a sucker.

-Change habits connected with smoking. Leave the dinner table soon after eating to avoid the desire to light up. When answering the phone, reach for gum rather than a cigarette.

Smokers who want to quit can also call the American Cancer Society's toll-free information line 1-800-ACS-2345 to receive 31 days of tips.

Bulldogs halt Whitefaces' season, 19-7

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Plainview kept the ball to itself, and as a result, gets to keep the bi-district trophy.

The Bulldogs countered a quick-strike touchdown by Hereford with 30 minutes of ball-control offense and won 19-7 in a bi-district contest Friday at Jones Stadium in Lubbock.

Hereford's season ends at 8-3. Plainview (10-1) will go on to face--Sweetwater-- in the next round.

Hereford scored first as Richard Wilbanks hauled in a 50-yard Richard Sanderson pass on the Herd's first play from scrimmage, setting up a one-yard scoring run by Petey Colvin. Hereford didn't get close to scoring again, though, as the Plainview defense limited the Herd's powerful offense to 195 total yards and an uncharacteristic 85 yards rushing.

"They had a good defense," Herd tailback Petey Colvin said. "We just couldn't get the offense going--regardless of how good their defense was, and that's not to discredit their defense. We just didn't get started. I don't know what the problem was. We just weren't playing with everybody in sync."

Plainview was able to move the ball against Hereford, rolling up 264 yards on the ground. The Bulldogs' offense only broke one big play, but usually got what it needed in three or even four plays. Fullback Damien Nails ran for 147 yards on 28 carries and tailback Kevin Polk added 91 yards on 23 carries. Each ran for a touchdown.

"They had some moves, but I think a lot of it was we wouldn't wrap them up," Herd linebacker Eric Sims said. "It wasn't as much them as it was us."

Bulldog quarterback Scott Parr completed one pass, but it was a big one: a 20-yard touchdown strike to Jira Sansom in the second quarter which gave Plainview the lead.

"I underestimated them--underestimated them a lot," Herd safety Shawn Fogo said. "I didn't think they'd be able to sustain a drive. They usually got frustrated (this season) when they didn't break the big play, but that didn't happen tonight."

Plainview performed overall better than Herd coach Danny Haney expected, he said.

"I felt if we could make them drive, they'd foul up and give us the ball," Haney said. "I thought we'd be able to drive the ball. We matched up well against them on offense. But you can't take anything away from Plainview. They played well, executed well, they controlled the game."

"Usually, when we've scored first, we've been able to control the game," Haney said. "But they're a great team. They were able to move the ball down and, as a result, control the game."

Plainview was forced to punt on its first possession when first Polk then Nails was stopped for short gains, then Hereford's Joel Gaytan batted down Parr's pass.

On Hereford's first play, Wilbanks got a step on Bulldog cornerback Tory Bryant, leapt and grabbed Sanderson's pass, and landed at the four-yard line.

"Petey and (Chris) Brummett had great fakes," Sanderson said. "Wilbanks ran a great route and made a great catch. That corner had good coverage, and he went up over him and caught it. He's the best we've got at doing that; that's why we throw it to him."

Three plays later, Colvin ran up the middle for a one-yard touchdown. Greg Coplen's kick made it 7-0 Hereford.

Plainview answered with a 71-yard, 13-play scoring drive. Polk keyed it with a 16-yard run on second-and-eight, and Nails finished it a three-yard run around the left end. Jeremy Sutton's kick tied the score.

Hereford came back and threatened to make the game into an offensive show. Sanderson hit Drew Radford for a 21-yard pass to move into Plainview territory, then Colvin ran for 11 yards. On the next play, though, Hereford was hit with a 10-yard penalty for blocking in the back. Two plays later, a scrambling Sanderson was stripped of the ball and Plainview's Mitchell Johnson recovered at the Plainview 42.

Hays upsets New Braunfels

DALLAS (AP) - New Braunfels rumbled into the playoffs by allowing only 28 points during an undefeated regular season. They staggered out of the first-round playoffs by almost matching that total in one game.

The Unicorns saw Hays Consolidated rack up eight sacks and allow no second-half points for a 24-14 victory in bi-district action Friday night.

"It was a tremendous effort," Hays coach Bob Shelton said. "In the second half our defense took control."

There were few surprise winners in Friday night's opening round. Two of the three defending champions in action all advanced, as did the three teams that ended the regular season ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press schoolboy football poll.

Hays' 3-0 lead on a 24-yard field goal by Josh Schwartz was set up by a 45-yard run by Thomas Dewan, who had a game-high 147 yards on 20 carries.

New Braunfels went ahead 14-3 on two 33-yard touchdowns, first by James Sargent, then by Alan Payne.

Matt McKinney's 25-yard touchdown run early in the second half put Hays up for good. The defense secured the lead by allowing only three first downs the rest of the game.

Hays (9-2) advances to the area round against Austin LBJ, which tied Waco University 43-43 but advanced on a 21-15 edge in first downs. New Braunfels and LBJ finished the regular season ranked seventh and eighth.

LBJ led University 21-7 late in the first half, but faced a 35-28 fourth-quarter deficit.

The Jaguars went ahead 43-35 on two touchdowns by Shon Mitchell, who rushed for a game-high 257 yards. University's Rodney Smith answered with a 70-yard touchdown pass to tight end Jerome Evans, then added a two-point conversion to tie the game with 1:31 remaining.

Each team had six penetrations.

Another exciting game saw Plano, the 1986 and 1987 Class 5A champion, defeat Garland Lakeview 13-10 on a final-second touchdown pass set up by a turnover.

Lakeview drove 80 yards in the final minutes to take a 7-3 lead in the Class 5A Division I game then appeared to have sealed the victory when Damon Stegal intercepted a Plano pass.

But instead of downing the ball, Lakeview fumbled and Plano recovered. Reserve quarterback Mike Nelson hit tight end Danny Fletcher on a 34-yard touchdown pass as time expired.

"I knew I was right on the goal line, and I wanted to make sure I could get in the end zone," said Fletcher, who used his 6-3 frame to position himself for the catch.

Plano (8-2-1) will face the winner of Saturday's game between Arlington and Dallas Sunset.

The most interesting title chase could be in Class 2A, where Region IV boasts defending champion, No. 3 Schulenburg, and the first-, sixth- and seventh-ranked teams.

The Shorthorns began their title defense with a 55-28 victory over Shiner that was sparked by quarterback Casey Taber's throwing for three touchdowns and running for three more.

Schulenburg (10-1) next meets Blanco, a 21-14 winner over Thorndale. The winner of that game plays the survivor of No. 1 Freer and No. 6 Refugio.

That early-round duel was set up by Freer's 78-7 victory over Bracketville and Refugio's 27-0 shutout of Industrial.

Defending Class 4A champion A&M Consolidated, ranked third, defeated Houston Forest Brook 20-6 for its 10th straight victory.

The Tigers scored on their first possession of each half and Kyle Bryant added field goals of 22 and 40 yards to lead A&M into the area round against No. 5 Bay City, a 42-0 winner over Houston Wheatley.

Rodney Mitchell had 233 yards and four touchdowns as the Black Cats spoiled Wheatley's first postseason trip since it was the state's 1954 black school champion.

Southlake Carroll - undefeated in regular season for the sixth consecutive year - proved with a 61-7 victory over Eastland why it is the team to beat in Class 3A.

The Dragons next play No. 6 Reagan County, a 29-15 winner over Clint.

The 3A crown has been lost by Groesbeck, which allowed two touchdowns within three minutes in the fourth quarter in its 28-17 loss to undefeated Robinson.

The Goats led 17-14 in the third quarter until Ned Barrier and Jason Tucker connected on scoring passes of nine and 48 yards. The second touchdown was set up by a fumble.

Robinson advances to face Coldspring (10-1), which defeated Center 39-18.

Bartlett, Class A's top-ranked team entering the postseason, defeated Chilton 22-15.

The Sandies meet undefeated D'Hanis in the next round, then could play No. 2 Runge, which faces Agua Dulce. Those three teams received first-round byes.

"We missed opportunities in the first half in the second possession," Hanev said. "We got a couple of first downs but we couldn't convert. If we're able to take it down and score it would have taken the wind out of (Plainview's) sails. We missed opportunities, but they had a lot to do with that."

The ball didn't bounce the right way for Hereford Friday—literally. Hereford fumbled once and Plainview recovered. Plainview fumbled twice and muffed two punts and one kickoff, but the Herd didn't come up with the ball on any of those (they had a chance on three of them).

A fumble helped Hereford stop Plainview on their next drive. Sims and Kirk Self combined to stop Polk on third-and-four at the Hereford 37. Plainview went for it on fourth-and-three, but Nails fumbled the pitch and recovered it for a seven-yard loss.

Hereford went three plays and punted. The Bulldogs' deep man, Steven Riddley, muffed the punt, but teammate Cleat Bell beat several Whitefaces to the ball. Three plays later, Nails broke loose for a 60-yard gain. Fogo caught him from behind at the 14-yard line, but it only delayed the touchdown.

Four plays later, Parr found Sansom across the middle. Herd cornerback Ronnie Gomez nearly had an interception on the play, but the ball slipped through to Sansom and he ran in for the score. Sutton's kick was wide right, and Plainview led 13-7 with 3:58 left in the half. That was the score at halftime.

Plainview kicked off and forced a punt from Hereford. The Bulldogs then went 49 yards in 13 plays for their third touchdown. The drive last six minutes on all running plays—none for more than seven yards. Nails got five yards on fourth-and-four at the Hereford 25.

On first-and-ten from the 14, Nails broke several tackles, fumbled the ball at the seven and recovered it. The play was representative of the whole game for Hereford.

Polk finished the drive two plays later with a three-yard run, going untouched up the middle. Plainview went for two, but the pass intended for Sansom fell incomplete. The Bulldogs led 19-7 with 4:04 left in the third quarter.

Hereford was hurt by an illegal procedure penalty on its next possession—turning a third-and-one situation into a third-and-six. Sanderson was stopped short, Fogo punted, and once again Plainview covered the muffed punt.

Plainview converted on third-and-one and fourth-and-three—running lots of time off the clock—before Hereford stopped them. Kirk Self and Mark Kuper combined on a sack of Parr on fourth-and-four at the Hereford 12 with 7:31 left to go.

With time running out and two touchdowns needed, Sanderson aired the ball out on both possessions of the fourth quarter. Hereford moved near midfield on a run that Colvin nearly broke all the way. Sanderson threw deep on third and fourth downs, and nearly connected with Brummett on third down, but the pass was broken up by safety Riddley. The fourth down pass was out of bounds and Plainview took over.

The Bulldogs converted on fourth-and-one but was stopped on fourth-and-seven with 2:44 left. Hereford got some short gains, but Plainview wouldn't let anybody open deep.

Bowe dethrones Holyfield

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Riddick Bowe could prove to be a most interesting heavyweight champion.

After taking Evander Holyfield's crown with a unanimous, grueling 12-round decision Friday night, Bowe paused on his way out of the ring to get in Lennox Lewis' face, challenging him to go 12 rounds - "right now."

Later, the 25-year-old Bowe came on like Muhammad Ali, saying of Lewis, "He's a big, ugly bum and I don't care if he gets mad; he can't whup nobody."

And still later, Bowe, his right eye puffy, donned dark glasses to do one of his assortment of impressions, a credible Stevie Wonder.

Bowe, from the same Brooklyn neighborhood as Mike Tyson, may make his first title defense in London against Lewis, who beat him in the gold medal round of the 1988 Olympics. Or it may be against 43-year-old George Foreman. In Beijing.

One impression Bowe put to rest Friday night was that he was a quitter. That tag has hounded him since a referee at the Seoul Olympics stopped his fight against Lewis in the second round. Some critics thought Bowe quit. He says the referee shouldn't have stopped the fight.

He most certainly did not quit against Holyfield.

The 10th round was a classic, a test of courage which both fighters passed.

Early in the round, Bowe buckled Holyfield's knees with several hard shots to the head. As Holyfield staggered around the ring, his arms and legs flailing, Bowe continued to pound him.

At one point, Holyfield staggered into the ropes, reeled into the corner, bounced off and somehow managed to remain on his feet.

"Wasn't that amazing?" Bowe said, still finding it hard to believe that Holyfield could stay up. "I thought he was crazy or something. I was thinking, 'Go down, go down.'"

"You have to give Evander a lot of credit. He has the heart of a lion."

Not only did Holyfield not go down, he rallied, somehow reaching back for a reserve of strength to go on the offensive. Suddenly, Bowe looked listless and Holyfield began landing hard shots to the head.

It was Bowe's turn to show determination. He took all Holyfield's punches, stood firmly and landed a few punches of his own as the 10th was ending.

"I felt he was tired and I had a chance to take him out," Holyfield said. "But he kept coming right back. He proved he could fight all night long."

In the 11th, Bowe finally knocked Holyfield down, but he got up quickly and took the mandatory eight-count before gamely continuing.

Holyfield, whose loss was the first of his 29 pro bouts, was gracious in defeat.

"I fought the fight I thought would win, but everything I did Bowe did better," Holyfield said. "He's proven he can give it and he can take it."

Holyfield also said that he did not want a rematch and that he was finished fighting, explaining, "Hey, I've been relieved. I've been blessed in another way. Now I get to spend more time with my kids."

Clippers blow out Lakers

By The Associated Press
The Magic Johnson era is over in Los Angeles. The Lakers' consistent domination of their crosstown rivals may be, too.

The Los Angeles Clippers rang up their most lopsided victory ever against the Lakers on Friday night, winning 124-98 in a game that was decided in the first half.

It was only the Clippers' second win at the Forum in their last 32 visits. Kiki Vandeweghe came off the bench to lead the Clippers with 24 points, while Danny Manning added 20.

In other NBA action, Indiana nipped Charlotte 110-109, Washington topped New York 106-104, Philadelphia beat Boston 126-115 and Portland held off Cleveland 115-109 and Chicago defeated Milwaukee 101-96.

Pokes get inside info from coach

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - As if things aren't gloomy enough for the fast-sinking Los Angeles Rams, they have to deal Sunday with a "spy" in the Dallas Cowboys camp.

Actually, the "spy" is on the Cowboys payroll, and he knows the Rams' style of play inside-and-out. He has a Los Angeles playbook in his mind.

The Valley Ranch undercover man is Dallas offensive coordinator Norv Turner who learned a lot of what he knows about the game from Ernie Zampese, the Rams' offensive mastermind.

Turner, who spent six years with the Rams, has transformed the 8-1 Cowboys into one of the hottest offensive teams in the NFL. Emmitt Smith, the NFL's leading rusher, and quarterback Troy Aikman say they owe their success to Turner's imaginative schemes.

"Norv finds different ways to get the ball into my hands," Smith said. "I wouldn't be where I am without him."

"Turner has made me proficient in the passing game," Aikman said.

Oilers have same problem as Vikings of several years ago

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - A roster filled with Pro Bowl players. A popular, easy-going coach. A domed stadium that provides a significant homefield advantage. Great expectations.

Today's Houston Oilers have so much in common with yesterday's Minnesota Vikings, it's incredible.

The Oilers have made the playoffs every year since 1987. And every year, prognosticators predict Super Bowl appearances that never come. Houston is the only team to qualify for postseason the last five years, yet it hasn't even advanced to the AFC title game.

The Vikings made the playoffs in 1987, 1988 and 1989. For those years and the two disappointing seasons that followed, they were preseason favorites. Super Bowls appearances? None.

Vikings cornerback Audray McMillian has been part of both should-have-been-but-never-was scenarios. He was with the Oilers from 1985 to 1988 before coming to Minnesota in 1989.

His current team hosts his former club Sunday at the Metrodome.

"I see Houston the same way I saw us a couple of years ago. There's a tremendous amount of talent but everybody's not focused on the same goal," McMillian said. "The players have to realize that there are things a little more important than just making money. The same thing happened here. Sometimes you forget that it's what you do on Sunday that makes you win."

The Vikings went 14-18 during Jerry Burns' final two seasons. Dennis Green replaced Burns, who retired, and has guided Minnesota (7-2) to a three-game lead in the NFC Central.

"Green and his staff gave us new focus," McMillian said. "But it's not for me to comment on Houston's situation. I'm not going to say Houston needs a new coach or anything like that."

Jack Pardee has been running the Oilers since succeeding Jerry Glanville in 1990. He has been popular with fans and players, and his team has won more than it has lost. But, like Glanville before him and Burns at Minnesota, he hasn't been able to take his team to the next level.

The Oilers (5-4) have lost two games in a row and play their next three at Minnesota, Miami and Detroit. Though Houston never has been a good road team, players are happy to get away from the Astrodome.

"I think our fans are kind of frustrated with us right now. We have very high expectations," Warren Moon said. "I think it's a good time to get away. When you go on the road, you know the reaction is going to be negative. At least that's what you expect, as opposed to getting that reaction when you're playing at home."

Like the Vikings of recent years, the Oilers are victims of their own high expectations. Minnesota couldn't win even when it had 12 Pro Bowl players. Houston has 10 recent all-stars on its roster.

"It's difficult when people expect big things out of you. We're probably pressing too hard," Moon said. "We know we have a good football team and we've had a good team for the last five years, but we've never been able to get over the hump as far as getting into the championship game."

"We thought we would make that step this year. But right now, we're battling just to get into the playoffs," said Pardee. "Everybody around town was trying to put us in the Super Bowl before we even played the games. We don't have to worry about that right now. We have to worry about this week."

The company line in Minnesota is also one week at a time. In the past, the Vikings, too, were guilty of looking ahead. They, too, never lived up to expectations.

"The Minnesota Vikings can't afford to be complacent," McMillian said. "We're going to play each week like it's the Super Bowl."

Improving The Ways You're Able To Grow

As a Zimmatic® dealer, we work hard to improve the ways you're able to grow your crops, your operation and your profits. One way is to provide new and innovative products. AIMS, Automated Irrigation Management System, is the most recent example of how we and Lindsay are helping growers get the most from their Zimmatic center pivot and corner pivot systems.

You can save countless hours in the field by programming the AIMS panel to:

- Change application rates to irrigate multiple crops more effectively.
- Speed up or slow down the system to cope with low spots, slopes and different soil types.
- Adjust system operation to take advantage of lower electric rates.
- Inject chemicals and fertilizers at the precise location.

And, you can count on us to install the AIMS control panel and make sure you're comfortable using it. In addition, our complete line of irrigation systems are available to help meet all your irrigation needs.

COWBOYS

"I can't say enough about him."
Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson, who hired Turner on the advice of defensive coordinator Dave Wannstedt, admitted it gives Dallas an edge.
"There's no question Norv knows a lot about what they are doing," Johnson said. "Our offense mirrors the Rams offense in some respects."
Turner tries to downplay his role in Sunday's 3 p.m. CDT game in Texas Stadium.
"It's a different defense under Chuck Knox than it was under John Robinson," Turner said. "It's not that big a deal."

However, Turner admitted it will be strange going against the team with the Rams horn on the helmets. "It does make it a special game for me," Turner said. "I guess Ernie is the only guy left there I worked with and in a way that makes it more comfortable. If John was still on the staff it wouldn't be as comfortable."
The Cowboys, off to their fastest start in nine years, are looking for their 12th consecutive victory at home.
The win streak dates back to Dallas 21-16 victory over the New York Giants on Sept. 29, 1991.

Dallas leads the NFL in defense and running back Emmitt Smith has a league-high 12 rushing touchdowns. The Rams, 3-6, have been killed by turnovers and are 14-point underdogs. Jim Everett has been intercepted 10 times and running back Cleveland

Gary has been plagued by fumble problems.
"Turnovers have hurt us and we have to stop that to beat Dallas," said Knox said. "We've hustled. We've hit. We've stayed competitive. Now, we need to win."
Noble also swung a productive bat. He had three hits in five attempts, driving in two runs and scoring a pair himself.

Style show, German supper scheduled

In conjunction with the Hereford Senior Citizens Association's Festival of Trees celebration Nov. 19-22, Hereford merchants will be participating in a style show and German supper from 7-9 p.m. Friday, Nov. 20, at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 426 Ranger Drive.

According to the style show chairperson, Thelma Mercer, admission will be $6.50 per person. This includes the price of the meal. Tickets may be purchased at the center or from participating merchants: Gaston's, Anthony's, Little's, The Vogue, Inkahoots, The Ginger Tree, Pants Cage, Betty's Shoes, EtCetera, Kids Alley, Merle Norman, Class Act, Yiota's and Sew 'n' Tell. The fashion show will be narrated by Mary Thomas and music will be provided by Cheryl Betzen.

The meal will consist of German sausage, salad, cabbage strudel, homemade hot rolls, fried potatoes and sherbet.

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) - A woman is suing for more than $10 million over a book that claims she and soul singer James Brown were lovers.

Jacqueline Daughtry of Atlanta filed the lawsuit against author Stanley Booth and Random House last week, claiming the allegation in "Rhythm Oil" harmed her reputation and her marriage.

Christmas Tour of Homes set

Each year members of La Madre Mia Study Club sponsor the 1992 Christmas Tour of Homes showcasing three outstanding residences. Proceeds from the club's major fund raiser will be used for various community projects and for a scholarship to be presented to a Hereford High School graduating senior. This year's tour, which is planned from 3-5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 6, will include the homes of Justin and Ruth McBride, 824 W.

Park Ave.; Buster and Cynthia Miller, 220 Ranger Drive; and Joe and Annie Brown, 206 Ironwood. Tickets are priced at $3 per person and may be purchased from club members or at the residences the day of the tour. Cynthia Miller, second from right, serves coffee to La Madre Mia Club members, from left, Mysedia Smith, Glenda Marcum and Lavon Nieman, in her elegant dining room.

Lone Star Study Club to prepare Christmas basket

Plans were made to prepare a Christmas basket for a needy family when members of Lone Star Study Club met recently in the home of Margaret Ann Durham.

Also, during the business meeting with Ursalee Jacobsen presiding, it was announced that the social committee will choose the family which will receive the basket.

Oneita Davidson gave a timely program on Thanksgiving. Each member was asked to take the letters in "Thanksgiving" and mention things that she is thankful for.

Durham and Gladys Willoughby served refreshments to Davidson, Byrdie Fellers, Wilma Goetsch, Naomi Hare, Jacobsen, Retta Ramp, Verna Sowell, Ruby Stevenson, Gracie Tinnin, Quintna Waits and Jo Wade.

The next meeting was scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Dec. 8 in the home of Ursalee Jacobsen.

On April 21, 1836, an army of Texans led by Sam Houston defeated the Mexicans at San Jacinto, capturing the Mexican leader, Gen. Santa Ana, and assuring the independence of Texas.

Sixth grade students rewarded

Donna Brockman, executive director of Deaf Smith County Museum, presented an Indian outreach program recently for the sixth graders at Bluebonnet Intermediate School as a reward ending the second six weeks of classes. Christmas decorations were made for Bluebonnet's entry in the Hereford Senior Citizens Fall Festival of Trees celebration. The group also watched a movie and walked to Sirloin Stockade for lunch.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Keith Carradine, who stars in "The Will Rogers Follies" as the cowboy humorist, sounded like a tenderfoot during a visit to Rogers' birthplace. "I like the sound of cows. I'm much fonder of the way they sound than the way they smell, but I'm sure a fellow could even get used to that," the 43-year-old actor said Monday. Carradine, who starred in "Will Rogers" on Broadway when it won a Tony for best musical in 1991 and is touring with the road show, visited Rogers' birthplace in Oologah, 20 miles from Tulsa. The ranch is being restored as a museum. He dressed the part in cowboy hat, boots, jeans and a belt buckle so big he had to remove it to walk through the airport metal detector. Carradine said portraying Rogers has led to a few new mannerisms. "I sure scratch my head a lot more than I used to. I don't know if that's because of Will Rogers or because the world is more puzzling than ever. Either that, or I've got dandruff," he said.

It takes an excess of 3,500 calories in the diet to gain a pound.

School of instruction given for Rebekah Lodge members

District Deputy President Ruby Green of Muleshoe gave a school of instruction to members of Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 Tuesday evening. Noble Grand Anna Conklin presided at the business session. Reports were made on sick members. Forty-four visits to the sick, 35 cheer cards, 15 dishes of food delivered and four flowers were recorded.

Plans were completed for the annual Thanksgiving supper scheduled at 7 p.m. Nov. 17.

Members voted to contribute items to the Texas Department of Human Resources for the annual Christmas party for the elderly in Hereford.

Shirley Brown served as hostess at the fellowship hour.

Others present were Susie Curtsinger, Genevieve Lynn, Erma Loving, Lydia Hopson, Rosalie Northcutt, Marie Harris, Ann Werner, Ben Conklin, Jo Irbeck, Tony Irbeck, Ocie Bolton, Mary Lou Weatherford, Peggy Lemons, Ursalee Jacobsen and guest, Thursie Reed of Muleshoe Rebekah Lodge #114.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) - Edward James Olmos, who has tried to inspire other Hispanics with his success, says kids are themselves role models. "Just look around you," the star of "Miami Vice" and the movie "Stand and Deliver" told students at Humboldt High School on Tuesday. "There is always someone looking at you who is trying to figure out their life."

The students applauded his testimony on his own lifestyle choices: "I don't drink, I don't smoke and I don't do drugs."

He told the students he started life with his family of seven in an East Los Angeles house the size of a one-car garage.

The first automobile show was held in New York City in 1900.

Hints from Heloise

RECYCLING PLUS

Dear Heloise: You asked readers for their favorite recycling or reusing methods. Mine is a simple one and it doesn't take a lot of effort or thought.

I live alone, and it has been many years since I have chosen to cook for myself. In fact, I donated my stove to make room for my computer.

Anyway, I love takeout sushi, and when I stop to order it I bring along a sturdy plastic container with a lid. Of course, it works for pasta too since one cannot live on sushi alone, and it means that one less plastic foam carton is used.

A nifty P.S. to this story is that I seem to have inspired others. Now when I stand in line, there are others carrying reusable containers. — Lenday Whiteley, Irvine, Calif.

Hats off to you for being a role model toward an environmentally sound trend. — Heloise

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We hear a lot about child abuse and the sad plight of teen-age runaways. But no one says much about parental abuse.

My husband's 15-year-old daughter lives with us. We took her in several years ago when she couldn't get along with her mother and begged to live here. We welcomed her with open arms and were happy to have her because we thought it would be wonderful for all of us. WRONG.

"Ellie" has made our lives hell for nearly three years. She curses at me and calls me names when I ask her to help around the house. She goes into screaming rages hits me, spits at me and makes degrading remarks in front of family and friends.

Don't suggest counseling. The therapist discharged her for refusing to cooperate. Sending her back to her mother is out. Her mother is fed up and refuses to have anything to do with her. Boarding school is not an option. We can't afford it, and she threatens to run away if we send her. Besides, how long would any school keep a child who exhibits this kind of behavior?

We have received extensive counseling on how to handle Ellie, but nothing works. I used to feel sorry for teens whose parents kicked them out, but now I'm not so quick to pass judgment. Can you help us?—S.M., New Orleans, La

DEAR S.M.: Ellie's bad behavior could be caused by a physiological or psychological problem. Have you had her tested? If not, I recommend it. Perhaps she needs to be on medication.

Meanwhile you and your husband should try another counselor.

Have you conferred with her teachers? Apparently Ellie doesn't behave this way in school or they wouldn't keep her. Find out what she responds to. Ask for help. Try everything. If readers who have been through this have some suggestions, I'd like to hear them.

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

National Children's Book Week

In conjunction with the observance of National Children's Book Week Nov. 16-20, students at West Central are reading to earn an invitation to the "Hug-a-Book" party planned Dec. 14 in the school library. The invitation is earned by reading seven books of different kinds, reading 15 minutes each evening, discussing a book with a friend, and making a book jacket for one of the books. Party goers will enjoy a film, popcorn and special prizes. Darci Manning, a fourth grader, and Lisa Coneway, a fifth grader, were the first two students at West Central to complete requirements for reading to receive an invitation to the "Hug-a-Book" party.

DIETETIC FOODS-- NOT ALLOWED FOR DIABETICS

Don't be misled by a "dietetic" label on foods. "Dietetic" doesn't necessarily mean "diabetic." A "dietetic" food may have had one or more ingredients such as fat, sugar or salt changed, replaced or restricted. The product usually has fewer calories than the regular product.

In fact, many products labeled "dietetic" may be for persons on low sodium, low cholesterol, diabetic or other special diets and may not be lower in calories, she said.

Calorie-wise, many dietetic foods don't differ much from regular foods. For example, one-half cup regular ice cream contains 175-230 calories, while the same portion of dietetic ice cream has 90-100 calories.

The main difference between them involves substituting nutritive sweeteners such as xylitol, sorbitol or mannitol for sugar in the dietetic product. Their use is advised on the grounds that they will produce less rise in plasma glucose than would sucrose or glucose.

Sorbitol, xylitol, and mannitol—like sugar—are metabolized as carbohydrates in the body. People with diabetes should be advised to consume no more than 50 to 80 grams or more of sorbitol and 20 grams or more of mannitol since their use at these levels can cause osmotic diarrhea. They provide about the same number of calories as sugar, but are metabolized at a slower rate. This is important for diabetics, who can't metabolize sugar adequately.

For the above reasons, dietetic ice cream—which usually costs more and lacks the taste of regular ice cream—is intended for the diabetic who does not need to lose weight, is intended for the diabetic who does not need to lose weight rather than the weight-conscious person with or without diabetes, the agent said. In other words these sweeteners will produce less of a rise in plasma glucose, but will provide about the same number of calories as sucrose.

Dieters or weight watchers will find that ice milk has lower fat content—and fewer calories, she added.

Manufacturers of dietetic ice cream such as a protein derivative Simplese are now also reducing the fat content by adding fat substitutes or by merely changing the formulation of their products to contain less fat.

To find other foods low in calories, the agent advises diabetics and weight watchers to read labels. Although some labels furnish the content's caloric count, the ingredient list also provides a key.

Ingredients are listed in order of weight. The ingredient with the greatest weight is listed first followed by the next heaviest ingredient and so on down the line. If sugar or another form of sweetener is listed first, second or third, or if several different types of sweeteners are listed on the label, think carefully before using the product.

Sugar comes in many disguises; on a label it is not always identified by the word "sugar". These are some common names for sugar and sweeteners: sucrose, fructose, levulose, lactose, molasses, maple syrup, glucose, dextrose, maltose, corn syrup, sorghum, sorbitol, high fructose corn syrup, invert sugar, honey, dextrin, brown sugar, mannitol.

If the label on the ice cream makes a nutritional claim, then the manufacturer will probably have nutrition labeling which discloses the amount of carbohydrate, protein, fat and calories as well as the vitamins and minerals present in the product.

Library celebrates observance

Nov. 16-21 is National Children's Book Week and Deaf Smith County Library is celebrating with the theme "Books Make the World Go Round."

Children in grades K5 through sixth grade are encouraged to come in during the week to register for a children's atlas to be given away Monday, Nov. 23.

On Wednesday, Nov. 18, the library will host an after-school film special. "Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great" is based on the book of the same name by Judy Blume and "Wacky Machine" is based on Homer Price by Robert McCloskey. The double feature, which will run approximately one hour, will begin at 4 p.m. in the library basement. There is no charge.

Festival of Arts, Crafts Dec. 5

Wesley United Methodist Church will be hosting its 12th Annual Festival of Arts and Crafts from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Dec. 5 at the Hereford Community Center.

Love offerings will be taken on a quilt made by Mary Dean to be given away at the end of the day.

There is a few booths still available. Call Ellen Collins at 364-0774.

"American Bandstand," hosted by Dick Clark, made its network debut on ABC in 1957.

President Harry S. Truman seized the steel industry in 1952 to avert a nationwide strike.

Artist Pablo Picasso died at his home near Mousins, France, in 1973. He was 91.

Leonard places first

Local Toastmaster member, Chris Leonard, recently won first place in the District 44 Humorous Speech Contest with his presentation, "I Hate This Game", a whimsical look at golf. District 44 includes all of West Texas. Leonard now progresses to regional competition which will be held next spring in Houston.

Hendrickson gives program on gemstones

"Gemstones: All that Glitters" was the cultural program given by Dona Hendrickson when members of Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Nov. 3 in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service building.

The speaker discussed precious and semi-precious stones describing the characteristics of each.

Vice president Deann Harris presided over the meeting and led the 11 members in reciting the opening ritual. Peggy Hyer called roll as members answered with Christmas gift ideas. Gaye Reily read the minutes which were approved. Harris asked members to sign up for the sorority cookbook Christmas contest.

Thank you were extended to secret sisters for Halloween gifts from Linda Arellano, Marge Bell, Sharon Bodner, Dalene Burns, Melinda Henson, Dona Hendrickson, Connie Matthews, Peggy Hyer, Susan Shaw, Gaye Reily and Kay Williams.

It was announced that Janice Yvonne Duke of Dimmitt may be interested in joining the chapter. Also, members were reminded of rituals which will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 17, in the west meeting room of the Hereford Community Center.

Treasurer Linda Arellano reported that $224.43 was made at the Crimestoppers' Halloween booth. Future ways and means projects

TSTA will host special reading program at library Nov. 21

Texas State Teachers Association and Hereford Educators Association members will read to children on Nov. 21 at Deaf Smith County Library as part of the "Book It" program.

The special day is part of the reading emphasis every November in the Hereford schools. Families are urged to spend more "prime" time reading and enjoying other activities together.

The program here is sponsored by TSTA and is being held in conjunction with many other cities in Texas.

"It is very natural that the first teachers children have in life should end up being the best," said a local teacher. "Parents are the ones who nurture children through the first delicate years in life and it is to them they initially look to for intellectual stimulation."

From 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Nov. 21, teachers, educational workers and volunteers will be reading and passing along tips to parents on how to read and share more time with their children.

A single moth lays from 100 to 150 eggs, and each one that hatches lives and grows by eating the material around it. Under ideal conditions, there can be four or five generations of moths and larvae in a year.

Angela Geron of Dallas became the bride of Kent Walterscheid of Hereford during an evening wedding ceremony Saturday at St. Monica Catholic Church in Dallas. Father Donald Zimmerman of the church officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Nelson (Skip) Geron Jr. of San Angelo and Mali Geron of Dallas. The bridegroom is the son of Lani Long of Hereford and Larry Walterscheid, also of Hereford.

Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Geron Sr. of Sweetwater and Mrs. Edyth Forsyth of Lubbock. The bridegroom's parents are former Hereford residents, Dr. and Mrs. C.E. Rush of Rockdale, Texas and Mrs. F.J. Walterscheid of Hereford.

The church altar was decorated with garland, white velvet bows and white poinsettias.

Kellie Quinn served as maid of honor and the groom's brother, Eric Walterscheid, was best man.

Angela Graves was bridesmaid and the groom's brother, Jason Walterscheid, was groomsman.

Junior bridal attendants were Lacy Van Court and the bride's brother, David Geron.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Casey and Clay Aicklen, respectively, children of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Aicklen. James Staudt provided musical selections. The groom's sister, Kristin Walterscheid, read verse.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a raw silk princess-styled gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, modified Bishop sleeves with lace cut-out insets, a fitted bodice and a full skirt attached to a basque waistline. The gown was heavily encrusted with beads and sequins and featured a cathedral-length train. Scalloped lace encircled the gown's hemline.

The bridal illusion waist-length veil formed a large pouf at the back of a headpiece designed with delicate white flowers and floral sprays. She carried a cascading bouquet of white orchids and roses accented with greenery.

Bridal attendants wore tea-length dark teal dresses fashioned with sweetheart necklines. They also wore matching shoes and carried white orchids decorated with lace and ribbon.

The reception was held in the Addison Conference and Theatre Centre.

Mary Griffin served cake, and punch and coffee were poured by Danna Cawthon.

The three-tiered white bride's cake was decorated with fresh orchids. The groom's chocolate mousse cake had chocolate slivers.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Nuero Vallarta, Mexico.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University and is employed as a training assistant by Steak and Ale Restaurant Corp.

The groom graduated from Texas Tech University and is employed as a credit extension lead for J.C. Penney Business Services.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Country star Billy Ray Cyrus will make his acting debut in a TV movie.

The deal with ABC also calls for the "Achy Breaky Heart" singer to star in two music specials, the first to be broadcast early next year, the network said Monday. Details of the movie deal were not disclosed.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - "Northern Exposure" actor Barry Corbin and his wife, Susan, are divorcing after 16 years of marriage.

Mrs. Corbin filed for divorce Friday, the actor's publicist, Elizabeth Much, said Monday.

The couple will share custody of their children, 13-year-old James and 10-year-old Christopher.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

GROWING JOBS

Tall oaks from little acorns grow. - David Everett

During the last weeks of the recent presidential election campaign there was a great deal of focus on the economy and creating jobs. All three front running candidates spoke of the actions they would take, if elected. "Yes sir, we'll pass a bill, create a program, put together a plan, get our best people right on it, etc.," they said.

Unfortunately, the very last thing our nation needs is more bills, programs, plans and bureaucrats meddling in the free enterprise system. Left alone, American businesses can tackle the job of rebuilding the economy very well, thank you. The key words here are "left alone."

I urge you to demand that our newly elected representatives - from the President on down - keep the government out of the way of our entrepreneurs. You see, governments don't create jobs. Neither do government programs, tax give-aways, economic plans, legislative bills, regulations or job training. All productive, economy building, basic income jobs come from the private sector businesses. Most of them come from small businesses. Perhaps, that is because most businesses are small businesses or maybe it's because all businesses start small. From small beginnings

Just like tall oaks from little acorns, big businesses grow from small businesses. Small businesses sprout from the seeds of ideas formed in the minds of bright men and women who desire profit, recognition and fulfillment.

They nurture those seeds with sacrifice and long hours of hard work. They stimulate the roots with small amounts of capital and often fertilize the growth with debt.

With luck, they will survive and grow into statuesque giants of industry. It is likely that some of tomorrow's Fortune 500 leaders, are small businesses today.

Recent "acorns to oaks" would include Apple Computer, Inc., Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., Electronic Data Systems, Inc., Micro-Soft Computer and Nike Shoes. In fact, there are several "little acorn" success stories worth sharing.

Success stories
The mighty IBM computer company had humble beginnings as a purveyor of meat scales and time clocks. This "little acorn" grew and changed to meet changing customer needs. IBM, is now known best for its state-of-the-art computers. The company employs more than 400,000 men and women throughout the world.

Apple Computer, Inc., was founded in 1976, in a garage. It wasn't even the founder's garage. The garage belonged to the parents of Steve Jobs, who along with Steve Wozniak, built the company into a "tall oak" in the computer industry.

Harland Sanders, who founded Kentucky Fried Chicken, started his company out of his car. In the early days when sales were slow, Sanders, also slept in his car. Now the chain has more than 7,000 stores worldwide and is recognized as a "mighty oak" in the fast food industry.

J.C. Hall was an even smaller start. Hall started Hallmark Card Company out of a shoe box. The company now has worldwide sales of nearly $3 billion. Recently, Hallmark introduced a series of cards, titled the "Shoe Box" series, in honor of their founder's humble beginnings.

Multi-level marketer Amway, Inc., chocolate candy king Hershey Foods and tennis runner maker Nike Shoes, all started as home-based businesses. Electronics manufacturer, Hewlett-Packard, music industry giant, A&M Records, and La-Z-Boy Chair Company, were all founded in garages. These were small, seedlike companies with growth aspirations.

Now I hope you can see why I believe that our free enterprise system can create jobs. It works. Left alone, free from excessive government meddling, entrepreneurs will innovate, create and perpetuate the American dream.

Let's put entrepreneurs in charge of growing new jobs. Let's put the government in charge of .. uh... on second thought, let's put entrepreneurs in charge of the government too!

Musical planned

The fourth through sixth grade students at Nazarene Christian Academy will be presenting the musical, "My Way or Yahwey", at 6 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary of the Church of the Nazarene. The public is invited free of charge. Rehearsing for the play are, from left, Brynne Bryant, portraying "Little Maid", and Sally Cochran, playing "Naaman's wife."

—YOUR EYES—

KERATOCONUS

Keratoconus is a condition in which the central area of the cornea bulges forward, becoming thinner and irregular. In mild cases, there is usually a slight loss of vision, but where the condition is more severe, the loss is greater. Other symptoms reported are headaches, eye strain and seeing "halos."

Years ago, there was no way to control this condition. In time, the patient would need a corneal transplant. Now, rigid gas-permeable contact lenses can often help. The rigid lens exerts pressure on the cornea and may arrest the progression of the cone-shaped bulge so that the need for the transplant is eliminated. And the gas-permeability of lens allows enough oxygen for comfort to reach the eye.

Important: the protruding cornea that marks keratoconus is not always obvious. Nor do bulging eyes necessarily point to this condition. That's why it is vital that the individual be seen by the eye professional for a complete examination.

Marriage planned

Gloria Flores-Huereca and Todd D. Murray, both of Hereford, plan to wed Nov. 21 in Ave. Baptist Church.

The bride-elect is the daughter of George and Marie Huereca of 305 Lawton and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Terry Murray of 231 Ave. F.

Miss Huereca and her fiancé are employed by K-Bob's Steak House. Murray is a 1991 graduate of Hereford High School.

Students of Six Weeks

Hereford Junior High School recognizes students of the first six weeks. Katie Bone and Rob Reinauer, both eighth graders, were selected for the honor. They are shown in front of the display case which also recognizes teacher of the month, Marc Barham, and the employee of the month, Manuel Velasco.

How To Turn Six Numbers Into Six Figures.

Nowhere in the history of the world has there ever been any real significance to the number six.

There were never SIX Musketeers. There was never any movie entitled the Magnificent SIX. Nobody ever says, "Hey, homeboy, slap me SIX." There are no mentions of the big SIX automakers, and so on and so forth.

So, for the first time in the history of the world, lowly SIX is about to be elevated to a much higher level. Elevated, in fact, to millions, in a new type of game. Read on, it gets easier.

LOTTO Texas is a new game from the Texas Lottery. It's fun, it's exciting and it's easy to play. You pick six numbers from one to fifty, and should you happen to pick the same six numbers that come up during the drawings, then you could win millions of dollars.

Now, the long version on how to play LOTTO Texas:

Step number one.

Go to your LOTTO Texas retailer. You can only play where you see the red and yellow sign that says LOTTO Texas.

It shouldn't be a big problem.

There are thousands of LOTTO Texas retailers all over the state. Look at the lower right-hand part of this page. That is our new logo. (We're quite proud.) Wherever you see that sign, you know you can play LOTTO Texas.

Still with us? Great.

Step number two.

While you are at the retailer, pick up a playslip. There's a picture of it on this page. You may find the playslip in a stand called a play station. If not, just ask for one. Step number three. (My, we are moving right along now, aren't we?) Choose SIX of the numbers on the playslip from one to fifty. You can also play up to five times on each playslip. You must completely fill in the numbers you choose on the playslip with a BLACK OR BLUE BALLPOINT PEN OR A PENCIL ONLY. The pencil below is free, and it will work quite nicely.

Also, do not erase any of the mistakes you make. Just fill in the VOID box on that play and you will not be charged for it.

Step number four.

(Past the halfway mark.) Take a dollar (that's how much it costs to play LOTTO Texas) and give it and the playslip to the retailer. In just a few seconds, you will be handed a ticket that verifies which numbers you picked. Please remember: sign the back of your ticket so no one else can cash it in.

Step number five.

You can tune in to the televised drawings on Wednesday and Saturday nights at 9:58 p.m. CST to see how well you did. If you picked all six of the numbers that are randomly chosen on the ball machine, then you could be a millionaire.

If you miss the drawing, those numbers will be posted the next day at all LOTTO Texas retailers and in your local newspaper.

The jackpots are paid out to the winners in 20 annual installments. You can also win second and third prizes by matching five out of six numbers or four out of six numbers. Match three out of six and you'll win $3 automatically. If you win up to $599, you can collect your prize at any LOTTO Texas retailer. All winnings of $600 or more can be claimed at any of the Texas Lottery claim centers in any of the cities listed on the back of a How To Play brochure for LOTTO Texas. (That list is a little long for this ad.) You will also find the odds printed in that brochure. You can claim prizes through the mail, as well, by using a claim form that you pick up from any Texas Lottery retailer. Please make copies of the front and the back of your ticket before you send it in. The Texas Lottery is not responsible for tickets lost in the mail. All prizes must be claimed within 180 days of the drawing.

Finally, LOTTO Texas can be played up to 10 drawings (five weeks) in advance. If you want to play the same numbers for several drawings in a row, fill in the multi-draw box on your playslip with however many drawings you would like to play. You must be 18 years or older to play. And when you are watching the televised drawings, your heart may pound a little. Your palms may sweat. Please do remember to have fun.

COUNTRY HOME DESIGN COMPLETE

Covered Porch Leads To Formal Interior

© BY W.D. FARMER, F.A.I.B.D.

There are three bedrooms, two full baths, a formal living room and dining room as well as a great room and separate breakfast room on the first floor of this plan. The kitchen is central to the formal dining room and breakfast room and the laundry is separated from the main body of the plan. The great room includes an open rail stair to the second floor, a fireplace and deck access.

The second floor overlooks the great room at the study and light floods through the study from the three dormers. An additional bedroom and private bath are also shown upstairs. The bedroom is designed with sloped ceilings.

The country exterior is constructed of horizontal wood siding and features a steep gable roof design.

The plan is Number 2554. It is a computer generated plan. It includes 2,554 square feet of heated space. All W. D. Farmer plans are designed to conform to FHA and VA requirements and include special construction details for energy efficiency. For further information write W. D. Farmer, P. O. ABC's 'Jacksons' offers bland, beautiful history

Music, parents' portrayals work best

By Steven Alan McGaw
"The title of our miniseries tells the story," says Stan Margulies, executive producer of ABC's The Jacksons: An American Dream, airing Sunday and Wednesday, Nov. 15 and 18. Together with partner and former Motown Records executive Suzanne De Passe, Margulies believes he has helped to create a program that "reinforces the age-old belief that a strong family can make any dream come true in this country, given talent, hard work and ambition."

Perhaps. Certainly the gifted offspring of Joe and Katherine Jackson have traveled a long way from their modest beginnings in Gary, Ind. In the miniseries, the boys (success came first for the brothers in the Jackson Five; the girls got their chances later) seem to realize the potential of their talents and want success very badly. Rehearsing relentlessly according to their father's demands (and buoyed by their mother's quiet, unwavering support), the children coalesce into a single unit, a powerful entity for whom success seems inevitable.

But the cameras turn away from the grit and stress that must have filled the Jackson home, whether in Indiana or the tree-shaded hills of California. True, there are moments of TV-style drama — Joseph ridiculing a prepubescent Marlon in rehearsal, Katherine's anger and tears at learning of Joe's infidelity — but the only continuing emotions in the overlong (five hours) piece are love, hope and the ambition to sing, sing, sing. Didn't anyone question the worth of their pursuits? Was there no dissent as the other performing family members increasingly became Michael's sidemen? Apart from show business, were the Jacksons exempt from the normal agenda of spats, squabbles and divisions that plague other families?

Other, more specific omissions are also troubling. The group's inevitable encounters with racism remain unseen. Indeed, Joe's own band is shown playing in a blues bar in the early '50s, black and white patrons seated together, merrily bobbing their heads in time with the music. The children's romantic entanglements are barely touched. The project ends with a laughable recreation of a show from the briefly reunited group's Victory tour in 1984, widely regarded as musically mediocre and a public-relations fiasco. Also absent is any depiction of the rampant abuse and cruelty reported last year in a book written by estranged sister LaToya.

The project is not without its strengths. The music, needless to say, is terrific, a reminder of the talent Michael exhibited until it was overshadowed by his own strangeness. Lawrence-Hilton Jacobs, long relegated to straight-to-video action films, Sunday and Wednesday on ABC, Lawrence-Hilton Jacobs (top center) and Angela Bassett star as Joe and Katherine the parents of the phenomenally talented Jackson children, in ABC's The Jacksons: An American Dream. Also featured in the program are Billy Dee Williams as Motown founder Berry Gordy, and Holly Robinson as singer Diana Ross.

JACKSONS

makes an unforgettable Joe Jackson. Similarly, Angela Bassett is sympathetic in the role of the brood's long-suffering mother. Vanessa Williams makes a classy, eye-catching De Passe, and Billy Dee Williams brings both glamour and warmth to his flashy portrayal of Motown founder Berry Gordy. Holly Robinson contributes an elegant cameo appearance as Diana Ross.

In short, The Jacksons emerges as a pastel diorama of the Jacksons' lives, short on excitement and long on caution, an inoffensive cartoon that trivializes a powerful moment in popular music and the very real drama of family life.

Tragedy unfolds because 'No One Would Listen'

Michele Lee works on both sides of camera

By Dan Rice
When No One Would Listen, airing Sunday, Nov. 15, on CBS, is an outstanding true-life drama about spousal abuse. Much of the credit for bringing the project to television goes to Michele Lee (Knots Landing), who is both its star and executive producer. Lee plays Jessica, a wife and mother terrorized by her physically abusive husband, Gary (James Farentino). He is acquitted of shooting three neighbors under Colorado's "Make My Day" law which allows a homeowner to kill intruders with little provocation. Despite this demonstration of violence, the police are slow to react to Jessica's pleas for protection when she attempts a separation. A former abuse victim (Cicely Tyson) offers Jessica a way out by going "underground," but that would mean compromising her children's freedom. The situation is perilous no matter which path Jessica takes, and Gary is a man who won't let go.

Lee and co-producer Jerry Reger developed the dramatization after watching a report on the incident two years ago on PBS' Frontline (My Husband is Going to Kill Me).

Lee, who consulted a psychiatrist for Gary's characterization, describes a violent spouse as "a man who abuses her because he needs to be merged with her. If he should get too separated, he starts to lose his identity, because he feels she makes him whole."

Farentino is Lee's real-life ex-husband (their son, David Farentino, has a small role in the film). The pair have remained friendly since their divorce in 1981 in what she terms "extended family values."

Farentino creates a chilling presence while addressing the subtleties of his complex role. Lee is also at the top of her form, and through the device of scene-dividing monologues, the two convey their characters' changing understanding of the situation as events unfold. The narrative structure saves the plot from predictability and helps to involve the viewer emotionally.

Sunday on CBS, real-life former spouses James Farentino and Michele Lee star in When No One Would Listen, the story of a woman desperately trying to free herself and her children from her abusive husband.

On Sunday, NBC recognizes a daytime talk-show pioneer in Donahue: 25th Anniversary.

SOAP TALK

Soaps no place for happy marriages

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I wish the producers of One Life to Live would let Sarah stay on the show. Bo (Robert Woods) is by far the best actor on the show and he is at his best when he has his loving Sarah at his side. If Grace Phillips cannot keep the part, then maybe they could recast someone else.

I would love to see Bo and Sarah remarry, have a baby and be happy for a long time. -Helen, Nashville, Tenn.

Dear Reader: Woods is never paired with the same woman for too long for fear of things becoming boring. There are very few happily married couples on the soaps, simply because viewership thrives on conflict between characters. There is always the possibility the role of Sarah could be recast and brought back at a later date.

Dear Candace: I have been watching The Young and the Restless since its beginning. Jack's character used to be played by Terry Lester, and it's been a couple of years since he was on the show. He was supposed to have gone on to Santa Barbara, but I have not seen him on that show. Is he on any other soap?

Peter Bergman is Jack on Y&R now and is very good, but it takes awhile to replace a long-standing character. -Shirley in Alpena, Mich.

Dear Reader: Lester did appear on SB as Mason Capwell for about a year. You can catch Lester on As the World Turns as architect Royce Keller around the last week in November.

Dear Candace: I recently read your article about Loving. I looked through our listings and I can't find the show anywhere. I wondered if you could tell me what station it is on, or why it isn't shown here. -L.O., Rapid City, S.D.

Dear Reader: I checked the schedule of your local ABC affiliate, KOTA, and Loving is not aired in your area. You might try calling them to ask why they do not pick up the soap. Most likely it is because of low ratings.

By the way, Jean Le Clerc (Jeremy, All My Children) is crossing over to Loving this month.

Send your comments to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas, 76161-1009.

TIME OUT

Baseball's expansion teams go to market

By Michael Scoggin
Dennis Burlingame and Jim Poole aren't household names, but to the Florida Marlins and the Colorado Rockies, they may spell future success. Burlingame and Poole are among the big league prospects expected to be selected during ESPN's exclusive six-and-a-half hour coverage of Major League Baseball's expansion draft, airing live Tuesday, Nov. 17, from New York.

"Nothing like this has ever been shown before on television," says Keith Olberman, who will anchor ESPN's coverage with assistance from Peter Gammons, Ray Knight and a host of floor and field reporters.

During the draft, owners of the two expansion teams will put their scouting ability to the test when they select 36 players each from the unprotected lists of the 26 existing major league teams, who are allowed to protect just 15 of their major and minor league players.

Simple? Hardly. Some of the rules behind the draft read like a superpower arms treaty. Existing teams have been preparing for this day since the rules were spelled out over a year ago, and the draft-day wheeling and dealing as teams scramble to protect their young prospects and established stars should be interesting, to say the least.

"There will be an element of the three-ring circus here, but I really think that will make for some great television," says Olberman.

Bruce Willis and Bonnie Bedella star in the action-drama Die Hard, Monday's Fox Night at the Movies.

Kinjite: Forbidden Subjects  A policeman battles a pimp who turns teenage girls into prostitutes. Charles Bronson, Juan Fernandez R Profanity, Nudity, Violence. 2:00. (1989) ● Nov. 18 9:35pm. ● Nov. 19 7:00pm.

The Last Prostitute  Two boys wanting to become men seek a legendary prostitute. Sonia Braga, Wil Wheaton 2:00. (1991) ● Nov. 20 8:00pm.

The Legend of the Seven Golden Vampires  A professor tries to prove his vampire theories are true. Peter Cushing, Julie Ege 2:00. (1972) ● Nov. 15 1:00am.

Little Gloria ... Happy at Last (Pt 1 of 2)  Ten-year-old Gloria Vanderbilt is taken out of her mother's care. Jennifer Dundas, Bette Davis 2:00. (1982) ● Nov. 19 1:00pm; 20 3:00am.

Little Gloria ... Happy at Last (Pt 2 of 2)  Gloria Vanderbilt's mother petitions for the return of her daughter. Jennifer Dundas, Bette Davis 2:00. (1982) ● Nov. 20 1:00pm; 21 3:00am.

Little House on the Prairie  A frontier family struggles to survive in the wilderness. Michael Landon, Melissa Gilbert 2:00. (1974) ● Nov. 16 9:05am.

The Long, Long Trailer  Newlyweds set out on their honeymoon in a massive trailer home. Lucille Ball, Desi Arnaz 2:00. (1954) ● Nov. 19 9:05am.

Love Boat  Romantic entanglements occur aboard a luxury cruise ship. Gabe Kaplan, Cloris Leachman 2:00. (1976) ● Nov. 17 9:05am.

Making the Grade * A street kid makes big bucks by impersonating an obnoxious prepie. Judd Nelson, Dana Olsen R Profanity, Nudity, Adult Themes. 2:15. (1984) ● Nov. 21 10:50pm.

The Man From Colorado  A sadistic federal judge uses his power to torture and kill. Glenn Ford, William Holden 2:00. (1948) ● Nov. 15 11:15pm.

The word "commando" is of South African origin, used by the Boers at the end of the last century to designate a mobile body of armed men.

MONDAY

In Monday's A Child Lost Forever, Beverly D'Angelo plays a woman determined to learn the fate of the baby she gave up for adoption while in prison two decades earlier.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Three Gabors, dah-ling; Swayze not a dad

By Taylor Michaels

Q: We are really curious about the Gabor sisters. How many of them are there, and what are their ages and names? Also, is Eva the youngest and does she pronounce her name "A"-va? —Phil Richards, Portland, Ore.

A: There are three Gabor sisters, Zsa Zsa (born Sari), Eva (indeed pronounced with the long "a" sound) and Magda. Zsa Zsa, the eldest of the three Budapest, Hungary, natives, was born on Feb. 6, 1921 and married eight times. The star of films including Moulin Rouge and Queen of Outer Space, she was once convicted of slapping a policeman. Eva, the youngest sister, chirped "Ah-lee-vah!" on TV's Green Acres, was born on Feb. 11, 1924, and has had five husbands. Magda's birthday is not widely known, since she has not pursued a screen career.

Q: Will you please tell me what you know about an actress from the '30s and '40s named Beulah Bondi?

A: She was cast as the mother of the hero in many classic films. Two of my favorites were Bondi as Gary Cooper's mother in Sergeant York and as James Stewart's mother in It's a Wonderful Life. —Barbara Sudheimer, Kihel, Hawaii.

A: Beulah Bondi (originally Bondy) was born on May 3, 1892, in Chicago. She had appeared in small stage productions even before the turn of the century, and her acting talent would be relegated to stock theater for 25 more years before she won a major Broadway role in One of the Family. Five years later, she appeared in her first film, Street Scene, at age 39. The remainder of her career was spent in mature characterizations.

Topping the list of her long and illustrious film roles are her two Oscar-nominated performances, for 1936's The Gorgeous Hussy and 1938's Of Human Hearts.

Bondi also won an Emmy in 1977 for Outstanding Lead Actress for a Single Appearance in a Drama or Comedy Series for "The Pony Cart" episode of The Waltons, portraying a dying, reclusive Walton who touches the lives of the mountain family before she passes away. Bondi never married; she died in 1981.

Q: Can you tell me if Patrick Swayze and his wife have any children? I say "yes" and my friend says "no." Who is right? —Sharon Gallagher, Portland, Ore.

A: Just saying "no" seems to pay off in many ways, and this is one of them. Sorry, Swayze and his wife, Lisa Niemi (see 'em both in Steel Dawn), have no children.

Q: Several years ago we saw a great movie on television and have never seen it again. The wife is an absent-minded person who can't get through a normal day without reminders and written notes from her husband. They relocate, and she must travel alone to the new city where they will be living in the family station wagon. She forgets to fill the tank, and she witnesses a robbery and murder when she finally stops for gas, and afterwards she is chased cross-country. What is the name of this movie, and is it available on video? —Carol Gerue, Stephenson, Mich.

A: The frightfully forgetful character was played by Valerie Harper, and the movie of which you write is Night Terror, a 1976 made-for-television effort co-starring Richard Romanus, Michael Tolan, Quinn Cummings and Nicholas Pryor. Video Hound's reference book says it's available on both VHS and Beta tapes.

Statlers' longevity perpetuated on TV

By Dan Rice

Legend has it they took their name from a brand of facial tissue, but The Statler Brothers (Harold and Don Reid, Phil Balsley and Jimmy Fortune) have built a career in country music that is as solid as it comes. The Statler Bros. Show, which became the highest-rated prime-time series on basic cable in its premiere season, launches its second season on The Nashville Network on Saturday, Nov. 21.

Lead singer Don Reid, who with his baritone brother, Harold, writes the shows, says their format owes a lot to programs like The Ed Sullivan Show. "We loved that era in the '50s and the '60s when there were variety shows. There just seemed to be a lighter-hearted television then."

The Statlers' show is very much reminiscent of those times with its mix of song, comedy and specialty acts including ventriloquists, magicians and jugglers. There are even two lovely ladies in skimpy costumes who change the title cards.

The most award-winning act in the history of country music, The Statler Brothers have had only one personnel change since they were discovered by Johnny Cash in 1964 — an ailing Lew DeWitt left in 1982 to be replaced by tenor Jimmy Fortune. From their first big hit in 1965 with "Flowers on the Wall" to their signature "Class of '57," they have produced an amazing catalog of over 40 albums.

The Liberty Bell, a symbol of American independence, was actually made in England in 1752.

TDC visits Ireland; A&E recalls Cagney

By Dan Rice

Spend some time on the Emerald Isle this week as The Learning Channel celebrates "The Glory of Ireland" with daily documentary offerings focusing on its beauty, history, literature and song. The selections include In All Her Sins and Graces: J.P. Donleavy's Ireland, making its television debut Wednesday, Nov. 18. In the one-hour program, the Irish-American novelist guides the viewer around his motherland, reminiscing about the writing of his first book, The Ginger Man, and offering insight to the nature of the Irish people.

The son of an Irish bartender, James Cagney is remembered Tuesday, Nov. 17, on A&E's Biography. The former vaudevillian made his mark in the American cinema as a tough guy, dancer and consummate professional and was in 1941 the second-highest-paid man in America.

Has the nation forgotten its roots? The question of whether the family farm still has a place in America is addressed in There But For the Grace of God, airing Saturday, Nov. 21, on The Discovery Channel. The program examines the economic struggles that threaten the very concept of small farms.

Debuting Saturday on HBO, Stalin stars Robert Duvall as the Russian tyrant who committed genocide against his own people. The three-hour film also stars Maximilian Schell and Julia Ormond.

'Planeteers' defeat unfounded fears

By Chris Carpenter

Clearing the globe of environmental evil might be their full-time jobs, but the eco-warriors of Captain Planet and the Planeteers work overtime in a new episode airing in syndication on Saturday, Nov. 21, and the following day on the Planeteers' base station, TBS.

"A Formula for Hate," wherein the Planeteers purge polluted minds in lieu of the usual lakes and streams, is the first cartoon to deal squarely with the issue of AIDS.

The show features the voice work of Elizabeth Taylor as Donna, a mother who learns her popular, athletic child is HIV-positive and the object of a citywide hate campaign.

Taylor's own family has been directly touched by the disease, and even through a Southern drawl obviously thickened for effect, heartfelt pain and indignation are effectively emoted. Other guest voices include Neil Patrick Harris (Doogie Howser, M.D.), as Donna's afflicted high-school son Todd, and Danica McKellar (Winnie, The Wonder Years), as his unwavering girlfriend.

Surprisingly few stones remain unturned in this episode's path to better understanding, especially considering its animation. But as loyal Planeteers and their parents can attest, this is what Captain Planet creator Ted Turner envisioned, a cartoon with a conscience.

BITS AND PIECES

Duvall's Stalin a chilling presence; E! Entertainment goes shopping

Robert Duvall in makeup for Stalin

"I will never forget the moment," says director Ivan Passer, "the first day of shooting in Russia, when Mr. Duvall came out of the makeup trailer made up as Stalin." Duvall, who has the title role in HBO's three-hour film Stalin, also recalls that day, when he emerged after four hours of wig fitting, nose plastering and eyebrow painting. But Passer, who grew up in Czechoslovakia during the Stalinist era, says the effect was worth it.

"We had about 80 soldiers — extras, Russians, dressed up as soldiers — and about 60 people in the crew, and they just froze. And he walked through them and they couldn't look at him, they looked down and they parted so that he could go through, and they stopped talking. I got the chills."

Passer also notes that Duvall stayed in character between takes, which must have been a fine way to maintain discipline on the set.

One good turn deserves another. Fashion critic Mr. Blackwell will play himself in a talk-show sequence on an upcoming episode of ABC's Civil Wars title "The Triumph of DeVille." Blackwell recently granted series star Mariel Hemingway a place on his annual Best Dressed list and has apparently earned a reward.

Cable's E! Entertainment Television appears to be shifting its focus away from its 24-hour Entertainment Tonight-type programming with the acquisition of two outside programs. Beginning Friday, Nov. 27, The Howard Stern Interview has the shock jock entertaining/offending in a late-night talk-show format. Then E! will tap into controversy past on Jan. 4 when it begins its exclusive run of 71 original episodes of The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour. The episodes have not been aired since CBS fired the satirist folk singers in 1969.

The Warriors ★★ An English prince fights to protect a lovely woman. Errol Flynn, Joanne Dru 2:00. (1955) ● Nov. 20 11:00am.

When No One Would Listen ★★ A woman escapes her abusive husband by running to a shelter. Michele Lee, James Farentino 2:00. (1992) ● Nov. 15 8:00pm.

Will Penny ★★ An injured cowboy falls for the widow who nurses him back to health. Charlton Heston, Joan Hackett 2:00. (1968) ● Nov. 21 8:00pm.

Winnie ★★ A woman, institutionalized as retarded, determines to overcome limits. Meredith Baxter, David Morse 2:00. (1988) ● Nov. 17 3:00pm.

The Worst Witch ★★ A student tries to make it at a boarding school for witches. Charlotte Rae, Diana Rigg 1:10. (1986) ● Nov. 17 12:00pm; 18 3:45am.
