Kim Buckley named 'Woman of the Year'

BY SANDY STAGNER
Lifestyles Editor

Although she has been a Hereford resident for only six years, having moved here in January 1987 from Waco, Kim Buckley has proven herself to be a valued member of this community. In recognizing her many contributions, especially to the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, Kim was named the Women's Division's 1992 Woman of the Year during the organization's quarterly meeting and dinner held Thursday night at the Hereford Community Center.

It was noted by Fuhrmann that unlike other women who may only serve on one committee of the Women's Division, Kim has chaired and served on several. She was instrumental in reviving the Pet Show committee for the last two years and has served on the decorating committee. She was also the major force behind the Chamber of Commerce's decorations which featured a rock 'n' roll theme.

American Heart Association. She began the custom of using "Celebrity Writers" as a fund raiser for the association in 1991-92. During her employment at the Hereford State Bank (she gave her resignation when her daughter was born Sept. 3, 1992), Kim was president of the Employees Club. Not one to be content with just having a regular meeting, she came up with clever and creative ideas to enliven and inspire the employees to be enthusiastic about their jobs at the bank and to build up fellowship among co-workers.

1992 Woman of the Year

The Women's Division's Woman of the Year is Kim Buckley. The announcement was made during the organization's quarterly meeting and installation ceremonies Thursday evening at the Hereford Community Center. The honoree is flanked by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kinsley of Albuquerque, N.M., and her husband, Greg.

HHS student arrested on gun charge

A 17-year-old Hereford High School student is free on $5,000 bond today after being arrested Thursday for carrying a pistol to school. T.J. McGee was charged with carrying a weapon in a prohibited place. The Browning 9 mm semiautomatic pistol was taken from him without incident by Assistant Principal Ken Cole.

Allies waiting on Iraq to decide

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States is watching from the sky to see whether Iraqi President Saddam Hussein meets a deadline tonight for removing anti-aircraft missiles from a disputed region of southern Iraq. Iraq claimed Thursday it had the right to place the missiles in the region, even in the face of possible military strikes by the allies who defeated Saddam in the Persian Gulf War.

The United States, Britain and France in August banned Iraqi military flights below the 32nd parallel to protect the Muslim Shiite dissidents who live in the southern third of the country. President Bush was said to be determined to enforce the ultimatum even as the clock ticked away on his presidency.

administration officials were studying a four-page Arab language response to the ultimatum given them Thursday by Iraqi U.N. Ambassador Nizar Hamdoun. Hamdoun told reporters his country rejected the legitimacy of the so-called no-fly zone. "It was not imposed by the United Nations but was imposed by the three Western powers," he said, reiterating Baghdad's long-held contention that the zone violated Iraqi sovereignty.

reconciliation with the United States now that a new administration was about to take office. But President-elect Clinton emphasized that his incoming administration supported Bush. Clinton said the change of administrations would not make "any difference in the dedication of the United States to the terms to which (Saddam) agreed at the end of the Gulf War." The Iraqis moved the missiles to the edge of the no-fly zone following 10 days of incursions by their aircraft into the forbidden area.

Gales sweep crude over land, crops

SUMBURGH, Shetland Islands (AP) - Gales have always raked the Shetland Islands, but now the winds carry something new and terrible - oil that is leaving a brown and poisonous stain on their rugged green land. Since Tuesday, when a tanker went aground on the southern end of Mainland island, the sea has carried the spilled oil to the shore, where waves and howling winds beat it into a froth that has spread as far as four miles inland.

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) - Dangerous conditions were hampering the flow of famine relief supplies in Mogadishu, a U.N. spokeswoman said today, one day after U.S. Marines killed seven Somalis in their biggest strike against bandits and feuding clansmen. Katarina Toll said the International Committee of the Red Cross had one day's reserves to feed 1,000 children in northern Mogadishu. She said truck drivers hauling supplies from the port, in the south, refused to cross the line between that city sector and the northern area.

Somalia conditions 'dangerous'

Travelers crossing from the south to the north normally leave their vehicles at the dividing line, walk across and pick up an arranged vehicle from the north. Or they can seek a Marine escort and make the crossing in the same vehicle. The Red Cross, on principle, does not accept military escorts. "There remains a general concern about security," Toll told reporters. She said relief agencies continued to meet with Marine commanders to express their concern. Relief workers said Mogadishu had a quiet night after U.S. forces killed seven Somalis early Thursday in a counterattack on two of Aidid's arsenals. Snipers in the buildings had repeatedly fired on Marine patrols.

way to prevent the next one from happening," said Maj. Gen. Charles E. Wilhelm, commander of the 1st Marine Division and the officer who ordered the assault. "We hit them with a firestorm," he told reporters on Thursday. The attack involved 400 troops, AH-1 Cobra attack helicopters, M1A1 Abrams battle tanks, amphibious assault armored vehicles and other heavy weaponry. More than a dozen people were taken prisoner from the two walled compounds in northwest Mogadishu, and the Marines seized weapons caches including tanks, anti-aircraft guns, mortars and more than 15 field artillery guns, Wilhelm said. The attack was meant to instill fear among Somalia's feuding clans and murderous thugs, who have been growing bolder by the day. Clans have skirmished in the capital - even in southern Mogadishu where U.S. troops are mostly deployed. And U.S.-led troops have increasingly been targets of looters, rock-throwing youths and snipers. The violence has intensified safety concerns of relief agencies trying to provide food and medicine to Somalia's starving. The American-led international force came to the Horn of Africa nation to protect such shipments. Somalia sank into chaos after despot President Mohammed Siad Barre was toppled from power in January 1991. At least 350,000 have died from starvation, disease and warfare by rival clans.

Krueger ready for challengers

AUSTIN (AP) - Bob Krueger, Gov. Ann Richards' choice as Texas' next U.S. senator, says he isn't worried about Republican charges that he lacks the stature to win the statewide seat. "Put me on the ballot against any statewide Republican or any Republican they want and I'll be delighted," he says. In an interview with The Dallas Morning News published Thursday, Krueger also lashed back at fellow Democrat Jim Mattox, a probable challenger for the Senate post who has criticized Krueger for having an "awful" voting record. Krueger said Mattox and others who might want to challenge him should have second thoughts after seeing the "broad and enthusiastic" support he is drawing across Texas. Krueger, a former congressman who was elected to the Texas Railroad Commission in 1990, said he has never felt more confident about a campaign than the May 1 special Senate election to replace veteran Lloyd Bentsen. This week, GOP officials derided Krueger as a "two-time loser." He came within about 12,000 votes of upsetting Republican Sen. John Tower in 1978 and was edged out of the Democratic Senate runoff in 1984. Krueger said he was amazed that Republicans would try to sully him over those two races.

The upcoming special election already has drawn two Republican congressmen - Joe Barton of Ennis and Jack Fields of Humble. State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison, also a Republican, has said she would make a decision soon but is expected to challenge as well. Mattox said Tuesday he "probably" will run but wouldn't decide for about two weeks. Not entering the race is U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm. The conservative, Stamford Democrat told his staff he would not run and called Krueger to pledge his support. "A lot of people were calling it a free run, but he said there was nothing free about it," spokesman John Haugen said Thursday. "It would have been a physically and emotionally grueling campaign and it would have been incredibly expensive." The special election will be open, without party primaries. The last such election, in 1961 to replace then-Sen. Lyndon Johnson, drew 71 candidates. On Thursday, Stephen Hopkins, a Burnet businessman and unsuccessful independent candidate for Congress in 1992, said he would seek the Senate seat. Hopkins, an abortion opponent, aired controversial TV commercials showing aborted fetuses during his 10th Congressional District race. He said he planned to "run these graphic and controversial ads" in this campaign.

Rural life conference is Saturday

Quality of life, economic development and other issues will be featured at the fourth Rural Life Conference on Saturday at the Diocesan Activity Center in Amarillo. The conference is sponsored by the Diocesan Rural Life Board of the Catholic Diocese of Amarillo. Presenters will address economic strategies, quality of life goals for the area and will establish group discussion forums. Also planned are a food court showcasing ethnic food from the area life, and art from Amy Winton, Jim Freeman, Louise Daniels, Kenneth Wyatt and other area artists. The economic strategies panel will include Cheryl Pink, Southwestern Public Service; Brent Wiseman, Texas Department of Agriculture; Gilbert Guzman, Amarillo Hispanic Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Fred Rathjen, retired professor of history; Dr. Vaughn Nelson, Alternative Energy Institute at West Texas State University; and Rick Roark of Solar Associates in Vega. Presenters will include Marty Strange of the Center for Rural Affairs in Walthill, Neb., and Peggy Prather, with the Center for Holistic Resource Management in Albuquerque.

capacity, has become a role model and inspiration to young children of all ages. In her "spare" time, she enjoys golf and has served as vice president of the Ladies Golf Association. She also assists her husband in his activities with the Hereford Lions Club. Kim was born Aug. 7, 1963, and grew up in Albuquerque, N.M., the daughter of a retired lieutenant colonel with the United States Air Force. She graduated from Highland High School in Albuquerque where she was involved in gymnastics and was named Princess on the Homecoming Court. She received a B.S. degree in business marketing from Baylor University where she was a member of the water ski team and Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. She has one brother, Duane, who also attended Baylor, and they competed on skate boards together and enjoyed water and snow skiing. Fuhrmann said, "She has always been a real clown, a happy-go-lucky and a fun person." Kim and Greg Buckley married Aug. 3, 1985. He was a promising young attorney and while he was still in law school, she started doing art work and branched out into that field when she moved to Hereford. Kim worked at the Hereford State Bank until the birth of her daughter, Began. She always said that two things she wanted to accomplish before becoming pregnant were learning to scuba dive and to parachute. She did both. Fuhrmann said, "Besides all the civic activities Kim is involved in, this person is an inspiring ambassador for the city of Hereford. She never meets a stranger and is friendly and helpful to everyone she meets. She always extends a helping hand and a listening ear, with no thought of reward other than the pleasure of giving to others."

Past recipients of woman of the Year include Irene McKinster, 1971; Katherine Kester, 1972; Violet Reinauer, 1973; Wynell Robinson, 1974; Lavon Nieman, 1975; Inez Albright, 1976; Sherry Hoover, 1977; Susie McGee, 1978; Virginia Adams, 1979; Georgia Sparks, 1980; Leatrus Clark, 1981; Carrell Ann Simmons, 1982; Margaret Formby, 1983; Mary Herring, 1984; Lajean Henry, 1985; Helen Langley, 1986; Betty Drake, 1987; Donna West, 1988; Bettye Owen, 1989; Betty Taylor, 1990; and Mildred Fuhrmann, 1991. Additional coverage on the quarterly meeting, including new officers, will be featured in the Sunday edition of The Hereford Brand.

News digest

WASHINGTON - Would it be churlish to suggest even before he takes the oath that Bill Clinton the candidate and Bill Clinton the president-elect may not be the same man?

PHOENIX - Millions of temperature readings by a NASA satellite are giving strong new support for the theory that the universe began some 15 billion years ago with a big bang.

SUMBURGH, Shetland Islands - Oil spilling from the wrecked tanker on the Shetland Islands has been blown by the wind onto the land, leaving farmers to hustle their sheep to less greasy pastures and to worry about crops still in the ground.

WASHINGTON - The United States watched from the sky to see whether Saddam Hussein would meet an early evening deadline for removing anti-aircraft missiles from a disputed region of southern Iraq.

MOGADISHU, Somalia - U.S. forces hope that their biggest display of firepower yet in lawless Somalia will help keep looters, snipers and feuding clans at bay again so that work to feed the hungry can proceed apace.

DARE receives donation from VFW auxiliary

New date for Hawkins execution set

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Samuel Christopher Hawkins, the senior inmate on Texas' death row, has been assigned a new execution date: Feb. 10. State District Judge William D. Smith announced the date on Thursday despite a motion from Hawkins' attorney for a continuance until the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans resolves an appeal. The new execution date for Hawkins, 49, comes almost 15 years after the Amarillo man was sentenced to die for the May 3, 1977, slaying of a pregnant woman in Borger. The body of Abbe Rodgers Hamilton, 19, who had been married less than a year, was found in her Borger residence with more than 20 stab wounds. Her hands and feet had been bound. Hawkins also was convicted of the 1976 death of a 12-year-old Amarillo-area girl, who was abducted from her home while she was sleeping. The victim was raped, and her body was left in a culvert near Panhandle, about 20 miles northeast of Amarillo. He received a life sentence for the 1976 aggravated rape of a 21-year-old Hereford housewife. The woman was raped and severely beaten.

Clinton, Gortari meet in Austin today

AUSTIN (AP) - President-elect Bill Clinton and Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari were headed to Austin today for a meeting that Texas Gov. Ann Richards says could forge a friendship between the leaders. Richards said she expects the leaders to discuss the pending North American Free Trade Agreement, the U.S.-Mexico border environmental problems, and job losses to Mexico. But she said their private, 90-minute meeting at the Governor's Mansion also is a chance for the leaders to get personally acquainted. "I am sure the two of them will talk about substantive matters, but the main thing is these two countries are closely allied and will continue to be. It's important for their relationship to start off on the best, friendliest plane," Richards said earlier this week. Also attending the summit will be vice president-elect Al Gore and New Mexico Gov. Bruce King, Richards' office said. The talks between Clinton and Salinas will take place on the second floor of the two-story antebellum mansion that has been home to Texas governor's since 1855. Richards spokeswoman Margaret Justus said Clinton and Salinas would meet in the governor's personal quarters. The session will be the latest in a series of presidential meetings that began in 1909 between William Howard Taft and Porfirio Diaz. Richards is an advocate of the free trade agreement that awaits ratification in Congress. Richards also said she hopes the meeting will increase understanding of the importance of U.S.-Latin American relations. "For a long time, the border of Texas has been treated as if it were the back door to the United States, simply because boats happened to land at Plymouth Rock," she said. "I think it's the front door to this country. I think it's the front door to a whole new world of free trade." Leticia Vasquez, another Richards aide, said Clinton had been briefed on Salinas and Mexico by former San Antonio mayor Henry Cisneros, who has been chosen to head the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Although the two leaders' meeting is the primary reason for Clinton's trip to Austin, a little politicking also was expected. Richards staff said a luncheon was planned for Clinton and a number of supporters and leading Texas Democrats at the city's longtime political watering hole, Scholz Garten. Among those attending that luncheon will be Bob Krueger, who this week was chosen by Richards to serve as the state's interim U.S. senator after Lloyd Bentsen becomes Clinton's Treasury secretary. Krueger, who was President Jimmy Carter's ambassador-at-large and coordinator for Mexican affairs, will face a special election on May 1 to complete the Senate term, which runs through 1994. A tough campaign is expected in the open election. Two Republican congressmen already have declared their candidacies, that already has drawn two Republican congressmen and is being eyed by several other candidates. Krueger backers are hoping for a show of support from Clinton to help him hang onto the seat. Clinton's spokesman, George Stephanopoulos, said Thursday that Clinton does support Krueger. "He's meeting with him (Friday). I know that, and he fully supports him," Stephanopoulos said. "He's been a friend of Mr. Krueger's for an awful long time. He admires him greatly and he's certain to make a good Senator. He looks forward to working with him."

The air stinks of oil, stinging eyes and throats, and at the south point of Mainland droplets of oil spatter clothing and cling to the skin. Dozens of people have complained of headaches, sore throats and itchy eyes. "I'm worried about breathing the fumes," said Hutchinson, who has blocked every crack he can find in his home and washed a slimy film from his car each day since the accident. Stores reported a run on bottled water, windshield wiper fluid and cleaning supplies as extra loads of laundry and scrubbing were done. Houses facing the coast bore telltale brown splotches. Martin Hall, director of environmental services for Shetland Islands Council, said the oil mist poses no long-term threat to human health but said some farms have been badly affected. Their animals were evacuated and crops declared unfit to eat. He could provide no figures. The tanker's owners have pledged compensation.

The slick had spread four miles up the east coast of Mainland and up the west side near West Burra island, 13 miles north of the wreck, said George Sutherland, the director of marine operations in the Shetlands. The buffeting prevented planes on Thursday from dumping detergents to disperse the spill. Bergvall and Hudner, the shipping company that owns the tanker, said in a statement Thursday night that a Dutch salvage barge is expected to arrive Sunday to start pumping out however much oil remains in the Braer's holds. But the company said the work will depend on weather conditions. Richard Page, a senior forecaster at the government's weather center at Aberdeen in northeast Scotland, said apart from a slight lull tonight, the outlook up to Sunday night is stormy. One of the first mechanical washers was patented about 1860 by Hamilton E. Smith of Philadelphia.

Weaver named best speaker

Joe Weaver was selected as the best speaker during the Jan. 7 meeting of the Hereford Toastmasters Club when the group met at the Ranch House.

"A Campfire Tale" was the speech given by Weaver. He was evaluated by Liane Poell and Margaret Del Toro. Clark Andrews presented "From Weatherford to Tascosa" which was evaluated by Gayla Sanders.

Best evaluator was Liane Poell and best topic speaker resulted in a tie by Suzanne Finch and Del Toro. Rick Jackson led the pledge and

Dr. Milton Adams gave the invocation. President Gayla Sanders presided over the brief business meeting.

Jigger Rowland served as Toastmaster; Clint Savoini, timer; Wayne Winget, "ah" counter; Dave Kimmel, grammarian; Pat Varner, wordmaster; and "winsome", the chosen word.

Jackson served as Topicmaster and topic speakers were Finch, Joe Don Cummings, Margaret Del Toro, Savoini and Sharon Cramer.

Finch told the joke of the day and Dr. Adams served as general evaluator.

Also, attending the meeting was Adolfo Del Toro.

Education Fights Arthritis

ATLANTA (AP) - Doctors often overestimate patient knowledge and underestimate the desire for information about arthritis, notes a journal specializing in rheumatic diseases.

According to the Bulletin on the Rheumatic Diseases, published by the Arthritis Foundation, many chronic disease patients have inadequate information about their condition and treatments.

People with arthritis need to know the basics about disease processes and treatment strategies as well as the specific treatments recommended, the publication reports, adding that they also may need to learn specific skills such as how to exercise, how to organize a medication calendar or how to enlist social support.

"A number of studies have shown that people who participate in patient education efforts about arthritis have improved levels of pain, depression and disability," said Dr. Lawren Daltroy of Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital.

Last-second shots sink 2 Hereford hoop teams

Hereford's ninth grade and junior high basketball teams returned to action Thursday after the Christmas. Two of the games in Hereford were won by last second shots, but by visitors.

The ninth grade boys played Amarillo High at Hereford High School. A Sandie hit a shot from way out with three seconds left to give his team a 41-40 win in the B game. Hereford lost despite David Sims' 21 points.

In the A game, Hereford came back from 20 points down at halftime to pull within two in the final minute but finally fell 56-52. Marquise Brown led Hereford with 15 points, and Todd Dudley added nine.

At Hereford Junior High, a Borger girl hit a layup with one second left to win the eighth grade A game 26-25, ruining a Hereford sweep. For Hereford, Danielle Cornelius scored nine and Shawna Don Juan scored eight.

Hereford's other three girls' teams won. The eighth grade B team won 18-17, getting 11 points from Missy Lemons. The seventh grade White team outscored Borger 17-2 in the first quarter on the way to a 40-12 win. Katie Betzen led the team with 16 points. Seventh grade Maroon shut out Borger in the second and fourth quarters and won 25-3. Julie Rampley led Hereford with 14 points.

The HJH boys traveled to Borger and gained a split, with both seventh grade teams winning. The White team won 41-30, getting eight points each from Jason Collier and Jeremy Urbanczyk, and the Maroon team won 28-25 with Bryant McNutt scoring 12 and T.J. Danley scoring 11.

The eighth grade A team fell 50-40 despite Isaac Walker's 25 points. The B team lost 48-41. Wes Blackwell and Stephen Cloud each scored seven points.

Cowboys' Smith: Talking won't win playoff game

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Emmitt Smith wore his helmet around the locker room in good humor at Valley Ranch this week to protect himself from "cheap shots." Not from Andre Waters, but the media.

"There's no telling what kind of questions I'll get this week," said the NFL's leading rusher who holds the key to victory for the Dallas Cowboys in their NFC divisional playoff game against the Philadelphia Eagles on Sunday.

Of course, Smith got some queries about Waters, who he accused of being a cheap shot artist and "not a man" for because of late hits. Waters called Smith "a coward."

"That will be settled on the field from one goal to the other," said Smith. "The game won't be settled by talking."

It doesn't take deep conversation to unearth the fact that as Smith goes so go the Cowboys.

He gained only 67 yards the first time Dallas played the Eagles and the Cowboys were drilled 31-7 in October on Monday Night Football.

A month later Smith gained 163 yards and the Cowboys won 20-10 in Texas Stadium.

"We'll have to run the ball effectively to beat the Eagles," Smith said. "I got a few big plays last time we played when they blitzed. I don't expect anything big this time. We'll try to take advantage of what they give us.

"We've got to run but it will be tough. The Eagles have one of the best defenses in the league."

Smith said the game means more than the settling of another score with NFC East rival Philadelphia.

"If you lose a game like this it puts a dull moment on all of our careers," Smith said. "We have everything to win and nothing to lose."

The Cowboys, fresh and rested with a bye week after a 13-3 regular season, won the NFC East title while the Eagles, 11-5 in the regular season, had to rally to defeat the New Orleans Saints 36-20 in a wildcard elimination matchup last Sunday.

Dallas rated six-point favorites to advance to the NFC title game against either San Francisco or Washington.

"The week off really helped and we are anxious to play a game," Smith said. "I thought we were getting a little stale. We needed a week of rest to get ready for a physical game like the Eagles bring to town. Every player on their team is punishing. I have the utmost respect for their defense."

Smith and Waters got into it after the first game. Smith felt Waters was hitting late.

After Waters suffered a broken fibula, Smith said "bad things happen to bad people."

Waters, who could play Sunday after being out of the lineup since October, said "you never know you could be the one who gets injured when you talk about someone else getting injured."

Smith retorted "the Eagles won't intimidate us. We have no fear."

Eagles cornerback Eric Allen said Philadelphia can't let Smith run wild.

"As far as I'm concerned he's the MVP of the league and we have to stop him," Allen said. "I guess you really don't stop a guy like Smith. You just try to keep him bottled up. We've got to keep him from breaking big ones like he did last time."

There is a missing ingredient from the Cowboys offense which could hurt Smith. Hard-blocking tight end Alfredo Roberts tore up a knee in the final regular season game against Chicago. He was replaced by journeyman free agent Derrick Tennell, who played five games for Minnesota this year.

"Our running game took a blow when we lost Alfredo," said wide receiver Michael Irvin. "Losing Alfredo could hurt. It will be a 60-minute grind to get our running game going."

Ed. board discusses girls playing football

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas has taken another step closer to girls on the high school gridiron.

Texas Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno issued a memo Thursday saying girls and boys should be allowed to try out for the same high school football teams.

The State Board of Education's Committee on Students also briefly discussed allowing girls to play football before opening the matter up for public discussion and a vote before the entire board at its February meeting.

If approved, the amendment recommended by the University Interscholastic League, governing body of high school extracurricular activities, last October would take effect Aug. 1.

"The student rights issue has been taken to court in numerous other states and the female students have prevailed in obtaining the right to tryout and, if selected, participate in football," Meno's memo said.

"There is not a basis in Texas law to prohibit female students from participation in football if they qualify on merit," he said.

During the education board committee meeting Thursday, chairwoman Geraldine Miller of Dallas said she has received several letters opposing girls playing football.

All of the committee's actions are subject to final approval by the entire state education board.

Beuerlein on sideline

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Last year's playoff hero for the Dallas Cowboys won't even button down his chin strap if things go well in Sunday's NFC divisional playoff game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Steve Beuerlein, who directed the Cowboys into the playoffs last year after Troy Aikman got hurt, also may be attending his last game as a member of the team.

He becomes a free agent after the season and quarterback-needy teams are expected to bombard his agent with offers.

For the time being, Beuerlein is concentrating on the Eagles, just in case something happens to Aikman.

"Right now, I'm the backup to Troy," said Beuerlein, who led the Cowboys to victory over Chicago last year in the playoffs but couldn't

Phoenix struggles past miserable Mavericks

By CHRIS SHERIDAN
AP Sports Writer

It looked like a bigtime mismatch - the NBA's best vs. the NBA's worst - that figured to end in a lopsided win for Phoenix over Dallas.

Figure again.
The Mavericks took a lead into the fourth quarter for only the second time this season, but the Suns outscored them 29-18 in the final period to escape the Reunion Arena with a 111-107 victory and avoid what would have been the most embarrassing loss in the NBA this season.

The Mavericks are 2-25; the Suns are 23-5.

"Where's this team that I've been hearing about that gets beat every night?" said Phoenix coach Paul Westphal. "I thought they played hard and we couldn't grind them down with our bench. I'm real glad to get out of here with a win."

Spurs 109, Jazz 99

This one wasn't as close as the final score indicated. The Spurs led by as many 26 points midway through the fourth quarter at home before Utah made it respectable.

It was the latest in a string of one-sided victories between the two teams. San Antonio also has 18- and 26-point victories over Utah this season, and the Jazz won a 26-point decision at Salt Lake City on Tuesday.

"We were ready to mix it up tonight," said Antoine Carr, who knocked down Karl Malone three times in the first period. "The teams were just going hard at each other like it was a championship game."

Malone was held to a season-low 13 points, 14 under his average. Dale Ellis led San Antonio with a season-high 33 points.

Hawks 100, Bucks 94

At Milwaukee, Stacey Augmon flew down the lane, grabbed a missed free throw in mid-air and dunked it, giving Atlanta a 94-88 lead with a minute left that sealed the win.

"I knew it was off right when he shot it and I got in there," explained Augmon. "I got hit in the stomach. The big guys were banging their big guys and somebody has to block me out."

The victory ended a four-game losing streak for the Hawks, who are just 6-10 at home this season but 7-7 on the road.

"I think that we're going to start wearing our red uniforms at home," Hawks coach Bob Weiss said.

Trail Blazers 113, Rockets 91

At Houston, the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Rockets for the second time this week, taking advantage of Houston's 19-point fourth-quarter.

The loss was the sixth straight for Houston (14-15), which fell below .500 for the first time since the first week of the season.

Portland, playing without injured scoring leader Clyde Drexler, didn't lead in the game until it took a 65-64 lead with 6:06 to go in the third quarter on a basket by Terry Porter.

"Once we started making a run, they got tentative and hesitant and we started controlling the boards," Portland coach Rick Adelman said.

Warriors 119, Heat 105

At Oakland, Calif., Golden State climbed within a half-game of fourth place in the Pacific Division.

The Warriors, who started the season 5-10, have won six of seven and 11 of 13. Chris Mullin scored 24 points and Chris Gatling and Latrell Sprewell added 19 each for Golden State, which is 11-1 against Miami since the Heat joined the league.

A 27-12 rebounding edge sparked Golden State to a 58-43 halftime lead, and Miami could get no closer than nine in the fourth.

Long Beach ends UNLV's win streak

By The Associated Press

The days of UNLV's domination in the Big West are over, at least for now.

UNLV's 46-game winning streak against Big West opponents ended Thursday night when Long Beach State surprised the No. 12 Runnin' Rebels on the road, 101-94.

UNLV had won 29 in a row overall, the longest active winning streak in the nation. The first loss for new coach Rollie Massimino means that No. 1 Duke now has the longest winning streak at 23 games.

"It had to be broken some time. It was a situation where we knew we had to work very hard when we defend big people. And if we don't do that, we're in big trouble," Massimino said.

UNLV had not lost in the Big West since falling to Santa Barbara 78-70 on Feb. 26, 1990. The Runnin' Rebels were barred from the Big West and NCAA tournaments last season because of NCAA probation.

In other games, No. 3 Michigan beat No. 9 Purdue 80-70, No. 6 North Carolina routed North Carolina State 100-67, No. 20 Arizona topped No. 15 UCLA 82-80 and No. 16 Cincinnati downed No. 22 Massachusetts 64-53.

Also, coach Denny Crum won his 500th game as Louisville defeated South Florida 98-75. Crum is 500-187 in a 22-year career, all at Louisville, and is the second-fastest coach to reach the mark - Jerry Tarkanian did it in 20 seasons at Long Beach State and UNLV.

No. 3 Michigan 80, No. 9 Purdue 70
Juwan Howard scored eight points during a 17-4 spree that led Michigan past Purdue at West Lafayette, Ind.

Howard's basket started the spurt and put the Wolverines ahead for good at 63-62. Chris Webber scored 16 of his 22 points in the second half for Michigan (11-1).

Glenn Robinson scored 30 for the Boiler-makers (9-1). The game was the Big Ten opener for both teams.

No. 6 North Carolina 100, North Carolina St. 67

Donald Williams had 23 points and George Lynch 21 as the Tar Heels posted their second-most lopsided victory in the 179-game intrastate rivalry.

North Carolina, which lost twice to the Wolfpack last season, came out running and led by 21 points at halftime. The Tar Heels (11-1), leading the nation in shooting, shot 59 percent in the first half.

North Carolina State (3-5) lost starters Donnie Seale and Chuck Kornegay and a reserve before the game when they were declared academically ineligible. The game in Raleigh was the Atlantic Coast Conference opener for both teams.

No. 20 Arizona 82, No. 15 UCLA 80

Ed Stokes made one free throw with 21 seconds left to tie it for Arizona, but missed the second. The Wildcats got the rebound, however, and Owes was fouled in the lane. Owes had made just nine of 20 free throws before hitting the two.

Chris Mills scored 27 points for Arizona (6-2). Ed O'Bannon scored 29 for UCLA (9-3). It was the Pac-10 opener for both schools.

Arizona led 77-72 with five minutes left. O'Bannon hit a 3-pointer, and later made a shot from in close to put the Bruins ahead 80-79.

No. 16 Cincinnati 64, Massachusetts 53

Nick Van Exel hit 7 of 10 shots from 3-point range and finished with 27 points as Cincinnati won at Springfield, Mass.

The Bearcats (8-1) have won five straight games, and Van Exel has made 22 of 47 3-pointers in that span. Cincinnati led 31-17 at halftime and Massachusetts never got closer than seven points.

Mike Williams scored 15 points for the Minutemen (6-3).

Ex-Hog Miller shines with Suns

By DWAIN PRICE

Fort Worth Star-Telegram

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Five years ago today, Oliver Miller was shooting his soft jumpshot while playing the lead role for the Southwest High School basketball team.

Now, he is leading a charmed life as a role player with the Phoenix Suns.

The Suns are receiving rave reviews for being the hottest team in the National Basketball Association. Meanwhile, Miller is the team's promising rookie, and his favorite basketball player, Charles Barkley, is his teammate.

For Miller, it doesn't get any better than this. "This is the team I wanted to come to, so I've gotten that opportunity," Miller said. "I'm very fortunate and lucky to be on the Phoenix Suns."

To hear the Suns tell it, they are the ones who are fortunate and lucky to have Miller on their side. Even Barkley said that if Miller can find a way to beat the battle of the bulge, he could have a long and successful career in the NBA.

"He's at that stage right now where he's a rookie and he doesn't know how good he can be," Barkley said. "But after being around him, if he could lose some weight he's going to be special."

"He already understands the game, which is rare for a young player. He's smart and intelligent. He's just lazy right now."

Actually, Miller said he has lost 45 pounds since training camp started. He is down from 340 pounds to a svelte 295 and hopes to reach a playing weight of around 280 pounds.

"It puts a big strain on his foot when he weighs more than he should, and it also hurts his stamina and his quickness," Suns coach Paul Westphal said. "But he's been working hard on it, and he will continue to work hard on it. He'll have to do that for his whole career, probably."

The extra weight was the main reason Miller spent time on the injured list last month with a stress injury to his right foot.

Miller, the 22nd player taken in last June's NBA draft, has been used as a backup to starting center Mark West. He averages 18.7 minutes, seven points, five rebounds and 2.1 assists per game. He also is tied with Barkley for the team lead in blocked shots with 27.

Miller's knowledge of the pro game has been a welcome addition to the Suns. Many times he's in the game when the outcome is still in doubt.

"I don't think of him as a rookie out on the floor," Westphal said. "He understands the game, he has great hands, he's a great passer, and he's a very good defensive player."

"He's a guy who understands what needs to be done and is versatile enough to be able to make the plays. The guys respect him, and he's just been a real good addition on this team."

"It's unusual for a rookie to play in crunch time, especially on a good team in the NBA. But we have confidence that he can do it."

Miller, 6-foot-9, has noticed four distinct differences between the NBA and his days of helping make the University of Arkansas a major force.

"The difference is I'm getting paid now, it's more physical, and I don't get away with a lot of calls like I did in college," he said. "I also had to get used to not being the go-to guy down in the clutch."

"I'm just more of a role player now. It reminds me of my freshman year in college."

But Miller is, by no means, playing like a college freshman. In a Dec. 6 game against the Milwaukee Bucks, the Suns caught a glimpse of what Miller can do on a regular basis.

In that game he collected 15 points on 5-of-9 shooting, grabbed a career-high 12 rebounds, dispensed six assists and had three steals and three blocked shots in a season-high 31 minutes. The Big O has arrived.

"He's a very good basketball player, and he's done a great job for us," Barkley said. "The only thing he has to concentrate on is losing weight. When he loses that weight, he's going to be scary."

Couples named PGA's top player

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) - Fred Couples still doesn't like being in the spotlight, although he is finding it hard to avoid.

"I kind of know what to expect when I'm out on the tour. But when I go home, I don't think I ought to have anybody bugging me," Couples said before receiving an award last night as the 1992 PGA Tour Player of the Year.

It marked the second consecutive time Couples' peers - the other touring pros - selected him as the outstanding player on the American tour.

The award was announced at the tour's annual awards dinner Thursday night after heavy rains washed out the scheduled first round in the Tournament of Champions.

Lee Trevino and John Flannery were announced as the players of the year for the senior tour and the Ben Hogan tour. Trevino won five titles and led the seniors in money-winnings and scoring average.

Couples' award came on the heels of his greatest season as a golfer, one of his worst years personally.

The shy, low-key Couples won the Masters, two other official events, teamed with Davis Love III to win the World Cup for the United States and became the first man since Tom Watson in 1979 to sweep all three major seasonal honors; player of the year, leading money-winner and the Vardon Trophy for low scoring average.

At the same time, however, his marriage was dissolving and Couples' on-course successes forced him into the focus of media attention, a position he found daunting, unfamiliar and uncomfortable.

"I guess I didn't handle it very well," he said. "All I wanted to do is play golf and hang out with my friends. I wasn't ready for all the attention, everybody wanting a part of me, wanting me to do something."

"I didn't want to talk to anybody 'cause they'd ask me 'How's Deborah?' and I'd say 'She's fine,' just because I didn't want to talk about it."

He and wife Deborah separated shortly after the British Open in July. Divorce papers have been filed.

"It's going to be easier for me than it is for her, because golf is my whole life," he said. "Playing golf is all I want to do. I've got that to fall back on."

That's his target for '93.

"I want to improve myself as a golfer," the tour's best player said. "I don't mean in the number of tournaments I win or the money or things like that. I just want to be a better player."

Buffalo goes to Pittsburgh as underdog

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

Maybe Thurman Thomas was right at last year's Super Bowl when he said the Buffalo Bills don't get any respect.

The two-time AFC champions, fresh from the best comeback in NFL history, go into Pittsburgh as 2-point underdogs to a team it handled easily in the regular season.

OK, so Jim Kelly won't play and Thomas and Cornelius Bennett may not be in top shape. Frank Reich, Kenneth Davis and Marcus Patton did just fine last week.

And the 28-20 regular-season win was at Rich Stadium.

Consider two factors:

- Momentum - the comeback from a 35-3 deficit against Houston injected new life in a team that had shown little since the season's first four games.

- Playoff experience - you know, when the going gets tough, etc. The nucleus of the Steelers is young - Tunch Ilkin and Merrill Hoge know about the playoffs, but not Neil O'Donnell, Barry Foster, Dermontti Dawson, Carlton Haselrig and other key guys.

Moreover, in the battle of the Maryland quarterbacks, Reich is healthier than O'Donnell, who will be playing his first game after missing four weeks with a broken leg. So maybe Warren Moon didn't do badly off a layoff, but he'd been there before.

BILLS, 20-14.
Washington (plus 9 1/2) at San Francisco

Cancel the experience factor - these two teams have won four of the last five Super Bowls, five of the last seven and seven of the last 11. Cancel the Phoenix factor - if you can believe it, both these teams lost to the Cards this season.

So go to the quarterback factor. Mark Rypien relieved last season in the Metrodome, which the Redskins treat as a second home field. Candelstick is something else - two years ago, the Skins went there at the same stage and Rypien threw the ball to the 49ers and lost 28-10. One imponderable.

If Steve Young starts slowly, do the fans starting yelling "We want Joe," taking away the home field advantage? Somehow, Young seems to have the gumption to overcome such things.

Add the speed factor and make it ...

49ERS, 28-10.

Philadelphia (plus 6 1/2) at Dallas

The first time these two played, it was like a Super Bowl.

Now that the game counts, it's only just another playoff game.

Start at the beginning, 31-7 Eagles in Philadelphia. Go on to the next, 20-10 Cowboys in Irving, the game in which Randall Cunningham was benched at halftime after going 3 of 8 for 13 yards.

Randall is back to being Randall. But the Eagles aren't going against Bobby Hebert this week, whose unfortunate fourth quarter helped hand Philadelphia its trip to the second round. And the Philadelphia defense is soft enough in the middle that Emmitt Smith is more likely to get his 163 yards (second game) than his 67 (first game.)

Add home field and make it ...

COWBOYS, 20-13

San Diego (plus 2 1/2) at Miami

How can the Chargers be an underdog when every caller on every sports talk show loves them? Do Harry from Hoboken and Lefty from Louisville know more than Vinny from Vegas?

What Vinny from Vegas knows is:

- In the closing moments of a close playoff game, he'd rather have Dan Marino than Stan Humphries.

- If Bill Arnsparger knows all about Don Shula's offense, Shula knows all about Arnsparger's defense.

- The Dolphins have been in the playoffs recently; the Chargers haven't.

- The law of averages says the longer your winning streak (12 of 13), the harder it is to sustain.

On the other hand, some Vinnys from Vegas would suggest staying with the hot hand.

The Chargers are so hot, they're burning.

CHARGERS, 17-16.

Free agency won't hurt NFL

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

Will free agency hurt the superteams of the NFL, or will the movement of superstars be so diluted that little will change?

The answer won't be known until next season, but there are plenty of possibilities. Among them:

- That teams such as Minnesota, New Orleans, Philadelphia, San Diego, San Francisco and Washington (all with many quality free agents) will be hurt badly.

- That free agency won't be much help to teams such as Cincinnati and New England, which figure to have trouble attracting the league's best available talent.

The most visible of all free agents, Pro Bowl defensive end Reggie White of the Philadelphia Eagles, isn't sure what to make of the settlement between owners and players.

"Some are going to be pleased and some are not," said White, one of the key litigants in a suit that preceded the settlement. "I'm pretty sure the owners are not going to be pleased, because there is some type of free agency; they are going to have to dish out a lot of money."

White won't say whether he will leave the Eagles, a team beset with player unrest over salaries. But his departure could signal a mass exodus. The Eagles have 15 free agents, many of them prime players.

The Eagles were not commenting Thursday.

Los Angeles Rams kicker Tony Zendejas scoffed at what he said was the owners' notion that massive player movement would ruin the game.

"It's not going to be like baseball where a guy gets a base hit in Cincinnati one night and strikes out in Oakland the next," Zendejas said. "Football is all about playing in a system. Guys are not going to jump around like crazy."

Among the teams to whom few may be jumping are the troubled New England Patriots and the austere Cincinnati Bengals.

A Boston-based agent says the downtrodden Patriots - with few free agents - can make a bold move only with a bold stroke of the pen.

"Money is what's going to bring players here," Brad Blank said. "New England is not considered a desirable place for a player to come."

"The team is struggling, the stadium is not in a good location, Boston is perceived around the country as a racist city. Look at the players on the team now. Very few of them make this their home year-round."

Bengals general manager Mike Brown said he didn't like the seven-year labor agreement that immediately frees more than 250 players.

"It's hard for our club, and we're going to have to be imaginative to survive under it, let alone prosper," Brown said.

The deal figures to be a boon to the resurgent and well-financed Green Bay Packers.

"What it comes down to is that Green Bay doesn't have to take a back seat to anybody in the NFL," general manager Ron Wolf said. "If a guy wants to play football, he can play here and be a lot better off than most places."

Carl Peterson, Wolf's counterpart at Kansas City, expects major changes in the way teams will be built.

"The emphasis very possibly might be on youth," Peterson said. "Without any question, it puts more premium on accurately evaluating players, veterans and new players out of college."

Weather will affect NFL games

By The Associated Press

Whether the teams like it or not, weather will probably play a role in Saturday's National Football League playoff games.

Rain is expected this weekend in San Francisco, where the 49ers play host to the Washington Redskins, and snow is forecast for Pittsburgh, where the Steelers will play the Buffalo Bills.

Those conditions could dictate the play-calling, and that figures to favor Buffalo and San Francisco, two teams that can afford to rely on the run.

Buffalo has the NFL's top-ranked rushing offense, averaging 152 yards per game, and the AFC's top-ranked rushing defense, which allows an average of 87 yards per game and 3.3 per run.

Pittsburgh has the AFC's No. 2 rushing offense, but it has the worst rushing defense of the four remaining AFC playoff teams at 115 yards per game and 4.2 per rush.

San Francisco has the NFC's 2nd best rushing offense (145 yards per game) and the conference's second-best rushing defense (89 yards per game).

Washington is ranked seventh in the NFC against the rush (106 yards per game, 4.2 per rush) and seventh in rushing offense (108 yards per game.)

The Redskins and Steelers have higher-rated pass defenses than the 49ers and Bills, but footballs aren't thrown as much when they are slippery and cold.

"I'm not really excited to go play San Francisco," Redskins quarterback Mark Rypien said.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to thank you from the bottom of my heart for something you did five years ago.

You wrote about Tourette syndrome and listed the symptoms. My father saw the column and handed it to me. Our son had 10 of the 12 symptoms you listed. He had been suffering from Tourette's for five years, and my husband and I didn't have the slightest idea there was a name for his condition until we read it in your column. (Our pediatrician said that he was "high strung" and we should pay more attention to him.)

Because you shared this information, our son is now on medication, and his symptoms have almost disappeared. Thank you a million times for the good that you do. We will be forever grateful.—Sandra Weller, San Diego, Calif.

DEAR SANDRA WELLER: It's nice to receive a letter such as yours to balance the ones that tell me to "get lost," "drop dead" or "go jump in Lake Michigan." Your letter is sure to produce dozens of requests to repeat the symptoms, so here they are:

Signs of restlessness such as eye blinking, head jerking, nail biting and humming; constant repetition of TV commercials; throat clearing; barking like a dog; short attention span; foot banging; pencil tapping; and obsessive-compulsive traits such as inordinate touching or the need to straighten things up. Some Tourette sufferers have circles under their eyes from rubbing and look like raccoons.

Those who want more information should write to: Tourette Syndrome Association, 42-40 Bell Blvd., Bayside, N.Y. 11361. Please enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was 5, I was sexually molested by my 14-year-old brother. My mother was present in some vague way, but I blocked out the experience and was never able to discuss it with her. I kept the agony to myself.

A few years ago, when I suddenly realized why I felt so uncomfortable around my brother, I chose not to force myself to be near him anymore. I then decided to talk to my mother about those horrible early years. Her reply was, "Oh, that. You should have gotten over it by now." Her major concern was that I not upset my brother with the past because he's an alcoholic and may start to drink again. I was shocked and hurt. I always felt that my mother was cold and unloving, but this latest rejection was the worst. I grew up with no praise or encouragement. She never acknowledged my achievements. How I have managed to make something of myself is a miracle.

I'm married now and live in another city. When we visit Mother, she is always busy with hair appointments, card games and club work. It is hurtful the way she lives me and my family sitting.

Will I ever get over the pain? Please advise me.—Topeka heartache

DEAR TOPEKA: Your mother is not going to change, so it's up to you to come to terms with the rejection and not let it get to you.

You must get some counseling. It is long overdue. I hope your mother's treatment of you hasn't made you reject your own children. This happens more often than you think. Get going and good luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please serve as referee for a difference in opinion that is getting out of hand? Some good friends of mine insist that cows sleep standing up and that it is possible to sneak up from behind and tip them over.

I asked my dad about this, and he thought it was the funniest thing he'd ever heard. When he finally stopped laughing, I asked if it was really possible to tip over a cow. He replied, "Absolutely not. Somebody's kidding you."

Will you please tell me if there is such a thing as "cow tipping," or are my friends pulling my leg?—Flora in Cincinnati

DEAR FLORA: We checked with LuAnne Metzger, farm curator of the Lincoln Park Zook who assured us that cows sleep lying down. She also said, "It is not a good idea to try to tip a cow over because they do kick and the results could be extremely unpleasant."

We then checked with Doug Houghton, assistant dean of students at Iowa State University. The Department of Dairy Sciences said cows sleep lying down but can "doze" standing up. The dean said he had heard of cow tipping but thought it was just a gag to get kids out in the pasture and leave them stranded, like "snipe-hunting" in the '60s.

We then called the University of Wisconsin. The administration there echoed the sentiments of the faculty at Iowa State. A better authority, however, (the students in a fraternity house) said cow tipping is a common form of recreation, and it takes about four husky students to tip over a cow. Our source added, "So far as we know, the cows don't get hurt, but they do get pretty darned mad."

Dick James of Verdon, Neb., past president of the Nebraska State Dairy Association, said cows do not have a sense of humor and do not enjoy being knocked over. Such stress can result in reduced milk production and poor growth.

The word from here, students, is this: If you want to go in for tipping, tip the waitress but leave the cows alone.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please recommend computer dating to your readers. Both my brother and I found our wives this way.

Before I married "Bev," we both had home libraries that contained about a thousand volumes, and we had a lot of the same books, including some unusual titles such as "Advanced Calculus" and "Lives of the Twelve Caesars."

I also discovered that we had very similar electric quarter-inch drills. The final proof of our compatibility came when I found out that Bev had a large yellow aluminum engineering slide rule exactly like one I had at home.

I admit I'm a little weird because of my off-beat creativity and poor memory, and she is a little more normal in those respects. But we love each other and have since the day we met. Computer dating should work at least as well as any other form of meeting people, and I hope you will encourage your readers to look into it.—Phil in Ontario

DEAR PHIL: Considering that one marriage out of every two ends in divorce, computer-matched couples can't do much worse.

Marriages used to be arranged by families. The bride and groom never saw one another until the wedding.

Foul weather driving tips

If you've a fair interest in foul weather driving, you might benefit from these tips from the Jean-Paul Luc Winter Driving School at Steamboat Springs, Colo. They can help you negotiate roads safely in winter weather.

-Adjust your speed: You should always adjust your speed to the driving conditions. When driving in winter weather, slow down. You need more time to react to hazardous conditions.

-Smoothness is the key: Avoid rough use of the brakes, accelerator and steering wheel.

-Gauge grip: You want the vehicle to grip the road, not slide on it. Before you drive, always check the road conditions and assess the level of grip your tires have. To test the grip, brake hard at a slow speed until you lock the wheels up (immediately release the brakes). This will give you a good feeling about the grip, and will help you adjust your braking distance and speed.

-Don't oversteer on a curve: This will cause your rear wheels to skid out. If you find yourself in this situation, turn the wheel in the direction of the skid.

-Avoid understeering: When this happens, your front wheels will not turn. All you can do in this situation is take your foot off the gas until you regain traction.

-Conduct one driving maneuver at time: Always do your braking when the vehicle is in a straight position before a curve. Take your foot completely off the brake before you steer into the corner and don't begin to accelerate until you are out of the corner.

-Crossing intersections: On snowy roads, intersections become very slippery. Be especially careful in these areas.

-Changing lanes: Be very smooth with your steering action and never accelerate or decelerate while changing lanes on snowy roads.

-Negotiating a hill: When driving up a snow-covered hill, make sure you build momentum on the flat area. As the grade increases and your vehicle begins to slow down, don't try to keep the same speed by stepping on the gas.

Just let your speed decrease. Take your time climbing the hill letting the vehicle keep its grip with the road.

-When you get stuck: Avoid spinning the tires because that will create an ice patch. Instead, gently rock your vehicle back and forth. To do this, apply gentle pressure on the accelerator and the brake in the drive gear and then in the reverse gear until you can move your car out of the rut.

Monastic Elixir
FECAMP, France (AP) - Almost 500 years ago, a Benedictine monk and botanist, Don Bernardo Vincelli, perfected a recipe for a liqueur made from 27 herbs, plants and spices.

Named Benedictine after the monastic order, its secret recipe includes honey, thyme, cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg and myrrh steeped and aged with French brandy.

In 1793, during the French Revolution, the abbey here was burned down, and production of the liqueur ceased for the next 70 years.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

Hope you enjoyed a great holiday season. I ended 1992 with a little family fishing trip down to magnificent Lake Guerrero near Ciudad Victoria in old Mexico.

This year's expedition included my father, Melvin Phillips, and my two brothers-in-law, Don "Spinning Rod" Bentzen and Rick "Redfish" Garfield, both of McAllen. We stayed at the south end of the lake in a quaint village called Villas de Casas, where 300 locals live in thatched-roof adobe houses.

The ambitious young people in Villa de Casas can either leave town or become fishermen. There are two classes of fishermen, either commercial or English speaking bass guides. The commercial fishermen are experts at making and using the deadly monofilament gill nets. Contrary to official reports by Mexican authorities that gill nets are used only on tilapia, we personally witnessed the slaughter of hundreds of quality bass.

We were told that there is not a single fishing enforcement officer at this 28,000 acre lake. American catch-and-release fishermen can only dream about what would happen if Mexico decided to implement trophy bass restrictions similar to those at Lake Fork.

My group stayed at Lee's and Maria's Motel and Fish Camp in Villas de Casas, Tamaulipas, Mexico. The rooms were clean but spartan. What the rooms lacked in size was more than made up for by the fine cooking and modern bass boats with excellent native guides. Maria Lara is famous for her hearty breakfasts, great fried chicken and unsurpassed Mexican food.

Secret baits and magic lures are not necessary at Guerrero because the hungry bass will attack just about every lure that looks like a minnow. Any colored Rat-L-Trap (chromic-blue) was deadly when tossed near stickups along old creek channels. Be sure to use at least 20-pound line because even schooling two-pound bass can find the submerged mesquite trees.

After wearing out our arms catching bass on crankbaits, a huge 10-inch black/chartreuse Berkley Powerworm was just the ticket for bigger bass. We used a 5/0 Owner hook on some 25-pound Big Game line and wished that we had some 30-pound.

If an angler wants to learn how to catch bass on plastic worms, no place is better than Guerrero. Setting the hook on over 100 bass each day is a graduate level education in bass fishing. A white SlugGo lure worked like magic around lunch time.

The biggest bass of this trip was a beautiful 8 1/2-pound largemouth bass that my 82-year-old father landed on our last day. It was the perfect end to a great fishing trip.

Mel Phillips is an award-winning member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association. He is an avid hunter, tournament fisherman and host of a Wednesday evening talk show on KGNC TalkRadio 71.

produce enough touchdowns to take out Detroit. "That's my role on this team. I suffer from no illusions that I'm the first teamer. This is Troy's team."

Owner Jerry Jones has admitted that the Cowboys are likely to lose Beuerlein to high-bidding teams. "It would be difficult for us to keep him from going," said Jones.

Beuerlein wants a team of his own and is in control of his own fate. "I'm not saying I won't be back here next year," Beuerlein said. "I guess that depends on the demand from the outside. I'll get into all that after the playoffs. Who knows I might not get a chance at a good situation for me. But I've paid my dues. I'm ready to have my own team."

Beuerlein said he is worried bigtime about the Eagles. "I think this will be the toughest game we'll have to face in the playoffs," he said. "These guys (The Eagles) are darn good. We've got to be at our absolute best. Right now everybody has an 0-0 record."

Aikman will be starting his first NFL playoff game and Beuerlein was asked if he had any advice for the Cowboys Pro Bowl quarterback. "Troy doesn't need it," Beuerlein said. "He'll be fine. He'll do fine on his own. Troy will do a super job in a big game."

"I can see his confidence grow. He keeps getting better and better."

President U.S. Grant frequently attended the races at Monmouth Park, N.J., in the early 1970s.

Bing Crosby was the president of the Del Mar race track when it opened in 1937.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN ZEITTI

ELIJAH AND THE PRIESTS OF BAAL

IN THE DAYS OF ELIJAH HE CONTINUALLY BATTLED THE PAGAN PRIESTS WHO WERE IMPORTED BY QUEEN JEZEBEL WHO WISHED TO DISPLACE THE LORD WITH HER OWN HEATHEN GODS. ELIJAH WAS GUIDED TO SEEK A CONFRONTATION WITH THE PRIESTS OF BAAL. (1 KINGS 18:20-40) HE SENT A MESSAGE TO THE ISRAELITES TELLING THEM TO GATHER AT MOUNT CARMEL...

IN A VERY SHORT SPACE OF TIME EVERY PATHWAY AND ROAD IS CROWDED WITH PEOPLE IN ANSWER TO THE ROYAL SUMMONS...

AND WITH ALL ISRAEL GATHERED BEFORE HIM, IN A PULSATING MASS OF HUMANITY, WONDERING, TALKING, LAUGHING, JOKING, ELIJAH STANDS BEFORE THEM—A STARKLY LONE, YET COURAGEOUS FIGURE! HE RAISES HIS ARM IN A COMMANDING GESTURE AND SLOWLY, THE TUMULT OF THE CROWD DIMPLES TO A DEEP SILENCE AS THE PROPHET OF THE LORD PREPARES TO SPEAK...

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Prayer hours are at 7 a.m. Tuesday, 7 p.m. Wednesday and noon each Thursday.

The church's faith guideposts to teach, direct and mold members of the congregation into a people of faith, love and purpose are: exalting Christ, John 12:32; fullness of the Holy Spirit, Acts 1:8; harmonious relationships, John 13:35; healthy teaching, John 6:63; a love for the lost, Luke 19:10; praise and worship, Psalm 96:2-3; and a passion for personal holiness, EE Cor. 3:18.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

"The Rising Above the Ordinary" Leadership Effectiveness Conference is being held today through Sunday for all church leaders, teachers, greeters, ushers, youth workers, children's workers, etc. The conference at the church is being led by Dr. Bill Burch, Arizona district superintendent.

Special adult Sunday school sessions are scheduled at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Dr. Bill Burch will meet with the men in the church sanctuary and Jan Burch will meet with the women in the Nazarene Christian Academy library.

Also, Dr. Burch will be the special guest speaker at the 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service. His sermon is entitled "Faith Promise." The public is invited to attend.

A spokesperson at the church said, "We, along with other area churches and organizations, are part of the '500 to Make a Difference' effort which is to encourage 500 people who signed the Help Eliminate Liquor Problems petition, to get one person who didn't sign it, to get out and vote. The election is Tuesday, Jan. 12. We encourage you to mark your ballots "against" if you are for a dry county."

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The Sunday morning Methodist Men's Breakfast is scheduled at 8 a.m. in the church fellowship hall. All men in the church are invited to join in this fellowship.

Regular Sunday school classes start at 9:30 a.m. and the Sunday morning worship service begins at 10:45. The youth council meeting is planned at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in the fellowship hall and the potluck supper Sunday, in honor of Sunday school attendance winners, will be held at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

The children of First UMC will meet in their classrooms Sunday morning and are encouraged to follow hallways of stars to a special place in the sanctuary where Mary, Joseph and baby Jesus can be found. After a worship program and song time, the children will return to their classrooms to eat "King" cakes.

The children worked last Sunday creating and decorating the stars and crowns in preparation for the service. The crowns will be worn by the children as they re-enact the kings journey to reach the Christ child.

Former FUMC member and traveler to Russia, Becky Ruland, will be welcomed Sunday as the guest speaker at an all-church covered dish supper hosted by the youth department at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

Church members are encouraged to bring a covered dish of their choice or just come and listen to Ruland speak of her experiences in Minsk, Byelorussia and other interesting places where she and others distributed Bibles, witnessed and visited hospitals and churches. Her speech will also be accompanied by a video she made especially for presentation on her return home.

Ruland is remembered at the church as an active choir, bell choir and United Methodist Youth Fellowship member and officer. She held a district U.M.Y.F. office as a senior high and performed with the conference choir, "Spirit Wind."

The youth group will furnish tea, Kool-aid, coffee and bread to accompany the meal. Youth and adult members of the youth council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall for a short meeting prior to set-up time.

WOULD YOU VOTE TO RAISE YOUR TAXES?

IF YOU VOTE AGAINST LIQUOR SALES IN HEREFORD YOU VOTE FOR HIGHER TAXES

$ Hereford will lose $110,000 in liquor and ad valorem taxes.

$ County and City officials confirm without this revenue, the only alternative will be to raise county, city and school taxes.

$ Without sales, retail outlets will lose 50 employees causing higher unemployment taxes, additional lost taxes, and a greater strain on the taxpayer.

$ The Chamber of Commerce estimates for each dollar lost, Hereford will lose seven dollars in revenue.

$ Alcohol consumption won't be stopped, revenue from lost taxes will.

BUSINESSES CLOSED WILL CAUSE

$20,000 - DECREASE IN RENTS PAID

$25,000 - DECREASE IN ELEC., GAS, SEWER REVENUES

$70,000 - DECREASE IN OTHER SALES
 • ADVERTISING • DONATIONS
 • SERVICES TO OPERATE

THIS DOES NOT ACCOUNT FOR CUTS THE OTHER BUSINESSES WILL MAKE.

- DON'T SEND PEOPLE ON THE HIGHWAYS
- DON'T BRING BOOTLEGGING BACK
- DON'T SEND POTENTIAL CUSTOMERS OUT OF TOWN TO PURCHASE OTHER THINGS.
- DON'T RAISE YOUR TAXES FOR NOTHING

Vote FOR Hereford's future!
