Traffic signals coming down

Traffic signals at Fifth and Main and Second and Main are being removed this week. City officials, using traffic counts, determined the signals were not needed. The signals have been replaced by stop signs, stopping travelers on Fifth and Second streets.

Early balloting begins Monday for August vote

Absentee voting will begin next Monday for the Aug. 10 election called by the Texas Legislature on Constitutional amendments, including one that will allow new county education districts to conduct elections to determine tax exemptions.

In what seems like a cart-before-the-horse situation, voters will decide in a separate election but on the same day whether the CED will exempt tangible personal property, such as automobiles, from the tax rolls, and offer some property exemption.

Exemptions that may be allowed would amount to 20 percent of market value on homes and $10,000 on homes of persons over age 65 or disabled.

The tax issues are on a local option basis and will be implemented county-by-county, depending on the outcome of the vote.

Voters in the two Deaf Smith County school districts -- Hereford and Walcott Independent School Districts -- will vote on the tax propositions.

Deaf Smith County will conduct the Constitutional amendment election.

HISD and Deaf Smith County have agreed to hold the elections at the same voting sites, reports David Ruland, county clerk.

However, Walcott ISD voters will cast their ballots on the tax issues in their own district. They will vote on the Constitutional amendments at their county voting precinct.

The Constitutional amendment election also will give Texas voters a voice on whether the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board should have the authority to issue and sell up to $300 million in general obligation bonds to finance educational loans to students.

Absentee voting on the Constitutional amendments will be conducted at the county clerk's office in the Deaf Smith County courthouse.

Voting boxes on Aug. 10 will be located Aikman Primary School, Commissioners court-room, Hereford Junior High School and Hereford Community Center.

WISD in trouble on transfers

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The Walcott Independent School District board of trustees will meet in a special session Friday night, and consolidation will be among the topics on the agenda.

Walcott Superintendent Dr. Bill McLaughlin had broached the idea before, including several times in private conversations with the Brand. However, consolidation may be forced upon the district because of liberal transfers into the district that may have violated state and federal rules.

McLaughlin said Tuesday afternoon that the Texas Education Agency had informed him that TEA had discovered that the Walcott district had not had enough Hispanic students among its transfers to maintain the district's racial mix.

"I knew that, but I had kind of overlooked it," said McLaughlin, who broke into tears at times during the telephone interview. "It is difficult to turn down children who want to come to school here, to turn down parents who have made the choice to have their children attend a small, peaceful country school."

McLaughlin said he had never turned away any Hispanic children who wanted to attend the school, 32 miles west-northwest of Hereford.

"There was no gain to me personally in any way to have the kids transfer out here. It was a way to have a better school," McLaughlin said. "We would have welcomed any Hispanic children who wanted to transfer out here. I love all kids. We have a few Hispanic kids who live out here, and I love 'em to death, just like I love all kids. There was no bad intent on my part. I always had good intentions."

The rural school district is in violation of a federal court order that McLaughlin said had been handed down several years ago. "It's a thing designed to prevent a district from only allowing certain types of kids to transfer into your district. It's like if you have 30 percent Hispanic kids in your school district, then 30 percent of your transfers should be Hispanic, too."

McLaughlin said the infraction "is bad enough that if the board asks me to resign, then I'll resign." The superintendent's contract will be among the agenda items.

"I've tried to make this a good school, and I'll just be at the mercy of the board," said McLaughlin, sobbing. "I think most of the board members will be on my side, and I think the parents will be on my side, too. I really tried the best I could out here in everything I have done, but I don't know if they'll keep me or not."

McLaughlin would like to stay on through possible consolidation with the Hereford school district. It's an action McLaughlin had wanted to postpone as long as possible, but it's something he knew may come.

"I believe the way the TEA operates, they'll want to cut us off completely and cut us off as soon as possible," McLaughlin said. "If it's something the board wants to do quickly, for the coming school year, then I think we can do that. If it's something they want to work on for the next several months and maybe do for the 1992-93 school year, then we could do that."

McLaughlin said he would like to see the school kept operating as part of the Hereford ISD.

"We need a school out here," McLaughlin said. "We don't have vandalism, we don't have a drug problem; we have good teachers, and it's just a very nice school. The kids work well with the teachers, and a lot of success has been fostered."

One of the most successful programs in recent years at Walcott has been the Kumon math program. The program was developed by the Japanese and has been used at Walcott for three years. The program has gained national notoriety, and McLaughlin said earlier he would like to keep that and other programs if the school is forced to consolidate.

"I hope they keep me here through the transition," McLaughlin said. "I have put a lot of thought into it, and I have a lot of friends in Hereford."

Hereford school board president John Fuston said Tuesday night that Hereford school officials would welcome consolidation.

"I also believe there's a place for that school out there," Fuston said.

If the school is forced to close or consolidate, it would close a chapter on a school that has been in existence since 1914. The first Walcott school was located 13 miles northwest of Hereford, according to the history written by Elzora Brown in Deaf Smith County, Its Land and Its People. The present school was formed with the consolidation of three school districts (Walcott, Bippus and Messenger) in the western part of the county in 1950, and the present school building opened for the 1951 school year. The past school year there were 74 students attending Kindergarten through sixth grade at the school. Seventh and eighth grade students were transferred to Hereford Junior High last year because of low numbers.

County looks at boundaries

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Redrawing boundaries for Deaf Smith County commissioner precincts may not be very complicated although fitting together voting precincts to meet federal guidelines may be another story.

Bob Bass, a representative of Jim Allison and Associates, a law firm engaged by Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court to work on redrawing lines to conform with voting rights laws, met Tuesday with the commission.

Lines are redrawn according to the latest U.S. Census figures which were obtained through a data center in Austin, Bass told commissioners.

Bass reported that 25 percent of the total county population must live in each commissioner precinct but to provide minority representation, precincts will not be divided equally between Anglo and Hispanic residents.

The census figures show that Deaf Smith County's ethnic population is almost equally divided between Anglo and Hispanic. The Anglo population is 49.17 percent and the Hispanic population is 48.85 percent.

The remaining population -- less than two percent of the total -- is a combination of Native American, African American and Asian residents.

Each county commissioner's precinct must have 4,788 residents, Bass told the commissioners, which adds up to the total census report of 19,153 population in Deaf Smith County.

Changes in boundaries for the commissioners' precincts may not be drastic, Bass added. However, voting rights laws also affect city "wards" and other political subdivisions, he said.

"Drawing those lines may be more complicated," Bass told the court.

Initially, he expects the county boundary changes will result in two precincts with a high percentage of Anglo residents and two with Hispanic advantages.

"Because of voting records, at least one precinct probably will include 65 percent Hispanic, which would allow a 51 percent majority voting," Bass said.

A second precinct will also have a high percentage of Hispanic residents, Bass said, although probably not reaching the 65 percent level.

Currently, population of the four commissioner precincts varies considerably, in some cases, from the ideal that the law requires, Bass observed.

Precinct One, now represented by John Stribling, has a population of 4,460, or 6.85 percent less than the ideal.

On the other side of the coin, Precinct Two reports a population of 5,760, or 20.3 percent more than one-quarter of the county population. Lupe Chavez is the commissioner.

The population of Precinct Three, represented by Troy Don Moore, is 4,418 persons, 7.73 percent less than the number judged as ideal.

Precinct Four, represented by Johnny Latham, has a population of 4,515, a 5.7 percent deviation from the required one-fourth.

Commissioners and County Judge Tom Simons suggested to Bass that rural precinct lines be changed as little as possible.

The Austin attorney told the commission that he hopes the lines in the City of Hereford may be "squared off" in some instances.

"We'd like to 'fill in' some places, if possible," Bass said.

He expects to have a proposal in late July or early August for the commissioners court to consider and conduct a public hearing on.

The commission, by consensus, decided not to appoint a citizens committee for the procedure but to invite participation in a hearing.

Simons said he does not expect the boundary changes to be a "volatile issue."

Each of the four precincts will reach into the City of Hereford since the bulk of the county's population, 14,745 people, are city-dwellers.

DSGH adopts budget

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Publisher-Editor

The good news on the proposed 1992 budget for the Deaf Smith County Hospital District is that operating expenses are down by $844,268 over this past year. The bad news is that projected revenues are down by $997,272.

Adding in capital expenditures, Medicare losses and other expenses, the new budget calls for a tax rate of 22 cents per $100 valuation to maintain current services. That's an increase of 67 percent over the current rate of 13.2 cents.

In other business during the regular hospital board meeting Tuesday night, directors heard a lab report from Karen Ward, heard the administrator's operations report, approved bills and signed a resolution authorizing the signing of bank drafts. An executive session was called at 9:30 p.m. to discuss litigation. This was an apparent illegal meeting, as no attorney was present as required by law.

Hospital Administrator Gary Moore outlined the proposed budget figures during the board meeting last night, and directors set a public budget hearing for Tuesday, July 30.

The budget total is $5,570,171, compared to last year's total of $6,567,443. Net patient services revenue was projected to be down by $1.3 million over last year's budget.

Moore said the budget was based on an inflation rate of 5 percent, a 5 percent hike in hospital charges, a 5 percent increase in supply costs, and a 15 percent rise in cost of drugs. The patient volume is based on 1991 totals, and no general pay increases were included.

With a 22-cent tax rate, the revenue generated would be $1,094,336. This compares to tax revenues of $639,250 this past year on the 13.2-cent rate. Moore pointed out that on a $50,000 house, the tax would rise by $44.50 for a year.

Board president Raymond Schroeder announced that directors would meet with Methodist Hospital officials from Lubbock on July 25 and with St. Mary's Hospital officials from Lubbock on Aug. 6 to discuss the possibility of some type of affiliation in hospital management.

Moore announced that a new service, respite care, will be offered by the hospital beginning in August. Respite care is temporary care of chronically ill or disabled persons to provide relief to the primary caregiver. Someone who taking care of a parent, for example, could put them in the hospital for one to seven days. Private pay would be arranged since there is no Medicare reimbursement.

Karen Ward presented the lab report to the board. She outlined the work involved in the department, which currently has three fulltime and two parttime people. She reported the lab ran 5,477 tests in the last quarter, and said the department's primary purpose is to help doctors diagnose and treat patients.

Moore reported the hospital had operating losses of $130,020 in June. Operating revenue was $350,353 and operating expenses were $480,373. Total patients admitted in June were 126, and the average daily census was 13.8. This compares to 177 patients last year and average of 19.5 for the daily census.

Board members present were Schroeder, Dr. Randal Vinther, Boyd Foster, Stan Fry Jr., Mal Manchec and Craig Smith. Several visitors were present.

County to get money

Deaf Smith County and the Texas Department of Public Safety will share $4,350, a portion of $62,050 confiscated by a DPS trooper when he stopped a vehicle on U.S. Highway 60.

In an agreement filed in 222nd District Court on July 8, the county and DPS share with a man who claimed $18,350 of the total was his.

Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul reported that the trooper asked permission to search the vehicle when he stopped the men.

After he received permission, the trooper found the cache of money and a small amount of a controlled substance in the car trunk.

By state drug law, the state was entitled to confiscate the money.

However, a third man, Charles Lake, claimed he gave $18,350 to one of the men for purchase of horses and equipment and that amount of money was his.

Lake maintained he had nothing to do with any drugs that might have been found.

Authorities reached the compromise agreement with him. Saul said the county and state may share in the remainder of the confiscated money but other persons have laid claim to some.

Three persons arrested Tuesday

Hereford police arrested two persons on Tuesday: a man, 18, for violation of probation, and a man, 20, for driving while intoxicated. Sheriff's deputies arrested a man, 35, for violation of probation. Reports in the city on Tuesday included theft of gas from vehicles in the 400 block of Irving; burglary of a motor vehicle in the 100 block of Sampson; telephone harassment; a man was cut on the thumb with a knife in an assault on Park Ave.; domestic disturbance in the 300 block of Brevard; a vehicle stolen in the 200 block of Ave. K was recovered in Roswell, N.M.; a dog bite in the 900 block of Main; criminal non-support; burglary of a residence in the 200 block of Ave. J; and one woman assaulted another in the 600 block of 13th.

Hereford police issued four citations and investigated two minor accidents Tuesday.

Hereford volunteer firefighters were called out twice to a vacant house on 105 Ave. E on Tuesday. The first fire, at 4:50 p.m., was quickly extinguished, but firemen were called back at 8:30 p.m. when flames were seen coming from the home. Fire Marshall Jay Spain said that although utilities had been disconnected inside the home, a tree branch had rubbed the insulation off the electricity drop line going to the home. That caused the neutral ground line to charge, and that caused both fires.

Fair weather through Sunday

Tonight, fair with a low in the middle 60s. South wind 10 to 15 mph. Thursday, continued sunny and warm with a high in the middle 90s. Southwest wind 10 to 20 mph and gusty.

The extended forecast for Friday through Sunday: fair. Highs in the lower to mid 90s. Lows in the upper 60s to around 70.

This morning's low at KPAN was 63 after a high Tuesday of 89.

LONDON - Mikhail Gorbachev comes knocking on the door of Western capitalism today as President Bush and America's rich allies wrap up a summit offering limited aid to the beleaguered Soviet Union.

WASHINGTON - The Senate Intelligence Committee will wait until Sept. 16 to begin hearings on President Bush's nomination of Robert Gates to head the CIA while it explores new evidence that the agency covered up its role in the Iran-Contra affair.

WASHINGTON - The Senate is nearing adoption of legislation freeing federally-financed family-planning centers to dispense advice on abortion, pushing Congress one step closer to a veto showdown with President Bush.

NICOSIA, Cyprus - While the United Nations works to deny Iraq the means to develop a nuclear weapon, Iran is stepping up its drive to join the nuclear club.

PHILADELPHIA - Frank L. Rizzo, the tough-talking cop-turned-mayor who once boasted he would make Atila the Hun look like a sissy - or words to that effect - died at age 70 in the middle of City Hall comeback bid.

CHICAGO - The Chicago Board of Trade voted to allow trading in smog futures, or permits that allow companies to pollute. Environmentalists and others say the system will give utilities a financial incentive to cut pollution.

WASHINGTON - Women and blacks face serious inequities in a $4.6 billion job training program that was a cornerstone of Dan Quayle's vice presidential campaign, congressional investigators said today. They said women in the program were more likely than men to receive training for lower-paid jobs and whites were more likely than blacks to receive classroom and on-the-job training.

TOKYO - Embarrassing scandals and international criticism are forcing the government to crack down on unfair business practices it has long tolerated.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. - In the last six weeks, Ann Mason has spent 26 days sleeping in parks to avoid pesticides used on lawns in her neighborhood. She is one of 18 people across Florida listed on a new registry designed to protect people who are "chemically sensitive."

Texas

AUSTIN - Comptroller John Sharp's plan to reorganize state government was under attack on several fronts as lawmakers started work on a two-year budget in the face of a $4.8 billion shortfall to continue current services. State agency representatives, higher education officials, and human service advocates, among others, packed legislative committee rooms Tuesday to denounce Sharp's proposed fee increases, agency mergers and cuts.

AUSTIN - If the Legislature fails to overhaul the state bureaucracy now, a key senator says it could be decades before lawmakers get the chance again. "There is a narrow window, and there is a time here to properly do something to reform state government," said Sen. Bob Glasgow, chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee.

WASHINGTON - The Bush administration is offering to work with Congress to find something better than the census count as a guide to parceling out billions of federal aid dollars to states and local governments.

AUSTIN - The chairman of the state House Redistricting Committee said he backs U.S. Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher's decision to not adjust census figures to include 560,000 more Texans. By some estimates, the undercount will cost Texas $1 billion in federal money.

LUBBOCK - Dairy officials say cattlemen across the country are overreacting to a proposed program designed to bail out depressed dairy prices. Such a move would plunder beef prices, cattle officials say. The House Agriculture Committee debated the program most of the day Tuesday as beef and dairy producers looked on.

FORT WORTH - Violent crime that simmers with the summer heat has come all the way to the Rev. Louie B. George's church steps. In Dallas, so much blood has been shed, the blood bank put out a call for emergency donors. And summer is only beginning in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, the nation's ninth largest.

KENEDY - A parolee repeat offender who had vowed to kill a policeman shot three people and held South Texas law officers at bay before surrendering in a cloud of tear gas, authorities said. The suspect faced charges of murder, attempted murder and attempted capital murder.

HOUSTON - A subsidiary of the nation's largest wholesale food supplier has admitted that it conspired to rig bids on contracts with more than 20 school districts in Southeast Texas.

AUSTIN - A group of protesters who staged a two-day demonstration at the Capitol over services for the disabled expressed satisfaction with the response from Gov. Ann Richards, but said their work will continue. The protest ended Tuesday after Richards pledged to seek a shift in funding away from institutions and toward in-home care for the disabled.

DECATUR - Houston oilman George Mitchell built his company on the rich natural gas producing fields of North Texas. While waiting for a price rebound to fully tap the Fort Worth Basin again, Mitchell Energy & Development Corp. is planning the region's first horizontal well. But Mitchell said Tuesday the well won't make money until there's a substantial jump in gas prices.

WASHINGTON - Texas service station owners fear a substantial loss of revenue and long lines for motorists if the government centralizes vehicle emissions testing in cities with the most severe air pollution - Houston and El Paso.

EL PASO - A garment maker who has been the target of labor strikes for nearly three months Tuesday admitted owing money to the IRS but said he is paying off his debt. Andre Diaz owes more than $450,000 in federal and state taxes and penalties, according to tax liens filed in county court.

Firemen battle blaze at vacant house

Hereford volunteer firefighters peel away aluminum siding to get to a fire at a vacant house at 105 Ave. E on Tuesday afternoon. Firemen were called to the house twice Tuesday; on the second trip, it was discovered that a tree branch had peeled insulation off of an electrical line, causing the fires.

Legislature has chance to overhaul bureaucracy

AUSTIN (AP) - If the Legislature fails to overhaul the state bureaucracy now, a key senator says it could be decades before lawmakers get the chance again.

"There is a narrow window, and there is a time here to properly do something to reform state government," said Sen. Bob Glasgow, chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee.

Endorsing Gov. Ann Richards' push to merge more than 50 of the 250 state agencies, Glasgow noted that some departments have been around for nearly 100 years.

"If we miss this window, this opportunity, it may be another 50 or 100 years before we get back to it," he said Tuesday.

The Legislature opened a 30-day special session Monday to write and fund a 1992-93 state budget.

Richards launched a full-court legislative press Tuesday, testifying before Glasgow's committee to call on lawmakers to seize the moment and pass a series of budget-cutting, agency-merging proposals.

"For years, Texas taxpayers have been feeding a sprawling, flabby monster," she said.

"Almost anywhere you look in state government, you are going to find agencies that are ripe for consolidation and reorganization and some even (for) elimination," she said.

Lawmakers also should give governors the power to hire and fire department heads to help make agencies more responsive to average citizens, Richards said.

Agency consolidation was a key recommendation of Comptroller John Sharp after a 4(-month audit of all state spending.

Sharp's merger proposals, along with spending cuts and fee increases, would help bridge about $4 billion of the projected $4.8 billion deficit facing lawmakers.

Richards has endorsed Sharp's merger ideas and called for a cabinet-style government where department heads answer to the governor.

"Executive directors must know that they have to answer to the person who can hire them and who can fire them," she said.

Under the current system, most agency directors answer to independent boards where appointees serve for six years and overlap different governors' terms. Richards said the boards should remain as advisory groups but day-to-day oversight belongs with the governor.

Richards also said Tuesday that she hopes lawmakers can get the budget job done in 30 days. But if not, they won't be going home, she said.

"If you are of a mind to complete this process and this task in 30 days, I think that the state of Texas and all of us would shout with joy. And I think it can be accomplished," she said.

"But if it takes longer than that, I live here and I'm going to be in Austin anyway," so another special session would be called, she said.

2 killed in chain reaction

FARNSWORTH, Texas (AP) - A chain reaction crash on a Panhandle highway under construction killed two Oklahoma residents and injured children in two daycare center vans, authorities said.

The six-vehicle accident occurred shortly after 3:30 p.m. Tuesday on state Highway 15, near the Oklahoma border about 100 miles northeast of Amarillo, said Judy Guinn with the Ochiltree County Sheriff's Department in Perryton.

"It was a chain reaction, one vehicle into the next," she said.

The dead were identified as Dr. Ronald Cramer, 52, of Oklahoma City, and his mother, Marie C. Cramer, 80, of Elmwood, Okla., said Trooper Tony Rocha of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The victims' car was sandwiched between two semi-trucks. "The deputies had to cut the car apart to get them out," Ms. Guinn said.

"We had between 20 and 25 come into the emergency room," said Mary Martinez, a spokeswoman for Ochiltree General. "We treated several children and a few adults. They were all treated and released without serious injury."

According to police accounts, construction is being done on one lane of the highway and a flagman was allowing one direction of traffic through at a time.

Two vans carrying children from Beehive Daycare Center in Perryton, two semis and the car carrying the Oklahoma couple were waiting in line to travel on the only operable lane of the highway when a semi barreled into the victims' car, Ms. Guinn said.

The driver of the semi involved in the accident told investigators he had been dozing off before the accident, Rocha said. No charges had been filed Tuesday night, he added.

Violence marks Texas summer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Violent crime that simmers with the summer heat has come all the way to the Rev. Louie B. George's church steps.

In front of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, two boys were shot to death in what George described as a drug-related attack that also wounded a girl. Her blood flowed on the steps leading to the sanctuary earlier this summer.

"A deacon and I had to wash the blood off the front steps and walkway," said George, who lamented a rise in violent crime in his neighborhood, blighted with drug houses and addicts.

In Dallas, so much blood has been shed, the blood bank put out a call for emergency donors. And summer is only beginning in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, the nation's ninth largest.

A baseball umpire who tries to stop another mugging is wounded, and partially paralyzed. A Wisconsin man in Dallas to ferry teens to a church convention is killed after refusing to give up his wallet to a mugger.

"I just see it as part of an increasing number of violent crimes that occur during the hot summer months," said Dallas police Sgt. Jim Chandler. "We expect to see it even more later."

The summer surge of violence was blamed for critical shortages of most types of blood at Dallas' Parkland Memorial Hospital, prompting an emergency ban on elective surgery.

Murders in Dallas are up 31.2 percent over the same time last year; in Fort Worth, slayings are 60 percent higher.

George said he was also drawn into the most celebrated of recent violent events - a Fort Worth policeman's videotaped beating of a handcuffed suspect.

Reminiscent of black motorist

Rodney King's beating in Los Angeles last March, the attack has drawn much unwanted attention to Cowtown. It's a city known for historic stockyards, Old West charm and the giant Billy Bob's honky-tonk - not crime and police brutality.

"I would not have believed it could happen here," said George. "Like the Rodney King situation, it didn't look good."

George, a former National Association for the Advancement of Colored People state board member, was asked to help review the tape of the July 3 beating of Ernest A. Anderson by Fort Worth police Officer Edward J. Parnell III.

Although both Parnell and Anderson are black, the NAACP said it wanted to ensure civil rights were not violated in the beating.

Dallas, 35 miles to the east, has had its share of violence. Police records show violent crime rose more than 13 percent during the first six months of this year compared with the same 1990 period.

American League umpire Steve Palermo and former Southern Methodist University defensive tackle Terence Mann were victims in an attempted robbery on July 7.

Palermo was shot in the back, while Mann was treated for gunshots to his neck, abdomen and arm. They were attacked after chasing four men who authorities said were trying to rob two waitresses.

Kenneth Meyer of Sheboygan, Wis., in Dallas for a Lutheran convention, was shot to death the previous night. Dave Whitney, Dallas Convention and Visitors Bureau president, said it was the first such death he could recall and hoped it would not hurt tourist business.

"Summer is convention season, and more people are out on the street, many in the nighttime hours," Chandler said.

Letter to the Editor

Dear editor,

On Thursday, a delegation from Amarillo's Chamber of Commerce will be in Hereford visiting with local civic leaders. Among the main topics to be discussed will be the proposed expansion of the Pantex nuclear weapons facility.

We ask that our community leaders be respectful of, and give due priority to, the opinions of local citizens. Throughout the turbulent years when this county was a candidate for a nuclear waste repository, it became clear that our community was, and remains, sharply divided on the nuclear question.

The Pantex proposal is already mired in similar controversy. (The Panhandle Groundwater District and Texas Cattle Feeders have refused to support the Pantex expansion.) We believe Hereford has endured more than its share of "the DOE debate" and that local leaders should refrain from involving our community in this possible new source of strife.

Hereford does not stand to benefit from Amarillo's bid for a new plutonium plant. In the distant future, the citizens of Hereford could be affected by an expansion at Pantex, but these impacts might prove to be negative. Our community has been scarred by the waste dump issue and Hereford's endorsement of a nearby plutonium processing plant could reopen old wounds.

It will be years before a final decision is made concerning the reorganization of DOE's weapons facilities. At this point, the public has not had the opportunity to study the full scope of this project, and its expected impacts. This proposal is sparking conflict because it will entail the establishment of plutonium processing in the Texas Panhandle. The expansion project raises too-familiar questions regarding transportation, waste disposal, and possible effects on public health, the Ogallala aquifer and the food-producing industry.

This issue is of direct concern to our organization, which has worked for the past 10 years to protect our natural environment from risks of radioactive contamination. On behalf of LOCAL families and businesses, we believe it to be hasty and inappropriate for Hereford's leaders to support the Pantex proposal. Due to the limited information now available on the proposed expansion, we feel it would be ill-advised for Hereford to officially involve itself in this matter.

Sincerely,
The Board of Directors,

Day of beauty offered

Merle Norman Cosmetics will offer a one-day beauty seminar July 22, 23, 24. Cost for the day of beauty is $25. Heather Johnson, beauty advisor, demonstrates visual poise.

Chamber sets style show date

The Style Show Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division is inviting all Chamber members that are retail clothing merchants to participate in this year's Town and Country Jubilee event.

"The new event promises to be one of enjoyment and also one that will provide local merchants an excellent opportunity to showcase their fall wardrobes," said Style Show Chairman Arvella Lauderback.

Merchants wishing to participate may call the Chamber at 364-3333. Persons wishing to make reservations to attend may purchase tickets at the Chamber or at participating merchants prior to the event.

Reiter attends camp

Matthew Reiter of Hereford, son of Tommy and Billie Jo Reiter, attended Camp RYLA, July 7-12 at Camp Summer Life in Vadito, N.M., along with other young men from West Texas and the Texas Panhandle.

Participants in Camp RYLA (Rotary Youth Leadership Award) are chosen for their leadership qualities shown in school, church and community activities, their scholarship and their excellent moral standards.

Camp RYLA is a youth program of Rotary International, sponsored by the 57 Rotary Clubs in District 5730. The camp provides an opportunity to make youth in the community aware of the great opportunities for service and accomplishment which they can achieve.

The objectives of Camp RYLA are to provide an atmosphere where future leaders will experience democratic living that will aid them in developing sound values, to promote an environment that will provide each individual with a basis of insight and understanding for intelligent leadership, to expose the youth leaders to some opportunities and challenges of life in a free democratic society, and to promote involvement that encourages the participants to think through and arbitrate conflicts of values.

Merle Norman hosts day of beauty

By DANEE' WILSON
Lifestyles Editor

Heather Johnson, beauty advisor with Merle Norman Cosmetics, hopes to help girls define their beauty, improve their etiquette and grooming habits during the one-day seminar being offered through Merle Norman Cosmetics.

"We want to teach the Christian approach to beauty," said Johnson, who titled the seminar "You Are Beautifully Created." "We emphasize that beauty comes from within and that we're all beautiful."

Johnson and her mother, Cyndi Walker, will be helping local girls define their points of beauty and build on those points.

"Not everyone is born looking like a model," Walker said. "Only two percent of the population are born 'picture perfect' the rest of us need to build on the natural beauty we all possess."

The seminar will be a first for Johnson and Walker.

"We're extremely excited," Johnson said. "I've always thought it would be fun to do."

The one-day seminar will focus on the younger crowd. Girls in fourth through eighth grade are encouraged to attend. Those younger or older are also welcome.

Classes will be divided up by ages. Each group will have around five girls in order for more individual attention. Each age group will focus on a different facet of beauty.

"We hope the class will make the girls feel more comfortable socially,"

Walker said. "We want them to feel confident and pretty."

Although many women feel makeup is an essential ingredient to feeling beautiful, the "beautifully created" seminar focuses on inner beauty and social graces.

"We want the younger crowd to know that beauty is more than a bottle," Johnson said. "The seminar will improve their self image. Girls need confidence to feel good about themselves. If they think they look good then everyone else will think they look good. We want them to feel beautiful."

The seminar will offer the Christian approach to beauty and the good life. Those attending will learn about self image, visual poise, sensational skin, beauty enhancement, nutrition, fitness, hair, hand and nails, color fashion and delicate details.

Lunch will be provided to help girls with eating etiquette.

"We are going to serve a meal they will have to cut and other items to teach the girls how to cut properly and which utensil to use," Walker said. "We'll also help the girls with their posture, how to walk and even how to get out of a car."

The cost of the seminar is $25 which includes a meal. The one-day class will be held on three separate dates, July 22, 23 and 24. Prior registration is required. If classes get to full, the seminar will be extended.

"We want everyone who comes to have a good time," Johnson said with excitement. "It is going to be fun."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I will try to make this as brief and simple as possible, but there is an awful lot to tell. I speak for a family that is desperate.

My mother-in-law inherited more than $80,000 in 1980. She was 69 at the time. The woman is now 80 years old, blind, and has less than $1,000 left. My husband is her only child and it is up to us to take care of her. We are people of modest means. Our family is under $1,500 a month.

When my husband took over for his mother he had access to her bank statements and all the checks she has written in the past several years. He was stunned to discover that almost all her money went to TV evangelists. Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker received the lion's share.

Is there any way we can recover some of this money? Can we demand an accounting from the recipients as to where the money went? How can we get her name off the lists of the TV preachers? Please give us some answers, Ann. We don't know where else to turn. -- Ripped Off in Kansas

Dear Frantic: The next time your husband's ex-wife phones to say she is coming, tell her you are out of the hotel business. When she wants to see her son, she can invite him to HER home. You should then grab the kid by the collar and tell him to keep a civil tongue in his head and start picking up after himself immediately, no ifs, ands, or buts. When your husband gets home tonight, first tell him that you love him and that you want your marriage to succeed. Make sure he understands that you are fighting to preserve your marriage and that you expect him to cooperate. If he doesn't come through, tell him that he and the kid can both pack their bags.

I did this, and my husband straightened up right away. Your husband has had three years to get out from under the thumb of his ex-wife. If he doesn't do it now, she's going to be a thorn in your side forever. -- Been There in Detroit

DEAR DETROIT: You sound like a pretty tough cookie but I can't argue with success. The brass knuckles approach worked for you.

In defense of my advice, which you obviously thought was lousy, you might consider the possibility that sometimes it takes different strokes for different folks. Thanks for your letter.

1991 Major League champions

The Astros won the Kids Inc. Minor League regular season with an 11-1 record, then topped the season off with 7-5 win over the Cardinals in the tournament championship game Tuesday. The Astros are, left to right, kneeling: Peter Clark, Joseph Artho, Eric Cantu, Eric Ambol, Zack Wall, Fidencio Ruiz and Ryan Noland; and standing: Coach Robert Scott, Luis Marquez, Corey Ortiz, Johnathan Keenan, Gilbert Rodriguez, Thomas Suarez, Jeremy Scott and Coach Johnny Wall. Not pictured is Jeremy Gonzalez.

Cowboys open camp

AUSTIN (AP) — Jimmy Johnson got what he wanted on his birthday. It was hot enough to bake a cake, it seemed like most of Austin turned out, and his Dallas Cowboys hurred themselves into the steamy practice like the regular season starts tomorrow.

What better way to spend his 48th? "And I celebrated by going to a staff meeting," Johnson said.

His players, determined not to let the occasion slip by unnoticed, gave the usually immaculately-coiffed Johnson a birthday treat — a bucket of water over the head.

In the Austin heat, the water soon evaporated.

Johnson believes his great collegiate teams at the University of Miami were forged during workouts in 100-degree heat.

Dallas went 7-9 last year in its first Texas training camp although almost daily rain brought the Austin temperatures down to way below normal.

"It was a great first workout," Johnson said. "It was hot and there was a lot of enthusiasm. You didn't see a lot of lollygagging around. Everybody worked. The weather was what I call nice."

Few players knew it was Johnson's birthday as the Cowboys began their first official fall drill at St. Edward's University.

Offensive tackle Nate Newton shouted at Johnson: "Happy birthday, coach. That's all I can give you."

Johnson admitted the opening of practice was the biggest birthday gift of all.

"This is the best time of year for me," Johnson said.

The Cowboys, who drew over 100,000 fans to practices last year in their first season at St. Edward's, were besieged by another large crowd despite the plus 100-degree heat index.

Hawkers sold parking places and cold beverages as shuttle buses dropped off fans at intervals of 10 minutes. The Cowboys estimated 4,000 fans attended the two sessions. "Great receptions, just a great reception," said Johnson, the NFL's 1990 coach of the year after turning the Cowboys around from a one victory season.

One of the presents Johnson had for his players was his meatgrinder "middle drill" which has a running back hurtling himself into tacklers.

"Anybody who knows me knows my adrenalin starts pumping when we have a little contact," Johnson said. "It helps a player get ready both mentally and physically for the season."

Rookie Curvin Richards, a fourth-round pick from Pittsburgh, was the star of the "middle" drill breaking tackles and getting Johnson's praise.

"He was as impressive as any new player we had out there," Johnson said. "He looked like Emmitt Smith out there breaking tackles. He's going to be a quality player. He was a steal."

Smith, the NFL rookie of the year in 1990, got a personal present from Johnson — no middle drill.

"We know the talent of Emmitt Smith," Johnson said. "We won't let him get into the middle drill. He'll get plenty of action starting in preseason."

Not even the absence of six unsigned veterans, linemen Dean Hamel, Danny Noonan, Daniel Stubbs, fullback Alonzo Highsmith, linebacker Jack Del Rio, and offensive lineman John Geseck could dampen Johnson's birthday.

Veteran tight end Steve Folsom didn't report and is no longer a member of the team. Folsom only played in one game last year and didn't catch a pass.

"Steve Folsom didn't report and we're not going to try to sign him," Johnson said.

"We have all the rookies signed and here and that makes me feel great," Johnson said. "We're working on getting the veterans here but they are getting behind."

Oiler rookies missing

By the Associated Press

Defensive tackle David Rocker of Auburn and cornerback Marcus Robertson of Iowa State have agreed to contract terms with the Houston Oilers but missed the opening day of preseason workouts.

Rookies and first year players went through two workouts Tuesday on the Trinity University campus. Veterans will report Thursday and work out for the first time on Friday.

Oilers general manager Mike Holovac still must sign three draftees and eight veteran players.

The Oilers also signed four free agents: tackle Barry Voorhees, from Barcelona of the WLAF; guard Mike Kiselak, of the WLAF; San Antonio Riders; cornerback John Lewis, Sul Ross and quarterback Mike Norseth, formerly with the Cincinnati Bengals.

Lewis retired shortly after signing. Backup quarterback Cody Carlson, a holdout last year, and starting cornerback Cris Dishman, linebacker Johnny Meads, defensive end Sean Jones and running back Lorenzo White are among the unsigned veterans.

Wide receiver Haywood Jeffries has agreed to contract terms but has not signed his contract.

Safety Mike Dumas of Indiana, cornerback Darryll Lewis of Arizona and center John Flannery of Syracuse, all chosen in the second round of the 1991 draft, remained unsigned.

Patriots

New England coach Dick MacPherson doesn't think pain and injuries are necessarily the same.

"You have to know the difference between pain and injury," MacPherson said Tuesday. "What I've asked people to do is to try and find a way to play through pain, and if there is nothing that can hurt them by being out there practicing, practice."

"It might not be comfortable. It might be painful. But I think that's part of the game."

MacPherson, who came to New England from Syracuse University, was last in the NFL with Cleveland from 1978 through 1980. Back then, teams could have an unlimited number of players in camp, but now there's a limit of 80.

There are 52 players with New England right now, several of whom are adopting his play-with-pain philosophy. Among those returning Tuesday were wide receiver Vincent Moore (groin strain), wide receiver Mike Murphy (neck strain) and linebacker Brian Ryder (thigh strain).

Giants

Jeff Hostetler, the longtime backup who led New York to a Super Bowl victory after Phil Simms was injured in December, agreed to a deal that raises his salary from $425,000 to more than a $1 million.

Angels, Astros claim Kids Inc. tournaments

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Two Kids Inc. tournament champions were determined Tuesday night as the softball Angels and Major League Astros both came from behind to win their tournament finals.

The Minor League championship game between the Giants and the Cardinals will be played Thursday. The game is scheduled to start at 8 p.m., but Minor League President Steve Louder said the game would start earlier if rain threatened.

In Tuesday's softball final, the Angels scored five runs in the top of the seventh inning for an 11-7 lead, then held the Royals to only one run in the bottom of the inning to claim an 11-8 win.

The Angels broke out on top in the first with four runs, but the Royals chipped away and took the lead with one in the second, three in the fifth and three in the sixth.

Scoring in the winning rally were Angels Christine Ramirez, Christy Haney, Kasey Torres, Carri Edwards, Amanda Vallejo. Torres scored three runs in the game, and Haney, Edwards and Vallejo each scored twice.

The Angels, coached by Dee Torres and Teresa Albracht and sponsored by Vasek Service, also won the regular season title with a 4-2 record.

In the Major League final, the Astros scored five runs in the fifth inning of a six-inning game, then got out of a bases-loaded jam in the top of the sixth to escape with a 7-5 victory.

The Cardinals had led most of the way after scoring once in the first inning and twice in the second and third. The Astros scored twice in the third to cut the lead to 5-2.

It stayed that way until the fifth inning, when Joseph Artho, Fidencio Ruiz, Johnathan Keenan, Peter Clark and Corey Ortiz all crossed the plate for the Astros.

The Astros were also the regular season champs at 11-1. They were coached by Robert Scott and Johnny Wall and were sponsored by Wall and Sons Drilling.

Hereford loses to Randall

Hereford went to Randall Tuesday and fell 4-2 in a West Texas Summer Baseball League game.

Coach Jimmy Burns, filling in for Bill Watts, said the two teams were tied at 2 most of the game but Randall got single runs in the fourth and sixth innings to provide the difference.

Hereford got its runs in the top of the second, right after Randall had scored two in the bottom of the first. Both Hereford runs scored on Michael Campos' bases-loaded single after Jerry Rincon walked and Andy Kalka and Jake Head singled.

Burns praised the pitching of Ralph Holguin, who went the route for Hereford. Holguin struck out seven against only three walks and only let Randall batters put four balls out of the infield. His best inning was the third, when with two on and no outs, he struck out the side, Burns said.

Hereford's next game is a double-header at Frenship Saturday. The first game starts at 1 p.m.

Junior City golf meet set

The Junior City Golf Championships will be played July 23 and 24 at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The tournament has three age groups for both boys and girls: 15-17, 12-14 and 11-and-under. Trophies will be awarded for first place in each age group.

Call the pro shop to sign up and get a tee-time, which is available starting at 8 a.m. The entry fee is $8, and the deadline is Monday at noon.

Foreman files suit

HOUSTON (AP) — Boxer George Foreman, upset over being jilted by heavyweight champion Evander Holyfield for Mike Tyson, has filed a $100 million lawsuit, claiming breach of contract.

In a lawsuit filed in Harris County civil district court Tuesday, Foreman and promoter Bob Arum ask for $100 million from Holyfield, promoter Dan Duva and trainer Shelly Finkel. The lawsuit also asks that a judge issue an injunction to prevent Holyfield from fighting Tyson for the belt.

Holyfield and Tyson have scheduled their bout for Nov. 8 in Las Vegas.

The lawsuit contends that Holyfield, Duva and Finkel entered into a contract July 9 that stated Foreman would fight Holyfield in a rematch of their April 19 bout for the heavyweight title.

The contract called for Foreman to be paid $12.5 million and 50 percent of the pay-per-view receipts over $7 million and that Holyfield would get a reported $20 million.

As part of the agreement with Holyfield, Foreman agreed to back off near-completed negotiations for a fight with Tyson.

Holyfield then backed out of the Foreman deal barely 24 hours after Duva and Arum agreed to terms. Holyfield later agreed with Tyson and promoter Don King for the same date, with Holyfield's take raised to $30 million for fighting Tyson.

Pirates, Mets set pace in NL East race

By The Associated Press

Given the alternative, Bud Harrelson will live with frustration.

Even with a 10-game winning streak and 11 victories in the last 13 games, New York has been unable to make a dent in Pittsburgh's lead in the National League East.

Tuesday night was typical. New York beat San Francisco 6-4, but Pittsburgh, winning its 14th in 18 starts, beat Houston 6-4 to retain a 4 1/2-game edge over the Mets.

"You have to look at it optimistically," Harrelson said. "Where would we be if we hadn't won those 10 games? Certainly, we wouldn't be talking like this. The Pirates are on a roll and have countered our streak with their own."

The Pirates and Mets aren't the only streaking division leaders. In the West, the Los Angeles Dodgers have tried to give away a five-game lead by losing six in a row and eight of 10. But the lead remains intact because runnerup Cincinnati was losing eight in a row.

Again, Tuesday night was typical. Philadelphia beat the Dodgers 3-1 and St. Louis rallied three times to beat the Reds 8-7.

"It takes everybody you've got," Pittsburgh manager Jim Leyland said in explaining why the Pirates have baseball's best record. "That's one of the good signs I've seen in this club, that everybody has contributed. When a Varsho and a Gonzalez come through in the same game, it takes the heat off everybody."

Gary Varsho, who didn't homer once in three seasons with the Cubs, hit his third of the year for Pittsburgh Tuesday night, a two-run pinch shot that snapped a tie. And Jose Gonzalez, 0-for-3 spring with the Dodgers before being traded to the Bucs two weeks ago, contributed his first homer as a Pirate.

Zane Smith (10-6) won his third consecutive decision, allowing six hits and one earned run in six innings. Stan Belinda went the last 2 2/3 for his eighth save.

The last-place Astros lost their fifth in a row and starting pitcher Jim Deshaies to a bruised arm. Deshaies threw three pitches in the first inning, the last of which Gary Redus rocketed back off the left-hander's pitching arm. Deshaies was taken to a hospital, where X-rays were negative.

Mets 6, Giants 4

Dave Magadan and Gregg Jefferies each drove in two runs in support of Dwight Gooden (9-6), who gave up eight hits in seven-plus innings.

Jefferies singled in two runs in the four-run third and Magadan had a two-run single in the fourth.

Kevin Mitchell and Matt Williams homered for San Francisco.

Phillies 3, Dodgers 1

Terry Mulholland (9-8) won his third straight start and Wes Chamberlain had a two-run homer and a run-scoring single.

Bob Ojeda (7-7) allowed the three Phillies runs on seven hits in six innings.

Cardinals 8, Reds 7

Rob Dibble (0-1) blew his first save in 24 opportunities when Ozzie

Smith singled in two runs in the top of the ninth. Then St. Louis' Lee Smith shut down Cincinnati in the bottom of the inning for his NL-leading 25th save.

Willie Fraser (2-0) won despite allowing a solo homer to Hal Morris that gave Cincinnati a 7-6 lead heading to the ninth.

Braves 8, Cubs 5

Ron Gant singled in the go-ahead run in a three-run seventh inning.

Mark Lemke scored the tying run on a wild pitch by Bob Scanlan (3-4), and Terry Pendleton came home on Gant's single up the middle. Gant later scored on an infield out to make it 7-5.

Marvin Freeman (1-0) retired the Cubs in the seventh and Juan Berenguer pitched the final two innings for his 14th save.

Padres 4, Expos 3

Tony Fernandez doubled home three runs as San Diego did all its scoring in the seventh.

Expos starter Mark Gardner saw a 3-0 start to go away after center fielder Marquis Grissom misplayed a single by Tim Lincecum, allowing Benito Santiago to score from first. One out later, Gardner walked pinch-hitter Phil Stevenson.

Reliever Mel Rojas (0-1) walked Bip Roberts to load the bases, which were emptied when Fernandez grounded a double inside the bag at first.

Bruce Hurst (10-5) started for the Padres and Larry Andersen pitched the last two innings for his fourth save.

Royals steal game from Candiotti

By The Associated Press

This time, Tom Candiotti's knuckleball cost him the game. Just because it was slow.

The game between Toronto and Kansas City was tied 1-1 in the 10th inning Tuesday night. Bill Pecota took a pitch in the back leading off the inning and sacrificed to second. He then stole third on a knuckler and scored the winning run as catcher Greg Myers threw hastily and wildly, giving the Royals a 2-1 victory over the Blue Jays.

"I threw one of the hardest ones I threw all night," Candiotti said. "It just happened to move at the wrong time. As I kicked my leg up, I saw him begin to go. I rushed my delivery and Greg rushed his throw. That's the hard thing about trying to throw guys out with the knuckleball. You can't jump out, you have to wait for the ball to get to you."

Royals manager Hal McRae gave his runners the go-ahead to run any time they felt they could get a good jump.

"It was there for the taking all night. In the tenth, we took it," McRae said.

Candiotti allowed seven hits in his fourth complete game, struck out three and walked one.

Myers allowed the tying run on a passed ball in the ninth after Kirk Gibson's triple.

Luis Aquino (2-2) pitched 2 1/3 shutout innings.

Angels 2, Orioles 1

Mark Langston (13-3) pitched a five-hitter, struck out seven and walked none in his fourth complete game.

Lance Parrish hit a sacrifice fly off reliever Mark Williamson and Dave Gallagher hit an RBI infield single off Mike Flanagan when he beat the throw from third baseman Leo Gomez, who made a backhanded dive and a one-bounce throw to first. The throw appeared to beat Gallagher, but umpire Terry Craft called him safe.

Jeff Robinson (4-8) lost.

Red Sox 2, White Sox 0

Greg Harris (6-8) allowed two hits in seven innings. Jeff Gray pitched a one-hit eighth and Jeff Reardon finished the combined three-hitter for his 23rd save in 26 chances.

Carlos Quintana homered in the fifth inning and Mo Vaughn hit a sacrifice fly in the sixth.

Charlie Hough (5-5) gave up eight hits in 7 2/3 innings.

Mariners 5, Yankees 0

Brian Holman (9-9) pitched a six-hitter, struck out three and walked three.

Scott Sanderson (10-4) gave up all five runs and seven hits in six innings.

Alvin Davis hit a two-run single in the first and Pete O'Brien hit a two-run homer in the third.

Tigers 6, Rangers 5

Detroit won its second straight game in the ninth inning behind Dave Bergman's sacrifice fly.

After Texas went ahead 5-4 with a run in the sixth and four in the seventh, Rob Deer hit solo homer in the eighth.

Mike Henneman (7-2) pitched the ninth for his second victory in two nights. Kevin Brown (7-8) was the loser.

Brewers 4, Twins 3

Paul Molitor tied the score with a ninth-inning double and Darryl Hamilton followed with a game-winning single.

Brian Harper's two-run homer off Dan Plesac gave Minnesota a 3-2 lead in the top of the inning, but Rick Aguilera blew his eighth save in 32 chances.

Doug Henry (1-0) pitched one inning for his first major league victory.

Athletics 7, Indians 6

Mike Gallego's fourth hit, a two-run triple, tied the game in the bottom of the 13th and Terry Steinbach's bases-loaded walk forced home the winning run for Oakland.

Trailing 6-4 in the 13th, the A's rally started when leadoff-hitter Lance Blankenship reached safely on third baseman Carlos Baerga's throwing error. Ernest Riles doubled to right, sending Blankenship to third. Both runners scored when Gallego tripled.

Joe Klink (6-2) gave up two runs in the 13th but still got credit for the victory.

Houston-based group restructures Astros bid

HOUSTON (AP) - A local financing group interested in buying the Astros is restructuring its bid, reviving efforts to keep the team in Houston.

Both KPRC-TV and KRIV-TV Houston have reported that six principals in a group headed by Ben Love, former chairman of Texas Commerce Bancshares, and his son, Jeff, a Houston attorney, met Monday to begin work on a new bid.

"We expect to be able to structure an offer that will address many of the major concerns that (Astros owner) John McMullen has previously raised," a source close to Love's organization, who asked to remain anonymous, told KRIV on Tuesday.

McMullen and representatives of Salomon Brothers, the Chicago-based investment firm handling the Astros sale, are expected to meet with Love's group again before the end of July.

Love's group, which previously announced its interest in the team, met with Louis Susman, senior managing director of Salomon Brothers, and other team representatives earlier this month.

Susman had said in June that he believed the Love group's proposal was "not a serious offer." He and McMullen have said the franchise could be forced to consider opening the sale to investors in the four cities that failed to win an expansion franchise earlier this year: Washington, St. Petersburg, Fla., Tampa, Fla., and Buffalo, N.Y.

The National League awarded new franchises to Denver and Miami earlier this year.

The elder Love, however, had said his group was interested in keeping the team in Houston.

"Unlike Mr. Susman, we are bound by the confidentiality agreement we had to sign before we could view any of the financial statements and materials pertaining to the Astros," Love had said. "But I can say the people with the group I am associated with are serious investors and are seriously interested in keeping the Astros in Houston."

Bo could be back soon

CHICAGO (AP) - Six months after sustaining a hip injury some thought would sideline him forever, Bo Jackson held his first workout at Comiskey Park and could be about three weeks away from playing for the Chicago White Sox.

On Tuesday, Jackson faced about 75 underhanded pitches from teammate Frank Thomas in an indoor batting cage. Jackson then went onto the field and threw for about 10 minutes with pitcher Melido Perez.

"I was nervous as I went on the field to throw and when I entered the cage," Jackson said. "Everything went great. I'm not sure where I want to be, but I will settle for where I'm at right now."

The power-hitting outfielder declined to say more.

"I'm not having any more press conferences until I start playing baseball again. I had my last press conference when I signed with the team," Jackson said.

Jackson, also a running back for the Los Angeles Raiders, has been sidelined with an injured left hip since the NFL playoffs. Because of the injury, the Kansas City Royals, his former baseball club, released him during spring training.

He signed with the White Sox as a free agent April 3.

"We had hoped when we signed him that he would get into the baseball side of things by the middle of August," White Sox manager Jeff Torborg said. "That's what it looks like might be, maybe before that."

Jackson will be examined Saturday by Dr. James Andrews, his personal doctor, and by Dr. James Boscardin, Chicago's senior team physician.

"If Bo continues to make progress, live batting practice could be in the near future for him," White Sox trainer Herm Schneider said.

Torborg said Jackson has the special qualities to bounce back from the injury.

"You have to understand he's a good athlete. But he's not just a good athlete, he's a special athlete. So, if anybody can come back he will," the manager said.

Torborg said Jackson should be ready in three weeks.

Rowton given shower

Mindy Rowton, Aug. 3 bride-elect of Paul Wooden, was honored with a morning bridal shower July 13 in the home of Eloise Smith.

Welcoming guests with Miss Rowton were her mother, Diane Rowton and hostess, Eloise Smith. Sue Cosper invited guests to register.

Refreshments of sausage balls, pumpkin roll, cinnamon rolls and fruits were served by Charee Godwin and Shanda Smith. The table was covered with a lace tablecloth accented in colors of peach and teal. The centerpiece consisted of a fruit cascade with silver appointments.

Hostesses presented Miss Rowton with a Oster kitchen center. They included Reni Mason, Sue Cosper, Eloise Smith, Joan Fuston, Carlynn Delozier, Glenda Keenan, Gracie Shaw, Becky Weatherly, Marian Yosten, Sharon Hodges, Christy Wright, Vickie Lindsey, Diane Hoelscher, Belinda Bartels, and Gail Neilsen.

Bride-elect honored

A bridal shower was held for Mindy Rowton Saturday morning, July 13, in the home of Eloise Smith. Miss Rowton and Paul Wooden plan to exchange wedding vows Aug. 3. Welcoming guests with the honoree, from left, were hostess, Eloise Smith; the honoree; and her mother, Diane Rowton.

Accent on Health

A rapid increase in the number of elderly persons means more Alzheimer's disease cases than ever before.

In the year 2000, about two million Texans will be age 65 or older. Of these, more than 200,000 are expected to suffer from Alzheimer's disease.

Though more than 180,000 Texans now have this illness, many people don't know much about Alzheimer's disease. "It is a dementing disease, a thief of minds, a destroyer of personalities, wrecker of family finances, filler of nursing homes," said Morris H. Craig, director of TDH's Alzheimer's Disease Program. "It also is a leading cause of death, after heart disease, cancer and stroke, causing 150,000 deaths each year nationwide. At this time, there are no known cures for this disease, and even the causes of it are not clear, though research continues."

Alzheimer's disease begins almost imperceptibly as perhaps an inability to find the right word -- especially nouns, the need to write many reminder notes or wearing the same clothes day after day. Personalities change to reflect less spontaneity, ambition and interest. At some point, the sufferer may become unable to write or speak coherently, to understand most spoken or written language, or to recognize anyone, including himself in a mirror. The patient becomes unable to feed himself and in time, becomes bedridden and incontinent. Eventually, he or she loses consciousness and is unable to survive without total care.

An Alzheimer's patient is usually cared for at home in the beginning. As the patient's mental powers slip away, the caregiving family agonizes over and usually concludes that nursing home care is the best choice for a patient who must be cared for around the clock.

Choosing a nursing home can be bewildering since there are many different kinds of nursing homes including religiously affiliated, usually not-for-profit homes and homes run for a profit. There are homes in which a wide range of disabilities are represented and homes with designated Alzheimer's units. Some homes are run on a pay-as-you-go basis and others are life care facilities which require an up-front payment (sometimes the patient's life savings) and many then provide care for life even after the patient's funds are exhausted.

In selecting a nursing home, families of Alzheimer's disease victims are advised to visit several to give some basis for comparison. "Visit when you can spend enough time to thoroughly check the facilities for everything from licensing to availability of snacks," advised Craig. "Visit at different times of the day and on different days before making a decision. Keep in mind that often there are waiting lists, so it's necessary to begin the selection process before placement becomes necessary."

Craig also warns family members to keep in mind that nursing home care is expensive, currently averaging more than $2,000 a month. Medicare, Medicaid, private insurance, Veterans Administration System and Social Security Disability are areas of possible financial support for Alzheimer's victims. However, Alzheimer's caregivers often find these channels lacking and must pursue these benefits aggressively.

To provide support for Alzheimer's caregivers, TDH runs a toll-free hotline, 1-800-242-3399, as part of its Alzheimer's Disease Program. TDH staff provide specialized information, resources, research information and information regarding support groups.

"The good news is that Alzheimer's disease does not affect some 91 percent of those over age 65," said Craig. "And research is continuing so that in time, we may be able to prevent and even cure Alzheimer's."

Hints from Heloise

Q. We are away from home for six to eight weeks at a time. Should we empty our refrigerator and turn it off or leave it on? Does turning it off for that length of time hurt the fridge? — W.G., Orange, Texas

A. This is a little tricky. I checked with a couple of experts and they agree that turning it off would definitely save energy but it doesn't necessarily save money or time.

In order to turn the refrigerator off it would have to be totally empty. That means replacing items you could have safely left in it (ketchup, mustard, olives, etc.) while you were gone.

As an alternative they suggested a compromise. Try turning the thermostat to its warmest setting (39 degrees F or below) and getting rid of freezer items and perishables (meat, vegetables, etc.). This will keep the items that can be stored for a longer time from spoiling and at the same time use less energy.

If you decide to totally empty the fridge and turn it off, here are some guidelines to follow.

- If you have an ice maker, turn off the water supply at least 24 hours prior to disconnecting the power.
- Disconnect the power.
- Clean the refrigerator thoroughly.
- Discard any ice in the freezer.
- Block the doors open. (Closing the doors can result in mildew and a musty smell.)

Since we all want to save money and time, I hope these hints will help. — Heloise

MARSHMALLOW TOPPING

Dear Heloise: For an easy pie topping, I use mini-marshmallows. I place them on top of the pie and put the whole thing under the broiler for a few minutes until they turn golden brown. — Ellie Panilio, Fredericksburg, Va.

FUDGE

Q. Would you please print your recipe for fudge. I've misplaced mine. Thank you. — B. Greene, Atlanta, Ga.

A. I'd love to print the recipe but it just takes too much space. However, I'm sending you a copy of Heloise's Favorite Fudge Recipe.

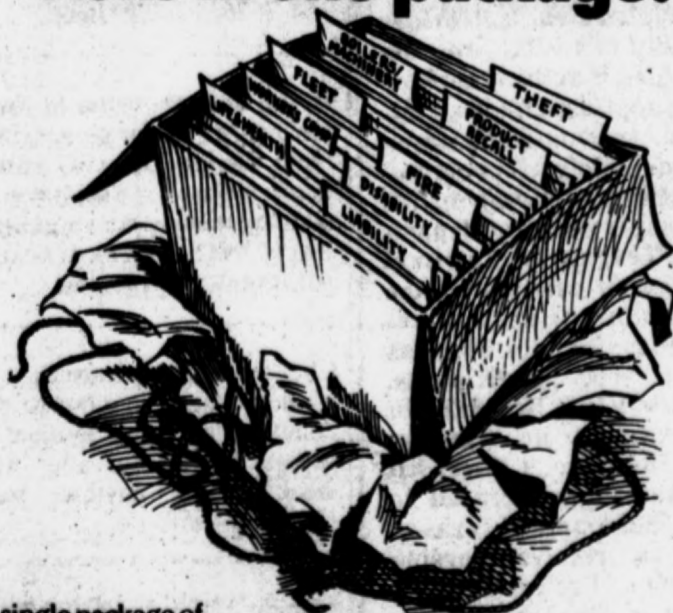

For anyone else interested, I'd be happy to send you a free copy if you will send a business-sized self-addressed stamped (29 cents) envelope to Heloise/Fudge Recipe, P.O. Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279.

COUNTER MARKS

Dear Heloise: I have a white counter top and use a wooden cutting board that has black knobs under it and always left marks on my counter. So I turned the board over and put clear nail polish on the knobs. No more marks. — Mary Blanche, Sarasota, Fla.

While this might prevent the marks on the counter, it could also cause the board to slide around during use. You might try sitting the cutting board on a paper towel or dishcloth or replacing the black knobs with white ones. — Heloise

Put all your business risks in one package.

A single package of business insurance gives you more than convenience. It also assures you that your buildings, contents and liability exposures are fully covered and that you're not paying extra for duplicate coverage from separate sources.

Our independent agency often recommends the Business Account Program from the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several we represent. One reason is the broad coverage which is provided automatically by this program. And there's never a doubt about who's responsible for your coverage when a claim occurs.

Let us help provide you with a package policy specially designed for your business.

Cowboy camp meeting set July 25-28

The Fourteenth Annual Mesa Redondo Cowboy Camp Meeting is scheduled for Thursday evening, July 25 through Sunday, July 28. It is an inter-denominational outreach and everyone is invited to attend. The camp provides a christian camping experience for all ages.

The campsite is located on the Bowe-Farmer Ranch near Tucumcari, N.M. From Tucumcari, go eleven miles south on Highway 109, or from Ragland, go fourteen miles north on Highway 109. Turn east at the big sign and travel 2 1/2 miles southeast to the camp located at the foot of the majestic 'Mesa Redondo' in a secluded canyon.

Camp Pastors for this year are Boyce Evens of Lubbock and Danny Hinkle of Oklahoma City, Okla. Bob Brittain of Belen, N.M. will lead the music and Jonathan Stockstill of Venture, Calif. will serve as youth minister.

Bible study, worship service, prayer meetings, campfire fellowship, storytelling and other activities are planned for all age groups during the entire camp. Meals including breakfast, dinner and supper are served 'Chuckwagon' style.

For further information contact any of the following: Darrell Farmer, Tucumcari, 505-458-6205, Don Hofman, Tucumcari, 505-461-2236, Gerald Don Cortese, Fort Sumner, 505-355-2254, C.L. Bowe, San Jon, 505-576-2218 or Wilma Fulgham, Clovis, 505-763-6231.

NEW YORK (AP) - Comedian Judy Tenuta, the accordion-squeezing, self-proclaimed "goddess of love," was run up the flagpole 280 feet over Times Square in a cable TV publicity stunt.

"I need a tranquilizing dart! Help me!" the comedian screamed minutes before her ascent Tuesday. Tenuta was then lowered as the crowd chanted a 10-second countdown. The pole is the one used New Year's Eve to lower a big illuminated apple.

Comedy Central set up the stunt to mark its 24-hour comedy channel's Manhattan debut. It claims 18 million subscribers nationwide.

Bride honored with shower

Kristi Powell, Aug 2nd bride-elect of Jason Culpepper, was honored recently with a bridal shower. Pictured (l-r) are Beulah Powell, grandmother of the honoree; Patty Atchley, grandmother of the honoree; Sue Powell, mother of the honoree; honoree; Marilyn Culpepper, mother of the groom and Coy Tice, grandmother of the groom.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am concerned about an article I read a few months ago. It said our bodies can be hurt from sleeping with electric blankets because of the electric currents we are exposed to for long periods of time. It also said not to stand in front of a microwave oven while in use and to sit 3 feet away from the TV. When I related this information to my father I was met with disbelief. He suggested I write to you.

DEAR READER: The idea is certainly not new, and there is not a single proven case of cancer caused by electrical currents. The recent report by the EPA only raises old concerns without really adding any new information. Household electrical currents found in appliances may cause cell changes in animals, but there is no proof that these cause cancer. To show you how bad some of the studies are, it was assumed that electricians were at greater risk from being exposed to more electrical fields. In reality they usually work with the electricity turned off. It was assumed that plumbers were not at risk, but they are more likely to be working in environments where electric current is on.

Until there are some properly designed studies that show some real harmful effects, rather than theories and bad studies, it is not time to panic about power lines, the electric lines to and in your house or the appliances that are so much a part of our lives.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Powell honored with bridal shower recently

Kristi Powell, August 2nd bride-elect of Jason Culpepper, was honored by a bridal shower Sunday at the E. B. Black House.

Guests were greeted by the honoree and her mother, Sue Powell; her grandmothers, Patty Atchley and Beulah Powell; Marilyn Culpepper, mother of the groom, Nell Culpepper and Coy Tice, grandmothers of the groom.

Kathy Matthew was seated at the registry. Refreshments were served by Julie Atchley, cousin of the bride and the groom's sister, Stacy Culpepper.

Guests enjoyed yellow punch, Italian cream cake, mints and nuts that were placed on a table with a centerpiece of fresh flowers, silver appointments and a white lace cloth. Billie Johnson designed the centerpiece.

Hostess, who presented the bride with bedding selections and a coffee maker were, Karen Abney, Sandy Blevins, Janice Brownlow, Bonnie Carlson, Thelma Cherry, Carolyn Clark, Adelle Clements, Doris Dobbs, Keith Ann Gearn, Susan Hicks, Melinda Henson, Jo Ann Hill, Billie Johnson and Betty Martin.

Also serving as hostesses were, Ruth McBride, Cherry McWhorter, Lois Mitchell, Cindy Rogers, Jane Rudd, Joyce Skelton, Lola Smalts, Denise Teel, Loretta Urbanczyk, Ann Warwick, Delores Webster, Sharon Crawford and Kathy Urbanczyk.
