

Real 'spirits' of Halloween

When Josephine Sierra decided to decorate her house at 435 Long Street for Halloween she really got into the "spirit" of Halloween with an entire cemetery and a coffin where the devil stands guard. "It all began when the idea of using the barbecue grill for a coffin popped into my mind," said Sierra. Trick-or-treaters will certainly stop to check out this house tonight.

Plans approved for new HHS tennis facility

Arrowhead project gets tax abatement; HISD member critical of board decision

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer
and
GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

An application for tax abatement on an Arrowhead Mills expansion project was approved Monday by the Deaf Smith County Tax Abatement Board with a single dissenting vote. Action by the board then came under fire Monday evening when the Hereford Independent School District representative, Randy Tooley, reported on the abatement decision to the HISD board.

Tooley voted against the motion to recommend that taxing entities allow 100 percent abatement on the project for two years, beginning Jan. 1, 1997, and 50 percent abatement for three years.

The abatement board is representative of the City of Hereford, Deaf Smith County and Hereford ISD. The board was short one member from HISD Monday because a replacement for Mike Veazey had not been appointed since he retired from the school board.

Voting for the proposal were City Commissioners Carey Black and Roger Eades, County Commissioner Johnny Latham and County Judge Tom Simons.

A public hearing will be held jointly by the taxing entities on Nov. 9, at 7 p.m. in the county courtroom. Each entity then will place the issue on a regular meeting agenda for action.

Arrowhead Mills is planning construction of a building estimated to cost approximately $903,000. With fixtures, the value may rise above $1 million.

Pete Holcombe, chief executive officer of Arrowhead, pointed out that the compar. is planning expansion of $4 million to $5 million in the next few years.

Holcombe reported that 10 new jobs will be added initially but "as we grow, 20 to 30 jobs may be added."

At present, Arrowhead employs 114 persons with a payroll of $2.5 million annually, Don Minchew of Arrowhead, said. "We've added 15 to 20 new employees in the last few months."

Arrowhead had requested abatement over 10 years, graduated downward in 10 percent increments from 100 percent the first year.

During discussion at the HISD board meeting Monday evening, Tooley said, "I feel like the amount of abatements they are giving is excessive," adding that he thought the total 350 percent abatement for Arrowhead Mills was too high for the number of jobs that will be created.

Tooley said he felt like 200 percent would be more than enough of an abatement for Arrowhead Mills, but said the rest of the abatement board wanted to keep their abatement in line with previous action.

"I don't think they're really concerned about what the rest of the board feels," Tooley said.

Tooley also complained that HISD is "not represented proportionately" in relation to the amount of property tax income the district receives.

"We're the one that takes the biggest hit," Tooley said. HISD has two seats on the board, the same as the other governmental agencies.

"That's been one of my big concerns," Tooley said. "I'd like to ask the (school) board if they want to consider these things" and consider withdrawing from the tax appraisal district entirely.

Trustee Ron Weishaar agreed with Tooley's concerns, saying it appeared the proposal was decided before a vote, then given to Tooley at the last minute.

"We kind of bite two-thirds of the bullet every time and they expect us to go with it," Weishaar said.

Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt forestalled further discussion of the abatement board and abatement process, noting that the subject was not on the agenda for discussion.

Instead, Greenawalt said, he will try to set up a meeting with the abatement board for the school board's Nov. 13 meeting to air district concerns.

showers and no tile or carpeting on the floors.

Trustees directed Castle to add windows, and tennis coach Ed Coplen said he would like a large one facing the courts in the team room.

Narrow windows set high off the ground were outlined for the dressing rooms to provide light, but limit the possibility of someone breaking in. The dressing room windows will have frosted glass.

Trustees have discussed a tennis facility for months and last month directed Quicksilver to formulate plans.

The design includes 65 feet of open space between four existing courts and the four proposed new courts, to be constructed of post-tension concrete.

The building will be between the two sets of courts.

Castle said Quicksilver will put the project out for bid -- after making requested changes in the plans such as the windows and a drain in the mechanical room for future addition of an ice machine -- next week.

Bids will be ready for board action at the Nov. 28 action meeting.

Trustees can reject all the bids if they come in above projections.

HHS Band ends marathon schedule with 5th place finish in regional contest

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

A grueling 2-1/2-week marathon that included three marching contests, two football games and rehearsals ended Saturday for the HHS Mighty Maroon Marching Band when the 230-member unit took the field for the Class 4A, Area A marching band competition in Lubbock.

At stake was a shot at a trip to the state marching competition next week in Austin.

Along the way, the band picked up its 35th consecutive Division I ranking in Region 1-4A marching competition, keeping alive a streak that began five directors ago, when current director Don Summersgill was just a babe.

The band's competitive marching season ended on the field Saturday, when Monahans High School and Canyon High School marched off with top honors among the 12 bands vying for the Area A berths at state.

Hereford ended that contest in fifth place.

The band will perform its contest show during this Friday's home game against Canyon. The Canyon band, which placed second in the area competition to earn a trip to the state 4A contest, will also be here for Friday's game and is expected to perform its contest show.

On Monday, Summersgill praised his band for their work that began in earnest on Oct. 12, when they failed to place in the Texas Tech Festival, a tune-up for the regional marching contests.

At that time, Summersgill said, the band got "a lot of comments about what we were doing wrong -- almost overwhelming comments."

Undaunted, the 230-student band returned home and, the next day, played as HHS celebrated Homecoming against the Dumas Demons.

The next week, Summersgill said, "the kids got down to business ... and started fixing things."

By Oct. 19, the band was ready to unveil its contest show -- a musical salute to "West Side Story" arranged and designed by Summersgill -- to band parents and the public.

Two days later, the then-34-year Division I streak on the line, Summersgill took his band to Borger, where the Mighty Maroon Band faced off against Pampa, Caprock, Randall, Canyon, Dumas and Borger.

Under UIL rules, those bands which score a Division I -- the top ranking in band competition -- earned a trip to the Area A contest.

Summersgill said he felt "pretty comfortable" during the parents performance, secure that his band had addressed the concerns from the previous contest.

But, he said, that confidence fell when he reported in to the judges in Borger.

"My heart just took a nosedive when I saw just five bands so far had made a (Division) I," he said.

This year, bands in Classes 1A, 2A and 4A compete for state honors, while 3A and 5A bands end their seasons at the regional level.

With tough judges, Summersgill said, the 35th consecutive Division I was not going to be a cakewalk.

"It was a real contest," he said, evidenced by the disappointment that crashed in on the Pampa High School Band, which broke a 24-year Division I streak when it scored a Division II in the competition.

Five teams from Region 1-4A earned Division I honors at the Oct. 20 competition in Borger -- Hereford, Randall, Canyon, Dumas and Borger.

Of the five, Randall chose not to continue on to the Area A contest in

USDA alters stance on sugar program

By ROBERT GREENE
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)--The Agriculture Department has criticized a much-quoted study it once endorsed that says the government sugar program costs manufacturers and consumers $1.4 billion a year.

The change of stance adds to one of the most contentious debates in farm programs, pitting cane growers against candy makers, consumer advocates and environmentalists. At issue is the sugar program, a complex of loans, import quotas and other regulations that imposes no direct taxpayer costs but makes sugar more expensive to buy.

The department's new assessment, being circulated in Congress, challenges a key piece of evidence used by the program's critics: an April 1993 report by the General Accounting Office, Congress' nonpartisan investigative branch. However, the assessment also contradicts a recent department analysis that suggests the program costs even more than GAO estimated.

The GAO report said the domestic program costs sweetener users and shoppers $1.4 billion a year by making U.S.-produced sugar more expensive than sugar available from other countries.

Mike Espy, who was Agriculture Secretary when the report came out,

Hospital staff joins Halloween fun

While some boys and girls may be dressing up like doctors and nurses today, the real doctors and nurses at Hereford Regional Medical Center will be dressing up today to greet patients and visitors.

To celebrate Halloween this year, hospital staff are competing to see which department can have the best decorated doors, with cobwebs, witches, bats and pumpkins adding a festive air to the building.

"A hospital staff is always under pressure -- working long, difficult hours -- and we try to find ways to lighten up a little when we can," said HRMC administrator Jim Robinson. "We encouraged the departments to compete and they've had lots of fun with it. So have the patients and visitors of all ages."

The public is invited to stop by today for a look.

But when you see strangely-dressed people going into the hospital, don't worry -- it's just the hospital's way of saying "have a great Halloween day."

Department of Public Safety Trooper Wayne Beigle, left, is welcomed to the Rotary Club by Chris Strowd, program chairman Monday. Beigle explained the Texas concealed gun law and reminded that although licenses will be issued in coming weeks, the law will not become effective until Jan. 1, 1996.

SCHOOL

two waiver requests, one from Bluebonnet Intermediate School for a total of six days of staff development, and one from Northwest Primary School for three waiver days.
The Bluebonnet action was a follow-up to a previous request for six waiver days made last month.
At the time, trustees objected to keeping students out of school that many days and asked school officials to put together a proposal that would include Saturday meetings at which teachers would be paid stipends.
The days would be used for training in thematic units such as used at Aikman and Shirley schools, and for training in the Accelerated School concept.
As approved by trustees, Shirley students will have three days off -- Jan 8 and 9, extending Christmas vacation by two days, and Feb. 23.
In addition, trustees approved paying stipends for the staff to have Saturday meetings on Feb. 24 and April 13, and will allow all-substitute day on April 12, a Friday.
The plan gives the entire staff of Bluebonnet three two-day sessions for training.
Those sessions will be required attendance for all staff.

Worker pay in year fails to stay even with rate of inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)--American workers' wages, salaries and benefits rose 2.7 percent in the year ended Sept. 30, the tiniest increase on record, showing employee compensation was failing to keep up with inflation.
The Labor Department said today the increase in its Employment Cost Index was the smallest since it began tracking costs in 1981. But while compensation remained slack, the report suggested price increases also were being held in check.
The index is considered one of the best gauges of wage inflation pressures since compensation represents about two-thirds of the cost of a product. Consumer prices were rising at a 2.8 percent annual rate during September.
Many analysts had expected employee cost increases in the year ended Sept. 30 to match the 2.9 percent advance in the 12 months ended June 30.

Although the economy grew at a robust 4.2 percent annual rate during the third quarter, job growth has been relatively modest. That, combined with continued business restructuring and downsizing, has provided workers with little leverage to seek increased wages and benefits.

The index showed wages and salaries--nearly three-fourths of total compensation--rose 2.8 percent in the year ended Sept. 30, even slower than the 2.9 percent advance a year earlier. Wages and salaries gained 3 percent during the year ended June 30.

The cost of benefits inched up 2.2 percent, also the smallest gain on record.

W. Greenawalt said, is a formality. Assistant Superintendent Nena Veazey said the TEA requires it, but that the situation should resolve itself through withdrawals, but that for now extra students are being transferred to Northwest.
In the final action item, trustees approved on a 6-1 vote with no discussion a request to add district nurses, diagnosticians, counselors and speech therapists to the teacher/librarian pay scale.
Trustee Cherry McWhorter's motion called for the action to be effective the 1996-97 school year.
"One of the reasons I'm making this for 1996-97 is that we've had other groups come to us in the middle after the budget has been approved" and ask for additional money, which has been deferred until the next budget period.
The action, she said, continues that practice.
Ron Weishaar voted against the measure, but did not state his objections at the meeting.
Also on the agenda for Monday's meeting was approval of minutes of past meetings, ratification of bills and budget amendments, general reports and reports from Greenawalt, the two teacher professional organizations and the personnel report.

In his report, Assistant Superintendent Don Cumpston said he has learned that angle parking can be built by the tennis courts for about $6,000 for 20 spaces or $8,500 for 30 spaces.
Weishaar requested the administration talk to the city about sharing costs for the work.
Trustees also agreed to set two special meetings, one on Monday, Nov. 6 to discuss district construction needs and one on Wednesday, Nov. 8, to talk about the draft technology plan.
They also will discuss the district's participation in the Deaf Smith Appraisal District at the Nov. 13 discussion meeting after concerns were raised about the district's role and voice in tax abatement proceedings.
All trustees were present: President Jim Marsh, Weishaar, Joe Flood, Raul Valdez, Mrs. McWhorter, Randy Tooley and Roy Dale Messer.

EUGENE "Gene" LOERWALD

Oct. 29, 1995
Eugene "Gene" Loerwald, 84, longtime Hereford resident, died Sunday at Golden Plains Care Center.
Services were held Tuesday morning at St. Anthony's Catholic Church with Msgr. Orville Blum, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Restlawn Memorial Park, by Gililand-Watson Funeral Home. A vigil service was held Monday evening.
Born in Dallas, Mr. Loerwald attended schools in Oklahoma and Wichita Falls. He came to Deaf Smith County with his family in 1929. The family farmed southeast of Hereford but ended farming operations after about two years. Members of the family then worked for Jacobsen Brothers Blacksmith and Welding Shop. Mr. Loerwald married Marie Schumacker in 1937 and the same year Loerwald Brothers Welding and Repair Shop was opened. He was associated with the business until he retired in 1976.

Mr. Loerwald had belonged to the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department and was a Cubmaster for Cub Scouts. He also was active in the boys' baseball Little League Association in the 1960, serving two terms as president of the association and as a coach and manager of several teams. He also had belonged to Whiteface Booster Club and served in offices.
He belonged to St. Anthony's Catholic Church and was a member of Knights of Columbus Council No. 27778, serving as Grand Knight for two terms. During his tenure, a blood donors group was introduced.
Survivors are his wife; a daughter, Christi Artho of Vega; four sons, Kenneth Loerwald of Norton, Mass., Daniel Loerwald of Gatesville, Ralph Loerwald of Denver City and Steve Loerwald of Denton; three brothers, S.T. Loerwald, Harold Loerwald and George Loerwald, all of Hereford; two sisters, Ruth Loerwald and Pauline Howard, both of Hereford, 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.
The family has requested that memorials be directed to Crown of Texas Hospice of Hereford, Panhandle Chapter of Alzheimer's Association or St. Anthony's School Endowment Fund.

JANET E. HARPER
Oct. 29, 1995
Janet E. Harper, 73, former Hereford resident, died Sunday in Colorado Springs, Colo.
Services were held Tuesday at New Life Church in Colorado Springs with the Rev. Ted Haggard officiating. Services also will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Grady, N.M., Baptist Church with burial in Grady.
Mrs. Harper, a native of Stillwater, Okla., married Leo Harper in 1961 in San Antonio. They lived in Hereford while Mr. Harper was factory manager of Holly Sugar Corporation from 1977-1981. Mrs. Harper had worked as an artist for Hallmark Cards in Kansas City, Mo. She also had been a draftsman and architect. She was a member of New Life Church and active in Women's Prayer Ministry. She belonged to the Art Guild.
Survivors are her husband; a son, Jimmy Allen Martin of Harker Heights; two stepsons, Leo Perry Harper of Glendale, Ore., and Danny Harper of Grants Pass, Ore.; two stepdaughters, Leanne Marcy of Memphis, Tenn., and Bonnie Weaver of Medford, Ore., 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.
JOSEPHINE M. CHAVEZ
Oct. 26, 1995
Josephine "Josie" Martinez Chavez, 49, sister of Lupe Chavez and Connie Recio, both of Hereford, died Thursday in a highway accident at San Angelo.

Services were held Saturday in Johnson's Funeral Home Chapel of San Angelo. Burial was in Miles Cemetery, by Johnson Funeral Home.
She was born in Lyford and had lived in Miles and Plainview before moving to San Angelo. She was a hair stylist.
Survivors also include a son and a daughter, two grandchildren, her parents, two other brothers and six other sisters.

wrote to GAO then: "Overall, this is a reasonable report with no major data problems." The letter also said the costs and benefits cited in the report "are well within the range of most research."
Last week, however, Rep. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, released a letter from a top assistant to Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman denouncing the GAO report as "flawed in its estimates."
Undersecretary Gene Moos wrote Oct. 24 that the program poses no costs to domestic users and consumers; it could, in fact, save them money.

The letter attacks the GAO report on several fronts: It studied a time period, 1989-1991, when U.S. prices were unusually high because of drought; it underestimated the world price of sugar under liberalized world trade; it understated the transportation cost and it understated the refining cost.
Keith Collins, the department's chief economist, said growers had been complaining to the department for at least a year about the report. A July 26 letter from Mink led the department to put a new analysis on paper.
"I know it's kind of awkward," Collins said. He said the Moos letter probably exaggerated when it suggested a zero program cost or even savings.
The main point was that the $1.4 billion is too high.
"I think it would be generally acceptable for economists to say there is probably a hell of a wide range around that number," he said.

John W. Harman, GAO's chief researcher for farm programs, said, "Our position is that we stick by this number." He said numerous studies backed similar conclusions.
Among them is the Agriculture Department's own Economic Research Service, which estimated consumer costs in a recent background book on the farm bill.
The ERS is not under Moos' jurisdiction. Moos, a former senior staff member on the House Agriculture Committee and aide to former Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., is in charge of commodity programs, including sugar.
The ERS analysis looked at the same time period examined by Moos' office, 1992-1994, when prices were less inflated, and found the program added $890 million to the cost of sugar alone.

Halloween is theme for meeting of La Madre Mia Study Club

La Madre Mia Study Club had a Halloween costume party Thursday night in the Friendship Room of Hereford State Bank.

Hostesses were Betty Taylor, Merle Clark, Kay Hall, Mary Beth White, Mysedia Smith, Barbara Manning and Marline Watson.

Entertainment included pitch a penny, apple dunking and go fishing with prizes given to the winners.

Costumes were varied including a witch on her broom, the Statue of Liberty, an expectant Gypsy girl, a rabbit, a Chinese lady and several clowns. Winners in the costume contest, selected by secret ballot, were Glenda Marcum and Lavon Nieman who came as bag man and bag lady.

A meal of sandwiches, salad, cold drinks and cake was served. Tables featured Halloween decorations.

President Kay Hall conducted the business meeting. Roll call was answered with "What scares you the most?"

The Christmas Tour of Homes co-chairpersons, Ruth Black and Francine Bromlow, reported duty assignments for members will be passed out at the next meeting and tickets will be issued to go on sale.

Glady Merritt passed out letters from third grade students in Krista Farrell's room at Aikman School. This is the second year the club has been pen pals with her students.

The club's next meeting will be a fund raiser sealed bid party in the home of Cindy Cassels.

Members attending were Linda Cumpton, Mary Herring, Betty Lady, Bettye Owen, Nancy Paetzold, Lucy Rogers, Georgia Sparks, June Owens, Nicky Walser, Judy Williams, Black, Bromlow, Cassels, Clark, Hall, Marcum, Merritt, Nieman, Taylor and Watson.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: Tonight is Halloween. I've selected some material from previous columns that I believe is worth repeating. It originally appeared in the Chicago Tribune.

Soon it will be dark and your children will be out trick-or-treating. Your doorbell will ring, and you will be confronted by neighborhood kids with their hands out. That's the fun part. The dark side of this holiday is that hundreds of children will be injured and some may be killed.

No longer can you allow your youngsters to roam the neighborhood and knock on strangers' doors in search of goodies. The world has changed since you and I went trick-or-treating.

In recent years, there have been reports of people with twisted minds putting razor blades and poison in taffy apples and Halloween candy. It is no longer safe to let your child eat treats that come from strangers.

And there are other dangers. Children are fascinated with Halloween costumes and candle-lit pumpkins. Many of the costumes are made of flammable materials, and in a second, a witch's cloak or a goblin's wings can go up in flames.

Many Halloween costumes are dark in color and not visible to a motorist. Accidents involving drivers who didn't see a child "until it was too late" are reported all over the country.

So what's a parent to do? Here are some suggestions.

1) Give a party for the neighborhood kids and ask some of the parents to help chaperon. If you aren't much of a party giver, go trick-or-treating with your children to make sure they ring only the doorbells of people they know.

2) Children should travel in groups, never alone. They must never accept an invitation to enter a house or apartment. Set a definite time for returning home, and be firm about it.

3) Costumes should be short enough so kids don't trip. Costumes AND treat bags should be marked with reflector tape.

4) Makeup is better than a mask - it doesn't restrict breathing or vision, and it's fun to put on.

5) Affix name, address and phone number to the inside of young children's costumes in case they get lost.

6) Avoid toy weapons, especially guns, which could be mistaken for the real thing.

7) Excited children who dart into the street are often hit by cars. Emphasize the importance of looking both ways before crossing the street.

8) Warn kids not to eat any treats until they have been inspected by a parent or chaperon. Packaged candy is the safest. Inspect the wrapping to make sure it has not been opened. Slice fruit or candy to check for foreign objects.

9) Falls are the leading cause of injury on Halloween. Give children flashlights so they can see and be seen. Children should stay on the sidewalks, should not cut across yards and should always stay in their group.

10) Keep your lawn and porch clear of objects a child might stumble over.

11) If you give a party guard against candy overload by serving popcorn, pretzels, fruit, gelatin or homemade cookies.

Holidays too often end in tragedy. Pay attention to what I have written today so that you aren't among the sick at heart on Nov. 1.

Steiert gives program on playas for L'Allegra

L'Allegra Study Club met in the home of Hilda Perales with Jody Skiles serving as co-hostess.

Members heard an informative program on the playas lakes given by Jim Steiert of Hereford. Steiert is the author of a recently published book on the subject titled "Playas - Jewels of the Plains."

His program focused on the prevalence of the playas, their formation and their significance, especially to our area. Members also learned about Steiert's methodology in preparation for writing his book.

President Suzanne Smith conducted the business meeting.

Members present were Melissa Clarke, Diana Griffin, Cathy Guseman, Sandy Josseland, Sylvia Khuri, Kyla McDowell, Mary Kay McQuigg, Karen Payne, Dee Anne Trotter, Judy Wall, Jan Weishaar, Perales, Skiles and Smith.

Veleda Club sees fashions

Veleda Study Club met at the Fashion Boutique for its regular meeting with Betty Olson as hostess.

Margaret Zinser, president, opened the meeting with the reading of the Club Collect.

Roll call was answered with "a must for your winter fashions." There were 13 members and 13 guests present.

Norma Walden announced the next meeting will be Nov. 13 with Mary Dziuk. Bette Wolle will have the program.

Following the business meeting Donna Ruland and Olson presented a style show. Models were Juanita Brown, Joyce Ritter, Olson and Ruland.

Unknown relics will be brought to Alamo City

By J. MICHAEL PARKER
San Antonio Express-News
SAN ANTONIO - Two relics of San Antonio's namesake, St. Anthony of Padua, will be brought to the Alamo City Nov. 1 for the first time.

The visit was announced Oct. 15 in a news release from the Conventual Franciscan Friars of the Basilica of St. Anthony in Padua, Italy, where the 13th Century friar and preacher is buried.

Three celebratory Masses are to be offered at 3, 5:30 and 7 p.m. Nov. 1 in San Fernando Cathedral, said Archbishop Patrick Flores. He said the relics, whose precise identity won't be announced until later, will be available for viewing and veneration after each Mass.

It will be the second time in two weeks relics special to the city will be brought here.

Those of Father Antonio Margil de Jesus, founder of the East Texas missions and Mission San Jose in San Antonio, whose cause for beatification is under way in Vatican City, were to arrive Friday from Mexico.

Activities are planned Saturday at Mission San Jose and Sunday at San Fernando Cathedral, St. Mary Magdalen, Mission San Juan Capistrano and St. Ann's Mission.

Girls' CC team earns regional berth

The Hereford girls' cross country team earned a trip to regionals by finishing second at the District 1-4A meet held Saturday in Amarillo.

While the Canyon girls won easily with 38 points, Hereford scored 73 points to squeeze past Borger at 83 and Randall at 84. Only the top two teams will advance to the Region I-4A meet, set for Saturday in Lubbock.

The Hereford boys narrowly missed advancing. They finished third with 75 points, trailing Canyon with 26 and Caprock with 60.

The girls' team was led by two juniors: Jamie Harrison, who finished third with a time of 12:28 over two miles, and Bethany Townsend, who was seventh in 12:49.

"Harrison and Townsend ran exceptionally good races in a very tough district," coach Martha Emerson said. "And a lot of credit goes to the effort of the other five runners. Teresa Lopez is a sophomore and this was her second district meet. The other four are freshmen and they are just now beginning to realize the importance of the district meet."

The other five runners for (See HARRIERS, Page 5)

Wall of blockers

The Caprock setter tries to dink the volleyball over Hereford blockers Cassie Abney (left) and Julie Rampley. Hereford finished the regular season with a 15-0, 15-5 win Saturday in Hereford.

Lady Whitefaces finish undefeated district run

The Lady Whiteface volleyball team wrapped up its first-ever undefeated record in District 1-4A with a 15-0, 15-5 win over Caprock Saturday in Whiteface Gym.

The Lady Whitefaces, the champions of 1-4A, have a bye in the first round of the state playoffs. They await the winner of a bi-district match between Monahans and El Paso Parkland, set for 7 p.m. tonight in Van Horn. Parkland (24-7) is the champion of District 3-4A, while Monahans (14-14) is the second-seed from District 4-4A.

Hereford finished the regular season at 25-3, the best regular-season record in the history of the program. The 1989 team finished the regular season 26-4; the 1991 team finished it 23-4; and last year's team was 26-5.

All three of Hereford's losses were to Class 5A Amarillo High, which hasn't lost a match since the state championship match two years ago.

Hereford was ranked No. 1 in Class 4A in a Texas Girls' Coaches Association poll which came out a few weeks ago, and Hereford's 16-match winning streak would suggest they're still No. 1.

Of all the accolades, the outright district title might be the favorite of the Lady Whitefaces.

"It's just awesome," senior Heather Hodges said. "No other team has done that, especially with Dumas in the district - it takes a lot of mental preparation to play them. We've done

Hereford netters fall in Region I-4A finals

At the Region I-4A Tennis Tournament in Lubbock, the Hereford tennis team breezed by its first two opponents Friday, squeezed by its third round opponent Saturday, then ran into a buzzsaw in the regional finals.

Hereford was one victory short of a trip to the Class 4A State Team Tennis Tournament. Unfortunately, they had to beat Wichita Falls, a team which has been to the state tourney at least four years in a row. Wichita Falls beat Hereford, 13-0, with five matches left unfinished.

"Wichita Falls is just a tennis town," Hereford coach Ed Coplen said. "(The Wichita Falls coach) said he thought he could win the state championship."

Despite the sudden end to the season, it was the best season for Hereford since 1987. The 1995 Hereford won the outright District 1-4A championship and advanced to the regional finals.

"I told 'em, 'There's only eight teams still playing, and you're one of them,'" Coplen said. "If it was football, they'd be in the quarterfinals."

Hillwig wins Brand contest

Lois Hillwig was one of two entrants in last week's Brand Football Contest to miss only two of the 25 games, and she won on a close tie-breaker.

Hillwig and Harold Simons both missed two games, both picked Borger to win the tie-breaker game against Hereford - which it did, 34-32 - and both predicted a total score of 42 points. Hillwig's prediction (28-14), though, had a smaller point-margin that Simons; it was closer to the actual margin.

Hillwig will claim $35 in Hereford Bucks, while Simons will have to settle for $25.

Bernadette Kalka was one of four entrants missing four games, but she took third place and $10 in Hereford Bucks on the tie-breaker, predicting a total score of 47.

The others who missed four games but had lower tie-breaker predictions were Linda Adams, Patrick Henry and Kristi Hollingsworth.

Frosh B football team nips Randall

The Hereford freshman B football team beat Randall 6-2 Saturday in Hereford - and Hereford even gave Randall its points.

Leading 6-0, Hereford faced a fourth down on its own two-yard line with a minute and a half left in the game. Rather than have his team punt into a stiff wind, coach James Salinas decided to take a safety and a free-kick.

The plan nearly backfired, but the Hereford defense held on. Randall returned the free kick to the Hereford 48-yard line and drove the ball down to the Hereford four-yard line. Hereford mounted a goalline stand, though, and Randall couldn't score.

Jason Bradford scored Hereford's only points, running six yards for a touchdown in the third quarter. Hereford went for two points, but the run failed.

Bears end Monday jinx vs. Vikings

By RON LESKO
AF Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - The Chicago Bears' Monday night jinx seemed alive with 2:17 left when rookie Rashaan Salaam fumbled against the Minnesota Vikings.

But the Bears' defense, which kept the Vikings out of the end zone all night, got a turnover of its own with 1:32 left in a 14-6 victory that ended Chicago's NFL-worst eight-game losing streak on Monday nights.

SPIKERS

a good job of keeping our focus on what had to be done.

The Lady Whitefaces certainly kept their focus on the first game against Caprock Saturday, winning 15-0 and doing it quickly - in only seven rotations.

Danielle Cornelius was dominating in the early going, as she had five kills and one stuff block in the Herd's first nine points. Hereford cruised from then on. Britney Binder had consecutive service aces to end the game.

"I felt like every one of the kids was focused," coach Brenda Reeh said. "Nearly everything we passed was to target, so we were able to run different offensive plays."

The second game wasn't as quick as the first, taking nearly twice as long, although Hereford never was in danger of losing. Caprock led 2-0 early before Hereford stormed back to a 6-2 led in two rotations. Hereford slowly worked its way to a 15-5 win. "We eased up a little bit," Reeh said. "It was certainly never anything we felt worried about. (Although) we have to constantly strive to improve - especially now that we start the new season."

Hereford were: Erica Delgado, 17th in 13:26; Teresa Lopez, 19th in 13:47; Kitt Wimberly, 27th in 14:02; Jessica Mejia, 30th in 15:03; and Anna Delgado, 40th in 15:59.

The District 1-4A field was a strong one.

"Canyon won our district and region last year and was second at state," Emerson said. "Borger was second and also advanced to state. Randall was third at district last year, returned the same team this year and along with Canyon is state-ranked this year. This was a great meet for us. Our district has four very good teams and two will not advance."

This is the first time in several years Hereford has sent a team to regionals. Emerson passed on some of the credit to new assistant coach Ray Baca.

"He's done an outstanding job working with both the boys and girls during this cross country season," Emerson said.

The Hereford boys came close but were edged out by two teams in Canyon and Caprock who are ranked in the top 10.

"The boys' team was really disappointed in only finishing third," Emerson said. "They all ran as well as possible. Canyon ranked No. 1 in the state (Class 4A) and Caprock ranked No. 8 in the state makes ours a tough district."

Joel Garza led Hereford, finishing ninth in 17:48 over the three-mile course. The other Hereford runners were: Inez Lopez, 12th in 17:58; Miguel Huerta, 13th in 18:01; Brandon Coleman, 18th in 18:36; Rafael Del Hoyo, 25th in 18:47; Flavio Cardenas, 28th; and Miguel Carrillo, 33rd.

team tournament, got to the finals by squeezing by No. 2 seed Andrews, 9-7. Hereford had enough wins to tie at 9-9 and clinched the tie-breaker on sets won.

There are normally 18 matches - 12 singles and six doubles - in a team match, but sometimes when one team clinches the match win, some matches are left unfinished - either to save time or to save face.

Hereford didn't lose a match at all on Friday. The Herd downed Brownwood 16-0 in the first round, then beat El Paso Jefferson, 16-0 in the second round.

"We played real well the first day," Coplen said. "There were about five teams in our district that could have won those matches."

The runner-up from Hereford's District 1-4A, Borger, defeated Sweetwater in the first round, then lost to Big Spring in the second round. Wichita Falls beat Big Spring to get to the finals.

"It's a satisfying feeling that the game came down to the last minute and was in our hands," said safety Marty Carter, whose hit on Qadry Ismail forced the decisive fumble that Albert Fontenot recovered. "We finally got the monkey off our back."

The Bears (6-2) entered the game with three consecutive victories, but they allowed nearly 29 points a game in the victories over Jacksonville, Carolina and Houston, winning by a combined 10 points.

Aces: Binder, 2; Barrett, 1; Hodges, 1; Rampley, 1.

Hereford's junior varsity and freshmen teams finished off winning seasons Saturday.

The junior varsity beat Caprock's JV, 15-2, 15-0. Kendra Wright, who serves first in the Herd's rotation, served the first six points of the first game and all 15 of the points in the second game. She had three aces in each game.

The junior varsity finished 22-8 overall and 10-2 in district play. Dumas, however, was 11-1 in district.

The freshmen lost Saturday to River Road, 15-10, 15-13, in Amarillo. The freshmen finished the season 15-12 overall, 8-5 in district matches.

End of regular season

Minnesota (3-5) controlled the clock much of the game, with Warren Moon directing a low-risk offense, but the Bears sacked Moon four times and limited Minnesota to Fuad Reveiz's two field goals. Chicago made due with Erik Kramer's two touchdown passes 1:58 apart in the second quarter for its first season sweep of the Vikings since 1991.

They completed their sweep that year with their last Monday night victory, also at the Metrodome. The Bears now enter the second half of the season with a one-game lead over Green Bay in the NFC Central.

"Unfortunately, we don't like to make it easy on ourselves," Kramer said. "But the defense came up big. We knuxayed a lot of demons."

They also put the defending division champions in a big hole. The Vikings lost their third consecutive game and are 6-10 over their last 16 regular-season games. They probably must win six of their remaining eight games if they hope to qualify for the playoffs.

"Time is getting short," rookie cornerback Corey Fuller said. "We've got to come together as a team. We have to refocus. This loss is difficult, you can't get away from that, but we can't dwell on it."

With the NFL's fifth-worst pass defense entering last weekend's games, the Vikings seemed an easy target for Kramer. He came into the game with 16 touchdown passes and just four interceptions, directing an offense that was averaging an NFC-best 29 points.

Yet the Vikings allowed the Bears only one prolonged scoring drive, which Kramer capped with a 4-yard pass to defensive tackle Jim Flanigan, a goal-line substitute, for a 7-3 lead with 2:23 left in the first half.

Then Minnesota made one of its few defensive mistakes. Kramer stunned the Vikings with a perfectly thrown 48-yard touchdown to Curtis Conway, the ball barely clearing the outstretched hand of a leaping Alfred Jackson, as Chicago took a 14-3 lead just 25 seconds before halftime.

Treaty Oak 'tells' about getting nickname

Story relates role of tree throughout Texas history

Plaque in appreciation

Gwen Keeping, left, was the recipient of a plaque during a dinner, raffle and music jam held recently at the Elk's Lodge to benefit Beverly House, right. House was injured in a boating accident in September and Keeping, who is an R.N., was present when the accident occurred and was instrumental in saving House's life.

By LESLIE BARKER
The Dallas Morning News
DALLAS - As a New York City resident, Ellen Levine is used to reading about murders and attempted murders.

But six years ago, one hit her especially hard.

The victim: Austin's 500-year-old Treaty Oak tree.

The method: poison.
 "It was such a senseless act of destruction," Ms. Levine says.

The more she read, the more another thought kept coming to her mind.

"The tree is a single living witness for all the centuries that passed before it," she says during a visit to Brinker Elementary School in Plano. "I thought, 'Can you imagine if this tree could talk? What incredible stories it would tell!'"

And talk the Treaty Oak now does, in "The Tree That Would Not Die" (Scholastic Inc., $14.95), written by Ms. Levine and illustrated by Ted Rand.

"One morning hundreds of years ago," the book begins. "an acorn fell and grew in the earth. And that was me."

Prefaced always by the words "And I grew," the tree tells its role throughout Texas history. How a buffalo calf scratched itself on the tree's trunk. How American Indian tribes such as the Comanche and Tejas fought "many a war among themselves. But when they sat by me, they laid their weapons down."

How, legend goes, Stephen F. Austin and American Indians (whom Ms. Levine calls "First People") signed a boundary treaty under the tree, thus giving it the nickname that remains today.

How pioneers set up camp under the tree. How two boys, an African-American and Mexican-American, hid in its branches while Anglo men searched - unsuccessfully - for them.

And, told on a solid black page, how a man poured poison around the tree. "And I grew" becomes "I could not grow. I could not grow!"

The book tells also of the worldwide affection people have shown the Treaty Oak since it was poisoned. They've sent thousands of cards and letters. Some have brought crystals, cans of chicken soup, bottles of aspirin to the tree. Buddhist monks have prayed over the tree. Witches from Dallas arrived in a limousine to see whether they could help.

Almost one-third of the tree survived; to ensure its immortality, a New Jersey scientist is cloning the tree. Art objects have been made out of branches that were cut away. Sales of tree pieces have totaled $10,000 - money that will be spent planting trees around Austin.

The Treaty Oak's leaves once formed a quarter-acre canopy three stories high. Now, though leaves on two-thirds of the tree are gone, others still shade visitors. Even supported by two braces, the Treaty Oak still stands proudly.

"It's made it," says John Giedraitis, forester for the city of Austin. "A tree that's 500 years old is an old tree. It's sort of like a great-great-grandmother when she falls in the shower. She can get up and have her hip replaced, but she's never the same. The tree doesn't have the youthful vigor it had, but that's OK."

The tree is a living memorial to Texas, he says. In our society of immediacy, it shows the importance of the past.

"It was important to pre-cultural people for religious reasons. It's important for us today because it's historical," Giedraitis says. "For me, it's the place I proposed to my wife nine years ago. Dozens of people have gotten married there. The ashes of people have been strewn around it."

The tree has a spirit, he says. "I think Ellen and Ted felt that when they came down here."

Ms. Levine visited in 1991, when the two-thirds of the tree had to be cut away. She was "very moved," she says. "This tree, which had shaded so many people, couldn't shade itself."

Rand, busy with other projects at the time, finally was able to visit the Treaty Oak last year. He needed to before he could begin illustrating, he says.

"I felt I had to stand under the tree," says Rand, who lives in Washington state. "It struck me like Christopher Reeve does now - a crippled giant that's going to make it and still has a spirit."

Because of the illustrations and simple telling of the story, the book is promoted as one for children. But the first person Ms. Levine showed it to was a woman friend; when she read it, her eyes filled with tears. (Ms. Levine dedicates the book to her friend, who has since died of breast cancer).

"People don't read it like they do a children's book," Rand says. "They read it like - 'I can't believe someone did this.' They have a personal response to it."

Eric Boon, an 11-year-old at Brinker Elementary, was mad after reading "The Tree That Would Not Die."

"I wanted to know why somebody would do something to a tree with so much history," he says.

(The man convicted of poisoning the tree confessed he had done so as part of a magic ritual to solve his love problems. He was released from prison after serving three years of a nine-year sentence.)

Helen Greer, a fifth-grade teacher at Brinker, hopes the book gives her students a lesson in Texas culture.

"Plus," she says, "I want them to know the story of how important the tree is and how we need to take care of things here."

Choose location then select plant to insure against wasting money

By JAMES E. WALTERS
PHOENIX (AP) - Several plants usually will thrive and look great under your projected conditions, regardless of what they are. But you need to find them first through a systematic approach by asking yourself questions.

So it becomes necessary to resist the impulse purchase. Choose the location first and then decide on a plant to fill it.

While this requires some research, it is insurance against wasting money or winding up with a monster in a few years.

And this will be true whether frost is around the corner, spring planting is imminent or your landscape project is in the planning or finishing stage.

Alliance board seeks questions

The Deaf Smith County Health Care Alliance executive board met recently at the Hereford Regional Medical Center.

As part of the Alliance's project to promote sexual abstinence and to reduce the number of sexually active teens in Hereford, various agencies and organizations were asked to submit questions for an upcoming community survey.

The survey will be directed at adults and teens and will help the Alliance to gather information and insight into why so many of Hereford's youth are becoming sexually active during their teen years.

Start by learning the plant's growth habits. Check various reference books. Ask the plant seller about drawbacks as well as advantages. Try to talk to someone already growing it.

Does it need sun or shade? How tall will it get? How wide? Will something that tall or wide look out of place where you plan to put it?

Those are the type of questions that need answers.

Some others:
 What is the most personally disagreeable thing now in your landscape - cutting grass, pruning roses, a ground cover that can't handle foot traffic? Will the plant being considered ease or add to such problems?

Will the plant create new problems? While low-growing junipers are wonderful, they don't keep out Bermuda grass. My neighbor removed a front yard of junipers because of the tangle.

Will constant pruning be needed to keep the plant within its allotted space? Will litter become a problem around a swimming pool, a neatly

Supper honors WWII veterans

The Ladies Auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4818 is sponsoring a brisket supper on Nov. 6 at 6:30 p.m. in the V.F.W. Hall.

The supper is a part of the observance of the 50th anniversary of World War II to honor the men and women who served during the war and who have provided us with a nation where we can enjoy liberty and equal justice under law.

Anyone wishing to attend the supper needs to R.S.V.P. by Nov. 2 to Linda at 276-5358 or Marie at 364-0008.

kept lawn, a sidewalk or a driveway?

If it's a tree, will it grow into overhead utility lines and need to be removed? A half dozen palms once grew on our property. If planted a few feet to the east they still could be flourishing.

While a hedge of roses may seem desirable, it may be the wrong look for a specific area. Or the thorns and rose-caring needs may create problems.

Remember, too, that with some species, only the female or male plant create obnoxious smells or excessive mess. So are you positive of the correct type?

Does it need sun or shade? Will the contemplated location keep it struggling endlessly and looking poorly? Remember that some areas always are going to be wet and soggy or hot and sunny.

Will it need constant protection if frosts are forecast or look poorly during summer heat waves?

If it's not in bloom, can you be certain of the colors and that they will blend with the rest of your plants and not clash?

When it grows, will the shade compromise existing vegetable or flower gardens, even though there is no problem now?

Are equally attractive plants available that will need less watering? Will plant growth remove a desirable view? Or can a neighbor's view of your patio be obscured or improved with a different plant?

If you want to attract birds or butterflies, is this the correct plant?

If landscape fires are possible, is the foliage regarded as fire-resistant? Are you positive? Many people wish they had re-checked.

EDITOR'S NOTE: James Walters worked for the AP as a reporter and editor from 1947 until he retired in 1984.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISPOSAL PERMIT

GENE VASEK, Route 4, Box 180, Hereford, TX 79045 has applied to the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (Commission) for a permit (Proposed Permit No. 03843) to authorize disposal of waste and wastewater from a cattle feed-yard. The cattle feedyard will consist of an average daily maximum of 2,500 feeders. The waste treatment facilities will include 1 playa lake for waste and wastewater retention. Wastewater from the playa lake will be disposed by evaporation/irrigation on 20 acres of agricultural land. Manure/solids will be disposed of as fertilizer on agricultural land through contract manure haulers. No discharge of pollutants into the waters of the State is authorized by this permit.

The cattle feedyard is on the south side of Farm-to-Market Road 1058, approximately 0.75 miles west of the intersection of Farm-to-Market Road 1058 and Farm-to-Market Road 1057, and is west of Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas. This location is in the drainage area of the Upper Prairie Dog Town Fork Red River in Segment No. 0229 of the Red River Basin.

The Executive Director of the Commission has prepared a draft permit based on the application submitted by the applicant and other information presently available.

Legal Authority: Section 26.028 of the Texas Water Code and 30 TAC Chapter 305 of the Rules of the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission.

This application is subject to a Commission resolution adopted August 18, 1993, which directs the Commission's Executive Director to act on behalf of the Commission and issue final approval of certain permit matters. The Executive Director will issue this permit unless one or more persons file written protests and/or a request for a hearing within 30 days after publication of this notice.

If you wish to request a public hearing, you must submit your request in writing. You must state (1) your name, mailing address and daytime phone number; (2) the permit number or other recognizable reference to this application; (3) the statement "I/we request a public hearing"; (4) a brief description of how you, or the persons you represent, would be adversely affected by the granting of the application; (5) a description of the location of your property relative to the applicant's operations; and (6) your proposed adjustment to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns and cause you to withdraw your request for hearing. If one or more protests and/or requests for hearing are filed, the Executive Director will not issue the permit and will forward the application to the office of Hearings Examiners where a hearing may be held. Commission public hearing are evidentiary legal proceedings similar to civil court non-jury trials. Although general comments from the public may be submitted either in writing prior to the hearing, or orally at the start of the hearing, the law requires that the Commission's decision about whether to approve or deny the application be based on evidence and testimony submitted during the public hearing, presented under oath and subject to cross-examination by the other parties. Public comments are not evidence and cannot be the basis for the Commission's ultimate decision.

In the event a hearing is held, the office of Hearings Examiners will submit a recommendation to the Commission for final decision.

If no protests or requests for hearing are filed, the Executive Director will sign the permit 30 days after publication of this notice or thereafter. If you wish to appeal a permit issued by the Executive Director, you may do so by filing a written motion for Reconsideration with the Chief Clerk of the Commission no later than 20 days after the date the Executive Director signs the permit.

Request for a public hearing on this application should be submitted in writing to Chief Clerk's Office - Mail Code 105, Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711, Telephone (512) 239-3307. Information regarding hearing procedures may be obtained by contacting Kerry D. Sullivan, Assistant Chief Hearing Examiner - Mail Code 102 at the same address or by telephone at (512) 239-4100. Information concerning any technical aspect of this application can be obtained by writing Andrew W. Dodson, Wastewater Permits Section - Mail Code 148 at the same address with or by telephone at (512) 239-4433.

Issued this 16th day of August, 1995.

Gloria A. Vasquez, Chief Clerk
Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission

Circus in Hereford Wednesday

The Shrine Circus comes to Hereford Wednesday at the B-Bar-S Arena, located about four miles west of town, with two performances to be held at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Presented by the George Carden Circus International, proceeds from the 3-ring extravaganza will benefit the Khiva Shrine Temple. Tickets, available at the gate, are $8 for adults and $4 for children (1-12).

Ringmaster Charles "Vincent" Amaral Jr. will introduce featured performers for the show. These include the Hampel Family Clowns, the magic of Charles and the Lady, the acrobatic Estrada family, aerial acts and hand-balancing by the Alvarados, and the exciting circus elephants.

Charles Amaral, Kathleen Dawn "The Lady" Amaral, and Chelsea Amaral are first-generation circus performers, hailing from the San Francisco Bay area. They have been featured in Vegas revue shows, cruise ships, and shows throughout the U.S.

The Hampel Family are billed as the most colorful and exciting troupe of clowns in the U.S. today. The troupe consists of Dennis, a 30-year performer; his wife, Clyde, an ex-school teacher who designs and produces all of the clown costumes; and sons Mark, 15, and Matthew, 13, both who started performing at age two.

The Estrada family is made up of five members—Julian, Anthony, Marcos and Anthony Jr. They perform amazing mid-air acrobatics on a teeterboard, the spectacular "Russian Swing" act, and balancing on the "Perch Pole." The two oldest members, Julian and Anthony, started performing as young boys in Mexico.

Rueben Alvarado, a third-generation circus performer from Mexico, does aerial acts and hand balancing. His wife, Isabelle, a circus veteran, no longer performs, but their two sons and a daughter work with their father in the flying trapeze act.

Trained elephants are always a popular act at the circus. Asking an 8,000-pound elephant to stand on its hind legs is not the easiest task in the world. Asian elephants are highly intelligent and learn quickly.

The hardest part about training is the muscle-building program elephants must go through. An elephant could learn to stand on its hind legs in a week, but to do it safely, trainers use 1 to 3 months. The average age of a circus elephant is 40 years old. They can live up to 80 years in captivity, but only 45-50 years in the wild.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My son had his spleen removed after an accident when he was a child. He is now in his late 20s and gets sick more frequently, with colds and the flu. Every month or so he has a high temperature, up to 104. What can you tell us about the spleen? —M.K.

ANSWER: The spleen sits tucked next to the stomach, its roughly 4 by 3 inches of tissue filtering blood and fighting infection. It filters worn-out red blood cells, recycling them for reuse. It also removes germs from the blood that courses through it continuously. In its spare time, the spleen manufactures infection-fighting antibodies.

Despite the spleen's impressive workload, most people can function well without one. The work of the removed spleen is taken over by other organs.

But being bereft of your spleen does make you easier prey to infections later in life. The younger the age at removal, the greater the likelihood of infection becomes.

All the many readers out there who for whatever reason have no spleen need not panic. They just should use available measures to assure adequate infection protection — as with the anti-pneumococcus vaccine, for example. That pneumonia germ really can play havoc in the spleen's absence, but all infections need to be addressed quickly.

Your son's case makes me nervous. I have no clue to explain his periodic temperature rises, or whether his spleenless state is involved. But thermometer readings of 104 should be investigated.

Be sure your son sees a doctor, who might want your son to visit an infectious-disease specialist, who would order a battery of tests.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: As an infant, I had pyloric stenosis. I had surgery for it at 1 month. I am 35 years old now and am 5 feet, 5 inches tall. I weigh only 110, which I have weighed since I was 16. My son also had pyloric stenosis. He is now an adult and is 5 feet, 9 inches tall and weighs 130. We both eat anything we want and in any quantities, especially fattening foods such as chocolate, cheesecake, Fritos and junk food. Do we just have naturally high metabolisms, or is all this somehow related to the pyloric stenosis? —Mrs. N.H.H.

ANSWER: You have naturally high metabolisms. You both burn calories at higher rates than other people. It has nothing to do with your history of pyloric stenosis.

I should explain that pyloric stenosis is enlargement of the stomach's gateway muscle, the pyloric orifice. Food cannot enter the rest of the digestive tract.

Pyloric stenosis is a fairly common infant problem, usually noticed in the second to sixth week of life. A principal sign becomes regurgitation, often in a forceful stream.

Many readers probably envy your apparently immovable weight-height status.

For tips on nutrition, see the Health Letter report on diet balance. To order, write: Dr. Donohue — SR90, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539. Enclose $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (55 cents) No. 10 envelope.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My mom, 80, rarely uses her air conditioner, even when her thermometer reads 80. She says she doesn't feel hot. Is this dangerous? —S.F.

ANSWER: Air conditioning apparently makes many elderly people uncomfortable. Their bodies might not generate sufficient heat to combat a lower house temperature — perhaps because of the loss of muscle tissue that comes with age.

BAND

Lubbock on Saturday. That contest included 12 schools from the Amarillo, Lubbock, Odessa and El Paso areas. The bands, listed by region, were: Amarillo -- Hereford, Canyon, Dumas and Borger. Lubbock -- Frenship, Lamesa, Snyder and Levelland. Permian Basin -- Monahans, Ft. Stockton and Pecos.

El Paso -- El Paso Parkland. Summersgill said this was the first time an El Paso team had made the area contest "in a long time." The 12 bands took turns strutting their stuff on the field of Jones Stadium on the campus of Texas Tech University. Summersgill said there are no subjective judging criteria for bands in competition, so the five judges base their decisions on personal preferences. Some, he said, prefer traditional marching routines, while others rank more exotic displays higher. "It's kind of like judging apples and oranges." When the dust had cleared, Monahans and Canyon had claimed the top two spots. Summersgill said the two bands tied, but based on tie-break rules, Monahans was awarded the top spot. Alternate to the Nov. 6 competition in Austin is Frenship, which placed third. Fourth place went to Fort Stockton, with Hereford in fifth. The rest of the field, in order, was: Lamesa, Snyder, Dumas, Levelland, Pecos, Borger and El Paso Parkland. "At this level, a lot of it comes from what the judge likes, the impression they get from your show and the minor details," Summersgill said, adding that he feels like it was those minor details -- some phasing and line problems -- that hurt the Hereford scores. Monahans has been to state competition before, but this is Canyon's first year back in 4A competition after spending years as a 3A school. Summersgill said he told his band they had nothing to be ashamed of from their fifth-place finish. "This is a strong band area," he said, noting that bands at all classes are tough competition. "I think our show was high-impact," he said.

"Since we made a I in marching, we have a chance for a sweepstakes" award, Summersgill said. The band takes part in concert and sightreading contests in late April 1996. If the band scores a Division I in both those contests, it will claim a Sweepstakes prize. "Our season is only one-third over when we finish marching," he said. In addition, individual students compete in solo and ensemble competition in February 1996, with small group and individual honors at stake.

Members of the Hereford High School Mighty Maroon Band strut their stuff on the field of Jones Stadium in Lubbock on Saturday during their performance in the Class 4A, Area A marching competition. The band's show was based on "West

Director puts Div. 1 streak in perspective

Don Summersgill, director of the HHS Mighty Maroon Band, put the marching unit's 35-year streak of Division I rankings in Region 1-4A competition in perspective.

"The last time this band made a II, I wasn't even born. When they started the streak, I was 9 months old."

That was in 1961, when the band was directed by Ben Gollehon.

Since then, the marching band has scored a Division I -- the highest ranking possible in band competition -- every year, making it one of the longest such streaks in the region.

Plainview, Summersgill said, has sustained its streak for 58 years.

Earlier this month, when the Mighty Maroon Band traveled to Borger to face the rest of Region 1-4A, members of the band were acutely aware of the history they faced.

In fact, said Summersgill, there are several players in this year's marching band who had parents participate in band earlier in the streak.

While Hereford was able to keep its streak alive on the shoulders of a strong performance of the "West Side Story" show, Summersgill said another area school was not so lucky.

Pampa High School entered the Oct. 21 Region 1-4A contest with a 24-year Division I streak on the line, only to see their dreams crash to the ground with a Division II ranking by the judges.

Summersgill said he imagined what it would be like to lose such a long streak by visualizing the Pampa band in maroon uniforms.

The only streak in the area known to be longer than Hereford's, Summersgill said, is the incredible 58-year effort by Plainview High School, which has not scored a Division II since the mid-1930s.

When the Hereford High School band last scored a Division II ranking, it was the fall of 1960.

The next year, director Gollehon led his band to a top ranking and the streak began.

Since then, it has continued through the years, undaunted by graduation of players or turnover among directors.

After Gollehon left, he was replaced by Randy Vaughn, who was followed by Johnny Martinez and James Maclasky before Summersgill took the helm a few years ago.

This year, Summersgill said, the band entered the regional competition full of the knowledge of the streak, aware of "a lot of pressure, lot of responsibility" that was on their heads.

And, for the 35th time in as many years, they rose to the occasion and walked home with that prestigious Division I ranking.

The greatest reported depths to which roots have penetrated is an estimated 400 feet for a wild fig tree in South Africa.
