Daniels named top citizen

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Margie Daniels was named the 1988 Citizen of the Year at the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Banquet held Thursday at the Bull Barn in Hereford.

Daniels, director of the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, was honored for her efforts the center from two rooms at the old Central School to a modern center recognized as one of the finest facilities of its type in the Southwestern U.S.

David Ruland of the Hereford Lions club made the presentation. The Lions have presented the award each year since 1947.

Daniels was born outside Hooker, Okla., and moved with her family to Amarillo in 1963, where they lived for five years.

While living there, she slipped on some ice and suffered a severely broken ankle, and during her recovery she developed nephritis, a degenerative kidney infection, and a heart condition.

"The prognosis was not good," Ruland said. "doctors said that if she was to live, it would be in bed for the rest of her life. Those of you who know (Margie) are aware of her close working relationship with God. Well, this relationship with God grew during this low point in her life. Our honoree decided that God must have more in store for her than just lying around, that if she was going to die it would be while she was doing something, serving others."

In 1968, the family moved to Panhandle, where she worked at Garretson's Retirement Center. After a short time, she became the administrator, where she began plans for future expansion of the Center. Those plans were cut short, though, when the Daniels moved to Hereford in 1978.

Shortly after settling here, she took the director's position of the fledgling Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

When she began, the association had just over 200 members that met in the old Central School for dominoes and quilting. Sandwiches were brought from homes, then later were delivered from the Hereford High School cafeteria.

As the association grew, Daniels led an effort to renovate the old school's cafeteria and part of the gym to begin the first hot food service.

Word of the food service grew, and soon Daniels headed home delivery of hot meals.

The center's membership, services and dreams increased, so Daniels began planning for the future. She helped develop a five-year plan that included a new building.

The plan took six years to reach fruition, but the new Senior Center opened, debt-free, in March 1985, and has a present membership of over 1,000 persons.

Daniels has also worked with realtors and builders in planning the La Plata and Arbor Glen apartment complexes, housing designed for seniors.

Daniels' work has not been confined to the Senior Center. She also serves on the board of directors of Panhandle Health System, Hereford Community Hospice, Hereford Health and Human Services Advisory Committee, Alzheimer's Support Group, the regional and state Health Developing Committee, and the Advisory Council of Deaf Smith General Hospital Home Health Care Agency. She was appointed by the governor to the State Health Coordinating Council.

"I can't accept all of the credit for this," Daniels said upon accepting the award. "If it had not been for many people, seniors, the whole community, what has been done would have never been."

Lee to head chamber

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Rocky Lee accepted the gavel as the new president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce at Thursday's annual banquet at the Bull Barn in Hereford.

Lee will take over the president's role from 1988 president Larry Malamen, who reviewed the past year's work and accomplishments.

"About a year ago we set some goals, and we have had a very successful year," Malamen said. "Some of those goals have been realized, some are in the works, and some will be realized in the future."

Malamen said that any success must include an idea, action and perseverance.

"I have had an idea and taken action many times, but I have never had an idea that worked the first time," Malamen said, "and I'm still looking for new ideas."

"It also takes enthusiasm to make ideas work. No one keeps up their enthusiasm automatically, and it's our own fault if our enthusiasm is gone."

Malamen's year saw the chamber very involved in industrial development. "Industrial development is like a fishing trip, and you hear a lot about the big one that got away," Malamen said. "We have worked a lot with some small-to-average-sized fish in our local lakes."

Malamen also worked during the year on human relations, and will head a human relations committee during 1989. He said human relations includes "people reacting with people, and people helping people. It's That simple, but it's also that difficult."

"I see Deaf Smith County going ahead very positively into the future."

Lee said the job as chamber president "is the highest honor I would ever want because the community I love has let me be president of the Chamber of Commerce."

Lee repeated the banquet theme, "We Can Do That," four times, each time placing the emphasis on a different word. "It sounds corny, but it's easy to remember," Lee said. "We are on the bright threshold of a great future in Deaf Smith County."

Lee said the groundwork had been laid for industrial expansion and growth from working together in 1988 and the recent "meshing" of the chamber's industrial development committee and the Economic Development Commission under the leadership of Bud Eades.

Lee committed the chamber's help to not only try to attract new industry but to give assistance to existing firms wishing to expand.

Lee also praised the efforts of the Hereford Learning Center that now has 1,200 people participating in continuing and extra education, including 250 persons in English as a Second Language classes and 46 people, including one student over 60 that have obtained a general Equivalency Degree through the HLC.

Lee to head chamber
Rocky Lee officially began his year as chamber president at Thursday's chamber banquet. Lee expanded on the banquet's theme, "We Can Do That."

Says Hereford is 'On the bright threshold'

"Through the Hereford Learning Center we can have an impact on all of Deaf Smith County and break some bonds that we don't like," Lee said.

Lee said the chamber would also try to improve the amount of earned income that is spent in Hereford businesses, and urged non-members to join the chamber.

"We are all in this together," Lee said. "Through the chamber we can make this a better place to live and work. We want your ideas, and we want to work together."

Lee recognized the 1989 chamber board of directors, including Malamen, Doug Josserrand, Carol Sue LeGate, David Emerick, Ike Stevens, Temple Abney, Berta Ottesen, Carol Gerk, Scott Keeling, Bobby Moore, Pat Robbins and women's division president Donna West.

Malamen recognized retiring directors Lajean Henry, B.J. Gilliland, Allen Parsons, Fred Rivera, Mike Bowles and Sue Malamen.

Josserrand, 1989 vice president, recognized the year's committee chairmen, including Lewis Block agribusiness; John Stagner and Charlie Bell, fun breakfasts; Ken McLain, retail business; Sharon Pennington, health and safety; Larry Malamen, human relations; Speedy Nieman, Hereford Hustlers; Bud Eades, industrial development; Marilyn Culpepper, Leadership Hereford; Jeryl Baker, legislative affairs and transportation; James Self, sports; and Allen Parsons, tourism.

Seven citations were issued.

Bush unveils new budget plan

The Bush Budget
Here are the major points of President Bush's budget plan:
Total: $1.16 trillion
Deficit: $91.1 billion
Medicare: $5 billion cut in program
Defense: Trims $2.6 billion from President Reagan's recommendations; reinforces Star Wars plans
War on drugs: Increase of $1 billion
Taxes: No new ones; $3,000 deduction to persons who adopt a child

WASHINGTON (AP)--The Democratic-controlled Congress began adjusting to life under a new Republican administration today after receiving President Bush's call for no new taxes, increases in scattered domestic programs and an offer to "work day and night" to tackle the deficit.

"The people didn't send us here to bicker," the new president said Thursday night in a nationally televised speech before a joint session of the House and Senate. "It's time to govern."

Initial Democratic reaction to the new president and his $1.16 trillion budget was cordial but wary, Republicans cheered when he renewed his campaign call for a cut in capital gains taxes. Most Democrats sat silently in their seats.

Fights also are likely over Bush's proposed $5 billion cut in the Medicare insurance program for the elderly, and his renewed commitment to the Star Wars missile defense program.

Democrats promised cooperation, and left it at that.

"That does not mean obedience. It does mean our honest help and our very best advice," said Speaker Jim Wright of Texas, who presides over a House with a 261-175 Democratic majority.

Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole termed the president's budget blueprint "not the final answer, it's the starting point." He added, "Congress can swat it away or it can grasp the president's hand in the true spirit of cooperation."

The Bush budget envisions a deficit of $91.1 billion, beneath the $100 billion mandated in the federal anti-deficit law. But Bush's deficit figure is predicated on rosy economic assumptions carried over from the Reagan administration, assumptions of continued strong growth that many economists question.

The president's speech was not a State of the Union address in the literal sense. But it served as one, from the pageantry of a House chamber filled with lawmakers, the diplomatic corps, Supreme Court Justices and hundreds of guests, to the breadth of his remarks.

"We Americans have only begun our mission of goodness and greatness," he concluded.

Bush said he would "proceed with caution" in his dealings with the Soviet Union, but said, "We will not miss any opportunity for peace." He vowed to work for the elimination of chemical weapons and said he would "stand firm" for democracy in Nicaragua and elsewhere in Central America.

The new president called for trimming $2.6 billion from President Reagan's final Pentagon budget, adding a few programs for education, aid to the homeless and the environment, all areas that fit in his campaign promise of a "kinder, gentler nation."

However, his overall education budget would fail to keep up with inflation, and his child-care credit is limited to only the poorest of families, those making $10,000 a year or less.

He urged enactment of measures to revitalize inner cities, declared a fiercer war on drugs and took a pace from Jesse Jackson's campaign text when he said to kids living in the inner cities: "Keep hope alive."

Bush's Pentagon spending plan calls for an increase next year that would allow spending to rise with inflation but no higher. "After that increases above inflation will be required," he said.

In their immediate post-mortems on Thursday night, Republicans and Democrats alike predicted that Bush's spending blueprint would pave the way for negotiations with Congress.

"The Bush budget is a tough one giving first priority to deficit reduction," Rep. Bill Frenzel of Minnesota, senior Republican on the House Budget Committee said. "It will be subject to lots of negotiation, but it is an important step toward a deficit solution."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, who joined Wright in delivering the official Democratic response, said his party will work with the president. "That doesn't mean we won't disagree. There'll be some sharp, principled disagreements among Democrats and Republicans over one of the greatest challenges America has ever faced," he said.

When it came to the budget, Bush did not claim to have the final solution. He said he and his team "are ready to work with the Congress, to form a special leadership group, to negotiate in good faith, to work day and night, if that's what it takes."

There were discouraging words for the president from Democrats who vowed to fight any cuts in Medicare.

Republican field growing for race

AUSTIN (AP) — Their big field of potential 1990 gubernatorial candidates is a big deal for the Texas GOP, Republican leaders say.

"Every one of them is in the position to make a serious race for governor. It's an unbelievably positive sign," said state Republican chairman Fred Meyer.

"We're still No. 2 and have to try harder. But things have escalated along at a really breakneck speed as far as the development of our party is concerned," added former GOP chairman George Strake.

Gov. Bill Clements, the only Texas Republican governor this century, has said he won't seek re-election. Clements, a Dallas oilman, cracked the Democrats' 100-year lock on the Governor's Mansion in 1978, lost the job in 1982 and won it back in 1986.

His pending retirement cleared the way for a wide-open primary battle that is drawing the attention of some big guns.

The list so far:

- George W. Bush, the president's son and a Dallas businessman.
- Jack Rains, Clements' appointee as secretary of state and former executive of a Houston engineering firm.
- Kent Hance, former Democratic congressman and now the first Republican ever elected to the Texas Railroad Commission.
- T. Boone Pickens, Amarillo oilman with a reputation as a corporate raider.
- Clayton Williams, a Midland oilman and founder of a long-distance phone company.

"I've chatted with most of them. I think they're all looking seriously at it. My guess is, when it gets to the (January) filing deadline, there'll be two or three of them in the race," Meyer said.

On the Democratic side, two current officeholders are readying gubernatorial bids — Attorney General Jim Mattox and Treasurer Ann Richards.

Meyer and Strake say their party's gubernatorial field shows the progress the GOP has made in recent years.

Strake noted that fewer than 25,000 people voted in the Texas Republican primary in 1960, and he said breakthroughs came at the rate of about one a decade until the 1980s. The 1988 primary turnout topped 1 million.

"In order of development, (Dwight) Eisenhower carried Texas in 1952, John Tower won the (U.S) Senate seat in 1961, and Clements won the governorship in 1978," he said.

"But the big breakthrough was winning those statewide, down-ballot races last year," Strake added, referring to GOP candidates who captured a Railroad Commission seat and three Texas Supreme Court seats for the party's biggest gains ever in statewide offices.

Meyer, who took over the GOP reins from Strake last summer, said he believes the number of Republicans looking at the governor's race signals widespread interest in most major statewide offices.

Helping fuel that interest is the biggest turnover in top jobs in years.

Democratic Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, first elected in 1972, is stepping down. Democratic Comptroller Bob Bullock, first elected in 1974, is running for lieutenant governor. Mattox and Ms. Richards, both in their second terms, must vacate their offices to run for governor, and Democratic Land Commissioner Garry Mauro is rumored to be looking at other races. Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower is the lone Democratic incumbent to announce for re-election.

"I very much expect to have a full slate of candidates. We will probably have a contested primary for every one of those statewide offices, except where we have incumbents," Meyer said.

Thanks, Larry

Texans praise Bush's bipartisan tone but not sure there's enough money to make good on promises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas congressmen say they support President Bush's ambitious agenda but aren't sure he will have enough money to make good on all his promises.

"If he can pass these new domestic programs, reduce the national debt, balance the budget and no new taxes, he'll be a miracle president," said Rep. Jake Pickle, an Austin Democrat.

"It was an excellent Democratic Party speech," Pickle said of Bush's first speech to Congress Thursday night. "He sounded like a good Democrat."

Pickle praised the Republican president's proposals but "like a lot of us Democrats, he didn't tell us where he was going to get the money."

While Bush decreed there would be $80 billion in new revenue, Pickle, a senior member on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he doesn't know where it's coming from.

"He can't declare he'll have all this money to spend and find it in the cupboard," Pickle said.

Rep. Charlie Stenholm, a Stamford Democrat, said he's not convinced Bush "didn't spend that $80 billion twice."

Stenholm called Bush's proposals "a bipartisan challenge" and said the president "set the stage for a true bipartisan effort to solve some of these problems."

"It was a very impressive blueprint. He detailed the terms of a kinder and gentler nation, tempered it with a great deal of common sense, and put some meat on the skeleton," said Rep. Steve Bartlett, a Dallas Republican.

Bartlett said he liked Bush's child care proposal, merit schools, presidential teacher awards, research and development tax credit, the capital gains differential and employment opportunities for disabled people.

But Rep. Jim Chapman, a Sulphur

Spings Democrat, said he was disappointed the president discussed Puerto Rican statehood but not the domestic energy industry, although he did propose tax incentives in his budget.

"I hope that is not a lack of commitment to issues critical to his state and mine. Yet he felt compelled to talk about a referendum of statehood for Puerto Rico," Chapman said.

Chapman said he would have preferred to see more substantive initiatives in education than "handing out government awards."

Famous beer joint closes

AUSTIN (AP) — A landmark watering hole for politicians, journalists and lobbyists has closed its doors, but the doors had barely closed when it was revealed that an attempt will be made to open the famed Scholz Garden again.

Jim Cloudt, an attorney representing owners of the property, said Wednesday there have been talks with potential investors, hoping they will take over Beer Garten's lease and continue to operate Scholz.

The potential investors include Larry Bales, a former operator of the restaurant.

The building is owned by Austin

Saengrurrunde, an organization of about 300 people dedicated to preserving German language and traditions.

"We hope it can be reopened as quickly as possible," he said.

Scholz Garden, located just blocks from the state Capitol, was closed after a federal bankruptcy court hearing.

"There have been a lot of tears," said Michael Osborne, the owner and operator of the famous meeting place.

"I have 35 staff people walking around kind of bewildered," he said. Osborne, who has owned the restaurant and beer garden for the past two years, said the place has been making money, but the Saengrurrunde has increased rent on the property fivefold since 1980.

The investors in Beer Garten Inc. spent $500,000 in 1987 to renovate the building. They gutted walls, installed skylights, spruced up the decor and expanded the menu.

Osborne, president of Beer Garten Inc. said that although the partners were able to raise the cash to finance the renovation, operating revenues fell short of expectations and were insufficient to meet the rent charged by Saengrurrunde.

Bush affirms support for Super Collider

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush has asked Congress to spend $206 million to begin construction of the super collider, saying it will produce discoveries that could touch every American.

In his budget released Thursday, Bush said the super collider is critical to strengthening the nation's position as a world leader in science and technology.

"The SSC holds the potential for new breakthroughs in science, technology and education. It will produce discoveries, innovations and spin-offs that could touch profoundly every American," the budget said.

Bush estimated the total cost of building the SSC at $5.9 billion, and is seeking actual spending of $206 million, although he recommends the program be allowed to spend up to $250 million in fiscal year 1990 if the additional money is available.

"The SSC will provide the capability for the U.S. to remain the world's leader in the field of high energy physics well into the next century," the budget said.

Senator among 53 who kept $100,000 or more in speaking fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Phil Gramm of Texas kept more than $100,000 in honoraria fees for personal use from 1983 through 1987, according to a study by the public advocacy group Common Cause.

Common Cause said Gramm was among 53 senators who earned and kept in excess of $100,000 during the five-year period.

Gramm, a Republican, ranked 47th out of the 53 members in Common Cause's "$100,000 Senate Honoraria Club" by collecting $110,215 in fees for speeches and appearances before special interest groups.

"Honoraria fees have become a special interest annuity for many members of the Senate. That is fundamentally unacceptable," said Fred Wertheimer, president of Common Cause, in calling on Congress to move quickly to ban honoraria.

"Common Cause supports increases in pay for members of Congress and other top-level government officials. Common Cause has also said that regardless of what happens on the salary issue, the totally discredited honoraria fee system must be ended immediately," Wertheimer said.

Under current law, senators are allowed to keep up to 40 percent of their Senate salary in fees for appearances, speeches and articles, while House members can keep up to 30 percent. Members of Congress may receive fees above the limit if the money is donated to charity.

Common Cause had backed a 51 percent pay raise for Congress that leaders said would be coupled with a ban on honoraria. But Congress voted down the raise Tuesday and now House Speaker Jim Wright says reforms on honoraria will not be considered anytime soon.

Gramm said Common Cause "prefers to deal solely with taxpayers' money" when it comes to paying congressmen and senators, while he prefers letting members earn limited income from "the free enterprise system."

"I receive 15 or 20 invitations a day to give speeches and lectures. I pick and chose those that allow me to promote the interests of Texas and programs I need the public's involvement in," Gramm said.

The state's senior senator, Democrat Lloyd Bentsen, does not accept honoraria.

Members of Congress may accept for personal use honoraria of no more than $2,000 per single appearance or article, but money received in excess of the limit can be given to charity. But the law does not limit the number of honoraria members may receive from a single organization for multiple appearances, speeches or articles, Common Cause said.

Common Cause based its findings on the senators' public financial disclosure statements. Gramm's total includes honoraria he collected as a member of the House in 1983 and 1984. He was elected to the Senate in 1984.

Students recognized

Several students at the Nazarene Christian Academy received certificates Friday citing their efforts in different school subjects. Youngsters in all six grades received certificates presented by McDonald's Restaurant manager Yolanda Valdez since the restaurant and school are united in the Adopt-a-School program. First graders and the subjects they excelled in were, top photo from left, Melissa Reyna, arithmetic; Riley Hall, reading; Valdez; Steven Burnett, self-discipline; and Kurtis Flood, Christian attitude. Second graders recognized were, bottom photo from left, Noel Merrick, reading; Valdez; April Whitehorn, self-discipline; and Lisa Huckert, Christian attitude while Jacob Moreno, not picture, excelled in arithmetic. The youngsters' teachers are Mrs. Peggy Behrendson and Miss Kerri Sanders, respectively.

NCA, McDonald's cite top students

The Nazarene Christian Academy is participating in the Adopt-a-School program sponsored by McDonald's Restaurant and awards were presented to students Friday morning.

Yolanda Valdez, manager of the local McDonald's, gave awards to students in each of the six grades for their outstanding achievement in a particular subject or curriculum. The awards were given to four students from each grade, citing efforts in arithmetic, reading, self-discipline, and Christian attitude.

First graders, taught by Peggy Behrendson, and the subjects for which they were recognized were Melissa Reyna, arithmetic; Riley Hall, reading; Steven Burnett, self-discipline; and Kurtis Flood, Christian attitude.

Second graders, taught by Kerri Sanders, included Jacob Moreno, arithmetic; Noel Merrick, reading; April Whitehorn, self-discipline; and Lisa Huckert, Christian attitude.

Third graders, taught by Patti Hill, were Zack Wall, arithmetic; Shawndi Hall, reading; Jill Paetzold, self-discipline; and Kyle Flood, Christian attitude.

Fourth graders, taught by Libby Huffaker, were Cory Schumacher, arithmetic; Jason Jesko, reading; Stephanie Bixler, self-discipline; and Christopher Torres, Christian attitude.

Fifth graders, taught by Lynn Carlyle, were Jacklyn Lemons, arithmetic; Brack Bryant, reading; Tye Nall, self-discipline; and Glen Loews, Christian attitude.

Sixth graders, taught by Jena Rawley-Whitaker, were Brooke Bryant, arithmetic; Shaun Lance, reading; Natalie Andrews, self-discipline; and Jessica Sorenson, Christian attitude.

Preparations are underway by the school to host Teacher Appreciation Week Feb. 13-17 with a special teacher appreciation luncheon set for Wednesday, Feb. 15. The NCA Parent-Teacher Fellowship will host the luncheon at the school.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Add Mychal Thompson to the list of Magic Johnson fans.

Thompson, a teammate of Johnson on the Lakers and a long-time NBA performer, says the greatest thing about Johnson is that he's a winner.

"Ask me what position he plays," Thompson said, "and I'll answer all of them. Magic shoots and passes, runs and rebounds and plays defense. But what he does best is win. As long as the Lakers have Magic they will be winners."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read something in the New York Times recently that made me see my problem in a different light. I hope all parents who have overweight children will pay attention.

Dr. Kathie Jacobson, a psychologist at the Teenage Medical Service in Minneapolis, said the No. 1 mistake parents make when they have overweight kids is to focus on the child's weight. "The message is, 'I don't love you the way you are. You'll have to change for me to love you.'"

It was pointed out that paying attention to other assets, such as intelligence and accomplishments, will make it much easier for a child to lose weight. Weight loss is a slow process that often takes six months or longer. This is an unbearably long time for a youngster. If the first thing you ask your child when he or she comes home from a party is "What did you eat?" you're on the wrong track. And saying things like "You'd be so pretty if you were only thinner" may be meant as a compliment, but it is devastating to a child's self-esteem.

That article really woke me up, Ann. I want to share what I have learned. Please print my letter.--Manhattan Mother

DEAR M.M.: Gladly, because I know that overweight children need special handling. Often they eat too much to compensate for things in their life that are lacking. Following the suggestions in the article could make a big difference.

I hope the people who need to see this will take it seriously. Fat kids who grow up to be fat adults find it almost impossible to slim down.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Those of us who have pacemakers are instructed by our doctors not to go through metal detectors in airports because the pacemaker can be damaged. We are supposed to notify the attendant, and he or she will escort us around the metal detector.

You would not believe the way I have been treated by some attendants. They have raised my arms and searched me from head to toe as if I were a criminal. The passengers who get on the same plane with me stare as if I were a suspected hijacker.

Please address this problem in the column.--Orange, Calif.

DEAR ORANGE: Most airport personnel are extremely courteous and accommodating. In order to check passengers for guns and knives, a complete frisking is necessary if the metal detector is not used. Be grateful they are so thorough.

DEAR READERS: We hear so much about man's inhumanity to man that it's a joy to read about somebody who went out of his way to be kind to a stranger. This letter brightened my day and I hope it brightens yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It was my first trip to New York. I was traveling alone in a gray Ford van with Michigan plates. I came across the George Washington Bridge looking for the Long Island Expressway.

Traffic was getting heavy and I was getting panicky. I asked a young man to my left if I was on the right road and he said, "Yes, just follow the signs." I couldn't see the signs and my heart began to pound.

After about 10 minutes he appeared again and said, "Follow me." That dear man led me to the Long Island Expressway and waved goodby.

He was my guardian angel. I don't think I would have made it without him. I hope he reads your column.--M.L. In Michigan

Michigan clips Iowa, 108-107

By The Associated Press

If you're playing Michigan and the Wolverines have 99 points, pull the plug. Turn out the lights. You don't have a chance.

The 10th-ranked Wolverines' 108-107 double overtime victory over No. 8 Iowa on Thursday night was their 50th in as many games when they went over 100 points. Fifty and oh.

The latest high-scoring victory came as Loy Vaught scored Michigan's final six points, including the game-winning layup with two seconds to play. The heroics came after Michigan blew an 18-point lead over the final 9 1/2 minutes of regulation.

"You can say we blew the lead, but I'm going to tell you, Iowa is relentless," Michigan coach Bill Frieder said.

In other games involving Top Twenty teams, No. 1 Arizona beat Oregon 78-57, No. 5 Oklahoma downed No. 3 Missouri 112-105, No. 17 North Carolina State defeated No. 6 North Carolina 98-88, No. 7 Illinois held off No. 16 Ohio State 62-60, No. 13 Indiana cruised past Northwestern 72-56, No. 15 West Virginia extended the nation's longest winning streak to 17 games with an 81-73 victory over Marshall, No. 18 Stanford beat Washington State 65-53 and Fullerton State defeated No. 19 Nevada-Las Vegas 93-92 in overtime.

Glen Rice led Michigan, 18-4 overall and 6-3 in the Big Ten, with 24 points, while Sean Higgins scored 22, including three 3-pointers in the first overtime.

Senior Roy Marble led Iowa with a career-high 32 points after going 1-for-7 and scoring only two points in the first half.

No. 1 Arizona 78, Oregon 57

Arizona was forced to find another source for points when the Ducks held its all-time leading scorer, Sean Elliott, to just 10 points. The Wildcats, 18-2 overall and 12-1 in the Pac-10, led 39-33 at halftime when Matt Muehlebach scored the first eight points of the second half and the rout was on.

Anthony Cook led Arizona with 20 points, while Frank Johnson, Richard Lucas and Keith Reynolds led the Ducks, 8-13 and 3-8, with 12 points each.

No. 5 Oklahoma 112, No. 3 Missouri 105

It was impressive Missouri even stayed close considering Tigers coach Norm Stewart was hospitalized after blacking out on the team flight earlier in the day. He was suffering from a bleeding ulcer and fatigue. Six-year assistant Rich Daly had little time for his head coaching debut against the Sooners at home, who had won 24 in a row and 88 of 90 at Lloyd Noble Center, which was filled with a record crowd of 11,734.

Not only did Missouri stay close, the Tigers, 20-4, led 21-5 five minutes into the game. The Sooners, 20-3, settled down and eventually rode Stacey King's 32 points, including a three-point play with 55 seconds left, to earn a tie for first in the Big Eight at 6-1 with Missouri, which had an 11-game winning streak snapped.

Byron Irvin led Missouri with 22 points. No. 17 N. Carolina St. 98, No. 6 N. Carolina 88

The Wolfpack, 15-4, rallied from another surge of adverse publicity for the victory that gave them sole possession of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference at 6-2, a game in front of the Tar Heels.

Earlier in the week, published reports surfaced that 10 of the 12 members of the current team were not in good academic standing with the school. Last month word spread of a book to be published which would reveal allegations of wrongdoing in coach Jim Valvano's program.

Chucky Brown scored a career-high 29 points to lead five Wolfpack players in double figures.

No. 7 Illinois 62, No. 16 Ohio St. 60

Illinois' Steve Bardo held Jay Burson under 10 points for the first time in 34 games and the Buckeyes missed a couple of chances for a tie in the final seconds. Illinois improved to 19-3 overall and remained tied for second in the Big Ten at 6-3, 2 1/2 games behind Indiana.

Burson, who entered the game averaging 20 points, made just three of 11 shots from the field and finished with nine points.

Nick Anderson's 22 points led the Fighting Illini.

No. 13 Indiana 72, Northwestern 56

Jay Edwards scored 18 of his 24 points on 3-pointers as the Hoosiers won for the 16th time in 17 games and remained 2 1/2 games in front in the Big Ten race at 9-1.

Indiana, 19-5, broke from a 35-35 tie with a 10-0 run that was started by freshman Eric Anderson, who also had 24 points. Freshman Evan Pedersen led Northwestern, 8-12 and 1-9, with 18 points.

No. 15 W. Virginia 81, Marshall 73

The Mountaineers extended the nation's longest winning streak to 17 games but they weren't impressive in putting away their intrastate rival. Ten straight points by Marshall, 10-11, cut West Virginia's lead to 49-46. But Darryl Prue, who finished with 22 points, scored six of them in the Mountaineer's 11-0 run that pushed the lead to 60-46. The Thundering Herd was led by John Taft's 24 points.

No. 18 Stanford 65, Washington St. 53

An 11-1 run keyed by defensive specialist Bryan McSweeney led the Cardinal to the home victory. Stanford, 18-5 and 9-3, led 49-46 with 5:05 remaining when McSweeney made three big plays in the run that kept the Cardinal two games behind Arizona in the Pac-10 Conference.

Fullerton St. 93, No. 19 Nev.-Las Vegas 92

Wayne Williams nailed a 25-foot 3-pointer at the buzzer in overtime to give the Titans their first victory over the Runnin' Rebels in 15 games and nearly six years.

Williams' winning shot came after Nevada-Las Vegas' Stacey Augmon made one of two free throws with four seconds left. The Runnin' Rebels have lost three of their last four games to fall to 15-6 overall and 10-2 in the conference.

The Titans, 10-10 and 5-6, needed another 3-pointer — the first of senior forward Derek Jones' career — with five seconds left in regulation for the 83-83 tie that forced the extra five-minute session.

Cedric Ceballos led Fullerton State with 26 points, while David Butler's 28 topped the Runnin' Rebels.

McCracken signs ENMU grid letter

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Roger McCracken, a two-way starter for the Hereford Whitefaces football team in 1988, signed a letter of intent on Thursday to play football at Eastern New Mexico University.

McCracken, 6-4, 250, started in 10 games for the Herd at tight end and at defensive end for the area champion Herd.

McCracken had been weighing several college offers before settling on Eastern on Wednesday night, according to Hereford coach Don Cumption.

He becomes the fifth Hereford griddier to sign a college letter of intent. On Wednesday, the first day players could sign, Brad Smith signed with Texas Tech; Keith Brown inked with Central (Okla.) State; and Pat Mercer and Clint Cotten signed on with West Texas State.

All but Smith could wind up playing against the others in college. West Texas, Central and Eastern are all members of the Lone Star Conference. Tech is in the Southwest Conference.

Baylor cager quits, criticizes coaching

WACO, Texas (AP) — Donnell Hayden has announced his intentions to leave the Baylor basketball team, one day after he and another player said Coach Gene Iba scheduled a late-night practice after the team returned home from a 30-point loss to Texas Christian.

Michael Hobbs also said Thursday he was leaving the team, but Baylor officials said Thursday night in a prepared statement that Hobbs was excused to return home to Houston because of an illness in his family.

Hayden and Hobbs, both junior guards, criticized Iba as a stubborn coach who does not know how to adjust his style to fit his players' talents.

"I would tell a player coming to Baylor that if he had patience and liked to play slow that this is the right place," said Hayden, who averages 12.7 points per game. Hobbs averages 9.8 points per game.

"I have to find another place to play that doesn't hamper my style," said Hayden.

Iba refused to comment, remaining in his office at the Ferrell Center into the night.

The team is 5-16 overall this season, 1-9 in the Southwest Conference.

Hayden and Hobbs said that after Wednesday's 75-45 loss at TCU, the players boarded the bus for the 90-mile ride to Waco without being allowed to shower or eat. They said they were driven to the Ferrell Center, where they practiced for at least an hour.

The players said the team ran for about 20 minutes before practicing, and then scrimmaged for a while before Iba told Hayden, Hobbs and forward Bert Brown to run some more.

Hayden and Hobbs said the three players were given 20 minutes to complete a set of "bleachers" — running up and down every aisle of the center. But the trio refused because of fatigue.

They said Iba told them they would be "off the team tomorrow."

Henning gets San Diego job

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Dan Henning, whose NFL resume shows nearly twice as many losses as victories, says the San Diego Chargers didn't pick a loser in hiring him as head coach.

"Obviously, the people that made the decision were able to get by that," Henning said Thursday after being announced as San Diego's new head coach.

"I have one goal left as a coach in this profession, and that's to win a Super Bowl as a head football coach. This is where I intend to do it."

Henning, who was signed to a five-year contract, compiled a 22-44-1 record at Atlanta from 1983 to 1986 in his only previous pro head-coaching experience.

His hiring as the eighth head coach in the Chargers' 29-year history ended a seven-week search for a successor to Al Saunders, fired after San Diego finished 6-10 last season.

"I know it's taken a lot longer than expected, but the right choice has been made," Chargers owner Alex Spanos said. "Dan Henning is our guy and he will be the man to take us all the way."

Henning, a backup Chargers quarterback in 1966, said his interviews with Spanos left no doubt about the San Diego organization's commitment to winning.

"Mr. Spanos has let me know in no uncertain terms that he wants to win the Super Bowl and that he's in this to compete, not participate," Henning said.

Henning, 46, an NFL coach for 14 years, comes to San Diego from Washington, where he worked with quarterbacks and receivers the past two seasons.

He was an assistant with the Redskins when they went to the Super Bowl following the 1982 and 1987 seasons. Chargers director of football operations Steve Ortmayer said that was a key factor in his hiring.

SWC recruiting grades posted

An AP Sports Analyst
By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

The exam is over and the papers have been graded. Baylor, Texas, and Arkansas made A's signing football recruits on Wednesday despite out-of-state raids from the likes of UCLA and Miami.

Signing day is the adult world's version of no-recruit, no-play in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

The Longhorns, Bears, and Razorbacks definitely recruited the kind of talent that can get you into post-season play.

Texas A&M and Houston fell into the middle ground high C area. The Aggies only had 16 scholarships to give because of NCAA probation and many recruits were scared off by the school's recent problems despite a new regime beginning under R.C. Slocum.

Houston faces the next several years without bowls and post-season play but coach Jack Pardee managed to land several talented players.

Texas Tech and Texas Christian were down in the low C area while Rice and Southern Methodist took a lot of chances on kids that can best be labeled as "prospects and projects."

The gradebook:

TEXAS: Grade A — The Longhorns loaded up on quality players like cornerback Grady Cavness, defensive end David Condon, defensive lineman Todd Yeaman, linebacker Kevin Watler and tight end Alan Webb. They missed out on all-world running back Robert Strait although Phil Brown of Commerce is a player. If Jimmy Saxon can play quarterback like his All-American dad did halfback, then the 'Horns could be OK at that position. It was very good recruiting day for coach David McWilliams, who has been feeling some alumni heat. He needed it.

BAYLOR: Grade A — Texas' loss in Ciero's Strait was coach Grant Teaff's gain. Teaff not only got Strait but he also hit the mother lode with offensive linemen like John Karkoska of Aldine, three — count 'em, three — quarterbacks, including J.J. Joe of Lamar, and a classy cornerback in Le'Shai Maston of Dallas Carter. Marcus Lowe, a former bluechip defensive lineman who once started at Oklahoma and ended up at Navarro JC, was a steal.

ARKANSAS: Grade A-Minus — Save for a game-breaking running back coach Ken Hatfield once again had a quality hall. Using a Cotton Bowl appearance as the foundation, Hatfield brought in some solid junior college players. He swept the state of Arkansas clean, getting eight players on The AP's Super Team. Hatfield didn't do that much damage in Texas although defensive lineman Tommy Jones of Dallas White ranks with the best in the nation.

TEXAS A&M: Grade C — Considering the circumstances, Slocum made some notable catches, including tight end Steve Seagraves of North Mesquite, defensive back Kenneth Norman of Sweetwater, defensive end Tyler Harrison of Arlington, defensive lineman Brad Cooper of Arlington and placekicking sensation Terry Venetoulis of Deer Park. "We got hammered over the NCAA thing but we still got some good players who stuck by us," Slocum said.

HOUSTON: Grade C — The Cougars got wide receiver Marcus Grant and defensive back Gary Edwards (he of algebra grade fame) from state champion Dallas Carter. They also signed wide receiver Zack Chatman of Beaumont Central and quarterback Darren Woods of Dallas Roosevelt who should help their run-and-shoot offense.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN: Grade D-Plus — Bluechip offensive lineman John English of Arlington was the most notable new Horned Frog. A mystery crop for a team that's going to a mystery offensive, the Triple Shoot. There's some good speed among the recruits and that's always a plus.

TEXAS TECH: Grade D-Minus — Coach Spike Dykes signed a lot of fringe prospects although defensive tackle Ron Seals, a first team Class 4A All-State lineman from Andrews, could play for anybody.

SOUTHERN METHODIST: Grade D — Coach Forrest Gregg's first fulltime recruiting class has a big question mark by it. The Mustangs cracked the state's top 100 prospects by signing running back Kevin Love of Cypress Creek. Tight end Greg Hill of Dallas Carter is also a good player.

RICE: Grade D — If SMU's class is a question mark, then new coach Fred Goldsmith's recruits are a double question mark. Goldsmith is proud of quarterbacks Greg Willig of La Mirada, Calif., and Charles Gubronson of Ridgely, W. Va. The Owls signed nine out of staters.

Jabbar gets last shot as All-Star

HOUSTON (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar is a member of his 19th NBA All-Star team, but it took an injury to Los Angeles Lakers teammate Magic Johnson to get him there.

Abdul-Jabbar, who will retire at the end of his unprecedented 20th season, was selected Thursday by NBA commissioner David J. Stern to replace Johnson on the Western Conference team.

"Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had received the next highest total of votes from the NBA coaches in their selection of the All-Star reserves," Stern said. "But, more importantly, his participation in one more All-Star game is a fitting tribute to his unequalled NBA career."

The 39th annual All-Star game will be played at the Astrodome on Sunday.

Abdul-Jabbar, who could not be reached for comment, missed the 1973 game because of an injury. He was not selected in 1978.

Church News

GREENWOOD BAPTIST CHURCH

(Greenwood and Moreman)

Greenwood Baptist Church will host Revival meetings from Sunday, Feb. 12 through Feb. 17 featuring Evangelist Jimmy Clark.

Meetings begin Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. and are scheduled Monday through Friday at 7:30 p.m. A nursery will be provided.

JIMMY CLARK

Evangelist Clark speaks at youth camps, churches, banquets, mission conferences, jails, and house-to-house.

He will preach from a variety of topics, including abortion, hell, homosexuality, suicide, heaven, death, liquor, gambling, rock music, salvation (new birth), teenagers, home life, America in crisis, humanism, sex education, and others.

Everyone is invited: for more information call the church at 364-3102.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

A Valentine banquet and variety show will be held today beginning at 7 p.m. in the church gym. The banquet includes barbecued beef, red beans, cole slaw, tea, and desserts.

The variety show will feature entertainment for the whole family. Price is $4; tickets can be purchased at the door and takeouts are welcome. A nursery will be provided. The event is sponsored by the MAD Youth.

Sunday services include two morning services. Early service begins at 8:30 a.m. and the second service starts at 10:30 a.m. Sunday school is held at 6 p.m.

There will be a pot-luck dinner after the Sunday morning services at the home of Joan Love, 129 Ranger.

A Spanish radio program is held Thursdays from 6-6:30 p.m. on KPAN radio.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Valentine Banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the fellowship hall. Bruce Ayers will provide entertainment.

The 1989 Home Mission Study will feature "Many People, One Mission" in Kinsey Parlor Feb. 22 at 9:30 a.m. All adults are welcome to share in this celebration of "People drawn together by the missionary purpose of God."

A business meeting will be held Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Immanuel Lutheran Church will be having Lenten vespers Wednesday evening during Lent with services set at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday. The title of next Wednesday's sermon is "Patience from the Passion of Christ."

Sunday School is set for 10 a.m. and morning worship is at 11 a.m. Sunday's sermon will be "Not the Last Temptation of Christ."

The church-wide garage sale which was scheduled for next Sunday has been postponed until a later date.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The season of Lent will bring a variety of activities in First United Methodist church, starting with Mission Awareness Weekend when two former missionaries will assist with services Saturday and Sunday.

First will be a church-wide supper at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, prepared by San Pablo UMC members, followed by a slide presentation and talk on his experiences during eight years as an agricultural missionary in Nigeria by Rev. Bill Fitzgerald, who is now on home assignment with headquarters in Abilene.

He will speak again to children from kindergarten through sixth grade, at Sunday School, then will be the speaker at the morning worship service, 10:55 a.m.

The second guest speaker will be Rev. Doug Chapman, pastor of Lazbuddie UMC, who was a short-term missionary in the Methodist Seminary at Bergen, Norway, in 1977. He is planning now to assist soon in forming a new Methodist congregation in Norway.

He will talk about his work in Norway for the United Methodist Youth program at 5 p.m. Sunday, then to the entire church after a sandwich supper beginning at 6 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. The public is invited to all these meetings.

Another Lenten activity will be a Fellowship Assembly for all ages, to precede the Sunday School hour each Sunday morning until Easter. This will begin at 9:15 a.m. Sunday in Fellowship Hall. The Commission on Education, headed by Nancy Josseland, will be host for coffee and an informal visiting period.

A Lenten Life series of studies, following a pattern set last year, will begin the evening of Feb. 19 and continue each Sunday evening. Dr. Steve McElroy, pastor, will teach a course on The United Methodist Church, and Margaret Bell will direct the study of Life and Times of Jesus. Several guest teachers will be in charge of shorter studies. Each evening, a brief devotional period in the church sanctuary will close the sessions.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

83 persons joined The Order of

Andrew on Sunday, committing to follow a concrete plan to reach out and bring an unchurched or unsaved friend to Sunday School and church on March 5.

The youth are planning to leave for Angel Fire today at 4 p.m. and return Sunday night, and are still planning to attend the Amy Grant concert on March 9. Tickets are $16 each, and the money should be turned in Sunday night at KIC.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH
An offering of $3,457.14 last Sunday was enough to purchase the new piano free and clear.

Funds are still needed to purchase a new electronic digital keyboard to reach the goal of buying new instruments for the sanctuary.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.00 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

| TIMES | RATE | MIN. |
|-----------------|------|------|
| 1 day per word | .14 | 2.80 |
| 2 days per word | .24 | 4.80 |
| 3 days per word | .34 | 6.80 |
| 4 days per word | .44 | 8.80 |

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

New drug may rejuvenate aging brain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brains dulled by age may be restored to the quick brightness of youth by a new drug developed for treatment of stroke, Chicago researchers report in a study published today.

Experts at Northwestern University medical school say that a drug called nimodipine was able to rein-vigorate aging brains with the fast learning ability of youth in a laboratory test using young and middle-aged rabbits.

The older rabbits receiving the drug "actually learned at the same rate, if not a slightly faster rate, than the young rabbits," said John F. Disterhoft, a cell biology professor who directed the study. "Two-thirds of the control group (older rabbits not receiving the drug) never did learn the task."

He said that although the experiment used only a laboratory test of learning, there is "every reason to believe" that the results would also apply to higher learning skills.

Results of the study were published in the journal "Science."

The Northwestern experiment used four groups of rabbits. Rabbits in two of the groups were about 30 months old, about middle age for rabbits. The other two groups were three months old, young adult age for rabbits.

Nimodipine was administered to one of the older groups and to one of the younger groups. The others were kept free of the drug to provide control, or comparison, groups.

To test learning ability, all of the rabbits were exposed to the sound of a tone, immediately followed by a mild burst of air against the eye. The air burst causes the eye to blink.

This process was repeated 80 times a day. The researchers measured how soon and how often the rabbits learned to anticipate the burst of air by closing their eyes at the sound of the tone. Each group received 15 training sessions.

Disterhoft said that four of six older rabbits who did not receive nimodipine never did learn to blink at the sound. The other two did learn, but at a slower rate than the older rabbits receiving the drug.

"All of the aging nimodipine animals learned the task in less than eight days of training," he said, and this was slightly faster than the learning rate shown by both the groups of young rabbits. Disterhoft said nimodipine did not make the younger rabbits any smarter. The drug appears to help only the aged brain.

Disterhoft said the experiment was suggested after German doctors noticed that stroke patients seemed to recover some learning abilities when they were treated with nimodipine.

The drug, manufactured by Miles Inc., was approved by the Food and Drug Administration last December to treat impairment among patients who have suffered a ruptured blood vessel in the brain, which is a type of stroke. Bob Quick, a Miles spokesman, said the drug is marketed under the name Nimotop. He said it is approved for use not only by some types of stroke patients, and is does not have FDA approval for other uses. Miles plans to market the drug in the United States starting in April.

Disterhoft said it is not known exactly why the drug appears to restore learning deficits in aging brains, but it may be related to the cellular absorption of calcium. Nimodipine is a calcium channel blocker, which means it prevents cells from taking up excess calcium. This is not related directly to calcium in the diet.

"In aging humans, one of the causes of problems in neurons (brain cells) is too much calcium," he said. "This (nimodipine) might counteract that inappropriately high level of calcium."

Gay group wants judge impeached

DALLAS (AP) — A petition has been filed for impeachment of a Dallas judge who said he gave a convicted killer a lighter sentence in part because the victims were homosexuals.

The petition for impeachment of District Judge Jack Hampton was filed Thursday with District Judge Ron Chapman, who also serves as the state's presiding judge of the First Administrative Judicial Region.

"Completing this action today represents a bold and courageous step on the part of these participants — many of whom earn their living by practicing law in Judge Hampton's courtroom," said William Waybourn, president of the Dallas Gay Alliance, which coordinated the filing of the petition.

Two weeks after sentencing Richard Bednarski to 30 years in prison for the slaying of two Dallas men, Hampton told the Dallas Times Herald he gave Bednarski a lighter sentence because the victims were "queers."

"I put prostitutes and gays at about the same level," the judge told the newspaper. "If these boys had picked up two prostitutes and taken them to the woods and killed them, I'd consider that a similar case."

Meanwhile, in Austin a coalition of civil rights groups announced they will stage a rally today to demand that the State Commission on Judicial Conduct remove Hampton.

The demonstration was scheduled to take place in front of the Texas Retirement Systems office, where officials say the Judicial Conduct Commission will be hearing Hampton's response to charges alleging misconduct in the incident.

The impeachment petition will not be mailed until Monday in order to give more lawyers opportunity to sign it, Waybourn said.

"Rightful-thinking people everywhere must do everything in their power to prevent something like this from every happening again," Waybourn said at a news conference. "We cannot allow any more Judge Hamptons. We must make it as difficult as possible for him to remain in office."

Hampton told the Times Herald he thought voters would forget the remarks by the time he is up for reelection in 1990.

Hampton could not be reached for comment when called by The Associated Press Thursday.

Waybourn said Hampton's continued service on the bench would only serve to "further the ignorance, prejudice and violence that accompanied Richard Bednarski on his trip to Oak Lawn that night, when he murdered Tommy Lee Trimble and John Lloyd Griffin."

According to the state constitution, impeachment proceedings may be started with a petition from 10 lawyers who practice in the court of the targeted judge. The impeachment article stipulates that "Causes of this kind shall have precedence and be tried as soon as practicable."

Hampton apologized for the remarks to a group of Oak Lawn ministers, but Waybourn said it wasn't a direct apology to those his comments addressed.

Bednarski's attorney, Kevin Clancy, sought a new trial for his client Wednesday. Clancy said a juror went to the scene of the shooting on his own during deliberations.

Eight measles cases seen in Odessa

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Cases of red measles have surfaced in Odessa while Lubbock health officials say the city is undergoing a "second wave" of the viral disease.

Toby Cross, administrator for the Ector County Health Department, reported eight confirmed cases of measles at Crockett Junior High School in West Odessa.

"Our plans are to initiate a massive immunization clinic at Crockett Junior High at 9 a.m. (Friday)," Cross said.

Chuck Hornung, spokesman for Lubbock Independent School

District, estimated that about 600 students would be vaccinated and immunizations would be available for faculty and employees requesting them. The district has about 26,000 students.

"We are taking one extra precaution," Hornung said. "We are hosting a regional educational secretaries meeting Saturday. It was scheduled to be held at Crockett. Now it's been moved to an old magnet school. We don't want to take any chances."

Ector County Dr. C.S. Patterson told the Odessa American the cases in the city 120 miles south of Lubbock are the first he's seen in the county in 15 years.

A Texas Tech University dorm resident and students at five elementary schools are the newest cases in Lubbock, said Vickie Shadden, coordinator of health services for the Lubbock Independent School District.

Lubbock Public Health Director Anthony Way said the number of cases that surface in the second wave is undeterminable. "We could see only one or two, or we could see hundreds," Way told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Only one of the newest cases is considered part of the second wave, Way said, because of the timing of the onset of symptoms.

To date, the city has confirmed 129 cases of red measles.

Immunizations will be conducted Friday in Lubbock at Hardwick, McWhorter, Wheelock, Mahon and Stewart elementary schools, Mrs. Shadden said.

The new immunizations will bring the total number of newly inoculated school children to 2,500, with cases reported in 15 schools. The school district has an estimated 31,000 students.

Way said the Texas Department of Health had been notified of the city's new cases and would continue supplying vaccine.

About 5,200 Texas Tech students have been immunized, Way said.

"We've vaccinated a much smaller percentage of the LISD students, so that's where we expect the biggest number of second wave cases to be," Way said.

'Lonesome Dove' spurs Western sales

HOUSTON — "Lonesome Dove" is over, but the storm of Western interest spawned by the television miniseries is raging in Houston.

Western wear stores are being flooded with requests for hats like the ones "Gus" and "Captain Call" wore in the movie, for coats like "Jake Spoon's" and for spurs.

And there also is a stampede for copies of the Pulitzer Prize-winning Larry McMurtry novel on which the CBS miniseries was based.

"Can you make me a hat that looks like Cap'n Call's?" more than one urban cowboy has asked Rick Cowen, manager of Stelzig's, a Galleria-area Western wear store.

"They want (Western) hats, spurs and dusters — those long-waisted coats, like the one Jake Spoon wore," Cowen said Wednesday.

As an expert on Western lore, Cowen said "Lonesome Dove" was the real thing, too.

"Course, I been just fascinated with the series," Cowen said as he helped customer Joy Wallace try on a hat.

"It's good — real good," Ms. Wallace said. She realized she suddenly "needed" another hat Wednesday after three days under the influence of "Lonesome Dove."

At The Hat Store, salesman Wayne Mills chuckled when asked if he'd heard anybody talking about "Lonesome Dove."

"Just everybody that comes in here," he said.

"And we're getting a few people wanting hats shaped like Augustus," Mills said. "It's a hell of a movie, I tell you what."

The Hat Store owner Gary Cohen cited a "real renaissance" in Western wear. At least "eight or nine" people have come into his store demanding hats shaped like those worn by "Lonesome Dove" characters — "primarily like Gus," Cohen said.

"An ongoing sequel would be fantastic," said Doug Haubold, manager of Don's Western Wear.

The miniseries, which ended Wednesday night, is pushing up sales of McMurtry's novel, originally published in 1985.
