Deaf Smith County increased its toe-hold as the area's top cattle feeding county, according to the 1989 Fed Cattle Survey released today by Southwestern Public Service Co.

According to the survey, 747,260 head of cattle were fed in the county in 1988. That's an increase of 52,000 head over 1987.

Castro County also showed a significant increase, feeding 503,098 head in 1988. That up from 463,948 fed in 1987.

Parmer County's numbers slipped last year, but Parmer was still third among Texas counties in the SPS service area. Parmer County reported 407,252 head fed in 1988, compared with 463,786 in 1987.

For the 52,000 square mile service territory of SPS, including the Texas Panhandle and parts of Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico, 5,335 million head of cattle were fed, down less than one percent from 1987 and the second-highest year on record behind 1987.

However, the one-time total capacity of feedlots was 2,734 million head, up from 2,728 million head in 1987.

"With higher prices for feeder cattle and the uncertainty of replacement heifers for herd rebuilding, 1988 still turned out to be the second highest year for cattle fed in our area," said Dave Krupnick, manager of agricultural and wholesale marketing for SPS.

The survey also found that 4,674 million cattle were slaughtered in 1988 at 12 beef packing plants in the SPS service area. The facilities have an annual slaughter capacity of 4,785 million head.

The report also showed that the total number of feedlots in the area has grown to 113, and the one-time capacity of the lots is still growing.

The report is used in economic development efforts and for other purposes by SPS and others. "requests come in from all parts of the nation (for the report), so by publishing it we hope to stimulate further development in the agriculture and food processing sector," said Krupnick. "Throughout the years of the Fed Cattle Survey, feedlots and packing plants have been extremely cooperative in supplying information for the survey. We would like to thank them again for their assistance in documenting what agriculture means to the region."

The report includes charts that reflect the survey's 16-year history, the number of feedlots with a capacity of 1,000 head or more, and a county breakdown of lot capacity and number of cattle fed.

Bank deposits stay level

Deposits at Hereford's three reporting financial institutions totalled $154.3 million at the end of the first quarter, March 31, 1989.

The combined total for First National Bank, Hereford State Bank, and Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union was only $600,000 less than for the same period a year ago. Reports for local offices of Olney Savings & Loan and Consolidated Federal Bank FSB were not available.

Loans at the three reporting institutions were $78.5 million at the end of the quarter, compared to $85.9 million a year ago. That's a drop of about $7.4 million in loans.

First National Bank showed deposits of $73.5 million on March 31, with loans totalling $34.4. This compares to totals of $76.5 and $40.2 million, respectively, a year ago.

Hereford State Bank had deposits of $60.6 million and loans of $32.2 million at the close of the first quarter. A year ago, these totals were $60.5 million and $37.1 million, respectively.

HTFCU showed deposits of $20.2 million and loans of $11.8 million for the quarter. Last year's totals were $17.9 million on deposits and $8.6 million in loans.

Deposit totals are always at a peak on the end-of-the-year reports. Total deposits on Dec. 31, 1988 for the three institutions was $172.3 million.

Back to schoolroom

Hereford superintendent Charles Greenawalt helps Aikman Elementary School student Tabitha Galvan with an assignment Thursday while teaching a class for a half-day. All Hereford administrators have been teaching at least one class this week to keep them familiar with work in the classroom. Greenawalt said the program has been successful, and may be done more regularly in the future.

Lawmaker: counties should 'embrace' bill

The Sunday School teacher was reviewing a lesson. "Who led the children of Israel out of Egypt?"

No answer. So she pointed to a little boy at the back of the room and asked him. "It wasn't me," he said timidly, "we just moved here last week from Arkansas."

AUSTIN (AP) - Prison bills that counties fear will keep more state inmates in local jails actually would relieve the problem, says a state lawmaker sponsoring the proposal.

All prisoners in excess of this amount must be held in county jails at county expense," Vickers said during a Capitol news conference.

Hightower said his bill provides for nearly 20,000 new prison beds in two years, and that 8,500 new beds will be available by January from legislation passed in 1987.

We join others in the community in extending best wishes to Rocky Lee and Bobby Owen who, after selling Summerfield Fertilizer, will be pursuing other interests. An announcement in Thursday's Brand reported the sale of Summerfield to C&T Fertilizer Inc., a subsidiary of Anderson Grain Corp. of Levelland.

"I hear their argument, but I disagree," said state Rep. Allen Hightower. "What they're assuming ... is that we're not ever going to build any more prisons ... and that's not true."

McFarland said his proposal would more equally allocate the number of prisoners counties could regularly send to the state system and would offer them $300 million for alternative programs such as work-release and so-called boot camps for inmates.

McFarland said his proposal would more equally allocate the number of prisoners counties could regularly send to the state system and would offer them $300 million for alternative programs such as work-release and so-called boot camps for inmates.

Lee will remain at C&T for an unspecified time to assist in a smooth transition of the business. Lee and Owen started Summerfield Fertilizer in February, 1959. Lee was employed by Hereford Butane at the time and Owen was operating a service station. The Hereford plant opened in 1965.

"The counties right now are under a bunch of hurt ... and this bill gives them 99 percent relief," Hightower said. "I think they ought to embrace it instead of complaining about 1 percent."

He said it would be tied to counties abiding by the prisoner transfer allocations.

He said the 95 percent quota was added to his bill at the request of the Texas attorney general in order to comply with the court order. He said he would discuss it again with the attorney general.

Lee and Owen have been and, we anticipate, will continue to be active in community affairs and projects. Both have been named as "Citizens of the Year" -- Lee in 1982 and Owen in 1984.

The state Conference of Urban Counties Thursday urged lawmakers to remove provisions from bills by Hightower, D-Huntsville, and Sen. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington.

He said the vast majority of persons I heard testify before the committee ... has been very complimentary of the diversion options given to judges, juries, prosecutors," McFarland said.

He said the 95 percent quota was added to his bill at the request of the Texas attorney general in order to comply with the court order. He said he would discuss it again with the attorney general.

Lee and Owen are both partners in Cattle Town Feed Yard. Owen has also purchased Owl Feedyard and will now be officed at that location on South Progressive Road. He also has farming interests.

Bexar County Judge Tom Vickers, chairman of the conference, said the bills "provide that if the state prison system reaches 95 percent of its capacity, the state no longer has the legal duty to accept prisoners.

"We are very strongly urging the Legislature to remove that from the prison reform bills and not shift that property tax down to the local taxpayer," Vickers said.

He said the 95 percent quota was added to his bill at the request of the Texas attorney general in order to comply with the court order. He said he would discuss it again with the attorney general.

Whirlwind trip may enhance Bush image

The recent effort to raise the salaries of our representatives in Austin is wholeheartedly supported by James Roberts, editor of The Andrews County News. Comments Roberts: "It's long past due. In earlier years, our representatives were supposed to convene in Austin for 120 days and conduct two years of business for the state, then go home and put in a crop, practice law, or earn a living some way or another."

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush's just-completed six-state tour was timed to project him as an active problem-solver just as the media assess his first 100 days of his presidency, says a White House aide.

Bush began the trip Monday by attending a memorial service in Norfolk, Va., for the 47 victims of the USS Iowa explosion. This was added to an already-heavy schedule Monday that had Bush declaring himself off to "a good start" in a speech to Associated Press newspaper publishers in Chicago.

The trip took Bush to Illinois, North Dakota, California, Texas and Florida.

"He wanted to get to California to talk about some of the major issues," such as research and development for high technology and a reduction in the capital gains tax. But Bush dropped plans to talk about offshore oil drilling because of the Valdez oil spill, aides said privately.

"For their efforts, currently, our legislators are paid $7,200 a year plus $30 a day when the legislature is in session. With the special sessions called during the past decade, plus the fact that most legislators are in Austin almost every week on committee assignments or conducting hearings, it leaves little time to earn a living on the side.

"We think the proposal to pay our representatives one-third of the salary of the governor is in order."

Although Bush has said he is indifferent to the milestone, "he's making these appearances even before some of these 100-day stories are getting out," said the official. He discussed the strategy on grounds of anonymity.

Other White House aides called the trip a success, despite an aura of confusion caused by scheduling foul-ups and unfocused presidential speeches.

"Sometimes just the idea of getting out of ... Washington is part of the president's responsibility and role," chief of staff John Sununu said Thursday. "He really feels it's important for him to go out and let the folks see him. The president gets a lot out of it."

Sununu conceded that Bush's speeches on several occasions garnered little coverage on the heavily watched national television evening news shows. But he said "you don't always focus just on trying to get 15 seconds or 30 seconds on the national news. The regional aspect is very critical."

White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater denied that Bush's trip lacked any overriding theme the nation could focus on, saying that "the theme is building a better America."

He said the vast majority of persons I heard testify before the committee ... has been very complimentary of the diversion options given to judges, juries, prosecutors," McFarland said.

He said the 95 percent quota was added to his bill at the request of the Texas attorney general in order to comply with the court order. He said he would discuss it again with the attorney general.

Wright investigation plans second attempt to quiz gas well investors

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Speaker Jim Wright sent an $8,000 check this week to pay the costs of chartering a campaign airplane four years ago from an associate of the owner of a Dallas savings and loan institution.

Wright, who on Thursday lost his bid to make an early presentation of his case before the House ethics committee, said the failure to pay the bill earlier was an "oversight."

In another matter Thursday, the House ethics committee rescheduled the testimony of five Texans involved in a gas drilling venture that yielded huge profits to Wright. The five were threatened with a contempt citation if they fail to show up for a second time.

Wright's office this week filed a correction to his campaign financial report for 1985 to disclose the reimbursement. Aide Phil Duncan said he didn't ask the owner of the plane, Ken Hood, why he suddenly called this week for the money.

Wright's office was notified of the unpaid bill on Tuesday after Hood learned that the Wall Street Journal was inquiring about the matter, according to knowledgeable sources.

According to a Democratic source who spoke on condition of anonymity, Hood was an associate of Thomas Gaubert, owner of a Dallas savings and loan institution, arranged the charter for Wright's campaign, the source said.

The trip June 30 to July 2, 1985, included Wright, Duncan and others. The tour of seven Texas cities was in preparation for a November fund-raiser, Wright's office said.

The ethics committee has decided against pursuing charges that Wright improperly lobbied federal S&L regulators to go easy on Texas thrifts, including Gaubert's. But Wright's involvement in S&L issues has figured in the panel's determination of whether he improperly took gifts from people with a direct interest in legislation governing the industry.

On Wright's request to make a personal appeal to the ethics panel, its chairman hinted strongly for the first time Thursday there will be no such opportunity until Wright appears at a disciplinary hearing expected to come late next month.

"No, there has not been an agreement reached" on a speedy hearing, said the chairman, Rep. Julian Dixon, D-Calif. "I assume he would appear at the disciplinary hearing."

At a two-hour meeting Thursday behind closed doors, the panel heard an account from Dixon and Rep. John T. Myers of Indiana of their trip early this week to San Antonio, Texas, when they were "stood up" by the participants in the gas well venture.

The panel then ratified Dixon's ruling that a subpoena for the witnesses was valid and enforceable, the chairman said. The testimony is scheduled for next week.

"Without any question, the committee lost round one, but there'll be more of this fight before it's over," said Myers, the panel's senior Republican.

The committee is seeking to wrap up loose ends in its 10-month investigation of Wright, who has been formally charged with 69 instances of violating House rules. The charges allege that Wright, D-

Texas, improperly accepted some $145,000 in gifts from a Fort Worth business partner who had a direct interest in congressional legislation and that he used bulk sales of a book he wrote to circumvent House limits on outside earned income.

But before finishing its preliminary inquiry into charges against Wright, the panel wants to know whether a gas well that produced a financial bonanza to the speaker's blind trust amounted to a gift from people with an interest in legislation.

Part of the inquiry also will focus on whether Wright's blind trust, which the ethics committee approved when the trust was established in 1987, was truly insulated from Wright.

Mallightco, an investment partnership of Fort Worth real estate developer George Mallick, and their wives, turned a $9,120 cash investment into a $340,000 profit in one day last May, boosting the value of the partnership just a month before Wright's blind trust sold its interest.

The amount of money involved aroused the curiosity of the ethics panel, and subpoenas were issued for San Antonio financier Morris Jaffe, his son M.D. (Doug) Jaffe, and three others involved in the transaction.

The five failed to show up Tuesday for a scheduled interview at a San Antonio hotel. Stanley Brand, their Washington lawyer, argued in a letter that the subpoenas were too broad, violated his clients' right to privacy and were irrelevant to the ethics panel's inquiry.

The committee overruled Brand and ordered the witnesses to come to Washington for interviews on May 3 and 4, Dixon said.

Inmates arrested for extortion

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - The mother of a college student whose mutilated body was found in a grave in northern Mexico says she was outraged to find that inmates in the Galveston County Jail were able to carry out an extortion plot against her family.

Helen Kilroy's comments came Thursday following the arrests of two jail inmates and three others for attempting to extort $10,000 from the family while they were attempting to find Mark Kilroy, her son who vanished while on a spring break outing in South Texas.

"We were absolutely shocked that people who are in prison for a good reason are able to call out and terrorize innocent people," said Helen Kilroy. "We were really shocked that people can be terrorized from inside our jails."

Two inmates were arrested Thursday on charges accusing them of using jail telephones to call Kilroy's parents in nearby Santa Fe to carry out the extortion attempt. Three other people were arrested and a third is being sought, authorities say.

Santa Fe Police Chief Mike Barry said that at one point in the scheme, Santa Fe Police Chief Mike Barry said, a caller vowed to cut off the missing student's fingers and mail them to the family if police arrested or followed people to whom the Kilroys delivered ransom money.

The body of Kilroy, a University of Texas junior, mutilated in a human sacrifice ritual by Mexican drug smugglers, authorities say, was found in a shallow grave near Matamoros, Mexico, on April 11, one week after the extortion attempt allegedly began.

Robert George Miller and Wilton Joseph Smith, were arrested in the County Jail Thursday morning, and officers also arrested three alleged accomplices at a La Marque residence. Both men were being held on burglary charges at the time of the alleged extortion plot, officers said.

Police had determined Miller's and Smith's involvement in the scheme on their own but learned the others' identities from inmates in the jail who had heard the plan unfolding.

All five suspects were charged with attempted robbery of the Kilroys and ordered held in lieu of $20,000 bonds.

Police arrested Elmer Ranferi Corado, 24, his wife Becky Rita Smith Corado, 24, and Mardoquero Zamora Gonzalez, 36, at the La Marque residence, Barry said.

Another female was being sought, he said.

Kilroy's mother attempted to pay the men the initial $2,000 they sought, but the payoff was not made, Barry said.

Galveston Deputy Gean Leonard said the inmates had telephones in their cells to be used to contact family members or their attorneys. The telephones allow the inmate to make collect calls only, he said.

Leonard said that the telephones are located in the cells because with an average daily population of 500 prisoners in a jail built to hold about 300 any other telephone system would be impractical.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just learned that a friend and former neighbor has been hospitalized. "Mrs. X" and her husband have two young children. They are active church members and have always helped everyone who needed it.

At a time when Mrs. X could use some help, she won't be getting it. Why? because she is trying to keep her problem a secret. I want to let her now that she has our prayers and support, but I don't dare. If she had cancer it would be a different story, but it happens to be mental illness.

No one chooses mental illness, any more than he or she chooses a heart attack. It is nothing to be embarrassed about. Those who have been struck with mental illness need our love and support.

Nothing makes me angrier than to hear someone referred to as being "bonkers" or "wacky" or "in the nuthouse." To make a joke of mental illness is cruel.

Morrison recognized

Brandy Morrison, a commercial lines agent of Lone Star Agency in Hereford, has been awarded the Accredited Customer Service Representative designation by the Independent Insurance Agents of Texas.

To earn the ACSR designation, an individual must attend eight days of intensive insurance training and pass two comprehensive examinations. In order to keep her ACSR designation, Brandy will attend annual classes designed to give agents current information on changes in the insurance industry.

Brandy has had eight years experience with Lone Star in personal and commercial lines of insurance.

Fur seal pups suffer high mortality in the first weeks following birth, often being crushed by highly aggressive males moving about to defend their territories, says National Geographic.

If just one person shows a little more compassion the next time he or she encounters someone who has been mentally ill, I will feel that I did some good in the world.--Someone's Friend.

DEAR FRIEND: Thank you for a message that we all need to hear. Mental illness has no respect for age, color, intellectual ability or financial position. It can (and does) strike everywhere.

The mentally ill are often viewed differently from those with physical illness because they sometimes behave differently and this can be frightening. People tend to make a joke of things they don't understand. The mentally ill often suffer the tortures of hell. They deserve our respect, our compassion and our support. None of us knows when someone near and dear to us will be next.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You said it's a shame that kids today don't bother to pick up pennies. How ludicrous! Don't you know time is money? Here are the facts:

The average laborer's rate in Peoria is $13.80 per hour. My calculator tells me that is 23 cents a minute. It takes 6 seconds to pick up a penny. This means 1.3 cents is lost every time we bend over to pick up one of those things.

My kids wouldn't think of picking up a penny. I hope they never have to.--Number Cruncher in Peoria, Ill.

DEAR PEORIA: The mail on this subject has been an eye-opener. I'm not ashamed to admit that I never pass up a penny, and a dime is like wow!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was truly touched by your praise for nurse's aides. You wrote, "Bless you for all the dignity and caring you bring to a thankless job."

I never gave a thought to these wonderful people who work in nursing homes until I could no longer care for our own mother at home. Now I know how angelic they are. Thanks for giving them some well-deserved praise.--Chicago Reader

DEAR CHICAGO: I was delighted at the number of readers who wrote to say they held nurse's aides in such high esteem. Your letters were greatly appreciated.

DEAR READERS: Here's another example of the sorry state of education in our country:

D.E.A. of Memphis was watching "Family Feud" on TV. The question: Name a country in South America. The six responses were as follows: Spain, Fiji, Africa, Rio de Janeiro, Saudi Arabia and Guatemala.

Feeling pressured to go "all the way" because everyone else is doing it? You're not alone. ### Solar systems created

Mrs. Williamson's third grade class at Northwest School recently completed a unit on solar systems in science. The students constructed their own solar systems composed of models of clay and labeled planets, their satellites, and their characteristics. The youngsters also recorded other data that they researched and collected.

Those who have worn sheets to donate may bring them to the meeting. The sheets will be made into bandages for mission hospitals. The program will be on missions.

Prayers are requested for Hamlin Hospital, near Hammaua, Lebanon. This hospital is operated by the National Evangelical Synod of Syria and Lebanon. Because of its location in an area in the mountains where there has been heavy fighting, the hospital has been cut off from supplies and has received some damage to its buildings but has continued to offer medical treatment to all who need it.

for children which replaces the usual Vacation Bible School at First United Methodist Church. It will be held June 19-21 on the church grounds located on Main and Fifth Streets.

Betty Coneway and Kyla McDowell are co-chairmen for the program which will follow the format of last summer's successful Marketplace 29 A.D. It is open for girls and boys from age three through sixth graders. Registration will continue through June 3 and there is a fee of $2.50 per child or $5.25 per family.

First UMC held its first Marketplace program in June of 1988 and will use that experience to make improvements in 1989. Tents and booths will be setup at various places over the church block to represent a village of Christ's time. Costumed workers will act as craftsmen, shop-keepers, singers and story tellers of the period.

A pre-holiday bazaar will be held at First UMC in late fall. Preparation has begun with appointment of Mary Jones and Rubeth Griffing as co-chairmen. Zula Arney will be cashier and Bartley Dowell will serve as treasurer this year.

Chairmen for various booths, the noon lunch and a snack shop are being named now and members have been asked to start work on handmade articles that will be sold. Most of the items will be suitable for Christmas decorations or gifts.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

This Sunday the Rev. Mack McCarter will be preaching the third sermon in the series "Fellowship." The title of the message will be "The Way To Become All That You Could Be." Please read Matthew 5:1-2 to prepare.

Woman's Health

By Robert C. Park, M.D., President, The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Self-test kits are big business—the market for them may hit $736 million next year, according to one research firm—and are a growing part of today's trend in preventive medicine.

You can buy over-the-counter self-test kits for screening, detecting, or monitoring almost any condition, problem, or illness, but "self-test" does not mean "self-diagnosis." A kit is only a first step toward medical care by your doctor, or it can be used by him or her to improve your treatment.

If a self-test is approved by the Food and Drug Administration—the Federal agency which regulates such "medical devices," you can be sure it is reasonably accurate, relatively simple, and if used exactly as directed, it can be safe and effective.

Some general precautions suggested by the FDA include:

-Don't buy or use any kit past the expiration date.

-Follow storage directions, especially regarding heat or cold.

-Study the directions carefully; read them once to learn what the test can do—and can't do; read them a second or third time, to understand each step.

-Follow directions exactly: don't miss a step, and if the test must be timed, don't guess; use a watch with a second hand.

-Follow precautions closely: especially about avoiding certain foods, drugs or activities.

-If you're color blind, and color is part of the test, get help from someone who can discern subtle color differences to interpret the results.

-Do what you're instructed, if results are positive, negative or unclear.

-If you have any questions, ask your doctor, or pharmacist, or call the "800" number on the package.

-Don't rely on the test alone; no test is 100 percent accurate. See your doctor.

-If the kit malfunctions, call the FDA at 800-638-6725 (toll free) or at (301) 881-0256 (in Maryland, collect.)

The self-test kits are only as good as you are in carrying out the instructions and only the first step in medical care if it is needed.

Three of Latin America's four largest economies, Argentina, Mexico and Venezuela, had a growth rate of less than 2 percent in 1987, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. The bank added that Brazil's rate had been just under 3 percent for the year.

Juvenile justice 'too soft,' says lawmaker

WASHINGTON (AP) - The juvenile justice system is too soft on the kind of brutal, senseless crimes committed by a gang of youths who beat and gang-raped a 28-year-old woman in New York's Central Park last week, a congressman says.

"What we're saying is, if you're going to do big-boy crime, you're going to big-boy time," Rep. Chuck Douglas, R-N.H., said at a news conference Thursday in which he called for harsher penalties for violent juvenile offenders.

Douglas, a former state Supreme Court justice, was joined by members of the Republican Research Committee Task Force on Crime to discuss how the attack April 19 in Central Park highlights the need for changing the juvenile justice system.

"I can tell you that we have a juvenile justice system that is modeled basically for the middle class," Douglas said. "The children of folks like us, the children of the middle class who may get into trouble with shoplifting at a young age, they may throw a rock through a window, that's where the juvenile justice system works."

"But the system does not work, and it's no deterrent, and it's no protection and shouldn't be for the kinds of kids who did what happened in Central Park."

But according to news accounts, the youths suspected of committing the Central Park assault were average city kids. Teachers called them good students, and one principal said of two of the boys: "They come from homes of parents who care, parents who are as shocked as we are."

Four of the suspects lived in a building with a doorman, one played tuba in the school band, another was described by teachers and classmates as a talented artist.

The congressmen said they were unhappy that in many states youngsters who commit violent crimes such as rape, armed robbery, murder or attempted murder get little more than a slap on the wrist.

"What would happen in my home state of New Mexico if a 13- and a 14- and a 15-year-old were tried and convicted of kidnapping, rape, attempted murder and so forth?" asked Rep. Steven Schiff. "The answer is absolutely nothing more than reform school, and be told not to do it again. ... We believe that's based upon an erroneous assumption that juveniles in all cases are not responsible for their actions."

The task force is hoping by the end of the year to create model state legislation "that would cause the most violent of juvenile offenders to receive the full punishment for their actions if they're convicted," said Schiff, a former district attorney. The task force would strongly urge states to pass the model legislation, he said.

And Douglas said he hoped to pass his own "carrot and stick" bill that would withhold federal money for juvenile justice from states that fail to adopt their model.

In outlining their ideas for this model legislation, none of the congressmen raised the possibility of rehabilitating violent offenders.

Asked whether they were not writing off these youths, Schiff said:

"In the many years that I was a criminal prosecutor and briefly a defense attorney, I met individuals who I would call rehabilitated. There was a common thread running through each of them: they rehabilitated themselves."

said he sometimes eats breakfast with the guards from the federal prison in Springfield, Mo.

"Several of them have indicated to me that in their judgment, some people are just plain mean and never should be released back on society," he said. "There's not anything anybody's going to be able to do about it."

The word shampoo comes from the Hindu word shampu, which means to press.

Pickens to decide on office

WASHINGTON (AP) - Oilman T. Boone Pickens says he'll decide by the first of September whether to seek the Republican nomination for Texas governor, while Rep. John Bryant is forming a committee to explore a 1990 race for attorney general.

Pickens, an Amarillo businessman known around the world for his corporate takeover attempts, told reporters Thursday at the Washington Foreign Press Center he was "seriously looking" at a race for governor in 1990.

"The decision is going to have to be made sometime before Sept. 1," Pickens said. "We have done extensive polling, and know where we stand. We believe we have a good feel for how some of our philosophies are accepted both in Texas and the United States. We're serious and looking at it very closely."

Other possible candidates for the Republican governor's nomination include George W. Bush, son of the president, Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance, Midland oilman Clayton Williams and Secretary of State Jack Rains.

Democratic contenders include state Treasurer Ann Richards and Attorney General Jim Mattox.

Bryant, a Dallas Democrat, said Thursday he intends to form a committee to explore a bid for the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

Bryant said he planned to file papers today with the Texas secretary of state to create the exploratory committee. He is designating Ken Molberg, a Dallas attorney and his longtime campaign treasurer, as campaign treasurer.

"Although not required to do so until I formally become a candidate, I have established an exploratory committee because the voters of Texas deserve to know that any candidate who may seek to be the public's lawyer complies with the spirit, as well as the letter, of the law," Bryant said.

John Odam, a Houston attorney, has already announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. And Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro has said that he planned to announce his intentions in June to also seek the nomination.

Other potential Democratic candidates include state Rep. Dan Morales of San Antonio, state Sen. John Montford of Lubbock and state Sen. Kent Caperton of Bryan.

Possible Republican contenders include Roy Barrera, the 1986 candidate, state Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown of Lake Jackson and state Rep. Patricia Hill of Dallas.

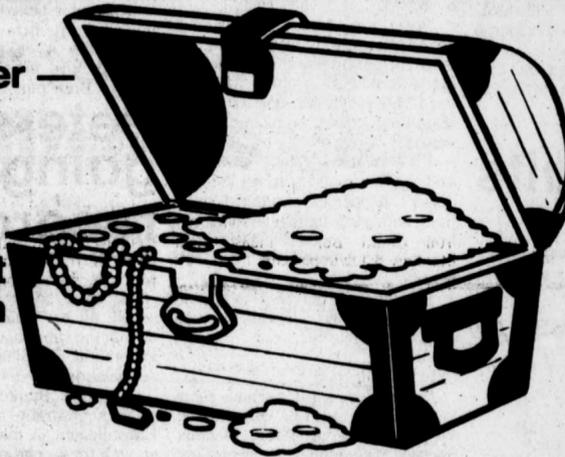

Bryant, 42, is in his fourth term in Congress. He was elected in 1974 to the Texas House of Representatives, where he served five terms. He is a graduate of Southern Methodist University and of the SMU law school.

In the U.S. House, Bryant is a member of the Judiciary, Budget, and Energy and Commerce committees.

"All contributions and expenditures in connection with my exploration of the 1990 attorney general's race will be fully and publicly reported," Bryant said in a statement. "I believe the campaign and personal finances of candidates for elective office should be a matter of public record, as mine have been throughout my more than 15 years of public service."

Furr's Announces $25,000 Winner!

Rose Hunter of Midland is $25,000 richer — thanks to Furr's Supermarkets and incredibly good luck! More than 250,000 entries in the Hidden Treasure contest were mixed together on Wednesday and Mrs. Hunter's name was drawn from that pile.

She and her husband were just sitting down to play a hand or two of cards when the phone rang with the good news. "Oh, my gosh!" was her initial reaction. And when we asked her how she might spend the money, she said, "I've always wanted to go to Hawaii."

Rose was one of a quarter of a million Furr's shoppers from cities and towns all across West Texas and Eastern New Mexico who entered the Hidden Treasure Grand Prize Drawing. She collected three sets of Bag O' Gold letters and her winning entry was dated March 19. Congratulations, Rose! And all of us at Furr's hope you enjoy that trip to Hawaii!

Ribbon winners

Martinez slams Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Carmelo Martinez tried to hit a home run and all that approach got him was two quick strikes. He forgot about the home run, concentrated on making contact and immediately hit his second career grand slam.

It keyed a five-run fifth inning Thursday that helped the San Diego Padres to an 8-1 victory and three-game sweep of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Martinez swung hard at two split-fingered fastballs from rookie reliever Logan Easley.

"They were good pitches," Martinez said. "I looked bad on them." With the bases loaded and nobody out, Easley went for the kill on 0-2, figuring he might be able to get a strikeout. Instead, Martinez lined the pitch into the left field seats for his third home run of the season.

"It's a funny game," Martinez said. "When you try to hit them, it doesn't happen. I shortened up a little and tried to make contact. I knew I hit it good. I've been waiting this whole series to hit a ball hard."

Elsewhere in the National League, it was Chicago 1, Los Angeles 0 and St. Louis 10, San Francisco 1.

Chicago snapped a nine-game losing streak to Los Angeles at Wrigley Field as Greg Maddux pitched a five-hitter to beat Orel Hershiser.

Maddux, 1-3, struck out six for his fifth career shutout. Hershiser, 3-2, pitched seven innings, allowing three hits.

Gary Varsho, who entered the game with an .091 average, tripled off the right-field wall in the fifth inning to drive in Maddux, who had singled with two outs.

Cardinals 10, Giants 1. Scott Terry won his third straight game and went 3-for-3 with a three-run homer as St. Louis defeated visiting San Francisco.

Terry hit his first major-league home run off Joe Price in the sixth inning after singles by Jose Oquendo and Tony Pena. Terry also doubled and singled to pace a 15-hit attack.

Terry, 3-1, retired 12 of the first 13 batters and didn't allow a hit until Kevin Mitchell tripled with two out in the fourth. Terry gave up eight hits over eight innings with Dan Quisenberry pitching the ninth.

Grijalva fifth at regional

Hereford High School golfer Naomi Grijalva just missed a berth in the state golf tournament after paring eight strokes off her score in Thursday's second round of the Region 1-4A tournament at Brownwood Country Club. Grijalva, who easily won District 1-4A's medalist honors, was 10 strokes behind after shooting an 89 on Wednesday. She came back with an 81 on Thursday for a 36-hole total of 170, just three shots behind second place Lisa McQuatters of Andrews. Kim Jutt of Everman won medalist honors with a two-day total of 161.

John has butterflies, but earns Yankees' win

By The Associated Press Even after 288 career victories, Tommy John never takes a win for granted.

John allowed two runs in eight-plus innings but needed Dave Righetti to get out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth as the New York Yankees beat the Kansas City Royals 3-2 Thursday night.

"My stomach was churning and my palms were sweaty," John said. "I felt like I was just an inch away from having a great game go down the drain."

John, who will be 46 on May 22, allowed seven hits, walked two and struck out five as the Yankees snapped Kansas City's five-game winning streak.

But things got a little shaky in the ninth.

John took a four-hitter and a 3-1 lead into the inning, but Kevin Seitzer led off with a double and scored on Jim Eisenreich's single. Danny Tartabull then followed with a single to chase John with none out.

Righetti relieved and Pat Tabler moved the runners up with a sacrifice bunt. After pinch-hitter Bill Buckner was intentionally walked, George Brett pinch hit and lofted a

Peters going for record

BRENHAM, Texas (AP) - Tim Moore's national record of 30 consecutive victories as a high school pitcher from 1977-80 is just now being submitted to the National Federation of State High School Association.

But after Brenham's Jon Peters pitches tonight against A&M Consolidated, it may be only good enough for second place.

Peters tied Moore's record last Friday with a 3-1 victory over Katy Taylor and will have Moore's support when he goes for the record.

"I hope Jon gets it, I wish him all the luck in the world," Moore said. "I didn't get much recognition for it until last year. I'm sorry it came at Jon's expense."

Moore, now 27 and a management trainee at Carolina Freight Centers in Kings Mountain, N.C., will be in the stands at Firemen's Field tonight.

Moore didn't know his record was a national mark until last year when stories started appearing about Peters setting the national record of 34 straight victories.

The National Federation of State High School Associations listed the national record at 33 victories by Mike Pill of West Covina, Calif.

But a Sports Illustrated story enlightened Moore of the record he'd set eight years earlier.

Lakers take charge, blitz Blazers by 20

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

It's the playoffs, time for the infirm and aging to stand tall. Time for the Los Angeles Lakers to take charge.

"I believe this team truly steps up to another level in the playoffs; they're used to winning, they're addicted to it," Lakers coach Pat Riley said Thursday night after the two-time NBA champions beat the Portland Trail Blazers 128-108 in their best-of-5 series opener.

Magic Johnson had 30 points and 16 assists, Byron Scott chipped in with 29 points and Mychal Thompson came off the bench to score 20.

"Riley said he really wanted a lot from me, both offensively and defensively, because I'm a veteran now," Scott said, "and I felt like I delivered."

The Lakers are trying to become the first team to deliver three consecutive NBA championships since Boston in 1964-66.

In the other openers, it was Golden State 123, Utah 119; Atlanta 100, Milwaukee 92, and New York 102, Philadelphia 96.

Tonight, it's Boston at Detroit, Seattle at Houston, Chicago at Cleveland and Denver at Phoenix.

The Lakers took control early. Whenever Portland rallied, Los Angeles suddenly would spurt away again.

Los Angeles, 5-0 during the regular season against the Trail Blazers, is 19-3 at home versus Portland in the decade.

Clyde Drexler paced Portland with 30 points and Jerome Kersey added 23.

Warriors 123, Jazz 119

Chris Mullin scored 41 points, including 18 in the third period, for the Warriors.

Rookie Mitch Richmond, averaging 22.7 points against the Jazz, finished with 30. Richmond was 8-for-34 in his last two games but was 13-for-21 Thursday.

Mullin shot 7-for-11 from the field in the third quarter, including 1-for-2 from 3-point range and made all three free throws.

"We didn't want to take the ball inside to Mark Eaton," Mullin said of Utah's 7-foot-4 center.

John Stockton led Utah with 30 points. Karl Malone, who entered the game as the NBA's second-leading scorer at 29.1, finished with 22.

Hawks 100, Bucks 92

Although Milwaukee slowed the tempo to its liking, it wasn't enough because Dominique Wilkins and Glenn Rivers got their rhythm with seven points each in the final 6:34. Atlanta is 7-0 against Milwaukee this season.

Rivers broke a 79-79 tie by hitting a free throw and referee

Wally Rooney gave Bucks assistant coach Frank Hamblen a technical foul before Rivers could shoot his second free throw.

Reggie Theus made the technical shot and Rivers then added his second free throw, giving the Hawks an 82-79 lead.

Wilkins finished with 28 points and Moses Malone had 23. Jay Humphries scored 20 points to lead the Bucks.

Knicks 102, 76ers 96

Philadelphia, which won four of six games against the Knicks this season and the last two at New York, had its chances in the playoff opener. But the Knicks got a season-high 34 points from Gerald Wilkins and Patrick Ewing had 26.

The Knicks trailed 92-91 after rookie Hersey Hawkins' layup with 3:11 left, his only basket of the game. Ewing drove into the lane for the field goal that put the Knicks ahead for good. Wilkins, whose previous season high was 30 points on Nov. 15 at Houston, then made it 95-92 with a jumper with 2:08 left.

But Philadelphia was within a point and the shot clock was running down when Mark Jackson hit a 30-footer with 16 seconds left to clinch it.

Ron Anderson led the 76ers with 26 points, while Charles Barkley had 22 and Maurice Cheeks 19 and 16 assists.

District track champions

The Hereford Junior High School eighth grade boys' track team won the district track meet last Saturday at Dumas. The team trailed Dumas by 3 2/3rds points going into the mile relay, but won the relay while Dumas was just nipped for second place by .14 seconds, giving Hereford the win.

White is disappointed

IRVING (AP) - Danny White says he was disappointed to learn that the Dallas Cowboys have not elected to pick up the option year of his contract.

The veteran quarterback said Thursday that he did not realize until earlier in the day that the team had not elected to pick up the option year of his contract, which was to pay him $605,000.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I'm just out of the hospital with a heart problem and discovered I have a hiatal hernia. I was given Zantac for it, but since it is so expensive, I asked my doctor if I could take something else. He said to take Mylanta, which I have been doing. Can you tell me something else about a hiatal hernia?

DEAR READER: It is not clear from your letter whether you have any symptoms associated with your hiatal hernia. The hernia, as you know, is from a portion of the stomach sliding through an enlarged hole in the diaphragm into your chest. Many people have a small hiatal hernia and have no symptoms at all.

Other people have esophageal reflux with the acid contents of the stomach backing up into the lower esophagus. That causes heartburn. It may also be associated with esophageal spasm which causes chest pain almost indistinguishable from the pain of a heart attack. Esophageal reflux may be associated with a hiatal hernia or it can occur in the absence of such a hernia. The problem with Mylanta and other antacids in the treatment of esophageal reflux or irritation of the lower esophagus is that it is in contact with the lower esophagus such a short time that it provides very short-term relief. But neutralizing the acid contents of the stomach helps. If you are having symptoms, there is a lot you can do to help yourself not involving medicines. I have discussed these measures in Special Report 93, Heartburn, Esophageal Spasm, Hiatal Hernia, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/93, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

Try not to lie down too soon after eating. Sleep with the head of your bed elevated. Don't wear anything tight around your waist and if you have any extra body fat, try to eliminate it. All of those measures will help, along with avoiding coffee in all forms and alcohol. I presume you do not smoke.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My husband has had Cushing's syndrome for about 12 years, although it was only diagnosed six years ago. He is supposed to be a classic but mild case. The most likely cause established was over active cells in the pituitary gland. No pituitary tumor was found on a CAT scan.

He has been on no medication except for blood pressure. We have been able to control some of the symptoms fairly well with diet, but lately the weight control has become increasingly difficult, enhanced by more frequent lymphedema attacks. He can eat simple salads one day and gain 3 to 4 pounds overnight. He is very discouraged. He has resigned himself to never being cured, but if he could get some help, he would be most grateful.

DEAR READER: Most cases of Cushing's syndrome are caused by a tumor of the pituitary gland under the brain which stimulates the outer shell of the adrenal gland (adrenal cortex). That causes it to pour out an excess of steroid hormones produced by that gland. In turn, that causes obesity of the face and trunk, high blood pressure, compression fractures of the spine and many other symptoms. About 50 percent of pituitary tumors that cause Cushing's syndrome cannot be seen with the best of CAT scan techniques and are not detected except at surgery.

Your husband should be seen by the endocrinology department at a large university medical center. If he does have a tumor of the pituitary, he should certainly be considered for surgery. That can often result in a cure.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.
