Bill Decker Named To Head 1958 United Fund Campaign

Bill Decker was named campaign chairman for the Deaf Smith United Fund, at a directors' meeting in the Hereford State Bank Wednesday afternoon. Decker was elected by acclamation by the directors.

Date for the annual United Fund drive has not been set, although tentative plans call for the intensive effort to be made in late October or early November.

United Fund president Jimmie Allred also named committees to start working on advance plans for the second annual drive, which is designed to replace many separate fund campaigns throughout the year. Decker, who replaces W.

Wilson as active director of the yearly community effort, immediately called for all organizations to submit their budget requests to the finance committee, in order that final budget plans and estimates can be made before the drive starts.

Executive board members of the United Fund include: Allred, Ben Childers, Kenneth Coker, Clint Formby, Virgil Hennen, M. R. Latham, L. E. LeGrand and Mrs. William Wimberley, whose terms expire in 1959.

Hilery Aven, Bert Boomer, Townsend Douglas, Charles Hoover, Andrew Kershen, Ed Lierwald, Dub Reeves and Bill Stanford, whose terms expire in 1960.

Labor Demands Jump Sharply

The labor situation in this area took a sharp turn the latter part of the week, according to Pat Patterson, local representative of the Texas Employment Commission, who said that tractor operators, year-around farm hands and cotton pickers were needed.

Earlier in the week, Patterson had described the labor situation as a "balanced" labor market. He had said he was anticipating a small or "normal" shortage, but that a normal influx of migrant workers should fill the gap adequately.

"The change in the situation could not be anticipated," Patterson said. "Migrant workers have not come in as fast as last year and the year before."

Anticipating an even greater shortage, Patterson said that area farmers were in

Huge Latin-American Fiesta To Unfurl Monday, Tuesday

One of the biggest and most attractive fiestas ever held in Hereford will get underway Monday, when Latin-Americans in this area begin the celebration of Mexican Independence Day. Though Hereford's fiesta will not be the only celebration of this type in the Panhandle area, Fred Gonzales, president of the Latin-American Club, promises that the celebration here will be the "biggest and best."

Gonzales expects at least 5,000 local and out-of-town residents to participate in the celebration, which will officially get started Monday at the Bull Barn, where games and meals will be offered throughout the day.

Fiesta Queen Sylvia January will reign over all activities of the celebration.

A parade, which will start at Dameron Park, go down Main St. to First and end at the courthouse, will feature the queen and her three attendants, the Hereford High School band, a representative of the Mexican Consul of the Panhandle area and the Hereford Riders' Club. The parade is scheduled to start at 3 p.m. Tuesday. Gonzales said that parade entries will meet at Dameron Park at 2 p.m., and that all cars in the parade must be decorated.

The queen and her attendants will ride in decorated cars in the parade, as will the Mexican Consul representative, Hector Mena.

Crowning ceremonies of the queen will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Bull Barn before the Coronation Dance, which will wrap up festivities. Mena will crown the queen.

Dances have been scheduled at 8:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday nights in the Bull Barn, and music will be provided by a seven-piece band from Larado, "Mike Ornelas and his Orchestra."

The orchestra also will play at various downtown locations in Hereford Tuesday morning and afternoon, Gonzales said.

The queen's attendants are Lillie Olguin, 21, daughter of

Around Town

It got a little cooler this week in Deaf Smith County and it meant a lot to many people. Students got a break from the uncomfortably warm classrooms... everyone started wearing fall clothes, gladly changing monotony of the same old colors and patterns... it marked the traditional beginning of the harvest season... and the end for tired air conditioners, and bugs, and lawn mowing.

50 Attend Field Tour

Approximately 50 farmers and other interested persons formed an automobile caravan Friday afternoon and toured three area farms.

Purpose of the tour was to acquaint people interested in agriculture with the latest types of crops and farm developments.

The tour, conducted by County Agent J. W. "Lefty" Thomas, left the courthouse at 1 p.m. Friday and stopped at the Lester English farm, seven miles east of Hereford, where the group viewed 14 varieties of grain sorghum, including Flister, DeKalb, Amak, Texas and eight Texas hybrids.

The group then went to the Owen's Deep Test Well, located

Judge Sustains Motion Of City

District Judge Harry H. Schultz sustained the city of Hereford's motion for summary judgment in the case of W. E. Robinson versus the City of Hereford in District Court Saturday.

The judgement dismissed the case, and if Robinson appeals the case must be heard before the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo.

The motion was heard by Schultz at 10 a.m. Saturday. Court was in session for two hours.

City Attorney Ernest Langley presented a motion stating that "regardless of any matters alleged by the plaintiff the plaintiff is not entitled to recover anything from the city as a matter of law."

Basis of the motion of the city was that "(1) his claim was not filed in time with the city, and (2) the city is not liable for any damage that the plaintiff may have suffered because it is a governmental agency and is not responsible for the negligence of its employees."

Robinson, age 54, formerly worked on one of the City of Hereford trash trucks and, in his petition, cited that he injured his back while lifting a heavy barrel.

He further alleged permanent and total disability for performing future manual labor as a result of the injury.

In a four-point petition, Robinson cited the following as basis of his suit: Use of heavy barrels by the city instead of trash cans; negligence in furnishing him a helper; negligence in no warning him of the size and heavy weight of the barrel; negligence in not furnishing him a safe place to work.

The petition asked for $10,000 to cover "conscious mental and physical pain, past and future"; it asked $300 to cover doctor bills, medical care and treatment; it asked $2,000 to take

Accident Victim Services Friday

Funeral services for Horace A. Johnson, 301 Myrtle, were held at 4 p.m. in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home Friday. Mr. Johnson died Wednesday in a two-car collision near the Canadian River Bridge, north of Amarillo.

Mr. Johnson, a farmer, had been a resident of Hereford since 1936, when he moved here from Collingsworth County. He was born Oct. 11, 1914, in Portales, N. M., and moved to Texas in 1918.

He married Helen Gilbert March 29, 1954, in Tucuman, Ariz. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery, under direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

According to Highway Patrolmen, the accident occurred about 17 miles north of Amarillo, near the Canadian River Bridge on U. S. Highway 287 late Wednesday, when a car occupied by Harold L. Padgett, 34, Amarillo, skidded sideways on the slick highway into the path of the auto occupied by Roger Duncan, 32, Amarillo, and Mr. Johnson.

Non-Enrollment At Negro School Stopped By Group

Jim Scott, president of the Parkview PTA, announced Saturday that the group had decided to end a non-enrollment ban which had kept student attendance far below average in the Hereford Negro elementary school.

All parents who have kept their children out of school in protest to several alleged discrepancies are urged to send their children to school Monday, Scott told the Sunday Brand.

Average attendance at the school has been between 14 and 18 for the first two weeks of school, compared with an average daily attendance of more than 30 last year. Registration at the school last fall was 43 at the end of the first week.

"We feel that the items have been mostly corrected and we should put our children in school," Scott said. He was referring to several complaints which the Parkview PTA had listed in a petition to the Hereford school board. The group entered two protests about alleged conditions, and voted for non-enrollment of children until the conditions were corrected.

At a meeting of the school board last Tuesday night, the group's four representatives were sharply censured by the board for using "pressure tactics", after which the school trustees outlined their efforts and declined to take other action.

The petition had asked for an improved all-weather street to the school, more restrooms and drinking fountains, improved campus and janitor service.

School officials said they had installed additional restroom facilities, had ordered another drinking fountain, had cleaned up the campus, but did not feel financially able or willing to provide separate janitor service. The road, which was the main point of contention, was not under the jurisdiction of the school, the trustees said.

Scott said Saturday the City of Hereford had promised to provide an improved road to the school "before bad weather sets in". City Manager confirmed this, saying the city had agreed to fix a graded street, topped with caliche.

School To List Needed Supplies For Merchants

A list of supplies needed for school work will be furnished Hereford merchants next spring, as the result of a meeting Friday morning.

A merchants' sub-committee of the Chamber of Commerce met with school administrators Friday to discuss the schools' sales of school supplies. At the close of the meeting, the merchants announced they were more than happy with the solution. Merchants who

Herd Loses Opener To Canyon, 17-8

A small squad of well-trained Canyon Eagles flew off with a 17-8 victory over the Hereford Whitefaces Friday night to ruin the Herd's initial outing. Canyon had just 22 boys suited up for the game in Buffalo Stadium but that was more than enough.

For the Herd, operating for the first time under Coach Bobby Williams, it was a case of not enough drive and not enough experience. During the first half, Hereford was well in the game, scoring first and using the option to pick up a pair of points in the extra point try.

Eagle quarterback Jerry Richardson moved his team insistently after Canyon took the kick-off on their own 30 yard line. He capped the drive with a three-yard keeper and the tally. The attempt for two points was no good and Canyon trailed.

DRIVING HARD Whiteface halfback Danny Martin rips off yardage as the Canyon defense moves in to stop the play. Tackler behind Martin is unidentified. Others are Larry Brotherton (15) and Jerry Richardson (10). Martin tallied Hereford's only score just a few plays later, but the Eagles came back to win 17-8.

Fobiles Fancy and Plain

By KENT SNARE

Here are we with another collegiate football session staring us square in the eye-bones. This one starts out in earnest, and also for keeps, since the initial go on Sept. 20, finds several conference tussles and an intersectional go or so on tap. Among the league openers are: Baylor and Arkansas; Florida and Tulane; Georgia Tech and Kentucky; North Carolina and North Carolina State; Oregon State and USC; Oregon and Idaho; Duke and South Carolina and Washington State against Stanford.

Some of these may prove to be a little harsh to pry the lid off with. The paid prognosticators have, for the most part, already hit the deck with their guesses and probably have spent the money, which in some instances, was only partially earned. I don't think a few of them really tried.

One more old stand-by, Herman Hickman of Sport's Illustrated, joined Granny Rice and Francis Wallace in the ranks of the departed, and the quality of the forecasts lost a little, also.

Nationally, the top five favorites are: Ohio State, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Auburn and Michigan State. See outlying precincts voted for Ole Miss, Wisconsin, UCLA, North Carolina, Army, Clemson, Miami and TCU among others; course you don't get any trading stamps or rain checks with their guesses. Satevepost and Playboy, plus John Cronley, picked the Sooners as Number 1, and in the selections I perused, the Big Red was no worse than sixth. Ohio State, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame, Auburn, Michigan State, North Carolina and Ole Miss (who beat Texas 39-7 for the Sugar) are loaded. The last named club faces little or no schedule, a nicety that Oklahoma has been accused of adhering to.

In case you have not previously encountered them, maybe you would like to look at a brief on the major rule changes for 1958, these from the Official NCAA Guide. Except as otherwise indicated, the figures below refer to rule, section and article, respectively: Page 10 - 3 yard line to be marked instead of 2 yard line (the ball can be placed laterally anywhere on the 3 yard line for the try, naturally tipping the opposish as to your intentions).

3-3-4 - Number of free time-outs allowed each team per half reduced to 4. 3-5-1 - A player is eligible to re-enter the game once during any period. 6-2-1 - Free kick out-of-bounds between goal lines, untouched or last touched by team A, penalized 5 yards from previous spot (Only one kickoff try, from here on out).

7-3-8 - Privileges of team A players on pass play clarified (More air room?). 7-3-9 - Ineligible players may advance beyond the neutral zone after pass is thrown. Loss of a down deleted from the Penalty. (Ditto).

8-1-1 - On a Try, 2 points may be scored by Touchdown, one point for field goal or safety. 9-3-1-c - Emphasis on words or signals by Defense which obviously disconcert the Offense. 9-4-3 - In offensive blocking opponent may be contacted with only one hand or arm at any one time. A. R. 47 - Includes carrying of kicking tee on field by entering substitute.

Among the above are some controversial items that have many of the coaches in a dither and them that ain't probably, on some losing occasion, will tend to lean on one of them and a merry time will be had by one and all.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Benson have returned from a two-week vacation trip to points in Old Mexico and the Pacific Coast. They were accompanied by their daughter, Mary Lou of Dallas. They spent some time in Mexico City, where they enjoyed guided tours to scenic spots, old missions, historic places, visited famous restaurants and attended a ballet presentation.

Mrs. George Muse and Mrs. W. F. Gillis were in Lamesa last week on business and found crops in good shape. They reported good moisture had been received there this year and crop prospects were outstanding.

The press release was brief. It read: "It is my sad duty to inform you that the President died at 3:35 of a cerebral hemorrhage."

And No Pictures Either

It has been said that nobody brags more about a child than its grandparents - but a small group of Herefordites in that classification have formed an organization to combat the weakness, at least for a few hours out of each month.

They call it the Grandparents Bridge Club, and it consists of 12 grandmothers and grandfathers. The most unique project of the club, a challenge to all the members, is that no member must utter a word about his or her grandchild during the course of a meeting.

While drinking coffee one day, the grandfathers got to kicking around the idea of forming a club of this type, so we talked it over with our wives," Bob Lamm said. "They thought it was a good idea, too, so we organized the club."

The group held its first organized meeting Wednesday evening in the club room of the new First National Bank building. The club will meet twice monthly to play bridge and talk about - other things.

Members of the club include Mr. and Mrs. Pack Brogdon, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lamm, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Helton, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hardwick, Mr. and Mrs. Urlin Streu and Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Wade.

Aong with the list will be estimates on the approximate number of students who will be using each type of material.

"The school is not in the retail business and doesn't want to be," one of the sub-committee members told the C-C merchants committee meeting Friday morning. "We're now aware of the school's position on handling supplies and are in complete accord and sympathy with their operations."

The Hereford school system does have certain types of supplies on hand, the merchants were told. These are primarily for students who ride busses or who have forgotten to purchase supplies before they are needed. While the school charges retail prices on these items, the merchants reported, it also furnishes materials to many students who are unable to pay the cost, yet needs the items to do required work.

The school also handles many specialized workbooks, which are designed to be used in connection with textbooks. Lists of these workbooks also will be furnished merchants next spring.

Monday at 10 a.m. a coffee for Mrs. Roberts will be given in the First National Bank's Community Room. Mrs. R. G. Peeler is in charge of the affair, to which all "Rotary Anns" are invited.

Governor Roberts will make his formal address to the Hereford Rotary Club at the noon meeting Monday in the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom. Roberts is owner of Roberts Insurance Agency in Levelland.

He has been a Rotarian since 1935 and is a past president of the Levelland Rotary Club. Roberts was born in Vegreville, Alberta, Canada. He moved to Amarillo in 1925 and was graduated from high school there in 1931, at which time he began farming at Levelland. In 1947 he rented his farms and went into the insurance business.

He has been active in community affairs, serving as director of the Chamber of Commerce and Community Chest and as president of the Hockley County Junior Livestock Show for several years.

Roberts was elected as district governor of Rotary International for 1958-59 at Rotary's 49th annual convention in Dallas last June. He is one of 258 district governors supervising the activities of more than 9,800 Rotary Clubs, which have a membership of 462,500 business and professional executives in 110 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

No matter where Rotary Clubs are located, President Hardwick asserted, their activities are similar to those of the Hereford Rotary Club because they are based on the same general objectives - developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community - betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and strength, president Hardwick added. During the past fiscal year, 359 new Rotary Clubs were organized in 51 countries and geographical regions, bringing the total number of Rotary Clubs to an all-time high of nearly 10,000, while eight countries were added.

One of the most unusual features of the new McGee Furniture store is a large mural which covers the front of the balcony. It is a fine piece of work, and was painted by Mrs. McGee (there are two Mrs. McGees and we don't know which is the artist). Anyway, it certainly is worth seeing, as is the rest of the fine looking store. So Hereford adds still another business asset to Main Street and its reputation as a growing, progressive town.

Hereford moved well until a 15-yard penalty set their back and Canyon recovered a fumble on the next play. Two completed passes and a pair of delayed laterals moved the Eagles to the four-yard line, where Richardson called his own number and rolled out around end for his second TD. Halfback Chuck Nester banged across for the two extra points and Canyon went ahead, 14-8.

In the middle of the fourth quarter, Canyon's drive was stalled, so big Eddie Boydston booted a five-yard field goal from an extreme angle to give the Eagles their final markers. Fumbles and penalties marred the play. For the Eagles, it was their second victory of the season, as they took a win at Slaton last Friday. The AA school is seen as an outside contender for district honors this year, although they are not as strong as last year.

While Hereford was taking it on the chin, most of their future opponents were racking up victories.

Next Friday's game will be at Whiteface Field, when the Herd will host Dimmitt. The Bobcats dropped Sudan last week, 12-0, and downed Lockney 26-0 Friday night. All of their scores Friday came on the Littlefield downed Plainview 14-6 Friday. Both are future tests for the Herd. Levelland, another district opponent, whipped Brownfield 41-6 and Phillips clobbered Ector of Odessa 22-8. Dumas was slated to play Cathedral of El Paso Saturday night in Dumas.

In the Canyon game, big Eddie Boydston lived up to his junior notices. The 195-pounder was a barrelling fullback last year, but was moved to left half this year. He proved a potent threat on a pet Canyon play when he took a lateral from the quarterback and then had the option to pass or run.

Table with 2 columns: Hereford (8) and Canyon (17). Rows include 1st down, 2nd down, 3rd down, 4th down, total gain, passes at, passes com, passes intercept, opp. fumbles rec, punts, punt average, and yards penalized.

BY JIMMIE GILBERTINE
These potato boys sure can get upset in a hurry. Since the paragraph Thursday about the Hereford spud deal, I have been called everything from an ungrateful traitor right on down the line to just a plain, ordinary fool. Personally, I think the last definition fits best. Even Judas Iscarot got a few pieces of silver — and I was only trying to find out why my friends and neighbors can't market their potatoes.

One thing seems to have emerged out of the deal, however. The Amarillo produce houses undoubtedly have a tremendous buyer resistance when it comes to Hereford products. Most of the local dealers and handlers claim that the situation is due to the fact that same Amarillo firms are trying to break down the local price schedules. Furthermore, they can show you records where dealers in other cities have placed orders — day after day. They contend that the quality of Hereford potatoes, when marketed through legitimate channels and graded, have stood up pretty well beyond reproach.

Several local dealers opened up their books and actually showed me where Hereford spuds have consistently gone into Clovis, Lubbock, Tulsa and other market centers day in and day out, while Amarillo firms have been buying potatoes on the Colorado and Oregon markets.

W. H. Andrews with Growers and Shippers says that his firm was busy delivering Hereford spuds in Denver, Colo., as late as Aug. 8, and points out that this was a good two weeks after the Colorado deal got rolling. The reason: "Better Quality in Hereford". He says his firm alone has shipped 6,700 bags of Hereford spuds into Colorado, despite the additional freight from Hereford to Denver.

"Does this indicate that Hereford's will bring less on the market than Colorado's?" asks Mr. Andrews.

Otis Dickey at the Howard Gault sheds reports that he has one customer in Colorado who has a brother growing and shipping from the Greeley district, but says that the man pays extra freight on Hereford spuds, because his customers prefer the better quality grown in the Hereford district.

Another shipper reports that a Tulsa vegetable house started buying Hereford spuds the first day they shipped in July — and they were still loading out Friday for the firm — without a single complaint or cut-back during the season. The Tulsa wholesaler, they say, has averaged a huge van load each day, except Sundays, since the season opened.

Many of these folks will open their books and show you where Beaumont, Houston, Lake Charles, Oklahoma City and scores of other places have been good, regular satisfied customers.

Amarillo dealers, on the other hand, import potatoes from Colorado and Oregon, while growers in this area have potatoes running out of their ears. Since most of the local food stores are supplied by Amarillo houses, it is also figured that hundreds and hundreds of Hereford and Deaf Smith County citizens find themselves in the same boat.

Without the vegetable business, Hereford prosperity would be sorely taxed. There is no question about it. Amarillo, too, would feel the pinch. Right now, it looks as if, a lot of people who haven't given the situation much thought should rare up on their hind legs and demand Hereford potatoes when they buy. The food stores are going to handle what moves, and if they get enough demand, they will definitely get some Hereford spuds in their bins.

If the spud handlers can't sell direct to stores, I think they should get together and establish a dock price for the purpose — or operate their own wholesale outlet. It is bad enough when other Panhandle areas can't get Hereford potatoes but, when we eat some other kind around here, it is like cutting off your nose to spite your face.

I have been exposed to both sides of this deal and, despite the screaming I have listened to (some uncalled for and none to nice on the part of local spud men), I am convinced that Hereford growers are getting poor cooperation from the Amarillo outlets. Instead of kicking us in the teeth, they should be trying to help. The packers say that Amarillo firms are good customers whose spuds are scarce, but they would resist when the supply is plentiful and the price is low.

We can't control the wholesale houses in Amarillo any more than we can keep Hereford people from shopping in Amarillo. However, I would say that any potato grower's wife who spends money in Amarillo is almost as stupid as the spud boys say I am. And, Brothers That just about hits an all-time low point on anybody's totem pole.

I also hear that Jiggs Elliston has me in the dog house. Looks like I should have gone fishing last week. Even if I hadn't had a single nibble, I would have been away out in front.

GOOD NEWS! Hereford's mixed choir, under direction of Don Moore, has received a special invitation to attend and to appear at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas. The fair, incidentally, is the worlds' largest — and I'd like to see Alaska top that one. Congratulations, boys and girls and Mr. Moore. This is a real honor.

Odice Bulls says I have really have him in a fine mess, quoting him on the Miles Street gutters. However, he isn't giving up. He now calls it "Snuff Street". Says every block you have to stop and take a dip.

Herb Bippus is getting so he doesn't look right without his pipe. He went off cigarettes a few months back and shifted over to a pipe. Herb says it no longer bites his tongue, but I notice that he is gnawing away on the stem, which seems to be general procedure for any comparatively new pipe smoker.

Lyle Blanton, back in town after spending a lot of the summer on his ranch in South Dakota, says he is almost a stranger. Has to look twice before he can find someone he knows well enough to buy the coffee.

Henry Sears says he plans to take things easy for a few months and do nothing. His wife, however, is giving him two weeks; at the end of this time, she predicts Henry will be involved in something or other.

Harold Wester, kingpin of the Lions Club wrestling matches for something like three years, said this week that he is resigning the post. Slim has served as promoter, acted as referee and has even dodged a few pop bottles along the way — as the Saturday matches grew from a small handful of people into a community-wide affair, attracting 400 to 600 spectators each week. No announcement has been made regarding the new appointment, which will probably be made at the director's session Tuesday. Meanwhile, the fish had better hide around Conchas Lake. Slim, with time on his hands, will provide a shisher threat. We join the Lions in a sincere "Thank You" to Slim for a job well done.

The Rotarians and Optimists seem to be trying to outdo each other in the weekly bulletin business. Both clubs have real sharp editions. Just about as fancy as you will find... anywhere.

Louis Woodford and Bill Decker, back from the State Demo meeting in San Antonio, were mighty unhappy with Gov. Price Daniel and his handling of the controversial session. They went along with Sen. Lyndon Johnson and "Mr. Sam" Rayburn in criticizing Daniels last-minute slap as a breach of trust. Understand the convention did move to nominate Lyndon Johnson as a "favorite son" — and the action was unanimous.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Baird are recently back from an extensive trip in the Northwest. After visiting son, Bob, and family in Seattle, they also travelled into Canada before returning to Texas. Bob, they report, likes the country exceedingly well.

W. A. Helton says that little item about the guy who was born in Texas, raised in California, served in the Marines, lost 40 pounds on diet, quit smoking a year, etc., was far from complete. Somewhere, he figures, it should have mentioned that he had four or five grandchildren to talk about.

Masonic Night Is Observed

Hereford chapter of the Order of Eastern Star observed "Masonic Night" at a stated meeting in the Masonic Hall Tuesday night.

The program included a vocal solo, sung by Mrs. Ludie Green, a reading entitled "Ladies Take Heed", given by Mrs. Joe Deavenport, and piano selections, played by Sammy Lou McLallen.

Mrs. Mary King and Mrs. Reba Minor were welcomed as new members, and special guests were Mrs. Sally Simpson of Chickasha, Okla., and Mrs. Myrtle Reed of Amarillo, a former member of the chapter.

Silver Anniversary Celebrated Sept. 7

Mr. and Mrs. Don Zimmerman celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday, Sept. 7, at a garden party at their home, 107 Beach, between 7 and 9 p.m. They were assisted by their three sons, Donald, Ronald and Carl, who stood with their parents to welcome guests.

The back yard garden was ablaze with light, pointing up blooming shrubs, trees and flowers that bordered the wide expanse of the grass-carpeted lawn. Summertime dainties were served from a table laid with white linen and centered with blooming white chrysanthemums. Spaced arrangements of pink azaleas and Spider chrysanthemums also gave decorative accent to the background scene.

Assisting with the hospitalities were Mesdames W. C. Meharg, Grady Rogers, Roger Brumley, Roy Calvert, M. J. Noel and Worth Covington.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Zimmerman of Harlingen, parents of Mr. Zimmerman, who were here for the occasion.

B. degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1933. They met at a sorority dance while she was attending the University of Oklahoma in 1931, and were married shortly after his graduation in the Three Sands Methodist Church Aug. 29, 1933.

They moved to LeFors, where he taught school a couple of years, and in 1935 they moved to Oklahoma City, where he was employed with the Corporation Commission in Communications until 1940, when he became manager of the Dr. Pepper Bottling Company in Oklahoma City. October Wedding Date Set For Vella Kee Skypala, Mr. Ruland

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar O. Skypala are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Vella Kee, to Fred Douglas Ruland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ruland, Rt. 3.

The wedding will take place Oct. 26, at 4 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Skypala is a 1957 Hereford High School graduate and she attended West Texas State College last year. Her fiance attended Hereford Schools and was recently released from a two-year term of Army service in Korea.

He is presently employed with his father in the contracting business and the couple are planning to make their home in Hereford.

Double - Ring Ceremony Read In Home Of Bride's Parents

In a double-ring ceremony at 8 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 7, in the home of the bride's parents, Miss Carolyn Sue Knox became the bride of Dean Hacker, with the Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Debbs Knox, 133 Ave. B and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hacker, 142 Roosevelt.

The couple and their attendants stood before an improvised altar before the fireplace, arranged with pink and white asters and white hurricane lamps entwined with white pom pom chrysanthemums on the mantel. Emerald palm provided a wide background at either side of the mantel.

Mrs. Morris Hacker, pianist, gave the wedding music, playing the traditional wedding marches. Attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. Robert Noland, who served as matron-of-honor, and Lathan Sawyer, who served as best man.

The honor matron wore a pink nylon organdy frock, designed with fitted bodice having a scoop neck and short shirred sleeves with balloon skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds with stephanotis, bordered with petals of net and satin with shower streamers of satin ribbon.

Knox, escorted his daughter and gave her in marriage. She was gowned in French Chantilly lace over taffeta, featuring elongated bodice and portrait neckline outlined with scallops of lace. Long petal point sleeves were of taffeta, and the bouffant waist-length skirt of tulle was highlighted by scalloped lace panels.

Her tiara of taffeta, encrusted with tiny pearls, caught a waist-length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds and stephanotis, arranged with petals of net with loveknot satin streamers. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

The bride's mother wore a toast-colored sheath of taffeta and lace with a gardenia corsage, and the bridegroom's mother's dress was in blue taffeta. She also wore a gardenia corsage.

After the expenditure of countless hours of energy and enthusiasm in planning programs during the summer months, yearbook committees have completed outlines and assignments considering International Relations, Americanism, Religion, Science and Art.

Brunette to Blonde in Three Easy Steps!

Now, any homeowner, like the one shown above in the photo, can change an old dark wooden surface to a popular blonde or light wood finish without scraping or removing the old finish. A new wood finish especially designed for the older painted or stained furniture gives you a stained effect, that is tough and chip-proof - without spending time or patience stripping away the old surface, sanding and restaining. Its as simple as one, two, three! The homeowner at the right is completing the first step - a base coat in the same color as the desired finish. Next a coat of color grain is applied and then the stained effects are created with a dry brush as shown in the inset. Finally, an application of the clear finish results in a final product, like the end table at the left, which was previously the same color as the chair.

This means that the old table handed down from Aunt Sue or the fine old chair in the attic, garage or basement can take its place with the newer home furnishings. With a minimum of effort and three simple, foolproof steps, anyone can make the transformation from oldfashion to modern.

O'Brien's Lite Chrome is available in four colors: Satinwood, Silver Birch, White Elm and Honey Maple.

Irrigation Wells Silenced By Rain; Planting Starts

By MRS. HAROLD RUDD

The farmers are busy sowing wheat and making preparations for the harvesting of milo. The moisture received last weekend has silenced a lot of irrigation wells.

The Westway Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Harold Rudd Thursday afternoon. A round table discussion was held on the Care of House Plants. Officers were elected for the coming year. President will be Mrs. J. C. A SHORT HEAVE

HONOLULU (AP) — For the second time in the Coast Guards' history, one of its cutters has lost its helm.

A sailor reportedly came back on board the cutter Winnebago after liberty, removed the helm, and threw it over the side.

With a new helm on the cutter, Coast Guard officials ruefully commented it had happened only once before in the history of the service.

URAN WAY

QUICK-ACTING AND LONG-LASTING—URAN supplies urea, nitrate and ammonia nitrogen, an excellent combination to feed crops speedily and well—from sprouting to harvest.

EVEN-SPREADING—You can see where URAN goes when you spray it on. Even coverage makes uniform, vigorous crops and assures thorough, even decay of crop residues plowed under. Ideal also to mix with soil insecticides or weed killers.

When you plow under straw and stubble or work it into the soil before planting, it is wise to add fertilizer. Here's why. The billions of soil organisms that rot the plowed-down stubble and make it into soil-building humus, use up large amounts of nitrogen, phosphate and potash to grow and multiply and do their work.

"If sufficient nutrients are not available, the digestion of the raw organic matter will be slowed down. Less carbon will be absorbed into the soil and more of it will be released in the form of carbon dioxide. The limited nitrogen supply will have to be used over and over again in the repeated cycle of the growth, death and decay of the bodies of the microorganisms.

Irrigation Water And The Future

In its August bulletin, the Business Research Bureau of Texas Technological College presented a lengthy and comprehensive survey of ground water, its source, nature and future.

The records show that in parts of West Texas large quantities of water suitable for agriculture, municipal, and industrial purposes are stored in the natural underground reservoirs.

"The evidence is conclusive that where large quantities of water are being withdrawn for irrigation in the High Plains and the Trans-Pecos areas, the rates of withdrawal cannot be continued indefinitely."

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Trip In Covered Wagon Ended In Hereford Area

By MRS. E. L. CRISWELL

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Parker, 202 Catalpa St., have been married 59 years. They were married in Comanche County, Texas, in 1899.

Their sons live in Deaf Smith County, but their daughters are in different parts of the United States. One son lost his life during the war.

"I was born in Arkansas," said Mr. Parker. "My parents moved to Texas in 1888 and settled in Comanche County."

"My oldest brother came along as I was picking the burs from my feet, and I told him to bring me a pair of shoes or I was going to hire out to pick cotton, at least until I made enough to buy a pair of shoes."

"He brought me a pair of the next day. They were of heavy leather with iron buckles on them. The buckles rattled like a trace chain when I walked, but that did not bother me."

"I bought a blacksmith shop there and was quite busy for a while. I shod as many as 18 horses a day for a long time. On special occasions, I would trim, buff and varnish the hooves of horses for parades and shows."

"One year I worked with my three brothers in farming. We did the plowing with an old-fashioned Georgia Stock plow. Before the summer was over, one brother said he could make more money picking cotton for 50 cents per hundred weight than he could at farming."

"Of course we three could not pick that much cotton, and that was before the days of pulling bolls. We worked very hard, but we had to hire men to pick most of it."

"My oldest brother hauled the cotton to the gin. The ginner would not buy the seed and would not accept the seed for the ginning, so we had to pay $3 for the ginning and had to haul the seed home. Then there was the picking, which was an average of $8 per bale. Since we got only 3 cents per pound, which made $15 for an average bale, with $11 for ginning and picking, we had a total of $4 per bale left."

"Hello, George," he greeted the Negro. "Hello, Mistah Brown," was the reply.

"Do the folks around town remember me?" "O, yes, I remember you."

"Do they know I have been elected United States Senator?" "Yes, they know that."

"Well, what do they say?" "They don't say nuthin'. They just laffs."—Sleepy-Eye (Minn.) Herald-Dispatch.

Missing Link. Historians tell us about the past and economists about the future. Thus only the present is confusing.—Leader, Lake Mills, Wis.

No research is ever quite complete. It is the glory of a good bit of work that it opens the way for something still better, and this repeatedly leads to its own eclipse.—Mervin Gordon.

Injustice. A woman driver is a person who drives the same way a man does—only she gets blamed for it.—Star, Cambridge, Minn.

President at that time, and he was a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat.

"One thing that may seem funny now, but was not funny to me then, was the fact that I went barefoot while picking cotton that fall until the frost came. There was a grassbur patch between the house and the cotton field. The only way I could cross it was to sprint across, then stop and pick the burs from my feet."

"After our marriage, my wife and I traveled in a covered wagon, and looked for a place to make our home. We saw quite a bit of Texas before we settled in Deaf Smith County. We lived in Desdemona, which was called Hog Town, then in DeLeon, where I saw cotton lay in the ground or on it as the wind blew the top soil away and left it exposed for three years without sprouting. It was unsprouted when we left there. It was during those dry, dry years."

"While living in DeLeon, we heard how the town got its name. Legend states that Ponce De Leon, in his search for the Fountain of Youth, camped on the spot where the town was organized and now stands. Whether this is true or not, I do not know, but it is told for the truth."

"The most interesting thing to me was a group of large Negro men, carrying bales of cotton. A hole had been cut from the middle of a bale, and a Negro stepped in the hole and reached over the sides to catch the bagging and marched down the street singing. It attracted a lot of people. Our return trip was rather late, as we walked the 1 1/2 miles home to arrive just in time for breakfast."

"My first trip to Hereford was on horseback, a distance of 500 miles. I was 20 years old and I enjoyed it as an experience of my own. I saw a lot of new country, and the trip did not seem too long. I worked on the Norton ranch and did farm labor for a while before going back to Comanche County. We have farmed all around the Hereford area. I have worked hard all my life, and loved to work, but I have not worked much in the last few years."

"My wife has been a wonderful mother, cook, and seamstress. She was the best-dressed girl in the community. An orphan, she was raised by her grandmother. She lost her parents when she was very young. All the girls of the community came to her for help in making their clothes. She would cut out a dress and then sew it, as she did not want them to ruin the material. She thought they would ruin it if they were allowed to finish the garment."

"We were married by the Presbyterian pastor in Comanche," said Mrs. Parker. "I do not remember his name. I wore a black shirtwaist dress, with a white collar, cuffs and black shoes. I did not want to ask my grandmother for a wedding dress, as she had been very kind to me during the years of my growing up. I guess you would say that we eloped, as we did not tell anyone we were going to be married."

"I guess my hobby, besides the children, has been handwork. Embroider, applique, crochet and making and quilting beautiful quilts have been favorite work to me. I have given most of what I made to my children and grandchildren. I still have a Tulip Basket quilt that is quilted by the piece and a cherry quilt done in red and green on a cream colored background with a scalloped border. I used bias tape for stems and the border. I loved to applique pillow slips with any colored flower I could find to cut, and to sew it on with fancy stitches or make them of plain colors to embroider on. I have made several crocheted tablecloths, but I do not have them now."

"I love Hereford, and think it is a fine place to live and rear children. The people are so friendly and the climate is wonderful," she concluded.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

SCHOOLS TO AUCTION HOUSES

Three buildings owned by Olton schools, to be moved for classroom expansion, will be sold on auction Oct. 27. The homes used in the past for housing teachers, located on the south side of the elementary school block, will be put up for auction next month, members of the school board decided during a regular session Tuesday evening. The buildings will be sold one at a time, with the auctioneer starting at 10 a.m. All three will be sold to the highest bidder if the amount is considered acceptable by board members.

WHEAT SHIPPED TO ALGERIA

A dedication service was held Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 10, to dedicate a carload of wheat being shipped to needy people in Algeria from citizens of Ochiltree county. This carload of wheat represents the donations of many Ochiltree county farmers to CROP and was shipped on Sept. 11. The CROP program has been directed locally by Clyde C. Fry, district supervisor for CROP at Waka, along with other area workers. CROP is the Christian Rural Overseas Relief Program, administered by churches to provide food from America to those in other lands who are in need of it.

CITY TO START PAVING

Another paving project, this one originally for 14 city blocks in Dimmitt, may well mushroom into a big thing, as individual property owners over the city are working to get their streets either paved or completed. If all the streets are paved that are being worked on at this time, then nearly all of the city west of the square will be paved north and south, and there will be three north-south streets east of Highway 51 paved also. The city is also endeavoring to encourage citizens to pave left-out areas around the town. These dirt areas are 50 to 150 feet long and extend half way out into the street, and are there because the persons whose property is located adjacent to these areas have refused to pave in the past. Estimated cost of the paving will be from $4.53 to $6.92 per front foot. Ten per cent of the cost of paving will be borne by the City of Dimmitt, and the remainder will be assessed against property owners abutting the pavement.

NEW SANCTUARY ALMOST READY

The congregation at the First Methodist Church expects to have its first worship service in its new sanctuary on the morning of Sept. 21. DeWitt Seago, pastor, reported this week. Work of finishing that portion of the new building, as well as the installation of pews, is being completed rapidly. Open house will be held later on a date to be set.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm tries some international thinking this week, but not very successfully.

I have no idea how it got here; it's hard to explain, like how some men got to Congress or how some women got married, but yesterday morning I was out here on my farm walking around, not doing anything, when I found a copy of a newspaper caught on a fence post. When I worked my way over to it and opened it up, I discovered it was a copy of the London Daily Telegraph.

How a London paper got out here on this bindweed farm is beyond me; could have fallen out of an airplane or been dropped out of a car by some tourist, but if you think too hard on some things, you get nowhere. Most newspapers aren't made to think about; just to read, so I opened it up and read it, and what appealed to me was an editorial on the United States.

According to it, "the internal stability of the United States is of paramount concern to her allies," and the paper went on to say that "the American people are not yet accustomed to thinking in terms of their world responsibilities." It argued we ought to.

Now I can go along with this British paper's concern without internal stability, in a financial sort of way, but when it comes to thinking in terms of world responsibility, I don't see how we can swing it.

That is, after a man gets through thinking about his immediate responsibilities, then his city and county responsibilities, then his state and federal responsibilities, he hasn't got over ten or fifteen minutes left for the rest of the world. I know when I get to thinking, for example, about whether I ought to grow more of this or less of that, I ought to be thinking in terms of world responsibility. But, actually, what I'm thinking about is which one of 'em can I make the most money out of and how much will that lack in meeting my family responsibilities.

In fact, I could give more attention to my world responsibilities; would be glad to, if I could bring my family around to taking the same viewpoint. But the trouble with this country is that most families think they come first, whereas any world thinker knows English families ought to come first, or Egyptian families, or Indian families or any other kind. But I recognize we've got responsibilities to other parts of the world, but just for once I'd like to find somebody in the other parts who figures he's got some responsibilities toward me.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Most People Interviewed Favor State Sales Tax

Would you favor a state sales tax to help pay the increased cost of education?

MRS. GLENN B. ALLRED—If that's the only way of getting revenue for schools—and we surely do need the schools and equipment for the schools—then I say it is a very good idea.

FRANCIS THOMAS—if we are going to have to pay taxes anyway, we might as well pay them for the school. MRS. BILL McCABER—I would say that I favor it because it would ease the tax situation for the individual.

DON RAY PARSONS—I think it is a good idea because it would make taxing more simple, but there is always the annoying factors involved in state sales taxes. I'm not in favor of it nor do I dislike it.

DOLORES LOERWALD—I favor the state sales tax, not especially for increased cost of education, but also for general functions in all phases of the government, because it is a tax that would effect everybody, not only the property owner.

MELBA LAWRENCE—I most certainly do. That way everyone would help pay for their children's education instead of only a few. When you have a certain number of children, own your home and a few other things you don't have to pay school tax. But the smaller families, or people with no children at all, do have to pay. If we had a sales tax the large families would buy things and therefore help pay for their children's education.

Congressmen's Requests Filled By Burnis Walker

By TEX EASLEY
Washington (AP) — A congressman need never be stumped by a constituent's request for information on any subject under the sun. He has Burnis Walker, a good Texan, to fall back on.

Walker doesn't have all the answers in his own head, but he has them at his finger tips. He is an executive officer of the Library of Congress' Legislative Reference Service, which handled 70,000 queries last year. The service, set up in 1915, has grown steadily in size and now operates on a $1,300,000 yearly budget. Among the 200 employees are about 160 research specialists who earn up to $16,335 a year. Virtually all have college degrees. A great many wear Phi Beta Kappa keys.

Walker is a 1937 Texas Tech graduate who got another degree in library science in 1938 from Louisiana State University. He has been with the Library of Congress since 1939.

SMITHS OUTNUMBERED

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — The Spanish name Martinez still heads the list as this old Spanish capital city's most popular family name. The new telephone directory lists 163. As for Smiths, which dominate so many directories, there are only 48, and the Jones tally only comes to 31.

Enrollment for all sessions of the school year, which hit a record 8,512 in 1956-1957, is expected to approach 9,000. Some 6,400 are due for the fall semester alone, a new record.

Full-time faculty has also increased four-fold. The university's endowment has shown an even greater rate of gain and now stands at some $21,000,000.

The university was reorganized into its present eight schools and colleges under Dr. Sadler's guidance. Its curriculum and program have been extended in all areas. Plans are now well along to offer "top flight" doctoral degrees in several areas.

When Hunting The Male Animal, Adopt Proper Feline Manner

By VIVIAN BROWN
NEW YORK (AP)—Purr like a kitten and perambulate like a tigress, if you'd attract the male animal, girls.
That's the word from a connoisseur of women, Fernando Lamas, Latin-American star of stage and screen. He should know, for he has starred with some of the world's most exciting actresses.
"Women may be classified as animal, vegetable or mineral," laughs the popular Argentinian. "But it is true that the ones we like most fall into the animal kingdom realm, and are usually cat-like."
"There are all types of cats though," he adds. "Sophia Loren is definitely the fine type. She is like a tigress, undulating, soft, and shakes her hips gracefully with an elastic rhythm that is smooth and not wriggling. Her eyes are cat-like, too."
Another type of woman handles herself like a Siamese cat, they become interesting human beings in every way."
The mineral type?
"There are beautiful women in this category," Lamas says, "who, like diamonds, are exquisite but sparkle in cold light. They wear so many diamonds they look like rocks, and usually feel that way," he adds laughing.
"When her hair was dark, Rita Hayworth reminded me of a gorgeous sapphire. She looked more Spanish than she does today. And Anna Magnani is a volcano, a human dynamo that seems to spurt more energy than Mt. Vesuvius," he says.
Glamor girl Marilyn Monroe, says Lamas, reminds him of gold. "She is so kind, generous and warm, that gold seems to be her mineral. She could not remind you of platinum, for instance. It is too cold and colorless."
Vegetable types? They are the girls who've gained weight "and so they remind me of potatoes," says Lamas.
"I like cats and can get along with them," he says, "but I am always aware that I must be very careful with them, and it is the same way with women. No man who is normal can live without them, but he must always beware of them."

SOPHIA has the walk of a tigress.

"My wife (Arlene Dahl) is like that," he says. "She is soft, graceful, cuddly and beautiful."
"Then there are the wild cats. Spanish dancer Carmen Amaya is typical of that type. She is unexpected in her movements, never dances the same way twice, and you really never know, like a cat, which way she is going to jump," he says.
The panther type, may be likened to French star, Brigitte Bardot. "But a greyish panther, not a dark type," Lamas says explaining.
"She has a small face, striking eyes, a round head and prominent cheekbones, like the panther. She is willowy, smooth and graceful, not over developed, yet has tremendous sexual attraction."
"There are alley-cat-like women, too," he says, "who get themselves into compromising positions, but like the cat on the fence seem to land on their feet neat and cleanly."
Not all attractive women are feline types, however, muses Lamas. "There is Elizabeth Taylor who always reminds me of a beautiful black poodle, Esther Williams who is like a dolphin, Marina Vlady who is exactly like a wild deer—light and wild. She walks like a deer too, in a floating movement."
"Nor do all women remind me of animals," he adds, "just special ones. The magnetic quality of animals makes human beings more interesting. If a man is just like a man and a woman just like a woman, it is like a uniform. But when animal is added to their character, man, Clarence Betzen and Miss Lulu Botsford.

Guests and 4-H girls present were Judy and Phyllis Husman, Beverley Betzen, Linda Tooley, Pam and Sharon Hoffman, Linda Stewart, Alice Ann Caraway and Nan Neal.

Hospital Radio WELL Helps Listeners Get That Way Fast

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The world's first complete closed circuit hospital broadcasting station, including television and radio reception in one unit with individual pillow speakers for patients, is operating at Milwaukee Misericordia Hospital.
Called the Televiever, the system was developed by The Dahlberg Co., a Minneapolis hearing aid and electronics manufacturer. Operated from a master console, the station includes facilities for tape recordings, records and piped-in programs. Its call letters: WELL.
Misericordia's administrator, Sister Superior Marie De Liese, said the installation has proved to be "a very worthwhile therapy," particularly with children and surgical patients.
"Before an operation," a patient said, "you feel like you're about to flip. But now you flip from channel to channel."
The pillow speakers have finger-touch controls for TV channels and radio station selection, activating the video and audio reception on the set and permitting the switch from TV to conventional hospital radio or to the closed circuit reception.

OPTOMETRY: The Art and Science of Visual Care

"Oh, what a shame!"

Jimmy had to put on glasses—and he's so young!
"Yes, Clara, he did. But you know what . . . Dr. Roberts said that such an eye problem as his couldn't have been corrected 25 years ago."
"Back in those days youngsters with Jimmy's eye problem grew up unable to do well enough in school to make passing grades. Then, children's chances of achieving much in life were very poor."
"Now, thanks to optometric science, Jimmy is able to learn and to adjust himself. We're SO grateful that optometry could provide him an equal opportunity to live a good normal life."
A professional optometric examination might mean the difference in your child's future.

Hans Guldmann Jr. Gives Advice To Flower Growers

Galveston, Tex. (AP) — Summertime gardeners who tire of mowing the grass, weeding the flower beds and poisoning the bugs can take some tips from Hans Guldmann Jr.

Switch to "water gardening," he'll tell you, "and enjoy some of the most beautiful and fascinating blossoms to be found."

Oddly enough in this island city on the Texas coast, Guldmann is one of the few residents who makes a hobby of growing water lilies. He cultivates the lilies in eight broad pools.

Guldmann says anybody with even a slight do-it-yourself knack can dig the holes and pour some concrete for the pools. And the lilies for the most part are hardy and inexpensive.

Once they are in the pool there is little to do except sit beside it in the cool of the evening, contemplate the beauty of the night bloomers and sniff their fragrance.

"There is no lawn to mow

— just put a hose beside the pool once in awhile to let fresh water run in," Guldmann advises. "There is no back-bending to pull weeds. Just pick up a few dead leaves occasionally, not under the sun but at night when it is cooler."

That's in the summer months. In the winter it's even simpler. Guldmann says the tubers can be replanted for as long as five years and they multiply greatly.

He digs everything up after the first cold winter winds, bottles the tubers in wet sand and stores them until about February. Then he takes them out and puts them in containers so they can start to grow.

When they are large enough he puts them in pots. By the middle of April they are ready for the pools again.

There are no bugs to contend. Guldmann puts spotted Gambusia (minnows) in the pools and they eat all the mosquito larvae.

His collection of water lilies, both day and night bloomers, are extensive and beautiful.

One of the most spectacular is the Victoria Cruziana. The leaf grows to gigantic proportions and, with a slight brace, can support as much as 100 or more pounds.

The top of the bright green round leaf curls around the edge like a boat. It feels and looks like a heavy plastic. Radiating beams underneath thicken into triangular braces against an arched formation studded with sharp spires.

Like most hobbyists, Guldmann delves into the history of his plants.

The Victoria was discovered in 1801 by a Dutch botanist in the Amazon River headwaters. For more than 50 years no way was found to grow it elsewhere. Finally in about 1850 the seeds were taken in a valve of water from Venezuela to England to the famed Chatsworth castle of the Duke of Devonshire. The first bloom prompted a celebration.

Flowers of the Victoria are a magnificent white the first night. The second night of their life they turn pink.

Fragrant and large as a platter is the Missouri, another white water lily Guldmann prides. It came from Africa. He has a reddish purple one from India named the Pride of California.

His day-blooming pink Egyptian Lotus is especially beautiful. When he shows them, Guldmann recalls that the Lotus revived after discovery of seeds in Tokyo. Radioactive devices showed them to be more than 3,000 years old.

Guldmann thinks his love of water lilies began when he was about 10 and was taken on a tour of the famous Shaw's Gardens in St. Louis.

But it wasn't until about six years ago that he became a serious water gardener.

The Tiwi tribesmen on Melville and Bathurst Islands off the north coast of Australia have no agriculture, no tools and no domestic animals except the dog, says the National Geographic Society.

Future Conservation Needs Discussed At Soil Meeting

By MAX SCHRADER

The initial step in determining the future conservation needs of the various districts was taken last week when representatives of various agencies met in Hereford to discuss the procedures used.

Attending the joint meeting were district supervisors, ASC chairmen, ASC office managers, F. H. A. supervisors and vocational agriculture teachers from Potter, Randall, Deaf Smith and Parmer counties.

Among those attending from Hereford were Luther Lesly, chairman of the Tierra Blanca SCD Board of Supervisors, W. N. Hodges, chairman of the Deaf Smith County ASC committee, Faust Collier, ASC office manager, Jess Robinson, vocational agriculture teacher, W. H. Johnson, F. H. A. supervisor, Herbert Burns, soils scientist, SCS, and Max Schrader.

Arch Fowler, F. H. A. supervisor from Muleshoe, was chairman of the group. Fowler and Herb Burns discussed the methods used in arriving at the amounts of different types of land in each county and the method to be used in working up the conservation needs.

Burns described the different soil types that are found and the classification of each, according to their need, conservation-wise.

The basis for determining the long-range needs of the land in each district is the soils survey. Burns has been busy making up a soils inventory in five Panhandle counties. The information gathered by Burns includes soil depth, texture, permeability slope and the amount of past damage from erosion.

He then classifies each area according to its susceptibility to erosion and its present use. The local committees attending this meeting will now determine the conservation needs of each type of land and the use which will keep it in its most productive condition.

This Conservation Needs inventory is a nation-wide program. The future needs of the land is being determined in all areas of the nation.

WALCO DRILLING COMPANY
Throughout the High-Plains Area...

One of the area's most vital industries today is water well drilling and well developing. No longer is well producing the simple matter it was ten years ago. Now a source of water must supply domestic and municipal water along with irrigation. A great deal of know-how has made this operation an exacting science instead of a hit-and-miss proposition.

Well drilling takes experience and good equipment and Walco Drilling Company can be credited with having both. One of the most experienced crews in the entire High Plains area is on hand to serve the needs of the farmer in his irrigation, the rural home, and municipal water needs.

Walco Drilling Company, established in May of 1957 under the ownership and management of Paul Conway and Billy Wall, boasts an experience record of nearly thirty-five years in the drilling business.

The rig and crew is very capably managed by Billy Wall while Paul Conway handles the book work and office management. The office is located at 416 Avenue "J".

In the past twelve months Walco has put down some fifty wells in a seven county area in Texas and various wells in New Mexico and Oklahoma. One of the New Mexico wells was put down at Cannon A. F. B. This complex operation required many of the latest innovations in drilling and a great amount of previous well experience.

Mr. Farmer, if your water supply is not sufficient for handling the crops you raise, why not go by Walco Drilling Co. at your earliest convenience and let Paul Conway figure with you on your drilling needs. They can save you money by giving you a fast, complete estimate and then by doing an expert job in the drilling of the well.

No Deaths For 68 Years In The Large Warnes Family In Iowa

FOR A DODGE, Iowa (AP) — A long-lived family here has not lost a member since 1890. The family circle now totals 98 persons.

Its patriarch is W. E. Warnes, who with his wife Jessie now lives in the Friendship Haven home for elderly persons.

Warnes celebrated his 102nd birthday last April 5. His wife was 93 in March.

In the family are five children, 16 grandchildren, 41 great-grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Centenarians are not uncommon in Iowa which shares with Vermont and New Hampshire the distinction of having the nation's largest percentage of senior citizens in its population.

But in the sturdy Warnes family, the last death was the patriarch's first wife. She passed on in 1890 leaving him four little girls to care for. Two years later his deceased wife's sister came from her home in England to become his wife. They have one son.

Data on the remarkable family was brought to light by the Institute of Gerontology at the State University of Iowa and Dr. Clarence Tompkins, executive director of Friendship Haven.

The Institute notes that if there's any factual basis for the saying that to attain long-life, you should pick forbears who lived long, future generations of the Warnes family should be well provided.

Warnes and his wife both credit church work for helping them attain great age.

For 40 years, Warnes taught a Sunday School class in Methodist Church in Eagle Grove. The family lived there from 1885 to 1952.

Each year Warnes is elected an honorary lay preacher of the church, an office he actively held for a number of years. He has helped officiate at the weddings of several of his grandchildren and can still recite long passages from the Bible.

The Warnes moved to Friendship Haven when his eyesight and hearing both became dimmed. But his memory continues excellent and he can still enjoy the company of family and friends.

One of his granddaughters is Mrs. Robert McInelsohn, wife of the director of the State University of Iowa School of Religion. Warnes is a native of Norfolk, England.

He has been a resident of the United States since 1883.

No Texas Baseball Clubs Folded During 1958 Season

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Professional baseball in Texas did the unheard of. It's finished with the same clubs that started.

Nobody can remember a season in which every club that began was around at the close. Even in the prosperous years there were financial troubles.

It is a known fact, that minor league baseball isn't doing very well. Also, Texas was reduced to its all-time low of only 11 clubs.

But the Texas League came up with an "angle" to take over the Dallas club — wealthy J. W. Bateson.

Victoria and Corpus Christi showed increases over their predecessors. Dallas lost money, but still did better than expected.

A flock of major league clubs have indicated they may be willing to line up with the Texas in furnishing most of the players and-sharing the expenses in return for which the Texas League will develop young bonus players.

The major leagues have recognized the fact that the minors will fade out unless they do something for them.

There are excellent prospects that a rookie or sophomore league, with major league backing, will be formed in East Texas next season.
