Auction, Flying Net MOD $900

Combined total of the "Fly For Polls" and radio auction projects for the March Of Dimes drive Sunday amounted to nearly $900. Pleasant weather made a fruitful haul of the flying project. The first project of its kind in the Tri-State area, the "Fly For Polls" program totaled $410, according to Benny Womble, chairman. The Hereford Jaycees, shooting toward a $600 goal, reported the auction fell short of expectations when $495 was reported at the end of the program. The Jaycees collected $1,600 during the auction last year, according to Dale Barkley, head of the program. Womble said 11 planes provided. (Continued on page 2)

Several months of local controversy will come to a climax Saturday when Karen Andre goes on trial for murder in 69th District Court. Indicted by the District Grand Jury last October, Mrs. Andre will face a panel of twelve jurors in what is expected to be one of the most dramatic trials in the county's history. Judge Heath will preside. In participation with the current March Of Dimes Drive in Deaf Smith County, members of the Thespian Society, honorary speech organization at Hereford High School, will present an authentic courtroom drama, "Night of January 16th." The production will be staged in 69th District Courtroom, in the County Courthouse, beginning Saturday night. Other presentations of the Ayn Rand play will be Feb. 5 and Feb. 7. The play starts at 8 p.m. each night. A unique feature of the true-to-life drama is that members of the audience will serve as jurors. At random, twelve jurors will be selected from the audience as they enter the door. If a person agrees to jury duty, he will be admitted free of charge and will be paid for jury service. As jurors decide the verdict, the play necessitates two different endings. Members of the cast will not know which ending to use until the jury foreman announces the jury's verdict — whether they find the defendant guilty or innocent. Proceeds of the play will be split between March Of Dimes and the Thespian Society, according to Carroll Hickey, high school speech instructor. Playing the leading role will be Janie Bookout as Karen Andre, the defendant. Cast as her

Three Days Left To Buy Poll Tax

More than 2,500 eligible voters in Deaf Smith County had not purchased poll taxes Wednesday morning, according to Mark Waddell, assistant tax assessor-collector. With a Saturday deadline facing county residents, only 442 receipts were sold this week, bringing the total to 1,385. The County Tax Assessor-Collector's office will close at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Fathers To Join 'Mothers March' Thursday Night

A new group — "Fathers" — will join the annual Mothers' March Of Dimes drive in Hereford this year, according to Mrs. Stanley Slagle, chairman of the project. Representatives of nine women's clubs and two men's clubs will meet at the Jim Hill Hotel at 6:30 Thursday evening to begin the march. The march is expected to be completed in about an hour, Mrs. Slagle said. About 100 club representatives are expected to join the march and conduct a house-to-house canvass of Hereford. Residents are asked to leave their porch lights on if they wish to contribute to the drive. The drive totalled about $1,500 last year, according to Paul Harvey, county chairman of the drive. Atty. General Talks To Lions

In what lived up to its advance billing as a "non-political" talk, Texas Attorney General Will Wilson described the activities of his office's fight against crime in Texas during a talk in Hereford Wednesday. Wilson's address before the Hereford Lions Club was one of many talks the chief lawyer of the state is currently making in the Panhandle. Although his name has been mentioned frequently in the past few months as a possible candidate for governor of Texas, Wilson continued to make no comment on the speculation, saying that any such announcement will have to wait. During his half-hour talk, Wilson described the current actions and events in Texas law enforcement, as handled by the Attorney General's office. Wilson first described the now-famous action which closed down some 60-odd gambling houses in Galveston after local authorities had failed to take any action. With the "massed forces of the Texas Rangers" to enforce the law, the syndicates moved out and the gambling houses were closed. "People in Galveston had been sold the idea," Wilson said, "that organized rackets would bring in more people and more money. This is an idea that was started by Boss Tweed, in New York City." But the citizens of Galveston have now found, Wilson said, that all of the building indexes of growth — building permits, utilities, postal re-

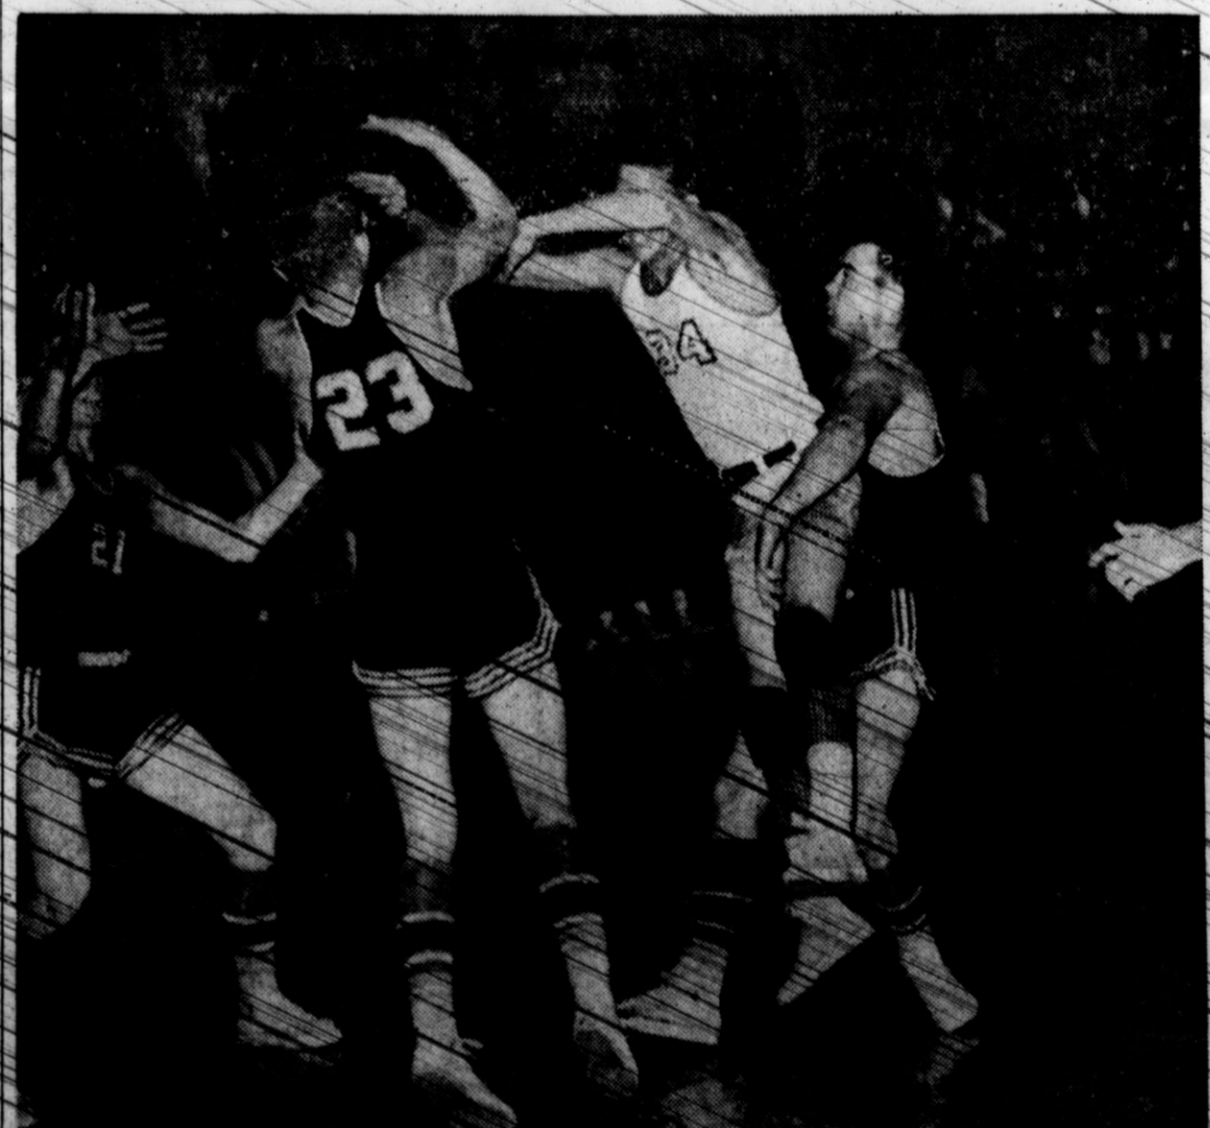

Denver Honors To Dameron Cattle

Bringing attention of Hereford cattle breeders back to the traditional home of the breed — Hereford, Texas — was accomplished last week in Denver, Colo. Bill Dameron took top honors in his first try at the huge National Western Livestock Exposition in Denver last week. His cattle came from the long-established Dameron of Hereford Ranch in Deaf Smith County. Winning first place in the senior bull calf carload category were 15 young bulls from the Dameron spread. The feat of winning the first year is unprecedented in the annals of the Denver show, which is called the "show-window for cattle breeders of the nation", and is the largest stock show in the U. S. "We feel that we gained a lot of friends for Hereford breeders in the area with our display," Dameron said. Although the Dameron Hereford Ranch has been in business since 1915, this was the first year for the ranch to enter animals in the Denver show. And it marked a record when a first-year outfit took top honors. There were 202 entries in the division won by the Dameron cattle. Another first was chalked up when Dameron sold the (Continued on page 2)

District Judge Asks Courtroom Renovation Of Court, Jury Panel

District Judge Harry Schultz made two pleas Monday for the modernization of the 69th District courtroom, in the Deaf Smith County courthouse. One of the appearances was a short chat with Deaf Smith County Commissioners as they opened their regular meeting Monday morning. The other came as Judge Schultz implored 116 Petit Jury prospects Monday afternoon. Early in January, Judge Schultz had written a letter to the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court asking that they consider remodeling and renovating the district courtroom at the earliest possible time. In his brief session with County Commissioners, Judge Schultz asked what plans were being made and was pleased when told that the court is working on a tentative program to modernize and renovate the entire courthouse. Judge Schultz explained that he felt it was his (Continued on page 2)

Herd In First Place With 70-37 Win Over Dumas; Lobos Here Friday

Hereford took a firm grip on first place in District 1-AAA Tuesday night by trouncing the Dumas Demons 70-37. It dropped Dumas from the ranks of the District in-debated and a tie with the Herd. The Whitefaces, with a 22-3 season and 3-0 loop record, face dangerous Levelland here Friday night to end the first half of conference play. Levelland is tied for second place with a 2-1 slate. Before a bulging home crowd, Hereford gave Dumas another lesson in ball-hawking basketball. The Demons earlier had fallen before the Whiteface stampede in the Hereford tourney finals. The Demons owned home court victories over Levelland and Littlefield but found the sledding too tough against the potent Herd cagers. Hustling Donnie Renfro proved to be the key to victory Tuesday as he kept the pressure high against the Demons and turned defense into offense with his amazing ball-stealing tactics and relentless drive. Four Herdsmen slammed into the double figures scoring column for the night. Steve Slagle and Bobby Shelton shared top honors with 15 each. Ken Clearman swished in 14 and Renfro tossed in ten. High for the Demons was alternate center John Mooneyham, who hit 12. Big James Walton was handcuffed all night as he tried to scratch in the scoring column. He habitually heads up the Dumas scoring attack. Hereford used a tight defense (Continued on page 2)

Benefit Group Elects New Head

A. J. Schroeter was elected president of the Hereford Benefit Association at the annual meeting Saturday afternoon in the Commissioners Court Room. Schroeter was elected during a called board meeting when the outgoing president, Ralph Smith, stated that he would like to be relieved of the office which he has held for several years. Mrs. Bracie Rose was re-elected secretary and C. C. Acker was re-elected to serve as treasurer another year.

The board of directors, consisting of Mrs. Dyalhia Benson, Fred Baird, Ralph Smith, A. J. Schroeter, H. E. Henslee and Bruce L. Miller, was re-elected. The Hereford Benefit Association was organized in 1908 as a local Mutual Aid Association for the purpose of providing death benefits on the assessment-assisted plan for all members. Any person interested in the local organization is invited to investigate.

Household Scrapbook

Furniture Polish
Equal parts of boiled linseed oil, turpentine, and white vinegar, applied with a bit of wool material and polished with a silk cloth renews the finish on furniture, concealing small blemishes.

Complexion Hint
Rubbing the skin once or twice a day with ripe tomato will clear the complexion. Buttermilk, taken internally and also used as an external cleansing agent, will aid materially in clearing the complexion.

Molasses
It is easy to measure molasses accurately if the measuring cup or spoon is dipped into scalding water before measuring. This will keep the molasses from sticking to the sides of the cup.

Shiny Clothing
Remove the shine from dark suits by rubbing lightly with very fine sandpaper. Dampen a shiny navy skirt or pair of trousers with bluing water and press while still damp. Shiny suits may also be sponged with vinegar before pressing.

Silver
Eggs have a way of darkening silver, and these stains may be removed by rubbing with moist salt. Finish by washing in ammonia water.

Ink on Wood
Black ink may be removed from wood by washing with soap and water, using salt, vinegar, or lemon, and rinsing thoroughly.

Crochet Work
To keep crochet work from unraveling when laying aside, pull the last loop out long enough to pass the ball through. This fastens it securely and it may easily be opened in the same way when resuming the work.

Hair Rinses
Lemon in the rinse brings out the beauty of blonde hair. Vinegar should be used by brunettes. Use the lemon or vinegar in the next to last rinse, following with one of clear water.

The Mustard Jar
Sometimes the inside of the silver-plated lid of the mustard jar or horseradish jar will turn green. If this happens, coat it with a thin layer of paraffin.

Candle Grease
When candle grease has dropped onto one of your good rugs, scrape it off with a spoon, rather than a knife which would injure the fibre. Press the spot through a blotter with a warm iron. Repeat until the grease is removed, shifting the blotter from time to time to keep a clean surface over the spot.

Coal—by the ton

There are standards

Lumber—by the foot

Wheat—by the bushel

Gasoline—by the gallon

for advertising, too!

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you how much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Snow Falls Early Tuesday In Area

By MRS. T. L. COLLINS
Tuesday was a cold day at Walcott, with snow falling in the early afternoon. Telephone service was hampered and electricity was off early Tuesday evening.

351 Deer Killed By State Hunters

AUSTIN — Approximately one-third of the hunters who received permits to shoot on management areas of the Game and Fish Commission during the season just closed killed their deer. This is contained in a report of the director of wildlife management.

Best kill of the season was reported on the Kerr Wildlife Management area, where there was a 59.70 per cent kill by 201 hunters who bagged 129 deer. More than 4000 persons had applied for permit, but only 250 were issued, after their names had been pulled in a public drawing.

The Sierra Diablo area, in far west Texas, produced a 50 per cent kill for 66 hunters who got 33 deer. There were 504 applicants for the 80 permits on this area.

On the Black Gap area there were 133 deer killed by the 313 hunters, for a 42.49 per cent success. A total of 401 permits were granted for this hunt.

*The Engeling area in East Texas produced 55 deer for 209 hunters reporting, giving the area a 26.31 success.

There were only 10 deer killed on the Angelina area, where 323 hunters reported out of 551 names drawn. The success here was only 3.9 per cent.

In totals there were 351 deer killed, or approximately half those marked for kill when the hunts were set up. This amounted to 31.56 per cent kill for the 1112 hunters reporting. Of the kill there were 176 bucks and 175 antlerless. There were also 24 javelina killed during the season.

'Biddy', Easter Chick, Shows Her Gratitude

By ARGENT DRAPER

"You know, I can hardly believe it!" thought Biddy, the White Rock hen. It all started last Easter when a very kindly woman bought some Easter chicks for her children. She bought purple ones, red ones, blue ones, and one pretty little cloud pink one. The store man told the woman that he hoped her family had a happy Easter.

They all seemed to, as the children's eyes were brighter and their voices more shrill as they talked about new clothes and egg hunts. Things buzzed for a few days and then everything was quieter.

The funniest thing happened one day — little white feathers showed up on the wings of the cloud pink chick. It worried her until she noticed they were on the wings of all the Easter chicks. After a spring shower the color was all gone and the chicks were pure white but the little cloud pink one seemed to be different. She was more alert, had more poise and was just a little bit better.

In the summer this family went to Grandma's and asked James, the neighbor boy, to tend the chickens. He was so faithful and did such a good job the folks gave him Biddy, the pullet that used to

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

'Chicken Or Egg' Problem Facing Texas Lawmakers

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — Texas lawmakers face the old "chicken or egg" problem as they move into the session's main issue — money. Is it best to decide first how much the state must spend to keep its various programs going and then scrape up tax money to cover them? Or should the tax take be set first and the pie sliced up accordingly?

Thus far, both problems are being juggled at the same time. Already the mathematical acrobatics are spreading jitters among spectators — both appropriation seekers and tax worriers.

Gov. Price, Daniel is prescribing a two-pronged, $210,000,000 plan to cure state fiscal ailments.

First prong is to raise $65,000,000 to pay off the debt expected in the general revenue fund by the end of this fiscal year. Second prong is to raise $72,800,000 a year ($145,600,000 for the next biennium) to cover spending from the general revenue fund.

Sources for this money would include: (1) a natural gas severance tax, (2) an increase in levies on motor vehicle sales, tobacco and corporation franchises and (3) unclaimed bank deposits, insurance policies and property, which the state would take over.

Governor Daniel increased his previously recommended budget by nearly $20,000,000 to include appropriations for retiring state bonds, providing medical care for people on welfare rolls, a driver education program and advertising for tourists and industry.

Total two-year spending from general revenue would be $330,000,000.

Compared to the governor's proposal, the Legislative Budget Board's recommendation for general revenue fund spending looks modest — only $285,000,000.

Though the Board's spending would be nearly $45,000,000 less than the governor's, it still would be some $4,600,000 higher than the 1958-59 appropriation.

Budget Board suggests slight increases for the judicial system, executive and administrative departments, hospitals and special schools, public schools and highways. Small cuts were recommended for junior colleges and higher education.

Spending from all funds for state government would total $2,357,347,479.

Rep. Frates S. Seeligson of San Antonio has prepared an extensive plan to overhaul and beef up the state's tax collecting.

Topping the list would be a 1.5 per cent sales tax with food, feed and fertilizer exempted. It would bring an estimated $67,000,000 annually.

Another Seeligson bill would reclassify present tax laws. It would do away with some regarded as obsolete (such as on clock peddlers, street cars) and others called "inequitable" (on chain stores, stock transfers, radio, TV, cosmetics, etc.) Same bill would eliminate certain exemptions and revise other taxes, mostly upward, on motor vehicle, tobacco and liquor sales. Net gain from the revisions would be a $11,500,000 a year gain in revenue.

Like Daniel, Seeligson recommends that the state take over unclaimed money and property.

Seeligson was vice-chairman of the State Tax Study Commission that spent the between-sessions months working on tax problems.

Governor Daniel and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey both declared at their inaugural that they have sympathetic hearts for Texas taxpayers.

Governor Daniel proposed greater efficiency and economy by combining some of the 175 separate agencies and 213 special accounts operated by the state.

Ramsey promised there would be "no stringing up of the un- (See Austin Page Two)

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Session Of Congress Beginning To Move

To the people of the 18th District:

This session of Congress will be fully organized and operating much quicker than any session for a long time. There are 91 new members. This required a tremendous amount of work in making shifts in committee assignments and getting the committees fully manned.

Many of the older members wanted to change committees and many of the new members had their own ideas as to the committee on which they wanted to serve. Nevertheless, the committee having charge of making committee assignments both on the Democratic side as well as the Republican side of the aisle, moved with great speed and did a splendid job. Most of the committees have had organizational meetings and set up their subcommittees. I was assigned to the committees on which I have served for several years.

These are the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. I will serve on the Subcommittee on Transportation and Communications of the Interstate Committee.

This subcommittee has jurisdiction of all interstate surface transportation, such as railroads, buses, trucks, airlines, etc., and jurisdiction of all interstate communications such as television, radio, telephone, and telegraph. On the Interior Committee has jurisdiction of irrigation projects and all matters under the reclamation laws. It includes multi-purpose projects such as dams providing water for irrigation, water for human consumption, the generation of electrical energy, recreation, fish and wildlife, etc.

It also includes water rights compact between the states. Jurisdiction is also exercised over the saline water program. This is a program of research to develop methods of removing the salt content of sea water or other saline water deposits, so that the water can be utilized for industrial purposes and also human consumption.

Although splendid progress has been made on this program in the past, the cost features of removing the salt have not been reduced to the point where this operation is economically feasible. We do hope to make much greater headway within the next few years. Once this problem is solved, it could turn out to be one of the greatest contributions of mankind to everlasting peace.

The session so far has been highlighted by four items. First was the State of the Union Message by President Eisenhower; second was the Budget Message; third was the Economic Report of the President, and fourth was the appearance of the President of the Argentine Republic, His Excellency Arturo Frondizi. President Frondizi addressed a joint session of the Congress.

Taking up these highlights in the order named for discussion, let's begin with the President's State of the Union Message. I treated this in an earlier newsletter and will not repeat except to say that it was a message with which no one could disagree, except as to a few isolated items.

The same cannot be said of the Budget Message. It was the

GEORGE HEARD VISITS 'VENICE OF MID-EAST'

Swamp, Forest And Desert Areas Found In Basra

(Editor's Note: George Heard, Hereford resident, is currently employed as a chemical engineer in the Daura Refinery, a government-owned installation.)

By GEORGE HEARD

Dear Folks: During the Christmas holidays, Margaret and I took a few days away from Baghdad and went to Basra, which is Iraq's principal port. It was not such a pleasant trip, but it was of some interest to us. Travel in Iraq is not as it is at home as we think nothing of a 270-mile trip, but here it takes a good deal of thought and investigation and preparation.

As this is a police state, it took several days, really about two weeks to get permission to travel. It was really difficult to convince them that we wanted to go to Basra just to look around. After we had been there I could see that there could be some doubt as to whether a sane person would want to go to Basra.

There are several means of transportation to Basra. The trains make the trip overnight in 14 hours. We thought this would be good, but we were advised against this as one man spent most of the night having his baggage searched by police. The condition of the road was doubtful and subject to many police searches. We ruled out came and boat transportation as these were too slow. So we went by plane.

It was a good choice as the day was clear and en route we could see the mountains in Persia on one side and the river country of Iraq on the other. It was a particularly good view of the swamp country and I am sure by no other means could we have realized the extent of this water area.

After seeing this it is easy to believe that Noah could have had his world covered with water. It would not take many inches rise in water level to have a lake 200 miles across. Basra is called by some people the "Venice of the Middle East." I have not yet been to Venice, but I am going to expect more than is in Basra. The canals in Basra are not always full of water and are generally filthy beyond description. The river there, Shatt Al Arab, is rather busy and the quait, but filthy Arab boats are of interest. The hotel situation there is not good and too expensive. We hired a car with driver and looked over the country in three directions from the city.

But first we had to make the necessary calls on the US Consul and report to the police. It was no surprise to us to find the employees at the consulate scared. They are the same here in Baghdad. It seems that to be a good US Consul employee you must be constantly in a state ranging from frantic to panic.

The Iraq police in Basra were certainly not frantic, but as might be expected, they were confused. They did not know what to do with me after I reported.

There are several schools of thought as to the location of the Garden of Eden. I am too ignorant of the subject to plead the merits of any location, but we did drive up to see the one at the confluence of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers at a town called Quarna. That spelling is wrong, I am sure, as they pronounce it as though it were somewhere between Kerma and Gurna.

The drive up there was of interest because the country is very different from that around Baghdad. It is on the edge of the swamp country. The houses are made from reeds with some of them plastered with mud. Around Baghdad houses of the poor are made of mud walls. Some of these houses of reeds are quite neat.

There are a lot of new temporary schools built of reeds. During the dry season it is possible to drive in the edge of these swamps and see even nicer reed houses than are seen along the road. The road in this direction is very good as far north as Amara.

The pictures taken of this Garden of Eden spot look much better than it is. Quarna is just another dirty little Arab town and the spot where they claim is the location of the Tree of Knowledge is a disappointment. They still have a tree-trunk lying there that they claim to be the tree. They call it Brahmeh Khalil.

As you might expect we attracted the usual crowd of little boys and several men. They seemed very proud of what they were showing us, but as we spoke no Arabic and they spoke no English, it was some time before they found an English speaking native to tell us what we were supposed to be seeing.

We were treated very nicely by them and there was no objection to taking pictures as there is around Baghdad. I know they hear the anti-American propaganda, but have no explanation as to why it had not been along the road. It is quite common around Baghdad to have little kids tell us to go home.

This Garden of Eden spot could be made to be very beautiful. The rivers and growth of trees, reeds, shrubs give enough of a natural setting that a little other work and planning could create quite an attractive spot for spring and fall tourists.

Our drive to the east of Basra was along the river and through the Palm forest. This part of the drive was very different from that to the northeast. It is difficult to believe that the date palms can be so thick and extensive.

This strip of forest is over 400 miles long and will probably average 10 miles wide. It is irrigated by a network of canals which are filled with water when the ocean tide rises and causes the river level to rise. In some seasons of the year these canals will fill and empty twice each day. The road through this palm forest to the gulf is adequate and very crooked. It is very delightful for a slow drive and to see so many trees and undergrowth is a pleasant relief from the flat, bare desert that is so much of Iraq. This road passes the Abadan refinery which has the largest crude capacity in the world — 500,000 bl/day.

This refinery was much in the news several years ago when Iran (Persia) overthrew the Shah and threw out the British. It has never been able to operate at rated capacity although many foreigners have been imported to operate.

There are now many soldiers stationed along this road but they caused us no trouble. It is still not clear to me as to whether they are to keep people from escaping or merely to see that everyone is having soldiers checking on everything. It is for certain they are not prepared to fight much of any army.

When we drove south from the city the change was startling. Within five minutes we were in flat, barren desert. This road leads to Zubair which is the oil producing area of southern Iraq. Approximately 100 miles out of this road is Ur, the ruins of which date back to 5,000 BC. It is in this area that so much of the evidence of the civilization of four to five thousand BC is found. Evidence of the great flood is shown by diggings which show 10 feet of silt laid down at one time.

The small town of Zubair is one of the cleanest of Arab villages. Somewhere in this vicinity are supposed to be shallow irrigation wells that are powered by donkeys, but I could not find them.

If any of you are ever in Basra, I would certainly recommend taking a day's driving, for in even that short time you can see three very different kinds of country. The swamp area, the Palm forest (See Heard Page Two) est, the desert to the south can all be glimpsed with an hour's drive in each direction.

But in the state it is now in, it would not be worth even as much as we spent in coming from Baghdad. If you are ever in this vicinity in the summer, make every effort to avoid the place. The temperature and the humidity rise to unbelievable degrees.
Some enterprising group could make a wonderful show place of Iraq. In a small country it has mountains that are very rugged, extensive desert, river irrigation, swamps, forest, hunting for wild boar, many birds, jackal, gazell, bears, and historical locations in all the country. Just think of the spots that could attract tourists!

The early civilization of Ur, Garden of Eden, Kish (first city after the flood receded), Babylon of hanging garden fame and Nebuchadnezzar, Baghdad of the Arabian nights, Uruk (7000 years old), Nineveh. To visit these spots and others today is hazardous and uncomfortable. Poor roads, no clean place to stay, food and water of questionable quality.
I can give you no reason for such a spot with no facilities to take care of tourists. That is no reason that you could understand. But the reason for not building roads, hotels, etc. is the same reason given for everything. They claim that the only reason is because of "imperialism". The Turks, Persians, British, French, Jews, Americans have been the cause of all the troubles here, so it is claimed. Should anyone ask me I can fortunate taxpayer by the heels to shake out enough money to give everyone everything he wants.

Added Ramsey, "I refuse to admit that the success of a legislative session, or an administration, depends solely on the amount of money it can spend."
House and Senate agreed easily on an automatic shut-off of the regular session at 8 p.m. May 13, but had more difficulty deciding where to get their salary money.
House members shied from a Senate plan to take from a surplus in the fund to aid the permanently and totally disabled. (Future campaign fodder, for sure, reasoned representatives.)
Instead, they proposed borrowing from the Insurance Department Building fund. Both houses agreed to tap the drivers license fund.
A definite adjournment resolution this early in the session is unprecedented in recent legislative history. So is a session of only 120 days, the period for which legislators can be paid. Both are regarded as reflecting disgruntlement over the defeat of the legislative pay raise amendment last fall.
Already three new pay raise proposals have been introduced: (1) to pay $50 a day for 150 days, (2) $40 a day for 120 days, $20 a day thereafter and (3) $4,200 a year.
Present scale is $25 a day for 120 days only.
Dozens of new bills — and old bills dusted off — are flowing into legislative hoppers. Already introduced or ready for introduction are measures that would:

opening gun in the annual battle of the budget. The President had stated publicly that he expected to submit a balanced budget to the Congress. This is something that the Congress would receive with great happiness; therefore, we were looking forward to its presentation.
But, alas, when it did come we found that there were some qualifications and conditions which had not been made public before. The situation was very ably summed up by the Honorable J. T. Rutherford, Congressman from Odessa, Texas, who represents the 16th District of Texas. Mr. Rutherford stated in his newsletter, from which I quote:
"TO BE SURE, We can take in $77 billion and have a balanced budget. If...
(1) If the nation's economic trend takes a sharp upturn in order to increase individual and corporate tax payments. (But the upturn must be sharper than most respected economists now figure it will be).
(2) If the Congress grants the President's request to increase the federal gasoline tax for the second time in three years.
(3) If the Congress again grants the President's request to raise the price of first-class postage stamps (from 4 to 5 cents) for the second consecutive year.
(4) If some sort of "General Service" tax, mentioned by the President, but at this date not spelled out, is enacted by the Congress.
(5) If all government agencies guard against expanding existing programs, and this includes the Defense Department which is never sure where its next crisis is coming from — but is almost certain to find one somewhere on this troubled globe.
(6) If the people will ask less — not more — in the way of federal projects, services and programs from the federal government through their elected representatives."
The Economic Report was tied into the Budget Report. The President said that if we would do what he said to do, insofar as the budget was concerned, our economy would remain strong and healthy. I do not agree with the President that more taxes are needed. I am firmly convinced that sharp reductions in many governmental expenditures would provide the means for a balanced budget. The question is whether or not we will be successful in cutting down the federal expenditures.

President Frondizi was expected by many to be seeking foreign aid. However, his visit to this country and his speech were welcomed. He explained the position of the Argentine Republic in no uncertain terms and left no doubt that the good people of that Republic want to be able to stand on their own feet and maintain their own economy as a free, independent and friendly people. I say, more power to him.

be the cold pink Easter chick. James took good care of Biddy — fed her a good ration, gave her fresh water and made her a good nest to lay in.
James took Biddy to the Poultry Show. You've never heard such noise and chatter. All the girls and boys and chickens were excited and wanted to talk and chatter at once. Biddy preened and tried to look her best.
A man in a long white coat, with a pencil behind his ear and a clip board in his hand came by the cage where Biddy was polishing her feathers with the golden straw. He said her conformation was good. This was no surprise as one time some young roosters commented that Biddy was really stacked.
The judge saw that her shanks and toes were rich yellow; her comb, face, wattles and earlobes were bright red. The beak was yellow and her eyes reddish bay; and the plumage in all sections was pure white. After about forty-seven trips by Biddy, the Cinderella slipper fitted.
Biddy was the winner! She was in the center of the stage with all the flood lights on and the cameras turning. And you should have seen James. He was just about the happiest boy in the world.
After the show, James took Biddy home. They had a trophy, ribbons, and some money. She was glad she had won so she could show James some appreciation for the good care he had given her. She liked all the attention at the show but secretly she was glad to be back in the barnyard. A lot of times she just wonders what might have happened had that kind woman not bought those pretty Easter chicks.

INSPIRATION

What makes a champion? What is that extra force inherent in a great leader, teacher, musician, scientist, or a Christian? This extra force, this compelling quality, this something has a current all its own...out-shining our every-day efforts. It turns the common into the outstanding. It has been called "inspiration" and surely it must be just that. Want to possess it??? Of course!—then keep an open heart, a clear unprejudiced mind, clean body, and a receptiveness to the will and word of God. Learn of Him through regular church attendance and daily reading of His word: Only through God may we find this something, —this force,—this inspiration. "There is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding."

By DOROTHY ROE
This was the year when husbands won the battle of feminine fashions. Never has there been so much talk about women's clothes, never so much male attention to dresses. The rise and fall of the sack dress made the fashion headlines of the year — and the whole thing was referred to by men.
When practically every woman in America stepped out last summer in her new chemise, the masculine catcalls could be heard from coast to coast. Cartographers had a field day with the various silhouettes — the balloon, the barrel and the gunysack. Wives resorted to tears, daughters paid no attention and designers looked thoughtful.
By fall the chemise was as dead as its 1925 original, and the new look once again recognized the basic outlines of the feminine figure — somewhat adjusted, but still recognizable. Empress Josephine became fashion's new dream girl, with the Empire silhouette the new look for one and all.

This also occasioned some difficulty for fashion commentators, who teetered between pronouncements. The new mode has been called variously Ohm-peer, Empire and plain Empire, with the American — not the French — accent.
What it means is high-waisted, with the belt just below the bust, and little definition of the normal waistline. The line has persisted throughout the wardrobe — in suits, coats and dresses. Suits have brief jackets and skirts hung on canvas sole tops, to give freedom and an easy line around the waist. Coats also are belted high at all and dresses run to drawstrings or sashes just below the bosom, with skirts hanging straight and usually loose — no skin-tight sheaths.

The fur hat came into its own on a mass production basis this winter — every woman had to have one. With it was worn the three-yard fur boa, replacing the mink stole in many quarters as the nation's favorite fur accessory. The fluffy fox furs were favored, often even above mink.
Shoes went in for higher cuts, with some approaches to the high-buttoned styles of long ago. Toes were so pointed as to become lethal weapons, but the hazardous stiletto heels caused so much grief for wearers and shoe repairers alike that a number of modifications appeared — the shorter, sturdier baby French or spool heel among the most popular. Needle heels, when used, developed new safety factors, such as steel shafts, guaranteed not to break. But women who wore them still had to be wary of gratings and cracks in the sidewalk.
Hairdos followed the Empire vogue, going fluffy and up-swept, often with topknots. Women who couldn't wait for their hair to grow resorted to wigs, and sometimes you couldn't tell a wig from a wig, with milliners turning wig-makers and hair stylists designing headresses.

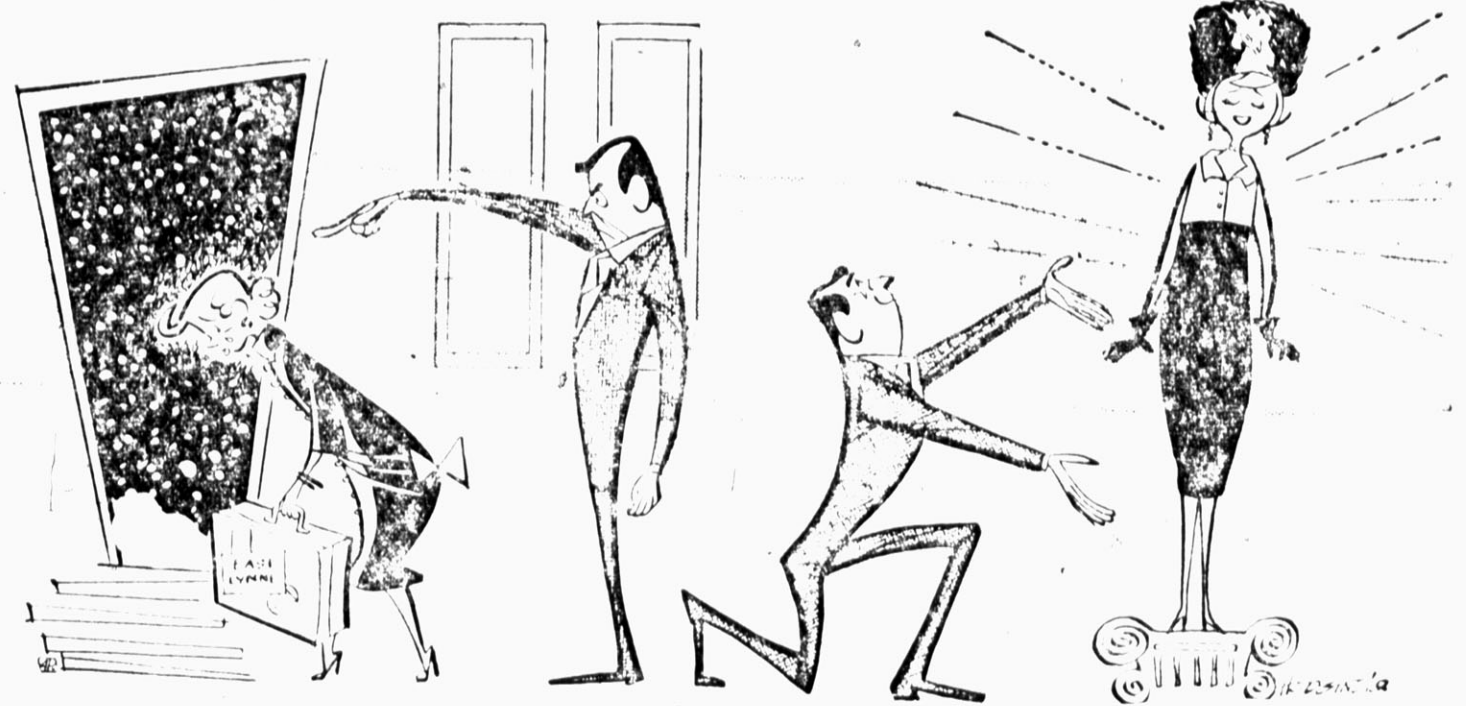

Jewelry ran to long, dang, ling earrings, and multiple strands of beads, with big jeweled brooches definitely back in vogue.
Since no undue roars of rage were heard from the male pop-

How Can I?

Q How can I remove perspiration stains from a garment?
A Try sponging with good white vinegar, then wiping dry with a soft clean cloth. If the perspiration has changed the color of the fabric, try touching with ammonia.
Q How can I set the color in colored wash fabrics?
A Soak the material in salt water, 2 cups of salt to 1 gallon of water, or in 1/2-cup of vinegar to 1 gallon of water, for at least an hour before washing.
Q How can I prevent olive oil from becoming rancid after the can or bottle has been opened?
A Dissolve two lumps of loaf sugar in each quart of the oil.
Q How can I make old fur look like new?
A Wet the fur with a hair brush and brush against the nap. Allow it to dry in the air, then beat lightly with a beater. After it is dry, comb the hair out carefully into place.
Q What is a good homemade dentifrice?
A Lemon juice. Dilute it with water and use as a mouth wash. It will make the mouth and teeth feel clean and wholesome.
Q How can I remove petroleum jelly stains from linens?
A If the stain has been allowed to remain for a long time, soak it in kerosene, then rub and wash with soap suds.
Q How can I make the pots containing house plants more attractive?
A Cover them with scraps of leftover wall paper, using the same paper as on the walls of the room. The paper can be cut and fastened with paper clips or pins, then changed when it becomes too soiled.
Q How can I preserve the fresh taste of a loaf of newly-baked bread?
A This cannot be done if the fresh loaf is kept in the same box with any stale bread. It must be kept in a clean and separate box.
Q How can I regain a lost voice, due to a cold or laryngitis?
A It is claimed that a dose of bicarbonate of soda taken regularly is often effective in restoring the voice.

HEYDEY FOR HUSBANDS—Men banish the chemise, welcome the Empire mode.

ulation when the new Empire went ahead with plans for more a closet full of sack dresses, bouffant belts or sashes, and styles appeared, designers of the same for next spring. Things turned out not to be so wide then six inches above the breasted sashes of relief, and As for the women stuck with hopeless after all. They just wait. Yada, the Empire look!
