County Cotton Harvest Getting Underway

★★★ Wildcats 40-Mules 12

Muleshoe Loses Championship Bid

The Muleshoe Mules fell to the undefeated Littlefield Wildcats here Friday night in Benny Douglas Stadium, in a ballgame that pulled out all the stops.

The Mules were unable to contain Littlefield's speedster, Bobby Price; and Price came up with the big plays that made the difference. Blakely garnered two TD's and Cantu one.

The Mules kept that fighting spirit right up to the end, as in the last 21 seconds of the game, tailback Monty Hysinger dealt a torpedoed 47 yard option pass to Angely for the first Muleshoe TD. The Mules tried for two on the conversion to no avail. Three plays later following an on-side kick by the Mules the Cats fumbled and Muleshoe gained possession with 7 seconds left. Gonzales uncorked a 37 yard bomb to Hysinger at the back of the endzone; PAT failed, but the Mules walked away from the game with style and their "Mule Pride" intact.

Coach Windy Williams had this to say. "The guys showed a lot of character and proved to be gracious in defeat. They walked away from the loss like men. I asked for their total effort and got it." Williams also praised his coaching staff as well as parents, fans and team.

In the first period of play the Wildcats were penalty prone and the Mules held Cont. Page 6, Col. 5

STUBBORN AS A MULE....The Mules maintained their spirit in the face of defeat Friday. Monty Hysinger, #35, makes a trip for yardage and Hamilton runs interference for him. As Cat quarterback Gregory, #25 closes in.

Gins Report Grades, Activity

Gin plants in around Bailey County are on the verge of being on 24 hour operation with area cotton harvest gathering momentum daily.

Totals of eight gins surveyed show almost 4,000 bales already ginned as of Friday morning. Two or three gins reported modules on the yards as well as trailers full of the fluffy white stuff.

While yields are fair, grades, staples and microaires in general, do not reflect satisfactory figures on the grade cards that farmers are receiving.

Some gins managers predict running a 24 hour day within a weeks time, still others do not expect to be running a full day crew for 2 more weeks.

Harvesting has been in a hopsotch pattern, with farmers moving strippers from field to field, in order to harvest the drier, more matured plants first. Most cotton that has already gone through the stands is early, planted cotton.

Warm, sunny days and light winds are moving harvest dates forward on a day to day basis. A full fledged harvest will be in the offing by Dec. 1 if the weather holds good.

Charles Morau, manager of Muleshoe Co-op Gin reported 500 bales already ginned, with approximately 200 tagged in and waiting. The co-op is running all 3 gins and have been in operation two weeks. Morau expects to put on a full night crew next week.

In contrast, Nickels and Nickels Gin west of Bailey-boro reported 43 bales ginned to date and did not expect to be really busy before December.

Star Route Co-op Gin, located 6 miles west of Morton is running a day shift only and has ginned 150 bales. Some grade cards have been received back from the Classing office, showing a fairly average crop. Grades run somewhere from 41-42 Strict low middling-spot, with staples averaging 33-35 and Mike from 30-37. This gin expects to be operating full capacity with in the next two weeks.

Mighty "M" Band In UIL Marching Contest

The Muleshoe High School marching band received a second division rating (meaning excellent) at Jones stadium in Lubbock Wednesday, November 4, 1981. Out of seventeen class AAA Bands, only three--Abernathy, Seminole, and Dimmitt--received the first division (or superior) rating.

Gary Laramore of Canyon High School rated MHS division I. Bill Dean of Odessa rated the band division II and stated "this could be a I, but I felt it just wasn't today." Gerald Babbitt of Austin Westlake stated that MHS "makes some beautiful sounds but

ENMU Womens Rodeo Team Number One

The Eastern New Mexico University women's rodeo team is ranked first in the Southwest Region and sixth in the nation of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association after two rodeos this fall.

The Zias are led by Tularosa native Pam Miller who is regionally ranked number two in barrel racing and breakaway roping. Miller is ranked third in the all-around competition with 200 points. Nationally she is ranked ninth in barrel racing, 10th in breakaway roping and fifth in the all-around competition.

Miller is followed closely by teammate Anna Crespin of Las Vegas. The junior cowgirl is regionally ranked fourth in breakaway roping, second in goat tying, and fourth in all-around competition with 180 points. Crespin is sixth in goat tying and eighth in the all-around competition nationally.

Also ranking in the regional standings is Cortez, Colo., junior Julie Daves. Daves is ranked 10th in barrel racing, while Sherri Wilson of Torrington, Wyo., is ranked seventh in goat tying.

Eastern's men team is ranked sixth in the Southwest Region and led by Happy, Tex., senior J.T.

Other Eastern cowboys placing in the region are Guy Miller of Lamesa, Tex. second place in steer wrestling, while the team roping duo of Bobby Walker of Kirtland and Kenny Zamora of Mora are in a three way tie for first.

Nationally, Miller is ranked eighth in steer wrestling, with Walker and Zamora in fourth place in the team roping competition.

Eastern's next rodeo will be Nov. 19-22 at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Household trash alternative source for energy

COLLEGE STATION — Tons of household trash now taken to the dump could be used to keep homes cool during summer and warm during winter, says a Texas A&M University political scientist.

"Instead of taking our trash to the city dump, we should look towards ways of reconverting energy out of it," said Dr. Gary Halter. "Although Houston is considering this option, to date no city in Texas has constructed a facility to recover energy or resources from solid waste.

"This kind of energy production is easier for large cities that can attract large industry or that have large buildings consuming vast quantities of energy," Halter said, adding that it would prove a viable alternative for cities experiencing severe landfill problems.

Canine Health Important In Autumn

Many diseases that are threatening to a dog's life, such as rabies, parvovirus and heartworm, occur more frequently in the warmer months. With warm days dwindling, pet-owners may believe that it's all right to stop worrying about the health of their family's canine friend. This is not wise.

"Many problems that are not readily apparent, but which could later affect the good health of your dog, can be prevented," said Dr. Ben Johnston, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

Taking 10 minutes or so to give your pet a home health examination can be the best insurance to keeping him healthy, said Johnston.

First, stand back and look at your dog from head to tail. His coat should be shiny, and there should be no indication of hair loss.

Next, look at his eyes for any sign of inflammation, soreness or growths. The eyes should be clear, showing no evidence of mucous build-up or matting.

Look into his mouth, paying particular attention to the lips, gums and teeth. The lips and gums should be pink; and the teeth should be checked for odor or tartar - look for dark staining or mineral deposits on his teeth.

Next, look into your dog's ears. Are there any scratches, bruises or rashes? Also pay attention if there is any odor from his ears.

Even though a dog's coat is protective covering, his skin should also be examined for growths, or external parasites such as fleas or ticks. In older dogs especially, it is important to feel the skin for growths or small wart-like tumors.

Other items that should be considered in your dog's home health exam is whether or not he is eating regularly. Has there been any vomiting or loss of appetite? Also check your pet's stool for any blood or diarrhea.

If you detect any problem or abnormality as you give your family's canine friend his home health examination, be sure to check with your veterinarian.

Your pet may indeed be healthy, but don't take a chance on it.

Pets, just like people, need regular annual check ups; but if you know the warning signs to watch for in your dog, you can prevent possible complications that might threaten his well-being.

Remember that it's easier to prevent problems than to correct them, advises Johnston.

Note: Hunting season is right around the corner, and hunters should check their dogs before taking them out in the woods.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek is offering to help the government save money.

Dear editor:

How to cut government spending has become such a big job that it's clear Washington is going to need some outside help. The people up there have simply had no previous experience in that line of work.

I can help a little. I just read that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the outfit that prints money, want some new presses. The ones they've got can print 8,000 32-bill sheets an hour, which comes to 4 billion pieces of currency a week. But they print on one side at a time. When that side is printed, the sheets have to be dried, turned over, and then fed back in to be printed on the other side.

Officials say that's too slow. They're working night and day and still can't produce enough paper money. They want some presses that'll print on both sides of a sheet at the same time, thus doubling production, and are willing to pay $21 million for seven of them.

They've got it backwards. They don't need faster presses, they need slower presses. Don't they know the faster they print money the faster Congress will grab it?

For a small fee I will undertake to save the government the $21 million it wants to spend on new-fangled presses.

Somewhere in the shop of some country weekly newspaper there's bound to be stored an old foot-powered, hand-fed press like Benjamin Franklin used. A man with a good leg can turn out possibly 200 sheets an hour on it, containing maybe 800 bills, against the government's press turning out 8,000 sheets containing 256,000 bills.

I will be glad to undertake the job of finding such a press and delivering it to Washington. A 5 percent commission on the $21 million saved ought to cover my expenses.

Not only will the government save on the cost of the press, think of what it'll save by shutting off the flow of the 4 billion pieces of paper currency it's now printing per week.

If you've got such a press stored in The Journal plant, let me know. Also, how much would you charge to crate it and ship it to Washington? Better send it C.O.D.

Water Vital To Ranching

Plenty of good quality water well-distributed over a ranch is essential for balanced forage and livestock production, says Dr. Wayne Hanselka of Corpus Christi, a range specialist.

"Water is essential for the well-being of livestock," explains Hanselka, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Watering facilities contribute to daily grazing behavior and influence grazing distribution."

Water for livestock comes from three main sources, notes Hanselka. These are rain water, surface water and underground water. Developing the sources includes drilling a well, constructing a tank or reservoirs or piping water.

"Depending on the amount of rainfall and soil type, reservoirs, and stock ponds may or may not provide enough water during summer dry spells. When constructing water facilities, use care to provide as much water as possible while limiting the surface area to reduce evaporation," urges Hanselka.

Pumping is one of the most common means of obtaining water. However, problems may arise during the "dog days" of late summer when there is little or no wind.

"Use of PVC (polyvinyl chloride) and plastic pipe to transport water to livestock has become popular in recent years and has opened up a great deal of rangeland for grazing," explains the range specialist.

Location and number of watering facilities are important considerations for the rancher, adds Hanselka. Cattle should travel no more than two miles round trip for water which should ideally be located in the center of the pasture. This distance should be less with rough or brushy terrain. If the pasture is continuously grazed, the specialist recommends one watering facility for every 50-60 head.

"Even though cattle and horses can travel greater distances for water than sheep and goats, they require water more often," notes Hanselka. "Water intake will be less on green forage in the spring when weather is cool. Minimum water requirements for a cow with a calf is 10 gallons per day, but this increases to 15-20 gallons during summer days."

Water is also a major concern to wildlife production, says the specialist, but it's generally sufficient for the needs of wild animals.

"One final consideration for ranchers is the quality of water for livestock. Good quality water is clear and odorless, contains no disease organisms, has no undesirable flavors and no objectionable gases. Even though water may not measure up to these standards, it may be suitable for consumption," adds Hanselka.

He suggests caution when using water from old oil bores perforated for use as water wells. Such water may be high in salts and gases and could be contaminated with caustic chemicals used in well drilling.

A&M director predicts 100,000 trained annually

COLLEGE STATION—By the year 2000, the Texas Engineering Extension Service (TEEX) will be providing technical training for more than 100,000 Texans each year, predicts the agency's director.

James R. Bradley recently told about 300 TEEX employees attending the service's annual conference that the staff is expected to grow to about 1200 and will utilize 300,000 square feet of classroom, lab and office space on 600 acres of land in facilities throughout the state.

TEEX, the engineering/public service branch of the Texas A&M University System, currently serves more than 50,000 students each year in courses including fire prevention, construction equipment operation, electronics, electric power distribution, law enforcement, hazardous materials control, automotive mechanics, telecommunications and wastewater training.

It operates a network of training centers in Floydada, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Arlington, and facilities in Galveston, Lubbock, Houston, Fort Worth, Huntsville and Weslaco.

New Math Program To Be Discussed

The second meeting of the Muleshoe Elementary PTA will be held Monday, November 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Mary DeShazo cafeteria. This is a very important meeting with major topics to be discussed concerning students, parents, and teachers. On the agenda for the evening will be such subjects as a scholarship fund for teachers planning to extend their education and a report on the annual PTA Halloween Carnival held last October. Ideas will be taken from teachers and parents on what the money from the carnival will buy. Fourteen hundred dollars will be spent on the elementary schools this year.

Debra Noble announces that the carnival was a great success due to all the help gained from parents, teachers and residents in the Muleshoe area who were willing to help.

The program for the evening will be on the new Math Levelling Program that was introduced into the Muleshoe Elementary schools this year. Linda Marr and a Math Panel of teachers will be there to explain the system and answer any questions the audience might have. The PTA urges any interested parents or area residents to attend the meeting and get involved in the discussion.

Following the Math Panel discussion, Superintendent Harold Horne will give a short speech on the exact items in the school bond the Bailey County tax payers will vote on this month. If you are unsure about the bond we urge you to attend.

The executive committee would like to announce their intention of attending the school board meetings in representation of the parents, teachers and students of the elementary schools. Any person with grievances or subjects concerning the schools or school related activities can bring them to any executive committee member for further research. There will also be suggestion boxes at the meetings where the subject can be deposited and we do ask that you sign your name so we can contact you. We are here to support in an objective way any concerned person or persons on any subject concerning the school system.

An executive committee was held Thursday, November 12, at 9:30 a.m. in the Corral Restaurant. Topics discussed were the PTA Christmas float designed by Betty Chamberlain, the Halloween Carnival, equipment for the schools, school board attendance by committee members and concerned persons, and subjects to be discussed at the next meeting.

The PTA executive committee also reminds those attending to sign your children's room count cards as you walk through the south door of the cafeteria. Membership dues of two dollars and fifty cents per person can also be paid there to Shirley Reynolds by anyone who would like to join PTA. The PTA needs your membership to become a strong community organization. Both teachers and parents have noticed the community growing and working together better than they ever have. We urge you to attend the meetings and get involved.

Sudan Celebrates 1981 Homecoming

Some 120 persons attended the 1981 Homecoming Banquet Saturday, October 31 in the Sudan School cafeteria.

Registration and a tea were held prior to the meal. Members of FTA also took guest on a tour of the school building that is being replaced by a multi-million dollar structure that is hoped to be completed by fall 1982.

Randy Humphreys presided over the meeting. The meal was served by the Band Parents Organization. Theme for the occasion was "Out with the old and in with the new" which was in black and gold letters on the large arrangement of yellow and bronze mums donated by Central Compress. This is the 26th year that the Compress has provided an arrangement for the head table.

Tables were covered in white with black and gold streamers down the center with several gold footballs and yellow flowers placed at intervals on each table.

Name plates were replicas of the Alamo school building that burned several years ago.

The program was presented by two ex-teachers and two ex-students and Mr. Noles. Mrs. Carrie Lee Bishop now of Muleshoe was one of the first students to have attended school and graduated here as was Mrs. J.W. (Mary) Olds a few years later. Mrs. Inez Boyd now of Seymour and Mrs. Mary Tollett were the two ex-teachers who told interesting things that happened when they taught in the Sudan schools. Kenneth Noles, present superintendent of the Sudan school summarized the program and told of the new building now in process of being built.

Glynn Harrison, 1981 secretary-treasurer read the minutes of last year's meeting and Randy Humphreys presided over the nomination and election of new officers for 1982 with Pat Kent to be the new president; Jerry Damron, the new vice president and Jane Netherland, the new secretary-treasurer.

Awards were presented to Mrs. Edna Bellamy, the oldest exstudent present for the festivities; John Hardcastle of the class of 1929 and who came the most miles (from Watertown, Tennessee) to attend, and to Mrs. Susie Lynch now of Lubbock who had the most children (nine) to graduate from the Sudan schools.

Calorie Quiz for Candy

It seems people are counting calories more than ever—maybe even counting too many! An informal survey conducted by the confectionery industry revealed that the majority of people attribute many more calories to popular candies than they actually contain. Women particularly over-estimated, in some cases guessing three times as many.

Here's a quick quiz to judge your IQ for counting candy calories.

- In a regular box of assorted chocolates, (1 lb./44 pieces), the average piece of candy yields _____ calories.
  - 80
  - 170
  - 30
  - 20
- A licorice twist and a sour ball both have around _____ calories.
  - 105
  - 78
  - 62
  - 47
- A one-ounce bar of solid milk chocolate contains _____ calories.
  - 200
  - 170
  - 120
  - 100
- A large (1.8 oz.) chocolate covered caramel, nut and nougat bar has approximately _____ calories.
  - 175

TO BE GIVEN AWAY..... Boosters of the Muleshoe Gymnastics Team will be giving a Zennith video cassette recorder away Dec. 23 over KMUL Coffee Time. If your score is a perfect 5, you deserve a reward! — treat yourself to your favorite confection. If your score is less than perfect, you need more practice. So, now that you know how many calories candies don't have — enjoy!

We should be in full swing early next week and running a night crew."
Needmore Co-op Gin reported 550 bales ginned with several modules on the yard. Grade cards from the Needmore operation have been less than ideal. They do not expect however to be running full tilt in day operations in a week or so.

C.E. Grant at Beck Gin reported 300 bales ginned with 50 on the yard. While most of the grades Grant has received back have been good, the Mike is low fulfilling the predictions of "good quantity, low quality". Grant anticipates putting on a night crew Monday to supplement an already busy day crew.

Running a full day crew now, Maple Co-op Gin has weighed in 1,035 bales and has ginned 950 of these. What is dry enough is being pulled in this area. However, -again- grades are not as good as they need to be. A night crew will be started by next week.

At Bula, gins are running during daytime hours.

The Greater Lubbock Chapter of the American Diabetes Association will have as its November meeting a cooking demonstration with Joy Parnell, Home Economist for Southwestern Public Services. The meeting will be Thursday, November 19, 7:30 p.m., in the Reddy Room, 1120 Main.

A tasty holiday menu will be prepared and will be suitable for the diabetic meal plan. Linda Douglas, Registered Dietician, will be available to answer questions.

For more information, call 792-0675.

Claunch Gin has tagged 230 bales and has 6 or 7 modules on the yard. Claunch stated, "We are beginning to haul in more modules today (Friday), but probably won't be operating full scale before December. We've had some good and some bad. Since the Bula area did not get the early freeze that was felt further north, the ginning season there may tend to be a little slower getting in gear."

Most gins are seeing some activity in the area, and barring inclement weather harvest activity should reach a fevered pitch in the first weeks of December and on into January.

national president since January 1980.

Governor Charles Thone of Nebraska welcomed WIFE members and guests to the state. Special guest speakers included Ray Lett, U.S. Executive Assistant Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture, Elizabeth Dole, wife of Kansas Senator Robert Dole along with several noted personalities in agriculture.

WIFE members who attended the convention indicated that the speakers messages all carried the same theme: that of "no help from Washington this year for the Farmer; however, they said that if the farmers could hang in there one more year, the farm situation will improve."

As the convention adjourned, a clear message was sent to President Reagan and Secretary of Agriculture, John Block in the form of a resolution: "Therefore, let it be resolved that Women Involved In Farm Economics ask Congress, the Secretary of Treasury, Chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank to do everything in their power to lower interest rates."

The delegates also drafted various resolutions, including one to oppose user fees for the nation's waterways. The resolution said the fees would place an undue burden on agriculture.

Another resolution offered support for allowing railroads to lease and develop minerals on federal lands only if some of the proceeds were used for improving and maintaining the rail system.

Other resolutions:
*Opposed further cuts in Amtrack rail service.
*Supported fair trade laws for import and export of livestock.
*Supported naming a member of Women Involved in Farm Economics to the National Livestock and Meat Board.

*Supported inclusion of Indian water rights in state water jurisdiction.

*Supported further efforts to control the spread of noxious weeds and the need for biological and chemical means to control them.

*Supported the waiver of first-year interest payments on all grain entering the federal grain reserve.

*Opposed continued speculator trading on the Board of Trade.

*Supported additional foreign-trade promotion emphasis on the sale of refined and processed agricultural products.

Lenaau Lumber reported a criminal mischief on the 12th, involving tires on cotton trailers parked near by being slashed or punctured. On November 10, a theft was reported regarding two tailpipe extensions which were sawed off of a vehicle parked in a used car lot. Another criminal mischief involved rocks being thrown through the window of a local residence. On November 6, a theft of cash register money from the Target gas station was reported. The attendant had gone into the back room and upon returning, found the register to be open and some money gone. Also on the 6th was a criminal mischief regarding a rock being thrown through an auto window.

On November 5 and 6, two bikes were reported stolen from two separate residences and on November 5, Wayland Etheridge, High School Principal reported money being taken from the DE room at the high school. Also reported was the loss of a set of keys, one of which was to the DE room. The keys were taken from a desk in the office.

them until after a deflected pass and an incompletion from Cat quarterback Bryan Gregory. Gergory finally made contact with Bobby Price and Price hauled in a 66 yard scoring pass for the Cats with the PAT good.

The Mules played tough defense, hitting hard, but the Cats landed on their feet and after 11 plays in a 68 yard drive knocked again with a five yard try by Blakely adding 6 more points to the Wildcat tally. PAT was no good.

Twenty-nine seconds later Littlefield's Price capitalized by intercepting a Gonzales pass on the Mules 15 yard line. Price was stopped big by Alan Harrison, only to come back after 3 plays with the 2nd Price TD. The try for two failed and the Cats pushed ahead 19-0 and ended the first half with that score.

Less than 3 minutes into the second half, Price scratched again on a pitch-out from Cat quarterback Gregory. The PAT by Burks was good, putting the Cats further up the ladder 26-0.

After the next 3 plays, Price came up with his 2nd interception, picking off a Gonzales pass on the Mules' 45, setting the stage for another Cats TD. Blakely took the ball following a long play series, on the 3rd yard line and bulldozed his way to the end zone. The Cats' had class and the quarterback had good execution and time. PAT was good. Score 33-0 with the Wildcats on top.

While the Mules came within scoring distance, Hysinger was not able to get loose, thus shutting down the Mule offense considerably. The Mules suffered several penalties at points where they hurt the most.

With less than 6 minutes left in the game, Larry Cantu took the ball over for another touchdown for Littlefield, giving the Cats 40-0 over the Mules.

From that point on, it was all over but the shouting.

The Mules did rally with some feror in the last seconds, putting 12 points on the board avoiding a shut-out.

Littlefield will advance to bi-district play-offs in Canyon next Friday against District 1-3A Champ Perroyon.

The Mules proved that they were a force to be respected and like the saying goes, "will return to fight another day." Not so, however for the seniors who played their last game.

Fans and students gave the Mules a rousing cheer at the end of the school song proving their loyalty and faith in the hometown boys and the Mule coaching staff. They boys played all-out football and gave their best and that is what makes them winners.

TRANSFORMERS

"HE IS NOT HERE, BUT HE IS RISEN..."

Our Lord gave his life on the cross... and then he arose from the grave. He conquered death and provided a way that men might be saved.

As the powerful electricity may be transformed, the Lord has power to change men's lives.

"And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

Honor the Lord... enter his house with praise and thanksgiving.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Workers & Workers

Those who started young, working hard, doing what had to be done, working long hours, often with inadequate pay—with emphasis on doing a good job as a means to better things, marvel at today's so-called workers.

In general, there are at least three classes of workers. There are those in the private sector today who expect a good job upon leaving school, with perks and time off, easy working conditions and good pay. This for the me generation.

There are those who have government jobs, and considerable security, whatever their performance. They must often keep regular hours, with perks and time off, easy working conditions and good pay. They call work, many real workers would call vacation.

Then there are the producers and workers working their way up in the free economy, those starting or running businesses, those hustling to make a firm profitable. That often takes more than hustle. These are the people who build, who create the tax revenues, who make possible all the federal aid, grant and welfare programs.

Reduced to simple terms, the failure of the U.S. economy, unbalanced federal budgets, inflation, a weak dollar, and most other economic woes stem from the increase in the first two classes of so-called workers and a decline in number of the third.

President Reagan is trying to put the nation on its feet again, with renewed emphasis on the market place, the traditional free enterprise spirit of Americans and self-pride and individual industry. This is a formidable task, with entrenched armies opposed to the needed reawakening. Whether Reagan succeeds or not will determine whether the United States succeeds in remaining strong economically, morally and militarily.

Forgotten Hero

The 15th is the birthday anniversary of a sometimes forgotten hero of the American Revolution, Baron Friedrich von Steuben. Steuben was born in Magedburg, Prussia, in 1730. His father was an engineer in the Prussian Army, the family having been soldiers since the 13th century.

He served as a volunteer at the age of 14 in the War of Austrian Succession. By 1755, he was an officer and soon afterwards was appointed to the staff of Frederick the Great, on which he served during the Seven Years' War. But after the war the emperor gave him a position which offered little income; he looked elsewhere, first to England.

On his way there in 1777, he passed through Paris; and Count de St. Germain, then French Minister of War, who was his friend, urged him to go to America and help the Americans in their revolution. (The French were at war with England.) Steuben was persuaded to meet with Benjamin Franklin and Silas Deane, American Commissioners in Paris. He then agreed to go to America as a volunteer.

The French fitted out a ship with cannon and ammunition on which he sailed in late September of 1777, arriving December 1. He presented himself to Congress and then went to Valley Forge, where Washington received him on the 23rd of February, 1778, making him Inspector-General of the army. It was Steuben who trained and drilled the colonists into a formidable force.

Congress belatedly voted him a commission but never reimbursed him for many expenditures out of his own pocket. After Yorktown he was, however, voted a $2,500 annuity by Congress, and Virginia, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York voted him tracts of land. He decided to remain in America and made his home on the tract in New York, twelve miles north of Utica, which was later laid out as the town of Steuben. He died there four years later, November 28, 1794.

NATIONAL MEDICAL BILL
The national medical bill in 1980 rose the most in 15 years, hitting $247 billion or 9.4 percent of the gross national product, a new government report says. That means that medical care took nearly $1 of every $10 that Americans spent last year.

U.S. CREWMEN & AWACS
The Reagan administration acknowledged recently that Saudi Arabia will not be required to permit American military personnel to fly aboard AWACS radar planes after the kingdom's own crews are trained.

Reports

WATER -- A STEP BACKWARD

AUSTIN -- We took a serious step backward in the November 3 constitutional election, and for all the wrong reasons.

We now are at least two years behind where we could be and many years behind where we should be, because of selfishness and apathy. We had a chance, but we let it evaporate.

Water is the most serious problem facing this state. Already, chambers of commerce in Michigan and Illinois are calling the sun belt the "sand belt." They know the importance of water and they know it is the biggest drawing card for industry. They have it. We don't.

The election was a tragedy -- not only for the urban areas of Texas, though it was a tragedy for them, but particularly for agriculture. If you can't make money now, wait until dry-land farming comes back to Texas.

We lost this election because of selfishness. A good example of this selfishness was the shameful behavior of Rep. Bill Keese of Somerville. Speaker Bill Clayton's redistricting plan would have forced Keese to run against Rep. Dan Kubiak. Keese got his revenge by helping sink Clayton's water plan. Revenge -- that's all it was.

But we really can't blame Keese, or Sen. Lloyd Doggett, or any of the other opponents of the plan. We can find the real enemy Texas agriculture and industrial development just by looking in the mirror. In our district, of all places, we only had a less-than 20 per cent turnout.

We tried to warn the people that there was going to be a big turn out in Austin and Houston. We needed everyone to vote. Everyone didn't.

Next session, if you see fit to send us back to the Senate, we will try to pick up the pieces and move onward. We will not have big supporters of water like Bill Clayton in the Legislature, but we will fight. We hope you will be fighting with us. We want to enlist you in the fight to move Texas forward. There is no standing still -- we must move forward or we will slip backward. Please write us and tell us you want water. Write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

MONEY SUPPLY UP
NEW YORK -- The nation's money supply known as M1-B rose $1 billion in the week ended Oct. 21 and the Federal Reserve gave a clear signal that it intends to re-stimulate still sluggish money growth.

RACE FOR SENATE
CALIFORNIA -- Maureen Reagan, President Ronald Reagan's oldest daughter, will officially enter the race for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate seat held by Sen. S.I. Hayakawa, a campaign aide says. The 40-year-old Ms. Reagan has been active in GOP circles since 1959.

SUB RUNS AGROUND
STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN -- A 250-foot Soviet submarine with a crew of 54 was aground in a restricted zone near a Swedish naval base recently. Sweden lodged a strong protest with the Soviet Union over violation of Swedish territorial waters and refused Kremlin requests to tow the sub free. The Swedish Navy will free the sub.

Polish unrest continues, strikes threatened.

Jamaica breaks relations with Cuba.

Seventeen textile executives from 13 European countries and two from the People's Republic of China were in Lubbock November 8 and 9 to study High Plains cotton production, processing, merchandising and research facilities.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock coordinated the foreigners' activities for the Lubbock visit, which was part of the annual U.S. Cotton Orientation Tour sponsored by Cotton Council International, National Cotton Council, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service and local hosts. Joining PCG as hosts in Lubbock were Lubbock Cotton Exchange and Plains Cotton Cooperative Association.

Bob Squires, this year's President of Cotton Council International, received the visiting dignitaries at his Lubbock home on their arrival November 8.

The People's Republic of China for the past two years has been the largest single importer of U.S. cotton, purchasing 2.2 million bales of the 1979 crop and 1.4 million bales in 1980.

Combined annual U.S. exports to the 13 European countries in recent years is estimated at something over 500,000 bales.

Europeans in the touring group represented Belgium, England, Finland, Germany, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Morocco, Norway, Poland, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

The group came to Lubbock after touring the mid-South and a stop in Dallas. The remaining itinerary includes El Paso and the cotton growing regions of California.

Electricity.

Knowing what it's worth is worth knowing.

One thing we've probably all learned is to have an appreciation of things that have worth and to know their value. How would you rate yourself on knowing the value of the electricity you use? Take this simple exercise.

1. How much was your electric bill last month? $ _____
2. Divide 30 into your answer to Number 1. This was the approximate cost of your electricity per day. $ _____
3. How many people are in your family? _____
4. Divide Number 3 into Number 2. This was the cost of your electricity per day per family member. $ _____

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. Just look around.

Mules Cross-Country Qualify For State

This is the first year for Muleshoe to compete in cross country so we feel very good qualifying for the state meet. We have six boys running and another bright spot is that none graduate this year. We have running this year Tony Luna, Freshman; Martin Mendoza, Junior; Aldo Almanza, Sophomore; Scott Ellard, Junior; Tony Rojas, Freshman; and Danny Mata, Sophomore. Last Saturday at Regional the Mules finished second behind Boys Ranch and feel they have a good chance of finishing high at the state meet. Tony Luna was second, Martin sixth, Aldo tenth, Scott twelfth, Rojas thirty-fourth, and Mata thirty-fifth. The top five runners are counted toward team totals, so all six runners are important in what spot they finish. Ties are broken by the sixth place finisher so it is important also.

The team has finished second in every meet this year, but one, and they're mostly running against schools of all classifications. Hopefully, this competition will help them to bring back a state title for their first year of competition. They ran Saturday, November 14, at Southwestern University in Georgetown for the State AAA title.

Tony Rojas is the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rojas. He not only runs track, but he also plays football as an extra activity. He is a freshman and states, "We have a great cross-country team. I think we're going to win State because we're the best team in our Region. All we have to do is beat Boys Ranch."

Tony Luna is the 15 year old son of Tony (Sr.) and Carolyn Luna. He is a freshman and he says, "Our team has worked hard like the football team, but we've had a little better luck. We are a good team and I think we can do well at State if we get our act together. We urge people to try to go to Georgetown and support us."

Aldo Almanza is the 16 year old Sophomore son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Almanza. He plays football while not running track. He states, "I believe that this team is off to a good start and has a chance for state if we keep doing what we've been doing."

Martin Mendoza is the 17 year old son of Maria Mendoza. He is a Junior and says, "I know if we keep up the hard running we guys put in each day, we will be taking a trip to Austin, Texas."

Danny Mata is the 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Mata. He runs track and plays in the band. He says, "This is the first year Muleshoe has competed in this event and I think we've done real good. We've worked hard all year and we are now working towards State Championship."

Scott Ellard is the 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Warren. He is in speech and participates in track. He is a Junior and states, "I knew that we had the talent to get to State, but I still can't believe that we did it! Now all I hope is that we do real well at state."

The rally was held in honor of the senior athletes and also honored the entire senior class. They did their class yell and the pep rally was concluded with the Muleshoe High School song and the Fight

'81-'82 Mullettes Featured

The 1981-82 basketball season is about a week away and the Mullettes have been working hard since the first day of school. This year's team has several returning lettermen but overall doesn't have a lot of playing experience returning. Seniors Lavon Rhodes, Jill Turner, Kristi Henry, Delia Shaw and Junior Rhonda Dunham are returning players who started or played some last year. Loss of height is a major drawback from last year's team, but more quickness and possible better shooters may be a plus on the team this year.

Senior Cindy Turner, Juniors Sherry Ellis, Denise Wilson and Tori Hunt and Sophomore Marylyn Lewis round out this year's squad. They again play a tough non-district schedule and hopefully can mature and learn a lot by the time they get to district. The district should be fairly even with 3 or 4 teams with a chance to win. The girls have a great attitude and have worked hard and certainly plan to be in the thick of things when the district race is settled.

The Mullettes open their schedule at home on Tuesday, November 17, against Levelland. The J.V. game will begin at 6 p.m. with the Varsity to follow.

Robert Brandon, Varsity coach, is in his fourth year at MHS.

Kristi Henry, the 17 year old daughter of Marcia Henry Rohde, is a Senior. She plays post for the Mullettes and is involved in many things such as FTA, being their parliamentarian, NHS, Children's theatre play, and track. Kristi commented, "This year our team has an excellent chance to do good because we have a lot of Senior leadership and everyone is willing to work hard for a good district champion team!"

Delia Shaw is the 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shaw. She is active in FFA, FTA, FCA, Student Council, and track. She added, "We have a good team this year, and I feel if we work hard and work together as a team we can take the District title." Delia is also a Senior leader for the team.

MHS Sponsors SP College Band

Students interested in participating can get complete contest details by contacting their high school guidance counselor or principal or their local Army recruiter.

Three Muleshoe High graduates are members of the band. They are Awyna Cox, who plays cornet; Kim Williams, who plays horn, and Sally Lunsford, who plays percussion. Students were happy to welcome these graduates to MHS. The band is under the direction of Mark Rogers, who is in his fourth year as conductor of the Concert Band at South Plains College. He has a Bachelor of Music Education degree from Texas Tech University, where he was a graduate teaching assistant for the Tech Bands after he received his bachelor's degree. He has also studied at the University of Northern Colorado and the University of Wisconsin. He served as a band director in the Spring school system in north Houston before going to South Plains College.

FHA Plans Activities

The Muleshoe FHA Chapter met Wednesday, November 11 to discuss and plan future activities for this month. In an effort to reach some needy elderly people in our community the FHA voted to take Thanksgiving baskets containing fresh fruits, canned and baked goods or skeins of yarn to several of them.

Next Wednesday, November 18, there will be another general meeting with a program on aerobics. The guest speaker will discuss the value of good health and physical condition and how exercise can contribute to the over-bring either a baked good, canned good or a skein of yarn for the Thanksgiving basket as their admission to the program.

The members also discussed uniforms for the entire membership of FHA; and a decision was made to wear red vests, white blouses, and nice jeans.

All members are encouraged to try and attend the general meeting next week.

Economist Says Bank Accounts Will Go With Water

As groundwater supplies on the High Plains decline, residents of the region will find their bank accounts dwindling as well.

That is the conclusion of Texas Tech University agricultural economist Arthur L. Stoecker, who is conducting an input-output study on the impact of High Plains irrigation.

The 50 percent of the region's million cultivated acres now under irrigation produces two-thirds of the value of High Plains crop production. As water availability decreases and that production declines, all sectors of the High Plains economy, not just agriculture, will be adversely affected.

"Each dollar of output from irrigated agricultural production results in three dollars of total output in the High Plains economy," Stoecker said. "The total output includes further processing of the products, plus the output generated in fertilizer sales and credit services."

A decline in production from irrigated cropland results in a decline in the total output of economy, Stoecker said.

"The impact would be most directly felt by households, processors of agricultural chemicals, producers of agricultural chemicals, utilities companies, and banking and credit institutions," the agricultural economist explained.

Stoecker holds a joint appointment with Texas Tech University and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock.

Using 1977 as the base year, he has constructed a model of the High Plains economy, based on a survey of area business firms.

Information on the economic output of these firms was compared with expenditures for raw materials and unfinished goods to determine interrelationships with the farm sector and other segments of the economy.

The results of Stoecker's 1977 economic model study will be used by the Texas Department of Water Resources to make regional projections of the economic impact caused by changes in irrigation and in petroleum and natural gas production. Those projections, in turn, will be given to the High Plains Study Council and to the Economic Development Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce, which is assessing the impact of changes in agricultural and petroleum production for the six-state area sharing the Ogallala Aquifer. Affected states are Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado.

"Land, groundwater and petroleum are the three basic natural resources of the area," Stoecker said.

The 54-county area that Stoecker and research associates Joe L. Lovell, Eluned Jones, David R. Booth, and David A. Pyles studied extends from the Texas-Oklahoma line southward to Pecos and Reeves counties and includes a million residents. The area's largest cities are Lubbock, Amarillo, Midland, and Odessa. Of the region's total workforce, 11 percent is directly employed in agriculture and 19 percent is involved in the production of inputs for agriculture or the processing and trading of agricultural products, Stoecker said.

Approximately 30 percent of the area's manufacturing is related to processing of agricultural products, including textiles, meat, food and grain.

The Texas Tech researcher pointed out that although the 54-county region lost 34,000 people between 1960 and 1970, the '70's saw an increase of 50,000 residents.

"A major source of growth in the last 10 years was the development of the irrigated feed grains-feedlot-meat processing complex within a triangle running from Lubbock to Amarillo," Stoecker said. "Of the region's 65,000 new jobs created in 1967-77, more were created in meat processing than in any other industry."

He traced the construction of new feedlots and meat packing plants to the availability of feed grains in that area.

"The seven or eight top Texas counties in agricultural receipts are in this triangle, and they produce a very significant part of total agricultural production in Texas," Stoecker said.

"Previous projections have shown that, under current practices, by the year 2000 irrigation will have decreased in this area by 50 percent, which means a decline in crop production of $300 million in 1977 dollars. This is a total decline in the economy of $900 million."

"We do not have to have a total decline in the economy, if we continue to increase the efficiency of the water we use in agriculture and if we use our current economic base to attract industries which are less dependent on irrigated agriculture," Stoecker said.

A decline of 50 percent in irrigated agricultural production would result in a direct loss of 7000 jobs and a total loss of about 18,000 jobs, he said.

"This is how the economy will go if we do alter our production techniques and compensate by growing in another direction," Stoecker predicted.

It's high time agriculture had a voice on the federal reserve board. That was the sentiment expressed by U.S. Senator Roger W. Jepsen, Iowa Republican. Jepsen introduced a resolution in the U.S. Senate calling for the next vacancy on the Fed to nominate someone from the agricultural community. Jepsen said agriculture, along with small business, is directly responsible for almost half of our total national income. Roughly 53 percent of our national employment also comes from the agriculture-small business sector, Jepsen told the Senate. The agriculture and commercial sectors have a statutory right to representation on the board. Jepsen stressed two large sectors of the economy have never had any say in monetary policies which affect them dramatically. The next vacancy on the Fed is expected in six months.

High Plains Wheat Hit By Leaf Rust

An old problem is causing new concern for wheat growers throughout the Texas wheat belt, but there isn't much the farmer can do to help this year's crop, says a plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The problem is wheat rust, a disease often caused by a microscopic fungus which thrives in moist, warm environment of autumn, explained Dr. Robert Berry, the plant pathologist.

"Wheat farmers all over the wheat belt of Texas have become aware of a yellow color and poor appearance of their crop in many fields," the Extension specialist said.

The oldest leaves on a wheat plant will show the most damage. At first, there is a small yellow fleck on the leaf. The spot enlarges for a short time and becomes a round, rough spot beneath the leaf surface. Soon the bump becomes pale in color, then yellow, and breaks to release many golden yellow rust spores. The spores blow the other leaves and start the whole process again. It takes about twelve days under good conditions, Berry said.

The best conditions for the disease are mild temperatures and long periods of wetness on wheat leaves. The spores will not infect a dry leaf and soon perish under extremely high or low temperatures, he explained.

"As the disease progresses, each generation is more damaging," Berry said. Many fields have so much leaf rust at this time that older leaves are dead, middle leaves are yellow and only a few young, green leaves remain in the crown.

The continual loss of leaves to rust is something like heavy grazing by livestock. The plant will survive with good moisture but it will make little progress. "In fact, it is a good idea to graze a rusted field so as to use the forage and reduce the production of rust spores," Berry advised.

Leaf rust is not a new problem to wheat producers, he noted, it appears every fall on volunteer or early planted wheat. It spreads to younger plants and the epidemic increases rapidly until the weather forces a slow down.

The spores don't grow at low temperatures and may freeze. Some will go south on the first norhwind and carry on the disease in a more favorable climate.

"Rusted leaves are more sensitive to frost injury, so we usually expect no leaf rust after Thanksgiving," Berry said. Counties below the caprock may not be so lucky, he cautioned. The organism has occasionally spent the winter in the San Angelo area but it may be killed all the way to San Antonio or even farther south, he said.

In the spring, leaf rust may move slowly to the north. "It may reach as far as Munday or Seymour on southerly winds and it might even show up at Childress in some year," Berry said. "However, in my twenty years in the area, I've seen rust above the caprock only once."

In 1981 leaf rust was extremely heavy throughout the eastern Texas Panhandle, he noted. Most plant pathologist blamed the problem on an unusually mild winter last season and timely spring moisture.

"Leaf rust causes more concern to cowboys who happen to need wheat for grazing. They always plant early and the rust organism has a long time to raise many generations before cold weather comes. One solution is to delay planting as long as possible. Wheat seeded at this time will have no trouble with leaf rust," the Extension specialist said.

Another control is the use of rust resistant varieties. Sturdy, Sage, Osage, and Newton have resistance to leaf rust built into their genes. They will have much fewer rusted spots, and the pustules will be much smaller, he said.

Some fungicides have good activity against the rust fungus. Their use can not be recommended, though, because they do not have the proper label for use on feed or food wheat used for grazing, Berry cautioned. The cost of chemical controls might prevent their use on wheat even if it was legal, he added.

"There isn't much the wheat producer can do about rust on his crop this year. He can make plans for next year so as to prevent rust losses and he can be thankful for the moisture which will help the wheat through the winter," Berry said.

Brucellosis Hearing Set For November 18

A public hearing and meeting of the Texas Animal Health Commission will be held November 18 at the Convention Center in San Angelo, 500 Rio Concho Drive. The hearing begins at 9 a.m. The Commission meeting is scheduled to begin following the hearing.

The hearing is one of a series being held throughout the state in the A and B control areas of the Texas brucellosis program.

It is being held to address the progress of the program for the preceding quarter as well as receiving recommendations regarding overly burdensome regulations published in the Texas Register, and recommendations to and complaints of the program to the Texas Animal Health Commission.

"We want to hear from livestock producers as to their suggestions and recommendations for the Texas brucellosis program," John B. Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, Texas Animal Health Commission, said.

Other commissioners are Mort Mertz, Eldorado; T. Euel Limer, Lubbock; Charles Koontz, Olton; J.D. Sartwell, Sr., Sealy; Jimmy Owen, Tyler; C.E. Knoole, Sandia; Dr. R.M. Bortard, Kingsville; and Bob Baros, Gonzales. Dr. John W. Holcombe, Austin, is executive director.

Items on the agenda of the Commission meeting, also open to the public, include a progress report on fever ticks, and proposed changes to the Texas brucellosis program.

Selection of new members for area 13 and 14 brucellosis committees is also on the agenda.
