City Okays $514,800 Budget

Begin Advance Gifts Drive On Community Center; Full Campaign Starting Tuesday

Advance Gifts Committee members started working this week in an early start to collect $40,000 as the citizens' part toward construction costs of a Community Center in Hereford.

Mark Woodall is chairman of the 14-man committee, assisted by Dudley Bayne. Other members are John Douglas Pitman, Oliver Streu, Wayne Thomas, Earnest Langley, Ed Line, Woody Wilson, J. W. Robinson, John Sims, Don Zimmerman, Joe Kerr, Ben Childers, Henry Sears, Les Combs, and Dean Herring.

Solicitation by the advance gifts committee actually started Monday following a meeting of the group. "We hope to have all of our work done by Saturday," Woodall said.

Final plans are being made now for an intensive campaign to contact all Deaf Smith County residents. The drive will start Tuesday, Feb. 24, opening with a kick-off breakfast at 7:30 a.m. in the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom.

General drive chairman Ben Childers reported this week that all of his committee chairmen are ready to begin the drive. It is hoped by the workers that the drive can be completed by Saturday, Feb. 28.

Plans for the drive were made after months of planning. The action first started last fall when the Jim Hill Estate offered up to $60,000 toward the cost of building a community center in Hereford.

Major stipulation of the offer was that the remainder of the construction costs be donated

No Tax Increase; Add Water Tower

Hereford City Commission approved a budget of $514,820 in a public hearing in the City Manager's office Monday. Only two persons were present to hear the budget reading for the coming fiscal year.

Last year's budget was $404,485, but that amount did not include interest and sinking fund, which constituted $51,015 of the budget for the coming year.

Most of the increase for the 1959-60 increase comes from an allotment of $66,000 for a water tank, to be located near the new elementary school now under construction northwest of Hereford.

Bids for the tank, City Manager Dudley Bayne said, would be let at 2 p.m., March 2, at City Hall.

No tax increase was made in the budget, as it was estimated the budget would balance with the total anticipated receipts. Tax rate will remain at $1.25.

Only two persons, Gid E. Brown, candidate for a city commission post in the April 7 election, and the Rev. E. L. Naugle, represented the public at the budget reading. Last year 19 persons attended the meeting.

By unanimous approval of the commissioners, a general budget of $463,805 was passed. Bayne said little increase in the budget was made, with the exception of the allotment for the water tank.

City departments and budgets for the 1959-60 fiscal year are: Administrative, $38,458; Fire Department, $10,108; Health Department, $55,582; Park Department, $42,155; Police Department, $66,886; Street Department, $66,290; Engineering Department, $860; Water and Sewer Department, $168,046 (which includes allotment for the new water tank); Airport Fund, $4,420; and Contingencies Reserve, $21,000.

In other business, the commissioners set the date for opening bids for the proposed community center on March 16.

The commission also authorized purchase of 220 new parking meters, from Magee-Hale Companies, from Magee-Hale Com-

ANOTHER MYSTERIOUS BOX carrying transistor equipment, identical to a balloon-carried box found last week by C. R. Gandy on U. S. Highway 385, was turned over to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department Saturday. Attached to a parachute bearing U. S. Army identification, the equipment was found by Loy Smith while he was hunting on a farm 15 miles northeast of Hereford Feb. 7. The box actually fell before the equipment found by Gandy was turned over to Hereford police last week. (Staff Photo)

Second 'Balloon' Hits In Area; Not Claimed

Before the excitement caused in the Panhandle last week when the now-famous "balloon" hit U. S. Highway 385 about three miles south of Hereford, another mysterious object, identical to the balloon-carried transistor equipment reported last Tuesday, fell unnoticed northeast of Hereford on or before Feb. 7.

Unlike the object which fell on the highway, however, the "new" equipment floated to the earth on a parachute which bore identification — "Parachute ML 132, U. S. Army."

Around Town

A pair (or would it be a brace?) of people showed up when the city held its budget hearing. One of the spectators was a candidate for a city post. The lack of interest could either be a sign of apathy or a vote

Brooks Infant Buried Tuesday

Funeral services for William Lowell Brooks, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brooks of 110 Ave. K, were conducted Tuesday in the S. F. Davis home at 232 Ave. B. The Rev. A. C. Hamilton, pastor of the Avenue Baptist Church, officiated.

51 FOULS CALLED

Hereford Branded 56-48 By Red-Hot Dumas Quintet

Hereford got branded with a stunning 56-48 defeat by the hot Dumas Demons Tuesday night in their final conference game. Except that it marred what would have been a perfect 1-AAA district title and was the first loss in 16 games, it meant little.

The Whitefaces closed out the loop play with a 7-1 record, while the win gave Dumas a 5-3 standing for second place in the league. Hereford is 26-4 for the season.

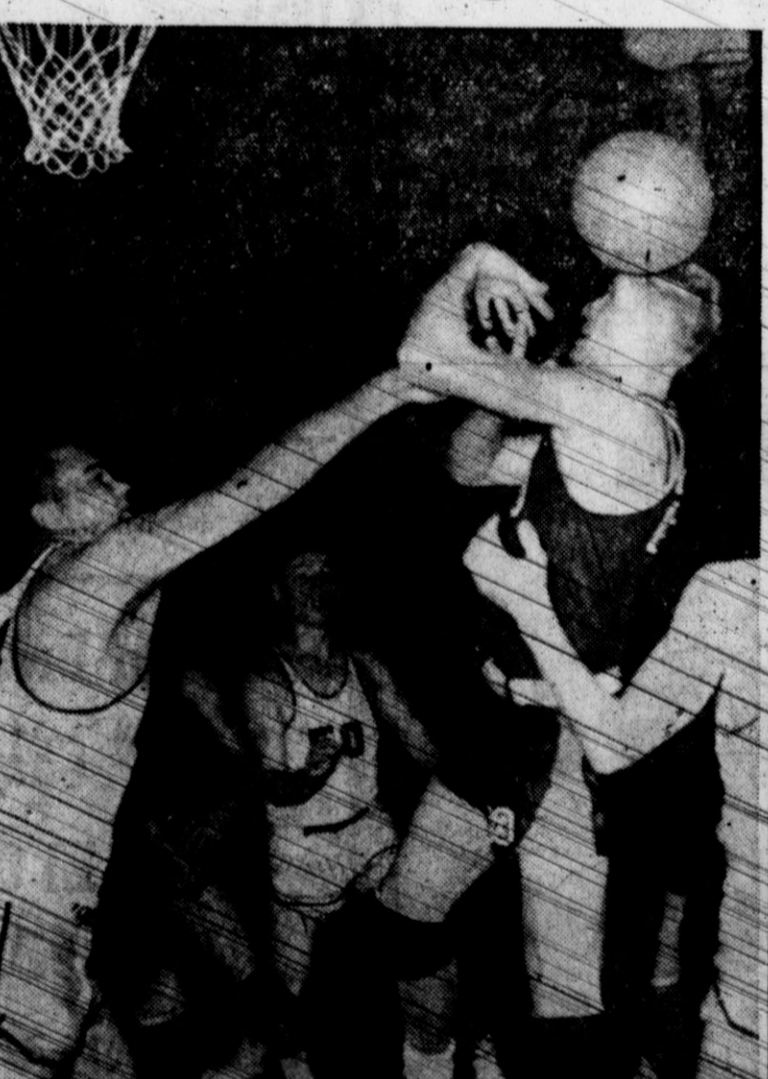

Dumas' gym sounded like the testing site for a whistle factory as the penalties came frequently. Hereford lost three players on fouls with a fourth ejected on a personal foul. Four Demons fouled out of the contest. Officials called 28 fouls on Dumas and 23 against Hereford.

In a perfect upset setting, the Whitefaces were ice-cold and over-confident while the relaxed Demons just couldn't miss.

Roger Hembree, who led the Demons with 16, put his team out front to stay with two seconds left in the first quarter as he tipped in a rebound to give Dumas a 12-11 advantage at the end of the first period.

Hereford hardly stayed within waving distance in the second quarter as Dumas hit 16 and the Whitefaces just 10. The Demons started the second half with a 28-21 lead.

It was the same story, only more so, in the third quarter as Hereford got 13 and Dumas 18. Bobby Shelton fouled out with

Hereford Boxer Goes To State

A short, blond bomber will carry Hereford's banner into the Texas Golden Gloves tournament this week. He is welterweight Richard Hodge.

Fighting as one of the Amarillo regional team, Hodge will be making his first debut in the Texas ring, but he has lots of experience behind his crisp, solid punches.

Hodge was to leave Amarillo Wednesday night for the tourney in Fort Worth. Bouts are scheduled Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday nights. Frequently, boxers must fight twice in one night as the field rapidly gets smaller. State winners will be eligible for the national Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in Chicago next month.

Hodge is a newcomer to Hereford and joined the boxing team mid-way through the season. He has a 4-2 record for this year. (Continued on Page 2)

Chief Returns Two Sought In $750 Theatre Burglary

Believed to be implicated in the burglary and robbery of the Star Theatre last week, Tony Lee Miller, 17 or 18, and Leonard D. Spears, 21, were scheduled to be returned to Hereford Wednesday night after arrest by Rockford, Ill., police Saturday night.

Miller and Spears and two other Hereford youths were charged with burglary by Hereford police Friday morning. The four were believed to have taken more than $750 in cash from the Star Theatre sometime Wednesday night or Thursday morning last week.

One juvenile is in Randall County Jail, in lieu of $500 bond, and the other was released to the custody of his parents Saturday morning.

Police Chief Henry Aycock, notified of the arrest of the pair in Illinois Sunday morning, arrived in Rockford Tuesday afternoon and took custody of the prisoners.

Aycock told the Brand Tuesday that the youths had about $19 each at the time of arrest. They were believed to have had more than $300 when they left Hereford sometime Thursday.

Miller and Spears travelled to Rockford in a car which belongs to a Hereford youth. Spears, planning to purchase the car, was driving the vehicle (Continued on Page 2)

Youth Declared As Delinquent After Car Theft

A 15-year-old Hereford youth was declared a juvenile delinquent Monday and placed in the custody of his parents after arrest in Canyon, where he was operating an automobile reported missing here Sunday.

The youngster is scheduled to appear in a juvenile court hearing Thursday. He was arrested by Canyon police Monday morning while driving a car reported missing Sunday by Patsy Ketchersid, 109 Pearl.

City police returned the youth to Hereford after being notified of the arrest.

SOME SLEEP ON FLOOR

Overcrowded Jail Below Standards

By H. A. TUCK
BRAND NEWS EDITOR
(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles about the Deaf Smith County Jail and the changes which are proposed under a bond election set for March 7. The articles are intended only to present the facts to the public.)

There are two main reasons that the Deaf Smith County Commissioners feel a new jail is needed at this time.

First, the present jail is overcrowded and almost beyond repair, since it is 54 years old. Second, the present jail could not, even with renovation and repair, be brought up to the new standards required for jails in Texas.

In the usable cell-blocks of the present jail there is room for 14 prisoners, yet the average population in the jail has been more than the maximum for some time.

"For the past two or three years, our jail population has been steadily increasing," said Sheriff Charles Skelton.

For example, during the past five months the average has risen to 428 prisoner-days per month, or a daily average of 14.26 prisoners confined. With just 14 bunks, it often becomes necessary for prisoners to sleep on mattresses thrown on the floor.

Number of actual prisoner-days for the past five months has been: September, 436; October, 496; November, 361; December, 437; and January, 412.

"We are not trying to provide anything extra comfortable or extra luxurious in the new jail," Skelton emphasized. "The only difference will be in having enough room for our prisoners now and in the future."

The present jail is not too secure, Skelton admitted, and there are no provisions for isolating dangerous prisoners, females, first offenders or juveniles. "Occasionally, we have had to release juveniles that should have been confined because we had no place to put them," Skelton pointed out.

Not is there a place for insane persons, which are capable of harming themselves or other prisoners. Such cases are handled two or three times each

Vending Machine Burglar Gets 'O' For His Efforts

Hereford police Sunday investigated the theft of a cash box from a soft drink machine at the East Side 66 Service Station, 1303 E. First.

The box, however, contained no money, according to Bill Kitchens, owner of the station. Police said the theft occurred sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

A sharp instrument was used to pry the cash box from the selector-type soft drink machine, which is located outside the service station, investigating officers said. Kitchens had taken the change from the box before closing the station Saturday night.

No attempt was made to gain entry to the station, officers said. The theft was discovered by Kitchens Sunday morning when he opened the station for business.

Villegas Infant Rites Tuesday

Graveside services for Esperanza Villegas, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Villegas of Route 3, Hereford, were held Tuesday at St. Anthony's Cemetery. Father Raymond Gillis, pastor of St. Joseph Mission, officiated.

Services were under direction of Kreig-Marcum Funeral Home.

The infant was born at Deaf Smith County Hospital Monday morning and died at 1:30 p.m. the same day.

Survivors include his parents and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Villegas.

Beginning in this issue, "Teens", a column written by Jean Feagin, 18, will appear weekly in the Hereford Brand. "Teens" will be directed toward the high school age group, and will strive to keep teenagers up to date on current activities and thoughts in an entertaining fashion.

Miss Feagin, a senior at Hereford High School, has lived in Hereford for about three weeks. She and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. Feagin, moved here from Plainview. They reside at 395 Ave. A.

At Plainview High School, Miss Feagin was a reporter on the staff of The Plainview school newspaper. She joined the Whiteface school paper after enrolling at HHS at the semester.

pany of Oklahoma City. Cost of each meter will be $36 net, including trade-in value of old meters, Bayne said. The new meters are practically the same as the old meters, Bayne said, except that the new meters have an indicator which shows when the meter is out of order. Many spare parts the city owns may be used in repairing the new meters.

Commissioners authorized the installation of street lights in the 300 block of Ave. L. Bayne told the commissioners that more than 75 per cent improvement had been made on the block, which makes it eligible for installation of street lights.

Residents on the block have not petitioned for the lights, Bayne said, but since the block includes only one vacant lot, he felt that street lights should be installed on the block.

urday and Angele turned it over to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department.

Law enforcement authorities have been unable to identify either piece of equipment. Both are identical in structure, each containing transistors, transistor and wet cell batteries, an antenna — all carried in an 18 by eight-inch styrofoam box, which is about seven inches in height.

C. R. Gandy, while travelling toward Hereford Tuesday of last week, witnessed the igniting of a balloon when an object hit U. S. Highway 385.

Gandy turned the box over to Hereford police, who called military officials and weather bureau in an attempt to identify the object, but were unsuccessful in finding out what it was or from where it originated.

The report of the landing of another box adds even more mystery to the "flying boxes" situation. When Gandy turned over the transistor equipment to the police department, many residents tied the object in with the "boom-booms" heard throughout the territory last week.

But the box found by Smith landed at least four days before sonic booms or a minor earthquake were heard, which would eliminate that theory. Deputy Sheriff L. R. Cherryhomes Monday said he felt the five fouls with 7 minutes left in the quarter. Donnie Renfro and Milner Duvall followed in the fourth period.

Tall, Demon reserves kept the game on ice as Jim Tindle, James Walton, Royce Williams and Roger Hemifree fouled out in rapid succession. Walton earned 11 points before leaving.

High for Hereford were Milner Duvall with 12 and Donnie Renfro with 11.

The Herd managed to cut the lead just one point in the fourth period, as they edged the Demons 14-13 in scoring. They never got closer than four points in the last quarter.

The loss was all the more unexpected since Hereford had dropped Dumas twice, 54-42 to win the Hereford tourney and 70-37 in a district contest. It was the first loss since the Herd was downed 53-63 in Borger on Dec. 27.

In the "B" team contest, Hereford edged the little Demons 49-47 in a thriller. The young Herdsmen were down 6-12 at the end of the first quarter, but closed the gap slightly, trailing 19-22 at the half. In the third quarter they moved ahead 33-27 and then hung on for the victory.

High for the Hereford Bees was Thomas Coffman with 12, while Morgan paced Dumas with 15.

Expressions ranged from disbelief to complete shock Wednesday morning as the word got around that the Whitefaces had lost a game at Dumas. Although we certainly hate to see them lose, it might have been the best thing. The team realizes again that it can be whipped and ought to be ready to play hard again in regional and, very possibly, at state.

Don't forget the special basketball game Friday at 8 p.m. here, pitting Hereford against a strong Seminole crew.

Aikman Elementary P-TA is scheduled to meet Thursday, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria. The program will be presented by the school chorus.

These cruel jokes seem to come along with the seasons. The latest one reports: "I don't care what your name is, that is not a cherry tree!" We have a first-hand scoop that the silly things haven't reached the East yet. Those Yankees are sure in for a shock when they arrive.

In just five days the drive for funds to build a Community Center will begin. During the next few months there has been invested a lot of work and a great deal of planning to make it truly a "Community Center". It will be debt-free from the beginning. ## Chamber Warning Against Some Termite Controllers

With spring around the corner, homeowners in this area were warned today by Bill Thompson, Manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce to be on guard against self-styled termite control "experts" and quacks who annually bilk the public of an estimated one hundred million dollars. Emphasizing that there are many termite control firms which offer honest and competent service, Thompson stated that public ignorance of termites and their control has made it relatively easy for the minority of swindlers in this field to get away with their worthless treatments. The text of Thompson's statement follows:

"Everyone must be concerned about the possibility of a termite infestation in his home. Termites are a menace to be reckoned with, but if their presence is suspected there is no reason for alarm.

"Quack operators and self-styled 'experts' frequently use the fear appeal to scare homeowners into using their services before any check of their reliability can be made. They create the impression that the house is apt to fall asunder the next moment unless corrective treatment is started at once. Emphasis upon fear and the need to hurry are the racketeers' chief persuaders.

Take Time to Investigate

"Homeowners should never let themselves be pressured into authorizing termite control work for fear their house will collapse unless repair work is started at once. Presence of termites in a house seldom constitutes an emergency. Any additional damage done in a few weeks or even a few months will make little difference. Homeowners invariably have plenty of time to buy termite control service with the same care and discrimination that is necessary in the purchase of any other home maintenance service.

"Homeowners confronted with a termite problem should be more informed on the subject. Reliable information can be secured from such sources as the United States Department of Agriculture, the Department of Entomology of the State University, the County Agricultural Agent and the Chamber of Commerce.

"There are many companies which offer the public an honest and competent program of termite control. Prudent homeowners will take the time and trouble to investigate the reliability of a firm before authorizing any work. Reputable firms welcome investigation. They are able and willing to give references to people for whom they have done work. Reliable firms will gladly give a written statement of the work they propose to do and will give time to consider it.

Fake Inspectors

"Beware of the itinerant swindlers who go from door to door offering free inspections and who attempt to frighten you into authorizing an immediate job. Be on guard against the faker who poses as a government inspector and threatens he will have to tear the house down unless the termite infestation is corrected.

"It makes little difference to racketeers whether termites are present or not. They have been known to quote prices for jobs where no termites existed. Swindlers also have been known to carry termites with them and plant them on the premises so as to be able to 'prove' an infestation.

"The sharpster may disarm a gullible homeowner by quoting a price per gallon and estimating the number of gallons of chemical to be used. When the bill is rendered the gallons allegedly used may be many in excess of the estimate but the homeowner will have no way of checking.

"The quack may quote cheaper prices than a legitimate operator and may offer more comprehensive guarantees. However, when the homeowner seeks fulfillment from a quack he will look in vain.

"Homeowners can be sure they are dealing with a reliable firm by investigating — before investing in termite control services. The Chamber of Commerce will gladly assist local residents in checking on firms offering such services."

New jail laws state that cells for such persons must contain a minimum of 40 square feet, with a soft covering on the floor and walls. A hammock, instead of a bunk, also is required.

Other provisions, under the new law, provide that witnesses confined while waiting to appear be segregated from all other prisoners; that males be separate from females, juveniles from adults; first offenders, awaiting trial, from all classifications of convicted prisoners; and prisoners with contagious or communicable diseases from all other types of prisoners.

The law also specifies that individual, one-person cells must be provided for at least 30 per cent of the total jail capacity and that not more than 40 per cent of the capacity be in dormitory-type accommodations. The present jail is exclusively of the dormitory-type confinement, with provisions for six prisoners in one cell-block and eight in another.

Also included in the new law are provisions outlining the type of security arrangements which must be included. Most, but not all, of these are incorporated in the present jail.

Such items as sanitary arrangements, number of water closets, lavatories, showers, are all incorporated in the new jail law. Most of these requirements are met, at least technically, in the present jail.

on a trial bases at the time he left Hereford, Aycock said.

Aycock said Spears formerly lived in Rockford, where he allegedly had been arrested before on petty charges. Rockford, which has a population of about 120,000, is about 100 miles northwest of Chicago.

Aycock said Miller and Spears were arrested on a warrant issued here Thursday, after police were told the youths might be headed for Chicago.

Police uncovered about $225 in cash taken in the burglary when they arrested the two juvenile youths, 16 and 17 years old, here Thursday. They also found a pair of gloves and a tire tool, believed to have been used in the burglary.

Money taken in the robbery: all in cash, was in the office of the theatre manager, Francis Hardwick, and a front office used for secretarial work.

Entry to the offices was gained through two doors which were forced open by a prying instrument, officers said. Hardwick said he saw no signs of forcible entry into the building, but that burglars may have hidden in the air conditioning room at the rear of the building after the late show Wednesday night.

Aycock said one of the boys stated he and the other juvenile entered the theatre through a manhole on the roof after climbing a ladder to the roof of McDowell's Drug and crossing rooftops to the theatre air-conditioning shaft.

After leaving the building, the two youths joined Spears and Miller, who were waiting at the rear of the building, and the four went to the edge of town to split the money, Aycock said.

The two juveniles took $100 each before leaving the building, which was not included in the "split" with Spears and Miller, Aycock said.

Another requirement was that the center was to be located near the center of the town. City Commissioners agreed to donate land at the corner of Park Avenue and "C" Street and to pay the maintenance costs after the building was constructed.

Public meetings and questionnaires were used to determine the facilities to be included and a planning committee translated these into a tentative plan, which has been made into detailed plans and specifications by an architectural firm.

In connection with the drive, the City Commission Monday announced it would accept bids for the Community Center on Monday, March 16. This, of course, is contingent upon raising the necessary funds.

Children again emphasized that this drive will be a one-time affair, since the building will be completely paid for when it is finished and that no funds will be needed for maintenance and operation costs.

Residents will be asked to make pledges, if possible. These pledges may be paid monthly through December or the entire amount may be paid at one time. Pledges will not be accepted past Dec. 31 of this year, since the planning committee and the city officials agree that the building should be debt-free immediately after it is finished.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Elaborate Ceremony Marks Lincoln's Birth Anniversary

To the people of the 18th District: Last week marked the 150th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

It has been traditional in the Congress to celebrate the birth of Abraham Lincoln by proper and fitting ceremonies and "remarks." This year, being the 150th anniversary, the ceremony was much more elaborate.

A joint session of the House and Senate was called to order by the Speaker. It was also attended by representatives of every branch of the government and most of the foreign powers represented in this country. The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Bernard Braskamp, Chaplain of the House, and the benediction was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, Chaplain of the Senate.

The famous Gettysburg Address was delivered by Frederic March, who was selected for the role by the Motion Picture Association of America. This was followed by one of the most moving addresses it has been my experience to witness during my lifetime. It was delivered by a great historian, Carl Sandburg, who is probably the greatest authority of all time concerning the life of Abraham Lincoln.

I wish there was room in this newsletter to repeat the address but there is not. However, I do want to quote one part of it and comment on it. Sandburg, in discussing the trials and tribulations of Lincoln, made this statement:

"He argued and pleaded for compensated emancipation of the slaves. The slaves were property, they were on the tax books along with horses and cattle, the valuation of each slave written next to his name on the tax assessor's books. Failing to get action on compensated emancipation as a Chief Executive having war powers he issued the paper by which he declared the slaves to be free under 'military necessity'. In the end, nearly $4 million worth of property was taken away from those who were legal owners of it, property confiscated, wiped out as by fire and turned to ashes, at his instigation and executive direction. Chattel property, recognized and lawful for 300 years, was expropriated, seized without payment."

Sandburg, in this short statement, put his finger on the cause of the War Between the States. Contrary to the beliefs of many, slavery was not the question. The question was the unlawful confiscation of property. There has never been a doubt in my mind but that had those who brought these unfortunate people into this country and sold them into slavery been as anxious to right a wrong born of their action as they were to sell these people, there would never have been a War Between the States. No Christian human being would today argue as an advocate of slavery.

The South would gladly have relinquished any claim to property ownership in a human being, but they did feel that they had the right to ask for and receive a return of the price they had paid to those who were clamoring for the violation of a vested property right at that time.

I am glad that the remarks of Sandburg have been imprinted in the Congressional Record. He did a wonderful job in preparing his speech and it will serve as a rich source for reference in the future.

Last week was like Old Home Week for Texans in Washington. The NRECA (National Rural Electric Co-operatives Association) held its Annual Meeting in the Nation's Capital. Of the 7,000 delegates registered, well over 500 came from Texas.

The Panhandle sent a sizable contingent of almost 30. Most of them were able to come by the office for a visit: The Texas Delegation in Congress entertained the Texas group at a coffee in the room in the Capitol originally occupied by the Senate of the United States, then occupied by the Supreme Court before it moved to its present building, and now used for committees and other purposes. This room is steeped in history and is one that should be visited when you come to the Capitol.

The NRECA group from Texas entertained the Texas Congressional Delegation at a wonderful dinner in Sheraton Hall at the Sheraton Park Hotel, the largest meeting hall for this purpose in the Nation's Capital. All of us enjoyed ourselves and had a good visit.

Those attending, according to my register, are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Buckles of Stratford; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waide of Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Robertson and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Elliott Jr., of Dalhart;

Costello, Heffernan Win Main Eventer

Al Costello and Roy Heffernan took the main event tag team match from "Big Train" Clements and Tommy Phelps at the Bull Barn Saturday night when Heffernan pinned Phelps in six minutes of the third fall. In the first fall, "Big Train" pinned Heffernan after a head butt, and Costello pinned "Big Train" with a cradle hold in the second fall. In preliminary events, Heffernan won over Phelps in 13 minutes with a cradle hold and Clements took Costello by a disqualification when Heffernan entered the ring.

1958 Cotton Crop Gets Top Rating

LUBBOCK — Quality wise, the 1958-59 Texas High Plains cotton crop was one of the best on record, George W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice president of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., reported this week as he released the seventh and final quality report on cotton statistics for this area.

Out of the two million bales harvested on the High Plains — an all-time production record — statistics show that white cotton accounted for 71.3 per cent of the crop with 59.2 per cent strict low middling white and above.

"Light spotted cotton totaled only 25 per cent and 16.5 per cent of that was mid-dling light spot and better. Full spotted cotton was only 2 1/2 per cent," Pfeiffenberger said.

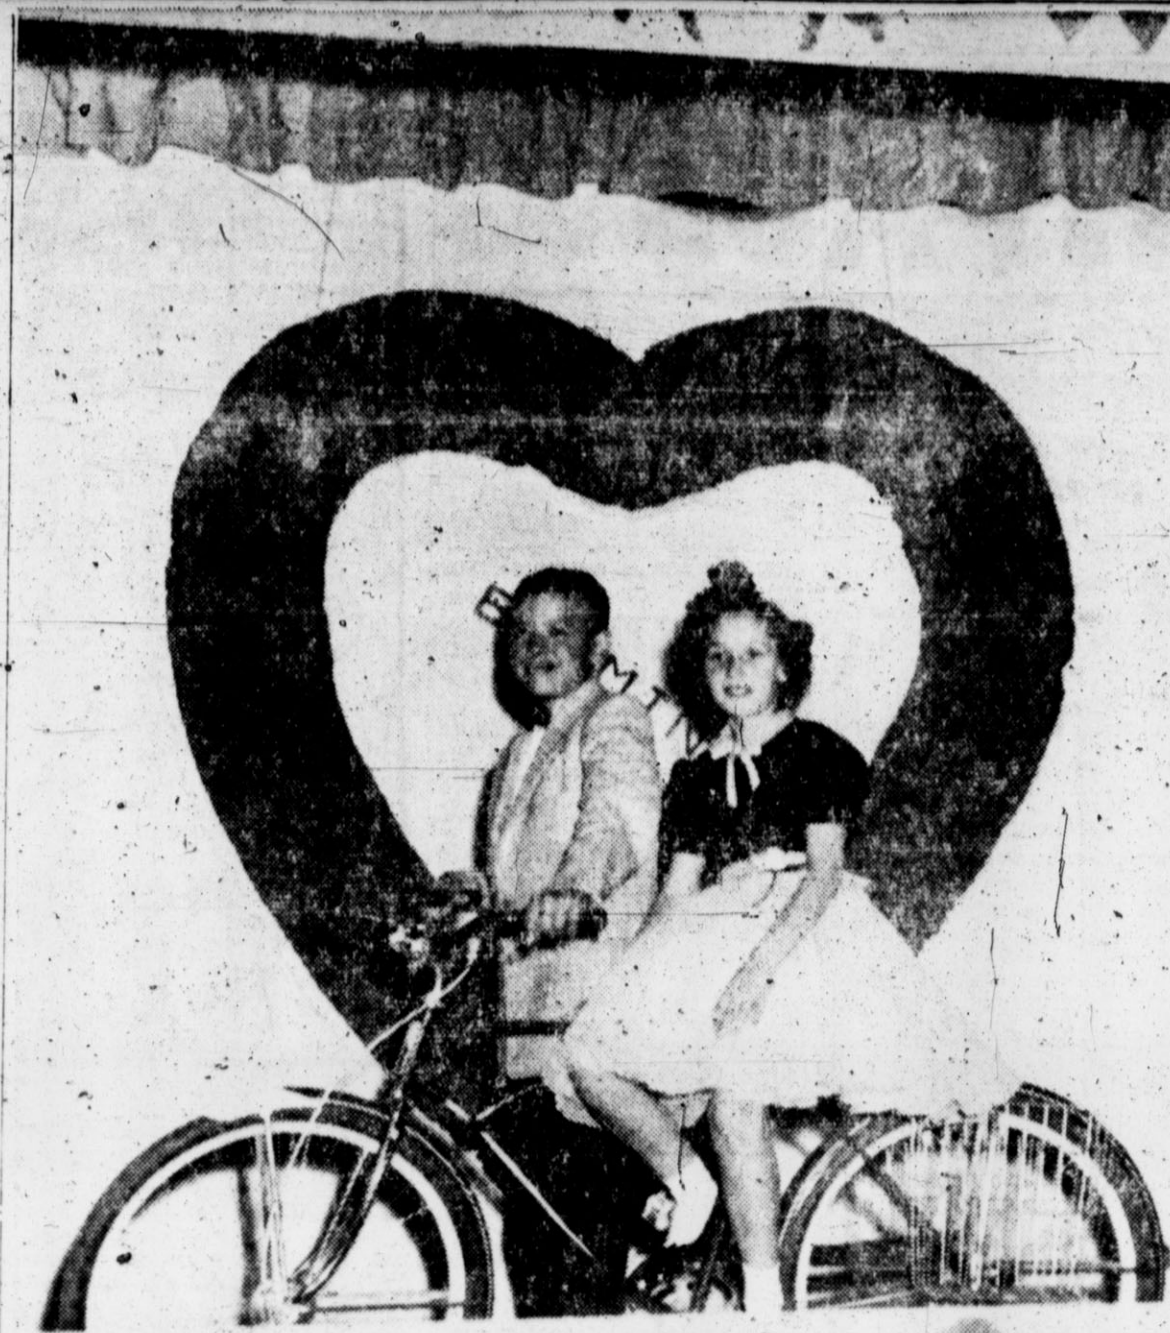

The average staple length on the Plains 1958 crop was 31/32 inch with 25 per cent measuring one inch and longer. Only 8 1/2 per cent fell below 15/16 inch.

The micronaire average was 4.0 with 81 1/2 per cent above the tenebrable micronaire limit of 3.5 and the majority of the crop, or 51 per cent fell between 4.0 and 5.0.

The Pressley fiber strength averaged 74,600 pounds per square inch with 44 per cent testing between 75,000 and 90,000 pounds.

Pfeiffenberger explained that the quality statistics on this past season's crop were compiled in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Tech College. Results were based on 65,896 samples for grade, staple and micronaire and 5,906 samples for Pressley tests.

He concluded that uniformity in grade, staple, micronaire and Pressley makes this crop much better than even the quality crop of 1956 and one of the best ever produced on the Plains.

SECOND PLAY ON FIORELLO NEW YORK — A musical based on colorful incidents in the life of New York's famous Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia is being prepared for Broadway.

Jerome Weidman, author of the best seller, "The Enemy Camp," is doing the song lyrics and script while Jerry Bock does the score. Bock's music was heard previously in "The Body Beautiful" and "Mr. Wonderful."

The show, tentatively titled "Fiorello," is the second stage project inspired by the late mayor's peppy career. The other, "Comic Strip," was an off-Broadway production last season.

Ted Atkinson, veteran jockey, has won the Hialeah riding title four times — 1955, 1953, 1948 and 1947.

Ex-World's Fat Clown Lost Tummy

Corpus Christi, (P) — Need to lose about 12 inches around the waist?
E. R. Chalmers did, but his method of dropping from 556 pounds to 477 and to a 74-inch waist is not recommended for many.
"I've been sick and off my feed for the past few years," he said.

Chalmers was known as Freddie the Clown when he was with the circus. Now he is a boarder at the Good Samaritan Rescue Mission.
In the old days, as Freddie recounts it, a breakfast consisted of five dozen eggs. A dinner included five barbecued chickens, 3 1/2 dozen hot buns, a pound of butter, three pounds of salad and two gallons of milk.
The mission fare is not so sumptuous, but Chalmers doesn't mind. "I had to cut down for financial and health reasons," he said.

With a chuckle he said, however, that "Of course, if I had the money, I might spread it on every now and then."
By losing 12 inches in his waist, his trousers show a great slack. But he keeps them up with two belts stitched together.
Freddie comes by his size naturally. His father was a circus giant with the Hagenback and Wallace Circus. He stood 7 feet, 10 inches and weighed 504 pounds, Freddie says. His mother was wardrobe mistress for the show.
Freddie was born in the circus in Grant County, Ind., in 1900.

He was a circus helper until he was nine and then became a clown. He says he was billed as "the world's youngest clown" until he grew and grew and grew, and then he was billed as "the world's fattest clown."
In 1949 he became ill and spent nearly five years in hospitals.

"I don't do much clowning any more," he said. "I just don't feel up to it. I work when I can find it, but nothing strenuous. No more tumbling acts or falling flat on my face. Occasionally I play for a birthday party or walk the streets with a sign."
Freddie came to Corpus Christi two months ago, and then became ill. Through special donations a room was rented for him near the mission, where he takes his meals.

His biggest problem at the moment is shoes. He wears size 13-EE, and they're hard to find.

CAPOTE PREFERS NOVELS
NEW YORK (P) — Truman Capote feels that he would rather write novels than plays.
Asked whether he might adapt his new book, "Breakfast at Tiffany's," for Broadway where he has been represented previously by "The Grass Harp" and "House of Flowers," Capote said:
"I don't like to do plays because I don't like cooperative effort. I prefer a solo venture, for which I would get all the credit or blame."

ALDER BUYS RIGHTS
NEW YORK (P) — The movie rights to a long-awaited Broadway play, "Requiem for a Nun," have gone to Buddy Alder, production director at 20th Century-Fox.

The drama by William Faulkner has been the ambitious project for several seasons of the acting couple, Zachary Scott and Ruth Ford. Arrival in New York has been delayed for a variety of reasons, but the play was exhibited in London last year and is now on the Theatre Guild agenda for 1959.

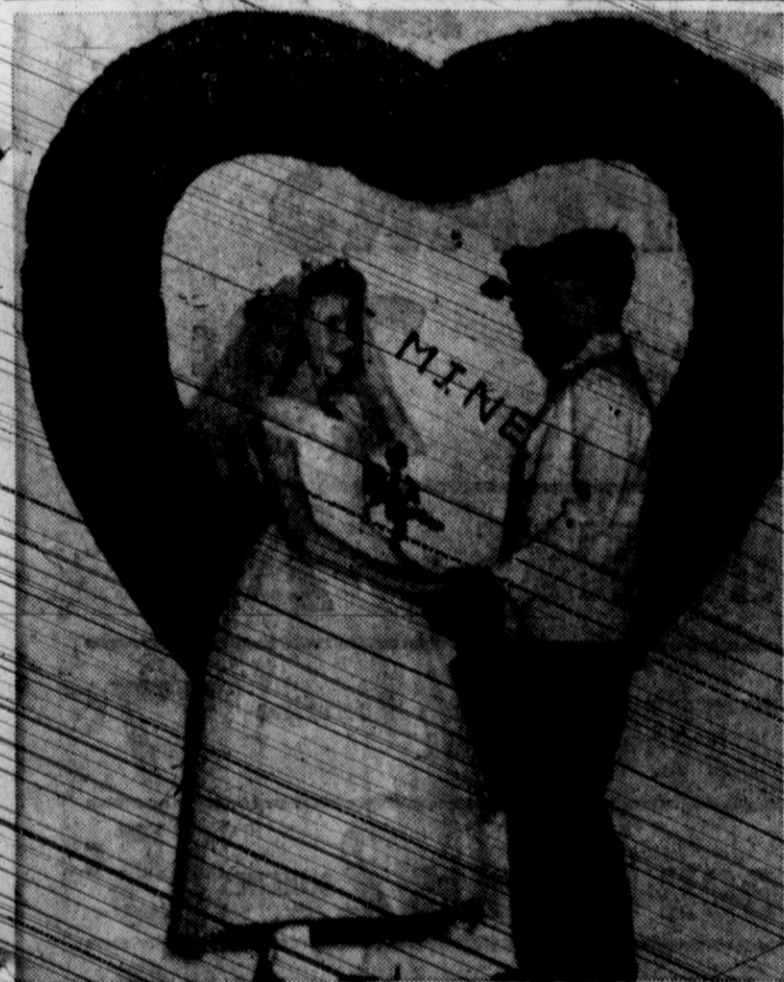

at the idea of his son becoming a man of medicine.
"Doctors in those days had a hard time and he didn't want me to have any part of it," Rooks said.
Rooks spent four years as an apprentice watchmaker, then moved to Troup and opened his own shop. Even though the small town had few families living there then, the newly arrived watchmaker had plenty to do.
"In fact," Rooks said, "I had too much to catch up with and I'm still behind in my work." And that looks like the pattern for the rest of the craftsman's life.

"I figured on retiring last year but the division superintendent came up here and said, 'Don't do it as long as you can keep working,'" he explained.
Rooks stilled his rock-steady hands, lifted his snowy head and looked out the big plate glass window with its "B Rooks, Watchmaker" in gold letters.
The master craftsman smiled and said: "No, I'm not going to retire. I have a job with the railroad as long as I live. Then he bent his small frame back over his bench, back to his love, his life.

At 81, Byron Rooks Is Still Tops At Repairing Watches

By JOE DAVENPORT
TROUP (P) — At 81, Byron Rooks has few equals in the profession he still proudly plies with the accuracy and rhythm of the precision watches hanging above the cluttered workbench he has bent over for three score years.

Not only has he worked on something like a quarter of a million watches since moving to Troup in 1898, but for the past 30 years Rooks has also been responsible for thousands of "on time" railroad schedules.
Rooks is watch inspector for the northern Palestine division of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, the same title he held with the International - Great Northern before the two lines merged East Texas operations several years ago.

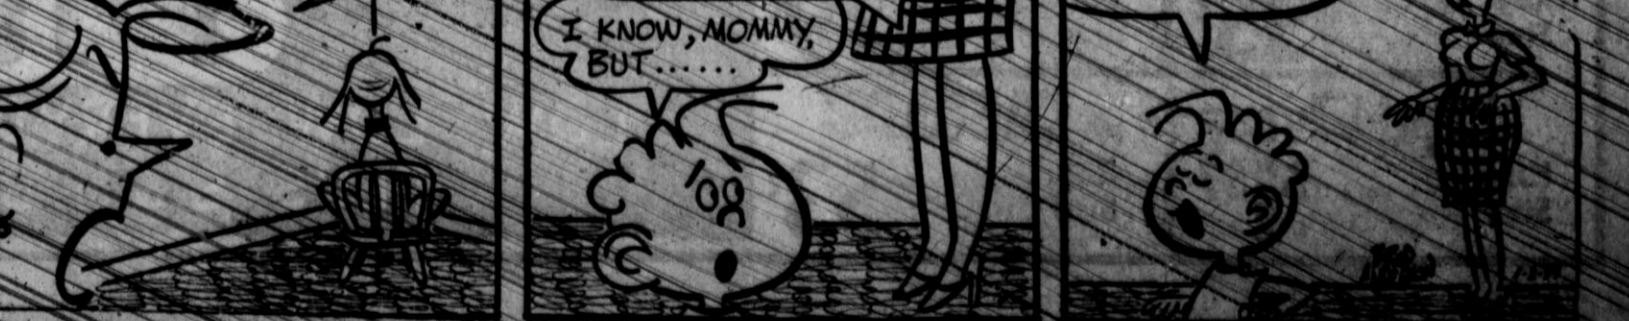

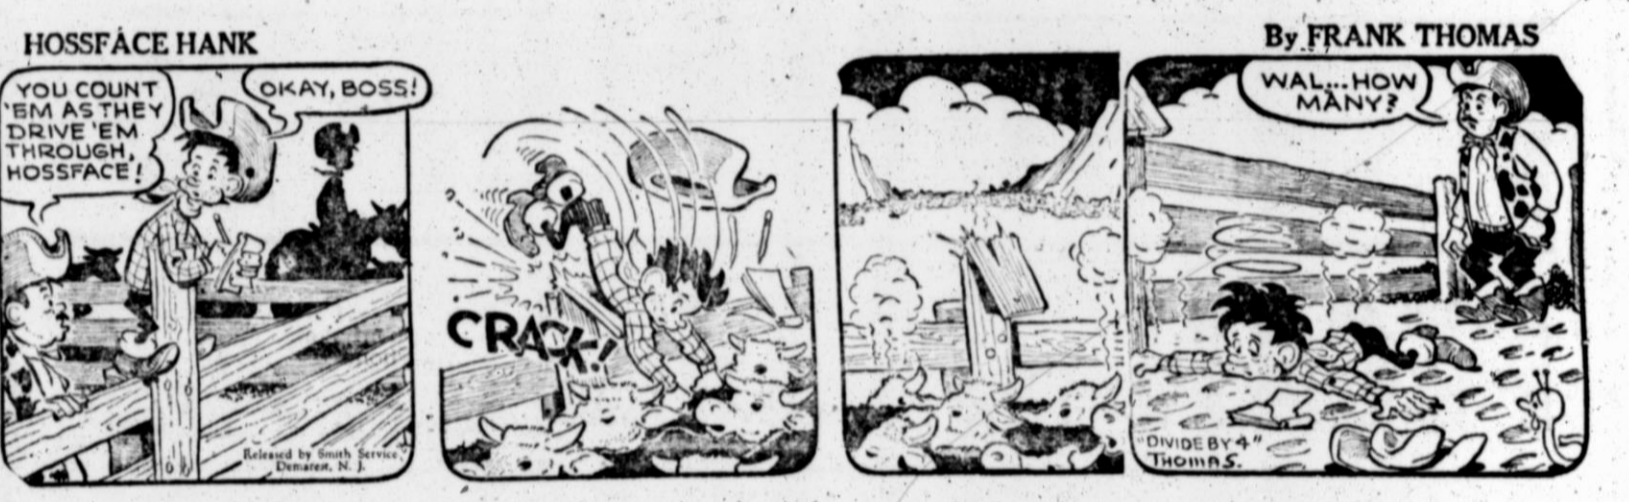

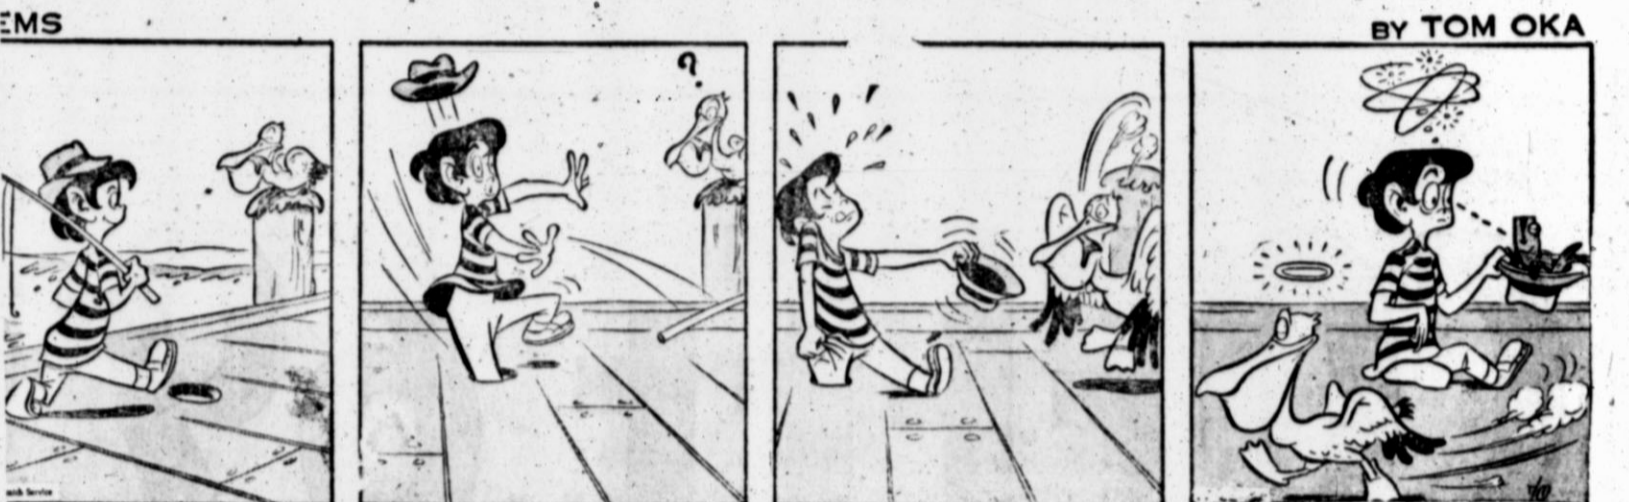

There are 446 railroad men in the division and Rooks cleans their watches at least once each 18 months and makes all repairs.
The white-headed watchmaker doesn't hold with modern repairing machines and methods, claiming "they just don't do the work."
"All railroad watches are hand cleaned. You have to clean all pivot holes with peg wood (soft, pithless wood). It doesn't hurt the jewels and is the only way you can really get a watch clean," Rooks claims.

Neither does the craftsman rely on modern timing devices to adjust the timepieces he painstakingly mends. Instead he prefers to make adjustments by hand, over a 10-day period.
"The railroad only allows 15 seconds of variation a month in these watches so I have to know they'll be right on the dot when put back into service," Rooks says.

He explained that railroads once allowed their watches to vary 30 seconds from Naval Observatory Time during a month, but the variance was halved with the coming of diesel.
How long do the big "railroad specials" stand up to such rigid standards?
The watchmaker says the timepieces have a life expectancy of 35 years or more in constant use, depending upon the user's job and care.

"A brakeman has the hardest time with watches because he is always mashing his watch when leaning over to couple or uncouple cars. Conductors and engineers don't have much trouble unless they drop their watches — then there is seldom anything more to do than replace a staff or cracked jewel," Rooks said.
Although Rooks spends hours on each watch, his charges are like his methods and aren't geared to modern times and prices. He receives $1 for cleaning a timepiece and says he sees no reason to charge more.
But then, Rooks indicated he receives great pride in just knowing that his work is well received because entering the watchmaking profession was really a second choice for him.

The son of a country doctor, Rooks, too, wanted to enter the medical field and spent many youthful hours riding behind his father as the East Texas rounds were made on horseback.
However, his father balked

Several people have called in concerning the proposed Community Center, and all of them were in a good humor and quite interested in the project. Some did have points of constructive criticism, which are worth considering.

Mrs. H. E. Miller, for instance, says she hears some youngsters have not been given enough voice in the planning. A lot of teenagers seem to have the idea that the Community Center will be an "old folks club" for meetings only. This, of course, is not the fact. The way I get it, the Community Center will be dedicated to the benefit and welfare of the community, measuring up to accepted standards of law, order and decency. It will be under control of the City Commission, operating with supervisors, who will likely be drafted under the guise of "volunteers".

Mrs. Howard Armstrong also called my attention to the discussion which Arthur Godfrey and Sam Levenson have been waging over T.V. Mr. Levenson believes, as I mentioned last week, that the automobile is causing most of our juvenile problems. A teacher in the New York school system for some 15 years, Levenson says that "sex, truancy and corruption" are usually mixed up with and precipitated by the motor car. "When a kid says: 'I am running away from home,' quips Levenson, he now adds, 'Call me a taxi.'"

Folks who saw the Rotary Stunt Night Friday are still talking about the La Allegra presentation, which copped first place. Following an opera rendition, another solo started, and Oliver Streu rose up out of the audience, screamed, "I can't take any more!" and fired a blank cartridge. Simultaneously, Mrs. Gilbert Davis fainted on the stage and fell to the floor with a thud. Oliver's commotion drew the eyes in the audience, but those who caught Mrs. Davis' fall declared that it was indeed a wonderful piece of acting.

And, like they are always saying around the Kiwanis, Lions and Optimist Clubs, "those Rotarians will bear watching!" They promoted this stunt night, took in the money — and didn't even enter a stunt of their own. Ken Coker, chairman, says this is because it would have looked bad had they won, but I figure it is because they are honestly a bunch of pretty sharp cooks.

I never saw as many people heading for Mexico. The Bob Lamms got off last week, while the Bill Deckers were still down there, and the Don Zimmermans, returned Sunday night. One thing about it, there is no need to be jealous. If you don't get a winter trip to Mexico all you need to do is wait until July or August — and Mexico will come to you. Come to think of it, these folks may be making the trip out of sheer homesickness.

Gaylord Newell proved what a lot of other grocermen have been saying when he got that 36-foot roll of bologna. He is using it to help promote his 17th anniversary in Hereford. Anyway, it really is something to behold.

A convention of atomic scientists was held in Las Vegas and one of the professors spent his entire free time at the gaming tables. Some of his colleagues were discussing the weakness, and one of them remarked:
"Hotchkiss gambles as if there were no tomorrow," said one.
"Maybe," commented a companion, "he knows some thing."

Blondé: "No, I never go out with perfect strangers."
GI: "That's Okay, Baby. I ain't perfect."

There has been considerable speculation about Hereford's growth in recent months, and several people figure the town is losing instead of gaining. Some Canyon friends were ribbing Wayne Thomas about Hereford losing so many telephone connections — and they were partly right. From Dec. 1, 1958, to Feb. 7, 1959, a total of 51 telephones were cancelled out in Hereford. However, this is due in part to closing of vegetable sheds by carrot, beet and lettuce dealers and is an annual event. Ted Levy, district telephone manager reported a net gain of 144 telephones for Hereford during 1958. In December, 1956, the telephone company showed 2,962 connections as compared to 3,356 in December, 1959 — a gain of 394 telephones (better than 11 per cent) in the three-year period. This is not conclusive, of course, but I would guess it is a pretty fair picture of the steady growth which this area has enjoyed during the time.

Steady growth is always more practical than booms and spurts. I hear they are already worrying about school space when the new building is completed — and if you think the town is losing population, just try to rent a house. Right now, housing conditions in Hereford are as bad as I have seen in the past 22 years.

Which reminds me, I had an arrival anniversary last week, having migrated to Hereford on Feb. 17, 1937. If I could do it all over, I would still want to come to Hereford. A lot of water has gone under the bridge. I guess there are several more, but I cannot think of, but there are three men who have been in the same old stands during the years. They are J. A. Pitman at the elevator, Jesse Stanford at E. B. Black Co., and Gaston Baer at the Popular Store. Most of the others seem to have moved, changed managers or shifted to other lines.

I guess the automobile business has been the most volatile of all. I remember Louis Woodford and G. W. Brumley had the Chevrolet back then. E. S. Ireland had Dodge, Ezra Norton was running the Buick place where Rutheford's now stands, while Dudley Green and Archie Scott had the Ford garage down in the first block — a few doors from the post office at that time.

John Olson was manager of Rockwell Bros., and he told me that he would "give me six months". I guess it was a real favor because, lots of times when things were pretty rough, I would remember what John said, grit my teeth and buckle down just to show the guy he was wrong.

Hereford had around 2,300 population back in 1937, along with a lot of ambition, cooperation, irrigation water and foresight. It also had some of the youngest, live-wire merchants and professional men in the Southwest. Growth and progress invariably stem from youth. Right now, we pretty well stand at another crossroads — and we have a new crop of faces in the helm. Some are sons, some are new-comers. Mostly, though, they are energetic and ambitious, which means that the community will continue to grow and expand. About the best a lot of us old duffers can do is lean back and go along for the ride in this new atomic age.

OFF THE Shelf

By H. A. TUCK
One of the fast-rising novels on the best seller lists is a penetrating look at an Amarillo oil family in The Bone Pickers by Al Dewlin.

In his second fiction work, Dewlin proves that he is capable of joining the ranks of the better writers. He has a solid background as a reporter in Amarillo and Dallas and has sold many articles to national magazines.

Amarillo was aghast when the book was released, since it hits right below the belt. Dewlin leaves little to the reader's imagination as he dissects the heirs to the far-flung Munger oil estate.

Four daughters, Laska, Texas, Bethel and China, and two brothers, Spain and June, control the enterprises which were formed after oil was discovered on their father's land.

Old Cecil Munger drank hard and swore hard and many of his sins were visited upon his children. He was the cause of June's becoming "the happiest Munger."

June and his ex-cop keeper stayed on the farm, when they weren't travelling around the country in one of three Cadillacs. June was an idiot who alternately fed his chickens breakfast food and then knocked their heads off with a silky-smooth golf swing. During his other excursions he managed to get himself neatly tattooed, but not with one of the more usual patterns.

Spain held the estate together, in spite of his remarkable talent for mixing metaphors.

The Munger family hadn't had money very long and sometimes its newness showed through. Deciding they should have a lawn party, they did everything right. That is, except for the food they served.

They were always right, they thought. But it was not against their policy to buy favorable publicity when it was needed to offset some unpleasant smells.

Tax Critics Sob Out Tough Luck Stories

BY VERN SANFORD
AUSTIN — The season of the "hard luck story" is in full swing. Legislative committees having to do with taxing and spending are in almost constant sessions. On the one hand they hear from the state agencies that want more money — of their dire needs, of the gloomy future that awaits the state if their programs are under-financed.

Equally mournful are the stories of those who would be the targets of new taxes. It would be like putting up a "Keep Out of Texas" sign for new businesses and accompanying prosperity, say many business and civic leaders of the sharp new tax bites. Texas communities trying to build up their areas by bridging in money-making enterprises would have the rug pulled out from under them, say the tax critics.

In this arena of clashing viewpoints, the legislators must serve as both judge and jury. Few lawmakers expect to collect any nosegays for their efforts — no matter how sincere or well-considered. Some expect they may have to displease both groups — by cutting spending requests and raising taxes — all in one woeful session.

As expected, businesses, large and small, take a dim view of Gov. Price Daniel's proposal to increase corporate franchise taxes.

Industry spokesmen told of probable increases of from 50 to 250 per cent in the amount they would have to pay. They complained, too, that they'd have to pay a tax whether they were making money or not, since the tax would be on capital, rather than income.

Rep. J. E. Winfree of Houston, sponsor of the bill, told the business representatives, in effect, "It's this or something else."

University of Texas "will sink back into mediocrity," declared exes and officials, unless the school gets a better appropriation deal than that proposed by the Legislative Budget Board.

University officials asked for a two-year appropriation of about $34,006,067. Budget Board recommended $27,920,624.

Dr. Logan Wilson told the House Appropriations Committee that people seemed willing to pay broad-based taxes for highways. Why not for higher education?

Herman Jones, Austin attorney and spokesman for alumni, emphasized the importance of improved education to this country's position in international affairs. "I don't want it put in the history books that this generation kept the budget low and let the nation die," said Jones.

UT officials also said they would be opposed to establishing a third medical branch — at San Antonio, Austin or elsewhere — until they have gotten enough money to make "first class" the existing Dallas and Galveston branches.

Even more impassioned are the pleas of those concerned with appropriations for the Department of Corrections.

Texas Prison System is operated at about half the national average cost per inmate, says Supt. O. B. Ellis. For some years Board members have been warning of dangerously overcrowded conditions, and the need for more buildings.

A slash in funds and personnel, as proposed by the Legislative Budget Board, would bring sheer ruin to the bulging prisons, in Ellis' view.

Prison System has an even more immediate pinch in that it hasn't money to finish out this fiscal year. It had a crop failure last year, when floods wiped out cotton on the prison farms.

Since the Prison System is heavily dependent on its own production, it, like any hard-hit farmer, needs some "cash money" — about $500,000 — to tide it over for this year.

We can't continue our present services and take a budget cut too, Texas A&M Extension Service officials told legislators.

Budget Board recommended a slightly lower Extension Service appropriation for 1960 than it had for 1959. Service had asked for sizeable increase to help offset extensive loss of county agents to better-salaried jobs in industry.

Spokesmen for the Farm Bureau and numerous other rural groups appeared before the House Appropriations Committee to plead the importance of Extension Service work.

Senate General Investigating Committee, a creation of the last session, has until March 2 to complete its voluminous report.

After nearly 20 months of activity, the Committee had had 27 hearings, piled up 7,500 pages of testimony. All hearings were public, and some brought unsettling repercussions in the fields of insurance regulation and tax collecting.

Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, chairman, is recommending such work be continued by a Joint House-Senate Committee. There must be some sort of "watch do", Herring believes, for the state's billion-dollar-a-year business.

Chronic speeders would soon find themselves getting around on shoe leather under a strict new measure proposed by Rep. Ben Lewis of Dallas.

Under the bill, the first speeding conviction would bring a 30-day license suspension; the second, a 60-day suspension; the third, six months; and all thereafter, one year. A record of each conviction would be carried on the driver's license.

Speeding, Lewis pointed out, is regarded as a leading cause of accidents.

"Harmless errors" would no longer be grounds for reversal of a criminal court conviction under a measure being sponsored by Rep. Tom James of Dallas. Only "substantive errors" would require the throwing out of a trial court decision.

There has been some criticism in recent years of Court of Criminal Appeals decisions which nullified convictions because of such things as misspellings and typographical errors. James' bill was recommended by the Texas Law Enforcement Commission.

TEENS

By Jean

The teenager and his parents often disagree on certain issues, and thus creates an ill feeling between the two.

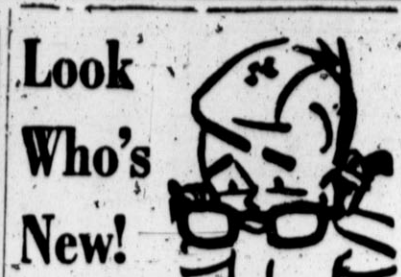

For instance, Bill wants the car for the fourth night in a row; but his father denies his request. The boy could take two different attitudes — he could rebel and pout because he was denied or he could accept the fact and let it go at that.

Most problems which arise are really simple problems which can be solved easily. But sometimes resentment for a parent's authority causes the teenager to rebel, or perhaps the parent is in the wrong by being too protective. When the teenager and the parent are able to look at each side on an equal basis, the problem can be solved with a little give and take from both sides.

Some problems have been solved through a family council in the home. The teenager discusses his side and the parent gives his side. The two come to an understanding, maybe through

The huge roll is being displayed at Piggly Wiggly as part of the store's 17th anniversary celebration. The three people who guess closest to the big bologna's exact weight each will receive a ham.  The court house trees have been undergoing a severe pruning this week, a number of men being on the job. Nearly all of the trees have been topped and pruned. Where they were too thick, the trees were taken up and transplanted in some needed place. The fine setting of blue grass will thus have a better chance to grow as the shade was too much last year. The limbs taken from the trees were sold by the commissioners for stove wood.

 Surfacing of Highway 33 east of Hereford with caliche is to start as soon as the grade and drainage structures now being built are complete. Announcement from the State Highway Department office at Amarillo stated it would be done as a state job. Cooper Dewey, engineer in charge of construction on First Street, will direct the work. CWA labor is to be used in putting in the caliche surface which will be 20 or 22 feet wide. The crown of the grade now almost complete, is 36 feet wide and is being built on the north side of the 125 foot right of way. Representatives of Hannah & Hall, contractors building the grade and drains, announce the job is 90 per cent complete and will be finished and turned over to the Highway Department before the middle of March. The same firm will then move to the west side of Hereford to fulfill a similar contract on 33 from Hereford west to the Castro county line. The road west of the city will have a new location with the right of way on the north side of the Santa Fe tracks. The concrete bridge across Tierra Blanca Creek, now being built by the American Bridge Co., of Austin, will be completed before the grade is started. Fences along the right of way have already been moved back.

Miss Mable Erwin Is Named Home Economist Of The Year

By ARGENT DRAPER I returned Monday from Dallas, where I attended a meeting as director of the County Home Demonstration Agents Association of Texas. Friday and Saturday the annual meeting of the Texas Home Economics Association was held. One of the highlights of the meeting was awarding the plaque to the "Home Economist of the Year." This award was made to Miss Mable Erwin, retired professor of the Clothing and Textile Department at Tech. The Tech graduates in this area are glad this award was made to Miss Erwin. She has published three books that are used in homemaking. Last year she compiled a history of the Texas Home Economics Association. Miss Margaret Weeks, Dean Emerita of the Department of Home Economics at Tech, sent Carolyn Reynolds her best wishes as Carolyn is working in Hereford High for the first year. The professors at Tech have high regard for students of this area. While attending one of the sessions, I sat by Mrs. Walter Pruitt of Itasca. He developed in the conversation that she taught piano and violin in Hereford in 1913. She remembers the Blacks, Betts, Gilliland, Gass's, and Woodhams. She was Annie Laurie Lay. She said that she played in the wedding of Neil Black and Jess Stanford and remembers well that the flowers that were ordered for the wedding bouquet were not made into a bouquet when they arrived and that she made the wedding bouquet for the ceremony. The subject of the meeting was "Accepting Changes in the World Today." It seems that most authorities in the field of Home Economics think that housing has the most possibilities in our area of work. They seem to think that houses are spacious yet not as liveable as they might be. "Share The Fun" festival is Friday night. The big event of the night is crowning the 4 H King & Queen and every 4 H'er is wondering who it will be (so am I). The junior leaders will lead the games and they have some good ones ready for the party. 4 H'ers are beginning to think about and plan for the county contest which will be in Amarillo. Some of the demonstrations they can choose are: "Electric Dairy Foods, Vegetables, and Safety." They can talk to their leaders about others.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brooks of Big Spring spent the weekend visiting in the home of his brother, Jim Brooks, and also with their son, Pat, who is staying with the Jim Brooks. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Duward Taylor and children of Friona visited the Brooks. Saturday night visitors in the Brooks home were Mr. and Mrs. David Benson of Hereford, Kenny Taylor, son of the Duward Taylors, spent the weekend with his grandparents, the Jim Brooks. Veradelle Andrews of Amarillo spent Friday night and Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews. Edlana Vinson was honored with a birthday dinner in her home last Sunday. The occasion celebrated her ninth birthday. Others present were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Dobbins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dobbins and Vicki Axe. Mrs. E. H. Harkins was honored with a get-acquainted morning coffee at the home of Mrs. Weldon Stephan Thursday morning of last week. Mrs. Harkins was presented with gifts. Those attending the coffee were Mesdames Olin Parris, Frank Robbins, Floyd Cole, Gary Mason, John Smith, Charles Erye and Gene Welch. Taking supper with the Weldon Stephens Monday night were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Betts and Jimmy.

'Whiteface Whims' Senior Personalities

"Daughter," said the father sternly, "I don't like that young man you go out with."
"Yeah?" retorted daughter. "Well, don't worry, you're simply poison to him, too."

"Why are you late, Freddie?" asked the teacher angrily.
"Please ma'am, it was late when I started home."
"Then why didn't you start early?"
"Please ma'am, it was too late to start early."

While a small boy was fishing one Sunday morning, he accidentally lost his foothold and tumbled into the creek. As an old man on the bank was helping him out, he said: "How did you come to fall in the river, my little man?"
"I didn't come to fall in the river. I came to fish," replied the boy.

Some people have tact, and others tell the truth.
A widow and her money are soon married.

SOME PAY WHEN PAST DUE
SOME NEVER DO
HOW DO YOU DO?

"Henry, you blasted idiot!" roared the wife sternly. "Take your big feet off that table, don't tilt back your chair, and stop smoking this instant!"
"See here, Annie," spoke up the man angrily, "there's only one person in the world I permit to talk to me like that."
"And who is that?" thundered the wife, approaching threateningly.
"You, dear," was the meek reply.

A minister was having tea with one of his parishioners in her garden, when in rushed her young son holding a rat by the tail. "Oh, don't be afraid, it's dead, mom," he reassured his mother. "Me an' Tommy hit 'im with rocks and whacked and beat 'im with sticks until —" the boy paused, catching his glimpse of the minister, then added in a lower voice, "until God called him home."

Two modern young girls boarded a bus that stood at the terminal. One pulled out a pack of cigarettes. "It's all right if we smoke, isn't it, pop?" inquired one of the driver. "Go right ahead, it won't bother me," replied the driver amiably; "but you'll have to stop if any ladies get on."

The judge eyed the well-dressed prisoner dubiously. "Are you certain this man was drunk when you arrested him?" he asked the officer. "Indeed I am," was the reply. "What makes you so positive?" insisted the judge. The officer shrugged his shoulders and said: "Well, he was dropping pennies in a mailbox on Main Street and looking at the clock on the City Hall tower and saying: 'Golly, I've lost eighteen pounds.'"

Little Janie was hugging and loving her doll and speaking lovingly to it. "You is a beautiful dolly, very beautiful wif your cheeks an' curly hair," she crooned to it as she hugged it close, "but, dolly, you is dot no brains."

The sweet young girl from the city was just too thrilled by everything on the farm. "Why doesn't that cow over there have any horns?" she demanded. "Wal, miss," drawled the farmer, "could be lots of reasons. Some cows is born without horns, some loses 'em, some we cut off, an' some breeds ain't supposed to have any. But the reason that there cow ain't got horns is because she ain't a cow — she's a horse."

A little gun play — Little Will, with Father's gun, Punctured Grandma, just for fun. Mother said, "You hateful lad, it 'twas the last shell Father had."

"Yes, I can give you a job. You can gather the eggs for me if you are sure you won't steal any."
"You can trust me with anything, lady. I was manager of a bathhouse for fifteen years an' never took a bath."

A Scot paid a visit to a friend in London, but stayed far longer than was expected. Time dragged on, and still the visitor made no attempt to leave. At length the friend dropped a gentle hint.
"Don't you think," he said, "that your wife and children would like to see you again?"
"Thanks verra much," was the answer. "It is most awful kind of you. I'll send for them."

A Chinese had a toothache, and phoned a dentist for an appointment.
The doctor replied: "Two thirty all right?"
"Yes, tooth hurtee, all right," he said. "What time I come?"

CAREER

Interior Decoration Is A Rewarding Career

"Interior Decorator" is a term used very loosely today to describe people who assist in the planning and furnishing of the interiors of a wide variety of types of structures.

Sometimes this title is given to one with a flair for colors and natural good taste in decoration, but with almost no technical training in design. Sometimes it is given to a salesperson in a furnishing store or department, whose foremost object is to sell merchandise.

More correctly, it is a designation earned by those whose instinctive artistic traits have been developed by technical education and practical experience. These latter are the professional interior decorators who are at the top level of the vocation.

Since interior decorating combines the roles of artist, businessman, psychologist, and salesman, the man or woman who successfully follows this career must have many of the personal qualifications of ATTENTION STUDENTS: Everybody has to have a career someday. A few have always known what they want to do, but most of us never know until we are almost through high school.

I am adding a new column, "Career", in the Whiteface. I will pick out a career and put a different one in each issue of the Whiteface. I hope the articles will be of some help to someone.

If you have any particular career you would like me to feature, contact anyone in the Journalism class.

Thank you, five talent and imagination. His knowledge of decorative arts must include color, texture, line, mass, and color harmony. He must know how to present his ideas on paper, in pencil, in water color or other medium. He must be willing to accept trends. His understanding of the uses and limitation of materials and of manufacturing processes must be extensive.

It is very helpful if he enjoys spending leisure time developing an understanding of historic and modern painting, sculpture, and other arts; traveling to art centers and museums; studying foreign languages; and developing his own talent for painting, sculpturing, working in arts and crafts, dress designing, photography, designing and constructing model homes, or in other related hobbies.

An agreeable personality and a practical knowledge of psychology are imperative. He must be able to handle people with tact, patience, and fairness, inspire confidence and analyze the desires and needs of his clients. Common sense, integrity, intelligence, and ambition are expected of him.

He cannot allow himself to become discouraged easily. The more business ability he possess the better. He must have the ability and the desire to take infinite pains in working out details.

High school study should be general, with courses in literature, history, languages, economics, geometry, and any others which would broaden the student's cultural background. College academic work should follow the same outline, including subjects helpful in developing understanding and maturity of judgment. Technical courses should include construction, form, and color, history of art, materials of decoration, principles of design, professional practice and psychology of selling.

Salaries differ greatly depending on your ability and experience. They vary from $25 a week to about $15,000 a year — in some cases as much as $50,000 a year is possible.

Interior decoration is a very rewarding career.

How Long Will Freedom Live?

Today in our country we possess great freedoms. If communism should become a dominating world power, these freedoms of religion, speech, press, right to assemble, and right of petition would not remain in this country. The most distressing thing, which I feel would be the hardest to accept, is not to own yourself.

When communism takes over, their government controls business and are the total owners of life itself. With the signal of a hand, life itself can be stamped out as if it were nothing at all.

Another reason I want to keep America free is because I enjoy my freedom of worship. When I think of this terrible thing that could come to pass, I ask myself this question, "Wouldn't you rather die than be a part of such a government?"

Our Constitution, Bill of Rights, and other documents need to mean more than something with which we just render lip service. I feel that what this country needs to do is for everyone to turn to God for the answer. Communists live for themselves and their communitistic ideas. "I OWN

... as far as you can see," boasted one man to the other. But the other man, obviously not too impressed, simply pointed Heavenward and said — "Bob — how much do you own up that way?" What a point he made, what a challenge! For when the final bell rings it won't make much difference how much earthly real estate one owns. A good church attendance record will serve much better. All we have or hope to have belongs to God. So, why not readjust your living habits? Form a pay-as-you-go corporation with God and try to get a deed to a little corner of heaven. The Lord gives a guaranteed title to every worthy person.

The Young People's Group meets on the first and third Sunday of each month at 7 p.m.
Leton Services each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Topic for Wednesday, Feb. 18: "The Way of Sorrow," Text: John 19:16, 17. Topic for Sunday, Feb. 22: "Perfected Through Suffering," Text: Heb. 2:10-15.
Lest We Forget: God has predestinated His people to be conformed to the image of His Son; and this conformity must be in holiness, in suffering, and in glory. Our blessed Lord tells all His followers that they must take up the cross daily, and follow Him. He tells them that they must suffer with Him if they would reign with Him. Let us, then, be content to fill up the measure of sufferings which He has allotted to us; and, if it must be so, "through much tribulation enter the Kingdom of God."
A most cordial welcome to you.

Mind Improvement H. D. Club Topic

"Improving Your Mind" was the program presented to the Cultural Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Clinton Jackson recently.

Mrs. James G. Gandy led the group in a game of Valentine puzzle with Mrs. Jackson winning the prize.

Mrs. Grady Parsons reviewed Rohenburg's "Master Your Memory." She recommended that everyone should read the book. She stated that the brain was the greatest machine that has ever been invented.

Mrs. Gandy gave the report, "New Light on How Your Mind Works," by Lawrence Galton. In the report Galton states that one's mental ability will probably be greater at 50 than at 20.

Mrs. Earl DeHart's subject was "10 Days to a Successful Memory," by Brothers and Eagen. In her report she said, "One only gets out of life what he sets his mind to get. One has to set a goal before one can reach it."

ton Wylie and son, H. D. Buse, Buel Monroe and Jimmy, Jim Monroe and Paul, G. V. Hall and Norman Minks.

For the third and fourth grade party, Mesdames Waldron Melton and Denise, J. T. Tice, James and Nadine, Lee Tice, John Avera and Jim Stocks were present. Games were played, Valentines were exchanged and favors were presented. Refreshments of personalized cookies and other kinds, along with soda pop, were served.

mon candies.

The Man who Appreciates the Finest

BUYS HIS WIFE GAS APPLIANCES!

There is often more to an object of art than the mere surface discloses. A man of discriminating taste has an instinct for evaluating real craftsmanship. This is the kind of man who buys a GAS Range for his wife's kitchen. In appearance, anyone can see its cleanliness of line... glamour of design. Most ranges can claim this. But it's in Performance that a Gas Range achieves superiority! For here is a precision-engineered, automatically-controlled instrument that removes guesswork from cooking. Closed-door, smokeless broiling, instant ignition, and shut-off with no-heat hang-over... here is Performance that assures success in the fine art of cooking. Yes, in every way (economy included) Gas gives you more. And where the finest is truly appreciated... Gas helps!
