4-H Boys Aid In County Wheat Research Program

A demonstration program aimed at improving the quality of wheat produced in Deaf Smith County has gotten underway. The program includes taking drill box samples of wheat being sown, having a seed laboratory make analysis tests on the samples and planting of seed from the sample to determine its varietal purity.

County Agent J. W. "Lefty" Thomas added that the county program building committee had been active in working up the demonstration. County 4-H Club boys and their fathers have been gathering and cataloging the samples taken.

Providing financial support for the program are Hereford Grain Corporation, Pittman Grain Corporation, Miller Seed Company, W. C. Seed Company, Continental Grain Company and Scott Seed Company.

The program is designed to answer many questions which those in the county interested in wheat should know. Results of the test from the seed laboratory will show the number of noxious and common weed seeds in the one-pound sample tested. The test also will show the amount of inert matter and the amount and kinds of other crop seeds.

Demonstration plantings from the drill box samples will be made on the Harold Shearhart farm. The plantings will consist of three 15-foot rows from each sample taken, with the various varieties grouped together. A sample of foundation seed of each variety will be planted so the drill box samples can be checked for varietal purity.

Results of the program should be very valuable in furthering the wheat improvement work in the county, Thomas commented.

Too little is known about seed-borne diseases and fungus, which will be revealed by the tests and sample plantings. Also to be studied will be germination and rates of planting. With more than 200,000 acres of wheat planted in Deaf Smith County, such a survey will reveal the weak points and show how yields and quality could mean additional thousands of dollars each year.

Four-H Club boys who have been gathering the wheat samples include: Dick Plank, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plank; J. V. Junior and John Perrin, 16 and 11 year old sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Perrin; Jimmy Thuett, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Thuett; James Burrus, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Burrus; and Jim Shearhart, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shearhart.

Plan Country Club Operation At Meet

Hereford's Country Club shifted preliminary organization into reality this week when directors met to elect officers, file an application for charter, and name committees to handle various phases of the organization.

Bill Decker was named president of the club, H. A. Cavness, vice president, and Russell Carver, secretary-treasurer.

"We will make every effort to complete the club building as soon as possible," declared Decker. "We are setting January, 1960, as the goal, and I believe we can make it."

A total of 185 active members were reported to directors as a result of previous drives, which

Plan Candy Cane Yule Decor

Hereford will be transformed into Candy Cane Lane during the Yuletide season, according to plans made this week by Hereford merchants.

The theme will be carried out in business street decorations, store windows and decorations and even in gifts of tiny candy canes to children.

Oliver Streu, chairman of the Christmas decoration and theme sub-committee, made the report on planned activities during a meeting of merchants Friday morning in the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board room.

Hereford High Names Officers

Class officers were elected by Hereford High School students Wednesday afternoon in home-rooms. They will serve throughout the 1959-60 school term.

Seniors elected Donnie Marcantell, president, Ronald Anderson, vice-president, Betty Walser, treasurer, and Jane Pool, secretary.

Elected officers of the junior class were Charlie Thomas, president, Westly Poarch, vice-president, Cherry Holt, secretary, and Virginia Higgins, treasurer.

New sophomore officers are John Buck, president, Mack Candler, vice-president, Jan Reese, secretary, and Judy Fowlkes, treasurer.

At the same time Wednesday classes made final selection of annual queen candidates. Representing their respective classes in the contest are Betty Walser, senior, Linda Renfro, junior, and Linda Reed, sophomore.

By the time the last bit of turkey has been eaten Thanksgiving, Hereford will be changed drastically in appearance. Light poles and parking meters will be striped with red plastic bands to simulate traditional Yule candy canes. Merchants will carry out the same theme in their stores' holiday dress.

Conservation Reserve Rate Deadline Set

Oct. 9 has been set as the latest date that requests for establishing a rate under the Conservation Reserve Program for 1960 can be accepted, according to Faust Collier, office manager of Deaf Smith County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

"If the rate offered is satisfactory to the applicant," Collier said, "Oct. 18 will be the latest date for contract commitment."

The program for 1960 is practically the same as that of last year, with an added restriction that a rate cannot exceed 20 percent of the appraised value of the farm. A $5,000 limit has been placed on payments.

There are approximately 117,000 acres of soil bank land in this county, Collier said, and annual rentals exceed one million dollars. The program was started in 1956.

Collier reminded producers that they should compare the net income they normally receive from the operation of their farm with the net income they would receive under the provisions of the program if they placed all or part of their eligible land under the program.

Features of the program for 1960 include a contract.

Collier said the program also provides a special incentive to place all the cropland on a farm in the program and cost-sharing to establish land, water, forest and wildlife conservation practices on reserved land.

He said it is no longer required that farmers making application at the ASC office take information about the acreage of each crop on their farm for the past two years and the average yield of the main three crops.

Rates may be requested personally by farmers at the ASC office or may be requested by mail if the letters are received soon enough before deadline.

And the youngsters should have a wonderful time, aside from a few tummy aches. Merchants will be giving away tiny candy canes to all children visiting their stores.

Santa Claus this year has promised to be in Hereford for a week, from Dec. 14-19. During that time, he will be visiting in various stores, chatting with his young friends and making notes of what they will be looking for on Christmas morning.

Tentatively planned will be three bicycle give-aways and a free pony, with all riding paraphernalia, just before Christmas.

Finally, the committee recommended a huge increase in prize money for home Christmas decorations. The group plans to sponsor a bigger home lighting contest, with about $500 in prizes to be divided in several categories.

Of course, there will be the familiar strands of colored lights crossing the business streets to add brightness and gaiety to the scene. Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce members will put up the lights about Thanksgiving.

Total budget for the decorations and prizes will be about $3,000 the committee said.

Three Hereford men were arrested Saturday morning by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department and charged with violation of liquor laws in a dry area.

Arrested were Felipe Torres Gonzalez, 32, 111-A Park Ave., charged with two sales of beer and beer, and Pablo Aguirre, 47, 111-B Park Ave., charged with possession of 132 12-ounce containers of beer and 17 24-ounce containers of beer, possession of eight half-pints of whiskey and sale of whiskey.

Mysterious 'Boxes' Show Up Once More In County

Here we go again — another mysterious "box" fell in Deaf Smith County this week.

Old acquaintances were renewed Friday morning when two county residents took a styrofoam box containing transistor-powered equipment to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department.

The officers started scratching their heads again in wonder, as they did in February and March when the unidentified objects started falling in this county.

Bud Paetzold and Herb Boardman Friday morning investigated a "fire" in John Paetzold's maize field, about 1½ miles southwest of Hereford, and discovered the fire was a deflated transparent balloon, oval-shaped and perhaps 25 feet in length.

Dangling from the balloon was the box, which contained five transistors, antenna, wet cell and dry cell batteries and a speaker, which presumably transmits sound or impulses. Like the other boxes found here earlier this year, it contained no metal.

Self-powered lights were found at the top and on the bottom of the 18 by eight-inch box. A parachute, made of a heavy wax paper, was also attached to the box.

For skeptics who might think the box accompanied Mr. K on his visit to America, the parachute was marked "U. S. Army" and the box does not look dangerous at all.

"But when you find one of those suspicious-looking things in the middle of a maize field, you're a little leery of opening the confounded thing," Boardman said. The transparent balloon waving with the breeze on the top of maize stalks resembled a fire, Paetzold said, and was what prompted investigation.

Paetzold said a little power was left in the batteries, and that a small bulb in the box flickered once in a while. He took the box to a local radio repairman for study.

When the other objects were found by residents here earlier this year, law enforcement officers made an effort to determine what they were by contacting weather stations and military officials. The effort was unsuccessful, but it was generally presumed that the equipment might be weather instruments. "But why are they found only in Deaf Smith County?" was asked by many, when five were reported here. The first box was found here Feb. 11, when "sonic booms" shook the Panhandle.

Unsuccessful in determining what the equipment was earlier, one deputy sheriff said Friday, "I don't think we're going to try again."

Around Town

Curtis Roach brought in two tomatoes Saturday morning that weighed a combined 3½ pounds. The ridges in them look like pumpkins and Curtis claims they are seedless, but we haven't gotten home with them yet to find out. He grew them on a vine that looks like a tree, outside his grain company office.

Calliopean Club members report good response to their signature tile sales in school last week. They are really working for that Community Center. The club will have representatives at Stanton Junior High Tuesday at 9:45 a.m. and at Shirley School at 9 a.m. Wednesday. You may sign a tile and make a contribution to the Community Center at the Hereford State or First National banks at any time during banking hours.

Wool And Lamb Ballots Are Due

Deaf Smith County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation officials Friday reminded county wool growers that all ballots in the 1959-61 wool and lamb market development referendum must be voted not later than Wednesday, Sept. 30.

The referendum has been conducted through September to give all growers ample opportunity to vote. Ballots were mailed last month to all known wool and lamb producers in this county.

After the ballot is marked, it should be mailed or taken to the ASC office in Hereford in person, according to Faust Collier, office manager. If the ballot is mailed, it must be postmarked not later than Sept. 30.

In the referendum, farmers who produce wool have the opportunity to vote YES or NO on (Continued on page 2)

ANNUAL QUEEN CANDIDATES were selected by respective classes Wednesday afternoon at Hereford High School. Plainview Edges Herd; Whitefaces Look Better

Hereford looked more like a football team in spite of a 29-22 loss to Plainview Friday night in Bulldog Stadium. It was a wild, nail-biting sort of a game literally from the opening kick-off.

Hereford coach Bobby Williams used a bunch of his young sophomore and junior players, and they performed like veterans.

Whiteface Jerry Hodges took the opening kick-off on his own five-yard line, hobbled it ran past the Plainview defense behind excellent blocking for a shocking touchdown play.

With 11:39 left in the first period, Hereford held a 4-0 lead after missing a pass try for extra points.

But the powerful single-wing attack, sparked by tailback Jerry Carter, was too much for the Bulldogs for the remainder of the first half.

Kicking off after the touchdown, Hereford captured a Plainview fumble on the Bulldog 35, but a fumble and a penalty halted the fired-up Herd. Plainview moved 71 yards in and 33. After a 15-yard setback, Carter passed complete to (Continued on page 2)

Laborer Killed Beneath Tractor

A 41-year-old Mexican National farm laborer was found crushed to death under an overturned tractor in an ensilage pit at the Palo Duro Feed Lots, about four miles south of Wildorado inside Deaf Smith County, Friday evening.

Manuel Garcia De Ortiz was killed when the tractor which he was operating climbed the wall of an ensilage pit, flipped over backward and pinned him underneath. His death was ruled accidental by Justice of the Peace Berry Miles, coroner.

Investigative officers reasoned that Ortiz, unfamiliar with that type tractor, had lost control of the tractor when the front wheels climbed the five-foot wall to the ground surface and tipped over backward. The motor was still idling when other workers investigated the accident. (Continued on page 2)

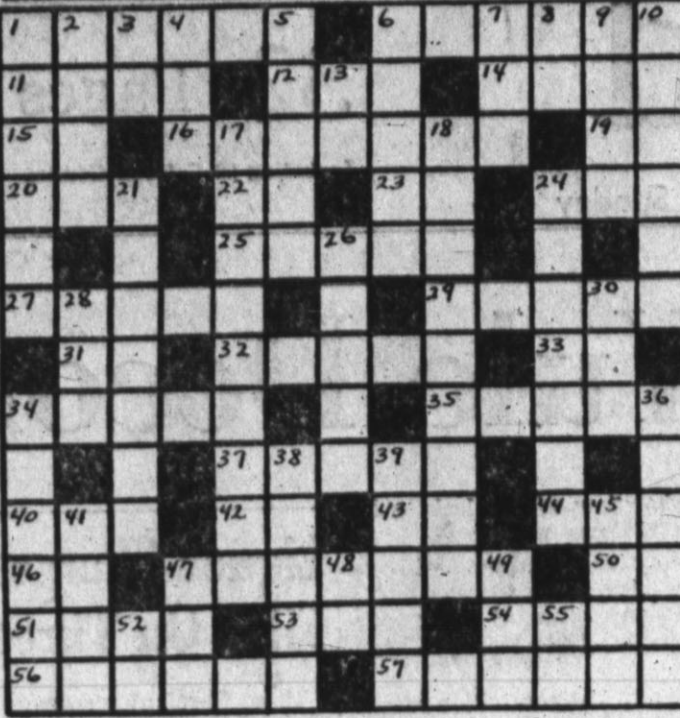

A FIVE YARD scamper to Plainview's 10-yard line by Whiteface halfback Bill Dirks (11) set the drive for a touchdown Friday night at Bulldog Stadium, but Hereford lost the ball on the next try on the four-yard line. Dirks was the run with 2:32 left in the game. Hereford halfback Eddie Sky-

Plentiful Pork Pleases Palates

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
News that pork is plentiful reminds us that many cooks are either conservatives or rebels when it comes to cooking pork chops.

The conservative cooks believe in braising or baking the chops or will, on occasion, pan-fry them. They say these methods keep the meat tender and juicy.

The rebels like, on occasion, to grill or broil them, believing that other ways do not always keep the chops from being dry.

Nowadays charcoal is used indoors as well as outdoors, so rebels can use their grilling method all year. If there is no charcoal grill indoors, they're likely to broil the chops in the kitchen range.

Outdoor cookery experts, Helen Evans Brown and Jim Beard, authors of "The Complete Book of Outdoor Cookery" say that loin pork chops are the best to cook over charcoal, but that rib chops from heavy pork may also be used. They emphasize that pork chops should always be cooked until "well done but not dry" and caution against fast cooking. They like to put chops at least 1-inch thick on the grill and recommend 25 to 35 minutes cooking time.

Rules for broiling pork chops aren't around much, but if this method interests you, go ahead and try it. Just have faith in yourself and remember that the chops must be well done. That means the meat should be pink throughout — no trace of white allowed. Ever talk about cooking pork chops when you're exchanging recipes with friends? You'll find ration. Some cooks are addicts of the soak-in-milk-before-cooking school. Other schools of thought believe in soaking in a sauce with a tomato base. This recipe features the latter, and adds basil, the tomato's true seasoning mate.

BROILED PORK CHOPS

Ingredients: 6 loin pork chops (3/4-inch thick), 3/4 cup tomato juice, 4 tablespoons olive oil, 2 tablespoons cider vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 6 fresh basil leaves (chopped) or several pinches dried basil, 1 teaspoon vegetable bouquet sauce.

Method: Trim fat from around chops so there is no more than a 1/4-inch layer. Mix the tomato juice, oil, vinegar, sugar, Worcestershire and basil in a baking dish (12 by 8 by 2 inches). Arrange chops in one layer in marinade; refrigerate, covered, for 4 to 8 hours, turning chops several times. Remove chops from marinade. Heat the marinade; stir well and mix 2 tablespoons of it with the vegetable bouquet sauce; brush mixture over chops, including fat. (Use the remaining marinade for a sauce, adding lots of onion and green pepper.) Broil chops slowly in kitchen range or rotisserie until brown on one side; turn to brown other side (it will take about 25 minutes); cut a slit near the bone to make sure meat is white through. Makes 6 servings.

TAKE CARE! Pork chops may be grilled over charcoal or broiled in the kitchen range if care is taken to cook them thoroughly. Accompany the chops with skewers of mushrooms, carrots and onions.

Hereford Schools Are Discussed By La Madre Mia Study Group

Local school problems were discussed at the meeting held by La Madre Mia Study Club Thursday evening in the Friendship Room of the Hereford State Bank.

Mrs. Dean Herring discussed "What Do You Know About Your School?", giving some figures: the total operational expense budget for the Hereford School District - $817,085, total expenditure - $971,699, total reimbursement - $982,709.

Hereford Rural School area is 703 sq. miles in Deaf Smith, Parmer, and Castro Counties. The cost per student per year is $319. The school district has 2,943 students, and the school enrollment has increased approximately 200 per year for the past ten years.

Mrs. Herring also told something of the duties of the school board and new methods of teaching.

Mrs. Joe Henry presided over the business session when plans were made for a bake sale to be held at Cooper's Market on Oct. 3, for the benefit of the new Community Center. Mrs. Paul Schroeter was named chairman of the telephone committee. Those present were the hostess, Mrs. Buddy Pickens; Mesdames Joe Hacker, Ted Hardwick, Joe Henry, Dean Herring, Dennis Loman, Bobby Owens, Paul Schroeter, Eugene Sparks and Bobby Williams.

VISIT SON
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCullough returned Monday from Houston, where they visited their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pat McCullough. They were accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. James Killian and little daughter Julia of Lubbock.

Ohio was admitted as the 17th state in 1802.

Leslie Reaves, who gathered the ball in on the 15 and went the route to tie the score 6-6. The play covered 46 yards. Carter passed to end George Ragle for the extra points and Plainview was out front to stay. There was 8:38 remaining in the first period.

Hereford finally got its offense moving late in the second quarter. Herman Harrison returned the kick-off from the 10 to the 30. Then Eddie Skypala, Duane Cassels and Bill Dirks took turns carrying the mail. Fullback Skypala banged over right tackle for the final two yards to score. Dirks used a keeper play to gain the two extra points.

With 3:05 of the second quarter left, Plainview led 23-14. The third quarter was fairly quiet after the fireworks of the first half. Hereford recovered a Plainview fumble, had to punt and then guard Edwin Thomas dropped on a fumble to stop a Plainview drive.

Hereford took over on its own 34 and moved to the Bulldogs' nine before fumbling on the four. Carter started the 96-yard drive, relieved by Clark, who made a sparkling 40-yard run.

Early in the final period, Carter came back in to run the first nal two yards for a score. The run for extra points was short.

Herman Harrison returned the kick-off from the 15 to the 33 and the Herd was on the march once more. Skypala, Cassels, Dirks, and Jerry Hodges keyed the drive. Cassels made 28 yards on a reverse. With second down on the nine, Dirks used the option to his right and lateraled to Jerry Hodges who dove into the end zone. Dirks then kept around right end for the extra points.

Plainview's drive was halted and Hereford started to move again. But a fourth down pass slid off the fingers of the intended receiver and Plainview stormed back to Hereford's 20. Big Joe Ferguson's field goal try was partially blocked. Cassels picked up the loose ball on the 10 and bolted upfield to the Hereford 48. But a clipping penalty nullified most of the run. Plainview intercepted a last pass to save the game as the clock ran out.

In other action, Dumas was killing Canyon's three-game win streak with a 16-6 victory. Levelland was edged out by the state's best AAA team, Breckenridge, in a 7-6 thriller. Brownfield fell before Littlefield, 22-6; Olton whipped Hale Center, 27-6; and Phillips romped over Tulia, 36-0.

Earlier, Ortiz had operated another tractor but had switched tractors shortly before he was killed. He started working at the feed lot Wednesday. The accident occurred at about 3:45 p.m.

Workers were packing ensilage in the pit when the accident occurred. The feed lot is owned by Duane Allred, Howard Boxwell and Donald Ladehoff. The body was taken to Boxwell Brothers Funeral Home in Amarillo by Amarillo Ambulance Service. Funeral arrangements were pending notification of next of kin.

The Monterrey, Nuevo Leon, Mexico man was under the supervision of Western Texas Labor Association of Eagle Pass. He is survived by his wife, Sara Andrade, and four children.

The accident occurred about two miles south of the Deaf Smith-Oldham county line, just west of Highway 809.

Approval of a new agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council for the advertising and sales promotion of lamb and wool. If the agreement is approved, deductions will be made from government wool and lamb payments for the 1959, 1960 and 1961 marketing years to finance the Council's activities.

Deductions for this promotion program have been made each year since the wool incentive program began in 1955. Collier said. Deductions amount to one cent per pound for shorn wool and five cents per hundredweight for unshorn lambs and may be no higher than that if the agreement is extended.

Extension of the agreement requires a favorable vote by growers having two-thirds of the volume of production represented in the referendum.

"The referendum relates only to the lamb market development program," Collier added, "and will not affect the continuation of the payment program under the three-year extension of the Wool Act last summer."

An eligible voter in the referendum is any individual, corporation, partnership or legal entity which has an interest as owner or partial owner in one or more sheep six months of age or older for any period of at least 30 days from Jan. 1, 1959, until the day his ballot is cast.

Underarm Deodorant
One good "homemade" underarm deodorant is comprised simply of bicarbonate of soda diluted with water. It is also a good body deodorant to add a little bicarb to your tub of bath water.

Glossy Painting
Before painting over enameled or varnished surfaces, always sandpaper the surface to cut the glossy finish, otherwise the fresh paint will not adhere.

Substitute Hanger
If you need a clothes hanger in a pinch, roll a newspaper tightly and tie a string to the center to hang it up.

Rust Preventive
You can do lots towards preventing rust from accumulating on your garden tools if you will heat two ounces of powdered resin with 12 ounces of lard until the resin melts completely. Then add one pint of benzine, and apply this mixture sparingly to the metal parts of your tools.

U. S. Representative Walter Rogers visited a few minutes in Hereford last Thursday. He was accompanied by Carl Hill and Carl Hill Jr., of Amarillo.

Congressman Rogers was on his way to the agriculture field day at Halfway experiment station. During a coffee conversation, Rogers said he thought the controversial labor bill was the best possible under the circumstances, but that its enforcement would be dependent upon the interpretation given it by the courts. He also said that he felt Khrushchev's visit to the U. S. would help promote better understanding and open the door for future cooperation between the U. S. S. R. and America.

B, Freshman Teams Top Dalhart There

By ROGER McQUIGG
Brand Sports Writer
Hereford Whiteface "B" and freshman squads stamped over Dalhart Thursday night at Dalhart stadium. The "B's" outclassed their opponents, 28 - 15, and the freshmen carved a 12 - 7 win on the scoreboard.

In the last 30 seconds on the final quarter, Calf quarterback Jim Brown scattered 70 yards for a touchdown after intercepting a pass. A successful bonus run for extra points tilted Dalhart, 28 - 15. The contest marked the third consecutive victory for the Bees.

Dalhart received the starting kickoff and made a steady drive for the goal to draw first blood. The kick for extra point was good.

Later in the quarter, Brown countered with a 45-yard scamper. In the second stanza, Hereford halfback Mack Canster nearly equalled Brown's run when he broke through Dalhart for 40 yards to the goal. Hereford fullback Dickie Mason contributed extra points when he crashed the Dalhart line.

Canster made the score 20 - 7 near the end of the second quarter when he scattered 30 yards for another touchdown. A penalty against Hereford offset another touchdown by Canster in the third period.

In the third, Dalhart got possession of the ball and ran for a TD and tallied with extra points to make the score 20 - 15. Brown's touchdown then ripped any hopes Dalhart had of topping the Herd. Halfback standout J. T. Baker pulled the Hereford freshmen out of the fire in the third quarter after cracking Dalhart with a 10 yard run for a TD to lead the 12 - 7 win.

In the first quarter, Baker ran 25 yards for a touchdown, but a try at bonus points was unsuccessful. After a calm second stanza, Dalhart took a touchback from the Whitefaces to lead, 7 - 6.

Aycock Speaks At P-TA Association

The Deaf Smith Council of Parent Teachers Association meet Thursday evening in the Hereford High School library. President, Mrs. Glenn Allred, presided over the meeting. Guest speaker was Chief of Police Henry Aycock.

Mr. Aycock spoke to the group on "Safety in driving." He said in part, a total of "37,000 people were killed on highways in the United States last year. Property damage was a total of one and eight-tenths billion dollars. A total of 3,000 people were killed in Texas last year, with property damage totaling one hundred million dollars.

The two things that cause accidents are mass of cars and inertia. Speed is the main factor in accidents."

Mr. Aycock closed by saying that it had been six years since a pedestrian had been killed in Hereford, which is the best record of any city its size in the United States.

DUCKLINGS NOT SO UGLY

ST. LOUIS (AP) — That old story about the ugly duckling is a slander, believes bird curator Henry Sanders of the St. Louis Zoo.

Looking over three week-old black swans at the zoo, Sanders said they have bright eyes, pearl-gray down, and beaks as shiny as patent leather.

"Swans go through a teen-age period when they do not look like much," he said, "but who doesn't?"

Then these menu suggestions may be used for 50 or more guests — whether they are invited from five to six o'clock in the afternoon or after an 8:30 ceremony in the evening.

First something old: assorted tea sandwiches. These the old standbys of chicken or turkey, ham and cheese mixtures. Or small squares of hot cornbread split and sandwiched together again with slivers of Smithfield ham.

Something new? Deviled almonds and pickled mushrooms. The first is nothing more than buttered almonds given wonderful flavor with an all-purpose herb seasoning salt. The second, tiny raw mushrooms steeped in a marinade of olive oil, wine vinegar and spices.

Something borrowed? The punch recipe. That punch is al-

COMIC BOOK IS WINNER

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Safety Council has given its Public Interest Award to a comic book. The book, "Tommy Gets the Keys," is distributed by B. F. Goodrich Co. The 32-page cartoon booklet is designed to "train the would-be teen-age driver before he gets the keys to the car," company officials say.

More than six million copies of the booklet have been distributed since it was introduced in 1954.

Pennsylvania produced 60 million tons of bituminous coal in 1957.

ways a worry to mothers of brides. What combination of ingredients to use? How much to prepare? Will the friends who want a non-alcoholic refresher really like it?

The following punch recipe we can vouch for; it's a combination of flavors we've used (in smaller quantities) many times for summer parties. But this large rule we borrow from the fine spanking-new "Abingdon Basic Cookbook" by Mary L. Chenault (Abingdon Press). Every recipe in the book has been tested and retested in the author's foods and home management classes at Watkins Institute in Nashville, Tennessee. These classes have been attended by hundreds of girls and women and a few brave men; teacher and pupils shared their experiences and their choice recipes. The book itself would make a fine gift for a bride.

WATKINS PUNCH

Ingredients: 2 cans (46 ounces) unsweetened pineapple juice, 2 cans (46 ounces) sweetened orange juice, 4 cans fresh lemon juice (2 dozen fresh lemons or possibly less), 6 cups sugar syrup (2 cups sugar dissolved in 6 cups water), 1 cup strong tea (made by steeping 5 tea bags in 1 cup freshly boiled water), 2 large bottles ginger ale, 2 large bottles sparkling water, 1 quart or more of orange sherbet (optional).

Method: Mix first 5 ingredients together. Just before serving, add ginger ale and sparkling water and stir gently in large glass jar or bottle. Pour over large block of ice in punch bowl and spoon sherbet over-top. This amount will serve at least 110 punch cups.

Note: Ice may be molded in fancy pudding mold. A large piece of ice is better than cubes or lump ice, which make it harder to serve.

Laundry Bag Off To School

By DOROTHY ROE

Every boarding school girl needs a laundry bag — the bigger the better, and sturdy enough to stand the gaff of weekly trips through the mails, when the laundry goes home to mother.

A husky duffel bag of water-repellant, mildew-resistant canvas solves the problems of storage and transportation. You may choose either a solid color or a gaily striped awning canvas.

After much experiment, local sewing center experts have worked out the ideal school laundry duffel, simple to make at home. They suggest you make it with a drawstring top and an identification-card pocket.

The pocket on the side serves as an address holder. A piece of cardboard with daughter's school address on one side, parents home address on the other, serves as a permanent mailing label. Fourth class postal charges for nine pounds of laundry will be under 70 cents if the school is less than 300 miles from home.

The carryall can be stitched on your electric sewing machine. However, it is recommended that a heavy (No. 18) needle and heavy (No. 40) thread be used. A straight stitch on an automatic slant-needle machine will give greater seam strength. Canvas may be purchased from a local awning shop, mail-order house or large department store.

To make a bag 41 inches in circumference and 29½ inches deep, you will need one and five-eighths yards of canvas, matching thread and 12 feet of cotton clothesline cord. Here's how the bag is made:

1 Draw a circle 14 inches in diameter on the canvas, using pencil or chalk and a piece of string. This forms the bottom of the bag. Cut a 42-inch length of canvas for the sides.

2 Work drawstring openings about 20 inches apart and about one inch from the selvage on one side of your 42-inch length of canvas.

3 Use remaining fabric scraps for the card pocket. Cut two strips an inch and a half wide and five inches long, and two the same width and six inches long. If you are using a striped canvas, center a stripe in each strip. Turn under edges so that only the stripe shows. Top-stitch. Next join the four strips to form a rectangle. Stitch to the middle of your 42-inch length of canvas, leaving the top of the pocket open for insertion of the mailing card, which could be in a plastic holder.

4 Pin together the ends of the 42-inch piece, right sides together, so that a cylinder is formed. Stitch. Turn under the top about one inch, forming a casing. Stitch.

5 Pin the circular piece of canvas to the bottom of the bag, right sides together. Stitch. Draw the doubled cord through the casing.

This handy bag also can be used for carrying books, groceries, sports equipment and many other items. On trips to and from home, daughter probably will use it as extra luggage. It's easy to sew and makes a welcome gift.

SPIDER LADY... Catherine Luciano, milkmaid to spiders, with some of her "herd." Picture was taken from floor looking through glass table.

Her Assignment: Milking Spiders

By TOM HENSHAW
HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP) — Catherine Luciano is a milkmaid — for spiders!

Each working day in season — from late May until the cold weather sets in — she spends several hours handling the scary little critters and coaxing them to spin their webs in the interest of engineering.

The fine but tough strands of gossamer eventually end up as the cross wires on the delicate precision instruments like surveyor's sights, manufactured by her employer, Keuffel & Esser Co.

Catherine got her unusual job 10 years ago through the simple expedient of volunteering. Between milkings she performs a second chore of fitting the cross wires onto reticles.

"I had the normal dislike of handling spiders at first but I got used to it," says Catherine. "It's just part of the job now."

How do you milk a spider? First, you select one that looks plump and well rested. Then you pick him out of his box and drop him on a table, grasping with your fingers the tiny bit of gossamer protruding from his body.

The spider takes off across the table top, spewing a single strand of web behind him. The web is collected on an aluminum spinning frame which can hold up to 75 feet on a good run.

The frames wound with gossamer so thin it can barely be seen are stored in specially constructed dust-free boxes for use during the cold off-season when spiders are unavailable.

Catherine's job may be unusual but there's nothing exotic about the spiders. They are plain old New Jersey field spiders, collected by a farmer in nearby Secaucus. He gets 30 cents apiece for them.

In the course of a milking season, Catherine handles about 1,500 spiders in her studio-like workshop on the fifth floor of a gray factory building not far from the Hoboken waterfront.

Keeping the spiders is no special trouble or expense. They are housed in boxes with air holes. They provide their own food by eating each other. But explaining her job and her informal title of "spider lady" occasionally presents a problem for Catherine — "You should hear me try to explain it to a date. They don't believe me at first."

There are other small problems, too.

Sometimes, when Catherine's vigilance slackens, the wily little monsters stage mass escapes from their box. Then it's strictly up to Catherine. Few of her co-workers are willing to help in the recapture.

And occasionally there are spider bites, too. Catherine describes them as like being bitten by a mosquito. The bite is treated with alcohol and, moments later, she is back at the spider table.

SPIDER on Miss Luciano's fingertips.

CARRYING THE BREAD, Whiteface halfback Herman Harrison didn't quite make it "home" after catching a pass Friday night at Bulldog Stadium, but he ran for seven yards in the third quarter before being brought down by tacklers. Hereford lost a heartbreaker, 29-22. (Staff Photo)

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Phoenix City Manager Ray W. Wilson sent a memo to all department heads suggesting a campaign to eliminate errors in letters and reports.

Wilson's memo began: "We are doing better, but . . ."

Hereford has a lot of assets but one thing we do need is a plain, ordinary, full-time shine boy. The way things stand now, you either wait until school is out — or shine your own shoes.

It's a profitable business, too. Several barbers have told me that a top-notch shine boy can run $75 to $90 a week, counting tips. In the past, a few extra good boys have actually made more money than the average barber in shops where they work. At least, that's what some of the barbers report. Many people work for less money, it seems, due to the fact that no particular pride or social prestige is attached to the job. If this trend continues, it seems that all of the people who learn to shoot missiles will also have to learn how to shine their own shoes.

Meanwhile, the new-fangled colors, combinations and special dyes are making the art of shoe shining all the more complicated to the point where at least a bachelor's degree with a major in science — is required to do a creditable shine job. This is especially true when it comes to ladies shoes. Next thing you know, the super markets will be giving free shoe shines — or at least put in those little machines which give your shoes a good brushing at 5 cents each. I do believe those super market boys stay on the ball more consistently than any other single group of business men in the country.

There has been a lot of talk about the Community Center this week, but my vote of congratulations goes to the Calliope Club and their name tiles. The kids are taking to these tiles and, in addition to the revenue, the tiles give them a feeling of personal ownership in the project. The Calliopeans are coming closer to killing two birds with one stone than any other project I have yet seen.

I notice where several Louisiana radio stations have banned playing of "The Ballad of Earl K. Long". Their stated reason is that his opponents made demand for equal time.

Hereford merchants met this week to make Christmas plans, and reports say that the Uuletide season in 1959 will be the most extensive yet seen in the area. Harmony dominated the meeting, which was well attended. Understand they will give away some bicycles and other awards.

Abe Martin and I got a little bit excited Thursday evening when we discovered eight or ten buzzards continually circling the back yard of Wiley Quattlebaum, who lives on Fourth Street. They finally roosted in some of Wiley's big Elm trees. Friday, I asked several Jr. High kids if Wiley showed up at school and they said he did, so I guess it was just a flock of tired Turkey Buzzards looking for an overnight stop.

Joe Chmelik dropped back in with a suggestion that Hereford needs some good colored postal cards of various scenes, including irrigation wells, crops, buildings and the like. He also suggests that this would be a good means by which to finance that proposed marker to the first irrigation well.

Which reminds me, a lot of farmers have been selling their current lettuce crops in the field. You hear such figures as $80,000, $90,000 and $100,000 floating around all over the place. Lettuce, meanwhile, is bringing good prices — ranging up from $5 for a crate of 24 heads.

Charles Skelton will hold his first meeting to organize the fall class in Conversational Spanish Monday night, 7:30 at the temporary courthouse.

If you are interested, give him a ring in advance for details. I decided to take it after watching Desi Arnaz on TV. I like the way he hawks Lucy out — and she never knows for sure what he is saying. I think it would save me a lot of headaches around the office, as well as at home.

Dub Reeves could have used a little Spanish Wednesday when Henry Aycock came marching into Lions Club with two Mexican señoritas who made a dash for Reeves — just back from a fishing junket South of the Border, — and pretty well left the old boy speechless. John McLean was still laughing at Dubs, when a waitress, standing behind John, dropped a plate and simultaneously shouted: "HE pin ch e d me!"

If this steel strike doesn't stop soon, someone can make a lot of money by inventing an alarm clock with a bell for people who aren't working. However, I guess they will have to make it out of plastic.

Football talk was really flowing around here Saturday morning as a result of the Plainview game. A break or two, and we could have as easily won as lost the tilt. Maybe we had better schedule all of our games with AAAA teams, and let those AA boys alone. I do believe Fred Baird is the most consistent an dloyal fan the Whitefaces have. Fred seldom misses — and

Painting Great Fun For Tots

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.
Toddlers love to paint — that is they get great joy from bright colored poster paints they can streak across big pieces of paper.

Painting is a valuable experience for little children. They do not paint pictures, they paint the way they feel. It is often very worthwhile for a youngster to be able to express himself in this way.

It takes a bit of doing to arrange a place a home where a small child can paint. In today's column we will discuss how to equip a painting corner. In the next column we will talk about what to expect from the little one who paints.

Select a corner that will not be too much damaged by a bit of paint being slopped around. Cover the floor with a big piece of linoleum. In the summer the painting equipment might be set up outdoors or in a corner of the garage.

You will use water soluble paints so the clean-up is possible with a wet rag. Bright colored poster paint can be obtained at an art supply store. Buy the dry pigments (they are cheaper than liquid paints). Get some Bentonite which mixed with the pigments and water will make your paints go much further. You will need pigments in the three primary colors, red, yellow and blue, and also black and white.

With these you can mix a variety of colors. Have a few wide mouth jars for a small amount of each color paint to be given to the child. You will need brushes, one for each color of paint.

The paper can be newspaper. You can obtain it from your local newspaper printing office — free sometimes, but never expensive.

It is handy to have an easel though you can use a table top or even the floor. Of course you can buy an easel, but a most satisfactory one can be made from an old orange crate. Stand the crate on end. Nail an upright piece of wood at the back of the top and a horizontal piece of wood at the front of the top.

A big piece of cardboard can then be supported on the upright and will be held in place by the strip in front. Your newspaper can be attached to the cardboard with thumb tacks.

If the orange crate has a divider in it, as most do, it will provide a handy shelf for jars of paint.

With a very small expenditure of money and some time and effort you will be equipped to provide your child with painting equipment that will last for years. Your child will get great joy from painting and you may come to understand him better by watching his activities with this play medium.

JUST FINE, THANKS

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP) — Austin Jay was appointed chairman of a committee to discuss the annexation of the small community of Warren by Bisbee.

When asked what he thought about the proposed annexation, Jay said, "We are getting along pretty well in Warren without city services. If a dog barks, we shoot him. If a man gets drunk, we take him home."

American Indians used a well-developed and articulate sign language at inter-tribal meetings.

They used a variety of colors. Have a few wide mouth jars for a small amount of each color paint to be given to the child. You will need brushes, one for each color of paint.

Musettes Hold Anniversary Tea

When the Dawn Musettes observed their tenth anniversary Sunday afternoon with a program-tea given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wimberley, new members and guests were given an opportunity to hear of the progress and achievements of the group during the past ten years.

Doratha Stewart presented the club history, telling how the club was organized in 1949, sponsored by the Dawn Music Club, for the purpose of developing the talents of members and to stimulate musical interest in the community, with Dona Airhart as the first president.

In 1952 the Musettes became affiliated with the Texas and National Federation of Music Clubs and began to take active part in Junior Music Club Festivals. Through the years they have continued to enter the annual Festivals, many winning superior and excellent ratings.

Regular monthly meetings are held, with all ages taking part on each program. Designated numbers are planned for the older members with choice selections by the younger ones, and an impromptu period is featured. Much folk music is used as is group singing.

One mother is invited to attend each program and all mothers are invited to the formal recitals held twice each year. The operettas presented by the group have been "Cinderella in Flowland" and "Hansel and Gretel", as well as many other special programs.

Major projects have been the purchase of "All America" community song books, providing records for Dawn School, and making home-made candy for the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo at Christmas time.

Mrs. Carl Wimberley and Mrs. Reece Stewart have served as counselors of the Musettes, and assistant counselors have been Mrs. N. R. Miller, Mrs. J. B. Caraway, Mrs. Orval Galley and Mrs. W. H. Gentry.

Miss Walteen Beavers, president, introduced the numbers on the program and the performers. The program included: a piano duet, "Long, Long Ago", by Mrs. R. T. Stewart and daughter Linda, "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes", piano selection by Walteen Beavers, "Angel Voice"

Other hostesses included Mesdames J. F. Martin, H. L. Higgins, Wade Thompson Jr., H. E. Wester, Sam Long, W. H. Andrews and M. A. Bettis.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By Charlie Seeds

One of the "Grand Old Men" of the football coaching profession is Clark Shaughnessy, for many years a mainstay on the coaching staff of the Chicago Bears pro team.

But do you remember when this brilliant coach came up with the new twist to his backfield formation that was to change the whole look and character of football? The formation got its name from the way the backfield lined up, in the shape of a "T".

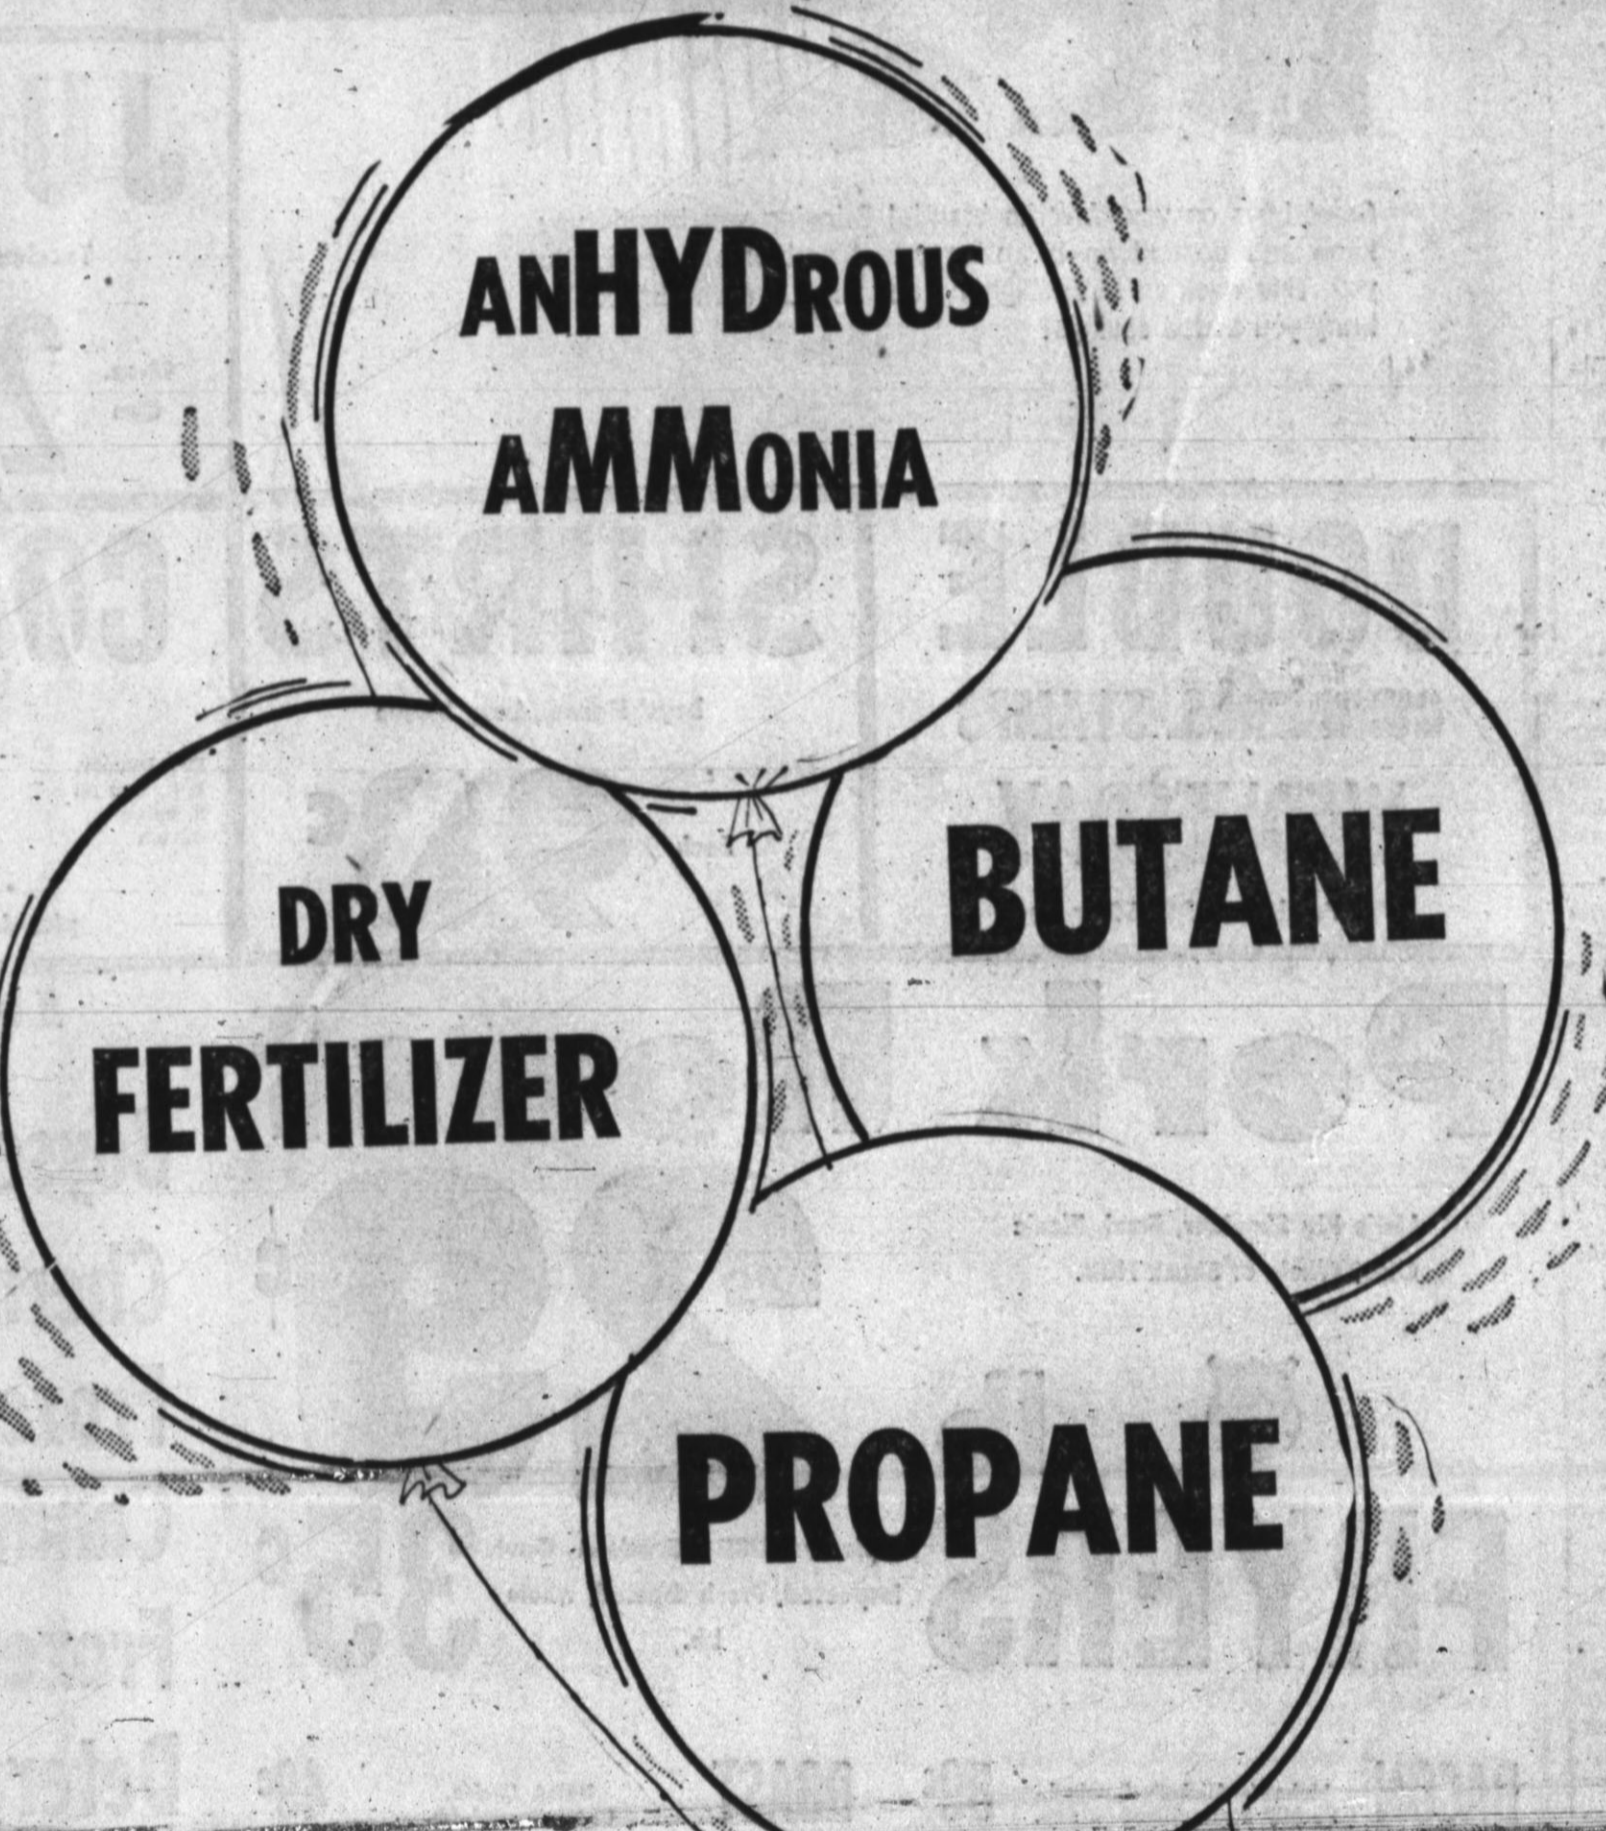

Shaughnessy was coaching Stanford that year. In the previous season the Indians had been able to do nothing right... but in the year they pioneered Shaughnessy's new T-formation, a dream backfield led by Frankie Albert passed opponents dizzy... and carried Stanford to an undefeated season and into the Rose Bowl. Remember when the T formation was born?

Remember the year? That was a time when Americans were enjoying a new feeling of prosperity... with money in their pockets. When they bought a car, though, they didn't go overboard for large promises. They took a close look at any "deal".

The year was 1940. We want you to take a close, hard look at the deal we can make you right now on a brand new 1959 Ford. Because when you get the facts you'll see that NOW is the time to step up to a new Ford on terms you can afford!... at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC., 146 E. Second, Phone EM 4-2727.

Letter To The Editor

Hereford, Texas
Sept. 25, 1959.

To the Editor:
Re: Community Center
I wish to clarify any opinion that anyone may have concerning what I think about the Community Center. It could be construed that I am opposed to this Community Center. This is not the case. A Community Center can be a good thing as long as it is properly run. I am completely confident that this and the future city governments will see that this is carried out.

We are committed to its construction and we should do all in our power to see that it is carried through to its completion.

One of the discouraging facets in this drive is the small number of contributions. In Hereford there are several hundred families who have not contributed anything. I am speaking of those who can afford to contribute from $25 to $35. These can and will be the greatest recipients of the benefits derived from such a center.

I would like to appeal to every home in Hereford to give freely to this project.

Interest In Community Center Is First Step Toward Good Operation

Work continues on Hereford's new community center, and the clang of hammer is accompanied by equally as much noise made in various drives to raise an additional $40,000 needed to pay for, furnish and equip the center.

In addition to the $60,000 made available through the Jim Hill Estate, around $32,000 has previously been raised on the project. Most of this amount has come in the form of larger donations from merchants, individuals and clubs.

The current drive, however, is based on smaller contributions, including wall tiles and a gigantic community auction. Even the students, who are expected to use the building extensively, are beginning to show interest in the various projects.

This creates a healthy situation, chiefly because the more people who contribute to and take part in the project, the more certain will it be to fulfill the purpose for which it was created. In addition, the community center is for "all the people" and consequently, all of the people deserve the privilege of helping build the structure.

Frankly, many of us have been disappointed in the project in the past, due to disinterest on the part of teenagers and a general apathy in behalf of the average citizen. When these people failed to respond, many observers felt that the project was failing to fill the niche for which it was created.

Growing interest, however, along with a willingness to actually work toward completion of the community center alters the complexion of the situation entirely. Furthermore, it is the one phases most needed to make the center worthwhile.

Best of all, though, this arousal of interest indicates that our boys and girls — along with their parents—are recognizing the fact that we can never overcome the old complaint of "There is nothing to do around here," unless we actually roll up our sleeves and do something toward improving the situation.

This, we firmly believe, is what the executors of the Hill Estate had in mind when they made the original $60,000 available. Certainly, it is the type of spirit which goes along with owning a needed building, debt free, instead of having one made possible through local or federal grants.

This is the spirit which made America a great nation — and we are glad to see it come unwrapped and emerge from time to time, especially among our youth.

American Farmer Leads The Way

While Premier Khrushchev is learning much about the United States, some of his statements tend to stress facts which we ourselves sometimes fail to recognize.

His inspection of U.S. farming methods and the remarks which followed, for instance, pointed out the fact that the average American farmer is further ahead of his Russian counterpart than is probably any other parallel profession within the two nations. Khrushchev declared a hope for improved productions in Russia, "so that we can be released for work in factories."

The other single point in which he has admitted American superiority borders along the same line, since it was the diet of the U.S. Worker — and that diet is certainly a result of farm efficiency and ingenuity.

On the contrary, very few native Americans realize that farming is so far ahead of other phases of American life. We read with awe about production methods in giant industries, we see pictures of space missiles being launched, and automobiles on assembly lines—but we have always taken the farmer for granted. He was the boy who planted seed and hoped for rain. If he did well, we figured he was lucky; if not, he was just a poor manager.

Mr. Khrushchev, a complete outsider, sees things in an entirely different light. He is amazed at the efficiency of the American farmer. His country can shoot bigger missiles . . . further, but they still have a hard time feeding the people. Remember back, and you will recall pretty much the same expressions from other visitors, too.

Can it be that the American farmer is further ahead of our nation than any other phase of the American way of life? Whether he is or not, this is the one phase that Khrushchev and other foreign visitors most envy. Add the fact that this is probably the only large nation in the world where the people are over-fed, instead of going to bed hungry—and you've got to hand it to the American farmer. He is the one man who seems to be doing the best, most efficient job in the United States today.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

We often think of artists as being moody, egotistical, head-strong geniuses too wrapped up in themselves to ever think of anyone or anything but their work.

But Fra Angelico, the great Renaissance master, was an artist of such consummate humility that he knelt while painting his "Madonna" and wept while he worked on his "Crucifixion."

This simple man of God, who gave up a promising career as a painter of miniatures to enter a Dominican monastery, never lifted his brush without praying for inspiration. The scenes of the life of Christ he painted on the walls of the Monastery of San Marco in Florence are responsible for that building today being regarded as one of the great art treasures of the world.

Said art critic John Ruskin of this good monk's life work: "He bequeathed to the world the most radiant consummation of the pure ideal of Christianity."

Typical Western Meal Would Melt Hard Shell

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

It seems that Nikita has shown himself an actor as well as a propagandist, in the way he has 'blown his top' and in threatening to go home as a six year old would threaten his playmates when they did not play as he wished them to.

Just as everyone had decided that was his trick, Nixon comes along and tells us he can turn on the fury, etc. at the drop of a hat. A man of his shrewdness should know that he is letting his 'culture' show.

What would we think if our president was of the type who would show his immaturity in showing anger in discussing politics or in being asked questions concerning national policies during his term of office.

Another question comes to mind: are these displays of temper for our benefit or for the people of Russia, along with his version of their causes and how he was received by the American people? Let's go back to Star Street and talk with another of the average people in our town.

Mrs. Betty Turpen of 213 Star lives in a small two-bedroom house with garage, decorated in pastel colors, with comfortable furniture in contemporary design. A rose-pink Bougainvillea is the center of interest of the living room at this time. It is really an eye-catcher.

Mrs. Turpen works as book-keeper for the Allred Company and has many hobbies to keep her busy and enjoying life. She is a member of the Red Cross Motor Corps and of the Better Books discussion group. She is studying piano and does beautiful handwork of all kinds.

"Yes, I would invite Khrushchev into my home and feed him a southern-fried chicken dinner with pie and ice-cream for dessert. I would try to explain the joy we get out of saying anything we wish about anyone from the President on down," she said. "We may not always vote, but our freedom of speech, of worship; of working to make ourselves a millionaire or enough to live on with time to pursue other things than the making of money is the God-given right of each individual living."

"I would show him the freedom from fear that we have and would like to ask him how he would like to be free from the fear that if he does make a mistake that his position can be taken from him and even lose his life. He cannot get away from the fact that in his many speeches since he came into power in Russia that he assumed his position at the cost of others' lives. That he has said, "We have committed follies, even serious crimes, but the general basis for our action was sound." He should learn as Robert Quillen has said, "Your freedom ends where the other fellow's begins."

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Formby also of Star Street are another typical family. They live at 420 Star.

They are the parents of three children: Chip, 6, Brenda, 5, and Marshall, 18 months. Their home consists of three bedrooms, bath, den, living and utility room, and contemporary furnishings. "Yes," said Clint, "I would like to have Khrushchev in my home, alone. How can he see how America lives if he only attends cocktail parties or banquets given in his honor by the wealthy or some department of the government?"

"That isn't America as we live. I would like to take him around Hereford, show him our schools; new, and those being added too, and those not yet finished. I would like for him to see our churches, which have been built and are kept in repair by money given by the members of each church. I would like for him to see how the people open their hearts and coin-purses to help those in need."

For instance, the two Mexican families who lost their homes by fire, recently, I would like for him to see our free clinic for crippled children, held each year; the cafeterias at school, our vegetable crops and the facilities for handling them for sending or shipping to all parts of the United States or other places. Also the homes of our farmers and tenants and for him to know that each farmer handles the sale of his crops,

LOCAL OPTION VOTE SET

A local option election in Justice of the Peace Precinct 4 has been called by the Commissioners Court for Saturday, October 10. This will be the first such election here since November, 1936, when the entire county voted to continue its dry status. From all present indications, the proposition to permit package store sales in Precinct 4 will be approved. One man involved in having the election called said this week that he felt every one of the 16 qualified voters who signed the petition would vote for liquor sales for off-premise consumption. This is almost half the total of 244 qualified voters in the precinct, indicating that only seven more affirmative votes of the remaining 128 would swing the balance. (Except in cases of local option, it is often a paradoxical occurrence for some of the signers of a petition for an election to vote against the issue.) Expected to be bitter opponents of legalized sale of alcoholic beverages in the county were several known bootleggers in East Dimmitt, Precinct 4. However, it was reported they were willing signers of the petition.

FM ROAD PROGRAM EXPIRES

Parmer County's current farm-to-market road building program, which has been grinding along for about a decade, is about to run out. The county commissioners were advised by O. L. Crain, district engineer, in a letter this week that the program was at an end. Engineer Crain told the officials: "We have received a call to form a new farm-to-market road program in this district. However, we are not scheduling new construction in your county on this program due to limited finances and priority of the roads in your county not now paved or on the state system. We do propose to do some rehabilitation of existing farm roads on our system in Parmer County which will be of great help to the traveling public and some economic value to the county." While the program has been in operation over 10 miles of paved farm-to-market roads have been built in Parmer County, serving all communities. Some of this mileage has recently been taken into the state highway system. Last year the Friona-Muleshoe road took the designation of state highway 214. It runs north out of the county to Adrian.

UNITED FUND BUDGET MEET

The Dallam-Hartley Counties United Fund Budget committee met this week in the First National bank, with each of the 14 participating agencies invited to have a representative present, it is learned from Committee Chairman Joe G. The 14 agencies represent three new ones this year. They are National Travelers Aid, Medical Research Foundation, and Blinded Veterans Administration. Others are Hartley and Dallam Red Cross Chapters, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Dalhart Civic Improvement League, Texas Rehabilitation Center, Muscular Dystrophy, Texas Association for Mental Health and Texas United Fund, Inc. which includes USO and other services. The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm writes as though he were moon-struck this week.

Dear editor:

I was outside the other night taking a close look at the moon and I'll have to admit it doesn't look any different now than it did before the Russians hit it. Still harmless and peaceful looking, sending down the sort of light that makes even a weedy pasture look lush and as well-tended as a country club golf course. Moonlight just naturally improves the looks of all pastures and most women.

I haven't gotten very excited about traveling to the moon, I'm about as close to it as I want to be, as I suspect the moon is about like a Hollywood movie actress, looks a lot better and more glamorous from a distance than close up, but what I started out to say was I've been wondering what the Russian farmers think about the Russian scientists' planting a hammer and sickle on the moon.

I can imagine a conversation between two Russian farmers sitting on the front steps under a full moon after a hard day's work, going something like this:

"Say, J. Asky, did you know Mr. Khrushchev has sent a hammer and sickle up to the moon?"

"Whose hammer and sickle?"

"What do you mean, whose? I guess it was his."

"Why didn't he use mine? I'd have been glad to let him have mine."

"Yeah, but if they'd sent your hammer and sickle to the moon, how'd you work tomorrow?"

"That's what I'm talking about, I'd have been glad to let them have mine."

Yours Faithfully,
J. A.

Officers Elected By Kiwanis Club

Lowell Sharp was elected new president of Hereford Kiwanis Club at the noon meeting of the group Thursday in the I. O. O. F. Hall.

Other officers elected were Guy Lawrence, vice-president, and Walter Seed, treasurer. Directors elected included Bob Filpot, W. D. Nafzger, Dr. Clarence Hicks and Marshall Wilson.

The new officers and directors will take over posts the first of next year. The annual installation banquet of the group will be held during the second or third week in January, Clint Formby, president, said.

Program chairman at the meeting was Wilson, who introduced Herbert Boardman, guest speaker. Boardman is a member of the Commission On Alcoholism in Hereford.

Boardman cited that alcoholism is the number one public health problem in the United States today. He said, "drawing a line between an alcoholic and non-alcoholic is difficult. In 1953, he said, a Commission on Alcoholism was set up in the state for the study of the disease and its effects and symptoms.

The local Commission recognizes alcoholism as a treatable disease, as does the American Medical Society, and as a health problem. He said there is a definite difference between the "drinker" and an alcoholic, as the latter suffers from a disease.

The Commission here Boardman said, is a group formed to promote an educational program, to help prevent broken homes and to operate as an information center. "Alcoholism is a problem parts often finds jobs with some large companies which formerly hired psychiatrists to screen prospective employees.

Poor handwriting often denotes an individualist who has rebelled against school script, he said. In analyzing handwriting, he said, letters are divided in upper, middle and lower zones.

Guests at the meeting were Borger club members, Dub Gans, Herb Perman, Bob Drake, Clyde Dulaney and John Stevens.

which needs everybody's help before the problem can ever be solved," He concluded.

Guests at the meeting were Bill Hardwick, guest of Lowell Sharp, and Charlie Stone, guest of the club.

Typical...

(Continued from page 1) etc. Just to show him what the people in the United States of America have; and let him talk with the common people to learn how they feel and live and work in what he calls capitalism.

"I would like for him to see our family life and how each plans for the children, that the families are closely knit, but if disaster comes, each one is ready and willing to do all possible to help that community or family get another start."

I am disappointed in our state department in not taking him to more small towns so he might see for himself that we do live in homes such as was shown in the World's Fair as the average American home. I doubt that he came here to learn as much as he came to do some speech-making and get published to make propaganda for and on his return to Russia.

"No, I have no hobbies, but if I had the time I would like to make Hi-Fi and photography my hobbies as I am very interested in both," he said.

Mrs. Formby, an attractive brunette, says she would like to have antiques as a hobby but the children are a full-time job. She takes time out to be president of the La Plata Club and the Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church, and she is very civic-minded. She says of the children, "Chip is interested in cowboys and his room is done in Western-style and he has begun a collection of miniature horses. Brenda is interested in dolls and also has a small collection of dolls, such as her own first dolly, her first doll with real hair and so on, and Marshall is mostly interested in tumbling down anything the other two might be building.

"I would like to ask Khrushchev into my home and serve him a typical Texas meal of charcolado steak with potatoes, a green salad, and apple pie with a cheese topping, and it would probably be served in the back yard. After the meal, I would like to talk with him and show him that we are a Christian nation. Try to show him the principles of Christianity, the Golden Rule. That we believe in religious training in the home, that we teach loyalty to our way of life onto other peoples. I would like for him to understand what we mean when we say we worship God as a supreme being and freedom rests in the principles of Christianity, in loving one another."

"Wouldn't it be wonderful if he could have visited our Star Street and have met the charming people who live there. If he could see just how we do live in America and we will not change from a freedom-loving people because there are people living who would take away that freedom.

Indeed!, as he once said, "We say to those who are waiting to see whether the Soviet Union will change its political program: Wait for a blue moon, and you know when that will be."

So we would say to Nikita Khrushchev and communism that they must wait for two blue moons before we will change our freedom for the communism intrigue, espionage and slavery of the Soviet Union.

Your Number One investment opportunity today is your own home

WHERE is the best place today to put money and have it grow?

This question, as never before, is the concern of millions of thinking Americans. Some are trying to find the "ideal" growth stock. Others are seeking "capital gains."

Many, we believe, are overlooking this surprising fact—U. S. Government figures show that family homes, by and large, have appreciated in dollar value over most other forms of investment.

Houses built as long as twenty years ago, kept in good condition, have doubled and even tripled in price.

Houses of recent date have also kept pace, mounting in market value, year after year.

Regardless of the age of your home, you are indeed fortunate to hold this ideal "blue chip" investment, a safe hedge against future inflation, and one that pays you daily "dividends" or security and happiness beyond measures in dollars.

So, if you want to have more in your home to enjoy, don't be reluctant to make the investment. It's simply good business—because the dollars you spend usually increase its market value. And you have that rare thing today, ample credit for home improvements—at low interest rates.

Many new building products are so easy to apply that you can "do it yourself" during otherwise idle weekend hours. So your own time becomes an investment too.

But whatever home improvements you're thinking of, we do urge you to do it now. Keep your No. 1 investment up-to-date. Remember—when you look for the ideal place to put your money—there is truly "no place like home."

How Does Your Church Stand?

ASK Your Pastor, Priest, or Minister These Three Vital Questions:

1. Do you believe that the Bible is the Word of God and final authority in matters of religion?
2. Do you believe that Jesus of Nazareth was divine? Was born of a virgin? possessed miraculous power? Was resurrected bodily from the grave?
3. Do you believe there will be for man existence after death with eternal life for the righteous and eternal punishment for the wicked?

IF THE ANSWER to any of these questions is "No," there may be within your church the seed of Dialectical Materialism, the basic doctrine from which atheistic Communism has sprung.

What Does Dialectical Materialism Mean?

1. That God did not create the universe, and that there is no spirit of God working in the lives of men today.
2. That man is the highest manifestation of matter; that he can, through knowledge of material, control all matter.
3. That man is, therefore, free through the knowledge of matter alone to take the place of God, the Father, Christ, the Son, and The Holy Spirit.

It Is Atheism, Whether In or Out of Church!

THE SCRIPTURES SAY:

"And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist."—1 Jhon 4:3.

"Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? and what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel? . . . Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord." — Corinthians 6:14-17.

ZEBRA TAMER Wayne Carroll coaxes one of his charges to pose for the photographer. With patient training, Carroll expects to teach African-born zebras to carry a rider or pull a cart. He plans to sell them as children's pets. The price? $7,000.

Here's A Gay, New Gift

For Boy With Everything

By GENE FLOWDEN
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Want a saddle-broken zebra, gentle enough for the children to ride? Or a zebra and cart, complete with harness?

The man to see is Wayne Carroll, a tall, handsome 29-year-old lecturer and wild animal authority who has been handling wild things since he trapped a rat at the age of 7. Your saddle-broken zebra will run about $7,000, and the cart job about $2,000 more.

They will run into money because they come from the plains and meadows around Arusha, Tanganyika, in East Africa. Getting them to America and turning them into docile animals takes a bit of doing.

The zebra is common throughout Tanganyika, grazes in herds and is a favorite food for lions. Permits are required for hunting and exporting the animals.

Carroll's favorite method of hunting is to run them down with a jeep and lasso the baby zebras. He puts his catch in a small pen to calm it down and tries to keep it quiet while teaching it to eat from his hand. It keeps only the females — males are always mean and hard to handle.

Carroll figures it will take about a year to break a zebra to the saddle. The procedure requires infinite patience and

Lt. Jack Higginbotham ... presents driver safety program

Lions Hear Talk On Driver Safety

Lt. Jack Higginbotham, second in command at Texas Department of Public Safety unit in Amarillo, presented a program on driver safety at the noon meeting of Hereford Lions Club Wednesday. Guests at the meeting were Keith Hinkle of Houston and Mrs. Larry Summers of Hereford. Woodrow "Woody" Wilson was program chairman. Lt. Higginbotham stated that 38,000 drivers or passengers are killed in automobile accidents in the United States annually. "We all have a responsibility to see that our traffic laws are obeyed," Higginbotham said. Legislation and public support are necessary in enforcing laws, he added.

Higginbotham pointed out that drivers fundamentally are responsible for our traffic safety, and that we need to find out why drivers violate the law. He said many do not know enough driving laws. "Eye attention and mind attention" were cited as important to safe driving by the safety officer.

REASONS FOR LAW VIOLATION driving, he pointed out, include: lack of mind and eye attention and the theory that many do not believe the law should be enforced in certain situations and at certain times. Too many, he said, "try to get the last word in" after an argument by driving hazardingly.

HE CONCLUDED his talk by saying that driving takes 100 percent of the vehicle operator's time if he is to drive safely.

DATE ADVICE Dates should be rolled in flour before they are cut. Then the slices will not stick together, nor will they cling to the scissors. The flour used should be a part of that called for in the recipe.

COLD COCOA-COFFEE Next time you make hot cocoa prepare some extra and chill. Add an equal part of ice-cold coffee and top with whipped cream.

CONCEAL IT Use white pepper in a white sauce, salad dressing (mayonnaise type) and other foods where black pepper would "show."

NICE SPREAD A tube of anchovy paste on hand? Add it to cream cheese (just enough for flavor) along with a little lemon and onion juice; nice as a spread for crackers.

CHANGE WITH TIME Spanish Omelet is an old-fashioned dish that includes a homemade tomato sauce. Nowadays you can use a good meatless tomato sauce to accompany the omelet.

How Can I?
Q. How can I remove indelible ink stains from fabrics?
A. Use one-fourth cup turpentine, one-fourth cup ammonia. Dip the fabric into this solution, and let soak. Follow this with a rinsing in warm water.
Q. How can I remove grass stains from washable material?
A. Cover with lemon juice and salt and hold over a steaming kettle. Or rub lard on the spot, then wash with soap and cold water and rinse well.

Q. How can I make my own "homemade" remedy for freckles?
A. The application of buttermilk several times a day to the face and hands helps to bleach freckles out. And, of course, your best preventive is to avoid over-exposure to the sun's rays.

Q. How can I facilitate the picking up of the numerous threads that have been scattered on the rug while sewing?
A. Dip a broom in clean water, shake it well, then brush lightly over the rug.

Q. How can I clean the stains of lead tea or milk from glass straws?
A. Use pipe cleaners. Keep a package on hand for this purpose. Then your straws will be bright on the inside as well as on the outside.

Q. How can I avoid the inevitable spatter that results when I hammer the lid back on a can of paint I have just used?
A. All you have to do is drape an old rag over the lid and can, then hammer your lid onto the can through this rag.

ADAMS BEST MAKES

Cakes taste better (and Cake Mixes too!)

When you want desserts to taste better the simplest rule is to use the best ingredients . . . a reason why good cooks don't just use Vanilla but insist on ADAMS BEST, the delicate flavoring that holds its strength and won't bake out like ordinary so-called pure Vanilla.

Don't say VANILLA

RED CHOCOLATE CAKE

1/2 Cup shortening
 1 1/2 Cup sugar
 1 Egg
 2 Cups cake flour (sifted)
 1 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. soda
 2 Tbls. hot coffee (pour over Cocoa)

4 tsp. Cocoa
 1 Cup sour milk
 1 tsp. "Adams Best" (Vanilla)
 1 tsp. Adams Lemon Flavor
 1 tsp. Adams Orange Flavor
 2 (or 2 1/2) tsp. Adams Red Color

Cream sugar and shortening—add egg and mix. Dissolve soda with your milk and add. Add Flour, color and cocoa and with your milk and add. Add flour and salt and mix well. When cool use coffee mixture. Add flour and salt and mix well. Blend layer pans at 350 degrees for about 40 minutes. When cool use the following icing or a good fudge icing if you prefer. Blend together 1 lb. sifted confectioner's sugar and 1/2 cup soft-butter or shortening. Stir in 1 tsp. "Adams Best" (Vanilla), 1 tsp. Adams Lemon and 1 tsp. Adams Orange. Why we built two cars for 1960...
as different as night and day

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium. And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage. In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years. Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional car. That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made. The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance... a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs. The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long... and that leaves a lot more room for passengers. Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies it great structural strength... it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free. The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: no other U.S. compact car will ride so comfortably, hold the road so firmly and handle so beautifully. Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it takes two kinds of cars to serve America's needs today. If you love luxury—the utmost in luxury—and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists—then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice. If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's... take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is—both. They make a perfect pair.

WHOA, COW! A Texas leopard dog named John barks a member of the herd back in line while helping in a roundup. The dog is owned by Aubrey Jones of Bryan, Texas.

The Leopard Dog Friend Of Cowboy

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — They're called Texas cow dogs, or leopard dogs, or sometimes Catahoula hawg dawgs. Under any name, the tough, glassy-eyed, mean-tempered dogs that help cowboys flush cattle out of East Texas brush pastures are a breed apart. These lean and hungry members of the American working dog fraternity came in for a bit of publicity after newspapers printed stories about the difficulties city-bred White Plains, N. Y., authorities were having in rounding up a handful of steers that had been freely roaming protected woodland near White Plains. Mounted policemen, helicopters, and even hay doused with tranquilizer failed to corral the five steers. Mrs. James L. Barrett of this city wrote a letter to White Plains advising them to get hold of a couple Texas leopard dogs who would round up the loose animals in a hurry. Understandably, the White

Plains response was: "What in the world are leopard dogs?" Briefly, leopard dogs are bred and trained to round up cattle like a sheep dog handles sheep. Aubrey Jones of Bryan has been breeding leopard dogs for 40 years. He travels all over Texas with them, helping ranchers reclaim cows which have strayed into brush too thick for mounted cowboys to follow. It's impossible for a man to get the cattle out on foot. A working party includes from two to six dogs and the handler, either mounted or in a jeep. The dogs are turned loose on the strays' scent and race through the brush to find them. Once they find a steer, the dogs "bay him out." This means the dogs circle the animal, holding it stationary by rushing and snapping whenever the steer tries to break away. The baying voices enable the handler to locate the stray and pick the route out of the brush. Once a herd is put together, leopard dogs are assigned posts and — like sentries — do not leave these posts except to nip at the heels of dissident steers. Jones' dogs have sold for as much as $750 apiece. Not all pups have the qualities that will produce valuable dogs. Jones tests a youngster by sending the dog out to hunt down a cow and drive it near enough to water so that both animals can smell it. Then he leaves the pair of them alone for 24 hours, after instructing the dog not to let the cow move. If the dog gives in to his thirst and quits his post, Jones gets rid of him. Leopard dogs are far from handsome. One of the marks of the breed is a glassy white eye that looks blind but is not. Their coat is often spotted and they gave rise to the "leopard" tag. Similar dogs are used in neighboring Louisiana and Arkansas to round up hogs, and are known there as Catahoula hog

Bid And Make A Card Table Cover

By DOROTHY ROE
EVERY hard-working bridge table needs a new cover now and then, especially when it performs as a luncheon table, a sewing table and a homework table in between card sessions. For the next bridge game, local sewing center experts suggest giving your bridge table a new cover of bright felt, scalloped at the edges and featuring cheery appliques and a handy cigarette pocket. This is an exceptionally easy cover to make, for it is all cut in one piece. It requires one and a quarter yards of 72-inch felt, plus scraps of assorted colors of felt for appliques. A pair of new scalloping shears will provide the fancy scalloped edging. Measure card table (most are 30 inches square) and allow five inches extra all around for overhang. Cut out felt, using scalloping shears. Cut 5-inch slits at each corner, so extra felt may be lapped to fit snugly at corners. Cut out pockets, to measure about five inches across and three and a half inches deep. Slash corners. Draw applique designs on paper and trace onto felt. Cut out, leaving a half-inch extra all around for seam allowance. Baste in place on corners. Set your automatic sewing machine for a fine zigzag stitch, and work around outlines. Trim away excess fabric close to line of stitching. After appliques are in place, place cloth on table and lap corners so cloth fits snugly. Top-stitch lapped sections in place. Put cigarette pockets at each corner, sewing them over the place where the fabric is dou-

How Can I?

Q. How can I remove rust spots from a ceramic-tile floor?
A. Dissolve one part of sodium citrate with six parts of commercial glycerine; add water to thin this mixture, then mix with sufficient whiting to form a paste. Spread this over the spot in a thick coating. After it has dried, remove, and wipe off the surface.
Q. How can I rid my house of crickets?
A. Apply insecticide around baseboards, in closets, and any cracks where a cricket could hide. Effective insecticides are 5-per cent DDT spray or 10 per cent DDT powder.
Q. How can I restore the original whiteness to discolored china or earthenware?
A. Scour it with baking soda or vinegar and salt.
Q. How can I induce longer life in my rust roof gutters?
A. After you have cleaned out the insides of your gutters with a wire brush, apply a heavy coat of roofing cement to them and then, before the cement dries, apply some heavy, deep-freeze aluminum foil over the cement.

REAL GONE
LA MESA, Calif. (AP) — A menu in a coffee house lists a Frozen Beatnik. It is a cream-topped cup of coffee.

A game motif is a popular one, with the four suits represented at each corner, or group the red and black together, adding a chessman and a pair of dice to the other two corners. If you decide on dice, it will be easier to cut the dot out of iron-on mending tape, rather than attempting to applique anything so small. Other effective designs are a splashy monogram, a section of floral design from left-over drapery fabric; geometric designs; fruit or vegetables; stylized flowers or whatever theme you like. With a little imagination, yours can be the most distinguished bridge table on the block.
