Saturday Fire Cuts Farm Home

A five - room home and all its contents were destroyed in a fire six miles southwest of Hereford Saturday morning.

The home, occupied by the Harvey Marion family, was owned by Mrs. J. A. Pitman of Hereford and Mrs. Don Taylor of Amarillo. It was known as the Pitman - Taylor Farm.

Hereford Volunteer Fire Department answered the alarm at 8:45 a. m., dispatching one engine. Flames were out of control when firemen arrived, according to Hereford Fire Chief Dub Reeves.

No estimate of loss was made Saturday morning, and origin of the fire is unknown.

The occupants of the house were able to salvage only clothing and a few household items. The home was a wooden frame structure with asbestos shingles.

Firemen were unable to draft water from a stock tank due to ice - clogged pipes after the engine's supply ran out.

There's More Than Sugar Beets Inside A Refinery

By H. A. TUCK
BRAND NEWS EDITOR
(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles about the background, processing and economic impact of a proposed sugar beet refinery in Hereford.)

posed sugar beet refinery in Hereford.)

Sugar beet factories in this part of the country are about as common as silk opera hats. In fact, there are just 71 such sugar beet processing plants in the entire United States. These serve to refine all the beets raised in 21 wide - scattered states.

When it was first announced here that new plant would cost $11 1/2 to $12 millions, people began to sit up and take notice. This obviously wasn't a simple operation.

But let's go back to the beginning and see how sugar beets are raised, then follow them through the processing phase.

The sugar beet, Beta vulgaris, will grow at altitudes above 7,000 or in the sub - sea level of the Imperial Valley of California. It prefers a moderate climate with rainfall, or irrigation.

Growing from treated seeds in the spring, the young plants are thinned after they come up to about 10 inches apart, giving a density of 30,000 to 40,000 plants per acre. Irrigation may amount to as much as 30 inches in very dry areas, with each plant needing as much as 20 gallons of water during its growth.

Harvest was done by hand until recent years, when mechanization began to take over. Each beet is lifted and topped, which cuts away the leaves and a portion of the beet. Gathered in trucks, the beets are carried off to the plant.

Although beets raised in the Deaf Smith area have been almost completely free of insects and diseases, there are about 40 insects which have been recognized as dangerous to sugar beet plants. Virtually all can be controlled by sprays and powders. There are also a number of plant diseases which may attack sugar beets, but only the black root - fungi has caused damage locally.

Hold Rites For Rayes Morin

Funeral services for Rayes Morin, 50, of 303 Lake in Hereford, were held Friday at 4 p. m. in St. Joseph Mission here. Father Raymond Gillis officiated.

Mr. Morin was found dead in his home at 10 a. m. Thursday. He had been living with a sister, Mrs. Teodoro Rameriz and had been ill about a week.

He was born Jan. 6, 1910, in Sebastian, Texas, and came to Hereford in 1952 from San Benito.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Santos Aranda of San Benito; two brothers, Samuel of San Benito and Juan of Austin; a sister, Mrs. Rameriz of Hereford, and a nephew, Lorenzo Rameriz.

Burial was in St. Anthony's Cemetery in Hereford under direction of Marcum - Scott Funeral Home.

Senior Citizen Home Committee Meeting Monday

Committees for senior citizens will meet at 5 p. m. Monday in the Selective Service office in Hereford to continue planning for a community - wide project to locate a home for elderly people in Hereford.

Proposals outlined by the rules and objectives committee will be presented for approval and reports from standing committees will be heard, according to Mrs. Eunice Petersen, chairman of the planning committee.

The planning committee includes Mrs. Petersen and Mrs. Dyalitha Benson, co - chairman. Members are Mrs. Sue James, Mrs. Madlynne Faughn, Marlin Gilliland, J. C. McCracken, Henry Sears, Ben Childers, Guy Lawrence, Earnest Langley, Ed Line, Bill Phipps, Owen Seamounts, Palmer Norton, Labry Ballard and Stanley Slagle.

Heads of sub - committees are J. C. McCracken, site; Henry Sears, finance; and Marlin Gilliland, housing. Earnest Langley is head of the rules and objectives committee, and members are Ed Line, Bruce Miller, Palmer Norton and Mrs. Benson.

In mid - January, the Hereford Business and Professional Women's Club announced plans to work for a rest home and to put the project on a community - participation basis.

A survey was conducted, and results showed there are about 600 county residents over the age of 65.

Johnson Makes Statement On Robbery Charge

In order to present another side of a story appearing on February 25, the Hereford Brand publishes the following statement from Thurmond Johnson. Johnson, a farmer - rancher who lives near Friona, is currently under $1,000.00 bond set by the Justice of the Peace after he was arrested and charged with the felony offense of robbery by assault. The charge resulted from a complaint filed on February 23 by a Hereford man, the complaint alleging that Johnson had, by assault and violence, forced the complainant to write a $13,850.51 check drawn on the First National Bank of Hereford, on the morning of February 23.

Johnson's statement follows: "I want to deny the charges made against me by the complainant. I did not use a gun or any other type of force, threats, or violence to get the check from the complainant. This check was written to pay a debt that I have claimed the complainant owed Johnson Brothers for a number of months. I asked him for the check, and told him that the matter ought to be ready to settle up by now, and he wrote me the check and handed it to me. I was amazed when I heard later that he was (Continued on Page 2)

Plank Named State Delegate To National 4-H Conference

An outstanding Deaf Smith County 4-H member for the past seven years, Pete Plank, 19, was one of four young Texans named this week to represent all Texas 4-H club members at the National 4-H Club Conference to be held in Washington, D. C., April 23-29.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plank, Route 1, Hereford, a 1959 graduate of Hereford High School and is now a freshman student majoring in agriculture at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Conference delegates and their leaders will be housed at the National 4-H Club Center located in Silver Springs, Md., a Washington suburb. The Center was formally dedicated last June, with President Eisenhower making the dedicatory address.

In addition to the regular conference program, the delegates will visit the White House, Congress, governmental departments and spots of historical and cultural interest in and around the nation's capitol city. Other conference delegates from Texas include Judy Dawson, Swisher County; Cinda Jane Ellis, Dallas County; and Donald Neumann, Falls County. Funds for the all - expense trips to the meeting will be provided by the United Gas Pipeline Company.

In previous years, the conference has been held in June, and until recently was known as National 4-H Club Camp.

In 1957, Plank's all - around achievements and production records earned him the title of Texas' top 4-H agriculturist. In 1958 he was one of 12 Santa Fe Educational award winners, which won him a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. He was one of four from Texas to receive a $350 college scholarship from the same donor. He also became a member of the Producers Grain Corporation's Talent Club in 1958.

In addition to outstanding success in the fields of production, Plank has also won recognition for his abilities in the field of leadership. He has held an elective office in the Dawn 4-H club each year; has handled

A Kiddies Easter Parade was approved Friday by Hereford merchants. The parade has been set for Saturday, April 2, at 2 p. m.

Cash prizes will be given in three categories, according to the details worked out during the meeting.

Divisions include a $25 award for the best organizational entry, such as Blue Birds, Cub Scouts or Sunday School class.

The person judged as having the most novel Easter costume entry will receive $15 cash, while second place winner in the same category will be given $10.

Third division is for the best-dressed, or most beautiful entrant. Prizes in this division will be $15 for first and $10 for second place.

Maximum age for the entrants will be 10 years.

Rules for the parade state that no pets will be allowed and that none of the entries will be on motorized vehicles. In order to be eligible, an entry blank must be submitted to the Chamber of Commerce office not later than 5 p. m. Thursday, March 31.

Judges will be from out of town the merchants decided. A scheduled meeting Friday morning of representatives (Continued on Page 2)

Only Incumbents In City Races Near Deadline

With deadline only a few hours away, two incumbents were the only candidates who had filed for Place 3 and Place 4, Hereford City Commission, at press time Saturday noon.

Deadline for filing for the posts was midnight Saturday. Election will be held in Hereford City Manager's office April 5.

Candidates filing intentions for re - election to the two - year term places were Troy Moore to Place 3 and Dr. R. R. Willis to Place 4.

Election day is April 5, from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. in the City Manager's office. An election judge will be appointed at the next meeting of Hereford City Commission.

Absentee balloting will begin 20 days prior to election day, on March 15, and will continue up to election day.

Around Town

I don't know what happened in other places, but Public Schools Week in Hereford was a booming success despite some very adverse weather. The Central - Northwest PTA hosted a dinner Thursday for teachers and more than 350 parents attended. Joel Hodges and Mrs. Helen Kaufman gave brief talks of thanks. Then Friday night, there was a large dinner for the parents and teachers, given by the High School PTA. Again there was a big crowd.

Hereford's Ministerial Alliance will meet at 10 a. m. Monday, March 7, in the directors' room of the Hereford State Bank.

It's not too early to start planning to attend the formal dedication ceremonies for the new Hereford Community Center. The ceremony has been set for Sunday, March 20, at 2:30 p. m. The Center is really a going concern: every room is full almost every night and the young people are beginning to make it a second home.

Imagine the surprise of a Hereford couple the other night when they went in to make a final check on their pair of sleeping boys and discovered the older one was wearing his earmuffs: not to keep warm, but to shut out the chattering of his younger brother.

Visitors from another Panhandle town the other day reminded us again that Hereford has become known as a town that "gets things done." It's a refrain that has been repeated often to us. It should serve both as a matter of pride ... and a tremendous challenge.

The sudden influx of workers with Houston Construction Company into Hereford has become a serious problem in regard to housing. Many of the men, who are building the gas pipeline through the southern part of the county, have given up and taken their families to Clovis to (Continued on Page 2)

Bill Gentry In Trustee Race

Bill Gentry, a farmer who lives 20 miles northeast of Hereford, was the final of six candidates filing intention to run for three Hereford Rural High School Board posts after he made formal announcement in the School Tax Assessor - Collector's office Wednesday afternoon.

Deadline for filing was midnight Wednesday, and Gentry announced his candidacy at 5 p. m. that day.

Gentry joined incumbent B.F. Cain and Denzil Pulliam, O. W. Parris, Lee Kent and Gaylord Newell in running for the three-year term board posts. W. R. Hair and Ralph Hastings earlier had announced they would not seek re - election.

Election will be held on April 2. Absentee balloting runs from Monday, March 14, to 5 p. m. Tuesday, March 29.

Polling places on election day will be at Dawn School and at the School Tax Assessor - Collector's office in the high school administration building. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. through 7 p. m.

Mrs. Zelma Axe will be poll judge at the Dawn School, and S. O. Wilson will be judge at the other voting place. The judges will select their own clerks later.

Father Gilligan To Head New Bovina Church

The Rev. Declan Gilligan, S.A., who has been at St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Hereford for more than a year, has been named first pastor of the newly constructed St. Ann's Catholic Church in Bovina.

Father Gilligan will leave for Bovina before March 15. Friona is a mission of the new parish. Previously, both Bovina and Friona have been missions of St. Anthony's Church of Hereford, according to Bishop John L. Mockovsky of the Catholic Diocese of Amarillo.

Father Gilligan came to Hereford in February, 1959, from St. John's Seminary at Montour Falls, N. Y., where he worked in the vocational department for six months.

Tuesday Opening Doubtful As Diamond Squad Stays In

Hereford High is scheduled to open its baseball season Tuesday afternoon at Borger, but the debut for both teams is doubtful.

Saturday, Borger's field was still under a blanket of snow. Hereford coach Joe Smith said Friday afternoon he hoped the game would not be played, since his squad has been forced inside since drills started two weeks ago.

"The boys have been outside for just 45 minutes since we started working out," Smith said. "They haven't looked at a fly or a grounder yet."

Smith is working with the pitchers and catchers each day in the high school gym, while assistant coach Cuby Kitchens is working inside at another location with the fielders.

Smith will rely heavily on a young, but experienced pitching staff that includes one senior, four juniors and two sophomores.

Donnie Marcontell, last season's most effective twirler, is the only senior on the entire squad.

Also returning from last year's team are junior pitchers Jimmy Collier, Clyde Whitaker and Wakey Northcutt, Kenny Loerwald and Drew Kershen are the sophomores on the pitching staff.

One of the surprising switches this season may see junior Edwin Thomas on the mound instead of behind the plate. Thomas was the regular catcher last year until he received a broken thumb. But the husky 182 - pounder has been working as a pitcher and seems likely to see action as a right - hander.

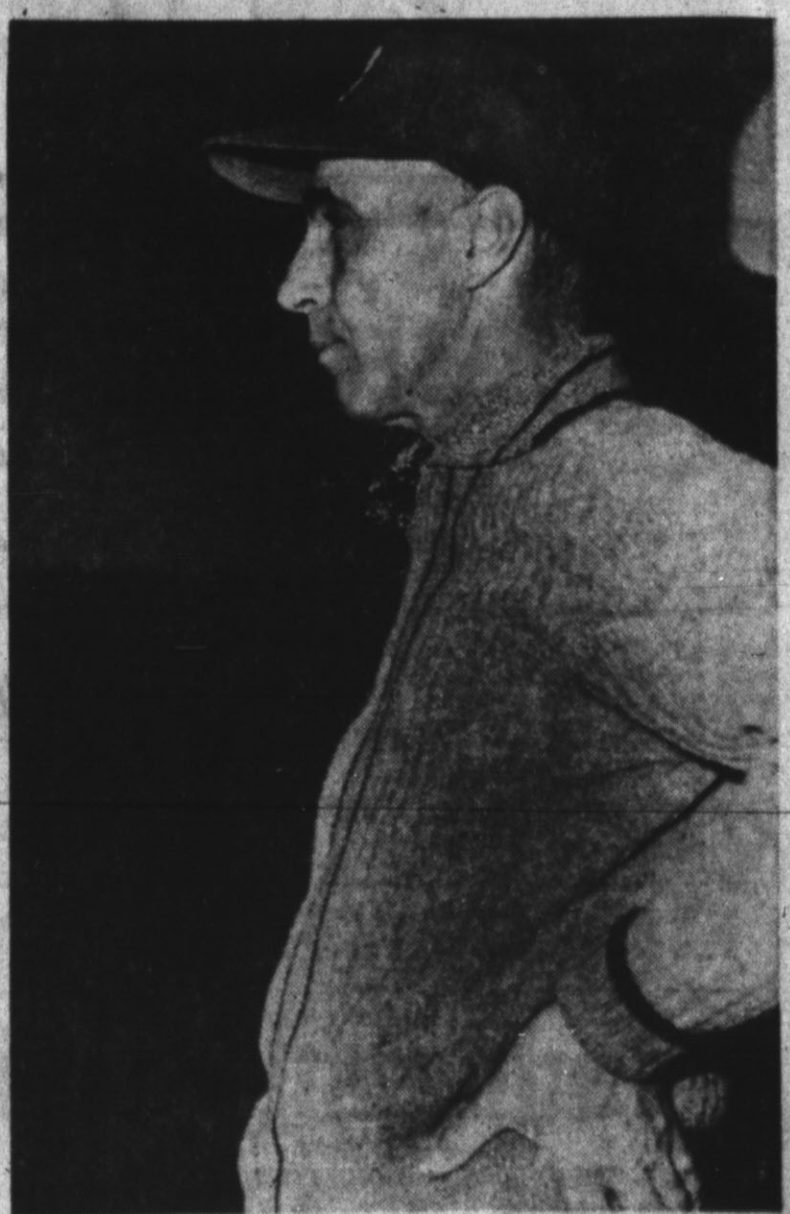

All the pitchers except Loerwald and Kershen lettered last year as Hereford fielded its first team in four years.

On the catching end of the battery now are Wesley Poirch, Eddie Skypala and Eugene Baldwin, all juniors. Baldwin was reserve catcher last year.

"I realize that where it is one man's word against another, it is hard for people to know who is right, so I located the best psychiatrist I could find and went to him this week and voluntarily submitted to an examination under an inoculation of sodium amytal, which is sometimes called "truth serum". Of course this test was unpleasant, and I am told that it involved some danger to my health, but I wanted to clear this matter up if I could so that I could establish my innocence and get this matter disposed of.

"The psychiatrist reported to me that in his opinion I was telling the truth when I denied the allegations against me". Johnson also submitted to the Brand a report from the psychiatrist, pertinent parts of which are here quoted as follows: "In this particular instance involving my examination of Mr. Johnson, I felt that the sedative qualities of sodium amytal were quite adequate because of his slurred speech and the general hypnotic changes noticed in him. At no time during this interview did he indicate in the least that he had used a gun in the collection of said debt although during the interview he did state that he owned a shotgun which he uses for quail hunting.

"Based on the above facts and test situations I was unable to find any evidence to support the fact that Thurmond Johnson might have lied to you regarding the gun issue. I might also state that I feel this particular sodium amytal interview was a successful one when viewed in the light of accepted psychiatric principals insofar as its accuracy is concerned."

In spite of the weather, work has been going on at the high school diamond, which is located near Northwest Elementary School. Started last spring, the field is going to be in pretty good shape, Smith feels. A mound has been built up and an outfield fence is to be built.

If Tuesday's game is not played, Hereford probably will open its season on Saturday, March 12, with a doubleheader at Portales, N. M.

meet the demand.

This country was beautiful last year, with tall grass and the appearance of enough water. Can you imagine what all this winter moisture is going to make it look like next summer. We may even be able to do some boating on Tierra Blanca Creek, like the old timers talk about doing years ago.

Ran into Mrs. Earl Plank's painting class out at Walcott School last Thursday morning. Her women students are really having a lot of fun, and the results look good to me. Also got a wonderfully warm reception at all the classrooms at Walcott.

But the folks having the most fun now are those who can recall who was wishing for cold weather to get here, 'way back last summer.

A tragic sidelight to Saturday morning's farm home fire: A member of the family tried to call in to report the fire, but people talking on the rural party line ignored him the first time, although he told them he was trying to report a fire. He lunged up then had to tell them a second time before the line was cleared. Although there was nothing the fire department could do when they arrived, such a delay in other cases might mean losing a home that could be saved.

stacked in huge piles to be processed on a regular schedule throughout the year. With only a little protection, beets will remain unharmed, even throughout the winter.

First step in processing comes when the beets are dumped on conveyors and washed thoroughly to remove dirt and other field trash.

Cleaned, they are weighed and delivered to the slicing machines.

Unlike sugar cane, which is crushed to extract the juice, sugar beets are sliced to get a higher degree of purity. A revolving drum cuts the beets into V-shaped chips or cosettes (which resemble shoestring potatoes) and conveys them to the diffusion battery for juice extraction.

This diffusion battery consists of an endless series of large tanks, called cells, with a capacity of two to five tons each.

Filled with beets, the cells are then closed and hot water pumped in to start diffusing the juice from the cosettes. The water goes from one cell to the next endlessly as the cells are emptied and filled.

The exhausted cosettes are taken out and the raw juice is periodically withdrawn.

The juice then is further refined through various treatments, getting lighter in color with each operation. Since the sugar is being carried through in solution, a large quantity of water must be evaporated.

This is done through the use of vacuum vessels, which serve to lower the boiling point. The final stage of evaporation is carried out in vacuum pans as the syrup is crystallized.

Then the moist white sugar is carried through driers and passed over vibrating screens. The sifted sugar goes into bins, then on to automatic weighing and packaging machines.

beet pulp, which makes an excellent cattle feed. The field residue, the beet tops and part of the root, also is excellent for pasturing cattle.

It is interesting to note how durable a sugar refinery is:

Of the 71 plants in the United States, 58 of them were built before 1930. They have daily capacities of 1,000 tons to 6,000 tons of beets.

They are located from California to Michigan, from Colorado to Minnesota. The southernmost plant in the central United States is located in Rocky Ford, Otero County, Colo., where most of the Texas-raised beets are processed.

IT'S MEAT AND POTATOES all right, but potatoes to suit your family and stuffed given an interesting twist. Flavor whipped into franks.

Meat And Potatoes With Fancy Twist

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Newsfeatures Food Editor
HUSBANDS AND CHILDREN are notorious for being meat- and -potatoes people, but that doesn't mean they won't welcome interesting presentations of these favorite foods.

A big success at our house is to take frankfurters and mashed potatoes and give them a new look. There's method to our madness because the franks can be stuffed with the potatoes ahead of dinnertime and then popped into the oven at the last minute.

You can of course prepare your own potatoes for the dish, but when you are short of time or energy you may wish to use the instant flaked potatoes that come in two foil envelopes in a 5½-ounce package. In this particular recipe we've added cheese to the instant potatoes, but here are other flavoring suggestions.

1. Instead of mixing the cheese into the potatoes, sprinkle or pat it over the top of the potatoes after they have been stuffed into the frankfurters, then dust with paprika.
2. Omit cheese and add minced chives to the potatoes.
3. Shred green cabbage and pan-fry in a little butter or margarine and a tablespoon of water, then add to the potatoes. This idea is taken from the famous Irish and Scottish dish called Colcannon.
4. Add finely diced green pepper and drained canned pimiento to the potatoes.
5. Spread frankfurters with sweet brown mustard before adding potato stuffing.
6. Top potato - cheese stuff-

Stanley Lockhart Is Speaker Here

Stanley Lockhart, minister of the Harris and Irving Church of Christ in San Angelo and a well-known public speaker, began a series of gospel meetings at the Central Church of Christ here today, with the series scheduled to continue through next Sunday.

Ernest Highers, minister of the local church, is extending an invitation to everyone interested to attend the services each week day at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., and at 10:25 a. m. and 6 p. m. Sunday.

In keeping with a "Christ Centered" theme for the series of lessons, today's sermons will be "Serving Christ" and "Loving Christ."

Evening sermons for Monday through Friday are: "The World's Need for Christ"; "What Does It Mean to Believe on Christ?"; "Taking Christ Seriously"; "The Yoke of Christ"; "Do We Believe Christ?"; and "Following Christ."

Week-day morning sermons will be built around thoughts from the Book of James, sometimes referred to as "The Practical Book for Christian Living."

Sermons for the closing Sunday will be "The Cross of Christ" and "I Am Crucified With Christ."

One of the outstanding young evangelists in the church of Christ, Lockhart was a speaker at the Abilene Christian College' lectureship which attracted some 9,000 people last year, and he is scheduled to be one of the speakers on the George Peperdine College lectureship in Los Angeles this month.

During the year he will preach in meetings in South Dakota, North Carolina, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. He appears on a regular Sunday afternoon TV program conducted each week by his local congregation, and twice each month their regular services are broadcast over KG-KL San Angelo.

The young evangelist was born and received his secondary education at Pakersburg, W. Va.; he attended Freed - Hardeman College and was graduated from Abilene Christian College in 1949. His M. A. was conferred by Eastern New Mexico University.

POTATO-STUFFED FRANKFURTERS
Ingredients: 1 envelope (from a 5½-ounce package) instant flaked potatoes, ¼ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese (loosely packed), 8 frankfurters, paprika.

Method: Make up potatoes according to package directions, then mix in cheese. Slice each through bottom; fill with potato mixture. Place on ungreased baking sheet; sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 15 minutes or until hot through. For an extra garnish heat a frankfurter in simmering water and slice crosswise; tuck slices into potato stuffing when they come out of oven. Makes 4 servings - two potato - stuffed frankfurters for each portion.

TROUBLE MOUNTS UP
BALTIMORE (AP) - Charles J. Brill, 31, fell into an open manhole as he prepared to get into his automobile.
He walked to a police station and was taken to a hospital for treatment of injured hips.
Patrolman John Smith went out to investigate and fell into another manhole. He was taken to a hospital for X-rays.
Someone had removed the heavy lids and tossed them over a nearby fence, police later found out, without falling into any more holes.

UP TO DATE, AT LAST
ST. LOUIS (AP) - The suburban village of Mackenzie, 20 miles from the nearest streetcar line, is revising its ordinances to eliminate one regulating streetcars.
How did the ordinance happen to get on the books?
"Most of the ordinances were copied from other cities, and they contain a certain amount of extraneous matter," explains William Mattingly, the village clerk.

LSU has beaten Tennessee but once in 12 football meetings. One game ended in a tie.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

A Guide to the Point of Sale

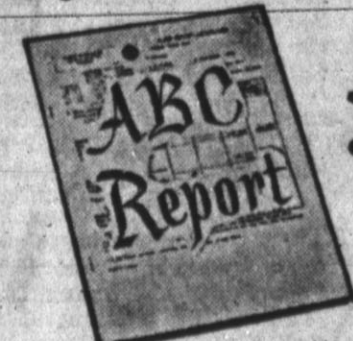

Our local stores are the display rooms and warehouses for the world's finest products. Efficient banking, insurance, real estate and other business services are also available to the people in our community. The readers of this newspaper find our advertising columns a dependable guide to the point of sale—a useful source for up-to-date news and information about these goods and services.

In order that advertising expenditures may be made with us on the basis of known values, as required for any sound business investment, this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Every advertiser should know about A.B.C. The Bureau is a cooperative, non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Working together, these buyers and sellers of advertising establish standards for paid circulation, rules and methods for auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors visits us to make a thorough audit of our circulation records. The FACTS established by his audit are published by the Bureau in A.B.C. reports which are available to you, our advertisers. These reports tell you how much circulation we have, where it goes, how it is sold and other FACTS essential to the profitable use of newspaper advertising. Ask us for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

How Can I?

By Anna Bellamy

Q. What can I do when the nail supporting a picture on my plaster wall comes loose?

A. Here's one good repair: Soak a piece of absorbent cotton in glue, wrap this around the nail, and insert it back into the hole. When the glue hardens, the nail will stay firmly in place.

A. This is usually the sign that the burners need some cleaning attention. Clean the holes in the burners out with a wire or some pipe cleaner.

Q. How can I remove some scratches from silverware?

A. Often this can be done if you will first make a paste of putty powder and a little olive oil, rub this on the silver with a soft cloth, and then polish with a chamois.

Q. How can I keep chamois gloves nice and soft after washing them?

A. By adding a teaspoonful of olive-oil to the water when washing them.

OUT OF THE PAST

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 300 million years ago, says the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, a vast inland sea extended from what is now Lake Erie south across Ohio to West Virginia. It deposited salt up to 300 feet thick in some places and this is now the basic ingredient for about 14,000 manufacturing and industrial processes.

The first boxing team at Michigan State was formed in 1886.

Americans Abroad Find Being Together Worth Inconveniences

SEEING THE SIGHTS . . . The Wignalls and their four children stroll along a Frankfurt, Germany, street on a Sunday afternoon.

SHOPPING AROUND — Mrs. Beatrice Wignall, with her daughter Margaret, 15, and a friend, Mrs. Frances Thornton, right, buys meat in a Germany butcher shop.

By JACK KOEHLER
FRANKFURT, Germany (U.S. —) What is life in Germany like for the family of an American serviceman?

"It's an experience we'll never forget," says Mrs. Harry Wignall, whose husband is a sergeant in the U. S. Army. In their first apartment, the bathtub was in the pantry and the toilet in the backyard.

"It was very depressing," says Mrs. Wignall, a comely redhead. "But don't think we're complaining. We didn't mind living like that for a while because it at least kept the family together."

The Wignalls' case is fairly typical for families who accompany their soldier husbands and fathers to Germany.

In May, 1958, Wignall, of Clark Summit, Pa., was assigned to Mannheim, Germany. "My husband signed a statement that we would live on the Germany economy until we could get into Army quarters and we were allowed to travel together," Mrs. Wignall says.

"We lived in a hotel for six days and when we moved out the bill came to $142."

The family then moved into an apartment which had only one bedroom and a living room.

The ages of the Wignall children range from 15 down to 5 — Margaret, 15, Robert, 12, Harry Jr., 9 and Sheila, 5.

"Robert, Harry and Sheila slept with us in the bedroom and Margaret slept on the living room couch."

They paid $66 a month for this — a lot of money in Germany where the average worker earns about $119 a month.

After living in another civilian apartment for a few months, the Wignalls moved into temporary government quarters and then into permanent housing.

The Army housing areas us-

By JIMMIE GILLENTE

One thing about this 1960 weather, it sure is whittling the old timers down to size. Up to now you could mention some freak weather situation and — no matter how exaggerated you may have presented it — some old timer would scratch his head, stare off into space and come up with a story from back in the 20's that would make you look sick.

Very few are able to top what most of us have been witnessing the past few weeks. There are a few, of course, including E.T. Brooks, who can honestly recall more spectacular weather. "Sonny" says back in 1918 so much snow fell that no one in this vicinity saw the ground for a period of 71 days. He says it may not have been worse than 1960, but it was more spectacular.

Joe Wagner from out Westway agrees that we have the possibility of a bumper wheat yield this year. He recalls that he bought a quarter section of dry land some 20 years ago and hasn't had but two wheat crops, the last being in 1946. Naturally, he is looking forward to running a combine in the field this year — provided the hail or greenbugs don't get him. Anyway, says Joe, it is nice to think about on these cold nights.

Charley Holt is just back from California, where he has been basking in the smog. Charley says he enjoyed it all, but is glad to be back — even if it is cold. Charley further says that "horse sense" is that factor which keeps horses from betting on people.

They are isolated from the Germans and resemble typical American communities, American servicemen and their families generally have little contact with the German people.

There is little difference between military apartments and everyone generally lives the same. They are considerably above the average German standard both in furnishings and design.

The Wignalls do their shopping at the Army commissary and their monthly food bill runs to about $100.

"Living here isn't expensive and even with my husband's pay of about $350 a month we can save a little and buy a government bond every month," Mrs. Wignall says.

"We can get the same food we got in the States but vegetables and fruit are a nuisance. Before we can use any of it we have to disinfect it in a chlorine solution."

Mrs. Wignall buys some meat in a German store, especially the thin veal cuts for weiner schnitzel.

"We can usually find anything we need in either the commissary or the post exchange but if we can't, some German store is bound to have it," she says.

There's plenty of entertainment available. The Army has a number of motion picture theaters, where servicemen and their dependents can see the latest American movies for 25 cents.

"We also go to the non-commissioned officers' club perhaps once a week and sometimes to a German night club," says Mrs. Wignall. "We go out a little more than we did in the States."

In the summer, the Army runs youth camps, where American soldiers are taken care of for 25 cents a day.

"The kids all love the camp because they have lots of activities there, such as swimming and the little league baseball."

The Wignalls also have done some traveling. They attended the Brussels World Fair last year and took a trip to Paris.

"We made the trip on a $7 a day budget and we did all right," says Mrs. Wignall.

The Army does not encourage a soldier to bring his family when he is assigned here. Instead, he is told to come alone, get on the housing waiting list and send for his family when adequate quarters are available.

Although servicemen's families traveling here together share the Wignalls' experience on the German economy, there are none who are really dissatisfied once they are settled in military housing. Then their standard of living differs little from that in the United States.

"We like it now and Harry will try to stay for two three-year hitchhikes," Mrs. Wignall says.

Towns get typed and gain reputations for certain things very much like movie stars. I was looking at the Perryton paper this week and notice that they are opening up a big new area to be known as the "Wheatheart Shopping Center". It struck me as sort of unusual that all the years the town depended upon wheat, it never needed or could afford such a center; along comes the oil boom, making the improvement practical — and they call it the "Wheatheart Center".

Henry Sears has a new Texas joke. The setting is deep, dark Africa, where an inquisitive tourist is talking with a cannibal. "Do you really eat people?" ask the tourist, and being told, "Yes," he wanted to know how people tasted. The cannibal assured him the flavor was delicious, especially Americans.

"How do you cook them?" persisted the tourist.

"That depends," answered the cannibal. "If he's from Maine, we boil him; if he's from Boston, we bake him; if he's from Georgia, we fry him."

"How do you cook a Texan?" asked the visitor.

"No, suh. We don't eat them 'at all," declared the cannibal. "I just ask you confidentially, mister . . . did you every try to clean one of those so-and-so's?"

Eula Lee Cave, hostess at the new Community Center, has been pleasantly surprised at a public response and general use of the building. This is especially true of teenagers. Mrs. Cave says they opened with a round 50 after school each day and more than 75 on Sunday afternoons. The meeting rooms, of course, stay well booked at all times. She also lauds the cooperation and behavior of the teenage set, and adds that she thoroughly enjoys working with them.

Jack Rogers boasts a record collection which is the envy of music lovers all over the Panhandle. In general, the collection begins with Gregorian Chant and runs through Stravinsky. It is composed of approximately 800 records, all of the long-playing variety, which is about 45 minutes each for both sides. It takes 600 hours to hear the entire collection, which would be 75 working days — if you don't take time out for lunch.

Many of the records cannot be replaced, even at this time. The collection is often utilized by study groups, recently including the Music Theory Class in Hereford High School.

Jack built his own hi-fi set and, with a grin, recalls that his closest high school friends who he would get out of school, jump on his motorcycle, make a mad dash for home only to go inside, turn on the record player and listen to records. Shocking as it may be, he doesn't have ev-

DIM THE LIGHTS when you flame Poirés Helene and guests will enjoy the glamor of the blaze before they go on to its delectable flavor.

French Dessert Simple, Elegant

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

(Newsfeatures Food Editor)

GUESTS COMING for dinner? You may find it convenient to know that a certain fancy French dessert may be adopted and adapted by hurry-up American cooks.

Here's an introduction to Poirés Helene, a sweet that is divided into three parts — pears, ice cream and chocolate sauce.

The classic recipe, described in the famous French dictionary of the table, Larousse Gastronomique, calls for fresh pears poached in vanilla syrup. The shortcut? We use canned Bartlett pear halves after adding pure vanilla extract to their syrup and letting them steep in it.

Larousse specifies vanilla ice cream for the dessert. We find a mixture of coffee and vanilla superb.

The chocolate sauce? Larousse says it should be creamy and served warm, and to this we adhere.

Some epicures go a step further with Poirés Helene, and you may wish to follow suit. A pear is perched on top of the ice cream and set aflame. Two ways to do the flaming are given in this recipe. Take your choice!

AMERICAN POIRÉS HELENE

Ingredients: 1 quart ice cream (all vanilla or coffee and vanilla mixed), 1 can (1 pound and 13 ounces) Bartlett pear halves in heavy syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon instant powdered coffee, 2 tablespoons boiling water, 1/3 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 2 squares (2 ounce) on one Elvis Presley in the whole 800 platters.

Which reminds me, Oliver Streu and I have a small wager. He is predicting that Elvis will make one movie, appear on a TV spectacular and have three record hits in the top 20 by July 1, 1960. If Streu wins this cigar, he will deserve it. He will have to hear those Elvis hits hundreds of times — and I won't have to hear them at all.

Jimmy Higgins learned something new about cattle this year. He took his calf to the San Antonio show, then carried him to Houston to wait 10 days before the Houston Exposition opened. The heat and humidity caused the calf to shed his hair, which really hurt in the judging. They couldn't even wash the animal down, he was shedding so bad. "It was coming out faster than your hair," reported Jack Renfro, pointing at my head. I don't figure Jack will be posing for any hair tonic ads himself, so I let the remark pass unchallenged. Besides, I'll bet what hair was left wasn't near as gray as mine.

The Sunday Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, March 6, 1960

flamed so blue blaze will show. Makes 8 servings.

Note: To have a pear half for each of the 8 servings, open another can of pears and fill out.

Use the vanilla-flavored syrup from the steeped fruit in a fruit cup instead of sugar; it's delicious over sliced fresh pears and oranges.

She's Flying High With Her Success

By ED DUBBS
EDGEWATER, Md. (A) — Florence C. Parlett believes every community should have a small airport and a woman should run it.

The silver-haired grandmother saved this town's airport from being turned into a pea patch and has put it on a surviving, if not a paying basis.

When Mrs. Parlett took over Lee Airport in 1937, it was nothing more than a rutted landing strip with two planes based there. Now it's a well-rounded small airport with a mechanic's shop, gasoline service, student pilot training, Civil Air Patrol headquarters, a comfortable lounge, rent-a-car service, a new hangar and a 2,900-foot sod runway.

And she did it on a shoestring budget, largely to prove it could be done "with a little money and a lot of hard work."

Mrs. Parlett recalls that C. Carroll Lee, owner of the property, came to her one day with "the incredible announcement" that he was going to turn the airport into a pea patch - unless she consented to becoming the manager.

"Meet your new lady airport manager," she told Lee.

Mrs. Parlett, who has been flying since 1931, tried at first to get financial aid from the city and county governments. Officials, however, contended the area was well served by Baltimore's Friendship International Airport, about a half hour's drive from here. She couldn't convince them there is a need for small airports as well as large commercial ones.

"Large airports are fine for scheduled airliners," she argued, "but there's no place for people who like to fly for the fun of it." Nor is there any time, she said, for teaching someone to fly or for taking someone on his first flight.

She also noted more and more business firms are operating their own small planes and need small airports to land them.

She could have turned to her husband, Leonard H. Parlett, Sr. for financial aid. He is president of a local gas company. But she chose to work with borrowed money and to seek the time of others interested in flying, especially members of the Civil Air Patrol, who have moved their operations to the airport.

"This was my pet project and I had to go on my budget," she explains.

Since 1937 she has borrowed some $10,000 and has paid back all but about $3,000.

Mrs. Parlett, mother of three grown sons and a 14-year-old boy, all interested in flying, admits she runs Lee Airport as a hobby. "There isn't enough money in it to make a living for a man and his family," she says.

This is why she thinks women definitely have a place as "lady managers" of small airports. Many a small town has lost an

Advice On Caring For Baby's Eyes

(A) Newsfeatures
A NEWBORN BABY keeps his eyes shut most of the time, so it may be some days before you get a good look at them.

Immediately after birth the doctor will put a few drops of silver nitrate solution into each of the baby's eyes. This is to prevent infection which a baby might pick up during the process of birth. This medicine sometimes makes the eyes a little inflamed looking, but the inflammation subsides in a day or two and is nothing to worry about.

All babies have bluish-gray eyes at birth. In some this color remains for life, but if the baby has inherited brown or dark eyes the pigment that makes the color will develop slowly. The darker the color you will notice the change. By the time the baby is three or four months old you can be fairly sure of the color of his eyes, though they may continue to darken for a year or more.

A baby's eyes are constantly bathed with tears even when he is not crying. These tears are nature's way of keeping the eyes clean. It is not necessary to put drops in the eyes of a healthy baby. While it's true the baby's tear ducts are in working order at the time of birth, your baby will not cry tears until he is a few weeks old.

Once in a while one or both of the baby's tear ducts will become plugged up and the tears do not flow down their normal path. The tear duct starts from a little red lump in the corner of the eye near the nose. It leads down into the nose. This is the way the tears which are constantly flowing over the eye are lead off into the nose. (This is why your nose runs when you cry). If the tear duct becomes partly clogged up the tears are not drained off as fast as they form, they back up into the eye and run down the cheek, (even when the baby is not crying).

A plugged tear duct is seldom serious and usually unplugs itself without treatment. However, you should speak to your doctor about it. He can often show you how to massage the baby's eyes to help break up any dried secretion that might be plugging the duct. Its best not to try this massage without being shown how to do it.

If the tear duct is badly plugged up the eye will not be properly cleaned by normal tears and it may become infected. You will know if the eye is infected because the secretion from the eye will be thick and yellowish instead of clear water-like tears.

Also the white of the eye may become red and inflamed. An eye infection, of course, should be immediately reported to your doctor.

Life Is Tranquil On Tiny Caribbean Isle

By JIMMIE PAYNE
COZUMEL, Mexico (A) — If you want to go off almost to the end of nowhere, and still remain in a civilized atmosphere, you might try this island of Cozumel.

Twenty-five miles long and 15 across at the widest point, it is located 12 miles east of the Yucatan peninsula and is part of the Mexican territory of Quintana Roo.

Historically, it once was one of the religious sanctuaries of the ancient and highly civilized Mayan Indians, and was a

GRAVE EXPERIENCE

TULSA, Okla. (A) — Thieves knocking off the knob and handle after prying open a heavy door. They battered a safe, finally knocking off the knob and handle tried to peel the steel front off the safe, then left empty handed. The office manager said the only thing in the safe was a record of people buried in the cemetery, stepping stone of Cortez in his conquest of Mexico for the Spaniards.

Of the islands 3,000 inhabitants about 2,500 live in this town — also Cozumel — on the eastern coast.

This is a quiet and peaceful place, with little activity except for bursting growth of vegetation. There are no nightclubs, only one movie theater which operates two nights a week.

It is a busy day when two cars or trucks pass on the principal street.

Some have taken advantage of the island's tranquility to come here to read, write, or just rest. Others fish or skin-dive in the crystal waters.

The island has not been overrun by tourists, and some residents say they don't want it to be.

Still, they welcome well-behaved visitors who want to share the island's charm and friendliness. The island is almost crimeless.

The only way to get here comfortably is by private plane or yacht, or a daily cargo-passenger plane from Merida, capital of the state of Yucatan.

There is a good air strip, built by the United States for use of planes scouting enemy submarines in the Caribbean during World War II.

There are two hotels, the Palace, a converted government building, and the small Mayalium with a garden of lush tropical plants.

The food, especially at the Mayalium, is good. There, two world-travelers, Ilya Chamberlain and his wife Janne, can whip up plain or exotic dishes with equal knack.

Those wishing to fish or skin-dive should carry their own equipment. There is no adequate rental service at present.

Boats now available for fishing are not comfortable for catching big ones. They are converted sailboats with tillers, leaving no room for swivel chairs in the rear.

Skin-divers, besides enjoying the under-water beauty, can spear fish and giant crayfish which hang around the coral reefs.

The sun is hot, but a balmy breeze constantly flows across the island, and the nights are comfortable.

In the olden days Cozumel was noted for its oracles, or talking idols. People came from all over the Mayan world for counsel. The idols were hollow and fastened to temple walls, with an opening for the priests to enter.

Youth Takes The Stage During Junior Festival

Two words heard frequently around Hereford households at this time of the year are the "Junior Festival" when music students perform in the Annual Junior Festival of the National Federation of Music Clubs, Seventh District, Texas Federation Music Clubs, which will be held here on Saturday, March 12, in the First Baptist Church. The opening will be held in the church auditorium at 8:45 a.m.

Hereford joins the other two sections of the Panhandle which will feature festivals this year, marking the progress of the youthful musicians of this area. Borger will hold her festival on March 12 also, and a festival will be held in Lubbock April 22-23.

Because of the recent division of the Seventh District, fewer entries are expected here. There will be entrants from Amarillo, Dawn, Summerfield, Friona and Hereford. A large percentage of the entries are in piano, although there are some in voice and one in snare drum.

Judges for the piano event will be Mrs. Natalie Sanders and Miss Jan Waters of Amarillo. Judge for the voice division will be Glenden Sanders, minister of music of the First Baptist Church of Hereford, and the band event will be judged by Gerald Smith, band director of Panhandle.

Mrs. Sanders also served as judge last year. She has studied piano and organ extensively since childhood and has taught for the past nine years. She studied with artist teachers at North Texas State College, Texas Woman's University and Oklahoma University. She received her music education degree from West Texas State College, and is affiliated with the Texas and National Music Teachers' Association.

Miss Waters graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in 1957. She teaches piano and harp and plays harp with the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra. She appeared here as guest soloist with the Hereford High School Choir in 1957-58. She has also attended the national music camp at Inter-loches, Mich., and has done special work at the University of Texas.

Glenden Sanders received his Bachelor of Music degree from Baylor University. He studied with Robert Hopkins and Euell Porter while there.

Gerald Smith was born and reared in Hereford and is a graduate of Hereford High School. He received his degree in music education at West Texas State College.

Miss Mattie Mae Swisher of Amarillo and Mrs. A. J. Schroeter are co-chairmen of Junior Festivals of the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, and Mrs. Schroeter will be in charge of the Hereford Festival. Mrs. Carl Wimberley, vice-president of the Seventh District TFMC, will assist.

Hereford students have consistently ranked high in performance in the annual festivals. In 1959, four students made a superior rating for the third straight year, which entitled them to a gold certificate from the National Federation of Music Clubs. They were Linda Stewart, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. R. T. Stewart of Dawn, Merle Carmichael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carmichael, and Penny Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson of Hereford. Donna Baker, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Thompson, who was making her home with them here at the time, also made the superior rating for the third consecutive year.

The festival will open with an organ prelude by Mrs. Howard Scott, and a devotional by Dr. Howard Scott, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The Junior Pledge and "Texas Our Home" will be given by the entire assembly. Mrs. Schroeter will welcome the guests and give instructions to the students, who will go to their various rooms for participation in the festival.

A luncheon will be held at noon at the Jim Hill Hotel for the judges, teachers, counselors and guests. Those wishing to attend may contact Mrs. A. J. Schroeter.

Betty Walser And Durben Baker Will Exchange Vows On June 2

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walser of Summerfield are announcing the engagement and approaching of their daughter, Betty, and Durben Baker of Lubbock. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Baker of Summerfield. The couple will be married on June 2 in the Summerfield Baptist Church. The Rev. Wayne Lee, Pastor, will perform the ceremony. Miss Walser is a senior in Hereford High School and is employed in the Southwestern Public Service offices. Baker is a salesman for the Coca Cola Company working out of Lubbock. He is a graduate of Friendship High School of Wolfforth.

Engagement Of Glenna Bellar To Don Bomar Is Announced Here

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bellar, 115 Lake St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Glenna, to Don Bomar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bomar, 441 Star St. The wedding is being planned to take place on June 5 in the Avenue Baptist Church, with the Rev. Howard Scott, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. The bride-elect is a senior at Hereford High School and will receive her diploma in May. Her fiancé is employed here with the Singer-Brummett Cattle Company of Amarillo. He plans to enter West Texas State College in the fall. Miss Bellar is presently employed in the office of Dr. Milton C. Adams, optometrist.

Perfume Stains

Perfume stains on your clothes are as stubborn as they come. However, you can try wetting the spot with water, then working on it with glycerine and a piece of cheesecloth, and rinsing with water. If traces still remain, work on it some with a 20 per cent solution of acetic acid (or vinegar), and flush it out again with water.

Smaller Belt

When another hole is needed to make the belt smaller, make a new hole neatly by using a heated steel needle, holding the belt firmly on a wooden board. This will make a perfectly round hole.

Care of Hands

The hands can be kept in good condition and all stains removed from them by use of a paste composed of vinegar and cornmeal, which can be kept in a small cup on the sink.

Cleaning Ashtrays

Ashtrays can be thoroughly cleaned with denatured alcohol, a stiff brush, and lots of scrubbing. This procedure will clean either brass or copper ashtrays that are discolored by tobacco and nicotine.

Painting Help

A paper picnic plate glued to the bottom of your paint can will serve as a handy resting place for your brush-and will also catch any paint that might spill or drip down the side of the can.

Beating Eggs

If the white of egg will not beat stiff, add a teaspoonful of cold water and a pinch of salt. Adding a pinch of baking powder while beating will also help, makes it more fluffy, and prevents falling if it must stand for a while after beating.

Tight Shoes

If a shoe is so tight as to be uncomfortable, wring out a cloth in very hot water and place it over the spot where the shoe pinches. Repeat this treatment as the cloth becomes cold and until the shoe becomes comfortable.

Substitute Blotter

When you are in desperate need of an ink blotter, and none is at hand, reach for your box of cleansing tissues. The loosely packed fibers of the tissues absorb the ink even faster than the usual blotter.

The Razor Stop

A few drops of sweet oil should occasionally be applied to the razor stop. Dipping it in hot water after stropping is also recommended.

The New Shoes

If talcum powder is sprinkled liberally into the new shoes, they will seem more comfortable when worn for the first time.

Glass Stopper

If a glass bottle stopper sticks, revolve the neck of the bottle slowly in the heat of a burning match. The heat from this will cause the neck to expand, thereby releasing the stopper.

Fried Chicken

To make sure that your fried chicken will be very crisp and a golden brown, dip it in sweet milk, then flour. Start it cooking in hot fat, brown on all sides; reduce temperature and cook at a medium heat until the meat is thoroughly cooked.

Tile Floors

Clean tile floors by dissolving $\frac{1}{2}$ - pound of shaved yellow soap and $\frac{1}{2}$ - pound of washing soda in a gallon of hot water, and apply to the floor with a stiff brush. Rinse with clear water and wipe dry.

When Traveling

Dip the corks and necks of all bottles containing liquids, that you are packing for the trip, in melted paraffin, and it will be an assurance against leakage.

Since 1951, goal tender Terry Sawchuk has had three National Hockey League campaigns in which he scored 12 shutouts each season.

Be Sure To Read The Child's School Books

By Dorothy Whipple, M. D.

Children thrive when parents are interested in their activities. If you want to encourage your youngster to do well in school, know what is going on—in the school—and in your child's head.

From the beginning read his books so you can talk about what interests him. You may not find the contents of the pre-printer very stimulating. Maybe you don't really care whether Jane sees Dick or not but the very idea that those little straight and curved lines of print can mean things is a most exciting concept to a child. Share his excitement and you will help him discover the world between the covers of books.

As your child grows older his textbooks become more interesting. Read them, ask your child if you may borrow his book because you are interested in the subject. Talk about what he is studying. Often you can elaborate on the subject matter, and open up new areas.

If it is a subject in which you do not have much knowledge, here is your chance to broaden your own horizons.

Go to the library yourself and get some books related to his subject matter. Read them yourself, especially if the books are too long or too difficult for the child. Prime yourself with extra stories and tell them at the dinner table. Encourage your youngster to bring home books from the school library, books which he can read himself.

When American history is being studied there is a wealth of material to be had. You probably know a good deal about American history, but there is always more to learn. The recent bestseller "The Winthrop Woman" is a fascinating book which may well give you some new insights into the Pilgrim Fathers. The "Cod Fish Masket" is an exciting story of early American life. When it comes to English history, "The Brief Gaudy Hour" is a thrilling tale of Anne Boleyn, Henry VIII's second wife. Round out your education as your child ren go through school. Your interest in their subject matter will stimulate your children to learn.

As you read your children's text books, take a look at the date the books were written. There has been a great deal of time, work, money put into the writing of American textbooks. Some of them are the world's finest—well written, well illustrated and up to date. Are your children getting the advantage of new books? Many school systems try to save money by not buying the new books. Looking into the school budget for books is a worthwhile P-TA function.

If you find your children are using antiquated textbooks, or the school library is ill-equipped, get a committee started in the P-TA to investigate. Often a little pressure from parents can do a lot to get school boards to allocate more money for books. There is no better way to allocate more money for books or earned in fund raising activities than to supplement the school library.

Bippus HD Club Holds Luncheon

The Bippus Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. Vernon T. Adrian recently for a covered dish luncheon and two club meetings for February.

Christine Fortenberry, president, called the meeting to order. Minutes were read by Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry in absence of the secretary.

Roll Call was answered with subjects in the year book. Landscaping and whole wheat products were the subjects for the meeting. Mrs. C. F. Hornfeld spoke to the group on new shrubs; Mrs. Jack Fortenberry talked on whole wheat products and read the pamphlet sent by Sybil G. Stringer, county home demonstration agent of Dimmitt.

Mrs. G. V. Hall was appointed as chairman of a committee to work with the Messenger committee in preparing something for entertainment when Messenger and Bippus clubs entertain the South Hereford club. A total of five members were present for the meeting.

The are Mesdames C.F. Hornfeld, G. V. Hall, J. G. Fortenberry, Mrs. Adrian, hostess, and Miss Christine Fortenberry. The next meeting will be held March 9 in the home of Mrs. Elmo Hall.

Hold Meeting Of Wyche HD Club

The Wyche Home Demonstration Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. W. P. Axe, who introduced the speaker, Mrs. Argen Draper. Mrs. Draper brought the program on Clothing Trends and New Fabrics in Buying. She said that on March 3, a new law became effective compelling all dry goods to be tagged with trade name and generic name

SAN JUAN FESTIVAL

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Eight former Broadway hits are being presented during the eight-week San Juan Drama Festival. Boris Karloff, playing the lead role in "Arsenic and Old Lace," opened the festival. He played the part on Broadway 1,400 times.

Other stars who will appear during the festival are Edward Everett Horton, Joan Bennett, Donald Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Brien, Fay Bainter and Betty Furness.

of fabric.

The care of new fabrics was discussed by the group as well as strong and weak characteristics. Mrs. Draper gave out cards with 11 good wash and wear blends.

Mrs. Norman Hodges vice-president presided over the meeting.

Those present were Mesdames Norman Hodges C. R. Daimon, Charles Packard, E. C. Hewitt Jr., M. V. Pickens, C. F. Newsom, Tom Draper and the hostess, Mrs. Axe.

The next meeting is scheduled to be held March 17 in the home of Mrs. Jewell Elliston.

TENTH MAN ABROAD

NEW YORK — Paddy Chayefsky's Broadway hit, "The Tenth Man," will be produced in France, Spain, Mexico, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Austria and South America.

Producers Saint Subber and Arthur Cantor say negotiations are underway for stage rights for South Africa, England, Sweden, Hong Kong and Israel.

Golf Lesson Series Is Scheduled Here

A series of seven group golf lessons is being planned by Hereford golf pro Bud Posey, beginning March 22 through May 6, if enough people show interest.

There will be night time classes each week, on Tuesday and Thursday, at 8 p. m. Place will be announced later.

Each lesson will last one hour and Posey says that he can handle 25 persons to each group. All persons interested in the lessons should contact Posey at EM4-2782 (daytime) or EM-2850 (at night) or contact him at the John Pitman Golf Course Pro Shop for arrangements before March 15.

The lesson series will cover the following stages: grip, stance, back swing, down swing, wood shots, iron shots, approach putting and rules and etiquette of golf.

If more than 50 persons are interested a third night and class will be added.

Tentative Tuesday classes would be held on March 22 and 29; April 5, 12, 19 and 26; and on May 3.

Thursday classes would be held March 24 and 31; April 7, 14, 21 and 28; and on May 5.

The Cincinnati Reds will play 13 exhibition games against American League teams next spring. They will meet National League rivals 10 times.

TOUR ENDS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK — When Katharine Cornell and Brian Aherne arrive on Broadway in March to star in their two-character presentation of "Dear Liar," it will be their closing engagement after touring triumphantly from coast to coast for 27 weeks.

"Dear Liar" is the adaptation by Jerome Kilty of the 40-year correspondence between Bernard Shaw and Mrs. Patrick Campbell. The latter, who died in 1940, was star in Shaw's "Pygmalion," Pinero's "Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and many Shakespearean productions.

It's Our 13th Anniversary!

Thirteen years ago we placed our faith in Hereford and the surrounding area, when we founded the Lone Star Insurance Agency and took up residence in this fair city. That faith in a growing community has not been in vain. The Lone Star Agency has grown and prospered throughout these years, and upon the occasion of our Thirteenth Anniversary, we want to express our sincere appreciation to the wonderful people of this area who have made this possible . . and pleasant.

Thanks again, for your patronage and considerations . . come see us when you can. You're always welcome at . . .

Plan For Living Subject Of Talk

Mrs. Donald Shipley presented the L'Allegre Study Club program Thursday afternoon, when a meeting was held in the home of Mrs. C. E. Hicks.

Dealing with the topic "A Plan For Living" she said, in part, "Planning for outdoor living is a happy combination of three of mankind's main interests: Agriculture, art and engineering. Today's garden is a place for living in all seasons, designed for enjoyment."

"First the family's needs should be determined and the house and grounds must be considered as a unit. The relationship between the house and grounds must be close. In formulating plans for a home and its landscaping, suitability, utility, economy and beauty should be considered."

Mrs. Joe Lyons, president, presided over the business sessions when plans for the guest day style show were discussed.

Members in attendance were Mesdames Tommy Carnahan, Bill Dameron, Jimmie Easley, James E. Higgins, Terry Kirby, Walter London Jr., Joe Lyons, Donald Shipley, Stanley Slagle, Oliver Streu, Sam West, Gilbert Davis and the hostess.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make use of a rubber hot-water bottle that has a tiny leak in it?

A. You can still use this to warm your tootsies without any patching at all. Instead of filling it with hot water, just heat some ordinary table salt and pour this into the bottle. Actually, it'll stay warm longer than water will, and you can use the salt over and over again.

Q. How can I make a good job of cleaning the grit from the teeth of my fingernail file?

A. Press a strip of adhesive tape firmly over the teeth of the file, then pull it loose, and the dirt will come with it. Repeat this process a few times, if necessary.

Q. What are some "home-made" methods of softening hard water?

A. Borax, lemon juice, or an oatmeal bag all are good for this.

Q. How can I clean a fur at home?

A. You can freshen it up to a certain extent by rubbing it with a cloth dipped in soapy water and wrung out thoroughly. However, a more thorough effect is obtained by moistening some cornmeal with cleaning fluid, rubbing this well into the fur, and then brushing it out.

Q. What can I do about my hardwood floors which are scarred with dark marks from furniture?

A. Rub these marks with very fine steel wool, dipped in quite soapy water. Rinse with clear water, and then apply a good furniture polish. Your floors will be much improved.

Q. How can I remove shoe polish stains from garments?

A. These will usually submit to a cleaning-fluid treatment.

MASTER'S TOUCH: Walter Cornelison bends over the potter's wheel shaping a vase.

Philosophy At Potter's Wheel

By JULES LOH

BYBEE, Ky. — Back country folk have a legend the world was made on a potter's wheel. Walter Cornelison doesn't hold to that, but he knows well the antiquity of the craft. He is the fourth — maybe fifth — Cornelison to ply the potter's trade at the old log building at Bybee.

"I guess my son will take over from me," says Cornelison. "He's only 11, but he's been turning clay several years now."

Young Robert Walter Cornelison will inherit a thriving business when it comes his turn. Pottery from Bybee is sold in each of the 50 states and Canada, and the tiny shop turns out about 500 pieces a day.

Yet the Bybee Pottery spends "nary a penny" on advertising, Cornelison says, beyond the crude, weather-worn approach side which says the firm has been operating since 1845.

It was natural some early settler should build a kiln at Bybee. Nearby is the old bed of the Kentucky River, rich with clay washed pure white.

"It can be used just as God made it," Cornelison said. "All we do is add branch water and grind it in the pug mill to make it smooth."

The mill, now powered by electricity, was driven for 34 years by a horse named Henry. "We finally got rid of Henry last year," Cornelison says. "He got too doggone mean."

Inside, the shop groans with curiosity. The Bybee Pottery offers 226 different items, and shelf after cluttered shelf says under the ceramics. On the inside surface of each piece are the tell-tale spiral finger marks of the potter, indicating they were hand turned.

The shelves occupy nearly all available space, floor to ceiling. Where there are no shelves, pieces are stacked on the floor.

The "display room" serves mainly as a store room for mail orders. "We don't get 25 customers a day," Cornelison says. Often the room is left unattended.

Bybee, on state road 52 out of Richmond, Ky., is not even shown on most road maps. But the few customers who venture off the beaten path usually are rewarded.

The shop's uneven floor is raised six inches by accumulated clay droppings of four generations. The oaken roof and walls are speckled with the bits that have flown from the worn table where Walter beats the air out of raw material before putting it on the wheel.

"College ceramics students call it wedging the clay," he says. "We just call it beating it."

He holds the big lump high above his head, and splats it down onto the table again and again until it is smooth throughout.

Then he weighs a portion on an ancient balance—each piece of pottery must be uniform—and throws the clod onto the center of the wheel.

The wheel spins. The potter's hand dips into a bowl of water, muddying with frequent dippings. His right hand holds a small wooden paddle to shape the object on the outside. His left hand presses the clay against the paddle from the inside. A bowl rises from the wheel incredibly fast. Then the piece dries, is dipped into one of 18 Cornelison-developed glazes — formulas handed down father to son — and fired in the kiln.

Walter split a sample piece of potter from top to bottom. He ran his finger up and down the edge, indicating its uniform thickness.

"That's what makes a potter," he says.

"You've got to have the feel of it. Anybody can make a vase or a mug or a bowl. But the man who makes 150 of them without varying the size or thickness even a fraction — he's a potter."

"In time," he adds, "my son will be a potter."

Bill Hartack is the only jockey to ride the winners of the Gardenia and Garden State the same year. He did it in 1957 with Nadir and Idum.

June's A Wisp At Work

By JAMES BACON

Hollywood (U)— June Allyson, latest movie actress to switch to television, now weighs only 83 pounds.

"And that gives you an idea of how hard my husband is working me," says she. In her years at MGM, June usually weighed around 97 pounds — a weight at which you can't afford to lose even an ounce.

"We didn't realize how soft a job we had making movies," says June.

The weight loss only bothers June on one score. Her 11-year old daughter can wear all June's clothes — and sometimes does. June got into television reluctantly, she says. Dick Powell her husband, is president of Four Star Productions and a tycoon in the industry. One night he was entertaining a group of sponsors.

"I thought I was just being a charming hostess for my husband," June recalls. The next day the sponsors asked Powell if his wife would be interested in television.

June says Powell sold her off into television and then came home and let her in on the secret.

"I hadn't made a movie in a year and a half — and I was getting sort of contented. I'm not as ambitious as I used to be."

But Powell promised her that she would only have to work 41 days a year. "I don't know where he got that figure," says Mrs. Powell. "It's been more like 41 days a month."

But being so close to the producer has its benefits. June is getting a new look for her anthology series. It started out strictly as a woman's show but June thinks it should be geared just as much to men.

Upcoming shows will feature action and suspense stories instead of soap opera. She also got a complete new Don Loper wardrobe for her hostingess shots.

The new gowns will have Loper's sophisticated look. No more of June's famous Peter Pan look.

An example of June's hectic TV life came when the reporter casually asked what her home town was. She couldn't remember.

"Let's see, we once lived in the Bronx and then we moved upstate. It was the last stop on the subway, you know."

Only someone from the Bronx or Manhattan would call the last stop on the subway upstate New York. All through the interview this bothered June.

"I know," she said. I'll call my mother. She'll remember. This is silly. I grew up there. I went to school.

Her mother's line was busy. "Goodness," she fumed. "I never had trouble remembering my hometown when I was in movies. You see what television does to you?" Her mother's line was still busy. The reporter started naming Westchester County suburbs. White Plains? Mount Vernon? No, Pelham?

"Oh, I'm glad you said that. It would have ruined my whole weekend. I came from Pelham Bay."

san couldn't shake hands with the right arm. "I can write checks, though," he said, "and so far my whim has cost slightly over $700.

Miami University of Oxford, Ohio holds a 30-27 football edge over Cincinnati. Six games were ties.

If Missouri beats Kansas in football this fall (Nov. 21) their series will be tied at 30 victories each. Eight games ended in ties.

Club Continues Study Of Africa

Continuing a series of programs on Africa, members of the Bay View Study Club held a regular session in the Community Center Thursday afternoon.

A short business session was held when Mrs. George Heard, a former member, was welcomed in active membership.

Mrs. H. L. Thurston introduced the program with a discussion of "Social Changes and Impact of Colonialism". She said, "The door to knowledge is wide in Africa today. The confusion of tongues is fast fading away and a new culture is abolishing the old one". She told of the work done there by missionaries and the influence of the churches in religion and Christianity can bring Africa to the front as light dispels the darkness."

Mrs. R. B. Miller spoke on "Economic Development", tell of the changing economic levels in Africa and naming Africa's many independent countries. She told of its government and of the revolution now taking place. She reviewed an article on the women of Africa, describing their part in trade and the women's Trade Union.

Members present were Mesdames D. H. Alexander, Philip Barkley, H. L. Benefield, W. J. Gilliland, Francis Hardwick, A. M. Jones, Will S. Kerr, J.W. Kirby, Paul Mathers, John McLean, Ansel McDowell, R. B. Miller, Eugene Naugle, Carl Perrin, J. W. Spradley, H. L. Thurston and George Heard.

Chapter Holds Regular Meeting

XI Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Ray Suits Tuesday evening with Mrs. A. E. Hodges sharing hostess duties with Mrs. Suits.

The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. E. L. Wade.

Due to illness of the program leader, no program was given. Bridge provided entertainment for the evening.

Members present were Mrs. Ed Line, Mrs. E. N. Johnson, Mrs. Paul Harvey, Mrs. E. L. Wade, Mrs. N. E. Moore, Mrs. Byrdie Fellers, Mrs. J. D. Whitaker, Mrs. Ann Woodward, Mrs. Hodges and Mrs. Ray Suits.

Farm And Ranch Club Holds Meet

Farm and Ranch Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. John Hill. The theme of the meeting was Mexico. Spanish food was served for the luncheon and Mexican pottery, pictures, pillows and dishes were used as decoration throughout the house.

The regular business meeting was then held. Two new members, Mrs. Paul Rudd and Mrs. Charlie Bass, were welcomed into the club.

The program in keeping with Texas Independence Day was lead by Mrs. Charlie Burk, who reviewed "True tales of Texas," by Bertha Mae Cox.

Each member told of some mission they had visited in Texas. This was in the form of a group discussion.

Mrs. N. E. Tyler won the hostess gift and the mystery box.

Members present were Mesdames Phillip Miller, Herschel Burrus and Francis, Buren Sowell, Paul Rudd, Glen Burrus, Charlie Bass, N. E. Tyler, Charlie Burk and the hostess, Mrs. Hill.

Meeting Held By Legion Auxiliary

The March meeting of the Auxiliary to the American Legion was held in the Rock Clubhouse Tuesday evening.

The study course preceded the business meeting, with Mrs. C. R. McGee speaking on welfare and Mrs. Alice Cox discussing community service.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Hazel Sparks, president, members voted to make contributions to the Red Cross. Plans for the 41st anniversary supper to be held in the Legion Hall on March 15 were made.

Zone 18 meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary will be held in Friona on March 8 at 7 p. m. A panel on Veterans Legislation will be presented by the V. A. officers from Amarillo.

Those attending were Mesdames Hazel Sparks, C. R. McGee, Frank Smith, A. J. Ralston, Evalee Potter, Clarence Saucy, Alice Cox, Mable Wagner and Artie Frost.

CARBONS UPHELD CHEYENNE, Wyo. (U)— The validity of a signed and witnessed carbon copy of a man's will has been upheld by the Wyoming Supreme Court.

The court overruled a district court decision that wills executed by Charles L. Stringer of Gillette in 1952 and 1954 were invalid because they were carbon copies, although duly signed and witnessed.

"There is no special virtue in typing by imprint through inked ribbon than through a piece of carbon paper," Justice Harry Harrisberger ruled.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. Should mascara be applied to the lower eyelashes as well as the upper?

A. If you do apply it to the lower lashes, you're risking its running onto your cheeks - about as unlovely a sight as you can imagine. In my opinion, the most you should do with your lower lashes is to apply a very thin coat of mascara to the last few outer lashes only.

Q. How can I remove some leather stains from one of my frocks?

A. If the fabric is washable, try soap and water, using plenty of soap and rubbing thoroughly. If glycerin is worked into the stain first and allowed to stand for a half - hour or more, the stain will yield more easily. On unwashables, try glycerin, working it into the stain carefully with a glass rod, or rubbing lightly between the hands. Let stand for a half - hour, then rinse by sponging with water.

Q. What preparations should one make before applying powder to an oily type of skin?

A. After washing face in warm water, rinsing in cold, gently pat on the following lotion and allow to dry: Four ounces witch hazel, one teaspoon boric acid, two ounces of orange flower water, and 10 drops simple tincture of benzoin. Shake well, and apply with a clean pad of absorbent cotton.

Q. Is there a facial beauty mask I can prepare that will help to bleach freckles?

A. The following has some claims to success: Mix the white of an egg with the juice of a lemon, and add sufficient almond meal or oatmeal to make a thin paste. Spread this on the freckled area, and let dry. Then rinse off with warm water.

Q. How can I remove some fingernail polish stains from one of my dresses?

A. A safe method for all fabrics, including rayon and vinylon, is to moisten the stain well with carbon tetrachloride, then apply a drop or two of amyl acetate (banana oil) to the stain. Brush with an upward motion, using a soft cloth, to pick up the dissolved lacquer. Q. Instead of shaving the fine coating of hair on my legs, how can I bleach them?

A. By use of peroxide of hydrogen, or a mixture of one part ammonia to six parts of hydrogen.

Q. One of the girls in our school arrives every morning with her hair done up in pin curls, and then combs it out in the washroom. Somehow I can't go along with this habit of hers. What do you think about it?

A. I'm with you, heart and soul! Appearing in public in pin curls is just as bad as getting on a bus with your bedroom slippers on. Any girl who is striving for the reputation of being attractive and well - mannered will NEVER let her public see her in pin curls!

Q. What is a quick and effective way to remove fruit stains from the teeth?

A. Lemon juice is usually the solution for this.

Q. What is a good exercise for whittling down the waistline?

A. Lie on your back on the floor, legs stretched out. Put your hands on hips. Pull your upper body as far as possible, first to one side, then to the other. Try to go so far that you literally squeeze the rolls of fat around your midsection. Repeat at least 10 times.

Q. Please suggest an after - shampoo rinse that is good for softening the hair.

A. Three ounces of vinegar to one and a half pints of warm water is usually good.

Kansas holds a 30-29 edge in football games with Missouri. Eight contests ended in ties.

PROTECT THIS INCOME WITH HAIL INSURANCE

During 1959 in Texas alone, more than five and one-half million dollars in crop hail damage claims were paid by insurance companies. Statistics show that equally that amount of loss was suffered on crops that were not insured. Your Texas Farm Bureau agent can give you complete details of the Farm Bureau policy that allows you more insurance per acre than any other policy. Texas Farm Bureau maintains their own staff of adjusters so you are assured of fast, equitable payment on all your claims. The Census Enumerates Statistics;
Towns Are Built By Good Citizens

The current year, among other things, ends in "0" and consequently indicates that census time is here once again.

Taking census is very much like taking inventory; you are not better off when you learn the figures, but at least you have the facts, good or bad.

Hereford almost doubled in population during the decade ending in 1950. Most people we know are not expecting such an increase in 1960, but even the most conservative will grant at least a 50 percent population boost, which is a startling figure within itself. Compared with other small towns, most of which are going downhill instead of up, it is all the more phenomenal.

Meanwhile, we feel sure that everyone will agree when we say there is a tremendous difference between a statistic and an interested citizen. During this 20-year period of expansion our schools have increased right along with the head count; our paved streets into areas that were grain fields and pastures 10, 15 and 20 years back. Our parks, too, have been modernized and expanded. We have excellent cemetery facilities, swimming pool, community center, bull barn, ball parks and public buildings which did not exist at the turn of 1940.

In Tribute To School Bands

A record breaking crowd braved freezing wind and icy street Tuesday evening to listen to concerts presented by Hereford's high school and junior high bands.

Whether the people were most interested in music or in the youngsters is a good question, and we judge that both aspects were important. In either case, the situation reflects well upon the community.

For more than a quarter of a century residents of this community have been interested in bands, good music and youth. In athletics, our football, basketball and track teams have usually been spasmodic in achievement, generally running into championship calibre or dropping to a low ebb. Our band, during all of this time, has been consistently outstanding. Because a band requires teamwork, along with musical ability, the organization has contributed much more to our youngsters than many of us realize. Too, it includes hundreds where most other extra-curricular activities are limited to tens.

Many of the people who turned out for the annual concert Tuesday can look back a few years and remember when they were in a high school band themselves, including quite a few from our own Hereford organizations. The fact that these particular people were willing to brave such unpleasant weather indicates the highest tribute which could possibly be paid to our band organization and to the individuals members.

This year we have outstanding bands, both high school and junior high. The fact that they are backed by such an interested citizenship indicates that we will again have good bands next year. — and for many more years to follow.

Along with new homes and public improvements, we can likewise count expansion in our business district. In addition to excellent retail outlets, competitive to larger cities, our two banks are thoroughly modern and progressive. Utilities serve our town and surrounding areas, including extension into other counties with an outstanding REA cooperative.

These things we take for granted most of the time, but if they didn't keep pace with the growing population, Hereford would be a mighty poor place to live. Furthermore, it would probably join the downward spiral in population instead of continuing its present trend.

Three Moves
Equal 1 Fire

Generally ignored, if not completely lost, is the old adage, "A rolling stone gathers no moss."

The shortage of competent workmen which traces back to World War II continues to exist in most industries and business firms to the point that almost any skilled craftsman can step from one city to another, and not have to worry about finding a job. The same is true concerning secretarial, bookkeeping and managerial positions. As a result, most of us have become rather independent concerning the subject of employment.

Few of these people who move from town to town and job to job, however, stop to analyze the actual dollar and cent cost of the constant shifting which takes place all over America. Bankers and loan agencies, on the other hand, will quickly point out that the family which "stays put" is the family which usually maintains the better credit rating and bank balance.

Carefully calculated moving is another thing, especially if the person in question has analyzed the long-range outlook and possibilities of the new location and position.

As ever, a budget can be balanced two ways: by earning more, or by spending less. Most people who earn more soon find that they are also spending more, and wind up seeking another situation which requires still another move. To the home owner, this naturally results in an even greater loss than the tenant.

There is an old saying that "three moves are equal to one fire," and those who carefully compute their costs are beginning to agree. Meanwhile, the boss may be an old duffer, a short sighted individual and a tightwad, but be sure the next one will definitely be better before you make that move.

Thanks, Firemen

One of the nicest compliments that can be paid any fire department is to say "Thanks for keeping my fire rate so low."

And just this compliment is what members of the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department should be getting. The splendid work being done by the department should not go unheeded by the people who profit from it.

After April 1, residents of the city will begin receiving 25 percent credit on fire insurance. This means that the regular fire insurance rates will be discounted by one-fourth. It amounts to quite a savings for the entire town.

Damage from fires within the city limits has been kept at a minimum for the past five years. That's one reason the credit was advanced from 20 percent to 25 percent.

So before you pay your premium for fire insurance this year, give a word of thanks to the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department. —CANYON NEWS

WHAT IS NEEDED is a device that will ring a bell and turn out the lights when it's time to go home.

THAT EVERYBODY finds a job of some kind, even though not his first choice, is one of the miracles of free enterprise.

FRIENDLINESS is even less expensive than cleanliness; hence there is no financial barrier to good personal public relations.

EXCELLENT DEPORTMENT is a sad credential to a father whose son has failed in arithmetic.

MY SOLUTION of my problems, now as heretofore, is to earn more or spend less.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Lent commemorates Christ's 40 days and 40 nights in the wilderness.

Once upon a time I spent a night at the traditional site of Christ's temptation in a monastery high on the cliffs of Mount Temptation in Jordan. The monks there had told me not to come while it was dark because there were dangerous hyenas that sometimes attacked men and donkeys. I saw tracks of hyenas, heard them bark, and learned that snakes also infested those crags. Climbing them, my knees buckled as we skirted awesome cliffs dropping away from the holy site.

It was in this stark setting, the monks will tell you, that Christ resisted the temptation of all the kingdoms of the world to "worship the Lord thy God."

Many Funny Situations
Happen During Winter

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL
Ice on Feb. 29 and snow on Tuesday makes it fine, but there were no howling winds to usher in the March Lion. So we will be looking for plenty of bluster during the next 30 days.

Icy streets, highways or just plain icy earth can cause many things to happen. Some of them funny and some tragic. Let's look at a few funny things that happened here and there.

On a large ranch the foreman was a tall, spare man, about 6' 6". His wife could have been the original 5 by 5. One icy March morning he was working at his desk when one of the cowboys rode up with the mail.

Not thinking of the danger of falling, his wife stepped out to the gate to get the mail. As she reached and opened the gate, both feet slipped and despite her hold on the gate she sat rather suddenly and hard. The cowboy hurriedly dismounted only to fall at her side in trying to put her on her feet.

The foreman looked out on the scene and became convulsed with laughter. He, too, hurried out to help his wife, only to fall flat on his face before reaching the gate. In trying to get to his feet, he managed to get on his hands and knees, only to have them slip again and again.

Finally, in desperation, he turned over on his back, hoping to back up against the porch and regain his feet. But again as he pulled his knees under his chin and slipped.

He had forgotten to laugh at his wife's predicament and was really struggling to get upon his feet when he became aware of hearing laughter and that of his wife mingled.

"You look k k j j just like a grasshopper," she stuttered, and was off again into gales of laughter. Poor guy, he just let out a groan and lay back waiting for the cowboy and his wife to overcome their glee. They then helped him to his feet, but there was one boss who lost his dignity on a thin coating of ice.

One lady told of her brother taking her to the pond to teach her to ice skate. She thought she was doing fine when one foot went one way and the other wobbled.

Her brother managed to keep her in a sitting position but in doing so shoved so hard that she flew across the ice, only to hit the bank with her feet, which threw her to her feet so quickly she had to run to keep from falling. Just as she recovered her equilibrium and looked for her brother, he came flying by in a run to keep from falling. The rest of the crowd was howling with glee.

And the little old lady who ventured out because the sun was shining so brightly. She had been in so long, and found her feet flying out from under her. She leaned so far forward to keep from falling backward that she, too, fell on her face, lucily without any injuries. Struggle as she might, she could not get back on her feet.

"I was never so embarrassed in my life," she said, "why I had to crawl on all fours to get back to the house. I closed the door and then looked out the windows to see if anyone had seen me. That, I will never know, but I do know I will wait until the ice is gone before I go out again, no matter how warm the sun is."

It seems that more than one person met himself coming back on his way to work on Wednesday morning.

You know that since we are Texans, we are supposed to be filthy rich, braggarts and not know the meaning of courtesy. Here is a Texas joke with a different angle.

There were six couples vacationing in Nevada. An automobile accident took the lives of the three men. One was from Washington, one from New York and the other from Texas.

The wives talked it over and decided it would be much less expensive to have their bodies cremated than to send them home.

They were all cremated the same day. The New York man was first, his ashes were put into a quart jar. The Washington man was next and his ashes required only a pint container.

The Texan was last. The door opened. Out walked the Texan, asking for a handkerchief and began mopping his face. "Wow," he said, "if we have two more days of this hot weather it'll ruin the cotton for sure."

TEMPERATURES HIT 6 BELOW

Temperatures nose-dived below the zero mark for the first time in at least nine years this week as bone-chilling cold accompanied by snow and ice gripped the Littlefield area. Slippery streets and sidewalks produced numerous accidents in the area. The mercury, as recorded at Western Cottonoil, dipped to six below zero Wednesday night. It was the coldest gauged there in nine years of record keeping. In the area, some thermometers recorded even lower temperatures. A reading of 10 below was recorded at Olton, along with 8 below at Lubbock and 13 below at Muleshoe. Old-timers said Wednesday night was the coldest here since the 1920s, when they said 17-below temperatures occurred. The cold grip followed a six-inch snow Tuesday night. Moisture measurement for the week totaled .24 of an inch here, making a total of two inches for the year. Besides the accidents resulting because of the weather, the cold made things highly uncomfortable for residents, who kept plumbers "snowed under" with calls of frozen water pipes. As of Saturday morning, the worst on water pipes may have been still to come, because things were warming up enough for pipes to thaw. At least two persons were hospitalized this week after falls on the ice.

THREE STATE COURTS REVERSED

The U. S. Supreme Court reversed decisions of three Texas courts and held a Texas law unconstitutional Tuesday in ruling that the Dumas Independent School District could not levy taxes on the government-owned land and facilities operated by Phillips Chemical Co. at Cactus. The ruling, approved 9-0 by the nation's highest court, brought to an abrupt end a three and one-half year old court fight in which the school sought to prove the firm was taxable for the entire Moore County plant, and not just improvements and production—for which it was already paying taxes. School officials who had not received the full text of the court's ruling Wednesday, were not even guessing in what future action might be taken. Included in the stakes of the case was more than $700,000 in "delinquent" taxes, penalty and interest assessed since March 17, 1950. Specifically, the Supreme Court reversed a decision of Texas' highest court which had affirmed the school district's right to access taxes against Phillips Chemical Co. for the full value of the industrial properties leased from the government in 1948. The federal court had ruled last spring, in a similar case, that the state of Michigan and its political subdivisions could legally impose such taxes. After studying initial reports of the decision, one school official suggested that "maybe Michigan's backyard is cleaner than ours."

GRAIN-SORGHUM SUPPORT UNCHANGED

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has set the national grain sorghum support price again this year at $1.52. The price foretold of another year of marginal profits for area farmers who produce astronomical grain sorghum crops. This established price came as little surprise to most country grainmen although some hope had been held out for general higher price supports due to this being an election year. However the administration is pressing now for even lower wheat supports and no acreage controls in an effort to remove some of the nation's surplus.

The BOOTLEG
—Philosopher

Editors note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm views the farm problem again this week, but whether he sheds any light, is hard to say.

Dear editor:

I read an editorial in a newspaper the other day, I've forgotten the name of the paper but it was from a big city because I remember it was heavy, which solved the farm problem.

This disturbed me because the farm problem has always been something you could rely on, like restlessness in Europe. Regardless of how many other problems were solved, you always figured the farm problem and restlessness in Europe would be around, but this paper said the farm problem will solve itself.

"When so many farmers move to town that the ones left on the farm will have to hustle to raise enough to feed and clothe their town customers, the farm problem will be solved," the editorial said.

However, when I say solved, I mean only in the newspaper editorial writer's mind, not in mine.

In the first place, he implies that the main purpose of a farmer, even one that's not hustling, is to feed and clothe people in town, whereas most farmers I know have as their main concern the feeding and clothing of themselves and their immediate families, with occasionally a son-in-law thrown in.

In the second place, hustling is not the answer for the farmer. It's hustling that has brought on all the surpluses.

And in the third place, if that big city editorial writer thinks when the time comes, if it ever does, when he doesn't have enough food and clothes to buy that that fact is going to make him hustle and work harder, he'd better keep a few acres handy to farm himself in between editorials. This also applies to you. In fact, anybody who is depending on me to work harder when he runs short on food and clothes, had better re-study the farm problem, or at least re-study me.

I know some people consider farming sort of like the post office system, it's a public service institution and you're not supposed to make a profit out of it, but very few farmers subscribe to this idea.

Anybody in town who figures his future is secure because if he ever runs out of food and clothes, I'll work harder, is not taking a practical view of the matter. What'll happen is, I'll work about the same and charge double for what I produce. Then it'll be up to the newspapers, for example to charge double for their editorials. You think they can swing it?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Local Cattlemen Plan
To Attend Convention

45 YEARS AGO

From all over the Plains comes the report that an unusually large number of cattlemen will start next Sunday for El Paso to attend the Cattlemen's Convention next week. Canadian is sending a special car and a band while Higgins claims they will have more than they can get in one special coach. A large number from around Hereford are getting ready to go. Cattlemen all over West Texas have done well the past year and are in good spirits.

Amarillo is sending a big delegation to try to pull the convention for that city next year. Albuquerque, N. M., is also trying to land the convention and the contest is likely to wage warm at El Paso.

Night policeman Ross disturbed a little game last Monday night that was being pulled off at a private residence. Captain Ross and an assistant listened to all the varying fortunes of the game from the outside and after being convinced that the time was opportune the officers entered. They found a game in progress with six participants. As a result of this little visit by the captain, the city coffers are bulging with something like fifty plunkers that would not otherwise be there. The officers are receiving wide commendation for their efforts in trying to rid the city of this vice of gambling.

Young Farmers Have Meeting

The Hereford Young Farmers group held their regular meeting at the Vocational Agriculture building Tuesday night with 18 members present. Jamie Clearman, president, presided over the meeting.

Reports from the constitution and by-laws and program of works committees were heard and approved by the members. With the approval the association is applying to the state association for a Charter. A list of members will be sent with the application.

The Program of Work Committees was divided into four sub-committees. Each member in the Association will serve on one of the following committees: Educational, Leadership, Recreational or Community service.

IT'S SPRINGTIME....

And time to Start thinking about getting your land ready for planting, and of course, one of the first things you need to do is apply an ample supply of Nitrogen to feed the crops to come.

Order your Anhydrous Ammonia now. Of course, there are lots of Agricultural Chemicals available, but when you're looking for Guaranteed Quality, you'll just naturally turn to DOW CHEMICAL Anhydrous Ammonia... the finest Agricultural Ammonia money can buy.

Phone BLANTON BUTANE and place your order early. When the ground dries sufficiently to apply Ammonia, you'll want to be among the first to get your rigs in the field and get to work... so, don't take chances, place your order NOW!

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

This was a love story played out against a background of world strife. In Detroit, bitter strikes dragged on. In Spain, the battlefields became a testing ground for the war that soon engulfed the globe. In Moscow, the Kremlin held mock trials and brutally eliminated the contenders to Stalin's dictatorial rule.

But in the royal palace in England... and No. 10 Downing street, the home of the Prime Minister... urgent conferences were being held over an affair of the heart. King Edward VIII would not be swayed from his purpose. Either he would be allowed to marry the woman he loved, Wallis Simpson, or he would abdicate his throne.

Then came the final moment of decision. Through the medium of radio, Edward spoke to the world. He was giving up his crown for his love.

Remember the year? Well, in that year depression-wise Americans who could afford to buy a new car bought it carefully. They didn't go for fast talk or vague promises.

The year was 1936. Wise car buyers today are just as careful. And we don't try to "fast talk" them. We have the car, the beautiful new 1960 FORD. We have the price, the terms and the trade. Come in and find out for yourself! CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC., 146 E. 2nd-Phone EM4-2727.

SOBERING RIDE
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — County police have found a new way to sober a drunken driver. Moments after officers put a drunk motorist in the back seat of their car another auto sped past. The patrolmen gave chase, stopped the second car, and arrested an escaped convict.

The officers reported they "released the drunk we had in the back of the car since the chase completely sobered him."

AWAY HE GOES!
LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP) — Donald Griffin's car stalled in a supermarket parking lot. Griffin, alone, figured he could fix it if he could work at the engine while having the gas pedal depressed. He put a heavy box on the accelerator, lifted the hood and started tinkering. The car, left in reverse gear, suddenly roared backward, made several wide circles in the parking lot, broke off a parking meter post and came to stop in the street.

Griffin, arrested for failure to have his auto under control, was fined $50.

Stanton First In Happy Tourney

By DONALD REMLING
BRAND SPORTS WRITER

Stanton Junior High's seventh and eighth grade basketball teams combined into one for a successful tournament at Happy. They defeated Hart 59-38, dropped Happy 42-16 and whipped Hart in the finals, 43-23.

In addition to the large first place trophy, Eugene Green and Jim Haney were given smaller trophies after being named to the all-tournament team.

In the first game with Hart, the Dogies led at all the rest stops, piling up large margins. They led 18-7 at the first quarter, 37-14 at the half and 53-22 at the end of three periods. Eugene Green and Billy Hill tied for high honors with 18 points each. Larris had 21 points for Hart and his teammate Stanton had 12.

In the second game, the Dogies played Happy. Again Stanton led all the way with the quarter scores 17-4, 30-8, 37-13 and 42-16. Jim Haney and Billy Hill each dumped in 10 counters for the Dogies while Moudy had six for Happy.

In the finals the Dogies faced Hart and again had little trouble. Eugene Green had 19 points for high honors and Billy Hill had 13 points for Stanton. Larris had 13 points for Hart. The Dogies led at all quarters, 14-7, 24-15, 39-19 and 43-23.

NOVEL BAR
LAKE MOHAWK, N. J. (AP) — Norman Rintoul has built a bar for his game room from the shell of a salvaged motorboat.

The deck supports drinks on a raised "dry dock" stand. Mixes are stored under the seat, a cooler unit is under the deck and an oar is used as a footrail.

BARKING BIRD
COLUMBUS GROVE, Ohio (AP) — When the baby takes a nap at the James Holmes home here, both the dog and parakeet must be shushed. The bird has taken to barking and whining like the pup, Holmes says, and makes just about as much noise.

In 14 football meetings with Memphis State, Mississippi has won each time.

DAWN NEWS

HD Club Sponsors First Aid Program

BY MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY
The Dawn Home Demonstration Club is sponsoring a First Aid Course, which will begin Tuesday evening at 7:30, March 8 in the Dawn School. Classes will be held for two-hour sessions each meeting. These will be held each Tuesday and Thursday nights for three consecutive weeks. Accredited workers from Hereford will conduct the course. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Jerry Beard, senior at Hereford High School, attended the State Distributive Education Convention last week in San Antonio. Jerry entered the business speaking contest at the convention.

F. Y. Morman and A. Petersen of Hereford called Sunday in the homes of H. H. Miller and H. V. McCabe.

Ricki May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin May, has had the three-day measles.

Temperatures went to two degrees below zero early Thursday morning. Light snow blanketed the ground Wednesday morning. Most of it melted with the sunshine on Thursday.

Attendance at the revival services at the Dawn Baptist Church has been good this week even though the weather has been cold.

Visitors Monday night at the services were Charlene Cadenhead, Diane Sluder and Beverly Henson, students at West Texas State College. They provided special music.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heckman Sunday were her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rowe and an un-le, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crowell, all of Amarillo.

Bobby Burrus has joined the United States Navy. He will leave March 16 for basic training. He has been working in Canyon for some time.

Mrs. Kenneth DeHart of Hereford visited Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rea Cox. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin May and sons left Thursday for Oklahoma where they plan to visit several days with her mother, Mrs. Viola Cathey, who lives near Durant.

Dawn Music Club will meet Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ray Polan.

Word has been received this week from the Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Byers and daughters, Peggy Ann and Camille that the family has arrived safely at Lewiston, Ida., where he is serving as Missionary for the Lewis-Clark Baptist Association which includes 3000 square miles in Southeastern Washington and in Idaho.

The Rev. Byers has been pastor of the First Baptist Church in Shamrock for several years and was formerly pastor of the local church.

to Modernize

Living comfort and the market value of your home can both be increased by a well planned modernizing program. Each dollar spent adds more than a dollar to the value of your home. See or call us for full details.

A ROOM ADDITION TO YOUR HOME

Here is one of the best ways to increase living space in your home. It is practical, economical and easy. An average size room addition can be put on your home with no money down.

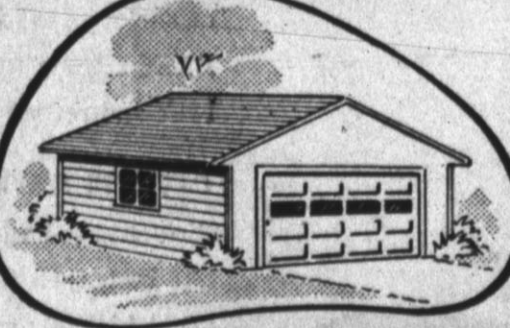

AN ATTIC ROOM

Because much of the framework is already in place an attic room is an economical way to provide extra living space. An average attic room can be built with no money down.

A MODERN KITCHEN

Nothing adds so much to the value of your home, and the pleasure the whole family gets from it, as a modern kitchen. The average kitchen can be modernized with no money down.

A MODERN GARAGE

The resale value of your home can be increased considerably with a modern garage designed for the new, large cars. An average 2-car garage can be built with no money down.
