A 14-year-old Hereford girl, Becky Higgins, showed the Grand Champion steer at the 17th Annual Hereford Junior Livestock Show here Friday.

In doing so, she and her 851-pound Hereford "Buckwheat" returned to what is now becoming a second home for the Higgins family. She showed the reserve champion in the ring two years ago and her older brother, Jim, has placed three previous grand champions and a reserve champ in the circle.

The Hereford from the Jack Renfro herd earned first place in the middleweight division of the calf show before copping the top honor.

Becky is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karroll Higgins of Hereford. Reserve champion honors were claimed by Larry Minks with his 721-pound Hereford "Troubles". The calf was awarded first place in the light steer division before earning the reserve title.

Minks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Minks of Hereford. A member of the Walcott 4-H Club, he has three reserve championships in the Hereford show under his belt, including the reserve title last year, plus a grand champion honor in 1960. Minks has also shown winners in Denver, Odessa and other shows.

Hereford once again earned the title of "The Hereford Capital of the World" during the show as 4-Hers and Future Farmers from the immediate area took the top four spots in all three calf divisions.

It was almost a family affair for three hard working families, as Becky and Jim Higgins, Cheryl and Bill Cole, and Nancy and Larry Minks earned the top spots.

Larry's reserve champion of the show earned the top spot in the light weight division. Claiming second place in the class was a steer shown by Jim Higgins.

Becky Higgins copped first in the middle weight division while Bill Cole exhibited the second place middle weight.

Jim Higgins displayed the top heavy steer, and Cheryl Cole showed the second place calf in the heavy division.

Following is the complete list of placings in all steer divisions:

A DISTRICT PROJECT

Lions Club Sends Glasses To India

More than 6,000 pair of eye-glasses were sent to India from Hereford last week. They are a gift from Lions Clubs in District 2-T1 to the needy poor of India.

It took more than three years from the inception of the idea to the climax Thursday night when Lions volunteers, and some of their wives, sorted and boxed up the glasses for shipment.

The idea began when Don Zimmerman of Hereford, as incoming District Governor, went to the Lions International convention in New York City in 1959. There he met Dr. Moulte, an Indian eye surgeon who had performed thousands of eye operations, some them in the open.

"Dr. Moulte told me that India could use a minimum of 350,000 pair of eye glasses, mostly for those who have undergone eye surgery for cataracts," Zimmerman said.

When Zimmerman got back to Texas, he began visiting the Lions Clubs in the 18th Congressional District. Where ever he went as governor in 1960-61, he mentioned the need for glasses in India. The clubs started collecting them.

Actually, Pennsylvania Lions Clubs took the lead, Zimmerman said, as they started a huge campaign and sent thousands of pairs of glasses soon after the convention.

The glasses are sent to an optical company, which classifies the lenses. Then CARE sends them overseas; where they are distributed as needed. This process is cheaper than the glasses could be made in India.

Last week, Hereford Lions went to a mid-winter con-

Castro, Parmer Lambs Are Tops

Castro and Parmer County exhibitors claimed all of the top spots in the sheep division of the 17th Annual Hereford Rotary Club Livestock Show in judging held Friday.

Deaf Smith County youngsters managed only two placings in the lamb show, while Lazbuddie, Nazareth, Hart, and Vega 4-Hers and Future Farmers earned the honors.

Jerry McKay of Hart exhibited the top lamb in the fine wool division of the show, while Darrell Mason of Lazbuddie showed the best Southdown lamb.

Another Lazbuddie Future Farmer, Morgan Gammon, placed the winning sheep in the Shropshire-Hampshire division of the show. Jerry Delner of Nazareth displayed the first place winner in the miscellaneous breeds class.

Bond Chain Is Illegal; Issue Warnings Here

By Gardner Coillas
Brand Staff Reporter
Savings Bond endless chain letters, like the ones now circulating in the Hereford area, have been denounced by the National Better Business Bureau, the U. S. Treasury Department, and Federal Reserve Banks.

In a service bulletin, the National Better Business Bureau states: "Although gullible participants in this plan may think they are doing the United States government a favor by promoting the sale of Savings Bonds, the United States Treasury Department has decried this misuse of Savings Bonds."

The Post Office Department has declared the scheme violates both postal lottery and fraud laws, the bulletin declares.

In operation, the endless chain letter lists the names and addresses of 11 people and is sold person-to-person. An individual desiring to participate pays the person whose name appears at the bottom of the list an $18.75 bond.

He is also required to send another $18.75 bond to the person whose name is first on the list. That name is then removed, and the new participant's name is written in at the bottom. (Continued on page 8)

Three Below 0 Recorded As New Artic Blast Hits

Deaf Smith County residents were again shivering in zero-degree or below temperatures as the second artic front, within a week dropped temperatures to a three - below reading Saturday.

The front, as it pushed across the area, dropped temperatures rapidly from the comfortable 57-degree high recorded here during the afternoon Friday.

Strong winds and some light blowing snow accompanied the winter storm, but blizzard conditions predicted for Friday night and Saturday failed to develop.

By mid-morning Saturday, the heavy cloud cover over the area had begun breaking up and the sun was shining. Only a trace of snow had fallen.

GRAND CHAMPION STEER at the 17th Annual Hereford Rotary Club Junior Livestock Show was shown by Becky Higgins of Hereford. "Buckwheat", an 851-pound Hereford from the Jack Renfro herd, earned first place in the middle weight calf division and later copped the top honor of the show. Sabin Oral Clinics Open Sunday

The second Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine Clinic will be held here today in spite of the frigid winter weather which brought zero - degree temperatures to the Deaf Smith County area.

As plans for the second clinic here were being made, Hereford Medical Association announced that Type III of the vaccine has been cleared by the Tierra Blanca Medical Association.

Around Town

The garb most of us wear during sub-zero weather wouldn't win any places on the "Best Dressed" list, but it serves the purpose. In the northern states, where such temperatures are to be expected, folks have learned how to dress for cold weather. But no matter how often it happens around here, most of us are forced into a makeshift attire. One winter in Kentucky (and don't let anyone kid you... that's not a southern state!) and two more in Europe taught us how to dress for warmth. The first thing we learned was that appearance had to become secondary.

We would urge your support Monday evening when the Mothers March for the March of Dimes comes calling to your home. The March will start at 5:30 p. m. and residents are asked to turn on their porch lights. The March of Dimes hour-long film will be shown Sunday, Jan. 20, over KFDD-TV at 5:30 p. m. and over KGN-C-TV at 11 p. m.

Mrs. Erika Durham of Hereford, formerly of Germany, got her citizenship papers in Amarillo Saturday. And she was sponsored by another Hereford resident, Ludwig Kovacs, who got his citizenship papers less than two years ago. (Continued on page 6)

Clinics for the third dose of the oral polio vaccine have been scheduled to be held in a five county area — Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer, Swissler and Oldham Counties — on Sunday, March 3.

Two clinics are scheduled to be held here under the joint sponsorship of Hereford Medical Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The clinic to be held at Hereford High School Cafeteria is to be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. At Hereford Labor Camp, a clinic for the camp's residents will be held from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the camp hospital.

All persons in the county from infants to senior citizens are being urged to take the oral polio vaccine. Even those who have had the Salk Polio shots are being urged to participate.

It has been pointed out that older persons and those who have had the Salk shots are relatively immune to the crippling disease.

However, they may still be carriers of polio. The oral vaccine doses, it has been stated, will eliminate this carrier state of the virus disease.

Mothers March For MOD Will Be Held Monday

The traditional "Mothers March" for the 1963 March of Dimes drive in Deaf Smith County will get underway at 5:30 p. m. Monday, Jan. 21.

Because of the cold weather, the women will begin earlier than usual in an effort to get finished sooner. All residents are urged to leave their porch lights burning and to contribute when the volunteer calls.

The Young Mothers Study Club is serving as coordinating group for the various volunteers that will participate. Nell Hunter is club chairman and Mrs. (Continued on page 6)

Also being urged to take the second in the series of the three doses, are those who have not yet taken Type I of the vaccine. Doses of the vaccine may be taken in any order as long as they are taken six weeks apart. After taking Type II, a person may take Type III and then Type I of the Sabin vaccine.

Technical direction of the two clinics will be under Hereford Medical Association which will supply doctors, nurses and pharmacists to prepare and administer the oral polio vaccine.

Administration of the clinics will be handled by Hereford Jaycees with the aid of volunteer workers from the Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter.

Cost of the program in the five county area is being underwritten by Tierra Blanca Medical Association. A donation of 25 cents per dose is being asked to offset the costs. Any excess from Deaf Smith County's share of the costs will be used for participation in worthwhile community projects, according to the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

TEAM STILL TIED FOR FIRST

McGee Sparks Herd Past Cats, 69-58; Lobos Next

Dwight McGee scored 16 points in the second period at Littlefield Friday night to lead the Whitefaces past the Wildcats. McGee's scoring surge helped the Herd to a 24-point second quarter that overcame a Littlefield lead. The Whitefaces went on to win 69-58 and hold onto a share of the district lead.

In other district action, Phillips nudged Perryton 61-50 and Dumas swamped Levelland 53-26. That left Hereford and Phillips tied for first place, while Dumas holds third alone, followed by Littlefield and Perryton, cellar.

Hereford will go south again Tuesday night and is likely to step into an angry herd of Lobos. Levelland will play host to Hereford in their first district meeting of the year. The B game will start at 6:15 p. m. with the varsity tilt slated for 8 p. m.

So far in district, Levelland has been beaten by Littlefield, Phillips and Dumas. It has failed to win a game thus far, but is capable of pulling an upset.

Senior Dwight McGee, a 6-2 forward who is just coming into his own, provided the spark that warmed up a cold Hereford crew.

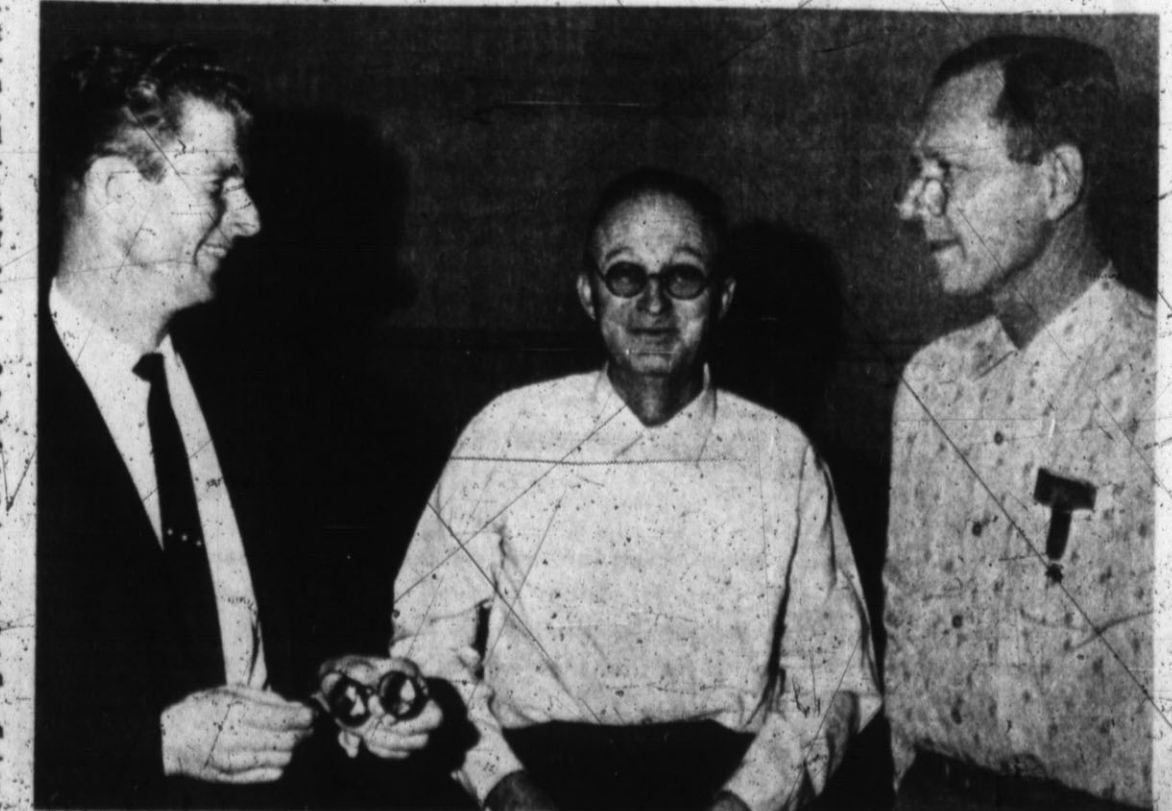

In the first three minutes of the game, both teams missed frequently and the score was tied 5-5. Then Billy Thompson, a 6-0 center who plays the post position like he wrote the book for it, hit two baskets and sent the Cats in front 9-5.

McGee hit for three points and Ronnie Welty got a basket to put the Herd out front 10-9. But Thompson netted two free throws and Gary Fitzgerald hit a basket to give Littlefield a 13-10 edge at the end of the first period.

McGee opened the second period by alternating baskets with Junior Hodge and Fitzgerald. Larry Wood netted two free throws to put the Cats ahead by three points. McGee countered with two free throws, but Fitzgerald converted on a three-point play.

Hereford then came alive as (Continued on page 6)

Traffic Summary Lists 7 Deaths; 51 Were Injured

Deaf Smith County posted its worst traffic safety record in years during 1962 as seven persons died as a result of accidents on highways through the county.

Statistics released recently by Highway Patrol Sergeant Bill Wells, supervisor of the Hereford Area, show a total of 80 accidents on highways and rural roads for the year.

Four of these were fatal accidents and all occurred within a mile of the city limits of Hereford, commented Wells.

Property damage resulting from the accidents is estimated at $48,337 and 51 persons were injured.

These figures released by the Highway Patrol office here do not include fatalities, the number of accidents, nor property damage resulting from crashes within the city.

City figures list two dead as a result of 196 accidents. Both were children.

As a result of the accidents, 44 persons were injured and property damage is estimated at $56,489.74 for the year.

In the accident summary for the year which lists 31 counties in the Texas Panhandle, Deaf Smith County ranked fifth in the number of fatal accidents and the number of fatalities.

According to the summary, Carson County ranked first in the number of traffic deaths with 25 fatalities; second was Potter County with 11 deaths; third, Hall County, 10 deaths; fourth, Farmer County nine deaths, and tying for fifth were Castro, Deaf Smith and Gray counties.

The science room in the new part of Adrian High School was flooded Monday night with water from a burst pipe.

Must we accept federal aid to education just because it's available? This question crossed our mind recently when we read in the news columns of this paper that the Hereford Rural High School District Board of Trustees have voted 3 to 2 to seek federal funds, available under the National Defense Education Act to be used to help purchase of a foreign language lab for Hereford High School. Certainly a language lab would be desirable, and we're wholeheartedly in favor of the installation of this facility. Our concern is not with the need for the lab, but rather the method of procuring funds for its purchase. Granted, it would be easy to accept federal funds for the project, since there are no strings attached by the federal government. The money is allocated by the government and administered by an office of the Texas Education Agency. On the other hand, the citizens of Hereford and Deaf Smith County apparently thought they were financially able to stand on their own two feet last May when they voted a $775,000 bond; a portion of which was earmarked for the above-mentioned language lab.

Personally we like it that way. Realizing of course, that a certain amount of federal aid is already with us, and that we'll probably never again live in a society completely free of government welfare programs and would like to pull our own weight just as long as possible, wherever, whenever and while we're still able, and let the federal funds go to those less fortunate.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hare, long time residents of northwest Hereford, and Rev. and Mrs. John Ferguson left Friday morning for a two-week trip to Monterrey, Mexico, where the Hares have a daughter, Naomi, who is working with the Methodist Mission. The Rev. Ferguson is pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church, Wesley Methodist and the First Methodist Church contribute toward the support of the mission in Monterrey. Mr. Hare says that this will be his first time to leave the continental limits of the U. S., and he's looking forward to the trip with a great deal of enthusiasm. Since he's traveling with the preacher, we'll not worry about him getting in jail down there, but we do hope the whole group has a real nice time.

Corinne Neely has always been one of our favorite people.

She's always ready with a compliment and a word of encouragement when you need it most, and this week is no exception. We received a nice note from Corinne offering congratulations on the Brandin' Iron column and best wishes for success in our new job. Corinne was writing news for the Hereford Brand when we first moved to Hereford and started to work for the paper as a stereotype boy (you can't go any lower) back in 1948, and she understands the problems of the newspaper business about as well as anyone, for back in those days, even our problems had problems. Anyhow Corinne, we did appreciate the card even though the nice comments may not be deserved.

Visited a little while with County Judge Hank Williams Thursday morning at the hospital, where he is recuperating from minor surgery, and learned while we were there that Commissioner Charlie Sewell was also confined. Not in the same room however. Charlie also underwent minor surgery, but both seem to be doing real well and will probably be back home before this column is in print. While we were there we also learned that each and every Commission meeting in the future will be opened with a prayer. We would like to commend the Judge and the Commissioners for this action. We believe that they are sincere in their efforts for better county government, and think this is a step in the right direction. Certainly we could use a little divine guidance in government from the top to the bottom.

This may sound like locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen, but Onias Carroll came by the office the other day and wanted us to let everyone know that they can avoid frozen and ruptured water pipes during these extreme cold spells if they will leave a little stream of water running in the bath tub or lavatory. According to Onias, the temperature of the water coming out of the city lines is approximately 58 degrees and will prevent your own water lines from freezing. Onias may have an axe to grind here, since he spent all day Saturday and Sunday thawing out water lines and cutting off the water where pipes had burst. However, we think it's real good advice, and we'll try to remember when the next cold blast whistles through.

"EXCUSE ME," says Lion Glen Nelson (right) as he tops the Rev. Duane Barrett on the arm as the Kiwanis attempted an under-handed lay-up shot under the basket. The top was hard enough to spoil the opponent's aim and the ball bounced off the rim of the bucket. In spite of little rule infractions like that committed by both teams, the Kiwanis downed the stout-hearted Lions by a 15-6 decision in the Booster Club sponsored game Monday in Hereford High Gym. Home Demonstration Clubs will be hostess today from 2:30 until 4:30 p. m. for a tea honoring Argen Draper, County Home Demonstration Agent. Argen has served as our County HD Agent for the past 16 years, and has probably logged more miles over our country roads than have most of the area farmers. We think she has done a top-notch job with the extension service, as well as with the many community activities in which she has taken an active part. The tea will be held at the community center.

All of which brings to mind a little incident that happened several years ago when the local VFW and Legion Auxiliary girls were selling Buddy Poppies, an annual affair to raise money for their hospital work. Argen's husband "Coon Dog" Draper was approached to buy a poppy...

and of Tom allowed that if the girls could sell Argen a poppy, then he would buy one and pay just exactly twice as much for his as she did. Never one to back down from a dare, Argen peeled off a $10 bill.... and Tom was forced to cough up a $20 or back down. He paid.

Another annual (and successful) Junior Livestock Show has come and gone, and each year we marvel at the efficiency of the folks who organize and ramrod the big event. For the past two years, the local Rotarians have been aided by the Hereford Young Farmers, a group of fellows who can really pitch in and get the job done, and this event has been no exception. Of course there are many local people outside the Rotary organization who help each year, but one of the most faithful has been Virgil Walker, who farms five miles south of town. Don't believe Virgil has ever missed a show.

"Stand back of your lover-rr, false woman," said the infuriated Scotsman after he'd caught his wife in another man's arms. "I'm goin' to shoot the both of ye." Man, that's economy! Have you read the Classifieds?

Coffee And Shower Fete Bride-Elect

A miscellaneous shower and coffee honoring Miss Joy Story, bride elect of Dan William McDowell, was given in the home of Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine on Saturday, Jan. 12, from 3 to 5 p. m.

Standing in the receiving line to greet the guests were the hostess, Mrs. Gillentine; mother of the bride, Mrs. Joe Story; bride-to-be, Joy Story; mother of the groom, Mrs. Ansel McDowell; sister of the bride, Jan Story; Kay Lemons and Helen Sears.

Guest were registered during the calling hours by Kathy Boston and Sharon Whitfill of Dumas.

Music selections played by Miss Susie Woodford were enjoyed throughout the afternoon.

Serving table was laid with a white linen cutwork tablecloth centered with an arrangement of white stock and white button poms in a crystal teardrop bowl flanked with matching candleabra. Appointments were in china and silver with the bride's colors of white and green being carried out in the decorations. Ruth Ann Allison and Janice Atheson from Abernathy presided at the serving table.

Assisting in the houseparty were Helen Sears, Janey Noland and Nancy Martin.

Serving as hostesses for the shower were Mesdames Earl Springer, Howard Beasley, Ira Scott, Jimmie Gillentine, Pat Robinson, Don Martin, H. H. Miller, Dub Hair, Jack Gilliland, G. J. Crump, Ben Childers, Orpha Ciek, Maurice Tannahill, Robert Lemons, Robert Wagner, Jay Boston, Clinton West, Lloyd Sharp, Louis Olson and John Jacobsen Jr.

The wedding of Mrs. Joy Story and Dan William McDowell will be solemnized on Saturday, Jan. 26, in the First Methodist Church in Hereford with the Rev. Hershel Thurston officiating.

Music Club Hears Opening Program On Piano's History

"Keyboard instruments have always been favored because they are easier to play than some other instruments," was the opening statement made of the program, "History of the Piano - Part I," by Mrs. Cliff Estes at the meeting of the Hereford Music Club on Jan. 14. Members met in the home of Mrs. R. C. Godwin with Mrs. Bill Lankford serving as co-hostess.

Mrs. Estes went on to say: "The piano has a fixed pitch. It was an outgrowth of the clavichord and the harpsichord. These instruments did not have much volume and it was always the same. The piano can be either loud or soft - the Italian words, piano - forte, meaning soft - loud."

Also featured on the program were several piano solos: "Fantasia in D Minor No. 23" by Mozart, played by Mrs. Ellis Coombes; "It Is Ordained by Will Divine" and Venetian Boat Song" by Mendelssohn, played by Mrs. A. J. Schroeter; "Waltzing Doll" by Poldini, played by Mrs. W. J. Stanford; "Rhapsody" by Dohnanyi, played by Mrs. Joe Hacker, and "Impromptu in C Minor" by Rheinhold, played by Mrs. Bill Lankford.

Nominating committee reported the following nominations of officers for the coming year: Mrs. B. Y. Crosthwait, president; Mrs. Paul Lyons, first vice president; Mrs. W. T. Carmichael, second vice president; Mrs. Bill Bradley, recording secretary; Mrs. Dale Young, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. W. Roberson, treasurer; Mrs. C. J. Mountz, reporter and historian.

During the business meeting all officers that had been nominated were elected by acclamation.

Those attending the meeting were: Mesdames Bill Bradley, W. T. Carmichael, Ellis Coombes, B. Y. Crosthwait, Bill Dameron, W. E. Dameron, Cliff Estes, Joe Hacker, J. C. McGracken, Frances Parker, T. W. Roberson, A. J. Schroeter, W. J. Stanford, W. T. Thompson, R. P. Conway, J. T. Gilbreath, S. O. Wilson, Mary Carter, Miss Frances Dameron and the hostesses, Mrs. Godwin and Mrs. Lankford.

Ford HD Club Studies About Taxes And Wills

"Inheritance Taxes and Wills" was the subject of the program presented to the Ford Home Demonstration Club on Jan. 16 in the home of Mrs. F. L. Eicke.

Mrs. Argen Draper was the guest speaker to the group. During her talk, she gave the following reasons for having a will: 1. Care for the remaining spouse; 2. Equitable care for the children; 3. Less chances for confusion and uncertainty and; 4. Provide ownership of property that will not lead to inefficient use of property.

Roll call was answered with, "the weakness in our family's financial planning, help I need in personal finance, and group meetings I'd like to attend on personal finances."

Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. L. J. Straufus on Feb. 20.

Those attending the meeting were: Mesdames F. L. Eicke, Luther Norvell, Raymond Smith, John A. Smith, C. R. Stokesberry, L. J. Straufus and a new member, Mrs. C. G. Heard.

go. Too few of us understand what it really means to be an American. But those who have come from other countries certainly are aware of our blessings and our freedom and cherish the name of "American" constantly.

Cub Scout Pack 50 of Hereford will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday, Jan. 21, in the Hereford Community Center. Packmaster Woody McDermitt says the meeting will be primarily a uniform inspection.

Deaf Smith County Red Cross chapter was recognized recently in the National Manager's memo letter for its work in Public Relations. Our congratulations go to the local Red Cross workers and particularly to Ramona Noel of the Brand staff, who is chairman of the chapter.

Herd...

McGee tipped in a rebound and scored again on a fast break with Mike Ferguson getting the assist on a fine pass. Earl Jackson sank a field goal and Hereford was ahead 24-21 with 3:35 left in the half.

Thompson missed two free throws and Hereford hit for six more points. Jim Haney dumped in two free throws, Jackson scored on a fast break and Ferguson hit two more free throws. That made 12 straight points for Hereford in less than three minutes and gave the Herd a 30-21 lead.

Paul Roberts hit two free throws, McGee hit a jump shot, Thompson scored from the field and McGee hit from outside with one second left to put Hereford in front 34-25 at halftime.

Roberts scored to open the half, but McGee and Haney each dropped in baskets and Junior Hodge hit a two-pointer for Littlefield.

Haney and McGee each missed free throws, but Robert Strange increased Hereford's lead, scoring on a rebound, then hitting on a fast break. Roberts and Hodge each hit one free throw, but Ferguson got a basket. That made it 44-31, but Thompson hit from the field and Roberts netted two free throws.

Ferguson hit a free throw, Austin Hodges netted a basket and Ferguson scored on another charity toss. Thompson hit for Littlefield, but Ferguson matched it with a basket that put the Herd in front 50-37 at the end of three periods.

Littlefield tried to rally in the fourth period, but it was too late. Jackson hit on a fast break rebound, which was matched by Thompson. Then Hodge scored on a fast break, Jackson matched that and was fouled for one more point. Ferguson hit a bucket that put Hereford ahead 59-39, but Fitzgerald rebounded for the Cats.

David Dowell hit a basket, but Thompson and Hodge combined for six points to narrow the gap somewhat. Dowell came back with another basket that was matched by Thompson.

Danny Cates broke into the game with a basket and followed that up with a crisp shot on a fast break. Hodge hit from outside, but Cates dropped in two free throws for the end of Hereford's scoring.

In the last 40 seconds, Littlefield hit for seven points on baskets by Wood and Jimmy Zoth. Each of them, along with Hodge, hit one free throw to narrow the margin as the game ended.

Dwight McGee was high for the game with 21 points while Mike Ferguson had 10 and Robert Strange and Earl Jackson got nine each. Billy Thompson had 20 and Junior Hodge 12 for the Wildcats.

BLIND INSPECT BEARINGS

CANTON, Ohio (U)—A special electronic gauge helps blind employees make close measurements and inspections of bearing parts made by the Timken Roller Bearing Co.

The gauge uses sound to tell the inspectors whether the part is usable or offsize.

Other blind employees make sure tools used on automatic screw machines are free of steel shavings.

Mothers...

Bobby Viegel is serving as chairman in charge of securing women for the drive.

The same evening, a Mothers March will be conducted by the Dawn Study Club and the Adrian Study Club in their respective areas.

Among the groups volunteering their services for the Mothers March were the two chapters of Beta Sigma Phi in Hereford.

Campaign chairman Pat Ferguson also announced that plans are complete for the March of Dimes teenage dance, which will be held from 9 p. m. until midnight on Friday, Jan. 25, in the Hereford Community Center.

The kids have worked real hard on this and ticket sales are going real well," Ferguson commented.

He added that final results of the MOD bowling tournament at Sunset Lanes would be known after the finals Sunday night. The March of Dimes coffee day promotion, held in most restaurants and drug stores Saturday, also was successful, he said.

Ferguson pointed out that donations received through the March of Dimes will be used to help care for polio victims and to do research into the crippling effects of arthritis and birth defects.

shattered lenses and sunglasses were discarded.

Each pair of glasses was carefully wrapped in paper and placed in a box. The boxes began to pile up. Some contained 50 pairs, others had more than 200. Spare lenses also were wrapped and boxed for shipment.

"You know, it's not too hard to find old eyeglasses," Zimmerman laughed. "People pay $25 to $50 for a pair and they just don't want to throw them away, even if they know they'll never wear them again."

But Zimmerman said the cold wave last weekend was what really got the shipment started. "I had so many boxes of glasses in my garage that I couldn't get my car inside."

Skypala and Zimmerman agreed that last week's shipment wouldn't be the last. "We'll be shipping glasses as long as we can get them and there is a need for them." Other Lions Clubs have taken up the idea. Some send glasses to the Philippines, where cataracts also seem to be prevalent.

"This has been a lot of work and a big project," Zimmerman said. "But if it would enable five people — no, just one person to see better, it would all be worthwhile."

CASH IN TRASH
FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Francis E. McCalley paid express charges on a $127 auto windshield and told an employee to pick it up from the express terminal platform. City trash collectors arrived first, emptied two garbage cans on the platform and tossed the windshield carton into their truck. It was crushed to smithereens by a 50,000-pound pressure packer on the truck and emptied on the city dump.

Young Homemakers View Money Handling

Texas Young Homemakers met recently in the home economics lab in the Hereford High School for a meeting on Money Management.

Mrs. Wyatt Harmon introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. H. H. Miller. She said, "All ages must learn how to save and budget their money. Watch your utilities and payments on furniture and miscellaneous items. When you buy your groceries, watch the weights, quantity and size."

"When you go clothes shopping, take an inventory of the wardrobes of your family, sew on buttons, zippers and whatever is necessary. In this way you know what you need to buy and there won't be something bought that isn't needed," she stated.

"Learn how to manage insurance and charge accounts. Don't have too much insurance and never overcharge your charge accounts, because your credit is important and it shouldn't be ruined."

Mrs. Miller also added, "Be thrifty, never stingy. Statistics show that the wives spend 80 per cent of the husbands' pay check. A savings account should be maintained and regular deposits made."

A review of the State Convention in Fort Worth was given by Mrs. Howard Hunter and Mrs. David Brumley.

Mrs. J. J. Durham, advisor, conducted a short business meeting after the question and answer period.

Those present for the meeting were: Mesdames Wyatt Harmon, Kenneth De Hart, James Dobbs, David Brumley, Jess Robinson, Layton Sawyer, Larry Dobbs, Tommy Sparkman, J. J. Durham and Howard Hunter.

Bonds...

The new participant then makes two copies of the list and sells them to two other people as the chain continues.

Such lists are reported to be circulating now in Hereford as well as Dimmitt.

Banking officials here are attempting to discourage persons from buying bonds to participate in the chain since it has been condemned by both treasury and post office officials.

Treasury Department policy on the chain letter savings bond scheme was set as long ago as 1955 and was again pointed out in 1957 when the idea was revived.

In a letter to all issuing agents from the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, agents were advised that "the Treasury authorizes and requests you to reject any application for the purchase of savings bonds where the application is made as a part of the chain letter scheme."

The authority for such action by issuing agents is a policy circular stating that the Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to reject any application for bonds of Series E, and "to refuse or permit to be issued hereunder any such bonds in case of any class or classes of cases if he deems such action to be in the public interest; and his action in any such respect shall be final."

A Hereford banking official pointed out Friday that banks and the Post Office are doing a legitimate business and are selling the bonds as a public service.

This savings bond chain letter is strongly disapproved by the government, he continued. Selling of bonds for such purposes tends to jeopardize legitimate bond sales.

According to postal regulations, chain letter schemes, including those involving use of the mail, are considered in violation of postal lottery and fraud laws.

Although participants in the chain letter pass the letter from person to person without using the mail, sending a bond to any person on the list is a violation of federal law.

It was pointed out Saturday by Hereford Postmaster Nolan Grady that if any person sends a bond through the mail, all on the list may be prosecuted.

Becky looked over the calf crop, but was slow to find the calf she felt would fill the bill. After over 20 calves had been selected from the herd, Becky made her choice.

"I picked out this one," she recalled after learning that Buckwheat had been selected as grand champion. "He was a skinny little runt of a calf that nobody else wanted."

Now, it's a different story. The calf is no longer one that no one else wants... and whether you choose to call it luck, woman's intuition, or just plain good "cow sense," Becky Higgins had the best calf at the show.

Persons found guilty of the offense can be fined and/or jailed for violating the postal law, he warned.

It is also pointed out in the NBBB bulletin, that since the number of persons interested may soon be exhausted in the community, the mail may have to be used to keep the scheme alive.

The bulletin also stated that investigations are being made when these schemes come to the attention of postal officials. Whenever there appears to be a violation of the fraud and lottery statutes, the matter will be referred to the Department of Justice for possible prosecution.

Rev. Wingert Discusses Needs For Counseling

The Rev. Russell Wingert was the guest speaker for the Hereford Study Club when it met on Thursday, Jan. 17, in the home of Mrs. Edd Wilson.

"Counseling and Guidance" was the topic that was presented on the program, on which was emphasized the importance of counseling in everyone's life. He stated, "Everyone, regardless of how important, needs counseling at one time or another. When our emotions get the best of us, we are in trouble and we cannot see the real problem. One goes to a counselor for affirmation, inseparable, frustration, indecision, problem situations, moral support, getting it out, guilt and confessions."

He went on to say, "Pre-marital counseling is very important to make a good marriage; but is not practiced as a general rule. Many couples could save many heartaches, if at the end of six months or a year, they would meet with their counselor and evaluate their marriage."

Understanding, communication, sharing experiences, consideration, common responsibility and mutual trust are among the things a counselor tries to help a couple achieve. One must have experience, frankness and trust to be a worthwhile counselor.

Hostess for the next meeting on Feb. 7 will be Mrs. Maurice Tarnahill.

Those attending were: Mesdames Marvin Knox, Art Stoy, Dick Gholson, Baxter London, Garland Solomon, Merlin Kaul, Walter Hodges, J. W. Witherspoon, R. N. Yarbrough, S. L. Garrison, Tommie Braddy, Maurice Tannahill and Miss Gladys Setliff, also speaker, the Rev. Russell Wingert and hostess, Mrs. Edd Wilson.

Girls Find Friends Can Be Too Frail

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of three columns about the author's experience as a teenage girl who befriends a lonely, old woman hitch-hiking across the country.)

By Mona Jette
Helga had a job. She was temporarily employed as a dish washer at the Texan Cafe and in the days that followed, Wava and I all but moved our beds into the kitchen of the restaurant. We neglected homework, band practice and memorizing our Rainbow secret work to spend every free moment with her.

We would sit for hours, perched on the high metal stools in the kitchen as we watched Helga wash mountains of dishes. (I suppose one could call this a clue to our characters, since we WATCHED instead of helping. But then, it was HER job; we weren't the ones trying to hitchhike to New York.) When she wasn't washing dishes, her gnarled fingers were busy with a knife stripping the skins from potatoes and cutting them into neat strips for french fries. We got some dirty looks here, too, because we probably ate more of the potatoes than ever appeared on the hungry customers' plates. Wava and I crunched our way through bushels of crisp raw potato strips, oblivious of Helga's yearning glances at our strong young teeth. Thinking about it, I imagine she found it a bit hard to "crunch" with her smooth, unencumbered gums.

Helga turned out to be quite a philosopher, discoursing for hours on a variety of subjects in her fractured, lisp-like English. Her favorite subject was her husband, who had died in a fishing accident shortly before her son brought her to the States from Denmark. She never called his name, but always referred to him as "my man". He may have been an obnoxious brute who beat her regularly with a length of rubber hose, but since all she had left were her memories, they were going to be good ones. Her tales fell just a trifle short of glory.

Her tales fell just a trifle short of glory.

She could talk forever about America, constantly reminding us of how lucky we were to be Americans. We heartily agreed, since we considered her the ultimate authority on the subject. After all, she was the one who idents and described what should be done to aid injured persons.

Those present for the meeting were: Mesdames John Smith, Harold Morton, Gerald Martin, Joe Whitley, Bobby Owen, Bill Lankford, Eugene Sparks, Dean Herring, Joe Locke, Ben Gollehon, James Brownlow, Joe Brooks and Richard Pickens.

man See America Campaign

Helga lived in the past, a past where she was still young and pretty, with rosy cheeks and a flaxen braid trailing down her back as thick as her arm. A past where "her man" still worshipped her and where her son still depended on her. Even so, she was amusing, appealing, adorable, and so pathetic I wanted to burst into tears every time I looked at her.

The days sped by. And the world, to Wava and I, was the kitchen of the cafe, at least until we were rudely yanked out of it by our mothers tracking us down. Then the afternoon came, when we rushed home from school through our shortcut of vacant lots and alleys to find Helga gone. The regular dishwasher stood in her place in front of the stainless steel sink.

Mr. Conley sat at a table drinking a cup of coffee. In unison we asked, "Where's Helga?"

He looked at us with sorrowful eyes and raised his coffee cup to his lips for a long sip. Surveying us thoughtfully over the cup's rim, he finally said, "In jail."

"In jail?" Again in unison, only louder.
"My regular man came to work this morning and I had to let Helga go," he explained. Then his face turning red, he jumped up and began pacing around the kitchen, flapping his arms up and down with odd movements as he walked. I fought back an irresistible urge to giggle. He looked just like the Kitty Hawk taking off on an experimental flight.

Suddenly, he whirled. "You girls may as well know," he yelled. "She's in jail because she was tanked up!"

We stared at him dumbly, our mouths hanging open like first class morons.

"Do n't you understand?" (Yelling louder.) "Stoned! Intoxicated! Soused!"

"You mean drunk?" Again, in unison. With a third party, we could have given the McGuire sisters some stiff competition.

Mr. Conley made us sit down as he began to relate the story.

When Helga had arrived that morning, he had explained to her that his regular employee was back and he paid her for her four day's work. He had forgotten about her during the morning rush. Then, just as the dinner rush had started, a commotion in front of the cafe caught his attention. He heard horns honking and people shouting and he ran out the front door expecting to see a collision.

What he saw was Helga, right out in the middle of Main Street and Highway 80, stopping the busy noon traffic. She was dancing around in circles, throwing her legs out in drunken abandon and singing at the top of her lungs. But as the sheriff's car drove up, she collapsed like an unstrung puppet on her pasteboard box suitcase, crying her heart out.

"And there's no sense in you two barging down there to haul her out," he said. "I just talked to the sheriff and he said they had sobered her up and taken her out to the city limits. She's gone."

Wava and I just looked at him, then turned and walked out into the warm autumn sunshine, waving a sad goodbye to Wava's father and to our philanthropic dreams that had dissolved in an alcoholic mist. Without exchanging a word, I knew that both of us felt poorer, but infinitely wiser, and totally disillusioned.

Today, I still think of Helga. No longer do I remember her with disappointment, tinged with contempt. I know now that she only displayed a trait common to every human being—weakness. And when I think of her, I see her cavorting gaily down Main Street in an ecstasy of intoxication, finally gaining that which she craved so desperately from the only place she could find it. From a bottle.

I wonder how many other policemen have escorted Helga to their town's city limits and sent her on her way since that day years ago? I would like to take them aside and whisper in their ears:

Please be kind. Once she was young and pretty. Once she had a man who loved her.

She even had a son. An ungrateful one, perhaps, but still her son. She doesn't want much. A nice word... a friendly smile. Her needs are the same as ours. After all, don't we all want to be loved?

Pete Plank Gets Bored If There's Not Enough Work

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth in a series of articles being written for the Brand by Pete Plank of Hereford. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plank of Dawn is nearing the end of a six-month stay in South America as a member of the International Farm Youth Exchange program.)

By Pete Plank
I am now living 20 miles northeast of Salto in a Portuguese settlement. It is now Sunday afternoon and everyone is taking a siesta. I am really homesick at present. I haven't done anything all week. If they let me work, I am all right but when there is nothing to do I sure do get bored.

The farm where I live is 520 acres. The family only rents the land. They have 60 milk cows (Holstein) that they milk once a day, which is in the morning. All of the milking is done by hand. One of the neighbors has a pickup and he takes his milk and the milk from this farm and two others to Salto, which has a population of about 50,000. They don't take the milk to a milk plant but each dairy runs all over town selling its own milk. You may see five or more milk men going down the same street. Most of them use a horse and cart.

The farm here is real hilly and I sure don't like that. It is dryer than the "devil" and there isn't any grass. The pastures are covered with a brush that is similar to the mesquite in our country. This sure is a poor country. The wind has been blowing all day from the southwest and this reminds me of home.

I went to a cattle auction here at Salto and because it is so dry calves like we like to buy, weighing around 400 lbs., are selling for four dollars. Sure wish I could load up a boat load of these and move them up our way. Would also like to bring home some of these hired hands to work for 80 cents a day.

They still have a little wheat to cut. My host father said three of our days. I asked him how much they had cut and he said three - fourths.

I found out later that they only had thirty - five acres to start with. Wheat sells for around four dollars a bushel here.

in Uruguay and they smuggle a lot across the border into Brazil because it is higher there.

Most of the farms here raise oranges, peanuts, corn, wheat, cotton, olives, vegetables and grapes for wine. This country is a little better than Canelones but not much. They plant the peanuts by hand but plant the corn with a planter. I still can't believe that they plant so much stuff by hand. I sure wish I could cultivate their crops here, just once.

I walked into my room and guess what was setting in the middle of my bed - a chicken, and she lays eggs there too. I helped butcher a calf for the 4-H club. They are going to sell the meat during the New Year Fiesta as a money making project. The Fiesta which I attended last night was quite nice. I enjoyed it because it was the first time I could really converse with a large group at night. It has been quite difficult to converse after night because I couldn't see the lip movement of the person to whom I was talking.

I think my family in Artigas helped my Spanish more than anyone because they really gave me a bad time, all of the time. I felt more at ease last night than I ever have before. If I can keep "cool" I can really talk. Knowing their sign language and the movement of the hands is half of talking. I am learning my fifth language. I have learned Canelones - Spanish, Italian, Artigas - Spanish, Indian - Portuguese, and here at Salto, Portuguese. It will be necessary for me to learn English when I return.

The telegraph, telephone, railroads and slaughter houses are all government - owned. Shipping costs are high and the railroad facilities are very old and poor.

The people here just went wild over the pictures I received of the snow. They have never seen any snow. (These "darn" chickens, I have to keep chasing them out of my room.)

This moving from one family to the next is quite a challenge. You find different conditions in all families. My last family in Artigas I enjoyed living with very much because they worked. This present one doesn't do very much and I am bored to death. They have seven hands working here and all they do is milk the cows. We get up at five o'clock and milk the cows. I milk seven of them. When we get through we have coffee and then we sit and sit.

For the past week at about 9:30 or 10 we get up and go down to the pasture where they are putting in a pressure pump. It is 50 feet deep and it has taken us all week to put the pump in and I don't think it will work when we finish. They don't have the same size pipe all the way up and they plan to run it with a tractor off a belt pulley.

I visited a cotton company yesterday. They raise 308 acres of cotton. They have two soil specialists and they work 50 people all of the time. During harvest they use 150 people to pick the cotton. Since they do not have a gin here all the cotton is taken to Montevideo to be processed. Some of the other farmers around here have one or two acres of cotton. I knew our country's agriculture was good, but I didn't know how good.

I am going to have to have both my boots and shoes half soled. I didn't know I did so much walking, perhaps it is from walking the floor.

I received a letter from the American Ambassador's office this morning asking me to visit the agricultural school here and exchange ideas with the faculty. I don't know what

Honor Argen Draper For 16 Years Service

By Ramona Noel
Brand Society Editor

In appreciation for the past 16 years of faithful service as Home Demonstration Agent of Deaf Smith County and surrounding areas, Mrs. Tom (Argen) Draper is being honored by members of the Home Demonstration Clubs of the county with an Appreciation Tea. This tea will be held on Sunday, Jan. 20, at the Community Center from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

One of the outstanding features that makes Argen Draper stand out among the crowd is her enthusiasm for everything and everyone around her. Her love for life is revealed through everything she does.

Before coming to Hereford in February, 1947, she served as Home Demonstration Agent in Canadian. In all she has served in this field of work for 20 years, with 16 years of them being here in Deaf Smith County and the area. When Argen took this job it was only on a temporary basis, but it turned out to be a long temporary job.

Argen recalls the days when she first came to Hereford. "It was right after food rationing. The only pavement was on Highway 60 and south to the Castro County line. I guess some of the biggest changes since I have been here are the rural electrification, rural telephones and population growth."

When coming to this county she helped to organize the Choral Club, Home Demonstration Market, Roultry Division of the livestock show and the Ceramic Club.

In the Extension Service through the years, have been the leadership training and county program building. Through both of these methods more people have been reached, which is one of the purposes of the service.

Argen's article of "Focusing on the Financial Facts of Life" that was published in the Extension Service Review in July, 1962, has reached more than 7500 people through this publication. Honorable Wright Patman of Texas in the House of Representatives read into the Congressional Record, Volume 108, Argen's program on Good Money Management and Family Economics Developed in Texas.

Even with all the work that is put into her job, Argen still finds time to belong to organizations just for herself. She is the past president of the American Legion Auxiliary, past matron in the Order of Eastern Star, awarded the Grand Cross of Colors in the Order of Rainbow for Girls, member of the 8 et 40, member of the V.F.W. Auxiliary and member of the Central Church of Christ.

Besides the service that Argen renders through being the Home Demonstration Agent, she also works and helps in many ways where she is needed, such as the Red Cross, Credit Union Education Committees and the United Fund.

Argen's good work has not gone unnoticed or unrewarded. In 1957 she was awarded National Recognition by the County Home Demonstration Agents Association of Texas. Friends and organizations in Talking to several that have known Argen for all the 16 years and some that know her just as a neighbor express many wonderful statements in describing this outstanding woman.

Mrs. H. L. Hershey — "I have worked with Argen through all the years that she has been our agent in this county. She is always enthusiastic about her work and inspires everyone who knows her. Club women are always inspired when she brings the programs at club meetings, as they know that they will receive something that will help them in their homes and community."

Mrs. Corrine Neely — "We have exchanged many programs through the Home Demonstration Clubs and Red Cross all these years. She is chairman of the foods committee on the Red Cross Disaster Plan. She has always been interested in First Aid. Argen is a nice and agreeable person to work with, diplomatic, a good planner and conservator of time and the best executive of anyone that I know in the county."

Melvin Young — "In describing Argen I would say that she is one of the most wonderful persons that I know. Also I'd like to add she would have to be, to have put up with Tom all these years."

Mrs. Frank Robbins — "I have known Argen more as a neighbor than as anything else. When meeting me on the street in Hereford or Amarillo she always speaks and knows me. It gives me a proud and good feeling that I am fortunate enough to know her."

community is receiving a world of fine education and opportunity that is being given by Argen."

Hugh Clearman — "In working with Argen for 11 years while I was County Agent I found that if there was anything to be done she jumped in and got it done, and also, I have never met a more dependable or better worker anywhere than Argen."

Tom and Argen look at one of her many scrapbooks.

Also, the Simms Community House and the Garcia Community House have come into being since she has served the county. Both the Bippus and Ford Community Houses have been remodeled. One of them was being used as a hired man's house and the other was used as a headquarters for a group of boys on Sunday afternoons. Through the urging of Argen these two buildings were cleaned up and remodeled and are now in use for club meetings.

A very small 4-H membership was here in this county and now there are ten active clubs with 144 members. Argen is particularly proud of the state awards that have been won by the 4-H members from here in Deaf Smith County. Some of the present 4-H'ers are children of 4-H'ers that she had in club.

Through the years of growth of Hereford the number of Home Demonstration Clubs has also been growing. Right now there are 12 HD Clubs with approximately 200 members. Two long-time members who started out in active club work with Argen have held State and District offices with the Texas Home Demonstration Association. Mrs. T. J. Parsons is serving as District Director with the T.H.D.A. for four years and Miss Roberta Campbell served as editor of the Messenger.

After the increase in clubs, Argen had to have some help in order to give the clubs the attention that they deserved. She has had six assistants with five of them being trained by her. Some of the biggest changes

Hereford gave money in order for her to go to Chicago to receive the award in person. Also she was selected as Citizen of the Year in 1957 and has written the H. D. Chatter column in the Brand for about ten years. She said, "This column has been good for me. It has helped me in more ways than one."

About 1500 miles is traveled every month covering the various meetings. In the past 16 years she has worn out eight cars and burned innumerable gallons of gasoline.

In describing the things that have given her most pride through the years, she recalls, "Most of them are intangible, such as the family relations courses that help homemakers to have peaceful homes. It is a pleasure to hear from former 4-H girls that write to tell me how much their training has helped them to be good homemakers and mothers. I haven't done this alone, not by a long shot — everyone has helped. I am very grateful for all the help and encouragement that I receive every day from the people that I work with."

When walking into the home life of Argen Draper there is a genuine feeling of a happy and comfortable relationship that exists between Argen and her husband, Tom. All the hours and work that Argen has to put in to her job does not seem to have interfered with the happiness that prevails with both of them.

Argen presents a club program, which she has prepared.

JUST A GENTLE NUDGE from L. J. Clark of the Lions (second from right) was all it took to send the ball flying from the fingers of Dr. Dale Wynn of Kiwanis. The loose ball was picked up by "Hero" John Gilliland, also on the Lions team, who went flying, more or less, down court. At the right is another Kiwanis team member Ralph Owen.

Dogies Take Wins Eight And Nine, Try For Tenth

Stanton Junior High School eighth graders wrapped up their eighth and ninth victories during action last week to put some of the finishing touches on their season package which consists of only one loss.

Dogies tie the final bow on their parade Thursday evening at Plainview's Coronado Junior High. In their final game of the year, the Dogies will be hunting their tenth win. The eighth graders take the court immediately after the seventh grade tilt which gets underway at 5 p. m.

A win at Coronado would be partial revenge for the Dogies' only loss of the year, a 33-34 edge out by Estacado Junior High of Plainview.

Last week the Dogies racked up the Canyon Eagles by 27-22 on Thursday night, and then clobbered Gattis Junior High of Clovis to put a nice end to the week's action.

Dogies had little trouble in quelling the opposition during both contests. Against the Eagles, who behaved more like sparrows, Stanton managed an 11-7 lead after the first quarter, but then left their visitors behind at 18-12 by half time.

Everyone on the squad had a chance to get in on the action against Canyon. Jim Allison led Dogie efforts with nine points, while Billy Franks, Bill Watts, and Brad Johnson all tossed in six. Mike Davis grabbed three points for Stanton, and Larry Noland, Felix Albiar, and Roger Suttle hit for two while Gene Duvall added one.

Dogies moved to a 11-9 lead, and then left Canyon far behind. With little effort, the Dogies commanded a 26-17 advantage entering the final round and then went on to the 37-22 win.

But Stanton racked up an even more decisive win over Gattis Junior High of Clovis here Saturday afternoon. The Dogies outdistanced Gattis by 23 points with a staggering 42-29 victory.

Little doubt concerning the VISIT FROM WASHINGTON. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. LaPlant from Arlington, Wash., were visitors in the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Markley. They also visited with friends in the Easter Community and Hereford. Other visitors in their home were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bradford and family of Warden, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. Olin LaPlant and family from Liberal, Kan.

outcome of the game was necessary, as Stanton rampaged to a 15-2 summit after only one quarter of play. Larry Noland led the first charge with nine points, and then put in four more during the remainder of the game to claim scoring honors with 13 points. Allison distributed 12 points throughout the game, as Gene Duvall netted seven.

Billy Frank tallied six points for Stanton and Bill Watts contributed four.

Federal Aid To Education Poses Two-Sided Question

There is an old saying that every citizen should serve on the school board, city commission or county commission, the idea being that actual experience on these boards helps one to more thoroughly understand some of the questions which arise. To say the least, it soon becomes obvious that you cannot please everyone.

More specifically we hear considerable discussion of recent school board action in acceptance of federal funds for the new language lab. Hereford never has approved of federal controls, especially in schools, although we presume that the cafeteria program and some other phases of our school already fall under the plan. Expansion of federal aid will, without doubt, lead to ever-increasing federal controls.

And to look at the other side of the picture, we admit that it does sound just a bit foolish to pay our part of the federal taxes — and this we do regardless — then refuse federal assistance on these programs.

This is apparently the question faced by school board members, and the fact that the decision was made on a three-to-two basis indicates that the board also viewed the circumstance with mixed emotions.

If every school district in the nation would put its foot down and refuse federal assistance, there is no doubt but that the threat of federal control of our schools would no longer exist. However, the very existence of other giant federal aid programs indicates that this will not occur. They also indicate that the federal government, having failed to move in through legislation, has decided to adopt the same old plan we have seen so often in so many other fields.

Needless to say, when you consider the tremendous amount of federal taxes collected within the Hereford Rural High School district, the government is really giving us nothing; instead, they are returning a small portion of what is left following administration costs and distribution to other schools.

Let us also remember that schools in the United States are not exactly like any other operations, chiefly because we promise every youngster in the nation a chance to secure a good, sound education — and in some places, it is logical that taxes will be required from more prosperous communities to carry out this overall operation.

There is also the question of "How long can our community hold out in the face of other community acceptance?" Throw in the fact that one can conscientiously defend his opinion on either side of the question, and you pretty well realize how the school board members felt when they voted on the measure.

Summed up, we would say the federal subsidies to our schools is a good example of "creeping socialism." There is another old adage which says, "Do not cut off your nose to spite your face." If we had to vote, we would vote against accepting the subsidy, but we definitely recognize the right of those who voted for the measure in Hereford. The best thing evolving out of the whole situation is the fact that we do have a school board which discusses all phases, carefully weighs all angles, then votes in what they consider the best interests of the people.

We hope that this American heritage will be continued for years and years to come. Much longer, in fact, than we anticipate.

Critical Sugar Supply Could Be Eliminated By Added Farm Acres

American housewives are likely to be paying for more sugar within a month or two, unless something drastic happens within the next week.

This rather ridiculous situation has come about in this manner. Much of the nation's sugar is imported in "raw" form from other countries. The current strike of longshoremen along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts has kept this sugar supply away from East Coast sugar refineries, which take the raw sugar supply and refine it for commercial and domestic use.

Officials of these sugar companies admitted last week that their warehouse supplies of raw sugar are dangerously low. Some of the refineries already have been forced to close. Others say their supplies will last only another week to ten days.

Some slack can be taken up by companies which have refined sugar stockpiled in their warehouses. But these supplies will last only a month or more if the refineries have to close.

The situation is less critical on the West Coast, which is not affected by the dock worker's strike.

But this situation should never have arisen in the first place. Three years ago, when the bearded ones took over Cuba, the United States bought most of its sugar from that country. Congress finally gave the president the power to stop purchasing sugar from Cuba.

This was done, eventually, and anxious American farmers thought they might get a chance to raise more sugar. Every effort was made to convince Congress, the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Department that this would be a wise move, both in insuring a constant source of sugar for domestic use and in allowing American farmers to produce something that was needed rather than crops that were already in oversupply.

But this was too simple. The federal government insisted that Cuba's sugar quota should be spread around the world, to improve our trade relations with other countries and thus guarantee their friendship. Cuba's quota was split up among more than a dozen nations, including Mexico, Belgium, the Netherlands and others. American farmers, crying desperately for increased sugar production, got not one pound of Cuba's old quota.

Meanwhile, America was getting almost half of its sugar from Hawaii, the Philippines and Puerto Rico. But all three of these so-called domestic sources lie across hundreds or thousands of miles of water from the mainland. It was thought at that time that a war, with shipping perils, would endanger our supply of sugar here.

But it didn't even take that to cause a possible sugar shortage. All it took was a strike along the coast. The ships can't arrive. But they can't be unloaded. Until the strikers decide to return to work, that sugar won't reach anyone's sugarbowl or supermarket. It might as well be back in one of our "friendly countries."

We know now that our sugar supply can be quickly, and effectively, cut off. It wouldn't be necessary for us to face such a shortage if American farmers were allowed to produce more sugar. Had this been considered two or three years ago half of the country wouldn't be faced now with the shortage that is likely next week.

Poll Tax Best Buy In World

Nine more shopping days, and it will be time to get your poll tax. Remember, too, that the tax office is closed on Saturdays as well as Sundays.

There is nothing which outweighs this duty and privilege for the average American — and we cannot think of a single thing which has not already been said on the subject. Yet we feel sure that many people right here in Deaf Smith county will overlook the opportunity.

Probably the best thing would be to imprint the purchase on your mind — and make it a point to visit the tax office bright and early Monday morning. To say the least, this $1.75 represents the biggest bargain in the world today and only you as an American can make the purchase.

We're Ready, Just Say When

Intersections Unavoidable, But Traffic Accidents Are

(Editor's Note: This article, prepared by the Texas Highway Patrol, is being brought to the attention of Deaf Smith County motorists due to accident statistics released by the Highway Patrol and Hereford Police Department. During 1962, seven persons lost their lives on county highways while two deaths were recorded within the city. For the county as a whole, there were 286 traffic accidents, resulting in 95 injuries and an estimated $100,000 property loss.)

LET'S FACE IT! Intersections are unavoidable; however accidents at intersections are avoidable if you are absolutely sure that the road ahead, and to each side of you, is clear.

Often you see drivers who poke the front end of their vehicle out into the intersection and go through a fast "bluffing" routine to beat the other driver across.

This type is not hard to spot. The front ends of their vehicles are usually ornamented with bent fenders and smashed headlights. A lot of these drivers have awakened in hospital beds, and many will wait until the "judgment" day to waken.

The defensive driver knows he might cross a hundred or more intersections in a normal driving day. He or she knows that the monotony of stopping, or slowing down everytime he approaches an intersection, is nerve-racking, but he or she also knows that a careless moment or slip on their part could be fatal.

If they want to avoid accidents, they soon get in the habit of treating every intersection as the most dangerous one in the world.

It may be impossible to look four ways at once, but that would be one way to cut down on a lot of intersection accidents. You can do just as well with two eyes if you are sure you have allowed enough time and distance to get across the intersection safely.

At controlled intersections there is no reason for anyone causing an accident. The traffic light or policeman is placed at the intersection because it is hazardous.

This should be a warning enough for any driver, but there is always the careless driver who insists on "jumping" the green light and "jumping" right into trouble.

Motorists can prevent intersection accidents by these:

1. Give correct arm signals for lane changes, turns and stops
 2. Obey speed limits
 3. Stop completely at stop signs
 4. Drive in and turn from the proper lane
 5. Observe passing regulations and no-passing zones.
 6. Yield right-of-way to pedestrians and also observe mid-block crosswalks
 7. Exercise special caution at railway grade crossings.
- Most of all, one should drive defensively, anticipating what other drivers and pedestrians may do.

BUILDING RECORD SET

Building in Canyon approached the $5 million mark in 1962, second in this part of the state only to Amarillo. This figure includes $720,000 worth of construction in the Greater Canyon area — subdivisions and areas just outside the city and almost certain to be annexed soon. Canyon had almost twice as much construction as third ranking Hereford with $2,690,805 — a city which incidentally set itself a new all-time building high. Perryton ranks fourth with two and a quarter million dollars worth of building for the year. Percentage-wise, Canyon grew twice as rapidly as did Amarillo last year. Amarillo construction came to $39 million. Total taxable and non-taxable construction in the Greater Canyon area came to $4,725,694. Construction permits issued during 1962 for building inside the city limits came to $4,005,694. That's $2,775,170 above 1961 — a 69 per cent increase. This figure includes some $2,865,000 in non-taxable building in such areas as West Texas State College, the new Canyon Elementary School and churches in the city.

PHONE FRANCHISE RENEWED

At a meeting of Texico town council members Friday, Wally Harmon, manager of the phone company in Clovis, and Dick Britton, former manager, met with town fathers to discuss the franchise which the company has with the town. After some discussion, the franchise was renewed with minor changes for a 25 year period.

THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE (Farwell)

COURT HEARS HOSPITAL SUIT

Another episode in the long story of Ochiltree County's hospital suit was recorded Tuesday in the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo when the three-judge tribunal heard arguments from the principals in the case. An 84th District Court jury awarded Fort Worth architect the sum of $13,912.50 in a suit concluded last year. The county filed an appeal in the Court of Civil Appeals and the hearing was set for January 8. Ochiltree County had submitted a brief setting forth nine points of reversible error. The three judges, including Chief Justice James G. Denton, and Justices Alton Chapman and Ernest Northcutt, will review the complete record of the trial and render a decision at a later date. At least a month is expected to elapse before the court will hand down a decision.

CITY WATER RATES HIKED

Littlefield city water rates are higher this week for customers who use more than 10,000 gallons a month after the action taken by the City Council at its regular meeting. The price boost is from 20 cents per thousand for the amount used over 10,000 gallons. Rates below are unchanged. This water is costing more than 20 cents per thousand to deliver, City Manager J. W. Harrison told the council in a review of water utility operations. The 25-cent rate will be a cost figure and may be even below cost, Harrison pointed out. But the new price will help to keep the department on a better operating basis, he added. The city ordinance incorporating the new rates passed its first reading last Thursday and was up for final reading and approval at the regular session Jan. 17.

LAMB COUNTY LEADER

LAKE IMPROVEMENT SCHEDULED

A complete lake renovation program scheduled for Lake Pauline in the spring calls for a total kill by rotenone of all the fish in the lake and a complete restocking with game species. The program will take from one to two years. When the project is completed, local and area fishermen will be able to point to Lake Pauline as one of the fishing spots in all West Texas, a title it wore proudly and without competition through the 1920's and 1930's. The project will be directed by L. J. Peters, Canyon, Texas Game and Fish Commission fish biologist, in cooperation with the West Texas Utilities Production Engineer, E. W. Hamilton of the Abilene Office. Cost of the entire project is estimated to run between $8,000 and $10,000.

QUANAH TRIBUNE - CHIEF

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his blindfold farm joins the tax discussion this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor:

In nearly every newspaper or magazine I've gotten my hands on lately there has been a bunch of articles on the prospects for a tax cut this year.

According to the experts, a tax cut will stimulate business, increase capital and initiative, and produce more rather than less revenue for the government in the long run. I don't know how this will work, but if the government believes it can get more money out of me by taking less, I'm willing to enter into the experiment.

As I understand it, the present income tax system is riddled with loop holes and a drive may be made by Congress to close them up. My position is that I'm in favor of either closing them or having them pointed out. I'm opposed to all loop holes. I don't know anything about and can't take advantage of.

However, I have given the tax cut idea some thought and I'm afraid the experts are victims of a blind-spot. They're spending all their time on Federal tax cuts, which everybody is in favor of, but when the rate goes down on the Federal level, what's going to keep it from going up on the state and local level? This advanced idea that a government can get more revenue by taxing less may not have trickled down to the lower levels yet.

It may take years for Congress to unsmother the present income tax regulations, but in the meantime I have a handy solution to fide us over. Just give everybody a ten per cent cut in his taxes, from top to bottom. I guarantee I will take my ten per cent and stimulate business with it.

I know a lot of people will say all we'd be doing is piling up a debt for our grandchildren, but what makes you think our grandchildren won't be smart enough to have grandchildren of their own?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Hereford Edges Clovis During Overtime Battle

A group of Stanton Junior High School seventh grade cagers and their supporters must have felt as if it took the ball a long time to travel the distance from Jimmy Childers' hand to the basket Saturday afternoon.

The shot garnered everyone's attention as it slipped through the net, for only after it had finally made it could the members of the Stanton Dogie seventh grade cagers breathe a long-awaited sigh of relief.

Dogies remained undefeated as a result of the tally. But it took four full quarters of play plus two full overtime periods before the Dogies could edge Gattis Junior High of Clovis.

The free throw in the final seconds of the second overtime was the only score Childers tallied during the game, but it was good enough to end the game with Stanton leading 23-22.

Johnny Cornelius and Gary Goodin paced the Dogies during the game, however, leading scoring with six points each. Jerry Fowlkes and Sidney Shaw both hit for four, and Cliff Crowell scored two.

Dogies jumped to a 5-3 lead after the first quarter, but Gattis retaliated to claim a 9-8 margin at the half. Cornelius hit four during the third quarter to help put Stanton back on top, 15-12.

But Clovis cagers ripped in six points in the final round to tie up the game as the fourth quarter closed.

During the first overtime period, both squads scratched one field goal and the buzzer sounded again with the game still knotted at 20 - all. Gattis tallied a field goal to match the Dogie score in the second extra period, but a free throw gave the Dogies the win.
