ASC Committee Election To Be Held On Sept. 19

The Deaf Smith County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for next year will be elected by farmer-chosen delegates to a county convention, Thursday, Sept. 19, at 9:00 a.m. in the ASCS office, according to Frank Bezner, chairman of the ASC County Committee.

The convention will be open to the public and any interested person who would like to observe the voting procedure may attend, said Bezner. Only farm delegates to the convention may participate in the election process.

A candidate for the ASC County Committee must be a resident who is eligible to vote in Deaf Smith County. He must also meet other eligibility requirements.

It is desirable that the delegate be a representative of the type of farming in the county. Other details as to eligibility can be obtained in the county ASC office, he added.

ASC farmer delegates are urged to be present at the meeting. These farmers were chosen as convention delegates at recent ASC community committee elections.

The final deadline for ballots to be cast in the selecting of community committeemen is Sept. 12. The ballots must be in the ASC office at this time. The ballots will be counted Sept. 17.

Second Foreign Exchange Student Registers At HHS

by Larry Fuhrmann
Brand Staff Reporter
Hereford High School's second exchange student, Sergio Bravo, began registering for the coming school year on Thursday.

The Chilean student arrived in Hereford Wednesday night.

Sergio's year of study in Hereford High School will not count toward his graduation.

"At the present, I have completed one-half of my senior year and will complete the other half when I return to my home next year," explained the exchange student.

Sergio is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Luis Sergio of Concepcion, Chile. His father is a medical doctor and his mother is a housewife. He has only one sister, Claudia, who is nine-years-old.

Stamp collecting and dancing are Sergio's main interests. Along with numerous school activities, this keeps him busy when at home.

"Although I have never been in the United States, I do have some relatives here. I have an uncle who lives in Washington and some cousins in New York and Ohio," he said. Sergio pointed out that the schools in Chile and the United States are quite different. "At home the students go to school at 8 a.m. and get out about 6 or 6:30 p.m. This includes a two-hour and 10 minute period for lunch. Since the noon meal is the main meal of the day, all students go home for their lunch.

"In our schools, the students do not have any choice of the subjects which they will take. Last year I took biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics civics, psychology, history, Spanish, English, French, music, art and gym. I do not have each of these classes every day, but only a few hours each week for each course."

The teachers in Chilean schools, he added are the ones who move around. All students remain in their respective classrooms for the entire day, and the teachers change classes.

The school year in Chile begins March 15 and ends a few days before Christmas, he pointed out. There are several holidays during the year, he added. Students do not attend class on Wednesdays or Saturdays afternoons, and are off Sunday.

Burglars turned safecrackers as they opened a safe at Boynton's Grocery, 1308 Park Ave. sometime during the night Wednesday. The safecracking resulted in a $2800 loss to the Hereford business firm.

According to Hereford Police Department, the safe door was peeled and lifted from its hinges. After it was opened, contents were strewn about the stock room in the rear of the building.

The loss is the first major safecracking in the city since the break-in at Cooper's Market three years ago.

Officers investigating the break-in reported that a number of boxes and sacks had been loaded with groceries, cigarettes, socks, and household articles.

A box of groceries was found at the front door, several were at the rear entrance, and another at a gate leading to the rear of the building.

After the safe was opened and the money taken, officers stated the other loot was left behind.

According to Hereford Police Department, persons entering the building, broke a lock off of a chain link fence which surrounded the rear of the building.

They then used what appeared to be a nail bar or wrecking bar to force the lock on a door at the rear of the firm.

After entering the building, the burglars then began collecting groceries and clothing, loading it in boxes and sacks. All were taken to the rear door of the firm, officers believed.

As they were preparing to leave the building with the loot, officers theorized, they discovered the safe in a stock room. It was pulled from the wall, steel front of the door was pried to the lock, and it was lifted from its hinges.

An employee of a machine shop, located next to the grocery store, told police officers that he thought he heard noises in the building next door about 10 p.m.

He stated that he went to the back door and looked outside but saw nothing.

After ransacking the safe's contents, some $2800 in coins, silver dollars and currency was taken.

Included in the loot, was a collection of silver dollars and receipts from both Tuesday and

Whitefaces Lose Opener To Tulia Hornets, 22-0

Tulia Hornets struck quickly in the opening minutes of the season opener here for a score and added two more tallies before the half to down the Hereford Whitefaces 22-0.

However, the Whitefaces defense contained the speedy Hornets backs as Eugene Green defensive linebacker, sparked the defense in the second half and Tulia backs found him charging through the line to dump runners before plays could develop.

Sophomore halfback Walter Williams also added to the offensive effort of the Whitefaces as he swept the ends on the option for much needed first downs.

While the first half clearly belonged to Tulia, the top rated team in 2-AA, its offensive efforts were grounded by the Whiteface defense in the second half. The Hornets only made one first down during the second half.

Even though Hereford found running room after the half, it could not score, and both teams battled up and down the middle of the field.

The game opened with Tulia winning the toss and electing to receive. Mike Northcutt received and brought the ball out to the Tulia 36-yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage, junior halfback Jeff Tucker picked up six yards, then John Howell, senior halfback, skirted end for a three-yard gain.

Jim Arnold, fullback, picked up five more with Frank Hooper keeping on the next play for another five yard gain.

With 9:41 left in the first quarter, Arnold found a hole in the Whiteface line and out-distanced the Hereford secondary for the first Hornet score.

Howell added two more points on the scoreboard as he plunged over for the points after touchdowns.

Taking the kick-off, Steve Hodges, sophomore back for the Whitefaces received on the 20 and picked up eight yards on the return.

Frank Cain, on the first play from scrimmage for the Whitefaces threw his first pass of the night, but it sailed over the head of end Lynn Cook.

Ronny Duncan was then thrown for a five-yard loss and on the next play Cain was only able to gain eight yards. Hereford punted.

With the ball on the Whiteface's 48, Arnold slashed off tackle for a nine-yard gain. However, it was nullified as the quarterback fumbled and took a 14-yard loss on the next play.

The Hornets senior 160-pound fullback then broke loose to the Hereford 22 with Neal Lueb, senior tackle, hauling him down from behind.

Hooper then faked and carried the ball to the 11 yard line for another first down. However, on the next two plays, the Hornets lost yardage as Tucker was trapped for a six-yard loss and Arnold lost three.

Hooper fumbled on the next two plays with Hereford taking over on its own five. Jim

SPEED MERCHANTS!

The little lady will pass them all with her bedroom telephone... every time!

Across town or across the continent, there's no faster way to get from one place to another than by telephone. Just spin the dial and seconds later you're talking.

This almost "instant" communication is made possible by a continuous flow of service improvements.

Modern equipment automatically guides your call to its destination. If one voice pathway is busy, electronic equipment routes your call another way—in fractions of a second.

These and many other improvements add up to greater speed, convenience and reliability. Our never-ending goal is to improve your telephone service and make it more valuable to you.

Making telephone service better to serve you better.

 Much of this free time is spent in study, however, Sergio commented.
 Sergio said that another difference in our schools is that all students in Chile are required to wear a uniform to school. He wears a suit with a white shirt and tie each day.
 "We are not allowed to bring cars to school because there is no parking area," Sergio noted. "Students do drive their cars off the campus, however. A teenager must be 18 to obtain a drivers license in Chile."
 Students at Sergio's high school participate in extracurricular activities with soccer as their main sport. Secondary school students also help tutor children in primary grades during their extra time.
 All children in Chile are required to complete four years of primary school. The government is now, however, working to set the minimum at six years, said the Chilean student.
 "Most of the students do not work at jobs as do many of the American teenagers," commented Sergio. "Our time schedule is usually occupied with school activities."
 "My family does not have much group activity," the youth commented. "In smaller cities people usually mix only with people their own age. My father, Luis, is a very active member of the Masons along with about ten other such clubs. He is a former president of the masons in our city. My father is the director of the University of Concepcion and also is the director of my high school," explained Sergio.
 Mrs. Bravo is very active in an organization which consists of the wives of the Masons. She volunteers her work to an organization which helps teach crippled children.
 According to Sergio, 35% of the people in Chile live in apartment type dwellings. The rest live in their own homes, of which many are rented. The homes in Chile are very similar to the housing in the United States. The Bravo family lives in a large two-story house.
 The main difference in the Bravo home, compared to an American home, is that there are separate quarters for servants. The family has one maid, whereas many wealthier families may have two or three. "The maid in our household does almost all the duties of house-keeping. She does the cooking, cleaning, babysitting, and anything else that needs her attention in the house. She lives in the same house with us," he said.
 Sergio commented that students in Chile do have quite a bit of homework. Most students spend a good part of their Saturdays studying. Doing homework does not require just two or three hours, but all afternoon and part of the night as well.

 "Somehow, though, they have gotten the curious idea that perhaps in the field of Chamber of Commerce effort they might be able to approach our level. It is obvious that they are mistaken but in the narrow area of this contest, net dollars gain in membership support during a one week competition, they could give us a run if we relax.
 "I will expect every team member to bring in three new members. This will put us well beyond Dumas hope of attainment. We are, and will remain Texas' most Spirited City!"

That's right. You will never have to polish this shoe. That's because the vamp is of amazing Pattina—a material that looks just like patent but can be brought to a spit-and-polish shine by washing it with a damp cloth. We didn't believe it until we saw it. But now we're recommending this style as the perfect children's shoe. Come in and ask for Buster Brown's "wash-and-wear" shoe.

Athletics De-Emphasized In Texas Public Schools

For as long as we can remember there has been a segment of American tax payers who have opposed athletics in high school and, finally, it looks as if they may have their way in the matter — but for reasons highly different from those which they have always advanced.

High school athletics, according to Hereford Coach Jack Meredith, has already undergone considerable surgery, at the hands of interscholastic League officials, and indications point to still further amputations. Coach Meredith, in fact, went so far as to predict high school athletics may well become intramural, rather than interscholastic.

As an example, schools are not allowed to provide vitamins and pre-game meals for high school players, while training periods have been shortened to two weeks before opening games. Coaches and other administrators protest this situation on grounds that players should be healthy and in the best of physical condition in order to best avoid injury. Both factors, of course, would place the athlete in a position to turn in a better played game. Another proposal considered by the League is elimination of play-offs. When a school completes its schedule, the boys would hang up their suits and forget the sport, regardless of what sort of record they made for the season. Elimination of district, regional and state games would, no doubt, do more to de-emphasize high school sports than any other step we can imagine.

This sort of thinking will no doubt come as a shock to thousands of Texas sports enthusiasts and Booster club members across the state. Without doubt, it is a question which presents more than one side.

While football, for instance, has been glamorized and perhaps frequently over-emphasized, it also trains hundreds of young men to face life and everyday problems more efficiently. The only trouble — and we presume this is basic thinking of the League officials — is that the sport is conducted on a tax-subsidized basis, but fails to include more 40 or 50 of the 800 to 900 students enrolled in high school. And while we have never observed the practice in this area, there is little doubt but that some schools have been over zealous in recruiting and rewarding players.

Still other schools may have been prone to over-emphasize athletics in the use of large staffs of coaches, occasionally perhaps at the expense of other class progress. Because many coaches double in the role of physical education directors, some may have also been known down through the years to have favored and spent more time with favorite and potential athletes than the average youngster who showed no possibility of making the football or basketball squad. Such things, to say the least, are bound to have entered into formation of some alterations and changes coming out through interscholastic League.

On the other side of the question are such items as school pride and general public interest in athletics, especially football, basketball and baseball, which draw the largest crowds seen in Hereford and other towns, this size during the entire year. Take away athletics, and you will undoubtedly take away a tremendous amount of interest in public schools and in school affairs.

Most of us like to feel that we are giving our children the best potential in the world for education and advancement, but if we eliminate all of the "sugar coating," it is only logical that many students will find school drab and dull to the point that compulsory education enforcement will become a greater problem than it is today. To our way of thinking, these factors are far more important than the minority who benefit from actual play and experience in the contests.

And finally, we have the problem of encroachment, this time by state rather than federal authorities. Observers have noted constant intervention by state officials in Texas schools since the Gilmer-Aiken plan was adopted some years back. We can expect more and more as time passes. What's more, they are getting smart. Like communist infiltration into democratic nations, they are beginning to select the weak points for entering into local operations.

High school athletics has opened the way. We can only wonder where the next move will come?

Which Is First, Chicken Or Egg?

Hereford is growing. This is a fact about which no one will argue. Consequently, none of us should be surprised that we are once again plagued with familiar aches and bruises of "growing pains."

To be specific, we have in mind the recent announcement concerning a 10 percent hike in water rates — and we will be even more surprised if other costs innovations do not follow. We hear rumors of forthcoming bond issue proposals on the city front from time to time — and when you check Hereford's expansion, it is only logical that a new series of revenue bonds should appear.

The raise in city water rates merits consideration in view of the fact that Hereford still maintains a comparatively low rate in contrast with other cities in the Plains irrigation district. The commission centered their boost on higher bracket users, which we should appreciate for several reasons. In the first place, Hereford's minimum rates were already more nearly in line with other towns than those of the larger users and if faced with extreme difficulty through the raise, domestic consumers can certainly lower their usage standards. Commercial users seem to be still in a highly competitive position even following the raise.

It all boils down to the fact that growth does cost money and, as the town grows, we can only expect it to follow the trends we have already faced in the growth of schools. Right now the whole country is faced with its most drastic socialistic trend in history — and someone has to pick up the tab. Because our government is composed of "the people," these same people are the ones who will ultimately pay the bills, regardless of what level the rising expenses occur.

Ancient Sport Beginning Of Modern Day Football

No game demands more teamwork strength, courage and alertness or provides a more thrilling spectacle than football — king of autumn sports in the United States.

It's a safe bet that few games have as lively a history. Football is an ancient sport. A game called harpastum was played by the Spartans as early as 500 B. C. In this game a ball was kicked, passed, or carried across the opponents' line.

Strikingly similar to a modern football was the follis, used in Roman games. It was made of leather and inflated with air.

Area Teachers' Institute Held Recently In Canyon

The teachers institute held last week at Canyon was largely attended there being 77 teachers present, with Randall county in the lead with 28, Deaf Smith with 21 representatives, Parmer with 17, Oldham county with 6 and five other counties with one each. Prof. D. A. Shirley of this city was the presiding officer and Supt. Hodges of Farwell, secretary. An important resolution adopted at the close of the session was to the effect of asking the cooperation of other adjoining counties and the division of the work of the annual institute into departments. The institute was held in the splendidly equipped buildings of the West Texas Normal and a profitable time is reported. Those from Hereford public school were: Misses Anna Brown, Zolzie Garrison, Maggie Avent, Hortense Russell, Meda Woodburn, Frances Dameron, Mrs. George Garrison, W. T. McClung and D. A. Shirley.

A number of young people of Hereford have entered the West Texas Normal at Canyon. Among the number are: Misses Mary Gallagher, Annie Price, Jennie Wyche, Bessie Helen and Cotta Sisk. Of the boys, there are: Earl Lust, and Jim Lipscomb.

10 YEARS AGO

A total of 2,029 students had enrolled in the Hereford schools through noon Wednesday, according to Superintendent George L. Graham.

Top enrollment was in the first grade, which has 260 students, and lowest is in the 12th which has only 102. There are five children who were put in the class for exceptional children, and five students at the colored school.

Enrollment by grades is as follows: First, 260; second, 196; third, 175; fourth, 216; fifth, 209; sixth, 169; and 12th 157.

Eighth, 149; ninth, 148; 10th, 133; 11th, 106; and 12th 102.

A walkie-talkie radio for the Hereford Police Department was approved by the City Commission at its meeting Tuesday night.

Approval was given when the commissioners were told that the portable radio unit will serve to give the officer who is checking store doors radio contact with the patrol car. The radio will also be available for the use of other city departments when it is needed, City Manager Cecil Massey said.

but evidently was propelled by foot, not by hand and arm.

A game called calcio, a modified form of harpastum, enlivened medieval tournaments in Italy. The players, 27 on a team, used line and backfield formations similar to those of football today. Princes, soldiers, and "the noble ladies and the people" cheered for their favorites.

A brawl-like kind of football was played in England as early as the 10th century and by the 12th it had become a national problem. The game was making London a bedlam. In addition, it was diverting yeomen from archery, the sport that fitted them to defend England. Hence football was banned by municipal laws and royal edicts beginning in 1365 when Edward III decided to prohibit the game for military reasons.

Football was not fully reinstated until the 17th century when Charles II allowed many diversions formerly prohibited. A survey published in 1602 recorded that goals were set three or four miles apart and two or three parishes united to play others in games that sprawled over the countryside.

The sport began to take definite form at boys' schools. Some even drew up rules. These allowed the ball to be kicked, but not carried, toward the goal.

One November afternoon in 1823, something strange happened at Rugby, a famous boy's school. The score was tied in a football battle between two class teams. Dusk was settling. Suddenly a player named Ellis "with a fine disregard for the rules of football as played in his time took the ball in his arms and ran with it" across the goal line. The score was not allowed.

The event made history, however, and began Rugby football from which the American game is directly descended. A tablet at Rugby commemorates Ellis' exploit.

By 1863 the new game of Rugby had become very popular. Those who clung to the old idea that football should be played by kicking the ball met in London and formed the Football Association. Thereafter this game was known as "Association football" or "soccer" a jumbled abbreviation of the word association.

Soccer still holds to the pre-Rugby style of game and uses a round ball. The ball, after being put in play, may not be carried or touched by the hands or arms, except by the goalkeeper. It is advanced chiefly by kicking and dribbling with the feet. A goal is scored when the ball is kicked underneath the crossbar of the goal posts.

Rugby, the parent of intercollegiate football, is little played in the U. S. In the British Isles, however it is so important that disputes over rules are taken before an international board composed of representatives from the Rugby Unions of England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland.

THE BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed grass farm seems a little puzzled this week. It's not the first time.

Dear Editor:

There are a lot of things I don't understand. For instance, those European countries in the Common Market have raised the tariff on American chickens, and the U. S. is thinking of retaliating by raising our tariff on things we import from over there, like perfume and wine.

Why wouldn't it be quicker to set up a tariff on foreign aid? For every dollar we send them, charge them a quarter. As Benjamin Franklin would say today, a quarter saved in one place is a quarter spent in some place else.

Or take the airlines. I read the other day that the Civil Aeronautics Board has proposed that the annual subsidy to airlines be reduced from 84 million dollars to 54 million. The airlines object, saying the reduction will reduce air service.

You mean to say the airlines are no smarter than farmers and have been living off of government hand-outs? If airline owners can't make it without government help, why can't they give it up and get a job in town?

On top of this, another article I read listed the grants to municipal airports throughout the country, running into the millions of dollars, about 75 million for the current year. As I understand it, the government gives this money so the cities can improve the runways, buy more land to make longer runways, improve the roads leading to the airports, etc.

It's hard for me to see the difference between a city's taking government money to patch a runway and a farmer's taking money to build a terrace, but this is because I can't see the difference between stand-on-your-feet farming and municipal improvement, although city papers have been trying to hammer this into my head for years.

Also, I read an article in a big national magazine the other week on how much pork barrel money the government is spending, and I wanted to write and ask that magazine how much subsidy it was getting in the form of low postal rates, but I was afraid the magazine would ask me how much it would have cost me to deliver my letter from this bindweed farm to New York in person, instead of getting the government to do it for a nickel.

When it comes to denouncing government help, it's hard to find a man to throw the first rock, although I will undertake the job if the government will pay me to do it.

Yours faithfully,

oval and may be advanced by carrying, passing and kicking. It differs notably in having 15 men to a team and in placing a higher premium on field goals. Football probably was brought to America by the English colonists who established Jamestown in 1607, Compton researchers point out. An inflated pig bladder usually served as the ball for these early games. Women played, too, because throwing and passing were more important than kicking.

Early in the 19th century, football games were played at Harvard and Yale to determine class supremacy between freshmen and sophomores. The "games" were hardly more than mass rushes and "slug fests." In 1860 authorities at Harvard and Yale ended these brawls and Harvard students held a mock funeral for "Football Fightum."

An important step toward making football a recognized sport was the organization of the Oneida Football Club of Boston in 1862. The founder of this "first organized football club in the U. S." was Gerrit Smith Miller.

The first American intercollegiate football game grew out of rivalry between Princeton and Rutgers. On Nov. 6, 1869, the contest took place at New Brunswick, N. J. and Rutgers won 6 goals to 4. The game was played with 25 men on a side. A few days later Princeton won at its home field, 8 goals to 0, but rivalry between the two colleges became so bitter that school authorities forbade a third and deciding game.

In 1875 Harvard and the McGill University Football Club of Canada introduced the Rugby principle of running with the ball. The two teams played part of one contest under Harvard soccer rules and the remainder of the game under the Rugby rules of McGill. Rugby impressed Harvard players so favorably that they decided to abandon what was called the "Some-what sleepy type of game" then played.

In 1876 the right to run with the ball was generally recognized. In 1873, the University of Michigan challenged Cornell and arrangements were made to play at Cleveland, 30 men on a side. The proposed game never took place because Andrew Dickson White, then president of Cornell, ruled: "I will not permit 30 men to travel 400 miles to agitate a bag of wind."

In 1880, Walter Camp, the "father of American football" persuaded the rule makers to reduce the number of players on a team from 15 to 11 and to replace "scrum" with scrimmage, whereby the ball was put into play either by kicking it or snapping it back. The position of quarterback was also created in 1880.

In 1882 Camp introduced a rule calling for surrender of the ball to the opponents if the ball had not been advanced at least 5 yards in three plays. This was the origin of the 10 yards.

In 1896, A. A. Stagg helped organize the Western Conference or Big Ten which pioneered in setting up and enforcing eligibility rules and amateur standards.

In 1901, Fielding H. "Hurricane" Yost, football coach at the University of Michigan produced a famous team built around a freshman, Willie Heston, which scored nearly a point for each minute of play. It amassed 550 points in 11 games and kept its opponents scoreless.

In 1906 the rule makers revolutionized the game by barring all mass plays and introducing the forward pass which led to a more open style of play.

More spectacular than either Stagg or Yost was Glenn S. "Pop" Warner who took over the football team at the Carlisle Indian School in 1899 and subsequently introduced the unbalanced line with single and double wing backs to create what was called the "Warner system" of play.

Professional football started at Latrobe, Pa., in 1895, the National Football League was formed in 1921 and in 1960 the American Football League began play with teams in eight major cities.

Miss Sandra Wester Is Bride Of James Cotton

In a double ring ceremony on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 1, in the Central Church of Christ, Miss Sandra Ann Wester was married to James L. Cotton. Eugene Fooks, minister officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wester, 111 Bradley and Mrs. J. L. Cotton and the late Mr. Cotton of Mineral Wells.

Wedding vows were exchanged before an archway formed by toured seven-branched candelabra containing white tapers and entwined with emerald greenery. Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums stood at each side.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Dale Young sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because" was sung by Marvin Crowson. The Central Church of Christ wedding choir sang "O Promise Me" before the ceremony, "Faithful and True" as the bridal party assembled, "Wedding Prayer" and "Be with Us, Lord" during the ceremony, and "Oh, Wondrous Love" as the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white slipper satin fashioned in princess style with pouff sleeves of Chantilly lace. The gown was made by the bride's sister, Mrs. S. R. Cox of Dallas. Long gloves of slipper satin buttoned to just below the sleeves.

The bridal veil of fine illusion descended to fingertip length from a headpiece of veil-swathed white roses. She wore a necklace of white pearls and carried a cascade of white roses. Miss Sandra Campbell was maid of honor. She wore a dress of American Beauty Rose and a matching hat of fabric roses and net and carried a bouquet of pink Victorian roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Rowland, Miss Barbara Pulliam, Miss Wilma Higgins, all of Hereford, and Miss Diane Davis of Irving. Their dresses and headpieces were light pink, and they carried bouquets of "Better Times" roses.

Candlelighters were Miss Kay Owens of Fort Worth and Miss Linda Brooks, both cousins of the bride. They wore dresses and corsages of dark pink. The ring bearer was a niece of the bride, Miss Dana Marie Jones of Lubbock. She wore a dress of white cotton satin and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Bob Davis of Irving served his cousin as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were brothers of the bride, Stuart Jones and Barry L. Jones, both of Lubbock, a cousin of the bride, Frank Wester of Hereford, and Scott Toby of Mineral Wells.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Wester wore a turquoise sheath dress with brown and beige accessories. Mrs. Cotton wore a beige dress with black accessories. Each wore a gardenia corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony guests were received in Fellowship Hall. They were registered by Mrs. Dan Wall. Those who served were Mrs. Stuart Jones of Lubbock and the bride's sister, Mrs. Delores McCabe of Lubbock. They were assisted by Mrs. Edgar Telchik; the bride's sister, Mrs. Douglas Powell of Hartley, and her aunt, Mrs. Curtis Owens of Fort Worth.

For the wedding trip to Mineral Wells, the bride chose a suit of avocado linen with beige accessories. She wore the corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Cotton is a graduate of Hereford High School and worked in Dallas for an insurance company before her marriage. Her husband is a graduate of Mineral Wells High School and attended Weatherford College.
