Armed Robber Gets 35 Years

Jury Ponders 35 Minutes

By Gardner Collins
Brand Staff Reporter

A guilty verdict was returned and a sentence of 35 years in prison was set as the armed robbery trial of James Wiley Wimberley, 27, of Olton, drew to a close here Thursday in 69th District Court.

As District Judge Harry Schultz read the verdict rendered by the nine-man, three-woman jury, the defendant sat expressionless beside his court-appointed attorney, Bob Porter of Dumas.

Sentencing of the 27-year-old Olton man was scheduled for June 5 in a session of the court here.

The four-day trial was climaxed as the jury returned its verdict here at 4:45 p. m. Thursday. They had deliberated for only 35 minutes before reaching a decision.

It is expected that an appeal will be filed in the court as Wimberley is sentenced. No statement as to the grounds upon which the appeal will be based has been issued by the defense.

Plans Complete For Pioneer Day Gathering Friday

Several hundred persons who can recall when cattle were more numerous than people and irrigation was just a pipe dream will gather in Hereford Friday to recount their earlier life.

The occasion will be the annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day that is scheduled for May 31. Registration will begin in the Hereford Community Center at 9 a. m. with the annual meeting starting at 10 a. m. President Fred Baird will be in charge.

At noon there will be a basket lunch. Drinks and dishes will be furnished.

The time after lunch will be devoted to visiting and renewing old friendships.

"We are looking for a big crowd this year," stated Will Harris, attendance chairman. "And we want all of the old settlers to be with us again this year. If you know of any pioneers who live in other places, please contact them and let them know about the meeting."

Nunley and his wife also identified the articles which they said were taken from their home at 811 Irving during the robbery.

These included a transistor radio, four pistols ammunition, three cameras, some money, and a pair of binoculars. All this was introduced as evidence.

Also included in the 23 articles introduced by the prosecution were two weapons used by the pair as they allegedly forced their way into the Nunley home.

As the morning session ended with the close of testimony, the trial was recessed for noon and the charge to the jury was drafted.

Following the reading of the charge during the afternoon, both the District Attorney Bill Hunter, and defense attorney Bob Porter gave their closing arguments.

In both his opening argument and rebuttal to the defense attorney's statements, Hunter stressed the seriousness of the incident after reviewing briefly the testimony.

"We assume that in this county," he told the jurors, "that a person is secure in his home. Crimes committed in our homes are much graver than those committed outside. It is even recognized by the government since the death penalty can be asked."

He then asked for a "very, very heavy punishment."

In his argument to the jury, Porter, the defense attorney appointed by the court, attempted to discredit the testimony of Nunley.

He opened his argument stating that there "was something silly about this case."

He continued pointing out that Wimberley was not a professional criminal and a person who does not go out to rob. He added that it was not apparently for a thrill.

"It is always a puzzle to me why people take this means to get money," he argued. "It has all the earmarks of the depression. In time of economic distress such things can be expected to happen in the world."

Wheat Harvest Forecast Is Below-Normal Yields

Prospects of a below normal yield for wheat in the coming harvest were told by grain elevator employees and operators as the harvest season approached for Deaf Smith County.

Harvesting of the 1963 crop, they agree, will begin about the middle of June.

Cause of the "below normal" harvest was blamed on lack of moisture during the fall and winter months coupled with extremely cold temperatures.

During the early spring, hot, dry winds also caused extensive damage to the 1963 wheat crop.

The outlook for dryland production is not good, say area grain men. Most of the wheat in those sections of the county has already been plowed under.

Wheat remaining on dryland is not expected to produce not more than 10 to 15 bushels on the average.

Prospects for irrigated wheat are much better. However, yields are expected to average 35 only bushels to the acre.

One grain elevator operator remarked: "When you speak of yields on acreage harvested, 35 bushels is a conservative figure. But, when you figure acres planted, it isn't much."

He continued pointing out that production for the county will be half of what it was a year ago.

Another elevator employee stated that "35 bushels of wheat per acre are as much as could be expected on the average."

As the predictions concerning the harvest were being made, farmers and grain men were concerned with the weather. With the thunderstorm season here, one area was hit recently by a damaging hailstorm which caused extensive damage to crops in the southwestern part of the county.

Damage to wheat in the Summerfield area and northeastward toward Harrison Highway ranged from only moderate to a total loss.

Prospects for the 1963 barley crop were very dim. Much of the crop in the Dawn area was frozen out and grain sorghum is being planted in its place.

Around Town

BY M. A. TUCK

With a variety of all tastes, the weather has been weird this week. It has been cold, hot, wet, dry, cloudy and sunny. We understand that exchange student Heather Gordon was called by her family when they arrived in London last Saturday. They asked about the weather and was told that it was hot. They called again Monday from New York and were told it was cold. The only consolation we can offer the confused Gordons is that such variety is the usual thing in the Texas Panhandle, which is the reason many of us like it here.

School is out now, to the relief of almost all concerned. Even those who said they would feel nothing but satisfaction upon being graduated seemed a little misty-eyed during the school song. The big problem now is keeping the youngsters occupied and out of mischief. I wouldn't care to return to the "good old days" at all, but they had some merit so far as youth employment was concerned. Nowadays, the labor laws have pretty well taken care of many jobs which the younger boys used to handle.

Little League president Ted Higgins announced a make-up game for those which were rained out last week. The minor league and major league games which were washed out last Thursday will be played Wednesday, May 29. Starting at 6 p. m., the Yankees meet the Cardinals and the Giants contest the Orioles. At 8 p. m. Wednesday, the Yankees play the Giants in a major league game that was postponed from last Tuesday. And on Saturday, June 1, the major league Giants and Dodgers will square off at 8 p. m.

Hereford Lions Club will sponsor a public auction on Saturday, June 1, starting at 8 a. m. in the Hereford Bull Barn. Everyone is invited to consign articles, which will be sold on a commission basis. Either used or new articles may be submitted any time Friday afternoon or all day Saturday at the Bull Barn. Auctioneers will be T. G. Hudson Jr. and Joe Yodanis, both of Clovis.

Adults still may enroll in a free Homemaking Workshop, which will be conducted by the high school home economics department. If you are interested, contact Dorothea Prowell at EM 4-3843. First class meeting will be held June 7, at 9:30 a. m., in the high school.

We stopped by the golf course Friday and watched some of the tournament action. And if you think there is an age limit on good golfing, you should trot out to the links Sunday and see the finals. Those fellows are fine golfers. We saw one approach shot that would have brought cheers from any tournament gallery. The ball stopped on a hard, rocky road behind a sharply-sloped green. But the recovery scooted across about 60 feet, slowed as it went up the backside of the green and rolled just past the pin, stopping about eight feet from the hole. It was brilliant.

I hope you will excuse me for a moment now as I say goodbye to a staff member. Wain Miller began working for the Brand as a sophomore. He worked regular hours as a junior. (Continued on page 8)

Champ Defeated In First Round Of Golf Tourney

Defending champion W. W. (Punk) Gilbreath of Hereford took one on the nose in the first round of play in the Golf Begins at 40 Tournament at the John Pittman Municipal Golf Course here Friday.

Gilbreath was downed 4-3 by Bob Thurmond of Dismitt to highlight action of the initial round of play.

Second round was shot Saturday, with semi-finals slated to tee off at 8 a. m. Sunday and finals getting underway at 1:30 p. m. Sunday.

Presentation of awards is set for 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the Pro Shop, according to host pro Bud Posey.

Pony Baseball Season Starts Monday Night

Opening night ceremonies will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday, May 27, for the 1963 Hereford Pony League baseball season. League president B. F. Cain said that all teams were to be on hand in uniform for introduction, along with their coaches.

Mayor Ray Cowsert, who pitched a strike in his first opening night appearance earlier this month, is expected to be even faster when he takes the mound to throw out the first ball of the Pony League season. Cowsert feels that it too easy to throw the ball out from the stands and has made a tradition of taking the mound for the ceremony.

First game of the season will begin at 8 p. m., matching the White Sox and the Tigers. Team coaches of the 13 and 14 year old players include: L. B. Russell, White Sox; Dale Wynn, Tigers; Don McNeese, Red Sox; and Guy Windgrove, Indians.

Following schedule was released for the summer's Pony League activity: May 27 White Sox - Tigers (Continued on page 8)

City Pool Sets Opening June 1

Hereford Municipal Swimming Pool opens for the summer season on Saturday, June 1, at 2 p. m. This announcement came this week from city manager Dudley Bayne.

Managing the pool this summer will be Jim Balch, a Stanton Junior High athletic coach. Schedule of the pool for the summer was also announced. The pool will be open seven days a week between the hours of 2 and 6 p. m.

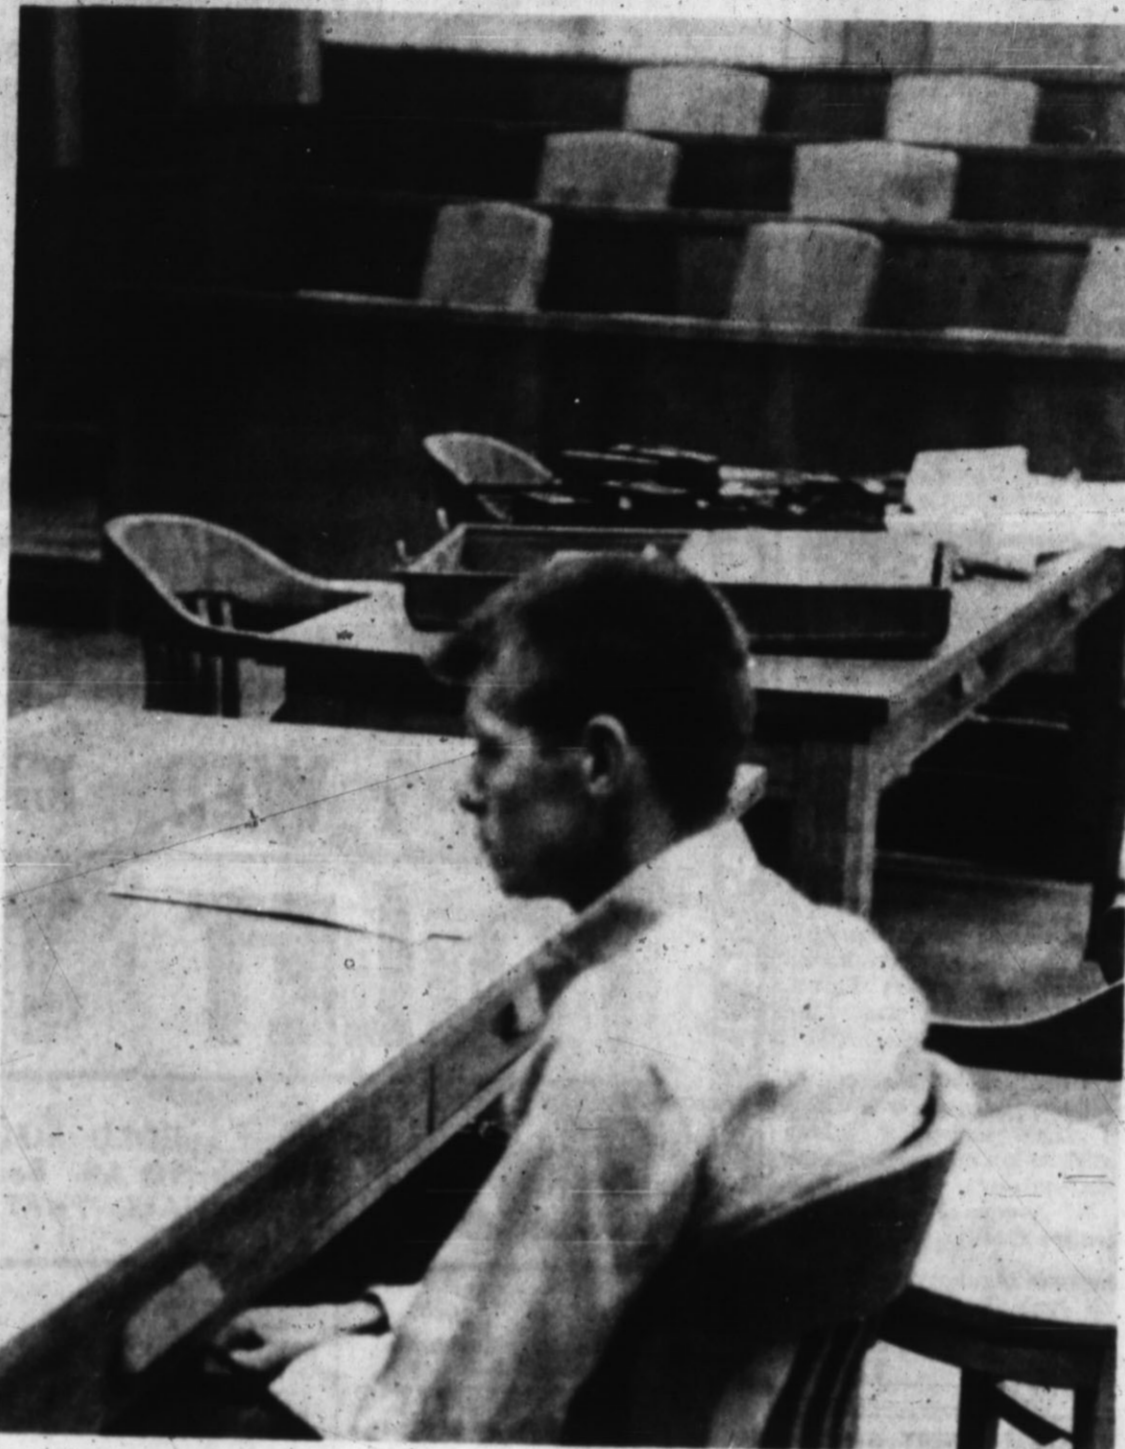

Although no definite closing date has been set, the pool is slated to remain open until about Sept. 1. As in the past, the pool may be reserved at nights for private parties.

Man Charged With Exposure Forfeits Bond

A Friona man charged with misdemeanor indecent exposure here forfeited a $50 cash bond posted as charges were filed here by Hereford Police Department, according to Marshall Padgett, chief of police.

Charged with the offense was Billy Buth, 28. He is alleged to have committed the offense here Tuesday and was reported by two Deaf Smith County women.

The man was arrested in Friona on Thursday and returned to Hereford where charges were filed. He posted a $50 cash bond.

WAITING SILENTLY for the jury's verdict during his trial last week in 69th District Court, is defendant James Wiley Wimberley, 27, of Olton. Wimberley was convicted of the armed robbery of the Jack Nunley family here March 1. Sentence set by the jury was 35 years. Sentencing of Wimberley will be held in the District Court on June 5. Seniors Receive Diplomas In Brief Commencement Diplomas were given 101 graduating seniors in Commencement exercises for Hereford High School Friday evening. An overflow crowd witnessed the short ceremony, that included two brief talks, presentation of the class gift and announcement of scholarship winners.

Valedictorian Connie Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kent, and salutatorian Jim Grubbs, son of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Grubbs, both asked for individuality in preference to rigid conformity.

Miss Kent said, "We should strive for individuality within the bounds of our moral code and our own strength of conviction. . . . Could 'Hamlet' have been written by a committee? Could the Mona Lisa have been painted by a club? Could the New Testament have been written by a committee? 'The freedom that is threatened at this time is that of individual freedom. . . . So, I sum up my remarks by asking simply, 'Be yourself'."

Jerre, Bea Noland, secretary of the senior class, announced that the class gift to the school would be a brick enclosed granite plaque, on which will be inscribed "Hereford High School — Home of the Whites." It is to be located near the main entrance to Hereford High School.

Twelve students were recognized with scholarships, grants and awards. Anna Evans and Alyce McClain were awarded scholarships from the high school Tri-Hi-Y chapter. Joanne Carlson was announced as the recipient of the Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union scholarship.

Jim Grubbs accepted the Kiwanis Club scholarship from president Charles Stone. Ed Skypala, president of the Lions Club, presented a scholarship to Donald Payne.

Martha Wiltshire accepted the Future Nurses scholarship, given by the Hereford Medical Auxiliary and presented by Mrs. Weslie B. Owen. Aurora de la Cerda won the Beta Sigma Phi scholarship, presented by Mrs. Charles Laing. Wain Miller received the Hereford Brand Journalism scholarship from H. A. Tuck.

LONG TRIP FOR GRADUATION

AFS Student's Family Arrives

Three members of the audience at Commencement exercises for Hereford High School seniors Friday night can undoubtedly claim honor for coming the longest distance to see a relative graduate.

Mrs. Barney Gordon and sons Andrew and Russell came 10,000 miles to see her daughter receive a diploma from Hereford High School.

Her daughter Heather is an American Field Service Exchange Student who is staying in the home of the Leroy Avens.

The Gordons hail from Johannesburg, South Africa. Heather's father is currently in New York on business and was unable to come to Hereford.

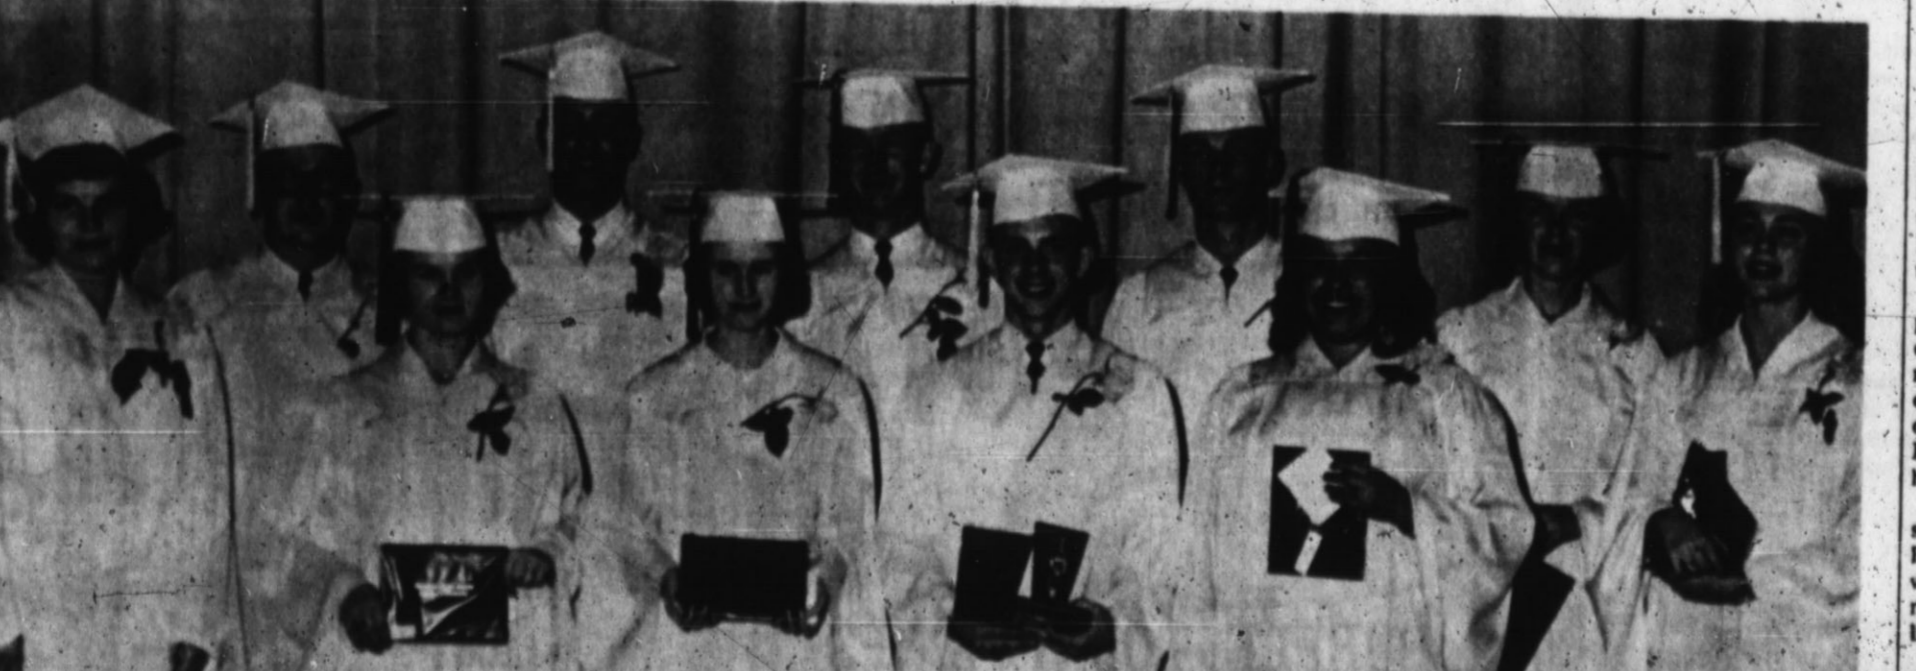

They arrived by train in Hereford late Friday morning, ending a trip which brought them from South Africa to London, to New York aboard the "Queen Elizabeth," and then by train through Chicago to Hereford.

Commenting on her first impression of what has been her daughter's home for the past nine months, Mrs. Gordon stated, "This is certainly a wonderful place and I can see why Heather has been so happy here."

"I'm sure Heather will be sorry to leave the Avens and Hereford and I know that she will always consider this the most wonderful year of her life."

Accompanying Mrs. Gordon here are her sons Andrew, who is 16, and Russell, 11. The trio will remain in Hereford until Heather leaves on June 22.

Then Mrs. Gordon and the two boys will rejoin her husband in New York. Meanwhile, (Continued on page 8)

Ivie told the club members why women are treated differently and discussed the areas of law concerning criminals of both sexes, divorce

TOP COWBOY at the Hereford Junior Rodeo was Marvin Schulte of Nazareth, shown above as he rode a bucking bronc to claim first place in the second go round of the event. Schulte won the "All Around Cowboy" trophy at the rodeo by garnering the highest total of points in three events at the show. The rodeo, sponsored for the first time by the Hereford Junior Riders Club, promises to become an annual affair. (Staff Photo)

Nazareth Cowboy Is Tops At Hereford Junior Rodeo

Six local riders took trophies in the first Hereford Junior Rodeo, but the top honor of the show was taken home by a Nazareth cowboy.

Marvin Schulte of Nazareth garnered the "Best All Round Cowboy" trophy by netting the highest point total for three events at the show. But two Hereford girls crowded out all competition to take all of the ladies' honors presented at the show. Karen Blackwell of Hereford ran first in the pole bending. Another local girl, Jo Poarch, claimed the top honor in the barrel race. Candy Poarch took third average in pole bending. David Hill, Terry Hill, and Robbie Lemons were the only Hereford Junior Riders in the winning column for the local boys.

Robbie Lemons of Hereford had the third best average in the down calf roping. Terry Hill had the best run in the first go round of the ribbon roping event, and David Hill copped third place average in ribbon roping. Complete results of the Hereford Junior Rodeo are as follows:

Karen Blackwell won both go rounds in pole bending to garner the top average, with Rita Speed of Adrian getting third. Jo Poarch won both the first and second go rounds in the barrel race to have the top average, followed by Rita Speed and Glenda Light of Amarillo, respectively. In tie-down calf roping, Tommy Houston of Dallas won the first round and Jerry Homfield of Adrian was tops in the second go round. Houston had the best average, followed by Robbie Lemons of Hereford.

Terry Hill of Hereford was first in the first round of ribbon roping, but lost out to Taylor Knight of Tahoka in the second go round. Knight had the best average, followed by Maria of Stanton and David Hill of Hereford. Rex Bracken of Friona was first in the initial round of bareback bronc riding and Marvin Schulte of Nazareth topped the second go round. But Kenneth Odom of Dimmitt had the best average, Gene Bradley of Dimmitt was second and Schulte was third.

Schulte won the first go round in the bull riding with the second go round going to John Nolan of Tulla. Schulte and Nolan tied for best averages, but Schulte won the coin toss for first place. Larry Poyner of Amarillo was third. It was the first Hereford Junior Rodeo in history, sponsored by the Hereford Junior Riders Club. The show may become an annual affair, a club spokesman stated.

Unseasonal weather hampered attendance for the final performance Saturday night, but good crowds were on hand for the Thursday and Friday night performances.

Ratjen Brothers of Happy provided the stock for the rodeo and also awarded trophies to winners of each go round and to the first, second, and third place riders in each event.

Willing Workers Hear Program On House Plants

Meeting on May 14 in the home of Maura and Teresa McAndrews, the Willing Workers 4-H Club heard Mrs. Hugh Clearman discuss the care and uses of house plants. She also pointed out certain differences and difficulties involved in growing plants. It was discovered during roll call that the African violet is the favorite of most of the members.

During the business meeting, conducted by the president, Caroline Brumley, reports were given on the subject matter groups. All subject groups are in the process of having achievement teas to complete their training. The Willing Workers Club was the first to complete a unit.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. McAndrews to Kay Clearman, Lanette Clearman, Linda Brooks, Melody Ott, Darlene Sparrman, Linda Sims, Maura McAndrews, Teresa McAndrews, Caroline Brumley, Sallieann Scott, Janis Higgins, and their leaders.

Joe Henry, treasurer; Mrs. Dean Herring, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. E. Sparks, historian; Mrs. John Beasley, secretary; and Mrs. Joe Whitley, reporter.

Golf Used As Theme Of La Madre Mia Installation

An unusual theme was chosen by Mrs. Richard Pickens, retiring president of La Madre Study Club, for the installation of the 1963-64 officers of the club. The ceremony was conducted during a luncheon meeting at the Western Wheel Inn on May 23.

Tables were decorated to resemble a golf course, with greens, roughs, and flags. Golf tees were used in making the place cards. As she installed each new officer, Mrs. Pickens took from a golf bag an item symbolizing the duties of that office.

The new president, Mrs. Bill Lankford, received a ball as the symbol of the importance of her office. A tee was used to recognize the support given by a vice-president in the installation of Mrs. John E. Smith. Mrs. John Beasley received a wood to indicate the need for accuracy in installing Mrs. Joe Henry as treasurer to indicate the need for individually and honestly kept records.

A putter was given Mrs. Dean Herring to symbolize the duties of her office as parliamentarian to line up and keep in line the club proceedings. The new reporter, Mrs. Joe Whitley, received a 9-iron, or pitching wedge, which is used in the approach to the green, as representative of her duties. The golf bag, the receptacle of all the accessories used in golf, was presented to the historian, Mrs. W. E. Sparks, as the scrapbook is the receptacle of all the history of the club.

Mrs. Joe Locke and Mrs. John E. Smith were recognized for their outstanding contributions to the club during the past year. A gift of appreciation was given Mrs. Pickens for work as president.

The new president, Mrs. Lankford, named her committees for next year. Secret pals were drawn for the summer.

Present at the meeting were Mesdames R. V. Hale, Joe Brooks, Joe Locke, Joe Hacker, Gerald Martin, Harold Morton, Joe Henry, John Beasley, Dean Herring, Bill Lankford, Richard Pickens, John E. Smith, Joe Whitley, W. E. Sparks, James McDowell, Lee Drake, Bobby

Owen, Ben Gollehon, W. C. Russell, Vance Robinson, G. C. Merritt Jr., and Dale Wynn.

Heather will tour the United States for one month along with other American Field Service students.

Later she will sail with her family aboard the "Queen Elizabeth" to Europe, where a month-long tour of the continent will begin. The Gordons plan to be back in Johannesburg by September.

Incidentally, both of Heather's brothers came to Texas dressed in true western fashion. Andrew sported a cowboy shirt while Russell was the proud wearer of a pair of western boots. Both were gifts which Heather had sent them at home.

Thus the Gordon family came to be with Heather in her American home.

He also pointed out that Wimberley seemed to be the moderating influence and asked the jury to consider his acts of kindness.

Porter also hit at the tactics of the state in calling the children to testify in the case.

In his summation of the testimony, Porter noted the testimony giving by Nunley saying it was "circumstantial evidence" due to the uncertainty of identification of Wimberley.

Hunter in his rebuttal stressed the positive identification of the two suspects by Nunley pointing out that "apparent confusion" stemmed from the fact that Nunley "hadn't heard the names" and "didn't know them."

He labeled the incident as "one of the most grave" that could be committed due to the "total disregard for the safety of others."

As he ended his argument, Hunter asked, in a hushed courtroom, for a guilty verdict and a sentence of 45 years in the penitentiary.

The jury deliberated for only 35 minutes before reaching its guilty verdict and setting the 35-year sentence.

In a statement following the trial, District Attorney Bill Hunter commented that Wimberley was not tried on the kidnapping indictment returned against him since a person can only be tried for one offense at a time.

The state elected to try the defendant on the armed robbery indictment first, he explained.

Hunter added that no decision had been made whether or not to try the suspect for the second offense.

He also issued a statement on behalf of the state and his personal regard for the citizens of Deaf Smith County.

"I would like to express our appreciation to the members of the jury panel called regarding the State vs. James Wiley Wimberley. Under our law, the principles of justice recognize the right of a man to a fair trial.

"Justice does not always work as fast as we would like and we try not to indulge your patience.

"I have appreciated your full cooperation."

Trisler, alleged to be Wimberley's companion during the robbery, was committed to a state mental hospital earlier

In all sections of the county, the 1963 grain sorghum crop is now being planted. A majority of the crop on irrigated farms has been planted.

Dryland farmers are just now beginning to plant their crop. Cotton in the area has already been planted and is now up. However, some of the crop will have to be planted due to hail and wind damage.

Heaviest damage reported to cotton occurred in the section of the county near Summerfield and to the west of the Easter community.

It is estimated that 600 - 700 acres near Frio will have to be replanted.

Amarillo Detective Says Shoplifting Big Business

By Wain Miller
Brand Staff Reporter

A million dollars per year is a lot of money to have walk out the front door — unaccounted for — even for the retail merchants in the city of Amarillo.

And if the truth were known, local merchants would probably face a proportionately staggering amount of disappearing money, according to an Amarillo Police Department detective.

Of this local merchants were informed — or reminded — as Detective Sergeant Arthur Fields spoke to members of the Retail Trade Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce here Friday morning.

Shoplifting is "big business," the officer told merchants. It hurts legitimate business, much more than the average person would realize.

"According to national statistics, 14 per cent of the new retail establishments in the nation which go broke do so because of stock shrinkage.

"This can be attributed to shoplifting and employee theft," Fields pointed out.

"Other national figures show that from one-fourth to one and one-half percent of the gross sales value of merchandise in retail stores is lost annually because of stock shrinkage.

"This amounts to a tremendous amount of money... so much that some national chains admit that they must add ten per cent to their mark-up to cover losses due to stock shrinkage," the detective added.

"One of the largest stores in Amarillo had a stock shrinkage totalling $20,000 last year alone," he said. "And I would estimate that each year the merchants of Amarillo lose a total of about a million dollars."

Explaining the need for a crackdown on shoplifters, Sgt. Fields pointed out that this figure would probably be proportionately high in Hereford.

Fields then told the retailers some of the procedures which may be used to help cut shoplifting losses. He began by explaining laws covering the offense.

He explained that convicted shoplifters can draw sentences ranging up to ten years in the state penitentiary. Specifically, Texas law provides that shoplifters may be penalized as follows:

Those found guilty of stealing items ranging in value from one cent to five dollars may be fined from one dollar up to $200 in city or corporation courts.

Those convicted of theft of items ranging in value from five dollars to $50 may be tried in county court, fined one dollar up to $500 and must be sentenced to from one day to two years in jail.

Persons convicted in district court of theft of items with a value of over $50 may draw prison sentences of from two to ten years, as theft over $50 is considered a felony offense, Fields explained.

"All courts require the same proof in order to convict a person charged with shoplifting," the detective stated, "but of course the higher courts are more particular than are the lower ones."

"Larceny is defined as the willful taking of something of value for the benefit of the person taking the item and depriving the legal owner of the value. This must be proved in court."

"A person charging another person of shoplifting, or any type of theft, must prove the intent of the accused."

"Generally in Amarillo, we hold that if a person is completely out of the door of the store and has not paid for the merchandise, he has the intent of stealing an item. However, intent can sometimes be proved in cases where a person is apprehended before leaving the store," Fields explained.

In answer to a question, the sergeant stated that persons can be searched legally by a store manager who has cause to believe that a person has been shoplifting in his store.

"However, this can be a touchy procedure," he warned, "due to the legalities which prohibit you from interfering with a person's civil rights."

Fields then outlined some of the reasons for shoplifting by saying, "There is a multitude of reasons why shoplifting continues to grow as a problem. Among these are the rising costs of living, the growth of self-service stores (which almost invite shoplifting), crowded stores on weekends and holidays, and untrained and inexperienced sales personnel who do not know how to spot shoplifters or who do not know what to do if they do suspect a person of stealing."

"You managers of self-service stores have a 50-50 chance of having a shoplifter in your store between the hours of 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. each day," Fields declared.

"This is because many people are off for lunch and there are fewer store personnel on hand... shoplifters like to take advantage of such situations as this," he warned.

The detective then explained many of the "most popular" methods which shoplifters use to steal items and offered hints on how to spot these persons.

"Some people are very good at this... in fact, it is their profession. We have to be just as slick to catch these people. For this reason your personnel should be trained in detecting shoplifters."

Offering solutions to the problem, Fields commented, "You should know where you stand before the law in regard to shoplifting. You must arrest and prosecute those caught at stealing."

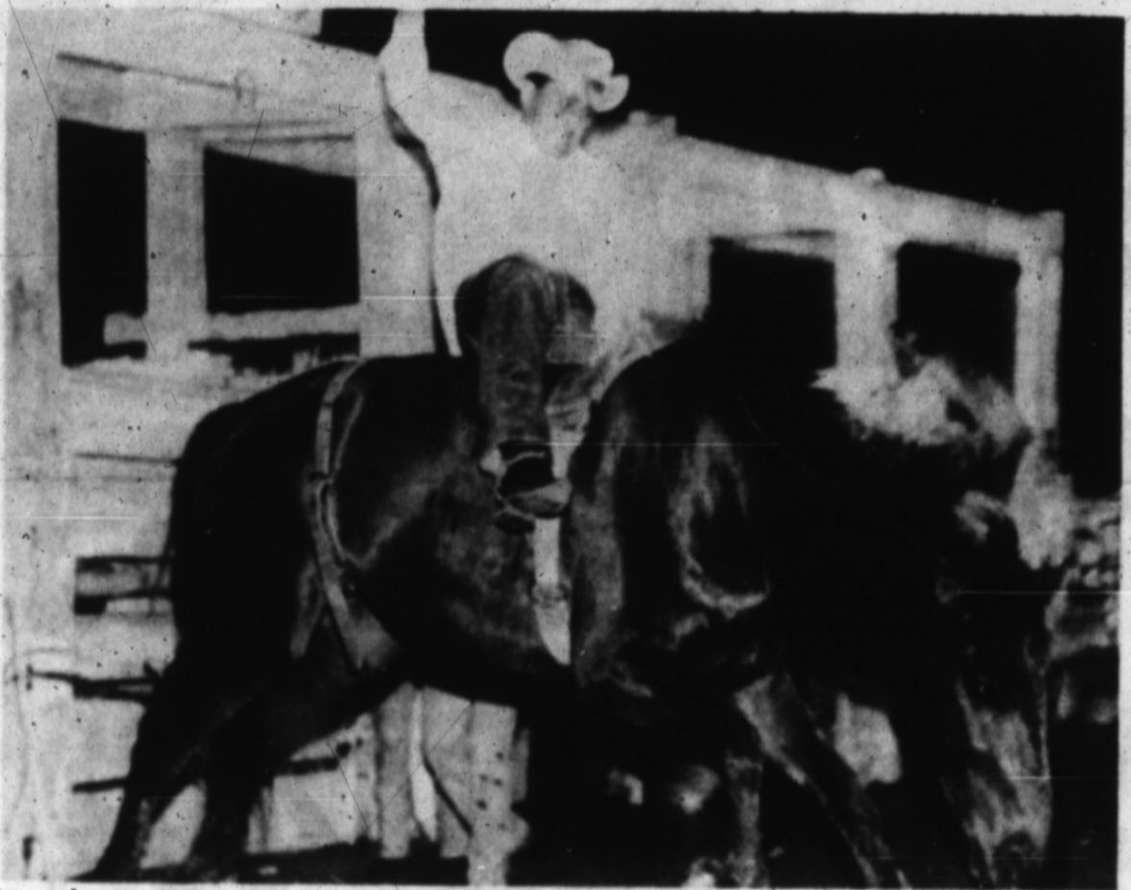

"One of the biggest deterrents to the shoplifter is the reputation which your store has. Word gets around and if they think that they can talk themselves out of trouble in your store, they won't mind stealing from you. But if they know that if they get caught, they are going to jail, then it will be different."

"Secondly, train employees to watch for shoplifters. The really bad shoplifters have sense enough to know when they are being watched, and this will cut your stock shrinkage."

"Another important thing is cooperation between merchants. Notify the other merchants if you suspect a person of shoplifting so that they can watch for him."

EXPLAINING SHOPLIFTING problems to local merchants, Amarillo Police Department Detective Sergeant Arthur Fields spoke to members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Retail Trade Committee here Friday morning. The officer described various techniques used by shoplifters and told merchants some of the things which can be done to help curtail theft losses. (Staff Photo)

CASTLE, Okla. (AP) — "After 32 years of unsuccessful campaigning for public office," says Everett Wyrick, "it gives a man a contented feeling to close out a winner."

Wyrick defeated Jimmy Dyer 27-18 for a city council seat in this year's city election. It was his first victory after a series of political efforts, beginning in 1931, in which he lost four times in attempts for the sheriff's office, placed third in a three-man race for county commissioner and, in Castle's last city election race in 1948, lost a try for mayor by two votes.

ELECTRONIC BEACHCOMBER
KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Phil Mann, a 24-year-old native of New York City, has brought the ancient art of beachcombing up to date and says he makes a fair living at it.

Mann, who uses an electronic metal detector, arrived here after a three and half month hitchhiking trip which started at Bangor, Maine. He reported he picked up $1,746.09 in coins plus assorted jewelry from bathing beaches en route.

He hit Key West's two pub-

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK

This is the time of year when many people start looking into the distance with visions of adventure and romance in faraway places. Wanderlust shakes its victims into dreams of going to a far-off land or galling for the South Seas.

In lieu of such a trip, you might want to try an hilarious new book by H. Allen Smith. Two-Thirds of a Coconut Tree tells of his trip to Tahiti. The title, incidentally, is in reference to a zoning law in Tahiti that restricts the height of all new buildings to "two-thirds of a coconut tree." Smith found him overstaying his allotted time on the island in order to provide the informative and downright funny answer to the tantalizing question, "What is Tahiti really like?" Exploring the entire island chain he looks into such vital matters as: Are the native girls as lovely as they are loose? What about their legs? What about the rest of them? How do you pronounce "copra"? Is the American tourist actually a loudmouthed jerk? How many rum punches should a man with liver trouble drink before lunch? In his rented house and rented Dauphine, he and his wife explored the natural and unnatural life of the permanent and temporary residents of Tahiti and particularly that enchanting port of Papeete. Smith, as readers of his earlier books know, has a good eye for the girls and many pages of his latest effort are the result of his practiced girl-watching and personal interviews.

He meets and encourages Emile Gauguin, natural son of famed French painter Paul Gauguin, in an art career. This is curtailed, however, when Emile enlists aid to turn out his primitive drawings. He also meets a handsomely seductive "denimondaine" called Thousand Franc Colette.

He roams over the island, looking at abandoned mansions and crumbling statues. He even helps organize a riotous "adventure" aboard a leaky boat for a day-long expedition to a neighboring island. This almost ends in chaos as millionaire jockey Eddie Arcaro and his wife insist that the boat "follow the birds" because that's where the best fishing must be.

Smith becomes quite friendly with anthropologist Bengt Danielsson, famed in other places for his part in the Kon-Tiki raft ride, but known to the Tahitians as "Upside-Down Face." He also pals around with merchant Baldwin T. Bambridge, who sometimes suffers from vahines, vegetables and go-ahead toe.

Unlike his other books, which have been completely fictional, Two-Thirds of a Coconut Tree is true. At least I hope it is. Any man who could imagine all that Smith entered in this travel journal shouldn't be allowed loose. The Deaf Smith County library has a copy of the book on its non-fiction shelf.

The office is part of a multi-purpose program the council's developing for people of economically depressed mountain regions. The council will encourage mountain people to develop skills and job opportunities that will enable them to make a contribution to their new community and will offer them advice on their move to the city.

Another part of the program will encourage creation of employment facilities in the Appalachian South to make good use of natural and personal resources of the region.

Turbine Engine Could Start Auto Revolution

Coming on the heels of the history making 22-orbit flight of Major Gordon Cooper is the announcement by a leading automobile manufacturer that their company will place on the American highways this year, some 30 or more automobiles powered by turbine engines. This revolutionary new engine is designed to operate without the use of a water cooling system, and has only two spark plugs.

Of course, the model is still in the experimental stages, but it is significant that after over 10 years of work and experimenting at the company plant, the engines will now be placed on the highways for the final exam; that being by the American public. The company appears to be confident of public acceptance, and in the coming years we will likely see many more of the new models on our highways. Chances are, the competing firms of the "big three" and possible other manufacturers will have comparable models on the roads in the near future.

The introduction of this new concept of internal combustion engines will no doubt create a mild revolution in the automobile industry. First of all, it will seriously curtail the use of fan belts, radiators, anti-freeze, spark plugs and many other items now being manufactured for standard make vehicles. It could eventually eliminate entire segments of the industry, just as the invention of the automobile forced the harness maker out of business.

But that's not all. The new turbines are designed to burn "all" their fuel, eliminating the residual problem that has created the menace of "smog." This, we're predicting, will be welcomed by the folks in Los Angeles and other metropolitan areas who have wrestled with this problem for many years.

But what will be the effect of the new turbine engine on the oil industry? Certainly no one can accurately predict the impact of this change on an industry of such proportions, but all agree that it could bring about many changes.

Company officials report that the new engine will operate on almost any type fuel including diesel, kerosene, alcohol, lighter fluid and even gasoline. But no longer will emphasis be placed on the "higher priced premium fuels" for better operation. We can see it all now. A local auto owner drives into the service station and tells the attendant, "Put in 15 gallons of kerosene please, and kindly check the water in my automatic windshield washer."

Large scale production of the turbines could also create problems for the state and federal law makers, who will probably rush into action to pass laws for the purpose of "levying a tax on all lighter fluids to be used for motivation of vehicles on our public highways."

Actually, we're probably talking about something that will take many years to come about; and we're sure that the transition will evolve gradually, as did the change-over from horse and buggy transportation to the "new-fangled" automobile.

Nevertheless, it could create many changes and, as in the past, many people will worry about such changes aggravating the unemployment problem. But when you stop to consider the situation, it becomes much less alarming. The elimination of the harness industry probably put hundreds of people out of work, but the resultant road building programs alone, employed many hundreds of thousands.

Progress will go on. Some hardships will be created, but for every hardship, there will be many silver linings.

You Can Lead A Horse To Water, But You Can't Make Him Drink

Political experts, whether they be national, state or plain grass roots variety, are quite confused following the wheat referendum vote. And far from the least of their chores is the need to make a clear, specific interpretation of just what the vote means. Needless to say, there appears to be just about as many conclusions as we have analysts.

The conservative elements, for instance, herald the vote as a general swing of American opinion, while the Republicans in specific feel that it indicates a shift to their side of the platform. Liberal leaders appear definitely upset, but the Democrats are taking an attitude of revenge, rather than tolerance. Such, at least, would be our interpretation of President Kennedy's remarks when he told a press conference Wednesday that the situation was pretty well settled until the next referendum is held in 1964. Meanwhile, Farm Bureau leaders still insist that some type of program will be forthcoming.

One thing is certain: people are definitely upset when they march in and vote against subsidies to themselves. This is most pronounced in areas such as Deaf Smith County, where wheat is an important income crop, rather than a secondary, small acreage crop. Failure of the referendum to carry by even a simple majority in the nation marks one of the few times that a "pork barrel" measure has failed when only those who benefit were allowed to ballot.

Frankly, there is the possibility that the measure failed by such a margin more because of the way it was handled in the administration than from its merits or demerits. The fact that Secretary Freeman took such active interest through government channels was frowned upon by many farmers, and President Kennedy's intervention and attitude of coercion may have capped the climax.

Apparently the average U. S. farmer is still more independent than the steel moguls who folded up some months ago when Mr. Kennedy threw away his kid gloves and dictated terms regarding their industry.

Only time will ever properly interpret the wheat referendum vote, and much of this answer will depend upon how the measure is handled in forthcoming months. If the Democratic party is smart, it will listen to and come up with some sort of compromise plan. On the other hand, if they decide to chastise the farmer for his failure to obey orders, they can most easily lose the 1964 campaign. At the same time we should keep in mind that Washington is depending less today on the farm bloc than ever before in history.

Fitting, too, is the fact that a rebellion against authority and high-handed methods should come from the grass roots of America. This nation was founded by farmers who resented coercion—and the American farmer stands today as the industry most efficient and most envied by Russia, and other communistic countries.

If the vote was indicative of deep-running opposition to socialist trends, we undoubtedly have witnessed an upheaval in American politics; one which will no doubt be followed in other fields. If the vote indicates resentment to methods used, the story will be entirely different, depending upon how it is handled by the administration during the next 12 months.

Regardless of the reason, there is no doubt that the American farmer is still the backbone of the nation. It takes an awful lot of plain guts to vote against one's own financial gains—regardless of the motivating cause—and, so far, American farmers are the only national scale group which has shown such fortitude. Knowingly, and in the face of tremendous pressure, he has "spoken his piece" in a forthright manner. What's more, it is just possible that he has perhaps started our nation on a new era of economy, which has little to worry about in the new-fangled Common Market threats.

Sure Shocked Some

Check Auto Insurance Before Starting Trip

Motorists who are planning vacations or other trips outside their home States have been cautioned by several State motor vehicle departments to investigate the automobile liability insurance requirements in the jurisdictions they will be visiting.

For example, Ray H. Paige, Commissioner of the Oklahoma Department of Public Safety, recently advised motorists in his State:

"Before you begin an interstate motor trip, be sure your auto liability insurance meets the requirements of the States you plan to visit. Such a check is particularly advisable if your itinerary includes Canada or Mexico.

"Failure to do this may mean the loss of your driving privilege and registration plates. And in Mexico or Canada the tourist who neglects this advice may lose his car or even find himself in jail." Commissioner Paige said.

The Insurance Information Institute also has issued a similar warning.

While all States and Provinces have financial responsibility laws in some form, there are important variations in the minimum requirements for proof of financial responsibility in cases of involvement in a motor vehicle accident or conviction of a major traffic offense.

In 29 States and the District of Columbia the financial responsibility requirements are in conformity with the Uniform Vehicle Code, which provides that insurance policies or other security shall cover a liability of not less than $10,000 for bodily injury to or death of one person in any one accident; $20,000 for bodily injury to or death of two or more persons in any one accident; and $5,000 for injury to or destruction of property of others in any one accident.

But in 19 other States lower liability limits are permitted, and in two others higher minimum limits are required. In Oklahoma, for example, and in five other States, a driver with insurance coverage of $5,000/$10,000/$5,000, fulfills the requirements of his home State's law.

But if such a motorist is involved in an accident in any one of 32 other States his insurance coverage may be inadequate, as he might be required to post security to meet the higher minimum requirements of another State's law.

If this is not done, the visiting motorist would be subject to loss of his driving privilege in the State in which the accident occurred and also, in most cases, in his home State, as reciprocity provisions operate between most jurisdictions.

To avoid being embroiled in such a situation, it is being suggested that motorists check the financial responsibility laws of each jurisdiction they plan to visit with their insurance agent or broker before leaving on a motor trip, so that if coverage is not adequate it can be adjusted.

By State law, vehicle owners living in Massachusetts, New York, and North Carolina must have automobile liability insurance. The amounts required by each of these States, however, will not suffice in all other States.

In the United States the highest financial responsibility requirements are $20,000/$20,000 and $1,000 in Connecticut, and $15,000/$30,000 and $5,000 in Virginia.

Several of the Canadian Provinces require even higher limits and most Provinces require a visiting motorist who is involved in an accident to show evidence that he is able to meet requirements. A motorist who cannot produce this evidence runs the risk of having his car impounded. In some of the Provinces single limits as high as $35,000 are required when there is involvement in a highway crash.

The government of Mexico requires that all visiting motorists have liability insurance written

ISSUES IN CITY FUSS AIRED

"Be with this council to rule in a way that will be for this community and its people." That was part of a prayer offered Tuesday night by Olton city councilman Russell Rucker as an opening to a meeting destined for controversy. It came in the wake of a series of events which have turned this community's city politics into a bitter battle of charges and counter-charges. Starting with an election which split the community down the center in April, the political fight has boiled into strategy moves which brought on charges of voting irregularities; a move to take over the dual role of city judge by the mayor elected by one vote, Gene Wilson, and resulting in criticism from opponents; a contest of the mayor's election; the filing and withdrawal of a contest against a three-vote winner in the election, and the resignation of Mayor Wilson, which has not been accepted. That was the background against which the council operated Tuesday as it took on a new problem: How to handle the conclusion of the mayor's appointment of a special police officer on May 2.

THE OLTON ENTERPRISE

RUNWAY PAVING PLANNED

Dust on the runways at Muleshoe Airport is soon to be eliminated with the process of paving the east-west fertilizer plant to Foster Wheeler Corporation of Livingston, New Jersey. Mr. Landreth is president of Western Ammonia Corporation. The Foster Wheeler Corporation, Engineers, Manufacturers, and Contractors, will construct the 60-ton per day capacity anhydrous ammonia plant on a site two miles southeast of Dimmitt in contract with Western Ammonia Corporation. Compressors and other long delivery items will be installed for production of ammonia by February, 1964, according to Landreth.

COUNTY SEEKS LAKE ON DRAW

Parmer County boosters of the elaborate Running Water Draw six-county flood control program will seek a multi-purpose recreational lake somewhere in the area of Bovino, it was learned Wednesday following a meeting at Hub Community Center on Monday. Although the proposed lake is only a "dream" of backers at the moment, boosters will delve into the matter to see if the oversize lake can be built as a part of the over-all flood control program.

NEW HD AGENT IS HIRED

Parmer County hired a new home demonstration agent in a special meeting of the County Commissioner's Court last Monday. The new agent is Mrs. Cricket B. Taylor, presently home demonstration agent in Mitchell County. She will assume duties in Parmer County on June 15.

PLANT CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT LET

In a telephone conversation Wednesday with a representative of the News, Mr. George H. Landreth announced that Western Ammonia Corporation of Midland had awarded the contract for the construction of their Dimmitt strip to begin Monday, Morgan Locker, airport manager announced today. This, a milestone of progress, will fulfill a dream of many pilots who have been bearing the expense of aircraft engine wear caused by the dust created on take off and landing on the sod runway. Locker told the Journal today that he and the City of Muleshoe devised a plan and contract some time ago whereby the land between the runways would be farmed and the proceeds be used for airport improvement with the paving to be done by December, 1965.

SUNDAY BAILEY COUNTY JOURNAL (Muleshoe)

THE BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm discusses politics this week, his letter indicates.

Dear editor:

I don't know what he has against me, but a neighbor stopped me the other day, well he didn't actually stop me, I was already stopped, sitting in the shade under a tree near the road, and he stopped his pickup and got out and came over and sat down and since it was in the middle of the morning he was a little ill at ease and acted sort of like he was violating the law, at his theory is you're not supposed to stop working till it gets too dark to see.

"Say," he said, "I've been reading your letters in The Brand and I think you ought to run for office."

"Run for office?" I gaped. I don't like the word run anyway. Walk is all right, if you take it slow and rest often.

"Yeah, run for office. They could use some of your ideas in Washington."

"Washington? I thought you were talking about a local office. You're worse off than I thought. Ought to rest often."

But since I discovered he was actually serious, I set him straight at once. I've got problems enough right here on this bindweed farm without tackling any more any place else, and if I'm going to run up against problems that are too big for me, I'd rather lose to them at home where I can be comfortable.

I don't mean to say somebody shouldn't be in Washington, whether he's equipped to handle the problems there or not. For example, you set up a rule that no Congressman can vote on farm legislation until he has successfully farmed, and you'd have very few votes and no legislation. In fact, you'd have trouble finding a Secretary of Agriculture. Somebody has to be there but it's not me.

Also, I wouldn't make a good candidate because I'd have trouble classifying myself. All candidates have to be tagged with a political philosophy. Some candidates, you know, say they're to the right, some say they're to the left, and some say they are in the middle of the road.

Me, I don't even know where the road is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Hereford Girl Freshman Class Favorite At TLC

Miss Sharon Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kimball of 521 Star, was chosen freshman class favorite recently at Texas Lutheran College. She is majoring in interior decoration.

Among other honors extended Miss Hill during her freshman year have been her election as class secretary and her selection as May Calendar Girl of the Seguin Enterprise. Her interest in dramatics has led to parts in a production last fall of "South Pacific" and the play, "Christ in the Concrete City."

Miss Hill has served as treasurer of Delta Pi Eta and is a member of Kappa Pi Gamma, a sorority. She also sings in the Chapel Choir. Her hobbies are dancing, sewing, cooking, and playing the piano. She is active in the Methodist church.

A 1962 graduate of Hereford High School, Miss Hill plans to attend Southern Methodist University in Dallas this summer.

Mrs. Rojek Is Selected For Aquatic School

Mrs. Joe Rojek, 210 Avenue C, will attend the American Red Cross National Aquatic School in Athens, Tex., this summer.

She will report for classes beginning June 2, according to Mrs. Bruce Miller, water safety chairman of the Deaf Smith County Red Cross chapter.

Mrs. Rojek is a teacher in the Hereford school system. Last summer she passed both her Swimmer and Senior Life Saving tests, a rare feat according to Oliver Streu, who was her instructor last summer. After her return, she will assist other trained instructors in the water safety swimming program during the summer.

The Lone Star Aquatic School at Athens is one of 23 10-day training sessions held by the Red Cross.

It is planned for some other local water safety instructors to attend the Small Craft School, which is held in Missouri.

COMPLETES COMBAT TRAINING

Marine Private Jerry C. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas of 309 Grand, completed four weeks of individual combat training recently with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at Camp Pendleton, Calif. The training covers the field and combat skills needed by each Marine.

IN CARIBBEAN

Richard A. Pate, boilerman fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton W. Pate of Route 3, is in the Caribbean aboard the attack transport USS Rankin. The Rankin is part of Amphibious Squadron 10, which includes several amphibious ships engaged in training and exercises.

U. S. jurisdictions which have limits of $10,000/$20,000 and $5,000 corresponding to the Uniform Vehicle Code are: Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. Vermont's requirements are $10,000/$20,000/$2,000.

States which have liability limits of $5,000/$10,000/$1,000 include: Alabama, Colorado, Hawaii, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Montana, Nevada, New Nevada, New Mexico, and Rhode Island. These were the minimum requirements of the Uniform Vehicle Code before the Code was revised in 1956 to increase the amounts.

Laws of Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, and Texas provide limits of $5,000/$10,000/$5,000. And Missouri requires $5,000/$10,000/$2,000. Massachusetts has requirements of $5,000/$10,000 for bodily injury or death, but no requirements for property damage.

In Canada, the Provinces of British Columbia, Manitoba, and Ontario have minimum liability requirements of $35,000, and Alberta of $25,000, inclusive. Requirements of $10,000/$20,000/$5,000 conforming to the Uniform Vehicle Code, are provided in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and Quebec. Minimums of $10,000/$20,000/$2,000 are required in Yukon; $10,000/$20,000 in Northwest Territories, and $5,000/$10,000/$1,000 in New Brunswick and Saskatchewan. Another example of variations in State laws in this field is the difference in the amount of property damage specified in requirements for accident reports.

In 37 States, reports of accidents are required if property damage amounts to $100. Eight States require reports if damage is half this amount, or $50. In two other States, the minimum requirement is $200 damage; in another $75, and in another $35. In one State, the law requires that all accidents be reported; with no exceptions.

West Texas weather is probably the most unpredictable in the world, but we believe we hit the nail on the head when we said that this would be a year of broken records. The recent hail in the Bovina and Friona areas is probably no exception.

At least we have never heard the old timers talk about any 18-inch deep hail storms. Perhaps there were some, and the pioneer folks refuse to tell about them; figuring no one would believe such an unlikely story anyhow. But not us. We've seen so many things happen in this country, that we'll believe almost anything now.

Which reminds us of an old boy who could well have been president of the local liar's club of Collingsworth County. Every time someone mentioned golf ball size hail, our friend had seen stones just a little bigger. A few of the old boys who hung around the domino parlor decided one day to play a joke on our friend. During a typical spring rain, they carted a 50 lb. block of ice to the second story of the old Wellington Hotel. Just as another of the group had maneuvered the "leader of the prevaricators" to the proper spot, they let go with the ice, dropping it no five feet from where he was standing in the doorway. From that day on, our friend really had a king-size hail stone to talk about.

— HB —
Rex Lee tells of the day no many years ago when L. J. Jones and Claude Melugin were caught in a hail storm. The stones were rather large. In fact the storm was so bad that it broke out the windshield of the pickup. "We both wound up under the dash of that pickup," says L. J. "and I was last man under." Both Claude and L. J. stand over 6 feet tall and Claude will tip the scales at well over 200 lbs. It's surprising how many people crawl under the dash of a pickup when the occasions merits.

— HB —
But apparently it was the amount and not the size of the recent hail that broke the records. Eighteen inches of hail is a mighty lot of ice. Ivan Block drove down from Friona, Bovina, Clovis, Muleshoe and returned via Hub Wednesday. He reports that many, many houses had the asbestos roofs beat water can bring the voters completely off, leaving the far paper showing. Tin, wood, etc. would be nailed over windows that had been exposed to the onslaught. Crops of course were beaten off nearly to the ground, and in many cases the residue must have washed away or been beaten into the ground. The wheat and barley appeared to have been grazed off.

— HB —
Taft McGee also tells of a storm that he remembers back in 1935. Taft was farming in Oklahoma at the time and reports that the hail stones were as big as baseballs; many of them coming through the roof of the house and occasionally knocking holes in the ceiling. That story we believe, but we were drinking coffee with Charlie Holt during this conversation, and naturally Charlie had heard of a hail storm that was worse.

According to Charlie, a hail came one time in Colorado while he was working in that territory and the storm was so vicious that it drove the fence posts into the ground (wire and all). "You couldn't even tell where the fence was," says Charlie, "but the next night another hail storm came and beat the ground off and dug such deep gulleys that the following day you could see the entire fence again." Truly amazing what a little hail (and a little wind) can do. That broke up the session.

A fellow was telling us the other day about a scientist friend of his who was trying to produce an abalade. He crossed an abalone with a crocodile. The experiment went wrong and he got stuck with a crocabalade.

— HB —
Political analysts across the nation are making prediction as to top of prediction as to the outcome of the 1964 presidential election. Most of the so-called experts are convinced that the Kennedy team will be a shoo-in for a second go-around regardless of who the Republicans choose to run.

Not so, say the Republicans in Oklahoma however. The old heads of the state's Republican party see a very definite possibility that Arizona's Senator Barry Goldwater can win the Republican nomination and return the Grand Old Party to power. As in 1952, Oklahoma party heads are betting that Goldwater across party lines, and line them up again on the liberal vs. conservative platforms for 1964. They predict that many disgruntled Democrats will bolt the party "come November" and vote instead for the conservative candidate, being thoroughly fed-up with the new frontier of the Kennedy administration.

Right or wrong, the Sooner GOP has made the opposition party "sit up and take notice" by rallying in 1962 and electing the first Republican governor in the history of the state. Democrats across the nation said it couldn't be done, but Henry Bellmon sits at the helm of that states government today, in testimony to the fact that it could be done.

On the other hand, many of Texas' staunch Republicans believe that Goldwater will lose out before the battle begins. They contend that in the event Rockefeller is counted out (due to his divorce and subsequent remarriage), the liberal elements of the Republican party will rally behind a "dark-horse" candidate such as Governor George Romney of Michigan or Governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Personally, we're more inclined to agree with the Texans due to the apparent "me-too-ism" of the Republicans over the past years. However, it would be interesting to see the results of a national election where the voters had a clear-cut choice between a liberal candidate and a conservative candidate. If that day ever arrives, we might be surprised with the power of the combined (Demo and GOP) conservative forces. And then there's the story about the lady who dropped into the drug store to buy a thermometer. "What kind?" asked the proprietor. "Centigrade," she replied. "It's such a good brand."

Mrs. Johnson Conducts Installation Ceremony

Using the Beatitudes as her theme, Mrs. Ray Johnson, first vice-president of the Top of Texas District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, conducted installation of officers for the Pioneer Study Club on Tuesday, May 21. She presented each new officer with a scroll tied with ribbon in color appropriate to her office.

Hill Sr., treasurer; Mrs. Ralph McCullough, parliamentarian; Mrs. Wirt Phillips, historian; Mrs. Ted Panciera, yearbook chairman; and Mrs. W. C. Hromas, federation director.

The installation ceremony followed a morning coffee and the completion of business for the 1962-63 club year. Members and guests were served from a beautifully appointed table overlooking the terrance and rose garden. Pale pink roses in a silver container formed the centerpiece for the serving table, which was laid with white linen.

To open the business session, over which Mrs. McCullough led the group as it repeated in unison the collect for club women. The pledge to the flag was led by Mrs. H. E. Miller. It was followed by the group singing of "America, Beautiful," led by Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr. and accompanied by Mrs. William Wimberley at the piano.

After the department chairmen gave their annual reports, it was announced that Pioneer Study Club would serve as hostess for the coffee at the Community Center on Pioneer Day.

In tribute to "Mrs. Hill for her faithful service to the club during the year, Mrs. McCullough proclaimed May 21 as Bessie Hill Day and presented a personal gift of appreciation to Mrs. Hill.

Mrs. Lookingbill presented gifts from the club to Mrs. McCullough and to Mrs. Delmar Sigle, retiring secretary. Both served in their offices for six years. As the final act of her office, Mrs. McCullough presented the club with a gold stand and staff for its flag of the United States.

After accepting the gravel from the out-going president, Mrs. Lookingbill outlined the plans for the year and named her committees.

Mrs. McCullough, finance chairman, announced that the fund-raising project for the next year would be the sale of Holland bulbs. Orders should be placed with club members before July 1 in order to receive bulbs for fall planting this year.

Mrs. Panciera stated that the program theme for 1963-64 would be "New Vision - New Purpose," with programs relating to the various departments of the federation.
