School Begins Again

It was a good day for the first classes in the Hereford Public Schools, district officials said. But these patrol boys at Shirley Elementary School gladly signified the closing of school Thursday as they take down the flags which fly in front of the school so they could return to a few more hours of playtime. Ricky Valdez, left, and Jeff McBrayer, did express a note of excitement at their important duties as flag raisers and patrol guards even though their summer is long gone.

Survey Display Observes County Centennial Birthday Saturday

EDITOR'S Note: The following article is a description of a special display of surveying instruments at the Deaf Smith County Museum in conjunction with the County Centennial Celebration beginning on the courthouse lawn at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. The featured display includes artifacts of the earlier settlers to this area including the first men--surveyors. Refer to boxed in list of events for tomorrow.

Soon after the Indian tribes left this country, now called Deaf Smith County, a new breed of man moved cross the plains, bearing compass and a superlative skill in mathematics. He was the land surveyor, come to plot the way for cattlemen and settlers soon to follow

The surveyor's party usually included several surveyors, many flagmen, chain carriers, cooks, scouts, and mound builders. The party traveled by horseback, with wagons and pack mules carrying gear, including bed rolls and tents for sleeping.

Some of the surveyors worked with compass only, but some had the W.&L.E. Gurley transit much like the one shown here in the museum. Their job was to sub-divide the vast area into tracts, write descriptions of the tracts, and set up markers for later identification.

It was grueling work, from daylight to dark, and many crews stayed in the field for months without break, some even over two years.

They suffered the weather, particularly the fierce northers carrying dust or needles of snow in a horizontal blow, from which the flat prairie offered no refuge.

They suffered drought with its hazard of prairie fire. When it rained, they were immobilized. For fuel they collected Buffalo chips, and for water they followed small animls and birds to the playa lakes, which were few and far between.

All these discomforts and frustrations were heightened by the overwhelming vastness and lonliness of the land.

In this flat land where there are few rocks and few trees, a big problem was to find landmarks to lead the surveyors. There was little material to make a marker to set a corner.

It was common to report a mark "stone and 2 pits," "cedar stake and 2 pits," "a peruna bottle and 2 pits." These marks were often destroyed by the weather or Buffalo.

Yet, these readings stood, retrieved as they had to be oftimes by scruffing for mounds and pits; they served as points for subsequent surveyors. The early surveyors were great pioneers, who came to prepare the way for us.

Plainview Police Charge Hereford Men In Drug Case

Two Hereford men were arrested Thursday in Plainview for possession of marijuana and released on bond after initial investigation by the Plainview Police Department and the Hale County Sheriff's Office.

Based on tele-type wire release from Travis McPherson, Deaf Smith County Sheriff, the Plainview authorities arrested Robert Wayne Newsom, 22 of 150 Liveoak St. and Jimmy Don Taylor, 20, of 328 Center St. while they were driving a pickup truck.

A spokesman for the Hale County Sheriff's Office reported that Newsom was charged with a possession of marijuana misdemeanor violation and Taylor was charged with a possession of marijuana felony violation. Newsom was released on $500 bond and Taylor was set free on a $1,000 bond according to Plainview records.

The sheriff's officer said today that the Plainview Police picked up the men on a public intoxication charge and found the marijuana. They were then taken into custody for the more major violations.

The men had been staying in a motel in Plainview for about a week before the Larry Wartes, acting superintendent, said that the six elementary, two junior high and the one high schools recorded a total of 5,171 students on the first day of classes. It was an increase of 167 pupils over the first day of classes last year when 5,004 students reported.

No specific reasons were detailed for the increase except that a larger of number of students than usual are registering on time. Usually, a certain segment of the student body registers late especially when the start of school commences on an odd weekday. Some are vacationing and like to take advantage of the weekend.

However, Wartes said that some students may still not report for the first

Republican Strategy 'Leaves' Fighting To VP Nominee Dole

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - By selecting Robert Dole as his running mate and promising a debate with Jimmy Carter, President Ford is setting a campaign course marked by familiar Republican themes in a strategy at one traditional and unusual.

Dole is Ford's ideological brother, a political scrapper who probably will concentrate on attacking Carter and the Democratic Congress.

That is the traditional role of the vice presidential nominee, leaving the President to appear presidential and above the eyegouging, fist-swinging combat of the polotical arena. The main theme of the Republican attacks on Carter will be an effort to paint both the candidate and the Democratic Congress as big spenders whose policies spawn inflation and sap individual freedom.

But in a departure from the normal political stragegy of incumbents, Ford offered in his acceptance speech Thursday night to debate Carter, a certain sign of the concern of a campaign trailing even before the race beings. Departing from his prepared speech,

Ford said he would "debate the real issues face-to-face with Jimmy Carter." Carter quickly accepted, saying he wanted a format that would allow for "tough examination" with questions posed by the news media. Since the celebrated 1960 television debate between rivals John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon it has been accepted political wisdom that incumbent presidents avoid debating their rivals, but Ford said, "The American people have the right to know first hand exactly where we both stand."

Ford and his advisers, conscious of polls showing him trailing Carter, decided the President had much to gain and nothing to lose by a debate with the former Georgia governor.

Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, said Ford had been considering debating Carter for the last 10 days, but had left the proposal out of the text of his speech so he could surprise the Republican delegates. *

Nesses said he had not yet officially heard of Carter's proposal to debate, but said 'If he accepts the challenge to debate we hope it finally will get him to state his stands on some of the issues."

He added that Ford had said it will take a series of debates. "before the American people can get a clear idea of Carter's stands of the issues." Asked what format Ford would prefer

Policeman's Son Charged

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) - Thomas Bruton loves his eldest son. But he is a police cheif in this small town, and when the time comes he says he will testify at his son's trial for murder. "I took an oath when I got this job and I'm going to fulfill it," said Bruton. "If I think someone's guilty, I'll prosecute, and that goes for my boy." Bruton named his oldest son after himself when the boy was born 29 years ago. On Tuesday, Thomas Bruton Jr. was charged with murder.

Carter Caught By Surprise

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) - President Ford's challenge to a presidential campaign debate upstaged Jimmy Carter and caught the Democratic nominee and his staff by surprise. The words "face-to-face" debate were hardly out of Ford's mouth when Carter's press secretary rounded up reporters to say his candidate, too, was ready to debate - a decision that could produce the first such presidential campaign encounter since John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon.

Q.—Our basement is very damp, although there is no leakage through the foundation. I have been told that excessive moisture is coming up through the floor, which is a kind of clay type of soil. I have also been told the only solution is to have a concrete floor put down after first covering the floor with heavy roll roofing. Since this will be quite expensive, I wonder if I couldn't get by with just the roll roofing. Please advise me.

A .- The roll roofing alone will keep most of the moisture from coming up into the base-ment, but this isn't practical. Walking on the roofing material would soon cause it to tear, permitting the moisture to rise into the area. Should you decide to leave the floor as it is, the dampness in the basement can be alleviated by ventila-tion, dehumidification or heat, perhaps all three.

Houston Declared Public Health Emergency Area For Sleeping Bug

HOUSTON (AP) - The Harris County Commissioners Court has declared a public health emergency in the Houston area because of the possibility of an outbreak of St. Louis encephalitis.

The action came Thursday on the recommendation of Dr. Francine Jense, county health director, who said there already is evidence of much more virus activity in mosquitoes than last year.

How much change does our American Economic System need: A lot? A little? None?

You may be reassured—or troubled—by how a number of your fellow citizens answered this question recently.

A recent study shows that an overwhelming majority of Americans have a basic faith in our economic system. Only a relatively small number favor major structural changes. Yet almost all -92% - feel some modifications are needed

In the months and years ahead, we're all going to be called upon to make great decisions as our American Economic System adjusts to new conditions everywhere, both home and around the world.

In so doing, says Perry, whose foundation operates out of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., we would raise the income of the minimum wage-earner by 25 per cent or more, and lift at least one-half the poverty families out of that category.

Social Security and other benefits would be maintained. The dividend would provide a voting couple with $1,000 to $1,500 a week, over and above their income or benefits.

In the process, he continues, we would be able to cut government spending and inflationary pressure, encourage voting, help reduce the capital shortage that threatens economic expansion, raise consumer buying power generally, spur production and even raise corporate profits and the National Dividend itself.

"With the dividend," he explained, "people would have a vested interested in the system rather than in getting more from the government." And, he said, "it would get the people of the government's back and the government off the

Dole, Ford Provide Slate of Similarities

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) -Bob Dole and Gerald Ford, who spent eight years together as minority members of the House of Representatives, share many traits: they are unflaggingly loyal to the Republican party, particularly its conservative wing, personable and even-tempered in public.

But Dole, whom Ford named Wednesday as his choice for the vice presidential nomination, is far different from Ford in his slashing style of debate, marked by brashness and sarcasm that he used to vigorously defend the Nixon Administration on the floor of the Senate and as The Hereford Brand I national GOP chairman.

The 53-year-old senator from Kansas was even called a "hatchet man" by a senator

Dole gave a preview of what could be his campaign style when he addressed the Republican Convention Monday night as its temporary chair-

the Watergate scandal, Dole was frequently on his feet, defending Nixon with his wit and a prosecutorial style developed in eight years as the district attorney in Russell

County, Kan.

For his loyalty Dole was named national chairman of the Republican party in 1971, succeeding Rogers C.B. Morton, who is now Ford's campaign manager. Dole served as chairman until early 1973.

Dole married the former Phyllis E. Holden, a therapist who helped him recover from injuries suffered in World War II which cost him the use of his right arm and left him with only partial feeling in his left arm. Married in 1948, they had one child before being divorced in 1972.

Late last year, Dole married Elizabeth Hanford, a member of the Federal Trade Commission. Dole's selection as the vice presidential candidate has two parallels with Sen. Barry Goldwater's choice of Rep. William Miller as his running mate in 1964. Both Dole nd Miller served as national GOP chairman. Both selections came unexpectedly.

He rose to the rank of captain before being hit by shrapnel as against a machine gunnest in Italy. His right shoulder was shattered and his vetebrae cracked. He spent 39 months in an Army hospital.

After the war and his recuperation, Dole finished his undergraduate work at the University of Kansas and went on to earn his law degree there

He immediately plunged into state politics, winning a seat in the Kansas legislature, where he served from 1951 until 1953. Then he won four straight elections as prosecuting attorney of Russell County.

In 1960, Dole was elected to the House of Representatives. His district spanned 52 wheat-growing counties on the plains of western Kansas.

During his eight years in the Dole made his name in House, he worked with Ford and devoted much time to the interests of his district. He served on the House Agriculture Committee and chaired an ad investigating the scandal surrounding Bobby Baker, a Lyndon Johnson protege.

In 1968, Dole moved up to replace retiring Sen. Frank Carlson, defeating former Gov. William H. Avery for the GOP nomination. He won the general election with more than 60 per cent of the vote.

Dole's style on both the Senate floor and the stump drew praise and criticism from fellow GOP senators.

'He's the first man we've had around here in a long time who will grab the other side by the hair and drag them down the hill," Sen. Barry Goldwater

Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, called Dole a "hatchet man" whose style was such that he "couldn't sell beer on a troop ship."

There also was the comparison made by a White House official when Dole succeeded Morton as GOP chairman.

"Rog is a big old St. Bernard, while Dole is a hungry Doberman pinscher."

FAITH HEALS THE WOUNDS OF HUMAN DISCORD

any of us have undergone the painful experience of having a beautiful long term friendship suddenly broken off, due to a misunderstanding, or perhaps because of a minor incident that became magnified out of all proportion. Whatever the cause, we erect a barrier of wounded pride and a feeling of betrayal that would seem to rule out any possibility of reconciliation. However, the Bible tells us to love our neighbor and to see the good side of our fellow beings. So, try to remember all the good times together and the kind, thoughtful deeds of the past, and perhaps there's a chance that the severed relationship might be mended. At the Church of your choice you will learn that it's at least worth a try.

Differences Settled; West To Coach Lakers

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Jack Kent Cooke ended his feud with Jerry West, hired the all-star basketball player to coach his Los Angeles Lakers and now undoubtedly will demand a championship team.

West had filed a $6-million suit against Cooke claiming the owner hadn't lived up to his last playing contract two years ago.

Cooke had filed a $2-million countersuit claiming West hadn't lived up to what was expected from him, but in an amicable news conference, the 39-year-old former star guard said, "My differences with Mr. Cooke are settled. I'm extremely pleased with the terms of the contract."

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) - Pro golf's nostalgia buffs were in their glory.

There was Sam Snead, that 64-year-old relic from the days of the hickory shafts, one-putting nine times from his sidesaddle stance and happily chortling: "If I could keep this up, they might be able to coax me back to the tour."

Snead, with his trademark, a brightly-banded Panama straw hat firmly in place, converted his best putting round in years into a 68. "Airport 1975" is the biggest commercial blockbuster among the movies NBC has lined up for the coming season, to be presented on NBC Monday Night at the Movies and NBC Saturday Night at the Movies.

"Airport 1975" stars the indomitable Charlton Heston. Karen Black plays a stewardess who finds herself uncomfortably thrust into the drivers seat of a jumbo jet after an inair collision with another plane. Of course, he-man Heston comes to the rescue. Among the other films scheduled to be telecast are:

"The Great Waldo Pepper" -Robert Redford gives a smilestudded performance in this as an ex-WWI pilot who turns from barnstorming in Nebraska to stunt flying in Hollywood. The film only really gets off the ground during the aerial sequences.
"Camelot" -- No movie has ever had so many close-ups of its star's blue eyes as this one. Richard Harris, Vanessa Redgrave and Franco Nero make up the legendary romantic triangle of King Arthur, Guinevere and Lancelot.

"Sometimes A Great Notion" -- Although this boasted Paul Newman and Henry Fonda and was based on the best-selling novel by Ken ("One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest") Kesey, the picture never found its audience. Lots of infighting in this, as a father and son clash over a logging contract.

EVENING

John Wayne turns up in two pictures, dishing out his own brand of justice to baddies. In "Big Jake" he battles seven outlaws who have kidnapped his grandson. Wayne becomes a cowboy in modern dress for 'McQ," as a detective tracking down a shipment of heroin.

On the comedy scene, there's Dick Van Dyke in "Lt. Robinson Crusow, U.S.N.;" Bob Hope in "Eight on the Lam" and Jack Lemmon, Walter Mat-thau and Carol Burnett in "The Front Page. Adventure fans should find enough excitement in "Les Mans," with Steve McQueen; "The Day of the Dolphin," with George C. Scott; "Breakout," starring Charles Bronson and Robert Duvall; Max Baer's "Macon County Line:" "The Wrath of God," with Robert Mitchum and Rita Hayworth: "Tonka," with Sal Mineo in the title role and "The Great Locomotive Chase," starring Fess Parker and the late Jeffrey Hunter as head chasers. In all, a pretty average offering.

Prince Philip of Great Britain does part of the narration for "Voyage to the Enchanted Isles," airing September 2, over NBC.

The special concerns the unspoiled Galapagos Islands in the Pacific and their unique wildlife. Prince Philip, who has a great personal interest in the Galapagos, talks about the history of the islands and describes their wildlife in onscreen and voice-over commentary. Among the strange creatures you'll see are large marine iguanas, which feed only from the ocean floor although they are land dwellers; giant tortoises; fearless gulls who will alight on your coffee cup; red crabs which skid across the water's surface and a non-flying variety of the cormorant.

The evolution and history of the "Lone Star State" will be traced on The Amazing Journey: Echoes of Texas, Sunday, Aug. 29 on CBS. The second of a two-part series filmed at Fort Worth Museum of Science and History, the special spans the era from dinosaurs to cowboys to spacemen.

ABC may have dropped The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau, but never fear, Cousteau will rise again from the ocean depths to report to we landbound. Thanks to a grant from Atlantic Richfield. a news series of Cousteau specials will air on PBS over a three-year period.

Produced by the Los Angeles station KCET, the 12 specials are highlighted by an underseas search for lost civilizations. The first four programs, to be titled "Search for Atlantis: Lost Civilizations," are in production and will be ready for broadcast next year.

Cousteau describes them as a "marked departure" from his previous wildlife-oriented specials. He calls his latest explorations "a fascinating blend of myth and reality, delving into areas never before covered in TV documentaries.

Cousteau says that his divers are already uncovering clues to the migration of civilizations long covered by the seas. At a news conference in Athens on July 14, he announced that he has recovered scores of valuable gold, bronze and clay antiquities dating back to the first century B.C.

Quotes

Peter Falk: "I pour over reviews of my work, I study them and I re-read them...The worst review I ever got was my first one. It was an off-Broadway show, Moliere's 'Don Juan.' George Segal was in it. I had the second lead. Walter Kerr wrote that I wonderfully paralyzed the part.'

The Lennon Sisters: "We saw what we think was a UFO when we visited our uncle in Ojai, Calif. It was a great big ball of fire. It went up and changed colors...We haven't really rehearsed in 20 years. We still don't read music."

Bob Rosefsky: "When you're buying diamonds, you should look for color, cut, clarity and carat weight. No matter what you buy, always get an appraisal.

Monty Hall: "I consider myself and my show to be fair game for comedians' insults. I enjoy people doing take-offs on me as long as it's fun being poked at me in a fair way."

Don Rickles: "Johnny Carson was the first person on TV to present me to the public.

Law Is Bummer

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a high school junior, disturbed by the regulations governing the sale of contraceptives.

A friend of mine who works in a drugstore buys them for me. (I'm a male.) However, many of my friends have sex without protection because it isn't readily available.

Why is the law so unrealistic? Keeping contraceptives out of the hands of 16- and 17-year-olds does not discourage sexual intercourse. If young people want to have sex they will have it. They'd rather use protection but if it isn't available, they will go ahead and take chances.

Can you explain from an adult's viewpoint the logic behind such legislation? Two of my closest friends are suffering because of it. -- F.M. (Brookline, Mass.)

DEAR F.M.: There is no logic behind such legislation. The law is a bummer. Unavailabitlity of contraceptives will rarely discourage anybody. All that law does is help to increase the number of teenage pregnancies in Massachusetts. everything in town while his wife was living. Now that she is, dead, all of a sudden she is a saint and her name is mentioned every hour. He wants me to marry him and share his home but his wife's picture is in every room and this makes me uncomfortable.

My husband died five years ago and I never mention his name because I know how I feel when my friend talks about his We are both in our 60s

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was one of the original Women's Libbers -- pround of the fact that my husband encouraged me to take trips out of town "for the cause." He gave me total freedom and I loved it. All my house-bound women friends envied me. He keep encouraging me to "do my own thing" because he was busy working. Or so I thought.

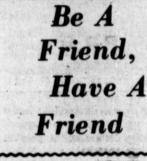

While I was "libbing it up" I later learned that Mr. Generosity was having himself a ball. The rat entertained women in our bedroom, took bimbos on weekend trips, even did the high-school -- made love in the car, on the beach and in a haystack.

He later bragged to me that several young girls wanted to marry him (he's 50 years old and has money, of course). So tell your "liberated" women readers not to outsmart themselves. It happened to me and I have only myself to blame.

-- A Moron In Eureka, Calif. DEAR EUREKA: I doubt that your freedom had much to do with your husband's alley-catting. A 50-year-old who makes love in cars, beaches, and havstacks vet, is clearly a case of arrested development. So stop blaming yourself, honey. He's bonkers.

Speaker Honored Wednesday

Zora Peddycord, of Houston, state president of the Rebekah Assembly, was honored at a dinner Wednesday evening at IOOF Hall.

Following the dinner, the guest of honor presented her yearbook and announced plans for the coming club year.

A drill was also given and during that time a love gift was given to the speaker by Rebekah embers.

There were approximately 50 guests and members present from Friona, Dimmitt, Amarillo and Clovis.

Reading Party Is Success

Gwen London, Deaf Smith County librarian, wishes to extend thanks to parents and reading club members for making their end of summer reading club party held at the library recently a success.

There were approximately 500 children who enrolled in this year's program.

The Kiva Klowns with the Kiva Shriners entertained at the party. They included R.W. Thomas, Marion Moore and Curtis H. Downs Jr. from Amarillo and Larry Nash of Canyon.

At Yorktown, on Oct. 19, 1781, Britain's Cornwallis surrendered his army to American and French forces commanded by Gen. Washington. The campaign ended in a classic military siege of the fortified port of Yorktown in which the allied troops encircled the British fortifications. As the British weakened under the continuous artillery fire, the Allies erected an even closer siege line. 1976 Recorded As Deadliest Year For Earthquakes, Experts Reveal Work Toward Party Ticket

WASHINGTON (AP)- Earthquakes have killed tens of thousands and wrecked devastation on three continents this year, making 1976 the deadliest year for quakes since 1970, U.S. experts say.

The U.S. Geological Survey said Wednesday the number of severe quakes doubled since June, indicating that 1976 may reverse the apparent worldwide earthquake activity lull reported since 1973.

Survey scientists said 10 major earthquakes and three great quakes already had occurred this year. The long-term average is for about 16 to 18 major and one great quake a year.

A major quake registers magnitude 7 or greater on the Richter Scale. A great quake, registers 8 or more. Every increase of one number of the scale means the ground motion is 10 times greater.

The USGS National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., reported only 11 major shocks in 1973. There were 12 in 1974 and 13 in 1975 The first great quake since 1971 also occurred last year.

Earthquakes have taken more than 27,000 lives, and possibly many thousands more so far this year. This makes 1976 the deadliest year for quakes since 1970 when more than 67,000 were killed in Peru and Turkey.

This year's toll includes 23,000 deaths in Guatemala in February, 900 in northeastern Italy in May, 600 in Bali in July and at least 3,100 killed in the Philippines this week as a result

The USGS said the death toll is expected to go higher because of expected fatalities from major quakes in China July 28 and afterwards. China has not released casualty figures for the quake and severe aftershocks that devastated the Tangshan area 100 miles southeast of

Peking and largely destroyed

Tientsin, the nation's third largest city.

"Looking at the time of the quake 3:45 a.m., its magnitude, the high population...and the types of construction in the area, some of our scientists... say they would not be surprised if deaths go into the hundreds of thousands," a spokesman said of the China disaster.

Also not included in the figures are deaths from major quakes that hit the Soviet Union April 8 and May 1, and unconfirmed reports of 9,000 killed in Western New Guinea in June 25.

USGS scientists say too little is known about worldwide earthquake activity to determine the significance of periods of high and low activity. Seismic activity tends to be episodic, they say, with periods of relative quiet alternating with periods of active movements.

In the first half of 1974, quake activity was slightly behind

"Patterns of recent years were continuing until June," a USGS spokesman said, "then it picked up like no one could

And no one can say if the increased activity will continue,

Reagan Supporters Pledge

By DICK BARNES Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)-Ronald Reagan supporters at the Republican National Convention, by a 4 to 1 margin of those responding to a survey, say they'll work for the Ford-Dole ticket in the fall presidential campaign.

But more than one-third of those who said they are willing to work for the ticket said their principal efforts will go to other Republican candidates.

There was almost no support for a third-party effort among the more than 600 respondents to The Associated Press poll of Reagan delegates or their alternates conducted Thursday, the day after President Ford won the GOP presidential nomination. The number of half the total of 1,070 votes Reagan received in presidential balloting.

The level of enthusiasm for campaign work varied widely among the backers of Reagan, and some said it was simply too soon for them to know what they'll feel like doing during the next two and a half months.

Peggy Wutke, a Reagan delegate from Nevada, said she'll work "with all my heart" for the national ticket. Michael South, Reagan state chairman in Colorado, said, "Whatever the differences between ourselves and Mr. Ford, they do not compare with the differences between ourselves and Mr. Carter."

But Hugh Gregg, a Reagan delegate from New Hampshire, said the extent of his activity for Ford "depends entirely upon the tone of the Ford effort and its identification with the Reagan organization. It will be a very difficult ticket to elect without Reagan."

The survey, conducted by more than two dozen reporters, first asked Reagan delegates, 'Now that President Ford has won the nomination and picked his running mate, will you work for their election this fall?"

Eighty-two per cent of those responding answered "yes," 6 per cent said "no" and 12 per cent said they don't yet know.

Among the more than 500 who said they would work for the ticket, 64 per cent said they would campaign actively. The others said they would endorse the ticket, but mostly work for other GOP candidates.

The more than 100 respondents who did not say they would work for Ford and Dole were asked what they did intend to do this campaign. Slightly more than half said they Slightly more than half said they would vote for the ticket but not

Houston Mayor Kicks

Council has kicked back a proposed $385.7 million budget to the mayor's office once again, leaving Houston, the nation's sixth largest city, still without financial guidelines for the 1976 fiscal year.

Mayor Fred Hofheinz submitted the budget June 28 but various councilmen have delayed action on the proposed expenditures and did it again Wednesday.

In a 7-2 vote, the councilmen returned the budget to the mayor's office, calling for revisions to reflect an anticipated decrease in property tax

The action came after Gary Webb, city tax assessorcollector, said a recent ruling by But the bridges are also a Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill upholding the legality tax exemptions for disabled veterans, was legal. This, Webb said, could cost Houston a loss of about $1.3 million in revenue.

Hofheinz argued the projected loss in revenue is no problem because income is increasing from such tax fees and mixed drink levies. City Comptroller Leonel Castillo said the delay is approved the budget is holding

Shareholders Elect New Ada Director

Edward Weick was elected a directr of Ada Resources, Inc. (OTC- ADRAR) by shareholders at the company's annual meeting in Houston Tuesday.

The firm operates two feedlots here.

Weick, secretary and director wholly-owned subsidiary of the company, and an independent Hoover, vice president and general manager of the company's Southwest Feed Feeders, Inc. as director.

In welcoming Weick to the board of directors, K.S. Adams, Jr., chairman and president of Ada Resources, praises Hoover "for his superb management of the company's feedyard operations, which produced more than $4 million in operating profit for Ada in its last fiscal Hoover will continue in his position as vice president and general manage of the feed yards and will devote even more times to those operations, Adams said.

Shareholders also approved a 1976 nonqualified stock option plan covering an aggregate of 200,000 shares of the company's common stock. Under the plan, the stock option committee will designate employees of the company who are to receive options under the 1976 plan.

Adams reviewed results for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1976 and results for the first quarter of fiscal 1977, which were first released August 10.

For the first quarter ended June 30, 1976, net earnings per share increased 20 per cent over the comparable period a year ago. Revenues of $27,226,000 generated net earnings of $634,000, or 12 cents a from the feed yard operations revenues of $21,346,000 and net earnings of $531,000, or 10 above those experienced in the cents a common share for the remainder of the industry as our three months ended June 30, historical performance indi-

Discussing the outlook for 1977, Adams said the company was working with Brown & Root to identify the quality of coal on its 10,500 acres of leases in Eastern Kentucky that meets EPA emission standards. The company acquired Plastics of Champion Feeders, Inc. a Universal Corporation, which owned the leases, in April 1976. The company's goal is to have productive capacity of 350,000 tons per year by March 31, 1977 and 1,000,000 tons per year by March 31, 1979, Adams said.

He said the company also plans to drill four exploratory gas wells on 7,681 acres in South Louisiana during fiscal 1977 and five development wells on existing production in North Louisiana

Adams indicated that feedyard occupancy was expected to run below last year through the first half, "with some improvement in the second half of the year." He blamed higher prices for feeder cattle and lower prices for fat cattle for the lower feedyard occupancy.

Adams expects increases in the year ending March 31, 1977 in the company's marketing. transportation and oil and gas revenues, "with probable increases in operating profit in these divisions over 1976 results."

He said only feed yard operations would not perform quite as well as in fiscal 1976, when they generated $50,289,-000 in revenues and $4,263,000 in operating profit.

"We expect excellent results common share, compared with again this year, however, certainly results that will be far

U. S. Fighters Fly To Korea

The U.S. Defense Department announced that a squadron of F4 Phantom jets had flown north from Okinawa to Korea and a squadron of F111's was being sent to Korea from Mountain Home Air Force Base in Idaho.

Officials in Washington said about 25 combat and reconnaissance planes were sent from Okinawa.

The Pentagon stressed that the Air Force reinforcement was a precautionary measure. Washington officials described it as a warning to North Korea, which has nearly three times as many combat planes as South Korea.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said other "precautionary military measures" were being taken but refused to give any indication of what they

"We want to make it absolutely clear that the United States will not accept attacks on its personnel," he said.

The two Americans were battered and hacked to death Wednesday while heading the securty detail for a South Korean working party pruning a tree in the joint security zone at Panmunjom, in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea. The United States charged that North Korean guards attacked the Americans and South Koreans without provocation, killed the two American officers with axes and metal pikes and injured four American enlisted men and five South Koreans.

Three North Koreans were reported killed, and North Korea charged that the Americans and South Koreans attacked its troops.
