PUC Staff Recommends Low Phone Rate Hike Compared With Southwestern Bell's Request

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The proposed $298.3 million phone rate increase for the state of Texas just may be cut drastically if the staff of the Public Utilities Commission PUC has its way thereby reducing the proposed expenses to Hereford Customers and others across the state. Southwestern Bell made the request earlier this year.

This week, the PUC staff planned to recommend to the three-member PUC board that a $49.76 million increase be allowed in the various rate categories charged by the giant phone company. Originally, the proposed increase wanted by Bell would have increased residential number one (those with single line connections) from $5.75 to $7.40 a month.

Mike Patrick local manager of Bell, said this morning that even the PUC's requested increase would no doubt raise the rates here or at least maintain the current rates. "It's too early to tell how a proposal will affect Hereford customers. It's just a matter of how much the increase will be."

City Manager Dudley Bayne had said earlier today that the proposed PUC increase would lower the local rates to about $5, which Patrick was surprised to hear. "I don't see how he could say that," the phone company executive said.

Bayne confirmed the PUC rate request and greeted it with much enthusiasm. "It looks great to me," he said.

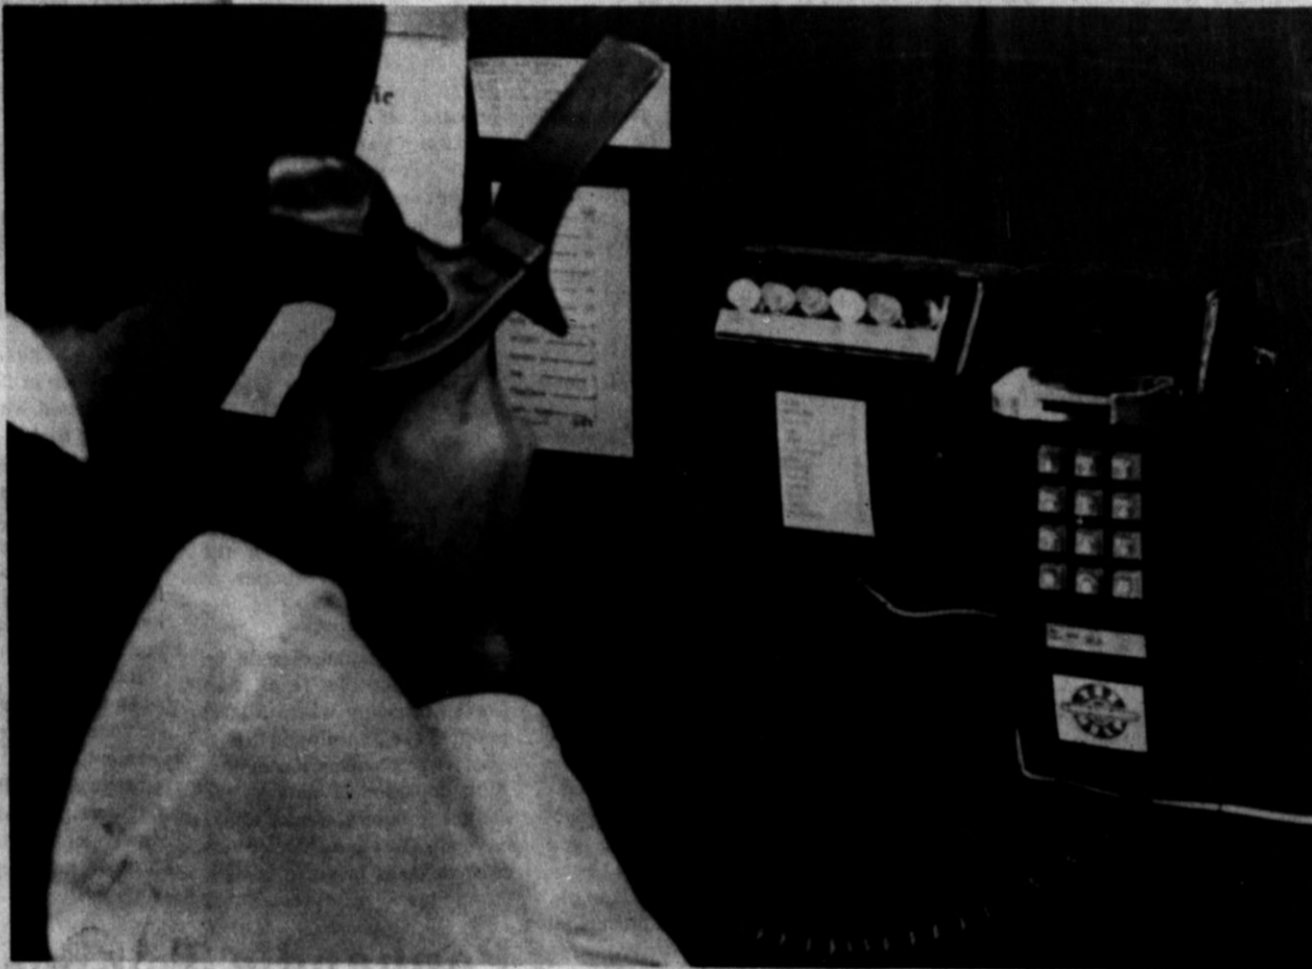

All Texas cities, represented by the Texas Municipal League (TML), were backing a proposed $60 million increase as the maximum limit. However, the PUC request was obviously lower and slightly unexpected.

Involved in the increase are an increase in intrastate long distance call rates, an increase in pay phone rates from 10 cents to 20 cents per call, the single party residential rate increases, and an increase in private line rates. No increase was recommended by the PUC staff for directory assistance (411) calls unless the total state increase is only $20.8 million.

Bayne claimed that the statewide increase would be made up through other categories other than the residential rates therefore allowing for a decrease here. Again, Patrick said it is totally unlikely.

The state commission is expected to rule on the proposed increase sometime next month.

The TML was represented at the hearings in Austin by Bill McMorries, rate consultant. He has already testified and will no doubt be called back next week when cross-examinations begin between Bell and PUC attorneys. Bell is expected to finish presenting its case today.

At What Cost?

The fate of the price of telephone calls in the future depends upon the current rate case before the Public Utilities Commission in Austin. Increases proposed by Bell would significantly hike rates but the PUC staff has recommended much lower rates on all categories of calls. The case will be decided next month.

Welfare Buries $1.2 Million In Account

AUSTIN (AP)—A state welfare department executive has acknowledged that the agency buried $1.2 million in a post office account-interest-free-for-a-year before returning the money to the state treasury.

Jack Blanton, executive assistant to Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell, said Thursday there was no evil intent on the part of the department.

But Deputy Comptroller Randall Wood said it appeared the Department of Public Welfare had squirreled away the spent portion of its 1975 appropriation for postage to keep it from lapsing when the fiscal year ended on Aug. 31 of that year.

"We uncovered it when we noticed their actual postal expenses were lower than what they had drawn. We asked what was going on, and all of a sudden, a check came for $1.184 million," said Wood.

He said the state lost $75,000 in interest on the money-assuming State Treasurer Jesse James would have deposited it in an interest-bearing account.

Blanton denied the DPW had used a back door approach to hang on to appropriated funds that would have lapsed at the end of the fiscal year.

"There was no attempt to hold over funds," Blanton said.

He said the DPW drew state warrants and put the money into the postal account at a time when nobody could predict accurately the results of federalization of Old Age Assistance.

"The DPW requested the funds, not knowing how much postage would be involved because we didn't know how many people were going to be in the SSI the federal Supplement Security Income program," Blanton said.

"It takes some postage to get around in this business, friend," he said.

Department records furnished by Blanton showed the DPW sent the money to the postal service's San Antonio office $100,000 at a time, every few days between July 22 and Aug. 21, 1975.

The department repaid the treasury on July 16, 1976.

Blanton said Vowell ordered the repayment as soon as he learned of the postal account's existence.

Wood said the welfare department evidently forgot the money was there.

Blanton said the account with the postal service represented 38 per cent of the $4.2 million appropriated to DPW for postage in 1975.

Both Wood and Comptroller Bob Bullock said their department intends to watch closely the DPW's future expenditures.

CB Theft Is Reported

The theft of a CB radio unit was reported to city police Thursday.

Ricky Cook of 509 Willow Lane told officers that thieves entered his pickup and removed a CB radio valued at $139 while the vehicle was parked at his home.

Sarah Garcia of 120 Ave. A reported the theft of a pet raccoon from the backyard of her residence Thursday.

School Board Trustees Agree On Policy For Use of Facilities

The Hereford School Board of Trustees had a lot of discussion but no action at the called board meeting held Thursday night in the school district administration building.

All school trustees were present except Jim Arney and Clark Andrews which provided the needed quorum.

THE MEETING was called to consider proposed policy changes in use of school facilities by outside organizations. Specifically, the Hereford Community Action Agency (CAA) and the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA Inc. were involved as both were making special requests to use the Old Central School gymnasium. Also, the YMCA wanted continued use of Shirley Elementary School and use of the larger Hereford High School gym for its upcoming basketball program. The CAA wanted use of the Central School kitchen.

The trustees could take no action since policies must be presented at one meeting and then formally acted upon at a subsequent meeting to allow time for the policy's consideration by interested parties.

Dr. Harrell Holder, superintendent, presented policy proposals and the board members decided on a few changes to suit YMCA representatives present. Both the YMCA and CAA had officials present at the regular board meeting Tuesday night at which time the trustees delayed action after reviewing the requests and hearing all information the two organizations wanted the board to consider.

The CAA did not have anyone present for the called meeting so the board tentatively agreed that the agency could use the kitchen based on certain conditions. The group, which operates the rest of the Old Central, needed the facility for the Senior Citizens organization, which wants to prepare daily noon meals for about 125 paid members as well as fix the Meals on Wheels Program.

THE CONDITIONS are as follows:

--All renovations must be made at no cost to the school district.

--Utilities must be separated out at no cost to the school district.

--All existing equipment in the kitchen is still owned by the school district and may not be removed at anytime needed without notice.

--The School district may remove partitions including the dish washing facilities to extend the length of the gym basketball court as desired.

--The school board will consider use of the gym on a per request basis and no permanent agreement will be written for its use.

The policy establishing the standard conditions for the safe use of all school gyms and facilities was lengthy. It set fees and circumstances for all organizations and individuals.

On a proposal from Trustee James Gentry, the fees for the use of the gyms at elementary schools will be $5 an hour, $7 an hour at Stanton Junior High School, $8 an hour for the use of one HHS gym and $10 an hour for use of both HHS gyms. A two hour minimum was set.

The La Plata Junior High School gym would only be approved for use on a per request basis of the school board.

CLAUDE HUARD, executive director of the YMCA, said at the meeting that the conditions and the fees seemed reasonable. He will pass on all costs to participants in the basketball and related Y programs.

Organizations would have to pay for the use, obtain school district employees to supervise facilities and arrange for school district custodial help in cleaning up the used buildings.

No fees will be charged non-profit organizations which set admission fees for activities in the gyms provided the school board approves the individual requests.

The elementary gyms may be used on a signed contract basis by individuals and groups, who would not have to pay for supervisors and custodial help if certain requirements are met.

The Senior Citizens Club of Hereford made its monthly covered-dish supper a Thanksgiving event Thursday night, with members of the Advisory Board as special guests. Donna Gooch, left, chairman of the advisory board, and Helen Watts, president of the Senior Citizens Club, stopped by one of the game tables after the supper. More than 100 persons attended the event.

Dentist Must Help Elderly

PROSSER, Wash. (AP) - A dentist whose drunken driving caused the deaths of two persons has been sentenced to spend one day a week for a year providing free dental care to the elderly.

"There is no way we can bring back these lives, but perhaps we can put your talents to use and get some goodness out of this tragedy," said Benton County Superior Court Judge Al Yencopal in announcing the unusual sentence for Dr. Edgar Mays. Yencopal said Mays, who pleaded guilty to negligent homicide, could have been sentenced to 10 years in prison.

No Progress Seen In Talks

PARIS (AP) - Little or no progress is expected before January in the talks opening today in Paris between the United States and Vietnam. U.S. spokesmen say any major decisions on relations with Vietnam must await President-elect Jimmy Carter's inauguration.

The Vietnamese Communist party is also expected to redefine the reunited nation's foreign policy at its congress in Hanoi next month. No improvement in relations appears likely unless Hanoi meets the U.S. demand for a full accounting of 800 U.S. servicemen listed as missing in action.

Rebates On Gas Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) - Challengers to new higher price ceilings on natural gas want court-enforced guarantees that an estimated $1.5 billion in annual increases will be returned to consumers if the price hikes are eventually rolled back.

Consumer groups and public representatives urged an appeals court on Thursday to require mandatory refunds of the money if the courts ultimately revoke the new nationwide gas rates adopted one week ago by the Federal Power Commission.

The price hikes would add about $15 to $18 to the average household's annual gas bill.

Higher Prices Would Hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. diplomats, trying to head off any price increase by the oil exporting countries, are warning that higher oil prices would seriously hurt economies around the world by fanning inflation and stalling growth. The oil exporting countries, affiliated in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), are scheduled to meet Dec. 15 in Qatar in the Persian Gulf and oil prices are expected to be on the agenda. U.S. diplomats say if OPEC boosts prices by 15 per cent, for example, it would mean a $5.5 billion increase in the American oil bill.

Students Off Monday

The students in Hereford Independent School District will have a free day next Monday, Nov. 14, when teachers attend an in-service training day according to Dr. Harrell Holder, superintendent. It is one of the 10 such days during the academic year.

All students are excused from classes while the instructors attend sessions designed to further their training in the teaching profession. Classes resume on Tuesday.

Postal Service Wants Early Mailing

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Fearing that a United Parcel Service strike may eventually cause a letter jam, the Postal Service is asking the public to mail Christmas packages and cards earlier than usual this year.

The Postal Service on Wednesday moved up by one week the mailing deadlines it previously had suggested for Christmas mail. The new recommended mailings are Dec. 3 for domestic parcels and Dec. 10 for Christmas letters and cards.

The Postal Service said it "is compelled to ask the public to mail even earlier than normal" because its mail volume has increased vastly by the eight-week United Parcel strike in 15 states from Maine to South Carolina.

The Postal Service statement indicated that if the strike continues, the effect on first-class mail may grow.

"While priority will be given to letter mail, many postal facilities normally dedicated to letter mail may have to be used to prevent an unmanageable backlog of parcels," the service said.

The Postal Service has added 6,200 temporary workers and imposed heavy overtime schedules at the bulk mail centers, which process packages, Lynn said.

"The bulk mail centers normally work two eight-hour shifts. Some now are up to 22 hours per day," he said.

In addition, the Postal Service has reopened old parcel handling facilities that were closed when the bulk mail network was completed this year.

Some mail has been taken by special trains from New York to bulk mail centers outside the strike area for sorting.

Postal officials praised their employees' work during the UPS strike. The statement expressed confidence the Postal Service "will continue to be able to cope with the increase, with the cooperation of the public and the major mailers."

Federal mediators in Washington were continuing to hold talks with the Teamsters Union and UPS officials in an effort to end the strike.

Swedish Housewife Now Called 'Your Excellency' With Title

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, (AP) - After a meteoric five years in national politics, Karin Soder assumed that her Center party's election victory in September meant she would become Sweden's next minister of social affairs.

But the 48-year-old housewife, mother and ex-schoolteacher suddenly found herself instead the country's first woman foreign minister - a post that commands the title, "Your Excellency."

A few days later, Mrs. Soder was standing before the United Nations General Assembly in New York, making her government's official policy statement.

Back from that mission - with a skateboard for her 11-year-old son - she was off to The Netherlands with the king and queen of Sweden.

Mrs. Soder says it all caught her quite unprepared.

"I did not feel quite ready for such responsibility and would have liked to have gained more experience in Parliament first," she said in a recent interview.

"But the party thought I could live up to it."

Other women foreign ministers have included Mrs. Golda Meir of Israel, the late Anna Pauker, who served in postwar Romania, and Mrs. Siramavo Bandaranaike, who also is the prime minister of Sri Lanka, formerly Ceylon. Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh was the foreign minister of the Viet Cong before the Communist victory in South Vietnam last year.

Mrs. Soder was unexpectedly catapulted into her present position with only two days' notice following the election victory of three non-Socialist parties Sept. 19 which unseated Premier Olof Palme's longtime Socialist government. The job was offered to two men but they turned it down.

Calm and confident, she has taken it all in stride. Her motto, she declared, is "simply to be one's natural self honestly and not to try to make out to be something else."

Asked if she thought a woman has to do a better job than a man in the same capacity, she said, "Perhaps not, but I know I am constantly watched. Unfortunately, equality between the sexes has not progressed further than that it now seems I have to represent the whole female sex and not just myself because I have this position."

Mrs. Soder has been married for 25 years to Gunnar Soder, another prominent Center party politician who last month was named undersecretary for industry affairs in the new administration. The couple has three children, daughter Annika, 21, and sons Stefan 19, and Torbjorn, 11. "Of course if feels good to have a politically experienced husband on hand," she said. "But I will tell you he does not write my speeches for me," she said.

Texas produces more than 20 per cent of the nation's interstate supply of gas. Every year it ships out of the state 2.7 trillion cu. ft. of gas. Deep concern over the rapidly dwindling reserves of natural gas in prompting members of the Texas Railroad Commission to consider the possibility of supporting a state law which would limit shipments of natural gas out of the state of Texas.

The constitutionality of such a law is highly questionable, but it would take years to get the matter settled in the courts. Meanwhile, Texas might be successful in reducing deliveries of gas to out of state customers until the lengthy litigation would be settled.

One member of the Texas Railroad Commission has been quoted in a national business magazine as saying that he might favor state legislation to limit gas production in Texas to an amount not to exceed the amount of new gas discovered. Lately Texas has been producing 40 per cent more gas annually than it has been finding. Such legislation would reduce out of state shipments by 25 per cent.

Not only are Texans concerned about the amount of gas shipped to the interstate market, but bargain basement prices for the gas is also a problem. Other states are not developing gas production because of the low price of interstate gas being shipped from Texas while Texas corporations are required to pay much higher prices for gas produced in the state. Celanese Chemical Co. in Pampa has announced a multi-million dollar conversion of their Pampa plant from natural gas to coal.

Reserve of natural gas in Texas have dropped from (2) trillion cu. ft. ten years ago to 71 trillion. The Energy Institute at the University of Houston has issued a forecast that by 1986, Texas could shift from the country's leading exporter of natural gas to being a net importer.

Such an occurrence could be disastrous for the Texas Gulf Coast economy where 70,000 people are employed in a massive petrochemical complex. With depletion of natural gas and oil resources, Texas would have to impose higher ad valorem taxes to go to a state income tax.

Success Of Flu Program Remains To Be Determined

ATLANTA (AP) - About 10 per cent of the Americans targeted for swine flu inoculation have already received shots and the success or failure of the nationwide program will probably be determined in the next few weeks, a federal health official said Thursday.

The immunization program, which started in early October, is intended to inoculate all Americans over the age of 18.

"The next several weeks are the critical ones," said Don Berreth, information officer for the Federal Center for Disease Control, the U.S. Public health Service agency administering the program.

The swine flu vaccine is "pretty generally available" at mass immunization clinics, and "it's probably easier to get the inoculations now than it has been or than it will be as the program is winding down in December," he said.

He noted that flu season is approaching and the shots generally do not become effective until two or three weeks after they are received.

Berreth said 4,355,289 persons were reported to have received inoculations during the week ending Nov. 6, bringing the program total to 14,182,152. Inoculation totals have increased each week since the program was begun in early October, and Berreth called that trend "encouraging."

He would not estimate how many persons the program may reach by its conclusion in December.

The $135 million national immunization program has begun after swine flu struck several soldiers at Ft. Dix, N.J., last winter, killing one. No cases have been reported since then.

with death and whispered: "I ain't got a word to say."

White and Livingston were convicted several months ago of the shooting death of Preston Broyles, 73, a grocery store attendant, on May 10, 1974. They were also charged with the shooting deaths of Billy St. John and Gary Coker, both 18, during the robbery that netted White and Livingston, and Livingston's brother, Gary Dale, a total of $60.

Gary Dale pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life in prison.

White, dressed in rumpled casual clothes, stood with his handcuffed hands in front of him as he told the judge: "I don't want to live with myself no more. I don't want no appeals...I want to drop all actions in all of it...I have finally put together how three people died and I'm the one who killed those people and it's a heluva thing to live with, sir. I am not going to ask forgiveness from no one because I don't deserve it. All I ask is for the court to grant me the nearest execution date possible and give Collin County justice as it should have."

MCKINNEY (AP) - The attorney for Robert Excel White says he will appeal White's case to the U.S. Supreme Court despite the condemned man's plea to be executed.

J.E. Abernathy, White's court-appointed attorney, said the appeal would be instituted although White has told a state district court judge he could not live with his crime.

White, 30, made his plea Wednesday to State District Court Judge Tom Ryan, who had allowed television crews to film the scene "because it might save somebody's life."

Ryan then set the execution date for Dec. 10 and told White: "Any compassion that this court might show you, sir, is not directed at you, but at the three lives you destroyed."

With the same decision, Judge Ryan sentenced White's accomplice, James Owen Livingston, 23, to die on the same date "before dawn" at the Huntsville State Penitentiary.

Meanwhile in Dallas, 30 miles to the south, Judith Time, president of the local chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, said her group had not been contacted about White's case.

Mrs. Time said White "is asking to commit suicide. He's crying out for help."

He added he felt no compassion. "It's a hideous crime...I just kept thinking what happened to those people."

White and Livingston are the third and fourth men to have execution dates set since the Texas death penalty was ruled constitutional earlier this year. There are 48 men on death row.

If White is executed, he will be the first person since 1964. Ernest Benjamin Smith was scheduled to die on Nov. 22, but the date was stayed by the U.S. Supreme Court pending appeals.

Panhandle Temperatures Dip Today, Snow May Fall

By The Associated Press

Temperatures dipped into the mid 20s over the Panhandle and West Texas today, and a deep bank of clouds put a veil of gloom over the most of the state.

Freezing temperatures dominated the northwestern third of Texas, generally north of a Sherman-Abilene-Andrews line, and forecasters saw more cloudy and wet weather including snow for Northwest Texas during the weekend.

There also were freezing temperatures in the mountains of Southwest Texas. Readings were not as cold in far South Texas, but wind gusts above 25 miles per hour in sections of Southwest Texas added to the discomfort of temperatures in the 30s and 40s.

The cold front that entered the state Thursday moved through Brownsville at 5 a.m. Occasional rain and thunderstorms were reported southeast of San Antonio, near Victoria, between Corpus Christi and Victoria and from near Beaumont to Lufkin.

Skies were cloudy over nearly the entire state. Readings ranged from 26 in Dalhart in the Panhandle to 64 under foggy conditions at Brownsville.

Forecasts are for temperatures, well below normal through Saturday, occasional rain in South Texas and scattered snow in Northwest Texas. Precipitation is expected to increase in West Texas tonight and gradually spread into North Central Texas by Saturday.

Thursday's highs ranged from 39 at Amarillo to 85 at McAllen.

FAITH BIDS US HONOR THE DEFENDERS OF OUR FREEDOM

More than one nation has undergone the painful necessity of committing its brave men to battle for the purpose of maintaining its freedom whenever it was threatened by enemy forces from without. Whether we honor them in October or November, or call the occasion Armistice Day, Veterans Day or Remembrance Day, the purpose of it remains the same: to give our humble thanks to those who survived the terrible wars and those who did not. And since the list of our freedoms includes the right to worship God in any way we see fit, let us show our gratitude by attending the Church of our choice regularly, and thereby availing ourselves of one of the most vital freedoms for which our courageous heroes risked everything they had.

Without a sign, his sword the brave man draws,
And asks no omen but his country's cause.

Prices Cut Enrollment

NEW ORLEANS (AP)-The nation's state universities have priced themselves into an enrollment decline despite record numbers of high school graduates, says the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Association officials Wednesday reported a 3 per cent smaller share of the high school graduating seniors than was expected by its 320 members this fall, a sharp turnout from 1975.

State schools had anticipated a 4.5 per cent enrollment increase, half of the 9 per cent rate of increase in 1975.

John Mallan, governmental relations director, blamed state governments for failure to meet rising costs, which forced schools to hike student charges to keep going.

Costs to students have gone up 40 per cent in the last five years to this fall's $3,000 a year, said Jacob Stampen, the association's senior researcher.

In 1969, he said, the average state college tuition was $425 compared to the $570 this fall.

Be A Friend, Have A Friend

BY: JOAN DWYER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR BIG BROTHERS-

BIG SISTERS OF HEREFORD
We watched a magic show last evening that really left an impression on me. Robert Stewart did a trick with his "golden rod of love." Several silver rings represented people. They were placed in a box, as was the golden rod. When he pulled the rod out of the box, all the rings were hanging from the rod. Then he slid the rings off the golden rod they were joined together.

Robert said that the golden rod of love has a way of connecting people and their lives. And even though we are separate individuals, we are bound together by love.

This trick really reminded me of Big Brothers and Big Sisters. The only common denominator these special people have is their concern for a particular child. Big Brothers and Big Sisters come from all sorts of family backgrounds and all vocations. But the "golden rod of love" joins them with their special young friend and in turn with the human race.

My wish is that the golden rod of love become longer and stronger in the years to come and touch more young lives in Hereford.

PUC Witness Says Bell Should Reduce Basic Phone Rates

AUSTIN (AP)-Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. should cut basic residential and business telephone charges by $70 million instead of increasing them by $110 million, a Public Utilities Commission witness said in written testimony filed Thursday.

Dr. Caroline Smith, director of economic research for the commission, recommends a 7.68 per cent fair value rate of return, compared with the 9.5 per cent return on equity, compared with the 14 per cent Bell has requested.

She also recommended the minimum number of free 411 directory assistance calls be increased "substantially" from the three Bell wants to permit before charging 20 cents a call.

She agreed Bell should be allowed to charge 20 cents for pay telephone calls, and Bell's proposal to increase intrastate

Convicted Murderer Wants Execution, Tells Judge, 'Can't Live With Myself'

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP)-Robert Excel White, 30, stood before the district court judge and told him: "I don't want to live with myself no more."

With those words Wednesday, White asked the court for the earliest possible execution date in the electric chair for the murder of an aged grocery store attendant in May 1974. He also was charged with the slayings of two McKinney youths at the same time.

Judge Tom Ryan then sentenced White and accomplice James Owen Livingston, 26, to die in the electric chair "before dawn on Dec. 10."

"Any compassion this court might show you, sir, is not directed at you, but at the three lives you destroyed," the judge told White.

White had told the court he did not want "any delays" caused by additional appeals.

"I am asking for the earliest execution date...the reason is I do not want to live with myself no more. I have finally put together how three people died and I am the one who killed those people. It is a hell of a thing to live with, sir. I am not going to ask forgiveness from no one because I don't deserve it."

Livingston merely stood before the judge and said: "I ain't got a word to say."

The two men were convicted of murdering Preston Broyles, 73, at the Hilltop Grocery early in the morning of May 10, 1974.

Court testimony showed that Livingston and White, accompanied by Livingston's 26-year-old brother, Gary Dale, walked into the store and found Broyles and Billy St. John and Gary Coker, both 18. The two youths had stopped for breakfast on their way to work.

When White and his companions left, Broyles, St. John and Coker were dead.

Court testimony showed that White admitted to a Collin County deputy that he shot

Broyles after shouting at James Livingston, "He's mine. I'm gonna kill him."

White turned himself in to Cleveland, Miss., authorities a week later. The Livingstons, both of Waco, were arrested in Texas.

Gary Dale Livingston pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life in prison.

White was convicted in August and James Livingston was convicted in January.

Their appeal to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals was rejected recently and they were brought to McKinney again Wednesday to have their execution date set before being returned to the Huntsville state prison.

Two other men have had their executions dates set recently in Texas. The earliest is scheduled for Nov. 22, but it is expected to be delayed by appeals.

White's court-appointed lawyer said he would appeal the conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court against his client's wishes.

Public Invited To View Film

"The Final Hour," a new color-sound film, will be shown at Summerfield Baptist Church at 6 p.m. Sunday. The public is welcome.

Produced by the Evangelical Christian Research Foundation, "The Final Hour" declares that the human race is on a collision course with its day of reckoning. A film spokesman stated, "The news media, science and the Bible all agree—there is not much time left."

Two film crews covered 24,000 miles and 12 cultures ranging from jungle tribes to man's most modern centers "To record the tragic condition of our failing world."

According to a news release, "The Final Hour" graphically portrays the realities of our declining planet and sensitively links those facts to the Work of God. Its message will alert people of our day to the vital spiritual needs of a world rapidly approaching 'the final hour' and underscores the hope that Christians have the message of God."

"The Final Hour" is being released for world-wide use by Gospel Films, Inc. of Muskegon, Mich., who produced award-winning films, including "So Long Joey!," "A Man and His Men" and "Like a Mighty Army."

Ann Landers

Aim At The Seat

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As a clinical psychologist I see at least four juvenile delinquents in my office every week. I have yet to run into a male juvenile delinquent who wasn't hit with a fist, board, belt or a piece of rope.

Sensitive, non-physical parents don't produce hell-raisers. The typical parent of a delinquent child is not the indulgent, permissive person the news media would have us believe. He is rigid, cold, authoritarian, non-trusting, restrictive, physically punitive and was whipped or beat up by his own parents.

If my colleagues (and you, Ann Landers) could persuade American parents to stop hitting their children the crime rate would drop immediately.

I have repeatedly suggested that all belt manufacturers stamp on every belt the warning, "CAUTION: THE USE OF THIS IMPLEMENT ON YOUR CHILD IS DANGEROUS TO HIS MENTAL HEALTH AND YOUR FUTURE WELL-BEING." R.S.W., Ph.D., Clinical Psychology.

DEAR R.S.W.: I, too, am opposed to hitting children with belts, fists, boards and pieces of rope, but the palm of the hand, applied to the seat of the problem, can be a good teaching device for small children who don't respond to the spoken word.

Your idea for belt manufacturers is a clever gimmick, but do you honestly believe that a parent who is angry enough to hit a child would take time to read the message?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your stand on homosexuality interests me. Published figures show that one out of six babies is born with an extra gene which is characteristic of homosexuals. I realize this fact is not accepted by many doctors but in time it will be.

Your concept that homosexuals suffer from "a personality disorder" is nonsense. Their problem is purely biological--something they are born with. Psychiatry is a waste of time.

You will recall there was a man named Jesus. He enjoyed a most unusual lifestyle with those twelve men, his disciples. Theirs was essentially the lifestyle of the homosexual as we know it today. Do you suppose Jesus was crucified because he was a homosexual?

--I Am Not Kidding.

I am married to a trucker. Three of his so-called friends have called me within the last year to offer a little loving in his absence. They don't seem to think I can go without sex for a week at a time.

Please supply me with a snappy put-down.--Trucker's Wife Who Can Wait

DEAR WIFE: You don't need a "snappy put-down." A plain, unadorned, "Thanks a lot but no thanks" will do.

How young is too young for a child to learn about sex? That's just one thing you'll find in Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." Send 50 cents in coin, along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Denmark is half the size of Maine, but has almost five times as many people.
